Downtown Rodeo Office Opens Monday

The downtown business office of the Top o' Texas Rodeo Association will be open Monday at 8:30 a.m. in the old Daily Spokesman building at 112 S. Cuyler.

All registrations, general admission tickets, reserved seat sales and other rodeo details will be handled from this office. Mrs. Iris Ragdale will be in charge of office routine.

All contestants in the Kid Pony Show are requested to register as early as possible this year so that the program can be made up and available for the first night's performance Monday, August 1.

Parking facilities have been considerably improved this year with the opening of new parking space west of the rodeo entrance road. With the completion of the new four-lane highway to the rodeo grounds, traffic should be speeded up by at least one hundred per cent over last year's operations.

Commissioners' Agenda Is Light

A light agenda faces the city commission in their meeting Tuesday morning at 9 in the City Hall, according to Fred Brook, city manager.

Polio Shots Scheduled

Gray County first and second graders who have had their first Salk polio vaccine shots will have a chance to get their second ones, beginning Monday as a schedule for vaccinations has been set up for the week according to County Health Officer, Dr. Joe Gates.

Only those who have received their first shot will be eligible for this round of vaccinations.

Those eligible are asked to report to the school they attended last term at 7:30 in the morning on the day their school is scheduled for vaccinations. They are also asked to not eat breakfast on the day they are scheduled for shots and to stay out of the sun and not swim for at least three days after the shots are given.

Make-up clinics are to be scheduled periodically throughout the summer.

Several doctors agreed to be available for giving shots. Vaccinations will begin Mon. at 8 a.m. at Baker School. Carver and Lefors schools are scheduled for Tuesday with Sam Houston set for Wednesday. Lamar and Horace Mann schools are on the schedule for Thursday and Woodrow Wilson for Friday. The vaccinations will begin at 8 a.m. each day.

Dr. Joe Gates, Philip Gates, Carl Lang, Charles Ashby, J. Foster Elder, Raymond Laycock, Neely Joe Ellis, R. M. Hampton, Julian Key, Harold Fabian, and F. J. Vendril will be available for administering the shots.

Make-up clinics will be scheduled later, Dr. Gates said.

Summit Conference Ends In Agreement

Rodeo Prexy Explains Scout Concessions

Because of a great deal of misunderstanding on the part of the general public concerning the concession arrangement between the Rodeo Association and the local Boy Scouts of America, Paul Crouch, president of the Top o' Texas Rodeo Association, issued the following statement Saturday.

"For the past ten years the Top o' Texas Rodeo Association has given the Boy Scouts of America exclusive rights to all concessions at the Top o' Texas Rodeo at a price ranging from $500.00 to $750.00 per year. The scouts have been given the benefit of rain-out shows by reducing the concession figure. Last year's flat fee was $750.00. However, the Saturday show was rained out, and the fee was reduced to $500.00.

"In the past, the rodeo association has issued free passes to workers in the boy scout concessions. This arrangement has been the source of much confusion and in some instances has been abused.

In order to remedy this situation, the rodeo directors and scout officials this year worked out a deal whereby the fee to the scouts would be reduced to a flat $50.00 per night ($300.00 for the six nights of the show) with the scout troop purchasing tickets for as many workers as they need each night.

The $750.00 fee was reduced to $500.00, making available $450.00 for the purchase of workers' passes, which in the opinion of the rodeo officials should be ample to provide the help needed in the concessions.

"It is not the purpose of the rodeo association to try and handicap the scout operations at the rodeo in any way — we want them to continue making the fine profits they have made in the past. At the same time, the rodeo must be operated on a business-like basis in order to survive and be able to continue giving the scouts a place where they can make money for their extra curricular activities.

"It is not the idea for any boy or parent to pay his way into the show grounds in order to work. These tickets should be purchased (See PREXY, Page 3)

Nixon Lauds Ike's Work At Geneva

WASHINGTON, July 23 —UP— Vice President Richard M. Nixon said Saturday that President Eisenhower has won friends among Russian leaders and cleared the atmosphere for progress in future big power negotiations.

Nixon, who has seen confidential Big Four reports from Geneva, gave those conclusions to newsmen as part of his personal appraisal of the weeklong Geneva conference.

He said he believed two major points have emerged.

First, he stated his conclusion that the conference gave the United States its first "adequate forum" since World War II "from which to counteract the propaganda that the United States is a warmonger and a potential aggressor."

Second, Mr. Eisenhower's personal contacts with Russian leaders have convinced them of "his personal sincerity and his personal trustworthiness."

"Acknowledging that one meeting 'doesn't convince people for a lifetime,' Nixon said he nevertheless believes the 'atmosphere has been cleared' for future talks.

"The world can look with much more hope for progress at the foreign ministers conferences and at the lower levels than when there were recriminations, charges and countercharges and a complete lack of trust on both sides," he said.

WASHINGTON, July 23 —UP— District Attorney Margene Johnson Jr., said Saturday he is discussing his new "get tough" policy toward vice with Police Commissioner Walter Johnson.

"I hope to work out some plan of co-operation between my office and the police force," Johnson said. A group of ministers called on him Friday.

The ministers brought with them a report of the American Social Hygiene Association which said 18 brothers were operating openly in Galveston, one hotel had resident prostitutes, six others rented rooms to working prostitutes and 18 bars catered to prostitutes who solicited at the bars.

Johnson promised the ministers, representatives of the Galveston Ministerial Alliance, that he would put forth intensified efforts "in a war against prostitution."

Foreign Ministers To Have October Meeting

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG
GENEVA, July 23 —UP— The Big Four summit conference ended Saturday night in agreement to continue efforts to end the Cold War in a foreign minister conference at Geneva in October.

President Eisenhower, in a closing statement, hailed the "historic conference" as a success and predicted that "prospects of a lasting peace with justice, well being and broader freedom are brighter" as a result.

"The dangers of the overwhelming tragedy of modern war are less," the President said.

The Big Four summit leaders agreed that their foreign ministers should continue at their October meeting study of the four summit agenda items:

1. German reunification.
2. European security.
3. First Word from West.
4. Disarmament.

The first announcement that the conference had broken a deadlock on continuing discussion of these problems came from a Western spokesman who said:

"Agreement was reached on all points."

There was no solution of the actual problems themselves, and none had been expected to emerge immediately from the summit conference.

But a deadlock had developed over the time, place and order of (See SUMMIT, Page 3)

7 Votes Cast By Absentee

County Clerk Charlie Thie reported late Saturday that seven absentee ballots had been cast and one mailed out in voting in the coming hospital bond and ad valorem tax election to be held Saturday.

A heavy turnout of voters was expected to settle the two issues in the coming election as each of the matters has been in the public eye for some time.

The two propositions are to be settled on one ballot with voters deciding whether or not to give the county the right to sell bonds to finance construction of a $300,000 extension to Highland General Hospital and a $50,000 branch hospital in McLean and also voicing their opinion as to whether or not the county may increase ad valorem taxes on property by 14 cents to finance the buying of the right-of-way for the proposed Hobart Street underpass.

Cordell Hull, Father Of UN, Dies At 83

By DONALD J. GONZALES
WASHINGTON, July 23 —UP— Former Secretary of State Cordell Hull, father of the United Nations, died at the age of 83 Saturday as a new generation of diplomats strove to achieve the stable world peace which was his chief goal in life.

The solemn grey-haired statesman who rose from a Tennessee log cabin to be soldier, lawyer, judge, representative, senator and secretary of state longer than any other American, died quietly at 9 a. m. EDT (7 a. m. CST) in Bethesda Naval Hospital after several hours in a coma.

His death was, in the words of Miss Will Harris, his secretary for 43 years, "a blessed release" from a 10-year ordeal of illness during which he suffered several strokes and heart attacks, high blood pressure, stomach ailments and respiratory infections.

Flags are lowered
Word of his passing was flashed immediately to the Big Four summit meeting at Geneva, where President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles (See HULL, Page 3)

'Miss Texas' Contest Opens Thursday In Tyler

TYLER, Tex., July 23 —UP— Two dozen Texas beauties will present their most beautiful girls July 28-30 in Tyler, where "Miss Texas of 1955" will be picked to represent the Lone Star State in the Miss America pageant.

The entry list ties the record set last year at Fort Worth. It would have surpassed it, except for the withdrawal of a 25th contestant.

The Miss Texas pageant will be sponsored by the Texas Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Tyler Jaycees.

Half of the beauties will appear in the bathing suit and talent portion of the contest the first night. The other half will compete that night in the evening dress and personality parts. The process will be reversed the next night.

Ten finalists will be picked the last night, and Miss Texas will be selected from this group. The winner will get a wardrobe and a trip to Atlantic City to compete in the Miss America contest.

ON LEARNING TOUR — Rochelle Smith prepares for her 4,900 mile tour of "Literary America". Arriving in Jackson, Miss., today she started on the first lap of the traveling English workshop. It is presumed that she will have more fun without "The Complete Works of Shakespeare" (by her typewriter).

Pampa Student To Make 'Learn As You Go' Tour

By RONALD WATERS
Pampa News Staff Writer

To learn as you go is a neat trick if you can do it, that's what Rochelle Smith is preparing to do this week as she joins about 37 others at the Texas State College for Women in Denton. The traveling English workshop will tour 23 states and Canada, a total of 4,900 miles—all this in six hours credit.

Rochelle left last Monday for several days preparation on campus prior to the four-week extensive tour. Motion pictures, research, and lectures by the travel agent who is acting as guide for the tour have occupied her this week, as she made plans for her workshop project with Dr. Eleanor Jamps of the department of English.

Yesterday she reached the first point of the "Literary America" tour, old Natchez, Mississippi. Today she is in Jackson, and tomorrow she will be in Corinth, the Mississippi delta country.

With many interests and a knack for interior design, Rochelle will find much to her liking in the tours of homes, museums, buildings, and historic sites scattered along the old South and the East.

Then, on to Chattanooga and Lookout Mountain, the site of the "Battle above the Clouds", and nationally famous Rock City Garden. At Asheville, Ky., she will see "My Old Kentucky Home" and the Dixieland of "Look Homeward, Angel" (Thomas Wolfe).

Rochelle is looking forward to Williamsburg, Va., where she will study the major history of furniture from Egyptian to modern, and view the restored Colonial capital, with side-trips to Yorktown and Jamestown for memories of American history.

At Richmond, Va., the group will see the Capitol designed by Thomas Jefferson, Monument Row, and St. John's Church (scene of Patrick Henry's "Liberty or Death" speech). At Mt. Vernon, she will view Washington's home and burial place in its beautiful setting overlooking the Potomac River.

A full day's guided tour to all the government buildings, parks and monuments, is scheduled in Washington, D. C., with an additional day for seeing the National Gallery, Library of Congress, and the Folger Shakespeare Library.

Gettysburg and Valley Forge will probably have the students wondering if they are on an English tour or taking a lesson in history. But with a crowded schedule, the group will soon push on to Philadelphia for scenes of Edgar A. Poe's home, and Betsy Ross's home.

Three days in New York City will give Rochelle time for shopping, matinees, art galleries, and a glimpse of a hurried city. Tours will cover: Manhattan Island (Lecture Croire), the theatre district (the famous theatres are not all on Broadway), Rockefeller Center, and the United Nations.

Her literary education will continue in Boston with an all-day lecture tour, and visits to: Boston State House, "Old Ironsides," Bunker Hill, the Old North Church, Paul Revere's home, Walden Pond, Harvard University, and Salem with its custom house and House of the Seven Gables. And more homes. This time it will be that of time-revered Paul Revere, Henry Longfellow, Louisa Alcott, and others. Finally Rochelle will have a chance to "catch her breath" with a free day all her own in the historic city.

The New England Coastal drive will take her along the coast to Portsmouth, Maine, across New Hampshire and Vermont, through old harbor towns and quiet, white-shaded, tree-shaded towns described by the local colorists. Rochelle will pass by romantic Niagara Falls upon entering Canada. At Stratford, Ontario, she will attend "Merchant of Venice" as part of the Shakespeare Festival Series. Coming back into the country, the group will pass through industrial Detroit and on to Chicago, city of Sandburg. Here, she will take visits to the Adler Planetarium, Chicago Art Institute and the Field Museum.

A visit to Lincoln's boyhood hometown restored in its authentic setting will be made at New Salem, Ill. The tour will return through Springfield and Hannibal, Mo., with reminiscence of Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn, and terminate in Denton.

Rochelle Smith is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. M. Smith, 1008 N. Somerville. She graduated from Pampa High in 1953, and is now a junior at T.S.C.W. Her hobbies include reading, piano and voice, tap dancing (with the college Capettes), ball-room dancing, and music. For past-time she participates in swimming, roller and ice skating, and horseback riding.

Rochelle is a "Top-o' Texas Rodeo enthusiast," and stated . . .

"It's killing my soul because I'm missing this year." For ten years, she has attended nearly every performance including the Kid Pony Shows. During most of that time, her father has taken photographs of the performers and their falls.

An active drama student, Rochelle says, "I always play character parts." She is a member of Wesley Players, a religious drama group for which she has directed one play. She also belongs to Tessie Players, and is a member of the board of governors.

Participating in many college activities, she is a member of the Speech Club, treasurer of the Fine Arts Club, and Campus League of Women Voters.

Rochelle is active in First Methodist Church work, an intermediate counselor for two years at Cota Canyon camp, and a member of the adult choir.

When she returns from her tour, she will probably have much to say about the old south and the east. Those who know her may wonder, however, if she will still be filled with regrets for missing the Top O' Texas Rodeo.

Presents Substitute Bill In U. S. Housing Program

By NEIL MACNEIL

WASHINGTON, July 23—UP—Rep. Jesse Wolcott, chief of the anti-housing forces in the House, this week provided the wedge to crack the dramatic deadlock threatening to strangle every government housing program.

The Michigan Republican quietly introduced a substitute bill that would give President Eisenhower "the bare essentials of what's got to be done by the government in housing."

The administration's housing bill has been pigeon-holed for over three weeks in the House Rules committee. It contains authority to continue a dozen government housing programs.

The committee, which has final control on what bills the House considers, voted July 1 not to send the housing bill to the House floor. This stymied any legislative action.

Time Running Out
Administration leaders, particularly Federal Housing Administrator Albert M. Cole, worked feverishly to get the rules committee to change its mind. Time was running out. The federal programs won a 30-day extension until July 31. Congress was preparing to adjourn for the year.

But the committee members who voted against sending the bill to the floor refused to budge.

It was at this point last week that Wolcott stepped in. His bill would allow a one-year extension of the home repair and improvement program, a one-year extension of the urban redevelopment program and an additional $3.4 billion authority for the Federal Housing Administration to insure home mortgages.

Conspicuously absent from Wolcott's bill was any mention of the public housing program, which is central in the housing fight.

Threatening Rest
As one public housing official put it: "We're the tail that's wagging the dog—just a small segment of the whole federal program—and this fight is threatening all the rest."

Wolcott said in an interview that he offered his bill as "a possible rallying point" for those opposed to the bill pending in the rules committee.

"It's aimed at cracking the deadlock," he said.

Wolcott now expects the rules committee to send the housing bill to the House floor where he would move that it be junked in favor of his own.

The pending housing bill carries authority for 35,000 public housing units in the next 12 months—the number requested by President Eisenhower. The Senate voted authority for 155,000 subsidized housing units.

Wolcott said neither he nor anyone else knew what would happen to the two bills on the House floor. But congressional sources believe Wolcott has been counting noses and is assured his bill will pass. Would Close Other Programs
Besides ending the public housing program, Wolcott's bill also would foreclose such government programs as co-operative and college housing. It would provide for rapid extinction of military housing, and housing for essential defense areas.

In recent years the House has refused to vote any public housing, but has been forced to compromise with Senate versions of the housing bill. Informed sources expected this pattern to continue this year.

Wolcott himself said he was willing to "compromise" on the issue. He said he would agree to permit the public housing agency to use up the rest of its present authority—it has 6,000 public housing units uncommitted. But he wants the program ended when these are allocated.

HULL

(Continued from Page One) were carrying on the struggle for peace in which Hull spent his strength during 12 turbulent years as head of the State Department. Flags were lowered to half-staff in the capital.

Funeral services will be held at 11 a. m. Tuesday in Washington Cathedral. Hull will be buried in the crypt of the huge Episcopal Cathedral, by the side of his beloved wife, Rose, and near the tomb of another great fighter for peace, Woodrow Wilson.

Hull, who had been honored in life with a Nobel Peace Prize, received in death the highest tributes from national leaders of both parties.

Two Great Achievements There were other tributes from leaders throughout the world who revered him for his massive integrity and his untiring efforts to promote the cause of international understanding and co-operation.

Most of the eulogies recalled the two great achievements of Hull's diplomatic career — laying the groundwork for the founding of the United Nations and launching the reciprocal trade program which is still, after 21 years, the keystone of America's foreign economic policy.

Hull retired as secretary of state on Nov. 27, 1944, but he remained intensely interested in diplomatic affairs. His successors in the State Department often sought his counsel, and he kept in close touch with developments even during the long periods when he was confined to the hospital.

Egypt Readies For War Against Israel

CAIRO, July 23—UP—Egypt Saturday paraded her growing military might and warned that she is prepared to wage war against neighboring Israel "if our frontiers are violated."

The blunt warning to Israel was made by Minister of War Maj. Gen. Abdel Hakim Amer in a speech keynoting a huge military parade celebrating the third anniversary of the regime of Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser.

The nation flexed its military muscles in the most impressive parade in Egypt's military history. Tens of thousands of soldiers, sailors, airmen, paratroopers, cadets and National Guardsmen goose-stepped for four hours past the stand from which Nasser reviewed the parade.

Amer, in his speech preceding the parade, promised that the Egyptian armed forces "won't let the enemy enter Egypt."

"But we are ready to take war into the enemy's lands," he said. Nine members of Egypt's revolutionary council stood beside Nasser as the nation's newly mechanized armored force rolled past. Included were 30 British-built Centurion tanks and several scores of American-built Sherman tanks, motorized artillery and other armored vehicles.

Amer told the armed forces that Egypt pledged to defend any Arab country threatened by aggression.

To Shift Troops In Europe

WASHINGTON, July 23—UP—Southern Europe's defenses against Communist attack will be reinforced soon by the shift of 5,000 crack United States troops from Austria to Italy, it was disclosed Saturday.

Diplomatic and military informants said details of the shift were being worked out between Washington, Rome and Paris, headquarters of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The formal announcement, one informant said, might be made in a few days.

The United States and Italy are members of the 15-nation NATO, which is responsible for allied defenses in Europe. The U. S. troops this fall or early winter, depending on housing arrangements.

Barring an unexpected change in grand strategy, the Allied action will amount to a rejection of Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin's that Big Four troops leaving Austria be sent home and demobilized. He invited Britain, France, and the United States, which has agreed to about 15,000 troops in Austria, to "follow suit."

Big Four troops are required to be out of Austria 90 days after the state treaty comes into force. Diplomats said France was expected to complete Austrian treaty action in a few days when it deposits the instrument of ratification in Moscow.

The only other hurdle now foreseen is approval by the Italian chamber of deputies of a new agreement governing control of U. S. forces in Italy.

Beauty Would Like To Marry

LONG BEACH, Calif., July 23—UP—Sweden's Hillevi Rombin, who parlayed beauty, poise and personality into a winning combination for the Miss Universe title, indicated Saturday she's just as interested in marriage and home as she is in a possible screen career.

Although Miss Rombin starts work Monday at $250 a week in a small part in a Universal-International picture, the 21-year-old blonde beauty made clear she still plans marrying her fiance, Swedish air force officer Nils Benker.

"We are engaged and very much in love," she said.

She called Benker early Saturday after she emerged the winner of the 20-day Miss Universe contest in which 75 girls from 33 countries were entered.

One of the top prizes Miss Rombin was a chance for a long-term contract at U. I. studios. A friend said, however, that "Hillevi is not rushing into anything." She explained that Miss Rombin "has not chosen her profession yet although of course she might be interested in a movie career."

The new Miss Universe, whose selection came as no surprise to the other contestants is a fresh-faced "Grace Kelly" type. Studio talent scouts believe she may stand the best chance of any Miss Universe contest winner to make good on the American screen.

Miss Rombin and the other contest beauties attended a morning beach party in their honor Saturday. For one of the few times in 10 days the girls had an afternoon free of scheduled activity.

In the evening, all contestants attended the grand coronation ball. Their escorts were Navy officers from the nearby Los Alamitos U. S. Naval Air Station.

The formal announcement, one informant said, might be made in a few days.

The United States and Italy are members of the 15-nation NATO, which is responsible for allied defenses in Europe. The U. S. troops this fall or early winter, depending on housing arrangements.

Barring an unexpected change in grand strategy, the Allied action will amount to a rejection of Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin's that Big Four troops leaving Austria be sent home and demobilized. He invited Britain, France, and the United States, which has agreed to about 15,000 troops in Austria, to "follow suit."

Survivors include her husband, Kirby G. Ragain, a pumper for Cities Service; one daughter, Mrs. Tom Davis of Pampa; four sisters, Mrs. Cecile Hayes, Eldorado, Kans., Mrs. Clara Mackey of Eureka, Kans., Mrs. Fern Fields of Madison, Kans., and Mrs. Mary Van Alstien of Waterloo, Ia.; one brother, Ray Weeks of Sterling, Kans.; her mother, Mrs. Lillie Weeks of Eldorado, Kans.; two grandchildren, Mrs. Jimmy Boyd and Miss Nancy Davis, both of Pampa.

SIGN OF TIME

Probable explanation for this sign in Los Angeles, is that someone got a speeding ticket and didn't like it. At any rate, paint on the sign warning of a police ambush was still wet when Officer R. Danckwerth pulled it down, photo at right. On back of the sign, which was signed by a "Citizens Committee," were the words, "Resume Speed."

Methodist Pastor Dies At 100

SAN ANTONIO, July 23—UP—The Rev. A. E. Rector, veteran Methodist minister who observed his 100th birthday last April 25, died Saturday.

He was a native of Kendall, Tex., and was a Methodist circuit rider as early as 1828. He has been retired since 1929.

In addition to his tenure in San Antonio, he served in Fredericksburg, Galveston, Houston, Pharr, Hallettsville, Austin and San Angelo.

Services will be held Tuesday morning at Woodlawn Methodist Church, which he helped to organize in 1890.

Jaycees To Convene In Milwaukee

TULSA, July 23—UP—The board of directors of the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce voted Saturday to hold their 1957 national convention in Milwaukee the week of June 25.

The Milwaukee Jaycees won the honor over competing delegations from Cincinnati, Ohio, Portland, Ore., and Miami, Fla.

This year's convention was held recently at Atlanta, and the 1956 meeting will be in Kansas City.

The 20 directors and state officials of the Jaycees closed their meeting here Saturday night after approving their program for the coming year.

They voted to conduct a public education campaign on the Hoover Commission report to stimulate support of the "basic purposes" of the commission.

The directors turned down, after a long and heated debate, a resolution that the Jaycees endorse the Hoover Commission's findings.

Oldest Division Returns Home

NEW YORK, July 23—UP—The vanguard of the nation's oldest Army division—the big red one—arrived here Saturday after 13 years of hot and cold war in Europe.

Nearly 2,000 officers and enlisted men, many of them with their dependents, sailed into New York harbor aboard the Navy transport ship Upshur.

These members of the First Division belong to the unit's 16th Regimental Combat Team. They have been stationed in West Germany.

The group, participating in "Operation Gyroscope" in which units overseas and in the U. S. are trading places, was greeted by harbor whistles, salutes from aircraft wheeling and dipping overhead and sprays of water from the city's fireboats.

Although the division has been overseas since 1942, its manpower has been replaced several times.

The District of Columbia has no status as a state, but is simply a Federal District.

Giles Testifies On Monday

AUSTIN, July 23—UP—The theft trial of Bascom Giles goes into its fourth week Monday with the husky former land commissioner himself in the role of star witness for the defense.

On the record with a resounding denial of any wrongdoing, the husky former state official will resume his story before 12 word-wary jurors who will ultimately decide his guilt or innocence.

The prosecution has sought to prove Giles, as boss of the $100 million veterans land program, stole $6,800 involved in sale to the state of the 10,000-acre Rosenow ranch in Kinney county. He is also accused of aiding E. R. Sheffield, Brady land promoter and onetime business associate of Giles, in stealing the same amount of money.

"I did not," was Giles vehement answer from the witness chair.

Meantime, possibly Monday, District Attorney Les Procter will have his first opportunity to question Giles under oath.

By testifying in his own defense, Giles left himself open to cross-examination by the prosecution. He was still on the witness stand Friday when District Judge Charles O. Betts recessed the trial for the weekend.

However, further — possibly lengthy — questioning by the defense seemed a certainty.

"We have only covered one phase of the case," said defense attorney Clint Small Sr., as Giles stepped from the witness stand.

World corn production for 1954-55 is estimated at more than five and one-half billion bushels.

Two Plead Guilty To DWI Charges

Two Pampa men pleaded guilty to driving while intoxicated in County Court activity Saturday morning.

William Ray Brady, 43, of 1329 N. Starkweather, pleaded guilty to a charge of DWI and was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail. He was arrested about 3:45 a. m. Saturday in the 200 block of N. Bailard.

James Thaburn Ross, 39, of 1248 S. Barnes, pleaded guilty to DWI and was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail. He was arrested in the 800 block of S. Cuyler about 2:10 a. m. Saturday.

Wolfe Dam Petitions Circulated

PERRYTON — (Special) — Petitions have been circulated, signed, and presented to the commissioners court asking for a $150,000 bond issue for the purpose of rebuilding Wolfe Creek Dam. The petition, which bears approximately 200 names, was circulated last week by Chamber of Commerce members.

Tentative plans call for a meeting next Tuesday of the commissioners and representatives of the First Southwest Co. of Plainview to go over plans for the bond election and issue. It is expected that the date for the bond election will be set at this meeting.

The county has signed a contract with the First Southwest Co. to handle a $150,000 bond issue to rebuild the dam. The company bid an average interest rate of 2.988 per cent, total interest of $40,347.32 for a 30-year bond issue.

The county agreed to pay a fee of $1,850 for the cost of handling bond proceedings.

MAKING A GO OF LIFE

By ROY L. SMITH
Read John 2:26-25

Jesus lived a human life. Unlike the gods of mythology, who appeared on the scene of human affairs and stalked across the stage like creatures from some strange existence, Jesus entered life exactly as any other person does, as a baby. From the day of his birth until the hour of his death he lived a life that was restricted by the same circumstances as those which surrounded his fellow men. The scriptures report amazing miracles worked by some divine power that issued from him, but under all conditions he steadfastly refused to exercise any such powers in his own behalf or that he might shield himself from life's blows. Even upon his cross he refused the mild opiate which might have deadened his agony just a little. He sought no escape from the pains or difficulties of life which is not open to any other human being.

The New Testament record of Jesus' early years is very meager. As a boy he seems to have lived a normal life inside a normal family. The head of the household seems to have been a man of unimpeachable morals, who assumed responsibility for training his family in religious matters. The scriptures speak of him as "a just man" (Matt. 1:19), which means he was a devout churchman. His mother was a peasant girl who never seemed quite able to understand her amazing son. His brothers and sisters never appreciated him, and none ever became disciples during his lifetime, though James, a brother, did become the head of the church after his death, as a result of a vision which convinced him of Jesus' true character. (I. Cor. 15:7).

I do not ask for any special advantage, O God, for I will accept life as other men also have to live it. But I do ask that I may be ever kept aware of thy concern in me, and of thy readiness to extend me special aid in the hour of my special need. Amen.

Perryton Scouts Former Pampan Plan Alaska Trip Dies In Temple

PERRYTON —(Special)— Members of the Explorer Scout Post No. 35 have embarked upon an ambitious program that will take the scouts and three adult leaders on a 30-day trip to Alaska next summer.

The scouts plan to leave soon after harvest next year on this Alaska trip and it is estimated they will need $3,000 for expenses. This averages out to about $300 per boy, and from now until next summer, members of the post are taking part time jobs, and promoting various post projects in order to fill this trip fund to the required level by next summer.

Former Pampan Dies In Temple

R. A. Doisher, former employee of Cabot Companies here died Friday at Temple.

Mr. Doisher had worked for Cabot for many years, leaving here in 1938. He was employed by Continental Carbon Co. of Hobbs, N.M., at the time of his death. Funeral services will be conducted Sunday in Hobbs. He is survived by his wife, two sons and a daughter.

Nichols Taken To Task About Caboose Article

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON —UP— Apparently when I wrote a piece about the "caboose," or the tail end of a freight train, I took some liberties with the word "fast." I said I had taken a rather rapid ride on one in the long back.

I guess what Williams wanted to say is that the freight brakeman and the flag-waver at the switch crossing would like a better way of life.

"If you were to make the same trip today," the trainman said, "I am sure you would find that the greatest change in conditions would be the length and the speed of the train. What you judged to be fast would be a snail's gait compared to the present day freight train."

"We will take you, sir, for a really fast ride in a caboose. We will make a pot of java, spin a few tall yarns about the legends of the rails. And-time-and-conditions permitting we might even cook a bunch of Mulligan stew on the old pot belly."

Even though it clackety-clacks over the rails a little faster on most roads, you will find the same old caboose. Same old pot bellied stove. The coal oil lamps, drinking water out of a tin cup.

How can an old-time caboose like me turn that down?

FORESTS RUINED

Map shows where fierce forest fires are burning out thousands of acres in three states, with more than 2,000 men battling to control them. Prescott National Forest, Ariz., reported the worst blaze in its history with some 17,000 acres blackened and flames still raging. One man was killed in Wyoming's Medicine Bow National Forest, more than 4,000 acres were destroyed by two separate fires. More than 100 fire fighters converged on smaller forest fires in Arapahoe National Forest, Colo., where nearly 500 acres were burned out.

WEEKLY GRAIN ROUNDUP

FORT WORTH—UP—USDA—Weekly grain: Mostly lower prices ruled south west cash grain markets this week. Only exceptions recorded by the Agricultural Marketing Service were a gain of a quarter of a cent on wheat and a steady trend on Texas red oats and barley.

Milo lost 7c per 100 pounds, reflecting the bumper Texas crop. Harvesting has spread as far north as Dallas and Fort Worth. Offerings increased as harvesting progressed, but demand continued slow.

Buying continued on a hand-to-mouth basis as the trade expects prices to drop lower. Also, the trade expects most milo to go under loan if farmers can get moisture below 13 per cent.

If not, they will have to sell on the open market at a discount. No. 2 yellow milo closed Friday at $2.10-2.15 per 100 pounds.

White corn dropped 6-8c a bushel and yellow corn a penny this week, as the new crop continued to make good progress in the commercial corn growing belt. No. 2 white was quoted Friday at $2.02-2.05 and No. 2 yellow at $1.79 to $1.81.

Liberal offerings of No. 2 white oats from the North let prices decline 1/2-1 1/2c a bushel. They closed Friday at 78 1/2c to 82 1/2c. No. 2 Texas red oats held steady at 77-82c a bushel all week. Also barley remained steady at $1.24-1.29.

Demand for wheat continued good this week, but showed signs

WEEKLY LIVESTOCK ROUNDUP

Weekly livestock: Cattle—Compared last Friday: Beef steers steady to $1 lower after showing advances Monday, cows 50-51 higher, bulls 50-51 lower, stockers and feeders some grading below good showing declines. Receipts were the smallest in several weeks after hitting a new high last week. About 30 per cent of run comprised cows. Week's tops—Beef steers 23.25, Heifers 21, cows 13, bulls 14.50, stocker steer yearlings 21. Closing bulks—Good and choice beef steers 18-22, commercial 15-17, good and choice heifers 17-21, utility and commercial 12-16. Utility cows 10.50-12, commercial 12-17.50, canners and cutters 7-10.50, shelly cows under 7. Commercial bulls around 13.50, canner, cutter and utility bulls 9-12. Medium and good stocker steer yearlings 13-19.50. Common to good stocker cows 8-12.

Calves—Compared last Friday: Slaughter offerings 50-51 higher, stockers about steady. Commercial and good slaughter calves 14-18, choice 18-19, cull and utility 9-13. Medium and good stocker steer calves 13-20. Choice scarce at 20.50-21.50.

Sheep—Compared last Friday: Slaughter spring lambs strong to $1 higher. Slaughter yearlings strong to $2 higher. Slaughter ewes and feeder lambs steady. Good to prime mostly good to choice spring lambs 17-20, utility and good 15-17, culls 9-11. Utility and good shorn slaughter yearlings 11.50-14, culls 9-11. Utility and good shorn aged wethers 7-10.50, some two year olds 12. Cull to good shorn slaughter ewes 4-5. Medium and good spring feeder lambs 12-14.

Hogs—Compared last Friday: Barrows and gilts unevenly 1-1.25 lower, weights under 180 lbs. off more. Sows 50-51 lower. Week's top 18 on Monday on US-1 and 2 200-230 lb. barrows and gilts closing sales are at week's low time with mixed US-1 to 3 185-210 lbs. 14.75-17 and most 2 and 3 150-165 lbs. at 15.50-16.50. Some 2 and 3 240-270 lb. butchers at mid-week 16-16.50. Most sows 11-14.50, some around 300 lbs. and lighter 14.75-15, some 650 lbs. and heavier down to around 8.

Some Insects Good Friends For Crops

By GAYLORD P. GODWIN
WASHINGTON, July 23—UP—Some insects are good friends to man and crop.

Consider the leaf-eating beetle which eats kiamath weed and nothing else. The beetle, known to entomologists as chrysolina gemellata, is a real pal to ranchers in the Pacific Northwest.

It has done a terrific job in helping vast areas of week-spoiled range to return to good grass. Since 1945, the beetle has cleared at least 500,000 California acres of grass-choking, toxic kiamath weed and is taking hold in other Northwest states.

The beetle's success story started in Australia in 1920. The Australian government sent scientists to Europe to search for a parasite to control the kiamath weed. In a series of starvation and breeding tests, the scientists found in southern France leaf-eating beetles that met the requirement.

A Successful Job
In 1945, entomologists of the research service and the University of California released 5,000 beetles in Kiamath weed-infested Humboldt county. They handled their job so successfully they were introduced to the range of southern Oregon, Washington, the Idaho drainage basin of the Snake and Clearwater Rivers, and some areas in Montana.

Entomologists said the insect's success can be explained by the neat fit of its life cycle with that of the weed. When the weed is making good growth in the winter and early spring, the beetle feeds avidly on its foliage. When summer heat causes the weed to become dormant, the beetle goes underground for a rest. Fall rains awaken both the weed and the beetle. The insects feed and breed, following winter and early spring.

"It's just a balance of nature and the resulting larvae consume kiamath weeds greedily during the following winter and early spring. "Where the weed is not prosperous, neither is the beetle."
Use for Fruit Fly
Researchers now are using fruit flies in pilot studies to predict the effectiveness of various types of poultry breeding. Poultry researchers, breeding for egg production, need two years to get a full egg-production record. Using fruit flies instead of chickens, the scientists get similar breeding data within a few weeks.

"That's because chickens and fruit flies vary in a significantly similar manner in respect to rate of egg production and egg size relative to body size.
All this means progress is being made in the development of better laying hens.
Other farm front developments:
BEEF
An increase in beef production seems indicated in a recent Department of Agriculture report on the number of cattle and calves on feed in 13 major feeding states on July 1. There were 3,609,000 head, an increase of 13 per cent from the same time a year ago. Most of the animals on feed are, as usual, in the nine major corn belt states. Other states with large numbers are California, Colorado, Arizona, and Texas.
CROPS
The crop reporting board has predicted a 1955 harvest second only to the record production of 1948, barring "a considerable gantlet of the usual adversaries—drouth, heat, insects, and diseases." Before the report for estimated production was given as of

Morrow To Make Last-Ditch Fight To Keep Job Monday

AUSTIN, July 23—UP—Wright Morrow, challenging the political control of Gov. Allan Shivers, goes before Texas' Democratic high command Monday in a last-ditch bid to retain his job as the party's national committeeman.

In question is whether Morrow should be purged for voting Republican in 1952, a year that saw Shivers and most of the party leadership repudiate Adlai Stevenson after he refused to back Texas' claim to the tidelands.

The wealthy silver-haired Houston attorney announced he will be present to fight for his job when members of the State Democratic Executive Committee gather for their one-day session.

Morrow wired State Democratic Chairman George Sandlin he expects to be offered opportunity at the meeting "to express my views and give my reasons for my present attitude."

To Invite Him
"I expect to invite him to speak—subject to the will of the committee," Sandlin said.

Shivers has strongly indicated that for the good of the Democratic party he would like Morrow to resign. Morrow has refused and announced he is standing on principle and states rights.

The issue, Morrow said, is whether the state Democratic organization or the national committee determines who represents Texas.

After announcing his support of President Eisenhower as the Republican nominee in 1952, Morrow offered his resignation as national committeeman to the State Democratic Executive Committee. It was unanimously rejected.

However, Stephen A. Mitchell, national Democratic chairman at priest said, "He will assist in promoting the physical and mental well-being of the patient but he is neither physician nor psychiatrist and does not attempt to be either."

Newest thing in Room with a View

It's the 4-Door Riviera—the stunning new hit of America's Hardtops

WHEN Buick introduced this nation's first hardtop—the Riviera—folks went for it, and fast.

They liked the Convertible look of this 2-door beauty—long, low and rakish. They liked the added security of the steel roof overhead. And they certainly liked the absence of center posts in the side window areas—which gave a completely unbroken view left and right.

People liked it all so well that, over the past six years, they made the Riviera the biggest-selling hardtop in the world, bar none. And it still is.

Now Buick has come up with another great advance in hardtops—the 4-Door Riviera—and it's a sensational hit.

It has everything the original 2-Door

Riviera has—plus separate doors for rear-seat passengers, and a whale of a lot more room for them.

Rock-solid half-pillars on either side are what halt the front doors and hinge the rear ones. So there's no center post above the door line—and a completely open sweep of view to both sides.

And the roominess provided by this gorgeous new hardtop is really something—over 9 inches more hiproom and 5 inches more legroom in the rear.

Why don't you come see this brand-new kind of automobile that's heading up the parade of the hottest-selling line of Buicks in history?

That way you can also try Buick comfort, Buick power, Buick ride and handling and roadability—plus the electrifying action of Buick's Variable Pitch Dynaflo.*

Do it this week—tomorrow would be fine—and you'll see what record volume really means in the way of record-high trade-in deals.

*Variable Pitch Dynaflo is the only Dynaflo Buick builds today. It is standard on ROADMASTER, optional at modest extra cost on other Series.

Here's How Pay-For-It TV Works

By DICK KLEINER NEA Staff Correspondent NEW YORK — (NEA) — There are three main systems of subscription television. They all have slightly different methods of operation, but they also all have one thing in common — the viewer will have to pay for certain programs.

The three are Telemeter, Phonevision and Subscriber-Vision. Telemeter operates with a coin box attached to the TV set in the living room, the others with devices that "decode" the picture. On all three, the picture would be scrambled at transmission. People who did not pay would see only a fuzzy, blurry mass of light if they tuned to the subscription television channel. (Other channels might continue, as at present, to transmit free TV.)

With Phonevision, a product of Zenith, a home viewer would "subscribe" and receive, in the mail, periodically, a card. It would be like a post card in shape, but a little longer. The card would list programs available on the Phonevision channel and their cost. It might say, for example, "Sunday, July 24, 8:30 p.m., movie premiere." If that program appealed to you, you would stick a pencil point or bobby pin into a small indentation opposite that program listing on the card. This would open up a small paper window on the reverse side of the card, and in the folds of this window the subscriber would find a series of five numbers.

The viewer would then set the dials on the back of his set to those numbers. In effect, it would be a combination lock. And the right setting would unlock the decoder and make the scrambled picture intelligible. This decoder could be installed on any standard set.

The numbers would vary from set to set, from hour to hour. In this way, the one setting would only apply to one particular program, and one house. At the end of the period, the subscriber would mail his card back to the main office, and be billed for the punched-out programs.

Skionon's Subscriber-Vision also uses a card as part of the decoding apparatus, but it's a slightly different arrangement. There would be no numbers to set, just the push of a button. Again, the subscriber gets a card in the mail. His set will be equipped with a small electronic unit, a decoder. When he sees a program on the card he wants to watch, the viewer slips the card into a slot in the decoder. By pressing a button, a hole in the card is punched which completes the circuit and, presto, the scrambled picture is cleared.

The cards, as with Phonevision, are mailed back and the subscriber is billed with the next card.

Telemeter, Paramount's entry, is an entirely different procedure. The set would be equipped with a small, neat coin-box. When the set is tuned to the Telemeter channel, an unscrambled voice would be heard advertising the coming program. Telemeter calls this man "the Barker."

The Barker tells the name of the program, how long it is — and how much it costs. Simultaneously, the coin-box would indicate, say, $1. If the viewer decided he wanted to see the show, he would insert coins totalling $1. (Or he could put in $2 worth of coins, with the extra dollar giving him credit toward the next show he wanted to see.)

The insertion of the money would serve to decode the scrambled picture. Periodically, someone would come around and empty the coins. Naturally.

Subscription TV: To Be Or Not?

By KENNETH O. GILMORE NEA Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON — (NEA) — There soon may be new words to the old song hit, "Put another nickel in the nickelodeon."

Instead it will go, "Put another quarter in, in the TV decoder." For that still youthful phenomenon known as television has given birth to a new money-making gimmick. Some people call it "Subscription TV;" others have labeled it, "Slot machine TV."

The trouble is, it has already become a real problem child. Toll television is causing a major squabble in and outside the industry. And this is just the beginning.

What is subscription TV? Basically it's a system whereby the television viewer makes payment for a program either by dropping a coin in a box attached to his set or paying a monthly bill based on a coded card. Either method unscrambles the airwaves and provides exclusive entertainment.

Everybody agrees this is a very workable plan, but plenty of people question whether it is a good one. They forecast it will mean the end of free TV if permitted. Those in favor say it will give television a much needed shot in the arm.

The issue is now reaching the boiling point. For three different systems are presently jockeying to have their patents licensed by the Federal Communications Commission. They are Phonevision, controlled by Zenith Radio Corp., Telemeter which is 80 per cent owned by Paramount Pictures, and Subscriber-Vision owned by Skionon.

But the big contest is between those who don't want subscription TV at all and those who are promoting it. Battle lines are now being drawn in Washington.

Already the National Association of Radio and Television Broadcasters has officially filed its objections to toll TV. The NARTRB represents about 52 per cent of the nation's radio broadcasters and 75 per cent of the television broadcasters.

On the other side, the National Small Business Men's Association gave the system full endorsement. Many parties, however, are still to be heard from. Up to date the FCC has received an estimated 3,000 letters and post cards, but a number of these are from individuals and not the powers of the industry such as the Radio Corp. of America, the Columbia Broadcasting System, and the American Broadcasting Co.

Financially the stakes are high. The outcome can mean millions of dollars either way for movie, radio and television business. But the decision will also directly affect the owners of the country's $3 billion sets.

Here are some of the arguments each camp is firing at the public and the FCC. Advocates of subscription TV claim it will bring first class box office entertainment right into the

Here's What One Degree Higher Means To You

By JOHN ROBBINS
NEA Special Correspondent
CLEVELAND — (NEA) — The effects of the one-degree warm-up of the country has experienced over the past 50 years have been felt only indirectly.

Americans today, for instance, buy fewer heavy overcoats and far less woolen underwear than their grandfathers. But retailers see it as a style change.

We spend less time out-of-doors. Our houses are warmer and better insulated. If America continues to warm up, the trend toward lighter, cooler clothing will probably go even further.

As summer weather extends into spring and fall, Americans are likely to indulge in more outdoor living. Architects and builders in the next 25 years are going to have to take the sun more into account than they have in the past, and to design homes as much for "cool" as for warmth.

The leading companies — coal, gas, and oil — are already acutely conscious of the trend toward warmer weather.

They have worked out a new way of measuring the "amount" of cold that accumulates over a winter. They take 65 degrees as a normal, and subtract from it the mean temperature of any day below that figure. The result is called "degree days." A January averaging 35 degrees, for instance, would make up 1,985 degree days. Warm days simply aren't counted.

Fifty years ago the yearly totals of degree days in the north-eastern states ran between 6,000 and 6,500. Today they are more likely to run between 5,000 and 5,500. That's 1,000 degrees against which grandfather had to buy fuel and you don't.

The Windham County Hotel and Inn at Newfane, Vt., serves meals to paying guests at one end of the century-old building and to prisoners at the other. Food for both classes of customers is prepared in the same kitchen.

Power companies, on the other hand, are experiencing new summer prosperity. Longer daylight hours used to cut down on the amount of electricity consumers used for lighting. The last few years the boom in air conditioning has, in many cities, been enough to offset the normal summer power decrease.

Air conditioning, in fact, offers security to America against the danger that the climate might grow too hot for comfort, for health, and for maximum activity.

The steel industry, for instance, has learned how to air-condition the blazing-hot carriages from which, in the newest furnaces, technicians control the ladles full of molten metal.

Technical progress in air conditioning will probably go farther still. There is little danger that Americans will have to abandon any region merely because it gets too hot.

But the heat wave that seems to be advancing across the country is bringing with it a real danger in industry and to agriculture — drought. Most of the scientists who are predicting warmer weather believe that the current dry spell in the Southwest will spread farther and farther north and east.

IT GOT HOT — July 1955 heat wave produced this photo when Chicago businessman Irving Rossman wore cool abbreviated sports attire to work and gave his employees, like secretary Hope Borowski, permission to follow suit. Trend toward lighter, cooler clothing may go farther if America continues to warm up.

This brings up a definite possibility that the southwestern states will grow too dry to support the populations now living there. The tremendous expenditures made on irrigating the semi-arid lands may turn out to have been wasted if those lands turn into deserts.

If the water table falls still further below the surface, and the streams continue to dry up in the summer, the industrial boom that has hit the Southwest since World War II may slacken.

Only one area in the country has an assured permanent supply of fresh water for unlimited use. That is the Great Lakes basin, located around the largest reservoir in the world.

Should the United States grow drier, industry is likely to "migrate" to the shores of the Great Lakes to take advantage of perpetual drought insurance. The combination of an assured water supply and the new St. Lawrence Seaway may turn the Lakes states into the most populous and prosperous region in the country.

Library Adds Music Records

A record library is being initiated this week at Lovett Memorial Library to be available to individuals and groups interested in music. For the present the records will not be checked out, but will be played in a private room at the library during regular hours.

The selection of records is limited at the present, but several local groups have indicated plans to add to the collection.

The Adult Education Group has chosen to provide the Record of the Month Club "Music Appreciation Records." Their first selection is Beethoven's "Symphony No. 5 in C-Minor" and is now available. Also the "Music Master's Series" a collection of 13 selections recording briefly the life and works of the masters is to be donated. The first record of this series, "Wolfgang Mozart, His Story and His Music," is now available.

Local Air Reserve Is Training Center

By W. J. McNEILL

(Ed. Note — The author, Major W. J. McNeill, is the information and intelligence officer of the newly created 9913th Air Force Reserve Training Squadron. Pampa Air Reservists this week saw their unit elevated to squadron status which carried with it a broader meaning than meets the eye at first glance. In this article, Major McNeill, a Pampa business man sees forth what has happened during the past week and what it actually means to Pampa.)

Creation of the 9913th Air Force Reserve Training Squadron for Pampa is a long step forward for Pampa in the military world. It means recognition as an independent command center for the city as well as added prestige in the area's military standing.

For Pampa is the smallest city in the United States to boast an Air Force Reserve Squadron headquarters.

Eight-year old Flight "C" remains, but under a new command. From here on out, it will be part of a pivotal group, helping to form new reserve training flights around the Texas Panhandle. The squadron itself will consist of all flights now in existence or to be formed in the Panhandle with the exception of Amarillo and those cities and towns lying south of U.S. Highway 66.

From time the local unit was first organized and began meeting regularly in the county court room until now, it has grown from a handful of former Army Air Force officers to a unit boasting more than thirty five officers and men who at one time or another served with the air arm of the nation's military establishment.

Membership in the Volunteer Air Reserve locally is comparatively small to other military reserve units, mostly because membership in it is tightly restricted by law to only those who have had prior air military service. This prior air service may have been with the old Army Air Force, the newly organized U.S. Air Force, or the Navy and Marine air arms; No men who have never served a day of military life are eligible.

The reason for this is simple. The program as set up does not provide for basic training of recruits. Rather it is a continuation of training already received by officers and enlisted men once connected with the nation's air arms.

"Flight C" was once attached to the 9983rd Air Reserve Training Squadron with headquarters in Amarillo.

That was its status for eight years until last week when Pampa was raised to squadron level.

It means the men attached to the Pampa unit and units subsequently organized will go on at least a partial pay status, be required to meet in uniform, and eventually meet in their own building where specialized training courses will be offered to both officers and enlisted men.

From the dollars and cents point of view, it also means an extra income to Pampa of $76,000 per year.

Activation of the new squadron and change of command of "Flight C" was accomplished Thursday night in the county court room without any pomp, ceremony or fanfare outside of radio and newspaper publicity.

The impact of the change may not be felt by every citizen, but it will be felt by the unit, and by yet unborn units over the Panhandle.

Because Air Force operations have needs that are not uniform with other branches of the service, its training program of necessity is also different.

Like the regular Air Force, the reserve program is aiming at building a service family of specialists. Thus, in the event of an all-out war, the local unit would not be called into service or active duty as a unit within itself. Rather, ever man will be assigned to different bases and different units.

The former airman or former air officer who gives his time each week to the reserve training program will definitely have the jump on the fellow who doesn't in the event of all out mobilization.

For an example: the non-commissioned officer who comes out of the service and does not enter reserve training has no opportunity for promotion or advancement. Yet in the event of an all-out mobilization he is almost certain to be recalled, and at the grade he held when he left the service.

The non-com who takes up the reserve training program enters with the grade at which he was discharged. During his reserve training period he has the opportunity to advance, or even win a commission. Then in the event of an all-out mobilization he will be recalled with the rank he earned through reserve training.

The program locally calls for specialized training twice a month in administration and supply. However, the program offers a wider selection to the reservists than that. There are opportunities for training in operations, communications, photography, armament, maintenance, engineering, intelligence, and comptrolling.

At this time, however, there is no actual flying training for the local reserve unit.

An Air Force sergeant on active duty will be assigned to Pampa full time in the immediate future to look after the military needs of the newly created squadron.

Headquarters for the squadron now has only four men on its staff: Major J. Robert Brown, commanding officer; Major T. A. Lively Jr., deputy commanding officer; Major J. W. Thompson of Miami the squadron training officer, and the writer as information and intelligence officer.

The squadron also has place for enlisted men who will be assigned to it later as the organization becomes more closely knit. The command of Flight "C" has been turned over by Major Brown to Major Earl Atkinson of Lefors.

Generally, the future plans of the new squadron include formation of flights in other Panhandle cities including Shamrock, Canadian, Sinnott, Perryton, Higgins, Dumas, Dalhart, and other points. Air Force commander made no bones about telling the local reservists they earned their squadron status by hard, steady work, and faithfulness to the Air Force. Such men as Capt. James R. Wheat, of Higgins, who has to make a 180-mile round trip to Pampa each week in order to attend meetings have made the promotion possible for Pampa.

Pampa's flight is pretty near the goal of meeting its authorized strength of forty officers and men. Several applications are now on hand by former air arm personnel both enlisted and commissioned.

The squadron itself is shooting for its authorized strength of 200 officers and men.

Pampa Air Reserve activities have come a long way since 1948 when that handful of men consisting of Major Ed Vicars, Capt. Mike Forter, Major Travis Lively Jr., Capt. Myron Marx, Major Ralph Thomas, Major J. Robert Brown, and a few others organized Flight "C", held it together, and made it grow into a respectable sized flight, and now into its own squadron.

And, all of the members of the flight, and squadron headquarters feel mighty proud of the unit and its comparatively short history.

THESE ONE-RUN DECISIONS are stacking up in a hurry on our front-running Oilers.

The last six Oiler games have been decided by one lone marker which brings the season total of one-run games the Oilers have been involved in to 26.

And the Oilers haven't done badly in the one-run games. The locals have won 15 games by a single tally while dropping 11 by this margin.

Six of these one-run games have been 5-4 contests, four of them coming in the last six games.

In the 2-run decisions, the Oilers haven't done so well. Sixteen of the Oiler games have been decided by two runs with the Oilers winning only four of these.

In other words, 23 of the 39 Oiler losses this season have been by two runs, or less, which, of course, means the Oilers usually make it interesting, win, lose or draw.

TODAY'S DOUBLEHEADER at Oiler Park will be the first Sunday home game for the Oilers since May 29, the day the Oilers moved into the league lead by sweeping a twinbill from the Plainview Ponies.

The Oilers have held the lead since that doubleheader sweep from the Ponies, 55 days ago.

We hope we don't put the whammy on the Oilers but the Sunday record of the Settmens this season has been phenomenal.

The Oilers have played 14 Sunday games and won 13 of them. The lone Sabbath defeat by the Oilers was that 14-2 debacle at Lubbock May 1.

THIS WEEK'S SPORTS CALENDAR in Pampa is going to be pretty full.

The Senior and Junior Oilers get things rolling today. Then tomorrow night, wrestling crowds into the sports limelight with baseball.

The Pampa Shrine Club has lined up a mat tournament that will run through the next two Monday nights with the winner of the tourney to earn the right to challenge Gentleman Ed Francis (no relation to the writer) for the Junior Heavyweight crown.

The Oilers, in the meantime, will wind up its homestand tomorrow night with the El Paso Texans.

Pampa's kid baseballers take over the spotlight Tuesday.

The two Little Leagues journey to Plainview to battle each other in the first round of the Area LL Tournament.

And the Pony Leaguers will open their series with Roswell for the District 1 championship Tuesday.

As you'll note elsewhere on this page, Pampa has been awarded the site of the entire series with Roswell.

We're indeed fortunate to land this series. It'll be a big series for these kids. The pressure on these youngsters mounts with every game along the tournament trail.

Thursday night on the local scene, football comes in for a share of the spotlight.

DeWitt Weaver, head football coach at Texas Tech, will address Texas Tech execs, fans and other interested persons at a dinner Thursday night at Poole's Steakhouse.

Weaver will be making his second trip to Pampa within a six-month period to address a sports gathering. The popular Red Raider mentor was the guest speaker at the Harvesters grid banquet in January.

The Oilers return home Thursday to open a two-game set with Abilene.

The Junior Oilers take off Friday for the Sooner state to compete in the Oklahoma Semi-Pro State Tournament.

There won't be many dull moments for local sports fans this week.

Other batting and pitching leaders are:

Batting Percentage, Paul Flores, Clovis, .402; hits, Bobby Fernandez, Lubbock, 145; total bases, I. B. Palmer, Plainview, 238; doubles, Fernandez, Lubbock, 35; triples, Bob Scott, Lubbock, eight; stolen bases, Alex Gonzales, El Paso, 51.

Fitting—Most wins, Jack Martin, Albuquerque, 18; most losses, Ken Wade, Abilene, Tillman Conovan, El Paso, 14; innings pitched, Ken Yoke, El Paso, 193; bases on balls, Conovan, El Paso, 134; wild pitches, Ken Wade, Abilene, Conovan, El Paso, tied with 13; and most complete games, Ted Shandor, Albuquerque, 20.

Oilers, Texans Duel In Twinbill Here Today

TEEN AGE CHAMPS — Pictured is the Atlas Tank team, champions of the Pampa Teen Age League. The Tankers won eleven, lost two and tied one over regular season route.

Curtain Falls On Teen Age Loop Season

The Teen Age League season ended with last week's action.

Atlas Tank, however, had already clinched the league crown before the final week of scheduled activity.

The Pampa News, by winning its final two games of the season last week, moved into the No. 2 spot in the final standings.

The Newmans replaced Celanese for the second spot in the standings, the Celanese nine dropping to third.

This was the first season for the Pampa Teen Age baseball loop. The league consisted of boys ages 15-18.

The Optimist Club, sponsors of Little League and Pony League baseball in Pampa, instigated the Teen Age Loop.

Aiding the Optimists in operation of the Teen Age League were the American Legion and JayCees, who furnished personnel for operating one team.

Abb Conway of the American Legion managed the champion Atlas Tank team. Dwayne Darrow of the JayCees piloted the runnerup Pampa News nine.

Other managers were Foster White, an employee at Celanese and manager of the Celanese team, and Ray Stephenson of the Optimist Club, manager of the C. R. Hoover Oil.

Dr. Nick Kadango of the Optimist Club served as the Teen Age League president.

Following is the final standings: Pampa News 9, Celanese 6, Atlas Tank 7, C.R. Hoover Oil 3, Pampa News 11, Celanese 3, Atlas Tank 7, C.R. Hoover Oil 3.

Pampa 9 Wins In Tournament

Bell Telephone of Pampa and Philblack of Borger registered wins in the Skellytown Lions Club Invitational softball tournament last night at Skellytown.

The Telephone defeated Hansford, 10-2, while Philblack defeated Hawbaker of Amarillo, 4-3.

Bell Telephone and Philblack thus join Phillips Men's Club of Borger and Philchem, also of Borger, in the winner's bracket of the double elimination tournament.

The Men's Club defeated Sunray, 6-1, and Philchem downed Northern Natural, 13-7, in opening games Friday.

Monday's and Tuesday's schedules in the tournament are as follows:

Monday — Sunray vs. Northern Natural, 7:30 (loser's bracket); Phillips Men's Club vs. Philchem, 9:00 (winner's bracket).

Tuesday — Hansford vs. Hawbaker, 7:30 (loser's bracket); Bell Telephone vs. Philblack, 9:00 (winner's bracket).

Pampa Awarded Site Of Pony District Finals

Pampa has been awarded the site of the entire series for the District 1 Pony League finals.

The series will be between the Pampa Pony All-Stars against a similar all-star team from Roswell, N.M.

It will be the last of a three-game series. The series will open Tuesday night at Oiler Park with a doubleheader.

If the twinbill is split, then the championship game will be played Wednesday night, also at Oiler Park.

Date and site of the series was arranged yesterday following the completion of the Sub-District 1.

Little League action this week will be suspended until after the two all-star teams representing the Pampa Little Leagues, Western and Eastern, finish play in the Area LL Tournament at Plainview starting Tuesday.

Season champions in the two leagues have already been determined. Cabot in the Eastern and Spokesman of the Western have already clinched the second half crowns. Both also won the first half.

Following is the Little League standings:

WESTERN LEAGUE Team W L Pct. Atlas Tank 11 2 1.814

Only two regular season scheduled games remain in each of the two Little Leagues here.

The league that loses Tuesday's game will then complete its schedule Thursday and Friday.

The two games that remain in each league are the two that were postponed on Thursday and Friday of the past week.

Both all-star teams here have been working in earnest the past three days in preparing for the upcoming area tournament.

Season champions in the two leagues have already been determined. Cabot in the Eastern and Spokesman of the Western have already clinched the second half crowns. Both also won the first half.

Ford, Middlecoff Set Pace In PGA

Middlecoff is Tired

"I'm playing the best golf of my life," said 34-year-old Middlecoff, "but I'm getting tired. That doesn't mean too much though, because these other guys who are still in the running must be getting tired, too."

Three more days remain in this week-long tournament with all the matches scheduled for 36 holes.

Middlecoff, the top money-winner along the golfing trail this year, figures his chances of winning the one big U. S. title that has escaped him are good "because I've played in less tournaments this year than in any year in the past. If I had hit all the tournaments I'd be a lot more 'fatigued'."

Ford, shooting 10 birdies and 16 pars, overhauled Wally Ulrich of Rochester, Minn., 12 and 10 while Middlecoff, who plays the Meadowbrook Country Club course as if he owned it, downed Mike Pavella of Washington, Pa., 4 and 3. The last two times the golfing denlist played this course he won the Motor City Open.

They are in opposite halves of the draw and their easy victories Saturday made them favorites to meet for the title on Tuesday.

Weaver To Speak Here Thursday

DeWitt Weaver, who has enjoyed four successful years as the Texas Tech football coach, will be in Pampa Thursday night to address Tech execs and friends at a banquet set at Poole's Steakhouse.

Weaver is expected to base his talk on the athletic outlook at Texas Tech and give a rundown on his 1955 football prospects.

Weaver's Texas Tech teams have won three Border Conference titles and two bowl victories (Sun Bowl and Gator Bowl) in his four years at the Lubbock college.

In 1953 Texas Tech won the national scoring championship with 428 points.

They won the Border title handily again this past season.

Weaver learned the single wing under Gen. Bob Neyland at Tennessee, but switched over to the Split T while associate line coach at Tulsa.

He coached — as an assistant — at Tennessee, Centre College, Mississippi State and Tulsa before getting his first head coaching job at Texas Tech in 1951.

Since taking over at Tech, Weaver has made history on the Red Raider campus.

Weaver only last winter turned down an offer to take over the head coaching duties at University of Arkansas.

In his four years at Tech, Weaver's Raiders have won 16 Border

Minor League Tilts Postponed

All games in the Minor Leagues in the Pony and LL yesterday were rained out.

Action will resume again Monday. Next week's games will conclude the Minor League slate.

Monday's schedule is as follows:

WESTERN LL 5:45 p.m. — Cardinals vs. Friendly Men's EASTERN LL 5:45 p.m. — E. M. Keller vs. Southwestern Public Service.

Nashua to Begin Workouts CHICAGO — UP — Belair stud's Nashua, the leading three-year-old in the nation, was scheduled to begin workouts at Arlington Park Monday in preparation for Saturday's $155,000 Arlington classic.

U.S. Takes Six Titles

SAARBRUECKEN, Germany — UP — Touring U.S. stars won six titles in an international invitation track meet here Sunday with Don Vieck of UCLA and Jim Lea of the Los Angeles AC scoring two victories apiece.

Wants to Keep Trophy CHICAGO — UP — Calumet Farm's Mark-Ye-Well, 10th on the all-time money winning list and Fleet Bird attempt to retire the Cornelius Whitney Trophy with a victory Wednesday in the $63,100 Equipole mile at Arlington Park. Calumet won the trophy, which goes to the first stable to win the race three times, in 1944 with Sun Again and in 1948 with Fervent. Nineteen horses in all will run in the mile event.

There are more than 3,222,000 miles of roads in the highway system of the United States.

Pollet, Venable Oiler Starters

The Oilers and El Paso Texans, rained out of their series opener last night at Oiler Park, will battle today in a doubleheader.

First game of the twinbill will commence at 2 p.m. The lid-lifter will be a nine-inning game, the second going for seven innings.

Tom Pollet will hurl for the Oilers in the first game with Jack Venable slated for the nightcap.

Pollet will be seeking his 14th win of the season against three losses. Venable will be gunning for his 12th win of the campaign as compared to nine losses.

El Paso has been a nemesis to Pollet. Two of the three losses on Pollet's record this season has been administered by the Texans. The two Texan wins over Pollet have been by 5-3 and 5-4.

Pollet holds one win over the Texans; it coming in a relief role. Venable is even with the Texans for the year, beating the Texans twice and losing twice.

El Paso manager Jim Mangano has nominated Chuck Lerhmann (12-13) and Frank Ramsey (0-0) to go for the Texans in today's twinbill. Lerhmann will hurl the first game.

The Oilers and Texans have met 13 times this season with the Pampans holding a slight edge, 7-6.

Deck Woldt, Oiler business manager, announced Saturday that the "Merchant Night" scheduled last night will be held in conjunction with the regularly scheduled "Merchant Day" today.

In the first game of today's doubleheader, DeLuxe Cleaners will give away three $5 gift certificates, good for $5 dry cleaning. Last night was to have been DeLuxe Cleaners Night.

Then in the second game, today the regular scheduled "Johnson's Cafe Day" will be held. Johnson's will give away six steak dinners, two to a winner.

All tickets used in today's doubleheader will be good for the grand award night tomorrow night when the Oilers and Texans close out their series.

Texas Furniture will sponsor tomorrow's game, giving away two fiber and metal lawn chairs valued at $24.95.

After this series with the Texans, the Oilers will go to Abilene for a two-game series Tuesday and Wednesday and then return home Thursday, bringing the Abilene Blue Sox back to town with them.

In other front office action, the Oilers have announced the signing of Bob Votaw, who was discharged from the Army last spring. Votaw, who hurled for the Oilers before going into the service, was with the Oilers in spring training but decided to give up baseball.

With a little added weight, the young righthander is ready to give it another try.

John Coddington, who has been with the Oilers the past two seasons, has been returned to Shreveport.

Bill Hair, veteran righthander, is in the Oiler camp but he won't go on the active list for another week, or so. Manager Grover Seitz has revealed.

Campbell Sets Speed Record

LAKE ULLSWATER, England July 23 — UP — Donald Campbell, battling agonizing pain in his back because the first man ever to break through the 200-mile-an-hour "water barrier" and live Saturday as he set a world speed record in his jet-powered boat.

Campbell, 34-year-old son of England's late speedboat king, Sir Malcolm Campbell, rocketed his two and one-half ton turbojet-driven hydroplane twice over a measured kilometer course at an average speed of 292.2 miles per hour. Water conditions on this unruddered lake were ideal.

Campbell thus recaptured for Britain the record held by Stanley Sayres of Seattle.

It was a dramatic victory of courage over the unknown "barrier" which had claimed the lives of the only two men known to have broken it before.

Every Minute Sheer Agony Every minute of the race across this picturesque lake was stark agony for Campbell, who had slipped a vertebra during trial runs and refused to give up his speed quest.

Meanwhile in Pony League action the past week, the Pampa Druggists clinched a tie for the second ball title, defeating First National Bank and Kist for its fifth and sixth wins of the half against one loss.

Admission prices for Tuesday's twinbill will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students.

First game of the doubleheader will start at 6:15, with the second game to follow immediately.

If a third game is necessary, it will be played Wednesday night starting at 8:15.

First National won the first half. Following is the Pony League standings for the second half.

Mat Tourney Starts Here Monday Night

An elimination tournament for determining a worthy challenger for the World's Junior Heavyweight champion, Gentleman Ed Francis, will get underway at the Top of Texas Sportsman Club Arena tomorrow night.

The tournament will run for two weeks. Then on the third week, the tournament champion will meet Francis here for the World's Junior Heavyweight title.

Two elimination bouts will be held tomorrow night. The first match will send Frank Faketty and Raul Zapata against each other while Rocky Colombos and Leo Walligk meet in the second bout.

Winner of the two bouts tomorrow will then clash on the next card, Monday, Aug. 1, for the right to challenge Francis for the title on Aug. 8.

Tomorrow's two elimination bouts will be for the best of three falls or one hour time limit.

Paul Crouch, an official of the Pampa Shrine Club, sponsors of the weekly wrestling show, says plans are in the making to stage the world's title bout between Francis and the winner of the tournament out of doors.

The title bout may be held at the Fair Grounds.

Crouch also reveals that the wrestling shows will be held on Monday's in the future. The Shriner's changed their decision to switch the weekly mat dates from Monday to Tuesday.

Last week's program was held on Tuesday night.

Monday's action will commence at 8:30.

Giants Win On Hearn's 1-Hitter

By UNITED PRESS
Jim Hearn's comeback reached its peak Saturday when the 33-year old right-hander from Atlanta, Ga., tossed a one-hitter in pitching the New York Giants to a 2-0 triumph over the Cincinnati Redlegs.

Hearn held the Redlegs hitless for 8 1/3 innings in an effort to become the first Giant pitcher to achieve a no-hitter since Carl Hubbell did it on May 8, 1929 but pinch-hitter Chuck Harmon broke the spell when he lined a single to left field. Hearn retired the next two batters to account for his second one-hitter since the Giants obtained him on waivers from the St. Louis Cardinals in mid-summer, 1950.

Hearn, a star on the Giant pennant-winners of 1953, had an 8-6 record last season and was the team's No. 1 disappointment. Manager Leo Durocher conceded he might have mishandled Jim last season and promised him a better chance this year. Hearn's victory Saturday was his 10th — tops for the team — compared to nine losses.

Gordon Drives in Runs
Sid Gordon drove in both Giant runs with sacrifice flies in the first and third innings as the Redlegs suffered their 15th loss in 19 games. Joe Nuxhall was the loser despite a fine six-hit performance.

Del Ennis drove in all Philadelphia's runs with three homers and Robin Roberts pitched a nine-inning shutout for his 16th win in a 7-2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

In other National League games, the Milwaukee Braves rallied to down the Brooklyn Dodgers, 11-6, and the Pittsburgh Pirates thrashed the Chicago Cubs, 10-2.

Ennis blasted two-run homers in the first and sixth inning of Willard Schmidt and climaxed the big day with a three-run drive off Brooks Lawrence in the seventh. Roberts, who won his sixth consecutive game, now has a 16-7 record and is tied with Brooklyn's Don Newcombe for the major league lead in victories.

Joe Adcock and Andy Pafko homered in the midst of a five-run spurge that brought the Braves behind in the seventh inning. The rally handed Ed Roubicek his sixth defeat and enabled Ernie Johnson to gain his fourth triumph. Del Crandall also homered for Milwaukee and Carl Furillo hit one for the Dodgers.

Errors Help Pirates
Three first-inning errors helped the Pirates to set many unearned runs and paved the way for Bob Friend's seventh triumph. The Pirates pounded out 15 hits in dealing the Cubs their 14th loss in 16 contests.

In the American League, the straggling Kansas City Athletics rose up for the second time in less than 24 hours to drub the fading New York Yankees, 8-7, in 11 innings and enable the Chicago White Sox to hold their one-game lead on first place despite a 9-7 loss to the Boston Red Sox.

Cleveland shamed Baltimore, 3-2, and Detroit downed Washington, 10-4, in other games. The scheduled nightcap between Detroit and Washington was rained out.

Hector Lopez singled home Harry Simpson from second base in the 11th inning to give the Athletics the victory in an uphill struggle. Trailing, 5-0, the Athletics rallied for seven runs in the eighth inning then came back after two Yankee runs produced a 7-7 in regulation time. Jim Finigan struck the big blow of the seven-run rally—a three-run double. It was the second straight time the A's beat the Yankees.

All Of Tims' Pro Ball Career Has Been Spent In WT-NM

Sonny Tims, Oiler outfielder, is in his third year in professional baseball.

Tims, at 24, broke into organized ball in 1952 with the Clovis Pioneers and played with the Amarillo Gold Sox in 1953. Tims laid out of baseball last year.

Sonny batted .322 in 110 games for Clovis in '52 and .281 for Amarillo in '53 in 92 games. Overall for the two seasons in professional baseball, Tims collected 270 hits in 885 trips for a .305 average.

Included in his hits for the two seasons, Tims pounded 52 doubles, two triples, and 36 homers. In addition Tims drew 118 bases on balls and drove in 150 runs.

Tims hit 17 homers his rookie year in '52 and 19 in his sophomore year. At the present, Tims has hit 10 homers, 17 doubles and driven in 52 runs for the Oilers this season.

Sonny was born and raised in Altus, Okla., where he still resides in the off season. He graduated from Altus High School in 1949 and went immediately to college, Southwestern State College in Weatherford, Okla.

Tims was a three-sport man in both high school and college, participating in football, basketball and baseball.

Tims won several all-conference honors during his high school and college days. In high school, Tims was all-district in all three sports and was honorable mention all-state in football. In college, Tims was all-conference in football one year and all-conference three years in baseball.

Sonny played right halfback in football and outfield in baseball during his school days.

Tims stands 5-10 and weighs 180 pounds.

Tims is married and has two children, Terry 4, and Pamela, 2. Tims' family is with him in Pampa now.

Tims lists fishing, hunting, tennis and "sleeping" as his pet hobbies.

Following is Tims' professional baseball record:

Robinson Eyes Middle Title

SAN FRANCISCO —UP— Ray Robinson, riding high again like the sugar man of old, Saturday headed for a world middleweight title fight against Carl Bobo Olson while Rocky Castellani's beaten camp screamed "robbers."

The 35-year-old Harlem dancing man staggered back from a nine count knockdown in the sixth round of Friday night's wild fight at the Cow Palace to earn a split 10-round decision over the erstwhile number one middleweight contender.

A crowd of 8,230, who turned out for the nationally televised bout, unleashed a terrific roar when Robinson was declared the winner.

Referee Jack Downey and Judge Frankie Carter voted the fight to Sugar Ray 56-54, while Judge Jack Silver saw it Castellani 56-54. The United Press stayed with Robinson, 55 1/2-54 1/2.

Robinson weighed 159, Castellani 160.

Castellani, sticking to his advance billing as a fighter who has junked the hit-and-run technique, sent Robinson sprawling to all fours in the sixth when he caught him with a savage right to the head followed by a left hook and a right chop.

But Robinson, who had been knocked out only once in his life, pulled his added wits together, survived the round, then went on to stagger Castellani with his legendary combinations which were enough to put him back in business.

PANHANDLE OUTDOOR LIFE

By S. V. WHITEHORN
The Game and Fish Commission proposed practically the same waterfowl season as last year, a later south zone mourning dove opener, and a closed whitewing dove season for this fall.

Meeting in Austin, the commission authorized open seasons on antelope both in the Panhandle and in the Trans-Pecos area, where it has the authority to regulate hunting seasons, with upwards of 200 does to be taken west of the Pecos in addition to 400 plus bucks.

The Panhandle antelope season, to harvest up to three hundred fifty buck antelope, will be in three three-day shoots, Oct. 12 through Oct. 20. Instructions on permit applications, which will be decided by a public drawing in Austin, will be announced later. (Under the present statute the ranch owner or one in charge, has the authority to charge as much as forty dollars per permit holder. The last hunt in the Panhandle, 1963, only one rancher charged for the hunting rights, however, we have heard that most of the ranchers will charge twenty five dollars per permit this fall.)

Big Horns Snub Trap
Game and Fish efforts to trap big horn sheep in Arizona for stocking in the Black Gap Wildlife management area in Brewster County face possible failure this year. The authorities said the fleet big horns failed to frequent a watering place where a special trap was built. Unless they do so soon, they added, the late summer wet season will arrive and the novelty of water will fade.

The Commission got an authorization for twenty five head of big horns from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service which operates a big game refuge in the Kofa mountain region of southwestern Arizona.

Preparations to receive the animals already have been completed in the Black Gap area where the big horns once roamed in great herds. They were decimated by construction crews and then finally exterminated by disease caused by contact with domestic sheep.

The site in Brewster County includes a one mile square area enclosed with lion proof fence and caves blasted out of over-hanging rocks to protect the sheep from summer sun and winter cold. The quota of big horns is not filled this year, the trapping project will be renewed next year, said the Assistant Director.

At last we have had some very good reports of large broods of turkeys. Ott Weant, foreman of the Coble ranch, Hutchinson county, reported seeing one group, "three old hens and about thirty-five small ones" plus other smaller broods over the ranch.

The turkeys as well as all other birds will thrive this year due to the huge supply of bird food on hand, weed seeds, insects etc.

Is it legal to use sun-perch on a trot line for bait? asks Herman Gilder. As long as the perch are legally taken, they are legal as trot line bait.

Twenty foot seine may be used for taking minnows, except that in the Canadian river only, it shall be legal to take minnows with a forty foot seine.

Here's why Record-Breaking Thousands
Name Pontiac "America's Greatest Buy"!

It takes only one word to explain why today's Pontiac is the most popular Pontiac ever built. That word is VALUE.

Buyers from both ends of the price scale are finding that Pontiac provides just about everything any car at any price can offer. It's a matter of fact, not opinion, that Pontiac is the biggest, most powerful car anywhere near its modest price!

For size, Pontiac reaches high into the fine-car price range—and comes up with a long 122" or 124" wheelbase. This is size where it counts, because nothing beats wheelbase in providing solid comfort and stability on any road at any speed.

Pontiac's performance is strictly Pontiac's alone—and it stems from the most modern, most advanced V-8 in the industry! Its mighty 200-h.p. Strato-Streak V-8 with four-barrel carburetor* provides more power than any car within hundreds of dollars of Pontiac's modest price.

Another Pontiac extra value, so easily measured when you get behind the wheel, is the supreme ease of handling that keeps all its eager power and husky bigness under instant and almost effortless control.

And if you interpret value in terms of appearance—here again Pontiac's your kind of car. Its distinctive Twin-Streak beauty and Vogue Two-Toning will stay new and fresh for years!

And for the final value clincher—bear in mind that Pontiac prices fit easily into any new-car budget!

No wonder Pontiac sales are at an all-time high! Come in soon and drive this wonderful car. We're sure you, too, will join the big swing to Pontiac!

*Low extra-cost option; 180 h.p. standard

THERE'S NO POWER LIKE STRATO-STREAK POWER!

Here is the heart of Pontiac's terrific performance—the all-new, ultramodern Strato-Streak V-8. This masterpiece of engine design will deliver up to 200 horsepower with Pontiac's 4-barrel carburetor, an extra-cost option. Come on in, take the wheel and see what Strato-Streak really means!

Fans Go All Out In Paying Reese Tribute

BROOKLYN — UP — They gave Peeewe Reese, the little colonel from Louisville, a celebration that will have to go down in Brooklyn as the biggest since Cookie Lavagetto busted up that Yankee no-hitter in the 1947 World Series.

There were two huge cakes, one about the size of the Ebbets Field pipe organ, and everybody in the ball park lit a match for a "candle" and they all sang happy birthday as Gladys Godding, the Dodger organist, wheezed it out. It was a hot night but it wasn't perspiration that streamed down the faces of many a hard-bitten old-timer and a few of Peeewe's battle-scarred team mates. There were good honest tears of happy emotion for the great little shortstop, who is 36 Saturday, and has worn a Dodger uniform longer than any other player except old Zack Wheat.

And the celebration, Man, it was a doozy. Telegrams from President Eisenhower, Vice President Richard Nixon, U.S. Senator Alben Barkley, the former "Veep" from Kentucky, and from governors, mayors, congressmen — the great and the near great.

But the little people — the ones sitting in the cheap seats away out in center field — they're the ones that touched Peeewe's heart the most. The fans took up a collection — it had gone on for weeks — and dollars, quarters, dimes, nickels, yes even pennies came from near and far.

Peeewe received $3,000 in savings bonds from that collection and there were tons of gifts for him and his wife, Dorothy and their daughter, Barbara. Golf clubs, refrigerators, fishing equipment, television sets, jewelry, plaques, clothing, in fact it took a miniature railroad from Coney Island to haul it all on to the field.

Reese, who has been Dodger shortstop since 1940, also received an automobile. There were seven on the field, a nod from him, and he could have had his choice. But he arranged a little lottery. His daughter, Barbara, 6, reached in a grab bag and drew an ignition key. It fit one of the lowest priced cars of the bunch. Somehow that seemed typical, too, because Peeewe never was the type to go roaring around town like a showoff.

Oh, yes, Peeewe played ball Friday night. Smacked two doubles. Had himself a helluva time.

Lewis, Culpepper Accept Bowl Bid

Fullback Harold Lewis and end Bill Culpepper of the 1954 Fighting Harvesters have accepted invitations to play in the Sixth Annual Greenbelt Football Game in Childress, Lewis and Culpepper will play for the West All-Stars.

The All-Star grid affair will get underway at 8:30 o'clock on Friday, August 12, in the Fair Park Stadium in Childress. Pre-game, halftime and post-game activities are also slated during the evening.

Heading up this year's two squads as coaches will be Frank Kimbrough and Clark Jarnigan of West Texas State College for the West and Garvin Beauchamp and Oliver Jackson of Abilene Christian College for the East.

Trainers will be Elmer and Delmer Brown, with Lynn Mink and Doc Shaw serving as team managers.

Both teams rate plenty of all-district, all-area and all-state stars again this year, assuring a rea-football fans of a top-notch battle from start to finish.

"The teams seem to stack up pretty even for the 1955 classic, which is just what we strive for in selecting players," said Game General Chairman Vernon Eubank.

"Neither team should be a prohibitive favorite or game night." The Greenbelt game, sponsored by the Childress Quarterback Club includes only players who finished their high school eligibility at the end of the 1954 season. The selected players will arrive here on Sunday, August 7, and will work out for four days prior to the actual tilt.

This year's teams include:

Cleveland Browns Release Spinks

HIRAM, Ohio — UP — Coach Paul Brown of the Cleveland Browns professional football team Saturday released four players, bringing the squad down to 49 men.

Released were tackle Ray Verkerk of North Texas State and backs Bill Wohman of South Carolina, Rick Spinks of Texas Tech and Addison Hawthorne of Southern California.

Dutch Swimmers Set Record PARIS — UP — A new world record of 5:00.1 for the 100 meter relay was established by four Dutch girls swimmers Sunday during the second day of a meet between France and Holland. Holland also held the previous mark of 5:02.1.

Junior Oiler Slate Heavy This Week

The Pampa Junior Oilers, managed by Newt Secrest, face their biggest week of the season this week.

The Junior Oilers are slated to host Claude in a Cap Rock League game today at Harvester Park, weather permitting.

Then Monday, the Junior Oilers go to Shattuck, Okla., to meet the Shattuck All-Stars and to Perryton Blue Sox. Both games will be exhibition affairs.

The Junior Oilers will then close out their week's activities by taking part in the Oklahoma State Semi-Pro Tournament at Cleo Springs, Okla., Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Secrest said Saturday that today's game was on the doubtful side. "It all depends on whether the ground dries enough for play by Sunday afternoon," Secrest said.

Most of the Junior Oilers are ex-Harvester athletes. Some are home for the summer from college.

Starting lineup for today's game, if it is played, will be as follows: Catcher — Ken Mumford; first base — Travis Taylor; second base — Richard Radcliff; third base — Red Waner; shortstop, Larry Larson; outfield — Darrell Player Already Worried PHILADELPHIA — UP — Steve Sebo, whose Pennsylvania football team meets Navy Oct. 22, has started worrying about the game already. Sebo claims Navy has a "fine experienced team that'll be hard to beat," but promised his squad will give Navy a real battle all the way.

Swim Champs Enter AAU LOS ANGELES — UP — World record holders For Konno, Jack Wardrop, Dick Cleveland, Yoshi Oyakawa and Buddy Baarckie will be on hand for the national AAU swimming and diving championships which start Wednesday, it was announced Monday.

Secrest said Saturday that today's game was on the doubtful side. "It all depends on whether the ground dries enough for play by Sunday afternoon," Secrest said.

PACKAGED ATOMIC POWER: This is a sketch of the Atom-powered generating plant being developed for the army by American Locomotive Co. Component parts will be transported by air.

The Atom vs. Oil Industry

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — There's explosion in the peaceful atom, too. And the petroleum industry may be one of the first to feel its competitive force.

According to the experts, atomic energy will begin moving in on petroleum in the generation of electricity, for use by submarines and surface ships, in central heating of apartments and factories, as power for aircraft and as a railroad locomotive fuel, in that order.

President Eisenhower's atom-for-peace proposals, which invite the atom to under-developed countries, has focused attention on this potential threat to the oil business.

The international conference on atomic energy in Geneva, Switzerland, in August will be well-attended by oil people anxious to see what the other countries have developed which might be a threat to them.

At every recent meeting of oil industry representatives in the U.S. and abroad, atomic energy has been a major question for debate.

The pat attitude of spokesmen for the industry is that practical use of atomic power is so far away and that there are so many unsolved problems in its use that there's nothing to worry about.

But the Atomic Energy Commission experts disagree with them on several issues in this regard. An AEC report says, for instance: "There is no way of supplying modest quantities of electric energy to remote and under-developed areas at reasonable prices. Nuclear energy lends itself well to such an application."

Taking the opposite view, Warren K. Lewis of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology recently told the fourth World Petroleum Congress in Rome:

"Backward areas of the world will have to depend on liquid fuels even when atomic power is widely used in industrialized nations. Too much capital and too much technical skill are required for atomic power in such regions."

Another answer to this argument is the fact that the Army has under development by the American Locomotive Co. an atom-powered generating plant which is transportable by air to distant inaccessible areas. It would eliminate the need for transporting millions of gallons of petroleum to such distant points as Thule Air Force Base in Greenland, for example.

The inherent threat of atomic energy lies in the fact that one pound of uranium is equivalent in energy to 200,000 gallons of petroleum. But the oil people say that the stumbling block is the excessive cost of converting the heat of atomic energy first to steam and then to usable power.

However, Sen. Clinton P. Anderson (D-NM), chairman of the Joint Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy says, "The basic research today is toward elimination of this wasteful procedure to direct conversion of atomic reaction to electric power."

"What effect the success of this study could have upon the world is enough to stagger the imagination," he claims.

About 27 per cent of the country's electricity is generated by petroleum energy, mostly in rural and out-of-the-way areas and in smaller cities where there is no water power and shipping in coal is too expensive. It's this oil market which will be hit first by competition from atomic energy, the AEC experts claim.

Next area of competition to develop will be on the sea. "Oil use in submarines and surface ships seems likely to be ended in from 20 to 30 years," Sen. Anderson predicts.

U.S. Policy Critic Gets Support

WASHINGTON, July 23 — UP — The State Department disclosed Saturday it has granted an unrestricted passport to former Judge William Clark of Princeton, N. J., outspoken critic of U. S. policies in Germany who was previously barred from visiting Berlin.

Clark, in a statement issued at his home in Princeton, hailed the action as a clear-cut "victory" in the running battle he has fought with the department since late 1953 when he was fired as chief justice of the Allied High Commission courts in Germany.

Clark, heir to the Clark thread fortune, had been granted in June a passport which permitted him to travel freely in West Germany and other areas, but forbade him to visit Berlin.

He asked a federal court to order the State Department to lift the restriction, and the court responded by directing the department to give him a hearing.

The hearing was held July 8. A department spokesman in a brief announcement Saturday, said that "after a review of all the circumstances . . . the department has decided to amend Judge Clark's passport . . . to include Berlin."

Recent reports indicate that work on an atom-powered aircraft has been speeded up, with success not too far distant. This could mean a loss of jet fuel sales for bombers. But nobody is predicting that there will be atom-powered fighter-planes.

Despite this outlook, the oil business is not ready to give up. Eugene Holman, chairman of the Board of Standard Oil of New Jersey says:

"The atom undoubtedly will contribute importantly to the world's energy pattern. But oil will provide the largest share of energy growth for at least the next 20 years. By 1975 the free world probably will be using double the amount of oil products that it does today."

U.S. passenger cars use 44 per cent of all the petroleum refined in America, and no one is predicting seriously that there will be atom-powered autos any time soon. So the industry can continue to count on that business remaining steady.

First Of 1956 Cars Are About Ready For Market

By REY W. BRUNE
DETROIT, July 23 — UP — The first of the 1956 model cars are ready to go to market already and the others will be close behind, even though 1955 models still are being snapped up quickly by the public.

Ford Motor Co. will unveil the first of its 1956 cars next week at an advance press showing — its 1956 Lincoln. The Lincoln is scheduled for public introduction early in September.

The Lincoln is one of the 1956 models due for a radical change-over. It didn't receive its major revamping in 1955 like most other cars. That is why it will be on the market early in the fall.

But for most of the car makers the cars coming off the 1955 assembly lines now are those near the end of the year's run.

Chrysler Starts Change Monday
Chrysler division of Chrysler Corp. will be shutting down its assembly lines next Monday to get ready for model changeover. The lines will be down four weeks before 1956's are ready to roll, building up an advance inventory while the dealers clean their showrooms of 1955 cars.

This won't be the year of the big change for most of the cars. Almost all makes were done over completely for 1955. The next major changes are due in the 1957 models. Some radical styling changes are expected then. Some expect curved sides to replace the flat side look in 1957, with curved side windows, and other radical changes to make older cars look even more out of date.

Even the 1956 models don't receive the radical styling changes that the 1955 models received, the automobile industry with its "face lifting" intends to have them shifted so much that few will recognize they have the same basic body shells.

A Different Look
Grill changes, bumper shifts, headlight shifts, different chroming treatment and other factors will give the cars a 1956 look.

Putting models out of style each year is one of the key factors in the automobile industry's steady good health.

The 1956's are expected to play up safety features more than in the past. Already Chrysler and Ford have started making seat belts optional equipment on cars. The new models will have new headlights to give better visibility and other improved safety factors also.

The designs planned for 1956 are still closely-guarded secrets. But the public won't have to wait too long to start seeing the new cars now.

Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo, Brazil's two largest cities, have erected the world's tallest reinforced concrete buildings. Although this method of construction is not a Brazilian invention, the techniques were advanced there. Now foreign engineers visit Brazil to learn about concrete structures.

World production of soybeans reached a new record of about 724.8 million bushels in 1954.

Peg O' Pampa

THE SIZE OF IT
So many folks, vacation bound
Return—their trip a flop;
The question isn't where to go
It's simply, where to stop.
.... copied

THE SUMMER EXODUS... the comings and goings... the disease of itching feet... the urge to depart ANYWHERE, just so the surroundings are different... for a week end, a week, two weeks, or a month... is still with us... invariably, vacation time brings out the gypsy in the best of us... at this very minute, the W. H. Burdens and the Ivy Duncans are on a month's vacation trip to Lake Louise, British Columbia, and plan to return to Pampa via the romantic city of San Francisco... Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Gordon and daughter, Joyce, are journeying toward Boston, New York and other northeastern points... to study the habitat of the D' Yankes, no doubt... The W. R. Hardens spent last week end in Oklahoma City... Theresa Humpherys, driving a brand new car (such luxury) has been visiting relatives in southeastern Oklahoma... and is even now contemplating another vacation in Denver, Colo., before school opens... And if nothing unforeseen happens, Mrs. Phil Harvey and Mrs. Hal Suttle will be taking off in the very near future on a Canadian tour by bus... this particular tour is being conducted for all the members of the B&PW Guilds of Texas... sounds like fun... Charlotte Allston is home for a two-weeks' vacation before starting out on a Christian Youth Round-up... the Round-Up will keep Charlotte busy until time to re-enter TCU in the fall... Genevieve and Junior Barnett... with their young daughter, passed through here and paused briefly last Monday on their way back home to Nickerson, Kansas... Mr. Barnett is a minister to a church there... he is an old Pampa boy and graduated from high school here... The R. E. Darcys returned this week from a month's vacation spent in touring points of interest in California... But alas! delightful things (such as vacations) have a way of coming to an end with a dull thud... For instance, when the Darcys reached home from their enjoyable trip, they discovered their phone was out of order... the neighbors volunteered the information that the phone was probably struck by lightning during one of the electrical thunder storms that had also knocked out the lighting system in the Darcy ranch vicinity... But... time's a wastin', and it won't be long until all the wondering folk will be back home and settled down to the usual routine of everyday living, with only pictures, pleasant memories and a depleted bank account and fading suntans to remind them of their carefree days.

WHEN YOU HEAR ADULTS speak in a disparaging way of "the younger generation," remind them of these promising youths, for we may well be proud of them... for instance, there is Dinzel Leonard who resigned from a good position to work at reduced salary—at Central Baptist Church this summer... Dinzel is entering college this fall to study for the ministry... then there is Floyd Sacker who has been devoting his time and talents to the Harrah Methodist Church... Floyd is also leaving for college this fall for ministerial training... Remind them, too, of Benny Eads of the First Christian Church who has dedicated his life to full-time Christian service as a minister... and how about Ben Sturgeon, who, with other church youths in Texas, is leaving soon for San Antonio to assist in building a Mexican church... not only will Ben NOT receive any salary for his labor, but he must pay all his own expenses, including transportation there and back... that's just a few of the "younger generation" who realize full well that "Life is real—Life is earnest"... and we should brag about them... let's not sell "the younger generation" short.

WE HAVE TV PROGRAMS called "What's My Line," "What's My Name," etc... but we're asking you—what's your hobby, if any?... no, my dear, trying to stay cool in hot weather isn't a hobby... that's mere preservation... now Mrs. Ann Heskew has a hobby that is paying off... having the knack and plenty of original ideas, she makes place cards, tallies, favors, and the like for all occasions... as well as baking special cakes, pies, serving dessert bridge parties and luncheons... Mrs. Heskew made the jeweled numbers used at Elmer Vanderburg's party mentioned last week... She is now making place cards for a doings for Phyllis Ann Newstet... this is a labor of love, however... as Ann notes on Phyllis Ann... the place cards will be decorated with dainty miniature bridal bouquets, fashioned the lace, lilies of the valley and rhinestones... from discarded felt hats and beat-up costume jewelry, Mrs. Heskew fashions clever little match boxes, charming enough to grace the most expensive purses... and larger match boxes for coffee tables... the match boxes are positively "Conversation Pieces"... Roy McMillen's hobby is taking pictures of trains... and he has colored slides of all shapes, sizes and models of trains... very interesting... Mrs. Acton Nash makes delightful, useful ornaments out of items discarded by other folk... From old Christmas cards, she fashions clever little baskets and makes unusual waste-baskets decorated with postage stamps... Gladys Harvey's hobby, in addition to collecting antiques, is her yard and she has a bee-utiful one!... it's small but perfect, with its symphony of blossoming sage, crimson petunias, clusters of gay geraniums, purple hardy flocks, a variety of roses and perky little pansies... and the lawn is a carpet of clipped emerald velvet... 'tis the ideal spot to relax after a tiresome day... and one of Mrs. Allan Smith's hobbies is "Whodunit" mysteries... not the type mysteries where a wise-cracking detective chases a voluptuous blonde around a table with bullets popping off in all directions... but the sort of Whodunit that keeps one guessing until the very end... spine-chilling thrillers that cause goose pimples even in the midst of summer... that's only a few of the hobbies we know about... will mention others at a future date.

FIRE CHIEF ERNEST WINBORNE and L. V. Bruce attended a fireman's school... clinic... or whatever... in Brian recently... with all the knowledge they've acquired the gents' future slogan may well be... "You start 'em... we'll douse 'em."

IN TOWN RECENTLY were Mr. Wright and Lon Nowlin who are with the service division of Texas Business Developments Inc... this group is well presented by Pampa men... Ed Weiss is president (Well! what if Mr. Weiss doesn't live in Pampa anymore, Once a Pampian, always a Pampian, we say)... Dr. Julian Key and Bob Curry are advisors.

POTPOURRI... we're glad to welcome back to Pampa the Walter Higgenbothams and their charming daughters... the Higgenbothams have been living in Amarillo... Mrs. Roy Kilgore has lost twelve pounds since breaking her arm... that's a drastic reducing method! aren't there easier ways?... Barbara (Mrs. Grover) Austin has resigned from her position with PK Supply after working there 13 long years... she has decided to concentrate on being a homemaker... we heard Lillian Snow bragging that she had acquired a daughter-in-law... seems her son Charles recently took unto himself a wife... really you see Dr. Charles H. Ashby in Bermuda shorts, you haven't really lived... And Robert Olsen (brave soul that he is) even wears Bermuda shorts to church!... Saw Mrs. Arthur Teed in an exquisite white two-piece frock... most becoming!... Mrs. Gladys Robinson journeyed to Wheeler last week end and brought back seeds of black-eyed peas... then she spent all Sunday afternoon canning 'em... Mrs. Florence Esmond was lending a helping hand to Mrs. Frank Showell at the Red Cross office last week... we saw Mrs. O. W. Coffman carefully selecting just the right shade of paper for yearbook covers... Two very attractive young matrons... Mrs. Jimmy Bossay and Mrs. Price Dozier Jr... we heard that Clifford Parker (formerly of Miami) and his wife (formerly Mollie Kennedy of this city) have accepted the pastorate of the Christian Church in Lubbock... Congratulations!... the C. Parkers have two of the cutest children... We adore June Stein in the orchid frock she wears... it does the nicest things for her... and Lillian Jordan is really a honey in that pink checked frock... her costume jewelry matches it perfectly and the whole effect is stunning... Marilyn Adams is working for the water department during the summer months and seems to be enjoying every minute of it. Ah youth! As ever, Peg

Double-Ring Ceremony Saturday Unites Billie Mae Osborne And Jack M. Long

Miss Billie Mae Osborne of Pampa and Jack M. Long of Abilene exchanged nuptial vows at 8 p.m. Saturday in the First Methodist Church, Rev. P. H. Gates of Floydada officiated for the double-ring ceremony. Saturday is the traditional wedding day of the bride's family. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Osborne of Pampa, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Long of Odessa. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white Duchesse satin, which she designed and which was made by her mother. The moulded, princess bodice, designed with a portrait neckline, had a wide satin shoulder-draped edged with pearl-studded satin braid. The long fitted sleeves that came to petal points over her hands closed at the wrist with satin-covered buttons. Her bouffant tulle skirt, worn over hoops, swept into a chapel train. Her scalloped veil of French illusion, designed with a border of rose-lace appliques, fell from a crown of seed pearls accented with rhinestones. She carried a bouquet of white gardenias and carnations over a white Bible. Her only jewelry was a single strand of cultured pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. Matron of honor was Mrs. A. J. Hoover Jr. of Abilene. Bridesmaids were Miss Nancy Jameson and Miss Bette Jo Tooley, both of Pampa. Mrs. Hoover wore a gown of pink taffeta and nylon net. The strapless, shirred bodice with a long torso line, was topped with a tulle jacket. The bouffant skirt of nylon net over taffeta, was floor length. Her hat was trimmed with rhinestone-studded taffeta leaves, and she wore mitts to match her gown. She carried an arm bouquet of pink asters. Miss Jameson wore an orchid-colored gown and Miss Tooley a lilac-colored gown fashioned identically to that of the matron of honor. Miss Jameson carried an arm bouquet of orchid asters and Miss Tooley an arm bouquet of lilac asters. Flower girl was Phyllis Ann Stephens of Odessa, niece of the bridegroom. She wore a pink taffeta floor-length gown with a net overskirt. She carried a pink satin basket filled with rose petals. Royal Duane Allenson of Houston, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer. He carried the rings on a heart-shaped satin pillow. Kenneth Hairgrove of Abilene served as best man. Ushers were Clifford Allenson of Houston, brother-in-law of the bride, and Jim Osborne of Panhandle, Charles Boyd of Borger, and Joe Rogers Jr. of Pampa, all cousins of the bride. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Osborne wore a pink lace dress with long lace gloves and a pink satin hat studded with beads. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a beige dress of salina cloth and lace. Both wore orchid gossamer. Altar decorations included baskets of white gladioli, palms and white lapers in seven-branched candelabra. Miss Theresa Varnel, organist, played the traditional wedding marches. Mrs. Harold Wright, vocalist, sang "Thanks Be To God" preceding the ceremony and the "Lord's Prayer" at the close of the rite. As the bride approached the altar, the bridegroom sang "Because." Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlor. The serving table was covered with an orchid and white net floor-length cloth over orchid caught at the corners with nosegays of asters tied with pink and orchid ribbons. The centerpiece was an arrangement of orchid asters, flanked by white tapers in crystal holders. The white four-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom beneath a wedding bell and an archway of pink roses. Refreshments of cake, pink punch and pink and white mints were served. Miss Johnnie Mae Dauer presided at the punch bowl, and Mrs. Clifford Allenson of Houston, sister of the bride, served the cake. Guests were registered by Mrs. Pearl Stephens of Odessa, sister of the bridegroom. Others assisting were Mrs. Leroy Boyd of Abilene, maternal grandmother of the bride, who helped with the receiving of guests, and Mrs. Charles Barrett of Plainview, aunt of the bride. Assisting with the serving were Misses George Hancock, Roland Dauer, Joe Tooley, and Misses Wanda Cook, Judy Hancock, Meredith Brooks, Vickie Osborne, Janet Osborne, Rosemary Osborne, and Sharon Osborne. The couple will reside in Abilene. The bride was graduated from Pampa High School where she was a member of the National Honor Society, and a Cappella choir. She attended McMurry College Abilene, majoring in science, where she was a member of the Chanters. The bridegroom was graduated from Sundown High School, and is a senior student majoring in chemistry at McMurry College. He is a member of the band, Senatus Romanus and Social Club. Both the bride and bridegroom will continue their education at McMurry College. A rehearsal dinner was held Friday in the dining room of Johnson's Cafe.

BETROTHAL ANNOUNCED

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Mitchell of Welch announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Patricia Ann, to Paul Boswell, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Boswell, 1125 Starkweather, Pampa. The couple will be married Aug. 16, in the First Baptist Church of Welch.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
One Saturday afternoon, eight years ago, Mr. Fisher said to his wife, "Can't you make David do as I tell him? He's just trampled my new grass seed again. I wish you'd speak to him. He's got to learn to mind..."
Now, if he'd said this to you, it would have aroused no special feeling. You'd just have refused to control Mr. Fisher's child for him and said, "If you want Dava to stop trampling your grass seed, stop him yourself, sir."
But you wouldn't have been married to Mr. Fisher. His flabbiness as a man and father would not have meant to you what it meant to his wife.

So she responded differently to his request. She touched off a contemptuous rage it could not have aroused in you. But as her marriage and home depended on her disguising it, that's what she did with it. She did not say, "Oh, how I resent your unmanly dependence on me!" Instead, she attacked his weakness indirectly by attacking his criticism of their child.
To make him feel guilty of unjust fault-finding, she chose to make David innocent of fault. So she cried, with intense irritation, "Oh, stop picking on the boy! You're always at me about something he's done! Where'd he go to play if not in his own back yard?"
Marital resentment had already turned Mrs. Fisher into an over-protective mother.

Gradually as her contempt for her husband increased, so did her "love" for her son. If Dave overstepped his allowance, it was not his self-indulgence that required correction, but his father's "stinginess" with money.
Never was it Dave's carelessness that damaged the car; it was his father's neglect of its brakes. She took great pride in this "love" for her son which was, in fact just contempt for his father. She maintained the child in the right because it was so useful in keeping her husband in the wrong.
As a result, Dave has known no discipline. His father could take no controlling action toward him because he was afraid of action. His mother took none, lest it give satisfaction to her husband.

At twenty, Dave's emotional age is eight years. If he ever marries he will duplicate his father's weakness as a husband and father. Marital resentment is a prime cause of overprotection of children. Our need to disguise it betrays us into piling fault upon our marriage partner that belongs to the child. Thus, he can grow up without awareness or correction of his shortcomings.
Mothers who "worship" sons are often victims of secret contempt for the son's fathers. They should be required to know the ugly source of their destructive "love."

Teenager's Billfold Is Like File Cabinet

The teenage habit of collecting things has made many a mother shake her head in despair, but the results of a recent survey of what the average teenager keeps in his or her billfold would make mothers give up completely. Among the items discovered in one young lady's billfold were these:
Movie ticket stubs, Dance program, Telephone numbers, Newspaper clipping, Assorted keys, Magazine coupon offers, Many photographs, some very old, Doctor and dental appointment cards, A lock of hair, Social security card, An activities card, A letter, Ticket to a school dance, A test paper, A charm bracelet (broken), A shopping list, Receipts from purchases, Class assignment card, Two rubber bands and a paper clip, Due date for a term paper, Several postage stamps, Sample perfume card, A comb, A transportation ticket, Nail file, A list of committee members, Type-writer eraser, A library card, Swatch of fabric, One earring.
And as if that weren't enough to burst the seams of the wallet, several coins and three one-dollar bills completed the list of things this teenager thought necessary to keep with her at all times.

Goodwill Home Demonstration Club Has Speech On Disaster Survival Measures

The Goodwill Home Demonstration Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Derrel Hogsett, 417 Magnolia. The program on civil defense was presented by Mrs. Hogsett. In case of any emergency, such as a bombing, tornado or other disaster where the water supply might be cut off or contaminated, it is a good idea to have at least one gallon of canned water for each member of the family, she told the women.
Water is canned by putting boiling water into sterilized jars, putting on two-piece sealing lids, and pressure cooking at 15 lbs. for 15 minutes, she explained. The jars should be cooled away from drafts and may be stored in a storm cellar. Water purification tablets, chlorine or iodine, should be kept to purify other water, she cautioned.
A three-day food supply of one-meal-size cans of fruits, juices, meats and other foods that can be eaten without cooking should be kept on hand and rotated with the family's regular food supplies to keep them from getting too old, Mrs. Hogsett pointed out.
A week's supply of newspapers should be kept to wrap garbage and waste, which should be buried 12 to 24 inches underground to prevent rats and flies from spreading disease, she explained. For babies, disposable diapers should be kept on hand, as well as small cans of milk and baby food. In a disaster the power may be off and three would be no way to keep quantities of foods from spoiling, she stated.
The main thing to remember in any disaster is to keep calm and not to panic, she stressed. Follow only the instructions given by civil defense leaders or those in charge, she told the women. Do not start, listen to, nor pass on rumor, she cautioned.
During the social hour, a pink and blue shower was given for Mrs. Boyd Maul. She was presented a corsage of summer-flowers tied with blue ribbon. Favors were fifty pins tied with blue ribbons.
Next meeting will be at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday in the home of Mrs. George Moore, 329 N. Wells.
Miss Fay Dick was a visitor. Members present were James Ann Bryant, Henry Maple, Ann Webb, J. A. Melchoire, Irene Ramsey, Quary, Slaten, Barrett, Bown and Moore.

Vada Waldon Circle Has Mission Study

The Vada Waldon Circle of the Women's Missionary Society, Trinity Baptist Church, met recently in the home of Mrs. N. N. Quary, 409 1/2 Naida.
Opening prayer was given by Mrs. W. F. Slaten, and the mission study was presented by Mrs. Irene Barrett. The meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. Betty Brown.
During the social period, refreshments of soft drinks and cookies were served. Next meeting will be at 2:30 p.m. Tuesday in the home of Mrs. George Moore, 329 N. Wells.
Miss Fay Dick was a visitor. Members present were James Ann Bryant, Henry Maple, Ann Webb, J. A. Melchoire, Irene Ramsey, Quary, Slaten, Barrett, Bown and Moore.

Patty Ray Boothe And James Kirby Jr. Are United In Marriage In Sweetwater

As Patty Ray Boothe of Sweetwater and James Edmund Kirby Jr. of Dallas were united in marriage at 8 p.m. Friday in the First Methodist Church of Sweetwater, Dr. J. Edmund Kirby of Pampa, father of the bridegroom, officiated at the double-ring ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray H. Boothe of Sweetwater, and the bridegroom is the son of Dr. and Mrs. Kirby, 1238 N. Russell, Pampa.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of embroidered nylon tulle over net and taffeta. The moulded bodice of embroidered nylon tulle over taffeta was styled with a scalloped scoop neckline, trimmed with floral appliques. The short embroidered nylon sleeves were also edged with floral appliques. Her bouffant, floor-length skirt of embroidered nylon tulle over net and taffeta was designed in three scalloped tiers, each tier edged with floral appliques.

Her heirloom veil of imported Brussels lace fell from a crown of flowers fashioned from pearls, with tulle leaves. She carried a cascade of staphanotis, centered with a white Cattleya orchid, over a white Bible.

Mrs. Jack Sommerfield of Dallas was matron of honor. Bridesmaid was Mrs. James Armstrong of Fort Worth. Junior bridesmaids were Misses Betty Boothe, Barbara Boothe, Karen Russell and Melody Russell, all cousins of the bride. All wore gowns of white nylon organza. The fitted, shirred bodices were styled with square necklines and cap sleeves. Matching sashes were worn at the waist and the sunburst skirts were floor-length. They carried foliage-green satin fans decorated with R. in e. Glory roses.

John Davis served as best man. Ushers were Ben Kirby, Rector, of

MRS. JAMES EDMUND KIRBY JR.

Cactus, cousin of the bridegroom; and John Skein of Dallas, Bert A. Fleck of McCamey, Eugene Bonny of Phillips and Wayne Crawford of Plainview. Candlelighters were Ray and Clyde Boothe, cousins of the bride.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Boothe wore a beige dress of linen lace, with matching accessories.

Pampa's Delegates To Attend Method School Of Missions

The School of Missions of the Northwest Texas Conference, Women's Society of Christian Service, Methodist Church, will begin Monday in Lubbock.

Pampa delegates from the First Methodist Church will include Misses Eben Warner Jr., Aubrey Steele, E. S. Williams, Melvin Stephens and Lee Harrah. Two girls from the First Methodist World Friendship group, sponsored by the WSCS, to attend are June Smith and Gay Nell Grundy.

Delegates from the Harrah Methodist Church will be Mrs. J. D. Sackett and Mrs. George Hancock. Lawanna Andrews will be sponsored by the Harrah WSCS. All plan to leave Monday.

Mrs. Sam B. Cook of Pampa, a conference officer, left Friday for the event, and Mrs. R. E. Davis of Pampa, district chairman, of Christian social relations, will represent the district.

Themes of the school will be "Crown Thy Good With Brotherhood," "Mission studies are entitled, "The Christian Mission in a Revolutionary Age," "The Indian Americans," "Introduction to Five Spiritual Classics," and "To Consume Our Efforts for Lasting Peace."

Workshops will be entitled "Achieving Brotherhood Through Wider Service of Woman Within the Church," "Achieving Brotherhood Through Stewardship of Possessions," "Achieving Brotherhood Through Better Community Living," and "Achieving Brotherhood Through Creative Study."

Clinics will be conducted for presidents, treasurers and the Wesleyan Service Guild, and for chairmen of missionary education, spiritual life, Christian social relations and local church activities, status of women and supply.

Keep Wardrobe Dreams On Tap For Lucky Day

By ALICIA HART, NEA Beauty Editor

One young homemaker we know has a filing envelope marked "dreams." Into it she slips clippings, bits of fabric, advertisements, addresses or possibilities for her home. They won't be used tomorrow and probably not for a long time after that. But if a big windfall ever comes, she'll be able to spend it for something that will slide right into her decor.

It might not be such a bad idea to do the same for a wardrobe. Not one of us has her wardrobe in the shape she'd like it. There's always a suit to be replaced, a pair of shoes missing.

The ad for the suit that seems exactly right may be way out of the proper price range now. But it may not be next season. So save it. The exact suit may not be available then, but the saleslady will have an easier job finding something like what you want if you have a picture to show her.

Neat ideas for remodeling clothes may come in handy if you take something to the dressmaker's. A tiny piece of fabric from your coat may help you in shopping sales while the coat is in storage.

The bridegroom was graduated from McMurry College and has been working on his Bachelor of Divinity degree at Perkins School of Theology this year. He is employed as director of Smith Dormitory, SMU, on the Perkins campus.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Miss Friend: Sometime ago you replied to an H. E. who sought a means of establishing the authenticity of Christian Revelation.

While your reply was interesting and well-intentioned, I frankly felt that it was not an adequate answer to your correspondent's question, and it certainly did not represent the Christian viewpoint.

In the first place, intentionally or otherwise, you represented the Christian religion as if it were merely another version of the primitive and universal convictions of mankind, a western form of Buddhism, or a ceremonially different expression of monotheism.

This, Grace, I am afraid is a too free and easy portrait of something that means everything in the lives of six or seven hundred million people.

Christianity, after all, means much more than the mere lumping together of monotheism, the elemental principles of the moral law and the Golden Rule. Christianity means one's utter submission to such creedal tenets as the Blessed Trinity, the Incarnation, the redemption, death and resurrection of the God incarnate, Jesus Christ.

It means the giving of one's rational assent to the teachings of the Bible as the work of God, and the teachings of the church founded by Jesus Christ. It means the conforming of one's life with the Ten Commandments and the counsels of the gospels, and it means—and this is important—participating in the sacramental system and the specific modes of worship established by Christ.

All religions involve a creed, a code and a cult. The creed and code and cult to which I have made a brief reference here are the very essence of Christianity. They constitute its uniqueness. It is unfortunate then, Grace, that you should have suggested to an honest inquirer that the only means of establishing the Bible's authenticity is its harmony with other sapiential records or the elemental universal persuasions of mankind.

This suggestion hardly helped your correspondent, who is obviously already convinced of the validity of monotheism and a basic moral law. It surely brought her no closer to the realization of Christianity, or to the validity of its claims on our beliefs.

I am writing this not to you but by way of finding fault with your attitude or to provoke an argument. I am writing simply to assure you that all the elemental doctrines of Christianity can be demonstrated as historically and as scientifically and as thoroughly as any truths that can come within the compass of our understanding or belief.

THEOLOGICAL BACKGROUND If you, Grace, do not have the theological or scriptural, or indeed, historical, background to prove the validity of Christian claims, I would suggest you refer your correspondent to someone who has such a background.

There are certainly some theologians in the area. If you do not know of those I would suggest that you contact some Catholic priest, for example. His long years of intensive training, the vast traditions of the church of which he is a minister, and the competence which he must reach before he is ordained a priest, place him in a uniquely fine position for coping with those matters.

DEMONSTRATE VALIDITY In deference, therefore, to an honest inquirer, refer H. E. to someone like this who can enunciate with some detail the genuine principles of Christianity and demonstrate the validity of its claims.

Thanking you for your helpful and interesting column.

Miss Dudley Feted At Lingerie Shower

Miss Glenda Dudley, bride-elect of Sam Anderson, was complimented with a lingerie shower recently in the home of Mrs. H. O. Darby, 2001 Mary Ellen.

Co-hostesses with Mrs. Darby were Misses L. M. McWright, and V. Colium; and Misses Patsy Darby and Janice McWright.

The honoree was presented a corsage of staphanotis. Her mother, Mrs. Ray Dudley, and Mrs. E. L. Anderson, mother of the prospective bridegroom, were given corsages of pink carnations and baby-breath.

Guests were registered by Miss Carol Foster, and background music was provided by Miss Carol Paxson.

The serving table was covered with a white and blue linen cutwork cloth. The centerpiece was arrangement of white and blue stock, carnations and baby breath in an overnight train case, with lingerie draped over the sides of the case.

Refreshments of cake, made in the shape of a blue garter, punch nuts and mints were served. Miss Margie Roundtree served the cake and Miss Patsy Darby presided at the punch bowl.

Miss Janice McWright and Miss Pat Reynolds assisted with the gifts.

Approximately 30 persons attended or sent gifts.

ON TOUR — Miss Mary Jean McNeil of Pampa, second from right, is shown with other tour members as they visited Congressman Walter Rogers of Pampa in Washington, D. C. The group was on a three-weeks' "United Nations Pilgrimage for Youth," sponsored by the IOOF and Rebekah Assembly. They visited points of interest enroute and spent a week in New York City studying the United Nations. The above is an autographed picture sent to Miss McNeil by Rogers. Shown are, left to right, Miss Margie Ford of Hereford; Miss Phyllis Connelley of Borger; Rogers; Miss McNeil; and Miss Patsy Ann Ford of Hereford.

Mary Jean McNeil, Pampa, Takes Tour, "United Nations Pilgrimage For Youth"

Miss Mary Jean McNeil, 1120 E. Browning, a Pampa Theta Rho, has returned from a three-weeks' "United Nations Pilgrimage For Youth," sponsored by the Independent Order of Odd Fellows and the Rebekah Assembly. She received an invitation earlier in the summer at the Theta Rho Assembly to join the tour. She was one of 18 Texas delegates. The group spent one week enroute each way and one week in New York City, visiting and studying the operation of the United Nations. In addition to visiting in the United Nations building, the group had a session with the American Association for United Nations and visited the headquarters of delegates of member nations. Other sight-seeing in New York included the Hayden Planetarium, Coney Island, the "Mayor's Trophy Ball Game" between the Yankees and the Giants, the Statue of Liberty, a dinner in International House and visit with foreign students, a boat trip around Manhattan Island, a Broadway show, a tour of Rockefeller Center and Radio City Music Hall show. Group also held its own talent show, entitled "Youth and the United Nations."

Spots visited enroute included the Hermitage in Nashville, Tenn., and Norris Dam in Tennessee; Monticello and Ashlawn in Charlottesville, Va.; Mount Vernon, George Washington's estate; and all places of interest in Washington, D. C. In Baltimore, Md., they visited Fort McHenry and took a cruise on Chesapeake Bay. Enroute to Philadelphia, Pa., they visited Washington's army headquarters in Valley Forge. In Philadelphia, they saw Independence Hall, the Liberty Bell and other points of interest. On the return trip, they visited F. D. Roosevelt's estate at Hyde Park and the New York state capital in Albany. They saw Niagara Falls and crossed over into Canada, following the Queen Elizabeth Highway. They crossed back into the United States via the Ambassador Bridge and visited Greenfield Village in Dearborn, Mich. Other spots visited were the Lincoln Memorial in Springfield, Ill., and the Will Rogers Memorial in Claremore, Okla. The tour began and ended in Dallas.

Methodist WSCS Has Book Review

Circles of the Women's Society of Christian Service, First Methodist Church, met in the chapel recently for a review of the book, "People of the Blue Water" by Flora Gregg Hill, given by Mrs. Bedford Harrison of Shamrock. Mrs. Harrison told of Mrs. Hill's experiences among the Indian tribes, mainly the Wallapai and Harasapai tribes, in the valley along the Colorado River in Arizona. The review was an introduction to the study, "Indian Americans," to begin in September. Following the review, coffee was served in the church parlor by members of Circle 2. Members gave donations to be sent to Joyce Hill, missionary to Cuba. It was announced that the circles will not meet during August. They will begin studies Sept. 6.

BAUBY

Forbearance and a smile are hard talents to master when me neighbors say, oh, so sweetly: is Baby still on the bottle? Their tone of voice indicates their darling weaned at three days. Most times, they're uneasy about the smooth way your Baby toiled or feeds himself.

Push toys before pull ones, the textbook says. But don't let any book convince you your Baby is anything but the healthiest creature in the world if he likes pull toys long before he cares for pushing anything.

Research by independent mothers shows that those machine-washable Baby toys tend to leak after many machine washings. If the toys are very favorites, better take to swishing them out in a bowl with most delicate lingerie.

Musical, Dramatic Program Presented To Golf Association

Miss Mary Ann Guthrie and Miss Mary Willis presented the program to the Ladies Golf Association Friday in the Pampa Country Club. Miss Guthrie, accompanied by Miss Carol Paxson, sang through various "personalities" attending a theater production, taken from an article "Monsters In The Audience" from the "Theater Arts" magazine. She told of "program crackers" of the "folder," "telescope," and "nibbler" varieties. Others she characterized were the "toothsucker," "cruncher," "hummer" and "cute little monster." Mrs. A. W. Brown of St. Louis was introduced as a guest. She is the mother of Mrs. Jack Foster. Mrs. Charles Brauchle, program chairman, presided in the absence of Mrs. H. H. Hicks, president. She announced Mrs. Thelma Lutes won the door prize last week. Next week's program will be on legal aspects of women's affairs, to be presented by District Attorney Bill Waters.

Dual-Purpose Beds Are Summer Aids

Don't look now but summer is upon us. It won't be long now until friends and relatives are dropping by enroute to their favorite vacation spots. If you'd like to be able to offer them overnight sleeping accommodations but have none at present, why not investigate the new dual purpose bedding on the market? Easily adapted to the decor of your living room, family room, or den, a piece of dual purpose sleep equipment will provide that extra bed and comfortable seating space besides. Style-wise, these items are more attractive than ever before. You can see for yourself by taking a peek in any furniture or department store during Better Bedding Time. To suit your individual needs you have five basic types from which to choose — sofa beds, single sleepers, studio couches, jack-knife sofas, chair beds. Many of the latest ones are equipped with super-spring mattresses — to give added inches of comfort.

Lipstick On Teeth Gives Untidy Look

By ALICIA HART, NEA Beauty Editor. Train engineers, when passing each other on adjoining tracks, have a universal gesture to indicate a "hot box" on the approaching train. The engineer can't see the trouble back on his own train, but when he sees the other engineer holding his nose, he knows what the problem is. It has often occurred to us that it would be useful to have a universal signal for lipstick on the teeth. Nothing is more disconcerting in company than to have someone blurt out, "You have lipstick on your teeth." The only thing that approaches this discomfort is to see a woman with lipstick on her teeth and to sit and wonder what to do. One doesn't want to be tactless, but on the other hand, she doesn't know how untidy she looks. Teen-agers, who are just getting their cosmetic habits under control, are particularly prone to this sloppiness. It's unlikely that some signal will ever be worked out. The supposed-clever "it's snowing down south" for the slip showing trouble is about as subtle as an auto crash. And any lipstick signal would be about as secret. About the most reasonable gambit is to suggest a trip to the ladies' room and earnestly hope that the young lady involved will take a good look in the mirror. And while there, you might take a good look at yourself. She may have been wondering how to tell you. For a refreshing flavor to feed tea, add a spring of fresh mint to the boiling water used in making the tea. Try a little oatmeal as thickener for soups. It adds flavor and richness. ### Mrs. J. Schroedel Feted At Luncheon

Mrs. Joe Schroedel, who is moving with her family to Troy, Mont., was given a farwell party recently in the Pampa Country Club by members of the Gamma Delphian Society, of which Mrs. Schroedel was a member. Hostesses for the luncheon were Mmes. Chester Thompson, Azelle Loftus, Jess Clay and George Hrdlicka. The group presented the honoree with a gift of a cutglass covered dish. The serving table was covered with a white linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow and white daisies. Attending were Mmes. Carl E. Axelsson, W. R. Ewing, Ervin Pursley, R. W. Karr, H. H. Boynton, Knox Kinard, A. D. Hills, H. L. Gunter, Sam Cook, J. F. Curtis, Isla Campbell, Chester Thompson, Azelle Loftus, Jess Clay and George Hrdlicka. Out-of-town guest was Miss Aline Walker of Dallas, sister of Mrs. Kinard. Give your wooden serving ware special care for longer wear. Clean it immediately after use, with a little water as possible. Don't immerse wooden utensils and never soak them. If roughened, they can be smoothed with sandpaper, but never should be polished, waxed or varnished. For an easy-to-prepare salad, cut a circle from a small cantaloupe. Trim off the rind and place the cantaloupe on a garnished salad plate with a scoop of cottage cheese in the center. Serve with French dressing. Use leftover tea or coffee to make ice cubes for cooling iced coffee or tea.

Denial floss makes a sturdy string for beads.

Water wells in the dry Canary Islands off northwest Africa often bring wealth to their owners. The islands' banana cultivation requires much moisture. Unirrigated land sells for as little as $10 an acre. With sufficient water for bananas, that same acre may sell for $10,000.

HEALTH AUTHORITY WARNS OF FOOT TROUBLES

ROCKLAND, MASS.—Dr. Joseph Lelyveld, authority on foot ailments, says infectious foot diseases are on the increase. One of the most troublesome of these, according to the President of the National Foot Health Council, is Dermatomycesis Pedis, athlete's foot, which may cause painful verrucae, warts, requiring extensive surgical treatment. The greatest incidence of the trouble occurs in the early fall among women and children who have worn shoes without stockings at some time during the summer. Dr. Lelyveld says much of the trouble would be avoided if people would make it a serious rule never to wear a shoe without some kind of foot covering. In the very hot weather it is the safest procedure to change socks or stockings at least twice a day. Excessive perspiration keeps the inside of the shoe damp and furnishes a culture for infectious organisms, he said. When, in spite of these precautions, any trouble appears, a foot specialist, podiatrist or chiropodist should be consulted at once, since an infection in the foot is the most difficult of skin diseases to cure without confining the patient to his home with consequent loss of time.

MANNERS MAKE FRIENDS

Just because you are dining at a small cafe, doesn't mean your table manners shouldn't be as good as if you were eating in a high-priced restaurant. The person of breeding eats like a lady or gentleman, whether at a picnic, eating at a hamburger counter, or dining by shaded lights to the strains of a dance orchestra. Good manners don't depend on location.

Judith Meek, Spearman, Becomes Bride Of Ray Martin In Double-Ring Service

SPEARMAN — (Special) — Miss Judith Jane Meek became the bride of Ray Martin in the sanctuary of the First Methodist Church at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Jane Meek and the late Norris Robert Meek. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Martin.

Rev. J. B. Stewart of Tahoka officiated for the double-ring ceremony before an altar flanked by baskets of gladioli, greenery and candelabra. Wedding bells tied with satin bows marked the aisles.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Harry Embach of Phoenix, Ariz., was attired in a gown of embroidered dotted-Swiss organza. The moulded bodice was styled with a scalloped v-neckline and scalloped cap sleeves. The bouffant, floor-length skirt was designed with five tiers of embroidered organza with a front panel of dotted-Swiss organza, ending in a chapel train. She wore elbow-length gloves of dotted-Swiss organza that came to points over her hands.

Her fingertip veil of illusion, accented with floral appliques, fell from a Mayan Age headdress covered with seed pearls and rhinestones. She carried a prayer book topped with a bouquet of stephanotis, centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Pat Holt of Gruver was matron of honor and Miss Charlotte Martin was bridesmaid. They wore crystalline frocks of pink and blue, designed with fitted bodices, cuffed collars and bouffant skirts. They carried baskets of pink and blue daisies.

Miss Charlotte Martin, sister of the bridegroom, and Bob Meek, brother of the bride, were candle-lighters.

Don Cates served as best man. Ushers were Bob Meek; Jim and Charles Wallingford of Minneapolis, Minn., cousins of the bride and Dan McCammond, cousin of the bridegroom.

Mrs. Elma Gunn, organist, played wedding selections. She also accompanied Miss Judy Davis, who sang "Always" and "Because of You." The traditional marches were used.

Mrs. Meek wore a navy blue faille dress with white accessories. Mrs. Martin, mother of the bridegroom, wore a dress of navy blue linen and lace with white accessories. Both wore corsages of orchids.

Following the ceremony, Mrs. Thomas Etter, Wilard Davis and Jimmy Hicks were hostess to the reception in the home of the bride. The serving table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with the wedding cake flanked by bowls of yellow and green daisies.

The bride wore a powder blue dress of cotton for travel. She wore navy blue and white accessories and a corsage of orchids. The couple left immediately after the reception for a honeymoon in Colorado.

The couple will be at home at 519 S. Barkley, Spearman, after Aug. 15th.

The bride was graduated this year from Spearman High School. The bridegroom graduated with the class of 1951, attended the Panhandle A and M College, at Goodwell, Okla., and spent two years in the armed service. He is now engaged.

Skellytown Woman Honored At Party

SKELLYTOWN — (Special) — Mrs. Annie Loyd was recently honored with a surprise party in her home on her 84th birthday by the circles of the Women's Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church.

Mrs. J. W. Toms, president, presented Mrs. Loyd with her gifts, after which cake and homemade ice cream were served.

Attending were Rev. and Mrs. Eugene Erand, and Meses. Bert Collins, J. W. Toms, Granville Boyd, Bill Houghton, Mickey Duminin, W. L. Aubert, R. E. Bradford, Odell Hassler, Homer Garrett, and Bryan and Bobby Washburn, Sue Bradford, Jeff Houghton, Kay Duminin, Donna Boyd and Donna Brand, and Jan Aubert.

BABY

If your Baby is one of the very young ones who get diaper rash with ease, don't try to keep him in waterproof pants. In summer, a boy Baby can lie naked, face down, on a pile of diapers. A girl can lie face up or down, naked. Either way, it eases rash.

When the new Baby comes home, many mothers of bottle Babies let the father take the night-time feedings. Other mothers who are hopelessly grumpy in the morning prefer to take the night one and sleep an hour or two longer in the morning.

The messiest days of life aren't moving days, they're the ones just before Baby masters the intricacies of the spoon. Big handfuls of oatmeal go through the air, chunks of egg land on the floor, milk is over all. But it's soon over.

MRS. RAY MARTIN (Photo by Edwards, Amarillo)

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor—Life can begin at 40 for middle-aged women. Catherine MacFarlane, M. D., research professor of gynecology at Woman's Medical College of Pennsylvania, urges women in the middle years to maintain "correct" weight or slightly below it if they wish to enjoy maximum health, strength, good figures, and ease in getting around.

About 25 per cent of women in middle years are obese. There is a tendency for obesity to accompany the glandular changes of menopause. Dr. MacFarlane warns middle-agers to control their weight by diet and regular but moderate exercise in the fresh air.

Dr. Pearl Swanson, professor of nutrition at Iowa State College, points out that over nutrition in middle years tends to be associated with accident proneness, poor surgical risks, a higher incidence of gall bladder and diabetes and is related to heart diseases. Other nutritionists and physicians also urge moderation in eating for healthy, happy middle age. They all believe a good breakfast is essential, one that includes about 1/4 of the day's food.

When a woman eats an adequate balanced breakfast, such as fruit, cereal with milk, bread, butter or margarine and a beverage, she will be less tempted to overeat during the day. The habit of going without breakfast is a health hazard.

Here's a balanced, 400-calorie breakfast of the middle-aged. The family can add whole milk, butter, and a second muffin or an egg to make the calories adequate for the children—and father, too, if he is not reducing.

Breakfast: Fresh blueberries (1/2 cup), ready-to-eat oat cereal (1 ounce), sugar (1 teaspoon), skim milk (8 ounces), crunchy wheat muffins with sweet tops (1), coffee, black.

Nation's Highest State Has Unrivalled Tourist Attraction

By RONALD WATERS
Pampa News Staff Writer

The top of the nation—the highest state—colorful Colorado—offers visitors an unsurpassed vacation land, a region of mountain lakes and trout streams, of national parks and monuments of forests and camping areas. With an average altitude of 6,800 feet, Colorado contains 75 per cent of all the area in the nation which has an elevation of over 10,000 feet. One scenic drive lifts to the summit of Mount Evans, west of Denver, 14,260 feet above sea level. Another sweeps and coils upward to the top of Pike's Peak (elevation 14,110 feet), probably the most famous mountain in the nation.

Fifty-two Colorado peaks, all but 15 of the 67 highest in North America, are 14,000 feet or more. The state has 1,500 peaks higher than 10,000 feet. Colorado has the highest ski courses, the highest automobile races, the highest lakes and the highest suspension bridge. It has two national parks, six national monuments, 31 major mountain passes, and close to 14 million acres of national forest.

The Rocky Mountains divide the state in almost the exact center. On the flat eastern slope are situated the larger cities of the state: Denver, Boulder, Colorado Springs and Pueblo. On the western slope are the quaint villages and towns that are becoming ever more popular as resorts such as: Aspen, Leadville, Grand Junction, Creede, Durango, Conejos and many others.

Colorful Colorado
Tourists are delighted with the climate (high and exhilarating), the spectacular scenery, the pure air (intoxicating), and the snow-capped Rocky Mountains.

More than 250 metallic and non-metallic minerals are found in the state. Its hills and valleys, once prospected by pick and shovel, today are subject to the Geiger counter and the modern prospector.

The history of Colorado is a fabulous tale of gold and discovery, of miners and trappers, of wagon trains and Indians, of Long and Zebulon Pike. The name means "colored red," and was first bestowed on the Colorado River. Gold was first discovered in 1849, but it was not until 1858 that a small group of prospectors settled at the mouth of Cherry Creek and began a settlement which later became Denver. In 1859 the mining rush began, and mining camps sprang up over the state, such as Central City and Cripple Creek. Colorado entered the union in 1876, the 100th year of American independence, and thus bears the popular name of "Centennial State."

National Monuments
The Great Sand Dunes National Monument is reached via State Highway 17 and a country road from Alamosa. The area includes 46,034 acres of vari-colored sand, a thousand feet high, that lies in ever-shifting waves and rolls in the San Luis Valley, west of the Sangre de Cristo Mountains.

Colorado National Monument, west from Grand Junction, is a high-walled mesa of red and white sandstone formations. Nearby are great dinosaur beds from which skeletons of 75-foot-long reptiles have been excavated.

Black Canon National Monument, close to Montrose, embraces a 10-mile strip of the most spectacular section of a 50-mile canon cut through granite by the Gunnison River.

National Parks
Rocky Mountain National Park is one of the main vacation centers of the state and one of the finest mountain playgrounds in America. Discovered by Joel Estes in 1859, he exclaimed, "This is the place!", and his words have often been repeated by tourists. Embracing 405 square miles of rugged beauty, the park contains 14 massive peaks, including the highest landmark, Long's Peak. Trail Ridge Road winds through the park, past Iceberg Lake and Specimen Mountain.

The Continental Divide runs through the park and parts the nation's waters into east and west flowing streams. On both sides of the divide many little valleys lie between mountain peaks covered with wild flowers of many colors in the summer. About one third of the park extends above the timber line (about 11,000 ft.). Mountain climbing and horseback riding naturally have become popular sports.

The Grand Lake-Big Thompson $128,000,000 water diversion project is near by.

Mesa Verde National Park lies in southwestern Colorado, midway between Mancos and Cortez. Covering 80 square miles in area, it embraces a high-walled mesa that abruptly rises 2,000 feet above Montezuma Valley. In the numerous canons, and along the cliff walls, are the ruins of scores of pueblo ruins dating back as early as 700 A.D. Hundreds of ruins of prehistoric Indian dwellings are preserved throughout the region, ranging from pit houses to cliff dwellings. The cliff dwellings are the most spectacular, but the houses and pueblos are equally important.

The exact number of cliff dwellings is unknown. The 20 large canyons and the numerous small side canyons contain hundreds of caves and in almost every one there is a ruin. Cliff Palace, the largest and most famous, contains over 200 living rooms and 23 kivas, and is notable for its vast size (the tallest tower is four stories high, but there are at least eight "floor levels"). Other cliff dwellings of interest are: Spruce Tree House, Square Tower House, Oak Tree House, Fire Temple, and Balcony

House. Two pueblos are excellent examples of the type built during the 1100's.

Special Events

Wherever you go in Colorado, whether it be to the lakes, mountains, or plains; the cities, villages, or rivers, you are certain to find something of interest — a charming quiet spot surrounded by towering spruce trees, an inviting trout stream, or spectacular mountain scenery. The state is a playground of activity and festivities, fiestas and rodeos, and some of the events of special interest follow:

- August
3-7) Pikes Peak or Bust Rodeo, Colorado Springs.
3-5) Ski Stampede, Monte Vista.
6-7) Rooftop Rodeo, Estes Park.
7-8) Spanish Trails Fiesta and Rodeo, Durango.
9-11) Weld County Junior Fair and Rodeo, Greeley.
14-15) Bent County Rodeo, Las Animas.
18-20) Montrose County Fair and Amateur Rodeo, Montrose.
18-22) Broadmoor Ice Revue, Colorado Springs.
25-29) State Fair and Rodeo, Pueblo.
27-28) Limon Days and Rodeo, Limon.

Four Pilots Returned To Full Duty

WASHINGTON, July 23—UP—Four U. S. fliers captured during the Korean war have been restored to full duty without any action being taken on "confessions" forced from them by the Chinese Communists, the Air Force announced Saturday.

The jet fighter pilots, released by Reds May 31, have met with a board of officers as part of "their processing in accordance with routine Air Force procedures for handling returning prisoners of war," an announcement said. "The board reviewed all circumstances of the confinement, treatment, and present conditions" of the fliers "and has returned them to full duty," the Air Force said.

Crime Fighting Foundation Is Created

AUSTIN, July 23—UP—Attorney General John Ben Shepperd Saturday announced formation of the Texas Law Enforcement Foundation, a non-profit corporation "pledged to fight crime with scientific and educational methods on a statewide basis."

Directors of the new organization are W. O. Bankston, Dallas; William R. Crim, Kilgore; Ray Willoughby, San Angelo; J. M. West, Houston, and J. B. Love, Llano.

Shepperd said the new agency is an outgrowth of his Citizens Advisory Committee on Law Enforcement, founded by the attorney general last January.

The purposes of the foundation include "a broad program of cooperation with all law enforcement agencies to reduce crime in the state."

The foundation would provide libraries on criminology, make awards to outstanding police officers, publish bulletins on new crime combating techniques, assist existing training schools and sponsor additional schools where needed.

Shepperd said members of the advisory committee on law enforcement, scheduled to meet Thursday at San Antonio, felt that "lack of finances to sponsor an educational program is the chief weakness of Texas law enforcement. The average city or county cannot even afford to send delegates to the existing training schools."

Group Okays Funds For Air Academy Are Restored

WASHINGTON, July 23—UP—Subcommittee approval Saturday of a bill authorizing the $40.6 million Foss-Cobb dam project in western Oklahoma raised hopes of Oklahoma lawmakers here that the bill will win final approval before the end of congress.

The irrigation subcommittee of the House Interior committee unanimously approved the reclamation project bill, which goes before the full committee Tuesday.

The bill has passed the Senate. Rep. Victor Wickersham (D-Okla.), in whose district the project will be located, said House leaders have assured him that if the full committee okays the bill, it will be brought before the House for action before adjournment in early August.

Encouraged by Action
Rep. Ed Edmondson (D-Okla.), a member of the committee who is working for the bill's approval, said he is encouraged by the subcommittee's action and that chances for final approval are now greatly improved.

He cautioned, however, that the measure could get lost in the adjournment rush because it will come to the House floor at such a late date.

Before an appropriation can be made, irrigation districts in the area must be formed, and cities which will use the reservoir water must enter into agreements with the government, Wickersham said.

Build Two Lakes
The project calls for construction of two reservoirs—the Foss reservoir about 10 miles west of Clinton and the Fort Cobb dam about 15 miles northwest of Anadarko. Both are on the Washita River watershed.

The dams would provide flood control, irrigation and recreation and also furnish water to Anadarko, Clinton, Elk City, Bessie, Cordell, Rocky, Fort Cobb, Hobart, Gotebo, Chickasha and Verden in Oklahoma.

Wickersham said that if the project goes through it will provide an "opening wedge" for other water development in western Oklahoma near Mangum, Comanche, Ryan and Waurika. Also it will help get the Optima dam in the Panhandle.

Hobby Successor Confirmed
WASHINGTON—UP—The Senate Wednesday confirmed the nomination of Marion B. Folsom to succeed Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby as secretary of health, education and welfare.

Effective spraying of sheep shortly after shearing apparently disposes of ticks for at least a year.

Apricot pits are used to clean traction motor armature cores in diesel locomotives.

WASHINGTON, July 23—UP—The Senate Appropriations committee Saturday restored $79,527,000 for construction of the new Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs.

The academy construction money was put back in a supplemental appropriation bill totaling about $2 billion which had been gutted in the House through a series of unusual parliamentary objections on the floor.

The Senate committee also restored most of the money that the armed services had asked to finance a long list of military construction projects at installations both in this country and abroad.

The committee also approved $60 million for free distribution of Salk polio vaccine. The administration had asked for $30 million. A total of $270.8 million was approved for atomic plants and equipment. This included $25 million for a surface warship power plant but nothing for President Eisenhower's proposed atomic peace ship.

The House had voted $264,577,000 for atomic plants and equipment but had directed that $101 million of this be taken from unobligated operating funds. All of the Senate committee appropriation represented new money and the $101 million would be left in the operating fund.

The House refused to appropriate anything for the Air Force Academy because of objections to ultra-modernistic designs, including large expanses of glass proposed by air force architects.

The Air Force revised the designs along less modernistic lines and with much less glass before the Senate committee acted upon the appropriation. Senate committee members generally approved the new designs and restored the construction money on the understanding that they would be followed.

Baptists To Honor Carver At Service

Sunday will close 13 years of ministry by Dr. E. Douglas Carver of the First Baptist Church. During this time the church membership has reached 3,174. The Sunday school and training union have doubled in enrollment as well as the W. M. U. and the Brotherhood. There has been an average of 280 additions to the church each year of his ministry here. Dr. Carver has been honored by denomination in many different ways and is now serving as a member of the Relief and Annuity Board of the Southern Baptist Convention, and President of the Panhandle Pastors and Laymen's Conference.

There will be special services at the 11:00 o'clock hour and the 8:00 o'clock hour at which time all those who have been married or baptized by Dr. Carver will be recognized. All former members have been given an invitation to attend the services. High attendance goals have been set in Sunday school and training union for the day.

On Wednesday evening there will be a church-wide fellowship dinner at 6:30 p.m. Dr. Carver and his family will be given special recognition at this meeting also. The teachers and officers meeting will follow at 7:45 p.m. and choir rehearsal at 8:30 p.m.

A NEW HOUSE CAN

The fact that your house is new does not necessarily mean its wiring system is up to date. For several reasons: (1) The builder of the house may not have known the extent of your own special electrical needs. (2) The house may have been built to meet a price which did not allow for anything but "good enough" wiring. (3) When you moved in, you immediately started adding a lot of extra appliances you hadn't thought about before. 4 OUT OF 5 HOMES ARE UNDERWIRED! IS YOURS? SEE DAVIS ELECTRIC TODAY!

Pampan Trains In Arizona

Cadet Dibrrell C. Stowell of Pampa, Texas reported recently to Davis-Monthan Air Force Base, Tucson, Ariz., to begin four weeks period of summer training with the Air Force Reserve Officer Training Corps.

During this period of summer training, Cadet Stowell will supplement his past three years of academic training as Reserve Air Force Officer at Texas Technological College with an indoctrination in the workaday Air Force at this station of the Strategic Air Command. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Stowell, 815 N. Russell, Pampa.

Cadet Byrd Visits Home

A-S Robert L. Byrd, U.S.A.F., son of Mrs. Pauleen Simmons, 426 N. Ballard, is visiting his mother while enroute to Bryan Air Force Base after finishing primary pilot training at a base in North Carolina. Byrd is to begin jet fighter training at Bryan where he will receive his commission as a Second Lieutenant and his pilot's wings. From there he will go to Las Vegas, Nev., to receive advanced combat rocketry and gunnery in F-86 and F-100 fighter type aircraft.

Canadian Man Leaving Japan

BEPPU, JAPAN — PFC William F. Montgomery, 19, son of Mrs. Charley Parikh, Canadian, is scheduled to fly in mid-July from Japan to Fort Bragg, N. C., with the 187th Airborne Regimental Combat Team as part of Operation Gyroscope, the Army's new unit rotation plan.

Giant C-124 Globemasters are being used in the 12,000 mile project in which the 187th is being reprojected in the Far East by the 508th ARCT. The operation is the first large scale air transfer of units in the history of the Army.

Montgomery, a driver in the 187th's Service Company, entered the Army in December 1952. He received basic training at Fort Sill, Okla.

His wife, Alice, lives on Route 6 Spartansburg, S. C.

Miami Soldier Is Promoted

25TH DIV., HAWAII — Robert E. Poore, 20, son of R. E. Poore, Miami, recently was promoted to specialist third class in Hawaii, where he is a member of the 25th Infantry Division.

The "Tropic Lightning" division is continuing its post-truce training program using valuable combat experience gained in Korea.

Specialist Poore, a gunner in the division's 21st Anti-Aircraft Artillery Battalion, entered the Army in March of last year. He was graduated from Miami High School in 1953.

Wheatheart Prize Is Florida Trip

PERRYTON — (Special) — The prize for 1955 "Wheatheart of the Nation" will be an all expense paid trip for two to Miami Beach, Fla. Arrangements have been made through the Miami Beach Chamber of Commerce and the Royal York Hotel for a rather lavish round of entertainment for the 1955 Wheatheart winner.

The 1954 winner, Miss Fayteen Peoples of Wellington, received the same trip, and she enjoyed it so that it was decided to repeat the trip this year. Arrangements are being made for a reception and buffet dinner, free tours of the Miami Beach and Greater Miami area by both bus and boat, appearances on the Miami TV station, and a number of other entertainment events.

All expenses to and from Miami Beach, by airline, will be paid by the Chamber of Commerce and all expenses in Miami will be provided by the Royal York Hotel, one of the finest resort hotels in Florida.

Dates for the Wheatheart contest was set for Saturday night, August 20, at 6:30 o'clock in the school auditorium. Arrangements are being made for a musical program to go with the beauty revue.

All contestants will appear in the Wheatheart Revue in bathing suits.

Miss Perryton will be chosen on Friday night, Aug. 12, at a program in the school auditorium.

Winners will be awarded cash prizes of $50, $25, and $10 in the Miss Perryton contest.

Final plans for the Wheatheart contest were made at a meeting of the committee in charge of it. Members of the committee are Coke Harlow, chairman, Harold Hudson, Mrs. Ann Sutor, Irvin Hergert, Mrs. Hallie Sooter, and John Mayfield.

mow your lawn with a grass clipper!

Speaking of grass cutting, one of the advantages of adequate wiring is outdoor circuits for lighting, outdoor cooking, and electric lawn mowing. Take the pluck out of grass cutting, and put the pleasure in with an electric lawn mower — and adequate wiring.

... It isn't adequate for the job. It's supposed to trim the edges, not cut the entire lawn.

Your home wiring could be the same way. Perhaps, when you installed it, you weren't asking electric service to do many things for you, and it could handle the job. But, if you've added appliances, as most American homes have, but not improved the wiring, the chances are you're overloading your circuits.

Prepare your home for today's electric living — and the even brighter tomorrows — with adequate wiring. Ask your qualified electrical contractor about easy F-H-A Title One terms for home rewiring.

LET'S LOOK AT YOUR ELECTRICITY!

- Fuses blow out often?
- Lights flicker when appliances are turned on?
- Appliances work too slowly?
- Radio hard to tune in clearly?

YOU'RE LOOKING AT TROUBLE if your house shows any of these symptoms of weak wiring!

Call us today for a FREE check-up of your electrical system.

You don't have to be an expert to tell whether your home is suffering from weakness of the wiring. There are many little symptoms that show up every day you live in an inadequately wired home, such as the ones listed above. You've probably know about them all along. But you may have thought something else other than poor wiring to be responsible for them. If, for instance, your lights dimmed when you turned on an appliance, you may have blamed your power company for it.

HOWEVER, 9 TIMES OUT OF 10, NOTHING IS TO BLAME FOR ELECTRICAL TROUBLES BUT THE WIRING IN YOUR OWN HOUSE.

If this is your house, call Brooks Electric today.

Little Chance For Roosevelt's Bill

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE

WASHINGTON, July 23 (UP)—There is little chance for action in the session of congress on Rep. James Roosevelt's "freedom of choice" bill to outlaw alleged overcharge and discrimination in the retail gasoline business.

But petroleum industry sources warned Saturday that this may not be the case when the second session convenes next January.

Roosevelt, California Democrat, introduced his measure after his House Small Business subcommittee intensively investigated the complex relationship between big oil supplier companies and 200,000 retail gasoline station dealers.

The legislation would amend the Clayton Anti-Trust Act to guarantee station operators the right to be free, independent businessmen, not subject to control of the supplier's price dictates or requirements that he sell the supplier's products exclusively.

Would Overtake Court Decision
The bill supplements one introduced jointly by Chairman Wright Patman (D-Tex.) of the parent Small Business committee, and Sen. Estes Kefauver, (D-Tenn.). This measure would overturn a Supreme Court decision upholding "good faith" price reductions to meet competition.

"There is little likelihood of action at the present session," a refining industry spokesman said. "However, the Roosevelt subcommittee's recommendations contribute to building up a record which may be the basis for future congressional action."

Rep. Roosevelt said the record of his subcommittee's hearings—held from mid-March to mid-May—would be referred to the Department of Justice and the Federal Trade Commission for review and possible action. It has not been received to date.

Coinciding with his inquiry, a federal court jury at Seattle, Wash., returned a $249,000 treble-damage verdict in favor of George F. Moore, former truck service station operator. Moore brought a private anti-trust case against seven oil companies. He charged them with refusing to sell him gasoline because he resold it at cut rates.

Subcommittee's Conclusions
The Roosevelt subcommittee reached these conclusions:
That major oil companies hold their dealers to short-term leases, usually one year; that this, in effect deprives the dealer of his independence; that the leases require a dealer to handle the supplier's products rather than give him freedom of choice in selling competitive products; that supplier companies have coerced their lessee dealers into waging price wars to kill off competition of cheaper, off-brand gasoline; and that "the lessee dealer needs immediate and permanent relief to enable him to fulfill his role as an independent businessman."

To correct these alleged abuses, Roosevelt's bill would provide criminal penalties for coercion, whether through fixed-price or price-discount arrangements or any other form that tends to lessen competition.

Companies Can Help
The subcommittee suggested the industry could correct any alleged abuses itself by granting established retailers three-year leases; by putting new dealers on probation for six months or a year; and by protecting the dealer on probation by guaranteeing the return of his investment if his lease is cancelled.

Some companies already grant three-year leases, among them Socony Mobile Oil.

The subcommittee also recommended that, pending congressional action, the full committee study whether there should be a new federal administrative agency which would have power to force big companies to divorce their retail outlets. This originally was part of Roosevelt's bill but other committee members refused to support it.

To Hear Gas Control Bill
WASHINGTON—UP—The House Rules committee will hold a hearing next Tuesday on a bill to exempt natural gas producers from direct controls of the Federal Power Commission.

Brucker Takes Oath
WASHINGTON—UP—Walter M. Brucker was sworn in as Army secretary Thursday in the biggest oath-taking ceremony yet seen at the Pentagon. The swearing-in ceremony, usually performed before a few officials and close friends, was attended by about 400 guests. Brucker, former Michigan governor, succeeds Robert T. Stevens in the Army post.

Male Help Wanted

THE FIRESTONE TIRE & RUBBER COMPANY
Is Hiring Salesmen in Part Time or Full Time

If you are a salesman or know you can sell—

If you are a salesman of vacuum cleaners, cookware, storm windows, insurance, nursery, electrical, feed, seed or fertilizer, or any other product where you make calls at customer's home, either in city or to farmers in rural areas—

If you are a college student, farmer, factory worker, mailman, or office worker looking for part time or full time work—

If you are a route salesman looking for better, larger volume or more products to sell—then we may have an opportunity for you.

Over 3,000 firms to sell—tires, appliances, television, auto accessories, radios, wheel goods, sporting goods, toys, paint, etc. Every customer you contact needs something you have to sell.

Organized program—we help you be successful. Training material furnished—future advancement to other jobs in company for men who prove themselves.

The many products and large volume production, easy payment plan for customers, and the prestige of a national recognized company make large earnings possible for aggressive salesmen. See Mr. Oako at 217 S. Cuyler for appointment.

Oil Well Completions

Hutchinson County
A. C. Oates—Starnes No. 19—Sec. 24, Bk. M-23, TCR Sur.—completed 6-28-55—potential

No. 1 Barlow Well Tested
PERRYTON—(Special)—The rig has been moved from the Texas Co. No. 1 Barlow well, located about seven miles southeast of Perryton, but testing of the Morrow formation is continuing. A gas flow of 172,000 cubic feet of gas and 40 gallons of frac oil an hour was reported after perforations from 7968-76 feet. It appears that the company is trying to make a gasier out of the well.

A strong oil show was reported late in June at the Barlow well, when the well was tested from 6865-6869 feet and in a one hour test recovered 466 feet of highly oil and gas cut mud. This was in the Osage limestone formation.

Big news in the area was the Union Oil Co. of California's No. 1 Parker in Beaver county, three miles northwest of Elmarwood in Section 11-2-23. The well is reported to be one of the biggest gasers in the Oklahoma Panhandle and the strike was made in the deep Morrow formation.

This is a wildcat area and should bring on a drilling campaign. Complete test of the well had not been made early this week, but unofficial reports show it is producing more gas than any of the good gasers in the new Hardesty field.

Women's Oil Group Attends Berger Meet

Members of the Pampa Desk and Derrick Club, an organization of women in the oil industry, met with members of the Amarillo and Berger clubs in the Berger Hotel yesterday to hear Mrs. Irma Cline, regional desk and Derrick director from Wichita Falls, discuss the purposes of the club.

Mrs. Cline is the regional director of Region 5 which includes the western half of Texas and the states of New Mexico and Arizona.

Mrs. Cline outlined the purposes of the club as, "to promote better understanding between the secretary and employer and to learn the techniques of the oil industry.

Attending the meeting from Pampa were Anabelle Simmons, Mickle Sue Johnson, Sue Stewart, Maria Smith, Louise Dunn, June Griffith, Noel Thompson, Barbara Ross, Lillith Martin, Carol Cooper, Vivian Lafferty, Irene Kuehl, Joy Lackey, Joyce Miller, Jean White, Dorothy Cox, Wanda Smith, Nadine Godfrey, Louella Wagner, Fay Traylor, Vi-Willis, Madelyn Haynes and Katherine Monahan.

The next meeting of the charter members of the organization will be held Tuesday in the Safety Hut of the Magnolia Petroleum Co. on E. Foster.

U.S., Canada Rigs Dip 4

DALLAS—A total of 288 rigs were active in oilfields of the United States and Canada for the week of July 18, 1955, according to a report to American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors by Hughes Tool Company. This compares with 289 reported a week ago, 2908 a month ago, and with 2613 in the comparable week of 1954. A comparison by principal areas for the past two weeks shows:

Pacific Coast, 114, down 1; Oklahoma 318, down 1; Kansas 371, down 2; Rocky Mountains 290, up 1; Canada, 205, down 4; Ark-La-Tex 153, down 3; West Texas & New Mexico, 827, down 10; Gulf Coast 586, down 7; Illinois 155, up 7; North Texas 356, up 6.

National Park Opened

WASHINGTON—UP—The United States officially opened a new national park Thursday. It is the Cumberland Gap National Historical Park in Kentucky, Virginia and Tennessee. It became a national park officially when Kentucky formally transferred 10,700 acres of land to the federal government. Earlier, Virginia had contributed 7,400 acres and Tennessee 2,000 acres.
