School Licensing Okay Questioned

HOUSTON (UPI) — A state welfare regional director said Wednesday night she accepted a license application for Artesia Hall despite reports of physical abuse of students because there was no evidence the mistreatment still continued.

Soybean Crop Harvest Slow

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. — (UPI) — It will be at least early autumn before a new soybean crop can be harvested to help relieve a feed shortage that is forcing broiler and egg producers out of business and driving beef prices higher, according to R.J. Hodges of the Texas Extension Service.

But even with maximum production, Hodges said, he is not sure feed prices will decrease very much. "I doubt it will help the overall feed situation very much," he said Wednesday. "The demand is so far ahead of the supply."

Scout Summer Camping Program In Final Week

Local Scout Executive William M. McElroy stated the 1973 summer camp program of the Adobe Walls Council of the Boy Scouts of America is going into its third and final week at Camp M.K. Brown and has been an overwhelming success this year.

Scouts attending the camp represent 24 different cities, coming from Beaver, Forgan, Guyton and Hooker in Oklahoma and from Booker, Berger, Canadian, Clarendon, Fritch, Higgins, Lefors, Memphis, Miami, Pampa, Panhandle, Perryton, Phillips, Shamrock, Skellytown, Spearman, Stinnett, Wellington, Wheeler and White Deer in the Texas districts.

Energy crisis or not more drivers, as usual, are on to the highways during the summer months than at any other time of year. While they have no problems with ice and winter's other obvious hazards, perils, summer driving has its own hazards. For safe and sane summer, State Farm Mutual Automobile Insurance Co. suggests drivers keep four key tips in mind.

1 During evening fogs, keep headlights on low beams. High beams bounce back to blind the driver.

2 Never no never drive barefoot. Bare or wet feet can too easily slip off gas and brake pedals.

3 Don't speed on wet roads. Heavy rain makes a thin film of water on pavement. Tires of a speeding car may suddenly "hydroplane," riding on the film which acts as a lubricant between tire and pavement.

4 Check tire pressure regularly. DO NOT LOWER for summer driving. Low pressure generates more heat by flexing sidewalls, tending to damage tires while making steering more difficult.

Antiwar Forces Gather AND TAKES IT OFF 'Singer' Auctions Off Swimming Suit's Top

WASHINGTON (UPI) — War critics, now in firm command of both houses of Congress, grimly pressed ahead today with legislation to stop the bombing of Cambodia—despite President Nixon's veto of such a measure.

NORMAN, Okla. (UPI) — Wendy 37-25-36 Berlowitz belted out a chorus of "Wedding Bells Go Ding Dong," auctioned off the top half of her purple velvet swimming suit and went to jail for exposing her 37 in a public place.

"Come on, I don't want to eat beans tonight," she pleaded. "I can't take it off until I get the money. Bring the cash up right now and I'll trade you the top for it."

Antiwar forces in both the Senate and House vowed to attach a new end-of-war measure as a rider to vital appropriations bills that must be passed if the federal government is to continue operating.

"We've sold everything but our guitar which we can't sell because we're musicians," Wendy shouted to the mostly male crowd of 1,000 persons Tuesday on the University of Oklahoma campus. The men showed up to get a closer look at the former graduate school instructor.

Her husband Jim beamed with pride. He said the episode proved his wife is "courageous beyond exception."

The crutch is expected to come on a House-passed appropriations resolution to keep federal agencies operating after the new fiscal year begins this Sunday. The House resolution contains an amendment—identical to the one written into the $3.3 billion supplemental appropriations bill Nixon vetoed Tuesday—cutting off funds for U.S. military action in, over or from the shores of Cambodia or Laos. Senate approval is expected before the end of the week.

IN STERILIZATION PROGRAM Attorney Claims Girls 'Treated Like Cattle'

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) — An attorney for two young black girls who were sterilized under supervision of a federally funded agency said they were treated "like a farmer would treat his cattle" with no feeling for their right to bear children.

Strange presented his $10 bill and the crowd roared. Then a hush fell over the assembly as Wendy reached back, plucked the single hook loose and raised the top over her head.

BUD DOUGLAS Funeral services for Bud Douglas, 52, of 604 N. West, who was dead on arrival at Highland General Hospital at 6:25 this morning, will be Saturday in the First Christian Church in Spearman.

Burial will be in Hansford Cemetery under the direction of Boxwell Brothers Funeral Directors.

Japan's Emperor Hirohito renounced claims of divinity on Jan. 1, 1946.

Nixon said if the supplemental bill is not enacted the payroll for Social Security Administration workers would be withheld, and 25 million Americans might be deprived of their benefits. There is some question whether the measure automatically dies Saturday when the current budget year ends, or whether it can be passed in the new fiscal year.

At a time when young people are being so widely criticized, Council President Frank Phelan, Council Commissioner Warren Fatheree and State Rep. Phil Cates all joined with Bill McElroy in congratulating these 434 young men on their outstanding achievements.

He also sought a federal court ruling that would prohibit the sterilization of other blacks under similar circumstances. The Reif suit claimed that the girls' mother was illiterate and thought her daughters were going to be given birth control shots when she made her "X" on the authorization form.

Nixon Didn't Write Memo

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) — President Nixon took no part in writing the memo accusing John W. Dean III of masterminding the Watergate coverup, and it should not be regarded as a definitive White House statement, according to a spokesman for the President.

He also has conferred often with Henry A. Kissinger, who is expected to begin another China journey in a few weeks to reassure Chou En-Lai that the U.S.-Soviet summit did not endanger the improvement in American-Chinese relations.

The statement was prepared by H. Fred Buzhardt, the President's legal counsel—the office Dean once held—from material supplied by "others," Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said Wednesday.

Despite the President's avowed determination to pursue a partnership with Congress in the days ahead, he threw down the gauntlet again in vetoing an appropriation bill cutting off funds for the bombing of Cambodia. He was promptly sustained by the House.

Warren said the memo, which described Dean as the "principal author of the political and constitutional crisis" brought on by the cover-up, should not be regarded as a "definitive statement of position by the White House."

Furthermore, he has served warning to antiwar legislators that he will continue to veto bills that halt the Cambodian bombing on grounds that the halt would lead to a Communist takeover.

He said it was incorrect to call it "a substitute for cross-examination of Mr. Dean by the President of the United States," the description given it by Sen. Daniel Inouye, D-Hawaii, who read the memo at the Senate hearing at the request of the White House.

Budget Director Roy Ash flew in from Washington for consultations today on holding down federal spending to the limits of the proposed $268.7 billion 1974 fiscal year budget.

Wofford Attends PRPC Assembly

City Manager Mack Wofford was in Amarillo today representing Pampa at a regular meeting of the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission general assembly.

During his post-Summit sojourn, Nixon has been closeted daily for hours with Haig and Ziegler, according to Warren.

DO-IT-YOURSELF

All-year storm door fixing

By MR. FIX

The combination storm and screen door may seem like a second-rate item, not being the real and proper door to your house.

But it takes more abuse than the regular door. In fact that's what it's there for, to take the abuse that would cause wear and tear on the ordinary wooden door.

The combination door is one that needs care and maintenance since it is exposed to everything all year long. It also is the door likeliest to develop problems or suffer an accident.

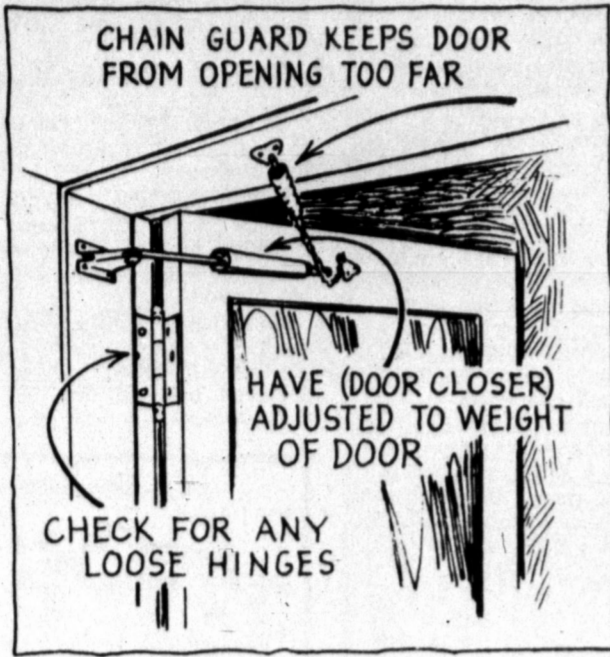

During cold weather it carries a heavy glass insert. In the summer it holds a lighter screen insert. It may slam too quickly or close too slowly because of the differing weight. If it slams too often, the door can become damaged. It also is a hazard to the people who go through it.

If it closes too slowly a stiff wind may catch and blow it open, straining the hinges. A pneumatic door closer should be used on every storm door. A spring in the tubular closer starts the door closing when it is wide open. Pneumatic pressure cuts the speed of the door just before it is fully closed.

If you have a storm door without a closer, install one. If you have a closer, learn how to adjust it as the weight of the door changes depending on whether you have a screen or a storm insert in use.

Adjustment is done by way of a screw or a movable knob. You will have to experiment and make adjustments gradually.

The hardware for the closer is mounted on the inside of the frame and the inside of the door, generally at the top. If the closer is difficult to adjust or adjusting doesn't correct the problem, then it is possible that it is mounted on the door jamb too far from the door. Remount the bracket closer to the door.

If a door proves too heavy for the closer, try moving the closer from the top to the middle of the door. This will distribute the weight more evenly.

If your storm door is subject to being caught by heavy winds, you may want to install a chain guard. This consists of a chain and a spring. Before the door is blown too far out the coil spring in the unit absorbs the shock as the end of the chain is reached.

When you mount the chain, make certain it stops the door short of the point where it is at right angles to the frame. You want the spring to start its work before there is a strain on the hinges.

Any door that has been blown about a bit will develop trouble. The likely spot is the hinges. These may loosen.

If they do, replace the screws with larger screws. If the wood is too torn up, plug the holes with wood filler and redrill the screw holes. If the hinges are bent they may have to be replaced.

Frequent banging will knock a metal door out of square. These have joints at the corners that become loose. Take the door off and examine how it was made. You will find screws that can be tightened.

You will find that the bottom rail can be adjusted easily without removing the door.

Reiner 'doctors' Van Dyke show

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — I wandered over to where Dick Van Dyke was shooting his show. I wanted to know about the new format Dick's show will have this coming season.

"You don't know the new format?" growled Byron Paul, Dick's longtime manager and pal. "Get in line."

Last year Dick's show was called The New Dick Van Dyke Show. Despite what you might think this year's version will not be called The New New Dick Van Dyke Show, although maybe it should be. It's new new.

The old new Dick Van Dyke show didn't work too well. Lots of theories have been advanced as to why that was — the supporting actors didn't appeal to the public, his profession (TV host) didn't give him enough latitude, the Arizona setting was wrong — so they figured they had to give the program the old shake-well treatment.

CBS liked the relationship of Dick and his wife, Hope Lange, so they kept that and they therefore had to keep little Angela Powell, as their daughter: That's all.

They've concocted a plot whereby Dick loses his TV job in Arizona and decides to become an actor. The family moves to the Los Angeles area, rents a house and Dick sets himself up as a free-lance actor. They have a couple neighbors (Richard Dawson and Chita Rivera) who are actors and they become the new supporting cast.

The network, for economy reasons, forced Dick to shoot the show here, in their existing facilities, and abandon his expensive Arizona headquarters. So Dick is a commuter now. He's rented a furnished apartment in Studio City, flies in on Sunday nights, does the show, goes back to his Arizona digs Friday afternoon.

There was another reason, besides economy, why the brass wanted the show done here. This way, producer and resident-comedy-genius Carl Reiner is always on call. When they filmed in Arizona he might be there and he might not. When they needed him, he wasn't always at hand. Now he is.

The cast was struggling through a scene which obviously needed work. It was wordy and had long stretches of arid chit-chat.

"This is like working with amnesia victims," Dawson said. "Somebody says a line and everybody does off."

"These lines are so contrived," Hope Lange said. "It's like an old Mario Thomas script."

"Better get Carl down here," Dick said. Somebody called Carl. They waited a few minutes and then Carl strolled in. He had them go through the scene. He watched, stone-faced, and made little notes on a pad.

"I think I'll play the scene in cutters," Hope said, when they had finished. "Anything to get a laugh."

"All right, don't get excited," Carl said. "Now, we can cut here and cut there — those lines can go — and if we skip from page 23 to the middle of page 27, that'll go better. Now suppose we add a bit —"

And he invented a very funny routine for Dick. He's like a doctor as he cuts and slices and builds and cures. The crew nods appreciatively. This was what was missing last year in Arizona. There was no script doctor, and very often the patient died.

Now the script is doing well and the show has been taken off the critical list. It remains to be seen whether the public likes it — if not, there could be a quick relapse.

Saigon Would Send Troops Into Cambodia

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnam said Wednesday it would send both air and ground forces to Cambodia if necessary to protect its own security in the event the Cambodian government collapsed.

Expanding on a statement Tuesday that Saigon would consider any request from Phnom Penh for help, government spokesman Bui Bao Truc said, "If U.S. air support in Cambodia were stopped and if this created a serious situation that could harm the security of Vietnam, we certainly would respond to the request."

Asked how it would be determined if the security of South Vietnam was threatened, Truc said, "If Cambodia were going to collapse then the security of Vietnam would be affected."

Teacher Takes Students Into 'World Of Politics'

HONOLULU (UPI) — An American Studies teacher who says he "can apply government to any aspect" of a student's life, has invented a unique program to take his kids out of the classroom and into the "real world" of high-pressure politics.

Joel Merchant, 29, makes politics and government come "alive" for his junior high school students at a private boarding school with an innovative program called "Hawaii State Legislature Assignment."

For the entire 60-day legislative session, his 80 eager students climb aboard a bus bearing the words Mid-Pacific Institute, and take a 10-minute ride to the $26 million state Capitol.

A native of North Smithfield, R.I., Merchant admits "relevance has always been a big issue for me." Speaking in complex sentences and articulate phrases, Merchant asked, "What else could I do? I can't put the kids on a plane for Washington, D.C., and the courts are so hard to get into."

The legislative branch at the state level, which Merchant describes as the "closest to the people," was the logical choice.

Students Keep Busy Describing himself as a "theoretical academician," Merchant remains an advocate of old-fashioned book learning, coupled with "getting out of the classroom and into the real, outside world."

His students at the small boarding school just outside Honolulu choose a partner, and must select a bill which most interests them. Some "start off absolutely bewildered," Merchant said, and say they don't have an interest. Merchant remains unimpressed by such arguments, saying, "I can apply government to any area of their lives." And he does, whether the bill concerns surfing or economics.

For the next 60 days, the students visit the state Capitol at least once a week, talking with staffers, visiting with legislators, interviewing lobbyists and following their bill "every inch of the way." They must discover who favors and opposes the bill, and why, and what effect its passage would have.

Between visits to the Capitol, the students read newspaper articles, view films, hold discussions and do intensive research into the legislative process.

Emphasis On Reality Merchant said, "I attack them with government. They are ripe and vital... I simply rush at them with politics and what it means."

He talks theory, but with an emphasis on reality. "Government, he said, "affects us day to day. The students begin to learn to look at politics and to find out what politicians do, and why they do it, who they are and the realities of participatory democracy. It's vital," Merchant speaks with sincerity and experience, some of it gained while registering black voters in 1965 in Selma, Ala.

His students, after initial fear, find out that "politicians are people who can be talked with. Most of them take it as an assignment, but many really get into it. It becomes a part of their lives."

FRIDAY, JUNE 29
Your birthday today: Make the most of current benefits. Be ready for late-in-the-year challenges, abrupt changes when require original approaches. Relationships need your deliberate attention all year. Today's natives are versatile, frequently unconventional.

Aries (March 21-April 19): Bring in anyone who can contribute to group effort today. Much loose advice is offered from all sides by people who lack insight.

Taurus (April 20-May 20): Any promise made now tends to become expensive later. Ongoing projects are subject to delays.

Gemini (May 21-June 20): When you must wait, talk matters over with a confidante, or meditate them. Perspective emerges, from which effective plans can be formulated.

Cancer (June 21-July 22): You have to take the lead, quietly but effectively. Family and friends are likely to complicate any program.

Leo (July 23-Aug. 22): Impulsive responses to provocation will not lead to desirable results. You're better advised to keep personal concerns private.

MY FAVORITE ICE CREAM
 (Makes 1 gallon)

7 eggs
 1/2 cup white Karo
 1/4 teaspoon salt
 1 1/2 cup sugar
 1 pint whipping cream
 1 tablespoon vanilla

Beat yolks and whites separately. Beat yolks until white, a long time. Beat whites until they stand alone, this is important. Add half of sugar to yolks and beat. Add rest of sugar to whites, beat, then add both egg mixtures together. Add Karo, cream, salt and vanilla. Pour into freezer and freeze.

NOTE: Add 2 ripe mashed bananas and 1 cup pecans, for banana nut. When freezer starts freezing around the can good. Finish freezing and let set one hour — makes it better.

HEAVENLY HOT FUDGE SAUCE
 1/2 cup butter or margarine
 3 cups sugar
 4 ozs. unsweetened chocolate
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1 and two-thirds (1 tall can) evaporated milk

Melt butter or margarine in top of double boiler over boiling water. Stir in sugar gradually, about 4 tablespoons at a time, being sure sugar is completely moistened after each addition. Mixture will become very thick and quite dry. Add salt slowly and stir in milk a little at a time. Serve over plain ice cream.

FRESH PEACH ICE CREAM
 3 cups scalded milk
 2 cups sugar
 1 quart rich milk, or half and half
 1 tablespoon vanilla

4 tablespoons flour
 1 teaspoon salt
 4 cups fresh peaches
 4 eggs

Scald milk and add the sugar mixed with the flour and add the beaten eggs and cook until all will coat a spoon. Add the rest of the ingredients and last the crushed fruit. Let the first mixture cool before you add the fruit and just before freezing, add a few drops of red food coloring, for that blush pink color so beautiful in the finished product. Add the rich milk and the vanilla flavoring.

ICE CREAM (For the Diabetic)
 1 tall can evaporated milk
 2 eggs, slightly beaten
 2 to 3 teaspoons Sucaryl
 vanilla to taste

You may heat milk and eggs in double boiler until it coats a spoon. Then add rest of ingredients and freeze until stiff. Beat until fluffy with a mixer. You may add drained diabetic fruit and return to freezer.

RIOT BREAKS OUT
CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI) — A riot among prisoners at Nevada State Prison broke out because one inmate became irked when another received a larger scoop of ice cream, the warden reported.

Five inmates were injured and $1,000 in damage occurred during the disturbance.

Warden Edwin Pogue said the incident began when a black inmate received a bigger scoop of ice cream than the white prisoner behind him in the food line.

Alanreed Woman Shares Favorite Summer Recipes

By BOBBYE COMBS

On a sunny day this summer serve Shoyu Chicken. Delicious Salad, Fruit Salad or Caramel Pie, just a few of the recipes Mrs. Lucy Goldston of the Alanreed Home Demonstration Club has 'tucked' away in her files of family favorites, and is sharing with us today.

Hobbies of Mrs. Goldston, who has resided near Alanreed for 33 years, are molding plaster, stretching bottles, and making ash trays and candy dishes from the bottles by firing them in her kiln. At the present time, she is making a suit of hog skins.

Mrs. Goldston is the mother of five sons, one daughter and nine grandchildren.

By MRS. LUCY GOLDSTON SHOYU CHICKEN
 2 to 2 1/2 lbs. frying chicken
 1 cup soy sauce
 2 T. minced onions
 4 t. garlic powder
 2 t. powdered ginger
 3 T. sugar

Cut chicken in serving pieces. Mix other ingredients together and pour over chicken. Let stand overnight stirring once or twice. Take chicken out and put in a 9x13 baking dish and bake one hour at 350 degrees.

DELICIOUS SALAD
 1 large or 2 small boxes orange jello
 1 cup sugar
 3 cups water
 15 oz. can crushed pineapple
 Large container of Cool Whip
 1 cup nuts
 Parmesan cheese

Mix jello, 2 cups of water, sugar, pineapple and cook for five minutes. Add 1 cup cold water. Let set until thick. Add cool whip, nuts and mix well. Pour into bowl and sprinkle parmesan cheese on top. Let set overnight. This keeps for several days.

CUCUMBER SALAD
 Dissolve 1 package lime jello in 1/4 cup hot water. Let set until it starts to jell. Whip and add 1 cup diced cucumbers, 1/4 cup diced onion, 1 cup mayonnaise and 1 cup cottage cheese. Whip together well. Let set at least one hour before serving.

tor for a quarter acre. Match the mower to your size lawn.

If you really want the best lawn on the block, be prepared to spend money, hours and hard work. Grass can be truly beautiful if you want to pay the price.

But if you want an attractive expanse of lawn, few weeds and time to enjoy home and garden here are the secrets of a basic beauty lawn.

Use mowing strips to keep grass in a neat line around flower beds, shrub borders and other cultivated area. Walks, bricks set level with the soil, rotproof wood all work well.

Avoid small, chopped-up areas of lawn which are difficult to cut, especially with larger power mowers.

Remove grass from around the base of individual trees. Replace it with permanent organic mulch, ground covers or gravel as much. This saves hand trimming time and avoids bruising tree trunks when mowing close in.

CUCUMBER SALAD
 Dissolve 1 package lime jello in 1/4 cup hot water. Let set until it starts to jell. Whip and add 1 cup diced cucumbers, 1/4 cup diced onion, 1 cup mayonnaise and 1 cup cottage cheese. Whip together well. Let set at least one hour before serving.

tor for a quarter acre. Match the mower to your size lawn.

If you really want the best lawn on the block, be prepared to spend money, hours and hard work. Grass can be truly beautiful if you want to pay the price.

But if you want an attractive expanse of lawn, few weeds and time to enjoy home and garden here are the secrets of a basic beauty lawn.

Use mowing strips to keep grass in a neat line around flower beds, shrub borders and other cultivated area. Walks, bricks set level with the soil, rotproof wood all work well.

Avoid small, chopped-up areas of lawn which are difficult to cut, especially with larger power mowers.

Remove grass from around the base of individual trees. Replace it with permanent organic mulch, ground covers or gravel as much. This saves hand trimming time and avoids bruising tree trunks when mowing close in.

All-American Beauties

By Sheila and Allan Swenson NEA Garden Columnists

Three new, beautiful and prolific roses have been named All American selections this year.

Electron, Gypsy and Medallion were selected last June after proving themselves to judges in test gardens across the United States. Plants will be available for home gardeners this year.

The three roses are all hybrid tea types. They have performed well under all types of climate and geographical conditions of the country, according to the award panel.

Electron is a bright pink, beautifully shaped bloom which seems to have an almost neon glow. Intensely pink flowers stand out from other blooms around them. It has large, fully double, highly fragrant flowers on compact, bushy plants of medium height with dark green foliage.

Gypsy is a gleaming, brilliant scarlet with classic rose bud and flower shape. In addition the fragrance is light and spicy.

Medallion is among the largest of any variety to win an All America Rose Selection title. Blooms are 6 to 7 inches across in a blending of cream, pink buff and faint yellow. When fully open the rose is like a water lily masterpiece, the judges noted.

This winner is very vigorous, growing 4 to 6 feet tall with many long 12- to 18-inch bloom stems, ideal for cutting. It also is fragrant with a spicy, fruity aroma.

Medallion is surprising, not only for its beauty, but for its abundance of blooms in all trial gardens last year.

All three selections will be in moderate supply this year. From the enthusiasm shown during judging, these three new roses deserve a place in many home gardens.

Dear Abby

Doesn't want to apply for daughter's hand

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-H. V. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Cindee and I want to get married, but we have one small problem. Her father. He wants to be sure I will be a good provider. He is the personnel manager of a large company and he says before he decides, I will have to submit three letters of recommendation.

I know this sounds silly, but he is serious. I don't think getting married should be like applying for a job.

I feel certain I can support a wife but I don't think I should have to dig up any references. What should I do?

APPLICANT IN SEATTLE

DEAR APPLICANT: Would Cindee's father have submitted to such mumbo-jumbo to win her mother? After all, you're not marrying Boeing Aircraft. If you want Cindee and Cindee wants you (and you're old enough), tell her dad you'll do your best to support his daughter but the letters of recommendation are out.

DEAR ABBY: Several months ago I was seriously injured in an accident. While still in the hospital and in such shape I was wondering whether I'd pull thru, I received flowers from the owners of a local funeral home! I can't tell you how this depressed me.

A few days later, these two morticians and their wives came to the hospital to visit me. I knew these people only slightly and had never socialized with them.

I think trying to drum up business this way is in very poor taste. I can't imagine what other reason they would have for sending flowers and visiting me.

How do you feel about morticians hustling prospective customers this way?

ANGRY

DEAR ANGRY: Such hucksterism would annoy the Funeral Directors Association more than it depressed you. For your convenience, their address is 135 W. Wells St., Milwaukee, Wis. 53203. The ethical morticians would appreciate it if you'd report these duds.

DEAR ABBY: About two years ago I met an accountant in a bowling alley. Every night we'd have a few beers together and we became good friends. One night my friend told me his sister had invested in some stocks and had a very good week financially. Since I was going to make a deposit in the bank the next day, I suggested to my friend that I would give him $1,000 instead to invest in the stock market.

The next day I gave him $1,000 in cash, in my car (no witnesses), and since we were friends I didn't ask for a receipt or anything.

We agreed that we would split the profit from the stock 50-50—half for him because he was an accountant and knew about stocks, and half for me because it was my money.

Then I started to work nights and couldn't bowl, but I kept in touch with him by phone. After a year and a half, the stock remained the same, so I told him to sell it and return my money.

You guessed it. I was stuck! He said I couldn't prove anything as I had no receipt.

I went to three lawyers and they all told me to chalk it up to experience. Can you help me get my money back?

STUCK IN AMSTERDAM

DEAR STUCK: If three lawyers told you the same thing, you had better believe it. It seems a pity that you have to suffer such a grave injustice, but without some proof of the transaction you are indeed stuck.

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY

The American Legion Auxiliary met for a Dutch Supper at the Furr's Cafeteria for their regular meeting June 21st. Mrs. Libby Shotwell, president, presided and after the supper the "Pledge to the Flag" was given followed by invocation by Mrs. J.M. Turner. The group gave the Preamble of the American Legion Auxiliary in unison.

Mrs. Turner, treasurer, gave the report of the Poppy sale with $378 raised. Guests for the meeting were friends who had helped with the Poppy sale, they were Mrs. Jess Hatcher, Luther Gise, Leora Rose, M.C. Dorman and Josie McGaughy. Mrs. Georgia Mack also helped with the Poppy sale but was not present at the meeting. Mrs. Shotwell read a report of the first Poppy sale in Pittsburg, Penn.

Two new members of the Auxiliary are Mrs. Jack Graham and Mrs. Walter Purviance.

1973 dues will be collected until September then 1974 dues will begin. Mrs. Shotwell told of the National Auxiliary dues had gone over the goal as had Texas Auxiliary.

A nominating committee named were Mrs. J.M. Foster, chairman, with Estelle Wheeler and Mrs. Lee Harrah.

The group will not meet in July but will continue their regular meetings in August.

IT FINALLY SURFACED

SPARTA, Ill. (UPI)—It took two weeks, but a hot summer day finally drove a shy boa constrictor out of hiding.

Rudolph Schuessler of St. Louis had transported the snake in his car to a friend's house in Kansas City, Mo. But the six-foot reptile disappeared en route. It surfaced in the trunk of Schuessler's car recently as the temperature neared the 90-degree mark.

Dedmon-Gilbert Vows Repeated In Miami

Miss Sandra LaVon Dedmon became the bride of Mickey Dale Gilbert, Sunday, June 17, at 4 p.m. in the First Christian Church at Miami. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Bob Dedmon of Miami. Henry Gilbert of Sudan is the father of the bridegroom.

THE CEREMONY

The Rev. L.O. Sharp of Anchorage, Ak., uncle of the bride, officiated for the double-ring ceremony. Mrs. Cecil Martin, organist, played traditional wedding music and accompanied Miss Laurel Maddox as she sang "Always," and "Whither Thou Goest." The "Twelfth of Never," was played as the mothers were seated.

Vows were repeated before two six-branched candelabra decorated with greenery and a centerpiece of spring flowers. Honor pews were marked with ribbons of the bride's chosen colors of spring pastels.

THE BRIDE

The bride, given in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I," avowal, presented her mother a long-stemmed pink rose and a kiss as she approached the altar. She was attired in a formal length gown of satin covered with Chantilly lace and sheer lace sleeves styled with a lace neckline and empire styled waistline. Her veil of imported bridal illusion was trimmed with matching lace and fell from a coil of white roses. Her bridal bouquet was of split carnations with pastel streamers atop a white Bible. She carried pennies bearing the birth dates of the bride and bridegroom.

For something old, she wore a heirloom pin of the bridegroom's family; something new, was her wedding gown; and something borrowed was a ring belonging to the bridegroom's family. She also wore the traditional blue garter, a gift of her paternal grandmother, and a penny in her shoe.

Following the ceremony, the bride presented the bridegroom's mother with a long stemmed rose and a kiss.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. Sharon Holland, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor and Miss Priscilla Bentley of Lubbock and Mrs. Joan Nix of Seminole were bridesmaids. All attendants wore identical street length dresses of double knit in pastels colors with empire waistline and stand-up collar. Each carried a long-stemmed carnation matching her dress.

Miss Diana Burris of League City, sister of the bridegroom, was flower girl. She was attired in a pink dress matching the other attendants.

Candelighters were Miss Cindy Wallace of Lubbock, niece of the bridegroom. They wore dresses in blue identical to the other attendants.

Harvey Willeby of Sudan, served as best man. Groomsmen were Tim Nix of Seminole and Monte Roberts of Sudan. Mike Dedmond of Miami, brother of the bride, and Ronnie Gilbert of Sudan, brother of the bridegroom, were ushers.

MOTHERS

The bride's mother wore a street length dress of white and green double knit and white accessories. The bridegroom's mother wore a blue and white suit with white accessories. Each wore white carnation corsages.

MRS. MICKEY DALE GILBERT
...nee Miss Sandra LaVon Dedmon

RECEPTION

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. Miss Laurel Maddox provided music selections. The serving table was covered with a multi-colored cloth and topped with a hand crocheted cloth fashioned by the bride's paternal grandmother. The three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with fresh flowers, cupids and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Mrs. Lloyd South of Miami, assisted at the punch bowl and Miss Rita Guill served the cake. Miss Sharlene Powell, sister of the bridegroom registered the wedding guests.

For the wedding trip to Amarillo, the bride wore a two piece street length suit of burgandy. She chose white accessories and lifted the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

They will make their home in Lubbock.

AFFILIATIONS

The bride is a 1973 graduate of South Plains College and will attend Texas Tech in the fall. The bridegroom attended Ranger Junior College, South Plains College and will be a senior at Texas Tech.

PRE-NUPTIAL EVENTS

The bride was honored at a gift coffee in Sudan, hosted by friends of the bridegroom.

Another shower was held in the dorm at South Plains College by classmates of the bride.

Friends of the bride honored her with a surprise lingerie shower in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Heare in Miami.

A miscellaneous shower was also given at the Baptist Church in Miami.

The rehearsal dinner was hosted by the bridegroom's parents at Red Keys Steak House in Pampa.

The bride is the maternal granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Ray, and the paternal granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. S.A. Dedmon all of Pampa.

Petroleum Producers Could Lose Retail Outlets Control

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Thomas J. McIntyre, D-N.H., introduced a bill Wednesday to force producers and refiners to give up their retail outlets. He warned a handful of giant corporations were trying to dominate the petroleum industry.

The McIntyre bill would prohibit oil firms from marketing refined oil products, such as gasoline, while also engaging in one or more of the other branches of the industry—oil production, refining and transportation.

"Not only must they be prohibited from totally controlling the marketing segment of the industry but they must be required to divest themselves of the stations they presently operate," McIntyre said in remarks prepared for Senate delivery.

The measure would punish violators with fines of up to $100,000 for each offense.

McIntyre said it was a "clearly recognizable fact that there is now under way a definite movement by a number of major oil companies to attain control over the marketing segment of the oil industry."

George Washington, a giant of his time, stood six feet two and weighed 200 pounds.

Brezhnev Mounts Two Humps In Summit Visit

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Attention foreign leaders: The American summit has two humps.

Leonid I. Brezhnev, general secretary of the Communist party, climbed both of them when he was here. He spent most of his time on the mountain with President Nixon, which is where foreign leaders ordinarily do business in the United States.

But Brezhnev also spent an extraordinary 3½ hours with representatives of Congress—and that is the second hump in the summit. Congress has given away a lot of power to the executive branch in foreign policy, but it still holds the trump card on Brezhnev's desire to sell Soviet goods in the American marketplace.

He can sell practically nothing if Congress does not approve a bill giving "most favored nation" trade concessions to his country. And Congress has made it clear it will grant no such concessions until Brezhnev grants a few elementary civil freedoms—particularly the freedom to leave the country—to Russia's 2 million Jews.

Brezhnev Finds Fact
That is why Brezhnev had members of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and other members of Congress in for vodka and caviar at Blair House last week. That is why he spent all afternoon with them. And that is why he spent the afternoon talking about substantive issues, not just exchanging pleasantries.

Brezhnev has recognized a fact that some American presidents have refused to recognize: That the presidency is not the only source of power in the United States.

Congress must play a part ultimately in bargains—not only trade, but on a number of other issues in which the Constitution assigns it a role.

European leaders, for instance, might be advised to keep Congress in mind when they discuss with Nixon the continuation of U.S. troops in Europe this fall, in view of the backing Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., is receiving for his campaign to bring half the troops home. The same applies to countries bargaining for more foreign aid.

Vietnam Changes Roles

In the years during and after World War II, congressional attitudes were not a major factor in summitry because they nearly always coincided with presidential viewpoints. These were the heady days when presidents and key members of Congress consulted frequently and arrived at common decisions in advance of international diplomatic arrangements, like the Marshall Plan and the Truman Doctrine.

But the Vietnam War has brought about a fundamental parting of ways between the executive and legislative branches that apparently neither side is willing to settle behind the scenes. There is a certain two-headedness about American foreign policy in the 1970s, and it is just something that foreign leaders will have to get used to.

Is this duality necessarily wrong? Perhaps it does bother Henry Kissinger to have Congress order an end to the bombing of Cambodia while he is trying to achieve a negotiated peace—removing his "bargaining chips" as they say.

But it can also be argued that it is useful to have Congress applying pressure of its own on negotiations. Its insistence on American withdrawal from Indochina might produce a greater willingness on the part of South Vietnam and Cambodia to come to terms with their adversaries. Its pressure for disengagement from Egypt can bring about a greater willingness among the NATO allies to begin sharing a greater burden of the defenses.

And, in the case of Brezhnev and the trade bill and Soviet Jewry, Congress is playing the classic parliamentary role of human rights advocacy, however troublesome that may be to Brezhnev and Nixon in their quest for detente.

In Switzerland the states are known as cantons.

Buried Treasure Tales Related During Hearing

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Tales of buried treasure in Aztec gold hidden in New Mexico — of which the Treasury Department is skeptical — has popped up in the Watergate hearings.

John W. Dean III was telling the Watergate panel about a luncheon attended by him, former Attorney General John W. Mitchell and former White House Chief of Staff H. R. Haldean.

Dean said Mitchell remarked to the group that criminal lawyer F. Lee Bailey had a "problem" he would like to bring up — specifically "a client who had an enormous amount of gold in his possession and would like to make an arrangement with the government whereby the gold could be turned over to the government without the alien being prosecuted for holding the gold."

Later, a spokesman for Bailey said the clients—more than one person—proposed to deliver to the Treasury Department 292 bars of gold, each weighing 80 pounds—all part of an old Aztec treasure supposed buried on the White Sands, N.M., rocket range.

It is against the law to own gold except in the form of teeth, rings, watches and a few other forms.

Queen Starring In TV Comedy

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — The reigning queen of the American theater is starring in a television situation comedy.

It's as if Elizabeth II had turned scullery maid.

But Julie Harris, who has won four Tony Awards for her Broadway performances, appears to be surviving.

"Someone once told me that a good definition of actors is that they are somnambulists without recollection," she said. "I'm not sleep-walking however."

Julie is perched on a couch in her rented mountain-top home above Hollywood. Her long, reddish-blond hair hangs straight below her shoulders. Her blue eyes, set in a freckled face, were pensive—as always.

A Youthful Image
Long revered by other performers and the darling of critics, Julie is disarming. Her five-foot, four-inch stature gives her a youthful image.

"I don't think I'm an exalted person," she said, sipping a glass of ice tea. "That's for kings and queens. I've been lucky to have worked in some wonderful plays."

Luck is a loose word when applied to Julie's performances in "Member of the Wedding," "I Am a Camera," "The Lark," "Little Moon of Alban" and "The Last of Mrs. Lincoln."

Now she is co-starring with Richard Long in "Thicker Than Water," the new ABC-TV half-hour sitcom.

"I'm enjoying it," she said with conviction.

A Couple of Emmys
Julie also won a couple of Emmys, for "Little Moon of Alban" in 1959 and "Victoria Regina" in 1962.

"I feel as if I'm doing live television once more because our show is shot in front of an audience," she said. "Whether it's television or movies or theater it's my obligation to always do the best I can."

"I love the discipline of playing the same character and having to be at the same place every day. In a play I am able to sharpen the character in every performance. It's the same thing with my character in the television series. We all work to improve our parts.

"Our humor in 'Thicker Than Water' is genuine, not a string of gags. And I like the sense of belonging in a long-run engagement whether it's on Broadway or a television series.

"When I first came here to make the pilot for the show, I wanted to be certain I could be proud of my work. And I am."

Weather-vane
One of the earliest weather-vanes invented looked exactly like today's airport windsock. It was a fixture of the first primitive golf courses in Scotland, when golf balls were stuffed with feathers and a golfer had to keep one eye on the ball and one eye on the windsock.

Castro Accepts Invitation For Visit To Yugoslavia

BELGRADE (UPI) — Cuban Premier Fidel Castro accepted an invitation from President Tito Wednesday to visit Yugoslavia, the national news agency Tanjug said.

"It will be a pleasure for me to visit Yugoslavia, and I hope to do it soon," Castro told a Tanjug correspondent in Havana. "I have no doubt that I will be greeted as a welcome guest."

Government sources in Belgrade said the first meeting between Tito and Castro will represent an improvement in often cool relations between nonaligned Yugoslavia and Moscow-oriented Cuba.

One of the major political differences between the two leaders in recent years was Castro's approval of the Soviet-led Warsaw Pact invasion of Czechoslovakia in 1968. Tito bitterly opposed the invasion.

Cuba and Yugoslavia have maintained diplomatic contacts since even before the Cuban revolution, but Communist party contacts in the past have been kept at a minimum.

Wilmington: People pressured but not overwhelmed

Wilmington, Delaware (pop. 80,386) was founded as Fort Christina in 1638 by the Dutch and was later renamed by some of Penn's Quakers. Its location in the hilly region at the junction of the Brandywine, Christina and Delaware Rivers afforded the easy transportation and waterpower that turned Wilmington into the industrial giant it is today.

By TERRY ZINTL

The mood of the people in the Wilmington area is probably similar to the mood in other parts of the country where things are changing rapidly — a sometimes wry, sometimes painful feeling that their lives are running out of their control.

The community being the sum of the individuals who live here, the community mood is the sum result of the circumstances affecting those individual lives — whether a man gets along with his wife, how his job is going, whether or not he can afford to pay his bills. The Watergate fascinations and troubles us, but it may be peripheral to the more immediate question of how well we are able to live.

The quickest way to get an answer to that question is to adding up their grocery bill.

The most persistent thing on people's minds is that it costs a lot more to live in Delaware than it did five years ago. Food is exorbitantly expensive. Electricity rates have jumped twice in the last three years. The market for housing both sale and rental is so tight in this area that real estate values have skyrocketed past any real relation to value.

The growth and development have brought other problems. The county sewers are so inadequate that people find their basements flooded every time there is a heavy rain. Pressure for commercial development is so intense that almost every zoning hearing features a procession of civic associations fighting to save their neighborhoods from another supermarket or shopping center. Bulldozers are presently stripping land on the outskirts of the city for construction of a beltway.

(Fourth in a series)

If a photographer went to Barley Mill Road at Kennett Pike, one woman wrote last week, "he might still have a chance to photograph the few remaining beautiful old trees lining the road before they too are decimated to make way for Super Delaware 141."

Then he could entitle it "What price progress?" and send a copy to the highway division. And then he too could sit down and cry.

In addition to the physical and financial changes, people are being asked to change their relationships with other people. A man's relationship with his wife, his children and the people he passes on the street are no longer taken-for-granted matters. He is being asked to rethink each of them, to reconsider who he is, who they are.

People are pressured by all this, but they may not be overwhelmed by it. Wilmington is a small city in a small state, so there is still a feeling of being a part of something tangible. By and large, people are friendly and helpful to each other rather than suspicious and resentful.

In one sense, the social revolution of the last decade has paid a dividend in that people also seem more open to things they might find strange. Wilmington is much better integrated and tolerant than it was even a few years ago. Stripped of so many of our illusions, at least we seem much less rigid in attitudes and more willing to live — and let live — as best we can.

Figures of Man

Sculptor, Malvina Hoffman made a group of 101 figures showing the races of man. Her collection is in the Hall of Man of the Field Museum of Natural History in Chicago.

The Almanac

By United Press International Today is Thursday, June 28, the 179th day of 1973 with 186 to follow.

The moon is approaching its new phase.

The morning stars are Mars, Jupiter and Saturn.

The evening stars are Mercury and Venus.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Cancer.

American composer Richard Rodgers was born June 28, 1902.

On this day in history:

In 1894, Congress declared Labor Day a holiday... the first Monday in September.

In 1919, the Treaty of Versailles was signed, officially ending World War I.

In 1971, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that the use of public funds for parochial schools was unconstitutional.

In 1972, President Nixon announced that no more draftees would be sent to Vietnam unless they volunteered.

WRONG BUTTON

CINCINNATI (UPI) — John Parker of North Carolina heard more than wedding bells last April, and the incident cost him 360 days in the workhouse and a $1,000 fine.

Parker, 52, in town for his daughter's April 14 wedding, told Municipal Court Judge Donald Montfort he was celebrating the occasion and thought he pushed a traffic crosswalk button as he walked down a city street.

Instead, Parker set off a fire alarm.

Commission Rejects Ban On Killing Most Whales

LONDON (UPI) — A move by the United States to ban the killing of whales and save the mammals from extinction failed this week at a meeting of the 14-nation International Whaling Commission.

The commission voted 8-5 to prohibit killing whales for commercial purposes, but the vote fell one short of the necessary three-fourths majority for passage. There was one abstention.

Officials refused to disclose how individual nations voted. Other conference sources said those who opposed the U.S. move were Japan, the Soviet Union, Iceland, Norway and South Africa.

It was a ding-dong fight all day and by the end we were hardly talking to each other, one source said.

Chief support for the United States was said to have come from Britain, Australia, Argentina and Mexico.

Despite the defeat, the commission was expected to make drastic cuts in quotas for catching the fin whale, the world's second largest whale.

Laird will make Nixon accessible

Write-Off of Huge India Debt to U.S. In Works?

By Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON — Another huge giveaway to India is in the making. It will likely amount to hundreds of millions of dollars. That's the real purpose of Ambassador Daniel Moynihan's carefully unpublicized return to Washington "for consultation."

One Check-Rein Whatever the White House and State Department may agree to, Congress will have the last word. Any deal changing existing loan and other aid pacts with India will require congressional approval.

France has a problem

Juvenile delinquency spoken here

By ROSETTE HARGROVE PARIS — (NEA) — Juvenile delinquency is unfortunately as much of a problem here as in other countries. Recent statistics show that in France juvenile offenses increased 147 per cent over the last six years.

Daily in France over 250 minors are implicated in a variety of crimes. Thefts come first with 70 per cent, robbery shows 10 per cent, mugging 15.6 per cent, offenses centering on automobiles 14 per cent, with sexual crimes 4.7 per cent.

What is it that incites certain adolescents to commit a crime? Since the appearance back in 1960 of the "blousons noirs" (black jackets) one generation of gallic Hell's Angels has bred others. And what concerns sociologists more is that juvenile crimes are ever more brutal, more ferocious.

Why? Who or what is at fault? How explain the "pleasure of killing" manifested by some teen-agers? Not all the numerous panels even come near to answering the questions.

As the popular evening daily France Soir points out, while juvenile delinquency has always existed, although on a minor scale, an ugly new tendency is now apparent. The transition between minor offense and full-blown crime has been swift. In recent months, the young thief has become an armed thug.

To own a gun, to threaten, to kill has become for far too many hoodlums symbolic of a power which they need and look for.

Mugging is a relatively new development in France. At St. Etienne, a large manufacturing center in the southeast, the police recently arrested a band of offenders responsible for a number of robberies and attacks on women and elderly people. The two youngest members of the gang were aged 10. In a residential district of Paris, a postman was attacked and killed because he refused to hand over his mailbag. His killer was arrested five days later. His age — 16.

The murder of a 16-year-old girl, for which a well-known lawyer in a small mining town of northern France was arrested and spent three months in jail, caused heated controversy throughout France. Since he was freed, one of the girl's schoolmates has confessed that he was the author of the crime. At the time he was just a little over 16.

There are in France groups of voluntary workers whose aim is to rehabilitate youthful offenders. Some are redeemable. The majority are sent to prison or detention homes where they are usually victimized by the unwholesome environments of such institutions. It is interesting to note that no mention is made of drugs or drink in the majority of these aggressions. Addicts, it would appear, fall into an older age group.

M. Louis Savinaud, a retired judge attached to the Paris juvenile court, recently said: "An adolescent is capable of giving the best as well as the worst. Of making sacrifices but also of committing atrocities. The drama of our times is that human life apparently is worthless and this is what influences youthful killers. It is a problem beyond us all."

Criminologist V. V. Stanclou declares: "Delinquency exists in every country, capitalist and Communist alike. Which leads one to wonder whether there is not a common denominating factor? For example, the bitterness of the poor girl or boy who feel outcast in an affluent society."

Mn. Georgie Muers-Aubertin, lawyer and councillor of the city of Paris, believes that "acts of violence committed by the young would occur less frequently if TV and the movies did not so often feature brutal death to spectators of all ages. On the screen, death becomes an abstraction — the dead are unimportant."

There has been much talk of the lack of interest of educators, the weakness or lack of parental authority. The fact remains that many teen-agers say they are unloved and misunderstood. Proof of this is stressed by the authorities who point to the number of "fugueurs"—children who run away from home. Ten years ago, 9,000 were registered by the police. Last year the number was 33,000.

But many parents do not immediately notify the police when a child plays "hooky" for several days, especially if he or she is over 16. Truancy, according to M. Lefevre, head of the minor's division of the Paris police, is a form of contestation.

"The young have acquired an ever-increasing liberty," he declares, "and they rebel more and more against parental authority. The student explosion back in May 1968 which ended by disrupting the entire life of the country, was the natural outcome of a situation which had long been brewing."

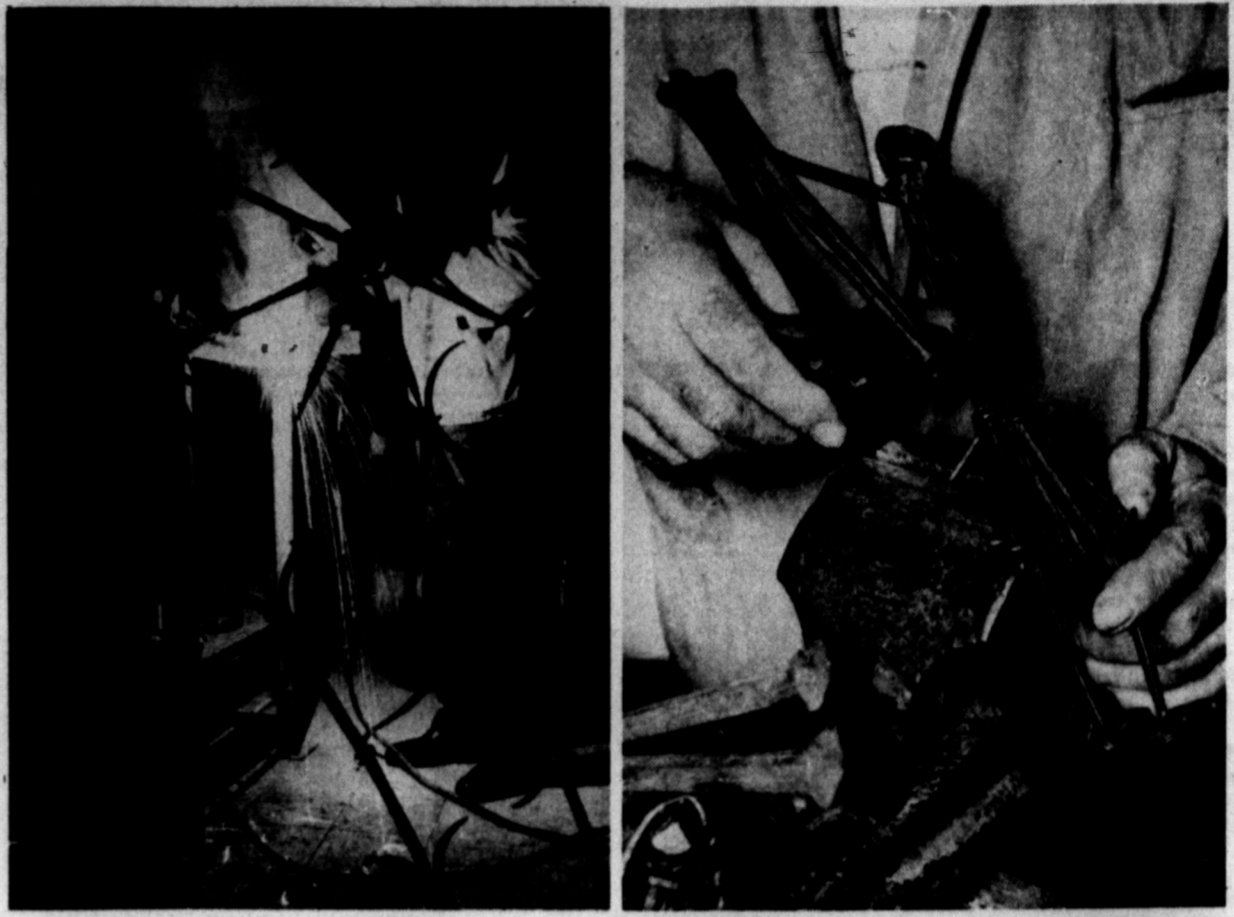

No parents can understand why their child should ever want to leave home. "He was so happy here" is their invariable comment. But both mother and father see less and less of their offspring. Back from work, they switch on TV, until bedtime. No possible opportunity to talk.

All this may explain why the "commune" idea has taken root in France where 300 were registered in 1972, each grouping a minimum of 10 followers.

Police say that 60 per cent of truants are traced or return to their homes after 48 hours. Where have they eaten? Slept? The younger take refuge in cellars attached to every apartment in the skyscraper complexes around Paris or else break into what once was the servants' quarters on the 6th floor of buildings in the wealthier districts.

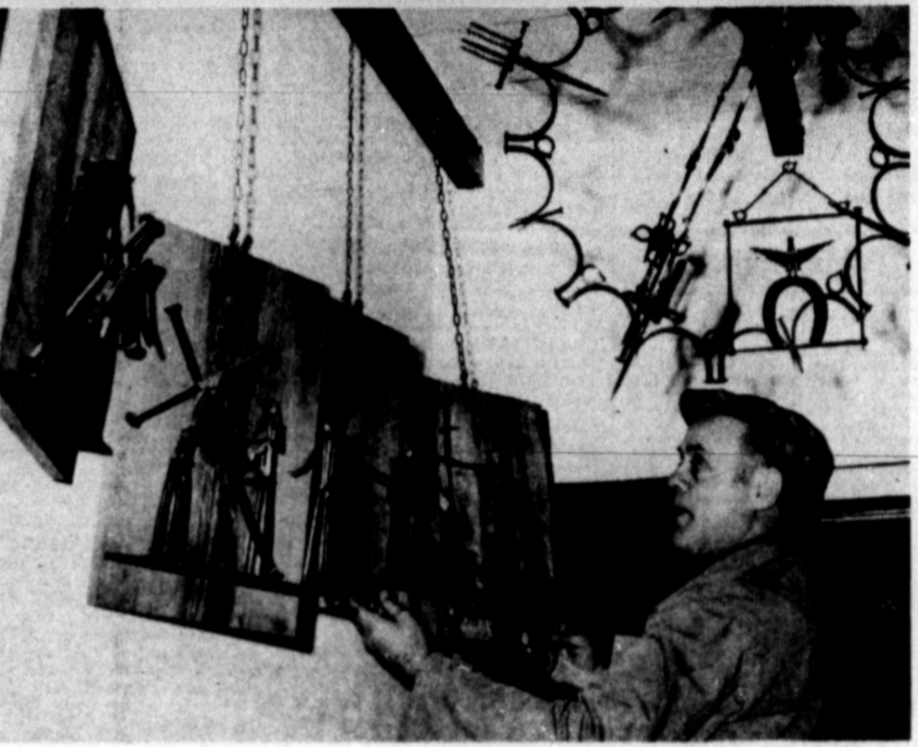

A sign of the times perhaps? There are said to be far fewer cases of truancy due to "puppy" love or failure in exams at school (between 10 and 12 years old). Most hooky-players go off on the spur of the moment and 60 per cent are traced and brought back to their parents, eventually, sometimes even after 12 months.

A while back, Patrick, a 14-year-old, was missing for three days. He explained why: "I am quite fond of my parents. But family life is dull and we scarcely ever talk. When I have a problem they are not interested. If they watched TV less I surely would be happier." Now that he has come back he hopes that "things will not be quite the same as before."

'Nail Sculptor' Of Rome

is the title of Amble Sonaglia, shown at work in his Rome studio-workshop. Sparks fly, upper left, as he begins work on a new project. With just a few tools he fashions nails into figurines, upper right. He displays, right, some of the works from his "Way of the Cross" collection. Sonaglia fashions Madonnas, angels, mirror frames and wall pieces from nails. Recently he found some nails believed to be two centuries old. He fashioned a work he calls "Flight into Egypt," which he presented to Pope Paul VI.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Lorna almost died! But thousands of other children (as well as adults) do so, just because they weren't trained in how to solve the everyday problems of life. You parents should take the tests below and see if you can rate "Superior" thereon!

CASE X-546: Lorna B., aged 9, is an only child.

"Dr. Crane," her grandfather protested, "Lorna almost drowned while attending a picnic.

"For it was warm weather and the children began wading in what seemed to be a shallow stream.

"But during a previous high water mark, it must have eroded some deep holes.

"For Lorna stepped off into one.

"Since she couldn't swim, she was in a panic, choking on water as she kept rising and sinking.

"A Boy Scout finally rescued her, but she was then unconscious, so he had to perform mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to get her breathing again.

"Dr. Crane, please warn all parents to vaccinate their children against these common dangers!"

For this fear of submerging the face is the first hurdle to overcome.

Then go to Step No. 2, which consists of letting him float face down in the water, while you again start counting.

When you go to the beach, extend this to step No. 3, where he dog paddles a few strokes with face submerged, but always in shallow water where his hands reach the bottom as he lies face down.

Step No. 4, involves having him stand erect, then as you give the signal, he falls face downward but holds his breath.

He will probably go completely underneath but instantly his body will rise and he'll get the "feel" of the buoyancy the water offers.

Now count while he tries to dog paddle with face submerged.

Step No. 5 involves the same but let him lift his face out of the water and breathe as he dog paddles.

Even if he can swim but a few feet, that is usually enough to get a person back to shallower water when he steps into a deep hole.

Or to the overturned boat, to which he can cling till help arrives.

(2) Teach your kiddies how to smother fire if their clothes get ignited.

(3) And how to light a match, Japanese fashion, by pushing it away from the body.

(4) Same for whittling with a jackknife.

For further test items, send for my "Tests for Parents," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents. Let your kiddies rate you, too!

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Worry Clinic, Hopkins Bldg., Mellon, Station 1918, Easton a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Now urge your youngster to take a few deep breaths; then hold the last one and merely submerge his face under water while you start counting slowly out loud.

That first time, he may lift his face by the time you say "one-two-three," so be liberal with praise.

Then have him try it again, to see if he can stay under till you at least count off 10 seconds.

Investment Chatter

NEW YORK (UPI) — Walston & Co. says last week's decision by the administration's Committee on Interest and Dividends to ease corporate dividend restrictions should be good for the market. The firm says the decision will "give good common stocks more appeal when competing with other forms of investment" and "aid retired people who need yield."

With the Committee on Interest and Dividends' decision to ease dividend restrictions, Bache & Co. says it is time to get rid of some of the poorer quality stocks and hold onto the solid ones. The firm says, "We continue to emphasize the better quality growth stocks for the longer term and suggest caution over the near term, especially in low priced issues."

While there have been some news events to encourage market investment, the trend in stocks still is downward, according to the Dines Letter. The firm says "we cannot escape the conclusion that despite intermittent rallies, the tide is still going out."

Despite the recent decline in the market, there are numerous "bullish" signs around, according to the Spear Market Report. "For example," the firm says, "if all Dow companies raised their dividends to permissible limits and were the Dow to command the same 'yield' as it does today, the popular averages would once again be on cloud nine at 1,000 plus."

KKK Candidate Would Aid Poor

HOUSTON (UPI) — The imperial wizard of the Texas White Knights of the Ku Klux Klan promises to spend part of his salary on the poor if he is elected mayor.

"I will give away my mayor's salary to someone less fortunate than I," Scott Nelson said. "There's a lot of hungry people and I would like to buy groceries for them every week."
