Big 4 Study Plans For Europe Security

Ministers' Ideas Studied In Fifth Formal Session

By MERRIMAN SMITH
GENEVA — UP — The Big Four heads of governments met Thursday in the fifth formal session of their summit conference to receive their foreign ministers' plan for future efforts to reunite Germany and create European security system.

The summit leaders then plunged into the problem of armament—third item of their four-point agenda.

They had become deadlocked Wednesday on the first two items, and passed on to the foreign ministers the problem of finding a means to keep alive the study of unification of Germany and European security after the summit conference ends.

Thursday's summit session convened at 3:30 p. m. (8:30 a. m. est) — half an hour earlier than usual — to receive a report on the arrangements agreed upon earlier Thursday by the foreign ministers.

Propose October Date

It was understood the West proposed an October meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers to resume the study of the twin problems.

Reliable sources said the ministers will recommend Geneva as the conference site, a compromise between U. S. proposals that it be held in New York and Soviet proposals of a Moscow meeting.

Informed sources also said the West proposed inclusion of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) members on the permanent study group. They said it was to discuss this point that NATO supreme commander Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther was called to Geneva from Paris by the President.

The U. S., British, French and Soviet foreign ministers met for one hour and 45 minutes in the Palace of Nations to consider how to keep the deadlocked reunification and security issues alive.

Agree on Plan

Reliable diplomatic authorities said they agreed upon a plan, but details were withheld until the summit leaders met.

The foreign ministers gave no press briefing after Thursday's meeting and issued only a brief, non-committal communique saying they discussed the directives given them by summit leaders Wednesday and would report back to the heads of governments at 3:30 p. m. This they said would enable the summit conference to begin its study of disarmament at 4 p. m.

Diplomatic sources provided a brief summary of the plan offered by the West for continuing unification and security planning.

Lowering Of Iron Curtain Is Expected

By K. C. THALER
GENEVA — UP — A four-power agreement on lowering the Iron Curtain between East and West was confidently expected Thursday to result from the Big Four summit talks.

The conference scheduled formal discussion of "development of contacts between East and West" as one of the four main items on the agenda.

Conference sources predicted that an understanding was almost certain to be reached on this point, but it would be done by slow stages.

Observers said the talks would set only the broad outlines of the scope of future contacts between the East and West which have been divided for nearly 10 years.

Behind the move lies the assumption that direct contacts between the two camps might prove one of the most effective ways to relax international tension.

East and West still have widely differing ideas on the nature of such contacts and on how they could be usefully set up and developed.

But both President Eisenhower and Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin have indicated that they attach importance to easing the barriers between the two worlds.

Both Britain and France stand solidly behind the United States and are prepared to go along with any moves for the lowering of the Iron Curtain and easing communications between East and West, conference officials emphasized Thursday.

Vaccine Awaits 'Shooting' Plans

Ray Evans, treasurer of Gray County Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, was the first county representative to pick up the Salk polio vaccine from the City Health Department in Amarillo yesterday.

Evans received 1,116 shots of the 1,200 ordered for Gray County, and also received vaccine for Wheeler and Hemphill Counties.

County Health Officer Dr. Joe W. Gates indicated that Knox Kinard, superintendent, would be a "key figure" in the program administering second shots to first and second graders of the city. Details are not completed.

Kinard said that "...facilities are available to expedite program, at any or all of our schools." When contacted by Dr. Gates, Kinard plans to administer the shots through the four principals now in town and teaching personnel.

Harold Miller, chairman of the county foundation, pointed out that enough vaccine had arrived for everyone, and that a few have previously received second shots. Miller stated, "If they don't get second shots by making arrangements, the vaccine will be returned to the foundation."

The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis gave the vaccine to the state, as requested. It is now being distributed to counties and cities throughout the region by local chapters.

COURTESY PAYS, POLICEMEN FIND SKOWHEGAN, MAINE — UP — Giving "courtesy" tickets to overtime parking violators from out-of-state has paid off handsomely for the Skowhegan police department.

Motorist J. R. Denkert of Johnstown, N. Y., received a ticket and sent Police Chief Albert E. Dionne a thank you letter and two footballs, a dozen baseball gloves, a volleyball, two basketballs and boxing gloves. Dionne is considering turning the police department into an athletic club.

Solon Plans New Military Reserve Bill

WASHINGTON — UP — A Senate Republican leader said Thursday congress will present a workable military reserve program to President Eisenhower even though it will fall considerably short of all the administration sought.

S. Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass.), senior Republican on the Senate Armed Services committee, said the compromise measure should be "reasonably acceptable" to the administration.

The compromise was tentatively agreed to Wednesday by a Senate-House conference committee and was to be adopted formally Thursday.

Under the new plan, youths entering military service after amendment of the reserve bill would be compelled to serve a total of six years in the active forces and in the ready and standby reserves.

But men now in service would be exempt from reserve service, if they volunteer, however, they could reduce their period of active training.

The administration had wanted all those entering the service since the Korean truce to be forced into the reserves. It also wanted to make the length of a youth's overall military obligation eight years instead of six.

Other developments:

MINIMUM WAGE

The House passed 362 to 54 Wednesday a bill raising the minimum wage from 75 cents to $1 an hour. It rejected 188 to 145 an administration move to substitute a 90-cent figure. Both House and Senate have agreed on the $1 level, but the Senate's bill would be effective next Jan. 1, two months earlier than effective date of the House bill.

YUGOSLAVIA

The Senate Appropriations committee has demanded that aid to Yugoslavia be cut off unless Marshal Tito permits American observers to see how fully the aid is being used in his country. Total military and economic aid to Yugoslavia is nearing the $1 billion.

Senate investigators called General Manager Kenneth E. Fields of the Atomic Energy Commission and Chairman J. Sinclair Armstrong of the Securities & Exchange Commission for questioning Thursday about the roles of their agencies in the Dixon-Yates contract. Chairman Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) of the monopoly subcommittee ordered fields to appear after he failed to keep a promise to produce all AEC memoranda involving the contract and its cancellation.

MCCARTHY

Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) told the Senate Wednesday that the United States has cooperated in the "Communist game at Geneva... to convince the world that the western alliance is the real source of world tensions." He also said the West faces a "stunning propaganda defeat" by less President Eisenhower focuses (See SOLON, Page 2)

Judge Refuses To Throw Out Giles Charge

By O. B. LLOYD JR.
AUSTIN — UP — District Judge Charles O. Betts refused Thursday to throw out their charges against former Land Commissioner Bascom Giles and defense attorneys then presented their first witness, who testified he did not think the state got cheated.

Giles is charged with stealing $6,800 from the state in a transaction in the $100 million veterans land program, which he headed. His attorneys asked Betts Thursday for a directed verdict of acquittal.

Betts overruled the motion and defense attorneys then called Lenox Ligon of Llano, who said he was a rancher, appraiser, and a farm and ranch manager, as their first witness.

Ligon said in his opinion the 10,000-plus acres Rosewood Ranch in Kinney county was worth the $33,000 the state paid for it. He said the property had a reasonable sale value of between $25.50 and $35 an acre; the state paid just under $34 for it.

However, under cross-examination by District Attorney Les Procter, Ligon said the ranch has a type of bush growing on it which is poisonous to goats.

No Assents to Goat Raising

He said that was not necessary, but agreed it was not an asset. "They (the goats) don't eat it where they grow up in a country with it," Ligon explained. He also said after prolonged questioning by Procter that he would not recognize the ranch as "good cattle country."

He and Procter tangled over Procter's insistence that Ligon deny the ranch was "good cattle country." (See JUDGE, Page 2)

Mayor Wins Round In Ouster Fight

HOUSTON — UP — Mayor Roy Hofheinz, whom city council is seeking to impeach out of office, won a preliminary first round Thursday in his court battle to stay in office.

District Judge Ben Moorhead filed a new petition attacking impeachment proceedings initiated by the eight-man city council last Friday, on additional grounds.

Move vital still, the new petition, supplementing a plea for a permanent injunction against the city council, asks that Councilman Mayor Pro Tem Matt Wilson be enjoined from acting as mayor and the city council be restrained from entering any new motion, order, resolution or ordinance seeking to remove the mayor.

Promised New Action

City councilmen, who charged the mayor with six counts of "misconduct, inability and willful neglect" in office when it suspended him for 30 days last Friday pending impeachment proceedings Aug. 4, threatened Wednesday to call a special meeting Thursday and suspend him again — if Judge Moorhead ruled in the mayor's favor.

The city council acted last week under city charter provisions for impeachment of the mayor and Hofheinz' new petition Thursday attacks in great detail the whole charter provisions as "unconstitutional."

Miller Trial Verdict Due

BRATTLEBORO, Vt. — UP — A federal jury was to begin deliberations Thursday in the trial of Manuel Miller, accused of holding off U. S. marshals at gunpoint for 12 hours when they came to take his wife to a mental hospital.

The jury was expected to get the case in U. S. district court following final arguments Thursday morning by the prosecution and defense and the charge from Judge Ernest W. Gibson.

Miller, 47-year-old former Bethel selectman, rested his defense Wednesday on charges of obstructing justice. He admitted he had bought a rifle to protect his wife from a commitment order.

Miller and his wife Lucille, 44, were tear-gassed from their Bethel home May 3 during the siege.

Mrs. Miller was taken to a Washington, D. C., mental hospital and declared competent to stand trial on charges of advising youths to dodge the draft. The mother of three was convicted on 18 counts in the same court last week. She faces sentencing Aug. 8.

Miller admitted during the third day of his trial that he bought the Winchester rifle "because I thought I might need it" after he heard a court order turning Mrs. Miller over to the attorney general's custody.

Sen. Johnson Lauds Hobby

WASHINGTON — UP — Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, a target of several Democrats for the past several weeks, drew praise Wednesday from a very influential Democrat.

Ailing Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson praised the outgoing secretary of health, education and welfare as a "devoted public servant who has dedicated her outstanding abilities to our people."

The Texas senator is recovering from a moderately severe heart attack at the Bethesda, Md., Naval medical center.

Acting Democratic leader Earl C. Clements (Ky.) placed Johnson's statement in the Congressional Record.

Johnson said that Mrs. Hobby "faced up to challenging problems and met them with the calm dignity of dedicated selflessness that has been the hallmark of her career."

Mrs. Hobby has been criticized by several Democrats, including National Chairman Paul M. Butler, for her handling of the Salk polio vaccine program.

Two Masked Gunmen Rob New York Train

NEW YORK — UP — Two masked gunmen held up a moving New York Central mail train Wednesday night in a mid-Manhattan version of the great train robbery but missed the big money shipment and made off only with eight bags of cancelled checks.

The brazen young bandits passed up eight more bags containing $2,700 in coin, police said, apparently because they reasoned the lighter bags must be full of bills.

The youths, described as in their 20s, confronted railway express messenger Thomas Mason, 60, of Buffalo, N. Y., with drawn pistols near 42nd St. shortly after the 11-car train pulled out of the West 33rd Street station bound for Albany. They wore white handkerchief masks, Mason said.

"If you open your mouth, we'll kill you," Mason quoted them.

"They asked where the money was and I told them 'it's in those bags over there,'" Mason said.

Mason said he was alone in the next to the last car when the two youths confronted him. "At first I thought they were fooling with me — that they were just a couple of wise kids," he said. "I wasn't frightened until I saw the guns."

The gunmen handcuffed Mason's hands behind his back with his own handcuffs, "jammed his cap into his mouth to keep him from crying out and tied his feet with rope. One of the men emptied the bullets from Mason's gun as an added precaution, he said. Then they jumped off the slowly moving train with the mail sacks.

Mason began kicking on the side of the car as soon as the men left. A fellow trainman heard the noise and pulled the emergency cord, stopping the train.

Tall Blonde Picked Miss US In Contest

LONG BEACH, Calif. — UP — Statuesque Carlene King Johnson, a 22-year-old jewelry designer, will compete as Miss United States Thursday night against 32 foreign beauties in the semi-finals of the Miss Universe contest.

The tall, blonde beauty gasped with excitement Wednesday night when nine judges chose her "Miss United States" from among four other finalists who had been selected from 15 semi-finalists Tuesday in the final contest Friday night.

With the Miss U.S.A. title, Carlene won a $200 per week contract at Universal-International Studio, a pearl necklace, a sterling silver compact and a gold trophy.

"I'm very happy. I hope I'll be a credit to the United States in the international competition," she said with a smile.

The blue-eyed Vermonter is five-feet, eight-inches tall and weighs 122 pounds. Her measurements are 35-24-35. She confided she is a typical Vermont Republican.

In her home town, Rutland, she is nicknamed "Muscles" and "Slugger."

She said she thought there is no ideal age for marriage. She said she has no boy friends.

"When a girl is ready and mature enough she'll marry," Miss Johnson said. "It's different in different sections of the country."

When asked about her prospects in the Miss Universe contest, she replied, "I just don't know what to think about it."

Miss Arkansas Margaret Ann Haywood, said she was happy she won second place in the Miss United States contest because she now can enter the Miss World contest in London in September.

Mr. Peepers' 'Comeback' Is Success

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — UP — Comedian Wally Cox made a big comeback Wednesday night at the swank Dunes hotel where he recently was fired for laying the biggest entertainment egg since five-figure contracts were introduced at this gambling resort.

The bespectacled Mr. Peepers of television recouped last week's flop with a new, revitalized act that drew a resounding ovation from the audience in the hotel's casino and put him back on the payroll under a new contract.

When the shy, grinning comic walked from the stage after the show the audience gave him a one-minute ovation, proving he had "cut the mustard" on his second chance. The audience also voted three-to-one in favor of his comeback act on ballots provided by the hotel.

"We are all happy Wally went over so well," said Dunes entertainment chairman Alfred Gottesman. "He's a grand fellow."

The hotel announced Wednesday it would give Cox a second chance to the headline act to "see if he can cut the mustard," even though it had filed a $250,000 suit against the comedian's agents for loss of business at Cox's first appearance here last week.

Gottesman said the hotel gave Cox the comeback try because of a flood of protests from Mr. Peepers' TV fans.

Hill Predicts $1 Wage Bill Will Be Passed

By HERBERT FOSTER
WASHINGTON — UP — Chairman Lister Hill (D-Ala.) of the Senate Labor committee predicted Thursday that the Senate and House will iron out their differences and enact a $1-an-hour minimum wage bill before congress adjourns.

Hill said he would seek a compromise conference with the House rather than accept the version of the bill which the House approved Wednesday.

Both the Senate and House approved the $1 minimum, ignoring pleas that the wage floor should be only 90 cents. The present minimum wage is 75 cents an hour.

But the Senate bill would be effective next Jan. 1, two months earlier than the effective date of the House measure.

There were also other differences between the two bills. Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.), chairman of the subcommittee which held hearings on the Senate measure, said he would fight to restore a section raising the minimum wage in Puerto Rico.

"If the House bill prevails, it will greatly increase the differential between mainland and Puerto Rican wages," Douglas told a reporter. "This will lead to a great exodus of industry from the mainland, especially the women's garment industry. That would be unfortunate, and we shouldn't accept the House provision."

U.S. Reports 565 New Polio Cases

WASHINGTON—UP—The U.S. Public Health Service said Thursday 565 cases of polio were reported in the nation last week. That was an increase of almost 40 per cent over the previous week, but still far below the 1954 polio rate.

The health service said a 40 per cent jump in the number of polio cases is not unusual at this time of the year, when the disease is building toward its hot weather peak. Last week 406 cases were reported.

During the second week of July last year 1,053 cases were reported.

The report did not appraise what effect the Salk vaccination program may have had on this year's polio toll.

Every section of the country except the Rocky Mountain States showed increases in polio last week over the previous week. Individual states which showed relatively large increases included New York, Massachusetts, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, North Carolina, Kentucky and Arkansas.

Education Courses

There has appeared in recent years a remarkable shortage of personnel in the teaching profession. Cries of the NEA and the professional habitues of what pass as our halls of learning indicate that the reason for this dearth of professional material is simply that few would-be teachers will put up with the small salaries they would earn.

We have it now, on what we consider to be valid authority, that those who would teach are not solely motivated by the desire to amass wealth. This has re-kindled in us a belief in our fellow man. Someway, we've never been quite able to accept the idea that those who would make the imparting of knowledge their life's work were motivated by—crass—materialistic ambitions related to Cadillacs and TV sets.

But the drought of human material is present, and a suggestion has been made as to at least one of the reasons for it.

The courses taught at our leading institutions of higher learning, which pass muster as "education courses," fall so far short of teaching anything about how to educate as to be an insult to one's intelligence.

In these parables of persuasion, the neophyte is indoctrinated with the following classic rules for transferring the wisdom of the ages into the craniums of his charges.

He is to be kind, considerate and cooperative. He is to see to it that his students are comfortable. As to discipline, this is a matter for democratic action. A vote will be taken of teacher and pupils to determine the rules to be followed. A proposed universal lesson plan book is supposed to furnish and present the material in any specific course.

But any ideas the individual teacher may have relating to the subject of the method of instruction are politely but kindly ruled out. Is it any wonder that a great many would-be instructors gag at the thought of making themselves into intellectual molds so that the plastic minds of their students can be die-cast?

The thesis of the "new" education for educators appears to be that it is more important to know how to teach than to give a hang about what is to be taught. The assumption is, of course, that human behavior of all students is to be standardized. It is to be governed according to rules laid down by these psyché scientists of psychology who vision a world with every man cast in the Freudian image. Any who depart from the norm are quickly branded as neurotic and in short order become outcasts. Pariah is the new name for the individual who would THINK, whether he seeks to teach or be taught.

Since little, if any, emphasis is placed upon the subject matter to be taught, we find that teachers of the new order, to succeed, need not know their subject. We can see, in fact, that too much knowledge in a given field might tend to undo them. There is to master their own dispositions so that whatever the little ignoramuses in their care do, they will remain kind, cheerful, cooperative, and keep the little monsters comfortable. Whether they learn anything is beside the point.

We can only conclude that the reason our schools and our teaching profession have fallen to this dreadful low is that it fits the hands of the professional collectivists like a glove. Dictators in every age have feared knowledge accumulates only in the mind which is used by the man who owns it. If our teachers and their students can be carefully spoon-fed so that their intellectual processes are atrophied, then there is a chance for the politicians to dominate and take over without too great a fear of opposition.

Time was when the professor of a given subject was the man who knew the most about that subject. Today, the professor is supposed to have a degree in "education" and be able to control and homogenize a bevy of uninformed, and normally curious young people in a static condition of circuitous argumentation which proves that nothing is so.

Well, what can you expect with the political pro taking over and running our schools?

The other day I saw a picture of American society women in mink stoles, fawning on Molotov in San Francisco just after the Russians had shot down one of our planes. It was pretty nauseating. If these ladies had any knowledge whatever of the degradation that Communism has forced upon females the world over, they would have taken off their pretty satin evening slip pers and beaten Molotov over the head with them. Of course, this wouldn't have been polite. But Molotov had just made a speech in suiting our country while he was a guest here. That wasn't polite either. Any book of perfect behavior says that the guest who insults his host should be tossed out on his ear.

Treaties Versus The Constitution

If readers are to intelligently present arguments about the absolute need of the Bricker Amendment, they must be informed. A new look which costs $1.00 called "Treaties Versus the Constitution" by Roger Lea MacBride will briefly give them that information. It can be secured from Caxton Printers, Ltd., Caldwell, Idaho.

The "New" Bricker Amendment "Section 1. A provision of a treaty or other international agreement which conflicts with this Constitution, or which is not made in pursuance thereof, shall not be the supreme law of the land nor be of any force or effect.

"Section 2. A treaty or other international agreement shall become effective as internal law in the United States only through legislation valid in the absence of international agreement.

"Section 3. On the question of advising and consenting to the ratification of a treaty, the vote shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for and against shall be entered on the Journal of the Senate.

"Section 4. This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several States within 7 years from the date of its submission."

Mr. MacBride seems to think that the third section, which requires ratification of the treaty by Congress, is unnecessary. It seems to me that it is not necessary to have the record, although it would hurt nothing other than slow up legislation. It seems more important that two-thirds of the Senators should vote for it — not just two-thirds of those present.

Opinions

Professor Arthur Sutherland, of the Harvard Law School, cites the case of President Coolidge and his Senate, who

"...evidently thought a treaty could prevail over at least one amendment. In 1924 the United States entered into a treaty with Great Britain which allowed British ships to bring intoxicating liquor under seal into the waters of the United States although the Supreme Court of the United States had held during the preceding year that the Eighteenth amendment prohibited such importation."

Then the author writes: "Judge Allen, of the Sixth Circuit, in a recent book quoted the passage from the Holland case stating that an 'existence of national well being' might call for a treaty—sponsored increase of Congressional power, and said: 'This seems to hold that a treaty does not have to conform to the Constitution. The question should not be allowed to rise.' She later suggested a constitutional amendment to forestall any such possibility."

Vermont Hatch, a member of the American Bar Association's Peace and Law Committee, reflected the views of the Bar association committee, which felt that:

"The only effective answer, from a long-range viewpoint, to the abuse of the treaty power is an appropriate constitutional amendment which will permit the federal government to operate effectively through treaties in the traditional international field between governments, but at the same time prevent their misuse with reference to the rights and powers of the several states of the United States, and the rights, privileges and immunities of citizens of the United States."

Then Mr. MacBride writes: "The meaning of the words used in connection with the treaty power in the Constitution, as best they can be interpreted by a study of the intentions of its authors and by a review of contemporaneous opinion, is one thing. The meaning of those words as explained by the Supreme Court in recent years is quite another. It is what is what could have been said in 1919."

"Article VI of the Constitution in no way implies that treaties are to be valid even if they contravene constitutional provisions. The actual meaning of the article is reprehensible thus: 'All three types of legal mandates of the federal government — this Constitution, Congressional acts not in conflict with it, and past or future treaties — shall not be disobeyed by the states; and state judges shall apply these legal mandates regardless of the state laws or constitution.' The form in which the article is cast leaves it open to the interpretation that state judges are entitled to decide whether a statute of Congress conforms to the Constitution, but are not empowered to decide an asserted conflict between a treaty and a Constitution."

"Article VI is then irrelevant to an inquiry as to the standing of treaties in conflict with the Constitution. Limits on the treaty power must be found elsewhere.

"Reason and history demand the imposition of limits. The power to make treaties is but one of the powers delegated by the Constitution to the federal government, and resting as it does in grant, it is on no higher footing than the other delegated powers."

"It seems to me that the mere expression of the thought that the states' representatives in the convention created a government which could indefinitely strengthen itself or change its form, contrary to the written principles embodied in the creating instrument, refutes it."

"It cannot be thought that the states which refused to ratify the Constitution unless a bill of rights were passed would have regarded this as satisfactory protection against the acts of both houses of

TVA'S Hold On Valley Cities Broken By Memphis Action

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — A generally unknown factor behind the decision of the City of Memphis officials to sever their association with the Tennessee Valley Authority and to build their own utility system is that the Mississippi River port and cotton center will have $1,500,000 annually in the process. And it was the Dixon-Yates proposal which made possible this severance and saving.

Like every other municipal and co-operative customer of TVA, Memphis rates for use and distribution of Federally generated power are fixed by the TVA Board. Under the original contract, however, Memphis was allowed to impose a 15 per cent surcharge on the more important customers. The annual revenue amounted to $1,500,000.

Many other cities and electric co-ops in TVA territory collect a 10 per cent surcharge, which pays their local expenses in handling TVA power. In view of the fact that TVA is subsidized by Uncle Sam, and pays no taxes, the rate to consumers was not increased too heavily by addition of the surcharge.

TVA authorities recently ordered Memphis to eliminate the surcharge, which would mean a serious loss of revenue to a rapidly expanding city of 400,000. In the midst of this controversy, came the Administration proposal that Dixon-Yates intercede supply Memphis with power now furnished by TVA, in lieu of energy which TVA must turn over to atomic plants.

Refusing to accept Dixon-Yates electricity, Memphis decided to build its own utility plant. When Mayor Frank Tobey gave a firm promise to that purpose on his recent visit to the White House, President Eisenhower canceled the contract with Dixon-Yates.

Mayor Tobey's demeanor and remarks on his visit to Washington suggest that he was only too happy to break off connections with TVA. The issue of municipal finances and taxes will figure heavily in his forthcoming re-election campaign, especially as many business interests in Memphis and West Memphis, Ark., favored the Dixon-Yates deal.

It is also probable that many other "captive cities" within the TVA empire may follow Tobey's example. Under their contracts

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M. D.

The nails of the finger and toes usually serve us well giving much needed strength and support to the ends of these digits. Unfortunately the nails are susceptible to a great many disorders and can cause a lot of trouble.

They may act up following injury, disease elsewhere in the body, disorders of the skin in general, deficiencies in the diet, and local conditions which act on the nails alone. The nails can become thickened, horny, easily split, soft, too thin, or deformed in any one of several ways.

There are a large number of possible causes for disturbances of the nails. Irritation from neglect, dirt, or poorly fitting shoes or gloves may be responsible. Certain diseases of the internal glands sometimes cause abnormalities of the nails.

There is a disease of the nails resulting from inflammation around the base of the nail or the nail-bed. This is the result of infection with germs and its common name is whitlow.

A single nail may be involved — or all of them. This results in ridging and sometimes the nail separates and falls off.

The treatment, of course, is to attack the infection. In extremely severe cases, the nail may have to be removed before the infection can be cleared up.

Splitting of one or all of the nails is a common complaint. Its cause is usually obscure. Ringworm can affect the nails and may be difficult to cure.

PSORIASIS IS ANOTHER skin disease which may cause nails to become pitted and deformed. While spots or streaks can appear in the nails. The latter are most common in young people, and on fingers rather than on the toes.

All these diseases of the nails require accurate diagnosis, but unfortunately many of them are difficult to cure.

Pegler Marvels At Wonder Of Trans-Oceanic Flight

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

PARIS — Like most airports, Idlewild International, New York, has the sloppy aspect of a cheap resort. It is a strange paradox that a new achievement of man, one of his greatest feats, is based on his most dismal public facilities. Few airports are even fairly attractive. Most of them are foul.

The overseas traffic at Idlewild is a miracle commonplace in most eyes. Yet, the DC-3, with two engines, our first public "All-metal" ship, was the thunderbolt of the years just before the war; and she was much too small to make it to Europe. Possibly, as she boasted, the DC-3 could not burn. Neither can these great, symmetrical masses which now carry thousands over the ocean every day. But it couldn't matter less. Gasoline is still the fuel.

After 10 years, inter-continental flight is so casually accepted that men who drive the planes and those who keep the machinery fine and the planes apart in clouds and darkness are almost alone remembering that there is a truly miraculous business. Let us admit that people can't stay forever in awe of the fact that spinning blades can lift 75 tons four miles up and pull this burden along at five miles a minute. But now so many of these marvels are aloft that the prevention of tiny mechanical breaks, with appalling results, and dispatching and bringing in ships without collision represent a further feat of massive ingenuity.

A train may lie still for hours without danger if an engine conks. A big "French postwar" liner lay dead in the sea for half a day on her maiden voyage. But a flying machine must keep flying until she reaches port or some emergency haven. That is all there is to it. Without momentum, she goes down and momentum is maintained only by a marvelous team of operation and management which has been created mostly since 1945. The crews have no integrity. They lie in pools and come together for single flights by chance. But all of them, pilots, navigators, engineers and the hostesses and stewards, know their jobs so well do them so earnestly that one crew of 10 drawn by chance from the pool, is just about as good as another.

Americans fly to Europe on whims today. To make the trip, assuming the desire and the price, you telephone TWA, Pan American, Air France or, let us say, the British. If one can't accommodate you, another probably can. You may have a preference in ships. Mine is the constellation used by TWA, Air France and some others. I have never tried the converted, pot-bellied air force double-decker with a bar below which Pan American and British overseas fly. It has a good reputation, but I just don't like its looks or the idea of a bar in a flying machine.

At Idlewild on a normal day, you will see a dozen enormous objects come down in an hour with wind whispering through their wings or take off for Europe, Puerto Rico or

South America, blowing with power as the engineer shoves on coal. The porter puts your bags on the scale, takes his tip, the only tip of the journey until you have touched down again across the ocean and you kill time until your flight is announced. Then you walk 100 yards, mount the stairs and, as you cross the threshold, are directed to your seat by a young woman in uniform, probably pretty but in any case, gracious and capable. She will seem to be a veteran of the business, but they marry out of the work so fast that few of them run up much mileage. For that matter, it is harder and harder to maintain the standards of efficiency and the numerical strength of the pool in the men's departments. Flying is less and less an adventurous calling and this appears to have diminished the zest of young men who otherwise might be pounding at the doors.

My TWA Constellation can hold 5,820 gallons of gasoline weighing six pounds a gallon. It can carry 58 passengers, with baggage, and a crew of 10. A ship on another line recently carried two crates of deadly snakes, one of which broke loose. The captain killed it with a hatchet. The fool who put the snakes aboard didn't endear his air line to me.

We had only a fraction of our fuel capacity leaving New York because we were bound for Gander, 1 1/2 hours away to refuel and await orders. The getaway was so different from any ordinary take-off by a big ship in domestic service. However, after Gander, there are no bush-league stripes where a ship can put down and it is plain that the overseas flights are run with much greater care for this reason. Altitudes are assigned, horizontally, 1,000 feet apart, up to 21,000 feet, and ships on the ground are held back until the ships ahead in their assigned altitude levels are well ahead.

Gander was built for utility in war and may "Phase out" of existence when the jets get going. The concrete strip is rough and sagging. From the pressure of thousands of heavy ships. In winter Gander often is warmer than New York, so contraction and expansion are not an unusual factor.

In 40 minutes here I saw ships come and go with the markings of TWA, Pan American, British Overseas and Trans-Canada. We had a moon and for an hour the silver path on the water was broken by dark patches which seemed to be islands. The moonlight became painful and I drew the little curtain. When dawn came, the glare from our left quarter was so bright that Miss Crist, our hostess, quietly drew the little curtain there.

They serve Champagne and other drinks generously, but there has been no trouble with obstreperous customers. Some passengers get an overload in New York or Europe before going to the ship. In such case, the line "Screens" them out until they can be carried without nuisance or risk. There may be a pistol or two among the crew, but that is not regulation.

Emly Post has been my social rod and staff ever since I could address a letter to a defrocked judge who was serving a term in the pokey.

I didn't know whether to use the salutation "Dear Judge," "Your Honor," or simply address him as "Dear No. 3311784."

Since Miss Post straightened me out on that one (the proper salutation is neither of those mentioned but "Dear Feon"), I have turned to her on countless occasions and never found her wrong.

Is it proper for a gentleman to ask a lady to shine his monocle with her petticoat? (It is if the gentleman is driving, if he is quite sure the lady is wearing a petticoat, and if removing his hands from the wheel would endanger them both.)

When visiting friends should the guest leave a tip for the servants on the table after each meal or should he send them a money order or the equivalent in stamps after he returns home?

Is it considered "rude to refuse postage due postcards from newly-made friends?"

When the lone male on a jury goes to lunch with his fellow jurors should he pick up the check or match them for it, and where should he walk? On the outside, the inside, or in the middle with his arms linked with those nearest him?

After all the help Miss Post has given me in the past it may seem a bit ungrateful of me to question her, to quibble with her, but in taking a refresher course by browsing through the latest edition of her social guide I found a bit of advice that should be drastically

Bundle Carrying puts Hank At Loggerheads With Emily

By HENRY McLEMORE

Miss Post says that a gentleman should never carry bundles. What should he do with them? Drop them in the ocean and trust the tides to wash them up close to his home? Grease them and slide them down a hill to his home? Hire a cad, a blackguard, and a cheat at cards to lug them for him? Just not buy anything that won't fit into his pockets or swing from his watch chain?

Could it be that Miss Post means that a gentleman shouldn't carry bundles while walking with a lady? Does she mean to imply that if there are any bundles to be carried the lady should tote them?

No, she couldn't mean that. That would be like Miss Post advocating the extended little finger while holding the teacup or using a small slingshot to get rid of olive pits at the dinner table.

All the ladies I know and walk about with either didn't read Miss Post's book or happened to slip over 'hat page. Go to the supermarket with them and they will, every now and then, carry a box of pepper or a half pound of seedless grapes, but the bags with the potatoes, flour, carried goods, are a watermelon and soda water are my problem.

If all American men who carry bundles fail to qualify as gentlemen, then this country is a hotbed of rakes and scoundrels. The erect, head-held-high carriage so admired by American men is the result of years and years of pushing over bundles they carry to their wives and sweethearts.

I never knew Mr. Post, but I'd like to bet he carried a few bundles in his time.

Date Loaf And Fudge --
Homemade Delicacies

By JANE KADINGO
Pampa News Women's Editor

If you like to make your own candy, Mrs. Tom Callaway has two wonderful recipes — one for a date loaf and the other for fudge. Although she specializes in them at Christmas-time, she makes the candy the year around. And likes to take samples to her neighbors.

Pampans for three years, the Calloways came here from Galveston. Mr. Callaway is a metallurgist and inspector for the St. Louis Ordnance, a government position that keeps the Calloways moving a great deal. Both are native Texans. They have one son, now living in Borger, and two grandchildren.

Mrs. Callaway, who says she likes to cook, began her cooking career at the age of 12. She says her mother was ill quite a bit and she had to cook for the family.

Needlework is another of her "loves." She likes to sew, knit, embroider and do other types of handwork. She used to teach knitting and has upholstered her divan and chair in her home. She says she has knit quite a few dresses, too. She is a member of the First Baptist Church.

DATE LOAF
1 lb. pitted dates
2 cups sugar
1 1/2 cups milk
1 lump of butter
2 cups pecans

Boil sugar, milk and butter until it forms a soft ball in cold water. Remove from fire and add chopped dates, stirring all the time. Beat until creamy, add pecans. Pour out in cold wet mold and chill, or put in wet cloth and roll up. Slice after it cools.

Mrs. Callaway says the date loaf is best when sliced thin as it is very rich. One loaf will serve quite a few persons, she explained.

Dress Up Dressing
For Summer Salad

Summer time is salad time; you'll probably serve some kind of salad almost every day for the next few months. To spark your salads with gourmet touches, the Woman's Home Companion suggests several clever ways to dress up mayonnaise and French dressing:

Start with mayonnaise:
Snappy cream — for cabbage, potato or meat salads. Combine 1/4 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing, 1/2 cup our cream (kind sold by your dairy) and 1 1/2 tablespoons prepared mustard. Beat with rotary beater until smooth. If you like, add 2 teaspoons poppy seeds.

Mint fluff — for fruit salads. Mash 2 tablespoons mint jelly with fork; add 1/4 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing. Whip 1/2 cup heavy cream until stiff, add jelly mixture; beat until smooth.

Caper or Pickle — for fish or egg salads. Combine 1 tablespoon chopped capers with 1/2 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing. Or instead of the capers, add 3 tablespoons chopped sweet pickle and 1 tablespoon of the pickle juice.

Start with French Dressing:
Double Devil — for lettuce wedges and green salads. Combine in bottle 2 tablespoons deviled ham, 1 teaspoon prepared horseradish and 1/2 cup French dressing; shake to blend well.

Savory Parmesan — for tossed green or vegetable salads. Combine in bottle 2 teaspoons Parmesan-style grated cheese with 1/2 cup French dressing; shake to blend well.

Shrimp Gives Good Summertime Meal
Shrimp, marinated in french dressing and spiked with a dash of hot sauce and horseradish, can arouse even the most dejected summer appetite.

That's why so many smart homemakers begin their summer meals with this popular crustacean. Shrimp definitely set the pace for a summer menu.

You may find that shrimp cost more now than last spring when they were so plentiful.

The Agricultural Marketing Service reports that cold storage holdings of shrimp have dropped below normal, resulting in shortages in some inland cities.

Holdings of shrimp are now around 13 million pounds compared with nearly 19 million pounds a year ago at this time.

However, activity in the shrimp fisheries of the Gulf and South Atlantic areas usually picks up in July, so these catches should help to offset the smaller frozen stocks.

Homemakers who wish to turn to fish in the budget priced field will find frozen halibut at the top of the list.

Latest AMS check on stocks shows nearly 13 million pounds in cold storage compared with about 10 1/2 million pounds a year ago.

Strawberries Make Elegant Salad Plates
Strawberries have earned many a state a country-wide reputation for fruit growing.

It would be a real shame to mask the delicate flavors of such luscious berries in any complicated salad dressing. As they are elegant in their own right, why not try serving them in this simple way:

Cover a salad plate with a leaf of lettuce, watercress, or endive. Particularly nice is bib lettuce with its bright green color and crisp but tender flavor. In the center of the leaf place a tiny paper cup filled with the whole strawberries, which have previously been washed and drained, but have not been cut or had the stems removed.

And there is your salad! As simple yet as lovely as any you have seen!

It is fun to experiment with honey flavors when serving it like this. Some people will prefer the strong-flavored honeys; others will want the delicately flavored honeys. Whichever is your preference, you will find that this simple honey dressing is all that is needed to enhance the flavor of these beautiful berries.

A salad such as this is a conversation piece. Just try it to see!

Win Compliments With Homemade Cake

Nothing wins compliments faster than a homemade cake. The roast can be cooked to perfection, creamy sauces prepared for vegetables, but it is the dessert that puts the finishing touch on any dinner.

Especially when the cake is this elegant and aristocratic Marvellous Marble Cake. Very special flavor is provided the cake by a surprise ingredient: Milky Way candy bars. When melted, all the good, pure, wholesome flavors of the candy bars are released, giving the cake new, fresh delicious taste. The Cake is a compliment winner — so bake a Marvellous Marble Cake today.

MARVELLOUS MARBLE CAKE
1 package instant white cake mix
3 Milky Way bars
3 tablespoons milk

Prepare cake mix according to package directions. Melt the candy bars with milk in top of double boiler. Divide cake batter into two parts. To one part, add melted candy bars. Fill two 8-inch greased cake pans by spoonfuls, alternating plain and candy-flavored batter. Bake according to directions on cake mix package. Prepare a lemon filling and serve with powdered sugar or whipped cream. Note: You may find the cake requires slightly longer baking time than indicated on cake mix package. Test for doneness before removing from oven.

FESTIVE HAM SLICE — return to oven for 15 minutes. This provides 4 to 6 servings.

For a festive ham slice serving, place a 1-inch thick smoked ham slice in a shallow baking pan and stick with whole cloves. Sprinkle with 1/4 cup of brown sugar and pour over it 1/3 cup of plum juice. Bake in a slow oven, 300 degrees F. for 1 hour, turning once. At the end of 1 hour, place whole blue plums (1 No. 303 can) on ham and return to oven for 15 minutes. This provides 4 to 6 servings.

Five Fine Ideas
For Sandwiches

Sandwiches for lunch, for picnic time, for snacking — any hour of the day sandwich spreads are in demand. Reba Staggs, home economist, has several suggestions for sandwich spreads to wisely have tucked away in your refrigerator for any one of these needs.

Spicy Ham — Put 1/2 pound of cooked ham, 1/4 cup chopped pimiento, 1 green pepper through food chopper. Add 1/2 cup of chopped celery and mix with 6 tablespoons of mayonnaise. Yield: 2 cups.

Liverwurst-Celery — Mash 1/4 pound of liverwurst and combine with 3 tablespoons softened butter or margarine, 1 cup finely chopped celery, 2 tablespoons chopped green olives and 2 tablespoons mayonnaise. Yield: 1 1/2 cups.

Chipped Beef-Cheese — Cut 1 2 1/2-ounce jar of chipped beef into thin strips with scissors. Combine with 1 3-ounce package cream cheese, 1 teaspoon horseradish, 1 tablespoon minced onion. Yield: 3/4 cup.

Liver-Bacon — Dice 4 slices of bacon and cook until crisp. Trim membrane from 1 pound thinly sliced liver and brown on both sides in bacon drippings, then cook until done, about 5 minutes. Put liver through food chopper. Combine liver, bacon, 1/2 cup chopped celery, 1 teaspoon minced onion, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon pickle relish and 1/2 cup mayonnaise. Yield: 2 cups.

Bacon-Prune — Dice 8 slices of bacon and cook until crisp, pouring off fat as it accumulates. Drain bacon and combine with 1 cup finely chopped, cooked pruned prunes; 2 tablespoons chopped sweet

Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?
A. It comes from the beef chuck. It is identified by the long, thin blade bone it contains.

Q. How is it prepared?
A. By braising. The pot-roast is browned first in 2 or 3 tablespoons of lard or drippings. Then a small amount of liquid is added, from 1/4 to 1/2 cup. The meat is covered closely and allowed to simmer over low heat until tender. Cooking time for a 3 to 5 pound pot-roast is from 3 to 4 hours.

HOMEMADE CANDY — Mrs. Tom Callaway, 720 N. Frost, whips up a date loaf, a rich but tasty candy. Mrs. Callaway also has a recipe for fudge that "melts in your mouth." Made with marshmallow cream, the fudge stays moist and creamy. (News photo)

Vegetables Become An Easy Main Dish

With tomatoes and green peppers plentiful, now is the time to give a number of tomatoes and combine them as the main dish of your meal. By using handy ready-to-serve meats for stuffing, your preparation time is cut to a minimum.

Suggests Reba Staggs, home economist, canned corned beef hash is perfect with either tomatoes or green peppers. For four servings, scoop out the center of an equal number of tomatoes and combine tomato pulp with 1 16-ounce can of corned beef hash. Stuff tomatoes with this mixture, then sprinkle them with grated cheese. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 30 minutes.

Follow this same with peppers. Combine the tomato pulp with the corned beef hash. But before stuffing, parboil the peppers for 8 minutes in boiling, salted water. When stuffed, pour hot water to a depth of 1 inch in the baking dish, then cook for 20 to 30 minutes in a 350 degree F. oven.

Shrimp Gives Good Summertime Meal
Shrimp, marinated in french dressing and spiked with a dash of hot sauce and horseradish, can arouse even the most dejected summer appetite.

That's why so many smart homemakers begin their summer meals with this popular crustacean. Shrimp definitely set the pace for a summer menu.

You may find that shrimp cost more now than last spring when they were so plentiful.

The Agricultural Marketing Service reports that cold storage holdings of shrimp have dropped below normal, resulting in shortages in some inland cities.

Holdings of shrimp are now around 13 million pounds compared with nearly 19 million pounds a year ago at this time.

However, activity in the shrimp fisheries of the Gulf and South Atlantic areas usually picks up in July, so these catches should help to offset the smaller frozen stocks.

Homemakers who wish to turn to fish in the budget priced field will find frozen halibut at the top of the list.

Latest AMS check on stocks shows nearly 13 million pounds in cold storage compared with about 10 1/2 million pounds a year ago.

Strawberries Make Elegant Salad Plates
Strawberries have earned many a state a country-wide reputation for fruit growing.

It would be a real shame to mask the delicate flavors of such luscious berries in any complicated salad dressing. As they are elegant in their own right, why not try serving them in this simple way:

Cover a salad plate with a leaf of lettuce, watercress, or endive. Particularly nice is bib lettuce with its bright green color and crisp but tender flavor. In the center of the leaf place a tiny paper cup filled with the whole strawberries, which have previously been washed and drained, but have not been cut or had the stems removed.

And there is your salad! As simple yet as lovely as any you have seen!

It is fun to experiment with honey flavors when serving it like this. Some people will prefer the strong-flavored honeys; others will want the delicately flavored honeys. Whichever is your preference, you will find that this simple honey dressing is all that is needed to enhance the flavor of these beautiful berries.

A salad such as this is a conversation piece. Just try it to see!

ONLY A WOODEN HORSE

Each morning when Morris Fox opens his little leather shop in Detroit, he's cheered by the sight of "Murphy" standing faithfully inside. For Murphy helps Fox remember those good old days when making harness by hand, with all the fancy trimmings, was an important, highly specialized and proud trade. Murphy is a harness model. He's lost his youthful freshness and no wonder — he's 100 years old. He "worked" for Mr. Fox 50 of those years. Automobiles killed his harness business. Today Murphy just looks on as Fox makes belts, dog collars and holsters for policemen. (Exclusive NEA Photo)

TV STAGE RADIO RECORDS PEOPLE

The Record Shop: If you think most record stars get famous overnight, consider Alan Dale. His big new hit, "Sweet and Gentle," is his 181st record and his current label, Coral, is the 13th record company he's worked for. That's over quite a few nights.

The record business is screwy. Ask anybody. Ask, for example, Mitch Miller. He'll tell you. But Mitch, the boss of Columbia records, will point out a few super-screwed aspects to the record business that many people don't realize.

"It is a very unbusinesslike business," says Mitch. "It is the only business I can think of where the big companies virtually support their competition from the little companies."

There are today dozens of small record companies. Some are doing pretty well. More records are being issued each week than ever before.

It's easy to start a record company, Mitch says. "Just pick up the phone, call Columbia or one of the big companies, and ask to rent their studios. It costs $50 an hour, plus the cost of the tape. That includes the crack engineers we have. You get the same high quality sound we get."

"Then you call us up again, and hire the facilities of our custom record division. That's the manufacturing end. We'll press your records for you. Same material, same engineering as we use."

"It's just as though General Motors would turn over its factory to somebody who wants to make cars. Can you imagine that happening?"

Mitch sat quietly for a moment, his beard quivering as he tried to imagine that happening. Then he thought of something even screwier.

"The record business is the only form of art," he says, "where people are rewarded for imitating. There are some artists who are currently quite popular, who've simply taken a record on a small label and copied it, note for note, and it's become a big hit."

"And everybody goes around telling them how wonderful they are, patting them on the back. It's the same thing as though General Motors would take a Hudson and copy it exactly. Can you imagine that happening?"

Mitch couldn't seem to imagine that happening, either. You must admit, it's a screwy business. Ask anybody.

Mitch Miller is quite excited about his latest discovery, a girl named Eileen Rodgers. She's just cut her first numbers for Columbia, and Mitch describes her voice like so: "It's a low voice, but there's a fur on it."

She'll have to watch that in the hot weather.

Short Playing: Eartha Kitt's autobiography is set to be published in the fall. The life this singer has led should guarantee it a place on the best-seller lists. . . . Denise Lor's newest, "St. Catherine," is based on an old French spinster's prayer. . . . Allegro-Royale has signed 12 young Metropolitan opera artists, in a move to grow with the growth of youthful performers. . . . Roy Hamilton's record of "Unchained Melody" is good, but not up to the way he does the number on a nightclub floor — the very powerful singer appears with a steel chain and breaks it as he finishes the song.

Dick's Picks: Mindy Carson has a lovely rendition of the beautiful old song, "Wake the Town and Tell the People" (Columbia). Others: "Mama, El Baion" (The Paulette Sisters, Capitol); "Guitar Mambo" (The Esquire Boys, DeI); "The Yellow Rose of Texas" (Mitch Miller, Columbia); "The Longest Walk" (Jaye P. Morgan, RCA); "Only You" (The Patters, Mercury); "No Baby Like You" (Chuck Miller, Capitol).

Pleasant albums to stack on your player on a hot night: "Music for a Summer Night" (Boston Pops Orchestra, RCA); "Offenbachiana" (RIAS Symphony, Remington); "The Cavalcade of Music" (D'Artega and His Orchestra, Cavalcade); "Forever the Waltz" (Vienna Bohemian Orchestra, RCA).

For a hot classical night: "Restful GOOD Music" (Stokowski and His Symphony, RCA); Tchaikovsky's "Souvenir de Florence," Op. 70 (Winograd String Orchestra, MGM); Brahms' Serenade in A-Major, Op. 16 (Zecchi and the Concertgebouw Orchestra, Epic).

Mute Kills Wife, Shoots Friends, Dies

DENVER — UP — A 26-year-old deaf mute murdered his similarly afflicted wife, wounded two friends and killed himself in a small kitchen Tuesday night. Blood from his victims splattered his infant son.

Police said Clarence H. Williams sneaked up a stairway, climbed through a window and moved down the little assemblage in an apartment kitchen with six shots from a .25-calibre automatic pistol before pumping the seventh shot into his own right temple.

Williams had recently separated from his 23-year-old wife, Wanda. A note from her was found in his wallet. It said "I've given you four chances," that she did not want to see him again, and not to look for her at the home of a mutual friend, Mrs. Marlene Hindrichs.

But it was in the Hindrichs apartment that Williams found his wife, Mrs. Hindrichs; also a deaf mute, and Robert V. Edwards, 31, who has a speech impediment, gathered around a kitchen table after supper.

Williams' four-month-old son Eugene and 14-month-old son Claude were playing on the floor when the shooting which orphaned them started. Eugene's forehead was covered with blood when the land lady, Mrs. Gertrude Reid, 70, rushed into the apartment in time to see the final shot fired.

Edwards said he thought at first that Williams had only a toy gun. But the first shot pierced his finger and lodged in his hip. Williams then fired at 25-year-old Mrs. Hindrichs, wounding her in the right elbow.

He turned and shot his wife in the left arm, then fired three bullets in her head as she fell at his feet.

Navy Considers Texas Site

WASHINGTON — UP — The Navy said Wednesday it is considering Nacogdoches, Tex., as one of five possible sites for the construction of a jet training base. The base will have 2,000 military personnel and 150 civilians and about 150 airplanes will be stationed there. The other four sites are in Mississippi — Meridian, Vicksburg, Laurel and Jackson.

Navy Escapes Peron Control

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay — UP — Exiled Argentine Navy officers said here Wednesday the bulk of the Argentine war fleet appeared to have escaped from the control of President Juan D. Peron's government.

The Navy officers based their statements on private advices from Buenos Aires.

The officers said they doubted a communique issued by the Argentine Navy ministry in Buenos Aires that the high seas and river fleets sailed Wednesday for training maneuvers.

The officers pointed out it was midwinter in the southern part of the western hemisphere and that regular maneuvers are not held by the Argentine Navy at this time. They added that Peron's government would not have enough time to plan full scale Navy maneuvers since the unsuccessful June 16 revolt.

Geographically, Mexico is a part of North America and is not included in Central America.

Bill To Aid Dope Peddler Is Killed

WASHINGTON — UP — The Senate Judiciary Committee Monday killed a controversial bill which would have granted permanent residence to Nicolo Impastato, convicted Kansas City dope peddler who is fighting a deportation order.

Sen. Price Daniel (D-Tex.) said the committee plans to adopt a resolution Thursday absolving two of its members who have been criticized for sponsoring the measure.

The bill to allow Impastato to remain in the United States was sponsored by Sens. Olin D. Johnston (D-S. C.) and William Langer (R-N. D.). Johnston in particular came under heavy criticism in his home state when Impastato's record became known.

Daniel told newsmen that the committee plans to adopt a resolution Thursday saying that Johnston and Langer introduced the bill to carry out the recommendation of the judge and prosecuting attorney who said Impastato should not be deported because of a conviction for illegal narcotics traffic in 1942.

Daniel said Johnston and Langer acted "without knowledge of the facts the committee developed," including the fact that Impastato was ordered deported for entering the country illegally in 1924, not for the narcotics conviction.

"Any member of the committee might have done what these two senators did," Daniel said. "All they had before them was the court recommendation that Impastato not be deported on the narcotics charge."

"As one who opposes the bill, I want to make it clear that the authors did not have the information that was developed in the committee about his record and various other things," said Daniel. He said the immigration service notified the committee that the bill was not delaying Impastato's deportation. That is being held up by legal action which Impastato has brought, he said.

Oilers Meet Dukes In Pair Tonite In Homestand Debut

Pampa's Oilers, holding tenacity to a one-half game lead in the heated West Texas-New Mexico League race, return home tonight to open a five-day homestand, opening with a doubleheader against the second-place Albuquerque Dukes.

First game of tonight's twinbill will start at 7.

Manager Grover Seitz of the Oilers has nominated Red Dial (12-9) to hurl the first game and left-handed Fred Jackson (0-1) in the nightcap.

Jackson will be making his debut at Oiler Park. He joined the Oilers at the start of the just completed road trip and started two games, losing to Albuquerque, 3-1, in the only game he figured in the won-lost column.

Jackson started the game the Oilers edged El Paso, 5-4 Sunday, but the credit for this game went to Buddy Woods.

Two other new faces will be in Oiler regalia tonight. Dub Grayes, who was acquired from Port Arthur of the Big State League in a trade for Stan Machinsky during the road trip, arrived in town yesterday and is expected to suit out for tonight's twinbill.

Bill Hair, veteran pitcher is due in to use Oiler camp tonight.

Tonight will be "Top of Texas Rodeo Night" at Oiler Park. Two dozen tickets to the coming Top of Texas Rodeo will be given away by the Top Rodeo Association.

Six drawings will be made during the twinbill, three in each game. Four tickets will go to each winner.

The Oilers and Dukes will wind up their series tomorrow night with a single game and then the locals will open a three-game series with the El Paso Texans in the local ball yard Saturday night.

In the just completed road trip, the Oilers won four and dropped seven. All seven defeats were suffered by two-run margins or less.

Knot Hole Club To Be Initiated At Oiler Park

Tonight will be the opening night for the "Knot Hole Club" at Oiler Park.

The Knot Hole Club, which is being sponsored by the Pampa Optimist Club, will be open to all boys 12 years or under.

To become a member of the Knot Hole Club, boys may purchase Knot Hole Club "T" shirts at $1 per. The "T" shirt will admit all members free of charge to all of the remaining Oiler home games.

The "T" shirts will be available at Oiler Park tonight. They are also on sale at Friendly Men's Wear.

A special section for the Knot Holes will be roped off tonight down the right field foul line. Members of the Optimist Club will be on hand tonight to watch over the Knot Hole section and also with "T" shirts for the purpose of sale.

THE OILERS, as you know, return home tonight to open up a five-day homestand and they couldn't have picked a more rugged foe to open the stand than the Albuquerque Dukes, who move in for a doubleheader tonight.

The Dukes are breathing down the necks of the league-leading Oilers, only one-half game out.

The Oilers will be out to revenge the three losses in four games with the Dukes at Albuquerque during the just completed road jaunt.

Those three wins gave Albuquerque a 7-5 edge in season series with the Oilers.

The Oilers, thus will have to sweep the three-game series here to take the lead in the series.

The Oilers are behind with one other team in the league—Lubbock for the season. The Hubs own a 7-6 advantage over the Oilers.

The Oilers lead all of the other five clubs in the season series.

The series with the other clubs, with Oiler wins listed first, are:

Ablene, 7-3
Plainview, 9-6
Clovis, 9-5
Amarillo, 6-4
El Paso, 7-6.

Two Oiler streaks were snapped on the road jaunt just ended but there is one that is still intact.

We're speaking of the attendance streak at Oiler Park.

The Oilers have drawn in excess of 1,000 for eight straight home games and they hope to make it 13 in the stand that starts tonight.

This eight-game streak is some sort of a record, I'm sure, for the Oilers, at least in the past four or five seasons.

The two streaks that were broken during the road trip was the consecutive game hitting streak of Rach Slider and the homerun hitting streak of the Oilers.

Slider's hitting string was broken at 21 by Tom Gallagher of Clovis Saturday night. Slider drew a blank in five trips against Gallagher, who shut out the Oilers that night, 2-0.

The Oiler homer streak was broken at 15 in the first game of the doubleheader with Albuquerque a week ago from last night, the Oilers having hit at least one homer in 15 straight games.

Then you might say another streak was broken when the Oilers suffered their first two shutouts of the season. The Oilers played 79 games before being blanked for the first time, 2-0, in the first game of the twinbill at Albuquerque.

Four nights later the Pampanans suffered their second shutout, also 2-0, at Clovis.

Oddly enough, Red Dial, who is becoming the "hard luck" pitcher of the Oilers, lost both of those 2-0 games.

CONGRATULATIONS TO Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Wilson for their new daughter born Monday.

Wilson, who starred for the Harvesters gridsters five years ago, graduated from Texas Tech last spring where he earned four football letters.

The Wilsons are now residing in Lubbock.

Locals Feature Winning North Rally In WT-NM All-Star Tilt

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

PLAINVIEW, July 21—Two members of the Pampa Oilers figured heavily in the winning rally by the North team in Wednesday night's 10-inning West Texas-New Mexico League All-Star tilt here, won by the Yanks, 13-8, before a paid crowd of 2,433.

Rach Slider, pint-sized Oiler shortstop, singled across the tie-breaking run in top of the 10th inning to give the Yanks an 8-7 lead.

The Northerners then went on to score five more runs in the 10th to ice the decision.

Two of the remaining runs scored by the North in the 10th came on a booming homerun high over the left field wall by Oiler first baseman, Joe Fortin.

Another Oiler saw action in the game, pitcher Tom Pollet. Pollet pitched the middle three innings for the Yanks, fourth, fifth and sixth frames, giving up five hits and three runs. One of the runs off Pollet was unearned and another run scored on a close play at the plate following a wild pitch.

Pollet left the game with the score tied at 7-7, the way it stood until his Oiler teammate snapped the deadlock in the 10th. Pollet struck out one and walked two during his three-inning stint.

Ted Shandor of Albuquerque, who followed Pollet on the hill and finished with a scoreless inning, followed Pollet on the hill and finished with a scoreless inning.

Bob Upton of Plainview started for the South and was followed by Ed Kapp of Abilene in the fourth who was unable to retire a man before giving way to Ken Uhlman of Lubbock. Uhlman hurled until the seventh when Yoke took over and finished up.

Pollet, in addition to his pitching duties, collected a hit in his only trip to the plate.

Fortin walked his first three times up, struck out his fourth trip and then singled and homered in his final two times up, giving him two-for-three. The big first sacker scored three runs and drove in two more.

Defensively, Fortin handled eight chances without a bobble; Slider four without a miscue.

Slider took over at shortstop for Gil Valentine of Albuquerque in sixth inning. Slider got on via an error his first trip and then singled his second time up.

Redlegs Call Milton Smith - Philadelphia—UP—Milton Smith, the Pacific Coast League's second leading hitter with a .338 batting mark joins the Cincinnati Redlegs Thursday. Smith, a Negro, played third base for San Diego and is expected to be in Redlegs' starting lineup Thursday when they play the Philadelphia Phillies.

Little LEAGUERS
Tom Rose upset Cabot in the Eastern Little League yesterday, 11-9, while the Spokesman clinched the second half crown in the Western Little League with a 19-7 win over Jeffries Trucking.

Cabot, however, who suffered his first defeat in second half of play, had already clinched the second half crown.

Both Cabot and Spokesman won both halves in the Little League and no play within the two leagues will be necessary for the season's league titles.

Little League action for the remainder of the week will be suspended to allow the all-star teams of the two leagues to hold workouts in preparation for the Area Little League Tournament at Plainview next week.

Red Sox Continue Climb In AL Chase

By UNITED PRESS
 The most rabid baseball fan in Kansas City could forgive Coach George (Good Kid) Sussie Thursday if he's bursting his buttons with pride.
 The Boston Red Sox stretched the Athletics' latest losing streak to nine games with a 6-0 victory Wednesday night — and it was none other than the coach's 23-year-old son, George Sussie Jr., who was the chief villain. Sussie Jr., a strong-armed right-hander, yielded a lead-off single to Vic Power and then hurled no-hit ball for the remainder of the game.
 The victory enabled the onrushing Red Sox to move within a game of the third-place Cleveland Indians, who lost to the Washington Senators 6-4 and again tightened the American League race. The second-place Chicago White Sox advanced to within two games of first place with an 8-6 triumph over the New York Yankees.
 But the drama of the night was unfolded in Kansas City. Sussie Jr. had compiled a 4-3 mark for the Red Sox but Manager Mike Higgins never before had pitched him against the Athletics. Around the league, fans and players wondered how the young pitcher would react when he finally was called upon to pitch against his father's team.
First Big League Shutout
 A 14-game winner for Louisville last season, Sussie Jr. turned in his first big league shutout while his father watched the progress of the game from the bullpen. The 47-year-old coach, who groomed his son to be a ball-player, played for five major league teams but caught a total of 146 games in eight seasons.
 In the other AL game, Hal Smith drove in four runs and Dave Pope two to lead the Baltimore Orioles to a 6-3 win over the Detroit Tigers. In the National League, Don Newcombe won his 15th game behind

Odessa Club 'Hanging' On Ropes

By UNITED PRESS
 ODESSA, Tex. — UP — Odessa will make an effort to stay in the Longhorn I league with a $7,000 fund-raising campaign after first announcing Wednesday it was out of baseball.
 Eagle General Manager John (Red) Hennech, who first announced that Odessa would drop out of the league because of poor attendance, changed his mind Wednesday night when fans at a doubleheader pledged $1,250 of the amount.
 He said the fraternal Order of Eagles, operators of the team, would call a meeting with citizens Friday in an attempt to raise $7,000 needed to keep the team in the league.
 The situation is also due for discussion at a meeting of Longhorn League directors today in Midland before the annual All-Star game.

Snead Takes Lead In PGA Tourney

By LEO H. PETERSEN
 NORTHVILLE, Mich. — UP — Sammy Snead, happy with a new putter that "works like magic," held a one stroke lead Thursday as the field teed off for the second and final qualifying round of play in the PGA golf championship.
 Using the putter for the first time in championship play, Snead, who has lost a lot of big ones because of trouble on the greens, needed only 29 putts as he toured the 6,701-yard Meadowbrook Country Club course in a five-under-par 66. He had seven one-putt greens.
 "If I can just putt like that, that's all I need," Snead, who is shooting for his fourth PGA title, grinned. "I've done for a long time."
 Snead tried out the new center-shaft putter for the first time Monday, and Wednesday worked with it for four hours, "changing my back stroke just a bit."
 "It apparently did the trick," Snead added Thursday. "Putting is 90 per cent mental and a question of confidence. When they drop you like mine did yesterday, well you have that confidence."
 Snead, one of the co-favorites for the title along with defending champion Chick Harbert and Cary Middlecoff, had a hot back nine with

All-Star Tilt Tonight In Longhorn Loop

By UNITED PRESS
 The Longhorn League will converge on Midland Thursday night for the annual All-Star game pitting the Texas and New Mexico teams of the loop.
 The East vs. West All-Star hassle will delay the pennant race for only one night, however, with a full schedule coming up Friday night.
 Three doubleheaders, all splits, were played Wednesday night. Midland beat Hobbs 11-5, then lost 6-1; Odessa beat Artesia 5-4 in the opener, and then fell 3-1 in the first game 7-5 only to lose 3-2 to Big Spring in the second.
 Roswell dumped San Angelo 2-1 in the only single game played. Roswell's winning run scored on an error as Julio Ramos edged Jodie Phipps in a pitching duel.
 71, including Harbert, Ed Furgol of St. Louis, the 1954 U.S. Open champion, and Pete Cooper of Birmingham.
 National champion Jack Flack of Des Moines, Iowa, was among the 75 who had one-over-par 72's.
 Of all the "name" golfers in the field, only Chandler Harper of Chattanooga, Tenn., appeared out of the running. He shot a seven-over-par 78.
 A regulation polo field is 300 yards long, 160 yards wide, with a polo goal being 24 feet wide.

 NEW YORK — UP — Light-heavyweight champion Archie Moore, who meets champion Rocky Marciano for the heavyweight crown in September, said Thursday he'll decide on a training camp site Friday, and after ironing out some differences with promoter Jim Norris, Moore said he'll pick a camp Friday, but it definitely won't be Atlantic City, the IBC's choice.

UP Writer Sounds Alarms,
N.Y.'s Losing Lily's Charms

Editor's Note: Opera singer Lily Pons, returning from Europe, rules out New York as a place to live, says she will move to San Francisco, which is "like a pearl...has soul...has color...elegance...the most hospitable, nice, warm people. New York has become quite a different thing."

By H. D. QUIGG

Well, it ain't got the Dodgers, that's what it ain't got.
It ain't got frishes and bagels all Koshier. It ain't even got Leo Durocher.
It ain't got skyscrapers, tall and bony; it ain't got an island by the name of Coney.
Or a nightlife set that's a palatable phony.
It ain't got a club that's known as Tammany. And Frisco's accent is soft and Alabamany.
We got people who say, "Where does dat go — or dis go?"
Dey ain't got dat in duh town of Frisco.
Frisco's minus a subway that's beat-up and stinkin'; it ain't got an airport whose runways are sinkin' in.
It ain't got chorines who pretend to be arty. It ain't headquarters for the Communist party.
Well, what's Frisco got? 'It's got a soul." Yeah, and climate from a pea-soup porridge bowl.

We've got New Jersey's cranberry bog, which breeds us mosquitoes that bite like a dog, and we're hot in summer —
But we ain't got that fog.
And isn't it quite a ponian oddity to overlook Frisco's top commodity? New York's "a different thing" but please — Lily, honey, we ain't got fleas. I know people in Frisco who're constantly patching their clothes from the awful attrition of scratching.
And what has New York got. Eh, what?
Well, Barney Baruch. And we raised Dr. Salk. And taxi drivers who talk and talk.
Granted, it's the surliest city in the world. And in Brooklyn potatoes ain't boiled, they're berled.
New York's dirt swirls to the sky above it. But listen, Lily, there are those that love it.
And in moving, Miss Pons, don't take any risk. O, just remember: S. F. hates the moniker "Frisco."
The Dominion of Canada was established on July 1, 1867.

Colorado Justice Found Cheap

CANON CITY, Colo. —UP— Mrs. Faye Ransom, a 29-year-old farmer's wife who thought justice cost too much in Canon City, decided after a night in jail it was cheap after all.
Mrs. Ransom appeared before Municipal Judge Harvey Opfer Monday on a charge of driving without an inspection tag. She saw nothing wrong with the $5 fine Opfer imposed.
But when he tacked on $5 for court costs Mrs. Ransom blew up. "That's too much money for court costs," she said. "I won't pay it. I'll go to jail first."
A courtroom spectator proffered a $5 bill. Judge Opfer told her to pay the court costs "at your convenience. Her husband Clarence reminded her there were four kids at home who needed a mother's tender care.
"It's the principle of the thing," she said, ignoring them all. She marched into a jail cell determined to sit out the fine as well as the court costs, which would have taken her until Saturday.
But in less than 24 hours, Mrs. Ransom's principles had wilted in the hard atmosphere of the lonely jail cell. Her husband paid both the fine and court costs Tuesday afternoon and she went meekly home.
"She had nothing to say while she was here," a jailer said. "A real quiet prisoner."

Cadillac

Second Car He Ever Owned!

Time was when a man wouldn't have considered a Cadillac until he had owned four—or five—or even six different motor cars.

But nowadays more and more motorists—like the happy man you see in the picture above—are stepping right up from their first car to a Cadillac.

There are, we think, two basic reasons for this wonderful change.

To begin with, the temptation to make the move to Cadillac has never been greater than it is today.

The car's arresting grace and beauty... its captivating luxury and graciousness... and its heart-winning performance have all been brought to new peaks of perfection for 1955.

And secondly, the path to Cadillac has never before been so clearly marked or so easily traveled.

Take original cost, for instance. The purchase price of the lowest-priced Cadillac is actually little more than many models in the medium-price field.

And then consider Cadillac's economy. Few automobiles of any size or make will travel farther on a gallon of gasoline... and the car is all but free from any save the most routine costs of maintenance.

And, finally, there is the car's resale value. Year after year, Cadillac cars return their owners a higher percentage on their original investments than any other automobiles in the land.

So if you want a Cadillac—don't feel that you have to advance gradually to the car of cars.

If you are ready to make the move, the automobile you now own is the perfect steppingstone.

Why not stop in soon and see for yourself? You'll find that we have some very pleasant news for you about cost and delivery.
