Penitentiary Sentences Given Here

Four penitentiary sentences were given by Judge Lewis M. Goodrich in District Court yesterday.

Leonard L. (Flying Cowboy) Hannah, 25, pleaded guilty to a charge of passing a worthless check. He was given a four-year penitentiary sentence.

Hannah passed a check for $150 on Jan. 2 to J. C. Daniels Motor Co. in payment for a Lincoln. He has also been indicted and sentenced on bad check charges in Bailey, Parmer, Lamb and Hale Counties. He was given three four-year terms and one two-year sentence, all of which are to run concurrently with present sentence.

Previously Hannah has been indicted in Dallas on a similar charge.

Three other men, charged with burglary and passing, also pleaded guilty to charges. George Haire, 53, Pampa, was sentenced to six years for passing a $10 check on Jan. 5, one month after he was released from Huntsville where he served two years of a seven-year sentence for forgery.

Jess Ridley, 53, of Slaton, and Johnny J. Johnson, 55, of Lubbock, who worked as a check-writing team, were given three-year sentences. Johnson would write the checks and Ridley passed them. They are wanted in 12 other Texas counties for the same offense.

Johnson is an ex-convict who served three previous terms in Texas prisons for burglary, bootlegging and assault with intent to murder.

Margaret's Promised Arrives

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. —UP—Newman Clifton Daniel Jr., arrives in Independence, Thursday from New York for his first meeting with many of the relatives of the bride-to-be, Margaret Truman.

Daniel and the daughter of former President Truman will be married Saturday in Trinity Episcopal Church here.

The 30-year-old rector of the church, Father Patric Hutton, disclosed Wednesday that it would be a single ring ceremony. He said a private wedding rehearsal would be held in the church at 7 p.m. Friday.

Father Hutton said Miss Truman and Daniel were given Episcopal pre-marriage instructions in New York by the Rev. Arthur Zinsolving of St. James Church.

He said it has been standard practice of the Episcopal church for the last 10 years, to provide such instructions.

Daniel will attend a family dinner of the Trumans Thursday night at the former President's home on Delaware Street. He will meet many of Miss Truman's relatives for the first time at the dinner.

Father Hutton said that Daniel, like Mr. Truman, is a Baptist. Miss Truman and her mother, however, are Episcopalians, he said.

Scores of newsmen from New York, Washington, Chicago and St. Louis will be on hand for the wedding. Many of them were already in Independence Thursday.

News photographers will be permitted to take pictures inside the church after the wedding ceremony. Father Hutton announced, but no pictures will be allowed during the ceremony.

Residents of Independence had little to say about the marriage, telling newsmen they regarded it as "a private affair."

Burglaries Are Solved In Arrests

Four burglaries, three of them on Sept. 14, 1955 and one on Feb. 9, 1956, were reported to have been solved with the arrest of a ring of airmen in Amarillo who admitted to the burglaries, Chief of Police Jim Conner reported today.

The airmen have been active for several months and have burglarized residences from Oklahoma City to Clovis.

The three residences they admitted breaking into on Sept. 14, of last year are 2200 Williston, 1134 Williston, and 408 W. Harvester. The residence at 1523 N. Russell was burglarized on Feb. 9, of this year.

A television set which was taken from 1523 N. Russell has been recovered and is being held by the Amarillo Sheriff's office as evidence.

Attempts are being made to recover other items taken from Pampa and Conner reported that Sheriff Paul Galbraith of Amarillo was in Oklahoma City today trying to locate some of them.

The airmen allegedly disposed of the items that were stolen through the Hawbakker Auction Company of Amarillo. Owners of the firm were in custody in Borger yesterday.

Three of the airmen, who are in custody in Amarillo, have admitted taking part in 41 burglaries in this area during the past 18 months. Two other airmen are in custody, one in Wichita Falls, and one in San Antonio.

Warrants have been issued for two other men, one that was recently discharged from the Air Force, and one airman that is now stationed in Korea.

All of the property that officers are successful in recovering will be returned to the owners, Conner added.

you, many of you may wonder what it costs to have an association. It is very little, you set your own budget, you hire your own man. Our personnel services will provide your local committee or board with names of men available, you choose your own program from the large volume of activities we have, you own and direct your own property. The Y.M.C.A. is a democratic organization and you here in Pampa would run your own Association."

"We have" the speaker continued "our area Y.M.C.A. staff available to come in for council and guidance from time to time. Our conferences and training institutes provide and assist in the program features. Some of you may ask 'How much of this budget goes out of Pampa? My answer is this, it will cost you only 3 per cent of your budget for your national and area affiliation and this includes any services our area and national staff may render."

"Our expansion secretary, who has been introduced here today, comes to Pampa frequently and it would be his job to set up your membership campaign, raise your budget, give advice to your committees, work with your personal committee in selecting the full time Y.M.C.A. secretary for your city. All of our Y.M.C.A.'s now established in this area foot the bill for this great service. It costs you nothing. It sounds almost too good to be true, doesn't it? But it is true, every word of it. Pampa needs a Y.M.C.A. It is my sincere prayer you will avail yourself of this opportunity to have one."

The speaker was introduced by the Rev. William West, rector of the St. Matthews Episcopal Church. Visiting secretaries also introduced were Col. Dan C. Pitt Jr., expansion secretary for the Southwest Area Council of Y.M.C.A.'s with headquarters in Dallas; John W. Kennedy, the recently appointed area secretary for West Texas with headquarters in Abilene; and Krum K. Jordan, general secretary of the Y.M.C.A. in Amarillo.

Now the ex-president's daughter will appear in an unusual drama. She'll play an old maid.

"Now she can play it with a great degree of confidence — knowing nobody will take it personally," said Albert McCleery, producer of "Matinee Theater." Giving stars chances they don't get on other shows is only one triumph of this Emmy-award winning program.

Today six-month-old "Matinee Theater" completes its 122nd show — more than "studio One" or "Kraft Theater" do in two years.

The show used the big color stage at the NBC studios. Producer McCleery divided the stage in half with a curtain. On one side I saw a show getting ready to go on the air, while on the other side another set of actors was rehearsing the drama for the next day.

If one side gets too noisy the director on the other side will holler "quiet on the other side of the curtain!"

The minute one show is telecast, crews haul in props and scenery for the next day's teleplay. The dress rehearsals start at 6:30 a.m. — meaning producer McCleery gets out of the sack every morning at 4.

One daily problem is finding scripts. But McCleery keeps ahead of the story — devouring program material. Eight directors rotate at directing the show. A staff of 23 stars for the show," said McCleery. "Now they're asking me for scripts."

So far McCleery has discovered 12 new writers ("There's no such thing as a starving playwright with our show around — only lazy ones") and several new players including Hope Lange, now in the movies "Bus Stop."

Air Force Unveils Spectacular Jet

By CHARLES CORDDRY

PALMDALE, Calif. — UP — The U.S. Air Force Tuesday unwrapped a spectacular new demon of the air — a jet fighter that can fly up to 1,400 miles an hour and carry atomic weapons.

The scrappy little F-104 Starfighter was revealed at its first public demonstration as the first combat plane in history built to fly twice the speed of sound and faster.

"No country in the world can match the F-104 at this time," Gen. O. P. Weyland, tactical air commander, told more than 150 newsmen who watched an awe-inspiring exhibition of future combat tactics at this desert test center.

Now in "large quantity" production by Lockheed Aircraft Corp. and scheduled for service "in the near future," the Starfighter was seen as giving the United States a commanding lead in the global air power struggle.

The stubby, winged "world's fastest" combat plane is so fast it could leave New York at noon eastern time and arrive on the West Coast at about 11 a.m. Pacific time, thus beating the sun by an hour. The manufacturer calls it "an aeronautical bit of lightning."

The F-104 has little family resemblance to today's "poky" 600 to 800 mile-an-hour fighters. It is a tube of gleaming metal wrapped around a powerful new jet engine with hardly more than a suggestion of wings and a snug cockpit far out on its pointed nose. Bulging on either side are big scoops for the enormous quantities of air needed by the General Electric J-79 jet engine which a Lockheed official said develops 60,000 horsepower.

The straight wing slanting down and tapered toward square ends, is two thirds of the way back on the fuselage toward a T-shaped tail and is so sharp that felt covering is used to protect ground crewmen.

Exact performance figures are Air Force secrets, but good estimates became available at the demonstration and Weyland's statement made clear that Russia has no comparable fighter. And the Starfighter could put to sleep the 1,132 mph world speed record recently set by a British research airplane.

Weighing only about 13,000 pounds, less than half the weight of most modern fighters, the F-104 was built for a top speed of 1,320 to 1,400 mph. It can soar above 50,000 feet and pounce on the most advanced jet bombers. It climbs at a phenomenal rate of something like 40,000 feet in one minute.

South had two chances for today's hand, but he limited himself to one of them. This was generous, but unwise.

West opened a trump, and East took the ace. East returned a trump, for lack of any better play, and South continued with a third round. It was now up to South to make the key play.

South actually tried the hearts, forcing out West's ace. West shifted to the deuce of diamonds, and South didn't know what to do. It would be foolish to try the finesse if West had the king of clubs, for then South could hold the club loss to one trick. It would be equally foolish to ignore the diamond finesse if East had the king of clubs, for then South could not hold the club loss to one trick.

South fretted and wondered, and finally guessed wrong. He tried the diamond finesse, and wound up losing one trick in each suit.

There was no reason for South to hurry about the hearts. After drawing the trumps, South should have investigated the whereabouts of the king of clubs. He could do this by leading a low club towards dummy's queen. If it won, he could regain the lead with the ace of clubs and try the diamond finesse as a last and needed resort.

The Swing to Tea

THERE'S a definite swing to tea these days, and little wonder! According to a group of scientists, tea aids digestion, beats fatigue, gives a lift and produces "a sensation of comfort and cheerfulness." Over the years, we've all been subjected to similar remarks from some all-knowing member of the family. Whenever we feel a little off color, someone's sure to say, "What you need is a cup of tea."

Well, today, according to these scientists, who conducted a lengthy research for the Biological Sciences Foundation in Washington, we know the reason why. One researcher said, tea is adaptable to most diets since it has no caloric content and is salt-free. "Such wide utility is rarely found in human dietetics," his report said. Another said, "the tea provides a lift through its caffeine content. It doesn't have the after effect usually associated with such stimulants."

The Tea Council of the U.S.A. claims that another reason for the increase in tea consumption is that women are learning how to make a good cup of tea—full-bodied with plenty of flavor. Made this way, the male members of the family accept tea with meals, not as a sissy drink, but as a hearty beverage. To make a good pot of tea, the Tea Council says, (1) always use a teapot because it makes the best tea; (2) be sure the water has come to a full rolling boil; (3) one teaspoonful of tea or one teabag per cup is absolutely necessary to get the full benefit, and last, but not least is the brewing time. (4) Be sure to brew tea three to five minutes.

Tea is a "just right" beverage with meals. Because it aids digestion, it doesn't leave you with a feeling of having eaten too much. For a light, easy-to-top-a-meal-off dessert, a light, tender jelly roll is just right with tea.

Jelly-Roll

Ingredients:
3/4 cup sifted cake flour
1/2 cup sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla or a few drops lemon oil
1/4 teaspoon salt
4 eggs, separated
2 tablespoons water

Combine sifted cake flour, baking powder and salt and sift again. Beat egg whites until stiff but not dry; gradually beat in 1/2 cup sugar, about 2 tablespoons at a time. Beat egg yolks until thick and light. Add remaining 1/2 cup sugar and vanilla, beating until very thick. Gradually add water, stirring constantly. Fold in egg whites. Gradually fold in dry ingredients, sifting 3-4 tablespoons at a time. Turn into a shallow pan about 8 x 16-inches lined with waxed paper. Bake in moderate oven at 375° F. 15-20 minutes. ## Spanish Cooking Hints Are Given

Here are some short tips straight from Spain, on different and tasty dishes.

GAZPACHO

The most wonderful of all soups for hot weather comes from Spain, and can be made here by adding a tray of ice cubes to four cups of tomato or vegetable juice, to which has been added one-third cup of olive oil, and one quarter cup of wine vinegar, along with four sliced tomatoes, a cucumber, a green pepper, a Spanish onion and salt and pepper. Leave the Gazpacho in the refrigerator for an hour before serving so that the flavors will blend.

Cereal And Milk Combine In Strawberry Chiffon Flake Pie

April is the month breakfast cereal and dairy industries sponsor the Third Annual Spring Cereal and Milk Festival to promote the food value of cereal and milk. Few foods can equal the nutritional contribution of the cereal and milk serving at such low cost. Rarely is so much nutritional goodness, taste appeal, and glamour so readily available to the homemaker. Strawberry Chiffon Pie with Cereal Flake Crust is easy to make. The directions are carefully explained in the recipe below. This pie is only one of the many ways of combining cereal and milk in food preparation. You never outgrow your need for cereal and milk.

Strawberry Chiffon Pie With Cereal Flake Crust

Cereal Flake Crust
4 cups whole wheat flakes
5 tablespoons sugar
1/2 cup melted butter or margarine

Crush whole wheat flakes very fine. Add sugar. Mix in melted butter or margarine thoroughly. Press mixture evenly into 9-inch pie pan, making the bottom slightly thicker than the sides. Chill thoroughly before adding filling. Yield: One 9-inch pie shell.

Chiffon Filling
1 envelope plain gelatin
1/4 cup water
1 1/2 cups milk
1 package vanilla pudding mix
2 eggs, separated
1/4 cup sugar

Combine gelatin and 1/4 cup water. Let stand 5 minutes. Add milk to pudding mix. Blend. Cook over low heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Beat egg yolks. Mix 1/4 cup hot pudding mix into egg yolks. Return to pudding mixture, blend. Cook over low heat 1 additional minute. Add softened gelatin; stir until dissolved. Cool until mixture sets around edge of pan. Whip egg whites to soft peak. Add sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time, beating well after each addition. Whip cooled pudding until smooth. Fold egg whites into pudding mixture. Pour filling into pie shell. Chill until firm. Cover with strawberry topping. Yield: Filling for one 9-inch pie shell.

Strawberry Topping
Add 1 cup fresh strawberry halves to 1 cup of strawberry flavored gelatin, chilled to syrupy consistency. Pour over cooled pie. Chill until firm, garnish top, if desired, with whipped cream and sliced berries.

SPANISH CROUTONS

Superb with soups and delicious as a cocktail snack are cubes of bread fried to a golden brown in a half-cup of olive oil. In Spain, the bread is plucked into bits with the fingers, rather than cubed with a knife, and two cloves of garlic are added to the oil for extra tanginess. Sprinkled with paprika, the croutons are served as is, or with cheese dips, anchovies, or cocktail sausages.

IT'S EASIER WITH OLIVE OIL. Spanish olive oil is the most easily digested of all cooking oils, and is particularly easy to use because it does not smoke at normal cook-

Grilled Sandwiches Are Easy To Make

How long has it been since you have used your electric sandwich grill? If it has found its way to a top shelf in your kitchen, it's time to take it down and relearn what a handy piece of equipment it is. For informal entertaining, a grill is a wonderful asset. It toasts sandwiches deliciously, it can be used wherever there's an outlet, it allows the hostess to be with guests and, better still, it encourages self-service.

So, the next time guests drop in, or when you're planning late-evening refreshments that are relatively quick and easy-to-fix, set out the grill and sandwich makings. Have coffee for those who want it and tangy beer for guests who prefer a relaxing, cooling contrast to the hot sandwiches.

Basic directions for toasting sandwiches in an electric grill and suggestions for simple cheese sandwiches follow:

TO GRILL SANDWICHES

1. Choose day-old bread. 2. Cut bread at least a half-inch thick for best results. 3. Preheat grill with grids closed. 4. Toast sandwiches without turning with grids closed, or double the cooking area by turning the top grid back flat and cooking the sandwiches about 5 minutes on each side with moderate heat.

Grilled Cheese Sandwiches
1. Place two thin slices of processed, processed American cheese on buttered white or whole wheat bread. Top with a layer of canned deviled ham, then spread with prepared mustard. Cover with second slice of buttered bread. Spread outside top and bottom of sandwich with softened butter. Grill until cheese is melted and sandwich is golden brown.

2. Using pumpernickel or rye bread, make each sandwich with a slice of Swiss cheese and a thin slice of cooked ham or tongue. Add a thin slice of tomato or onion, if desired. Grill as above.

3. Using any non-sweet bread, make each sandwich with a layer of sharp cheese spread and a topping of sliced, stuffed green olives or pitted ripe olives. Grill as above.

4. Using any non-sweet bread, make each sandwich with grated natural cheddar cheese, crumbled bacon and thin tomato slices. Grill as above.

Peaches And Cream In Golden Pastry

Here's an idea for glorious spring and summer dining! Fill a rich, golden pastry shell with velvety pudding and top it with peach halves. There are many glamorous ideas such as this one in an exciting new book titled "Creative Cooking Made Easy" now being offered throughout the country.

PEACH CREAM TART

1 1/2 cups sifted enriched flour
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup Fluffo (new golden yellow shortening)

3 tablespoons water
2 packages vanilla pudding
Canned peach halves, drained

In a mixing bowl combine flour and salt. With a pastry blender or two knives cut in Fluffo until mixture looks like coarse cornmeal. Sprinkle water over mixture, one tablespoon at a time, and mix lightly with a fork until all flour is moistened. With the hands gather dough into a ball and roll it out on a lightly floured board into a circle 1/4 inch thick and about 1 1/2 inches larger in diameter than the pie plate. Line pie plate and flute edge of pastry. Prick pastry with a fork and bake at 425° F for 15 minutes, or until browned. Cool shell and fill with vanilla filling prepared according to package directions. Top with fruit and decorate with whipped cream.

"How's And Why's" Of Braising Given

Braising, an old French method of meat cookery adapted for less-tender cuts of meat, is not used for large cuts only, such as the pot-roast. It is also used for smaller and thinner cuts like beef arm and round steak; pork steaks and chops and veal steaks and chops.

Reba Staggs, well-known meat expert, says regardless of the cut, the desired result in braising is to produce a meat dish which is richly browned, with a well developed flavor and aroma — a tender, juicy cut of meat.

A well-prepared veal chop or steak will have an even brown color on the exterior with a nicely glazed surface. It will be tender, not crumbly or dry, and the interior will be juicy with a grayish white color.

A well-cooked pork chop or steak will be a uniform, golden brown on the exterior. It will be juicy and tender. The interior will have a white or grayish white color, with no tinge of pink.

1. Brown meat on all sides in its own or a small amount of fat, using a heavy utensil. Dredge meat with seasoned flour, first, if desired.

2. Add a small amount of liquid and additional seasonings, if desired.

3. Cover tightly and cook over low heat until the meat is done. This may be done either on top of the range or in a slow oven. More liquid may be added in small amounts, if desired.

Tidelands Have Produced $57 Million For Texas

AUSTIN—UP—Texas' tidelands have produced $57 million for the state since the oil-claim bill affirming state title to the offshore lands title, 508 leases have been sold and 89,000 acres are under lease five years since the state was restored to the state by Congress in 1953; a tabulation by the United Press showed Tuesday.

The revenue has helped swell the state's permanent school fund to $28,766,187 as of March 31.

league boundary amount to about $52,112,000. Delay rentals have totaled some $2.5 million, and royalties about $370,000.

Production began in 1949. First actual production in the submerged lands area occurred on May 10, 1949. Thus far, 61 wells have been drilled, with 42 dry holes. Twelve wells are shut in, and seven wells are producing on here tract.

A spokesman pointed out that the offshore area, the revenue to the state from royalties, now relatively minor, should become an increasingly larger item.

At the latest lease sale, last Sept. 6, the spokesman for the general land office pointed out, 10 sulphur leases were sold on 9,600 acres for $8,861,000.

Presents Bonus Bid Texas Gulf Sulphur Co., presented the biggest bonus bid, totaling $1.4 million for a 1,280-acre tract.

The next highest bid to Texas Gulf Sulphur's was $400,000, meaning that the sealed-bid technique boosted the state's revenues by some $1 million.

Legislative acts also have boosted the state's income since Land Commissioner J. Earl Rudder took over the post in January, 1955.

Measures were passed hiking the state's royalty from one-eighth to one-sixth, delay rentals per acre were raised from a minimum of $1 or $2 to a base of $3 and the minimum bid per acre was boosted from $5 to $15.

The first lease sale after return of the tidelands to Texas was held on Sept. 1, 1953. Four tracts of offshore leases totalling 2,800 acres brought bids totalling $329,300, for an average of $128.63 per acre.

Anyone For A Little Game Of Shrimp Eggs?

By DICK BLEINER
NEA Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK — (NEA) — Don't be too hard on the kids if they don't come for supper as soon as you call. They may be very busy, hatching shrimp eggs.

This is a new toy. Or, rather, a new part of an old toy. And it may be the forerunner of a glorious day when kids will be playing with all sorts of live toys.

It all started with a microscope. The A. G. Gilbert Co., which makes toy microscopes for kids, has long packaged interesting tidbits like fish scales and flies' legs and bees' stingers for the young scientists to peer at. They weren't satisfied; they wanted something alive, something that would move.

The obvious perfect solution was shrimp eggs. Surprising nobody ever thought of playing with shrimp eggs before. And not just plain, ordinary, shrimp - cocktail shrimp eggs, either. These are the eggs of the brine shrimp, Artemia.

These particular eggs make dandy playthings because they're tiny, they survive under almost any condition and they hatch into beasts so minute there's no danger of them eating Junior.

The eggs look like tiny grains of sand - some 300 of them could fit inside a grain of rice - and a grown-up brine shrimp is about the size of a small speck of dust.

And, so Gilbert nowadays includes a glass tube full of shrimp eggs in each microscope kit. The idea is to put a few at a time on a slide, add some salt water and then sit back and watch them hatch. At first glance, they look like deflated rubber balls. About an hour later, they've swollen up until they're perfect spheres.

In another four to eight hours,

Nixon Repeat Seen By Editors

WASHINGTON — UP — A magazine poll of 100 top newspaper editors showed Wednesday the majority believe Vice President Richard M. Nixon would be an asset to the 1956 Republican ticket.

Newswatch magazine reported 58 of the editors it polled think Nixon would help the Republican ticket as a candidate for re-election. It said 25 editors said Nixon would hurt the ticket.

The magazine said 17 editors think Nixon neither would hurt it nor help it.

Newswatch said the greatest support for Nixon came from editors in the Midwest. It said the poll there showed that 25 editors believe Nixon would help the ticket, seven that he would hurt the ticket, and only three that he neither help nor hurt.

they begin to split open, and, over the next few hours, they gradually burst out of the shells. But the game isn't over. When they first come out of the shell, they're encased in a thin, clear membrane. Now they have to fight their way out of that.

It'll take the little fellow another 8-12 hours to pop out of his egg membrane and begin swimming around.

The grand total, then, from egg to swimmer is between 15 and 24 hours. Of course, by the time the shrimp are hatched the kit is a sleepless wreck, but it's been fun. What he's got when he's through is a slide full of brine shrimp, which swim about in their little pool with jerky motions. It is good.

Johnson Gets Radio, TV Time

WASHINGTON — UP — The Democratic National committee announced Wednesday that the four major networks have given Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson (Tex.) radio and television time to answer President Eisenhower's farm bill veto broadcast.

Johnson will speak Monday night at 9 to 9:30 p.m. est. His speech will be carried by the four radio networks and will be televised by the American Broadcasting Co. NBC will present a filmed version at 10:30 p.m.

How Do You Know When It's Spring?

By H. D. QUINN
NEW YORK — UP — How can you tell when spring is here? The calendar date for spring obviously is a fraud and a delusion.

Well, how about the time-honored "signs of spring"? Are they hep? Let's see. In the spring, as everybody knows, "a livelier iris changes on the burnished dove." That's what the poet says.

But it's a suspect line. It's 2 to 1 that Lord Tennyson just burished up a dove and shoved it into his poem as a prop. He wanted to bring on his next - and justly famous - line. He desperately needed a dove to rhyme with the thing (in the next line) that, in the spring, a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of.

So that explodes the dove theory. How about the robin theory?

When the first red robin comes bobbin' along, is it always spring? No indeed. More often than not this eager beaver pilot of the bird flyways gets his landing gear stuck in the last snow of winter.

Robins are notorious for jumping the gun - and getting their rudders so jiced up that they can't steer... and making crash landings... and living on the bread-crumbs charity of old maids and moppets till worm-thaw.

Well, if not the birds, how about the bees? Tell you the truth, bees don't get a buzz on until the flowers start flying the proper signal flags - and flowers are awful liars about spring. E. B. White once hailed the first spring flower, if memory serves, as follows:

A bulbous -ant, the little crocus.

Always first in spring to pocus head up.

But even a crocus will croak in the freeze that follows the first false spring. So scrap the bird-bee-flower theories. What time-honored signs are left? Love and April. And both seem to be fairly reliable.

Let's consider the month first. Sam Coleridge pointed out: "Tis

Federal Surplus Is Predicted

WASHINGTON — UP — Congressional staff economists Wednesday predicted a $2 billion federal surplus for the current fiscal year.

That would be 10 times as big a surplus as the administration has forecast. The most recent treasury estimate called for a $200 million surplus for the 1956 fiscal year ending June 30.

The congressional staff experts said a tax reduction is not warranted despite the prospect of a $2 billion surplus. They said the economic situation is such that a tax cut might touch off an inflationary spiral that would end in a boom-and-bust depression.

Reason for Tax Cut
But some congressmen probably will seize upon the $2 billion estimate as sufficient reason for an election-year tax cut, anyway.

The new estimate highlighted a report on the current economic situation prepared by Grover W. Ensley, executive director, for the House-Senate Economic committee.

Ensley said his staff figured receipts will be about $3 billion more than the treasury estimated in January. Expenditures were estimated at about $1 billion more.

Estimate from Humphrey
Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey recently estimated that receipts and spending each would be about $1 billion more than the January estimate, leaving the surplus estimate at $200 million.

Inflationary factors still outweigh deflationary ones in the national economic situation, Ensley said.

The report also approved continuance of a restrictive money policy by the Federal Reserve System. It recently raised the basic interest rate on borrowed money, an anti-inflation move.

Union Definitions

A new vocabulary has come into common usage. It contains words and phrases which have normal meanings when applied generally, but special meanings when labor bosses use them.

RIGHT TO WORK: An unholy movement sponsored by capitalists who want to see to it that an individual worker has rights which are not granted by the union.

RIGHT TO ORGANIZE: The right unions have to bully, cajole, intimidate, use violence or anything else necessary in order to assure labor bosses of a good fat income from union members.

RIGHT TO STRIKE: The right unions have to ride roughshod over anybody in order to terrify and to get their way through the use or the threat of force.

COLLECTIVE BARGAINING: The process whereby the union supersedes the normal rights of individual workers (lead-heads) and bullies and bludgeons unco-operative capitalists into giving certain workers more than they are worth and others less, thereby maintaining unions in power.

CLOSED SHOP: The device whereby the union quite properly shunts aside the capitalistic owners of a business or enterprise and substitutes union rule in several areas, notably that of handling all personnel.

UNION SHOP: A silly half-way device granted to capitalists who resist unionizing. Once the Union Shop has been secured it is only a matter of time before the Closed Shop is inevitable.

OPEN SHOP: A vicious carry-over from feudalism which presumes that individual workers have as much sense as a labor boss. Ridiculous assumption. To be opposed at all costs.

JOB PRIORITY: A device used by a union to insure the placement of all strongly pro-union workers in good positions so that the non-union men will have to take poorer jobs.

HUMAN RIGHTS: The prerogative of all union bosses to do as they please. The complete lack of any such rights for everyone except union bosses.

LIBERAL: A sap who can't see through the union racket and goes along with it. (1)

WEEDHEAD: Any worker who signs up with a union. (1)

RIGHT TO A JOB: The union owns all jobs. It will sell them or give them away without regard for anybody or anything except the further increase of power for unions.

UNION SECURITY: What the union uses for soles talk when it wants to enslave certain weedheads into surrendering their individual rights forever.

UNION DUES: A pitifully small sum which is used to pay big salaries and unlimited expense items for all union bosses.

ASSESSMENTS: A necessary increase of money to the labor bosses whenever they feel they need more money, and there aren't enough dues.

COPE: The concentration camp for unionism by means of which money can be siphoned away from the workers for purposes of electing politicians who have no integrity whatsoever and will do whatever the unions ask.

MAINTENANCE OF MEMBERSHIP: The use of any device, legal or otherwise, which keeps reluctant workers paying dues and assessments.

CHECK-OFF SYSTEM: A neat little device for getting the worker's dues before he even gets his hands on his pay-check. Eliminates backsliders and help to maintain subservience and docility.

UNION OBJECTIVES: Anything at all that favors collectivism over individualism.

SEPARATE AUTONOMY: The manner whereby the International takes all power away from the separate local.

UNION LEADER: Any man, preferably with a criminal record, who rises to power in a union. A prerequisite is that he shall have no respect for law and order and must not be afraid of bloodshed or violence.

MAJORITY RULE: The democratic procedure whereby anyone who opposes what the labor boss says is black-jacked into submission.

FREE RIDER: A non-union worker in an Open Shop who gets more money than the union wants him to have. Ugh!

SCAB: An unspeakable person who feels that he is a free, self-determining American. These are very rare and must be stamped out. They are so foolish as to think that they can resist what the labor boss decides. The scab is the cicatrix which forms on a given body when the union has administered a mortal wound and expects the body to bleed to death. When the union opens a business it expects that business to bleed. Scabs prevent this. The most undesirable person there is.

FRINGE BENEFITS: A way of squeezing still more out of the capitalist after he has already granted more pay increases than can be justified.

UNION PAY SCALE: An arbitrary standard maintained by force and violence which has no relation to supply and demand and is arrived at by labor boss dictum.

GUARANTEED ANNUAL WAGE: A new device whereby the union can pluck the last dollar out of an otherwise healthy business.

COMMUNISM: A Russian plan to dominate American unions. Very vicious. Must be opposed so that the union-made American brand of communism can triumph.

UNION REPRESENTATIVE: A man who pretends that he is speaking for the rank and file of workers, union or non-union, but who actually speaks only for the labor bosses.

UNION EDUCATOR: Any gangster who will apply physical persuasion upon anyone to act him to change his mind and see things the way the labor boss says.

UNION ANALYSIS: A careful selection of figures which rejects anything truthful or otherwise harmful to the labor boss so that the viewpoint of the labor boss can be upheld by figures. Very effective.

THE technical definition is actually in use among labor bosses although they try to carefully hide their conclusions from others.

A Great Democrat's Fight Against Income Tax

In the last issue I was quoting from William Bourke O'Connor's speech before Congress in 1894 opposing establishment of income tax at that time.

It was opposing the arguments of the advocates of an income tax reducing tariffs would reduce income. He cites case after case to show that reducing tariffs increased the income of the government rather than decreased it. Then he remarks:

"Throughout this whole discussion our main contention has been that the McKinley tariff is an economic failure; that it had diminished our trade because it has restricted the free interchange of our commodities with the commodities produced by the other countries of the world.

Law Will Not Broaden Our National Prosperity

"We have repudiated with emphasis the theory that an increase in our imports would mean an injury to our business. We have insisted that this reduction in the tariff will stimulate both exports and imports. And now, after we have made these professions, after we have induced the country to believe them and to shape its legislation upon them, we find the reform itself discredited in the house of its friends, assailed by its supporters, the charges made by the Republican party against our doctrine re-echoed by gentlemen on this side, who assert that the enactment of this measure will result in a decrease of the revenue, which is, virtually, a declaration that it will not increase the business of the country nor broaden the prosperity of the people.

"We have always insisted that freer trade meant wider trade; and surely, Mr. Chairman, if a reduction of the tariff result in a great increase in the business of the country, it must necessarily increase the volume of the receipts at the custom house. Do not gentlemen perceive that when they assert the enactment of this bill will produce a deficit in the revenue of the Government, they virtually deny that it will cause any growth in the trade of the country, and thus denounce and condemn the theory of tariff reform itself.

A Vengeance Tax

"Are we by our acts to discredit the issue on which our party has won its greatest victory, while we profess faith in it with our lips? When we show distrust of our own professions, can we expect the country to put faith in them? The pretense that an income tax has been made necessary by the reduction of tariff rates is too transparent to disguise the motives which govern the authors of this proposal. This tax is not imposed to raise revenue, but to gratify vengeance. It is not designed for the welfare of the whole people, but for the oppression of a part of the people.

"We have heard but one argument in support of this proposal, and that was the argument voiced by the gentleman from Tennessee (Mr. McMillan) that all other taxes upon consumption, while this would be a tax upon something else.

"I do not think the gentleman succeeded in defining exactly the place where this special tax would fall, but it is perfectly clear that the distinction which he intended to make between existing systems of taxation and the plan now proposed was that all existing taxes fell on consumption, while this new tax was to fall somewhere else.

The gentleman from Missouri (Mr. Hall) repeated that argument, repeated it in choice and picturesque language, quoting from Adam Smith and statement that taxes should fall on the three sources of the revenue — rent, profit, and wages — not on any one, but on all three.

"Yet, within two or three pages of the very language which he quoted Smith lays down the rule that a tax upon the profits of trade — which in this country means the source whence nine-tenths of the proceeds of an income tax will flow — always fell upon consumption and was ultimately born by the consumer. How can it be otherwise? Where free competition exists the profits of trade are always limited to the narrowest margin on which the tradesman can live and prosper.

An income tax operates exactly like an increase in rent, an increase in the rate of insurance, or an increase in the cost of labor, and when such a tax is imposed on a tradesman it will necessarily be distributed among his customers, just as a tariff tax is distributed among the consumers by the importer who pays it.

"The real distinction between this and all other taxes hitherto imposed in this country, the distinction which commends it to the Populist, which awakens the hostility of Democrats, is the distinction which it attempts to make between the citizens of this country.

Jury Not Satisfied With Brownell's Answers

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, April 19—Federal Grand Jurors at St. Louis are not at all satisfied with Attorney General Herbert Brownell, Jr.'s explanation for delaying continued investigation and prosecution of alleged income tax law violators under the Truman Administration.

Elder did not know exactly how much per pound it would figure out in handling of fish over the dam, but he impressed on the reporters that the salmon industry in the Pacific Northwest is a major concern both for industrial fishing and recreation value.

Fair Enough

Nothing Like American Fire Departments

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

There is nothing like the typical American metropolitan fire department anywhere else in the world. It is a dramatic organization which dramatizes its work with whistles, bells and bright work. The fireman is necessarily heroic, for he enters his career well knowing that desperate moments will come when the eyes of multitudes will be upon him and filming will bring endless disgrace.

Some firemen live in constant dread and some of those who say they don't are liars. They are relieved when the alarm goes to some other outfit, but when their own is called and the trucks roar out of the house, danger begins immediately in the traffic. On the way, the men speculate whether there will be an explosion or people will be waiting at windows for them to run up ladders to the rescue.

Mac Says Venturi Parelleling Him

By HENRY McLEMORE

Let others criticize young Ken Venturi for poor sportsmanship following his defeat by Jackie Burke, Jr., in the recent Masters golf tournament, but not me. When the boyish San Franciscan told his home folks that he would have won the big event if he had been given fairer treatment, he was but paralleling the behavior course I followed when I was in active competition.

From the reports I read, Venturi got off some good bleats when he got home, and to my mind they were well founded. For one thing, the pairing committee didn't send him out with Byron Nelson, friend and tutor, on the last round, but paired him with that mean, ol' Sammy Snead.

Venturi didn't say so, but I got the idea that he felt the least the committee could have done was fly his family from San Francisco, and let him play his final and most important round with his wife and baby. What would have been wrong with that? Nothing, as far as I can see. In times of stress and strain a fellow needs his loved ones close by. The fact that a similar request by all the other players would have cluttered up the course something awful, is beside the point.

Fragmentary text on the far right edge of the page, including 'Fair Enough', 'Hankering', and 'Mac Says Venturi Parelleling Him'.

Britain's Singapore Bases To Be Talked

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Foreign Analyst

The future of Britain's great Singapore naval and air bases hinges on a conference which will open in London next Monday.

David Marshall, chief minister of Singapore, will negotiate with Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd on the future status of that island crown colony which lies off the tip of the Malay peninsula.

Marshall intends to bid for full independence. He wants Singapore to be an independent unit in the British commonwealth of nations. He is willing to agree that Britain shall keep its Singapore base.

But whether the negotiations succeed or fail, Britain may make a historic shift in its strategic position.

For one thing, there is some doubt whether Marshall could consolidate his position as Singapore's head man under an independent agreement.

Singapore could go Communist, and Britain must bear that possibility in mind.

Admiral Earl Mountbatten, Britain's smart first sea lord, is now on a survey of the strategic situation. He arrived in Singapore last weekend from Australia.

There is talk Britain might shift its Singapore base to Labuan, in north Borneo, across an arm of the south China Sea. There is even talk that Britain might base its defense on western or southern Australia. Mountbatten has looked into that possibility.

A shift in the British strategic situation means a shift in the situation of the countries, including the United States, which belong to the Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

Britain has just taken one blow in the area. Ceylon, to which Britain granted independence within the commonwealth, has gone neutral.

Solomon Bandaranaike, the nationalist leader, has announced that Britain must give up its naval base of Trincomalee, on the north-east coast. He said big-heartedly that there is no need for hurry. But for all practical purposes Trincomalee already has gone and Singapore may well follow.

Would Be Insecure

Singapore's position as an independent country would be highly insecure. It is not generally realized that about 860,000 of Singapore island's 1.12 million people are Chinese. They are highly susceptible to Communist influence because their homeland is now Red - ruled Communist China.

Marshall, 48 years old, spectacled, fiery in debate and argument, is a moderate.

But his lack of real authority is shown by the fact that he has taken to London with him an "all-party" delegation. This delegation includes the main opposition group, the people's action party. The People's Action party, almost entirely Chinese, is strongly communist - tinged. It might win over Marshall when an election is held.

Some British conservatives are saying already that if Singapore is given its independence, Marshall will soon find himself a tool of the Reds. That might or might not happen. But even the possibility makes Singapore a somewhat dangerous site for a British base.

Shivers Due To Fight For Texas Demo Delegation

By UNITED PRESS

Gov. Allan Shivers was due to carry his fight for control of the Texas Democratic convention to Dallas Thursday, but the name of 87-year-old John Nance Garner was posted as among those backing Shivers' rival, Senate majority leader Lyndon Johnson.

Shivers was scheduled to speak at a luncheon meeting of delegates to the 13-state Zone 5 convention of the National Association of Insurance Commissioners. Former Vice President Garner announced Wednesday at Uvalde, Tex., that he would serve as honorary chairman of the clubs backing Johnson for president.

He issued a one-sentence statement, saying, "I see no good reason why all true Texans would not be proud to have Lyndon Johnson as the next president of the United States, and I am going to do everything I can to make it possible."

Garner has been in retirement ever since he left Washington in early January of 1941. He served two terms as vice president under the late President Roosevelt. Johnson's first aim is to win the backing of the Texas Democratic convention May 2 in Dallas. Both Johnson will again be thrust into the national spotlight Monday night, when he makes a national radio and television speech to answer President Eisenhower's message vetoing the omnibus farm bill.

Tully Garner, the former vice president's son, told the United Press his father was in "fine" health. He said his father did not care to elaborate on his one-sentence statement.

House Speaker Sam Rayburn originally proposed Johnson for the dual role of delegation chairman and favorite son nominee for president. Wednesday former Rep. Lloyd M. Bentsen Jr., a longtime friend of Shivers, added his name to those boosting Johnson. Johnson will again be thrust into the national spotlight Monday night, when he makes a national radio and television speech to answer President Eisenhower's message vetoing the omnibus farm bill.

Man, That Lodge 'Transports' The Female Population!

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON — UP— In the giggly parlance of the young set, the word "send" has been supplanted by "transports."
In the Coke bars and over a malt, these two words still mean the same—a step up in the heart beat when a handsome boy or "doll" comes along. If he can sing, kick out a tune with a gravel gurgler all the better.
An outfit which has time to spent on looking into young minds has made a survey.
Lester Rand, president of the Youth Research Institute, finds that adolescents—particularly girls—still run bump and then howl over the likes of Perry Como, Don Cherry, and even old Bing.
But, oddly enough the young heart strings are strummed by a couple of professional politicians, both of whom, in contrast to Perry, Don and Bing, are available only for looking purposes.
"Funny thing," Rand was saying, looking over the results of his survey, "But Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democrat from Massachusetts, and tall urbane UN representative Henry Cabot Lodge Jr.

are front-runners in the male pin-up division with the kids." If it were up to the wearers of loafers and bobby sox, Rand concludes, these two, if they wanted, would be a clinch over Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and Adlai Stevenson of Illinois in the race for the Democratic nomination.
Rand believes Kennedy could give Eddie Fisher "a tough scramble in the 'teen popularity derby—even though Kennedy sings only in the shower, off key."
The young girls consider the senator a "doll," "cute" and "the most" which is about the highest praise a teen can give a male unless it would be "terrific."
Whether the wonderful senator likes it or not, the kids fall for him because of his "pretty tuft" of uncombed hair and that youthful look. It might run down the beat of the young hearts, but it is only fair to report to the young fry that the distinguished gentleman from Massachusetts is happily married.
Teen aged girls crowd around the UN headquarters in New York to wait for Lodge, the debonair gent. Many a matinee idol must

Proper Procedure For Storing Meat

It's important to know how to care for the meat you buy! Meats are perishable so they must be refrigerated as soon as they are brought from the meat market. Different meats require different storage procedures and times. For example, pre-packaged cured and smoked meats and sausages may be stored in their original wrapper; fresh meats should be wrapped loosely to allow circulation of air.

Peppy Pork Balls Give Thrifty Dish

Ground pork should be an economical buy at most meat markets. Here is a recipe for flavorful meat balls with cheddar cheese and oregano. MEAT BALLS: 1 small onion, chopped; 1 clove garlic, chopped; Fat; 1 1/2 pounds ground lean pork; 1/2 cup fresh bread crumbs; 1/2 cup minced parsley; 2-3 cup grated cheddar cheese; 1 teaspoon salt; 1/2 teaspoon pepper; 1/2 teaspoon oregano; 2 eggs, beaten.

THE LADIES OF THE COUNTY HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUBS

have been having programs presented by Miss Helen Dunlop, county agent, on making soft gingerbread with fluffy lemon sauce. It certainly makes your mouth water to read about it. Evidently Mrs. Archie Moness realized this as she gave me the recipe which I will pass on to you. IT DOESN'T sound as if it would be hard to make, even for an inexperienced cook like me. Here it is.

- SOFT GINGERBREAD: 1 cup molasses, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 cup butter or lard, 1 cup boiling water, 2 well-beaten eggs, 2 tsp. soda, 2 1/2 cups flour, 1 tsp. ginger, 1 tsp. cinnamon, 1 tsp. all-spice. Mix sugar, molasses, lard, spices 1-2 cup boiling water. Then add flour. Dissolve soda in last 1/2 cup of boiling water and add to well-beaten eggs. Add this to first mixture. Place in a loaf pan and bake in a slow oven. Raisins may be added if desired.

- FLUFFY LEMON SAUCE: Mix together in sauce pan: 1/2 cup sugar, 2 Tbsp. cornstarch, 1/2 tsp. nutmeg. Stir in gradually: 1 cup boiling water. Boil 1 minute, stirring constantly.

Stir in: 1 Tbsp. butter, 4 Tbsp. lemon juice, 2 Tbsp. lemon rind. Gradually blend into 1 egg, well beaten.

If you're used to serving gingerbread alone or with whipped cream, this would make a nice variation. And such an easy-to-prepare dessert for your bridge club or evening guests.

A RECENT FINDING at Harvard University

introduces a new note into reducing regimens: Moderate exercise plus good eating. Lack of exercise can lead to excessive weight gains, the Harvard group claims. In their studies, which were supported in part by the Nutrition Foundation, an inactive group of high school girls was found to be overweight even though they ate less than their more active, slimmer class mates. For these lethargic girls "less" was still too much. In fact, the number of girls who skipped breakfast twice a week or often was higher among the overweight.

Maternity Styles Are Young, Pretty!

8295 12-20. For the mother-to-be, we've designed two pretty outfits that are as young and pretty as can be. And so comfortable to wear, during the waiting period - the skirt on each of the two styles illustrated provides for needed adjustment, and each ensemble is easy-to-care for.

This study answers the criticism that exercise uses little energy. It shows clearly that regular exercise pays off in a reducing regime; that it isn't necessary to chop wood for hours or exercise strenuously to lose weight. By walking only a mile a day, we can burn up a pound of fat in a month, 12 pounds in a year. This may be all that is needed to keep one in good trim.

A second criticism is that exercise makes you hungry, that it makes you eat more so you gain instead of losing weight. The Harvard investigators found short periods of exercise were not followed by undesirable increases in appetite. On the other hand lack of such activity often leads to gains in weight.

RUTH MILLET

Why do men claim there's no understanding a woman when it's so easy for a woman to figure out what a man means by what he says? When a man asks, "Does it have to be done 'right now'?" in an injured tone of voice, he isn't really asking a question. He's putting off another job. In short, he is saying "no."

When a man asks in a doubtful tone of voice, "Is that what you're going to wear?" it isn't a question, either. It's his idea of how to say tactfully, "For heaven's sake, what are you wearing that dress for?" When a man says, "This meeting tonight may last a little longer than usual," it means that "the boys" will probably stop off for a few beers after the meeting.

When a man says, "Ask your mother" to one of his children it means he thinks the answer should be "no" but doesn't want to be the one to say it. When a man says, "Boy, what a day this has been," he is asking not to be bothered with any family problems or asked to do any odd jobs.

Postal Transportation Folks Have Lingo All Their Own

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
 WASHINGTON — UP—The folks in the postal transportation service, like pilots and the miners who did 18 tons, have a language all their own.

A lot of the lingo among the postal boys dates way back. One source for some of it is Bill Monberg, a postal clerk in Hammond, Ind. In a recent letter to the editor of the Postal Service News, Bill lists some of the rather odd names applied to railroad post offices in the Middle West.

That applies to a postal run between Ishpeming and Chicago, on a branch of the Northwestern Railroad.

Also the "Chicken Lou" for the train betwixt Chicago and Louisville on the Chicago and Alton. The "chicken" part, I gather, is a distortion of the square name for the Windy City, hez by the waters of Lake Michigan.

Then there is "Chicken Sin" for the ride a letter takes on the New York Central between Chicago and Cincinnati, and "Chick, Logan and Lou" on the Pennsylvania between Chicago, Logansport and Louisville.

Monberg says that many years ago "a little old railroad post office" was referred to as "Indecent Spring." It had to do with a run between Indianapolis, Decatur, and Springfield in downstate Illinois.

Another run was the "dreamliner" between Detroit and Grand Rapids. There also was the "Horny Toad" run from Albuquerque to El Paso, and the "Leaky Roof" jaunt from Kansas City to Memphis.

Postmaster George E. Smyser reports from Mulvane, Kan., that a bunch of school teachers recently took a conducted tour of Europe. After they got back, Smyser received a letter from Germany addressed to one of the teachers.

There was no street address or house number. Only a penciled note: "The mail man knows her." He did, too.

BIRD'S EYE VIEW—While trying to get a good look at the Shell Golden Cup Motorcycle Race at Imola, Italy, these racing fans were literally "up a tree." Despite the rain, the race was carried on and faithful devotees of the sport found what shelter they could during the event. But all these spring blossoms just couldn't keep them dry.

PICTURE NEWS

AROUND THE SPORTS WORLD

ADVICE FROM A VETERAN—George Maynard, 84, is making a shot in the World Marbles Championship at Tinsley Green, England, as two youngsters watch with admiration. Richard Goodedge, 10, left, and his seven-year-old brother Frank were getting tips on how to improve their own game. Maynard is chairman of the British Marbles Board of Control.

LEAPFROG ON THE DIAMOND—Milwaukee Braves outfielder Jim Pendleton is forced out at second base in the third inning of the Dodgers-Braves game at New Orleans. Brooklyn's second baseman Charley Neal made a leapfrog tag for the out. The Milwaukee team won, 8-6.

HEIGHT OF FASHION—Special fashions shown in London by two members of the Ladies Alpine Club aren't for town wear—they're to be worn while romping on 20,000-foot-high peaks in the Himalayas. Nurse Hilda Reid, left, and Mrs. Joyce Dunsheath, leader of the expedition, show the two sides of the reversible suits that are now being tested.

THE STORY IN PICTURES

THE START—When there's a baseball game at Lang Field in St. Petersburg, Fla., some of the most exciting action can take place on the other side of that fence. Eager lads line up along Tampa Bay, hoping to catch a home run, or long foul balls that clear the fence. They're disappointed here as Cincinnati shortstop Rocky Bridges catches a foul off the bat of Cardinal Ken Boyer. One lad is shown diving after a baseball that sailed over the left field fence, top photo. He went in, clothes and all, but another lad, below, uses more strategy; he uses a net and a pole—and stays dry.

GETTING A RAISE—SP/2 Don Jose A. L. De Pasqual, of Tacoma, Wash., uses a husky buddy as a human barbell to get in shape for the Olympics. De Pasqual, a member of the 7781 A.O., U.S. Army Berlin Command, can push 400 pounds over his head. He holds the German record for heavyweight-lifting, and has a good chance to make the 1956 U.S. team.

PITCHING IN—Having a ball on the beach at Cypress Gardens, Fla., is pretty Joan Faye Binette. Whether or not Joan did anything more with that ball than just pose for the camera isn't important as long as this was the result.

SETS NEW MARK—Jiro Nagasawa of the Japanese Swimming Federation is shown taking a shower in New Haven, Conn., after he set a new world record of 2:19.4 for the 220-yard butterfly. Earlier, Nagasawa finished a disappointing third in the time trials of the National AAU Swimming Championships.

DEW Line Could Be Missile Base Of Future

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
ABOVE THE ARCTIC CIRCLE—(NEA)—An ideal foundation has been laid for a 3,000-mile string of offensive-defensive guided missile bases across the top of the North American continent.

A tour of the full length of the Distant Early Warning radar line—the first visit ever approved for newsmen—Air reveals this startling fact: The DEW line was built primarily to warn of enemy bomber attack.

U.S. and Canadian officials refuse to comment on whether converting DEW line sites was considered in the original planning. But whether by design or luck the obvious fact remains that the DEW line can easily be made into the guided missile equivalent of America's war-deferring Strategic Air Command and Air Defense Command.

Just as for enemy bombers, the route over the Arctic to U.S. cities is the shortest for the inter-continental missiles which the Russians are building. And the Arctic will be the place to base the anti-missile missiles which the U.S. is trying to develop.

DEW line sites also are the ideal locations for the retaliatory intermediate-range ballistic missiles able to travel 1,500 miles—which the U.S. is rushing to build. From the Arctic the IRBM could hit vital Russian industrial targets.

Actually, when the DEW line is completed it will be far more than a "foundation" for missile bases. The U.S. Air Force, its contractor Western Electric Co. and the Canadians have already done about 75 per cent of the job by locking the unbelievable difficulties of extensive construction work in the Arctic.

Excellent aerial, sea and sled-train supply lines effectively criss-cross this vast frozen region, depending upon the season. The terror of survival up here has been eliminated by excellent clothing, shelter and experience.

Each DEW line station is a small, completely self-sufficient unit designed to support constant radar surveillance of the skies. Altering that mission for guided missile operation probably would be much less than the original HIGH ABOVE the frozen north, an Air Force plane wings over Arctic terrain that typifies the 3,000 mile DEW Line system.

$400 million cost of the DEW line. Living quarters and housing for most of the electronic equipment connected buildings built on timber stilts to eliminate snow drifting. Adding more rows, or making them longer would be a simple job compared to starting from scratch.

The bigger DEW stations have huge garages built of structural steel and covered with aluminum panels. These, too, are designed for easy expansion. The garages are heated and have elaborate machine shops. Little redesign would be necessary to adapt them for missile storage.

Powerful diesel generators to run the electronic equipment and provide power for other needs are built into the box-like structures. They, too could supply power for the electronic needs of missile

DEW LINE RADAR stations like this one on Baffin Island offer possibilities for conversion into guided missile bases.

Actor John Forsythe Would Rather Announce Baseball

By WILLIAM ETWALD
NEW YORK—UP—Actor John Forsythe, a former semi-pro pitcher and major league baseball announcer, threw out the first ball of the season Wednesday.

He admitted sadly that despite his success as an actor, he misses the drama of the diamond.

"As much as I like acting, if somebody were to offer me a chance to be a baseball announcer for the next six months, I'd quit acting tomorrow," said Forsythe. "You know, once I had an idea of making baseball announcing my life's work."

Forsythe, who has just finished shooting a film, "The Ambassador's Daughter," in Paris and also had a "Star Stage" TV show in the works for next week, did his play-by-play calls for a Philadelphia station back in 1939.

"I worked on the A's games," recalled Forsythe. "I did the commercials and one inning of each game. I sort of hoped I'd be a Red Barber some day."

"But the year before that, I had an even better time—I was the public address announcer at Ebbets Field. That was when Larry MacPhail was running the Brooklyn Dodgers and boy, that was a real crazy year.

and all sorts of other stunts to draw the fans in."

Forsythe, a produce of Carney's Point, N.J., landed the Ebbets Field announcing job when he applied for a job as usher at the park. "They lined all of us up and asked if there was anybody in the crowd who could speak intelligibly—that is, without a Brooklyn accent," said Forsythe.

"A friend pointed me out and MacPhail hired me at $7 per game, $14 for doubleheaders. That was pretty good pay in those days."

Forsythe turned to the stage right after the '39 season. "I had to eat and so I turned to acting even though I was very bad at it then," he said. "I had a singular lack of success in the beginning but I just kept studying and plugging until I made it. Now, I suppose, I'm pretty good at it."

Giving In...To His Practical Side!

We will tell you, in all honesty, that this gentleman was a little dubious when he first walked into the showroom.

He is finding out about Cadillac's extraordinary dependability and freedom from repairs.

There was no question, to be sure, about his wanting a Cadillac.

But, quite frankly, he wondered whether or not he was in a position to purchase a motor car as fine...and as luxurious...and as wonderful as the 1956 Cadillac.

But now he is learning some facts about this distinguished motor car that are removing the doubt from his mind.

First of all, he is learning that a Cadillac is relatively modest in its initial cost.

He is discovering the remarkable facts about Cadillac's resale value...and how Cadillac traditionally retains a greater share of its original value over the years than any other automobile in the land.

And, lastly, he is being told that, at this particular time of the year, his dealer is able to make Cadillac ownership even more practical and attractive than usual.

That's why we suspect that—having given in long ago to his heart—he is now giving in to his practical side. And that's a combination no man can resist!

If you have considered Cadillac the car in your future—but have postponed making the move for reasons of economy—we urge you to stop in soon.

As an experienced Cadillac dealer, we have established a wonderful relationship with fincar motorists throughout the community. Our reputation for integrity is positive assurance of your satisfaction as a customer.

We will be happy to see you at any time,

River Oaks Tournament Continues

By JOHN COLTON

HOUSTON — UP — Two quarter-final matches in the 2nd annual River Oaks tennis tournament Thursday pit Barnard (Tut) Barzen of Dallas against Herb Flam, Beverly Hills, Calif., and Hamilton Richardson, Baton Rouge, La., against Gil Shea, Los Angeles.

The other two quarterfinals scheduled Friday match Vic Seixas of Philadelphia against Tom Brown of Los Angeles and Dick Savitt of Dallas against Eddie Moylan, Trenton, N.J.

Four top foreign players fell out Wednesday in fourth round action. Only one favored U.S. player had to even go three sets to win his match as Richardson rallied to beat Grant Golden of Chicago 5-7, 6-3, 6-0.

The four foreign players who lost matches included Don Platt of Toronto, who Seixas beat 6-2, 6-3; Swedish Davis Cupper Ulf Schmidt, who was taken out by Flam 6-2, 6-2; Ronnie Moreira of Brazil, who Shea downed 8-6, 6-3; and Armando Vieira of Brazil, who lost to Savitt 6-3, 6-1.

Barzen, seeded second, had little trouble beating Tom Nance of Austin 6-0, 6-0.

Brown worked harder beating Sidney Schwartz of New York 8-6, 6-3. Moylan completed the line-up for quarterfinal matches by defeating Richard Schuett of Houston 6-4, 6-1.

The top-seeded doubles team of Seixas and Richardson won a third round match over U.S. Davis Cup Captain Billy Talbert and Platt 6-1, 6-2.

Three other doubles matches played in second round saw Sammy Grammalva of the University of Texas and Shea defeat Charles Tedford, San Antonio, and Jesse Pfeiffer 6-2, 6-0; Brown and Savitt beat Pen Weems and Herman DeTering of Houston 6-1, 6-2; and Barzen and Golden blank Clayton Williams of Rice Institute and feasting Richard Schuett of Houston 6-4, 6-1.

Forecast of possible showers marred Thursday's first of four 18-hole rounds.

Women's Tourney In Dallas Starts

DALLAS — UP — Patty Berg had sounded the loudest tune-up warning, but four other top-flight lady professionals were expected to press the stocky Minneapolis red-head as the $7,500 Dallas Women's Open golf tournament got underway Thursday.

Miss Berg, top money winner last year, and running only $400 behind this season's pace-setting Louise Suggs of Sea-Island, Ga., found Glen Lakes Country Club's tight little 6,200-yard course to her liking in practice and clipped a stroke off men's par from the back tees.

Miss Suggs, Betsy Rawls of Spartanburg, S. C., and Marlene Bauer Hage of Asheville, N.C., figured to be the most serious threats to Miss Berg's role.

Showers May Hurt

Mrs. Hage, who played steady golf to take the Babe Zaharias Open last week, toured the par 36-35-71, course in 74 strokes, while Miss Suggs and Miss Rawls admitted only to getting a birdie "here and there" on their pre-tournament tours.

Forecast of possible showers marred Thursday's first of four 18-hole rounds.

Homegrown Betty Jameson, a perennial top money winner now languishing far back in seventh place among the touring women pros, also figured to stroke herself into contention for the $1,000 first prize.

Oiler-Ballinger Game Postponed

By UNITED PRESS

The weather stopped all but two games in the Southwestern League Wednesday night.

Cool temperatures forced postponement of Clovis at Carlsbad, Midland at Plainview and Pampa at Ballinger.

In the only games played, Hobbs trounced San Angelo 9-1, while El Paso defeated Roswell 7-4.

El Paso kept its perfect record intact in the young Class B league, and continues to top the circuit with two straight victories.

Roswell batters outslugged the Texans, getting 11 hits to seven for El Paso. However, El Paso batters bunched their hits where it counted and forced Roswell to use two pitchers.

Errors provided the difference in the Hobbs victory over San Angelo. The Colts committed three errors in losing the game.

BALLINGER — Cold weather forced postponement of the Pampa Oilers-Ballinger Westerners baseball game scheduled here Wednesday night.

The Oilers and Westerners will meet tonight to continue their Southwestern League series.

Ballinger won the opener, 10-9, with a five-run rally in the first inning and another five-run rally in the ninth.

Pampa News Sports Editor On Tour With The Oilers

BALLINGER, April 18 — The Pampa Oilers are resting tonight and working some of the soreness out contracted in the cold windy game Tuesday night with the Ballinger Westerners.

A slow drizzle of rain started about 6 p.m. today and caused the cancellation of the game scheduled for tonight at Runnels Field.

Grover Seitz, Oiler field manager, has picked up four good players since he left Pampa last week. Len Tucker, Marvin Schwein, Whitey Diehl and Buddy Pagent are with the team here.

Gaetan Laliberte is in Pampa and working with the Harvesters until the current road trip is concluded.

Tucker and Schwein were welcomed aboard at Amarillo and have shown to be worthwhile additions to the club. Tucker is a base stealer deluxe and also a good power hitter. Schwein tossed five and one third innings Tuesday night and allowed only one hit.

Whitey Diehl is from Cincinnati and led the northern league in strikeouts last season. Buddy Pagent was obtained from Savannah, Georgia, and is exceptionally fast. Both boys should be appearing in Pampa during their first week at home, April 23-28.

The two teams are scheduled to square off again Thursday night in the conclusion of the series. Red Dial, 20-game winner last season, has drawn the hurling duties for the Oilers, while Ben Bonine will be hurling for manager York's Westerners.

George Tomecek will be released tomorrow by Seitz. Tomecek will be replaced on the roster by John Laliberte who promises to be another 20-game winner for the Pampa pros.

The Oilers will move from Ballinger to San Angelo Friday. They will make a three-day stand there and then return home for six days.

The Pampa Oiler Community Baseball Association has made plans for an eventful opening night.

In addition, plans have been completed for a barbecue to begin at 6:30 Monday night.

Everyone is invited to come and take part in the affair.

JERSEY CITY, N.J. — UP — Thursday they're the "Jersey City Dodgers."

Brooklyn's beloved "Bums" bring major-league baseball back to this city Thursday afternoon for the first time since 1888, when they play host to the Philadelphia Phillies in a regular National League game before an expected capacity crowd of 25,000 at renovated Roosevelt Stadium.

The "Joisey" fans are doing up the "opening game" in high-style, complete with parades, speeches, first-ball flipping by Mayor Bernard Berry, and the hoisting of the Dodgers' 1955 world championship flag by Manager Wall Alston and Captain Pee Wee Reese.

When things settle down, Carl Erskine is scheduled to pitch for the Dodgers against Murry Dickson of the Phillies in a battle of veteran righthanders.

Showdown Due In Alabama Revolt

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. —UP— A showdown was due Thursday between University of Alabama Athletic Director Hank Crisp and 92 subsidized athletes revolting against strict training regulations.

The athletes gave Crisp until 1 p.m. (est) Thursday to meet their demands for less restrictions. They said if he refused, they would not return to their rent-free dormitory, which they left Tuesday night.

The revolt placed the entire sports program in jeopardy. The rebels are members of the football, basketball and track squads and include virtually all athletes on scholarships except members

'Elimination' Tourney if Rocky Quits

NEW YORK —UP— While awaiting definite word from Macon, Ga., on whether or not heavyweight champion Rocky Marciano will retire, boxing promoter Jim Norris worked on plans Thursday for a five-man challengers' "elimination tournament" starting May 9.

"I expect Rocky to let us know within the next 10 days whether or not he intends to retire," said Norris.

That word probably will come from a meeting at Macon between Marciano and his manager, Al Weil. Weil conferred here with Norris Wednesday and then left for the Macon meeting with the champion, who has just returned from a South American vacation.

Norris, who said he has "every reason to believe that Marciano will say 'yes' to another fight," mapped out his elimination tournament to provide either a challenge for Rocky—or a new champion.

Lambert New Basketball Coach At Alabama U. Now

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. —UP— Dr. Eugene Lambert, who put Memphis State on the basketball map, will report June 1 to succeed Johnny Dee as head basketball coach at the University of Alabama.

University athletic officials announced Wednesday night that Lambert signed a three-year contract, but refused to reveal his salary. Lambert has built high-caliber teams at Memphis State and Arkansas.

Dee resigned suddenly April 7 to enter private business.

"We feel Dr. Lambert is one of the top basketball coaches in the nation, as proved by the outstanding teams he has produced at Memphis State and Arkansas," Athletic Director Hank Crisp said.

Lambert's team at Memphis State this year was nationally ranked fifth in scoring average. In sixth place was Dee's "Crimson Tide." The Tigers averaged 88.3 points per game, while the Tide claimed an 87.9 average.

The Tigers entered NCAA tournaments this year and last year as "at large" entries. Lambert's career claimed a 20-5 record for the 1954-55 season and were edged out by five points by Penn State in the NCAA first round. This year, with several starters ineligible because they had played four years, they were shipped by 16 points by Oklahoma City University.

Lambert, 50, at his alma mater from 1943 through 1948, turned out two Arkansas teams that tied for the Southwest Conference title. His team placed second three times and wound up in third place once.

As a student at Arkansas from 1925 through 1929, Lambert was named on the All-Southwestern Conference basketball team once and on the All-SWC football team in his senior year. He also lettered in tennis.

A native of Augusta, Ark., Lambert holds a B.S. degree from Arkansas and an M.A. in education from the University of Texas. He received his Ph. D. at Columbia University in 1942.

He began his coaching career in Texas high schools, then moved to Kenyon College at Gambier, Ohio, as head football and basketball coach. He went to Arkansas in 1937 as freshmen basketball and football coach, then took over as head basketball coach in 1943.

Two In Texas League Lead

The Texas League first place field dwindled to two teams Thursday—Houston and Shreveport—and the loop's first major rhubarb of the season led to an indefinite suspension.

Tulsa and San Antonio were tied with the Buffs and Sports for first place before Wednesday night's round of three games.

But Shreveport whipped San Antonio 4-2, while Tulsa's scheduled game at Fort Worth was postponed because of threatening weather and cold. Houston downed Austin 9-1, and Oklahoma City outslugged Dallas 9-4.

League President Dick Butler announced the indefinite suspension of Austin third baseman Leo Thomas. Thomas was thrown out of Tuesday night's Houston-Austin game for protesting a third strike, but he stayed on the field and slayed umpire Mike Bricease during his protest.

Wednesday night pitcher Bill Greason of the Buffs not only went the distance in his team's 9-1 conquest of Austin, but also hit a bases-empty home run in the third.

Austin starter Mike Lemish suffered the loss. The Buffs collected 11 hits, while Greason gave up six.

Shreveport scored two runs in the ninth on a homer by Les Faden to down San Antonio. Relief pitcher Fred Martin won his second victory in as many nights.

At Dallas, Oklahoma City evaded its series with the Eagles by coming from behind to win 9-4 on a five-run ninth inning rally. Left fielder Bob Jenkins sparked the uprising with a home run.

Dallas manager Red Davis was thrown out of the game in the first inning for arguing an umpire's decision on a balk.

Little League Players In Try-Outs

Approximately 300 baseball enthusiasts registered for places on a baseball team this summer at a meeting Tuesday night.

These enthusiasts, full of vim and vigor and ready to go, were between the ages of 8 and 12.

Little Leaguers, they, and determined to make a place for themselves on one of the Little League teams in either the Eastern or Western Little Leagues.

Wednesday, the future major league hopefuls started their annual try-outs.

The Western Little League try-outs are being held at the Kiwanis Club park with boys between the ages of 8 and 10 years trying out on Wednesday and boys between 11 and 12 years to try out today.

On Friday, the 8 to 10 year olds will try out again and then, next Tuesday, the 11 and 12 year olds will compete for a spot for the final time.

Try-outs were scheduled for 4:30 p.m. each session.

The Eastern Little League is working out at the Lions Club park and their dates are the same as those of the Western League but try-outs begin at 5 p.m. each session.

Pony League try-outs were also scheduled Wednesday and Thursday at the Pony League park for all Pony League players.

The Teenage League, it was reported, would probably wait until after school let out to start workouts and games, however, Teenage League players must register by May 5.

Colonial Adds Three More

FORT WORTH —UP— Colonial National Invitation golf tournament officials Thursday added Bill Casper, Paul Harney and Lionel Hebert to its field for the $25,000 May 3-6 tournament.

The three young pros bring the Colonial lineup to 62 and leaves only two places open, both to be selected in a poll of former champions.

The 24-year-old Casper, from Chula Vista, Calif., 26-year-old Harney from Bolton, Mass., and the 28-year-old Hebert from Erie, Pa., won invitations by their performances on the winter tour.

Hebert was the top money winner of the trio with $5,486 pocketed through the Masters to rank 11th among the pros, while Casper has been in the money 11 of his 12 tournaments and Harney six out of eight.

Anti-Trust Suit Starts Today

NEW YORK —UP— The International Boxing Club goes on trial in a federal court Thursday, charged with monopolizing the promotion of championship boxing bouts in the United States.

It marks the third round in the court contest between the government and the IBC, the government having emerged on top after the first two.

Charges against the IBC were originally brought in March, 1952. The U.S. District Court for New York gave the first round to the defendant, ruling that boxing, like baseball, was not a business subject to federal anti-trust laws. But this ruling was upset by the U.S. Supreme Court in February, 1955, when it ruled that boxing was subject to these laws.

Orioles Shuffle Minor Managers

BALTIMORE —UP— The Baltimore Orioles shuffled managers in their minor league farm system Thursday, the changes being dictated because of the fold-up of the Class C Provincial League.

Lloyd Brown, who was to have managed Theford Mines, Que., the Baltimore farm club in the Provincial loop, now will run the Thomson, Ga., club in the Class D Georgia State League.

Barney Lutz, who was to have managed Thomson, now has been shifted to Paris, Tex., of the Class ninth.

D. Sooner State League, Jimmy Adair, former White Sox infielder who also was a coach under Paul Richards, the Orioles' manager, said any violator would be subjected to a $500 or $1,000 fine, depending upon the size of his salary in the Baltimore system. Adair was to have managed Paris.

Pirates Fine Two After Game

NEW YORK —UP— Pittsburgh Manager Bobby Bragan began cracking down in earnest Thursday, slapping fines on two of his players, one of whom said, "It'll teach me a lesson and I'll play better ball."

Angered over the Pirates' blowing their second one-run ball game in a row, 5-4 to the Giants Wednesday, Bragan fined outfielder Roberto Clemente $25 for missing a squeeze sign and first baseman Dale Long the same sum for cutting off a throw which helped Bragan had left the clubhouse. "It looks like he means business."

Still boiling, the Pirates' fresh manager announced at 1 a.m. that he had curfew for the entire club and said any violator would be subjected to a $500 or $1,000 fine, depending upon the size of his salary in the Baltimore system. Adair was to have managed Paris.

"If these guys don't shake themselves, there'll be more fines," Bragan warned.

Long, who hit two home runs in Pittsburgh's opening day loss to the Giants, felt the fine would do him good — a view seldom taken by a player who is made to shell out hard cash.

"Don't get me wrong, I'm not happy about it," said the big first sacker, "but it'll serve as a boot in my backside and it'll only make me play better ball."

One Pirate player said after Bragan had left the clubhouse, "It looks like he means business."

Nashua Wins Easily

SHE LIKES IKE—Mayor Felisa Rincon de Gautier of San Juan, Puerto Rico, proudly displays a portrait of President Eisenhower. She discovered the picture in Madrid, Spain. The artist, Antonio Castellano, did the portrait because he was impressed by Ike's efforts for world peace.

ARCHITECTURAL HUMILITY—A West Coast representative of the 16 U.S. churches cited for general architectural excellence by leading church architects in the First Presbyterian Church of Cottage Grove, Ore., above. The selection was made after a three-month poll of 35 top authorities on church design, members of the National Council of Churches' Commission on Architecture. Designed by Pietro Belluschi and erected in 1951, the structure's humble materials and simple details convey the idea of purpose, rather than richness.

"I WANT MY MUMMY"—Here's an example of modern medicine performing an out-of-the-way job for history. The odd bundle lying under the X-ray machine is a Peruvian mummy case. The owners, the University of Pennsylvania Museum, estimate it to be from 1100 to 1500 years old. The radiologists at the university hospital Department of Radiology were asked to make sure there was a mummy inside under the wrappings were removed. There was. Above, Nurse Dorothy Davis prepares him for X-ray.

Murray To Go Back On Stand By SCOTT BAILLIE OAKLAND, Calif. (UP)—Jimmy Murray was scheduled to return to the stand Thursday as a witness in the "under the table" case for world champion Rocky Marciano's services last May. James E. Cox, counsel for the committee which recently finished investigating the boxing game in Los Angeles, highlighted the first day of Northern California hearings Wednesday by confronting Murray with six drafts of financial statements which listed a payment of $10,000 to "A.W." in five installments and "Al Well" in another.

The so-called "work sheets" were rough drafts which Murray said he and his secretary prepared before issuing a financial statement on the Marciano-Don Cockerell world heavyweight title fight in San Francisco last May 16. Cox also submitted for evidence a checkbook stub showing a payment of $10,000 to "A.W." on the day of the fight, saying that Rule 661 in the state boxing regulations bans "secret agreements" between managers, fighters or promoters. Guilty parties face loss of licenses.

Red's Visit May Clear Stalin Mystery

United Press Foreign Analysts have suggested also that the visit of "Mr. B. and Mr. K." to Britain may help to clear in part, to guard against the up the mystery which still sur-emergence of an army dictator- rounds the Kremlin's debunking of ship.

Josef Stalin. The debunking has greatly in- creased, in Russia, the prestige of don that Prime Minister Anthony Eden himself intends to ask his visitors frankly what is really be- hind it.

Whether Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin and Communist party congress in Moscow. Zhukov was made an alternate member of the Presidium of the party.

There are now reports that Zhu- kov actually, if not officially, is acting as a full member of the Presidium. That would mean that he had been made the 12th mem- ber of the body of 11 men who run Russia.

Zhukov probably is the most popular leader in Russia because of his brilliant war record and his own appealing personality.

It could be that some of the men in the Kremlin, at least, have seen the possibility that Zhukov might become a menace. An editorial which appeared in Pravda on March 28 was some- what revealing.

"Need Leaders With Authority" Pravda said there must be lead- ers with authority.

"The principles of collective leadership... do not at all deny the role and responsibility of the individual leader for the matters entrusted to him," Pravda said.

"It is also well known that the Communist party has always up- held the principle of one-man management of industrial enter- prises and of one-man leadership in military matters."

But Pravda emphasized that the Communist party as a whole this is because the debunking was intended to chop him down to size.

That size would be, of course, one of Russia's 11 leaders in the more properly, collective dicta- torship.

TV Commercial Writer Says They Are Appaling

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK — Peter Cadby believes 90 per cent of TV's and radio's singing commercials are appalling.

He qualifies as a pretty fair judge—he has written some 200 of them himself.

"I even abominate some of my own after listening to them over and over again," said Cadby Thursday. "The trouble lies in the approach of most of the people connected with the business—their motto is 'Not good, but fast. And that's the way most of the jingles sound."

"A song is supposed to involve a wedding between words and music. The majority of singing commercials seem to involve a divorce."

Cadby's own list of credits in the jingle jungle are imposing. He has turned out pasens to concen- trated orange juice, cigarets, soap, deodorants, toothpaste and coffee in both the instant and de- layed varieties.

Included among his Madison Ave. symphonies are such titles as "When smoking hits has got you woozy." "Any dope can make some soap" and "It cools in sec- onds and soothes for hours."

At least one of his numbers is a candidate for the all-time gray flann- ed hit parade—the one for a shaving cream that starts "It beats, beats, beats all other ways to shave."

"It's ridiculous to take these things seriously," said Cadby. "As a matter of fact, the best commercials I do are never heard—they're always rejected by the ad agencies."

"I just do the jingles in order to put bread under my children's oleomargarine."

Cadby, 41 and a former citizen of Scranton, Pa., wrote his first commercial jingle back in 1941.

"What I object to most about these 15 seconds of something is their lack of humor, their lack of entertainment," said Cadby. "I think it's about time the people who put these things on realized entertaining jingles, and there are very few of them, can sell the product."

"It's really a symptom of our culture, a sad one, this attitude that anything will sell the product if it's repeated often enough, no matter how tasteless and tun- less."

ROLLING OUT OF AMERICA'S PAST—The famous Shelburne Museum, at Shelburne, Vt., has acquired a real old Conestoga wagon, a rarity of Americana. It is pictured here before the museum's reproduction of an old-time general store. Originating in Lancaster County, Pa., Conestogas first were used by farmers to carry goods to market. Later the wagons accompanied pioneers across the Alleghenies and subsequently brought thousands of emigrants to the West. They remained to do the heavy hauling until the coming of the railroads. The Conestogas were big—up to 24 feet long—with rear wheels five to six feet high and were usually drawn by six-horse teams. Their high-ended style and construction remained almost unchanged during the century from 1750 to 1850.

ARAB REFUGEES FAN HATRED — One of the fiercest passions behind the Israeli-Arab conflict is the vengeful hatred of the nearly one million Palestinian Arabs, displaced when Israel was carved out of Palestine by the U.N. in 1947 and after the Israeli-Arab war of 1948. Scattered throughout the Arab nations, they eke out a miserable existence, thousands of them in refugee camps supported by the U.N. Many refugees, now homeless, can look across the border and see their former houses and farms, held by Israeli families. Cost of refugee relief this year is estimated at 27 million dollars.
