

Don't Boone continued to explore Kentucky, where only two Indian settlements had been built.

John Finley, one of Boone's army buddies of the 1758 French and Indian campaign, believed a colony could be built here.

Headless that Virginia claimed Kentucky, Judge Henderson, of Salisbury, N.C., financed Boone, Finley and four others to find a site for the "14th colony."

Election Suit Ruling To Be Appealed

SAN-DIEGO, Tex., UP—Both sides said Wednesday they would appeal a decision by Judge Floyd Jones in a Duval county school district election contest suit, Jones' ruling returned Tuesday night after a week of testimony, did not change the election's outcome.

The judge said the two winning candidates out of a field of four seeking election to the Benavides school-district board were Alice Parr and Joe Vaello. Alice Parr is a brother of political boss George Parr, while Vaello was one of two anti-Parr nominees.

The same men were declared after an official canvass of the votes last April.

Jones ruled 25 voters who cast ballots should be disqualified. He said the absentee votes, which were thrown out in the official canvass, should be counted.

But the changes did not add enough to either side's total to change the results. Both sides had filed suit.

The Parr forces contended that Alice Parr and Jesus Salinas, his running mate, should be declared the winners. The anti-Parr faction claimed the actual victors were Joe Vaello and Frank Vaello.

Texas Postal Receipts Dip

AUSTIN—UP—Postal receipts in 122 Texas cities dropped 11 per cent during July as compared with June. The University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported Wednesday.

The decline registered 2 per cent as compared with the July, 1954, figure.

Only 7 per cent of the 122 cities reported increases in postal receipts during July, the bureau said. Of these, Raymondville led with a 42 per cent increase, followed by Corsicana and Gonzales, each up 22 per cent, Terrell 21 per cent, and LaGrange 15 per cent.

Columbus registered the biggest decline with a drop in receipts of 44 per cent, followed by Bastrop, 41 per cent; Mercedes, 40 per cent, and Dilmer and McCamey, each 39 per cent.

All six of Texas' largest cities reported decreases. Houston led the field with a drop of 12 per cent, followed by Fort Worth, 11 per cent; Dallas, 10 per cent; El Paso, 7 per cent; Austin, 6 per cent, and San Antonio, 4 per cent.

American Women Know What They Want In Fashion, Color

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY
NEW YORK—UP—An impeccably-tailored businessman leaned across his gleaming executive desk and snapped that he was sick and tired of people telling American women what they should want.

"You are too smart to be led around by the nose," Frederic Rahr declared defiantly.

Since the introductions were barely completed he could only assume (and rightly so as it turned out) that this outburst was not occasioned by anything cringing in our manner as we entered the office, but rather a sudden need to get something off his chest which coincided with our arrival.

"I'm fed up with hearing that American women don't know what they want," Rahr continued. "I've never said this to anybody before, but it is time somebody spoke up."

cept the flat-chested look from Paris a year ago. I knew they wouldn't, because we asked them and they told us."

Rahr asked suddenly, "Which dress in your wardrobe would you like to get rid of first?" We mentioned an especially dismal frock.

"Either that is a dress you didn't like right after you got it home from the store, but kept anyway, or it is a dress you have had a long time and are sick to death of it, right?" Rahr asked.

Right either way, we said.

"Then you won't buy another dress that resembles that one," he continued, and he certainly was right as rain about that. "You are ready for a change. That is the time to sell you something new. But if you later walked into a store and asked to buy another dress like it, then you shouldn't find yourself being talked out of it. We should satisfy women's tastes — not try to remake them before they are satisfied."

Samples Color Preferences

Rahr is best known as a color consultant. His organization samples the color preferences of women so manufacturers will know, for instance, whether more women would like to own pink refrigerators than ice blue refrigerators.

But he also conducts something called customer preference clinics in stores across the nation, and in these gathers the likes and dislikes of some 100,000 women annually on all kind of purchases, including clothing.

Out-of-all-this Rahr has gained far more than the specific information he set out to discover.

"A healthy respect for women," he said in ringing, respectful tones.

"If you give her a chance to tell you what she wants, a woman will give you a straight answer.

"If there is anything wrong with her taste, it is only because it has been lampered with too much by so-called experts who constantly try to reform her.

"She will not make a sudden change in the clothes she wears or the decoration of her house because she has learned too much about what is becoming and attractive.

"Fashion changes are a provocative thing to women. They notice, but then they sort out. A woman now reacts to a fashion only as fast as she can afford to change her wardrobe and only insofar as she finds the fashion will fit her and be becoming.

Wouldn't Accept Flat Look

"American women would not accept the flat-chested look from Paris a year ago. I knew they wouldn't, because we asked them and they told us."

Coloradoan Believes Ike To Run Again

By WARREN DUFFEE
DENVER—UP—A rising young Colorado Republican leader who received President Eisenhower's personal encouragement Wednesday said he has a "strong feeling" that the chief executive will seek re-election next year.

Donald Brozman, 33-year-old state senator and 1954 GOP gubernatorial candidate, said he formed that opinion because Mr. Eisenhower "appears to be a man who enjoys his job" and is "thriving on it."

Brozman told reporters after a half-hour early morning session with the President that he feels that Mr. Eisenhower "has certain things in mind that he wants to accomplish."

President Invites Him

Mr. Eisenhower underscored his belief that the GOP needs more young, vigorous leaders by inviting the young Boulder, Colo., attorney to the summer White House for a conference.

Brozman's attractive blonde wife, Louise, accompanied him and said she was "thrilled" over meeting the President.

Brozman said the President emphasized his feeling that "young people should come forward and assert their ideas."

Johnson Beat Him

The young GOP leader came close to pulling a major political upset last year when he lost the Colorado governorship to 71-year-old Edwin C. Johnson, veteran Colorado warhorse, by only 34,000 votes. Johnson, who retired from the Senate to seek the governorship, has announced his plans to retire at the end of his term next year.

Brozman said he has not made up his own mind whether to seek the governorship again next year. He said the President did not specifically urge him to run but "he didn't say anything that would discourage me."

WASHINGTON — UP — The Agriculture Department announced Tuesday it will offer special "distress" price support loans to grain sorghum growers unable to find approved storage facilities at harvest time. The 90-day loans will be made in areas where grain sorghums can be safely stored on the ground or in temporary buildings during the fall.

Presidential Primary Bill To Be Pushed

CORSICANA, Tex. — UP — State Sen. Jimmy Phillips said Wednesday he plans to renew efforts for passage of a presidential primary bill in Texas.

The Angleton lawmaker, in a speech prepared for delivery before the Corsicana Rotary Club, pointed out he sponsored a presidential primary measure in 1953 which was passed by the Senate but bogged down in the House.

"As members of the Democratic party in Texas, our votes in connection with naming the presidential nominee of our party are minimized by the system of conventions, Rump conventions, factional fights and squabbles which frequently split our party promptly many Democrats to stay away from precinct conventions," he said.

Phillips pointed out that Texas' system of selecting Democratic nominees for state offices was changed from the convention system "many years ago" to allow voters to ballot in primary elections.

"Why should they not have the same right to vote on nominees for president of the United States?" he asked.

Phillips, regarded as a potential candidate for governor in 1956, said his bill in 1953 passed the Senate but "unfortunately, it was not allowed to come to a vote in the house of representatives."

Farm Income Shows Drop

AUSTIN — UP — Income to Texas farmers dropped 3 per cent during the first seven months of 1955 as compared with the same period last year, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reported Wednesday.

Decreases were recorded for virtually all money crops and commodities, the bureau said. Cotton dropped 6 per cent, wheat was down 27 per cent, and oats fell 18 per cent. Income from calves was down 12 per cent, hogs 13 per cent and poultry 7 per cent.

However, returns from a few farm commodities showed increases and helped offset the downward trend in income. Fruit and vegetables showed an 18 per cent gain, while peanuts added 21 per cent. Grain sorghums climbed 12 per cent, corn 5 per cent and cattle 5 per cent. Milk and milk products, the bureau said, remained fairly stable, showing a rise of 1 per cent.

Prices received by farmers dropped 2 per cent during July from June but remained about the same when compared with prices for July 1954.

Meantime, it was forecast Texas will produce more than half of the nation's grain sorghum crop this year. The bumper crop is expected to top last year's yield by more than 20 per cent. The increase in production was attributed to a 15 per cent increase in acreage, coupled with increased rainfall in most producing areas.

Negro School Won't Admit Non-Negroes

Houston—UP—Directors of Texas Southern University, one of the South's largest Negro schools, voted to deny admission to six non-Negro students.

The vote was 5 to 1 with George L. Allen, a Dallas Negro member of the board, casting the dissenting vote.

James J. Hines Jr., chairman of the board, called for action on the question of admitting the six non-Negro students, one of whom is Japanese, was deferred "for further study."

The applicants for admission to this semester were a naval reserve officer, Lt. (jg) Thomas C. Brunson Jr., San Francisco; John August Salomon, Dallas; Albert F. Kaszycki, William A. McAnear and Warren Martin, all of Houston; and Miss Aiko Awata, Tokyo, Japan.

However, the 18-year-old Salomon said in Dallas he had withdrawn his application in April or May when he learned that Texas Southern was a Negro school.

Solon Asks Red Controls

Washington—UP—Rep. Joe Holt (R-Calif.) urged Thursday that the United States crack down on Russians visiting this country unless the Soviet government explains satisfactorily why he was detained at gunpoint in Moscow on Aug. 31.

The 31-year-old Holt said he is willing to wait a reasonable time for a Soviet answer to the State over his detention by a Red Army officer.

But if a satisfactory explanation and apology are not forthcoming, he said, the State Department should take steps to curtail the freedom of Soviet delegations coming to this country.

As the matter stands now, he said, the exchange program between the two countries is strictly "a one-way street." He explained that Russians are allowed to see many things of interest in this country, while Americans in Russia "see only what they want us to see."

Holt, who spent 15 days visiting Leningrad, Moscow and Kiev, said, for example, that he tried unsuccessfully throughout his stay to visit a factory in operation. But he said that practically all his Russian guides would let him see were museums and statues.

He also complained that Russian guides discourage ordinary Soviet citizens from talking to American visitors.

"You can't reach the people," he said.

The incident that provoked the American protest took place in a street in a Moscow suburb last Wednesday, the day before Holt left for the United States.

Rev. Hughes Tells Rotary Of Travels

Rev. Richard Hughes, recently ordained Methodist minister and son of Mr. and Mrs. R. G. (Dick) Hughes of Pampa, yesterday outlined to Pampa Rotarians some of the impressions he received during his recent five-month trip to Europe and the Near East.

Most of Rev. Hughes' comments were relative to what he described as the weakened position of International Communism in Europe with the steady rise of the level of prosperity, particularly in France and Italy where the Communists were the strongest after World War II.

Rev. Hughes' travels took him to 18 countries where he visited, along with other clergymen, and members of the United States diplomatic corps as well as leading newsmen and government workers and leaders.

One of the most likely trouble spots in the world today, Rev. Hughes stated, is the 'Israel area where the Arab nations have shown an inclination to deal with Russia to obtain the arms needed to pursue their hopes to drive the Jews from Israel.

Introduced by Jack Edmondson was Lee Ledrick, Pampa high school body president, who will serve as Junior Rotarian for the month of September.

Teacher Hearing Postponed

bend, 100 miles north of the Lower Rio Grande Valley, was topped by the 17 inches that flooded a 20 to 30-square-mile area of Corpus Christi.

The storm moved Thursday through Willacy county into Cameron county.

Areas outside its immediate march southward received little or no rain. Brownsville had only .20 inch and no rain fell at Edinburg.

Power was knocked out in residential areas of Raymondville but was not affected downtown. Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. said several hundred Harlingen telephones were out. The company hoped to return them to service Thursday afternoon.

Newberry has asked that any firms wishing to participate in the day's activities call the chamber of commerce for further details. Businesses have until Sept. 15 to notify the chamber of their intentions.

Firms already "lined up" to participate in the activities include Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, Cabot, Pampa Daily News, Citizens National Bank, Celanese, Southwestern Public Service Company, Empire Southern Gas Company, the City of Pampa, the U. S. Post Office, Frank Smith, Paul Crossman, KPBN, Friendly Men's Gray County, First National Bank, Cities Service, West Pampa Furniture, Security Federal Savings and Loan, and Pampa Foundry. This makes a total of 20 firms so far.

Air Force Defends Policy Of 'Brainwashing' School

WASHINGTON—UP—The Air Force Thursday defended its "brainwashing" school designed to prepare airmen for the terror and brutal treatment of Communist prisoners in case of capture during war.

The Air Force's support of the controversial "classes" on Red prison treatment was disclosed as Col. Burton E. McKenzie, head of the school in the desert outside of Reno, Nev., was called here.

McKenzie was questioned to find out if the techniques employed were "too realistic." After a session with Pentagon officials, McKenzie answered questions of newsmen.

Before McKenzie's meeting with newsmen, he conferred with Lt. Gen. Emmett O'Donnell Jr., deputy chief of staff for personnel. It was learned the general complimented McKenzie on the school.

No Changes Planned

An Air Force spokesman said no changes were planned in the training.

McKenzie was called to Washington Wednesday after Newsweek magazine published a hair-raising account of training at the school.

The magazine said officers and men at the school are subjected to conditions which rival those at Communist prisons in Korea. It told, among other things, of 36-hour interrogation sessions, forcing men to stand in holes shoulder-deep in water and subjecting trainees to a steel "sweat box" and a tight "coffin" which imprisons them flat on its gravel bottom.

To Explain Course

The Air Force summoned McKenzie to explain whether the training course is "too realistic" or the magazine article is "too strong."

Newsweek later issued a statement saying that, "if anything," it had "understated the facts." It said its account had been cleared by the Pentagon.

When it was cleared, the magazine said, an officer "waved a set of papers" in front of a Newsweek correspondent and told him it contained plans "to make the training... much tougher than it is now."

But Newsweek said none of the 20,000 men who have gone through the school have protested. All it was said, agreed that the training is necessary because war "has lost its last touches of humanity."

Other School Set Up

Other branches of the armed services have set up similar schools as a result of Communist treatment of prisoners of war in Korea and President Eisenhower's stiff new "code of conduct" for U.S. servicemen.

Newsweek told of one "young and frail" lieutenant at the Air Force school who "collapsed on the ground and cried" when he was let out of a little wooden shack after hours of interrogation punctuated by a series of electric shocks.

After introductory courses, the magazine said, students are turned loose in the Sierra Nevada mountains to practice survival on two and one-half days rations. They are ordered to evade "capture." Those who do not are taken on a "death march."

The magazine said "all this is a mere curtain raiser" for the 36-hour interrogation phase in which a little hand-crank generator is employed for shock. During the questioning, it said, "each man is tackled where he is most vulnerable."

Man Pleads Guilty To DWI

Lester Lee Richardson, 38, of Pampa pleaded guilty to charges of driving while intoxicated in County Court yesterday.

Richardson was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail in lieu of payment of the fine.

He was arrested by Sheriff Rufe Jordan on N. Hobart about a p.m. Tuesday.

Penicillin Often Causes An Unpleasant Rash, Allergies

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK—UP—Several medical scientists have suggested that this writer tell the public something about the unpleasant side of penicillin so that the public will stop twisting doctor's arms in order to get a shot of the stuff for the least little thing.

The medical profession has just about curbed the enthusiasts among its members who were shooting first and asking questions later. But patients still demand it and when a medical man refuses to come across, many of them act as though he ought to be driving a bus.

The unpleasant side of penicillin is that some people are allergic to it. In some very few cases—comparatively speaking—it has produced the rushing, sledge-hammer kind of allergic reaction called anaphylactic shock which can be quickly fatal.

A Leading Brake-Jerk
Dr. Sheppard Siegal of New York's Mount Sinai Hospital, an allergy specialist, has been one of the leading brake-jerkers within the profession. A recent lecture of his at the annual meeting of the medical society of the state of New York was heard only by other doctors.

Speaking of antibiotics generally, he said he did not want to "instill fear"—wanted to "suggest proper discrimination." He continued: "Enormous quantities of these life-sustaining drugs have been employed all over the world. The ill effects due to allergic reactions affect but a minority of the vast numbers of patients who have benefited from them. Nonetheless, the profession must be aware of the possible peril of allergic reactions, especially of the severe forms, in order to avoid them as far as possible and to treat them promptly and effectively when they do occur."

For allergic reactions, penicillin is the "problem antibiotic," he said. In his wide experience, he had classified four types: 1. "Delayed type," occurring at least five days after the penicillin shot. There are skin eruptions—usually hives—fever and pain in the joints. This is the reaction of an allergic person to the first exposure to an antigen, in this case, penicillin.

2. "Accelerated and immediate" type. Not nearly as common as the type one. Occurs only in persons who have had penicillin before. It may come within seconds of the shot or one or two days afterward.

3. "May Become Shock"
There may be itching, hives, labored breathing or asthma, chest and abdominal pains—or it may bloom into "the complete picture of anaphylactic shock."

Type three are "hyperergic" reactions, mainly more severe forms of type one. Type four is an eczema-like eruption of the skin, particularly the hands, feet, and groins.

All this indicates why doctors now almost always ask if you've ever had penicillin before and if so, was there any reaction. Dr. Siegal remarked that pediatricians "are fortunately less concerned with the hazards which beset physicians treating adults." The reason is that the severe forms of penicillin allergic reactions are "very rare in childhood."

Land Chief May Still Run Vet Program

AUSTIN—UP—The land commissioner may continue to run the veterans land program under laws passed by the legislature this year, the attorney general's office ruled Tuesday.

An opinion written by Special Assistant Attorney General Cecil E. Burney, former president of the State Bar of Texas, pointed out additional safeguards are provided under the new laws.

The new laws require investigation of all veterans land deals by local citizens' committees, provide criminal penalties for unlawful promotion or false swearing and tighten appraisal requirements.

The opinion, requested by Land said the new laws have no bearing on functions of the Veterans Land Board itself.

"The trouble has not been in the Austin records," Burney said, "but in the lack of safeguards down the line. Records in Austin were correct on their face. They had consistently been checked and audited. These new laws now provide the means to check these records against the facts on the local level."

Burney's opinion said formal board action is not required by the Veterans Land Board on each veterans application.

"If the legislature had intended that the board pass on each application and sale, it would have specifically required a formal resolution of such action, or that minutes be kept, as it did in creating the school land board. This it did not do," he said.

Reader Wants Me To Define Collectivism, Morals, History

J. Ted Davis, Colorado Springs, writes:

"You quote Voltaire on definition of terms. I should like to know your definitions of a few terms. Exactly what do you mean by the words (1) collectivism, (2) morals, and (3) history?

The suggestion is a good one. As Voltaire says, 'If you would discuss with me the words of right and wrong, it is of the utmost importance that we define words so that people will know what we mean when we use the word.'

Since I believe all political and economic questions in the final analysis are a question of morals of right and wrong, it is of the utmost importance that we define words so that people will know what we mean when we use the word.

Washington—American businessmen and industrialists are betting their cold cash against the possibility of war with Russia in the foreseeable future.

These new investments overseas differ from those of the roaring 20's, when billions of American dollars were defaulted.

More than U.S. grants or loans, these private investments cement the alliance of the democratic world against totalitarian and profitless communism.

Whatever the reasons, the amount of American money invested abroad in 1954 totaled $3 billion, or triple the 1953 figure.

I kinda like the following quote from Justice William O. Douglas: 'We are not a Godless, atheistic society. Our system presupposes that there is what James Otis in 1784 called the 'higher authority' to which all law ultimately are appealable.'

Pegler Visits Italian City That Mussolini Dedicated

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

ROME — Twenty years ago, Mussolini honored himself with a great celebration dedicating a village called Pontinia south of Rome and near the Mediterranean shore.

During the so-called, but mis-called, Anzio invasion by the Americans I wondered how fared poor little Pontinia, whose resident farmers were sent there to till the reclaimed soil of the Pontine marshes.

Aprilia, now gone industrial in a small, bustling way, with a meat-canning plant and a small cement works, was just off the Appian Way so I detoured a little while and observed the rising of many apartments which indicate an improvement in the condition of just the present lineup, nevertheless, are more likely Communist than otherwise.

The green wooden doors of the church with a tall tower were locked and a woman, passing by, explained, 'Siesta!'

The 'market' stuff was useful but humble by our wasteful standards. There were wooden sandals, galvanized pots, pans and tubs, new and used, second-hand leather.

We have heard a great deal the last year or so to the effect that high officials of the Government should have no 'conflict of interest' that might tend to affect their judgment and their decisions.

When Secretary of Defense Wilson took office, he had to sell his General Motors stock—stock that would cost him $2.5 million more if he bought it back now.

As a matter of plain fact, there is probably no one in the world who does not have a 'conflict of interest.' If it is wrong for Cabinet officers, it is wrong for Congressmen.

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M. D.

Two readers have recently written about dropsy. One, M. D., says that his aged mother is suffering from this from the knees down.

It is not possible, of course, to make any specific recommendations for either of these respondents, but perhaps a general discussion of the subject will be helpful.

DROPSY, the medical name for that which is edema, is not a disease but is usually a sign of some serious underlying disorder of the body.

Rest is good for this organ also since the heart does not have to work so hard when the body is not exerting.

Length, Weight Standards Watched Closely By U. S.

By JOSEPH E. MYLER

WASHINGTON — UP — No high priest of a pagan cult ever guarded a golden idol more zealously. The high priests of precision at the National Bureau of Standards do not exactly bow down before Meter Bar 27 and Kilogram 20. But they do handle them with all the tender loving care that, say, a dedicated bird keeper lavishes on costly birds and beats from far-away places.

And now — for the first time since they arrived in the United States 65 years and eight months ago — you, too, may pay your respects to MB 27 and KG 20 in their private air-conditioned vault at the bureau.

"The public," Dr. Lewis V. Judson of NBS said, "is welcome to come and look."

Can't Touch

It can look, but it still can't touch or even get very close. A thick glass door, protected by an alarm system, safeguards KG 20 in its double bell jars and MB 27 on its separate shelf. The door was installed last month.

What you see when you look depends on what you know about these objects. You can see merely a cylindrical hunk of metal weighing 22 pounds and a 39.37-inch stick, X-shaped in cross-section, of the same dull-looking stuff.

Or you can see two of the nation's most priceless possessions — possessions which down the years have come to be symbols of an era of mass-production and mass-merchandizing which didn't even exist when they were made back in the 19th Century.

To them you owe thanks for the fact that you seldom get cheated when you buy a pound of ground beef, a yard of dressgoods, or maybe a half a ton of precision-tolled roller bearings.

MB 27 and KG 20 are copies of international standards of length and weight kept in Sevres, France. They were made in France after the nations of the world in 1875 set up the international bureau of weights and measures.

Received in 1890

The 27th and 20th copies respectively of the standard meter and kilogram, they were received at the White House by President Benjamin Harrison on Jan. 2, 1890.

The unimpressive looking metal of which they are made is a platinum-iridium alloy (90 per cent platinum and 10 per cent iridium) which is so stable that all the copies turned out in the last century are still in agreement.

The metal value of the two stan-

THE MARQUEE BY DICK KLEINER

The Record Shop: One of the major record companies will place on sale, within a year, a device which should officially herald the opening of the tape era. This is a small box into which you can insert a magazine reel of tape — three hours' worth — and plug it into your radio. The whole thing will cost less than $75 — perhaps much less — and the fidelity is much superior to records.

It won't be long before disc jockeys will become tape twirlers.

For a man who makes such loud music, Stan Kenton speaks in a very soft voice. But both his music and his words are full of ideas.

The great Capitol Records jazz artist, who is now leading his band through his own CBS-TV show, "Music '55," thinks the current outlook for jazz is pretty good.

"The jazz situation," he says, "is the happiest it's been in years. Jazz has finally been recognized as something separate from pop music. It always used to be that pop and jazz were considered by most of the public as part of the same hodge-podge. There's a big difference."

"The pop field is always obsessed with fads and trends. There was the rhythm and blues fad, which seems to be waning. That was one fad that was good for jazz. The kids who liked it will turn to jazz, now that R & B is dying out, to find the beat they liked."

Kenton, a tall, thin, sandy-haired man with a serious expression, likes to talk about jazz, analyzing and prophesying. He also likes to play it on the piano, arrange it and listen to it. He thinks the quality of jazz is improving, primarily because the young musicians coming up are better schooled.

"Young instrumentalists today," he said, "have usually been to music school. They all can arrange. In the old days, most men looked on an arranger as something special. Now, all of them can do it."

Kenton also thinks big band jazz is on the way back. Which is O.K. with him, because he is the proprietor of a big band. And, in the last month, he says business has been better than it's been in years. He says the small jazz combos were started "mostly as an economic measure — they're obviously less expensive to run" but he says the big bands seem to be getting popular again.

The TV show he has this summer is something brand new for him. He likes it, with reservations.

"It's been a long time since I was afraid appearing before people," he says. "But when I did that first TV show, I was terrified."

Cinderella story of the year is the sage of Eileen Rodgers. This

Do you want him to get a complex?

Philadelphia girl was signed by Columbia on the strength of an audition record she sent to Mitch Miller. And that seldom happens. Her first release is now available. It's a great rhythm record, "Now Is The Time." Watch her smoke.

Roy Hamilton, Epic's star, has a style quite a long way from Frank Sinatra's. But in one way they're the same — Roy just hired Frank's longtime accompanist — arranger, Graham Forbes.

Dick's Picks: Two good arrangements of one of the best instrumentals in a long time — "The Toy Tiger" done by Henri Rene (RCA) and Ralph Marterie (Mercury). Others: "Twenty Tiny Fingers" (Arl. Mooney, MGM); "Famper Me" (Ann Weldon, RCA); "I Want You To Be My Baby" (Georgia Gibbs, Mercury); "We Won't Say Goodbye" (Percy Faith, Columbia); "Wonderful, Wonderful One" (Billy Williams Quartet, Coral); "You and You Alone" (David Rose, MGM); "Soldier Boy" (Sunny Gale, RCA); "A Satisfied Mind" (Hugo and Luigi, Mercury).

A little jazz — "Satch (Armstrong) Plays Fats (Waller)" on Columbia; Pee-Wee Hunt plays "Dixieland Classics" on Capitol; fine progressive piano by Hal Schaefer on "Just Too Much" (RCA); Lionel Hampton in "Wailing at the Trianon" (Columbia).

A few top classical albums — Ormandy and the Philadelphia Orchestra play Tchaikovsky's Romeo and Juliet Overture (Columbia); Zinka Milanov, soprano, is heard in "A Milanov Recital" (RCA); Menahem Pressler, piano, plays lyric pieces (Books 1 and 2) by Greig (MGM).

Man May Plead Guilty To Robbery

DALLAS — UP — Donald Eugene Staggs, 29, is expected to plead guilty next Monday to burglarizing a Draper, S. D., bank of $995.18 last May.

Assistant U.S. District Attorney Bill Hamilton said Tuesday that Staggs had waived indictment on the burglary charge and would enter a guilty plea here and not return to Draper for trial.

Fayette Bius, now under arrest at San Antonio and charged with violations of federal narcotics laws, is also charged in the Draper bank robbery, but no action is expected in his case until the narcotics charge is settled.

The pair are also charged with the burglary of the First National Bank of Chattanooga, Okla., last April 21 when $240 was taken.

PORK CHOPS WITH PINEAPPLE RINGS — A platter of juicy, well-browned pork chops makes just about anyone's mouth water. Dressed up with a fruit garnish of rosy, spiced pineapple rings, they're more appealing. For the juiciest of pork chops, cook them slowly in a covered skillet; do not broil. Serve with cooked cauliflower, topped with buttered bread crumbs.

Fruit Accompaniments For Pork Chops

Everyone loves a dinner of tender juicy pork chops — and when those succulent chops are served with a garnish of rosy spiced pineapple rings, there's a meal with real sparkle! The fruit garnish is easily prepared with red cinnamon candies; the pork chops will be juicy and tender if braised rather than broiled or fried.

These are the days to plan pork chop dinners to your heart's content. Supplies of pork are plentiful and there are good buys in a variety of cuts at most meat markets.

How to braise: Sprinkle the chops with salt and pepper and brown well in a little hot fat. Add a small amount of liquid such as water, bouillon or sour cream, cover tightly, and cook over low heat until tender, 45 minutes to one hour. (If using a heavy skillet, liquid may not be necessary.) Turn the chops occasionally and add more liquid, if necessary.

Rosy Pineapple Rings: Drain syrup from a No. 2 can of pineapple slices. Add 1/2 cup red cinnamon candies and place over low heat. When candies have completely dissolved, add pineapple slices, bring to a boil, reduce heat and simmer five minutes. Chill and serve with pork chops or pork roast.

A good dish to round out the menu is cooked cauliflower tossed with buttered bread crumbs. For extra flavor, lightly brown the butter used to butter the crumbs.

Here's another pork chop-pineapple combination in which the two are cooked together Hawaiian style:

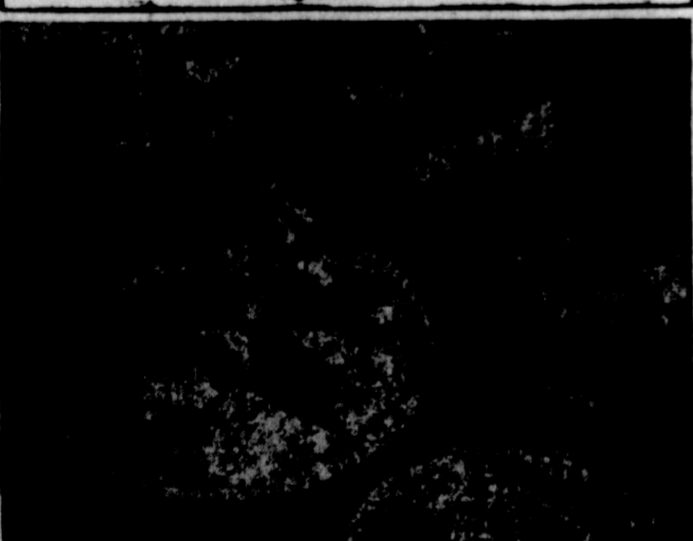

HAWAIIAN PORK CHOPS
 4 pork chops
 1-4 cup vinegar
 1/2 cup catsup
 1 9-oz. can crushed pineapple
 1 tablespoon soy sauce
 2 tablespoons brown sugar
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 2 cups cooked rice
 Trim a little fat from edge of pork chops and fry out in a heavy skillet. Remove pieces. Flour chops and brown in the hot fat. Combine remaining ingredients. Spoon fat from skillet and pour catsup

Beersucker and plisse' materials should not be run through the washer when washing. To avoid wrinkling in these fabrics, roll them in a towel to absorb water and then let drip dry.

Cake or pastry flour can be used as a substitute for all-purpose flour in a pinch when making quick breads or pie crust. Use one tablespoon more per cup of flour than called for in the recipe. You'll get about the same results.

Cake of the Month

A ticket, a basket, it's time to pack a basket—and be off for a picnic in the great outdoors. Be sure to include a dessert treat such as this black walnut cake—so easy to make with the one-step instant cake mix. A marshmallow frosting makes a yummy topping for this carry-in-the-pan cake. Everybody will love it!

Black Walnut Pink Cake
 1 package Instant Ovens Down
 1/2 cup water
 2 eggs, unbeaten
 1/2 cup (4-ounce can) finely chopped black walnuts
 Empty cake mix into mixing bowl. Add water and eggs. Beat 3 minutes until smooth and creamy. Stir in walnuts. Pour batter into 13x9x2-inch pan, which has been greased and floured on bottom only. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 30 to 35 minutes. Cool in pan. Spread with Easy Marble Frosting. Serve directly from the pan.

Easy Marble Frosting
 2 to 4 ounces unsweetened chocolate
 1/2 cup butter or margarine
 1/2 cup powdered sugar
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 cup milk
 1/2 teaspoon vanilla

Melt chocolate and butter over hot water. Combine sugar, salt, milk and vanilla; blend. Add melted chocolate and butter and mix well. Let stand, stirring occasionally, until of right consistency to spread. If necessary, place bowl in pan of ice and water to hasten thickening. Spread on cake. Drop teaspoonfuls of marshmallow whip, using 1 cup whip, onto frosting and swirl in with a knife to give marbled effect.

MIX TRICKS: Chop walnuts very fine to be assured of even distribution throughout the cake batter.

Don't grease and flour this cake pan rather than to line with paper since you will want to cut the cake right in the pan.

Herbs, Spices Give Meats Added Touch

Savory meats and meat dishes on your table are yours by cooking each cut of meat by the methods recommended for it. When you wish to give a flair to the flavors, turn to herbs and spices the way a gourmet does. There are two secrets to using herbs and spices. The first is to use fresh ones. The second is to use a light touch—use them sparingly. They are for flavor accents and should be mysteriously subtle, not overpowering to the original good flavor of the meat.

Here are some suggestions from Reba Staggs, meat expert, on herbs and spices to use with meats for new flavor adventures.

For a beef roast, try a dash of rosemary or thyme. Allspice, bay leaf, marjoram and savory enhance pot-roasts. Use celery seed, nutmeg, thyme, basil or dried parsley in beef stew. Allspice, poultry seasoning, sage and basil can be mixed into ground meat dishes.

For beef stews, soups and with a sausage pizza. For spareribs, you could add little chili powder, marjoram, bay leaf, savory or thyme.

Lamb dishes are successfully flavored by dill, mint, marjoram, rosemary, sage and thyme enhance the flavor of veal.

Herbs, and spices do wonderful things with leftover meats, too. Poultry seasoning, celery seed and sage may be stirred into croquettes. Curry dishes made from cooked meats get their name from the flavoring, curry powder.

These are just a few ideas to set you exploring into the land of meats with herbs and spices. There are many possible combinations and each new discovery will add to your reputation as a good cook.

Most folks expect to find only sea food and fish recipes on Cape Cod. We found many. But we found particularly good chicken recipes, too.

The Yarmouth branch of the Cape Cod Hospital Aid Association has published "Cape Cod Kitchen Secrets." It costs $1 and is worth its weight in good eating suggestions. Here are two of them.

Baked Young Chicken
 Yarmouth Style (4 portions)
 Two chickens (broilers up to 2 1/2 pounds), salt pepper, paprika, flour for dusting, 1 cup vegetable oil, 1 medium onion finely chopped; stock made from gobbets, backbone and neck reduced to 1 cup.

Clean and cut broilers in halves, wash and dry on absorbent paper. Sprinkle inside and out with salt; dust generously with flour. Dip in oil.

Place in baking pan, allowing oil to drip into pan. Spread onion over the chicken, sprinkle lightly with pepper and additional salt, then rather generously with paprika.

Put about 1/2 cup water in pan. Place pan in oven 400 degrees F. After about 10 minutes, baste with stock.

Reduce heat to 375 degrees F. and bake for about 25 minutes long.

Suggestions For Serving Frankfurters

Menu
 Cheese Stuffed Franks
 Wrapped with Bacon
 Rolls
 Shoe String Potatoes
 Pickle Relish
 Tomato-Cucumber Salad
 Fudge Frosted Brownies
 Beverage

What would summer meals be without spicy frankfurters? They can be a part of menus all the way from the lunch and dinner table to the picnic basket. To further reveal the versatility of frankfurters, here are nine serving suggestions given by home economist Reba Staggs:

 (1) Split franks lengthwise almost, but not quite through. Fill with thin strips of American cheese, wrap with bacon and broil.

(2) Cut franks in slices and heat in bacon drippings. Add to favorite hot potato salad mixture.

(3) Alternate layers of frankfurter slices with tomato-seasoned cooked spaghetti in casserole. Sprinkle top with grated cheddar cheese and bake in a moderate oven for 30 minutes.

(4) Stuff tomato cases with franks. Brown slices, then mix with tomato pulp, whole kernel corn, bread crumbs, chopped onion. Season. Fill tomato cups with mixture. Place tomatoes in greased baking dish. Pour 1/4 cup water around tomatoes and bake at 350 degrees F. for 30-40 minutes.

(5) Prepare your favorite barbecue sauce. Add franks and simmer for 10 minutes. Serve on rolls topped with sauce.

(6) Season baked beans with Worcestershire sauce, prepared mustard, catchup and brown sugar. Place in casserole, top with frankfurters and bake in moderate oven 20-25 minutes.

(7) Follow directions on packaged roll mix and let rise. Roll to 1/4-inch and cut into 12 squares. Place frankfurter diagonally on each square. Overlap corners. Let dough double in size and bake in hot oven, 450 degrees F. for 15 minutes.

(8) Cut franks lengthwise and grill, spread with prepared mustard. Serve in rolls topped with crisp cabbage salad.

(9) Chill frank slices in French dressing, then toss with raw vegetable for a main dish salad.

Frankfurter Favorites

Here's a frankfurter serving that will make a lunchtime or picnic time hit. Plump franks have been cut lengthwise just enough to slip in thin strips of American cheese. They were then wrapped with bacon and broiled until the bacon was cooked and the cheese bubbly. They're served on bun halves with pickle relish. Shoe string potatoes and a salad of tomato and cucumber slices complete this lunch.

Delicious Sandwich For Evening Snack

Surprise your evening guests on toast and place on baking sheet, with these good tasting, open-face sandwiches of liver sausage and cheese. They're fine for a family TV supper snack, too.

EVENING SNACKS
 1/2 pound liver sausage
 1/2 cup finely chopped celery
 2 tablespoons chili sauce
 3-4 cup grated cheddar cheese
 6 slices Vienna or rye bread, toasted
 Mash liver sausage and combine with celery and chili sauce. Spread hot,

Toasted caraway sticks are delicious when served with salads or soups. Trim the crust from slices of rye bread. Spread uniformly with melted butter or margarine. Cut each into three strips. Sprinkle with caraway seed. Place under a broiler until toasted, or for two or three minutes. Serve with celery and chili sauce. Spread hot,

Jane Talk

By JANE KADINGO
Pampa News Women's Editor

EVERY WOMAN LOVES a new recipe or idea for fixing up an old recipe. And, of course, I'm no exception. I was talking the other day with Mrs. A. B. Whitten, who told me of a delicious way to fix angel food cake. She says she makes it a day in advance, or the evening before, and puts it in her freezer.

MRS. WHITTEN said to cut a loaf angel food cake into three layers. The first layer you fill with strawberries or something on that order. The second layer is filled with ice cream. The cake is then topped with whipped cream, applied in "swirls." Cut maraschino cherries across and place around swirls to give the illusion of a "dot," like in wood. Then sprinkle grated chocolate over it and it looks like a log.
Not only does it look pretty, but it tastes delicious. Mrs. Whitten says, as she was about to serve it to her family one day, she told them it serves 16 people nicely, which brought the comment that it would serve the eight of them just wonderfully.

IF YOU'RE A HONEY addict, here are some interesting recipes or intriguing uses of honey.

Hard sauces go well with gingerbread puddings, and spicy winter desserts. Make yours with honey this way: Cream 1-3 cup butter and beat it gradually 3-4 cup honey. Then add 1 teaspoon lemon juice and 1/2 cup.

Try one of these honey glazes the next time you bake ham: 1 cup honey to 1/2 cup orange juice; 1 cup honey with crushed pineapple; 1 cup honey mixed with 1 cup apricot pulp.
Tortito salads find an excellent dressing in mayonnaise that has been thinned and sweetened with a little honey and dotted with stuffed olives.

AFTER THE FOOTBALL game, the going will be ravenous. Hamburgers always have been popular for after-the-game suppers. A novel kind of "burger" for such gatherings — and a nice change from hamburgers — is pork sausage "burgers." Fork sausage patties, served between toasted buns, with thinly sliced sweet onions, pickle relish and a drop on the side, will make a hit with the younger set. They're a good evening snack for the older crowd, too. (Pan-try one-half inch thick patties until well browned and thoroughly cooked.)

Bird-In-Hand is really a town in Pennsylvania. It's an Amish community. Mrs. William Rhoads, who lives there in the second oldest house, likes to make fancy salads to go with the plain, but beautiful, foods she serves her family and friends around her Early American polished cherry table.

Bird-in-Hand Chicken Mold (6 servings)
One package apple-flavored gelatin, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2 chicken bouillon cubes dissolved in 1 cup hot water, 1 cup cold water, 3 tablespoons vinegar, dash of pepper, 2 teaspoons minced onion, 1/4 cup shredded raw carrots, 1/4 cup thinly sliced celery, 2 tablespoons diced pimento, 1/2 cup diced leftover cooked chicken.
Dissolve gelatin and salt in hot bouillon. Add cold water, vinegar, pepper and onion. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in remaining ingredients. Turn into 1-quart ring mold or individual molds. Chill until firm. Unmold. Garnish with escarole and radish roses, if desired.

Cabbage Relish Just-So (4 to 5 servings)
One package lemon-flavored gelatin, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1 cup hot water, 1 cup cold water, 2 tablespoons vinegar, 1 tablespoon horseradish, 1/4 cup finely shredded cabbage, 1/2 cup diced apples.
Dissolve gelatin and salt in hot water. Add cold water, vinegar and horseradish. Chill until slightly thickened. Then fold in cabbage and apples. Pour into individual molds. Chill until firm. Unmold on crisp greens. Serve with mayonnaise or French dressing, if desired.

PTA's City Council Has Planning Meet

The city council of the Parent-Teacher Association met Tuesday morning in the office of Dr. Ruth Lows, Junior High School, with Mrs. James Lewis, president, in charge.

Mrs. Lewis thanked the council for sending her to Austin for the workshop of council presidents. She announced a citizenship workshop will be held in Amarillo Oct. 28. All citizenship chairmen were urged to attend.

Next time you serve hot tomato soup, try adding a few whole cloves. Simmer gently for a few minutes, remove the cloves, and serve piping hot.
When roast stuffed turkey, chicken or duck are the main course, add 1-4 cup of green seedless grapes to each cup of giblet gravy. A real flavor treat.

To make sure that salt will come from the shaker in damp weather, coat the inside of the metal top with a thin layer of paraffin. Prick through the holes.

RUTH MILLETT

To parents faced with the problem of either giving in to all of a teen-ager's demands or having the teen-ager pull the old "You never let me do anything" or "All the other kids get to do such-and-such" line the way one father faced up to the situation may be helpful.
When his 15-year-old daughter accused him of never letting her "do anything" because he had put his foot down a few times when he felt it was necessary to do so for her own protection he said:
"I love you very much and, of course, I want you to love me. But I'm not going to buy your love by being an easy parent."
"Even more important than having you love me and having you think I'm a wonderful Dad is doing what I know is right for your own good and your own protection."
"The honesty and the strength of that father's answer to a daughter who was trying to high pressure him into turning a "no" he knew was right into a "yes" he knew wrong is an attitude that is sadly lacking in many homes today where teen-agers rule the roost."
It puts the parents' position right on the line and it points out, as no amount of wheedling could do, that the plain responsibility of parents to their teenage children isn't to make them happy but to guide and protect them.
Too many parents today sell out to their children just to keep them happy and to win the approval of the kids and their friends.
A parent's first duty to his child is to do what is best for him. Children should be made to understand that fact.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Mrs. White's three-year-old George enjoys his evening bath. He likes the feeling of power he gets by churning his water into waves that make his celluloid bath toys bob wildly about. Intrigued by this god-like feeling, he will ignore his mother's demand that he stand up and be dried.
Then, what she'll do is sit down on the tub's edge, towel spread over her lap and quietly pull the plug. And she'll say, "My how you like splashing! You'd like to be a fish, wouldn't you? If you were a fish instead of a boy, you could follow that bath water right down the drain into the big pipes under the street. You'd swim and swim till you reached the ocean. There, you'd have real waves to splash in..."
By this time, George has been dried, put into pajamas and made ready for his evening meal.
Mrs. Black's three-year-old Ted also enjoys his bath. He, too, will ignore his mother's demand to stand up and be dried. Then, Mrs. Black will say, "Did you hear me, Ted? I haven't time for fooling tonight. Stop splashing — and get up, I said! Are you going to do as you're told — or do I have to spank you?"
At this point, she and Ted are so mutually resentful that his angry wriggling has to be subdued with the promised slap.
Why does George accept his mother's wish to remove him from his bath — and Ted resist the same wish in his mother?
The answer is a most important key to the discipline of children.
George accepts his mother's wish to remove him from his bath because she gave sympathetic acceptance to his wish to stay in it. Ted fights his mother's wish because she attacked his. As she refused any interest in what he wanted, she got none in return for what she wanted.
Children do not resent opposing action to their wishes, but attack of the wishes.
For some reason, many parents confuse accepting a child's wish with granting it. This idea that acceptance of wishes is "spoiling" causes terrible trouble.
In my two illustrations, it is Mrs. White, the accepter of the wish, who is the "nonspoiling" mother. While sympathizing with George's desire to splash, she acts in opposition to it. She removes the bath plug, takes him on her lap, towels him and puts him into pajamas.
Mrs. Black who flatters herself that she is a "nonspoiling" mother takes no opposing action. Instead of moving herself, she asks Ted to do the moving. She's busy attacking what he wants that her action is paralyzed.
This is always the way it works. The fighter of children's wishes is kept so busy fighting them that he never gets around to responsible action of his own.

HERE'S YOUR BADGE — Hansford County Sheriff J. B. Cooke, right, is all smiles while Bruce Sheets pins on the new gold star the people of Spearman gave him in appreciation of his work as peace officer. The star was bought with contributions given by several Spearman citizens.

Spearman Folks Take A Real Likin' To Their Sheriff

By MARGARET KIRK
Pampa News Correspondent

J. B. Cooke was a quiet young man who was elected Sheriff of Hansford County eleven years ago. Even then, he knew the way of the transgressor would make the life of a county sheriff about every thing in the book except a bed of roses. He knew it by having dealt with those who broke the laws of God and man for 12 years, as deputy under ex-sheriff Hix Wilbanks.

Still he wanted to work for law and order in Hansford County and serve the people he knew so well, and stand by ready to give them the protection of the law when they called him or when he suspected their lives or property being endangered or damaged.

Sheriff Cooke is a man of few words; never using a single one where one of his grunts will let you know his position in a matter. But his wordless pluggings and brief question system bring in results — given time.

Like a series of robberies that hit the rural areas of Hansford County. They were all slick, paying hauls and as devoid of fan-gin' clues as a snake is of hips. But — Sheriff Cooke noticed, in every case, the family was away from home when the robbery occurred. He investigated every angle and consulted Panhandle sheriffs when a robbery occurred in their bailiwick hoping to find something that he might tie in with his own county thefts. But he didn't find even a hint to help him.

In desperation, he wrote every sheriff in Texas and parts of Oklahoma, New Mexico, Kansas and Colorado asking them to notify him if robberies occurred when every one was away from home. Weeks and months passed; a year had gone by. Another one was closing when a sheriff at Dallas called and said they had caught up with a pair who operated that way.

By then, one of the thieves had gone from bad to worse and was already serving a sentence in a federal prison. The other made a clean breast of helping in the robberies, helped Sheriff Cooke recover some of the stolen property, pled guilty to the crime and is now paying the debt to society by serving a two year sentence.

Sheriff says his is a heart-breaking job, having to talk mean to people, having to make them come under the confines of law and decency; seeing men and women become slaves to liquor. It is so trying at times he says he could not go on except here and there a person does a right about face, at his direction, and he sees the rehabilitation of a life that might have gone to pot, save for the interest and help of a county sheriff.

Sheriff Cooke's duty hours are any that a person in his district needs him; oh, no, it makes not the least difference whether it comes in the line of duty for a police officer or not. He takes emergency calls and messages to rural areas. He answers a frightened woman's call. He pours oil on the turbulent waters of domestic relations. He drives most of a night, watching storm clouds and keeping radio and radar contacts so he will have ample time to warn his people of tornadoes. He gets a doctor through the snow and rushes the injured to hospitals.

Ask him why and he will tell you a man isn't worth his salt who can't find time to help others now and then; right smart of a long statement coming from the Hansford Sheriff.

In spite of Sheriff Cooke doing so much for his people, recently the citizens felt it was their Christian and just duty to call his hand.

Clay Gibner, Mayor and Bruce Sheets, druggist, were elected to represent a citizen's committee to ask the sheriff to turn in his badge.

Cooke looked at their stern faces, took a long draw from his stub cigar and said, "Boys, I don't wear a badge."

"We're asking for the one you are supposed to wear," Gibner replied.

Sheriff Cooke scratched around in his desk, between draws on his cigar stub, and finally laid a battered, old badge on the desk, saying, "This must be a new frontier way of changing sheriffs."

Gibner picked up the badge with disdain, Dr. R. L. Kleeberger, shutterbug fan, hove into sight with his camera equipment. Bruce Sheets asked, "Where is Hix Wilbanks? Somebody get out and shake the bushes and find him."

"What has Hix got to do with it?"

"You tell him, Bruce; go on," Gibner commanded.

"Well, Hix just had some things to say to you, J. B., but I don't know what he aimed to say. Then he was going to do something — that has to be done. But since Hix hasn't showed up, it will be the Mayor's place to tell you. Now tell him, Clay."

"Well, he was to pin this badge on you," Gibner said dropping a gold star-centered with a diamond into the sheriff's hand.

There was a flash followed by three more.

The sheriff stumbled to his feet and read the engraving on the back: "J. B. Cooke, Sheriff of Hansford County, in appreciation of your loyal service."

He stammered and stammered and puffed on what was left of his cigar stub. Suddenly he realized every county employee in the court house was in his office. Bruce was pinning the badge on his shirt — Congratulations — The crowd drifted back to work and J. B. tried to get the facts of the case — from

Until a short time ago, most people would have described Sheriff Cooke as a good-looking, quiet-sort-of-a-guy whose cigar always seemed to be smoked down to the nub. Now, they will likely say he is a sheriff who wears a gold star and apparently is always just finishing up a cigar.

United Press Executive Is Promoted

NEW YORK —UP— Thomas R. Curran, vice president in charge of South American operations for the United Press for the past 12 years, Wednesday was named assistant general manager.

Curran arrived in New York Tuesday from Buenos Aires and will be stationed here. His new duties will be concerned primarily with client relations.

W. H. McCall, director of United Press services for South America under Curran since 1942, was appointed general manager for Latin America.

Both announcements were made by Frank H. Bartholomew, president and general manager of the United Press.

Before going to South America early in 1943, Curran had been manager of the Central Division of the United Press at Chicago. He was in charge of news and business affairs of the company in the 10 middle western states from 1935 to 1943.

He joined the United Press in California 28 years ago, although earlier he had worked for the service as a Morse telegraph operator while a student at Lincoln high school and at the University of Nebraska. From 1933 to 1935 he was in charge of the United Press southern division with headquarters in Atlanta, Ga.

McCall has been director of United Press services in South America for the past 12 years. From 1943 to 1945 he was based in Bogota, covering Colombia, Ecuador and Venezuela. For the past 10 years he has lived in Buenos Aires from where he traveled to the 13 principal United Press bureaus in South America. He will continue his base in Buenos Aires.

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

With the death-laden Labor Day week end just behind us and the usual series of football week ends coming up, the thoughts of many Texans are turning toward traffic safety. There can be no doubt but that a better acquaintance among drivers with the "rules of the road" and other traffic safety regulations could greatly reduce the death toll of our highways.

To obtain correct and authoritative information about driving is a simple matter. A letter or postcard to the Department of Public Safety, Driver's License Division, Austin, Texas, will bring an official publication, the "Texas Driving Handbook," to anyone who requests it.

Aside from considerations of personal safety, proper driving habits and observance of traffic laws will help prevent financial loss. This is true in spite of the fact that most people now carry liability insurance as a protection under the Texas "Drivers Responsibility Act." Jury verdicts in personal injury cases tend to go higher and higher, and the likelihood of suffering an adverse judgment for an amount in excess of the limits of your liability policy is ever present.

Fault, or liability, is determined by applying the law to the particular facts of an accident. In Texas the law is in several forms—the statutes as enacted by the Legislature, the ordinances of each city and town, and the court decision in cases similar to the one to be decided.

A negligent or intentional act is necessary in order to impose legal liability for damages. Where both parties to an accident are negligent, the court will very likely say that both are at fault, and that each must pay for his own damages.

Two of the most important legal rules pertaining to accidents are those having to do with "proper look-out" and "proper control." Driving in a lawful manner and complying with all ordinary traffic rules is not always sufficient. In addition, the driver is expected by law to be alert to all that is happening around him.

If an accident should occur and the driver has not been alert—has failed to keep a proper look-out—he may be charged with "improper look-out" as a traffic violation and also held liable in damages to the other driver. The courts call a "proper look-out" such a look-out as a reasonably prudent driver would have kept under the same circumstances.

Of equal importance is the rule of "proper control." This rule means pretty much what the words imply—that the driver should have his car under such degree of control as to be ready for any emergencies as might arise. It may be breached even though no violation of ordinary traffic laws is involved.

For instance, a driver may be complying with the legal speed limit but still be driving at a rate of speed which is unsafe under the existing circumstances.

Even though legal speed limits are expressed in terms of a certain number of miles per hour, conditions may arise which prevent the driver from maintaining "proper control" of his automobile at that speed. On a rainy day on a slick streak or highway, or in heavy traffic, the reasonably prudent driver will know that he should reduce his speed considerably below the legal maximum.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts, because the facts may change the application of the law.)

Lawyers Map Fight On Gas Rate Increase

OKLAHOMA CITY —UP— Four city attorneys met here to plan strategy for fighting a gas rate increase for 45 Oklahoma cities Tuesday while a separate group of officials from the affected cities planned another meeting later in the day at Cushing.

Sterling Grubbs, city attorney for Cushing, said he hadn't been invited to the meeting at Cushing but that the attorneys here would welcome any assistance they could get.

The rate increase of $417,000 annually is sought by Consolidated Gas Utilities Corp.

The attorneys meeting here represented the cities of Altus, Blackwell, Cushing and Chickasha.

Grubbs said that while he doesn't know specifically what the Cushing meeting is about, he considered the group there as a "kind of cheering section."

"We are concerned with fighting the case in front of the commission, while the group in Cushing is interested in securing financial assistance in making the battle and to stir up the public against the trend toward an increase in rates," Grubbs said.

MAKING A GO OF LIFE

By ROY L. SMITH Read I Corinthians 15:47-50

We have used mistaken measurements. Many have missed God because they have used mistaken techniques in searching for him. They have undertaken to apply tests and measurements which were never designed to operate in the spiritual field. Test tubes and retorts, for instance, do not reveal God. It is possible to detect his handiwork in the amazing reactions that go on within them, but God himself always eludes the test tube method when we seek to identify him that way, for it was never intended to work with spiritual forces. Laboratory devices do not measure ideas, nor can test tubes be used in evaluating motives. You cannot weigh convictions in an apothecary's scales, and you cannot make microscopic slides of great moral purposes, yet we all know these are among the realities of life.

Others have tried to apply the logical method, but very large areas of life are beyond the reach of logic, and a soldier's love for his flag cannot be reduced to pure reason. There is so much of the finest of life entirely outside the range of the philosopher's formulae that the plain man must prepare to live beyond the limits of logic much of the time, and curiously the most thrilling and ecstatic experiences of life are to be met in that elusive region.

The spiritual world, like the physical and mental world, has a series of values all its own. It deals with facts that are peculiar to it, and which are unknown in the physical or mental world. It measures experiences by an altogether different process, and weighs them by altogether different standards. Only the spiritually-minded learn to use spiritual measurements and techniques.

O God, thou thinkest that I am important enough that thou art ready to deal with me daily, hourly, momentarily. Thou art within me. Thou hast made my spirit thy abiding place. These are holy impulses I find stirring within me are not my own; they are of thee. Amen.

Make a list of 20 of the great experiences of life that are entirely beyond the reach of the physical laboratory method of measurement—love of friends, self-respect, the sense of guilt, a clean conscience, the thrill of achievement.

Trial Set Nov. 14 In Clark Murder

FORT WORTH —UP— Mrs. Mary Clark will stand trial November 14 on charges she hired the late LeRoy (Tincy) Eggleston to kill her wealthy husband, her attorney said Wednesday.

A defense lawyer, Elvin Tackett, said Tarrant County District Attorney Howard Fender has agreed to the trial date subject to approval of Criminal District Judge Willis McGregor.

Tackett said the defense would enter a formal plea of not guilty and would contend that Mrs. Clark never saw Eggleston.

Clark, millionaire oilman, was shot to death in May, 1953, in his 23-room Fort Worth mansion. Grand jurors charged that Mrs. Clark offered Eggleston a $10,000 guarantee to kill her husband.

Eggleston's body was pulled from a well north of Fort Worth last week, the victim of gangland vengeance.

FROM THE PAMPA OILERS to the major leagues in one season is the story of Vibert Clarke, sensational left hander for last year's league champion Oilers.

Clarke recently was called up by the Washington Senators from Charlotte, N. C., of the Sally League.

Clarke, who posted an 18-7 record for the Oilers last season and they picked up four wins in the playoffs, joined the Senators last week-end just in time to compete against the New York Yankees.

He got in a couple of relief appearances against the Yanks but he didn't figure in either of the win or loss for the two games.

Clarke had the misfortune of pitching for a cellar ball club this season at Charlotte.

Even so, the speed-balling southpaw racked up 16 wins, a goodly number for any pitcher to win for a cellar club.

Clarke was well thought of at Charlotte, though.

The night before he departed to join the Senators, he was presented a wrist watch upon being named the "Most Valuable Player" on the Charlotte squad.

Clarke, incidentally, is making the big time earlier than we predicted.

We said earlier in the season that Vibert would crash the big time within the next two seasons.

Clarke will join another West Texas-New Mexico Leaguer of last year at Washington, Jose Valdivielso, who performed in a Lubbock Hubber uniform in 1954.

Valdivielso is still going good as he has held down the regular short-stop duties for the Sens for the past two months or so.

Valdivielso, like Clarke, was farmed to Charlotte at the start of the season.

It's certainly good to know that the WT-NM, especially our own Pampa Oilers is sending players to the big time in rapid-fire fashion.

Making this jump in one year should be proof enough that there is some mighty fine baseball played in the WT-NM parks.

Woldt says he may schedule one or two non-conference games to fill out the schedule.

Following is the Reaper slate:

Sept. 30—Nixon, there

Houston Gains Playoff Berth

By UNITED PRESS

The Houston Buffs, winner of a sudden death playoff with Tulsa for fourth place in the Texas League Wednesday night, take on the pennant-winning Dallas Eagles and Shreveport tries to make it two in a row in its series with San Antonio Thursday night.

Houston came up with a ninth inning rally to beat Tulsa 2 to 1 and Shreveport outlasted San Antonio 5 to 3 in a 10-inning marathon Wednesday night.

George Lerchen's double in the last inning gave Houston a comeback victory over Tulsa. Bob Mabe went the route for the Buffs and gave up six hits to get the victory. Houston tapped starter and loser Jehosie Heard and his reliever, Al Widmar, for seven safeties.

Shreveport scored its two extra-inning runs on singles by Ev Joyner and Jack Hollis, a pair of walks and a sacrifice fly.

Rain Postpones Oiler, Duke Playoff Opener

ALBUQUERQUE, Sept. 8—Rain and strong winds postponed the opening Shaughnessy Playoff series between the Pampa Oilers and Albuquerque Dukes here Wednesday night.

Weather permitting, the Oilers and Dukes will make another attempt to get the series underway here Thursday.

The Oilers and Dukes will meet again here Friday after which the series will switch back to Pampa Saturday, Sunday and if necessary, Monday.

Each of these dates will be moved up, of course, if the weather halts either of the two games scheduled for Albuquerque.

The same two pitching choices that were scheduled for Wednesday's opener will take the hill tonight. That would be Red Dial (20-14) for the Oilers and Ted Shandor (23-12) for the Dukes.

Amarillo, first-place finisher in the West Texas-New Mexico League, took a one-up lead in the first round of the Shaughnessy playoffs Wednesday night with an 8 to 4 victory over Plainview.

Thursday night Plainview will be at Amarillo with Andy Bush on the mound for the Gold Sox and Willie Neal pitching for the Ponies.

Marshall Bridges, pitching his first game since injuring his arm a month ago, hurled the Gold Sox past the Ponies Wednesday night with the help of relief pitching by David Schleich.

Amarillo won on a seven-run third inning. Singles by Vic Cook and Paul Mohr, doubles by Taff Wright and Tommy Lind and a home run by Chuck Thomas were the big blows off losing pitcher Tommy Schmidt.

BIG HAUL

Roy McDaniel, 526 N. Frost, displays a mess of fish he landed at Lake McClellan Tuesday night and Wednesday morning. On the right of the string he is holding is a 4½ pound black bass he caught on a cane with minnow bait. McDaniel made his catches from a boat out close to the island. (News Photo)

Box Seat Tickets For Playoffs Almost Gone

Tickets for the Pampa Oiler-Albuquerque Duke playoff games to be played in Pampa are on sale at the Pampa Chamber of Commerce office.

Fans may purchase both box seat and general admission tickets at the CC office. Mrs. L. N. Atchison is handling the ticket sales at the CC.

There are only a few box seat tickets left but plenty of regular admission tickets are available.

The box seat tickets are selling for $6 per box which will be good for the entire playoffs, be it one or two series. Each box contains four chairs.

Regular admission tickets are selling for $1 for adults and 50 cents for students.

First playoff game in Pampa, originally scheduled for Friday night, will not be played until Saturday as a result of last night's rain-out at Albuquerque.

Wynn Keeps Tribe On Top In Tight AL

By UNITED PRESS

The cocky Cleveland Indians have come up with a pair of professional "bouncers" to take care of any club that may have a notion to knock them out of first place.

The two pros who are doing all the heavy work for the Indians are Larry Doby and Ery Wynn.

Doby took care of all the hitting Wednesday night, driving in four runs against Baltimore with a pair of homers, while Wynn took care of the pitching with a nifty-hitter in a 6-0 victory over the Orioles.

When Doby and Wynn were through mopping up, the Indians still were a half-game ahead of the second-place Yankees, who defeated the Athletics 3-1, and 1-1 2 games ahead of the third-place White Sox, who eked out a 4-3 tie.

"We've got our foot in the door now," declared Cleveland Manager Al Lopez, "and I don't think anyone is going to put us out. Certainly not the way Doby is hitting and Wynn is pitching."

Doby connected for his 24th homer with his bases empty off loser Skinny Brown in the fifth inning and then slammed his 25th with two on off Ed Lopat in the ninth.

Wynn, in registering his 16th victory of the year and his sixth shut-out, posted the 20th triumph of his career. The only other active major leaguer with over 200 who has won 256.

Southpaw Whitley Ford of the Yankees hurled his second straight one-hitter to beat Kansas City. Only Jim Finigan's looping double in the seventh inning deprived Ford of a no-hitter.

Wednesday's Star

Early Wynn of Cleveland, who gained the 200th victory of his career in beating Baltimore 6-0.

Dixie Howell, the workhorse of the White Sox pitching staff, had to be summoned from the bullpen in the ninth inning to save Jack Harshman's victory over Washington. The White Sox pushed across their deciding run in the top of the ninth with the aid of singles by Sherm Lollar and Chico Carrasquel and Harshman's sacrifice fly.

The Dodgers clinched at least a tie for the national league flag by licking the Braves 3-1. Another Brooklyn victory over Milwaukee Thursday will enable the Dodgers to clinch the pennant on the earliest date in league history. They set the current record when they won the 1953 flag on Sept. 12 of that year.

Right-hander Bob Friend of the Pirates turned in the second one-hitter of the day in beating the Cubs 2-0. Frank Baumholtz' infield single in the fourth inning deprived Friend of the first perfect game since 1922.

Southpaw Johnny Antonelli, who was suspended during the weekend for "insubordination" and then reinstated, pitched the Giants to an 8-2 victory over the Cardinals. Antonelli also hit a three-run homer, a fine relief job by Johnny Klippstein helped Cincinnati to a 6-3 victory over Philadelphia.

The Red Sox hopped on rookie Jim Bunning for five runs in the first two innings and went on to defeat the Tigers 7-4 in the other AL game.

Dudley Reels Off 80-Yard TD Gallop In Ag Scrimmage

By JERE COX
United Press Sports Writer

There was a feeling of satisfaction in Southwest Conference football camps Thursday after the seven schools completed the first week of fall grid practice.

No coaches were overjoyed, but they did seem pleased with the progress made.

Coach Bear Bryant admitted his Texas Aggies were showing improvement. Bryant said the blocking of center Lloyd Hale, guards Jim Stanley, Dee Powell and Dennis Goshing, and tackle Jack Powell was largely responsible for the six touchdowns which the first two Aggie units rolled up in a scrimmage.

Ed Dudley, Pampa, and quarterback Bob Conrad each scored on 80-yard runs and Conrad went 36 and eight yards for other touchdowns. Halfback John Crow scored once.

Neely Happy With Owls

Coach Jess Neely was so happy at the looks of his Rice Owls—and because Houston's humid heat was scorching the field—that he sent the gridgers in 30 minutes early.

Neely said he was "well pleased" with a 30 minute scrimmage. Co-captain Marshall Bridges is still out of the contact work with a summer injury and will be joined on the sidelines today by tackle Charles Thompson and ends James Briggs and Charles Shelley, all out with bruised limbs.

Coach Woody Woodard said his

8 Schoolboy Games On Tap Tonight

By UNITED PRESS

Eight contests Thursday night lead off a slate of 253 Texas schoolboy football games this weekend.

Two Northeast Texas powers expected to reach the playoffs meet in the top game of the night, Atlanta will be at Mount Vernon seeking to avenge the only defeat handed the Rabbits during the regular season last year.

Another top game finds Haskell, a top rated Class A team, at Stamford where a new stadium will be dedicated. In Class AA contests Canton is at Van and Dona at Lyford.

Also on Thursday night's schedule are Greenville B at Emory, Grapeland at Franklin, Port Isabel at Brownsville St. Josephs and Weslaco B at Los Fresnos.

Class AAAA and AAA teams are not permitted to begin their season until Friday night.

Welter Champ Basilio Ready For Shot At Middle Crown

By JACK CUDDY

SYRACUSE, N.Y.—UP—Welterweight champion Carmen Basilio declared Thursday, "I want a shot at the middleweight title if the match can be made."

He said Wednesday night's strong finish against middleweight contender Gil Turner convinced him he has a "good chance" to win the 140-pound crown.

In his second non-title bout since winning the 147-pound championship in June, Carmen wound up Wednesday night with a majority decision over Turner of Philadelphia. It was a thrilling 10-rounder, before 4,676 at War Memorial Auditorium.

One of the three ring officials called the bout a draw, but the other two favored 28-year-old Basilio.

Meanwhile, Turner reversed the field by stating he would like to pare down to 147 pounds and challenge Basilio for his title.

Matchmaker Billy Brown of the International Boxing Club said, "We won't talk about Basilio shooting for the middle-weight title until he makes his first defense of the welter crown, which probably will be in November."

Wednesday night Carmen weighed 150 3-4 pounds; Turner, 151.

They turned in a thriller-diller fight. Each was knocked back on to his heels several times during the terrific exchanges. And Turner was half-froggy in the 10th. There were no knockdowns. Carmen, unbeaten now in 14 bouts, registered his 47th victory in 64 fights. But he finished with a three-stitch gash over his right brow and a slight cut under each eye.

Turner's left brow was nicked. Gil, 24, suffered his ninth loss in 36 bouts.

The gross gate for the nationally televised and broadcast fight was $21,103.

Referee Ruby Goldstein and Judge Ted Shiels favored Basilio on rounds respectively: 5-3-2 and 7-2-1. But Judge Dick Albino thought the bout a draw. He gave each five rounds and five points. The United Press had Basilio ahead, 6-3-1.

Coin Flips In AL Set Today

By UNITED PRESS

CHICAGO—UP—The American League flips coins Thursday to determine playoff sites and schedules in the event of a two, three or four-way tie for the first place.

Although the Detroit Tigers have not yet been eliminated mathematically from the race, they will not be represented at Thursday's ceremony in the office of Will Harbridge, American League president.

Four Chicago sports writers will flip the coins for the leading contenders, Cleveland, New York, Chicago and Boston.

The World Series will open on Wednesday, Sept. 28. Playoff games will be played on Monday, Sept. 26, and Tuesday, Sept. 27, if they are necessary.

Bob Mathias to Lecture

DUBLIN—UP—Bob Mathias of Tulare, Calif., winner of the decathlon in the 1949 and 1952 Olympic games, was on his way Thursday to start a series of athletic lectures in different parts of the country.

BACK TROUBLE MAIN REASON

Kiner Explains Why He's Quitting

Editor's Note: Ralph Kiner of the Cleveland Indians, a seven-time home run champion in the National League probably could have remained in the majors a few more years. But he announced Wednesday that this season will be his last. In the following dispatch, he explains what prompted his decision.

By RALPH KINER
Written for United Press

BALTIMORE—UP—It's no fun any more when playing a ball game is a trial instead of a thrill. I made up my mind a long time ago that I wouldn't stay in baseball when I couldn't play my best any more.

The back trouble I've had the past two years plus the fact that I'm getting along in years—I'll be 33 next month—did more than anything else to make up my mind.

The toughest part of my decision concerned my relationship with the Cleveland ball club. Every one connected with it treated me wonderfully, from Manager Al Lopez on down. I know I'll miss every one of them when the bell rings next spring.

Some people think I'll change my mind and come back next spring. There isn't a chance in the world. I've had it and I know it. As a matter of fact I would have quit before this season if I didn't think I could help the Indians win the pennant.

All told, though, I consider myself quite lucky. I had my share of thrills during my career and everywhere I went the fans treated me well.

I guess the biggest thrill I ever received came in the 1950 All-Star game in Chicago when I hit a home run in the ninth inning to tie the game. Red Schoendienst then hit a homer to win it in the 14th inning.

Of course, hitting 51 homers in 1947 and 54 in 1949 gave me a

Roswell Takes 2-0 Lead In Playoffs

By UNITED PRESS

Roswell's Pete Simone pitched a one-hit shut-out over Artesia Wednesday night to give the Rockets a 13 to 0 victory and a 2-0 lead in their Longhorn League playoff series.

San Angelo pulled up even with Carlsbad at one game each in their playoff set as the Colts belted loser Bob Weaver for a dozen hits and a 6 to 1 victory.

The teams switch sites Thursday night, with Roswell playing at Artesia and San Angelo at Carlsbad. They will be there for the next three games, if the series lasts that long.

Simone only faced three men more than par as the Rocket hurler struck out 11 Numbexers, walked one, hit a batsman and was tagged for a fourth inning single by Eddie Locke. Dick Adams, Joe Bauman and Pete Traina all hit homers for Roswell.

STANDARD OF LIVING UP

Charts above show in graphic form how much more of the good things of life Americans have acquired in the past 25 years. Figures from First National Bank of Boston's economic progress report.

Six Of Ten Are Members Of Churches

NEW YORK — UP— Six out of every 10 Americans are church members today, compared to less than two out of 10 a century ago when the United States supposedly was at its peak of Victorian devoutness. These statistics are drawn from the wealth of data on church membership in the continental United States compiled by the National Council of the Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. and soon to be published in its annual church yearbook for 1956. The yearbook's figures are drawn from the official reports of more than 250 religious bodies including Protestant, Roman and Old Catholic, Jewish, Eastern Orthodox and Buddhist congregations. They cover, in most cases, the year 1954 and even greater totals exist at the present time. Whatever legends linger concerning America's religious fervor in the Colonial and Victorian periods, the yearbook's statistics apparently show that this country is today engaged in the greatest religious revival in its history. The yearbook says that Protestant congregations gained 1,286,817 members in 1954 for a total of 57,124,142. The Roman Catholic church gained 227,071 for a total of 32,403,332 and Jewish congregations increased by 500,000 for a total of 5,500,000. Percentage-wise increases for the three major faiths were: Protestants 2.3; Roman Catholics, 2.9; Jewish 10.0. Some 97,482,611 Americans were on the 1954 church rolls of all faiths, an increase of 2.8 per cent over 1953 figures. Sunday schools overflowed with 37,623,530 students and teachers, a 6.3 per cent increase.

Soviet Still Tries To Jam Voice Waves

DENVER — UP— Director Theodore C. Streibert of the U.S. Information Agency said Monday the apparent cold war thaw has not brought any slackening of Russia's efforts to jam "Voice of America" broadcasts. Streibert told newsmen after a conference with President Eisenhower that "we welcome the spirit of Geneva" but it has not meant "any basic change in Voice of America's policies." He gives his report. The "Voice" chief flew here Sunday from Washington to give the President his agency's semi-annual report on U.S. information program abroad. Streibert conferred with Mr. Eisenhower briefly for 45 minutes early Monday at the summer White House offices on Lowry Air Force Base. The chief executive arrived at his desk at 8:23 a.m. est. Mr. Eisenhower was on his way to the Cherry Hills country club for a round of golf a few minutes later. Okays Meeting Plan The President also approved plans for a Sept. 27-28 meeting here on physical fitness of American youth. Vice President Richard M. Nixon announced plans for the two-day conference in a statement through the summer White House. Nixon will preside at the session. Streibert told reporters the Soviets are still using an estimated 1,000 transmitters full time to jam "Voice" broadcasts. The U.S. is using 75 transmitters to beam material into the Iron Curtain area. The information chief said Mr. Eisenhower was "very enthusiastic about the potential of working for the peaceful objectives" agreed upon at Geneva. Martin Heinrich Klaproth, a German chemist, discovered uranium in 1789.

Street Paving Work Finished

Surfacing on city streets in the current project was completed yesterday, according to City Engineer James Cowan. About 27 blocks were completed. Double asphalt surface treatment has been in progress on streets in all areas of town for the past week. Contractors Ned B. Hoffman and Bill McGee have been in charge of the work. Topping of streets is done at the end of summer each year, after the base reaches completion and curbs and gutters have been laid. New paving and general maintenance will be in process for the next six months or longer.
