Success of the government's proposed slum clearance program is hingeing in large part on the decision of an Atlanta court.

Public Works Administration has instituted condemnation proceedings in the Georgia city to acquire the land necessary to erect its first model tenement.

The court's verdict is expected late this month.

Administrator Harold Ickes has experienced considerable difficulty in picking up desired parcels of land for these large-scale, low-rental housing experiments.

The particular Atlanta project in litigation requires 800,000 square feet. PWA has actually bought about $2,000 worth of land.

Ickes believes that once a federal court actually establishes the procedure for condemnation, model tenements will start popping up all over the country.

In all cities where trouble is being experienced getting land PWA officials have impressed on the owners that the government far prefers negotiating an equitable price to condemnation.

Atlanta owners have been advised the suit, gladly would be dropped if an agreement could be reached out of court.

But, Ickes has turned a decided thumb down on anything approaching real estate gouging. Slum clearance will go out the window first.

When President Roosevelt forced William E. Humphrey out as a Republican member of the Federal Trade Commission last October over Humphrey's vigorous protests the dismissed Commissioner retained Will Bill Donovan, former assistant attorney general, as attorney.

He sued in the Court of Claims for continuance of his salary. It was thought Republicans would make an issue of the matter.

The other day Donovan by agreement with the Department of Justice, filed an amended bill in behalf of Sam Rathbun, executor of the Humphrey estate.

It is understood the Justice Department will demur. This will enable the Court of Claims to certify the case on to the Supreme Court simply on the pleadings.

If this legal short-cut is adopted, the highest tribunal would be able to have a decision ready by next December.

Lawyers, especially those having business before the quasi-judicial agencies of the government such as the Interstate Commerce Commission, are following the case closely.

Humphrey's family and friends were disappointed that Republican members of congress didn't go to bat over the situation.

Hamilton Jury Remains Deadlocked

Foreman Says Prospect For Verdict Seen

Jury Reported Standing Ten To One But Don't Know Which Way

DALLAS, (AP)—The jury trying Raymond Hamilton as a habitual criminal in connection with the Grand Prairie bank robbery told Judge Noland Williams Friday it was still deadlocked, but the foreman said there was a prospect of a verdict.

The panel was then sent back for further deliberations. The jury was reported standing ten to two, but on what points was not made clear.

AUSTIN, (UP)—While Raymond Hamilton, recaptured convict with 263 years accumulated prison term, waits to hear if a new jury will send him to the electric chair, the reward for his recapture remained unclaimed here Friday.

Governor Ferguson revealed that no person had claimed the reward for himself. There have been many letters from other suggesters who should be rewarded.

$500 reward was offered for Hamilton after he was reported to have participated in a bank robbery and kidnaping at West, subsequent to being "sprung" from Kashiham State Prison farm.

Longshoremen Hopeful Of New Working Rules

Differential on various commodities handled by deep-sea ships were up for discussion—the usual practice after final agreements are made on basic pay and other major points.

President To See Bill Before Final Terms Are Written Next Week

WASHINGTON, (AP)—Senate silver bloc and Secretary Morgenthau virtually agreed Friday on the language of the silver bill, and that it be presented to President Roosevelt early next week before the final terms are written.

Senator McCarran, one of the conferees, said Morgenthau agreed to the mandatory declaration of policy that silver be made a primary monetary base with gold, but desired to submit it first to the president.

Five Die As Auto Plunges Into River

Auto Goes Down 60-Foot Embankment; Searchers Look For Bodies

HERON, Montana, (AP)—In the roaring waters of Clear Fork river, rescue workers Friday sought the bodies of five persons, three of them children, drowned when an automobile plunged down a sixty-foot embankment into the river. The body of a sixth victim was recovered when the car was dragged from the water.

Victims were W. L. Hagler, retired rancher, and five relatives.

More Than 200 Envoys Meet Here Friday

To Prevent Non-Contract Signer From Upsetting Entire Program

Envoys of more than two score counties representing a cross section of West Texas Friday went on record favoring equitable administration of the Bankhead cotton-production control bill so as to prevent the non-contract signer from upsetting the entire program by over-production.

Open jeers greeted a telegram from State Senator A. H. King, Throckmorton county, who bitterly opposed the Bankhead bill as a means by which a Republican dynasty would be politically enthroned again.

A moment later the assembly unambiguously supported a resolution expressing sympathy and pledging co-operation with the Agricultural Adjustment in its farm readjustment program.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce was commended without dissenting vote for its efforts toward aiding agriculture of West Texas.

Chief concern of approximately 200 representatives seemed to center around the fear that non-contract signers, unless prohibited by optional powers vested in Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace, would defeat the purpose of the bill by ruthless over-production.

Delegates from certain counties witnessing a shift from wheat to cotton contended for provisions protecting farmers making such changes in good faith. It was agreed by the assembly that the bill itself took ample care of such conditions by placing a 10 per cent adjustment quota on the entire state to be distributed in an equitable manner.

"We have no quarrel with that fellow who is putting old farm lands into cultivation or the one who is starting a new farm," said Judge Otis Miller, county judge of Jones county. "But we do have a quarrel with that man who increases his production that he may profit at his neighbor's expense."

Much discussion was given over long-standing, but the counties could best seek increases in basic yield figures as allowed in the Bankhead bill which takes cognizance of sub-normal years occasioned by conditions not under control of man.

After lengthy discussions and repeated re-readings of the bill it was unofficially agreed that each county would face the problem individually of asking that certain sub-normal years be stricken out of the basic yield period. The crop year of 1933-34, which was, incidentally, a drought year for many of the counties represented, is not to be considered into the basic yield period.

Judge Miller, chairman of the gathering, explained the temper of the assembly when he said, "Keep in mind that we are in a campaign to control production, but that we also want our just and equitable dues." He suggested that the assembly indicate to Wallace and C. Cobb, head of the AAA cotton division that it expected that equitable treatment.

Contact Made With Kidnaper By Telephone

Instruction For Delivery Of Money To Be Given Shortly

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Ransom of $75,000 has been demanded for release of William Gettle, the district attorney's office announced Friday.

Ernest Noon, attorney representing Mrs. Gettle, said he received a telephone call demanding this sum and advising instructions for its delivery would be given shortly.

The police arrested a woman for questioning in the kidnaping.

LOS ANGELES, (AP)—Intimation that contact has been made with kidnapers of William F. Gettle, Beverly Hills oil millionaire was given Friday by Ernest Noon, attorney engaged by his distraught wife to deal independently with the abductors.

LOS ANGELES, (UP)—A middle-aged, smartly dressed woman was sought as the one-tangible clue Friday in the kidnaping of William F. Gettle, 47-year-old millionaire, who was spirited from his Arcadia estate by two masked gunmen.

Surprising Gettle and a guest, James Wolff, in a bath house after an early morning swimming party, the kidnapers tethered both with adhesive tape and carried away the millionaire by pushing him over a high garden wall.

Tonight the victim's wife and four children waited with authorities for an expected ransom note. No communication has been received and the family attorney, E. E. Noon, sought to hasten action by announcing that "any reasonable ransom would be promptly and quietly met."

Participants In Motorcade Register Slow

Less Than Dozen Cars So Far Been Obtained To Make Trip Tuesday

Big Spring's "Howdy Neighbor" slogan will hardly resound with more volume than a whisper unless there is a marked change in spirit before time of departure for the "on to Angelo" motorcade Tuesday at 8:30 a. m.

In keeping with a tradition of long-standing, that the past best city help in every way possible to cooperate with the current host city to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention, Big Spring is supposedly anxious to demonstrate its generous good will toward San Angelo.

Yet in all, there are less than an even dozen cars signed to participate in the motorcade to San Angelo.

Since a list was run in the paper Wednesday of those who intend to join the motor caravan, only Mrs. Gus Pickle, Louise Miller, and W. C. Blankenship have volunteered to go.

The local chamber of commerce is anxious to have others phone in their intentions of going also at the earliest possible moment that stickers and novelty cases may be provided in the proper amounts.

Attention has been called to the fact that only a small amount of time remains between now and Tuesday when Big Spring can either shamefully mumble "howdy neighbor" or join in numerical strength to lend conviction to the greeting. The time to register is now, and it can be done by telephoning No. 4 and saying "I will."

Hopkins Proposes More Drought Aid

WASHINGTON, (AP)—More federal relief for drought-harassed farmers in the west was proposed Thursday by Harry L. Hopkins, relief administrator.

"If those people don't get rain within the next two weeks, we will be faced with a serious problem," Hopkins told a senate subcommittee.

Speaking on the LaFollette bill calling for a new $10,000,000 public works program, Hopkins estimated the number of families now on relief at "somewhat less" than four and one-half million, and that $25,000,000 had already been sent to the drought area, most of it for stock feed.

Former Texan, Ill Of Incurable Disease, Flies Home To See Mother

FORT WORTH, (AP)—William Carty, dying of an incurable blood stream infection, arrived here by airplane Friday, hoping to fulfill a last wish—to spend Mother's Day with his mother, Mrs. W. B. Carty, waiting for him in Wichita Falls.

Carty flew from Los Angeles. He was helped into an automobile for the last stage of the trip to Wichita Falls.

Doctors say death is only a matter of a few days or weeks. A former citizen of Wichita Falls, braving death that he may clasp his mother's hand, passed through Big Spring early Friday morning by American Airlines plane from California, where for weeks he has been suffering from a malignant disease.

ship Friday morning, was in a berth asleep while the ship was defueled here at 5:35 a. m.

A day or two ago, he said his one desire was to see his mother on Mother's Day.

A woman, who heard of the wish, arranged passage on the American Airlines plane leaving Los Angeles Thursday night. The name of the benefactor was not made public. The ship is fitted with sleeper accommodations so Carty can be made comfortable during the journey.

His mother met the plane when it arrived at 7:10 a. m. Friday morning at Fort Worth, as well as other relatives.

The gravity of Carty's illness has been withheld from his mother, though she knows that his condition is serious. He is a victim of myelogenous leukemia, a disease of the bone.

During the three months he has been in the hospital, Carty, a former foreman, has uttered no word of complaint.

Complete Program For WTCC Convention Announced

Nichols And Bandeen Give Out Details

Program Starts Sunday To Continue Through Wednesday

SAN ANGELO — The complete program of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in this city next week, May 14-16, was announced Friday, following a conference between the local convention management, and R. H. Nichols, chairman of the Convention Work Committee, and D. A. Bandeen, general manager of the West Texas chamber, held at Abilene.

The complete program is as follows:

civilization had sprung up, and the ancient cities of Peru and Central America and Mexico still excite the layman alike.

How did it happen that the new world nourished these islands of civilization in a sea of utter savagery? Where did they come from, those people who built cities and temples and roads, learned the art of sculpture without metal tools and knew more about astronomy than the Greeks of Pericle's time? Were they 10 per cent American in their development, or did they draw their knowledge, somehow, from across the Pacific?

Maybe we shall never know; but the questions are fascinating, and this history of Dr. Dixon casts a new bit of light on one of history's most interesting riddles.

COST OF PEACE
It is doubtful if there is any other country where the anti-war sentiment is quite as wide and as deep as it is in the United States. Yet the United States government just announced that it will start construction of 20 new warships within four months, with 7 more to be built immediately thereafter; and there is little question that this action has the enforcement of the majority of the citizens.

Why should there be this contradiction—if it is a contradiction? For one thing, the American people trust their government not to use the fleet as an instrument of aggression; for another, the international horizon is by no means clear, and it is risky to be supported at all it might just as well be kept up to the mark.

Make May 13 An Easy Day For Mother

Mother's day on May 13—make it a day in fact as well as fancy! The engraved sentiments and the fragrant bouquet are charming customs and worthy traditions, but a gift you have made for her, some personal tribute nobody else can duplicate.

If you are far away on Mother's Day a long letter may have to suffice. If you are at home, you can help Mother's Day to be a day of rest. Let the family prepare the dinner, with perhaps, a special Mother's Day cake for dessert.

Mother's Day Cake
Make a layer cake, using any standard white cake recipe. Put it together with mother's favorite filling. Frost with a smooth boiled frosting, using the recipe below. When the frosting has become almost hard to the touch, mix some uncooked frosting, using a lump of butter, vanilla and enough confectioner's sugar to make it a delicate pink. Add coloring to make a delicate pink.

Then, with a pastry tube or paper cone, squeeze this pink frosting onto cake to make pink roses. (Use a circular motion and squeeze frosting on in little mounds and you will find "roses" easy to make.) Use strips of angelica or strips of green gumdrops for the leaves.

If you prefer, tint shredded coconut a delicate pink by mixing it with coloring and sprinkle generously over the cake.

Smooth Boiled Frosting
2 cups Imperial sugar, 1-2 cup water, 2 tablespoons white karo, 2

egg whites, 1 teaspoon flavoring. Boil sugar, water and karo until it spins a thread. (240 F.). Pour over stiffly beaten egg whites, flavor, set bowl in hot water, and beat until thick enough to spread.

Hand-Made Gifts
The most appreciated Mother's Day gifts are those you make yourself. You might choose a handkerchief box, a sewing basket, a bonnet jar, or a pretty vase, and fill it with sweetmeats you have made. Even the youngest daughters (and sons, too) can make these delightful sweetmeats: Pit a package of pasteurized dates and stuff with Brazil Nut fondant which you make by adding to 1-3 cup Imperial confectioner's sugar; 1-2 teaspoon vanilla, 2 tablespoons thin cream, and 2-3 cup chopped Brazil nuts (or other nutmeats). Place a small quantity of fondant in each date so that filling may be completely enclosed by the date and kept moist. Then sugar dates, by shaking few at a time in a paper bag containing granulated sugar.

Nutty Divinity
1-3 cups Imperial sugar, 1-3 cup white karo, 1-4 cup water, 1 cup pasteurized dates, 1-2 cup toasted coconut, 1-8 teaspoon salt, 1 cup nutmeats, 1 egg white, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla.

Cook sugar, karo, water and salt to hard ball stage (290 F.). Leave sauce pan over the burner after heat has been turned off. Beat the egg white quickly with a Dover beater. Pour the hot syrup slowly over the beaten egg white, beating constantly. Continue beating until candy will hold its shape. Add vanilla, sliced dates and chopped nuts and mix thoroughly. Turn out on marble slab or molding board. Shape into long cylinders and roll in chopped toasted coconut.

Grapefruit Penuche
1 No. 2 can grapefruit, 3 tablespoons white Imperial sugar, 3 cups brown Imperial sugar, 2-3 cup water, 3 tablespoons white karo, 3 tablespoons butter, 1-2 cup condensed milk.

Cook grapefruit and 3 tablespoons white sugar until they form a thick jam. Mix brown sugar, milk, water, karo and butter and cook over low fire stirring constantly and not letting it come to boil until the sugar particles are all dissolved. Cook until a little syrup tested in cold water will form soft ball; add grapefruit and cook two minutes longer. Cool until candy begins to be sticky and thick, then beat until almost solid. Add nutmeats, scoop out on buttered platter.

Some families make Mother's Day happy by making sure that all the children come home for a family reunion. Be certain mother has an opportunity to "visit with them" and need not spend her time in the kitchen! To prevent this, a picnic lunch may be served, or a buffet-style meal. For this a quantity-recipe for a popular salad should ease your task. This one feeds fifty.

Variety Salad
(50 servings)
3-4 gallon raw tomatoes, 3-4 gallon canned pineapple, 2 quarts cooked salad dressing, 1 pint nutmeats, lettuce.
Combine diced tomatoes and diced pineapple and mix with mayonnaise. Add nutmeats (pecans, walnuts or peanuts) last and serve on lettuce.

"A Chicken In Every Pot" Should Be Revived As Cooks' Spring Slogan

Chicken is a universal dish. The French call it "le poulet," the German "das huhn," the Italian "la gallina" and the Spaniards eat "el pollo." But in no country in the world are there chickens (and chicken-cooks!) like ours. It's a heritage!

The foreign cooks often prepare their chickens in exotic style, stuff them with chestnuts, decorate them with truffles, mask them with sauces, or imbue them in gelatine. We like ours plain—oh, not too plain, but simple enough so that incomparable chicken flavor can dominate the dish.

Remember When?
Remember when Sunday was chicken-dinner day, when you came home from church to eat that plump chicken with the "fixin's"? Remember the chicken pie suppers—the chickens with dumplings? There's little doubt about it, there should be a "chicken in every pot" now that Spring is here.

Smothered Chicken
If you want to have chicken for your evening meal and still spend the afternoon out, try this new "pre-cooking" method for Smothered Chicken:

In the morning, clean, singe and disjoint a roasting chicken. Sprinkle it with salt and pepper, and roll in flour. Put cooking oil in a deep frying pan to cover the bottom, and heat. Put in the chicken and fry on both sides until brown. Do not finish the cooking, completely or cook entirely through. Cool, and put in refrigerator. About an hour before the meal, put water in the pan containing the chicken, cover slightly, and cook slowly until tender—about an hour.

Fried Chicken
For Fried Chicken, Middle Western style, follow the first part of the recipe above. Be sure to procure a young chicken, of about three to four pounds in weight. Disjoint, roll in flour, and fry as directed above. Fry slowly, turning steadily, and brown evenly by leaving lid off pan for the final part of the frying.

Chicken Pie
1 chicken, salt and pepper, pie crust, flour, milk.
Clean, singe and cut up chicken as for fricassee. Place in a kettle and add enough hot water to cover. Put cover on the kettle, and simmer slowly until chicken is tender, adding a little more water if needed.

Make a gravy of the stock, using two tablespoons flour for each cup of stock. Line the sides of a deep baking-dish with crust; invert in the middle of the dish a small cup of ramekin; put in part of the chicken and season with salt and pepper, then add the rest of the chicken, and season the same way. Put in the dish two cups or more of the gravy made from broth in which the chicken was cooked and cover the top with crust. (The cup of ramekin will hold the crust up and will prevent evaporation). Most chicken pie is too dry; therefore, use a generous amount of the broth. Bake one hour, or until crust is done.

To make crust: sift 2 cups of flour and 1 teaspoon salt together. Stir in 1-2 cup cooking oil, using a fork or wire beater and add a little at a time, distributing it well.

been ill, is getting along fairly well.

so that when stirred the result will be many small lumps. (Do not work up lumps as they make flakes when baked.) Add about 4 tablespoons of cold water (or enough to hold dough together). Turn out on well-floured board and roll half at a time.

Chicken a la King
2 cups cooked chicken, 1 tablespoon shredded green pepper, 4-6 mushrooms, 1 cup milk, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons cooking oil, 1-1-2 to 2 tablespoons flour, few grains cayenne, 1 canned plumetoe. Cook green pepper and mushrooms, cut in pieces, in cooking oil over low heat. Stir in flour. Remove from heat and pour in milk, stirring slowly but steadily over direct heat until sauce boils, add strips. Then add chicken cut in pieces and cook until sauce is thoroughly hot again. If you like, for richer sauce, you may add two teaspoons of plumetoe, cut in putting in chicken.

Frank Buck Goes To West Coast To Deliver Lectures

Buck, while here, said he was out of the wild animal business now and that he would spend most of his time in writing books and giving radio lectures. He said the wild animal business was dull, due to the recent depression.

Buck, while on the west coast, will make personal appearances at leading theaters and then return to the east to continue work.

Services Churches Topics

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH
S. J. Shettlesworth, Minister
Sunday is a day that should challenge every one to a thought of the finer things of life as we come to observance of Mother's Day. The influence of Mother should be reflected in a wonderful attendance at Sunday School, which meets promptly at 9:45 a. m.

The sermon subject for Sunday morning will be "Our Blessed Mothers" and at the evening hour "Playing the Fool." Following so closely upon the successful revival which closed Wednesday night, Sunday should be a day of great rejoicing as well as the hour of decision with some who have not as yet accepted the Christ, or placed their membership with the church.

At the morning hour Miss Claudine Shaw will sing "My Mother's Prayers Have Followed Me." Come and worship with us where the fellowship is inspiring and you are never a stranger but once.

J. S. GOLFERS ALL SET FOR BRITISH IN WALKER CUP MATCHES

Having proved themselves masters of the treacherous course at St. Andrews, Scotland, in practice rounds, Capt. Francis Quimet and his United States Walker Cup team threaten a real battle when they meet the British in international golf competition May 11 and 12. Behind Quimet, the veteran campaigner, are two American sharpshooters who have matched strokes with golfdom's best. They are Johnny Goodman, U. S. Open titleholder, and George T. Dunlap, Jr., U. S. amateur champion. The British forces are headed by the Hon. Michael Scott, 56-year-old British amateur champion. In the center is a view of the eighteenth green of the famous St. Andrews course. Horned Toad In Red Makes Local Appearance Here

The latest 1934 model of horned toad with all the lighter parts of his complexion well jogged was brought into the office of the Big Spring Herald Friday morning, to show what the most up-to-date toad looks like in an age of air-flow motor cars and sleeper planes.

Owner of the toad averred he had been captured in a vegetable garden. When asked if he raised toads, he said the toads were not yet up. The toad strutted proudly showing off his red skin and his iridescent back until someone examined him too roughly and discovered the red came off. He was painted by some local artist with red ink.

Murder at MOCKING HOUSE

BY WALTER C. BROWN

Chapter One AMBUSH

TATE TROOPER WATSON was in anything but an amiable mood. To begin with, he had been out nearly the whole of the night before on a special detail that had turned out to be a wild-goose-chase, and now he was tired, chilled and disgruntled.

He ran his motorcycle off the macadam road and onto a level patch of hard, frozen ground. Balancing himself on the tilted machine by one out-thrust leg, he pulled off his heavy gauntlets and reached inside his coat. As his numbed fingers drew forth the plug of strong tobacco he gazed bitterly around him at the bleak landscape.

looking gentleman of early middle age, his fine, clean-cut features graced by a meticulous mustache and goatee. His face was vaguely familiar to the Trooper, but the license-plate on the machine bore no sacred numerals.

However, the Trooper did not bring forth any of time-honored greetings between traffic officer and speedster, such as, "Say, where d'you think you're goin'?" or "Where's the fire?" Instead, he flipped open his little book and produced a pencil stub from the band of his cap. "Well, Mister, what's the story this time?" he inquired with a deceptive show of patience.

The driver's reply was as calmly uttered as his heavy and labored breathing would permit. His cheeks were whipped with color and his exhaled breath formed a frosty vapor in the air. "I was shot at, Officer. Ambushed about two miles back on that road. Look at the windshield!"

He climbed out stiffly and stood in the road while Watson stared in astonishment at the glass plate. A bullet had certainly winged its way through there at an angle that must have missed the driver's head by the narrowest of margins.

"There were three shots before I pulled out of range," the driver explained. "That first one nearly got me! After that I put on speed, but I heard the others hit the car. Let's look."

An investigation soon revealed the course of the other bullets. One had splintered off the left door, the gouged brown enamel marking its path, while the third had splintered one corner of the luggage grid. Officer Watson looked with renewed interest at this dapper man who had ridden through a deadly ambush. "Did you catch sight of the shooter?" he asked.

The motorist looked at him indignantly. "Do you suppose I would get out and look for this armed person who was trying to murder me?" he demanded with biting sarcasm. "I kept going at top speed. There were no other cars in sight and I saw no one by the roadside," he added, in more reasonable tones. The Trooper passed his usual question. "Got any liquor in that car?" "See here, Officer," Dufresne protested vigorously, "this is ridiculous. You'd be far more usefully employed in going back along that road and trying to catch the person who takes pot shots at passing cars. This was no serious boy with an air rifle, I'm going through Edge Hill, I'll report this to the police there, and show them the car. Captain Robinson knows me."

The driver brought out his wallet and extracted two cards. One was the regulation driver's license, the other his personal calling card. The sight of recognition dawned in Watson's eyes and his whole manner changed. He returned the cards and his hand went up to his cap in ready salute. "Sorry, Mr. Dufresne, I'm afraid I've mistaken you for another person. I thought your face looked familiar, but I couldn't place you for the moment. If you'd been driving your big car the plate number would have put me wise. I know your tag's in the 40's."

"Forty-seven, Officer. This is Mrs. Dufresne's car."

"You see, Mr. Dufresne, we've in no way antagonistic toward the policies of the national agricultural administration, Miller reminded the representatives that if "we had not raised a howl a year ago about drought conditions, we would not have this 10 per cent provision in the Bankhead bill."

Miller urged that as many counties as possible send envoys to Dallas May 18-19 to hear Wallace when he addresses a banquet gathering and breakfast conference.

C. T. Watson, Big Spring Chamber of Commerce manager, extended a welcome to the visiting delegates convened in the municipal auditorium. Watson also served as secretary of the group.

Jed Rix, Lubbock, appearing for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in the absence of Manager D. A. Bandeen, invited each county to be represented at the cotton discussion scheduled for the regional chamber convention in San Angelo. He pledged support of his organization to agricultural interests of West Texas.

Chosen on a geographical basis to serve on the resolutions committee were: Judge R. H. Curnette of Scurry county; C. M. Connor of Haskell county; T. W. Johns of Pecos county; R. S. Reed of Hardeman county; Douglas Pounds of Lubbock county; Cecil Gray of Coleman county; R. Resagan of Howard county; Philip Young of Dawson county; W. A. Rickett of Hale county; J. M. Rankin of Crosby county; and W. T. McGee of Hockley county.

Lubbock county sent one of the largest delegations to the meeting. Representing that county were Douglas Pounds, V. S. Cade, and Ches. Merrill of the county control committee; D. T. Montfort, county agent; W. M. Russ, chairman of the county agriculture association; and H. E. Blocker, A. J. Delahunty, J. A. Rix, R. L. Stephenson, and J. Sam Lewis.

Among counties represented were Briscoe, Borden, Baylor, Crosby, Cochran, Coleman, Dickens, Floyd, Garza, Glasscock, Haskell, Howard, Hale, Hardeman, Hockley, Jones, Lynn, Lubbock, Midland, Martin, Nolan, Pecos, Scurry. There were other counties who sent representatives who arrived too late to be recognized in the morning session. In addition proxies for several other counties were shown.

Gettle

California was being organized by police, Sheriff Eugene Benculus and federal agents, but thus far almost every avenue of investigation appeared closed. The carefully laid plot led officers to believe it was the work of an experienced gang.

The woman sought by police was described by Mrs. W. George Lutz, wife of the architect who designed Gettle's estate. She said the woman was standing at the barred gates when she and her husband drove out last night.

"She was well dressed and attractive," Mrs. Lutz said. "She was watching the mansion and grounds, and when my husband asked what she wanted, she began questioning us about the Gettles. We told her the Gettles were at home and drove away. I saw the woman's car parked near the gates."

Wolff, who was left tied to a tree with a warning not to cry out for an hour "if you know what's good for you," was able to give authorities little help. Both men held revolvers, wore dark masks and seemed sure of themselves, he said.

Maintain Vigil

Tramped weeds and tire tracks in a narrow alley back of the estate showed where the two abductors had maintained a patient vigil until the right moment arrived. Because of their evident familiarity with the "match racket," authorities believed it would be several days before any ransom demand was made.

At the estate, Mrs. Gettle was reported in a state of collapse.

Ackerly Hickory Swingers Beat Cosden

New Entry Is Loop Leader

Both Teams Open Up With Long Range Hits Thursday

By HANK HART

In a free hitting, free scoring contest, the Ackerly hickory swingers defeated the Cosden Oilers Thursday, 11-10.

With both teams opening up with long range hits, a total of five hurlers paraded to the mound but did not stop the hits. Wright, Reeves, and Sturdivant kept the Oilers down to nine hits. Ackerly collected 13 bingles off Martin and Payne.

Martin came out of a brief slump to connect with a pair of circuit smashes. Doc Moffett smashed one high over the left fielder's head to circle the bases. Jimmy Addison met one of Martin's homers down the groove to smash a homer for Ackerly in the third with one aboard.

Martin's first homer put the Oilers out in front but Reeves tied it up as he crossed the plate on Elmo Pollock's single.

Ackerly Spurts

Ackerly went ahead in the third on White's triple, Addison's home run, and Pollock's single. Four runs crossed the plate before Pepper could stop the rally.

Cosden came back in her half of the inning to score three runs and trail the opponent by one tally. Moffett led off with a home run, Patton tripled, Martin walked, and Terrazas brought both in with a clean single.

There was no damage in the fourth but Ackerly scored twice in the fifth on successive singles by Sturdivant, Reeves, Pollock, and Lemon's fly into right field.

Cosden tabbed a marker when the Ackerly twirler walked four of the Oilers, Patton crossing the plate.

Cosden went into the lead in the sixth when Moxley walked, Moffett singled, Fowler was safe at first on a fielder's choice, and Martin smashed off his second homer. Pepper fairly flew around the sacks to come home in hot pursuit of Chet, who was not stopping for anything.

Ackerly scored a tally in the seventh to threaten the lead when Sturdivant tripled and came home on an outfield fly.

Not contented to lag, the boys from Lamesa way knotted it in the eighth when Wright was hit by one of Payne's tosses and came home on hits by Banta and Addison.

Payne ran into unexpected difficulty in the ninth when the first three men up succeeded in reaching first. Two of them crossed the plate on squeeze plays.

Cosden tried hard in its half of the inning but fell short one run when, after Terrazas had scored, Moffett lined out to Dad Pollock.

My Best SHOT

Editor's Note: This is the third in a series of articles telling what famous golfers consider their best shots.

By BOB CAVAGNARO (Associated Press Sports Writer)

NEW YORK (UP)—Scotsman though he is, Willie MacFarlane would sooner part with a nickel than give up his money-making, record-breaking mashie niblick.

There have been many times that deep-faced weapon dug him out of difficult situations, but its most faithful performance of all produced a course record and paved the way for $2,500 first money in the 1933 Miami-Biltmore open at Coral Gables.

"I was going along at a brisk pace," MacFarlane relates, "and I'd hit a good drive on the eighteenth hole in the first round. I was having one of those 'hot rounds' and I needed a four for a 67 to beat the record held by Walter Hagen and Henry Cotton."

That's a chance

The eighteenth is a dog-leg to the left. Egger for the record, MacFarlane decided to go wholehog, hook his brassie and bang away for the green, and perhaps a birdie three.

But the ball failed to carry out its commission. It hooked sharply about 20 yards from the green and hooked 8 inches from a tree. He tweek his ball and the green there was an eight-foot bunker.

"Now it certainly looked like a blooming six or seven," Willie says. "I pulled out my mashie niblick and took an unorthodox stance, with my back to the green and my right foot crossed over my left foot. I used a chopping stroke and connected with the ball on the tip of the club head."

"The ball landed on the green and stuck there about eight feet from the cup. After coming out of that experience the putt was easy and I got my 67."

He finished the tournament with a winning total of 288.

Like No. 4 Iron

Out of the mass of shots he played last winter, Willie got the most satisfaction from a No. 4 iron on the 18th hole during the Augusta National tournament.

The hole plays 355 yards to an uphill green fashioned around a cloverleaf trap. The second shot to the green caused players no end of trouble. They either overshoot the putting carpet and pitched back past the cup, or approached short and landed in the trap.

It was on the last round and Willie needed a four to tie the four other pros for sixth money. He gambled for the flag, executed a keen shot to within a few feet of the cup, a got down in one putt for a birdie three and fifth money.

Gehrig Hits 2 Home Runs As Yanks Win

New York Beats White Sox 13-2 In Slugfest In Yankee Stadium

NEW YORK, (UP)—Paced by some prodigious swinging on the part of Lou Gehrig, the Yankees assaulted big George Earnshaw and Lee Stine for a dozen well timed hits Thursday and swamped the White Sox under a 13 to 2 score in the first game of their series.

Gehrig drove in the first Yankee run with a double in the first inning that scored Earl Combs. In the second he swatted his fifth homer of the season. He continued with another two-bagger in the fourth and finally clouted a home run with the bases full in the fifth. Chicago ..... 000 000 021—3

BOSTON, (UP)—Cleveland spotted the Boston Red Sox six runs in the first inning Thursday and then proceeded to take their measure. The Indians outlit Cosden but lost the advantage in fielding.

Averill boosted his team into the running in the fifth inning when with two men aboard he whaled one into the right field pavilion. Vosmik sealed the victory for the Indians in the eighth inning when, with two on base again, he threw a circuit clout against the left fielder.

Harris Hits Homer With Bases Loaded

Game Called At End Of Fifth Inning On Account Of Darkness

The Lions have long waited to show their offensive powers on the soft ball diamond.

Thursday they did a double job of waiting. Cosden had to dilly-dally with hard ball against Ackerly long past the scheduled time for starting the game. And when it finally was ended by darkness, the Lions still had to wait for complete victory, for the score was 12-12.

Only five of the standard seven innings were played.

It was Miller Harris' powerhouse wallop over center field in the first of the fifth with the bases croszy that put the Lions into a tie with the Oilers. Corley, Oliver, and Pickle romped in ahead of him.

Cosden managed to get two men on with two out in the last half of the fifth and with a man roosting on second and third went out on a close play. Hell to Harris at first base.

Lion errors contributed to Cosden's big tally, and vice versa, but not in the same proportion for the Lions. Cosden bobbled seven times to two times for Cosden. The Lions outlit Cosden but lost the advantage in fielding.

Bill Bonthron didn't choose to race his arch rivals, Glenn Cunningham and Gene Venske, in the special one-mile event at the Penn Relays in simple enough, so far as Matty Geis, the Tiger track coach, is concerned.

I asked Matty about it at Philadelphia and he replied: "It's too early in the outdoor season for Bonthron to try any high-pressure mile racing. He has had a big let-down in training since he ran Cunningham twice on indoor tracks. Weather conditions are too uncertain at this time of the year to try for any foot-racing objective so important as a return race between members of the caliber of Bonthron and Cunningham."

Murder at MOCKING HOUSE

"Take nothing for granted—remove no one from your list of suspects! NO ONE!"

Pierre Dufresne's terrified warning sounded in Sergeant Harper's ears as he plunged from one mystery into another—deeper, more deadly.

For from then on, tragic intrigue marked a trail through the snow and into the ancient Dufresne mansion, where ghostly candle light flickered on a deathly scene....

How could anyone doubt that the two men there had killed each other and that one of them—disguised as Dufresne—was the crank who had been writing threatening letters to him?

But Harper's hunch is different.... He tugs at the threads of mystery and weaves them into a net to trap the killer. His spotlight of suspicion falls in turn on lovely Sylvia Dufresne—"a very clever and beautiful woman," her husband had said—high-strung Aline Croymen, her sister; Andrews, the old butler, the chauffeur and the other servants. Bit by bit, out of the lurking shadows of the old house, emerge the motives in the drama. And, finally, the solution.

WRESTLING CARD AT CASINO
THURSDAY IS WELL-BALANCED

In the second show of wrestling at the Casino Thursday night Casey Jones brought together four outside men who were plenty good and well matched. These four put on a show that was tip-top in every way, all showing remarkable strength and science at the game, as well as being well conditioned enough to "take it" and put it out.

Two recently licensed locals, Albert Hartman, weight 158, and Joe Beard, weight 155, put on a bout of 10 minutes' time; one fall, which was won by Beard in 8 minutes with a body lay, after a series of head locks and slams. These boys put on a good bout and mixed it throughout, although Beard was a little out of condition. It looked for a while as though they both were going out at the same time as a result of leg headlocks placed simultaneously, which neither could break for quite a spell.

Hartman appeared the stronger and Beard the more experienced. In the semi-final, a 45-minute limit, best two-out-of-three fall bout, Casey brought together two good men, who could put on a main bout at most any athletic show.

Louis Kodrick, who was truly a "Little Giant", an Austrian, weighing 147 pounds and Joe Fisher, of San Angelo, weighing 154 pounds, were evenly matched. It was nip-and-tuck throughout the 45 minutes, the "Little Giant" saving a fall numerous times by crawling through the ropes with Fisher doing all he could to keep him from crawling with one hold or another.

Kodrick won the first and only fall in 21 minutes, with a flying tackle, which still wasn't a tackle, after a series of headlocks, body slams and butts, but Fisher came back after his 3 minute rest to be the aggressor throughout the balance of the time and it appeared that he would have won a fall if he could have had another half minute or so, as he had the "Little Giant" almost out when time was called.

In the main event Referee Shives, who had well demonstrated his ability to handle such contest through out and plenty to do to keep the "Wild Irishman" Jimmie Murphy from gouging Benny Wilson's eyes out, pulling his nose off, or knocking him out of the bout, but Benny demonstrated that he could take all the Irishman could put out and come back for more.

Jimmie weighed in at 156 and Benny at 158. Although they have both been wrestling in the same towns recently, they showed that they were not friendly by the manner in which they tortured one another constantly.

Benny, after coming out of all kinds of holds, and after 35 minutes of furious wrestling, came out of a series of body slams with a double Japanese toe-hold which finished Jimmie up at least for the night, as Jimmie, although he was willing, was unable to return to the ring eyes after an extra 5-minute rest allowed him by his courteous opponent, because of a strained back sustained when the terrible double Japanese toe-hold was thoroughly applied to him, much to satisfaction of a small but well-pleased crowd.

The "Little Giant" issued a challenge before the deputy wrestling commissioner, Ray Simmons, to "any one in the world who can make my weight, 147 pounds," and Benny Williams issued a special duty to Yaqui Joe, who won two out of three falls from him a week before, here, to make 155 pounds and meet him for Joe's World Championship Belt, representing the world's junior middleweight class.

The promoter promised to see that Yaqui Joe heard of it, or words to that effect, and that he would try and arrange the match for Big Spring in the near future.

OMAHA, Neb. (UP)—At the last minute plans of Dr. and Mrs. W. C. Herrold to attend the wedding of their daughter, Dorothy Louise, in Cincinnati, went away. So they made arrangements to hear the ceremony over long distance telephone. Charles E. Beck, Jr., the bridegroom, and other principals spoke the links into the transmitter.

ELLENBURG, Wash. (UP)—The proposed Kinkgo national monument near here contains approximately 3,000 petrified logs valued at $1,000 each. Among the logs is a petrified ginkgo tree, which grows today only in China and Japan, evidence that Washington once had a tropical climate.

been having a bit of trouble out this way with hijackers. It's a real tough stretch of road—

Dufresne's raised hand cut short Watson's flow of words as a slow smile transformed his drawn features with a kindly charm. "No harm done, Officer, and no need to apologize for doing your duty—but we're not all bootleggers."

Watson threw him a keen look. "I'll ride back there and see what I can find," he said. "Can you remember the exact spot, Mr. Dufresne?"

The motorist looked off into the distance, his brows knitted in concentration. "I had just passed under a concrete bridge, a railroad bridge, I think it was. There was a long dip in the road, then a rising curve. There were high banks on each side of the road. I had just topped the rise—"

Watson nodded. "I know the place, Mr. Dufresne. It's a good place for an ambush and it's been used before. Just one thing more, sir. I've got to turn in a report on this. Do you carry a gun in your car? Just a matter of form, you know."

Dufresne saluted. "No gun, Officer and no liquor."

Watson saluted. "That's O. K., Mr. Dufresne. If I meet any cars coming this way I'll look them over carefully. You'll hear from us."

Less than fifteen minutes' drive along the undulating road brought Dufresne into the quiet town of Edge Hill. He drove directly to the Police Station and drew up at the curb.

Dufresne walked briskly up the cemented path and entered the building. He turned into a room to the right of the corridor, marked "Roll Room". A rookie policeman was busy at a typewriter, filling in some tabulated form. The young officer looked up inquiringly.

"Is Captain Robinson here?"

The Captain was indeed in his office, with the door ajar, and hearing his name spoken, looked out. Recognizing his visitor, he advanced smiling to shake hands.

"Well, Well, Mr. Dufresne," he beamed, "what brings you out here?"

"Trouble" was the terse answer. Captain Robinson noted the genuine gravity of his visitor's demeanor and his face became serious at once. "Come in here," he invited, motioning toward his office.

"Now, Captain, I don't want to cause you any embarrassment in your line of duty."

The rotund police chief chuckled as he obeyed this whimsical order. He went to the window, turning his back on the room. He heard little gurgling noises behind him, followed by a smothered cough. When he turned around Dufresne was just stowing away a flat silver flask in the inside pocket of his overcoat.

"I needed that," he observed. "So would you, Robinson, if you'd just had my experience. Come outside with me for a minute, I want to show you something."

The walked out to the car. Dufresne pointed out the marks left by the bullets. Robinson was greatly perturbed by the sight. "Don't tell me somebody has put the finger on you?" he gasped, using the gangster argot meaning "marked for death."

that the Republican party either revitalise itself with new leaders and new policies or perish brought forward any number of bright suggestions from the sidelines.

A progressive suggested the Party should go through a receivership in the court of public opinion.

Bankruptcy and inefficient management were the proposed reasons.

Borah's blast served one purpose, however. It recalled forcibly how adept the Lone Wolf of Idaho is at alienating public trends and then hopping up to drive the band wagon before the parade gets well started.

He has been in Congress for years. Every battle of consequence has found him a leader on one side or another. His word is respected and feared both at home and abroad.

Yet he has never conceived and fought through to enactment any outstanding piece of legislation which would go down in history as "The Borah Act". And he is always regular in election years, no matter how far he may seem to

Defeat—

England hasn't practiced bimetallism herself for more than a hundred years but local insiders remark she knows more about it than we will in the next hundred.

One authority comments: "London ran us politically until 1776. Then she ran us financially—through banking connections and the gold standard—for one hundred and fifty odd years more. Her hopes for the next 150 seem to lie in lashing us to silver!"

But even the most ardent local silver advocates—whether for or against the British—now concede that PDR isn't having any. It's a mighty bitter pill but they privately know they are licked—at least till Congress meets again.

Innuity—

Well-posted New Yorkers say that Samuel Insull's enforced return is bad news to several individuals and institutions who earnestly hoped the embers of the Insull crash would not be rekindled.

There is reason to believe that American as well as British money was freely though secretly contributed to the Insull "escape fund".

It's hinted the government has much more on its mind than putting 12 tons of rock into her to keep her from turning turtle.

New York

By James McMullen

Bimetallism—

Not all the pressure for bimetallism comes from the silver Senators and their obvious New York supporters.

The knowing say the British are doing their part sub rosa to help the cause. Their methods are anything but crude and their influence isn't easy to trace but people with excellent London connections have been subtly selling the blessings of bimetallism to Congressmen and others whose opinions carry weight in Washington. The pipeline runs to the Bank of England crowd—still the backstage rulers of the Empire despite growth of opposition—rather than to official government circles. Their hand will never be shown publicly but it's being played for unlimited stakes.

The ironic part of it is that some of New York's most outspoken silverites are vehemently anti-British and claim that the broader metallic base is necessary to free us forever from London's financial domination! Those who know the inner picture figure that London must get a sophisticated English grin out of the zeal of its unconscious allies.

Of course the secret British enthusiasm for bimetallism is all on Uncle Sam's behalf. They want no part of it for themselves.

Chess—

Why are our British cousins leaving no stone unturned to lead us to salvation through silver? Experts say there are two reasons.

(1) Britain has no idea of returning to any fixed monetary base herself. She knows we won't revert to the gold standard without international stabilization agreement which includes the sterling bloc. That's out—because London won't enter such an agreement except on terms perpetuating sterling trade advantages and we aren't likely to be caught napping on that score.

But—if our '6 to 1 emotion could be stirred to the point of action—the dollar would again be tied to a metallic foundation while the
