Brought Victory To Pampa Teams

By JOEL COMBS
Pampa News Staff Writer

A "d-yankie" claims part of the credit for the Pampa Harvesters' recent 4-year superiority over the Amarillo Sandies on the gridiron.

Warren Louis Hasse, who came to Pampa from Portage, Wis., in 1948, says the Sandies haven't beaten Pampa in football since he came except for last year and he's not so sure about them. (Remember last year's referee - first down muddle?)

Hasse came to Pampa as sports editor for The News and since his arrival, has become more or less

5 Americans, Freed By Reds, In Hong Kong

HONG KONG—Five Americans arrived in Hong Kong Monday from Red China aboard two British freighters which had run the Chinese Nationalist blockade from Shanghai.

One American, a Catholic nun, was 80 weeks also had to be carried ashore. Another, a young Houston, Texas cotton broker, was reported in serious physical condition.

The five civilians, detained in Red China for many years, were released under terms of a Geneva agreement between Communist China and the United States.

Those reaching the free world Monday:

Eva Stella Dugay, Sister Theresa 62, a native of New York who was a nun at the Roman Catholic Carmelite convent in Shanghai. She had been seriously ill in Shanghai but the Communists refused her an exit permit. She had to be carried ashore.

Dilous T. Kanady, 36, of 1415 Bonnie Brae St., Houston, Tex., last of 10 Americans charged with "crimes" by the Chinese Communists and sentenced to "expulsion."

He was reported in poor physical condition but declined hospital treatment on arrival.

Emma Angelina Barry, 13, daughter of an American who has been living in Shanghai with her mother, a White Russian who is not a U. S. citizen but was permitted to leave with her.

Robert Howard Parker, 43, a native of Philadelphia who has lived in China for more than 70 years.

Mrs. Peter Huizer, American wife of a Dutch businessman who was freed with her. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Munsterman, live in Wolcott, Ind.

Eisenhower's Condition Is 'Stable', Doctors Say

GOP Admits Ike Is 'Out'

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON —UP— Dismayed Republican leaders privately were conceding Monday that the heart attack which struck President Eisenhower down shortly would compel him to withdraw from the 1960 running.

They feared the "magic Eisenhower luck had faded. Democrats privately echoed this belief. Their bleak presidential prospects for next year suddenly shone like a desert sunrise.

Democrats and Republicans alike proclaimed business-as-usual

'Janet' Hits Jamaica; 104 Already Dead

MIAMI —UP—Hurricane Janet, with at least 104 persons dead in its wake, flung gales toward Jamaica Monday while its top winds of 110 miles per hour steered through the open Caribbean Sea.

Authorities reported 80 persons were known dead on Grenada and 24 on Barbados which were hit by 124-mile-per-hour winds in the hurricane's sweep across the Windward Islands last Thursday.

The death toll was feared rising. Entire families were reported crushed to death when landslides buried their dwellings or drowned in floods that cascaded upon the islands' populous villages.

Weathermen expected Jamaica to be brushed by flanking gales but hurricane winds would not reach any landfall for at least a day unless the tempest changed course.

Hurricane Janet moved erratically during the night and slowed down to 10 miles per hour but its general west-northwesterly course was not believed likely to carry any dangerous winds into Jamaica.

A 4 a. m. cat Miami weather bureau advisory located the center at about 250 miles south-southwest of Kingston, Jamaica.

Government agencies on the hard-hit Windward Islands were beginning to restore essential services such as water sewage disposal and electricity but still faced a big job of clearing debris and locating bodies.

Power was restored on a limited scale in the capital city of St. George but was used mainly to serve the hospitals, the sewage system, cold storage and the government broadcasting station.

A party from Puerto Rico arrived by U. S. Navy plane Sunday to discuss with local officials the chances of bringing in bulldozers and other heavy equipment.

Help was already arriving from nearby islands which had escaped damaging blows but large scale assistance was believed needed from other points.

Officials reported after a survey flight over the ravaged areas that there was "general devastation." The areas were blocked from any contact with St. George by deep ravines washed in roadways.

'Big Three' Wants Unity For Germany

WASHINGTON —UP— The United States, Britain and France have agreed that a unified Germany must be included in any Allied-Communist pact on European security.

On the eve of Big Three talks in New York, diplomats were very pessimistic, however, that the Allies can break through Russia's objections to German unification.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Harold MacMillan and French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay met in New York Tuesday and Wednesday to discuss the unification problem and other matters which will be considered at the Oct. 27 Geneva conference with Russia. German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano will sit in on the New York meetings when the Big Three discuss German problems.

"The Big Three also will discuss disarmament—particularly the effect of Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin's recent letter to President Eisenhower on the disarmament problem.

Mr. Eisenhower was expected to reply early this week to the Bulganin letter. The Soviet premier accepted the President's dramatic plan for aerial photography and exchange of military blueprints but insisted these moves should be accompanied by steps toward actual disarmament.

FIRST BABY SURPRISES COUPLE WED TEN YEARS

LOS ANGELES —UP— Mrs. Geraldine Mawhinney, 33, said Monday she thought she had entered general hospital Friday for treatment of "some sort of abdominal ailment."

Mrs. Mawhinney gave birth to a six-pound, six-ounce girl on Saturday. Her husband, Clyde, 44, said he had no idea she was expecting a baby.

"We're really green," he said.

"We don't know anything about this. We've been married 10 years but this is our first baby."

Ike's Illness Weakens Shivers

AUSTIN —UP— President Eisenhower's heart attack will weaken the political bargaining power of Gov. Allan Shivers' conservative Democrats, observers privately predicted Monday.

The effects, they said, will be felt on the state level in a contest with liberals for control of the Texas party as well as in the national councils of the Democrats.

If Mr. Eisenhower's physical condition compels him to withdraw from the 1956 presidential race, Texas may no longer hold its key position as a political power.

New optimism by Democratic national leaders is expected to quickly dilute previous prospects for compromise with Texas conservatives.

With prospects strong that Mr. Eisenhower would seek re-election, Texas' Democratic vote was a necessary part for a Democratic victory.

Shivers, who demonstrated his political muscle in 1952 by making Texas Republican, held a possible balance of power. The bargaining weight rested with the conservatives.

With the Eisenhower personality lost as a rallying beacon, Democrats are expected to see their presidential prospects blossom—at least in Texas.

The first effects may be seen Oct. 6 at Fort Worth where members of the Texas Democratic executive committee will meet to select a successor to Wright Morrow, recently ousted as national Democratic committeeman.

Morrow, who voted for Mr. Eisenhower in 1952, was jettisoned as an opening overture toward restoration of harmony between Texas conservative Democrats and the national party leadership.

Two persons have been mentioned prominently as possible successors to a multitude of likely candidates — the governor himself and Lloyd Bentsen Jr., former congressman and Rio Grande Valley neighbor of the Shivers.

Mr. Eisenhower's heart attack may occasion a switch in signals. Previously, it seemed likely the governor might have been accepted as a successor to Morrow — despite the fact Shivers himself led a campaign that saw Texas go Republican for the second time in history.

Bolestering this possibility was the fact the governor voiced the final demand that Morrow must go — an act that might have been interpreted as repentance on the part of Texas' conservative Democrats.

Yanks, 'Bums' Get Set For World Series

NEW YORK —UP— The torrid New York Yankees and the stumbling Brooklyn Dodgers marshaled their forces for workouts in their home parks Monday with the American League champions 13 to 10 favorites to win the World Series.

The Yankees were also 13 to 10 choices to win Wednesday's opening game at Yankee Stadium.

In establishing the Yankees as favorites, the oddsmakers were going for the team which will go into the Series red hot. The Yankees won nine out of 10 games to clinch the pennant. The Dodgers, on the other hand, have been coasting along with pitching miseries ever since they clinched the National League pennant on Sept. 8.

Manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees had only one player problem two days before the Series opens — the condition of his centerfield star, Mickey Mantle. Mantle pulled a muscle in his thigh Sept. 23 and hasn't played since.

Manager Walt Alston of the Dodgers had three questionable pitchers — right handers Carl Erskine and Billy Loes and southpaw Johnny Podres, who have been of little use since mid-season because of injury.

Stengel said it might be Wednesday before he knows whether Mantle, who led the American League with 37 home runs, will be able to play.

Alston said Monday that, "as of right now, Loes is my No. 2 pitcher." Previously he had been figuring on Erskine, an 11-game winner, to hurl the second game of the series but Loes, a 10-game winner, has appeared "much sharper" in recent workouts, according to Alston.

Erskine, who has had trouble with his right shoulder since July, now is expected to hurl Thursday when the series switches to Ebbets Field, Brooklyn. Podres, who has a rib injury, or southpaw Karl Spooner may pitch the fourth game — unless Brooklyn is losing the series by that time.

Dodger ace Don Newcombe, with a 20-5 record, will face southpaw Ed (Whitey) Ford in the first game. Ford has won 18 games and lost seven.

For the second game, Stengel will call on the other lefty, Tommy Byrne, a 16-game winner.

Negro Mobs Protest Till Trial Verdict

GREENWOOD, Miss., Sept. 26 —UP— Thousands of Negroes at rallies in New York, Chicago and Detroit Sunday protested the acquittal of two white men in the Emmet Till "wolf whistle" murder case.

Half-brothers Roy Bryant and J. W. Milam, found innocent of murder last Friday, were being held here pending a bond hearing, probably Friday, on an additional charge of kidnaping the 14-year-old Negro boy.

Freed of possible death sentences, the men faced maximum 10-year sentences if convicted of kidnaping the young visitor from Chicago in reprisal for his alleged insult of Bryant's young wife.

At the New York rally an estimated 10,000 Negroes approved a resolution asking for a special session of Congress to enact stiffer measures to stamp out so-called "lynch" incidents in the South.

At Detroit, more than 6,000 persons cheered Rep. Charles Diggs Jr. (D-Mich.), who attacked "Sheer perjury and fantastic twisting of facts" at the murder trial last week.

An estimated 2,000 persons gathered Sunday night in Chicago's Metropolitan Community Church to listen to Willie Reed, 18, a witness in the trial.

Delegation Of Powers Considered By Officials

By MERRIMAN SMITH
DENVER —UP— President Eisenhower's doctors reported early Monday that he spent another "comfortable night" and that his "condition remains stable" at Fitzsimons Army Hospital where he is in an oxygen tent.

At 8 a. m. (cst), assistant White House press secretary Murray Snyder read newsmen the following bulletin from the physicians:

"The President had a comfortable night. His condition remains stable."

The bulletin was from Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, the President's personal White House physician, and Col. Byron E. Pollock, Fitzsimons' top heart specialist.

May Delegate Duties

Dr. Paul Dudley White of Massachusetts General Hospital at Boston, who flew here Sunday to join the team of presidential physicians, was scheduled to examine the President again later in the morning. "White is one of the world's top heart specialists.

Meanwhile administration officials sought a formal decision on a possible delegation of powers by

Ike's Attack Not Big News To Doctors

NEW YORK —UP— Heart specialists said Monday that the news from President Eisenhower's sick room added up, from the medical viewpoint, to very little news.

They spoke not in criticism nor respectfully but factually. How much detail and what details disclosed about the incapacitating illness of any person are matters for those close to that person to decide. It is never a matter for the attending physicians.

Medically a coronary thrombosis—which is a clot in one of the arteries nourishing the muscular tissue of the heart—is an "accident." As in any other kind of accident, the key information is not that an accident occurred, but the consequences of the accident.

With a coronary thrombosis, the consequences—if there are consequences—take place in the heart's muscular tissue—the myocardium. All the body's tissues must be nourished constantly by the circulating blood. A blocking clot or thrombosis in a coronary artery interrupts the flow to that part of the myocardium which that particular artery serves. An area of tissue dies from want of blood. That area, medically, is an infarct.

But clots without consequences are rare, and the doctors with whom this writer talked assumed that the President's accident had resulted in a myocardial infarction. They assumed so because dispatches quoted one of his physicians as speaking of "healing." If the area of dead and dying tissue is not too large, it often "heals"—scar tissue forms over it and the heart muscle function effectively.

Galveston's Vice Front Now Quiet

GALVESTON, Tex. —UP— Galveston's highly-lit waterfront district of bars and gambling houses were strangely quiet Monday as the first real organized drive against sex and sin took its toll.

The island resort just completed one of its quietest weekends in history. Downtown streets, usually bustling with cars at night, were all but deserted except for church traffic Sunday morning.

Police Commissioner Walter Johnston and a detail of five detectives raided seven night clubs over the weekend and filed charges against their operators.

Doubts It Will Last

Mayor George Roy Clough, an advocate of controlled vice, said Johnston "will never live down" his attempt to shut up the city. Clough said he doesn't believe the crackdown will last more than 30 days.

But leading businessmen of the city have different opinions.

E. J. Pennington, the normally soft-spoken president of the Galveston Chamber of Commerce, said the "bars and bawdyhouses" are closed for good.

Clough said he won't fight the crackdown on vice "unless citizens ask me, and so far none has."

Clough doesn't believe in violation of state law which forbids gambling and liquor by the drink, along with prostitution, but he still thinks a red light district is necessary in Galveston.

Reaction Varies

"There are some laws that were not meant to be enforced," he said. "Clough feels that the money the city will lose by closing the bawdyhouses and clubs and gaming houses will hurt Galveston's economy."

TEXAN

(Continued From Page One) ever, that one Pampa fan placed a long distance call to him in Clovis when the Oilers were playing there not knowing that Warren was broadcasting from the station in the Hughes building.

Warren's first impressions of a Texas grid battle were not exactly rosy. One of the first games he covered for The News after coming to Pampa in 1948 was the Lefors-Phillips bi-district game which was played in Harvester Park in a raging blizzard. While walking to the press box, the wind blew off his hat and whisked it away. Even though it was a gift from his father, Warren failed to give chase thinking it was gone for sure. He covered the entire game from the press box, hatless. Two hours later, after the game, he was walking back to his car and there was his hat. The wind had held it steadily against a pole about five feet off the ground during the entire game. He just walked back and picked it off as if it were on a hot rack and remarked that Texas winds were certainly considerate.

Warren's wife, Romelle (better known as "Peg") is also a Wisconsinite. They married in January of 1914 in Avon Park, Fla. Just before Warren went overseas they have two "little 'uns", John, who will be six in November, and Mary, who was three this month.

Warren, who is a member of Kiwanis, a chamber of commerce director, and a member of the Red Cross official board, says he actually is a frustrated ball player. In his first attempt at semi-pro baseball, he struck out five times in five times at bat and didn't even get a loud foul.

Since that unfortunate beginning, he has stuck to broadcasting and writing about the games. He has stuck to it so much, in fact, that it is not uncommon for his children to tell their mother that there's a stranger in the house when he comes home.

Warren enjoys his work, though, especially meeting and knowing the players, coaches and parents. He likes Pampa, too. He says, "I like it, specially the people."

His biggest sports thrill has been broadcasting the Harvester state championship basketball games but singles out the game between Pampa and Amarillo in the field house at Canyon in the 1949-50 season as the biggest thriller.

Cars Needed For Parade

C. A. "Lefty" Huff, chairman of the parade committee of the Pampa Shrine Club, which is sponsoring the Horace Heidt Swift Show wagon here Oct. 4, issued a call for convertibles for the Heidt parade to be held at 3 p.m., Oct. 4.

The cars are needed to carry 15 beautiful girls, the Heidt Steppers in the parade. Huff requested that any who wish to drive their convertible in the parade call 4-9719, the number of the Dr. Pepper bottling company, and ask for him.

Auditions for the Heidt show, which will be presented at 8 p.m., Oct. 4, in Harvester Field House, will be held tomorrow night at 7 p.m. in the Palm Room of City Hall.

Jack King, Chicago talent scout for the Heidt show, will be present to select the three best numbers for appearance in the two and a half hour variety show.

E. O. "Red" Wedgworth, chamber of commerce manager, reported this morning that approximately 16 numbers had already signified their intention to compete in the auditions. He added that any interested parties may enter the contest by calling the chamber of commerce office.

Mrs. Ann Elizabeth Drake, 627 N. Somerville, died of a heart attack at 12:45 p.m. Sunday in Levelland. Mrs. Drake was born in Council Bluffs, Iowa, July 3, 1896.

Mrs. Drake was a member of St. Matthews Episcopal Church. She left Pampa Sunday to visit Girls' Town at Whiteface. She suffered the heart attack while she was there and was taken to the Levelland hospital where she was pronounced dead on arrival.

She moved to Pampa in 1926 from Colorado.

Mrs. Drake is survived by two sons, R. W. Drake, Amarillo and E. C. Drake who is in Germany; one daughter, Mrs. H. E. Cows Get Drunk On 'Moonshine'

SAPULPA, Okla.—UP—Moo, hic, moo!

Cows in the Sapulpa and Cushing area lusted those cowbells Monday. They were suffering from hangers resulting from the latest spillover in the Creek county sheriff's war on moonshiners.

It might have been some time before Sheriff Lee Johnson's whiskey raiders found the still in the woods near the Old Coyote Trail south of Keystone had it not been for old Bossy.

But officers knew just where to look when a herd of happy Jersey cows weaving down the trail, chewing their cud in heavy-eyed contentment. They had found a most unusual stock pond.

One farmer complained his cows "came in so drunk, I couldn't even milk them." Another, who said his herd had been staggering home on a binge night after night, said "it was the craziest thing you've ever seen."

Deputy Sheriff Walter Kyser furnished the explanation. The cows had wandered into an area where a 55-gallon crock was operating. Part of liquor was piped across a small creek, polluting the water with moonshine.

"Right near the edge, the water was heavily coated with homemade whiskey," Kyser said.

Sheriff Johnson and two federal agents, posing as oil field workers, arrested two brothers, Lewis and Cecil Jackson, of Sand Springs. The moonshine factory, including 350 gallons of mash, was destroyed.

It was the third full to go under the six within a month. Earlier, officers uncovered an ingenious operation in which moonshine was piped through hollow table legs in a workshop.

Johnson said "those gurgling table legs" gave it away.

Fort Worth Paper To Become 'Tab'

FORT WORTH, Tex.—UP—The Fort Worth Press announced Monday, as it approached its 34th anniversary, that it will change to tabloid size and publish a Sunday edition.

The Press, a Scripps-Howard newspaper, has been a Monday through Saturday afternoon daily. The Saturday afternoon edition will be dropped.

The first issue of the new six-column tabloid Press will be published Sunday, Oct. 2, the day before the newspaper's anniversary date.

A 16-page color comic-section will accompany the Sunday edition of the Press.

Walter R. Humphrey, Press editor, said the new plans were "something we have had in mind for our readers a long time."

"It has been our opinion that Fort Worth newspaper readers are ready for this modern, more progressive newspaper design," Humphrey said. "It is not the result of a sudden decision, but rather of careful planning and study of reader needs, circulation and advertising potential."

"Early response has proved beyond question that we are right. We are looking forward to rapid progress for the Press throughout our circulation area," Humphrey said.

Leslie E. Yates, Press business manager, said the newspaper's present subscription and advertising rates would be continued. Home delivery rate is 25 cents a week, or $1.10 a month. The Sunday edition, however, will sell at 10 cents a copy.

Crime Report Given For U.S.

WASHINGTON —UP— In the 10 months, 43 major crimes were committed in the United States. That is the present crime rate, the FBI said Monday.

During each day of the first six months of this year, 31 persons were slain, 255 were assaulted, 51 were raped, and 607 cars were stolen. Every day there were 3,714 larcenies, 167 robberies, and 1,405 burglaries.

There was a total of 1,128,350 major crimes in the six-month period — an average of one every 13.9 seconds.

The only encouraging sign reported by the FBI was that the crime rate in 1955 was slightly lower — seven-tenths of one percent — than during the corresponding period of 1954. It was the first drop since 1948.

A total of 6,240 persons were slain in the six months, while 55,419 persons were assaulted by rapists or potential killers. Robbers jeopardized the lives of more than 39,000 persons.

Charges Filed In Shamrock Fatal Mishap

SHAMROCK — (Special) Wheeler County Attorney, Guy Hardin, announced today that Highway Patrolman R. C. Parker filed charges of negligent homicide in the second degree against Ferguson Cross, driver of one auto involved in the accident last Thursday which resulted in the death of six persons.

The charge has been filed in connection with the death of Shelby Fitzsimmons of Oklahoma.

A warrant for the arrest of Cross is pending his release from the hospital. He is still in critical condition.

County Attorney Hardin said today that there is a possibility of five other complaints as a result of the accident.

Thieves Hit Car Pockets

Mr. Eisenhower Sunday had his first solid food he had received in his first 24 hours in the hospital. Apparently in good spirits, he asked for and was brought a bowl of oatmeal for lunch.

Later, he visited briefly with his son, Maj. John Eisenhower, who flew here from Washington.

Other visitors included the President's wife, who has been staying in a room across the hall in the hospital's four-room tower suite where Mr. Eisenhower is confined.

The President still was under an oxygen tent but doctors stressed that this was routine in heart cases. He lay with the upper part of his body enclosed in the transparent glassine tent which provides a regulated flow of oxygen to make Mr. Eisenhower's breathing easier and to make him more comfortable.

Chief of Police Jim Conner urged motorists this morning to be careful about leaving billfolds, purses, and other valuables in unlocked automobiles while parked.

A total of $89 in cash and a $5 check in a purse was taken from a glove compartment of a parked car sometime last night, and reported to Police at 8:05 this morning. The purse was found this morning in front of Your Laundry and Dry Cleaners with the money missing. It is possible that the purse was taken from the car while parked in front of the Central Baptist Church.

Conner said that many articles, including billfolds, have been taken from unlocked cars lately.

Saarland May Become Hot Spot Of Europe Very Soon

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Foreign Analyst

A tiny pocket of territory nestled between France and Germany is likely to become the hottest spot in Europe soon.

It is the Saarland, most prosperous and most thickly populated area of Europe. Its people are German speaking and of German stock.

Into its 990.9 square miles 960,000 people are crowded—968 to the square mile. Its wealth lies in its coal fields.

Saarlanders are to vote on Oct. 23 whether to give themselves a "European" status pending the final signature of a German peace treaty.

If they vote "yes," they will open a new chapter in their history, which dates back to Roman times.

Heated Campaign
Campaigning has been under way since July. It has been getting steadily more heated. There have been some riotous campaign meetings and there may be more.

Leading the fight for Europeanization is postily, jovial Johannes Hoffman, who is the Saar's prime minister.

Hoffman also is foreign minister, minister for European affairs, public works minister, reconstruction minister and minister of Education.

Opposing are the leaders of three pro-German parties including Heinrich Schneider, unreconstructed Nazi who cherishes a photograph showing him in a brown-shirt uniform in Berlin in 1934.

The Saar vote is being held in pursuance of an agreement made between West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and Pierre Mendès-France, then premier of France.

Adenauer has appealed to the people of the Saar to vote for Europeanization in the interest of European unity. At the same time he opposes Hoffman personally. He says the Saarlanders after accepting the new status can throw Hoffman out and elect a new government.

Economic Ties
The Saar has been tied economically to France since the end of World War II. Its importance to France lies in its enormously rich coal mines which fit in with the iron mines of French Lorraine.

The French-Saar tie would be maintained if Saarlanders accepted European status. But the Saar would be governed under the auspices of the Western European Union. The WEU is the framework within which West Germany allied itself to the West.

If Saarlanders vote "yes" in the plebiscite it will be a personal victory for Hoffman, the onetime newspaper editor who fought the German Nazis bitterly for years and fled to Brazil during the war to escape the Gestapo.

Hoffman is a strong believer in complete European economic cooperation. A most unpretentious man, he plays cards with a group of old friends each Friday night at a hotel in Saarbrücken. His nickname is "Jomo." He has been threatened with death for his views on the Saar's future. But he does not frighten easily.

Connie moved to Hollywood a year ago "so I could be near the fights at Tijuana." At first she worked as a secretary "because my parents refused financial aid."

Last week she was able to quit her job after she won $3,155 on an ABC-TV quiz show, "Penny for a Million."

When I tracked down Connie at the club, several of her housemates were giggling with their boy friends in the lobby. Kim Novak, Columbia's new star, rushed in, still in make-up from her movie set of "The Eddie Duchin Story."

In a music room upstairs, a voice trilled the scales. From another room a piano boomed.

But Connie stood in the patio, practicing "Veronica" with an old hatbox.

"The girls usually play the part of the bull for me," she said. "It helps them lose weight. More girls have lost 10 pounds in this place from working with me. It's great exercise."

Of all the inmates of the studio club, this year's Miss Universe and Miss Ceylon, a runner-up, make the best bulls, Connie decided.

After her workout, Connie sat down to explain she got the bull-fighting bug when her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Moore of Wichita, took her to a "corrida" in Mexico City. She was 14.

"I got very interested and read a lot of books about bullfighting," she said. "I told my parents that's

Dressing Window Mannequin Is No 'Sissy Job,' Man Says

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON, (UP)—Paul Firestone and I were standing there behind a drawn curtain. With us was a nude lady, bust size 32, dress size 10, but with no head and no legs.

"Here is the way we do it," said Paul. And he went to work on the dress form.

That's Paul's job, putting dresses on lifeless ladies in the windows of the posh Julius Garfinckel store. He is supposed to be one of the best dressers in the business.

And from the way he man-handled that dress form, I am ready to believe that he is. He prefers headless and legless forms to the full-grown dummies that are called mannequins.

"I never had used mannequins," he told me. "The heads bother you when you're trying to create something. They don't look natural. And the legs are in the way."

Not Sissy Job
Paul, a gray-haired little fellow, got into the window-dressing business by accident. He was in high school in York, Pa., and picking up pennies from paper peddling when a local merchant asked him if he would like to start dressing up phony women in windows for $2 a week. Paul said he would try. He did and he made good.

"There is nothing sissy about it," he said with pardonable pride. "I could have been a steam-fitter or a mechanic."

Paul has been with the store here for 29 years.

He has his secrets for dressing store windows. Most of them he keeps under his hat. But he gave me a few. His windows are out of this world. They attract people, which is his job.

"Got to tease 'em to get 'em into the store," he confessed. "Idea is not to show too much. Get the purse and the jewelry in the right place. And see that they match, or complement each other."

Takes Paul something like two hours to get a window ready. He has some helpers, but he does all of the blue-printing and supervising. The helpers do some of the arranging.

The biggest show window at Garfinckel's is at the intersection of 14th and F streets, one of the busiest corners in downtown Washington. Generally it contains the latest creations, the most expensive. The poor and the rich alike stand and drool at gowns that generally run from $295 to $650.

Most expensive of these fancy things was something that was not for sale, a sample chinchilla coat worth $24,000.

The expensive stuff is dragged in each night—and vaulted. "Not," Paul said, "that we don't trust people. The cops and our guards are very good. But windows can be busted."

No pane has been busted by crooks since Paul has been there. Funniest thing that has happened to Paul was a few years ago when a woman came in and asked for a handbag like one she said

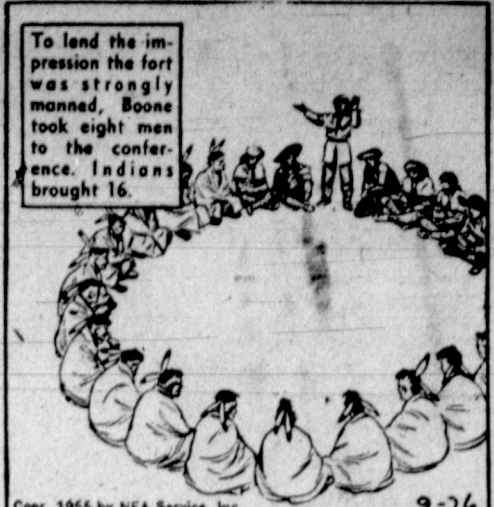

DANIEL BOONE

In September, 1778, nearly 500 Indians, led by 12 Tories, appeared, demanding Boonesborough's surrender. The alternative was death.

Boone had sent a messenger for help. To gain time, he asked Blackfish, his Shawnee "father," to "powwow."

To lend the impression the fort was strongly manned, Boone took eight men to the conference. Indians brought 16.

Boone stalled for three days, while women stocked the fort for a siege.

she had seen in a window display. The salesgirls showed her everything in stock but she kept saying no, that's not it. Paul was called. After a lot of questions and answers, the woman finally admitted she may have seen it in somebody else's window. Paul Firestone sent her away happy with one of Garfinckel's own bags.

Salesmanship, that.

MAKING A GO OF LIFE

By ROY L. SMITH
Read Revelation 7:13-17

God presses in upon us. The questions concerning which we were thinking yesterday lead us out into an entirely different phase of life, one into which none but a self-conscious individual can ever go. It is a region far out beyond sex, hunger, or physical sensations. As we pursue the questions we find ourselves suddenly thrust out beyond the range of intellectual curiosity to where we deal with issues which cannot be reduced to mere mental measurements. As we pursue the quest we find ourselves forced to make profound moral decisions in which the most minute details of existence are involved. We leave off asking "why" we live, and begin deciding "how" we shall live.

In the fact that all human beings ask these searching questions we discover one of God's first credentials. We are all well aware of the fact that these queries, surge up within us, but we are also sensible of the additional fact that they are not a part of us. They are forced upon us from "something" or "someone" outside us. For the lack of a better name we say it is "God."

Let anyone who questions whether or not he has ever met God recall the instances when he has been compelled to deal with such questions. Let him remember the restless nights, the persistent way in which the problems pursued him. Let him recall how he thought more carefully than he ever did in his life before. Then let him put this down as a great discovery.

Connie Moore Has Desire To Become A Bull Fighter

By ALINE MOSBY
HOLLYWOOD—UP—At Hollywood's famed Studio Club, a fancy rooming house for young starlets, you can find the girls rehearsing their drama lessons, singing or trying new dance steps—except for Connie Moore.

She rehearses with a bathrobe. While the other beauties are studying to be actresses, the Kansas brunette is styling to be a bull-fighter.

"I can't explain exactly why," she confessed in an interview. "It's the glory, the money and, well, I've always been attracted to danger. I like to drive my car fast, too."

When I tracked down Connie at the club, several of her housemates were giggling with their boy friends in the lobby. Kim Novak, Columbia's new star, rushed in, still in make-up from her movie set of "The Eddie Duchin Story."

An important point about stock car racing that may not have occurred to you:

The safer car wins

and Chevrolet is the big winner

Faster acceleration means safer passing

Chevrolet's cannonball acceleration has punched past many a bigger car to victory. But the same blazing surge is a vital safety factor on the highway—one that can whisk you more safely around other cars and out of critical situations.

Easier, super accurate steering

Nimble is the word for Chevrolet. But you don't have to see them in action on a tight quarter-mile track

More stability on curves

Chevrolet's famous stability means money in the bank to the race driver—it lets him broadside through turns faster and smoother. But it means peace of mind to you on the road—more comfort in every curve and less body-roll with broad-based Outrigger rear springs, extra security if you have to swerve sharply to meet an emergency, a solid "one-piece" feel that is a delight to any driver.

The ability to slow down and stop quickly and smoothly

Those big 11-inch brakes have averted many a disaster in the close-packed battle of racing. But they weren't designed for that; they were made to give you "heads-up" stops and extra stopping power in traffic, on mountain grades, on high-speed expressways. Competition has merely proved their margin of superiority!

Come in and try out this new winner yourself . . . and see how easy we're making it to buy a Chevrolet right now!

Mrs. Paul Keim Speaks On Schools To Parish Council

Holy Soul's Parish Council held its first meeting of the year recently in Parish Hall. Mrs. Roy McKernan, president, was in charge.

Guest speaker was Mrs. Paul Keim, teacher in Horace Mann School, whose topic was "Catholic Contribution to Education."

"The educational method used today in public and parochial schools are from the efforts of many Catholic educators of the 17th, 18th and 19th centuries," she told the group. "St. Ignatius Loyola's contribution to education is still in use today. Parochial schools' superiority lies in the fact that four 'R's' are taught in preference to the usual three."

She went on to explain the four "R's" as "reading, riting, rithmetic and religion." Rev. Phillip LeFever, C. M., newly appointed assistant pastor of Holy Soul's parish was introduced to the group.

Mrs. Mike Roche, chairman of the social service and immigration committee asked for the combined effort of all parishioners to help learn and meet the needs of the citizens of the community and parish.

Christmas greeting cards were displayed for the convenience of the members present. Twenty-five members attended.

RUTH MILLETT

A wife and an unmarried woman parked their cars side by side and went into a meeting.

During the hour they were inside a rainstorm came up suddenly and since both had neglected to roll up their car windows, the upholstery in both was soaked.

Looking at the damage, the married woman said with dismay, "Jim will have a fit. He'll never understand how I could have been so careless."

The unmarried woman said with a laugh: "At least I won't have to explain my stupidity to anyone. Once in a while it's nice NOT to have a husband."

Any wife can think of times when it would be down-right convenient not to have a husband.

Like when she finds an expensive hat irresistible but dreads the moment when her husband will ask "How much?"

Like when she has the house in perfect order for an important party and 30 minutes before the guests are due to arrive her husband starts yanking things out of closets looking for a fishing hat he hasn't thought of in two years.

Like when she wants to shift the living room furniture around and her husband puts his foot down with the question a woman can never answer in a way a man will understand, "What's the matter with it the way it is?"

Like when she puts the first dent in the new car. If the husband had been at the wheel it would have been someone else's fault. But a husband always acts skeptical when wife blames her driving on someone else.

Like when her husband expansively asks the crowd to come by the house for something to eat and she knows both the cupboard and ice box are bare.

Those are the brief moments in life when it would be mighty nice NOT to have a husband to account to or complicate things.

But most of the time having a man of her own is a woman's proudest accomplishment.

Jane Talk' By JANE KADINGO Pampa News' Women's Editor

THERE WAS A TIME when you could step into a neighbor's kitchen and find almost an exact duplication of your own. About the only variation might be in the color scheme. But one can hardly say that about modern kitchen styling. Fortunately, today's kitchen cabinet manufacturers have developed a wide variety of functional and beauty features which make it possible for each kitchen to be truly distinctive.

THIS SORT OF UNIQUE styling for our workshop, suits us women fine. For everyone of us nowadays is striving for individuality in our homes as much as in our dress.

Such distinction coupled with functional efficiency is particularly true in the case of the newest eye-catching steel kitchens. They are being designed in standard wall and base cabinets augmented with a variety of special purpose cabinets.

Pass-through serving arrangements utilizing steel units are being used more and more frequently in kitchen styling to lend a note of open-space planning, for instance. This type arrangement is popular for it gives an illusion of more room between a small kitchen and dining area. However, even this styling lends itself well to variation. In some cases, the room dividers are fashioned with rows of standard steel cabinets, in both wall and base units.

Then there are special purpose cabinets of steel, too, which have sliding doors or double door openings on both sides which can serve as room dividers. The additional shelves provided by these cabinets offer extra storage space for kitchen supplies. And there are ever a housewife who had too much storage space?

Island arrangements frequently are possible in large kitchens with these special purpose cabinets. It is a wonderfully convenient arrangement, for it gives you an excellent work and storage place right in the center of the room.

Another streamlining feature which lends a graceful finishing touch to room dividers and island stylings, are special quarter-round steel cabinets. These gently curved units, when placed at the end of a row of cabinets, conserve space near entryways too.

All of the special purpose cabinets are constructed of the same sturdy, non-warping materials of the standard steel cabinets and blend with their general design. In fact, it is easy today to fashion a distinctive kitchen that reflects your own personal preferences and tastes, with the countless unique steel cabinet stylings which are available.

IF YOUR PORCELAIN stove, refrigerator, sink, automatic washer and dryer or cabinets have that dull grey look here's a tip for shining them back to original newness. Just use one teaspoon of a controlled subs detergent, like "all", in warm water, and rub a cloth over the soiled areas. You'll be amazed how fast the dulling grease film is removed and your equipment begins to shine.

Adhesive Veneer To Brighten Walls

If you're wondering how to add color to a dull, old bathroom without investing much money, here's suggestion: Cover some of the worn-out, chipped, or cracked areas with one of the decorative new adhesive wall materials now being shown in the stores.

One of the newest is an adhesive veneer known as Marvalon, a pliable, durable material which clings tightly to any flat surface when it is pressed firmly into place. No tacks are needed.

Because it is heat and moisture-resistant, this adhesive veneer is ideal for covering such areas as splash walls near a tub or wash basin. Use it to trim the medicine cabinet, too, or to cover the top of a dressing table or hamper that may be scratched. It's an easy way to add new life to an old room at little cost. And it's fun to work with.

At the same time you are decorating larger areas in the bathroom you can dress up shelves or cabinet drawers with companion shelf and drawer linings. All three products are available in department and hardware stores and some variety stores in 18 matching solid colors. Checks, and a few patterns for novelty effects.

Bootie Cakes Brighten New Baby Celebration

GAYNOR MADDOX NEA Food and Markets Editor If you want to give a shower for a friend or relative expecting a baby, or for a newly arrived baby, we think you will like the idea of the bootie cakes.

BOOTIE CAKES

(Makes about 16 servings) One package instant white cake mix, 1 cup water, 2 egg whites, unbeaten; 1-2 teaspoon almond extract, 3-4 cup finely cut shredded coconut, tinted pink; butter cream frosting, blue and red food coloring, 2 marshmallows.

Empty cake mix into bowl. Add water, egg whites and almond extract. Beat 3 minutes until smooth and creamy. Pour half the batter into one 13x9x2 - inch pan, which has been lined on bottom with paper. Sprinkle pink-tinted coconut over the batter.

Spoon remaining batter over the coconut, spreading carefully to avoid disturbing the coconut. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 35 to 40 minutes.

When cake is cool, cut into slices of 2 baby booties. Set on a table, uncovered, for about 15 minutes so that cut sides will not become soggy when frosted.

Prepare butter cream frosting.

Reserve 1/4 cup for decorating. Spread remainder over top and sides of each bootie. Tint half of the reserved frosting pale blue and the other half a delicate pink.

Using a cake decorator, make two wavy lines of the blue frosting at top of one bootie to resemble ruffles. At ankle make a dotted line of frosting to resemble a drawstring and two loops to resemble a bow. Repeat on other bootie using pink frosting.

For pompons, slice marshmallows in half. Frost two halves blue and the other two pink. Sprinkle with white coconut and mount blue pompons on the pink-decorated bootie and pink pompons on the blue bootie.

BUTTER CREAM FROSTING Cream 1/2 cup butter or margarine until soft. Add 1/2 teaspoon salt. Measure 3 1/2 cups (1 pound) sifted confectioners' sugar. Add part of sugar gradually to butter or margarine, blending after each addition. Then add 2 unbleached egg yolks and 1 teaspoon vanilla. Blend well.

Add remaining sugar alternately with about 2 tablespoons milk until of right consistency to spread, beating after each addition until smooth.

University Chief Won't Re-hire Prof

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 — Hurst R. Anderson, president of American University, said Saturday "no pressure under heaven" could force him to withdraw the firing of a professor who once belonged to three Communist cells in the government.

He said he felt that any relationship between the professor, Herbert Fuchs, and the university is "undesirable."

Anderson made his statement after Rep. Gordon L. Scherer (R-Ohio) said it would be a "terrible mistake" for the university to discharge Fuchs. The American Civil Liberties Union also came to Fuchs' defense.

Scherer, a member of the House Un-American Activities committee, said Fuchs had given the committee valuable information on Communist infiltration of the government.

Fuchs is a former solicitor for the National Labor Relations Board.

Scherer said the committee has not received such important testimony "since the Hiss case."

Anderson conceded that what he knew of Fuchs' testimony was "startling."

But he said that even though Fuchs had broken with the Communist party and is cooperating with the House committee, "I don't feel a man with that kind of background should be teaching in the university."

Anderson said his "first reaction was always to defend a man," but the more he learned of the Fuchs case "the more certain I was of the action to take."

Says Thinking of Students Scherer is just thinking of one thing, Anderson added. "He does not want to upset a witness who is talking."

"There is some merit in this position, but I have to think of the students at this university. This is no fly-by-night decision. We have taken three months to reach it."

Anderson said forcefully: "No pressure under heaven can force a college president to recommend a reappointment."

Actually, Fuchs is on leave until his contract expires next June. He is not teaching and his contract will not be renewed.

'Yellow Rose' Composer Is No Texan

By ROBERT ZIMMERMAN

NEW YORK — Don George, the latest songwriter, to celebrate the glories of Texas in words and music, confessed Monday his recollections of the Lone Star state were too vague to be of much help when he put together the current No. 1 song hit, "Yellow Rose of Texas."

In fact, the inspiration came to him in a barbershop, near Times Square.

"Don't get me wrong. I've been to Texas," said George, fingering a glass of milk at a local chuck-wagon called Tools Shor's, "Well, through Texas, anyhow."

Confirmed Yankee Though a confirmed New Yorker, born within earshot of Tin Pan Alley, George has made three or four trips to Hollywood, the opposite pole of the songwriter's world.

"Once they were having blizzard in the Midwest and I had to take a southern route. I thought I'd never get through Texas. It just goes on and on," he said.

"Yellow Rose of Texas" has gone on and on, too, since it was released last July. Its rise to No. 1 on record and sheet music best-seller lists was even more rapid than "Davy Crockett," and George's latest figures show the record sales have topped two million.

The march-like air and its lyrics paying tribute to a Texas beauty were adapted from a traditional camp song of Civil War days. The Dallas Chamber of Commerce last month arranged a "Yellow Rose of Texas Day" as a tribute to the old number's new-found popularity.

Off-and-on Writer George, an off-and-on songwriter for more than 20 years, doesn't feel guilty about collecting author's royalties on a tune which was cribbed from a history book. He is convinced "Yellow Rose" could never have become popular today in its original form.

A disc jockey in Cleveland heard the original version on that record issued last spring called "The Confederacy." He suggested to my publisher that somebody ought to make a pop song out of it.

"I listened to it in the publisher's office and we decided to get a haircut. By the time the barber was through, so was I," said George.

He does all that with the services and products he offers in Dean Monday's Service Station, 301 S. Foster, 4-6501.

GOP Leaders Look For New Candidate

WASHINGTON, Sept. 24 — President Eisenhower's heart seizure Saturday shattered the confidence of Republican leaders that he will be a candidate for reelection in 1956.

Chaos and confusion was the only word to describe the situation in the Republican high command. The leaders were shocked. GOP National Chairman Leonard W. Hall had no adequate words to describe his feelings.

And aside from their personal, heartfelt, feelings that the President would recover quickly from the attack, they began speculating about possible candidates for the Republican nomination.

Numbly, they began talking mainly about Vice President Richard M. Nixon. The youthful vice president was informed of the President's heart attack before it was announced in Denver.

Such precautions are necessary. Although the seizure was described as mild—and there was no disposition in circles here to regard it as anything but that—the vice president would succeed Mr. Eisenhower should some unforeseen circumstance occur.

Others who were mentioned only faintly before as possible candidates were Senate GOP leader William F. Knowland of California, Gov. J. Goodwin Knight of California, Gov. Christian Herter of Massachusetts, and Gov. George N. Craig of Indiana. Now their names assume sudden new importance.

All of the President's Cabinet members were informed in telephone calls from the summer White House at Denver of the President's illness. Generally, they voiced belief the President was not in danger.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson took note of the political implications. He said he did not think the attack means the President definitely will not be a candidate in 1956.

The Pampa Daily News One of Texas' Five Most Consistent Newspapers We believe that one truth is always consistent with another truth. We endeavor to be consistent with truths expressed in such moral guides as the Golden Rule, the Ten Commandments and the Declaration of Independence.

By Permission An interesting letter from Warren Olney III, assistant Attorney General, Criminal Division, has reached this desk. The letter refers to Lucille Miller of Bethel, Vermont, made famous for her incongruous "trial" for insanity, and more recently by her suspended sentence under the gavel of Judge Ernest Gibson.

"Mrs. Miller was indicted on December 15, 1954, in that she counseled persons subject to the provisions of the Universal Military Training and Service Act to refuse service in violation of Section 12 of the Act and further advised registrants to commit violations of the Selective Service Regulations.

"Under provisions of Section 4244 of the General Criminal Code, a hearing was held to determine her mental competency. Pursuant to testimony by two psychiatrists she was found to be incompetent to assist in her own defense.

"She was subsequently found competent and was tried by jury commencing on July 11, 1955, and on July 13, 1955, was found guilty."

There are a few other paragraphs in the letter but these are the pertinent ones. The first paragraph reveals a particularly noteworthy conclusion. It appears here that it is perfectly all right to have any opinion you wish on the advisability or constitutionality of the draft law or, presumably, any other law. However, whatever your opinion may be, you must not seek to convince others of the rightness of your view.

It might be pertinent to wonder, even if somewhat idly, just how kind and good the federal government is that it permits us to have any opinions we wish. And conversely, to marvel at what steps the federal government might take to punish us for those opinions if such benign generosity is ever abandoned as a national policy.

The release of Mrs. Miller, a point carefully skirted in this communication, didn't occur because the government felt there had been an error. On the contrary, the competency of Mrs. Miller was verified because of a coast-to-coast outcry of enraged citizens who, all too clearly, could picture themselves in the same straits as Mrs. Miller, many of them for precisely the same reasons.

But now, having besmirched the character of a lady who had harmed no one by her views under the draft, the sentence has been rendered and Mrs. Miller has a two-year suspended sentence. But has the government sought to make recompense? Have any of the responsible instruments of force blushed even slightly at this monstrous method of seeking justice? On the contrary, with eclat commensurate with that of Ramses the great Pharaoh, Judge Gibson has informed Lucille Miller that if she is a good girl, she may continue to rear her own children, and otherwise deport herself in a low abiding manner by his gracious permission.

Yet there are those within this land who still believe that simply because it is American, the federal government cannot become an instrument opposed to freedom. To them we say, "Take another look."

BETTER JOBS By R. C. HOILES

Are We Following The Israelite Way To Bondage? In the last issue I was quoting from an article in Ideas on Liberty as to how the Jews lost their freedom and liberty. The article ended by telling how Joseph told the Israelites, when they had delivered their deeds to land to him, "Behold, I have bought you this day."

"In our day, the land is rapidly coming under the ownership of the government which already owns outright, 25 per cent of the land in the United States. While government ownership of the rest of the land is not presently being established through an open 'bring me the deeds to your land' approach, such ownership is being constantly established nonetheless.

"The real owner of a property is the one who calls the shots on how the land is to be used. What can be raised on it? To whom and for what price can the produce be sold? How are the profits to be divided? On that basis, ownership of America's farm lands is quite different from what the Recorder's books would indicate. Actually, the full plight of farmers is not fully stated when we show that they no longer own the land. Joseph really put the picture in focus with his 'I have bought you,' for whoever owns the land also owns the people of the land."

"Rumor had it that grain could be found in the land of Pharaoh. The sons of Jacob journeyed there to buy wheat, which is referred to in the Bible as corn. When they arrived in this far off land, they began to bargain over the precious foodstuff with a person they thought was a shrewd Egyptian. Not one of them suspected that he was their brother Joseph whom they had long since thought dead."

"The chapter that tells of the revelation of Joseph's true identity, and the subsequent arrangement to have Jacob and all the rest of the family brought to Egypt for Joseph to look after, is indeed a touching story. Those parts of the story have been told and told again as examples of how one wronged can — and should — forgive his tormentors. However, as in the case of 'Behold, I have bought you this day,' the end of the Israelites through the paternalism of their brother Joseph always seems to get left out of the story."

"You see, before Joseph permitted his father, his brothers, and their families to participate in this wonderful system to save the world from famine, they had to place themselves in the same position as the Egyptians. So in addition to owning the Egyptians, Joseph also became master over his parents and his brothers and their families."

"At the time, this was no source of concern to the Israelites, for was not Joseph their beloved brother and son? Was this not the one who had been able to forgive his brothers for their horrible deed of years ago? What possible harm could come from agreeing that their brother Joseph should have this fearful power over them?"

"How many times throughout history this same mistake has been made: Power given to someone who is trusted; then another, to whom the people would never have given power, inherits that which was given to a trusted one. 'You can guess what happened. Joseph died. An Egyptian inherited the power that had been Joseph's. He didn't assume any power that had not been in the hands of the kind and compassionate Joseph. The only difference was that he used it differently. He used it to make of the Israelites the abject slaves described in the Bible."

National Whirligig U. S., Britain To Settle Differences Before October

WASHINGTON — Anglo-American relations have reached a state of mutual irritation at the very moment when the two great Western Allies should be strengthening their ties in order to combat Russia's current and seemingly successful peace offensive.

The differences herald no serious break, for both agree that it is unthinkable, but they consume key diplomats' time and energy at a critical period. They engender personal bitterness when there should be friendship and understanding.

Washington and London are merely bickering with and scolding each other, mostly behind the scenes, rather than engaging in a bitter, major controversy. But their differences do involve important questions of economics, politics and international diplomacy. It is understood that Secretary Dulles, and Harold Macmillan, British Foreign Secretary, will try to settle them before the October showdown with Russia.

The two nations, for instance, do not see eye-to-eye on the dispute over Cyprus. Since the future of that Eastern Mediterranean island involves two of our Allies in that strategic area — Turkey and Greece — Dulles thought that Britain should be less unbending in her anti-Greek attitude.

But when he suggested a plebiscite or a compromise, Macmillan made the astonishing statement that "His Majesty's Government does not believe in the policy of self-determination in all circumstances."

The Greeks were amazed that Washington did not express formal sympathy over destruction of their stores and churches at Istanbul, one of the worst riots in modern history. But the Turks are the only dependable nation, at least militarily, in the Middle East, and we couple not afford to antagonize them.

Fair Enough Pegler Enjoys Italians, All But The Loud Noises

ROME — It is a custom of American journalists passing through Rome to drop a lot of tired old names, but I am not going to do that because, in the first place, I do not know who these characters are who have been table-hopping in the bars of the Excelsior and along the wide pavement in front of a sort of delicatessen, pastry shop and soda-fountain called Doney's, which extends for a full block, and anyway you have been reading them all summer in the mangle columns.

There are a lot of Hollywood trash in town such as one sees in Romanoff's, but there is no sign of Marilyn Monroe and anyway there is no sidewalk grating with a wind-machine to blow her skirts up and show her pants. So that is the extent of my report on the wonderful world of make-believe. This street is called the Via Veneto and it curves uphill from our Embassy and then three blocks more, straight, to the ancient Roman Wall with a gate giving out to the Borghese Gardens. You could hardly imagine a more ostentatious layout than that Embassy with its overflown annex across the road and the so-called American library next door to that.

The Embassy is lavishly de luxe and one of the commanding heights of the city, barring St. Peter's, of course. In a poor country, chewed up by war and beset by Communists who were deliberately installed by our own military government, it may arouse more contempt than respect and awe. How ever, let's not worry too much about what they think of us. What do we care?

At this Doney's they sell snorts of booze, various, as well as a synthetic mare's-milk from a Bulgarian formula and a repertoire of non-alcoholic red and green sweetwaters as well as little dribbles of black coffee called "Espresso." A very ornate job-boy, painted up like a juke-box, sat down beside me the other p.m., and dipped her bill into a beaker of this mare's-milk. High life, hey? The coffee costs 24 cents, American, and the Brandy drinks run into New York figures. However, in my eye, the alcoholic intake is quite modest because I have seen nobody with a load on.

There are many such sidewalk plants and I have been meaning to go to the city hall and find out exactly what rent the proprietor pay the municipality. But I trust you will excuse me if I just report that they pay by the square meter, higher in some locations than in others. There is some deal where the waiters get a little dough on rainy days. The Communists and other politicians of the present regime took over a lot of that stuff from Mussolini.

All of which seems to add up to a warning that the welfare workers are going to pour down our collectivized throats the bitter dose of socialized medicine — even if they have to wait till "hard times" overcome the resistance" of today.

At least we have to give these political busybodies credit for complete frankness in telling us what to expect. If we now allow them to accomplish their goal, we have only ourselves to blame.

Panhandle Outdoor Life

By S. V. WHITHORN
There has been some confusion as to just when our deer and turkey season will begin and end here in the Panhandle. More than one interested hunter has stated that he has seen different dates published. In July the Texas Game and Fish Commission met and set the rules for this and other parts of the state. As of now the Deer and Turkey season opens one half hour before sunrise November 19 and will last for ten days. Sunset will mark the deadline for shooting hours. One half hour before sunrise to sunset during the ten day period.

This is the straight dope and is in effect at this time, however, the commission will meet again in October, and should the situation demand it, to meet some unforeseen situation, the rules could possibly be changed. If they are you will be notified.

The dove shooting is remaining good despite the fact that there are not many doves seen along the highways and county roads. It seems that the birds are staying to the pastures and creeks more this year. The hunters that have a waterhole or windmill to shoot around are having the best luck.

May and June are the usual months that do deer choose for having their fawns, but I know of two fawns born the night of September 1st. These are the offspring of Eve, a tame doe that the Frank Phillips Men's Club formerly kept at the park.

Eve is now running near the river on one of the larger Panhandle ranches. She is still 'tame' and comes to the ranch house at regular hours for buttered toast and crackers.

Hip Williams didn't show up in Pampa last Thursday with the load of fish from the Hatchery at Dundee. Williams had an accident with the truck load of fish but will be in Pampa this Thursday, Sept. 22. We understand the accident happened near Vernon.

Corpus Wins Series, 8-2

CORPUS CHRISTI — UP — Halter, 2b 4 0 1 2 1 1
Corpus Christi won its fourth straight victory over the Pampa Oilers 8 to 2 Sunday to become the first winners of the Little Dixie Series.

The Clippers from the Gulf Coast breezed through both rounds of the Big State League playoff and the Little Dixie Series without a defeat.

Corpus Christi won four consecutive games over Harlingen, Waco and Pampa giving them a 12 to 0 record in post-season contests. Pampa took a one run lead in the Sunday night game, but the Clippers scored two in the fifth and led the rest of the way. Corpus Christi got 12 hits off losing pitcher Red Dial, who went all the way. Larry Burgess received the win for the Clippers but was relieved in the sixth by Herb Shankman.

There were eight errors in the game, each side committing four. The Oilers left 14 men stranded on bases.

SWC Tightens Recruit Ruling

DALLAS — UP — The Southwest Conference Athletic committee has warned that, in the future, member schools will be held responsible for any recruiting violations on the part of their alumni.

Howard Grubbs, executive secretary of the conference, said the committee singled out, no particular school, each, alumnus or athlete. But a statement released by the committee revealed that irregularities were uncovered in recruiting, apparently at several conference schools.

Texas A&M presently is serving a two-year probationary period for recruiting violations and its letters of intent were voided. The Aggie case is subject to review by the committee at the end of one year.

Grubbs would not confirm, nor would he deny, that private detectives were hired by the conference to check on the recruiting activities of member schools.

Grubbs said primarily two types of violations were involved: 1. Violations of a technical nature by members of the athletic staff, and 2. Violations by friends or alumni of member institutions.

The committee's statement said: "In the first group of cases involving a transparent organization of athletes by athletic staff members, and unauthorized signing of letters of intent, the Southwest Conference has directed the executive secretary to notify all individuals and schools involved that they are expected to inform themselves of the rules and all official interpretations thereof and that future violations will not be countenanced."

"In the second type of case, friends and alumni of a conference school have offered inducements to prospective athletes in violation of conference rules, which inducements were not accepted and the athletes involved did not go to that school."

"In these cases, the individuals involved will be officially requested by the conference to discontinue such activity and no action is being taken against the school at this time."

Baseball Season Ends

Kaline, Ashburn, Mays Own Three Top Honors

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer
Al Kaline, Richie Ashburn and Willie Mays won't be picking up any World Series money but they'll reap their financial rewards this winter for walking off with three of the season's top honors. Kaline, the Detroit Tigers' brilliant 20-year old left-fielder, won his first American League batting championship with a .340 - mark while Ashburn, fleet center-fielder of the Philadelphia Phillies, copied his first National League title with a .338 average.

Mays, meanwhile, tied the New York Giants' club record of 51 homers in one season and wound up as the majors' new home run king—also for the first time. Willie's "hot September pace" enabled him to wind up with a .319 average, 127 runs batted in and 382 total bases.

Kaline, who failed to hit in his one official at bat as the Tigers beat the Cleveland Indians, 6-2, became one of the youngest batting champions in history. He joins Ty Cobb, Harry Heilmann, Charley Gehringer and George Kell as Tigers who have won batting titles and Detroit fans point hopefully to the fact that Al is the same age as Cobb was when he won his first title in 1907. Cobb went on to win 11 more crowns.

Ashburn, who started the season with a lifetime average of .312, went hitless in seven trips as the Phillies split with the Giants. He follows Sherwood Magee, Lefty O'Doul, Chuck Klein and Harry Walker as member of the Phillies who've won the crown.

Mays, who cracked his 51st homer in the Giants' 5-2 opening victory, tied the club mark set by Johnny Mize in 1947. The Giants failed to give Leo Durocher a sweep as a "going away" present when they bowed, 3-1, in the night-cap, shortstop Ed Kazanski starting a triple play in the ninth inning to snuff out the New Yorkers' last threat.

The American League champion New York Yankees drubbed the Boston Red Sox 9-2, in their opener but the Sox came back against a team composed mostly of rookies to win the second game, 8-1. Bob Grim received credit for the Yankees' victory while George Susce went the distance to win for the Red Sox.

Southpaw Billy Pierce completed his fine season with his sixth shutout, 15th victory and lowered his earned run average to 1.05 when he pitched the Chicago White Sox to a 5-0, three-hit victory over the Kansas City Athletics, while the Baltimore Orioles beat the Washington Senators, 5-4, in other AL games.

In the National League, the champion Brooklyn Dodgers downed the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-0, with Johnny Podres, Russ Meyer, Clem Labine and Roger Craig collaborating in an eight-hitter. The Dodgers had 14 hits, including three by Jackie Robinson.

Smokey Burgess hit two homers and Wally Post and Gus Bell one each in leading the Cincinnati Reds to a 13-0 rout of the Chicago Cubs and Stan Musial and Wally Moon hit homers as the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Milwaukee Braves, 8-5, in other NL games.

Sunday's star — Smokey Burgess, who knocked in six runs with four hits in leading Cincinnati to a 13-0 win over the Cubs.

UCLA, Stanford, Northwestern Fall

'Experts' Still Dazed By Saturday's Upsets

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press Sports Writer
The first full weekend of the college football season left the "experts" begging for mercy Monday, still dazed by the upset defeats of such titans as UCLA, Stanford, Minnesota, and Northwestern.

How the experts want to know, can you figure things like that are going to happen? And how about those "near miss" victories scored by such as Ohio State, Navy, Georgia Tech, and Oklahoma? Where do we go from here?

Pirates To Be Changed All The Way

PITTSBURGH — UP — A top to bottom housecleaning for the Pittsburgh Pirates appeared possible Monday in the wake of the firing of Fred Haney as manager of the perennial last-place club of the National League.

General Manager Branch Rickey notified Haney before Sunday's season-ending game with Brooklyn that the automatic renewal clause of the 37-year-old manager's contract had been cancelled because of the "uncertainty" of the situation facing the club.

Pirate President John Galbreath said flatly that the "club is not for sale." But he said directors will meet next month to make plans for the team and discuss contracts, including that of Rickey.

HERE'S THAT MAN AGAIN!

DETROIT — UP — As if the Cleveland Indians wouldn't remember Bob Miller anyhow, Manager Bucky Harris of the Detroit Tigers led the 39-year old pitcher wind up the campaign against them Sunday.

Miller beat the Indians on Sept. 18 in one of the crucial games of American League pennant race — and he did it again Sunday with a 4-1 verdict. They were the only game he won all season.

Notre Dame, Army's one-time foe, was another impressive victor. The re-buited Irish unveiled what could be another quarterback star in Paul Horung as they downed Southern Methodist, 17-0.

Duke's Orange Bowl champions stamped themselves again a power in the Atlantic Coast Conference by walling North Carolina State, 33-7, and Texas Christian showed it must be reckoned with in the Southwest Conference by crushing Texas Tech, 32-0; Tech, an outside team, had beaten Texas as the previous week. Three touchdowns by Jimmy Swink led TCU.

But perhaps the happiest bunch of winners anywhere in the nation were the Kansas Jayhawks. Winless in 17 straight games, Kansas finally made good with a 13-0 victory over Washington State.

Among the other outstanding individual stars of the weekend were: King Hill, 19-year-old Rice sophomore who scored twice in the last period to spark a 20-0 victory over Alabama; sub Joe Clements, who passed to three TD's and ran to another to lead Texas to a 25-21 victory over Tulane; and end Ron Kramer of Michigan, who caught three touchdown passes and kicked five extra points for a total of 28 points in a 42-7 romp over the Missouri team that nearly beat Maryland.
