New Violence Ups Tension In Mid-East

Dag Hammarskjold Pleads For Peace In Holy Land

By WALTER COLLINS

CAIRO — UP — UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold pleaded Wednesday with Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser for peace in the Holy Land.

They met in Nasser's office to the wailing of an air raid siren test and against a background of new Israeli charges of "acts of terror" in Israel during the night.

High Egyptian sources said Nasser, key man in the Mideast crisis, was prepared to propose creation of a military vacuum between Egyptian and Israeli forces as the best means of keeping the peace.

This would be accomplished by pulling back troops one kilometer (six-tenths of a mile) from each side of the border. He has made such a suggestion before. This would be a formal proposal.

But Israel said Hammarskjold's mission would be useless unless he wrung a promise from Nasser to end the terror activities of Fedayeen—the do-or-die commandos who have struck deep inside Israel.

The Israeli army spokesman announced a new list of such acts of terror during the night. He said automatic fire was opened on a worker at a reservoir at Kfar Silver. This settlement, near Ashkelon, was named two weeks ago after U. S. Zionist leader Rabbi Abba Hillel Silver. (The Israeli spokesman also reported attacks of automatic fire on workers near the Jordan border, signs of an ambush that never came off and the mining of an Israeli army truck in which one soldier was wounded.)

Hammarskjold was accompanied in Wednesday's all-important meeting by Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, the UN truck supervisor, Nasser was with Foreign Minister Mohammad Fawzi.

Nat 'King' Cole Attacked In Birmingham

BIRMINGHAM — UP — Negro musician Nat King Cole promised Wednesday his show would go on in Dixie despite the intimidation by three white segregationists who pounced on him while he was singing to a packed audience and attempted to abduct him.

Cole received a slight back injury in the on-stage tussle Tuesday night but came back to finish his singing performance after being treated by a doctor.

His manager, Robert Schwartz of New York, said Cole would go right ahead with his scheduled tour of southern states where racial incidents have occurred regularly in recent months.

The men who attacked Cole were intercepted by police before they could carry out their apparent plan to abduct the Negro musician. They were hustled to jail and charged with inciting a riot. Three others were booked on the same charge as accomplices.

Leader Identified

Kenneth Adams, 35, a member of the Anniston, Ala., White Citizens Council board of directors, was identified as the apparent leader of the attack on Cole.

Wanted Man In Jail Here

The missing man in "the biggest mass liquor cleanup in the history of N. Carolina" is in Gray County jail today after his arrest by Gray County Deputy Sheriff Shirley Nichols and Carson County Deputy Sheriff William Price.

Kenneth Jerome Hoglen, 38, an alleged liquor ring member who has been missing for more than a year, was arrested yesterday afternoon approximately one hour after W. A. "Bill" Murphy, of the Dallas office, F.B.I., called the local sheriff's office asking for the arrest.

Hoglen has been missing since Jan. 31, 1955, when he disappeared before he was scheduled to appear in Alexander County (N.C.) Superior Court to testify against five men charged with kidnaping him, maiming and assault with intent to kill.

Hoke May, newsman on the staff of the Charlotte (N.C.) Observer, told The News last night that Hoglen had formerly worked for a $3 million a year bootleg liquor ring in North Carolina. He had driven trucks for the ring, May said, and, after returning from a "run" was accused by members of the ring with stealing $18,000 from the syndicate.

May related that five men then took Hoglen to a remote cabin near the Catawba River in North Carolina, strung him up by his wrists and beat him with gun butts, clubs and belts.

Hoglen later testified before a grand jury and the five men were indicted, May continued.

At about this time, the bootlegging was also exposed and 31 men, including Hoglen, were indicted for conspiracy to defraud the federal government and distributing liquor in dry counties.

Shortly after the indictments were returned, May said, Hoglen disappeared. On March 27, 1956, the Federal Bureau of Investigation entered the case.

A call from the F.B.I. office in Dallas yesterday resulted in Hoglen's arrest approximately one hour later. Hoglen was arrested about five miles west of Skellytown. He had been employed by a local trucking concern.

Hoglen said this morning that he had been in Pueblo, Colo., since leaving North Carolina last year and had arrived in Pampa only a few days ago.

Murphy this morning commended the Gray County Sheriff's office for their speedy arrest and cooperation in the case.

Sheriff Rufe Jordan said this morning that Hoglen was turned over to a U. S. marshal from Amarillo.

Late this morning, Hoglen had not signed a waiver of extradition.

WALLINGFORD, Conn. — UP — Harold McGrath of Dorchester, Mass., was arrested at 10:10 p.m. for speeding. Ten minutes later, he pleaded guilty in town court, which happened to be in session. And 22 minutes later, he was fined $18.

ANOTHER GIFT

Gifts are continuing to come in to the Pampa Youth and Community Center, Inc., as the Top o' Texas chapter, S.P.E.B.S.Q.S.A. (barbershoppers), presented a check last night to the group. Shown above receiving the check, for $100, is Floyd Watson, right, member of the executive board of the youth center. Marine Court Of Inquiry Into Recruit Deaths Begins

(Editor's note: The writer of the following dispatch on the Marine training tragedy served as a United Press war correspondent with the U.S. Marines in assault landings in World War II and the Korean war.)

By H. D. QUIGG

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. — UP —

The bodies of six teen-age Marine recruits lay in flag-draped coffins Wednesday while a court of inquiry got the facts from their buddies about a sergeant's "discipline" that took them on a march of death by drowning.

The three-officer court, sitting in the administration building of this 25-square-mile recruit training depot, heard testimony from numerous six-week trainees from the ill-fated 71st Platoon.

Sitting with his counsel as a party of the hearing—now in its second day—was quiet, 31-year-old Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon. Last Sunday at 9 p.m. McKeon, an eight-year Marine veteran, marched 73 members of the platoon through the moonless, windy night into Salt Creek swollen by high tide.

But the recommendations of the court, after all evidence is heard, may cause the proud and combat-tested Marine Corps to take a hard look at its rigorous concept of tough peacetime training.

"Some change in techniques may be indicated" when the court gets the facts and assesses them, according to the depot commander, Maj. Gen. Joseph C. Burger. If such is the case, he said "the changes will be made."

Old timers at this famed boot camp say that training of recruits seems—if anything—to be softer than it used to be. Recruits get more privileges now, and those who know him say McKeon was not a swashbuckling type, but rather the opposite. McKeon had apparently not realized that the branch of Ribbon Creek behind the rifle ranges would be so deep. He marched the men through its wading depth parallel to the main channel.

Reverses Direction
Then he swung them, two abreast, around whiplike in a reversal of direction. The tail of the whip snapped on an oblique into deep water. The last of the six privates who were drowned were located at 3:20 p.m. Tuesday by a Marine frogman diver. The body was in the same hole—10 to 15 feet deep at high tide—in which the other five were found Monday.

Pate made clear in a news conference here Tuesday that night marches are made, but only as "scheduled things." This one was unscheduled and McKeon "positively did not have authority" to order it.

McKeon has been in the brig since early Monday morning. He is accompanied by a guard when he goes to the inquiry sessions.

Window Panes Broken In Blast
An explosion at the El Rancho Pit Bar-B-Cue, 203 W. McCullough, at 5:55 p.m. Tuesday resulted in window panes in three windows being blown out.

The explosion resulted when a new stove which had been installed was lighted in order to check it. A leak in the gas line, where it came through the floor, had allowed a large amount of gas to accumulate near the stove.

No damage was done other than to the windows.

In a report received this morning the firm stated that they were open for business, according to Fire Chief Ernest Winborne.

The only other fire answered by the local fire department yesterday was at 12:20 p.m. when a washing machine motor caught fire at 1225 E. Kingmill. Damaged was reported to have been limited to the motor. (See CRASH, Page 3)

Cancer Unit Slates Radio Marathon

Sheriff Rufe Jordan, chairman of the Gray County Cancer Crusade, announced today a radio marathon will be held Sunday afternoon over station KPDN beginning about 3:30.

Jordan stated that Mack Hiatt has been named to head the committee to enlist Pampans with talent to appear on the radiothon, and local merchants will donate items to be auctioned off, with all proceeds to go to the Crusade.

Names of persons to perform and names of merchants donating items will be announced later, Jordan said.

Sheriff Jordan is arranging for vehicles to pick up the donations and to deliver auctioned items. Paul Kelm, assistant Crusade chairman, will be on hand to keep track of donations and phones will be manned by Joe Tooley, Mrs. Jess Clay, Roy Boudinr, Mrs. George Hrdlicka and Dr. and Mrs. N. G. Kadingo. Bunny Shultz will assist with the master-of-ceremonies duties.

"This is the first time the Gray County cancer unit has held a radiothon," Jordan stated, and "we hope Pampans will listen to their radios Sunday and make their donations through the radio marathon."

Real Estate Board Hears Frank Fata

Frank Fata gave a detailed discussion of the different types of mortgage insurance, the advantages of each, and explained the different types of home loans available yesterday noon during the monthly meeting of the Pampa Real Estate Board.

Jim Arndt, president, presided over the session.

A brief report was given by Quentin Williams on the quarterly meeting of the directors of the Texas Real Estate Association, held last Friday and Saturday here.

A total of 14 members and guests were present for the meeting, including Ed Griffin, John B. White, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Mundy, Quentin Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Burt Lewler, Genevieve Henderson, Jay Flanagan, Bill Clements, Jesse Stroup and Roy Sparkman.

Anti-Milk
ITHACA, N.Y. — UP — Dr. R. F. Holland, head of Cornell University's department of dairy industry, reports that 82 per cent of all married men and 88 per cent of married women never drink milk "because they don't like the flavor."

Florida, Far West Plagued By Storms

By UNITED PRESS

Violent winds and rain hit Florida Tuesday night and snow, rain and dust storms plagued the Far West.

At least 15 persons were injured when strong winds with tornado velocity ripped through parts of Florida. Hundreds of trailers were knocked over and dozens of roofs were blown off in the West Hollywood and Diana areas.

An airline pilot reported a tornado south of Fort Pierce and another was reported at North Perry airport at Hollywood.

However, Miami weather bureau officials doubted the storms were "downdrafts" from thundersqualls that dumped as much as three inches of rain in parts of the state.

Police said they could not make any accurate estimate of the damage because of the confusing tangle of wrecked trailers and debris left in the wake of the storm.

Meanwhile, cooler temperatures moved into the Pacific Coast region early Wednesday following light rain and snow which fell Tuesday night. Oregon and California received light rain, while snow was reported in the mountains. Five inches of snow blanketed Lakeview, Ore. Tuesday night. Temperatures dropped as much as 23 degrees in the early morning hours.

Near-gale force winds churned sand and dust in the desert regions of California Tuesday night and moved into extreme western Arizona early Wednesday. The 40 to 50 mile an hour winds stirred up sand and dust and obscured vision of motorists in the area.

Rising temperatures warmed the Central Mountain and Plain States early Wednesday. Warmer weather also spread into the western and southern parts of the Midwest.

Light to moderate rains continued to fall in the middle Mississippi Valley area with a 24-hour total of 2.21 inches reported at Tupelo, Miss.

Texas Skies Are "Generally Fair"

By UNITED PRESS

Generally clear skies prevailed over Texas Wednesday.

Scattered high clouds hung over extreme South Texas and the Panhandle.

An overnight freeze was reported at Amarillo, which had a 29, and at Wichita Falls, Junction, and Lubbock, with 31.

In the general picture, low temperatures ranged in the 30s over North Central Texas and most of the western portions of the state.

The extreme south had temperatures in the 60s.

The state was unseasonably cold because of a cold front that blew in two days ago.

MOTHER BUYS AN AVERAGE of five dresses every year, but father only gets one-half of a suit annually, and it is the last item on the family budget.

THE STUDY, which included a survey of all phases of manufacturing and retailing, shows that women and children also get the bigger share of coats, shoes and hats.

When members of the family buy new coats, the head of the house ends up in last place, the survey shows. A woman buys one-half a coat each year; girls of the family get an average of two coats annually.

Father trails the family when it comes to acquiring new shoes, analysis of the study shows. Approximately five pairs of shoes are added to a woman's wardrobe every year; boys and girls each get about five new pairs, too. But father gets less than two pairs annually, the study uncovered.

IN THE HAT department, division of family purchases is equally uneven, according to the Made-to-Measure Guild survey. A wife gets three new hats every year, but her husband buys only one-half of a new hat every 21 months.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Singing herself "troubled," she writes: "I am 26 and in love with an unhappy married man. All that holds him to his wife is their two children.

Why don't you admit it? Don't you admit your right to self-satisfaction? If so, you must be "troubled" much of the time. We all want it. Even saints renounce the earthly kind only to make certain of the heavenly kind.

Indeed, in your situation it is dangerous to pretend you are disinterested in satisfying yourself. With your eyes closed to your own wish for it, you would not detect any wish for it in this other woman's husband.

The liberating truth that she sticks to it to satisfy some dependence, fear of criticism or other weakness in himself would remain hidden from you.

By this word, I do not mean the collection of "Do's and Don'ts" we inherit from Mommy and Daddy. By conscience, I mean just the kind of self-preserving insistence on truth that won't allow you to rest comfortably in romantic delusion about yourself and this man.

Supper Club Has Meet In Perryton

PERRYTON - (Special) - Mr. and Mrs. Alton Will, 901 S. Colgate, were hosts to their supper club recently.

BABY

Sheets should be closely woven with even, well-stitched hems. A good quality sheet will not yield sizing, a white, dust-like material, when one corner is crushed in the hand.

Labels on sheets should indicate "Torn size," thread count and sheet length. "Torn size" indicates that the sheet has been torn, not cut, which helps to insure straight hems and sides.

Thread count on a sheet should be balanced between warp and filling. Typical counts on good sheets are 72-68 or 94-86. To allow for shrinkage and tuck-in, sheets should be 108 inches long.

When you break a bottle, be sure you get those tiny glass splinters up off the floor. Use an ordinary piece of absorbent cotton, wet if you like. This will prevent cut knees and hands on toddlers.

Former Studio Messenger Girl Produces Highly-Praised Pic

By ALINE MOSBY
HOLLYWOOD — UP — A former film studio messenger girl has returned triumphantly to Hollywood as the movies' only female writer-producer-director-editor, with her second highly-praised film under her trim belt.

Only a few years ago Ruth Orkin was running through the halls of MGM studios to deliver mail and coffee to famed executives and movie-makers.

"But I could see," she smiled Monday while here on a visit from her New York home, "that it would take me years to get any place in such a big organization."

Ruth quit. She and her husband, Morris Engel, became still photographers in New York. But three years ago Engel designed his own portable movie camera and they scored a sensation by making a film themselves, "The Little Fugitive." This year the husband-wife team is drawing raves from the critics again for their second home-made effort, "Lovers and Lollipops."

Shot in New York like their first picture, the photographers' second full-length film was shot entirely in New York, with the big city as their set.

"We couldn't make these films without my husband's small movie camera," she explained. "That way we can shoot in Macy's without anybody knowing it. And, as magazine photographers, we learned how to be inconspicuous."

Some 15 persons invested in the Engels' first picture, and two people are backing "Lovers and Lollipops." The budget for the do-it-yourself movie is a secret, as it is so low "it would be embarrassing" to reveal it. Ruth and her husband took last summer to photograph their scenes around the Statue of Liberty and other landmarks.

"And when one of our three actors wanted to investigate another job, we just knocked off work," the young, attractive brunette smiled. "We are very flexible."

Borrowed a Child
"The Little Fugitive" featured a small boy, and "Lovers and Lollipops" also stars a child, borrowed from the Engels' neighbor. The couple gave the nine-year-old girl presents during the shooting to keep her interested.

Ruth was not only the co-writer, co-director and co-producer with

Police said they had tipped there might be trouble at the Municipal Auditorium where Cole was scheduled to appear before a packed audience of 3,000 white people.

They moved in fast when the three white men moved down the aisle of the darkened auditorium while Cole was on stage singing.

Officer Robert N. Higginbotham said he saw two men crawling up on the stage. He heard one of them say "drag the — off the stage."

He told the United Press he grabbed one of the white men and saw he was holding a coke bottle. "He hit me in the nose with it," he said. The officer received a broken nose from the blow.

Immediately about 15 other policemen rushed onto the stage to protect Cole and break up the fighting.

Cole was forced backward and fell against a piano, injuring his back.

Theater Group Plans To Select Play Director
Directors of Pampa Little Theater will select the director for the first major production of the group tomorrow night at 7:30 in the Chamber of Commerce conference room.

They will also discuss possible shows for the first production and make recommendations to the selection committee. About four directors of the workshop productions will be selected for the next two months.

A constitution and set of laws will be considered by directors for recommendation to the group.

CRASH
mountains at the time of the crash.

Papers Cause Confusion
There was confusion at first as to the actual identity of the victims, when papers of two other West Texas men were found scattered in the wreckage.

Carl Maxey of Lubbock owned the crashed plane, and he was thought to have been one of the victims when some of his papers were found in the wreckage. However, he was found safe in Lubbock.

H. V. Tull, president of an Amarillo machinery company, also was believed to have been on the plane. However, he was found in Amarillo and said he had given Chase—the co-pilot and a former employee of his—some of his credit cards to use on the trip.

Papers found at the crash scene showed the six men had authorization for a five-day fishing trip in Mexico. A map on which Ciudad Del Carmen, Mex., was marked indicated that the fishing party was headed there.

Mexican officials brought the mangled bodies of the six men to Jalapa. They later were to be sent to Mexico City for shipment to their home towns.

The five men aboard the second plane were identified as Willard Turner, the pilot from Lubbock; L. T. Foster, a contractor; Don Fortwood, L. T. McKinley, and R. D. McDonald, all of Lubbock.

McDonald is a cotton compress owner and owns the second plane.

Employees of Schafer "A" and "B" plants were presented with safety awards for no lost time due to accidents last night during a Cabot Co. dinner held in the Country Club.
A total of 54 employees received awards in the form of individual safety plaques. Safety award winners totaled 35 10-year employees and 19 five year employees, who had a perfect safety record for that period of time.

The "A" plant has a long safety record, having lost no time over the past 10 years, and the "B" plant has over four years of no lost time on the job.

Employees of Cabot engineering department, the oil and gas department, the research and development department, and the Cabot Shops Inc., will be presented with individual safety plaques today at 4:30 p.m. in the Country Club.

Presenting awards will be Don Conley, safety insurance director, and Charlie Wooley, general production superintendent of carbon black. W. L. Loving, vice-president and manager of the carbon black department, will be the featured speaker for both dinners.

Science Has Turned Up A New Way To Improve Memory
By DELOS SMITH
NEW YORK — UP — Scientific tests of human memory have turned up a new way to improve your memory both positively and negatively.

It is to believe and like the things you want to remember and to disbelieve and dislike the things you want to forget.

Believing and liking "reinforce" one another when it comes to remembering, and it works in reverse. Disbelieving and disliking when they go together, foul up the memory.

What is new in these findings of Dr. Robert B. Garber, New York psychologist, are the memory effects that believing and liking and disbelieving and disliking have upon one another.

In one of his series of tests, he confirmed what everyone knows—that believing in something increases the chances that you'll remember it. On the other hand, not believing doesn't influence memory one way or the other.

But the results of his tests with liking and disliking may come to most people as a surprise. Evidently liking something doesn't greatly increase the chances of remembering. He couldn't be sure that disliking increased the chances of forgetting—his results were only in that "direction."

Draft Women Next?

One of the familiar techniques of modern, collectivist government is sending up what are called "trial balloons" to get a check on how public opinion is likely to go in the event of this proposal or that.

See if this doesn't sound like a trial balloon to you — from a source that has considerable weight in political Washington as "an influence on the influencers."

Here's the latest trial balloon from Fischer: "Young women college graduates should be drafted to teach school for two years in order to meet the desperate teacher shortage."

This is the opening paragraph of a news release prepared by Harper's, so we may assume that it is an accurate reflection of Fischer's views.

Fischer then says that "we are falling far behind the Russians in the production of scientists, linguists and mathematicians — a failure which could easily prove just as dangerous as a lag in turning out jet bombers or guided missiles."

Fischer plans that women college graduates should be drafted for a six-months course in basic training for teaching plus 18 months service in the schools.

By R. C. HOLES The Rights Of Property — A Refutation of Communism And Socialism XXVIII

In Adolph Thiers' book, "A Refutation of Communism and Socialism," he sets forth the various schemes that believers in degrees of Socialism and Communism advocate to improve the lot of mankind.

He has a chapter on what he calls "Reciprocity." He relates how a man who opposes the other forms of Socialism has another scheme that he believes is equally objectionable from a practical standpoint.

This scheme that we now are operating under for the last twenty-three years of depriving individuals of owning gold, is about what this party proposed.

This new paper would be established on the following plan. A large bank of exchange would be created, having as a security the entire produce of the country and which with such a security will undoubtedly be safe enough.

It may also have the same disastrous effect on the Democrats' chances in the November election, offsetting the GOP's admitted legislative and political blunders on Capitol Hill.

Lurking in the anti-Stevenson background is Governor G. Mennen Williams of Michigan. He long ago aligned himself with Truman and Harriman in deprecatingly openly Stevenson's council of "moderation" and of middle-of-the-road philosophy not different in its broad outlines from that pursued by President Eisenhower.

It is certain, however, that if any of the Truman entries are nominated, meaning Harriman or Williams, the Democrats cannot rely upon the South's historic but recently shaky loyalty.

The alternative to a clear-cut Truman triumph at the convention will be the nomination of one of the numerous dark horses now running deep in the political mud.

Truman Masterminding 'Stop Stevenson' Move

WASHINGTON — The carefully planned and fully developed "Stop Stevenson" movement, which is headed and masterminded by Harry S. Truman threatens to turn the Democratic convention into the most riotous rout since the tragic McAdoo-Smith battle in Madison Square Garden in 1924.

In short, not since Northern Wet and Southern Dry, led by Al Smith and the late Williams Jennings Bryan, respectively, collided in 1924 has peace raged so fiercely among the Democrats.

Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri, former Secretary of the Air Force, assumes a less dark hue every moment as a possible compromise. But the likable Symington is not too well known, and his principal issue is the rather technical and unemotional problem of national defense.

Governor Frank J. Lausche of Ohio has been an amazing vote-getter in state contests. But labor has always opposed him, and is even more virulent against him since his disclosure, that he voted for the late Senator Taft.

I am afraid I spoke too much too soon when I wrote a composition not long ago about William Zeckendorf's troubles in connection with two ambitious hutments in the midtown region of New York.

Mr. Ze's is a scion of Arizona pioneers, one of whom yelled "giddap" to a span of hard-tails hitched to a wagon under a pepper tree down by the old Manning place in Snob Hollow, now occupied by the Tucson Elks.

The fourth guest of honor had been duly convicted of gross impropriety contrary to the general code of the time and place.

What with one thing and another, the people of the old pueblo got plumb fed up so when Mr. Zeckendorf held up his hand and asked for their pleasure they gave him their civic mandate with unanimity.

Pickford Party Captures Adult Memories

If you are my age or thereabouts and want to recapture your childhood and adolescence, then read the guest list of the party Mary Pickford gave for the movie stars of yesterday.

I must have been eight when I started going to the movies seriously. That would be in Brandon (then Bradenton), Fla., and the movie theatre was just across the street from our house.

Three of them stand out in my memory like lighthouses on a cliff. They were "Neal of the Navy," "The Iron Claw," and "The Man in the Laughing Mask." Much better, to my way of thinking, than the much more celebrated adventures of Pearl White or Ruth Roland.

Pampans Pick Up Third Win In I-AA District Play

Pampa's Harvester baseballers rapped the Borger Bulldogs, 8-4, in their third meeting of the season yesterday in Borger's Huber Park. The victory was the third for the green and golds and the seventh of the season.

The Green and Golds lead the district with three wins while the Borgans have one win and one loss. The Palo Duro Dons, who were rated second in the district, fell to the Lubbock Westerners, 9-7, in their first outing yesterday. Amarillo's Sandies will be favored in their tilt with Plainview today.

The Green and Golds pushed in two runs in the first frame and a pair in the third but the Bulldogs tied the game up with a single in the first and three in the third.

Borger was the big gun in the first frame as he drove in Gary Herr and Cecil Reynolds for the Harvester first two runs. He doubled off the center field fence.

The Pampans allowed only one run in the first frame but the Bulldogs pushed three across in the third to tie the game at 4-4. Coach Deck Woldt's charges then scored one in the fourth and two more in the fifth to take the lead, never to be headed.

Borger was unable to score again after the game was tied in the third frame.

Cecil Reynolds got credit for his third win of the season, two of which have been district contests. Don Locke, who downed the Green and Golds, 4-3, in nine innings, earlier was charged with the loss.

Pampa will be in Lubbock Friday to meet the Monterey Plains-

Ken Misunderstood But Not Misquoted

SAN FRANCISCO—UP—Ken Venturi, the hottest amateur golfer in the country right now, said Wednesday he had "no intention of blasting Masters tournament officials," after his return from Augusta.

"I think they have the best-run golf tournament in the world," said Venturi, "so why should I knock it?"

But Ken, who led the tourney for three and one-half rounds, before Jackie Burke pulled up to edge him by one stroke, had to admit that he was not misquoted. "I would say I was misunderstood," he said. "I said some things to friends of mine that were heard by the reporters. I didn't intend them as a knock at the way the tournament was run."

Among the quotes attributed to Venturi were ones in which he said "I would have won by five strokes if I had been paired with Byron Nelson," and "Watch out for this amateur when I meet the professionals again in the National Open."

"It was my friend Ed Lowery who made the statement about winning by five strokes," said Venturi, "and you'll have to admit that he may be a bit prejudiced."

"And I don't ever recall saying to 'Look out for this amateur' when I went to the Open."

Venturi said he hoped to go to the 1956 Open, all right, and he hoped to win it—and that he was going to get in tip-top condition for the effort.

"I was invited to the Masters as their guest and I'm mighty proud to have been invited," he said. "So I feel terrible about all this publicity."

Little, Pony League Meel Set Tuesday

Johnny Campbell, boys work chairman of the Pampa Optimist Club, announced today that plans have been completed for the spring meeting of the Pampa Little and Pony League. The meeting is set for 7 p.m. at the auditorium of Sam Houston Elementary school.

The boys, whether they played last year or not, are asked to be on hand Tuesday, April 17, for the registration. All boys must register in order to be eligible to participate in this year's program.

A short program is scheduled to familiarize the boys and parents with the program. The parents should be familiar with the program before they consent for their sons to participate.

All boys between the ages of 8 and 14 are urged to attend Tuesday.

Younger boys, who hope to participate next season, are also invited.

Tryouts are scheduled for the following day, April 18, and boys who intend to play must participate in at least 80 percent of the tryouts according to W. A. Gipson, tryout director.

Dodgers Consider Adding Youth To Pitching Staff

WASHINGTON—UP—Don Drysdale, the 19-year-old sensation camp, may be added to the world champions' roster in the next few days.

Manager Walt Alton said Tuesday he was "thinking" about promoting the six-foot, five-inch side-arm right-hander, who yielded nine runs and 21 hits in 24 grapefruit league innings.

The Dodgers are scheduled Wednesday to play the Washington Senators, who scored a 9-4 victory Tuesday to wind up their spring series with the Cincinnati Redlegs. The eight-game set wound up 4-4.

Youth Looks Good

General Manager Gabe Paul said Wednesday the Cincinnati Redlegs acquired Frank Smith on waivers because they do not believe the pitcher has a sore arm.

"Smith says his arm is not sore; we believe him and are willing to take a chance on him," Paul said after claiming the 28-year-old right-hander from the St. Louis Cardinals.

Smith, a star relief pitcher with the Redlegs from 1950 through 1954, was traded to the Cardinals, Dec. 9, 1954, for third baseman Ray Jablonski and pitcher Jerry Staley. He had a 3-1 record and appeared in 28 games for the Cardinals last season.

The Redlegs play Wednesday against the New York Yankees, 6-3 victors over Dallas Tuesday in their only game of the spring against minor leaguers.

A's Like Rookie

TULSA—UP—The Kansas City Athletics were confident Wednesday they have come up with important pitching help in rookie right-hander Troy Herriage.

Herriage, a 26-year-old native of Oklahoma who had a 15-7 record with Montgomery, Ala., last year, yielded only two runs in seven innings Tuesday as the Athletics beat the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-2. Bobby Shantz, who replaced Herriage in the eighth inning, received credit for the win when Joe Ginsberg hit a two-run homer in the ninth.

Vic Power and Joe DeMaestri had three hits each for the Athletics while Dale Long drove in both Pittsburgh runs with two hits. The teams continue their spring series Wednesday.

Rigney Displeased

LOUISVILLE—UP—Manager Bill Rigney admitted Wednesday he has yet to solve this third-base problem with the New York Giants' opening date less than a week distant.

Rigney said he was displeased with the form of both Foster Cagleman, who is reluctant to play all-out because of the doubtful condition of his knees, and Hank Thompson, who seems unable to recapture his fine form of 1954.

Coast Golf Champ Leads Greater Greensboro Open

GREENSBORO, N.C.—UP—Ernest Arend, the 1965 Atlantic Coast Conference golf champ from Virginia, basked in sudden popularity Wednesday following his sub-par round to lead amateur qualification for the greater Greensboro Open.

The Deal, N.J., amateur nicked one stroke off par on the Starmount County Club's first nine and came home in regulation for a one-under-par 70. Arend was the lone amateur in the St. Petersburg, Fla., Open.

Jack Rosemond, Martinsville, Va., fired an even par 71 over the long, twisting course to place second. The Virginian banged in a 238-yard four wood shot on the par three eighth for a hole in one.

Thirty amateurs qualified for the tourney with the pairing off mark set at 78.

Defending champ Sam Snead waltzed around the course with a five-under-par 68. The slammer has won the tourney five times.

Doug Ford, Kiamesha Lake, N.Y., probably spurred Snead into the sub par effort by throwing an

Mustangs Face Ex-Hurler In Charity Contest

The Southern Methodist baseball team will find out what it is like to be on the receiving end of pitches from ex-Mustang Tommy Bowers Wednesday night in a charity contest with the Dallas Eagles of the Texas League.

Bowers, who was the top hurler for SMU last year, was signed to a Dallas contract after graduation and will pitch for the Eagles against his former mates in a game for the benefit of the Park Cities Lions Club.

Rice plays Texas Lutheran at Seguin Wednesday in the only other game involving a conference club. The Owls didn't fare too well in Houston Tuesday, losing one of two practice games involving SWC teams to Sam Houston State College 12-9.

The Amerillo Gold Sox of the Class A Western League beat the University of Texas Longhorns 12-10 in the other exhibition game. The Gold Sox rallied for five runs in the ninth inning to beat the college club on the strength of four home runs.

Tonight's Card To Include Top Stars Of Area

There's an old saying that if you can't beat 'em, join 'em. That may be true, but it's not the case for tonight's wrestling card at the Top of Texas Sportsman's Club.

There's also another axiom that there's safety in numbers. And that may be more the case tonight.

For teaming together in the main event, a six-man tag-team match, are Dory Funk, Bob Geigel and Dizzy Davis. The latter is not normally loved by Funk and Geigel, but due to the composition of the other team, the three are banding together to try and pull in the scraps of Tokio Joe, The Golden Terror, and his masked manager, Marc Anthony. The main event is two out of three falls, or one hour.

The semifinals event promises to be a lulu, also. Dangerous Danny McShain, former world titleholder, runs into a very promising newcomer in Sonny Meyers. Meyers, who hasn't been in the area very long, has been cleaning up on everyone he has met, including a previous meeting with McShain last week in Borger. That battle resulted in a bloody riot over there, and promises to bring the same results here tonight.

In addition, there will be two other warm-up bouts between members of the six-man tag match, with the first bout starting at eight o'clock.

This will definitely be the last Wednesday card of wrestling for Pampa, with the program switching to Monday, starting next week.

TEEN TOPICS

By HELEN STEWARD

"What a mess," was all anyone had to say when they walked in a dust-covered PHS on Monday morning. Everything from the cafeteria to the library was covered with a film of brown. Most first period classes were turned into cleaning brigades; students manded the dust clothes and made a place for themselves and their books.

The whole thing brought back memories of the storm we had two years ago when the lights went out and students carried candles with them in the halls to see where they were going.

The dust settled in on everything, and ladies, if you think you had a bad time cleaning your house yesterday, consider the job the custodians at PHS had with four floors of classrooms and desks to de-dust.

Amid all the dust, students found a place to hold a homeroom meeting yesterday and fill in the questionnaires on student employment. The outcome of the survey should be known soon.

Also, at the homeroom meeting, students donated money to Junior Red-Cross. The money is to be sent to tornado stricken areas.

Malcolm Brown was one surprised by last Thursday night when he found out that he had been selected honorary Councilman of the Month. Student Council voted to delegate this honor to him.

Malcolm is currently in charge of prouding the talent show that will be a benefit for the Youth Center fund.

The Quill and Scroll Society, a national honor club for journalists, held its semi-annual initiation on Thursday. Darrell Raines was initiated.

Three annual spring affairs are being planned by social clubs for the very near future. The Kit Kats and Seven-Eleven members will frolic on April 14 at Poole's Drive Inn at their Bowersy Ball. This affair is held in honor of the Kit Kat Klub's birthday.

Then, on April 28, after the Junior-Senior Banquet, Las Cressa Club will hold a dance.

Pampa trackmen came home with their share of the victories from the District Interscholastic Track and Field Meet last Saturday. Four first places were won.

Ed Strickland won the shot put contest and Dick Barrett came in first in the two hurdles.

Ed Strickland finished behind Dick in the low hurdles to take second place. He also won second place in broad jump. Another second place went to Earl Cooper in the discus throw and another to Dickie Mauldin in the 400 yard dash.

A good number of these boys will be representing Pampa in the regional contests in Lubbock soon.

This week end the district literary and dramatic contests will be held. Pampa will enter the one act play contest with "Ice Bound." Melvin Romine and Lu Koch play the leading roles. Other cast members are Dixie Sue Rhoades, Nick-Lewter, Lucy Jo Neely, Lynn Followell, Donald Darling, Ed EhrIDGE and Myrna Montgomery. The crew consists of Roger McWaters, Luther Norman, Carol Henry and Rose Smith.

Entering in the poetry reading contests are Rose Smith, Lucy Jo Neely, Ed EhrIDGE and Tommy Strawn. Jimmy Waggoner, Roger McWaters, Joan Robertson and Sheila Chisholm will enter extemporaneous speaking contests.

Four debate teams, under Mr. Marsh's coaching, will compete in the district contests.

Last week in Student Council, Mr. Marsh asked homeroom presidents to talk to students about mis-parking their cars in the parking lot behind the building. It seems that some high school students don't have enough gumption to know what those yellow lines on the curb are for. They mean, careless people, "No Parking." They are put there so the delivery trucks will have a place to unload for the cafeteria.

When some "Goof-off" parks there or double parks it makes for much confusion. Mr. Marsh says that something has to be done about the problem unless students can learn to respect the rules.

Seniors could be seen almost everywhere with little '56 pins on their collars last week. The little pins are gifts from Kennedy Jewelry Store, and they are very smart.

Another gift received by seniors recently were the little cedar chests from Texas Furniture Company.

The seniors would like to say "Thanks" to these and other merchants who offer their congratulations in this way.

Six weeks exams started today. The main item of interest tonight and tomorrow night will be that dear old Latin or English or algebra book.

It was so nice to see Mrs. Davenport Rice back home for a visit. Mrs. Rice is known to most of our Teen Topics readers as Marlene Kolb, the girl who wrote this column last year.

It has been said that he who laughs last laughs longest, but he usually shuts up pretty quick when he finds out that he is the only one still laughing.

Paul George in Wheeler Race

SHAMROCK --(Special)-- The announcement of Paul George of his candidacy for Sheriff of Wheeler County, subject to the action of voters in his Democratic primaries—adds another contested race to the ballot.

The incumbent, Bus Dorman, had already stated his intention to run for re-election.

George of Shamrock has resided in the county for the past 30 years. Most of that time he has worked in oil production in the Magic City and Kellerville area. He is 42 years old and married to the former Dorothy Jo Clark of Shamrock. They have two children, Joe Matt, 10 years old, and Karla Jane, 7.

Dorman, a native of Wheeler County, announced his candidacy early in January.

Dresses Get Actress' Attention

By WILLIAM EWALD
NEW YORK -- UP -- Julia Meade, a strawberry blonde who walks commercials, confessed Tuesday that she spends more time on her TV dresses than her TV addresses.

A rather delectable alumna of Boston, the Yale drama school and a stone-age TV offering called "Okay Mother," Miss Meade has found a lucrative niche as a saleslady on the Ed Sullivan show and "Your Hit Parade."

She sells autos and home permanents with crisp elegance, but likes to point out that making, but the words is only part of her job. What meets the eye, she explained, is as important as what meets the ear.

"TV is a very strange business sometimes, I think," said the delicious Miss Meade with a delicious shrug. "Some people watch programs to enjoy themselves, but there are others who watch just to pick out flaws."

"You know, there are some people who love to write in to a program and say—'How dare she wear a dress like that into my home.' Luckily, I've never had any trouble like that, but on a family show you have to be pretty careful."

Careful, Miss Meade is. But even more than that, she is painstaking in her attention to dress.

"You'll notice that when I do my commercials, I almost always wear a dress with sleeves," she pointed out. "That's not only because I think I look better that way but because many times they only shoot me from the waist up. A dress of that type fills up the picture more and gives the viewers more dress to look at."

"I never wear low cut dresses because I don't think I look too good in them. And I choose solid colors, not prints and try to hold down the jewelry."

Right now, said Miss Meade, she figures she owns "about 50 or so" cocktail dresses. She spaces them on her commercials. She never repeats one until at least three months has gone by. About 30 per cent of the dresses she uses are lent to her; the rest she shells out for herself.

Netherlands Sends Thanks
HOBOKEN, N. J. -- UP--The Netherlands government sent a token of thanks to the United States Monday for the flood aid it gave to the Dutch three years ago. The Holland-America Liner Noordam docked here with 9,600 young trees and a large number of shrubs to help beautify the six northeastern states ravaged by floods last year.

Thompson To Head Wheeler Cancer Drive

SHAMROCK --(Special)-- Fred Thompson will serve as president of the Wheeler County Unit of the American Cancer Society with Glem Richerson as Crusade Chairman. The month-long educational and fund raising crusade of the Wheeler County Unit is now underway. Its goal is to contact every person in the county with life-saving facts about cancer and to raise money for research, education and service to patients.

Thompson, manager of Cicero Smith Lumber Company in Shamrock, has announced the following appointments: Jack Stone, vice president; Lyman G. Benson, treasurer; Dr. D. E. Blacketter, medical advisor; Glem Richerson, crusade chairman; Marvin Tindall, memorial contributions representative; Harry Frye, public education committee chairman; Mrs. John Cutlers, women's organizations representative and schools representative; William L. Howe, publicity committee chairman, and Mrs. Doris Ritter service committee chairman.

Thompson said, "During the month, every adult resident in the county will be asked to strike a double blow at cancer -- with a checkup and a check. A medical examination is the greatest safeguard against the disease and funds are necessary to support the research, educational and service programs of the society."

Flash Fire Near Seawolf
GROTON, Conn. -- UP-- A flash fire broke out Monday night near the world's second atomic submarine, the 538 million Seawolf, but the history-making craft was not damaged. The General Dynamics Corp., builder of the hull which is in wet dock, said the blaze was confined to an electric pump used for testing operations at a pier where the craft is being outfitted.

Shamrock Sets Pep Rally For CoC

SHAMROCK --(Special)-- A Pep Rally has been called by the Shamrock Chamber of Commerce for 8 p.m. tomorrow in the National Guard Armory.

Gerald Mayfield, president of the Chamber, announced, "This program is the opening gun of an intensive campaign to try and bring industry to Shamrock and revitalize our community."

The guest speaker will be Jack Stamper, editor and publisher of The Hugo (Okla.) Daily News, who will tell how his town of 6,000 people dug down in its pockets and came up with a $210,000-globe factory.

The 37-year-old former Texas editor will describe one of the most amazing examples of inter-community cooperation ever demonstrated in America, a dramatic story that unfolds against a background of sheer desperation, the kind of desperation that is demonstrated when a man, or a town, fights for its life.

The Hugo newspaperman is booked to tell his home town's story at the annual convention of the Panhandle Press Association in Amarillo Saturday and was persuaded by Shamrock friends to drive to Shamrock and make the talk Thursday night.

Hugo, like Shamrock, had watched the growing concern as small farms were consolidated into large ones, forcing out the small tenant, and as high school graduates were forced to move elsewhere to seek employment," said Mayfield. "Between 1940 and 1950 Stamper said they witnessed an alarming population decline of 28 percent in Choctaw County.

The combination of newspaper, radio station and a small group of businessmen started the fire that woke up the community and turned the tide.

This meeting is for the public people who work for wages, housewives, farmers, and professional people as well as business men and members of the Chamber of Commerce, the president emphasized. Everybody is welcome.
