Red Leaders Step Ashore In England

Demonstrations Break Out To Mar 'Peace Offensive'

PORTSMOUTH, Eng. — UP — Soviet Russia's two top leaders stepped ashore stiff and unsmiling Wednesday to a coldly formal welcome in anti-Communist Britain.

Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist Party Secretary Nikita S. Khrushchev landed from a Soviet cruiser to begin a controversial 10-day visit.

In London, new protest demonstrations broke out to mar the double-barreled "peace offensive" launched by Moscow on the eve of the Russians' visit.

A 19-gun salute from the British aircraft carrier "Bulwark" roared a greeting, but the Soviet leaders were stiff and formal and the quail Khrushchev even looked bored.

Church Heads Decry British Plan

LONDON — UP — British church leaders issued cries of bitter protest Wednesday against the Conservative government's new lottery savings plan.

Some said it was too much like gambling. Others said outright that it was gambling.

But both Conservatives and Socialist politicians generally hailed the plan announced Tuesday by Chancellor of the Exchequer Harold MacMillan as part of the country's budget for the next year.

Financial circles also expressed satisfaction with the budget. They agreed it would help stimulate savings in inflated Britain.

The church criticism was confined solely to what MacMillan called the "premium bond" plan.

Under this plan, the government would sell bonds for one pound ($2.80) apiece. Instead of paying interest to individual bond holders it would lump all the interest together and draw lots from the bond serial numbers for prizes up to $2,800.

Burglary Gang Is Broken Up

AMARILLO — UP — Potter county Sheriff Paul Gaither announced Wednesday the break-up of a tri-state burglary gang which had looted some 40 Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma homes of property worth $35,000 to $40,000.

Seven Amarillo Air Force Base airmen were under arrest.

Gaither, whose department has been co-operating with officers from the other two states in the investigation, said other arrests were expected and that more of the loot may be uncovered Wednesday in searches of other Amarillo homes.

He said the loot taken in the burglaries included some $10,000 worth of silverware and also a $3,800 boat stolen in Oklahoma City.

Gaither said the ring was involved in 13 burglaries at Clovis, N.M., five each in Oklahoma City and Elk City, Okla., six in Borger, three each in Amarillo, Hereford and Pampa and one in Randall county near Canyon.

G. O. P. Sets 8-Point Platform

WASHINGTON — UP — The Republican party went before the country Wednesday with an eight-point platform proposed by President Eisenhower to keynote the GOP "crusade" of 1956.

To Mr. Eisenhower the campaign was already on. He said the Republican campaign should be based on people and principles—equal rights for all people and no retreat from principle to compromise with expediency.

The President spelled out his platform ideas Tuesday night at a dinner closing a two-day Reference attended by 80 party leaders and members of Congress.

While avoiding such specifics as the farm issue and foreign policy, he presented in general terms the eight ideas which he predicted would provide the substance of the party platform to be adopted next August.

Jury Probes Maceo Group Tax Affairs

SAN ANTONIO — UP — A federal grand jury resumed an inquiry Wednesday into tax affairs of members of the Maceo organization of Galveston.

It heard 15 witnesses Tuesday from Galveston, Houston and other coastal cities. The grand jury returned 23 indictments against 29 persons in a partial report to Federal Judge Ben H. Rice Jr.

None of the indictments, however, concerned the tax investigation.

One was against the Brady, Tex., police chief, Golden Jones, who was indicted on a charge of violating the civil rights of Booker T. Young, last Jan. 13, by beating him.

A Dallas man, James W. Braswell, was indicted in a narcotics possession case.

The grand jury is investigating tax affairs of three partners of Maceo and company, who operate a Galveston amusement and night club.

Sam Serio, chief executive of the firm; Frank Maceo and his brother, Vic C. Maceo, were indicted last December in Austin on charges of income tax evasion.

Estes Falls In Primary

By DONALD F. GRAFF
NEWARK, N. J. — UP — Gov. Robert B. Meyner scored a near-shutout victory over Sen. Estes Kefauver Wednesday in the New Jersey primary race for 36 Democratic national convention votes.

With two-thirds of the state's votes counted, Kefauver was assured of one delegate with a half vote at the Democratic national convention at Chicago in August. He had hoped to win eight to 10 votes.

The Tennessee senator was showing strength in the south Jersey paper-ballot counties, but his supporters conceded their entire eight-vote slate of pledged delegates at large to Meyner before midnight.

Runs Unopposed
In the presidential preference voting, Kefauver ran unopposed on the Democratic ballot and polled 91,181 with 3,206 of the state's 4,180 election districts reported. Adlai Stevenson polled 2,382 write-in votes.

President Eisenhower, who defeated the late Sen. Robert A. Taft in a bitterly-contested New Jersey presidential primary four years ago, was unopposed on the GOP ticket. He polled 245,940 votes with 2,211 election districts reported.

In the statewide race for convention delegates, Meyner's uncommitted slate defeated Kefauver by a vote of 148,326 to 62,282 with 2,612 districts reported.

Seen as Setback
The outcome was a setback for Kefauver who had campaigned strenuously in what amounted to a popularity contest between him and Meyner. He had accused the Democratic organization of seeking a "blank check" from the voters with its unpledged delegation.

However, Kefauver, campaigning in California, said he was "highly pleased" with the size of his New Jersey vote. He said it was "more than I expected to receive."

He said he hoped some of the delegates from the "official Democratic machine slate" would vote for him at the convention.

In conceding the statewide delegates, Martin J. Rafferty, Kefauver's state manager, said the voting was deceptive because "the percentage of the vote that Kefauver received was not reflected in the number of delegates he got."

Cats On Their Own

CHICAGO — UP — Judge Henry G. Hershenson ruled Tuesday that a husband may have to pay support to his estranged wife but not to her cats.

James Lauritsen, 39, had been ordered to pay his wife $45 a week support, $10 of which was for the care of her five cats. Judge Hershenson said the cats could look out for themselves and cut the payments to $35.

Hagler Is On Stand In Trial

SULPHUR, Okla. — UP — A girl friend with whom David F. Hagler planned to spend the weekend at a tourist court stood him up after he had registered for a secluded cabin, he said Wednesday.

The tourist court is two miles from where Hagler's flaming station wagon was found with a charred body. He is being tried for murdering the still unidentified man as a part of a fantastic insurance scheme involving more than $200,000.

Hagler's defense attorneys detailed to newsmen before Wednesday's court session opened how they proposed to place him elsewhere at the time of the crime.

Hagler, a former asphalt company executive from Fort Worth, Tex., was expected to take the stand late Wednesday or Thursday and relate his story to the jury.

Trial Enters Third Day
As his trial entered the third day, Hagler's attorneys told newsmen he registered at the Cedarvale tourist courts under the name of John C. Williams on Oct. 2, 1954, the day before the crime.

He said a girl friend, named "Georgie," promised to meet him at the tourist court and spend the weekend, but never showed up. At the time, Hagler's then common-law wife — Elisabeth Bergmann Hagler — was living with him in his suburban Richland Hills home near Fort Worth. But she was on a trip to Europe at the time.

Mrs. Lee Kloos, operator of the Cedarvale cabins, said Hagler asked for a secluded cabin and told her he intended to "do some fishing."

Hagler's lawyers said he haven't been able to locate "Georgie" so far.

Defense lawyers said Hagler would testify that he left a new Ford automobile parked at the cabins and returned by bus to Fort Worth. He returned to the tourist court the next day in his ex-wife's station wagon to spend the weekend with his girl friend who stood him up, the lawyers said.

Hagler said he would swear that two drinking companions drove off in the station wagon while he, near Cedarvale and that he walked on to the tourist court only (See HAGLER, Page 3)

Israeli-Egyptian Cease Fire Is Expected In Near Future

JERUSALEM, (Israeli sector) — UP — An Israeli foreign office spokesman said Wednesday he believed an Israeli-Egyptian cease fire would be announced Wednesday or Thursday.

Foreign office spokesman Elitzur said formal agreement to the cease fire request has been in the hands of United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld for several days.

It was the most authoritative report yet that Hammarskjöld's peace mission to the Middle East had begun to bear fruit.

Hammarskjöld met with Israeli Prime Minister David Ben Gurion for the second day Wednesday and Elitzur said the talk was held in a "constructive atmosphere."

From Tokyo came a dispatch that the United States has approved sale of Japanese weapons to Syria, one of the key Arab states in the inflamed Middle East.

It coincided with these other developments:

1. The Jerusalem Post said a new Russian peace offensive calling on Israel and its Arab neighbors to lay down their arms and respect present boundaries did not ring true in view of Soviet arms shipments in Egypt.

2. Egypt charged Israel with three new acts of border aggression in the Gaza Strip Tuesday but said there were no Egyptian injuries and Egypt did not fire back.

Man Is Fined On Drouth Feed Charges
Jodie Archer, Canadian, pleaded guilty to two charges filed against him in County Court late Tuesday afternoon.

Archer was charged with selling Drouth Emergency Feed B that was untagged and with selling Triple C brand range cattle feed without tags.

The court fined Archer $1 and costs on each of the two counts.

Citizens Want Safe Crossings
GRAND PRAIRIE, Tex. — UP — Aroused Grand Prairie citizens were to meet with the city commission Wednesday to discuss added safety devices at 11 railroad crossings in the city where three persons have been killed in six car-train accidents this year.

Mayor C. R. Sargent said the commission would meet with a citizens delegation and representatives of the T&P Railroad and would definitely take up the matter.

Two 16-year-old boys were killed at a crossing Monday night, and police learned Wednesday that a tragic coincidence may have been responsible for the deaths.

Police said at the time the boys approached the crossing, red warning lights were flashing but an east-bound train had just crossed. A westbound train smashed their car as they drove onto the tracks. There are two main tracks and a switch track at the crossing.

"It is obvious that a reappraisal of the safety fixtures at the crossing is needed," Police Chief B. W. Adams said.

It was reported the citizens would demand automatic drop-gates be installed at the crossings.

Ex-Solon Endorses Johnson

AUSTIN — UP — Former Congressman Lloyd M. Benisen Jr., a longtime friend of Gov. Allan Shivers, Wednesday endorsed Senate majority leader Lyndon Johnson as Texas' favorite son candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"With Texans boosting our favorite son can be the nation's," Benisen said in a prepared statement released through "Johnson for President committee" headquarters.

Meantime, the governor-opposing Johnson's dual bid to become a favorite son candidate as well as chairman of the Texas delegation to the national convention—completed a flying trip to West Texas aimed at strengthening his campaign to retain control of state party machinery.

"Texas has had more than its share of men in history who could well have been President of the United States only to have quarreling in their home state deny us a native son. I believe the time has come for Texas to support a Texan," Benisen said.

The governor has sharply disagreed.

Shivers went to Abilene and Sweetwater and charged that by backing Senate majority leader Lyndon Johnson, Democrats will forsake their right to be heard at the convention.

"The leader of the Texas delegation to Chicago," Shivers said, "ought to be free to present our position on all the controversial issues of the day..."

Shivers is opposing Johnson for the chairmanship of the delegation which probably will carry with it the honor of swinging Texas' important 56 votes at the presidential nominating convention.

Johnson has also agreed to be a "favorite son" candidate of the party, and some of his friends already have launched a campaign to make him a full-fledged candidate.

Shivers went to Abilene and Sweetwater to meet with party workers to rally support in the 17th Congressional District.

In a television address at Sweetwater Shivers urged attendance at the precinct conventions in May, and said he wanted to do what the people wanted him to do.

Jesse James To Seek 8th Term

AUSTIN — UP — State Treasurer Jesse James has announced for an eighth elective term in office. James, 51, announced Tuesday. An opponent, Warren G. Harding, 35, Dallas county treasurer, had previously announced.

James was appointed treasurer in 1941 and has been re-elected each term since his first race for office in 1947.

"I made no elaborate promises when I first asked the people of Texas to elect me to this office in seeking re-election. I advance only my record of service and experience as my principal qualifications," James said.

James, a native of Milam county, served three terms as a member of the Texas House of Representatives prior to his appointment as an assistant state treasurer in 1937.

Demos Order Vote To Override Veto

By VINCENT J. BURKE
WASHINGTON — UP — House Democratic leaders ordered a show-down vote Wednesday in an attempt to override President Eisenhower's veto of the farm bill.

They conceded they would lose. But they figured they couldn't fail to make some election-year hay in the farm belt.

The vote on the veto clearly put some unhappy farm state Republicans on a political hot spot.

Democratic leaders are confident the vetoed bill which would have restored high rigid farm price props was popular in the Midwest farm belt. They arranged for the anti-climactic vote on the veto to show they did everything possible to enact the bill and that Republicans joined with the President in killing it.

Republicans joined in Forty-eight farm state Republicans — mostly Midwesterners — voted last Wednesday for the catch-all price-boosting bill when it passed the House. The vote was 237 to 181 — 37 votes shy of the two-thirds margin needed to override a veto.

The call for a vote on the veto forced each of the 48 to choose between either repudiating on the record their President's stand on farm legislation or rejecting the bill on the final showdown.

Several of the 48 publicly backed the President's veto after it was announced. Others have criticized it. But still others remained quiet.

No Sample of Reaction
The call for the farm belt Republicans to stand up and be counted on the veto came before they had a chance to sample farm belt reaction to the President's veto message. He announced that supports on wheat, corn and rice would be raised part-way, and price props on dairy products all of the way toward the higher support levels provided by the bill.

As one Republican congressman put it: "We're operating in a political vacuum. The dust from the veto message hasn't even settled yet."

The Democrats appeared as calm as some Republicans appeared uncomfortable. The Democrats continued to attack the veto and gave no indications whether they would send the White House a new farm bill.

Other developments: Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) told the Senate the administration is guilty of "dangerous and futile indecision" in the Middle East. Mansfield, a leading member of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, called for a new summit conference to avert an Arab-Israeli war.

UNIFORMS
The Senate investigating subcommittee summoned Joey Abrams, a blacklisted military uniform contractor, regarding its investigation of alleged payoffs to government officials.

AIR POWER
Director Allen Dulles of the Central Intelligence Agency prepared to appear before the special Senate Armed Services subcommittee on air power. The subcommittee members made it clear they would ask Dulles at a secret session if his agents report Russia has surpassed the United States in air power.

CIVIL RIGHTS
Chairman Thomas J. Lane of a House Judiciary subcommittee said he is "hopeful" his subcommittee will complete action by Wednesday night on an administration-proposed civil rights program.

CIVIL DEFENSE
Rep. Chet Holifield (D-Calif.) called for spending $2 billion to $3 billion a year on civil defense. Holifield is chairman of a House Government Operations subcommittee investigating the national civil defense program.

MONACO — UP — Grace Kelly murmured "oui" with tears in her eyes Wednesday and became the wife and princess of a monarch so shy he gave her his kingdom without a kiss.

In the ancient crimson throne room of a castle on the cliffs above the Mediterranean, she sat beside Prince Rainier III and gravely took her solemn civil vows of marriage under statutes of his state and tradition of his dynasty.

She blinked her shining eyes and clasped her hands while Judge Marcel Portantier said to her, "Mademoiselle Grace Patricia Kelly, do you take as your husband his serene highness, my Lord Prince Rainier III, here present?"

Her chiseled chin tipped up and her murmured "oui" was a pledge from the heart.

The judge turned then to Rainier whose fingers fidgeted tensely in his lap.

"May I, very respectfully, ask your serene highness if he agrees to take as his wife and legitimate spouse Mademoiselle Grace Patricia Kelly, here present?"

"Oui," the prince replied in a low but steady voice.

At that moment — 11:14 a.m. (4:14 a.m. est), the Bridgelyer's daughter from Philadelphia who became first lady of Hollywood ascended to old world royalty with titled rank and realm.

"I pronounce you serene highness united by the bonds of marriage," said the judge in the first usage of Grace Kelly's royal title.

Steal Shy Glances
The newlyweds stole a shy glance at each other from the gilded chairs where they sat beside each other before the scarlet-cannopied throne.

But Rainier did not seal it with a kiss. This was a solemn state occasion, a civil ceremony, and he chose to keep a regal atmosphere.

Thursday they wed under religious laws of the church and only after the cathedral ceremony do they begin their life together.

Thursday's ceremony also may be blissless.

"It's seldom done and often not in Catholic ceremonies," Grace explained tremulously after Wednesday's formalities were completed.

Legally, Grace said she now could be called princess.

When she learned she had 188 titles, she gasped.

"Oh, no," she said, scanning a list of names offered her. "I've never seen them all in one place before."

She lifted her first glass of champagne after the marriage with United Press correspondent Wilbur Landrey and two other reporters in the living room bar of the prince's private apartments.

Grace entered the throne room three minutes late at 11:07 a.m. for Wednesday's ceremony, her eyes large with nervousness.

She was solemn and shy but lively in a head-tugging, off-face cloche hat and high-necked dress of rosy beige. A slender bow of ribbon was tied under her chin. She sat bolt upright with her feet primly placed side by side.

Rainier was much more nervous than she. He vested his left forefinger under his mustache and sat tensely as Portantier began reading his opening speech at 11:10 a.m. After the ceremony was over the starved diplomats among the 120 guests rose and filed stiffly into the palace's blue room to meet the ruler and his princess in the names of their governments.

A wedding lunch was scheduled and Wednesday night the royal couple was to be guests at the opera before Rainier returns to his bachelor villa to await Thursday's religious ceremony.

Demos Order Vote To Override Veto

By VINCENT J. BURKE
WASHINGTON — UP — House Democratic leaders ordered a show-down vote Wednesday in an attempt to override President Eisenhower's veto of the farm bill.

They conceded they would lose. But they figured they couldn't fail to make some election-year hay in the farm belt.

The vote on the veto clearly put some unhappy farm state Republicans on a political hot spot.

Democratic leaders are confident the vetoed bill which would have restored high rigid farm price props was popular in the Midwest farm belt. They arranged for the anti-climatic vote on the veto to show they did everything possible to enact the bill and that Republicans joined with the President in killing it.

Republicans Joined In
Forty-eight farm state Republicans — mostly Midwesterners — voted last Wednesday for the catch-all price-boosting bill when it passed the House. The vote was 237 to 181 — 37 votes shy of the two-thirds margin needed to override a veto.

The call for a vote on the veto forced each of the 48 to choose between either repudiating on the record their President's stand on farm legislation or rejecting the bill on the final showdown.

Several of the 48 publicly backed the President's veto after it was announced. Others have criticized it. But still others remained quiet.

No Sample of Reaction
The call for the farm belt Republicans to stand up and be counted on the veto came before they had a chance to sample farm belt reaction to the President's veto message. He announced that supports on wheat, corn and rice would be raised part-way, and price props on dairy products all of the way toward the higher support levels provided by the bill.

As one Republican congressman put it: "We're operating in a political vacuum. The dust from the veto message hasn't even settled yet."

The Democrats appeared as calm as some Republicans appeared uncomfortable. The Democrats continued to attack the veto and gave no indications whether they would send the White House a new farm bill.

Other developments:
Sen. Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) told the Senate the administration is guilty of "dangerous and futile indecision" in the Middle East. Mansfield, a leading member of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, called for a new summit conference to avert an Arab-Israeli war.

UNIFORMS
The Senate Investigating subcommittee summoned Joey Abrams, a blacklisted military uniform contractor, regarding its investigation of alleged payoffs to government officials.

AIR POWER
Director Allen Dulles of the Central Intelligence Agency prepared to appear before the special Senate Armed Services subcommittee on air power. The subcommittee members made it clear they would ask Dulles at a secret session if his agents report Russia has surpassed the United States in air power.

CIVIL RIGHTS
Chairman Thomas J. Lane of a House Judiciary subcommittee said he is "hopeful" his subcommittee will complete action by Wednesday night on an administration proposed civil rights program.

CIVIL DEFENSE
Rep. Chet Holifield (D-Calif.) called for spending $2 billion to $3 billion a year on civil defense. Holifield is chairman of a House Government Operations subcommittee investigating the national civil defense program.

Ex-Solon Endorses Johnson

AUSTIN — UP — Former Congressman Lloyd M. Bentzen Jr., a longtime friend of Gov. Allan Shivers, Wednesday endorsed Senate majority leader Lyndon Johnson as Texas' favorite son candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

"With Texans boosting, our favorite son can be the nation's," Bentzen said in a prepared statement released through "Johnson for President committee" headquarters.

Meantime, the governor-opposing Johnson's dual bid to become a favorite son candidate as well as chairman of the Texas delegation to the national convention—completed a flying trip to West Texas aimed at strengthening his campaign to retain control of state party machinery.

"Texas has had more than its share of men in history who could well have been President of the United States only to have quarreling in their home state deny us a native son. I believe the time has come for Texas to support a Texan," Bentzen said.

The governor has sharply disagreed.

Shivers went to Abilene and Sweetwater and charged that by backing Senate majority leader Lyndon Johnson, Texas Democrats will forsake their right to be heard at the convention.

"The leader of the Texas delegation to Chicago," Shivers said, "ought to be free to present our position on all the controversial issues of the day."

Shivers is opposing Johnson for the chairmanship of the delegation, which probably will carry with it the honor of swinging Texas' important 56 votes at the presidential nominating convention.

Johnson has also agreed to be a "favorite son" candidate of the party, and some of his friends already have launched a campaign to make him a full-fledged candidate.

Shivers went to Abilene and Sweetwater to meet with party workers to rally support in the 17th Congressional District.

In a television address at Sweetwater Shivers urged attendance at the precinct conventions in May, and said he wanted to do what the people wanted him to do.

Jesse James To Seek 8th Term

AUSTIN — UP — State Treasurer Jesse James has announced for an eighth elective term in office. James, 51, announced Tuesday. An opponent, Warren G. Harding, 35, Dallas county treasurer, had previously announced.

James was appointed treasurer in 1941 and has been re-elected each term since his first race for office in 1947.

Pocket Radio Stolen Here

A Regency pocket radio was taken from the counter at Melody Manor, 115 W. Kingsmill, sometime between noon and 3 p.m. Tuesday, according to a report received by the police department.

The radio, which had an ivory colored plastic case, had been left with the firm by a customer for repair. According to the report, it had been left on a display case and when the repairman went to get it to do the repair work it was missing.

The radio, which can easily be carried in a coat pocket, was reported to have been of about $30 in value.

The police department is checking leads in an attempt to recover the radio.

Grace Kelly Murmurs 'Oui' And Becomes Princess

MONACO — UP — Grace Kelly murmured "oui" with tears in her eyes Wednesday and became the wife and princess of a monarch so shy he gave her his kingdom without a kiss.

In the ancient crimson throne room of a castle on the cliffs above the Mediterranean, she sat beside Prince Rainier III and gravely took her solemn civil vows of marriage under statutes of his state and tradition of his dynasty.

She blinked her shining eyes and clasped her hands while Judge Marcel Portanier said to her, "Mademoiselle Grace Patricia Kelly, do you take as your husband his serene highness, my Lord Prince Rainier III, here present?"

Pledge From Heart
Her chiseled chin tipped up and her murmured "oui" was a pledge from the heart.

The judge turned then to Rainier whose fingers fidgeted tensely in his lap.

"May I, very respectfully, ask your serene highness if he agrees to take as his wife and legitimate spouse Mademoiselle Grace Patricia Kelly, here present?"

"Oui," the prince replied in a low but steady voice.

At that moment — 11:14 a.m. (4:14 a.m. est), the bricklayer's daughter from Philadelphia who became first lady of Hollywood ascended to old world royalty with titled rank and realm.

"I pronounce you serene highness united by the bonds of marriage," said the judge in the first usage of Grace Kelly's royal title.

Steady Shy Glances
The newlyweds stole a shy glance at each other from the gilded chairs where they sat beside each other before the scarlet-cannopied throne.

But Rainier did not seal it with a kiss. This was a solemn state occasion, a civil ceremony, and he chose to keep a regal atmosphere.

Thursday they wed under religious laws of the church and only after the cathedral ceremony do they begin their life together.

Thursday's ceremony also may be kissless.

"It's seldom done and often not in Catholic ceremonies," Grace explained tremulously after Wednesday's formalities were completed.

Legally, Grace said she now could be called princess.

When she learned she had 135 titles, she gasped.

"Oh, no," she said, scanning a list of names offered her. "I've never seen them all in one place before."

She lifted her first glass of champagne after the marriage with United Press correspondent Wilbur Landrey and two other reporters in the living room bar of the prince's private apartments.

Grace entered the throne room three minutes late at 11:07 a.m. for Wednesday's ceremony, her eyes large with nervousness.

Rainier was much more nervous than she. He rested his left forefinger under his mustache and sat tensely as Portanier began reading his opening speech at 11:10 a.m. After the ceremony was over the starbudded diplomats among the 120 guests rose and filed stiffly into the palace's blue room to meet the ruler and his princess in the names of their governments.

A wedding lunch was scheduled and Wednesday night the royal couple was to be guests at the opera before Rainier returns to his bachelor villa to await Thursday's religious ceremony.

TEEN TOPICS

By HELEN STEWARD

This is the one that counts for most of us. This six weeks, the one that started Monday, is the one that tells the tale about passing or otherwise. This is also the term when studying is the very hardest because it's spring and young people's fancies are quite easily turned from studies by thoughts of baseball, swimming pools, summer vacations or even love.

Whatever it is, is doing a wonderful job of turning minds away from Latin conjugation and the functions of "X".

Relief is in sight, though, there are only 24 days of actual school left. This is 156 class periods of 50 minutes each. It's less than that for seniors.

You think maybe we are not counting the days.

One of the big events connected with the end of school isn't too far away either. The annuals are scheduled to arrive within less than a month. Mike Price, editor, said that they will definitely be in the hands of eager students by May 15.

Don't bother to ask him what they look like. All he will say is, "Oh, they're pretty."

Monday, the long-awaited day, will arrive for seniors. For twelve years they have watched other seniors dress up and have a day of fun, and now it will be their turn at it.

Kid Day will be celebrated with attending classes all day, but even this horrible fate can't dampen seniors' spirits as they plan jillions of mischievous things to do.

Next Monday the seniors will have a holiday, however. They will travel to Palo Duro for the annual senior trip and fulfill the tradition of throwing each other in the creek all day.

Literary contestants merited enough wins in Canyon at the District Interscholastic Meet Saturday to rank second in the school trophy contest. Amarillo High School finished with more points than Pampa to take first place.

In the individual contests, Pampa won three first places and nine seconds. Joan Robertson won first in girls' declamation; Sheila Chisholm was second. Jimmy Waggoner won second in the boys' division. In poetry reading, Lu Koch was first, Rose Smith was second in girls' division. Edgar Ethridge took second in his division. Ted Swindle won second place in declamation.

The debate team, composed of Vickie Osborn and Marilyn Wells, won three debates to win first place. The other Pampa girls team, Sondra Sullins and her partner, were second. The boys' team, composed of Tommy Alliston and Bill Atkinson, won second place in their division.

Jeanene Price won second place in essay writing.

The Pampa production of "Ice Bound" took second place in the one act play contest. Myrna Montgomery, one of the cast, was picked to the district All-Star cast.

Sub Debs and Esquires are planning their big annual occasion, a Shipwreck Dance, for Friday night. Members say the plans are really great and this year's dance should be very good.

Next Saturday night, the seniors will be guests of honor at the annual Junior-Senior Banquet to be held in the cafeteria.

After the banquet, Las Creasas Club will hold a dance.

Recently, tags proclaiming "Las Reudas" have appeared on several cars. They are the identification tags of the Las Reudas hot rod club members. They are hung from the back bumper of the members car.

According to reports, the club, which was founded a short while ago, is growing rapidly.

Tuesday is set to be Demolay Day in Pampa. On that day, the city officers, such as mayor, chief of police, etc., are turned over to Demolay members. They have a barrel of fun and get a chance to see how the city affairs are run. The club met Monday night to select the make-believe officials.

Plans for the Youth Center Benefit Talent Show are growing more elaborate everyday. Monday, several representatives from Student Council attended a Chamber of Commerce meeting to explain the project to the civic leaders. The advertising campaign is well underway with posters and plans being made.

Just remember, the students can make the show, but the townspeople have to make it a success. Buy your tickets early.

The English class was quiet when something that sounded like a shot was heard outside the window. Mr. Swadley looked up from his desk with that "too bad" expression and said, "He was a good teacher, but he went wrong somewhere."

Speaking of getting shot, this was report card day!

Actor Changes From Moron To Genius

By WILLIAM EWALD
NEW YORK—UP—Robert Ellenstein, who once played a moron on a Robert Montgomery show, will switch to genius Monday night on the same TV drama hour.

Ellenstein, a balding actor with an IQ of 135, will pick up some points and hair when he tackles the role of Albert Einstein in Montgomery's "Portrait of a Man" over NBC-TV.

"Frankly, the role scares me," said Ellenstein Monday. "I guess you could say it scares me more than any role I've ever had. It's because I've got so much respect for the guy."

It was only a short while back that Ellenstein, working on another Montgomery caper, played a gentleman who had been short-changed on his mental sparkplugs.

"It was a play called 'Paradise Cafe' and I was a guy who didn't have all his buttons," recalled Ellenstein happily.

"I got the Einstein role," he continued, "mainly because of another role I played on a Montgomery show, 'Tomorrow Is Forever.' I used a German accent in the part—the same sort of thing needed for the Einstein show."

The 32-year-old Ellenstein, a native of Newark, N.J., is a kind of specialist in accents. He has played a Greek on the Alcoa hour, used an Italian accent on one

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

PARTNERSHIP
Have you ever toyed with the idea of going into a little business with your brother-in-law or a friend? With all the opportunities these days, maybe you've thought about tying up with someone in an enterprise of your own.

Any time you go into business with somebody else, there is a question of what kind of a relationship to work out; for example, whether to form a partnership or a corporation.

The partnership is one of the most popular because it can be formed without much trouble and in a hurry. It is an easy way to combine talent, effort and finances with someone you know and trust.

Generally speaking, whenever one or more persons get together and (1) share profits, (2) share losses, and (3) both participate in the control or management of a business, the law will regard them as partners, whether or not they have formally agreed to call themselves partners.

One of the most important legal consequences to keep in mind in forming a general partnership is that each partner is responsible for the debts incurred by the other on behalf of the business. What is more, under certain circumstances one might be held responsible in damages for acts of the other partner committed in the course of the joint business.

A partnership may be dissolved at any time by any one of the partners, but a withdrawal in violation of the terms of the partnership agreement may cause liability for damages. Death or bankruptcy of a partner are other causes for dissolution.

The important thing is to understand what you are getting into and what your responsibilities are if things don't go so well.

The best way to start a partnership is to enter into a written partnership agreement prepared by your attorney, setting out in clear detail the rights and responsibilities of each partner.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts because the facts may change the application of the law.)

Montgomery show, played a Mexican on "Omnibus," a Frenchman in a crime series and an Irishman on the legitimate stage.

"And I think I've played more different parts than any other actor on TV," added Ellenstein. "I've been a lawyer, a doctor, a clerk, musician, reporter, murderer, cop and a hunchback."

A telephone you can dial in the dark?
A device that answers your telephone while you're away? A "hands-free" telephone? Dreams? No!

These new telephone services are here today

Don Davis, Telephone News Reporter

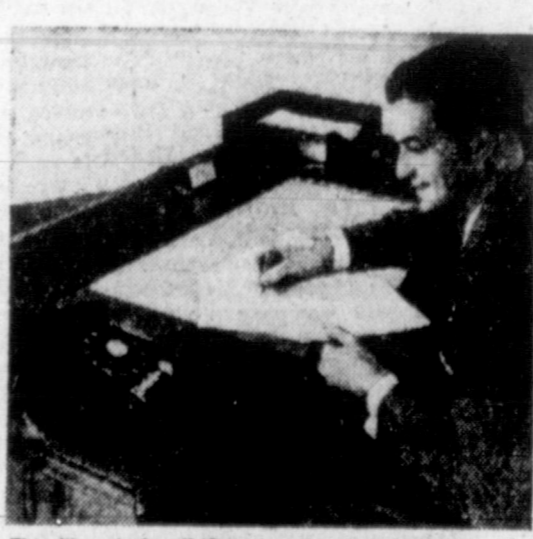

DON DAVIS

Today is the tomorrow everybody was talking about yesterday. And with today have come a good many new telephone ideas and services that only yesterday were little more than dreams.

The current crop of telephone innovations is varied and exciting. Some are fairly simple ideas, others have an almost Buck Roger-ish appeal. But all have one thing in common. Each is here today, real and practical. Each, in its own way, is ready, willing and available to add a new dimension, new convenience to your telephone service.

Take, for example, the Light-Up Dial telephone. It's a simple thing. A small lamp lights the dial when you lift the receiver. Just the thing when you want to dial a number in a darkened room. This Light-Up Dial feature is a natural for bedroom telephones, ideal for doctors, nurses, business people who make calls at night.

On the other hand, the new Speakerphone is nothing short of modern-day magic. It's a "hands-free" telephone. You simply press a button and talk—without lifting the receiver. The amazing Speakerphone works like this. A sensitive microphone in the set's base picks up your voice. You hear the person on the other end through a separate loudspeaker. Can you imagine the advantages for a businessman—hands free to write or handle papers, able to have others in his office for a "telephone conference"? Just ask the businessmen who have discovered the Speakerphone. To a man, they say "Great!"

Maybe you're the kind of person whose work takes you out of the office a lot, yet you need telephone coverage while you're gone. Well, a new answering and recording device made by the telephone company is just the thing for you. A pre-recorded announcement tells the caller that his call is being answered automatically and asks that a message be left. You get back to the office and there are your messages faithfully recorded, your important telephone calls covered. Who says a man can't be two places at once?

The list could go on and on and on. You might be interested in today's stylish decorator-color telephone instruments for your home, a volume control telephone for persons with impaired hearing, a musical chime signal to replace the regular bell.

Whichever among this host of modern telephone services strikes your particular fancy, you can bet it didn't happen by accident. They are all part of the telephone company's constant, continuing effort to build and improve your service, keep it the finest on the face of the earth. So, even while you're enjoying today's new telephone services, there's this happy thought to keep in mind, too. There are more to come tomorrow—and they promise to be corkers.

Says "No Thanks, I Don't Want Any"

A circular letter received by the editor and we presume by many others, advertises a big "saving" on fire and automobile insurance to which we have the following reply:

"No, thanks! We shall be obliged to reject the offer... We get reasonable insurance rates by purchasing our insurance protection from established, reputable local agents who are here on the ground and whose services will be available should we have a loss against which we are protected in the standard insurance policies in our safe. We would not be obliged to indulge in lengthy correspondence with some stranger in Kalamazoo, or Timbuktu. The local boys would be on the job, would check and report the loss, and settlement would be made without difficulty or quibbling.

"Moreover, the established insurance agents are our friends and neighbors. They help support our schools which two of my kids attended for about 10 years; and from which they were graduated; they help support the churches that provide me and mine spiritual stimulation; they help support the police agencies that protect my property against plunder; they help support the fire department that protects my property against fire; they help support the city, school district, district, county and state governments that bestow many blessings upon me.

"Why should I take my insurance business from these benefactors, these friends, these fellow citizens and give it to some foreign concern that doesn't care a tinker's dam about our town, except for what profit they can extract from it?

"The few cents I would save on every hundred dollars of insurance protection I now have wouldn't begin to compensate me for the trouble and inconvenience in event of a loss. It isn't worth the difference.

"Cheap insurance is like any other cheap commodity; it's very apt to be more expensive in the long run."

Yes, Mr. Phillips, there's only one kind of insurance—the BEST YOU CAN BUY! That's the kind you get when you insure through your local agent or broker. He is your neighbor—on the spot to tell you what protection you need, and on the spot to help you should you have a loss!

to find he had been stood up by "Georgia."

The trial got off to a late start — at 10 a.m. Wednesday — because Judge W. J. Monroe went to Madill, Okla., to hear a guilty plea in another case.

A parade of 27 witnesses in the opening day of testimony Tuesday carried the trial into a night session ending at 10 p.m.

The state contends Hagler and Frank St. Claire met in Corpus Christi, Tex., the summer of 1954 to plan a fantastic insurance scheme by which Hagler would collect some $220,000. St. Claire, an Irving, Tex., automobile salesman, later recommended suicide.

The state said Hagler planted bits of evidence around a burned station wagon to indicate "that the body of a man never identified was his. The state said he planned to flee with the insurance money to Europe to begin a new life.

Kyle Morehead, deputy Oklahoma state fire marshal, told the jury he found a medicine vial filled with cotton beneath the front seat of the station wagon. Chemist Taylor Rogers of the state crime bureau said he found traces of lead in the cotton, indicating it had been saturated with ethyl alcohol.

The prosecution claimed Hagler set the cotton afire and then let the station wagon roll down the hill with the victim on the front seat. When the station wagon slammed into an embankment, the flickering flame of the cotton set ablaze gasoline which sloshed from jugs placed behind the seat.

Despite repeated defense objections, Judge Monroe permitted jurors to view gruesome photographs of the victim.

Victim Apparently Drunk

Rogers, who has been a state chemist for 28 years, said he found alcohol in the victim's blood. The chemist said the amount indicated the victim was very drunk when he died. "He wouldn't have been able to think clearly or take care of himself in an emergency."

Dr. Alfred M. Schideler, assistant professor of the University of Oklahoma medical school, testified he believed the victim was

Celanese To Expand Texas Plant

Celanese Corporation of America has announced that construction is under way on a major expansion of its Bishop, Texas, chemical plant designed to increase by 25 percent that plant's production of formaldehyde, methanol, acetaldehyde and certain other organic chemicals.

R. W. Kixmiller, Celanese vice president and general manager of its chemical division, said the Bishop expansion program was made possible by an advance in fundamental technology perfected at the company's Clarkwood, Texas, laboratories.

"The new facilities at Bishop are expected to come on stream early in 1957, enabling us to boost our production to 125 percent of today's capacity," Kixmiller said. "This expansion program is designed to help meet American industry's ever-growing needs for organic chemicals and we are prepared to further increase our capacity to meet anticipated 1960 market potentials."

"The volume of formaldehyde to be produced will make the Bishop plant the world's largest producer of this important industrial chemical, and the only plant using the unique Celanese direct oxidation process."

Additional loading and storage facilities will be provided at the Bishop plant to handle the increased productive capacity. The Bishop plant is one of three Celanese chemical plants which produce synthetic organic chemicals from petroleum raw materials. The others are located at Pampa, Texas, and Point Pleasant, West Virginia.

hopes of repeating the propaganda victory they won in their recent tour of Southeast Asia.

But the most rigid security precautions seen in peacetime Britain made it certain there would be no repeat of that hand-shaking tour when Bulganin and Khrushchev repeatedly denounced the West.

The bearded Bulganin, looking every inch the old world diplomat, was the first to step down the gangplank. Khrushchev and fedora with upturned brim, closely followed.

Neither warmed up as they were presented to a waiting group of Britons and Russians though Bulganin gave an occasional brief but formal smile. Khrushchev looked bored throughout the proceedings.

Bulganin is Front Man

Bulganin was the front man and it was he who was presented first to the welcoming dignitaries.

A tight security guard sealed off the entire dockyard area—even the cross channel ferry was suspended. It was a foretaste of the precautions in store throughout their stay and a reflection of British fears of an assassination attempt.

But as the welcoming ceremonies were proceeding in Portsmouth, a small group of Britons in London—the League of Empire Loyalists—staged a protest march to 16 Downing Street.

They carried a 10-foot spoon for Prime Minister Anthony Eden for "the who sups with the devil should use a long spoon."

The British welcoming party was headed by Minister of State Lord Reading, the Soviet group by Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

The greetings were formal.

Methodist Men Set Meeting

The Methodist Men of the First Methodist Church will meet Wednesday night at 7 o'clock for the April dinner and program.

Dr. Chas. Brauchle, president, will be in charge of the business session. Loyse Caldwell, program chairman, will introduce the program.

21 Fishermen Rescued

GUAM —UP— Twenty-one Japanese fishermen were rescued Wednesday morning by the U.S. Coast Guard when their boat ran aground off Cocos Island, the Navy announced. The fishing boat Noishiwagi Maru struck the reef during a rainstorm Tuesday night and began taking water in the engine room.

Rifle Team Practices For Contest

The Gray County 4-H Rifle Team has been practicing every Thursday night for several months in preparation for the 4-H District Elimination Rifle Contest to be held in Canyon April 28.

If they place first at this contest or higher than any team from District One, they will be eligible to participate in the State 4-H Contest to be held at College Station June 13.

The team is composed of John Carson, Glenn Neyman, Bob Coombes, Paul Howard and Dale Veale all of Pampa. Elimination matches are being held to pick the four high scorers to go to Canyon, as a team is composed of only 4 members.

The Gray County 4-H Junior Rifle Club placed first at the Third Annual Junior Rifle Team Tournament that was held at the Rifle Range at Recreation Park February 19. Four other teams participated in this contest. Glenn Newman was second high individual and Paul Howard was third high individual. Mr. Tom Veale and A. P. Coombes have been coaching the team.

Agents Start Roundup Of Bird Sellers

HOUSTON —UP— Some 50 federal and state agents began a mass roundup of 53 persons in a dozen counties at dawn Wednesday in a drive against bootlegging of wild ducks and geese.

Galveston County Constable Ike Franks was among the first persons to be arrested in the roundup of Gulf Coast wild bird "bootleggers." Among other arrests were Johnny Boorts, operator of the High Hat nightclub, Algos; Vernon Kahla of High Island, and Kirby Royer of Anahuac.

The arrests were being made in Harris, Galveston, Chambers, Liberty, Jefferson and other Gulf Coast counties to climax a two-year undercover job by investigator Tony Stefano of the U.S. Interior Department.

Stefano lived in Bellaire, an incorporated city within Houston, under his own name and posed as a jewelry wholesaler and syndicate buyer of wild game.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Tony Frioux said Stefano, in the last two years, bought 3,000 illegal birds for $4,000. He said the birds are frozen in a government locker for use as evidence.

Stefano estimated that market hunters in the Gulf Coast area have slaughtered some 100,000 wild birds in the past two years. Under the federal migratory bird treaty it is illegal to kill wild birds at night or for sale at any time.

"Many of the birds were poisoned late at night on baited ponds and in protected areas and many were taken in traps," Frioux said.

Stefano said he paid $1.25 for undressed birds and $1.50 for dressed ones.

All those arrested will have bond hearings before U.S. Commissioner C. B. Jackson at Galveston.

15,000 Cadets to Train

WASHINGTON —UP— More than 15,000 cadets in the Reserve Officers Training Corps at various colleges will be trained by the Army this summer. The six-week advanced training course will be conducted at 18 Army forts throughout the nation, starting June 23 and ending Aug. 3. Cadets must complete the course before receiving a commission as a second lieutenant in the Army reserve.

THIS IS CANCER CONTROL MONTH, something about which we should all be vitally concerned. Members of our Gray County unit of the American Cancer Society put in many hours carrying on the work of the unit — for your benefit. Why not make a pledge to yourself to read thoroughly the literature on cancer made available to you, to learn the seven danger signals that may mean cancer and to see your doctor for a complete physical check-up.

THE FOLLOWING is an article on the disease from the State Department of Health.

Austin — Cancer, the second leading cause of death, took the lives of 9,374 Texans last year. This means that a little over one person out of every 1000 of our population died from this disease during that period.

According to Dr. Henry A. Holla, Commissioner of Health, one-third of these deaths could have been prevented by earlier detection and prompt treatment. On this basis 3,126 Texans needlessly died of cancer in 1955, because proper treatment was begun too late.

There are some encouraging aspects in the fight against cancer. Deaths from that disease among women in the United States have declined more than ten per cent in the past ten years.

Many thousands could be saved if men and women would have a complete physical examination once a year. Women over 35 should have a mid-year check-up for signs of uterine and breast cancer and men should secure an X-ray for signs of lung cancer.

Dr. Holla says that at least 50 per cent of all cancers are accessible to examination by a physician through sight or touch.

Of all Americans who die of cancer today the deaths of one-third could be avoided if proper treatment were begun before the cancers spread. The profession of surgery is proof of this, as the latest figures show that cancer deaths among surgeons are only 63 per cent of the general rate. Evidently surgeons not only have the proper knowledge of the facts about cancer, but act promptly on the basis of that knowledge.

Today cancer is being attacked by research within nearly every branch of science. Also, studies are being made of large numbers of people to discover if living conditions are in any way responsible for cancer.

IF A MAN'S severest critic is his wife, a mother's sternest judge is her teen-age daughter. A poll of teen-age girls on what they thought of their mothers' looks conducted recently by Mrs. Lucille D. Kirk, beauty editor of Parents Magazine, reveals that almost to a girl they believe there is room for improvement.

Dr. Per Stensland Speaks On Youth For Parent Education Guest-Day Tea

"Tomorrow's Youth" was the title of the address by Dr. Per Stensland at the guest-day tea of Parent Education Club Tuesday afternoon in the City Club Room.

"The next America concerns me just as it concerns you," he told the women.

He went on to explain that the "next America" will include a "triple freedom," including freedom of space and land, freedom of error or freedom to try something because it is worth trying without fear of failure, and freedom of choice.

"We had better build this triple freedom in our kids or the next America will not be called America," he cautioned.

Dr. Stensland went on to state that the "lost freedoms" of today can be recaptured in the next American with new opportunity, adding that democracy can only be realized in the experience of the individual.

He said it is important to teach the triple freedoms in the homes, where the next America lives and in the community where children's personalities are molded. He explained that the American society is an open one, while Russia's is closed.

It is necessary to present the triple freedoms to children anew.

White Deer WSCS Has Business Meet — (Special) — The WSCS met in the Methodist Church recently.

Mrs. Dalton Ford, president, led the business meeting. Mrs. R. A. Thompson gave the devotional, and introduced Mrs. Otis Holladay who gave the spiritual study lesson.

She presented "The Confessions of St. Augustine." Mrs. G. W. Culbertson and Mrs. Kermit Schramm reported on a recent WSCS meeting in Amarillo. Ten members were present.

Next meeting will be April 25, with Mrs. T. L. Collins as leader.

Groom Club Women Entertain Husbands — (Special) — Thimble Needle Club members feted their husbands with a covered-dish dinner in the clubhouse recently.

Hostesses were Mmes. Nola Hunt, Annie B. Kirk and Ruth Vardaman.

Attending were Messrs. and Mmes. J. Reed, E. C. Goodlett, L. Hudson, Bob Newton, J. L. Witt, N. Helton, J. V. London, J. McCasland, H. H. Hunt, L. Kirk, C. Vardeman, R. Tucker, Charles Fields; and Mmes. Roy Clark Preston Harden, George Eschle and Glyn Kirby.

He told the women, cautioning them against taking freedom for granted.

"Freedom has to be won every day in your home, your church, your community and your club," he explained.

Dr. Stensland pointed out the founders of America were unafraid of mistakes. He said children need to be taught that success is not possible without failure and that a person is not less valuable because he makes mistakes.

"On the way to truth, we've got to make mistakes," he explained. "In this country we want greatness in all men and women." Dr. Stensland continued, "Build in your child the idea of the little Superman in all of us."

"We must defend ourselves, our kids and our families against conformity," he said. "If America was built on sameness or conformity, it would have become an authoritarian country. We want different ideas — a comparison of ideas so we can arrive at our own conclusions."

Dr. Stensland pointed out that America is more modern than "this wave of authoritarianism, whether it calls itself Communism or Nazism."

"The grand opportunity of our age is freedom of choice," he stated.

He went on to explain that people are being pushed to give up their "freedom of being alone," which he says means freedom not to join, freedom to choose one's own personality, freedom to do something for oneself all by oneself.

He cautioned parents against choosing the child's personality, instead of giving him "the great, important, central freedom" of choosing his own. He pointed out that this does not mean lack of discipline, but does mean discipline of the mind and of the soul.

"The next America starts in your home," he concluded. "You are building it now."

Dr. Stensland was introduced by Mrs. Tom Rose.

For the tea, guests were greeted by Mrs. Gene Fatheree and Mrs. Rex Rose, and Mrs. Homer Johnson and Mrs. Myron Marx presided at the guest register.

Refreshments accented with miniature butterfies were presented to each guest.

The serving table was covered with a yellow tulle cloth with a flared skirt over yellow linen. The centerpiece was an arrangement of purple snapdragons with slim yellow tapers, and purple dried plants interspersed with pastel butterfies. Other decorations included arrangements of spring flowers and pastel butterfies.

Pampa Garden Club Chooses A Project

The Pampa Garden Club met recently in the Lovett Library, with Mrs. P. T. Randall, president, in charge.

During the business session, the women chose the landscaping of the new youth and community center as a project. A report on the district garden club meeting in Amarillo was given by Mrs. V. E. Wagner.

For the program, Mrs. Lee Moore spoke on "Planning of Garden and Soil"; and Mrs. Theima Jones, "Landscaping of Yards" and "Flower Arrangements."

It was announced the Phillips Garden Club will hold a garden show May 6, in four homes. Tickets, now on sale, are 50 cents each. The homes and the theme each will follow are the Burl Hughes home, 7 Pantex St., "Before Yesterday"; the W. H. Jenne home, 308 "A" Ave., "Yesterday"; the L. V. Nevius home, 116 First St., "Today"; and the Ralph Post home, 110 First St., "Tomorrow."

Chosen for the nominating committee were Mrs. Mmes. Grace Morris, Theima Bray and Cecil Colburn.

Hostesses for the meeting were Mmes. Stanley Brandt, Weldon Moore, Cecil Williams and Cecil Colburn. About 42 persons were present.

The program, "This Is Your Life," was in honor of Mrs. Owen Johnson, superintendent of the department, Mrs. Rufe Jordan was master of ceremonies. Appearing on the program were Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Oswald, Mrs. Johnson's parents; Owen Johnson, Clo Ann, Danny and Neal; Mrs. Neida Matlock of Claude; Angus Oswald of Borger; Mrs. Ward Golden; Mrs. Homer Doggett of Abilene; and Mmes. R. W. Tucker, Minor Langford, Odell Gideon, Bob Sidwell, J. W. Beard, all of Pampa.

Mrs. Johnson was given a gift, and each class presented a book to the church library in her honor. About 90 persons attended.

RUTH MILLETT

Spring is the time when— The "lady of the house" notices with a shock that the living room draperies look a little faded and Pop's easy chair is wearing thin on the arm rests.

The man of the house feels capable of taking on any size do-it-yourself job.

A woman feels a desperate need of a hat bedecked with flowers. It's easy for the housewife to find excuses for going out into the yard. Even hanging out clothes or spreading leaf mold are pleasant tasks.

The Sunday drive again sounds like a good idea. And, likely as not, before it is over Mama will have persuaded Papa to stop and inspect at least one new home with an "open house" sign in the front yard.

Some men decide to get out the power mower and see if it needs fixing up and others decide to look over their fishing tackle, handling each lure gently with a dreamy look in their eyes.

Rooms that were gleamingly new and clean last spring look as though they could stand a new coat of paint. And Mama scans the decorating magazines with an eye out for color and an occasional "I believe I'll have the kitchen pink—or maybe yellow would be better."

The pruning shears are sharpened up and all the shrubs get a haircut.

The sponge and chamolice come out of hiding as Junior decides to wash the car before his date. Every air-conditioning company in town starts checking by telephone or door-to-door to see if your home is air conditioned.

These aren't the signs of spring the poets dwell on. But they are far more recognizable to the members of most households than the signs the poets delight in talking about.

Legalistic Socialists Are Real Danger, Hoover Says

DALLAS — UP—Former President Herbert Hoover warned the Western Hemisphere Monday night legalistic socialists — not Marxian danger to American democracies.

In an address before the Inter-American Bar Association convention, Mr. Hoover charged that socialists already have delivered eight European nations to Moscow while protesting "their dislike for the Communists." He said they are hard at work on a similar betrayal here.

Mr. Hoover's speech, which steered clear of current political controversies, was broadcast on a national network. The 81-year-old former chief executive defined legalistic socialists as followers of Karl Marx who proclaim their difference from Communists by declaring "they would attain their ends by making use of the legal processes of our free institutions."

A Disguised Cult
"Instead of frank advocates, our Socialists have developed new and disguised cults in many of our western hemisphere countries," he said. "These new cults prattle around under many fronts and into our long-accepted phases and proclaim their sole ownership of human progress."

Mr. Hoover said this new brand of socialists has assumed the titles of "liberals" and "progressives" who advocate "real democracy and public welfare." He said he did not believe one in fifty of the members of the groups captured by the new socialists "detects the disguises of Karl Marx."

"Almost daily do we need to pluck out these disgusting things which have crawled into our governments," Mr. Hoover said, noting that the failure to eradicate Socialist cults and fronts in Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Poland, Romania, Hungary, Yugoslavia, and Czechoslovakia had caused those countries into "the abyss of communism."

He said the economic and moral life of France was so degraded under the Communist-socialist front populaire of the Leon Blum regime that the French still are suffering its aftermath.

English Production Reduced
Mr. Hoover charged that the "great attempt legally to socialize England" had reduced the productivity of the British people so that they have had to endure years of "austerity."

When Sieber was rushed to a hospital the reaction of many persons was — "I didn't know Dietrich was married."

Many who did were surprised to hear the husband of the world's most glamorous grandmother lived quietly here.

As Dietrich's name has been linked down the years with such handsome men as Michael Wilding and Jean Gabin, few people remember she never divorced the assistant director she married in 1924. Only when pressed as to marriage plans with her suitors does Marlene mention her husband.

THESE TOOK THE PRIZES—These odd-looking homemade hats are prize winners, believe it or not. Folks in Casper, Wyo., make the long, cold and stormy winters seem shorter by holding unusual contests. The oil-derrick hat at left symbolizes the main industry in the area. The one at upper right represents gardening and the other, made of doll-sized pots and pans, represents household activities. The designers are Mrs. Philip Kriz, left; Mrs. Philip Clark, upper right, and Mrs. Pat Alsop.

Marlene Dietrich's Husband Is Stricken By Heart Attack

HOLLYWOOD — UP—The recent heart attack of Marlene Dietrich's husband, Rudolph Sieber, brings to light the most curious marriage of the entertainment world.

Sieber was an assistant director when he met Marlene, a bit player at UFA studios in Berlin. After their marriage she won several stage roles and finally clicked in a musical comedy. Sieber pushed her toward stardom when he suggested to director Josef Von Sternberg that Marlene be starred in "The Blue Angel" — the German film that made her an international celebrity.

Dietrich was imported to Hollywood as Paramount's answer to Garbo. Sieber got a job handling the French versions of Paramount's pictures in Paris.

Husband and wife met only on his infrequent visits to Hollywood or when she traveled to Europe.

The actress was paired with Von Sternberg, the late John Gilbert, Douglas Fairbanks Jr. and others. When asked by reporters whether she would divorce Sieber to marry Fairbanks, she replied, "the perfect husband, He has a very good position in Paris and I am content here."

Years later her friends whispered she would marry Gabir. But that romance ended.

After Sieber moved here Marlene frequently visited him at his chicken farm, although another woman is his steady companion. The day she arrived here from New York last week she telephoned Sieber. Told he was ill, she rushed him to a doctor. Hospital attendants say they "never saw such a fuss as she made."

Why has she never divorced Sieber?
"She has no desire to marry again — she's not the marryin' kind," one friend explains. "She wants freedom to do as she pleases — with no lies. A woman is more protected as an estranged wife than as a divorcee. This way she doesn't have to get seriously involved with anybody."

Trout Fishing Looks Good In Colorado

By EARL MCCAIN
Colorado Game & Fish Department

Colorado's 1956 trout fishing season opening May 19 promises to be the best in recent years according to R. M. Andrews, fish manager for the Colorado Game and Fish department. He bases his optimistic prediction on an abundance of water from the heaviest snowpack in many years in mountainous areas, an increase in production and stocking of fish last year, construction of several new fishing waters in the state and a relaxation in the fishing regulations which should result in better creel success by anglers.

The U. S. Weather Bureau at Denver reports above-normal precipitation this year in all major drainages of the state except the lower Rio Grande and lower Arkansas. Andrews reports the department planted 21,988,522 fish, including 14,746,922 trout last year, compared to 16,348,290 fish including 10,163,392 trout during 1954. The plant last year included 4,995,822 trout six inches long or longer compared to 3,236,164 of this size the year before. The fish manager said 3,572,889 fish were produced at the new Rifle Falls hatchery alone last year, with 2,441,931 planted in streams, lakes and reservoirs. He says Colorado now ranks among the first three states of the nation in the production of trout.

Andrews points out that many of the best fishing waters in the state have been made available through agreements between the department and such governmental agencies as the Bureau of Reclamation, the Corp of Engineers and the U. S. Forest Service. These include Granby, Shadow Mountain, Green Mountain, Willow Creek, Bonny Dam, Taylor and Vallejo reservoirs. Others, such as Dumont, Heart and Vaughn lakes have been constructed by the department on Forest Service land under long-term land-use agreements, and still others, like Switzer, Mess, Frenchman Creek and Konantz lakes have been or are being constructed on land purchased or otherwise acquired for this purpose. The fish manager adds that relaxation of the regulations to permit day and night fishing on all waters of the state except Skagway reservoir and Monument and North lakes, and an additional bag and possession limit of 10 brook trout under eight inches long, should mean better fishing.

Spring Training Trend Is To Do Away With Huddle

By HARRY GRAYSON
NBA Sports Editor

Outside of the Ivy League, which definitely has the wrong idea, spring football practice is on throughout the land. Football is a game of trends, and this year it is to get rid of the huddle.

Let one successful coach do away entirely with that pause in the afternoon or night's occupation and most of the others will hop on the bandwagon. Oklahoma last season showed how to increase the tempo of the game. The Sooners spent such a minimum of time in the huddle that frequently you suspected that they only simulated going into one. Ten count plays went on three, etc. The opposition had little breathing room, less time to cement its defensive alignment. The element of surprise was on the attacking side to a greater extent than ever.

Bud Wilkinson's young men had possession a greater length of time. They got in many more plays. They had less defensive play, and it is much more difficult to coach defense than to build an attack.

It's rather surprising to a lot of keen observers why the huddle hasn't disappeared from the face of the field long before this. Signal-callers frequently change the play at the line of scrimmage, anyway. That's how Frank Tamburello beat UCLA early last season. As Maryland lined up, the quarterback noticed that the Uclan's left end had squeezed in, so he swung the halfback outside instead of in.

The roar of the crowd brought in the huddle. The signal-caller couldn't make himself heard. The huddle gave him the maximum of information. Signals were much more elementary at the time. The enemy was picking them up.

When he had the horses, Earl Blaik did the same thing with the modern T with man-in-motion at Army. The exception was that he pulled some linemen.

Pattern plays pulling linemen take more time and are more prone to error, although a more interesting type of game than the straight-ahead split T.

When Knute Rockne was forcing the rules committee to change them, his disciples spread the Notre Dame box across the country. Pop Warner said the other coaches on the double wing. Clark Shaughnessy popularized the modern T at Stanford. Now other schools want the Oklahoma split T. A few more doses of Oklahoma's high pressure game and the huddle quickly will become as antiquated as the turtle-neck sweater.

Women's Public Links Tourney Begins Today

LAREDO —UP— The Texas Women's Public Links golf tournament begins Tuesday with pretty 16-year-old Joanne Bruni of Laredo expected to repeat as champion.

She shot a qualifying 74 Monday, only one-under-par but a full seven strokes below her closest competitor.

Miss Bruni toured the 6,600-yard Casa Blanca course in rounds of 40 and 34 while the second best qualifier, Jo Vaughan of Naacogoches, Tex., finished with an 81.

Two other teenagers are given a good chance of being around in the final rounds. They are Wanda Sowell of Tyler, who fired an 82 to qualify, and Betty Jean Martinez of San Antonio, who posted an 8.

Mrs. C. M. Burns of Dallas shot an 82 Monday, to round out the top five qualifiers of the 32 who made the championship flight.

$190,000 Lures Army-Irish Game To Philly

NEW YORK —UP— The lure of an extra $190,000 in gate receipts was a major factor in the decision to transfer the 1957 Army-Notre Dame football game to Philadelphia.

Army officials pointed out this difference when the announcement was made Monday that the gridiron clash, first between the two schools since 1946, will be played at Municipal Stadium in Philadelphia. This stadium has a 100,000 capacity, compared to 74,000 at New York's Yankee Stadium.

It was also disclosed the Municipal Stadium, the site of the annual Army-Navy game, also has a comparatively lower rental.

The announcement came after a meeting Monday among Lt. Gen. Blackshear M. Bryan, superintendent of the U. S. Military Academy; Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York; and George Weiss, general manager of the New York Yankees baseball team. Army is the host team for the '57 game, and Notre Dame officials did not participate in the discussions.

Texas League Well-Balanced As Four Share Top Spot

By UNITED PRESS

Predictions of a well-balanced Texas League baseball race were borne out further Wednesday as the standings found four clubs sharing the top spot after five days of play.

San Antonio, the latest leader, was topped by Shreveport 3-2 in a 13-inning, 3-hour and 37-minute struggle that left the Missions knotted with Houston. Shreveport and Tulsa with 3-2 records.

Houston whipped Austin 6-4, Tulsa whipped Fort Worth 3-1 and Dallas stopped Oklahoma City 9-4. The same clubs are paired again tonight with Shreveport at San Antonio, Houston at Austin, Tulsa at Fort Worth and Oklahoma City at Dallas.

Outfielder Ev Joyner was responsible for all three Shreveport runs in the marathon at San Antonio that saw nine pitchers parade to the mound. Two of the runs came on a homer in the sixth as the Sports snapped a three-game Mission winning streak.

Houston spotted the Austin Senators two early runs then used extra base power to win. Back to back triples by Gerry Thomas and Bob Rand plus Rubin Amaro's single got three runs in the fourth and Bobby Joe Smith hit a two-run homer in the sixth.

The touted Fort Worth power attack fell victim to its own medicine with a three-run homer by Tulsa's Lloyd Jenney turning the tide for the Oilers in the eighth behind the three-hit pitching of Al Lacy.

Dallas got only one hit off Oklahoma City starter Mel Heim, but the latter's wildness put six men on base and four runs were charged against him before he was relieved. The Eagles' Bobby Prescott greeted Heim's successor with a bases loaded triple and the game was in the bag. Twenty bases on balls were issued by the seven-pitchers.

Austin continued to draw well at the gate with 2,000 fans in the stands despite three straight losses, but the crowd at Dallas was only 776, only 947 at San Antonio and 1,186 at Fort Worth.

Ballinger Edges Past Pampa Oilers By 10-9

By TOMMIE ELLIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

Ballinger. —April 17— The Ballinger Westerners picked up five runs in the first inning and five in the ninth here tonight to edge out the Pampa Oilers, 10-9, in the season opener. Although, big Joe Fortin had a perfect night at the plate with three home runs and a single for three trips.

Ballinger's Westerners, who hadn't played a game all season, took an early 5-0 lead in the bottom of the first frame but the Oilers nibbled away at the lead with one run in the second, two runs in the third and another in the sixth. The roof caved in for the Westerners in the eighth inning as the Pampa pros pushed across four hits to take an 8-5 lead.

The same thing happened to the Oilers in the last of the ninth as Jerry Tucker, who gave up only two hits in three innings, walked six and allowed Ktn ones to single with the bases loaded. Bo Flores allowed the ball to go through him for the second Oiler error of the inning and three runs scored. After two were already on base and two were out.

Buddy Woods gave up five runs on five hits in the first frame and Melvin Schwine pitched a one-hit five inning game for his work of the night. Tucker gave up only hits of the night in the ill-fated five-run final inning.

There's Another 'New Deal' In Washington

WASHINGTON —UP— There's another "new deal" in Washington, but this time it is for the long suffering home run hitters.

A new one - game record for home runs in Griffith Stadium was set when six were blasted in Tuesday's 10-4 Yankee triumph over the Senators. Each side collected three, and two by Mickey Mantle of the Yankees soared out of the playing territory in dead center field. Both were drives of 500-feet or more, marking the first time in Griffith Stadium history that one batsman had cleared that barrier twice in a game. The fence in center is 31 feet high.

The other homers were less impressive. They were hit by Yogi Berra of the Yankees, by Earl Olson of the Nats, who blasted two, and by Nat rookie Dick Tettelbach who hit one in his first time at bat. They were hit into the left field sector where the fences this season were shortened by as much as 36 feet. All were good blasts, however, since the shortest distance to left still is 330 feet.

Last year there were only 45 homers hit in Griffith Stadium during the entire campaign.

First Pitch Bad Omen For Bums

BROOKLYN —UP— If the "first pitch" was an omen, this is gonna be a mighty bad year for the world champion Dodgers.

In Tuesday's ceremonies at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn Borough President John Cashmore cranked up a creaky right arm and let the ball fly toward catcher Roy Campanella. But the "pitch" landed in the dirt at Campy's feet, and the star catcher made things worse by muffing it and then kicking it as the crowd guffawed.

The Dodgers went on to lose the opener to the Phils 8-6, so maybe it was a bad omen.

Chalk Lines May Last Longer Now

NEW YORK —UP— The chalk lines in the third base coaching box at the Polo Grounds should last a little longer this season.

Tuesday, for the first time since the middle of the 1948 season, they survived the first inning. When Leo Durocher was the Giant manager and worked in the third base coaching box, he kicked out the lines in the first inning, giving him a chance to edge past his boundary when he felt it was necessary. The umpires, treating it as a superstition by Durocher, never kept him from doing it, even in the World Series.

But Bill Rigley, the new Giant pilot stayed right within the white lines.

Logart Defeats El Conscripto

HOUSTON —UP— Isaac Logart of Cuba used jabs and hooks with good effect Tuesday night to score a unanimous 10-round decision over Mexican welterweight champ El Conscripto, before 3,500.

Logart, third-ranked contender for Johnny Saxton's welterweight title, sent Conscripto down for a five count in the sixth round with a jab to the midsection. Logart weighed 147 pounds. Conscripto weighed 145.

In the semifinal match, Rocky Randall of Tampa, Fla., and Houston, knocked out Ray Rojas of Fort Worth in the eighth. Rojas substituted for Jesse Bogart of Mexico City on three hours' notice.

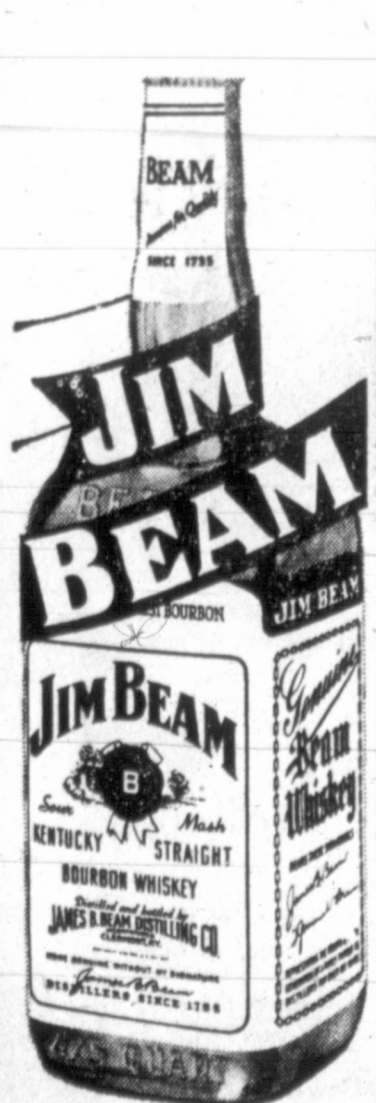

79 Make 'Impossible' Split

ROCHESTER, N.Y. —UP— Reglers in the American Bowling Congress tournament have proven unusually adept this year at converting the difficult 7-10 split. Herbert Townsend of Endicott, N.Y., Tuesday became the 79th competitor in this year's tourney to make the "impossible" split, thus tying the record set last year at Fort Wayne.

International League Opens Play Today

The International League opens its 73rd baseball season Wednesday with a brand-new member, the Miami Marlins, and hopes for an attendance total this year of two million.
The defending champion Montreal Royals, visited Columbus in the only day game, while arc-light contests will find Toronto at Richmond, Buffalo at Miami, and Rochester at Havana. The four host teams comprise the new "southern" line-up in the league.
League President Frank Shaughnessy said he was frankly hopeful for a two million attendance, which would be an increase of 400,000 over last season because the league "has its best setup since the majors began pulling out with the advent of television."
"The addition of Miami and new ownership groups at Buffalo and Richmond and renewed interest at Columbus makes the International the 'strongest it's ever been,'" said Shaughnessy.
Montreal is a slight choice to retain the league crown.

HOUSTON.—UP—The first tough competition of the 22nd annual River Oaks tennis tournament is on tap Wednesday with top players going against each other in all eight matches.
So far no U.S. seeded player has even lost a set, as the field of 84 was whittled down to the present 16 in men's singles.
Swedish Davis Cupper Ulf Schmidt, the No. 1 foreign seed, and Armando Vieira of Brazil, the other foreign seeded player, were the only ones to have trouble as each won a three set match. Schmidt came from behind to beat John Ben of the University of Houston 3-6, 10-8, 6-4 while Vieira outlasted Eugene Saller of Czechoslovakia, 3-6, 6-4, 6-1.

Middleweight Concerned About Future

CHICAGO.—UP—Middleweight Bobby Boyd, though favored to win his 10th straight fight, was more concerned Wednesday with a future program leading to the world title than any danger that Holy Mims might explode his chances Wednesday night.
Boyd, beaten six times with two draws in 46 bouts, was a 2-1 choice for his scrap with Mims, to be televised from the Chicago Stadium, even though Mims was more experienced. He has won 40 of 58 outings with 13 losses and five draws.

Mexico's Olympic Chances May Fade

MEXICO CITY.—UP—Champion horseman Gen. Humberto Mariles said Wednesday if the army's decision to break up Mexico's famed military equestrian team is not changed, it will be "a death blow for Mexico's future Olympic chances."
But he said he planned no protest of the defense ministry orders that sent three junior members of the team back to regimental duty. Sandies Dump Harvesters

Pampa High School's Harvesters, facing the no-hit pitching of Amarillo Sandie Jimmy Weston, tumbled from the baseball leadership in District 1-AA yesterday.
The second no-hitter in a row for the Sandie downed P. H. S. 8-0. It was the first district loss by the green-and-gold after winning four in a row.
Weston, a right-handed junior, had stopped Berger, 19-0, last Friday afternoon at Berger.
Pampa got one man on third, hit one ball to the outfield but otherwise were pretty well buffeted by the Sandie whizzer.
Cecil Reynolds, Pampa's speedy right hander got off to a fine start by striking out two Sandies but a single followed the strike-outs and it was followed by a homer, by Weston, and the Sandies had all the runs they needed.
Reynolds was sharp in striking out 11 and walking four. The Sandies got to him for six hits and seven runs in five innings but only three of the tallies were earned.
Otis White, who relieved Reynolds in the sixth, also pitched good ball, allowing one hit, striking out two and walking one while permitting an unearned run.
The Harvesters just couldn't seem to solve Weston's magic. He struck out only seven but the green-and-golders couldn't get the ball past the infield.
Buddy Sharp was one bright spot for the Harvesters, his fine defensive play stopping at least one more Sandie run.
The Harvesters meet the Palo Duro (Amarillo) Dons on Friday in a non-conference engagement.

Opens Show Attendance Rise

By UNITED PRESS
The eight major league openers Tuesday showed an 18.3 per cent increase in attendance over the 1955 inaugurals although the average crowd at each game dipped from 38,051 to 38,282.
A total of 236,097 fans was on hand Tuesday compared to the total of 190,255 which viewed five openers last season. Three games were rained out in 1955.
The top crowd in the National League this year was 39,756 at Milwaukee and there was a capacity turnout of 32,090 at Cincinnati. Brooklyn drew 24,236 and New York 12,790.
In the American League, 40,037 were at Detroit and near-capacity crowds of 27,837 at Washington and 32,563 at Boston. The biggest disappointment of the day was the 15,773 which saw Cleveland at Chicago.

Believes Curve Real

CHICAGO.—UP—The "bulk of scientific evidence" supports the belief that a baseball pitcher really can throw a curve, Science Digest, a magazine, revealed Wednesday. The article states that the evidence appears to outweigh beliefs that a curve is an optical illusion.

Athletes Revolt At Alabama

TUSCALOOSA, Ala.—UP—Ninety-two University of Alabama athletes walked out of their dormitory Tuesday night after giving Athletic Director Hank Crisp two days to comply with their demands to be "treated like men."
The athletes, all on scholarships, threatened to quit the dormitory for good unless Crisp grants a five-point program designed to give them "concessions made all dormitory students."

Opens Show Attendance Rise

The deadline for acceptance or rejection of the athletes' demands, which they termed "not unreasonable," was set for 1 p.m., Thursday.
The revolt put the entire athletic program in jeopardy since the walkout from the rent-free dormitory would apparently necessitate loss of scholarships.
Alabama, a member of the Southeastern Conference, grants a number of athletic scholarships each year as do all other schools in the SEC. The scholarships provide room, board and tuition.
The two-day ultimatum was handed Crisp at a meeting. A spokesman for the players said they would not wrangle with the athletic director.
The demands included more liberalized dormitory rules, especially for those athletes on "off season" status.
The demands were made in a petition signed by 90 of the 92 players who were living in the building, which doesn't include the baseball team now away on a trip.

See a Mobil Dealer and save the difference!

He has a new gasoline, at the price of regular, so good it will give knock-free power to millions of cars, which have required premium fuel. Seven out of ten cars on the road today can now use the famous Economy Run Gasoline! Premium Action at the Price of Regular!

Mobilgas R

with MC4

Yes Sir! Here's a new gasoline at the price of regular, powered with higher than ever octane and new gas saving MC4 that will give smooth, knock-free power and even more miles per gallon.

We say "premium-action" because its octane has been raised to that of premium grade of only a few years ago.

MC4, in New Mobilgas R, is the most effective combination of chemical additives ever put in any gasoline.

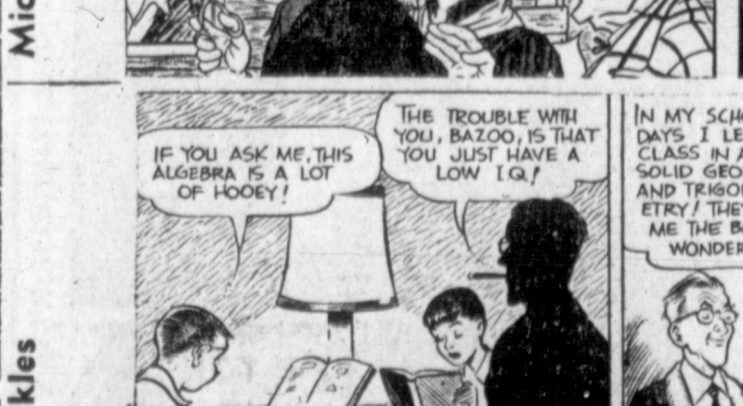

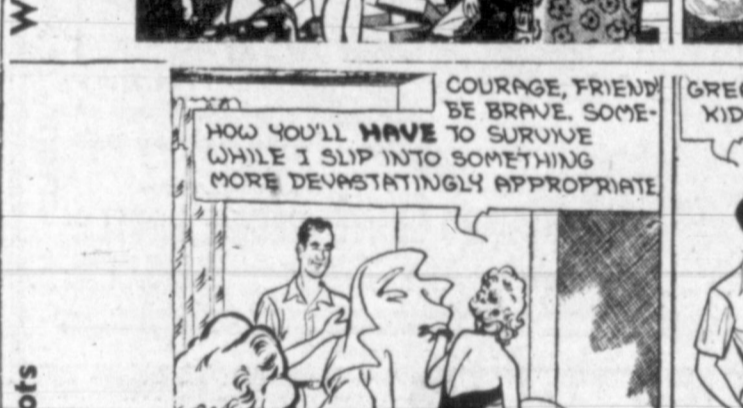

Here's how MC4 boosts engine power, efficiency and saves gas—

- Controls harmful preignition
- Extends spark plug life—corrects spark plug misfiring
- Cleans carburetors—keeps them clean
- Reduces stalling

Try Mobilgas R in your car!

DRIVING A NEW SUPER COMPRESSION CAR? You need the highest octane gasoline to prevent harmful engine knock. We make another grade of Mobilgas—new super compression Mobilgas Special. It's specially refined to meet the peak power demands of all 1956, '55 and '54 super compression V8 cars. Further improved with new, gas-saving MC4 to give you even more power, even more miles per gallon!
