Prohibition Issue To Be Settled Tomorrow

Wet, Dry Forces Are Confident Of Victory

Gray County voters go to the polls tomorrow in the first prohibition election in the county since 1950, when an election was held in Justice Precinct 5.

High interest has been shown in tomorrow's election as both the wet and dry forces in the county have carried on extensive promotion campaigns.

Part of the county, commissioner's precinct 3, is already dry, having okayed prohibition in 1938 and voting down efforts to convert the precinct to a "wet" status in the 1950 election.

A near-record number of absentee votes have been cast in the controversial election, with a total of 525 reported at last count. This total includes 25 returns by mail. At present there are 34 returns out that have not been made, and two returns were received postmarked past the deadline which will not be counted.

Gray County is now dry in commissioner's Precincts 3 and 4, including Alameda and McLean, Precincts 1 and 2, including Pampa and Lefors, are considered wet. The precincts which are now dry will remain dry, without a change in status, regardless of which way the election goes tomorrow.

Both sides seemed confident of victory in the first prohibition election held in the county since 1950. The Gray County Civic Loyalty League, headed by Rev. Carroll B. Ray and seven committees, are determined to "dry up" the county. Prohibition forces are also underway to make the seven wet counties in the Panhandle dry through local option elections.

The Gray County Legal Control Council, on the other side, is determined to keep the two commissioner's precincts wet. They have not contested the appointment of 18 election judges nor the appointment of supervisors in 14 precincts, as requested by the dry forces.

Judge Bruce Parker yesterday appointed Chester O'Brien, as absentee ballot judge, in place of Walden E. Moore, who was unable to serve. Wednesday, the judge appointed Tom Rose to serve in the place of Frank Fata. Other absentee judges are Art Teed and Ross Buzzard.

Voting Places Set
Balloting will take place at the following voting boxes: 1—Lefors school, south on Highway 273; 2—Baker school, 300 E. Tule; 3—Grandview school, 18 miles southwest of Pampa; 4—Alameda school, Highway 273, south on Highway 29; 5—McLean City Hall; 6—Laketon school, Highway 60, east to highway 152; 7—Farrington, home of Clyde Caruth, 10 miles east of Pampa; 8—Hopkins 1, schoolhouse, 15 miles south of Pampa on Highway 70, or at Judge's residence; 9—Woodrow Wilson school, 801 E. Clean-Up Progress Is Made Progress in being made in the "Clean Up, Fix Up, and Paint Up" campaign being sponsored by the fire prevention committee of the Chamber of Commerce, and the city.

A total of 53 loads of trash were picked up in Ward 4 during the first three days this week. Crews were unable to pick up the trash in four blocks of Ward 4 and reported that they will pick it up after the regular campaign is completed on May 12.

Thursday a total of 18 loads of trash was picked up in Ward 3 with pickups to continue through today and Saturday.

Red Wedgeworth, manager of the C. C. reported that this appears to be above the average in previous years.

Capitol Hill Roundup

WASHINGTON —UP— The House has passed overwhelmingly a new farm bill including a beefed up version of President Eisenhower's soil bank.

But Republicans failed to tack on to the President's proposal that farmers be given $500 million in soil bank pre-payments this year for promises to cut crops next year. The soil bank would carry an appropriation of $1.25 billion.

The bill — passed by the House 314-78 Thursday — does not include the high ridge price support provisions that caused the President to veto the first farm bill last month. However, it does include sizeable price support increases for feed grains and non-commercial corn.

Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.), GOP Senate farm leader, said he believes Mr. Eisenhower will veto the new bill in its present form. Aiken particularly attacked the support boost for grains.

Other developments:
AIR POWER
Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N. H.) suggested Democratic critics of administration defense policies withhold their criticism until they get "the whole picture" of the nation's air power.

REFUGEES
The Senate Internal Security subcommittee scheduled a closed-door hearing to learn "the whole story" on the mysterious return of five Soviet refugee seamen to Russia. It summoned officials from the State Department, Central Intelligence Agency, Immigration Service and Internal Revenue Service.

INFORMATION
The legal staff of the House Government Operations committee claimed "refusals by the President and heads of the departments to furnish information to the Congress are not constitutional law... they represent a mere naked claim of privilege."

Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-N. Y.), chairman of a House anti-trust subcommittee investigating Civil Aeronautics Board activities, said he has received reports the air transport association of America tried to influence appointment of CAB members.

UNIFORMS
Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) of the Senate Internal Security subcommittee said he has reliable information that the Justice Department ordered its attorneys to deal cautiously with Murray M. Chotiner — Vice President Richard M. Nixon's 1952 campaign manager.

G.O.P., Demos To Meet Tomorrow

Voters in Gray County will hold their Democratic and Republican precinct conventions tomorrow at various times, along with citizens of every county in the state.

Every qualified voter is eligible to attend one of the conventions in his precinct.

Both the Democrats and the Republicans will elect delegates to the County Conventions to be held on Tuesday, May 8. The Democrats will meet at 2 p.m. in the County Court Room and the Republicans will meet in the City Commission Room at 3 p.m.

Jimmy Thompson, Gray County Democratic chairman, says, "I imagine there will be a good turnout. There will be a lot of interest in it." The precincts will elect delegates to the county convention, permanent chairmen for each precinct, alternate delegates, and precinct secretaries.

The Gray County Democrats will have 11 delegates who will participate in the state convention, scheduled for Tuesday, May 22, in Dallas. Here they will support a presidential candidate.

George Cree, Jr., Republican chairman, said this morning, "I imagine the turnout will be very light." He explained that most people will be interested in attending the Democratic conventions. "He thinks there will be some people attending both Democratic and Republican conventions tomorrow."

The Gray County Republicans will have one delegate and one alternate attending the state convention to be held May 22 in Houston. The number of delegates attending is based on the number of votes cast in the last governor's election.

British Frogman May Be Aboard Russian Cruiser

LONDON —UP— British newspapers speculated Friday British frogman hero Lionel (Buster) Crabbe may have been sniping around the Soviet cruiser Orjontikidze when he vanished into the murky depths of Portsmouth harbor last month.

The burden of the speculation is that the Russians killed Crabbe, but the conservative Daily Sketch said unidentified naval officers in Portsmouth believe they may have captured him and carried him off as a spy.

The mystery surrounding Crabbe's disappearance and probable death during the visit of Soviet leaders Nikolai Bulganin and Nikita Khrushchev has created a furor here. The question will be brought up in parliament next by questions who want to know what proof the government has that the missing man is dead.

The former naval commander was last seen April 19 — the day the Orjontikidze arrived in Portsmouth — when he donned underwater gear and plunged into the harbor a few miles from where the Russian cruiser was anchored.

The navy waited until the Orjontikidze and its passengers, Khrushchev and Bulganin, had left British waters before announcing last week that Crabbe was missing and presumed dead. His body has not been recovered, and no official theory has been advanced to account for his disappearance.

The official announcement said the Frogman was doing secret work for the government when he vanished, but gave no clue to its nature. A later naval announcement denied that his task would have taken him near the Orjontikidze.

Today's News Is Better Reported
COLUMBIA, Mo. —UP— News today is covered and written better than ever before, according to a Los Angeles editor, but some newspaper operations are "as old fashioned as management of a buggy whip factory."

The editor, L. D. Hotchkiss of the Los Angeles Times, gave his views in a speech read Thursday night at a University of Missouri Journalism Week program. Hotchkiss was unable to be present, so the speech was read by Irving M. Ramsdell, chief editorial writer for the Times.

Honor awards for distinguished service to journalism were to be presented this afternoon to five prominent journalists and one newspaper as part of Missouri's 47th annual journalism week observance. Names of the recipients were to be announced this afternoon.

Earl Johnson, vice president and general news manager of the United Press will speak Thursday night at the annual journalism banquet, along with Phyllis Battelle, International News Service columnist.

Hotchkiss said some mechanical operations of newspapers have lagged behind developments in reporting and writing.

He listed a press which will print at both high and low speeds as among the chief needs, along with an unfailing system of color printing.

Hotchkiss said rising costs of newspaper production, along with strong competition for the advertising dollar from radio and television, have been too much for newspapers that were not strong.

Another speaker, Kansas City Star columnist Hal Hendrix, said newspapers in this country have failed to keep up with developments in South America.

Ike Warns Influence Peddlers

By MERRIMAN SMITH
WASHINGTON —UP— President Eisenhower angrily warned influence-peddlers Friday to steer clear of his administration.

He said government officials are under long-standing orders from him to throw out of their offices instantly anybody who tries to claim political influence or privilege in dealings with the government.

The President also served notice at his news conference that if it ever comes to his attention that anyone within his administration is trying to exercise influence, such a person will be fired immediately.

Mr. Eisenhower's spirited denunciation of persons claiming influence in dealing with units of his administration was produced by questions involving Murray Chotiner. Chotiner was 1952 campaign manager for Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Chotiner testified Thursday before the Senate Investigations subcommittee that in representing clients with federal agencies, he had never traded on Nixon's influence.

The President said he was not conversant with all of Chotiner's testimony, but he wanted reporters to know that early in his administration he had issued two specific orders:

1. Any person having business with the government should be treated with courtesy. The President said he would not stand for arrogance on the part of any public official.

2. If anyone ever claimed political influence or privilege because he is a friend of the President or someone in his official family, the person making such a claim is to be thrown out instantly.

The President said that in the Chotiner case — as far as he was familiar with it — he had no reason to believe that either of these orders had been violated.

Other highlights in Mr. Eisenhower's meeting with reporters, which had been postponed from Wednesday:

1. The chief executive said it was disappointing that 27 B-52 intercontinental bombers had to be rejected by the Air Force because of mechanical defect. But he said it was not proper to use the strength of the Air Force as a single measuring standard against the air power of Russia. He pointed out that the United States has the most powerful navy in the world and this power currently features naval air strength which has not yet been outlined for the Senate Armed Forces subcommittee on air power.

2. Regarding his physical ability to continue in the presidency, he said his doctors told him that he could continue on his present schedule indefinitely. He said that if he re-elected, he plans to resume some of the ceremonial, social duties which he dropped after his heart attack.

3. Stormily he rejected the Democratic charge that he was delegating his powers. He said no President can delegate constitutional authority and he never had any intention of doing so. Mr. Eisenhower said someone else in his administration might make a decision, but he is the one who has to take the final responsibility. (See IKE, Page 3)

Mental Test Planned For Killer Of 4

WAUSAU, Wis. —UP— Authorities planned mental tests Friday for a smiling Indian who went berserk with a hunting knife and killed his wife, mother-in-law and two children.

District Attorney Ronald Keberle said he would also file murder charges against 37-year-old Russell Monegar.

Monegar went on a killing spree in his shack-like one-room home late Thursday "because I didn't feel good."

He cut down four persons, leaving them dead on the floor or allowing them to stumble outside and die. Then he drove a stolen truck to a tavern, slashed two more persons, and gave up with a cheerful smile when he was captured a short time later.

Sheriff Myron Miller said Monegar's only sign of remorse was when he wept over "what will my little girl think of me now?"

It was Monegar's 7-year-old daughter, Sandra, who discovered the one-man massacre.

She came home early from school and found the bodies of her mother, Ophelia, 35, and her grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Long, 56. The little girl also discovered the bodies of 5-month-old Iris Kohlbeck and 8-year-old Phillip Garvin, Mrs. Monegar's niece and nephew.

The hysterical child ran to a nearby store and gave the alarm. Her warning led to her father's capture.

First Production Of Little Theater Presented Here

"The Importance of Being Earnest," the first workshop production of Pampa Little Theater which was witnessed by about 40 people last night, will be followed with a second show on Thursday, May 17, at 7:30 p.m. in Lovett Memorial Library.

Try-outs for the second production will be held tonight and Monday night at 7 in Lovett library, under the direction of Ronald Waters. Rehearsals will continue three nights a week, according to a schedule to be announced later.

Mrs. Clifford Dunham was named to head a membership committee in charge of telephoning prospective members and rounding them up through the Chamber of Commerce. Other members are: Mrs. Dindley Steele, Mrs. John Willis and Nancy Smith.

The constitution and by-laws as presented to the group last night, were adopted by a majority vote.

The first production will be broadcast, via tape, over radio station KPAT next Sunday afternoon and over station KPDN at a later date.

Demo Response To President Poll Less Than Half

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON —UP— There's less than meets the eye in the congressional quarterly poll of Democratic senators and representatives on their choice for a 1960 presidential nominee.

Only 101 of the 380 congressional Democrats responded to the poll. The responses were divided this way:

Adlai E. Stevenson, 63; Sen. Stuart Symington, 15; Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, 7; Sen. Estes Kefauver, 7; Gov. Frank J. Lausche, 5; Gov. Averell Harriman, 4.

One Factor Unknown
The sentiments of 178 congressional Democrats who did not respond is an unknown quantity which considerably narrows the poll's significance. Congressional quarterly reported that Stevenson, Symington and Johnson all showed strength in the South. That was to be expected. Of the three men usually regarded as front runners in the Democratic pre-convention race — Stevenson, Kefauver and Harriman — only Stevenson is regarded as widely acceptable among the Southern states.

That is because he has been less assertive than have Kefauver and Harriman on the issue of racial integration.

Adlai Strong in South
But, how much strength did Stevenson, for example, show in the South? Twenty three of his 63 votes came from the South. Symington got eight southern votes. Johnson five, and Lausche, a conservative Democrat and a Catholic, got four. Only 45 Southern senators and representatives participated in the poll at all and there are 1,212 Democratic members of Congress from Southern states. That includes Texas but excludes the border states.

Seventy six of those Southern congressmen and senators did not answer up to the poll's query: That would indicate indecision or dissatisfaction in the South with the choices available.

Johnson Is Force
Johnson must be reckoned much stronger among Southern leaders than the seven votes cast for him would indicate. Johnson would be a good compromise Democratic nominee, this year despite complaints of Americans for Democratic Action that he has not swung as aggressively or so far to the left as that New Deal organization would like. Johnson scarcely can be counted in the 1956 running, however, for two reasons. First, the Democrats plan to make a big issue of President Eisenhower's heart condition. Johnson suffers the same handicap, if it is a handicap.

Second, Johnson is young, 47, and has his eye on 1960.

Symington Second
Symington ran second to Stevenson in an incomplete poll. It doesn't prove anything. But Symington's showing does add a bit to the considerable boom now developing in his behalf as a compromise Democratic nominee.

Harriman gained all his votes from the northeast part of the United States where his strong New Deal-Fair Deal record has great appeal. He must depend for support on the North and West. There is at least one major political figure outside that area, however, who is strong for Harriman. He is Gov. Raymond Gary of Oklahoma.

Adlai Stevenson Takes Lead For Demo Candidate

By RAYMOND LAHR
WASHINGTON —UP— Adlai E. Stevenson has moved out in front in the contest for Democratic national convention delegates, but his support can easily come unstuck if his campaign goes sour before the convention.

Of the delegates chosen so far, Stevenson could bank on about 175 convention votes against 62-1-3 pledged to his chief rival, Sen. Estes Kefauver. Neither is within striking distance of the 688-1-2 needed to win the presidential nomination.

Both Stevenson and Kefauver suspended their campaigning Thursday to attend the funeral at Paducah, Ky. of Sen. Aiken Barkley. Stevenson resumed his search for votes Friday in California and Kefauver returned to Florida.

Among the Stevenson delegates, only four votes from Minnesota, where he took a bad beating from Kefauver in the primary, and six from the District of Columbia where he defeated Kefauver, are formally pledged. The remainder have indicated informally they would support Stevenson.

Stevenson's greatest strength is in Pennsylvania, where he is now credited with 72 of the 74 delegates votes. He also is believed to have nearly all of the 50 votes of delegates already chosen in his home state of Illinois. He presumably also will get the remaining 14 Illinois votes to be chosen at the state Democratic convention.

Kefauver has 524 pledged delegate votes including eight from New Hampshire, 26 from Minnesota, 26 from Wisconsin and half a vote from New Jersey.

Kefauver — Stevenson contests are still to come in Oregon May 18, Florida May 20 and California June 5. Defeat in California will be almost fatal for the loser.

IT'S THE LAW
★ IN TEXAS ★

Thinking of going into business or yourself? Perhaps you and Bill Smith have decided to operate a business together. Should this be done as partners or as a corporation? The answer to this problem involves many legal questions.

Perhaps the most important factor is that the business or personal acts of either you or Bill may be binding upon the partnership. The corporation, however, can act only through its officers and agents, and then only within the limitations granted by the articles of incorporation.

As members of a partnership both you and Bill will be liable for all of the debts of the business. In the case you have business losses, the creditors of the partnership could take all of the assets of the partnership, and all of the personal assets of either you or Bill, or both (except a few exempt by law). In order to satisfy the partnership debts.

On the other hand, if you form a corporation the creditors may go only against the assets of the corporation so that the most that either of you can lose is the amount you have invested in the business. The creditors could not touch the property which either of you own personally and individually, outside of your corporate stock.

In event of the death of you or Bill, it would be necessary to liquidate the partnership, but in the case of a corporation the operation of the business is not affected by the death of an owner (stockholder). The firm continues as the same business with the heirs of the one who dies substituted as the owner of the stock.

Of primary interest to you and Bill will be the amount of income taxes you have to pay. In a partnership, each of the owners of the business includes on his individual income tax return his proportionate share of the total income shown on the partnership return. This is because the partnership is not recognized as a taxable entity.

The corporation is recognized as a taxable entity, so it pays a tax on the amount of its net income. After deducting the salaries of you and Bill and other expenses. Then you of course pay individual income taxes on your salaries.

If over a period of years the earnings of the corporation exceed reasonable salaries for the two owners, these earnings will be distributed to you and Bill in the form of dividends. The funds which the dividends are paid have already been subject to tax in the hands of the corporation, but are again taxed on your individual returns when distributed.

The income tax advantage or disadvantage of a partnership as compared with a corporation depends on the net income from the business, the salaries the owners receive, the amount of their other income, and the requirements of the business for liquid funds.

In the event either of the owners is interested in planning his estate to reduce taxes at the time of his death, he can probably do it more easily through a corporation than a partnership.

"When in doubt, lead trumps." West murmured to himself at the beginning of today's hand. This may have been good advice in the days of whist, but the rule has no place in contract bridge. It is particularly foolish to lead trumps against a slam contract.

The trump lead was welcomed by Alvin Landy, executive manager of the American Contract Bridge League, during the recent tournament, for the Harold S. Vanderbilt Trophy. Landy, an expert as well as a tournament manager, proceeded to run off the rest of the trumps to see what he could find out.

cent tournament, for the Harold S. Vanderbilt Trophy. Landy, an expert as well as a tournament manager, proceeded to run off the rest of the trumps to see what he could find out.

It would have been safe for East to discard all of his hearts and one diamond. He might have been able to come to this conclusion if West had opened the device of hearts. With no information at all to guide him, East floundered and sank. At a fairly early stage he discarded the nine and then the jack of clubs.

Landy saw East's distress and correctly interpreted the club discards. He led the king of clubs from his hand, forcing out the ace and picking up the queen at the same time. The ten of clubs was then good for his twelfth trick.

Man Found Guilty In Murder Case

CHEYENNE, Wyo. —UP— A jury found James V. Alexander guilty Wednesday night of the murder of his second wife, Barbara, whose body was entombed for more than two years under his basement floor.

The verdict of second-degree murder was returned after 50 hours of deliberation. It carries a sentence of from 20 years to life in the state penitentiary at Rawlins. Defense counsel Allen Stewart plans an appeal.

Alexander, 48, showed no emotion when the verdict was announced.

The state will try Rose Alexander, 42, his first wife and current wife, for the same murder. However, her trial will not be held until the fall court term as the result of a decision made Wednesday night by Judge Sam M. Thompson. She was scheduled to go on trial next Monday.

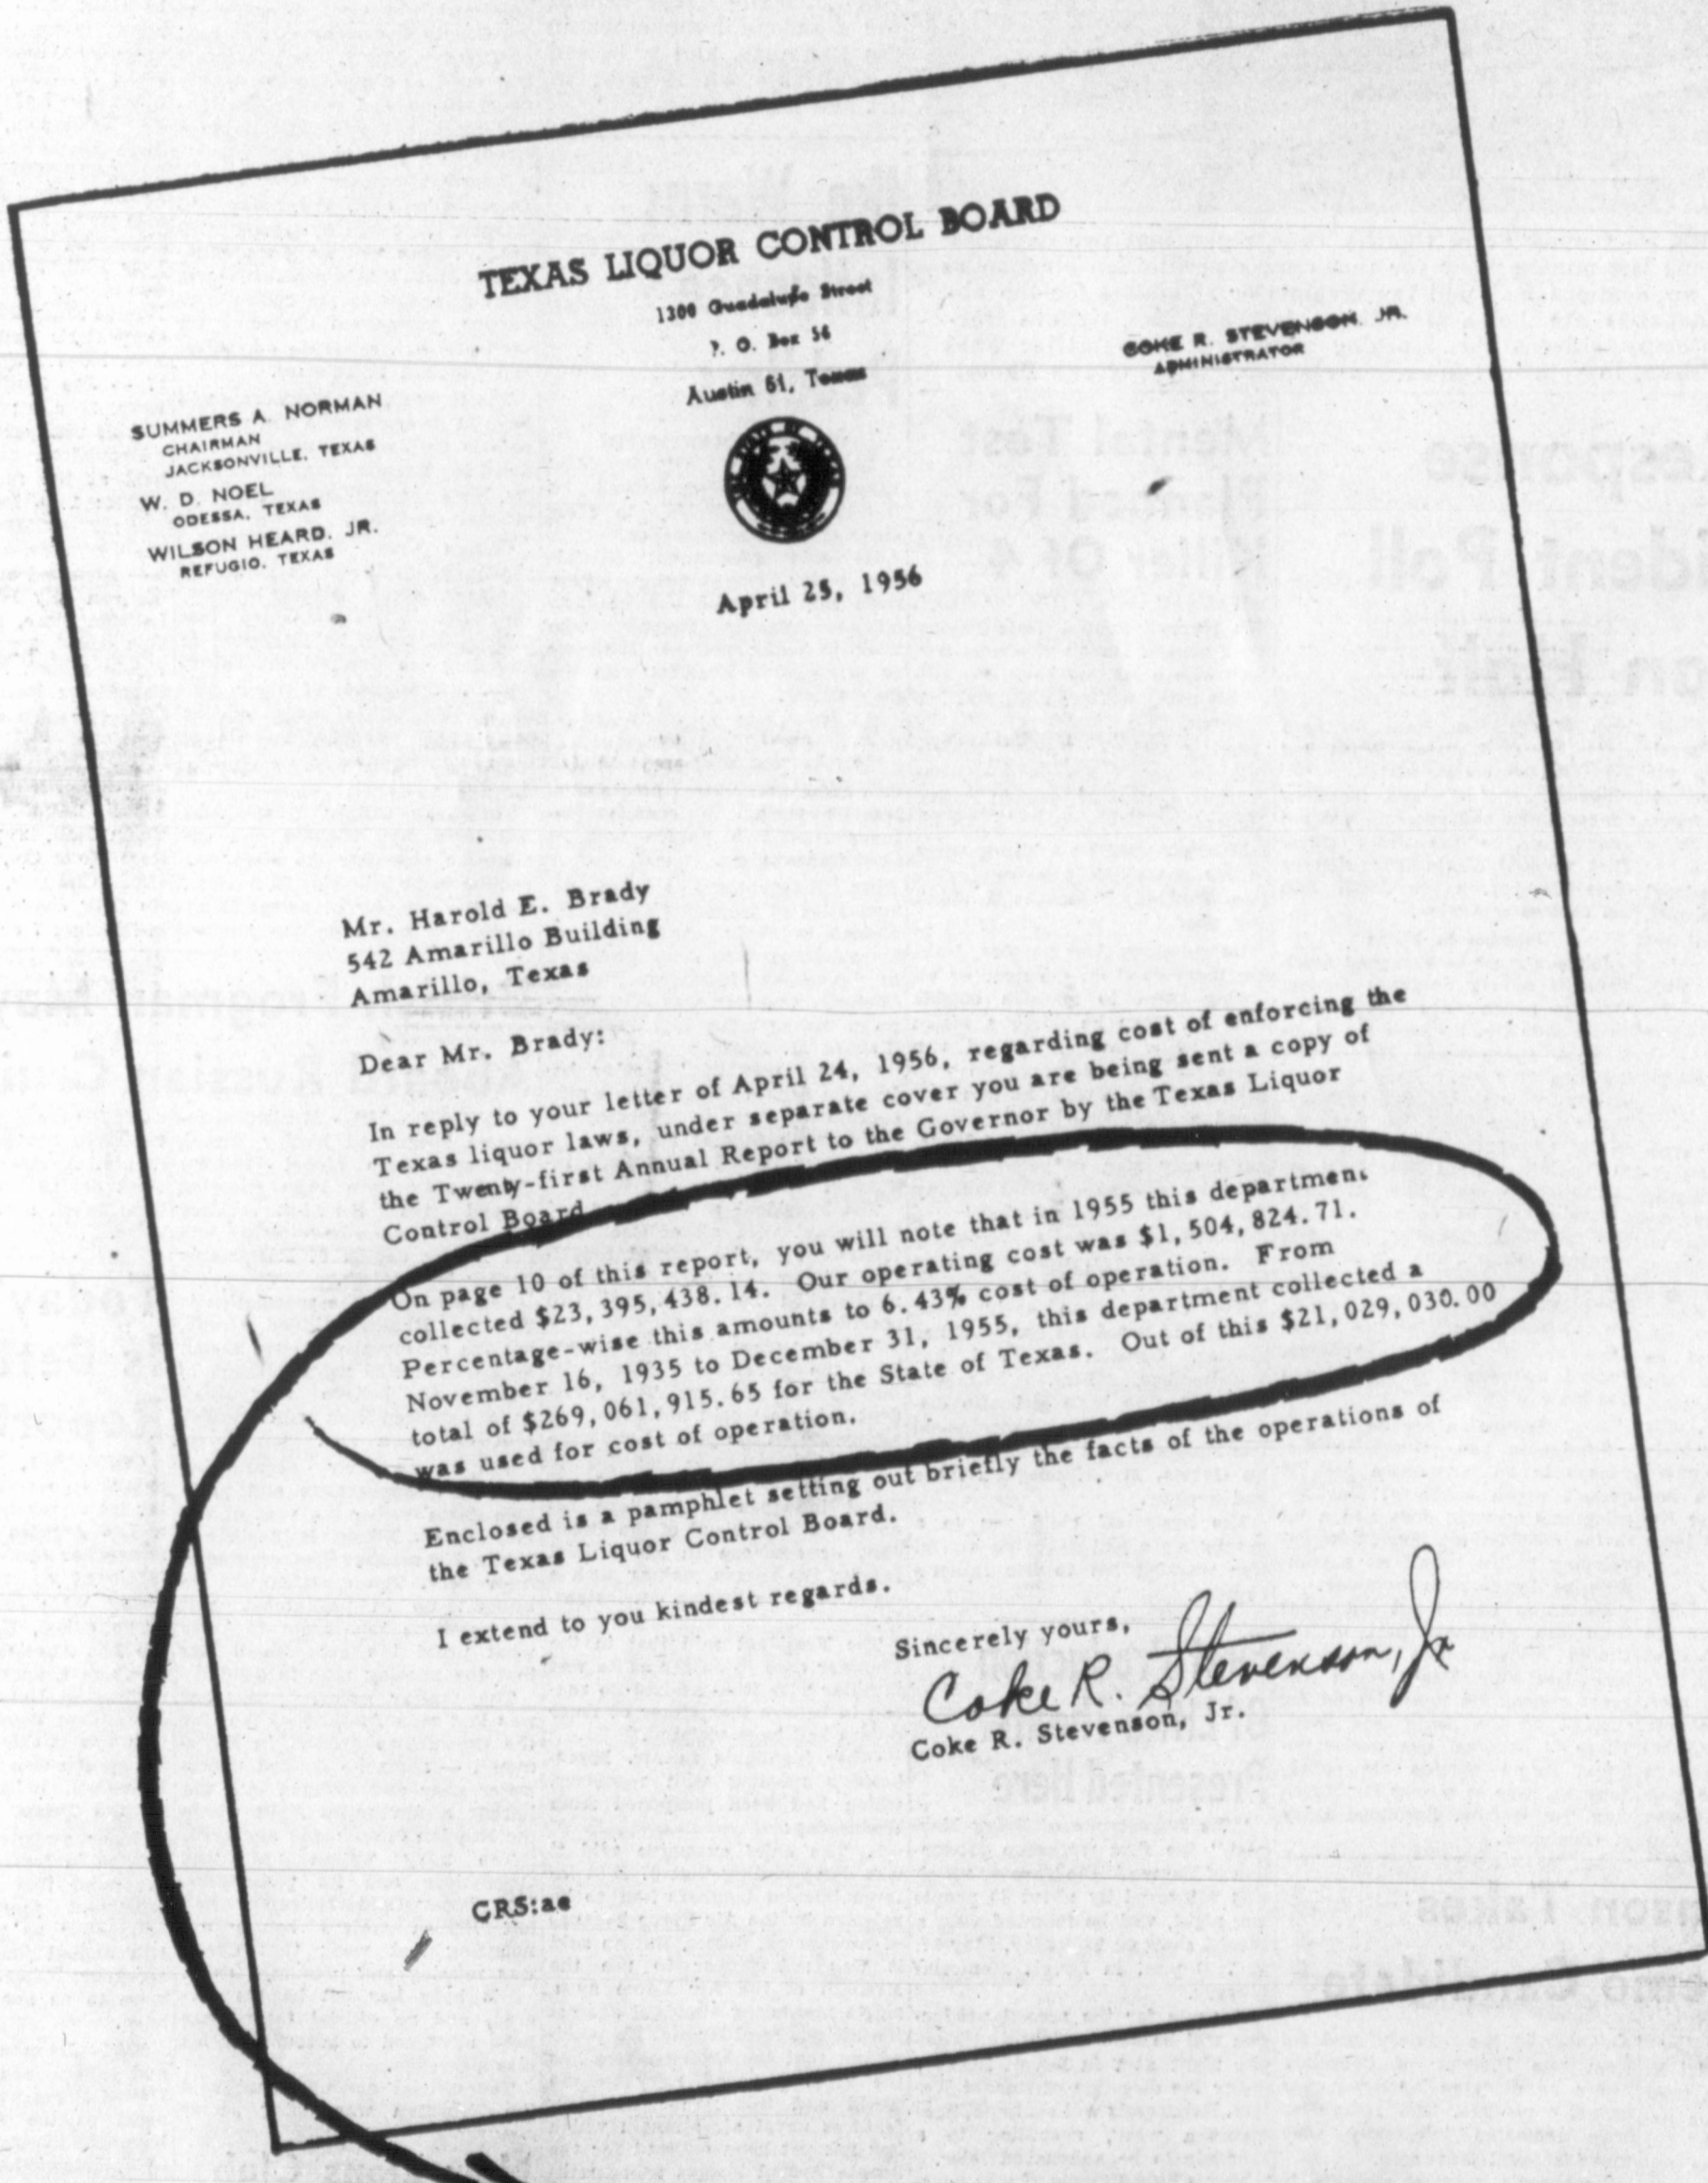

Rose was an important witness in Alexander's trial. She testified that Barbara, then 24, accidentally fell to her death on a pile of bricks in the unfinished Alexander home at Casper, Wyo., and that she buried her secretly in the basement. That was July 18, 1953. Police removed Barbara's cement-encased body, its hands clutching a wooden cross, from under the concrete floor last Dec. 6.

4. He advised caution in Congressional consideration of any constitutional amendment for a 25 per cent limit on income taxes. Mr. Eisenhower said the common sense of America ought to find some proper limitation on taxes to avoid concentration of tax authority in federal hands to the detriment of state and local governments. But he was concerned about what a constitutional limitation might do to federal finances in event of a national emergency.

5. He did not like the form of the new farm bill passed Thursday by the House, but said he would have to base his final judgment on the measure as it leaves Congress after final passage. The President said he had not studied the new bill in detail but he understood it was poor legislation administratively, and would require Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson to add substantially to the size of his department.

Top O' Texas Rodeo Group Has Meeting

Directors of the Top O' Texas Rodeo Association met Wednesday night in the Chamber of Commerce to review plans for the 1956 rodeo and kid pony show.

The kid show will take place on Monday and Tuesday, Aug. 6-7, and the rodeo will proceed on Aug. 8-11 at Recreation Park.

Box seats for this year's show will go on sale June 1 in the Chamber of Commerce office and the prices will be the same as last year, except that general admission tickets will be included with the box seat tickets. This will provide for six chairs in each box for all nights of the show at a flat fee of $45.

People who had box seats in the past will have until June 15 to renew boxes. The seats will go on sale after June 15.

In addition to the Cowgirl Sponsors contest, a regular part of the show, a jack-pot riding contest will be "open to the world" and likely will be held on Saturday afternoon, according to "Red" Wedgworth, Chamber manager.

Construction has started on the new concession stands at the park and 10 all-steel stands will be completed with cement floors. They also will provide for water, gas and electricity. The association will lease concessions to organizations in Pampa carrying on youth activity programs. Bid forms and contracts are now being prepared by an attorney for distribution within the next few days.

It was also reported that all rodeo dances are to be held in the National Guard Armory, Wednesday through Saturday nights, featuring the music of Billy Faust and his Rhythmic Busters.

Smiley Burnett, the special attraction this year, a star of radio, TV, and screen, has been contracted by the association, Miss Sally Skelton, a trick rider and fancy roper, will also appear in the rodeo. Rodeo clowns will be Jiggs Young and Perry Williams of Ringgold.

A special added attraction this year will be Tab Evans and "Pop Chopp" a three-year-old Hampshire boar hog, weighing 470 pounds, which works like a horse. He climbs ladders and slides down chutes.

Goat Mayo of Petrolia has been contracted to furnish stock for the 12th year.

A sum of $1,000 has been added to the purse this year to attract more cowboys from the region.

Bob Andis, president of the association, presided over the session.

Knife-Fork Members Hear Foreign Correspondent

Guest speaker for the Top O' Texas Knife and Fork Club last night was John Morley, well known foreign correspondent and lecturer.

Following the dinner in the high school cafeteria the approximately 200 persons attending went to the auditorium where R. E. Batson, Jr. introduced Morley.

Morley, who studied to be a lawyer, began his newspaper career in 1931 and drew his first foreign beat to Paris, Moscow and Berlin in the early '30's. He is an official accredited U.S. Correspondent under the U.S. Department of Defense No. 121928, with assimilated rank of Colonel in the Army.

He recently returned from a trip around the world during which he visited all of the hot-spots of the world including Russia and Red China.

In beginning his talk, Morley pointed out that the duty of a reporter was to report facts and not to make a prediction about the future. He did add that after returning from his latest trip abroad he felt more optimistic on the defeat of communism than he had ever felt before.

Morley told of the tremendous increase of Christianity in Russia and stated that it had been reported to him that the number had increased four times in the last year.

He also stated that this is the first time in 38 years that a Bible could be purchased in a Russian bookstore.

In reporting on the New Look of Russia, Morley stated that world leaders told him the attitude of the Russians was changing because they were afraid of the military strength of the United States.

At a question and answer period following the talk, Morley in answer to a question as to why the newspaper did not give all of the facts, stated that there were several reasons. "One of the reasons is that the correspondents and reporters are unable to obtain all of the information and another is that most publications do not have the space to print all of the world news."

He told of the conditions of poverty in the Arab countries and of the appalling birth rate.

On the humorous side he told of spending $106 for coffee in Finland when his wife invited the various chairmen of women's clubs to a

Tomorrow's Election

Prohibition is an effort which is born out of a desire to bring about human virtue by the impossible instrument of the aggressive force of government and tomorrow's election should be approached primarily on this basis.

Few are the individuals who do not recognize the social abuse which can attend overindulgence in alcohol but many are the individuals who know that the only way to approach this problem is by self-discipline and strict penalties for those who aggress their fellow man because of overindulgence.

We have previously challenged the Prohibitionists on the basis that their stand is contrary to the teachings of Jesus and as yet, we have not heard even a faint murmur of reply. This, we think, is extremely significant in light of the obvious religious overtones of the Prohibitionist movement.

It isn't, we're sure, that some Prohibitionists haven't taken their New Testament out and searched diligently for words to challenge us but rather their inability to find support for the use of aggressive violence, individually or with the government as their agent, to keep their fellow-citizens from peaceful consumption of liquor.

Why, then, do the Prohibitionists continue to talk about their cause in terms of Christian duty? If we knew the answer to this one we could easily explain why the earth is flat instead of round. The incoherence of this stand, we would like to point out, cannot be exaggerated for the same reason one cannot exaggerate infinity.

As we have stated previously, the choice in tomorrow's election is not whether Gray and Carson counties will remain "wet" or "dry" but whether they will be legally "wet" or illegally "wet." To say there is not a substantial market demand for liquor in these two counties is absurd and to further contend that this demand is going to cease or go unsatisfied if Prohibition is effected is equally absurd. Prohibition means bootleggers and bootleggers in abundance and with them comes the problem of potential corruption of public officials.

It is a fact that in the United States, one-third of the total number of states which contain 97.5 per cent of the dry counties have a serious crime rate almost 250 per cent higher than the two-thirds of the states which contain 2.5 per cent of the dry counties. Hence, the relation of serious crimes to illegal "wet" areas is such that the Prohibitionists find their crime argument crumbling to dust.

Though we have intentionally avoided the economic ramifications of Prohibition because we thought emphasis on the moral and ethical should be paramount, there is no way to avoid the fact that more than 200 individuals are now employed in Pampa directly by the alcoholic beverage industry and there arises the stark fact that outside of the bootleggers who would move in to serve an illegal "wet" market, there would definitely be a net loss of employment which would be transferred to areas of legal liquor sales and this undoubtedly would affect Pampa adversely.

Tomorrow's election is really more eventful than many people care to think because it affects their lives in many different ways. To the home owner, Prohibition gives rise to the chance for a lessening value in that home as a marked segment of the community channels its dollars elsewhere. As a city and county taxpayer, it means an abolition of business establishments with the resultant tax load passed on indirectly to every other taxpayer.

To the parent, Prohibition raises the curtain for widespread sale of liquor to minors by bootleggers who risk nothing more by selling to minors than adults. It also means children would be reared in an environment where the flouting of law would be an everyday occurrence.

Above all, and this point we want to emphatically stress, Prohibition is an attack on every individual's ownership of his life to do with as he sees fit. It is a direct encroachment against the ordinances of nature which dictate that every individual, to have the potential of true humanity, must be free to choose between indulgence and abstinence, temperance and overindulgence with the rewards and punishments that result.

Tomorrow is truly a day when you, as a voter, can exercise the dictums of a Christian morality and conscience by striking the bottom line on your ballot and in so doing, strike a blow for human freedom.

Some folks laugh at Soviet "peace offensives." But they should be taken seriously because here's the record: 1930 - Russo-Polish nonaggression pact, 1939 - Soviet Russia took over half of Poland. 1939 - Russo-Polish nonaggression pact, 1940 - Russia attacked Finland. 1939 - Russo-Balkan nonaggression pact, 1940 - Russia had Lithuania. 1940 - Russo-Czech nonaggression pact, 1945 - Soviet assisted Communists took over Czechoslovakia. 1945 - Russo-Chinese 30 year nonaggression pact, 1950 - Communists ruled China. 1945 - Russo-Polish nonaggression pact, 1947 - Poland now Soviet satellite. 1945 - Russo-Yugoslav nonaggression pact, 1945 - Denounced a month later by Soviet. Christian Harmony In Competition

Several years ago I took exception to some of the articles in "The Christian Advocate," the official organ of the Methodist Church, because of their leaning to some form of collectivism.

Roy Smith, Editor at that time, suggested that I write an article denouncing the competitive system from a religious standpoint and they would print it and pay for it at space rates. This I did.

On rereading this article I find that I stand back of all the statements, except one, I want to reproduce the article and comment on this exception. This is what I wrote at that time:

"Jesus was a truly great economist. No one ever gave more practical and condensed rules for constantly increasing production and wisely distributing the comforts of life than he.

"In the last two verses of the Sixth Chapter of Matthew, He tells us if we seek the Kingdom of God and His righteousness, there will be no need to worry about our material wants.

"This, rationally interpreted in conjunction with His other statements, means that if we respect the equal rights of every other person to produce and grant him freedom to exchange his services with all others everywhere, then we will have everything to all men and more of the material comforts for all.

"Jesus did not explain in detail his laissez faire plan - respecting the equal rights of others - and the fallacy of worrying about the lack of adequate rewards for the workers without government interference, or wages set by the threat of strikes. However, in modern times He probably would have enlarged something like this:

"No man, or even a majority of men, are wise enough to divide labor in harmony with the Kingdom of God. Every man must have the right to participate in this division, if there is to be righteousness.

"Men produce more when they have this inherent, God-given right to help divide labor by freely choosing the kind of work they believe will reward them most.

"This God-given right to freely choose one's work and exchange the product is the only known way of fairly measuring what each man produces and, thus, what each should receive. It stimulates effort and causes more efficient tools to be produced. These tools must be operated to benefit the owners. This compels employers to pay higher wages to get workers. The competition of owners with more efficient tools lowers prices and thus raises the real buying power of all consumers.

"Reasons For Not Understanding" Many do not understand this great truth set forth by Jesus. So they cannot believe it. Here are some of the reasons why they are confused:

"They think the competitive system has been tried and failed. But it has no more been tried than Christianity. There always have been beliefs and laws that prevented it from being fully put into practice. For instance, such laws as tariffs, immigration laws, discriminatory labor and tax laws, and improperly regulated banking laws. This means the system never has been given an opportunity to work. But to the degree it has been tried it has always resulted in all these things shall be added unto you.

"People are confused about the benefits of competition because they can see that when some competitor undercuts another, the one undercut is temporarily hurt or inconvenienced. So the producers think it is the law of the jungle and naturally want it discarded. What they do not see is all producers are also consumers and how all consumers are benefited by lowered costs. This is not easy to see because the benefits are so broadly diffused.

Error In Last Paragraph Now I see that I was in error in contending that competition in a free market where one man undercuts another without fraud or monopoly due to government laws, cannot hurt or injure any other individual.

This is true because no individual owns any other person or his business. He is only entitled to sell to anyone on the ground that the buyer profits more by buying from him than from anyone else. One cannot lose what one does not own. Competition in a free market without laws favoring any group benefits everyone. (To be continued)

Demos Sickened By Adlai-Estes Duel

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON - Wise but weary Democratic veterans on Capitol Hill have been sickened by the repetitious and long drawn-out duel between Adlai E. Stevenson and Senator Estes Kefauver for the Presidential nomination. In their opinion, the March-July tussle and brawl between the Chicagoan and the Tennesseean will have the same soporific and boring effect on the electorate.

These oldsters feel that their historic Party has suffered a great loss of dignity and respect from Kefauver's minstrel tactics. They think that he demeans the Democrats by pleading for votes like a peddler with a pack on his back. They consider it unfortunate that his pedestrian methods have forced the once statesmanlike Stevenson to stoop to the same downgrading devices.

Making five or six speeches a day in their hunt for delegates, and "scouting" or "accusing" or "denouncing" the Administration in each appearance, according to this theory, the two candidates are on the way to becoming common stools. They are likened in a way to the boy who cried "Wolf" so frequently and needlessly that nobody heeded him because he had become a neighborhood nuisance.

Moreover, an extremely practical objection is raised to the protracted Stevenson-Kefauver diatribe. It is that they will have exhausted themselves and all the issues even before the convention opens, leaving nothing to exploit in the campaign itself. They will be talked out to such an extent that audiences will walk out on them and turn off their television sets.

As a result, and despite the primary showing of the two men, there is a strong but quiet movement for a new set of faces and personalities to head the ticket. Although it may not materialize, it represents a belief that the two front runners have been tried - or tried out themselves - and have found wanting in what it takes to defeat President Eisenhower. This feeling accounts for the gloom and apathy among Democrats generally.

This conclusion, however, poses another dilemma for the Democrats. None of the conservative or middle - of - the - road leaders have any sympathy for such radical extremists as Governors Averell Harriman of New York or G. Mennen Williams of Michigan, who are inactive but headline hopefuls.

But if they bypass these four flamboyant and ambitious figures in favor of a dark horse compromise - Senator Symington of Missouri, Governor Lausche of Ohio, Governor Leader of Pennsylvania, Governor Meyner of New Jersey - they will alienate the friends and factions of the rejected men.

All the hands shaken by Stevenson and Kefauver, the mothers and fathers whose babies have been cuddled by them, the mimas of the school girls who enjoyed Kefauver's attentions and thought him "sweet," the farmers who have been canvassed while plough-

Federal Court Judges Are Licking Wounds

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York - The judges of the Federal Courts in New York are licking wounds inflicted on April 9 when Glenn O. Young, a lawyer from Sapulpa, Okla., busted the whole bench of them with a brief Young put it, "Lifetime Federal Judges, even in inferior courts, have become pater familias after the manner of kings."

The truth is, Young wrote, that the Millers refused to have lawyers because "in the process of federal judges gathering to themselves absolute authority over the lives, liberty and property of every citizen, lawyers, as officers of the court, have fallen short."

"Depending on the court's favor for a livelihood," he said, "they no longer are courageous champions of the rights of their clients. Successful lawyers before the federal courts are far too often cringing servile cowards fearful of incurring the wrath of one who has power summarily to commit them to jail for indefinite periods or impose unlimited fines for a jocosely defined and poorly regulated offense known as contempt of court. Far too many thrive on lucrative connections with relatives of the judge or his former partners or associates while those not so favored scarcely dare to enter the luxurious chambers where the judge is himself, the court; the others, including the jury too often mere acolytes, tolerated only by grace of his honor for color and appearance's sake."

"Evidencing the ever growing contempt of the federal judges for the Constitution, the jury and lawyers alike, in the practice of inferior federal judges in taking over the impinging of the jury, commenting on the evidence, often themselves testifying, browbeating and humiliating lawyers, especially those not in the good graces of the court. In the tenth circuit a program recently was exposed for actually 'bugging' jury deliberations to discredit the jury system - and the judges declared there was no law to punish or to condemn the practice. One wonders what would happen should a judicial conference be 'bugging.'"

Manuel Miller recently had asked for 30 days more time before arguing his own appeal. Judge Harold Medina, the self-acknowledged hero of the long, disgraceful fight in which real lawyers for the leading communists insulted the court day after day, sneered at Miller. "So you're the fellow who thinks he is so smart he doesn't need a lawyer," Miller remarked that Medina had been more courteous to traitors than to patriots.

Judge Edward Lombard said: "I just think you are trying to keep out of jail a little longer." Actually, Miller had to ask for a delay because he didn't have a transcript, but the judges kicked him around in this manner, little dreaming that Young, out in Sapulpa, would have the effrontery to kick them back.

As for Gibson's promise that Lucille would be un molested on probation for five years if she would "look after" her children, Young said it was none of Gibson's business whether the children were cared for by their mother, their father or a nurse. Unless, as Young put it, "Lifetime Federal Judges, even in inferior courts, have become pater familias after the manner of kings."

Young is a stranger to Mrs. Miller and her husband, Manuel, who got a year in a federal prison yet to be selected for branding a war rifle at the U. S. Marshall's office to match Lucille from their little white clapboard home on a dirt road up a mountain and fetch her to the stinking old firetrap called St. Elizabeth's in Washington, D. C. There, 48 hours later, she did matriculate for "observation." However, she was so much smarter than her adversaries that the Department of Justice was relieved to get her off its hands and even Judge Ernest W. Gibson, of Vermont, who first poked up this hornet's nest, admitted in her trial that she was of "obviously good mind."

He said it was tragic to him "that you choose not to use your great talents in a good way, to influence people, or to write, as you do well things that I think would do a great deal of good. . . so long as you look after your children, you will be all right."

Young said the whole job was nothing but a "planned program to punish her for devilism in her writings." He said Lucille was inducted apparently on a pre-emption that her writings were the work of a sane and responsible woman. Then Gibson sent her to an insane asylum because an affidavit was filed charging that the same writings indicated insanity. Later she was convicted of advising citizens to violate the draft law so the court now switched ground and the same judge who had sent her to bedlam found her guilty of writing things which, "he thought she should not write, since she wrote so well."

Young "submitted" to the Court of Appeals for the second circuit, sitting in New York, that Louis G. Whitcomb, the U. S. Attorney for Vermont, and two doctors should be prosecuted "for perjury and false swearing" which resulted in the incarceration of a woman with obviously a good mind who writes well, in an insane asylum. "He asked impeachment of Judge Gibson "for gross abuse and misuse of the powers of judicial office and disregard of his oath to respect and observe the Constitution of the United States."

BID FOR A SMILE

At the risk of being judged un-American, uncoincidental, and unkind, I am going to say that I do not believe it takes a genius to manage a winning baseball team.

Many managers have been acclaimed as geniuses. John McGraw was called one so much many people came to believe that G. was his middle initial, Connie Mack was recognized as a genius, and so was Joe McCarthy.

The latest to be so tagged is Casey Stengel, and so he is, but not necessarily at managing a team. He is a genius at personal life, if you understand what I mean, and would deserve the jab, but just as richly if he were a telephone lineman, tire vulcanizer, or Greek scholar.

Like football coaches, baseball managers are great, good, bad, or plain awful strictly according to what they have to work with. John McGraw, had he been able to return from Valhalla last year and managed, say, the Pittsburgh Pirates, would have finished seventh or worse even had he been called third. The Pirates had a minor league club and would have played like one no matter who was running things.

The Brooklyn Dodgers went through the 1955 season as if they were guided by a master touch. They led by six laps all the way, but no one hailed Walter Alton as a genius. Why? Because he had the best players of any team in the league. The Dodgers out-hit and out-pitched the other clubs. I am quite sure that you or I could have been in Alton's place and still the Dodgers would have won the National League pennant.

The same is true of the Yankees in the days of Miller Huggins (also rated a genius) and McCarthy. With the likes of Ruth, Gehrig, Lazzari, Hoyt, Gomez, Dickey, Ruffing, Gordon, Keller, Rolfe and DiMaggio, the Yankees had about as much need of a genius' touch as a hen needs a toothbrush.

In the first place, they were too busy knocking down the fence to listen to any helpful advice. In the second, just what words of wisdom would have given a man when he is rounding second on his way to a triple?

"Supporters of the genius school" of managing would question my belief by asking me what a team would do with no manager to change pitchers, call for the double steal, the hit and run, the squeeze, and the bunt?

My answer would be - why is a manager necessary for such measures? Ninety percent of inside baseball is based on a percentage table as solid as that of an insurance company. When the odds are with you, you do so-and-so, and when they aren't, you don't. Any player capable of playing major league ball knows the odds and would make in most of the situations that come up in baseball.

Baseball is a terribly simple game. That is part of its beauty, its appeal. You either hit or you don't hit. You either field well or you don't. You have a good arm or a weak one.

When a team is made up of players who do all these things well it can be managed by a fur trapper busy with his traps in Canada.

To prove it, I'll manage the Yanks next year for half of Casey's salary and promising to finish no worse than second. And I could take it all.

Mac Says Game-Winning Manager No Genius

By HENRY McLEMON

At the risk of being judged un-American, uncoincidental, and unkind, I am going to say that I do not believe it takes a genius to manage a winning baseball team.

Many managers have been acclaimed as geniuses. John McGraw was called one so much many people came to believe that G. was his middle initial, Connie Mack was recognized as a genius, and so was Joe McCarthy.

The latest to be so tagged is Casey Stengel, and so he is, but not necessarily at managing a team. He is a genius at personal life, if you understand what I mean, and would deserve the jab, but just as richly if he were a telephone lineman, tire vulcanizer, or Greek scholar.

RUTH MILLET

Press agents do a pretty fair job of keeping me informed about new gadgets on the market which are designed to make the housewife's life a push-button existence.

The fact that I am not always happy to hear about these new devices may just mean I'm old-fashioned.

For instance, here's a little item that begins, "A new electric range introduced today broils steak as automatically and accurately as a toaster browns bread."

In many families the broiling of steaks is a cooperative affair that affords a lot of pleasure in the doing.

Mama, of course, knows better than to put the steak under the broiler before she hears Papa's car turn in the driveway.

When he sees the sizzle or the thick T-bone laid out ready for broiling, Papa immediately forgets he has had a hard day. Instead of falling into his easy chair, he takes a seat in the kitchen where he can do a little stove-side superintending.

He is almost sure to give instructions before the steaks are put on the broiler. "Are you sure the broiler is hot enough? Did you remember the garlic?"

And once it is on the broiler, he will get out of his chair to sniff and poke and scrutinize. For a man can no more resist poking a broiling steak than he can the logs in an open fire.

There is sure to be a conference over when the steak is ready to turn and, again, over when it is ready for the table.

And when it turns out to be exactly right both husband and wife are sure to agree that nobody, but nobody, can broil steak the way they can.

IN CASE IT HASN'T BEEN POINTED OUT TO YOU before, we are now in the midst of National Baby Week. It began Saturday and will end this coming Saturday. So, if you haven't already done so, this is the time to shower more attention than ever on your baby or babies—or at least stop to ponder their importance in your life. Below is an article by the Grocery Manufacturers of America on the importance of the week.

WE SET ASIDE a special day as an expression of our love and devotion to Mother... still another day to salute Father each year... and we name a full week for Baby. That alone will tell you how important it is to us. We are regarding the over four million tiny tykes whom families across the nation welcome into their homes and their hearts each year. Actually, every week is baby week.

Perhaps the first thing we think of for the new baby is food... his nourishment and general well-being. If he is to be happy, his food must not only be good for him, but interesting as well. This may seem unimportant before the toddler stage, but tempting the taste of a small baby can be well rewarded when he responds by eating willingly.

True flavor and bright color to attract the little newcomers is achieved through constant research by folks in the processing plants, who spend all of their time trying to improve present products and developing new foods for baby. Color is noticed at a very early age, and the cradle crowd is quick to know when food tastes like more.

The wide variety of over 70 different kinds of strained and junior foods now available at the market makes mother's job a lot easier than it was in the days when she had to spend long hours at the wearisome task of straining the cereals, fruits and vegetables herself. Baby food has become really big business since it first appeared on the grocer's shelves in 1928.

Paul S. Willis, president of the Grocery Manufacturers of America, calls our attention to the estimate that well over two billion jars and cans of baby food were sold in the United States in 1955... a current retail sales volume of about 200 million dollars.

You may wonder how four million babies could possibly consume broils a steak as "automatically and accurately as a toaster browns bread?"

Certainly not. Who wants to take all the pleasure of sniffing, poking and conferring out of the art of broiling a steak?

To insure uniformity of product, small batches of each food are checked before the final processing... one of the essential steps in the Life Line of America, taking food from the farm to the family table.

The farmer comes in for a goodly share of this thriving baby food business, with millions of dollars worth of his top quality products going into baby foods each year. In fact, the American Baby has become a real friend to the farmer!

Come to Church

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

H. M. HUTCHINSON, Pastor
Bible Baptist Church
Pampa, Texas

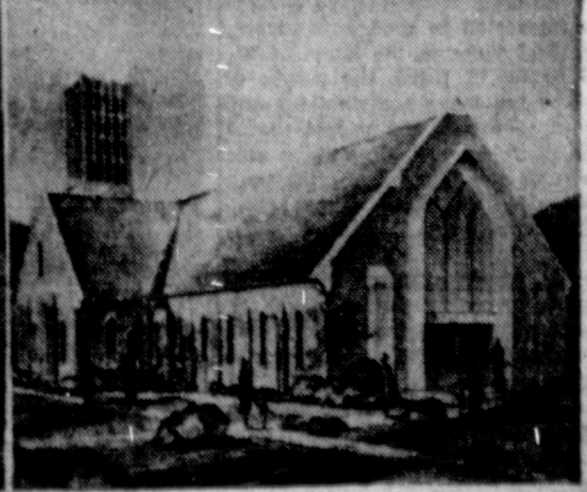

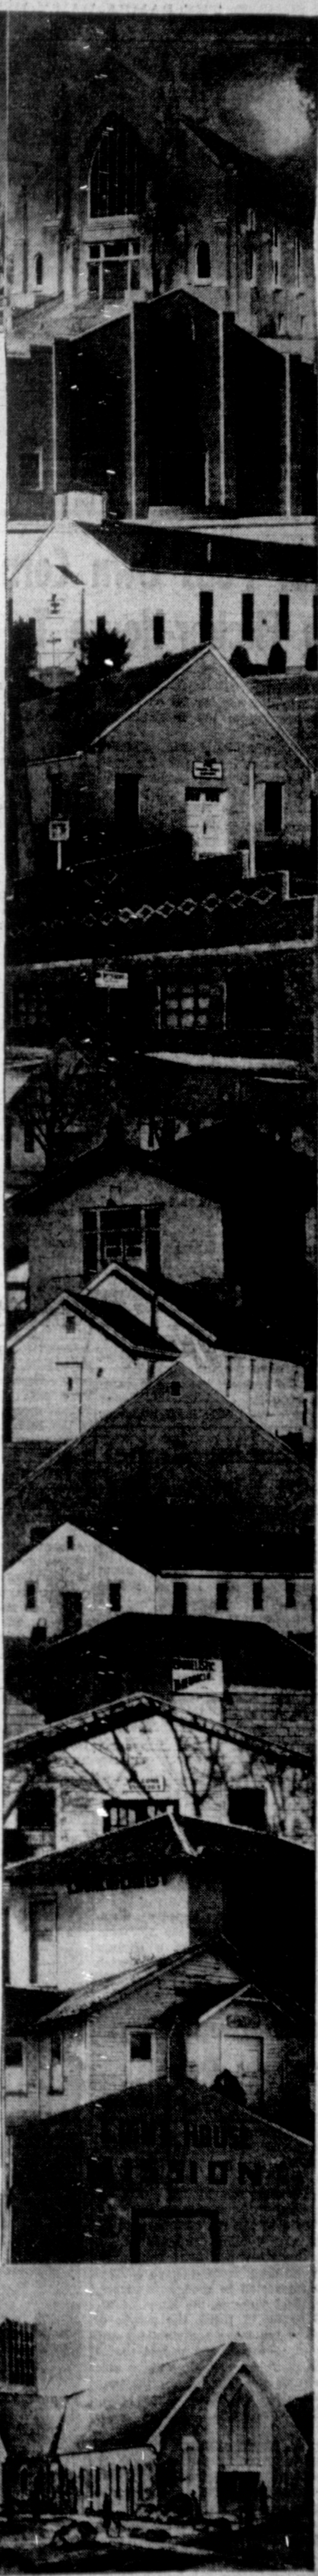

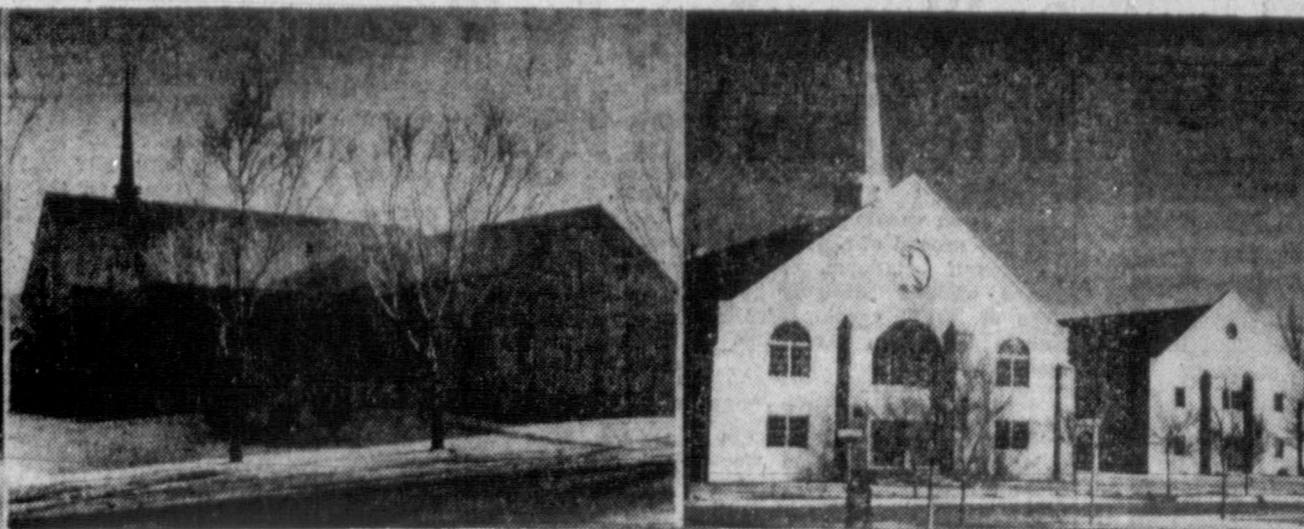

A TERRIBLE DISEASE

Morbus Sabbaticus, or "Sunday Sickness" is a disease peculiar to church members. The attack comes on suddenly, on Sunday; no symptoms are felt on Saturday night; the patient sleeps well and awakes feeling well; eats a hearty breakfast, but about church time the attack comes on and continues until services are over for the morning. Then the patient feels easy and eats a hearty dinner.

In the afternoon he feels much better and is about to take a walk, automobile ride, go visiting, talk politics and read the papers. He eats a hearty supper — but about church time he has another attack and stays at home. He retires early, sleeps well and awakes Monday morning refreshed and able to go to work. He does not have any return of the symptoms until the next Sunday.

The peculiar features are as follows:

1. It attacks members of a church.
2. It never makes its appearance except on Sunday.
3. The symptoms vary, but never interfere with the appetite or sleep.
4. It never lasts more than 24 hours.
5. It generally attacks the head of the family and continues to spread until every member is affected.
6. No physician is ever called.
7. It always proves fatal in the end to the soul.
8. No remedy is known for it except repentance and prayer.
9. Real heartfelt salvation is the only antidote.

Star Pops Own Corn, Goes To Flicker-House To Eat It

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON —UP— Picture star popping his own corn and running to the flicker-house to eat it.

That's what handsome, athletic Paul Newman loves to do. We popped up a couple of sacksful and then went to see his latest picture — MGM's "The Rack."

It has a lot to do with prisoners of war. Paul is cast in the role of the traitor. He sweats through the tortures of the damned and, of course, winds up a hero.

Young Paul is indeed a remarkable character. In the short span of 12 months, he has scaled the heights in the movies, on Broadway and in television. But he's still as American as apple butter.

He answered the knock on the door of his hotel suite with a country style "howdy" and said sit down. We sat. After the corn was buttered and salted, we saw the picture.

Later we got talking about another film he's making — a picture concerning the life of Rocky Graziano.

"It was a little rough," said the brown-haired six-footer. "I never did much boxing, although I had wrestled a little."

The directors of the picture, which could, and may be titled "Rockaby Baby," put the young man through an obstacle course.

"They had me in sweat clothes, running mile after mile. They had a couple of professional middle-weight box-fighters giving me lessons in the manly art," he said. "They gave me the works."

In the training before the camera shooting, Paul and his "spar mates" used 10 ounce gloves.

Whooping Crane Can Whoop Now

NEW ORLEANS —UP— Josephine, the only female whooping crane in captivity, gave her mate something else to whoop about Wednesday. She laid a second egg.

The keepers at the Audubon Park are hoping now that Josephine will be able to hatch the two eggs and swell the whooping crane population to 32. There are only 30 whooping cranes in the world, counting Josephine and her mate, Crip, the only whoopers in captivity.

George Douglas, park superintendent, said the second egg was discovered while he and a companion watched Josephine sitting on egg No. 1. She suddenly rose on her spindly legs, and there was egg No. 2.

"The ornithological world has been waiting for this," said the elated Douglas.

"If Josephine appears disinclined to settle over the new egg, I will attempt to get a hantam hen to do the job. They'll hatch anything."

Yarborough Says He's In Debt

Austin — UP — Gubernatorial candidate Ralph Yarborough revealed Thursday his political campaigns of the last four years have put him "thousands of dollars in debt" and he is raising his $1,250 filing fee through public donations.

He said the fee will be paid by the May 7 filing deadline.

"Contributions are being received daily from citizens of Texas interested in good government, most of them in the sums of $1, $5 or $10. I thank the people of Texas for these contributions and want to assure the people that I am confident that we will be able to raise this filing fee by the time the deadline arrives," Yarborough said in a prepared statement.

The Austin attorney, now making his third race for governor, unsuccessfully opposed Gov. Allan Shivers in the 1952 and 1954 Democratic primaries.

"I own no insurance companies, skyscraper apartment houses or banks, with which to pay the filing fee, but with the help of the people of Texas, we will pay it," he said.

While they were making one of the first takes simulating the second bout between Rocky Graziano and Tony Zale, back there a few years in Chicago, Paul forgot himself.

"I had been taught how to jerk my shoulder to give the effect that I had landed a solid blow," Paul said. "I got a little careless and cut loose. I accidentally damaged the guy who was playing Tony Zale. I hated myself for it."

Paul didn't come out of it without some injury, however. They switched from the "pillows" to the 6-ounce gloves and the hero of the piece damaged a tendon in his good right hand.

Newman decided to make acting his career while a student at Kenyon College, in Ohio. He switched to the Yale School of Drama and put on some more polish at the famed New York Actor's Studio. This place numbers among its distinguished graduates the likes of Marlon Brando and the late James Dean. Marilyn Monroe is one of the studio's newest recruits.

"I don't ever hope to eclipse these fine performers," the modest Newman says. "I still consider myself a student. When I am in New York I attend classes twice a week."

Benson's Son In Texas U. Talk

AUSTIN —UP— Reed Benson, 28-year-old son of Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson, believes President Eisenhower showed "great moral courage" in his veto of the 1956 farm bill.

"The Democrats tried to put the President in a box," Benson told a meeting of the University of Texas Young Republican Club Wednesday night.

A former missionary now working for the Republican party's national congressional committee, Benson said the GOP cannot outbid the Democrats "but it might outslug them."

"We do not stand in terror of an informed farmer," he said. Benson accused the Democrats of blocking the President's farm bill in Congress until time ran out for aid in the 1956 crop year.

He is the first Republican spokesman to tour Texas on the farm issue since Mr. Eisenhower vetoed the farm bill, which provided for the administration-backed "soil bank" plan and had added to it rigid, 90 per cent price supports that Republicans had killed only last year.

Do Women Dress For Women Or To Please The Men?

(EDITOR'S NOTE — Aline Mosby is on vacation.

In this second of a series on do-it-yourself glamour, Academy award-winning designer Helen Rose of MGM, creator of Grace Kelly's trousseau, gives tips on fashion).

By HELEN ROSE

Written for the United Press HOLLYWOOD—UP—Do women dress for women — or to please men?

Ever since Eve donned her fig leaf, it has been debated whether she wore it to please her own feminine vanity or to please Actually, as both a designer and woman, I am completely on the side of the men.

And fortunately — for me at least — I have found most women dress to please the men in their lives, whether they admit it or not.

I certainly saw to it that June Allyson, Joan Collins, Ann Sheridan and Ann Miller dressed for masculine approval in MGM's "The Opposite Sex" anyway. It was all part of the plot.

The clothes for June, who plays a soft, tender role, stress femininity and daintiness. Ann Sherdan, who spends most of her time in the business world and must appeal to the busy "executive" type, wears the "tailored" look, but with a definite feminine curve. And so it goes, with all the rest of the cast.

Did I say all? All but one. Dolores Gray is the exception. She dresses to please herself and to outshine her rivals. She looks smart, sharp and chic. Perhaps because she knows she will also draw a comment from her escort along the lines of "you look like an angel tonight."

And the gal who bursts forth in red? Well, the answer she'll get is obvious — "Wow!"

THREE THINGS YOU SHOULD KNOW BEFORE YOU VOTE...

Dry-zoned areas in Pampa and dry precincts will remain dry when Gray County votes to continue LEGAL Sales Saturday. Your vote for LEGAL Sales will NOT change any of the so-called dry areas. STATE LAW GUARANTEES THAT. Vote for LEGAL Sales... scratch the BOTTOM Line.

Voters who signed petitions for the prohibition election Saturday did not commit themselves to vote for prohibition. These citizens now have the privilege of voting their personal convictions, knowing that their individual rights are protected by the secrecy of the ballot. Vote for LEGAL sales... scratch the BOTTOM line.

The people who are trying to change our present system of LEGAL Control have been organized by a group of paid, professional prohibitionists from a tax-free corporation in Dallas, assisted by their field forces from Lubbock. They are pouring out a flood of prohibition propaganda on our local voters. Activities of these paid professional propagandists place a great responsibility on every man and every woman who believe in LEGAL Sales and LEGAL Control. You can exercise that responsibility to yourself and our community by going to the polls Saturday and voting for LEGAL Sales... Scratch the BOTTOM line.

REMEMBER-

THERE'S ONLY ONE ISSUE:

LEGAL SALES VS. ILLEGAL SALES

VOTE FOR LEGAL SALES

Scratch the BOTTOM LINE!

GRAY COUNTY LEGAL CONTROL COUNCIL

A Phony Picture... PROHIBITION!

Amarillo and Potter County have been flooded with "dry" propaganda. It's time now to unveil the phony picture the paid, professional prohibitionists have painted. A "good" place to start is in "dry" Lubbock.

Prohibition has not stopped drinking in "dry" Lubbock . . . last year there were 3,250 arrests there for drunkenness. By comparison, Pampa and Gray County can hold their heads high compared with Lubbock.

Now, look at Prohibition's tragic side from another angle. The value of the Legal Alcoholic Beverage Industry here is a whopping $1,160,000.00. That doesn't include the more thousands that this Legal industry attracts for other merchants in Pampa's big trade territory! This is what the paid, professional prohibitionists want to destroy . . . and with it the jobs that support 452 men and women and their dependents . . . revenue to the State that is used for Old Age Pensions, Dependent Children, Public School, Needy Blind, Farm-to-Market roads and many more benefits.

What a price for a phony!

Whether or not alcoholic beverages are used by an individual has nothing to do with the election Saturday. Since the beginning of time we have had alcoholic beverages; we will continue to have them, Prohibition notwithstanding. In plain words, then, the ONLY choice Saturday is:

Legal Control . . . or . . .

Illegal, Bootleg Control under Prohibition?

We sincerely invite you to vote for Legal Control . . . Scratch the Bottom Line Saturday.

Indians Edge Oilers, 7-4, In Extra Frame

By TOMMIE ELLIS
Pampa News Sports Editor
The Midland Indians pushed one run-across in the first, second fourth and 7th innings here last night but the Pampa Oilers counted for a pair in the fifth and eighth to tie the score at 4-4 and push the game into extra frames.
The Indians collected five hits in a row after two were out in the 10th to go ahead and win the second game of the series, 7-4.

Everett Robinson's Indians stopped the Oilers in the current home series to hand Grover Selts' Oilers their third straight defeat.

Midland pushed across his first three runs on three hits while the Oilers hit safely in the first three frames but were unable to make them count.

The Pampa pros slapped out a triple by Len Tucker, a double by Joe Fortin, and singles by both Red Dial and Bob Flores in the game tying eighth inning. Second baseman, Dick Viskoski allowed a sharp hit grounder to get through to further the Oiler cause.

Midland's three runs in the top of the 10th came after first two Indians struckout, and the next five singled.

After the eighth frame the Oilers were unable to score although they threatened in the 10th as Dan Franks loaded the bases on three straight walks.

With only one out and the bases loaded the Indians retired the next two Oilers to take the 7-4.

John Laliberte, working for the Oilers for the first time, was charged with the loss and Dean Franks picked the victory.

NOTHING PERSONAL—Baltimore's Jim Pyburn (No. 8) and Catcher Lou Berberet of Washington smack each other in what appears to be a good fight. But Pyburn was merely trying to score from second standing up on an infield single. Berberet held his ground and made the putout.

Harvester Links Men In State Play

Pampa Harvester Golfers, the first Pampa team in the history of the sport to win district honors, is in Austin today entered in their first state tournament.

The Pampa linksmen downed the tough Amarillo squad in the district and regional meets to gain the berth in the "big tourney."

Coach Weldon Trice is due most of the credit for helping the boys to take the elimination tournaments but golf pro Hart Warren and ex-golf pro Johnny Austin, too, should share in the harvest.

Austin started the boys at the Pampa Country Club golf course as caddies and made good Junior High School golfers of them. Coach Weldon Trice and Hart Warren have tutored them through last summer and kept them working during the winter.

They have braved the high winds, sand and cold weather when most golfers were at the 19th hole relaxing.

Bill McLeod, Lee Howard, Melvin Chisum and Don Prigmore will be the Pampa representatives at the state meet.

Credit, too, goes to the boys as they have put out many long hours working as caddies, Junior High School golfers prior to this year's competition.

Cleveland Indians' Fabulous 'Big Three' Win 7 Straight

By UNITED PRESS

It was like 1954 all over again for Al Lopez Friday with the Cleveland Indians' fabulous "big three" operating in high gear.

And nobody could blame the popular Cleveland manager if he quipped: "That's right, the experts were wrong again!"

For the Indians are rolling with seven victories in their last eight games and it's none other than Mike Garcia, Bob Lemon and Early Wynn who are carrying the big pitching load. The experts predicted this spring that the "big three" was over the hill but they've accounted for six of the Tribe's eight wins this season.

Garcia, who had an 11-13 record last year in his only losing campaign in organized baseball, struck out seven batters and hurled a neat six-hitter Thursday night as the Indians scored an easy 7-1 victory over the Balt-more Orioles. With Lemon's 2-1 record and Wynn's 3-0 slate, it gave the "big three" a composite 8-2 mark for the campaign.

Throw-In Pays Off

Center-fielder Jim Busby, acquired as a "throw-in" when the Indians traded Larry Doby to the Chicago White Sox for Chico Carrasquel, drove in three runs with a homer, double and single to spark Cleveland's 10-hit attack.

Jim Lemon blasted a 475-foot, inning to give the Washington Senators a 7-4 triumph and knock the Chicago White Sox out of first place in the American League. The New York Yankees took over the top rung despite an 8-7 loss to the Kansas City Athletics.

Lemon's blow, which hit two rows from the top of the left field bleachers for one of the longest homers in the 44-year history of Griffith Stadium, also dealt Billy Pierce his first defeat.

Ponderous Gus Zernial's surprise bunt single advanced Enos Slaughter, who had doubled, into position to score the winning run on Harry Simpson's sacrifice fly and give Kansas City a ninth-inning decision over the Yankees.

Back to 500 Mark

Frank Sullivan pitched a six-hitter to give the Boston Red Sox a 5-2 win over Detroit and run his lifetime mark against the Tigers to 8-2. Dick Gernert and Frank Malone hit two-run homers for the Red Sox, who climbed back to the 500-mark with a 6-6 season's record.

In the National League, Roy Campanella, Gil Hodges and Carl Furillo hit third-inning homers as the Brooklyn Dodgers snapped a four-game losing streak with a 7-3 verdict over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Bob Friend's five-hitter and two-run homers by Frank Thomas and Dale Long enabled the Pittsburgh Pirates to beat the Cincinnati Redlegs 5-1 in the only other game played. The loss snapped the Redlegs' six-game winning streak.

Dove Bands To Be Used In New Plan

AUSTIN, May 4 — A new five-year nationwide mourning dove banding program brings official recognition to the pioneering work of large scale banding which Texas has begun several years ago, according to the Assistant Director of the Game and Fish Commission.

The 1956 project will be coordinated by the United States Fish and Wildlife Service whereas the first dove banding in Texas was under state sponsorship.

The Assistant Director said results of the Texas studies helped prove usefulness of the routine, particularly in justifying the time and expense involved.

Technicians in Texas have become accustomed to dove banding reports as an indispensable aid in determining nesting, migration and feeding habits.

The banding program was dropped last year, but in the preceding five years more than 23,000 doves were banded in Texas. Slightly over three per cent of the bands were recovered, with about three-fourths of the returns coming from near the original banding place. Most of the bands are retrieved by hunters and then forwarded.

The Assistant Director said emphasis in Texas this summer will be in the extreme northern part of the state in the Panhandle and along the Red River Valley. This will enhance observations as the banded birds migrate southward during the harvest season.

Game Wardens and other Commission field personnel will handle the actual banding of the young birds, with Boy Scout and other volunteers aiding in locating nests.

Stan Musial Plays 2,000th Major Game

ST. LOUIS — Stan Musial played in the 2,000th game of his major league career Thursday night but there wasn't much cause for celebration.

The great St. Louis Cardinal outfielder collected only one hit in four tries and hit into a rally-killing double play in the first inning. Stan walked off the field a "loser" when the Brooklyn Dodgers won 7-3.

Youth Takes Driver's Seat In Colonial Golf Tournament

By ED FITTE

FORT WORTH — UP — Youth was in the driver's seat with three 26-year-old "youngsters" out in front of the pack as the 125,000 Colonial National Invitation golf tournament turned into the second round Friday with one-under-par 69's.

Colonial Country Club's toughened-up, 7,100-yard par 35-35-70 layout usually yields only to the battle tested masters among the pro ranks, but the veterans were playing second fiddle Friday to Peter Thomson of Australia, Dow Finsterwald of Athens, Ohio, and Paul Harney of Bolton, Mass.

Of this trio, only two-time British Open champion Thomson could be classed as a tournament-wise competitor in the 64-player field that boasts the cream of U. S. and Canadian professionals.

Finsterwald, son of a former coach at Ohio University where he was a collegiate star, has been a pro only since 1952 and has won only three tournaments in that span, while Harney, a former eastern intercollegiate champion from Holy Cross, has been a pro only 18 months and has never hauled down a blue ribbon.

The pressure was on the leaders, however, for only one stroke back at par were three veterans to whom top prize money is old stuff—Ben Hogan, a four times winner here among his 64 championships; Byron Nelson, in semi-retirement at his nearby ranch after one of golf's most illustrious careers; and terrible tempered Tommy Bolt of Chattanooga, Tenn., who didn't even threaten to break a club Thursday as he ran down 11 one-putt greens.

Thomson, Finsterwald and Harney all capitalized on fine putter performances to take the spotlight away from their more prominent contemporaries.

Birdie putts of 15 and 12 feet on the final green enabled Finsterwald and Harney to finish in the sub-par ranks, while it was a 20-footer on the 16th that was the big payoff putt for the stocky Thomson.

Eighteen players were within four strokes of the three young pace-setters as the field bunched up behind the front runners. Masters champion Jack Burke of Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., Roberto De Vicenzo of Mexico City, Canadian Stan Leonard and Gordon Byrdson and Bo Winger of Oklahoma City were all at 72.

Pre-tournament favorite, Cary Middlecoff of Dallas, the season's top money winner, headed a field of 13 bracketed at 73. Included in this group was the low amateur, Hillman Robbins Jr., the North-South winner from Memphis, Tenn.

Don Delany To Race John Landy

LOS ANGELES — UP — Ron Delany, Villanova College sophomore who has run the fastest mile in the United States this year, said Friday he would put forth his greatest effort against John Landy here Saturday.

The Irish runner who calls Dublin his home said he was flattered by the statement of the Australian champion who felt Delany should prove his special competitor in Saturday's great mile.

"I hope I live up to his kind words," Delany said prior to limbering up on the coliseum track where the race will be staged. "I would like nothing better than to run my best against Mr. Landy."

"I have nothing to go by in determining how well I can run against him. After all, he has run faster than four minutes on four occasions and that's a feat no one has matched."

But the pleasant-spoken Delany felt that with the opposition he would get from Landy and the others in the race he might improve his best mark of 4:04.9 which tops all U. S. performances in the mile this year.

Landy, although pointing for a four-minute mark in his first U. S. appearance, disclosed he found the tracks here harder than those he ran on in Australia or Europe. They proved less springy than the tracks he previously had run on.

"It is my great hope that I can break four minutes in my first appearance here but I would not like to say definitely I will do that. It's a case of being acclimated."

Teen Age Leaguers Must Register Now

Teen Age League baseball, the link between the Pony league and high school participation in Pampa, will be getting underway shortly but the registration for the league will be closing Sunday.

All boys who wish to participate in the summer baseball program, under the direction of the Pampa Optimist Club, must register at Pampa Hardware today and Saturday.

Travis Lively Jr. said today "boys ages 15 and 16 are slow to register this year."

"Only a minimum number of boys have expressed the desire to play, but we feel sure many of them have been putting it off," he continued.

"They must come in by closing time Saturday if they plan to participate," he continued.

"We may have to combine the 17-year-old baseball program with these boys in order to have enough to make a good active league if more boys don't register," said league president Norman Phillips Thursday.

"We had hoped to have two different leagues that would be eligible for district and regional competition but if the two leagues have to be combined the boys will not be eligible for trips out of town."

Boys between the ages of 15 and 18 were active in the program last season but officials found that the 17 and 18-year-olds had jobs during the summer that conflicted with the program.

"Most of the boys who were 15 and 16 on or before August 1 were relatively free to participate last year," said retired league president Nick Kadings.

"We cut the age limit this season in order to have a more active league this summer," he concluded.

Tag Team Match Set For Monday

Three old faces and one new one will be featured on the regular Monday night wrestling card at the Top o' Texas Sportsman's Club by the Pampa Shrine Club.

The old heads returning will be Durable Danny Savich, Rugged Ray Duran and Tireless Tony Bajan. The new face will be that of Red McIntyre, who has just come into the area. At one time he and a brother held the world's tag team championship. And it will be in that type event that McIntyre will be featured in his initial appearance in Pampa. He will team with the hard working Canadian, Bajan, against the two huskie roughies, Savich and Duran. The team match will be two out of three falls, one hour.

In the semifinal event, Bajan will test Duran, also two out of three, one hour. And for a warmup event, McIntyre will angle with the competent Danny Savich. The first match starts at 8 o'clock, and advance tickets are available at Modern Pharmacy. Wrestling is sponsored in Pampa by the Pampa Shrine Club.

MOST VALUABLE PLAYER — Ex-Pampa Harvester Jim Bond led the Crusader cagers with 650 points last season, 21.0 points per game average. Sophomore, attended Pampa High School, where he was a member of the state's AAAA championship team in 1953- and 1954, and a member of the 1954 high school all-American team. Selected to the 1956 NAIA all-American third team. (News photo)

Marys Clash In Southern Women's Golf Championship

HOT SPRINGS, Va. — UP — Home state favorite Mary Pat Janssen, who was runner-up last year, clashed with Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore Friday in one semi-final in the 41st Women's southern amateur golf championship.

Newcomer Wanda Sanchez of Baton Rouge, La., met Mrs. Maurice Glick of Baltimore in the other.

Miss Janssen, of Charlottesville, Va., scored a 2 and 1 victory over Sidney Elliott, also of Charlottesville, in Thursday's quarterfinal round.

In other quarterfinals, Miss Sanchez trounced Mrs. Sam Byrd of Birmingham, Ala., 7 and 6; Miss Downey twice blew one-hole leads but rallied to beat 17-year-old Clifford Ann Creed of Opelousas, La., 3 and 2; and Mrs. Glick upset Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta, Ga., with a 25-foot putt for a par four on the 20th hole.

Nelson Has Three Winners
LAUREL, Md. — UP — Eldon Nelson, hoping to overtake injured Tony Desprito for riding honors at Laurel Park, boted home three on Mid Stream ($7.40), Ruth Wallis ($7.60) and Salix ($5.80).

Racers Ready For Richest Run Of 1st Of 3 Classics

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — UP — No Kentucky Derby favorite has won in the last three years, but trainer Hugh Fontaine was confident Friday his Needles will come through on schedule for the Derby day crowd at Churchill Downs Saturday.

Every other trainer of the 123 three-year-olds entered in the 2nd and richest running of the first of the triple crown classics agreed that the breaks seem to ride with Fontaine and his colt, which has won $208,800 this year. But they weren't afraid of Needles.

Needles in No. 1 Spot
The only trainer who wasn't particularly interested in getting the No. 1 post position was Fontaine. But he drew it for Needles, the stretch-running son of Ponder who has won two $100,000 added races this year, the Flamingo Stakes and the Florida Derby.

Actually his slow-starting colt might have been better off farther from the rail when the bulky field is sent after a winner's purse worth $123,400. Needles then could not get caught in a jam.

Southern Conference May Argue AAU Ban Of W&M

RICHMOND, Va. — UP — The Southern Conference is expected to jump heading into the conflict involving the Amateur Athletic Union at its annual spring meeting here Friday.

Meetings of the SC executive committee and of the presidents of the 10 member institutions Thursday gave strong indication that the conference would take the side of William and Mary College in a dispute with the AAU. The AAU recently disqualified W&M's track team from AAU competition because several of its members ran against Marine Lt. Wes Santee in a dual meet April 14.

"We're not going to start a fight with anybody," SC President R.C. McDanel said, "but there is some thinking that the conference should come out and say it is on William and Mary's side."

The action presumably would come in the form of a resolution supporting William and Mary. McDanel refused to say how strong the resolution might be, but he said the idea of the SC's prohibiting its teams from participating in AAU teams "seems to be going a little too far."

"When our teams can play service teams in baseball and basketball, teams made up very largely of professional players, that seems to be all right," McDanel said. "It's perfectly silly when a track team runs against one man who is alleged to be a professional that it should be barred. The AAU needs the Southern Conference a darn sight more than we need the AAU."

Night Hunts Yield Fines

AUSTIN, May 4 — The overhead for illegal night hunting in Texas continues to climb as Justices of the Peace levy substantial fines for assorted nocturnal raids on wildlife.

The Director of Law Enforcement for the Game and Fish Commission said the monthly report is the best evidence of the court's stern attitude.

Eleven persons charged with night hunting of deer paid fines of $100 or more, plus costs. Ten fines.

Canada Leads, 2-0, In Davis Cup Match

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad — UP — Canada, leading 2-0, stands a solid favorite to win its first-round Davis Cup elimination series against the British West Indies, but the Indies hope to stave off defeat by winning Friday's doubles match.

Bob Bedard and Don Fontana easily won singles matches Thursday to put Canada into a commanding lead. A Canadian victory in doubles Friday would clinch the best-of-five series.

tucky Derby will be worth a total of $167,500, the richest in history.

SMU Freshman Is Olympic Jump Prospect

DALLAS — UP — Don Stewart, a Southern Methodist freshman who "learned to relax," moved into strong contention as a prospective member of the U. S. Olympic team Friday with a six-foot, 10 1/4 inch high jump to his credit.

Stewart posted the mark—the best in the world so far this year—in a freshman triangular track meet with Baylor and Texas Christian Thursday.

The leap broke Stewart's own national freshman mark of 6-3 3/4 set with his best previous effort earlier this year. After he cleared the bar on his first try, officials moved the high jump bar up to the world record level of 6-11 1/2 and Stewart narrowly missed clearing that mark.

The versatile freshman from Palestine, Tex., also won the 120 yard high hurdles with a time of 15.2 seconds and the javelin with a throw of 153 feet, 11 inches to lead his team to victory in the practice meet. SMU scored 81 points while the TCU and Baylor frosh netted 38 each.

Stewart, a husky 6-4, 185-pounder, who jumps from the left side minus his right shoe, credits "learning to relax" for his success.

With added practice to make up for the time lost when he spent the early spring working out for the football team (he also plays basketball) Stewart settled down in Thursday's practice meet.

If Stewart can keep on "relaxing" while he jumps, his coach thinks there is a good chance he will be with the U. S. Olympic team when it leaves for Australia next fall.

Bowling Changes Unlikely

ROCHESTER, N. Y. — UP — With only 17 days of competition left in the 79-day American Bowling Congress tournament, it appeared Friday that the tourney's present leaders may turn out to be the ultimate winners. Present pacemakers are: Singles — George Wade of Steubenville, Ohio, 744; team — Falstaff Beer of Chicago 3,093; doubles — Bill Lillard and Yatan Gifford of Chicago 1,331; and all-events — Bill Lillard 2,018.

Rams Sign Three LAU Stars

LOS ANGELES — UP — Three former Louisiana State University football stars — Paul Miller, Jim Cason and Sid Fournet — have come to terms for the 1956 season with the Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League. Miller signed for his third season with the Rams, Fournet for his second, while Cason came to the club last year after six seasons with San Francisco.

Author's Own 'Big Sleep' Failed, So Chandler Lives A 'Long Goodbye'

By TOM A. CULLEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
LONDON — (NEA) — A year ago, Chicago-born Raymond Chandler, who wrote "The Big Sleep," put a revolver to his temple and pulled the trigger.

Nothing happened, and so began what was to be the most terrible year of his life. Instead of the Big Sleep, he was to know the Aching Void.

He told me about it as we sat in the rather seedy-looking flat he rents in London, N.W.8. There was an upright piano in one corner, an electric stove whose imitation logs lit up, and dollies on the faded armchairs.

It was a far cry from the Hollywood homes with their swimming pools which Chandler had known when he was in the "big dough," when he had sold the film rights to both "Farewell, My Lovely" and "The Lady in the Lake," for example. But Chandler prefers London, N.W.8, to Vine Street at the moment.

He is trying desperately to start new life, or rather to pick up the pieces of the old one. He has begun work on another thriller with tough, wise-cracking Philip Marlowe as the hero. He even talks of writing for the films. But he isn't sure yet.

"When you've lost someone you've loved and lived with for 30 years it's hard to begin again," he says.

The bottom fell out of Chandler's life when he lost his wife, Cecily, in December, 1954. They were married 30 years, and for the last two he nursed her through the illness that ended her life.

"Suicides prepare themselves in all sorts of ways," Chandler wrote in his last novel, "The Long Goodbye." "Some with liquor, some with elaborate champagne dinners. Some in no clothes. People have killed themselves on the tops of walls, in ditches, in bathrooms, in the water."

For Chandler it was a bathroom. In an old dressing gown. In the $40,000 home in La Jolla, Calif., which he had built for Cecily.

But the ammunition was old and damp and although he pulled the trigger twice, nothing happened.

"The successful suicide is tragedy," he sighs. "The suicide failure is farce. For one thing people think you didn't mean it."

Has he recovered from his grief? "I consider it takes two years to get over losing the person you love best — if you ever do completely," he says. "I've got through the first year, and it's been pretty desperate. I still walk the floor nights."

The irony is that Chandler is the reverse of Philip Marlowe, the hard-boiled detective he created. Marlowe is tough, hard-hitting, fast-talking; Chandler is sensitive, tender, hating all forms of violence and cruelty.

Chandler prefers Britain to America, partly because he was educated here. Born in Chicago, he was brought to London by his English mother as a boy of 11, educated at Dulwich College, near London, where he played wing forward on the Rugger team.

After World War I, in which he served in the Canadian infantry, he settled in California, becoming an accountant for small oil companies. It was not until comparatively late in life that he developed the itch to write.

He was 44 when his first short story was published in the pulps. It was titled "Blackmailers Don't Shoot" and it took him eight months to write it.

He did much better with his first novel, "The Big Sleep," knocking it off in three months in 1938. It was an immediate hit and put Chandler on the map as a who-dunit writer.

What are his plans for the future? "I've no ambition," he says, "except to write one really good book. I don't consider I've done that yet."

Will he return to California? "I don't know yet... I just don't know."

48th Year

Chandler sold the house and fled. For months he wandered, Italy, France, Tangiers. Finally, he ended up in London, which he had known as a boy.

Chandler has been luckier than many who find themselves in his dilemma. For one thing, he has a substantial income. His first novel, "The Big Sleep," has netted him nearly $100,000 since it was first published 17 years ago. He has written six others.
