Senate Passes The Biggest Highway Program In History

By BETTY PRYOR
WASHINGTON—UP—The Senate, worn out after 13 solid hours of debate, early Wednesday passed a $37 billion bill authorizing the biggest highway program in the nation's history.

The bill, passed by voice vote at 12:15 a.m. (ed) Wednesday morning, now goes to a House-Senate conference committee to iron out differences between the Senate measure and the bill passed earlier by the House.

Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.), chief sponsor of the long-range Senate bill, predicted the joint committee would put together the best features of both bills.

$51.5 Billion Price Tag

The House bill carries a $51.5 billion price tag.

The chief difference to be worked out on conference is the method of distributing to the states some $35 billion proposed in both bills for an interstate network of superhighways. The modern highways would link most state capitals and the nation's major cities.

Both the House and Senate versions agreed substantially on boosts in gasoline, tire, truck and other highway user taxes to foot part of the road bill's cost. The tax increases would cost the average motorist about $8.80 per year.

The bill calls for a 13-year construction program. But the Senate added an amendment which could stretch it out to 16 years. The amendment, sought by Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey, would keep the construction program strictly on a pay-as-you-go basis by barring federal allotments in excess of available funds during any one year.

Approve—Conflicting Amendments

In an unusual parliamentary snarl, the Senate approved two conflicting amendments.

It first voted 40-29, with Vice President Richard M. Nixon breaking the tie, to let state highway departments determine "prevailing wages" for road workers. Then it approved 42-37 a rival amendment which would require the secretary of labor to determine prevailing wage rates after consultation with state officials.

The Senate, after a hard-fought scrap, finally went along with a House provision requiring contractors to pay no less than the prevailing wage in their locality, as determined by the labor secretary. However, it added an amendment providing for appeal to the courts from the secretary's findings.

The Senate voted to allocate the $25 billion for the interstate network on the basis of states' population, size and RFD mileage—with the population factor counting one-third, and size and mileage one-sixth each. It rejected the House formula having allotments on states' estimated needs.

Under both versions the federal government would put up nine-tenths the cost of the interstate network. The states would furnish one-tenth, or $2.5 billion.

Sen. Estes Kefauver, returns from the state's popularity contest showed Wednesday.

Reports from 1,730 of Florida's 1,779 precincts gave Stevenson 219,275 votes and Kefauver 208,277.

In the light Republican vote, President Eisenhower smothered his only rival, Sen. William F. Knowland of California, whose name had been entered in the primary before the President announced he would seek another term. Knowland declined to campaign.

With 1,219 of the 1,799 precincts reporting, Mr. Eisenhower received 36,074 votes and Knowland 1,842.

Moral Victory for Kefauver

The vote shows I have strength in the South and I consider it a great moral victory," Kefauver said. "It was frankly much better than I expected under the circumstances."

The Florida voting was so close that it was not until near midnight Tuesday that Stevenson was able to extend his margin to more than 1,000 votes.

Stevenson won 24 at-large delegates with half a convention vote each. He also defeated Kefauver in five congressional districts, each of which has two delegates with a full vote.

Kefauver won in three congressional districts with two votes each.

Survivor To Observe Holiday

DULUTH, Minn. —UP— Albert Woolson, 106, the last survivor of the two-million-man Union Army, observed Memorial Day Wednesday with a quiet family gathering.

Woolson still is weak from recent hospitalization for treatment of lung congestion, his daughter's said. The get-together with his three daughters living here and their families was held at the home of Mrs. Johi Kobus, one of the daughters.

In former years Woolson usually has been feted by townspeople on the day created to honor the civil war dead. Last year he appeared at a Memorial Day ceremony in which a bust depicting him was unveiled.

Woolson was released from a Duluth hospital last Saturday. He had been treated for a week for lung congestion which has troubled him increasingly during the past two years.

Mrs. Kobus said his strength is improving, but he is not yet well enough for outside activities. She said he has been receiving an avalanche of good wishes since his recent hospitalization.

WARM WEATHER MEANS PICNIC SEASON. But too many picnics that should be "good times" end unhappily because of carelessness and lack of preparation to meet emergencies. The average city dweller when turned loose in the country or at the beach for a summer day usually violates every safety and health rule within reach — and then has difficulty in understanding why accidents always happen to him.

A FEW SIMPLE rules to keep in mind on these outings include: Avoid overexertion — the man who exercises all week by lifting a phone receiver should not attempt to set a new record for the 100-yard dash on his first outing of the year. It may be his last. Build fires only in authorized areas and in proper fireplaces or portable grills. To many families, both vegetable and animal, have suffered as the result of carelessness with fire.

Handle cutlery properly. Knives may be necessary to slice the picnic ham, but those knives should be wielded only by the adults and then the rules of "cut away from the body and never hand a knife while your hands are wet or slippery" should be followed.

Along with rules of "avoiding overexertion" the admonishment of "all overindulgences" should be included. Avoid too much sunshine during initial visits to the beach and country, and do not gorge yourself with food and follow up with a quick dip in the cool water.

Acknowledging the fact that accidents are only human, another important rule is to be prepared with proper first aid supplies. Along with the required gauzes and bandages, an important new product that should be in the family first aid kit is First Aid Cream, a development of Johnson & Johnson's. First Aid Cream is recommended for treatment of cuts, burns, abrasions, sunburn, chapped skin and insect bites — all picnic and outing ailments. This new antiseptic can be applied directly to open wounds with no pain.

Worst — loving overweights in Germany are rejoicing these days in a sausage especially designed for dieters by two master-butchers in the health resort town of Bad Salzungen. Originally created for salt-free dieters who came to the spa for the treatment of stomach and bladder ailments in which it specializes, the herb-flavored wurst was also found to have a greatly lowered caloric content. The German Tourist Information Office reports that it has proved extremely popular with resort guests. Visitors to the Ninth International Cookery Exhibition, which will be held in Frankfurt, Germany, from September 30 to October 7, are likely to receive unusual answers when they ask "What's cooking?" Master chefs from 10 or more countries, including the United States, will be preparing their best and most honored national dishes, not only to compete for the coveted prizes being offered but also to serve in the three restaurants on the Fair Grounds. The snack bar will feature everything from American lobster to chrysanthemum salad; the soup bar lists bouillabaise, minestrone and wood-chopper's broth among other savory dishes, and the international restaurant will have every sort of steak, snails à la Corsica, almond duck and heat-cock on its bill of fare.

A SIMPLE IDEA that may affect the rehabilitation of young law breakers all over the United States is described by Frederic Sondern, Jr. in the June Reader's Digest.

The article, condensed from Parents' Magazine, tells how Chief Justice Irving Ben Cooper of New York City's Court of Special Sessions — one of the largest criminal tribunals in the country — undertook an experiment that no judge had ever tried before. He called in 27 young, first - offense probationers to meet with a talk to eight ex - probationers now started on good careers and happy lives. The Justice had carefully chosen these eight "graduates" to form as broad a cross-section of New York as the new probationers represented.

Probation records show that 26 of those 27 first offenders are now well along on the right road. "They all had the living proof," as one experienced and practical probation officer put it, "of what others who had been arrested could do. This seems to me the most effective therapy for stopping our potential young criminals."

Mrs. John Sartori Speaks To Altrusans On Civil Defense During Luncheon Meet

Mrs. John C. Sartori, chief operator for Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, was featured speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Pampa Altrusa Club in the City Club Room. Her topic was civil defense.

GROUND OBSERVER CORPS — Mrs. Sartori spoke mainly on the Ground Observer Corps, which reports suspicious sightings to a filter, or "nerve" center, which checks its charts to see if aircraft is supposed to be in that area. If, not, it takes the necessary steps to have the sightings investigated, she explained.

The GOC is run by volunteers, she pointed, and was started at the outbreak of the Korean War Police Action. She said it is patterned after similar groups in England and China, and after a similar group in this country during World War II.

"It is now expanding to cover all 48 states," she explained. She added, however, that the GOC has only one-fourth of the number of volunteers needed. Only 12 states have 24-hour observation of the skies, she said, but it is hoped the group can be expanded to having an observer every 8 miles.

OTHER DIVISIONS — There are three other divisions under the civil defense set-up, Mrs. Sartori pointed out. They are jet fighter interceptor squadrons, anti-aircraft divisions and radar.

The reason the GOC is needed in addition to radar is that radar is not effective for detection of objects under 5,000 feet, it can mechanically break down, it can be sabotaged, it can be jammed and it operates in a straight line, missing anything above or below that line.

Civil defense communications for civil defense are handled by the telephone company and its operators, she told the women. When an aircraft flash call comes in, the telephone operator "drops every thing" to handle it, she said, adding that there are periodic test calls to keep the equipment in order.

DEW LINE — Mrs. Sartori also mentioned what is called the "DEW line," a system 3,000 miles long of what is believed to be radar stations or bomber bases in "the frozen north." She said the country built the bases to last 100 years, to be expanded if needed, to serve as guided missile stations and to be used in cases of defense or offense.

She closed her talk by pointing out that if there were enough volunteers in the Ground Observer Corps, it would mean only two hours of service each week for each volunteer.

She was introduced by Mrs. Grant Anderson of the International Affairs committee.

BUSINESS SESSION — During the business session, led by Mrs. Frank Lard, president, annual reports were given by committee chairmen, including Mrs. Frank Showtelt, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. Grant Anderson, finance chairman.

Next meeting will be at 12 noon June 11, in the City Club Room.

Career Guarantees Women Such Things As Own Money And Friends' Curiosity

NEW YORK — UP — A career guarantees a woman certain things, like her own money and her friends' curiosity.

The spending money varies according to success, but the questions sound remarkably alike in all income brackets.

"How come?" the curious ponder. "She's trying to compensate for something?"

One woman, at least, believes there is a simple answer to the apparent puzzle of a woman putting career ahead of family.

Men refuse to believe it, Madeleine Faust admitted, because it is so simple, but she vows that other women understand.

"A woman finds herself with a need to earn a living," began Miss Faust, a French - Canadian with snapping brown eyes and crisp, French-accented conversation. "She finds work that interests her. Then, if something is worth doing, it is worth doing well. So she works hard at it."

She succeeds beyond her wildest dreams. Miss Faust has in her own career. "But she knows," the female executive added softly, "that a woman is truly happy only when she has a husband and her children. Her true place is with her family."

In six short years Miss Faust has changed from a job - hunting divorcee with a small son to a

Clements Leads In Kentucky

By JOHN G. DIETRICH
LOUISVILLE, Ky. — UP—Sen. Earle C. Clements built up a lead of nearly 90,000 votes over former Rep. Joe E. Bates Wednesday to win his battle for renomination on the Democratic ticket and for control of the Democratic party machinery in Kentucky.

The polls had been closed only an hour Tuesday before machine-counted ballots in the state's major population centers showed the unmistakable sweep for Clements over the candidate backed by Gov. A. B. Chandler.

At 8:10 p.m., cat Bates' campaign manager Charles Blackburn conceded the Clements victory in a statement from Bates' headquarters in Frankfort.

With the vote counting about seven-eighths complete, the vote stood at 195,251 for Clements; 106,793 for Bates; and 1,554 for a third candidate, James L. Deik. Returns were in from 2,530 of the state's 4,042 precincts.

Republicans chose former Assistant Secretary of State Thurston E. Burton as their nominee to oppose Clements.

All eight incumbent Kentucky congressmen—six Democrats and two Republicans—won renomination by large margins. Even though four of them were opposed by candidates backed by Chandler.

City Band To Rehearse Sunday

The first rehearsal of the Pampa Community Band will be held Sunday, June 2, at 2 p.m. in the high school band room, and all Pampans interested in participating are invited to attend.

Bill Tregoe, director of band music in the Pampa schools, will serve as temporary director until a permanent one can be secured, provided sufficient interest is shown in the organization.

The Sunday meeting will determine whether or not a community band is organized and if sufficient interest is shown, details will be worked out to provide the essentials.

Everyone is expected to furnish his own instruments with the exception of heavy instruments, such as basses, drums, and baritone. Heavy instruments are to be brought to the first rehearsal, however.

Reports of Tornadoes

The weather bureau reported numerous reports of tornado funnel clouds and unconfirmed tornadoes in Kansas, Missouri, Oklahoma and the northern Texas Panhandle. A church under construction was leveled at Amarillo, Tex., and hallstones the size of turkey eggs battered the Hereford, Tex., area.

State and local police mobilized their forces to make the one-day holiday a safe one on the highways. Their hopes were bolstered by the fact that the holiday falls in the middle of the week and not on a weekend, when motorists would plan longer and more hazardous trips.

In many states, highway police leaves and days off were cancelled. Connecticut National Guardsmen manned 42 jeeps and three helicopters to keep an eye on motorists and Guardsmen also helped out in other states.

An aerial spotting service watched the roads for jamups and trouble spots in the Chicago area. Their information was relayed to a radio station which broadcast news on congestion and alternate routes to motorists in their cars.

The major Memorial Day attraction for motorists was the annual 500-mile auto race at the Indianapolis Speedway.

The big race was to start on schedule, despite flooding rains which turned the track's infield into a quagmire and drove 2,000 Indianapolis families from their homes.

The Midwest floods and storms claimed at least three lives. A boy and a girl drowned in Illinois floodwaters and a lightning bolt killed a man in Iowa.

Three new board members were named to the board of governors of Pampa Little Theater yesterday afternoon in a brief business session held in the City Hall.

New directors are Mrs. Pauline Smyth, Mrs. Cleo Worley and Mrs. Marie Herring.

Jack Miller, who directed the first workshop production, "The Importance of Being Earnest," was elected to the post of vice president.

The next meeting of the little theater will be held Thursday, June 7, at 7:30 p.m. in Lovett Memorial Library.

Pastors Speak At Meeting Of Jaycees

Three of Pampa's ministers, representing three faiths, presented short messages in connection with the "Go to Church" program sponsored this month by the Jaycees, yesterday noon in the Palm Room.

Appearing on the program to speak on church membership and going to church were Rev. Myles Morynhan, pastor of Holy Soul's Catholic Church; Rev. William West, pastor of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church; and Rev. Ronald Hubbard, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

Special guests included Rev. Woodrow Adcock, pastor of the First Methodist Church, Rev. Richard Crews, pastor of the First Christian Church, and Rev. Douglas Elliott, pastor of the Church of the Nazarenes.

The program was sponsored and arranged by the religious activities committee, Don Thompson, chairman.

The junior golf tournament, sponsored by the Jaycees, got underway yesterday at the Country Club under the direction of Coach Weldon Trice and George Whitten. The four tourney winners will participate in the state meet in Brownwood in July.

A board of directors meeting will be held Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Chamber of Commerce Conference Room.

The Jaycees were requested to participate in the industrial softball league this summer by furnishing umpires and managers. Charles Wilkerson and Whitten are now participating in this program.

Methodist Choirs Go To Amarillo

The Carol and Wesley Junior Choirs of the First Methodist Church were to leave from the education building of the church at 5:45 p.m. today for a trip to Amarillo to hear the Casa Materna Children's Choir of Naples, Italy.

The trip is being given to the choir as a reward for their outstanding service and loyalty to the church during the past two years according to Roy Johnson, music director.

Every Sunday morning at 8:30 the two groups lead in the music for the worship service, singing all of the hymns, responses and furnishing a special anthem every week.

The Casa Materna Children's Choir is a group of orphans from the home of the same name in Naples, Italy. The home was established in 1905 by Rev. Riccardo Santi, a Methodist minister, who still lives at the home. Director of the choir is Orfeo Pinna, composer and former director of the School of Choral Singing connected with the Academy of St. Cecilia in Rome, Italy. During World War II he conducted operas and concerts for Allied troops stationed in Naples.

The concert will be held in Polk Street Methodist Church, Amarillo, at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday. The public is invited to attend. There is no admission charge, and a free-will offering will be made.

Special Tribute To Heroes Today

FORT SAM HOUSTON, Tex. — UP—Old Pat, a field artillery horse who died in 1933 at the age of 45, will receive special tribute in Memorial Day services for the third straight year Wednesday.

The horse was owned for a number of years by Maj. Gen. John F. Preston, Ret. Preston will deliver the address at Old Pat's grave in the western part of Fort Sam Houston.

Preston sold the horse to the Army in 1912, and the animal was assigned to the Field Artillery in the 1920s. He was retired in 1933.

Texas Honors War Dead Today

By UNITED PRESS
Texas joined the nation Wednesday in Memorial Day observances honoring the war dead.

At Austin, the United States flag flew at half-staff courts.

Most state offices were closed. However, the appellate courts scheduled business as usual. Federal employes and personnel at nearby Bergstrom Air Force Base enjoyed a holiday. Austin public schools held regular classes.

In Fort Worth, motorists were reminded of the hazards of holiday driving by "Slow Down and Live" signs erected along the roadside by the Fort Worth Safety Council.

A special tribute was paid at Fort Sam Houston to "Old Pat," a field artillery horse who died at the age of 45 three years ago. Memorial Day services were held at the horse's grave at Fort Sam for the third straight year.

City Talks Of Park, Tax Contract

The city commission faced a busy session yesterday morning, discussing park improvements, tax records in the city tax department, and renewing the county-city tax contract prior to the open meeting.

Fred Brook, city manager, reported that he talked with a delegation representing the colored citizens of Pampa regarding park improvements on the park located by Carver School. He will arrange for lights, rest rooms, and playground equipment. A new swimming pool, proposed for the park, will be included in the proposed bond issue.

The city approved a contract with the county in the amount of about $2,400 a year, payable monthly or in one lump sum. The renewed contract, subject to approval by the county commission, will furnish the county with permanent real estate information and tax records. It was agreed that no records would leave the city offices.

Commissioners also approved an expenditure of $600 for additional help in the city tax department. The need for additional personnel was pointed out, due to the tax record cards that have been kept for the past years. New cards are made for every change in business, constituting a permanent record of any unit of Pampa's real estate.

The parking situation in Pampa and tennis courts in town were also discussed.

A sum of $30,000 was transferred from the water and sewer fund to the general fund, for use as payroll.

TEEN TOPICS By HELEN STRICKLAND

It was a great year at Pampa High School, school year 1955-56, and now it's all over. From the end of enrollment day when seniors couldn't believe that they were the top class at last and sophomores couldn't find where they were supposed to be, until the rain-spattered seniors graduation Monday night, it was a great year.

During the year, students saw a basketball team that didn't have a chance, so the books said, fight their way to the Northern half of District 1-4A championship. They never forget the bus ride to Canyon to see the play-off game with Borger and how they cheered and cheered for the boys in Green and Gold.

With the students' cooperation and help, a Student Council was organized by Lee Ledrick and Ted Wendle that was second to none in PHS history. That Student Council achieved such things as lunch hour prayers, morning devotionals over the new public address system, a juice box for the cafeteria, and a talent show that won the approval of the city as a benefit for the youth center.

As a body, the students bid farewell to Jack Nichols, their assistant principal, and welcomed in his place Cameron Marsh.

Together, they danced in Fairland at the All-School Prom. The two top classes enjoyed together the Junior-Senior Banquet in the cafeteria decorated to represent a land of candy.

Then after a week of tests they thought would never end, the juniors and sophomores watched the seniors graduate and put the final close on school year 1955-56.

Graduation ceremony was a great success despite the rain that began to fall in torrents as the cap and gown seniors were waiting in line between the school and the gym to march in. They couldn't go forward; line was moving too slow, and they didn't dare get out of line for fear of messing the whole thing up. So they stood, some of them, in the rain.

"But we are the only class to graduate in polka dot cap and gowns," one senior said as the rain made great spots on the gray outfits.

And despite the rain, seniors held the traditional celebration by attending the graduation dance or just having fun with other members of the class of '56. At that time, nothing could have dampened their spirits.

Honors galore have fallen on the graduating class in the form of scholarships from local people and organizations and from colleges. Since the last report of these things new ones have appeared. Mike Price was awarded the Rotary Club scholarship, Betty Hogsett won a music scholarship to Texas Tech, and Russell Barnard, winner of the Basch-Lomb Science Award and the Celanese scholarship, has been offered a scholarship to Yale University.

Since this is the week for ending things, it seems a good time to end Teen Topics by Helen Strickland. This is the column that this typewriter number has been chattering for a long time, the last one. Truly, it has been fun bringing you readers all the latest news about your teenagers because Pampa teenagers are the kind that are and always will be in the news. They are a great bunch; don't ever forget to be proud of them.

Most Folks Overdo It When Packing For A Long Trip

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON — UP— Most folks don't know what to fetch when they are starting on a long motor trip.

Almost everybody overdoes it. Friend of mine sent his wife ahead to St. Louis by plane and she overdid the packing to the point where it cost the old man eight dollars for overweight on the luggage. She had everything in her gear but the bathtub and the piano.

So a few days later, pop scrubbed his machine and made ready to pick up mom in St. Louis for a trip to California. He packed seven suits, 20 shirts, 3 dozen pairs of socks, a set of tools, three bathrobes, a case of soap, blankets in case of having to sleep under the stars. Not to mention overcoats, three jackets, raincoats and other things which are no earthly good on a long trip.

The American Automobile Association calls upon an old saying when it advises folks to "travel light." It's pretty good advice.

Month In France
A couple of years ago I spent nearly a month in France and lugged along only one big bag. It was filled with washable nylon shirts — only six — underwear, and three suits, with some lightweight slacks which complemented the jackets of the suits. A bar of Ivory Soap and a washcloth. Plus the usual; like shaving gear, wash for the teeth, and powder for the feet.

When traveling in these United States one doesn't have to worry about cleaning or laundry. You never are more than a few minutes away from a spot that will press a pair of pants or wash a shirt in a hurry. A lot of motels even advertise to do the job during the dark hours when sensible tourists are asleep.

The AAA has a list of things one ought to take on a trip.

Maps, for sure. Travelers checks. A first aid kit, which takes up little room in the glove compartment. A light-weight travel iron. A flashlight. Camera, if you are a flicker fan. Thermos jug. Sun glasses. And other trinkets like toys if the kids are aboard.

Don't Doll Up

That, of course, in addition to sensible clothes like sports gear. If you want to see America these days you don't have to doll up very much. In most motels you don't need a tie, even to bib up and have a fine steak dinner.

"Clothes won't make your trip," is the way the AAA puts it in a booklet called "Travel Tips." "But," the auto folks warn, "a lack of a wrap you need or the burden of too much luggage can spoil it."

In general, a woman needs to take a tailored suit, a change of blouses and accessories, plus a few hats and comfortable shoes. Maybe a couple of dresses for the cocktail or dinner hour.

Of course, mere man can get away with very little, but he ought to have at least one suit that would look all right in fancy places and it doesn't have to be formal.

America is getting away from the formal business unless the invitation says "black tie" or "white tie" and most motels and hotels don't say anything about a tie at all.

Miss Pemberton taught in the Odessa school this year and prior to that was a teacher for children of the Armed Forces in Japan. She visited in the Skellytown school on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sears and daughter, LaJonna, will visit this week in Paris.

Recent guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hewitt were Mrs. Hewitt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Chessner, of Iowa Park.

Nasser is one of the three key men in the Neutralist movement. The other two are President Tito of Yugoslavia and Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India.

Nasser quite evidently is bidding for leadership of the Arab world, which extends along the entire Southern shore of the Mediterranean and on into Southwestern Asia.

Tito is the chief Neutralist of Europe. He would like to become the leader of a Balkan federation in Southeastern Europe — consisting of countries which now are Russian satellites.

Nehru, the pioneer in the Neutralist movement, exerts great influence over a big area of South ern and Southeastern Asia.

U. S. Takes Dim View

The United States takes a very dim view of Neutralism. Its feeling, though not officially expressed, is briefly: If you're not with us, you're helping Communism.

It is not an illogical position. Despite the present historic changes incident to the debunking of Josef Stalin, the long-range aim of Kremlin Communism is still world domination.

The more countries which can be lured into Neutralism, to become bystanders in the West-East cold war, the better for the Kremlin.

But Neutralism is steadily growing into an important "third force" in world affairs.

Arab League Neutralist

It includes all nine members of the Arab League except Iraq. It includes such countries as Indonesia, Ceylon Burma and Cambodia. Neutralists rule about 540 million people.

There also is a quiet, growing Neutralist movement in Europe outside of Yugoslavia. It is being promoted not — at least openly — by heads of government but by men of great political influence, some of whom have been high in government and could be again.

It looks as if the time may be coming when the United States will have to reconcile itself to the fact that Neutralism is here to stay. That will mean decisions as to what to do about it.

Recognition of the appeal of Neutralism is behind the present talk of broadening the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to include economic as well as military co-operation.

No Communist Problem

Nasser has no Communist problem in his own country. He is quite openly using the Communist countries to strengthen his own country against Israel and his own influence in the Arab world. He might well outsmart himself.

Nehru is completely in control of India. He is friendly with the Communist countries. But he keeps his foot down on Indian Reds.

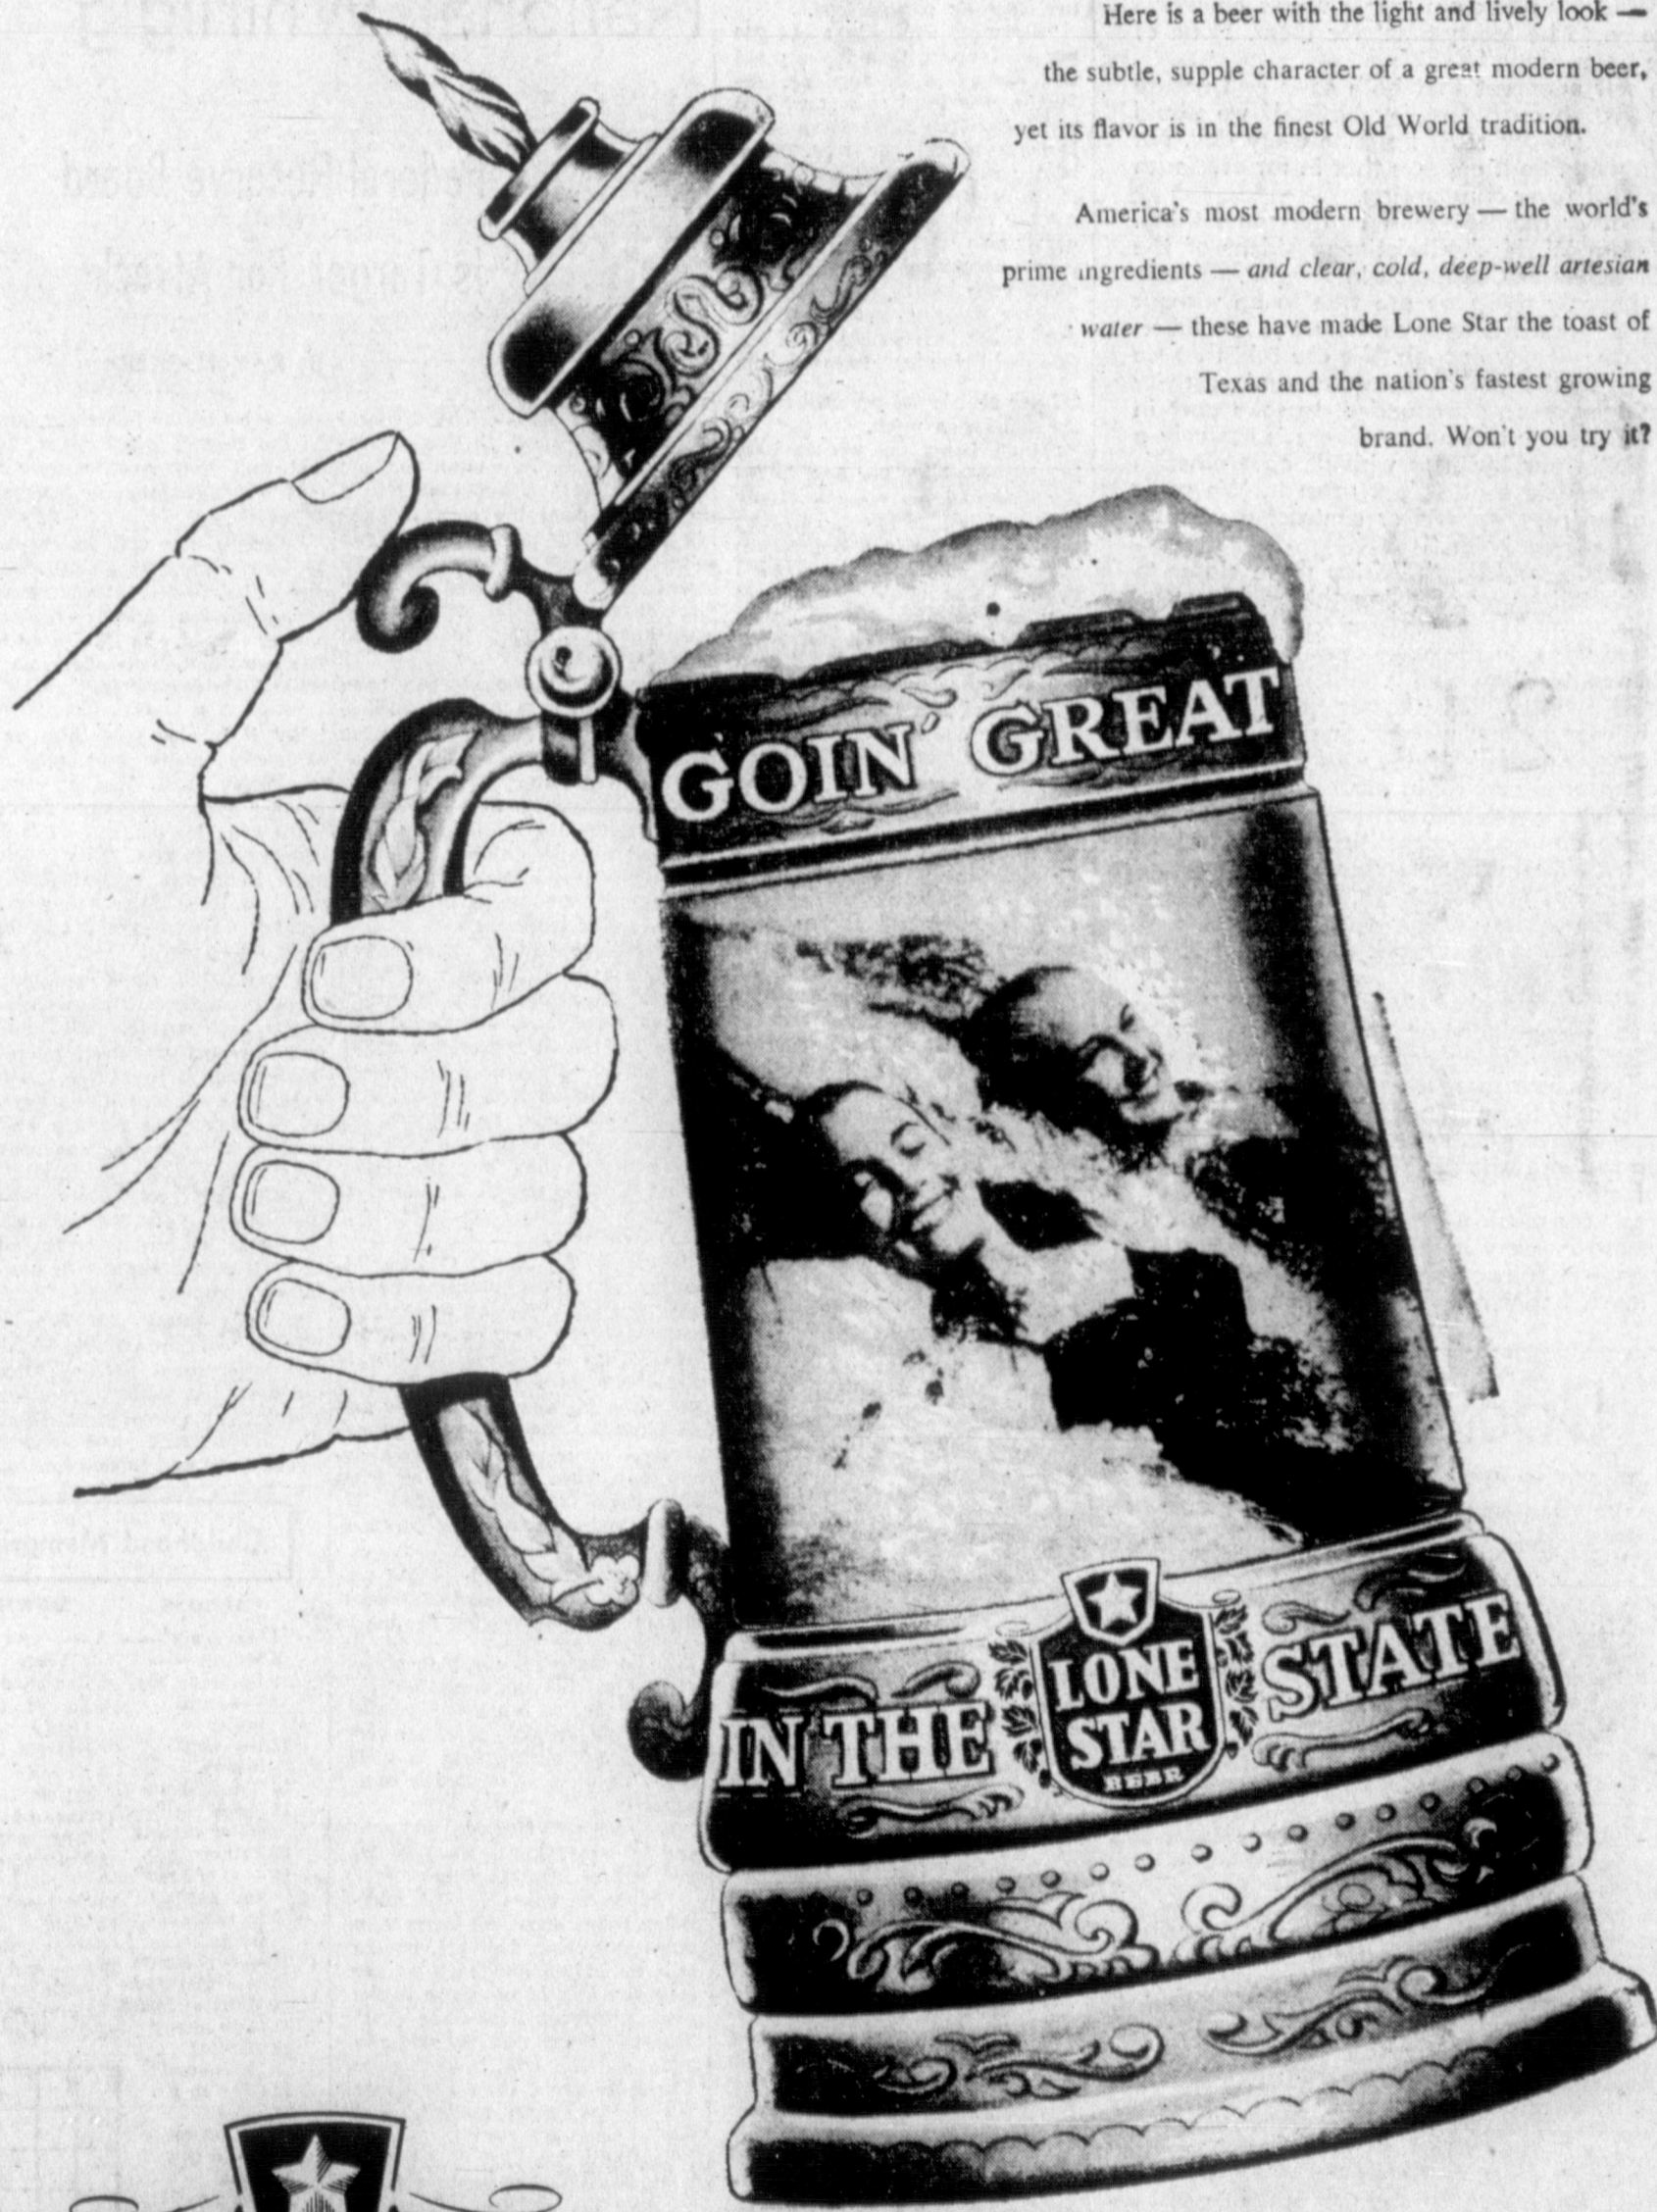

Tito is a Communist. But he is definitely not a Kremlin Communist. He seems determined to keep his independence in foreign affairs.

But Neutralism is still harmful to those countries which are allied to defend world freedom. The big question is what to do about it.

Drowning Victim

HAMILTON, Tex. —UP— Tommy Worley, 7, who lived with his grandmother, was drowned Sunday when he climbed over a seven foot fence to enter a pool that wasn't scheduled to open for the summer until June 2. His mother, Mrs. Tom Drummond, lives in Midland. His grandmother is Mrs. Vera Evert.

the Modern BEER with the TRADITIONAL TASTE

Here is a beer with the light and lively look — the subtle, supple character of a great modern beer, yet its flavor is in the finest Old World tradition.

America's most modern brewery — the world's prime ingredients — and clear, cold, deep-well artesian water — these have made Lone Star the toast of Texas and the nation's fastest growing brand. Won't you try it?

TWO OF THE SAME—Dusty Rhodes and singing star Elise Rhodes are not related, but they were happy to meet each other at the Polo Grounds in New York. Dusty is star outfielder for the New York Giants, and Elise is another rooter for the team, and a mighty pretty one.

RUGGED DOINGS—In Tokyo, Bernard Gauthier, from Canada, is on his way to a fall from the shoulders of Walter Gauhs, of Austria, left. They were participating in the First World Judo Championships. At right, Vincent Tamura, of the U.S., on top, and Otto Schlatter, of Switzerland, are rotating in the air like fighting birds.

HERE'S HOW—Passing on some of his trade secrets, Cincinnati Redlegs' infielder Ted Kluszewski shows a delighted 10-year-old Jack Mayer, the best way to hold a bat. The occasion was the opening of a batting range in Cincinnati by a couple of former minor league players. Ted proved he can take on mechanical pitchers as well as the National League sort.

PICTURE NEWS

AROUND THE SPORTS WORLD

OUT OF LUCK—Three young lads in Detroit are bemoaning their fate during some rainy weather there. They were all set—and fully outfitted, too—for a good ball game which was called because of a storm. Of course, they did have a game of sorts, but it was played indoors.

FAST-MOVING—Cincinnati's Joe Frazier slides safely into third base as Jackie Robinson takes the late throw from Duke Snider and umpire Vic Delmore calls the play during the Dodgers-Redlegs game in Brooklyn. Frazier went to third on Gus Bell's single to center field.

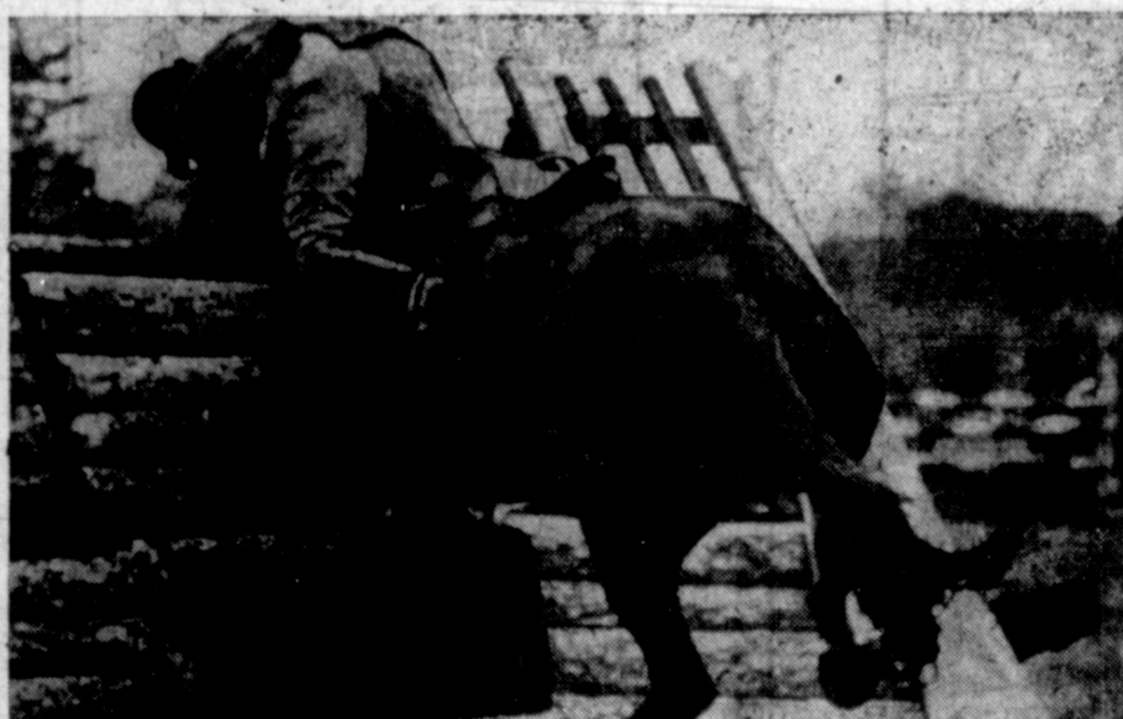

ALL SET—Pretty model and TV actress Nancy Walters is adding a touch of glamour to a rusty pipe on the shore at Miami Beach. Nancy was vacationing from her daily chores in New York and was making full use of the sun, sea and sand while she had the chance.

SHE WANTS SOME MORE—Housewife Joan Mansell made an impressive score at an archery club in Brighton, England. Mrs. Mansell deserted her household duties to appear in a contest for the first time, and now she seeks greater glory.

OVER A WALL—It's the end of the tail on the horse and the end of the trail for its rider when Makushla made this slam-bang finish during a race in Windsor, England. The end of the tale—neither Makushla nor passenger was seriously hurt.

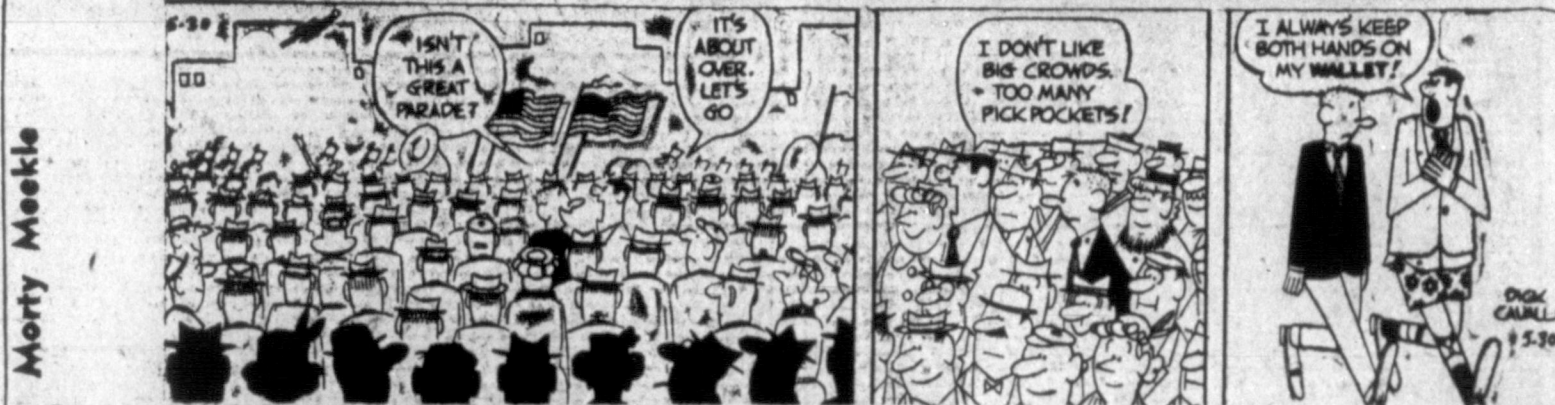

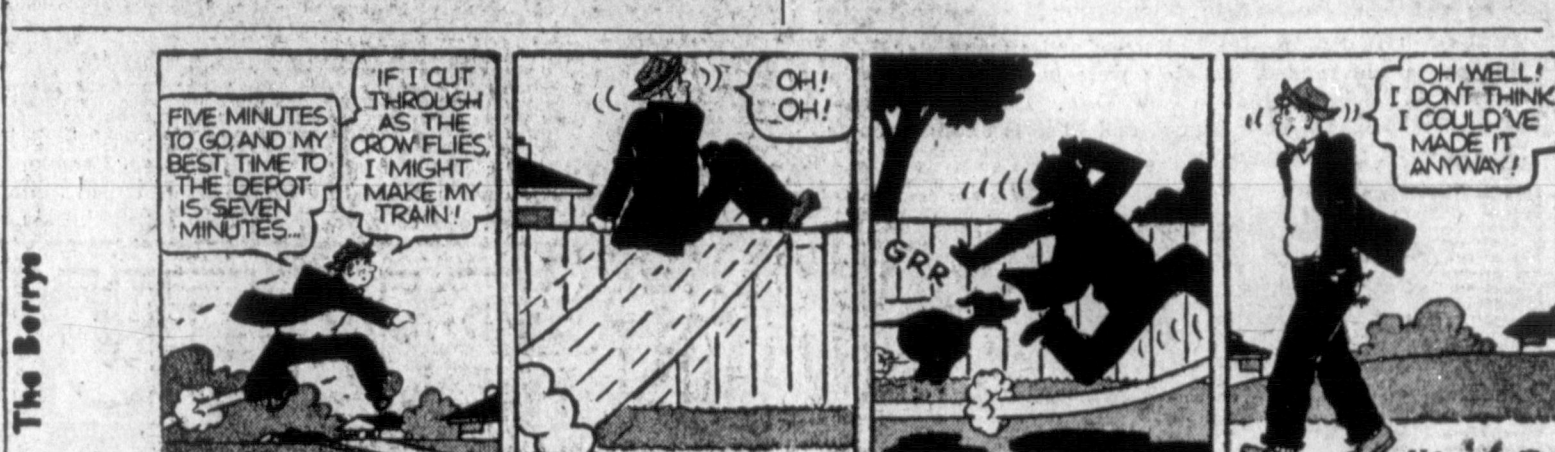

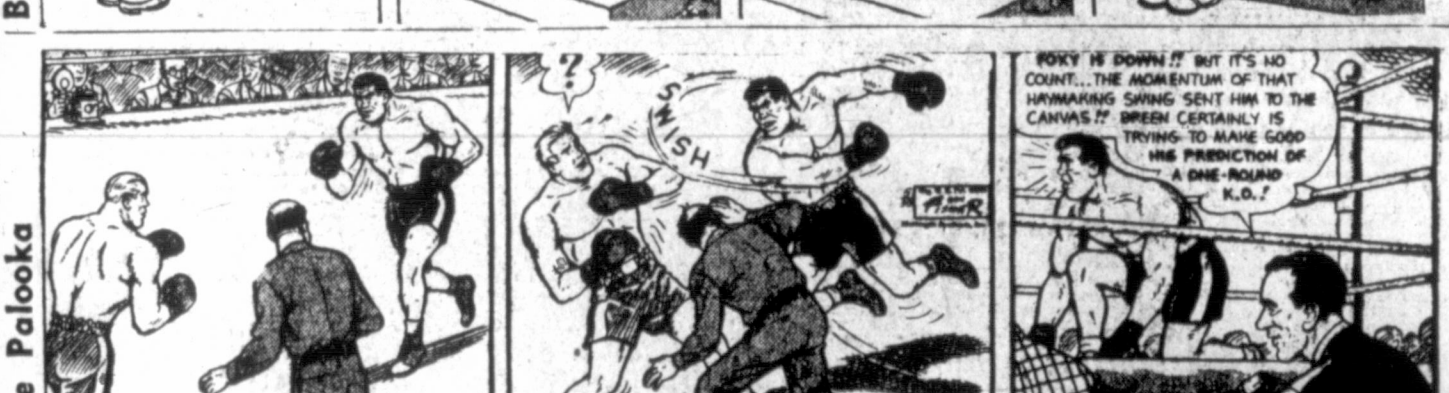

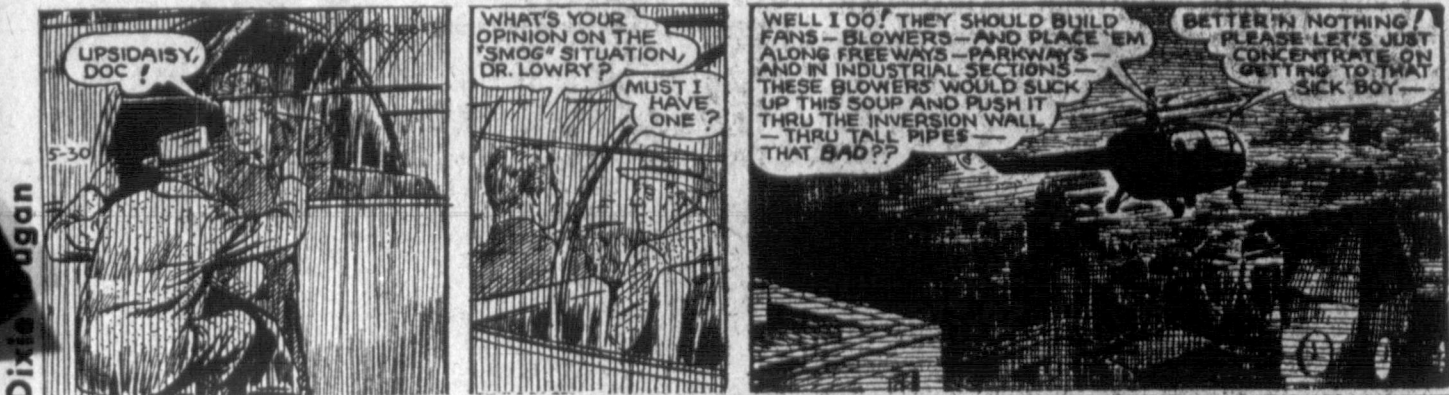

OUT FOR SMELT—Eagerly dipping their nets into the Knox River near Enfield, N. H., some determined fishermen were trying their luck. The anglers are limited to a five-pound catch, and the season is open only every two years on the even numbered year.

FEMININE TOUCH—French frogmen got a helping hand from U.S. skating star Helga Brandt as they prepared to explore the floor of the Mediterranean, off Cannes. Miss Brandt was vacationing on the Riviera at the time.

PITCHER RETIRES PITCHER—Cardinal pitcher Dick Littlefield (45) is retired at first by Giant hurler Johnny Antonelli (43) in the third inning of the first game of the Giants-Cards double-header in New York. Giant first sacker Bill White, looking on, felled Littlefield's bouncer and tossed to Antonelli for the putout.

'Bridey Murphy' Is Before The Cameras At Paramount Studio

By ALINE MOSBY
HOLLYWOOD — UP — Bridey Murphy is before the cameras at Paramount Studio — with all concerned profiting from the hypnotist craze except the woman who started it all.
Producer Pat Duggan is filming the best-selling book, "The Search For Bridey Murphy." Author Morrey Bernstein, who claims he hypnotized a Colorado housewife back to another century, will be on hand as technical adviser.
But the housewife, Mrs. Ruth Simmons, is the only one not in the act.
"Mrs. Simmons receives no money from this," producer Duggan explained. "I only purchased movie rights to the book."
Mrs. Simmons is being portraed by Teresa Wright. Duggan's search for his own Bridey Murphy resulted in six actresses playing Bridey from a little girl up.

I regressed back to Cleopatra, or possibly Lady Godiva, and hastened to Paramount to watch the picture in action. Director Noel Langley was working on a scene depicting Bridey as a 15-year-old in Ireland.
"The ancient scenes will be shot in pantomime while Miss Wright narrates them," the director explained.
"Nobody will be hypnotized on the set. I don't want people in trances while I'm trying to get a shot. And I can't take a chance on the audience being left sitting in a trance, either."

Center photo shows it homing on the target and then BAM—a smashing hit. The "Terrier," first surface-to-air guided missile capable of being launched from mobile launching platforms, has been adopted by Marine Corps shore-based units.

Vacationers Exhaust Selves
While On Leave From Offices

By WILLIAM EWALD
NEW YORK — UP — A vacation is a period set aside each year by all those who have exhausted themselves inside their offices who wish to exhaust themselves outside their offices.
Vacations are taken by employees of almost all industries except television. In television, no one takes a vacation. Instead, everyone takes a hiatus. A hiatus is just like a vacation except that those who take it generally can afford it better.
This year, the hiatuses are blooming. Bob Cummings and Art Linkletter, for example, already returning in Europe with their wives. The Cummings and Linkletters plan to visit Lisbon, Madrid, Barcelona, Munich and Paris. They'll also take in portions of North Africa.
Loreta Young has finished her breathers and is ready to start filming her fall CBS-TV series. She recently spent three weeks at Princeton, N. J., at the home of Dr. and Mrs. George Gallup.
However, most of TV's performers still have a hiatus in the offing. Dave Garraway of NBC's "Today" plans to take a five-week motor tour through England beginning June 22. Another NBC chaffel, George Gobel, intends to get in some fishing with his 10-year-old son, Greg, on the Pacific Coast if George can get time off from the filming of his new movie.
Gisele MacKenzie of "Your Hit Parade" is going to Honolulu for some swimming and boating. Gisele also intends to visit her family in Winnipeg, Canada.
Percy Como is another performer who says he's going to Hawaii. So is Bob Crosby. At the opposite side of the world will be Buster Crabbe and his 12-year-old son, Cubby. They'll be in North Africa to film future episodes of their NBC-TV "Captain Gallant" series. Alvin Karpis, the Crabbes will journey to Rome for some sight-seeing.
Palm Springs, Calif., will get plenty of business from TV. Jackie Gleason has just bought a house there and so has Danny Thomas. Danny, his wife, Rosemary, and their kids, Teresa, Margaret and Tony will spend most of their time in the resort town until he starts shooting his "Make Room for Daddy" in late June or early July.
Ed Sullivan will spend his off time working at his 197-acre farm in Connecticut and Ed Murrow plans to work his 281-acre farm at Pawling, N. Y. Murrow has two-thirds of his farm under cultivation.

And then there's panelist Ogdan Nash of ABC-TV's "Masquerade Party." Nash has taken a house for the summer at Boar's Head, N. H. He will be joined there by his wife, his wife's parents, his two married daughters, his daughters' husbands and four grandchildren.
This is a hiatus? It sounds more like a vacation.

CANADA'S ENTRY—Pretty Elaine Bishendon, an 18-year-old high school student, will represent Canada at the "Miss Universe" contest in California. Elaine, a Toronto girl, is a star dancer, and a medal-winning highland fling dancer.

On Bridge

Big hands come along rather seldom, but they account for most of the points you win or lose in the course of a session. Handle them carefully in order to get the most out of them.
South went at his big hand, shown today, like the proverbial bull at a gate. The outcome was pleasant only to his opponents.
West opened the king of diamonds, forcing out declarer's ace. South then took 10 minutes by the clock in the attempt to guess what to do next. Should he lead out two high trumps and then try to cash high hearts or high spades? If so, which suit should he try to run? Or should he enter dummy with a heart at the second trick and stake everything on an immediate trump finesse?
There was something to be said for each of these plans, but none of them would have worked. South went down one, ingloriously enough, avoiding a loss only because he had 100 honors.
There would have been a different story to tell if South had done his thinking during the bidding instead of during the play. There was no reason to jump to six clubs at once. If South had done some exploring he would have found a far better contract; and if nothing better turned up he could bid six clubs later.

At his second turn, South should bid three clubs. North might jump to four spades (a fine bid), but might bid only three spades. If South then bid four clubs, North would surely bid four spades. South then would bid six spades rather than six clubs.
Perhaps some delicate line of bidding would get South to seven no-trump or seven spades. Even seven hearts can be made. The point is that almost any other slam contract would have been better than South's bid of six clubs.

Expects Vote of Workers
SAN FRANCISCO — UP — Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell predicted Monday night President Eisenhower will ride back into the White House this November on a tide of working men's votes. Mitchell made his prognostication at a $100-a-plate Republican preparedness dinner attended by an estimated 1,000 persons.

NATO Ready in Four Years
SAN FRANCISCO — UP — Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther declared Monday that his North Atlantic Treaty force awaits only the addition of West Germany's new army to be ready to tangle with any Soviet aggression in Europe. This, the NATO commander told the Commonwealth Club of California, will take some three to four years.

Unit to Move by Airlift
WASHINGTON — UP — The Air Force said Tuesday two successive airlifts will be used to transport an entire guided missile unit with personnel and dependents when it moves to a new station in Europe next month. The 11th tactical missile squadron of Orlando, Fla., its 526 officers and airmen, will be flown by special airlift to its new station at Sembach Air Base, Germany, on June 21, 22 and 23.

ANYONE FOR CHESS?—Margaret Smith, 23-year-old secretary from Manchester, England, ponders her next move among giant wooden chessmen, as her opponent, a five-ton crane controlled by a tape recorder, moves a knight. The idea of the weird chess match was to show application of this type of equipment to automation at the Mechanical Handling Exhibition and Convention in London.
