Far East

Japan has made a proposition to the United States that is check full of international significance. Tokyo wants Uncle Sam to enter into what amounts to a non-aggression pact. If there is any squeamishness about tilling it "non-aggression," the Nipponese are perfectly willing to sign an arbitration treaty.

Just before he left for Tokyo to report to the home office Ambassador Hiroshi Satou put the proposition up to the state department. The ambassador made a customary goodby call on President Roosevelt. He mentioned the subject further at the White House. Satou wasn't content with laying this groundwork. He paid a visit to Senator Key Pittman, of Nevada, chairman of the senate foreign relations committee. The senate would have to ratify such a treaty and Satou wanted a tip on the probable reaction of that august body. This isn't exactly according to diplomatic Hoyle. An envoy representing a smaller nation would be snapped up by the state department for trying to deal directly with the senate.

Our officials didn't jump avidly at the idea of a non-aggression treaty. In the past—notably when the French made a similar proposition—senatorial reaction has been anything but kindly. An inherent suspicion of international love pacts has pervaded our upper house for years. The United States had an arbitration agreement with Japan up to 1923. Both parties agreed to undertake all possible mediation steps in any dispute before resorting to arms. This government wanted to renew the treaty. A hitch developed when our state department suggested a clause recognizing the Monroe Doctrine. Tokyo promptly countered with a proposal that a Japanese Monroe Doctrine, giving them similar authority over her section of the Far East, be included. The Japs knew this would never get past the Am-

Locals Fight From Behind

Payne Tightens After Colorado Tabs Three Runs In First inning

BY HANK HART
 The Cosden Oilers came from behind Sunday after the Col-Tex Oilers had scored thrice in the first inning to defeat the visitors 9-3 and run their victory streak to four straight.

It was Rufa Morton and Pap Payne who stepped forward with three hits apiece to lead the attack against Truman Henderson and LeRoy Gressitt.

Although Cy Terrazas and Lefty Baber came through with two singles apiece, Lefty's mark dropped several points while the tall first baseman's average remained at .400.

Visitors' Away Fast
 The visitors were away fast when Fowler and Henderson walked and Gressitt and Giddings followed with singles, sending three ladies across the plate, but Payne tightened during the remainder of the battle and only one man succeeded in reaching third base.

Terrazas and Payne were aboard in Cosden's part of the second, but the Cosdenites did not reach pay dirt until the fourth when Harris and Payne tallied on Morton's single.

The Henninger men seemed to strengthen as the game progressed, for they tallied thrice in the fifth and broke through in the sixth for four runs.

Free Pass
 Sam Sain took a free pass to begin the fifth but was forced at second by Pep Martin. However, "Bawkeyes" went on to score on hits by Baber and Terrazas. With men on first and second, Gressitt settled down to whiff Harris, but Payne binged into the outfield to send both Terrazas and Baber across.

West and Sain reached first on hits and Martin was walked to fill the bases in Cosden's part of the sixth. Attempting to outguess "Lefty" Baber, Gressitt threw the wrong ball and Baber blasted two more men across the plate with a smashing hit. Baber was out on base but Terrazas sent Martin across when the Col-Tex infield erred on his hopper. Terrazas scored when Payne came through with his second timely hit.

Pep "strongarmed" the visitors during the remainder of the game to let them down with two bingles, both by Lee Dorn.

FANS PICK BIG LEAGUE ACES FOR ALL-STAR GAME

Here are the National and American league stars who will clash in the second annual all-star contest, at the Polo Grounds (back-ground), in New York July 10. ## Walter Woodward Out In Front In Attorney General's Race, Cross-Section Survey Shows

BY RAYMOND BROOKS
 AUSTIN—Sen. Walter Woodward of Coleman is out in front of his two opponents for attorney general in many sections of the state, with majority opinion expressed in a cross-section survey that he will win in the first primary.

This survey was made in approximately 20 cities and towns. In each place, it represents a composite of opinion of home-town people assumed to be familiar with local conditions.

The campaign for attorney general—like the famous Alfred vs. Clem Calhoun race—in some ways has taken on more colorful aspects than the governor's race.

Dist. Atty. Clyde Smith of Woodville has developed substantial strength in his home section.

William McCraw, Dallas candidate, recently fired a broadside at Woodward in the charge that he was "big corporation" counsel for the Lone Star Gas company and similar utilities. Mr. Woodward went to the same town to make the usual campaign reply—"Damn lie." This controversy stands at that point.

Though not brought into the open of the campaign, a quiet issue of the race so far is where the residual strength of the old klu klux klan vote will go.

Comments from various sections show McCraw making a vigorous and colorful campaign. Numerous speakers are in the field, supplementing the efforts of both candidates.

MISER AND DRINK LIE IN A VICIOUS CIRCLE

As the people of Mississippi get ready to vote on a state liquor control bill early this summer, one of the traditional fights against alcohol is being waged anew.

This fight is like those we used to see before the 18th amendment was even introduced in congress. A great deal is being said about the "Demon Rum"; speakers are telling the old stories about homes and lives which booze has wrecked.

And this revival of the old type of campaign might be a little reminder that there is one angle of the liquor question to which we have not paid much attention so far.

Someone once remarked that while drunkenness can cause poverty and misery, poverty and misery can also cause drunkenness; and before our new attitude in respect to the liquor trade gets fixed, it would be worth while to examine that thought a little.

The liquor traffic aroused widespread indignation in America, roughly speaking, between the time of the Civil War and the enactment of the 18th amendment. It is interesting to note that that was precisely the period in which the great industrial development of the nation took place.

In that era our cities became great. Our industrial towns developed themselves then; the coal belt spawned its endless series of mine towns; the same towns grew more and more under the sway of the great corporation.

The pace of life was quickened; simultaneously, the frontier closed leaving the ordinary man more at the mercy of the outside forces than had been the case before.

All this put a heavy pressure on the individual wage earner. In hundreds of thousands of cases, it reduced him to a sad condition; it forced him to live in dreary and unsightly homes, it closed his horizon, and it made him feel that there was very little hope for him.

Is it going too far to suggest that this had much to do with making the liquor problem acute? When the whisky bottle looks like a man's only escape, it is not surprising if he takes it. Misery led to drink and drink led to more misery—a vicious circle, growing from an environment men felt unable to change.

If all this is true, the ultimate solution may lie less in restriction of the liquor traffic than in improvement of the common man's lot to the point where he does not feel that periodic immersion in an alcoholic haze is the only way of making life supportable.

Stanton Tips Bulldogs 9-2

Windmill Brown Allows Twelve Well Scattered Hits

BY HANK HART
 STANTON—The Stanton team gave notice Sunday to the other U. S. 80 league members they would be tough to handle when they chalked up a 9-2 victory over the Coahoma Sinclair outfit here.

After Cook had given the Bulldogs a small lead in the early innings, the Martin county lads broke through in the second to tie the score, and went ahead with two runs in the third, one in the fourth, and five in the fifth.

"Windmill" Brown, Coahoma's gift to the National pastime, went the route for Stanton, allowing his

Congress of the United States House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. July 5, 1934. Dear Wendell:
 The Yearbook of Agriculture for 1934 is now off the presses of the Government Printing Office and will be available for distribution within the next few days, when I will mail you a copy. It contains articles by specialists of the department showing progress in research, in law administration and practical service to the farming interests. A limited quota of this publication is placed to the credit of each Congressman. I want my constituents to have the benefit of my allotment and will honor requests for copies in the order received. With warm personal regard and regretting that I am to lose you as a constituent, I am,
 Sincerely yours,

"I got the recipe from an advertisement in yesterday's paper"

COOKING is a science in which discoveries are constantly being made. Even the most colorless food staple is liable to have the spotlight turned upon it. Take salt pork for example—wouldn't it surprise you to know that it is a wonderful basic ingredient for a savory tomato sauce?

It is not necessary to buy cook-books to keep up with new culinary secrets and recipes. By means of newspaper advertisements, they come to you regularly from the kitchens of food manufacturers and distributors. And because these recipes are tested over and over again before they are released to the public, you can follow their instructions with complete confidence.

As you study these recipes you will be impressed by these facts—they are appropriate for the time of the year in which they appear; they call for inexpensive ingredients; they are in harmony with modern rules for health and nutrition; and finally, they are not difficult to follow.

Yes, it pays to read food advertisements for the facts they contain. It pays to read the recipes for new ideas. You'll be wise if you cut them out for your recipe file. But above all you'll be delighted if you try one of those recipes right away.

PRINCIPALS IN GERMANY'S 'HOUSE CLEANING'

As Berlin lived in fear of further outbreaks following the attempted mutiny in the ranks of German storm troopers (below); it was reported that the Prussian premier, Hermann Wilhelm Goring (left) would succeed Franz von Papen (center) as vice chancellor of Germany and chief aide to Chancellor Adolf Hitler (right). LOOK AT BRAKES AND BODIES.

NOW THAT PRICES ARE ALL THE SAME

TODAY, MOST PEOPLE KNOW that the prices of "All Three" low-priced cars are pretty much alike. Models may differ a few dollars... but it's safe to say that a Plymouth Special Six, delivered at your door, costs about the same as the comparable model of either of Plymouth's two competitors.

So when you look at "All Three" today... there's only one thing to think about... WHICH IS THE BEST CAR—WHICH GIVES YOU THE MOST FOR YOUR MONEY? We'll admit "All Three" are good automobiles. But before you buy any, consider these things:

When you step on the brake, will that car stop dead in its tracks? When your wife and children drive away, will you know they are safe, in a body of steel reinforced with steel?

Even if Plymouth COST MORE, which it probably doesn't, it would be worth it. The Special Six has Hydraulic Brakes, Safety-Steel Body, and the same Individual Wheel Springing that is used on the most expensive cars for a more comfortable back-seat ride. It has Floating Power to end vibration.

It has the luxuries that make you proud to own a car. Yet its price is right in line with comparable models of its two biggest competitors.

Look at the prices on the right. See the car at any Dodge, De Soto or Chrysler dealer. Then decide.

PRICES AND FEATURES OF THE NEW PLYMOUTH SPECIAL SIX

4-Door Sedan $620	2-Door Sedan $580
Town Sedan $655	Business Coupe $560
Rumble Seat Coupe $590

HYDRAULIC BRAKES. Always equalized. Eliminate dangerous swerving. Save frequent relinings.

SAFETY-STEEL BODY. Best safety insurance you can have on today's busy highways.

FLOATING POWER Engine Mountings. Keep vibration away from you. You ride relaxed.

INDIVIDUAL WHEEL SPRINGING. Best of so-called "knee-type" springs, as used on the most expensive cars.

Four piston rings instead of the usual three. Four-bearing Crankshaft—Valve-seat Inserts—Oil Filter—Steel Artillery Wheels—Dual Trumpet Horns.

Prices as low as $485 for Standard Plymouth. All prices f.o.b. factory, Detroit, subject to change without notice. Time payments to fit your budget. Ask your dealer for the Official Chrysler Motors Commercial Credit Plan.
