2 Buildings Destroyed By Fire Here

Grocery Store Also Damaged

A raging fire today consumed the major part of half a block on S. Cuyler.

The fire, which started in the Davis Trading Post, 614 S. Cuyler, completely razed the building and spread to the I. G. A. grocery store, next door on the north, and burned the office and residence of a small trailer court on the south to the ground.

The fire, the largest here in several years, was reported to have caused high damage to the grocery store but an account of total damages was unavailable late this morning.

Smoke damage to goods in the store was also extensive.

The Trading Post, owned by W. O. Davis, was completely destroyed. The building also housed the residence for the family.

The office of the trailer court was also completely destroyed.

The fire started about 10:30 a. m. in the Trading Post and quickly spread to the grocery store, which, because of its construction, resisted the flames long enough to enable firemen to begin playing the water hose along its sides and roof. The roof of the store later caught on fire, however, but firemen again extinguished the flames.

E. L. Fisher, 612 S. Cuyler, manager of the IGA Grocery Store, stated that Robert Curry, owner of the IGA building, was probably the value of the IGA stock and fixtures at between $50,000 and $60,000.

A fireman, who used the respirator mask to go completely through the building, said that a large part of the store had received smoke and water damage, but the fire had not entered the main part, due to a firewall standing between the storage room and the grocery store.

The storage room occupying the south side of the building next to the trading post, was completely destroyed. The value of the IGA building was estimated at between $18,000 and $20,000.

The roof of the store was damaged to an undetermined extent. Local citizens helped to a great extent to contain the flames. Several Pampans pitched in and helped the firemen. This was one occasion when the crowd which usually follows a fire helped more than it hampered.

Davis stated, when located helping the firemen on a fire hose, that the fire started when he was warming some varnish in the rear of the building. He left for a few minutes.

Capitol Hill Roundup

By FRANK ELEAZER

WASHINGTON — UP—The Democratic-Republican farm fight narrowed in Congress Wednesday to a struggle over President Eisenhower's plan to pay farmers this year for next year's cutback in crops.

In the House both sides pushed rival soil bank bills that differed mainly on this point.

In the Senate, where members awaited outcome of the House contest, an appropriations subcommittee called Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson for probable questioning on the issue.

'Effort to Buy Votes' Democrats charged that the Republican pre-payment plan was a GOP effort to buy farmers' votes in the coming election. Republicans countered that Democratic delay in enacting the President's soil bank bill left no choice. They said pre-payment now is the only way to get any substantial relief to farmers before next year.

House GOP leaders expected to ask the House Rules committee to make the President's bill in order as an amendment to a pending $1.2 billion soil bank appropriation, which originally was all the Democrats planned to pass.

Democrats clung to their contention no new basic law was necessary to start the President's program for diverting crop land to grass and trees. They conceded, however, that amendments were needed to an old soil conservation law, put on the books by a Democratic administration in the mid-30s, which they cited as basic authority for the soil bank.

Agriculture committee Chairman Harold D. Cooley (D-N. C.) introduced those amendments Tuesday. According to his view, they would give the President just about what he wanted in the way of a soil bank except for the pre-payment feature.

Democrats weren't decided on how best to advance the Cooley proposal. Rep. W. R. Poage (D-Tex.) said no decision on this had been made. One plan would be to knock down the GOP drive to add the President's bill to the pending money measure, then tack on the Cooley bill in its stead.

Another would be to beat the President's bill, pass the appropriation unamended, then consider (See CAPITOL HILL, Page 3)

Algerian Rebels Threaten France

By WALTER COLLINS

CAIRO — UP—Algerian Nationalists threatened Wednesday to carry their North African warfare into "France itself."

The statement came from Algerian Nationalist leader Ferhat Abbas who said he was proposing negotiations between France and the "Algerian liberation front" aimed at winning independence for Algeria.

If France refuses, he said, "all North African liberation forces will intensify the war and carry it into France itself."

Abbas is a former member of the Algerian assembly. He came to Cairo last week with three other Nationalist representatives seeking Arab support for the Algerian Moslems' fight against France.

The group discussed the North African situation with officials of the Arab League and the North African Liberation committee since it arrived here last Tuesday.

Among those with whom the group talked were Mohammed Khaidar, chief of the Algerian section of the liberation committee, and Arab League General Secretary Abdel Khalek. The league already had decided to raise the question of Algeria in the United Nations.

Besides Abbas, the group includes Ahmed Tewfik Elmadani, leader of Algeria's highest religious body and a former member of the Tunisian Neo Destour (Nationalist) party; Lamine Debaghine, a member of the Algerian section of the North African Liberation committee in Cairo, and Ahmed Francis, a leading member of the Algerian Party for Democratic Union.

France considers Algeria an integral part of metropolitan France and has firmly resisted Algerian moves toward independence. However France granted independence to Morocco and Tunisia.

H-Bomb Tests To Be Held

By MERRIMAN SMITH

WASHINGTON — UP—President Eisenhower Wednesday rejected suggestions that the United States call off the hydrogen bomb test in the Pacific next month.

He said such tests are linked inseparably with the development of guided missiles.

Mr. Eisenhower also said he believes no useful purpose would be served now by a visit of Soviet leaders to this country.

And he said he can see no logical reasons for reducing taxes this year.

Attitude Stands on Taxes

He told his news conference that as of now he is convinced it would not be in the good interest of America to lower tax rates. He made clear that this attitude would hold even if the federal surplus during the current fiscal year should prove to be considerably larger than the $200 million forecast by the treasury last January. Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential aspirant, said Saturday the United States should consider halting the H-bomb test as a gesture toward disarmament. Stevenson Tuesday also urged greater speed in the development of guided missiles.

Mr. Eisenhower said he found it paradoxical for a person on one hand to urge as hard work as possible on missiles and then ask that work be stopped on the H-bomb. The President said it would be imprudent to have one without the other.

No Challenge to Khrushchev

The President said he had no reason to challenge the forecast by Khrushchev that Russia soon would have guided missiles with H-bomb warheads capable of hitting "every point in the world." But the President added quickly that there is a very long distance between laboratory capability and the construction of a very expensive, effective and elaborate instrument of war.

Other highlights at Mr. Eisenhower's news conference:

1. He said he had not received from Vice President Richard M. Nixon what he would consider a definitive answer as to whether Nixon wants to run with him this fall.

2. He got a report Wednesday morning from Harold E. Stassen, White House disarmament specialist, on Stassen's talk in London Tuesday night with Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev but had not studied it at sufficient length to comment.

3. He said he thought it was perfectly correct for Democratic strategists to make him, rather than members of his administration, their main target in the forthcoming campaign. He said matter of factly that he is head of the administration and he has been shot at before.

On taxes, Mr. Eisenhower said that if the government should find itself with a surplus of $1 billion or $1.5 billion when the fiscal year ends on June 30, it would be only common prudence to use it to reduce the national debt.

Publishers Want Freer Information

By H. D. QUIGG

NEW YORK — UP—The President of the American Newspaper Publishers Association called the nation's press to vigorous battle Wednesday for free access to public information.

ANPA President Richard W. Slocum said that "government agencies constantly tend to act like claims." In the President's address prepared for delivery to the 70th annual ANPA convention, he added:

"There are mollusks of this variety in government from the high echelons in the federal establishment to the lower levels of local authority.

"We have not been gaining in the battle. Matters about which the public must know if we are to have government of the people and by the people are being stamped 'top secret' and officials are finding a hundred excuses for refusing to discuss many things they are doing.

Montgomery Negroes Warned To Move To Rear Of Bus

By H. GLEN ANTHONY

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — UP—Montgomery city officials warned Negroes Wednesday to move to the rear of buses or face arrest under city and state criminal segregation laws.

The decision was issued in defiance of a U. S. Supreme Court decision which bans segregation. Police Commissioner Clyde Sellers said he was ready to enforce local segregation laws with arrests and prosecution.

"I'll be responsible for any arrests and I'll give direct orders to those arrests," he said.

Decision of City Fathers

The decision of the city fathers was announced Tuesday night, less than 24 hours after the Montgomery City Bus Co. announced it would conform to the Monday decision of the U. S. Supreme Court and eliminate segregation regulations on its vehicles.

Negro bus passengers and bus drivers were thus thrust between the conflicting authorities of armed police and the decision of bus company officials supporting the U. S. Supreme Court decision.

Similar conflicts developed in more than a dozen cities of the deep South where law and custom decreed that Negroes sit at the rear of public transportation vehicles and whites sit at the front.

The National City Lines, Inc., of Chicago, which operates public transportation facilities in eight segregated cities of the South, including Montgomery, planned to make its position clear at a news conference Wednesday.

Reply to Police Decision

Vice President B. W. Franklin called the conference to reply to the police decision to enforce segregation on buses.

Earlier the bus company announced it would comply with the Supreme Court decision and stop compliance with local segregation laws in Montgomery and Mobile, Ala.; Jackson, Miss.; Tampa, Fla.; Tulsa, Okla.; Wichita Falls, El Paso, and Beaumont, Tex. It also operates in non-segregated East St. Louis, Ill.

The Virginia Transit Co. which operates public transportation in Richmond and Norfolk said enforced segregation would be discontinued starting Wednesday. The Portsmouth, Va. Transit Co. said it would follow the policy of the Virginia Transit Co.

A few hours later the Duke Power Co. which operates buses in Durham and Greensboro, N. C., mitted on public transportation vehicles starting Wednesday.

Couldn't Stand It!

CHARLES CITY, Iowa — UP — County Auditor Harold Friedrich Tuesday received $10 in the mail, along with the note, "This money belongs in the dog tax fund."

It was signed "XX," and added in a postscript, "Conscience money."

Warsaw Purge Continues

LONDON — UP—Warsaw radio announced Wednesday the arrest of two top members of Poland's ministry of public security. It was the second major purge to hit Communist country in a week.

The broadcast said the two officials arrested were Roman Romkiewicz, former deputy minister of public security, and Amstoft Fejn, a former director in the Ministry of Public Security.

They were accused of depriving "innocent peoples of their freedom," a charge made recently by several Communist countries against officials who hewed too closely to the Stalin line.

It coincided with a move in Moscow to "rehabilitate" the past victims of Communist party purges and a move to downgrade Andrei Y. Vishinsky, the prosecutor at the big purges of the 1930s when thousands of old-line Bolsheviks were liquidated.

Dag Confers With Jordan Premier

By UNITED PRESS

JERUSALEM (Israel sector) — UP—UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold conferred Wednesday in Amman with Jordan Premier Samir El-Rifai in hopes of ending the suddenly renewed tension along the Israeli-Jordan frontier.

Hammarskjold flew to the Jordan capital late Tuesday and conferred with young King Hussein only hours after Israel charged that Arab infiltrators slipped across the border from Jordan and killed four civilians.

The border between Israel and Jordan is the only one not protected by a cease-fire agreement. Hammarskjold worked out a cease fire last week between Israel and Egypt, and a conditional one between Israel and Syria early this week.

Wednesday Hammarskjold filled in Rifai on his proposals. Informed sources said Jordan did not prepare any proposals itself to submit to the UN chief and that the talks were limited to a border agreement and not to political aspects.

Jordanian government sources said King Hussein welcomed Hammarskjold to the Middle East and wished him success in his peace mission.

It was announced that Hammarskjold would return Thursday to Beirut, Lebanon, his central operating base during his Middle East peace talks.

Israeli newspapers Wednesday accused the Arab nations of deliberately scorning Hammarskjold's peace mission and said they were using his presence in the Middle East to increase tension.

The Jerusalem Post said hopes that the apparent improvement in the international atmosphere had eased the tension in the Middle East were rudely dispelled by the latest "act of murderous violence"—the killing of four Israelis in an Arab ambush.

Ex-Pampan Dies In Crash

Major Mabry Simmons, former Pampan, died in an airplane crash en route from San Bernardino, Calif., to Portland, Ore., when the airplane was forced below the 8,000 foot safety zone over mountains.

He was a brother to Mrs. Katherine Simmons, 407 Blair, Mineola, who wrote to friends here notifying them of his death.

Major Simmons was working on a masters degree at the University of Southern California.

Military services were held in Oregon earlier this month.

Adlai Loses Ground In Three Primaries

By UNITED PRESS

Adlai E. Stevenson lost to favorite son Rep. John W. McCormack in the Massachusetts primary and took a back seat to President Eisenhower in the late returns showed Wednesday.

Stevenson gained some comfort from the fact that his rival for the Democratic presidential nomination, Sen. Estes Kefauver, did not make a good showing in the Pennsylvania primary Tuesday.

The Tennessee also trailed Stevenson on the basis of early returns in Alaska's first presidential primary in history.

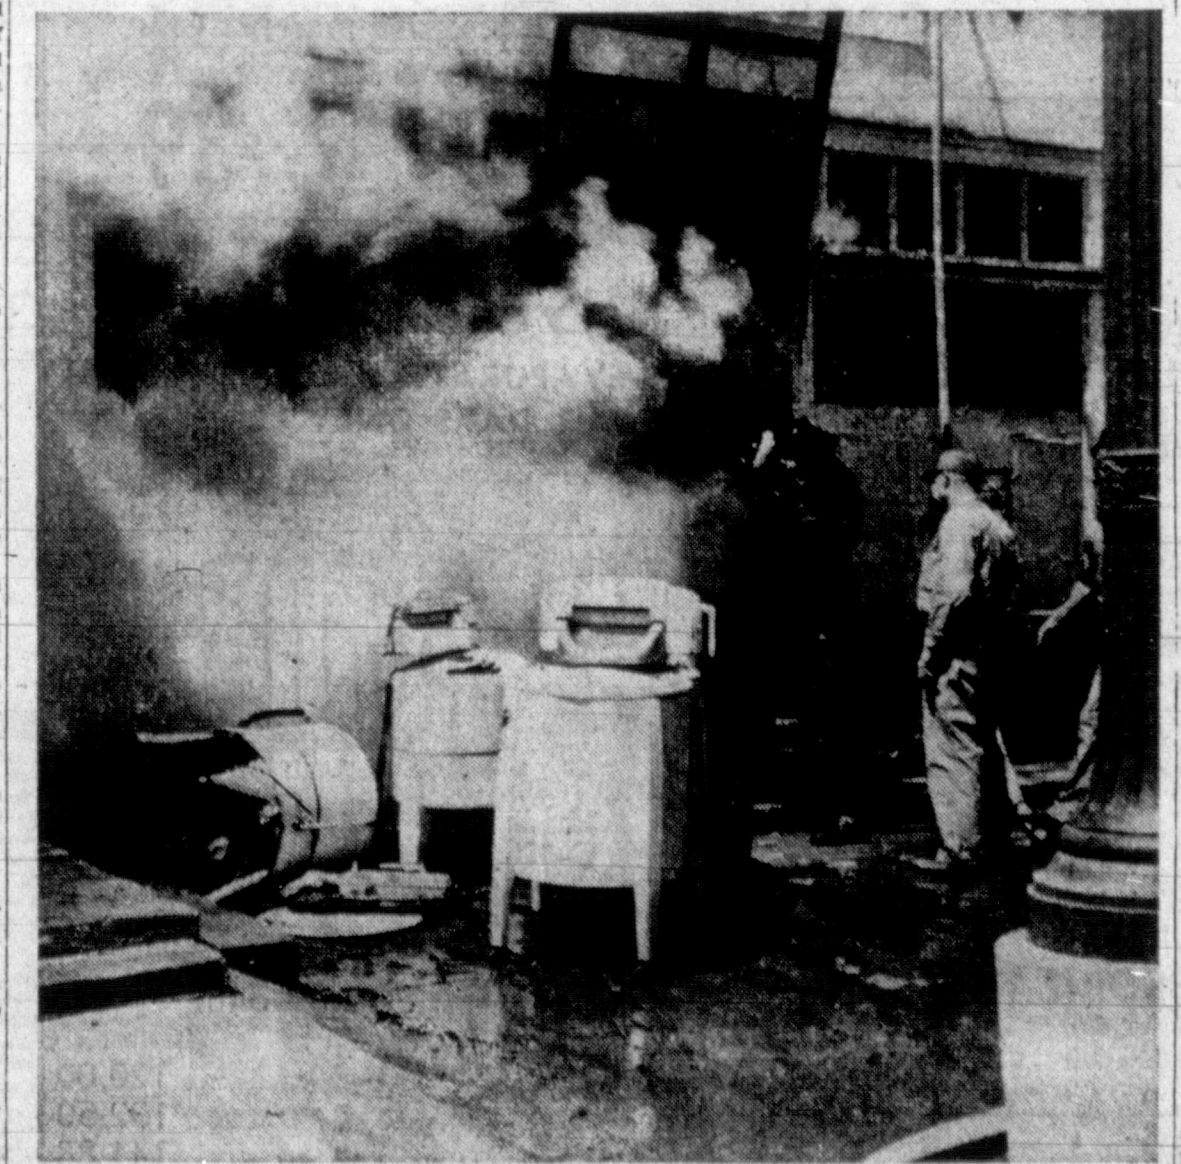

But President Eisenhower appeared the big winner in the two eastern states and Alaska. In Massachusetts, his vote total in the GOP primary out-distanced Democratic votes for McCormack and Stevenson. He piled up a big margin over Stevenson in Pennsylvania and topped a field of four candidates in Alaska.

None of the primaries is binding on delegates to either party convention. The Alaska race was the first out-and-out test of strength between Stevenson and Kefauver since Kefauver's stunning upset victory over the Illinoisan in Minnesota.

Kefauver was not officially entered in the Massachusetts and Pennsylvania primaries, but Stevenson's campaign manager nevertheless claimed a victory over the Tennesseean in both states.

James A. Finnegan said Stevenson has "done exceptionally well, far exceeding our expectations," and boasted that "Senator Kefauver failed to get any substantial grass roots support.

SUPERSONIC POP-OUT—The Navy has just unveiled an "ejectable cockpit capsule" for flipping pilots out of supersonic airplanes. It was shown in model form at the recent Aeronautical Association meeting in Chicago. The capsule, shown in the diagram, forms the nose of the plane. The Navy expects the capsule may be ready for use in '58.

Thrift And Patience

The problems which occur within the federal government relating to money, are many and vast. A great deal has been said and a great deal more will undoubtedly be said about inflation and the possibilities of a depression.

Because of a wide - spread and unjustifiable dependence upon government there are a great many people who hue to the belief that so long as the federal government continues to operate, they themselves can do with their own money and credit and get away with it. It simply isn't true. As individuals we are subject to economic laws which function in our own lives just as accurately and totally, altho not as readily seen, whether the federal government experiences inflation, depression or whatever.

While it is true that our money can fluctuate in value because of what the government may or may not do, the wealth of this country is related to money only indirectly. True wealth is found in property of all kinds, in products, land, crops, buildings and so forth. And each of us as an individual can experience inflation or depression in his own life irrespective of what the federal government does. It is possible for us to experience inflation even though the country is experiencing a depression.

Inflation and depression occur in that invisible area which is called credit. When an individual purchases an item for which he does not have the ready cash, he makes the purchase on credit. This is to say that he mortgages a certain percentage of his future income for a commodity that he intends to have and enjoy now. This is inflation.

If, for any reason, the person who thus purchases on credit is unable to meet his pledged commitments, he will find that his credit vanishes, or the commodity he has not fully paid for will be repossessed, or both. This is a depression.

At the present time, the people of the United States by and large, are living in an inflationary cycle. This is not only true because of what the government has done and is doing to them, but also because of what they are doing to themselves.

In 1954, individuals in this nation went on the cuff for more than $126 billion. They bought houses, automobiles, washers, TV sets and virtually everything else including vacations on a "have-it-now, pay-it-later" basis.

In 1955 that general debt increased to $147 billion. During the past year, for every dollar saved, Americans went into debt $1.00.

The debt structure for private persons thus increased at a more rapid pace in the past year than in the United States government. This is a highly critical situation. And since the government is totally dependent upon the earnings and savings of the people, the continued function of our system is in jeopardy and a recession on the one hand would almost surely trigger a similar reaction on the other.

This, of course, would not be universally true. The individual who has governed his affairs with prudence will not be over - extended into the field of debt. Should anything occur to upset his earnings, if he has invested soundly in real wealth, he will weather the storm with little difficulty.

Those who would experience the greatest distress would be those operating too widely in the area of credit.

We know that there has been a great deal of propaganda released in recent years which brands the thrifty as a hoarder, and praises the spend-thrift as the man who turns the wheels of industry. But, in truth, it is the one who saves on whom our industry depends.

Behind the whole colossal debt, both public and private, stands a single human emotion, . . . impatience. There is nothing wrong with persons having all the good things of life. How much more meritorious it is, however, for a person or a government to hold itself in check, saving eagerly for the full purchase price of what it wants, so that when the sum is available, a true exchange of goods for money can occur, without a penetration into the hazards of extended credit.

The virtue of thrift is too little mentioned in these fast moving times. But solvency is dependent upon both thrift and patience. They are qualities to be nurtured and admired.

THE CLEARING HOUSE

Dear Editor:

Let's consider the prohibition issue.

The prohibition question is one of long standing and it is one as lively to day as it was 50 years ago. Nevertheless, it is an important question in that it deprives our citizens of the fast diminishing individual freedom.

It appears that a group of our well-meaning citizens are attempting to dictate by force through legislation the kind of abridged freedom intended to improve the morals of man. The sponsors of this measure overlook the fact that when the Creator of the Universe made man, he gave him knowledge to choose between right and wrong; that each individual is free to choose his own course of action, with the stipulation that the day "Thou partaketh of the forbidden fruit or otherwise disobey the laws of Our Land," he must pay the penalty, according to Holy Writ.

Mankind loves his freedom and in his high estate has great sympathy and respect for his fellow man, and he is ready and willing to be led in the way of righteousness.

Mankind is also prone to selfishness and thus to live for himself, alone. If and when you deprive him of his personal freedom, any takes possession and hatred follows with its horrid brood, as evidenced during the prohibition era.

Our neighbor to the west, Berger, was a city of vipers, boot-leggers and hi-jackers. Our own fair city was in a bad way. We had to have two District Judges, and now we only have one. It was during prohibition that our District Attorney was assassinated and an attempt was made on the life of our Sheriff. If our boot-leggers took the life of our beloved Otis Hendricks.

To return to prohibition is a step backwards. If taken it can be compared to a parable where the blind lead the blind and we all go in the ditch.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

A Great Democrat's Fight Against Income Tax

William Bourke Cockran, in his speech before Congress in 1891 opposing a 2 per cent tax on income for the 85,000 people then having an income of over $4,000, pointed out taxing one and not another would lead to very serious results. His predictions have come true. Here is the way he put it:

"Principle, Not The Tax Is Important Issue"

"But, it is said, this being a very small tax, nobody ought to object to it. So far as the extent of the burden imposed by it is concerned, I concede that it is a small tax, but the principle involved in it is just as vicious though the rate be 2 per cent as if it were 20 per cent. The first violation of fundamental principles in free government is never the last. The history of class legislation is the history of progressive oppression or of violent reaction. I believe it was the gentleman from Missouri (Mr. Tarsney) who told us that the supporters of this scheme meant to increase the rate of taxation on incomes as the rate of custom taxation should be diminished in the future.

"The burdens of the 85,000 persons subject to this tax are then to be increased with the passage of time, until finally the main support of the Government will be exacted from a very small fraction of the population. Does any sane man believe that Democratic institutions could live under such a system, that a government entirely supported by a class would not ultimately be controlled by a class?"

The gentleman from Missouri (Mr. Hall) condemns the practice of calling names and complains that he and those he leads on this question have been called demagogues. I agree with him in condemning violent language. I do not say that anybody here is a demagogue. Stigmatizing opponents would not contribute to the pleasure of this discussion, and would serve no good purpose.

"But I know very well that if any man should propose to tax incomes exceeding $4,000 a year 10 per cent instead of 2 per cent, and thus outbid the supporters of the pending amendment in the competition for socialistic popularity, the gentleman from Missouri (Mr. Hall) would say the man who made such a suggestion was a demagogue. (Laughter.) Now, sir, the resources of demagoguery are inexhaustible. It is the easiest thing in the world to out demagogue a demagogue.

"Of course, Mr. Chairman, I do not refer to the gentleman from Missouri, but to the other man, the one who would propose a tax of 10 per cent on incomes of a certain amount. (Laughter.) Ordinarily, any socialist proposal, however extravagant, can be pulled down by another proposal still more vicious or reckless. But the amendment of the gentleman from Tennessee (Mr. McMillan) does not even constitute a first-class demagogic proposal. For the amount to which the rate of taxation on incomes can be increased is limited by the nature of things.

"If a proposal to tax the incomes of $5,000 persons 10 per cent will win more popularity than a proposal to tax them 2 per cent, a tax of 20 per cent would still be more popular. But when a tax of 100 per cent is suggested, there will be no room left for further competition; the man who suggests the tax of 100 per cent will have outbid you all. (Laughter.) He, of course, will be a demagogue, while the gentleman from Missouri will remain a patriot, but when the patriot and the demagogue engage in a competition of extravagance, the one is often confounded with the other. (Laughter.)"

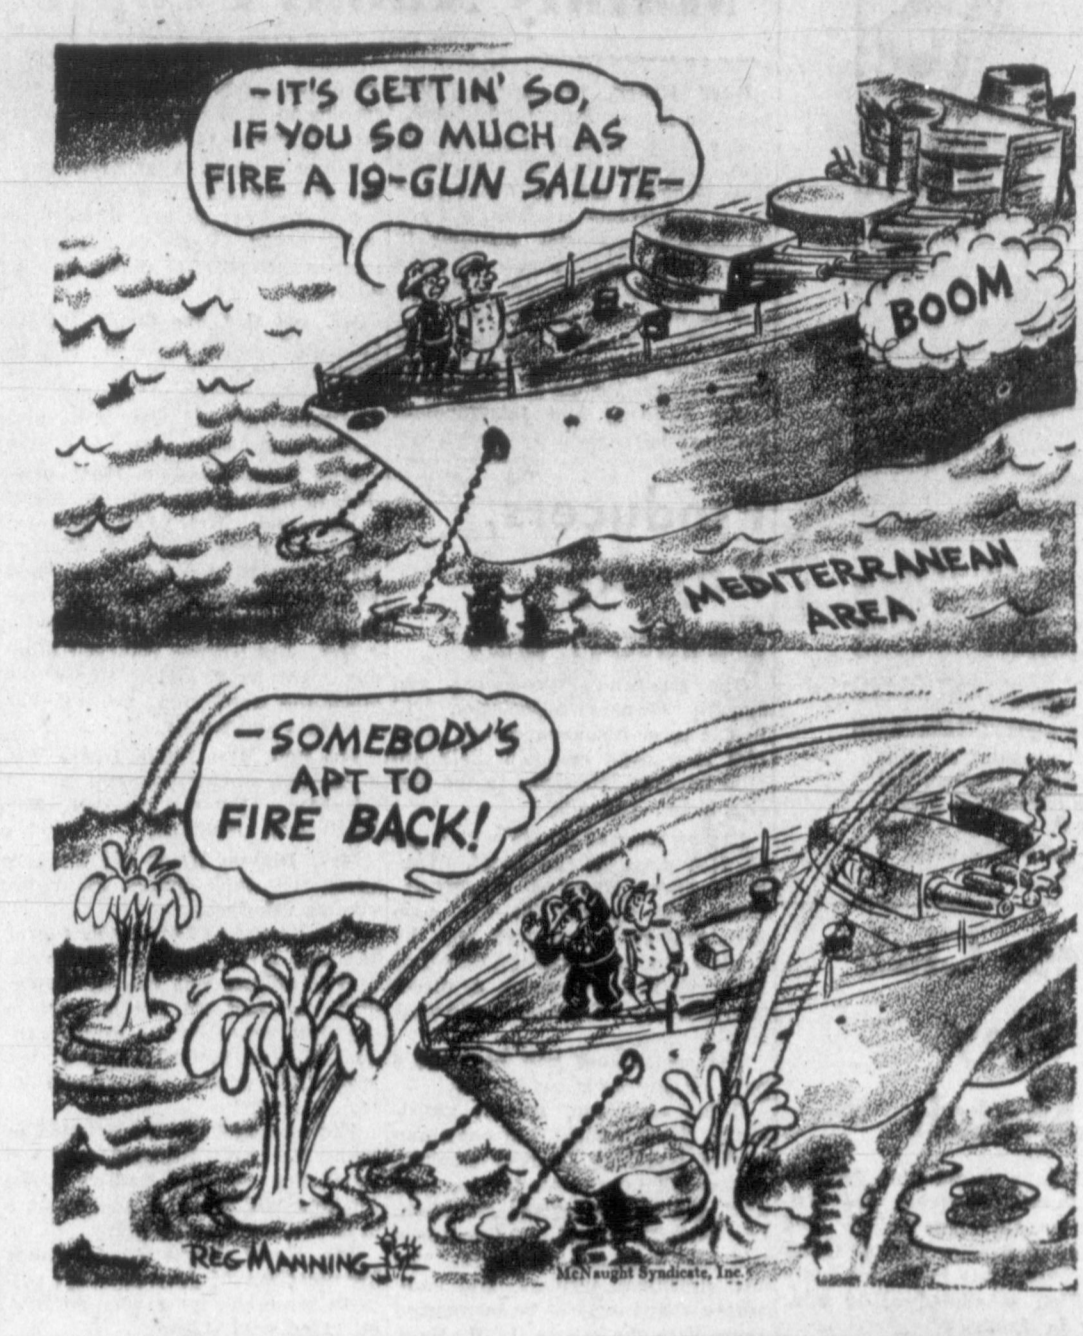

"Mr. Chairman, the gentleman from Colorado (Mr. Penick), who amused us, instructed us, and delighted us today, whose words of wisdom are always illumined by the lambent flame of wit, has already threatened the laurels of the gentleman from Missouri, by offering an amendment providing for a graduated income tax. Now, of course, the gentleman from Colorado is not a demagogue. Nobody inside this House is a demagogue. Judged by the fiery speeches made on this floor against the inherent wickedness of prosperity, the suggestion of the gentleman from Colorado is moderate in the extreme, as the initial step in a dangerous policy always is.

"But in the interest of the gentleman from Colorado, I want to remind him that out in his Congressional district there are hundreds of able demagogues who will denounce him for the very mildness of his proposal and make his moderation the ground of impeaching his fidelity to the Populist masses. If the idea of a graduated income tax be entertained and tolerated, they will demand that it be applied so as to impose substantial burdens on the rich. Think you the anarchist, who thins for destruction of property, will be satisfied by taxing what the gentleman from Tennessee (Mr. McMillan) calls the accumulated wealth of the country - $15,000?"

"Taxing Power Will Result In Spoilation"

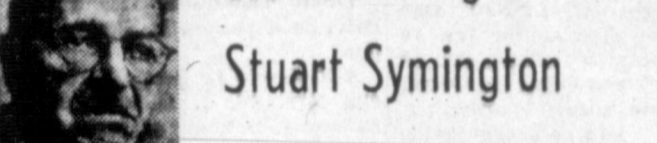

"The imposition of such a tax is but a gentle, playful exercise of a dangerous power. It is merely showing demagogues the path use of the taxing power which will use of demagoguery. The demand for a use of the taxing power which will result in substantial spoilation will soon be heard in every Populist meeting. The men who offer this amendment as a sop to the discontented will be swept away by

G.O.P. Aiming At Stuart Symington

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Top Republican strategists have spotted Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri as the most likely Democratic opponent of President Eisenhower. They are now bringing their heaviest guns to bear against him on Capitol Hill and at the Pentagon.

It has escaped general notice, but numerous recent speeches by House Republicans have sought to refute Symington's attacks upon the Administration's national defense program. In direct contradiction of his charges, they declared that the United States leads Russia in development of atomic bombs, guided missiles, jet planes and bombers.

In view of the scientific and technical details furnished by the GOP spokesmen, the conclusion is inescapable that the anti-Symington data came direct from experts and ghost writers in these fields at the Pentagon, where Symington once served as Secretary of the Air Force.

In other ways, the White House is raising its guard against the handsome middle-aged leader from the Middle West. As in so many other political encounters, the is rolling with the punch instead of sticking his chin out for a one-two blow.

Almost immediately after the Symington-Jackson criticism of the guided missile program as a half-hearted effort, the President appointed a "Czar" for intensive development of these weapons. He followed that action by asking Congress for several hundred additional millions for these specific projects. In short, he embarked on a "crash-crisis" venture.

These moves, of course, were interpreted as partial substantiation of Symington's statements. A more stubborn President would have disregarded them, as Harry S. Truman did with respect to the early investigation of Alger Hiss. But Ike's willingness to bow before hostile political winds is a source of strength, not weakness. And he had been notified by advisers that "It looks like Symington."

In addition to these anti-Symington blasts, Republican researchers are currently preparing an analysis of the 1956 and 1960, pre-Korea military establishments. No matter what weaknesses Senator Symington reveals at his present inquiry, the report will show unquestionably that today's Armed Forces are far stronger than they were six years ago.

The analysis will cite four fields in which there have been great advances. The first consists of the organization and strengthening of the rising tide of socialism. They will discover, when too late, that in overturning the barriers which separate liberty from anarchy they have liberated 10,000 forces which will sweep over them and overwhelm them in a mad procession of anarchy and disorder.

"To those who fancy that the lawless can be reconciled to order by legislation such as this, I say search the records of history. Judge for yourselves the result of temporizing with vicious and extravagant demands before you pass such a measure through Congress." (To be continued)

FOR REFLECTION

...with JAMES C. INGEBRETSEN President, Spiritual Mobilization

It is fascinating to watch the tactics of those who oppose the passage of the Bricker amendment to bring treaties under the limitation of the Constitution.

The proposed amendment now reads: "A provision of a treaty or other international agreement which conflicts with any provision of this Constitution shall not be of any force or effect."

Thomas C. Hennings, Jr., (Dem., Mo.) who heads the opposition, reportedly contends that the current text carries "three little words" that would make great mischief. These "three little words" are "any provision of."

Just why a treaty should not be prohibited from conflicting with "any provision of" the Constitution is hard for me to understand. If treaties are free to conflict with one or more provisions of the Constitution, what Constitutional Limit is there on them at all? And why should there not be the same sort of Constitutional limit on treaties as on laws?

Mr. Hennings is said to believe that such a limit might have "a devastating impact" on foreign affairs.

But may not the lack of such a limit have an equally "devastating impact" on domestic affairs?

Meany, Reuther Tell Of U.S. 'Labor' In India

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

George Meany and Walter Reuther, political unioners at the head of a vast American bond called the AFL-CIO, have presumed to address the government and "people" of India in the name of American "labor." There is no such entity as American "labor" and no one has any mandate from the workers of the United States to speak for them on any subject anywhere.

The term "labor" is a fraud whose acceptance by the public is largely the fault of a negligent, indiscriminating and weakling press. It is put forward as a political synonym for the few workers who are by choice or compulsion, members of the AFL-CIO unions. There are about 12 million such members, but even if all of them were willing, enthusiastic members of their respective unions, they would still be a small minority of all the workers of the United States even if we restrict the word "worker" to those who are employed for wages or salaries.

There are about 60 million workers in that sense of the word. There must be at least half that many others who work very hard making beds, sweeping, cooking and otherwise running homes; running personal stores and shops for long hours, and small farmers.

Meany's "home" union is the plumbers', it is no bargain. But there are many which are much worse.

The operating engineers, recently in the news on account of an outrageous but typical American Union convention in Chicago, is one. Nobody knows the sordid details of this union's perfidy better than Meany and Reuther, who nevertheless accept its mandate and its dirty money, contributed by the general treasury of their impudent bond. The teamsters is another along with the hodcarriers and common laborers.

However, Meany, owing his present false importance to his membership in the Plumbers' Union, never has publicly repudiated anything it has done in betraying labor in many ingenious ways, or its notorious connivances with crooked contractors and providers to the general detriment of the people of the United States.

It is not mere humor which prompts the observation that if Longfellow had hymned the village plumber rather than the blacksmith his poem would have become the one jest among his works, and a classic at that.

Mac Applauds Texan With Diet Idea

By HENRY McLEMORE

"To control your weight, stop counting calories and take care of your hypothalamus."

This sentence jumped at me from the brush. And it couldn't have jumped at a better time, because I was just sitting down to a diet lunch of one green pea, a leaf of lettuce the size of a playing card, five eggbeats, and half a glass of skimmed buttermilk.

Ahead of me stretched months of such luncheons, for my neck had heralded the arrival of spring by popping a shirt button, and my waist by spitting a gusset. There was nothing for me to do but start the primitive body-shrinking process once again.

But this hypothalamus theory, what could it be?

I read on, and with the reading of each succeeding sentence, I became happier and happier, and could feel the clanking chains of the diet falling away from my gut.

If you missed the story, here it is in brief:

It's the work of a University of Texas biochemist. (We'll get around to building him a statue later.) This Texan says the human brain has a hypothalamus. It is a vital part and seat of "bodily wisdom" and controls the appetite.

The Texan says you should eat foods which make the hypothalamus happy - pay no attention to calories. Then the happy hypothalamus will keep you in proper shape - just thin enough, just plump enough.

I didn't even know I had a hypothalamus, but you can bet I'm glad I have. I wouldn't sell it for a million dollars, and from now on I am going to start wearing a hat to keep it sheltered.

I sure hope my hypothalamus isn't mad at me for the awful diet meals I have fed it in the past. I'll bet you that what caused me to have headaches when I dieted. My hypothalamus was mad at getting starvation fare when what it needed to be happy was potatoes, gravy, butter, and second helpings.

Pampa News Women's Editor

FOR GIRLS NOW PLANNING their future, I've found an excellent article on the importance of secretarial training, whether a girl will go to college or enter the business field upon graduation. Although this article is pointed mainly toward a secretarial career, typing and shorthand are valuable to a girl no matter what career may be chosen. Here's what the article says.

NO MATTER what your alma mater, be it Vassar, Smith or Bryn Mawr, you can be proud and happy if you've learned to be a secretary. For a day, along with learning the finer points of being an educated lady, girls the country over, in coast and women's colleges, are wrestling with dear old typing and shorthand.

Why do they bother? Simply because they know that the job of secretary is often a stepping-stone to bigger and better things. All skills considered, being a good "girl Friday" is quite an accomplishment in itself. As reported by Underwood-Corporation's Research Dept., the job often develops into a related executive position.

In itself, secretarial work is fast becoming more challenging. The job goes far beyond mere office routine such as typing, dictation, a gracious telephone manner and neat correspondence. Amidst the complications and driving tempo of modern business, the secretary is a right arm, a confidante, a friend-in-need to the busy executive. She takes on responsibilities in larger and larger doses, learns more and more about her boss, his job and the business as a whole, and in this way often qualifies herself for a position with more authority.

College graduates, especially, should appreciate the value of secretarial knowledge, for it can stand between you and your chosen career. Obviously, the colleges have recognized the importance of the present-day secretary; now it's up to the girls. Career-minded young ladies are the top fashion of the day and are constantly moving into responsible, prestige positions in big business... and at good salaries, too!

According to Underwood, a survey conducted among members of the National Secretaries' Association, New York City Chapter, revealed that most girls are happiest when their boss recognizes intelligence and readiness to accept more responsibility. This should serve a dual role — to alert the working secretaries of the country and to act as a signal beacon to young women in search of career opportunities. You must assert yourself, but first you must equip yourself with a good secretarial background.

A young woman's success in business depends entirely upon her own attitude toward her training, education and particular aptitudes.

Psychological testing centers, where career guidance counselors are available, serve as excellent aids in planning a future. Once thoroughly informed regarding interest fields, personality traits and special aptitudes, you are on the right track. No matter what your sights are set on, diamonds are not always a girl's best friend... but typing and shorthand are.

Weather Still Worrying Southwestern League

By TOMMIE ELLIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

Pampa's pros blasted out nine hits and drove in nine runs in the first two frames to take a comfortable lead in their home opener before an estimated crowd of 500 cool fans last night.

The Oilers stretched their lead to 12-1 in the third and ended the contest doubling the visitors, 18-9. The same teams will be battling again tonight, weather permitting.

Joltin' Joe Fortin's big bat really got things started as he stepped up and slammed the first pitch over the left center field. It was his sixth of the season.

Home runs came throughout the entire contest with Fortin, Frank Kempa and Bob Flores making the roundtrips for the Oilers and Jim Moore and Milton Isenberg slamming them out for the Westerners.

The Oilers had their best night of the season as the team averaged hitting .500. They were officially at bat 42 times and picked up 21 hits.

Red Dial picked up his second win of season against no defeats. Ben Bonine suffered his second defeat at the hands of the Oilers.

Bonine gave up nine hits for nine runs but was taken out after one was out in the second. Ramey came in to relieve but did very little better as he gave up five runs on eight hits. Ramey was relieved by Alford who held the Oilers to the remaining five runs on four hits.

Dial gave up a total of 17 hits but allowed only nine runs. The big difference was the fact that Dial didn't walk a single Westerner while 11 Oilers got the free trips to first and Dial and Fortin were hit by Alford.

The Oilers had a total of 14 earned runs while Ballinger had only five. York's team left 10 stranded.

Ken Boyer Leads Cards In 5-3 Victory Over Redlegs

By UNITED PRESS
Cloutin' Ken Boyer, sporting a stratospheric .556 batting average, is not only leading the majors in hitting but also the surging St. Louis Cardinals in their climb toward the top of the National League.

Boyer, who batted only .264 last season, drove in four runs and was pretty much the whole show in a 5-3 victory over the Cincinnati Redlegs Tuesday night which boosted the Cardinals within a half game of first place.

In his last 29 times up, Boyer has connected safely 13 times. He tagged Redleg starter Pat Scantlebury for his third homer of the season with two on in the first inning and drove in another run in the seventh with a single off reliever Hal Jeffcoat.

None Gone Distance
No Cardinal pitcher has gone the distance yet this year but the way Boyer has been hitting, it hardly has been noticed.

The New York Yankees, continuing their fast getaway in the American League, defeated the Washington Senators 4-1 as young Johnny Kucks gained his second triumph.

Southpaw Chuck Stobbs, the only pitcher to beat the Yanks so far this year, was the victim of home runs by Hank Bauer and Yogi Berra.

Kucks spaced seven Senator hits and was aided by five double plays, four of them by the same combination of Gil McDougald, Jerry Lumpee and Bill Skowron. Lumpee took part in all five double plays and had nine assists and five putouts in all.

Six in Seven Starts
The victory was the Yankees' sixth in seven starts this year.

Veteran Steve Gromek held the Kansas City Athletics to six hits as his Detroit Tiger teammates rapped out 10 hits, including three homers, in a 7-4 victory.

Bill Tuttle drove in four runs with a homer and a single while Ray Boone and Reno Bertoia, who looks like the answer to Detroit's second base problem, also homered. Bertoia collected three of the Tigers' hits. Arnie Portocarrero was the loser.

Inclement weather caused postponement of four games. The game between Boston and Baltimore was wiped out in the American League while in the National League, the games between Milwaukee and Chicago, New York and Pittsburgh, and Brooklyn and Philadelphia, were called off.

Tuesday's Star
Ken Boyer of the Cardinals, who drove in four runs in a 5-3 triumph over the Redlegs.

IBC Probe Involves Top Fighters

By ROBERT EVANS

NEW YORK — UP — The International Boxing Club, operating like a finance company, except that it charged no interest, gave big loans to champion-fighters which made it virtually impossible for other promoters to deal with them for bouts, the federal government charged Wednesday.

Assistant U. S. Attorney Lawrence Gochberg, directing the government anti-monopoly suit against the IBC, stated that a total of $451,042 in loans was made to champions, top contenders and their managers within a four year period, from 1949 to 1953.

Gochberg said the loans represented advances on purses for major fights and that the government as such did not regard this as objectionable.

Made Difficult for Others
"But combined with the other practices of the IBC, it made it difficult for other promoters to get championship matches," Gochberg said.

The fighters involved and the money they received in advance payments were Kid Gavilan $55,830; Jersey Joe Walcott $15,000; Joe Louis $30,750; Johnny Barnton $45,812; and Rocky Graziano $9,750.

The managers and the amounts they received were Ike Bernstein $11,784; Bill Daly $12,500; Jack Kearns $8,250; George Gainford $9,250; Frank (Blinky) Palermo $1,000; Hymie Wallman $12,500.

Judge Sylvester J. Ryan, who is trying the case, said he regarded a contract which former heavy-weight champion Joe Louis drew up with four other title contenders a form of "unlawful restraint."

Charges Against Joe Louis
The government charged previously that Louis had accepted a payoff of $150,000 in 1949 to give up his title as undefeated heavy-weight champion. In turn, Louis allegedly fronted for a title tournament in which he personally signed four contenders to contracts with the IBC. They were Ezzard Charles, Lee Savoid, Gus Lesnevich, and Walcott.

Counsel for the IBC said that Louis had signed the four contenders on his own without the knowledge of the top officials of the IBC, James Norris or Arthur Wirtz.

The IBC made a general denial of all of the government charges of monopoly and restraint of trade in the fight game.

ADD UP THE COST of keeping your present car in top condition this year—new tires—engine work—paint—battery—muffler—brake linings, etc. Then talk to your Plymouth dealer about his modern finance plan; find out how it may actually cost you less money to drive home in a '56 Plymouth—the only all-new car in the low-price three.

Compare what your dollar buys... and you'll switch to Plymouth, too!

More size, more beauty, more that's new — no wonder there's been a 118% increase in the number of people who switched to Plymouth! We bet you'll join the "big switch" when you learn all about the wonderful values and deals we Plymouth dealers are offering this spring.

Look what we did for the couple above! They owned a 1953 model of another low-price car — and were planning to buy the same make again. But when they saw how much bigger and handsomer and newer Plymouth is... they decided Plymouth was the car... and now was the time.

So come see what the shouting's about. Try Plymouth's magical Push-Button Driving (not found on any other low-price car), a positive, mechanical control. Sample Plymouth's new 200-hp Hy-Fire V-8. Examine Plymouth's exclusive safety features. You'll switch to Plymouth, too!

PLYMOUTH costs less

From the day you buy it... through all the years you own it... you'll spend less on a Plymouth. That's one reason more Plymouths are used as taxis than all other cars combined.

Names of the 785 winners in Plymouth's $150,000 Lucky Motor Number Sweepstakes are on display now at your Plymouth dealer's.

Bulldogs Defeat Harvesters, 7-3

The Pampa Harvesters dropped their second game of the season to the Plainview Bulldogs yesterday in Plainview. The win was the Bulldogs' fourth in a row as they edged Monterey in a pair and Berger.

The main cause of Pampa's downfall was six errors and the same number of unearned runs by Plainview.

Both teams collected five hits as Jerry Hodges picked up the win for the Bulldogs and Bobby Dehis suffered the loss although coach Cecil Woldt used three hurlers.

Bobby Dehis, David James and Bill Conway shared the pitching duties for Pampa.

Pampa scored two runs in the top of the third as Dehis doubled to right, Gary Herr walked, Buddy Sharp sacrificed and Jim Parish followed with a two run single to center.

Pampa made two costly errors in the top of the fourth as Dehis doubled to right, Gary Herr walked, Buddy Sharp sacrificed and Jim Parish followed with a two run single to center.

Pampa scored again in the top of the fifth with a walk, an error and an RBI single by catcher John Lee. Plainview came back in the bottom of the fifth and pushed across two more runs on one hit, two sacrifices, a walk, an error and a squeeze bunt.

Pampa threatened again in the sixth and seventh but a double play and a freak force at home ended the game to hand the Harvesters their second loss of the season.

Pay Television Advocated To Save Minors

WASHINGTON—UP—Gov. Edwin C. Johnson of Colorado, for many years a leading minor league baseball executive, urged adoption of pay television Wednesday as a means of saving many sports promotions particularly at the local level from bankruptcy.

Johnson, former president of the Western League at Denver and a Democratic U. S. senator until he left his post to become governor, submitted a statement to the Senate Commerce committee of which he formerly was a member, regarding his views on subscription TV.

"It would be a boom to local and national sports which now are suffering severely economic losses as a result of the impact of free television," he said.

The Commerce committee is studying proposals for a subscription system under which the public would pay to see certain television programs.

Johnson said the present policy of free television based on commercial advertising by sponsors could not be extended.

"The economic facts of life show that only several hundred stations can be supported by advertising," Johnson said.

Minor league baseball leagues particularly would benefit from subscription TV, Johnson declared.

"The catastrophes sweeping the minor leagues have reached such proportions that something simply must be done if baseball is to survive outside the minors," he concluded.

TV Producer Will Find The Perfect Bosom Or Bust

By WILLIAM EWALD NEW YORK —UP— Harry Lee Danziger, a TV producer who believes in putting up a good front, Danziger, a TV producer who believes off this week to find the perfect bosom or bust. "The Vise," which is Danziger is producer of a TV film in England. The plots in the mystery series often run to the routine, but the scenic wonders of its female participants are frequently spectacular. The series is exposed, if that is the word on ABC-TV. "I believe people enjoy looking at pretty girls," explained Danziger Tuesday. And I just love to have pretty girls on the show. We make a tremendous effort to get them, but the tough thing is finding any with talent. Danziger and his press agent unveiled some sample photographs of the talent that had worked on the show. Memory for Figures Danziger tossed the photo of a green-eyed brunette on the table. "Jennifer Jayne," he said. "38-23-37," rattled off the press agent. Then a strawberry blonde. "Kay Gallard," said Danziger. "35-24-35," said the press agent. Dorne, "38-23-38," said the press agent. One more, "Jill Adams," said Danziger. "38-21-36," said the press agent apologetically. "She had a wonderful waistline." Right now, Danziger said, he was in Manhattan to unearth an American beauty who will measure up for "The Vise." He plans to use her as a kind of girl Friday for the detective hero of the TV series. "The girl should be built. I'm really looking for something quite special," said Danziger with a far away look in his eyes. "Something like Jayne Mansfield. I'd also like her to have a sexy face like Kim Novak, a voice like Talulah Bankhead, the dramatic ability of Grace Kelly and the comic flair of Judy Holliday." Dramatic, But Flat Danziger, who was born in New York, explained that although the cabin of the acting is high in England, the state of the bosom is pretty low. "It's very tough to find bosomy girls over there," said Danziger. "I suppose it's the food or the climate or something. They don't encourage that sort of thing anyway—they much prefer the thin, bony, flatly repressed type. "In America, however, the bosom is appreciated. The only difficulty about girls over here is that they lack the savoir-faire of girls from the continent. They are perhaps a little too healthy." Danziger, who has a tape measure and will travel, said, "about the only thing we don't care about is the color of her hair. "After all, if we don't like that feature, all we have to do is dye it."

Telephone Firm Is Biggest

NEW YORK —UP— The Bell Telephone System—its assets rising to $14.5 billion—replaced the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. last year as the world's biggest business enterprise, a United Press survey showed Tuesday. The study also revealed that the most prosperous decade in history swelled membership in the "billion dollar club" of American industry from 43 in 1945 to a new peak of 77 in 1955. Seven companies joined the billion-dollar fraternity last year alone. The club is made up of companies with total assets of more than $1 billion. The 77 business giants in the club had assets aggregating $223,970,983, or enough to buy more than 100 million medium-priced autos or about 1,000 super carriers the size of the USS Saratoga. In 1954 these companies had total assets of $208,166,152.23. The survey showed that 20 of the giants were included in the list of 33 companies which sold more than $1 billion worth of goods and services in 1955. The seven new companies on the club's roster last year were Commercial Credit Co., First Pennsylvania, Banking & Trust Co., Western Electric, Philadelphia National Bank, Aluminum Co. of America, International Harvester Co. and Anglo California National Bank.

TEEN TOPICS By HELEN STEWARD

There comes a time in every girl's life when writing a weekly column is next to the impossible. This is that time, so two substitutes have been incorporated to bring you the teenage news this week. Thanks ever so much to Carol Henry and Sheila Chisholm for filling in. Come in — Carol and Sheila. Thank you, Ruth. Before we begin let us congratulate you on your recent marriage and wish you lots of luck for the future. Pampa High School has really seen a busy week. To begin with, the students who went to the regional meet in Lubbock this past week and came out with top honors. Those winning were: Jeanie Robertson, extemporaneous speaking; Marilyn Wells and Vickie Osborne, girls' debate; PHS golf team; Dicky Maudlin, the 100-yard dash. Won't be long until these students enter Austin stompin' grounds for the state finals. Pampa High is proud of all of them. Also doing well in district play is our baseball team. They've won all their games except the one they played against Amarillo, but we have another chance at them in the near future. Just a word to you guys, we're backing you all the way!

The biggest day PHS has seen in a long time was Monday when the seniors entered their second childhood with the celebration of Kid Day. The teachers had a hectic day among the lollipop, the water pants, and the frilly bows and short pants. A group of senior girls were even found eating their lunch on the school lawn during the noon hour. The lower classmen looked on in amazement having their doubts as to whether or not they would ever act like that. Anyway, the seniors enjoyed every minute of it, and we'd like to thank Mr. Edmondson, Marsh and the rest of the faculty for their patience in helping make it a "big day." Another highlight of the past week were the events held by the Kit Kat Klub and the Sub Deb Club. Sub Debs held their annual Shipwreck Dance last Friday evening. From all reports the food and entertainment were very good and the party was considered a big success by all who attended. The Equire Club was the guest of the Sub Deb Club. A spring style show, especially for teenagers, was held by the Kit Kat Klub in the City Club room last Sunday afternoon. There were two showings with everything from sportswear to evening clothes modeled. The decorations gave a springtime atmosphere and everyone left with the idea that spring was really here. Juniors are busy running around completing last minute details for the Junior-Senior Banquet which will be held this Saturday night in the school cafeteria beginning at eight o'clock. The seniors are curious to see how the theme, "Candyland," will be carried out. The invitations received by the seniors caused lots of excitement and even more speculation. Here's hoping all you boys have dates! New engagement rings are becoming more and more numerous in the halls of PHS. Such was the evidence sparkling from the hands of Carol Sue Wilson and La Wams Andrews. Congratulations, girls, for winning yourselves a man! (Leap Year Know How) A group of seniors boys have formed an organization called the "Bachelor Society." They have even gone so far as to have membership cards printed. However, they didn't quite live up to their name Friday night because they had a picnic — with girls! Tri-Hi-Y and Hi-Y are planning a "weenie" roast for the combined clubs May 5th. According to Carolyn Miller, Tri-Hi-Y president, it is going to be quite an affair. Congratulations to Jeannine Leith and Lu Koch on being selected as delegates to 1956 Girls' State. They are really in store for a terrific experience. We only wish we could go along with them. Elections of class officers for next year was held yesterday at PHS. Those running for the various offices were: Jerry Don Hopkins, Jimmy Edwards, and Carroll Cole for senior class president; Wadene Thomason, Cynthia Duncan, and Sandra Walsh for senior class secretary; Robert Langford, Bill Walsh, Jim Hopkins for junior class president; Pat Gorman, Pat Dial, Carol Roundtree, and Raina Storms for junior class secretary. The boy in each class to receive the second highest number of votes was named vice-president. Class officers work hard for their individual classes and for the school. All those nominated are to be congratulated for the honor bestowed upon them by their classmates. Each day brings us closer and closer to graduation and each minute brings us closer and closer to our deadline. So, so long for now!
