Sports Reporter Is Charged In Theft

Wanted To Go

HOUSTON — UP — A sports reporter accused of stealing more than $3,000 at gunpoint in order to break a big news story and get a job "up north" faced a charge of armed robbery Friday.

The charge was brought against Dan Cook, 31, of the San Antonio Express, Houston Police Chief Jack Heard said Cook and a companion, a deputy sheriff from San Antonio, had admitted kidnapping a car salesman and stealing the money.

Armed robbery charges were also filed against the deputy sheriff, Jimmy Parks, 31. Parks manages prize fighters on the side and once managed Bobby Dykes, a prominent welterweight.

Kidnap Charges Filed

Parks and Cook were charged with kidnapping Edwin R. Hamlett, 34, of Houston Thursday and making him take them to his boss, Jimmy Hicks, 32. They are also accused of robbing Hicks.

Heard said Cook told him he wanted to get a big story and perhaps get a job "up north" on a "big town paper."

According to Heard, Parks said he had known Cook a long time. Parks said Cook called him a few days ago in San Antonio and told him he knew about a big robbery — "bigger than the Brinks case in Boston."

Cook was said to have told Parks the robbery took place in Houston but was never reported. He was also supposed to have said a man named "Hamlett" had the money.

Hamlett Says He Threatened

Hamlett said the two men from San Antonio pounded at his door, shouted "We're police" and brandished a gun at him when he let them in. He said they threatened to kill him if he didn't show them where his money was.

He said he gave them $1,300. At their insistence he said, he took them to Hicks' home, where they were charged with taking more money.

Heard said that Parks told him "he decided to come to Houston with Cook, find Hamlett and arrest him and force him to reveal where the money was hidden. Cook apparently thought that would give him a big name as a newspaperman and he could get a good job up north."

It's About Time!

HOPESTON, Ill. — UP — Two letters mailed by Earl Benner of Hoopston in 1916 and 1919 were "returned to sender" Thursday.

Benner wrote the letters home when he served with the Allied North Expeditionary Force in Russia. The yellow-marked letter came back in a white envelope postmarked Washington, D. C. with no explanation for "the slight delay."

Capitol Hill Roundup

WASHINGTON — UP — The House Friday appeared certain to pass the $51.5 billion highway program by nightfall.

Speaker Sam Rayburn called the House into session at mid-morning to wind up debate.

Both Democratic and Republican leaders pressed for approval. No major controversies stood in the way of quick action.

The heart of the 13-year program is construction of a 40,000-mile network of highways connecting most state capitals. The federal government would pay $27.5 billion of the total cost. The states would pay the rest.

The federal government and the states would split evenly the cost of a $22.4 billion program for building state highways.

The bill calls for tax increases in gas, tires, trucks, buses and trailers to help finance the entire program.

Other developments:

FARM

House Democrats came up with a new farm bill containing much of what President Eisenhower wants and a few provisions he opposes. The new bill — including the administration-backed $1.2 billion soil bank — was the most conciliatory proposal advanced by the Democrats during 11 days of maneuvering since Mr. Eisenhower vetoed the catch-all farm bill.

SPIES

The Senate Internal Security Subcommittee summoned David Greenglass, convicted atomic spy now serving a 15-year espionage sentence. The subcommittee wanted to hear his testimony that helped send his sister and brother-in-law — Julius and Ethel Rosenberg — to the electric chair.

AIR POWER

Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, boss of the Strategic Air Command, went before a special Senate Armed Services subcommittee to outline SAC personnel problems. He told reporters his main problem is getting men, not planes.

MEDICAL CARE

The Senate Armed Services committee approved legislation to establish a federally supported medical insurance program for military dependents.

Red Leaders Would Better U.S. Relations

Soviets Call Situation Far From Sufficiently Normal

By HENRY SHAPIRO

LONDON — UP — The Soviet leaders called on Britain Friday to help ease Russia's relations with the United States and hinted they would halt arms shipments to the Middle East.

Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin told a jammed news conference Prime Minister Anthony Eden had accepted an invitation to visit Moscow and said the visit would be of the "utmost importance to Soviet and British relations."

Bulganin and Soviet Communist Leader Nikita S. Khrushchev left London for Portsmouth at end of their press conference to board a Soviet cruiser for home and end their ten-day visit to Britain.

Five Points Driven Home

They made five major points in an 80-minute news conference in which Bulganin did almost all of the talking:

1. Eden has accepted an invitation to visit Moscow but the date has not been set because of the press of his official duties.
2. The Soviet Union is shifting its position on disarmament from its current policy of discussing only conventional arms cuts. Now it is willing to discuss conventional and nuclear arms cuts simultaneously.
3. Khrushchev said Russia is ready to enter an undertaking to stop arms shipments to the Middle East if an agreement can be reached through the United Nations "or otherwise."
4. Bulganin called on Britain to help the Russians improve relations with the United States and said they regretted the Soviet-American relations were "far from sufficiently normal."
5. Bulganin said the time has come to throw out the West's strategic arms embargo because "it is a product of the cold war" and invited British businessmen to "find practical and delicate ways to back out of the American-backed embargo."

They Visit Navy Station

After the news conference the Russians sped to Victoria station where they boarded their special train for the British naval base of Portsmouth. Eden and Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd saw them off.

During the question period that followed Bulganin's statement the Russians were asked if they would like to visit the United States.

Khrushchev looked at the grinning Bulganin pointing a thumb his way and said, "The United States is a very interesting country."

He Draws Laughs

He drew laughs with that remark and continued, "and who would not like to visit it if he has business there? Our people have a great desire to visit the United States but unfortunately there have been cases when even people who have been invited there have not been granted permits to do that night."

Scientist's Son Is Missing

WATERVILLE, Maine — UP — Police scoured the densely wooded Colby College campus Friday for the 19-year-old son of a German nuclear physicist — missing — since midnight Tuesday.

Jobst M. Wundt of Winchester, Mass., a freshman at Colby, was reported last seen by a roommate. His disappearance was disclosed late Thursday night by college officials.

The youth's father, Rolf M. Wundt, came to the United States eight years ago from Germany.

Police Recalled to Duty

The investigation was headed by Waterville Police Capt. Albert W. Droft, who called all available patrolmen to duty. Student search parties were expected to join police in the hunt.

Dean of men George Nickerson said "something has been bothering" Wundt lately. He attributed the freshman's disappearance to either "personal reasons" or an "accident."

The student's father is working on nuclear experiments at Massachu. (See SCIENTISTS, Page 8)

Shivers, Lyndon Johnson In Barbed Word Exchange

By UNITED PRESS

Gov. Allan Shivers and Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson stood 1,300 miles apart and traded barbed words Friday in their battle for control of the Texas Democratic party.

Shivers accused Johnson of "failing to take a stand" on the question of interposition and on other "vital issues of the day."

In Washington, Johnson charged Shivers was making "frantic statements" in the governor's whistle-stop speaking campaign which Friday night takes Shivers to Dallas.

Shivers Accused Johnson of

"failing to take a stand" on the question of interposition and on other "vital issues of the day."

In Washington, Johnson charged Shivers was making "frantic statements" in the governor's whistle-stop speaking campaign which Friday night takes Shivers to Dallas.

This Also Happened

1. Judge James R. Novell of San Antonio paid his $375 filing fee as a Democratic nominee for the Texas Supreme Court.
2. Gubernatorial candidate Ralph Yarborough called for higher salaries for Texas legislators to prevent lobbyists "from being boss."
3. Reuben Benarick, also running for governor, planned a state-wide broadcast Friday afternoon on "The Issues in the Forthcoming Precinct Conventions."
4. The machine of South Texas political boss George Parr, which has pledged its support to Johnson, faced local opposition in Duval county from a coalition state of Parr's foes.
5. E. H. Perry, an Austin financier and co-chairman of the Lyndon Johnson for President Committee, predicted that Johnson might "easily" become the Democratic party's presidential nominee in the event of a national convention deadlock.
6. Gerald C. Mann, former state attorney general, came out in support of Johnson.

Shivers Racks Rayburn

Shivers, who Thursday spoke in Kerrville, charged that House Speaker Sam Rayburn, a Johnson backer, "wants to move all the power to Washington and take it away from the people."

Shivers also said that the cause of interposition and states' rights "would be strengthened immeasurably" if Johnson and Rayburn could be made "to take a stand on this issue."

In Washington, Johnson refused to answer Shivers' earlier charge that Johnson could not actually serve as both head of the Texas convention delegation and as a favorite son candidate for president.

Statements Called Frantic

Johnson said he did not "want to dignify these frantic statements" with a reply.

Johnson contended that Shivers has become "very punitive, inconsistent and desperate" in the fight over delegation control.

Both Shivers and Johnson have volunteered to head the Texas delegation to the Democratic national parley in Chicago. The showdown in their fight will come at the state convention in Dallas May 22.

Two Killed In Blast

PULASKI, Va. — UP — A terrific explosion demolished a three-story apartment house here Friday. At least two persons were killed and 12 others who were in the building were missing.

The building was blown into twisted timbers and rubble but the blast, touched off when W. J. Mahaffey, the operator of a restaurant on the ground floor, tried to light a gas hot water heater.

It happened at 4:30 a.m. and while most of the occupants of the building were sleeping.

Some of the tenants were in a transient center operated by the Salvation Army on the first floor. Six persons were hospitalized.

Scout Head Resigns

Phil Pegues, district scout executive of the Adobe Walls Council for the past five and one-half years, has accepted a promotion as field director of the South Plains Council with headquarters in Lubbock, effective July 1.

Pegues' resignation was accepted by the executive board of the Adobe Walls Council last night during a session in Borger.

Dick Rust, council president, expressed regret at accepting the resignation, but said that he is always glad to see a Boy Scout executive advance in the ranks.

His new position will entail supervision and assistance of all district and field executives. In addition, Pegues will be responsible for promotion of the council program throughout seven districts.

He and his family moved to Pampa from the Longhorn Council in Fort Worth, where he entered Scouting as a professional man about eight and one-half years ago. Pegues accepted his present position in 1951.

149 Vote On Wet-Dry Issue

A total of 149 votes have been cast in absentia on the local provision election, and an additional 23 ballots have been requested by mail, according to County Clerk Charlie Thut.

Absentee voting will continue through May 1.

An unusually large number of absentee votes have been cast so far, Thut said.

Hiss Talks To Students

By CLAIRE COX

PRINCETON, N. J. — UP — Convicted perjurer Alger Hiss addressed a group of Princeton University students on foreign policy Thursday night in an atmosphere of classroom calm.

Hiss' appearance on the campus was an orderly event in contrast to the controversy which arose when he was invited to Princeton by the American Whig-Closely Society, an undergraduate debating group.

It was Hiss' first public appearance since he was released from a federal prison at Lewisburg, Pa., in November, 1954, where he served three years and eight months of a five-year term for perjury.

Hiss was convicted in 1950 of charges he lied when he said he never stole government secrets for a Communist spy ring or gave them to former espionage courier Whittaker Chambers. He went to prison in 1951.

The invitation to speak at Princeton was disclosed April 6, and protests immediately began to pour in.

The former State Department aide's arrival was met with silence, his speech received polite applause and he left by a rear door.

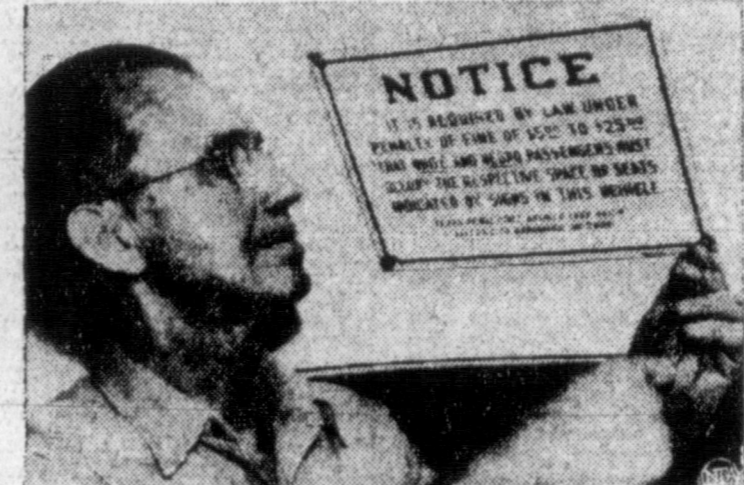

A crowd of some 300 students and 50 to 100 newsman and cameramen greeted Hiss in silence when he arrived in a station wagon shortly before the scheduled start of his speech in 63-year-old Whig Hall.

Some Cheer Him

Those outside the hall cheered and applauded as the 51-year-old Hiss mounted the steps. Some booed when a television crew brought a microphone into the crowd to get student reaction.

Hiss spoke to his audience of some 250 students and 45 reporters without text or notes. The speech, which lasted less than a half hour, was mainly about last year's "Big Four" Geneva Conference and occasionally referred to the 1945 Yalta Conference at which Hiss was one of the late President Roosevelt's advisers.

Hiss was applauded before, after and once during his talk.

Demos Present A New Farm Bill

By VINCENT J. BURKE

WASHINGTON — UP — House Democratic farm leaders Friday put forward a new farm bill containing much of what President Eisenhower wants and a few provisions to which he is opposed.

It was the most conciliatory proposal advanced by the Democrats during 11 days of maneuvering and false starts since the President's veto of the first farm bill.

In the face of strong Republican opposition, Chairman Harold D. Cooley (D-N. C.) of the House Agriculture committee Thursday night abandoned his plan to push for restoration of 90 per cent of parity price supports for basic crops "through compensatory payments to producers."

Cooley instead offered a new bill which contains all provisions of the administration — sponsored $1.2 billion soil bank except for the pay-in-advance feature. Republican leaders said they would fight to include that in any new farm bill brought on the House floor.

Cooley's bill also contained one of the half-dozen provisions of the original farm bill which the administration opposed — higher price supports this year for producers of oats, rye, barley and grain sorghums who voluntarily participate in the soil bank.

It also contained all of the non-controversial provisions of the vetoed farm bill, including an additional $50 million to prop prices of perishable foods and an additional $500 million for disposal of surpluses abroad.

Cooley said he would call a meeting of his committee Monday and hoped it could finish voting on the measure in one day. Rep. Clifford R. Hope (Kan.), senior Republican member, said this was possible. Hope said Cooley's measure appeared to be a "fair compromise."

Waters Files For Office

District Attorney Bill Waters filed yesterday afternoon for re-election to the post he now holds.

Waters was elected district attorney in 1954 for a term of two years. He is now running for an extended term of four years.

A graduate of the University of Texas law school in 1949, Waters served as County Attorney for four years, from 1950 through 1954. He has been engaged in the private practice of law, outside of his regular duties.

He was elected to his present position in 1950 and took office in January, 1951.

HOW TO CLEANSE FRESH FOODS OF FALLOUT

TIP TO HOUSEWIVES on how to cleanse fruits and vegetables of radioactive material if they became contaminated is provided by radiological expert and housewife Dr. Rosalind Yalow of the U. S. Veterans Hospital, New York. At a demonstration during a Radiological School sponsored by the Federal Civil Defense Administration, she showed how to prepare fruits or vegetables for eating when the outside is "contaminated" by fallout particles. (FCDA Photos)

Housewives might have to handle radioactively contaminated fruits and vegetables as gingerly as a newborn baby for a time if their food stocks are ever exposed to fallout. Under those circumstances, radiological expert Dr. Rosalind Yalow, a housewife and staff member of the New York Veterans Administration Hospital, emphasizes that a housewife would have to take special precautions to avoid contact with radioactive particles in preparing food.

FRESH FOODS most likely to be exposed to fallout contamination would be those coming directly from home garden plots, open fruit stands, or left near an open window in a fallout area. Fruits and vegetables left on open pantry shelves would have more of a chance of being contaminated than those in closed cupboards or refrigerators.

This so-called "contamination" would affect only the surface of fruits and vegetables unless, through careless peeling or washing, a housewife allowed the center of the fruit to become contaminated.

Dr. Yalow had the following tips to avoid this:

1. Use fruits and vegetables which were wrapped, or kept away from the open air such as they would be in a refrigerator.

2. When washing produce, use running water if possible, providing it comes from a covered source such as a well or a known uncontaminated supply. If running water is not available, be sure the water used to wash the vegetables is changed frequently.

3. Fruits and vegetables with thick skins, such as bananas, or those that may be easily washed, such as apples, would be preferable. A housewife would be wise to handle these foods with disposable towels during cleansing.

WITHOUT SPECIAL "know-how" and care, Dr. Yalow points out, it would be easy for a person accidentally to transmit radioactive contamination into fruits or vegetables by washing them with "contaminated" water, or simply by handling peeled fruits with "contaminated" gloves or towels.

With this knowledge, a farmer's wife, for example, could in most cases make the produce from her fallout-exposed garden safe and usable again by her family.

After an attack, housewives would find out by radio whether their homes were located in a fallout zone. Then they would learn whether to take these precautions or not.

Jane Talk

By JANE KADINGO
Pampa News Women's Editor

THE WOMAN WHO IS WELL-ORGANIZED and prepared to attend an important social gathering is going to feel more confident and relaxed than the housewife who finds herself hurried and hurried right up to the minute of departure for a party. You can save time and energy by starting to prepare for the party the day you get your invitation. Here's a party formula you might find helpful.

PHONE YOUR hostess - to - be. Ask her who is coming to the party and what is planned for the evening. She'll be delighted that you're taking such an interest in the event and the information may give you a "dress" cue. Before you leave the phone, call your favorite baby sitter and book her for the evening. Lining up a baby sitter at the last moment can be hazardous.

Have the eternal question of "What'll I wear?" settled, accessories included, a week before the party day. Get something new. It doesn't have to be much. Sometimes just a new spring flower pinned at your waist will give the needed party touch. While buying the something "new" pick up a little gift for your hostess. It adds to the party fun and will be appreciated.

As you decide the dress question, plan for your pre-party shampoo, manicure and pedicure. If your hair is at its best on the same day it's shampooed, get it done as early as possible on the day of the party. If your hair is more manageable several days after a washing, shampoo it several days before the party.

Set a two-days-before-the-party deadline for a thorough manicure and pedicure. The slight marks that might occur afterwards can be taken care of with a final coat of polish during the pre-dressing beauty treatment.

Devote the day before the party to making your party day as free as possible. Along with your regular dinner, prepare a pre-party meal. It can be a casserole, a roast or any dish that needs only to be reheated.

If you've followed the formula, you'll find that you do have time for your pre-dressing grooming treatment. For stay-at-home mothers, the best time for this is during the afternoon while the baby is napping or the children are in school. The career woman can perform this ritual while the pre-cooked dinner is warming up.

A luxurious, hot, perfumed bath combined with a facial and at least five minutes of complete relaxation and eye rest will prove restful and refreshing. While your bath water is running, wind a hair-tens cap around your pinned hair and cream your face and neck heavily. If your skin is inclined to be oily apply a facial mask instead of the cream before getting into the tub.

A brisk drying topped with a complete rubbing of body lotion or cologne and you're beginning to feel good. Removal of the cream or mask followed by a cool rinsing and two drops of eye lotion in each eye will complete the million-dollar feeling.

Now you're all set except for the actual dressing and make-up. Keep up the luxurious relaxed feeling during this last stage of party preparing. Remember the touches that give you a prettier party look: a touch of rouge to your forehead, ear lobes and chin; a touch of eye shadow; mascara on the upper lashes, and red lipstick with a blue tinge in it which makes it look vibrant under electric lights.

And of course don't forget your hostess gift.

Make sure you tell your baby sitter where you can be reached and you're off - prepared to the last detail for an evening of fun.

Talks On Schools And Colleges Given At Meet Of Twentieth Century Forum

Twentieth Century Forum Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Dick Hughes, 400 Harvester.

The program was presented by Mrs. Frank Kelley who spoke on "The Three R's and My Child," and Mrs. H. C. Federer, whose topic was "So You're Going to College."

"Education is an investment in the guidance and growth - of mental, physical and spiritual - of today's children, youth and adults," Mrs. Kelley stated. "Two problems are outstanding - our school building needs and how to get good teachers and keep them. The White House Conference on education reported the grim fact that under present plans, only two or three states are able to meet their construction needs for the next five years."

"In order to secure and keep enough competent teachers, we must give teaching a prestige equal to that of other professions, and provide a high and flexible salary structure," she concluded.

"College can stimulate you and arouse your intellectual curiosity so that you'll go on studying and learning all your life," Mrs. Federer explained during her talk. "The fact that college can offer you so much is no guarantee that it will. What you attain will depend partly on you - whether you take advantage of all that is offered and partly on the school you choose."

Mrs. J. R. Holloway, president, led the business session. It was decided the club will continue next year its $250 scholarship for a high school girl. It was announced the spring luncheon will be held at 12:45 p.m. May 8, in the home of Mrs. C. V. Wilkinson, 815 N. Somerville.

Attending were Meses. Bob Curry, E. J. Dunigan, W. L. Ellis, H. C. Federer, W. T. Fraser, J. R. Holloway, Dick Hughes, H. D. Johnson, Frank Kelley, Raymond Laycock, J. B. McCrery, M. C. Daniel, Bruce Pratt, H. J. Rose, Audrey Steele, A. Teed, F. J. Vendrell, C. V. Wilkinson; and Mrs. Biggs Horn of Amarillo.

This May Not Be A Very Merry May Day For Commies

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Foreign Analyst

It looks as if this is not going to be a very merry May Day for the Communists.

Leftists all over the world are preparing to celebrate the traditional May 1 holiday next Tuesday.

In Moscow it will be one of the two big days of the year. The other is the anniversary of the 1917 revolution Nov. 7.

But the downgrading of Josef Stalin will take the edge off the festivities there and in other capitals this May Day.

A lot of Communist parties outside of Russia—and a lot of Communists in Russia—will not quite know what the party line is.

A lot of Communist leaders will not make the main speeches which will be made by Stalin.

Many will be somewhat subdued also because they will not know whether they are going to be caught in the Stalin debunking.

The fact that Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev are sounding off about "co-existence" and world friendship will cramp the style of the orators, too.

Tokyo promises to be the hot spot this year. Communists and socialists plan demonstrations by four million leftist-led labor unions in Japanese cities.

Of these 400,000 are to demonstrate in Tokyo alone. Militant leftist leaders have demanded the right to parade past the United States embassy to invite American troops to come home, and to eat the parliament building. Police have refused. But riots are likely.

There may be trouble in Singapore, also. Two rival leftist labor union factions plan a joint demonstration there. It may break up in a private riot or turn into an anti-western riot.

Interesting to Watch

It will be interesting to see what happens in Moscow.

Last year, a gigantic new artillery piece, possibly an atomic cannon, was the feature of the anniversary May Day parade. A new weapon from the Red army's arsenal may be unveiled this year.

But the slogans proclaimed by the Communist party central committee, to be displayed in parade banners, are not very exciting.

There will be 25 official slogans in all. One hails "the friendship and co-operation of the peoples of Britain, the United States, France and the Soviet Union." Another hails "the co-operation between Communists and Socialists and all progressive forces." And, of course, there is: "Under the leadership of the Communist party, forward to the victory of communism." None of the slogans mentions Stalin.

SHU a Big Day

But May Day will still be a big one for leftists.

It started back in the middle ages when people of all classes turned out to go "a-Maying" and erected May Poles around which to dance.

The Socialists took it over in 1889, when the second international in which they were united made May 1 their Labor Day.

In the United States, workmen of all unions selected the first Monday in September as their Labor Day, and Congress made it a national holiday in 1894.

Now the Reds have made May Day their own. But the shadow of old uncle Joe Stalin will darken their celebrations this year.

South would have an easy time with today's hand against a neutral opening lead, such as a club. He would be able to draw four rounds of trumps and lead a spade towards his hand. He would lose a diamond and either one or two spades, depending on how well he guessed the spades.

The diamond opening lead created:

ed more of a problem, since South was obliged to ruff the second round of suit. Marguerite Harris of New York solved the problem in fine style during the recent tournament in Atlantic City.

Mrs. Harris ruffed the second diamond, led a trump to dummy's queen, and returned a spade towards her hand. East stepped up with the ace in order to lead another diamond. South had to ruff again, which made it impossible for her to draw all of East's trumps.

This came to light when Mrs. Harris led out the ace of trumps. West discarded a club, and it was clear that East had a trump trick.

Mrs. Harris went deliberately after another diamond ruff. First declarer cashed both of dummy's high clubs, then she ruffed dummy's last diamond with her own last trump.

When South now led a high club, discarding a spade from the dummy, East had to ruff. East then returned the five of spades, since a trump return would have given declarer no problem.

Mrs. Harris correctly finessed the 10 of spades, cashed the king of spades, and took the last trick with dummy's high trump. She had needed a strange dummy reversal and careful timing to make this difficult contract against the best defense.

"If this is the Socialist party, then I would be a conservative if I lived in Britain."

TV Employee Has Wrinkles, Bags, Crow's Feet and Horns

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK —DP— Dick Smith, one of NBC-TV's unsung employees, has bags, wrinkles, crow's feet, horns and more than two dozen chins.

He has toiled in the frantic sweatshops of the network for 11 years now, but this, of course, does not seem to be an entirely satisfactory explanation. Smith is a Yale man, but this is not germane to the problem either.

Smith, it might be pointed out, also is in full possession of other cranial ornaments — pointed ears, muttonchops, outrageous jowls and enough wigs to furnish wall-to-wall carpeting for Liberace's living room.

Smith keeps all this bric-a-brac in boxes, furnishing them on call to needy performers. A pleasant unassuming 34-year-old, he is head of NBC's make-up department.

More Effort For Color TV

"Generally," explained Smith from an office decorated with plaster heads, latex noses and one for a real secretary, "color shows call for more effort than the average black - and - white show, particularly those big spectaculars."

"But we get lots of work from Sid Caesar and Martha Raye—they're always doing something special. And of course, the black-and-white drama programs keep us busy."

Smith's department faces more daily crises than the average wedding in Monaco. "The heat from the lights in color productions is our biggest problem," said Smith.

"When Maurice Evans did 'The Taming of the Shrew' a few weeks ago he was wearing a curly wig, heavy clothes and a latex nose. We had four make-up men standing by. Each time he was off, they'd mop him with ice and a chamomile. During commercials, they put ice on his wrists and kept a hair dryer blowing on him."

Even worse, said Smith, was "The Fourposter" with Hume Cronyn and Jessica Tandy. "There were points in the drama where we had to age Cronyn 15 years in one minute. We had to organize our movements down to the second as soon as he came off camera, we'd strip off bits of hair and stamp on what we call 'highlights' to make him older." A Half-Dozen Noses

Some of Smith's more difficult recent assignments were making up the 107 actors who were used on Kraft theatre's dramatization of the Titanic sinking, molding half-dozen noses for Jose Ferrer in "Cyrano De Bergerac."

In the normal course of work, Smith and his assistants also disguise long noses, flat noses, loving cup ears, sunken eyes, missing chins, five o'clock shadow and

A Great Democrat's Fight Against Income Tax

In the last article I was quoting from William Bourke Cockran's speech opposing the income tax before Congress in 1894. He had recited the history as to how nations deteriorated when the government did not respect men's rights and property; that the workers and the creators of wealth invariably supported the kind of government, whether it be king or lords or liberty, that defended property.

The last article closed with this statement: "The power of the crown rose as the power of the barons fell, because the crown proved itself the best defense of industry and thrift."

Liberty Best Defense
Then Cockran continues in this manner: "But when the crown under the Stuarts began to levy benevolences, when it began to adopt unfair methods of taxation, when the royal prerogative became dangerous to industry and prosperity, England passed to liberty — because liberty was believed to be the best safeguard of prosperity."

Mr. Chairman, the English system of government has been durable, because ever since the Revolution the English people have found in Parliament a faithful custodian of civil liberty and a bulwark of equal rights. But we in this country who have for over a century enjoyed institutions which are based on the absolute political equality of all citizens, which were especially framed for the defense of liberty, we who have seen our country grow as no other country has ever grown, because within our limits property has been more secure than anywhere else on the globe, behold ourselves today threatened with a system of taxation which aims to create a class distinction between a small body of citizens and the great majority of the people who till the soil, who support the Government, upon whose patriotism, industry, and equality all the future glory and greatness of this nation must depend. (Applause.)

The Treasury Department informs us that $5,000 persons enjoy incomes exceeding $4,000 a year. The men who are in possession of wealth thus seem to be a small part of the community, but the men who hope to possess wealth embrace a vast majority of the population. It is our proud boast that every man in this country, no matter how humble his home, no matter how poor his family, no matter how dismal the circumstances which surround him, enjoys the opportunity and therefore the hope of achieving prosperity. It is this hope which has made this country a very great one, the land filled with industrious, contented, and hopeful laborers.

"Democratic Method of Federal Taxation"
"It is this hope which makes the vast majority of our citizens the firmest supporters of law and the staunchest preservers of peace. The hope of wealth, which is universal, is a greater force for its own preservation than the possession of wealth, which is confined to a few. And the undemocratic method of taxation proposed by this amendment will be condemned and repudiated by the enlightened judgement of the vast majority of the American people, because the tolls whose labors are lightened by the belief that they are gaining their future prosperity in the sweat of their brows will not tolerate a system of laws which treats the success for which they strive as an offense against society, to be punished by vindictive taxation."

"Mr. Chairman, I said at the beginning of my remarks that a few weeks ago this party of ours seemed to be moving with resistless force to the triumph of its principles. To-day it is threatened with disaster through the discord and disunion which have been fomented in our ranks by an attempt to make an undemocratic scheme of class legislation a feature of the great reform which we have undertaken."

"And we are told in scarcely veiled terms by gentlemen who have cordially cooperated with us in the past, whose comrades we are, alongside of whom we have battled for years, that we may depart from the party lines, that they can get along without us, if we are not ready to follow them in this new departure."

ees out of a job. The city did not recover from this until Calnes came. Dry Oklahoma lost 4.5 per cent of its population from 1940 to 1950. Our little sister city of White Deer, which was not so little then and had a fair share of the trade of this area, tried the economics of voting dry and withered off the vines. Mr. Berger would definitely have an advantage over Dry Pampa for future growth. If Lubbock or Abilene is referred to as dry cities of magnitude and growth, remember, each have colleges with thousands of students from other localities, spending millions of dollars per month into the economy of each city.

Mrs. Clemens, a mother with the strong religious convictions you have, will so discipline her sons that strong drink will never appeal to them whether you reside in dry or wet areas.

Sincerely,
Ivey E. Duncan

G.O.P. 'Little Boys' Irked By White House

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — In an election year when the Republicans will have to rely heavily on precinct workers' activity and loyalty, White House handling of Federal patronage has rankled almost every national and state leader and organization from Maine to Southern California.

Sherman Adams' recent displays of warmth on and off television have not extended into the political field, in the opinion of the clubhouse faction. And President Eisenhower's indifference to such matters makes the White House Chief of Staff almost the sole arbiter in these intra-party disputes.

But now it appears that some of the blame for patronage troubles must be borne by Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall and GOP state leaders. In one notable instance, they branded as a Democrat ineligible for recognition a man who has been a long-time Republican.

The central figure in the semicomic squabble is Capt. Edward V. Rickenbacker, World War I Ace and head of Eastern Airlines. Over the objections of New York and Florida Republicans, he was recently appointed a member of the National Advisory Committee on Aeronautics by President Eisenhower. Although only an honorary post, it is a prize coveted by all airlines now engaged in a struggle for expansion.

When Hall was first asked by the White House to check on Rickenbacker's political qualifications, he labored under the impression that the latter had been a zealous Roosevelt-Truman Democrat. Rickenbacker's selection was attributed to the fact that Eastern had hired Thomas E. Dewey as counsel a year ago.

But despite Dewey's 20-year leadership of the Albany organization, it turned thumbs down on the former Governor's client in its reply to Hall.

Presumably at Dewey's insistence, Hall then asked Florida Republicans if they would okay the appointment. Eastern Airlines has a large establishment at Miami, although its headquarters is in New York.

C. C. Spades, Republican National Committeeman for Florida, replied with a bitter denunciation of Hall's suggestion. He preferred Ted Baker, head of National Airlines. Another candidate for the position was W. A. Patterson, the head of United Airlines. Their rivalry shows the importance of the post, at least in his opinion.

After both these rebuffs, and although Rickenbacker has only slight connections with Texas, Hall obtained enthusiastic clearance from H. J. Porter, Texas oil multimillionaire and an enthusiastic Eisenhower backer. On that basis, Rickenbacker got the job.

This patronage feud was entirely unnecessary, in view of Rickenbacker's statement that he has been a lifelong Republican. He has made speeches on behalf of GOP candidates, notably at the Madison Square Garden windup for Wendell Wilkie in 1940.

In fact, Eastern Airlines spokesmen insist that their aviation interests suffered because of Rickenbacker's Republicanism. They recall that, after Eastern had been virtually given a nonstop, New York-Mexico City run, Harry S. Truman cancelled the certificate. The only line now enjoying this privilege is Air France.

However, it is incredible that Republican managers at Washington, Albany and Miami should not know the political background and affiliation of such a well-known figure as Rickenbacker. The episode may explain why the patronage problem remains as one of the chief workers' chief gripes against the White House.

The Communist leaders who are calling Stalin a tyrant and a murderer are the very men who were his accomplices at guilt and murder. If he was guilty, they were guilty. In accusing him, they accuse themselves. They must be awfully scared of something or they wouldn't risk doing it. The thing they are afraid of is THE RUSSIAN PEOPLE. The Russian people long for freedom because they haven't had even the semblance of freedom for thirty-eight years. The American people all too often are indifferent to liberty because they are used to it. That's why the Russian people may be the hope of the world.

FOR REFLECTION

...with JAMES C. INGEBRETSEN
President, Spiritual Mobilization

Over 500 representatives of manufacturing concerns, large and small, affiliated with the American Management Association recently held a three-day conference in Detroit on "Reducing Manufacturing Costs." A news report from the conference stated that sporadic high-pressure cost-cutting drives are losing out to steady all-year-round efforts to trim costs. James O. Rice, an A. M. A. vice president, was quoted as saying, "Companies are finding that cost-cutting is like hair-cutting — you have to do it on a regular basis or you look unkempt."

When I read this, I at last realized why Uncle Sam apparently is no longer interested in keeping costs down. As a lean Yankee character, he used to keep both his hair and his chin whiskers at a rather reasonable length. But since he has assumed the character of Santa Claus — well, you wouldn't expect Santa Claus to have any use for a barber, would you?

Bloodshed Privilege Of Professional Unioners

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Bloodshed, including murder, has been the special privilege of professional unioners ever since Roosevelt's first term. The weapons have included guns, bombs, the torch, acid, razor blades mounted on sticks carried by pickets, tire irons, chains and clubs. Roosevelt, himself, in an unguarded moment, correctly described brutal attacks on American workers at North American Aviation in California as "violent insurrection" against the government. This factory was producing planes, primarily for France and the time was the period of the political and military alliance between Hitler and Stalin. Roosevelt sent a regiment of regular infantry, just home from station in China, to scatter the goons and let the employees through. The only difference between this violent insurrection and others waged by John L. Lewis, Walter Reuther and Dave Beck's teamsters on the West Coast, to name a scant few typical incidents in this long war of the unions against the American people and their many and various governments since 1933, is that in this particular case Roosevelt's own weapon backfired on him. He wanted planes for his war and the Communist apparatus directed by Stalin from Moscow, was setting up the Blitz through Northern France.

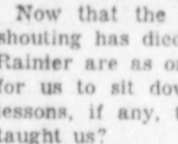

Joe Curran, the President of the National Maritime Union, at that time a Communist front, wrote me after Pearl Harbor that the war ceased to be a Capitalist aggression against democratic governments and became a war for Democracy and freedom the instant that Hitler attacked Soviet Russia. Curran now professes to be a fighter against Communism. So does Dave Dubinsky of the garment workers who runs his own overseas system of espionage and conspiracy in connivance with the state department and the central intelligence agency at the expense of his subjects and many manufacturers in a precarious and tricky industry. This cost is paid eventually by the consuming public.

Curran's conversion never has been formally stated as such and Dubinsky, with a background of association with Reds in the American Labor Party, is still a Socialist. Herbert Hoover recently reminded us that Socialism is Pre-Communism. Dubinsky collects a form of import taxes on manufactured goods in interstate commerce and on goods imported from Japan. Curran just started throwing out of his headquarters old pals and stogies who had long been recognized as Pre-Communist Reds. The possibility that this was

Mac Says Women Crazy For Titles

By HENRY McLEMORE

Now that the tumult and the shouting has died, and Grace and Rainier are as one, is it not time for us to sit down and see what lessons, if any, the marriage has taught us?

I think it is. Surely, we must have learned something. So let us sift the ashes of this conflagration of publicity, and from them hope to discover something that will make us better and happier Americans.

As for myself, I had scarcely sifted a handful of the Monaco three-alarm blaze before I came to this definite conclusion: Somehow, somewhere, America must get hold of some titles with which to reward its womenfolk. Women are crazy for titles, and don't let them tell you different. A good 90 per cent of them envy Grace's title of "Princess," and they fairly drool over "Her Serene Highness." "Why," they reason, "should Grace have one hundred and thirty-seven of them, while we don't have any?"

Of course, American women are wrong when they say they do not have a single title. They do have one — "Housewife" after "Occupation" on a form. I have known women who put down "Chimney Shoplifter."

Women In The Church

Women may now be ordained in the ministry of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A. The 1955 General Assembly of the denomination voted it, but it had to be submitted to the 237 presbyteries across the country; a majority of them have already voted approval.

"Both men and women may now be called to this office" (the pastor) is the law of the Church now reads. It is not expected that many women will seek the office immediately, but it is possible that the theological seminaries will have applicants for training.

In May the Methodist Church will vote on whether or not women are to be admitted to the "traveling ministry." They may now be ordained as "local (lay) preachers" but not admitted to the annual conferences as ministers subject to annual appointment to churches by the bishops.

The Texas Council of Church Women has called upon state officials and legislators to work for the abolition of any state law which "requires segregation or any form of discrimination based on race, color or creed."

The Rev. Lim Swee Beng, pastor of the Methodist Church in Sitawakan, Malaya, was recently ordained a deacon, the first woman deacon in her country. Sitawakan is a jungle-encircled town in the state of Perak in Malaya.

Dr. Kenneth Scott Latourette, of New Haven, Conn., noted church historian and professor-emeritus at Yale, will be the lecturer at Union Theological Seminary, Buenos Aires, Argentina, in July, under the lectureship established there by the late Miss Carrie Carnahan, Pittsburg, Pa.

Soviet Sailors Blast U. S.

MOSCOW —UP— Five Soviet sailors charged Thursday that U. S. officials tried "all means" to force them to remain in the United States after they decided to return to the Soviet Union.

The sailors, crew members of the Soviet tanker Tuapse, said in a news conference that U. S. immigration officials, police and representatives of the "World Church Service" attempted to dissuade them from returning to the U. S.S.R.

The sailors said the authorities told them "all kinds of horrors, even death, awaited" them in Russia.

Scout Group Accepts '56 Budget

The recommended revised budget for 1956 and plans for a long-range council finance plan were accepted last night by the executive board of the Adobe Walls Boy Scout Council during a session in the Borger Hotel.

Finances required much of the board's time as they reviewed the operating budget of $50,400, adopted in December, and accepted E. F. Glasgow's recommendation that the revised budget of $47,489.39 be accepted.

A finance statement for the month of March, receipts, and a budget control statement were reviewed.

Glasgow, the council finance chairman, explained the reorganized 1956 finance campaign. Under the accepted set-up, five fields of finance will be utilized. Each of the six districts will have a finance chairman and each of the five divisions will have a chairman.

C. A. Huff is chairman of the leadership gifts; Joe Traylor heads the coordinated campaign; Joe Gordon is chairman of the trust fund; Dick Tweed heads the council unit funds (including four districts); and E. E. Shelhamer is chairman of the sustaining memberships and friends of scouting for the five districts.

Gordon explained the trust fund plan to be put into effect upon approval of the national council. The reserve fund will be made up of donations from people of substantial income.

Shelhamer indicated that sustaining members of the council will be those persons who donate between $25 and $300 a year for support of the Boy Scout program. He hopes to have 300 this year. Plaques will be presented to both supporters.

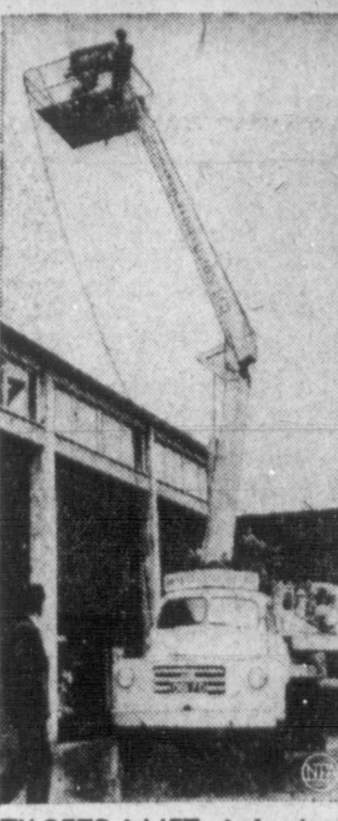

In other action of the board, the recommendation from the camping and activities committee that Nege scout units be set up to use the camp facilities of Camp Ki-O-Wah was accepted. Units will pay $1 fee per person for the camp site and prepare their own food.

The board reviewed a 15-page brochure prepared by Dick Kuck, council president, intended for distribution among prospective scouts, but took no action.

Earl Lewis To Seek Office

Earl Lewis, past constable of Precinct 2, filed for the same post this morning. He will be in the race against Cleo "Potts" Emerson and J. W. "Bill" Graham. Lewis has been a painting contractor for the past six years and has lived in Pampa for 50 years. Born in Roberts County, he is 65 years old, and resides at 425 N. Faulkner.

He served as constable of Precinct 2 from 1943 through 1949. "People know me and they know what I did before," Lewis said. "I know the office and all things connected with it and I will do my best to serve everyone alike," he concluded.

TV GETS A LIFT—In London, British TV gets a helping arm from this truck-borne hydraulic platform for outdoor televising. Moving in all directions, the platform can raise a camera-man 40 feet, eliminating the need for scaffolding in high-angle shots. The cameraman raises and lowers the platform with foot pedals and rotates it with knee-operated controls.

Bomb Test To Go As Scheduled

HONOLULU—Officials of the task force which will stage this year's nuclear tests in the Pacific said Friday indications are that the program will start as scheduled with a "public" H-bomb shot around May 8.

This test, to be witnessed by 15 newsmen, will be a high air of an H-bomb equal in power to several million tons of TNT. It will explode above the waters near Bikini.

Informed sources said they believe the weapon will be dropped by a high-flying B-52 intercontinental jet bomber. It could be delivered by an obsolescent B-36 or by a B-47 medium range jet bomber, but the odds favor a jet plane, particularly the big B-52.

At least two B-52's have flown from here in recent days to undisclosed destinations in the West. They could have been headed for Eniwetok, Bikini's partner atoll in the Pacific proving ground. The May 8 shot will be big tons of radioactive earth and water, if it exploded low enough for its incandescent fireball to contact the surface.

CoC Group Reviews Air Service

The aviation committee of the Chamber of Commerce reviewed the producers now being pursued to secure airline service for Pampa south to Dallas and the Fort Worth area this morning in the Chamber office.

Leon Fain, chairman, stated that it now appears that Central Airlines would likely be the best possibility for serving Pampa. Officials of Central Airlines have indicated a willingness to serve this area with schedules south to the Dallas area, providing the Civil Aeronautics Board approves such a pattern.

The committee is continuing negotiations toward providing Pampa with air service. At this time, nothing definite has been accomplished, Fain said.

Attending the session were Frank Culbertson, William J. Smith, W. M. Alford, C. R. Hoover, Tom Farwell, O. K. Gaylor, and "Red" Wedgeworth, and Wayland Merri-man.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

J. R. STROBLE, Minister of Education
First Baptist Church
Pampa, Texas

"Put them in mind to be subject to principalities and powers, to obey magistrates, to be ready to every good work."
—Titus 3:1

Titus encouraged early Christians to be good citizens. He knew that in so doing they would disprove the charges of their enemies. But even more, they would give their Christian faith expression through their citizenship.

Although a Christian's highest loyalty is to God, he may sometimes express that loyalty by obedience to earthly authority. Government and law he recognizes as God's blessings. This does not mean that they are always wise and good, but it does mean he ought to obey them when they are, and seek to change them when they are not.

Even after two thousand years, Christians are still on trial. Today's judges are their neighbors and the court is community opinion. How important, then, that they heed "sound instruction" that they be model citizens, "ready to every good work."

Oilers Hit 4 Homers; Clip Colts, 7-6

Colts Protest Use Of WTNM League Baseballs

By TOMMIE ELLIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

Four Homers, a double play and a perfect throw from leftfielder Lamar Cagle to catcher Jim Martin highlighted the Pampa Oilers' 7-6 win over the San Angelo Colts last night.

The two teams played before the best Pampa crowd of the season and in their second night of perfect baseball weather. Pampa's Jerry Tucker gave up 16 hits but support from the club held the Colts to only six runs while Pampa picked up seven hits and made them all count.

Dick Hairston, who has been with the Oilers for several years, was sold to the Tucson, Ariz., club and Lamar Cagle, who was optioned to Tucson, has returned to Pampa.

Home runs by Len Tucker, Joe Fortin, Allan Cross and John Yanchura counted for four of the seven runs while Yanchura's roundtripper pushed across an extra.

After Joe Fortin hit a home run in the third inning Colt manager Art Bowland announced that he was playing the game under protest. He protested the game because of the use of baseballs labeled West Texas-New Mexico League.

The other two runs came in the fourth after Jim Martin walked and Yanchura singled to right field. Pitcher Jerry Tucker sacrificed and got on on an error. Lamar Cagle forced Tucker at second but Len Tucker singled to drive in the last run of the night.

Pampa's pros moved up from the cellar, and a 250 percentage to a .500 average and tied with Ballinger and Clovis for fourth.

Hobbs and El Paso still lead the league but Midland and the fourth place Oilers are pressing as they won last night. Pampa edged the top rated Colts in 7-6 contest while Midland trounced Clovis, 14-6.

Indians Boast Best Keystone Pair Since Boudreau, Gordon

By UNITED PRESS

The Cleveland Indians boast the most effective keystone combination in the American League for the first time since Lou Boudreau and Joe Gordon sparked the tribe to the 1948 pennant.

It's a neat switch, because for at least the last six years the Indians' most glaring weakness has been at the keystone. But now Al Lopez is chortling over his fine duo of Chico Carrasquel and Bob-bly Avila while his three main rivals—the New York Yankees, Chicago White Sox and Boston Red Sox—are wondering whether their combinations will do over the long haul.

The situation was dramatized Thursday when the Indians clubbed the Kansas City Athletics 14-2 and the Yankees bowed to the Baltimore Orioles 7-5 in the only games played. Carrasquel and Avila went on a slugging bee to pace the Indians while rookie shortstop Jerry Lumpe's seventh error in nine games led directly to the Yankees' defeat.

Logart, who's learning for the first time how Lopez lived these last six years.

Carrasquel and Avila have committed just one error each this season and Thursday they drove in more runs in one game than any of their three rival combinations have driven in all season.

Thursday's Star

Chico Carrasquel, who drove in seven runs to lead the Indians to a 14-2 victory over the Athletics.

Isaac Logart, 3-1 Favorite, In TV Bout

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—Speedy Isaac Logart, who hopes to be the "new Kid Gavilan," rules a 3-1 favorite in his nationally televised and broadcast bout at War Memorial Auditorium Friday night against left-hooking Joe Micelli of New York.

Logart who hails from Gavilan's home town of Camaguey, Cuba, now is rated the No. 3 contender for the welterweight crown owned by "The Keed."

What's more, the 23-year-old Logart will be carrying a six-bout winning streak into the ring, while Micelli, who is ranked No. 9 in the 147-pound division, has won one and lost one this year.

Logart also boasts a more impressive overall record, although the 27-year-old Micelli has much more experience.

Logart's chief assets are speed and fancy footwork; Micelli's is a crushing left hook that is mighty dangerous, even if it is "telegraphed."

Logart, a professional for five years, has won 43, lost five, and drawn five, and has scored 18 knockouts. Micelli has won 48, lost 24, and drawn seven, and scored 23 knockouts.

Logart is expected to try to keep the fight at long range, where he will have lots of room to maneuver. That also would keep him away from most of Micelli's left hooks, which become a ripping uppercut at short range. Only once has Micelli floored an opponent with his right.

Perhaps the fastest animal is the cheetah of India and Africa, clocked at 70 MPH.

Majors, Minors Friendly

CINCINNATI—UP—Good feeling prevailed Friday between major and minor league representatives who wound up a scheduled two-day meeting to "explore" their differences in only one day Thursday.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick said the meeting, set up to consider the major-minor league agreement which comes up for renewal next Dec. 12, "accomplished a great deal." He said that both sides are convinced they better understand each other's problems.

George Trautman, minor league czar, also called the session a "fine meeting." Both men emphasized that the purpose was "preliminary and exploratory."

The discussion centered on the plight of the minors which have dwindled from a high of 59 leagues in 1946 to a low of 27 this year.

Trautman suggested the setting up of leagues below Class D to develop players fresh out of high school who have just signed contracts.

Frick said the idea was that league representatives could talk over problems and differences so they would have a better understanding of them when they go back to their respective clubs to talk them over among themselves.

Frick said some decisions may be expected when the representatives return for a meeting in June with proposals and for renewal of contracts.

He said minor league officials were almost certain to be back with something on the broadcasting and televising of big league games.

Title Tag Match Set On Monday Mat Card

A world's championship tag team battle has been scheduled for Monday night by the Top o' Texas Sportsman's Club.

The current champions, Art Nelson and Rip Rogers, have agreed to attempt to defend their title against the Panhandle's two adopted wrestling sons, Dory Funk and Bob Geigel. The current champions successfully defended against the two former big ten athletes last night in a wild hassle in Amarillo. Funk and Geigel have been trying to get that title for a long while.

Funk and Cowboy Carlson formerly held it, but Funk has never been able to regain a share of the crown with Geigel as a partner. Next Monday night might be the "charm night."

On the rest of the card, the little-loved Golden Terror returns against what might be his conqueror, a very popular newcomer, husky Sonny Meyers. Meyers is a former heavyweight champion of Texas and has proved a very rugged individual in his bouts here thus far.

In a one fall warmup event, Nelson and Geigel will loosen up for the title event later.

Advance tickets are on sale at modern pharmacy.

TAG TEAM TITLIST—Art Nelson will team with Rip Rogers in defense of their tag team title Monday night. They will take on Dory Funk and Bob Geigel.

Reapers Enter District Meet

Coach Norman Phillips' Reapers will be rated as the favorites in the Panhandle Junior High School district track and field meet in Amarillo Saturday.

The Reapers tilted for second in the Berger Invitational meet earlier this season and took first place over the field in the Amarillo Invitational meet last week.

Coach Phillips will be taking this top two boys, Paul Brown and Gary Heiskell, and will expect them to pick up most of the points for the Pampans. Ronnie Ekroat, Denny Carmen and Gary Matlock are expected to boost the Reapers' points also.

Other boys who will be entered in the meet are Harold Stokes, Clovis Shipp, Bert Morse, Mike Flaherty, Mery Cooper, Tommy Locke, Harold Cooke, Dickie Watkins, and DeWayne Glover.

Several other boys may make the trip.

Covington's .667 Hitting Is No Flake

MILWAUKEE—UP—Rookie Wes Covington, Milwaukee Braves' outfield prospect, is confident his .667 batting mark isn't a fluke. "I know I can hit major league pitching," Covington said. "I've done it."

"I hit over .300 in winter league ball and many of the pitchers were from the majors," the young power hitter said. "We batted against Worthington, Roebuck and Ridsick. And there was a number of other name pitchers down there."

"But hitting's not the problem," Covington said. "I've got some things to learn about fielding. Line drives kind of bug me. Line drives from different hitters do different things and you have to be on your toes out there all the time."

Hitting has come easier for the 24 year old left handed hitter. In Milwaukee's first six games this season Covington has batted four times as a pinchhitter. He walked, singled and homered in the four tries against the Chicago Cubs and St. Louis Cardinals.

Last season, with the Braves' Jacksonville farm club, he hit 16 homers, batted .326 and drove in 81 runs. "No one ever had to teach me how to hit," Covington said.

From High School To Major Stardom In Two Short Years

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK — UP—Two years ago Friday Don Drysdale was a skinny high school senior making his debut as a pitcher.

Last Monday night, now 19 and a solid six feet, five and three-quarter inches, he looked like a veteran as he hurled the Brooklyn Dodgers to a 4 to 1 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

It has to stand as one of the most phenomenal rises in major league history.

Back there, two years ago, big Don was known as "Porky." He hadn't started his rapid growth—one which has added an inch and three-quarters to his frame since the end of last season. And up to then he had been content to play the outfield as well as quarterback his high school football team in Van Nuys, Calif.

Then his dad told him it was about time for him to get going.

"Up until that time, Dad cautioned me against pitching on the theory that my arm wasn't strong and I might hurt it," he recalled. "But when he thought I was ready, during my senior year, we really went to work."

The elder Drysdale, a former pitcher in the Texas and Pacific Coast Leagues, gave young Don "the steady backyard routine."

"He caught me every day," Don says. "First we worked on warming up real good and concentrating on control. After that we began to open up with the fast ball and only then did he let me start throwing curves."

There were times when Don preferred to go hunting or fishing or listen to his large collection of popular records. His dad never pushed him, but, instead, told him "Don't—come around sometimes saying I wouldn't help you." Usually, Don picked up the gloves and headed for the back yard.

He came so fast that, by the time he graduated, the Dodgers signed him for $4,000 and sent him to Bakersfield. There he posted an 8 and 5 mark and in 1955 was sent to Montreal, where he had an 11-11 record.

"Deep down inside I thought I could pitch in the majors when Brooklyn took me to camp this spring," Don says with quiet confidence. "Particularly after pitching coach Joe Becker took me in hand and taught me to throw with an overhand and three-quarter delivery as well as sidearm."

When they signed him to a contract, Vice President Buzz Bavasi told him:

"It's easier to get up here than it is to stay."

Don has taken that to heart. Plus natural confidence, he has great determination and a will to work.

Littler Leads 2 Strokes In Tournney Of Champs

LAS VEGAS, Nev. —UP— Gene Littler, the 25-year-old ex-sailor, is ready to give the country's top professionals another lesson on how to play a flat, windy golf course.

Littler took off in the second round of the $37,500 Tournament of Champions Friday, holding a two-stroke lead over his 21 competitors — a better position than he was in last year when he went on to win this vent by 13 strokes.

Thursday he was the only man in the field of champions to break par, and he did it by two strokes. He was out in 34, and in 36 for a 70 on a course swept by 40-mile-an-hour winds.

"I played good," he said later, "but it was the putting that did it. On the fourth hole, I had a 65-footer and I was hoping to get close enough so I wouldn't three-putt. The ball had to roll over two humps. But it kept rolling right into the cup."

"Then I had two more putts that went down from better than 15 feet. That makes a lot of difference."

It took top-notch putting to stay in the race. Tied at even-par 72 were Doug Ford, the PGA champion from Mahopac, N. Y., Ted Kroll, Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and Shelley Mayfield, Westbury, N. Y. Kroll had a hot putter, too, knocking in four from distances of greater than 18 feet.

Veteran Harry Russum, St. An-draws, Ill., had a 73 and then came a flock of 74s.

There were some disappointments in the going, too. Dr. Cary Middlecott, who teed off as the 421st player, came off with a disappointing 79 — complaining about unfair favoring of the pins on the greens.

Tommy Bolt, who attended his father's funeral on Wednesday and then rode a plane all night to get here for this event, had troubles with his game (and the galleries, as usual) and came in with an 81.

And National Open Champion Jack Fleck, playing with Bolt, had to be content with an 82-high score for the day.

Three Records Jeopardized In Drake Relays

DES MOINES, Iowa —UP— At least three world records will be in jeopardy as perhaps the best overall field in the 47-year history of the Drake Relays takes to the cinders Friday.

Weather permitting, 803 top athletes from 75 colleges and universities across the nation could lead a major assault on 12 other relays marks.

Only a handful of records, Jesse Owens' 26-foot 8 1/4 inch broad jump among them, were considered out of reach.

Relays Director Bob Karnes called the field "one of the best that has been assembled any place outside a national meet."

Individuals and teams holding one world record and three American collegiate marks will be on hand in the sunken oval of Drake University Stadium with a prediction of fair cool weather.

Although world record holder Jim Golliday of Northwestern was forced to withdraw from the 100-yard dash because of a pulled leg muscle at least two top threats remained in contention. Dave Sims of Duke and Bobby Morrow of Abilene Christian each have official times of :09.4, compared with the world mark of :09.3. Karnes has ruled the 100-yard dash will be run "with the wind" Saturday afternoon.

Parry O'Brien, formerly of Southern California, will try to better his world record of 60feet in the shot put, and Les Binger of Kansas will be aiming at his own American collegiate mark of 248-feet 7-inch in the javelin throw.

Oklahoma A&M returns J. W. Mashburn, blond middle distance dynamo who was the outstanding performer in the 1955 relays, and Baylor has entered its strong team in the 440-yard relays. Baylor equalled the old world mark of :40.2 Saturday at the Kansas Relays as Texas established a new one of :40.1.

Lady Gains Bowling Lead... COLEMAN, N.Y. — UP — Only 100 bowlers have won the title in the American Bowling Congress tournament in the last 35 years, but Wade of Steubenville, Pa., could join that distinguished list on Friday by rolling a 300 and also took over third place in the all-around event with a 191 score.

Marion Out of Action... NEW YORK — UP — Second baseman Billy Martin of the New York Yankees will be out of action for four or five games because of a severe bruise and blood clot above his left elbow. He was hit by a pitched ball in Saturday's game with the Boston Red Sox. However, X-rays revealed no break. X-rays were negative on lefty Tommy Byrne, who was bruised on the hand fielding a hot drive. Byrne will not miss a turn.

Robert Montgomery, Daughter To Cross Words Next Month

By WILLIAM EWALD
NEW YORK —LP— Elizabeth Montgomery will cross words with her father come Monday night next month.

The 23-year-old daughter of the man who produces NBC-TV's "Robert Montgomery Presents" has signed up for a "Studio One" show on May 7, "The Drop of a Hat."

"Studio One," a 60-minute drama on CBS-TV, laps into the last half-hour of Robert Montgomery's 60-minute show in most cities around the nation.

"It's not really so odd," said Miss Montgomery from behind a borrowed cigaret. "This, you know, is the second time I've been opposite my father. I worked on a 'Studio One' show last year called 'Summer Pavilion.'"

"Does he mind? Lord no, it's the sort of thing that keeps both of us on toes."

Miss Montgomery, a blonde who still packs a little baby fat, worked as a steady member of her father's so-called "summer stock" company on NBC-TV last year. In the past, she has appeared in a number of other Montgomery segments, including one this past Monday.

But her dramatic efforts are not confined to her father's show alone. She also has toiled under the banner of the Kraft and Armstrong Circle Theatre shows.

"I would be stupid if I were to say I don't like being Robert Montgomery's daughter," she said. "You get into offices more easily and that sort of thing."

"But once you're in the offices, you're on your own. Your name doesn't make any difference. No one is going to hand a part to me simply because I happen to be somebody's daughter."

"There's another thing, too. Actually, being his daughter means that I have to work harder to prove myself to others. Others can make horrendous mistakes. I can't."

"My ability as an actress and my personal life both reflect on him. It sort of means that I have to work a little harder at everything."

ON PEACE MISSION — Dag Hammarskjöld, secretary general of the United Nations, is en route to the Middle East on a peace mission to Israel and the Arab nations. The U.N. Security Council approved the mission unanimously after objections by Russia and Arab bloc were overcome.

WHISTLER'S MA—Mother's off her rocker—long enough to demonstrate the new "exercycle," developed in New Barnet, England. The gadget, which consists of pedals and a graduated braking mechanism, is designed for use by paralytics. The pedal-pushing can be performed from the edge of a bed, or on a table for arm exercise.

Frick to Receive Award
BROOKLYN —UP— Ford Frick, baseball commissioner, has been named for the "Pythian Award of Merit" and will receive the award at ceremonies preceding the Dodger-St. Louis game at Ebbets Field May 15. The award is made by the Knights of Pythias and is being given to baseball "because of the efforts, example and interest of organized baseball in providing clean sport and recreation for the children of America."
