Attacker Found Guilty

SANTA ANA, Calif., —UP— Jack Hames Walker, 25-year-old upholsterer, was found guilty by a superior court Thursday night of kidnapping and raping Miss California, Donna Mae Schurr, twice within one year.

The 19-year-old beauty queen, now married to Lloyd Brett, charged Walker kidnapped and raped her in March, 1955, and again last Jan. 10.

Walker, married and a father of one child, denied the charges and claimed during a lengthy trial here that the former Miss Schurr consented to the sexual relations on dates with him. The defense argued that Walker had been "brain-washed" to confess he raped the beauty queen to "protect her name."

Long Chase Ends
Miss Schurr was named Miss California in last year's Miss Universe contest at Long Beach, Calif. She was living at Garden Grove, Calif., and was attending Orange Coast College at the time of the alleged attacks.

Walker was arrested last Jan. 11 after the model claimed she was dragged from her home and attacked in a lonely area of Orange county. Brett was credited with capturing the suspect after Donna Mae leaped out of Walker's car in front of her home following the last raping episode. Brett caught Walker following a hair-raising auto chase in which the suspect's car was finally forced off the road by Brett.

Highway Patrol Officers Arriving at the scene testified Walker admitted raping the beauty.

Brett eloped with his childhood sweetheart several days after the second attack. Miss Schurr was quoted as saying following the wedding ceremony that "I married for protection and also love."

The jury returned the verdict after nearly 10 hours of deliberation. Walker was convicted of two counts each of kidnapping and rape and one count of burglary. Rape in California carries a penalty of 4 to 20 years, kidnapping 1 to 20.

Students Celebrate Spring With Raids

By UNITED PRESS
Students celebrated the coming of spring with riotous "party raids" on two southern campuses Thursday night. A rampage at Louisiana State University got out of control and police put it down with tear gas.

LSU and Southern Methodist University undergraduates staged the raids.

Thursday night's raid was more of a riot than a college prank. A mob of about 500 defied police, broke windows, and tried to light a crude six-foot cross on the campus.

Police used tear gas to bring the students under control and confiscated the cross before it could be lit. They said there was no racial question involved, even though a fiery cross is the traditional symbol of the Ku Klux Klan.

The raid started when students surged to the door of a girl's dormitory and tried to tear it down. Police formed a cordon around the building.

A sound truck toured the campus warning that Gen. Robert Kennon knew of the outbreak and might declare martial law on the campus unless it stopped.

Harriman Boost Seen

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON — UP — Ten will get you $10 or maybe $20 that former President Truman shows up in the traditional smoke-filled room at Chicago as master mind of the Harriman-for-President machine.

Frank E. McKinney, of Indiana, will be sitting on one side of Mr. T. and Carmine Desapio, of New York, on the other. Three of that kind will be hard to beat.

McKinney is the Indianapolis banker who served as Mr. Truman's Democratic national committee chairman, 1951-55. He plays the former President's kind of politics, which is rough. Desapio is boss of New York county's Tammany Hall, the manager of Averell Harriman's successful campaign for governor and a member of his cabinet in the sinecure post of secretary of state.

Board Probes Rocket Discharge

MT. CLEMENTS, Mich. —UP—
A board of inquiry Friday began an investigation into the discharge of 22 rockets from a jet fighter which injured three airmen and killed a baby's cub.

The plane was on the ground at Selfridge Air Force Base when the rockets were discharged in an unknown manner, whining over a resort community at the mouth of the Clinton River. The plane was being examined by the board of inquiry.

Three of the "mighty mouse" rockets still were missing but officials at Selfridge said they assumed they went into the river without exploding.

One of the rockets, which carried 75-millimeter warheads, exploded near a home. Its casing ripped a section from the side of the house and shattered a window, enveloping a baby's crib with glass and metal and setting fire to the floor.

Mrs. Shirley De Pew, 24, said she took her eight-month-old son from the crib only minutes earlier because he persisted in crying.

Two of the airmen were injured when one of the missiles tore into a salvage building on the base and a third was "stung" when the rockets took off.

Officials believed a short-circuit or "electric malfunction" caused the accident but said their investigation would determine the exact cause.

Leaflets Announce Death Of Two British Yesterday

NICOSIA, Cyprus —UP— The pro-Greek underground leader in Cyprus announced Friday he has hanged two British soldier hostages in retaliation against the British hanging of two Cypriot gunmen Thursday.

Ag Department Recommended For $2 Billion

By VINCENT J. BURKE
WASHINGTON — UP — The House Appropriations committee recommended Friday that Congress hand the Agriculture Department almost $2 billion in cash.

Congress promptly put two and two together and discovered it is being asked to put up almost $4 billion this year to meet the growing cost of the farm program.

The new money bill — scheduled for debate next week — calls for each appropriations of $1.9 billion for the fiscal year starting July 1. That is $1.1 billion more than Congress appropriated in cash last year and $3.8 million less than the administration requested.

Later Action Expected
In addition, the administration has requested — and Congress is almost certain to approve — an increase of $2 billion in funds for Commodity Credit Corp. to finance farm price support operations. That will be handled later in separate legislation.

The big increase in the cash appropriations this year is due largely to the $1.2 billion carried in the bill for CCC to make up for past losses on farm price support and surplus disposal operations.

New Lions Club Is Formed Here

Pampa's newest civic club, the Lions Club, was formed at an organizational meeting last night in the Palm Room.

A total of 33 men signed up for charter membership in the new Lions Club. New members of the club who had not been in Lionism before totaled 19 with 14 former Lions signing up.

Dr. Phillip A. Gates was elected president and will serve for a 14 month term. The secretary-treasurer will be Byron L. Sinclair.

First vice-president of the new club is William A. Dow, second vice-president is Jack Douglas, and the third vice-president is Frank Lard.

Selected by the members to be lion tamer was L. J. Riley and Buck Haggard was chosen to be the tail twister.

Members of the board of directors elected to two year terms were D. V. Biggers and John Pittsmead with Gene L. Sims and Val H. Steigitz to serve one year terms.

The club decided that meetings would be held at 6:30 p.m. each Thursday at a place to be announced later.

Lee Banks Dies Today In Hospital

Lee R. Banks, 73, pioneer of this country, and former realtor, died this morning in Highland General Hospital following a brief illness.

Mr. Banks was well known in the Pampa area, a resident of this area since 1918.

Born May 7, 1883, on a farm near Mobeetie, he was raised on a ranch near Sweetwater, Okla. He was a rancher in this area.

Mr. Banks moved to Pampa in 1916 from Sweetwater, Okla., and ranched for several years north of Pampa on the Wadsted Ranch. In the early 1920's, he went into the real estate business here.

He was married in 1920 to Ida Farrington Lassater. Their home was at 208 N. West. His business was located at 109 1/2 W. Foster.

Survivors include his wife, Ida; one son, Vic of Phoenix, Ariz.; and one daughter, Mrs. Emma Roach of Fort Worth.

Funeral arrangements are pending.

Republicans Invite Allan

By UNITED PRESS
Gov. Allan Shivers, who lost control of the Texas Democratic party after a bitter struggle with Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson, Friday had a formal invitation to become a Republican.

The invitation came from the Texas GOP national committee man, Jack Porter of Houston. Porter also invited every member of the generally conservative Texas Democratic executive committee to join the Republican party.

Porter wrote, "As a conservative Democrat in Texas you cannot exert any influence in the national affairs of the Democratic party and you haven't been able to in many years. But by coming into the Republican party you can be influential and effective in the national affairs of your party and your country."

Other Things Happened
In other Texas political developments, gubernatorial candidate Ralph Yarborough called for increased old-age pensions, and spokesmen for organized labor denied that a split had developed between labor and other backers of Johnson.

Porter wrote that he was extending his invitation to Shivers and other conservative Democrats "in my official capacity and on behalf of the Republicans in Texas."

Noting that Johnson had said Shivers belonged to the Republican party, Porter wrote, "The arrogance of Democratic leaders in inviting people to get out of the Democratic party is nothing on earth but a reflection on the intelligence of the average citizen of Texas."

Porter added, "These Democratic leaders will find that when the conservative Democrat moves in to the Republican party in Texas the so-called Democratic party will become a minority party."

"I want you and you conservative Democratic colleagues throughout the state to know that there is a place for you in the Republican party and you will be warmly received in our midst," he said.

Yarborough, in a radio speech from Austin last night, promised to fight for "higher living level pensions for the old people of Texas."

He said the average old-age pension in Texas is $39.10 a month. "This puts Texas down in 26th place among the states in the amount of the average pension," he said.

Other developments included the House Thursday unanimously passed the administration defense budget with only minor changes. The $33.6 billion bill was sent to the Senate.

House Democrats tried to add an extra $1 billion to stepping up B-52 production. The House shouted down the attempt.

Democrats made it clear they would try again in the Senate.

Other developments:
SEDITION
The Senate Internal Security subcommittee opened hearings on bills that would give states the right to prosecute sedition cases.
FOREIGN AID
The House Foreign Affairs committee appeared ready to cut deeply the administration's $4.9 billion foreign aid program.

FLOOD
The Senate passed 61-7 a $5 billion federal flood insurance program. It was sent to the House.
SOCIAL SECURITY
The Senate Finance committee approved a social security bill shorn of key features approved by the House. The key features — opposed by the administration — would allow disabled workers and some women to collect social security before they were 65.

British Jet Bomber Crashes

BRIGHTON, England —UP— A British jet-powered atomic bomber crashed on a railroad track near here Friday.

First reports said the pilot of the four-jet Vickers Valiant bomber parachuted and landed on the Southwick railroad station, five miles from Brighton. Two members of the bomber's crew were reported killed.

The Valiant, on a delivery flight from the ministry of supply to the Royal Air Force, was said to have tipped off the tops of several houses before skidding down the railroad tracks and smashing through a wall.

There was no immediate report of civilian casualties on the ground.

The Valiant is a high swept-wing "high performance" plane, light, swift and performance details of which are secret.

T. "Dub" Nelson, district governor of District 2-T-1 of Lions of Children; Dr. Phillip A. ## Double Execution In Utah

POINT OF THE MOUNTAIN, Utah —UP— A double-strength firing squad executed two mid-western slayers at dawn Friday after the youths asked that "our tragic lives and ending serve as a warning to all — young and old."

The barking rifles of 10 volunteer marksmen ended a six and one-half year battle by Verne Albrecht Braasch, 27, Reinbeck, Iowa, and Melvin Leroy Sullivan, 25, Kansas City, Kan., to escape death for the October, 1949, slaying of a youthful Utah service station attendant.

They Are Spotlabeled
Braasch and Sullivan died seated in spotlighted chairs in a shed in the outer yard of Utah's Point of the Mountain prison. Deputy Sheriff Charles Wells gave the firing order for the state's first double firing squad execution at 6:15 a.m. est.

As Wells' hat dropped in signal, the riflemen fired from standing and kneeling positions behind the window of a prison building 25 feet from the slayers. Eight of the rifles, containing 30 caliber bullets, carried the death message. Two, none knew which, were loaded with blanks.

Sullivan was pronounced dead at 6:15 a.m.; Braasch at 6:16 a.m.

Hoops Cover Faces
When the two men came into the yard, they already had been hooded with black cloths that draped over their heads and chest.

Round white targets had been fixed over the black hoods to mark their hearts. The eight bullets punched closely grouped patterns on the targets, although the shots centered on the west portion of the cloth that Braasch seemed to wear.

Oops!

DETROIT —UP— Michigan floods do not normally float up tropical trimmings, but police went out to look Thursday night when a citizen reported: "A big alligator is lying in the street staring at me."

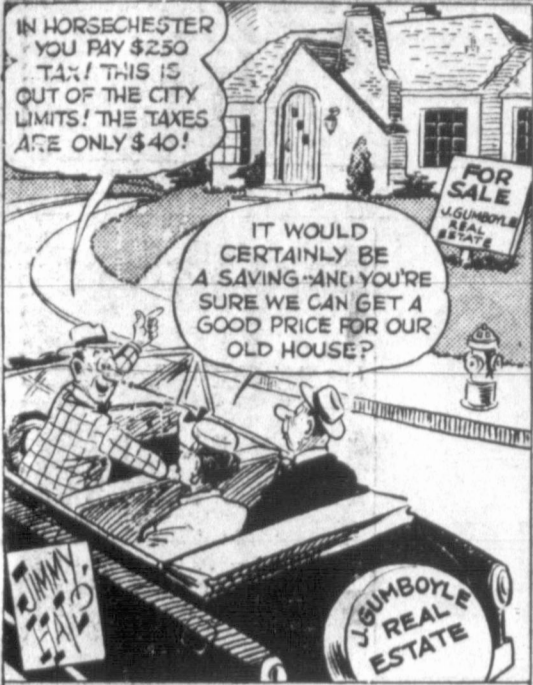

Officers George Potts and Paul Bamosky viewed the alligator, prodded it gently and picked it up. It was stuffed.

FINAL REHEARSAL — The unusual ensemble above is shown rehearsing for the "Youth for the Youth Center" show, sponsored by the student council, scheduled for tonight at 8 in Harvester Field House. ### Easy Carpet Cleaning Discovery Hailed

What is said to be the easiest and "cleanest" home rug cleaner, known as Blue Lustre, is now available after years of research.

Blue Lustre leaves no foreign residue to cause rapid resoiling. The pile is left open and fluffy as the colors spring out like magic. So easy to apply with a long handle brush (like playing shuffleboard) and is safe for all types of carpets. Use Blue Lustre to clean the entire carpet or remove spots and traffic lanes. It's economical to use as 1/4 gallon of concentrate cleans three x 12 rugs.

Mrs. L. Hartsfield Fetes Piano Pupils

Mrs. Lilly Hartsfield entertained her piano students, who participated in the recent National Guild Piano Auditions, and their parents in the parlor of the First Baptist Church. Decorations were arrangements of spring flowers.

For the program, each student presented a selection he played during the Auditions, and Mrs. Hartsfield played several of her own compositions.

Certificates and pins earned by the students during the Auditions were presented. The certificates entitle the students to membership in the National Fraternity of Student Musicians for one year.

Receiving the awards were Linda Gail Gileland, local certificate; Juanette Adams, Mollie Cornutt, Gordon Bayless, Donna Rae Flynn, Patricia Moore, Grover Lee Heiskell, Kay Lard and Jonilyn Howard, district certificates; Jim Barnard, state certificate; Dianne Phillips, Sandra Sue Redus, Jonnie Beth Walker and Dianne Thomas, national certificates; and Pauline Walker, international certificate.

A social period followed, with background music being furnished by Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Walker and Mrs. H. H. Heiskell. Refreshments of punch and cookies were served. Assisting Mrs. Hartsfield with the hostess duties were Mmes. Ira Gilleland, Ray Barnard and John Adams.

FOUR OUT OF FIVE MOTHERS (including Grace Kelly's and Major John Eisenhower's) will step out Sunday wearing navy blue, predicts Max Factor. He bases his predictions on Easter fashion notes, store figures and the perennial popularity of navy blue. Factor gives three cheers for it, he says, when "Mom" adds red and white to the blue. To make this tricolor even more flattering to her, he offers these suggestions.

TO ENHANCE the clarifying effect navy blue has upon your skin, wear a lighter, pinker make-up foundation. Avoid any yellow or darkish tones in make-up. Half the charm of your make-up should be its fresh, immaculate clean look, an effect that will be spot-lighted by white collar, white hat.

Let the choice of your lipstick be ruled by the red touch you add to your costume: an American beauty rose nesting in the white tulle of your hat or pinned to your dress; a snippet of ribbon used to anchor and make more of a red jeweled pin; patent leather belt, bag, or spring topper as red as a firebox. Whatever the shading, depth or intensity of red the accessory is, let your lipstick shade echo its brightness.

If there's no match-making to be done, be fancy-free in your choice of a lipstick. And stop thinking, that because of your preconceived ideas, lipstick must be the same old shade. Experiment in new high fidelity shades AND TEXTURES, he urges. Try a sparkling scarlet, a clear, clear red, a ruby red that like a cream-treatment for your lips, leaving them moist and supple. Try one that goes on like a breeze, and doesn't need to be replenished for 24 hours.

If you are not wearing white with your navy blue — are, like Mamie Eisenhower, spiking yours with yellow accessories — Factor has some tips for you. But, first, he wants to know which yellow you're wearing in hat, gloves, or a bewitching chiffon scarf? If cold-yellow, like citron, he suggests a brilliant red. If a warm-yellow, like butter, a tangerine or a California kumquat, he suggests an orange-red lipstick as bright and beautiful as a Technicolor sunset.

IF YOUR NEW HAT looks like the meringue topping for a pie, a delicious mousse, a soufflé puffed up beyond the cook's wildest dreams, your make-up beneath such a yummy concoction should also look good enough to eat.

Factor comes up with tips for what he thinks should be an extraordinary make-up. More particularly so, he says, if you also swathe your neck in puffs of chiffon that also look good enough to scoop up with a spoon. His tips:

1. The spring clean-up should leave no blackhead unrotted.
2. Any dark smudges on lip or temple from superfluous hair should be bleached to platinum-blond fairness.
3. Brows should be tweezed to spectacular neatness.
4. Wear the lightest make-up foundation your skin tones will stand. Any tone darker than that will, by contrast with the meringue-like fluff overhead look muddy, unclear, even unclear.
5. Wear blue eyeshadow. A white hat reflects blue shadows, so don't fight with facts by wearing green or brown eye shadow.
6. To clean up any spatter from eye lash make-up, go over lids and around the eyes with a dampened piece of cotton after the entire application is finished.
7. Wear any beautiful lipstick shade you like, so long as it isn't dark. As a rule, a sparkling scarlet with the brilliance of high fidelity color will be the most devastating accent with an all-white hat. If a red or pink rose nestles in those clouds of tulle atop your head, use its color as your lipstick elixir.

SNOW TRAVELING'S NO TROUBLE—A gigantic cross-country freight train, designed to tiptoe across deep snow fields, has been delivered to the Army Transportation Corps for use in the Arctic. The LeTourneau-built Sno-Train, above, rolls easily across three feet of snow during Army tests in northern Michigan. The tires stand 10 feet tall, and are four feet wide. Large "hubs" at the center of each wheel conceal powerful electric motors and gears which provide all-wheel drive. Built of aluminum, the Sno-Train carries 500 gallons of fuel, and comes equipped with a transparent bubble in the roof of the control car to aid navigation.

'Moon Is Blue' Producer Buys Another Hot One

EDITOR'S NOTE — Allyn Moss is on vacation. Guest columnist F. Hugh Herbert discusses his problems with the censor.

By F. HUGH HERBERT
Written for the United Press

HOLLYWOOD —UP— Some 18 months ago, when I bought the movie rights to "The Little Hut," the consensus among all of those in the industry, who were familiar with the plays, was that I must be absolutely nuts.

Here was a play which had been running five years in London, and nearly seven years in Paris, and which had earned for itself the reputation for being roughly twice as risqué as the Folies Bergères.

Following, as it did, on the heels of the controversy which had raged about my play (and motion picture) "The Moon Is Blue" (which was denied a seal of approval) my purchase of "The Little Hut" spurred my friends to offer me bets of 10 to one that I could never in a million years get away with this one.

To a certain extent, these apprehensions were justifiable. The basic situation of the play is funny but obviously highly censorable.

It is a story of three people — the traditional triangle, namely husband, wife and lover — who are wrecked on a desert island, and who resolve their problems by working out a design for tropical island living whereby the wife will be shared jointly, during alternating weeks by two gentlemen involved. Subsequently a handsome young native chieftain shows up, and, in effect, declares himself in on this cozy arrangement.

The problem confronting me was simple, yet formidable: How to retain all the fun and provocative qualities which had made "The Little Hut" internationally famous, and yet never overstep the bounds of good taste. In other words, how do you juggle husband, wife, lover, a tropical island, a native chief, the minimum of clothing, a great deal of human nature (sex) and yet keep it clean as a hound's tooth?

Well it can be done. Some months from now you're going to see Ava Gardner as the wife, Stewart Granger as the husband, and David Niven as the lover. And in a nice little hut we're going to build for them on a real tropical island.

I don't believe one laugh from the play has been lost in the transition; I believe many have been added. Meanwhile, locked in my safety deposit box, I have a precious letter from the Motion Picture Producers Association, in which they approve my script across the board.

Gray Dem. Convention

The Gray County Democratic Convention held earlier this week was, without a doubt, one of the most childish orgies the Top of Texas has witnessed in a long time.

After the majority of delegates pledged its allegiance to that paragon of the socialistic national Democratic Party, Lyndon Johnson, it proceeded to pass a series of resolutions which reached a degree of banality comparable to the convention's recognized hero, (brace yourself) "elder statesman" Harry Truman.

In the course of the aforementioned procedure it chastised Governor Shivers because of the scandals in the State Insurance Commission and the Veteran's Land Department and this was the height of irony when it is recalled how the convention's Little Lord Lyndon was first elected to the Senate by the votes of George Parr's bailiwick of rectitude, Duval County.

The convention's sweeping recognition of virtue was made complete when it sent its best wishes to "elder statesman" Harry Truman on the occasion of his birthday. Now if Allan Shivers could ever begin to hold a candle to Tom Pendergast's protege, Harry, when it comes to scandals in his administration, we would like a full bill of particulars.

It should be noted, though, that the convention's zeal did not go so far as to state that Shivers was personally implicated in any of his appointee's misdoings. Innuendo, the appropriate though less honorable approach, was the order of the day.

What the Johnson - Rayburn - New Deal clique should have done was not bothered about resolutions castigating the relatively able administration of Allan Shivers but just stated that the issue was either a vague, emotional attachment to the name "Democratic Party," regardless of what it stands for, or agreement with the program of making Washington, D. C., everybody's Big Brother.

The majority of delegates, in their support of Johnson, seemingly did not discern the difference between what has happened, in principle, to the national Democratic Party and a sort of ecstatic reverie attached to the party as a type of holy order which is beyond question.

Whoever contends the national Democratic Party is not motivated lock, stock and barrel by the organized goons who supposedly "represent" a segment of "labor," the minority pressure groups and a fawning desire to prostrate itself before every organized faction it thinks can deliver the most votes is sadly in need of an awakening to the fact that "the old grey mare ain't what she used to be."

That the national Republican Party is little, if any, better we will not seriously challenge but nevertheless, the Texas Democrats did have an opportunity to express themselves firmly for the broad principle of states' rights (and we don't mean by empty resolution) when it sent its delegation to San Francisco this summer to attend the national convention but now, it appears, Texas will just be sucked along in the undertow of the Reuthers, Trumans and the NAACP.

The extent to which central government control is spreading has taken almost wildfire proportions and the South is awakening to this with the advent of the Supreme Court's recent usurpations of legislative functions. The lines of protest are few but Texas Democrats had an opportunity to give vent to this danger with a delegation to San Francisco which could, if necessary, have told the northern labor bosses where to go if they proceeded to shove down Texas' throat one of their Marxian darlings.

Be that as it may now, the Johnson victory has proven a victory for ever-growing central government with the inevitable loss of traditional Texas independence through the increasing pressure of big government.

THE NATION'S PRESS

ONE NOISE FROM TWO HORNS

(Chicago Tribune)

Mr. Eisenhower and Mr. Truman spoke the same day on the same subject, and reached the same conclusion - namely, that more, not less, foreign aid is a fine idea. Mr. Eisenhower is identified as a Republican, and Mr. Truman as a Democrat, but on this matter, as on many others, they achieved the binomial effect familiar to auditors of high fidelity recordings. That is, also two separate speakers are used, the harmony blended.

There were some slight differences, Mr. Eisenhower implied that Americans should pay to foreigners out of penitence because their country was successful. "The United States," he said, "cannot live along - a paragon of prosperity - with all the rest of the world sinking lower and lower in its standard of living." He said that America was like the factory owner who built a manor on the top of the hill, but found that "he was not safe except only as the people below were contented and believed they were advancing."

If America's mission is to make the whole world contented, it could tap off every cent of its wealth and resources without accomplishing the objective. There just isn't that much available, and it seems to us that Mr. Eisenhower's prescription calls for something like an internationalized program of sharing the wealth. A process of that kind is not going to result in any visible increase in contentment among American citizens, to whom he is responsible.

Mr. Truman said that "I never did believe in half measures" and "we ought to put into our foreign aid program whatever it takes to do the job." He thought that the administration had not asked Congress for enough cash, also it has asked for almost 5 billion dollars. So, tho it would seem difficult to surpass Mr. Eisenhower's solicitude for the rest of the world, Mr. Truman, if presented the opportunity, would seem ready to outdo him. Obviously, this is a league in which no pikers need apply.

But the real point in this comparison of the extravagances of party leaders is that, once again, the parties allow the voter no choice. You get the same thing from both of them. The only "function of parties is to emphasize differences in political outlook and philosophy. The voter should be free to endorse the choice offered by one and to reject the alternative. When there are no choices, the voter is denied any effective voice in the formation of national policy. It is his right to say, not whether he should be shaken free of this many or that many billions in foreign aid, but whether he should be shaken free of anything at all for that purpose.

Friendship Quotations

Since everyone is interested in friendships and the ideas of what a friend is, seems to have no very generally accepted meaning, I want, for a few days, quote from an old book I have with hundreds of quotations on friendship. The book is now out of print and I would that someone would reassemble another book on friendship.

Many people confuse a friend with an ally, an accomplice, a partner, an associate, an acquaintance, a confederate. But these, certainly, are not friends. Friendship is, undoubtedly, a reward of virtue. In fact, it is probably the greatest reward.

If the word "friendship" is properly understood, there can be no friendship among the evil. Plato expressed this a couple of thousand years ago when he wrote: "Fate, which has ordained that there shall be no friendship among the evil, has also ordained that there shall ever be friendship among the good."

One of the best definitions of a friend in this collection was written by Horace Smith. This is what he wrote:

"A real friend is one who will tell you of your faults and follies in prosperity, and assist you with his hand and heart in adversity."

Samuel Johnson realized that the number of friends one had was always limited. He illustrated it in this manner: "When Socrates was building himself a house at Athens, being asked by one that observed the littleness of the design why a man so eminent would not have an abode more suitable to his dignity, he replied that he should think himself sufficiently accommodated if he could see that narrow habitation filled with real friends."

Here are more quotations from this old book:

"Ah, how good it feels, The hand of an old friend!"—Longfellow.

"Friendship above all ties does bind the heart, And faith in friendship is the noblest part."—Lord Orrery.

"The most I can do for my friend is simply to be his friend. I have no wealth to bestow on him. If he knows that I am happy in loving him, he will want no other reward. Is not friendship divine in this?"—Theodore.

"People who have warm friends are healthier and happier than those who have none. A single real friend is a treasure worth more than gold or precious stones. Money can buy many things, good and evil. All the wealth of the world could not buy you a friend or pay you for the loss of one."—Aron.

"Other blessings may be taken away, but if we have acquired a good friend by goodness, we have a blessing which improves in value when others fail. It is even heightened by sufferings."—William Ellery Channing.

"Friendship is an education. It draws the friend out of himself and all that is selfish and ignoble in him, and leads him to life's higher levels of altruism and sacrifice. Many a man has been saved from a life of frivolity and emptiness to a career of noble service by finding at a critical hour the right kind of friend."—Aron.

"There is nothing quite so hygienic as friendship; to love and be loved means — even pulse, clear eyes, good digestion, sound sleep — success."—Elbert Hubbard.

"A little peaceful home Bounds all my wants and wishes; add to this My bond and friend, and this is happiness."

—Francisco di Rioja. Pleasant as it is to behold the face of Nature, it has no beauty like the countenance of a beloved friend. Sweet is the song of birds, but sweeter the voices of these we love."—William Lloyd Garrison.

"I don't readily forget old friends, nor easily stop loving anybody I have ever loved. However, I have learned long ago not to expect more from a three people to care for me at a time—maybe I'm extravagant in saying three."—Lowell.

Mid-East Dispute Left Out Of Presidential Campaign

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The Eisenhower-Dulles effort to eliminate the Arab-Israeli quarrel from the Presidential campaign has drawn support and praise from numerous bipartisan sources, but not from prospective opponents. In discussing this delicate international problem, almost all of the leading Democratic candidates and their backers assail the Administration's deliberate policy of strict but helpful neutrality.

Representative Omar Burleson of Texas, a member of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, issued an even plainer warning against introduction of the Israel issue into American politics. He said: "It is time for all candidates for public office in the United States—Republicans and Democrats alike—who have viewed this controversy as a means of bartering for votes, to realize that we have been callously playing politics with American national security."

Almost 200 members of House and Senate, with a majority of them Democrats, have tried to pressure Eisenhower and Dulles into reversing their stand. Most of them represent districts where the so-called "Jewish vote" is an important factor — sometimes a dominant one — in elections.

This powerful racial group generally voted for F.D.R. and Harry S. Truman from 1932 to 1948, but political samplings indicate that Ike cut into Democratic strength with this element in 1952. His advisers now express concern that he may suffer severely among them next fall, especially in populous and possibly decisive urban areas.

The President and Secretary of State, however, have so far refused to be moved by these pressures and possibilities. In recent messages to the annual conference of the American Council for Judaism, they thanked that body for its opposition to the extreme Zionists' demands. It is their latest pronouncement on this question.

The Council refuses to accept the idea that Palestine is or should be a "Jewish homeland." It looks upon Israel as a state rather than a religion. It does not believe, as the more enthusiastic Zionists seem to think, that the Middle East Republic should be regarded and treated as an "American ward," despite Truman's role in creating it.

In view of this conflict, Ike's message is considered as extremely significant, as well as a declaration of political courage. "Tension and hostility in the Near East," he said, "requiring more than ever before the pursuit of policies based on genuine friendship for all of the peoples in that area." The American Council for Judaism has contributed greatly to a better understanding of the cultural and moral and spiritual values of Judaism. Ike's reference to his interest in "all the peoples of that area" is obviously designed to reassure the 40,000,000 Arabs. They have turned from friends to enemies of the United States because of Truman's extraordinary solicitude toward Israel on the eve of the 1948 election, and the insistent demands of Israel's American sympathizers.

Besides seeking to retain the Arabs' friendship, even though

FOR REFLECTION

With JAMES C. INFEBRESEN, President, Spiritual Mobilization. Practically speaking, the appeal of Communism (along with all its kins' cousins such as Socialism, paternalism, etc.) is almost solely to the emotions. Although it cannot stand rational analysis any more than it can actual application, it does make a powerful emotional appeal to certain people with its creed of "from each according to his ability, to each according to his need."

Dr. A. J. M. van Dal of The Hague, Secretary General of the International Commission of Jurists, recently urged formulation of a "simple set of fundamental principles expressing in a readily understandable way the common denominator of our legal-political beliefs" that the individual should be protected against the tyranny of the state. I think this is a timely suggestion. An emotionally potent watchword briefly blazing forth the basic principle underlying freedom as opposed to collectivism might help all of us.

Have you any suggestions as to such a watchword? I cannot offer you a prize for the best suggestion or even promise to acknowledge your letter. But, if I get some good suggestions, I will publish them in this column, together with the names of their authors. Send your suggestions to me at 1521 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles 17, Calif.

Judge Attacks Court For Appointments

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York — Judge Harold R. Medina applied to the state courts Medina of the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Second Circuit. The whole bunch of the state of New York on the ground that the judges are selected by political bosses for political reasons.

There was a sharp retort by Judge Aron Steuer of the State Supreme Court. Steuer, frustrated by denying a fact which is a criminal case against a group of eleven Communists. He has been running around the country ever since shooting off his mouth to his associations and about his vast courage in refusing to chuck the job and run away or commit suicide. Actually, Medina had the protection of the best police force in the world, the New York cops, and of the FBI.

Medina is a public figure who has made the pleasurable mistake of believing his own publicity. He was given a fantastic publicity by being selected to act as judge in a criminal case against a group of eleven Communists. He has been running around the country ever since shooting off his mouth to his associations and about his vast courage in refusing to chuck the job and run away or commit suicide. Actually, Medina had the protection of the best police force in the world, the New York cops, and of the FBI.

And for all his mock-modest boasting, he actually did a rotten job in the Communist case. He was so slack that he permitted the attorneys for the Moscowites to drag the federal court down to the sordid level of its judiciary. So he tried a criminal case and didn't jump out the window. That is literally the substance of his boast whenever he can confront a dozen or more dupes from behind a water-pitcher.

He then relates that he suffers from a fear of high places and that Communist agents would phone him at night, "You've got to jump!" He doesn't bother to explain how it was that a federal judge was answering his phone himself in the middle of the night when he was engaged in the most important criminal trial of modern times.

He expressed this opinion of the Communist case in a speech to a Western Bar Association within the last year. Another federal appellate judge who heard him said Medina had the gall to boast that he had preserved the federal judiciary's prudence. "He didn't do himself much good with the members of our trade by that remark," said jurists.

The truth is that the Supreme Court of the United States is a disgrace by the very standard that conditions in the federal courts.

Earth's Circumference Shorter Than Supposed

By HENRY McLEMORE

(News Item: Government scientists reported the other day that Earth's circumference is not as long as we have been told. From now on I'll be reckoned. New figures on the size and shape of the planet show that its radius at the equator is pretty good at mathematics, and about half a mile shorter than the accepted distance. . .)

That's good news. Real good news. Now there can be no good excuse for not making that trip around the world. . .

No longer will people be able to say, "I just couldn't leave the kids in the kitchen to the dining room that long," or, "Around the world? Good heavens, that would take forever!"

From now on I won't think a trip, a man would be foolish not to see London's fog, Rome's antiquity, Castro's sphinx, the street called in "Straight" in Damascus, India's Taj Mahal, Bangkok's wats, Hong Kong's peaks, Japan's temples, Honolulu's Waikiki, and San Francisco's Cow Palace.

Let's not forget this, either: The half mile shrinkage of the earth has simplified travel around the world, and just think of how it has reduced distances here in the United States. It has put us so close together that all of us will be seeing each other all the time.

For example, I have been wanting to visit Uncle Orville and Aunt Deda for goodness knows how long. I haven't seen those sweet people for a coon's age. But Statesboro, Ga., was so far away—something like 2,826 miles. Now Statesboro is only 2,825.2350566999 miles. Just a hop, skip and a jump, you might say. I have already written Aunt Deda to expect Mary and me for dinner any Sunday now. We'll just get up a little bit early and be there in plenty of time.

The amusing new measurement by the government scientists not only affects long trips — it makes everything closer and easier to reach. For instance, our

Maybe they're used to it in Bermuda, but I have yet to see a fellow wearin' Bermuda shorts who does not flinch and grow pale when he drops tobacco sauce on his neck while eatin' oysters in a sea food restaurant.

Christian Science Services

How spiritualization of thought brings man enlarged ability and opportunity will be brought out in the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Mortals and Immortals" at Christian Science services Sunday.

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (283:5-15): "Mortals must gravitate Godward, their affections and aims grow spiritual — they must near the broader interpretations of being, and gain some proper sense of the infinite, in order that sin and mortality may be put off."

"This scientific sense of being, forsaking matter for Spirit, by no means suggests man's absorption into Deity and the loss of his identity, but confers upon man enlarged individuality a wider sphere of thought and action, a more expansive love, a higher and more permanent peace."

Meteor Dust Can And Does Cause Rain To Fall On Earth

By DELOS SMITH
NEW YORK—UP—Meteor dust can and does cause rain to fall on the earth, according to the well-documented theory of an Australian scientist which is based on the weather records of the two hemispheres and five continents covering up to 100 years.

If the theory is proven out, it will give weather forecasters a new tool — not only for predicting rainfall but also for predicting weather conditions generally.

Clouds do not empty their wetness unless they contain something which can serve as nuclei for the formation of droplets. These nuclei are dust particles sucked up into the atmosphere from the earth's surface.

Meteor Dust Acts Same Way
But Dr. E. G. Bowen says they also can be dust from the showers of meteors which follow orbits around the sun. The earth in its orbit periodically passes through the orbits of meteor showers. Each time it does, meteor dust rains into its atmosphere from above.

Whenever in the atmosphere there are very large cloud formations which are relatively free of dust-particles, nuclei which originate from the earth, the meteor dust serves the same purpose — and it rains. Since the orbits and periodicity of meteor showers are known, the dates when the earth's atmosphere is being bombarded with meteor dust are also known.

The theory is exciting weather scientists. Bowen made reports to their professional bodies through the world, including the American Meteorological Society. Its implications are vast.

For example, Bowen pointed out that the earth's climate changes and "if meteor showers have a direct effect on world rainfall, an increase or decrease in the amount of dust in the solar system could easily explain the changes which have occurred."

As for what it would mean in forecasting — rain releases a great amount of heat from the atmosphere. One inch of rain is said to equal, in heat, three days of sunshine.

"If this were to occur simultaneously at a number of points over the globe, it is possible that the whole circulation pattern would be affected," he said. "If meteor dust acts or rains simultaneously in many places over the world, meteor dust would be a very powerful maker of the earth's weather."

Central Baptist Sets Film

"The Greater London Crusade," a documentary film of the Billy Graham London Crusade of 1954, will be shown at Central Baptist Church Saturday night at 8:00 o'clock.

Dr. C. Wade Freeman, who currently is conducting revival services at Central Baptist Church, was with the Billy Graham team in the London Crusade. Graham gave Dr. Freeman a personal copy of the film, and it is this copy which will be shown Saturday night. The public is invited to view the film, and no admission charge will be made.

Revival services will continue at the Central Baptist Church through Sunday night.

Women In The Church

The Council of Church Women of Portsmouth, Virginia, has raised $500 for a new edition of the Story of Jesus for the people of Pakistan. Inspiration for this achievement was originally provided by Dr. Andrew Thakur Das, a Pakistani Christian leader, who challenged the Council with his account of the needs of Christians in his homeland. Other state or city councils are considering undertaking similar projects. The Story of Jesus is the first book translated into scores of languages for "new literates" under the program of Dr. Frank C. Laubach and the Committee on World Literacy and Literature.

Says the United Christian Missionary Society (Disciples, Indianapolis) in a recent statement: "The church must strengthen the spiritual resources of the individual; it must protect the family and eliminate conditions which undermine family life; it must become the active ally of those forces which seek to reintegrate life upon a sounder and better basis; it must eradicate those evils which exploit the weaknesses of people — alcohol, narcotics, gambling, low standards of sex morality. It must strengthen the educational forces and use its influence to make available to every member of the community a decent income, decent standards of living, decent housing. It must defend civil and religious liberties, not simply for its own protection, but in defense of the rights of all. It must promote friendship, goodwill and understanding at home and abroad, and must with its own body build a bulwark against encroaching doctrines that subjugate the individual and make him the slave or the victim of the social group. Finally, it must stand as a mediator between man and man, and group and group, lifting them all to the throne of divine grace."

From funds received by United Church Women from the World Day of Prayer, a fully-equipped gospel mobile unit is being sent into the Mau Mau country of Kenya Colony, Africa, "to spread the message of love among the Kikuyu."

The unit will have broadcasting and motion picture equipment and will tell the gospel story and carry on religious instruction.

Austria To Select New Parliament

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Foreign Analyst
Austria's two big political parties are fighting each other ferociously in the final stage of a national election campaign.

The voters will go to the polls Sunday to elect a new parliament for a four-year term.

Then, after the returns are in, the leaders of the contending parties will shake hands and get back to the business of running the country together in a coalition as they have done since 1945.

The campaign is being fought between the Conservative People's party and the Socialist party.

If the people's party wins, Chancellor Julius Raab will keep his job. If the Socialists win, vice-chancellor Adolf Schaerf will be the head man and Raab will step down to the No. 2 post.

Trouble Over Domestic Issues
The coalition began to come apart in January over purely domestic issues.

The chief one was the future of the valuable oil fields which have been returned to Austria after 10 years of Soviet Russian exploitation.

Raab's right-of-center people's party wants control of the fields to be turned over to a company of which the government would own 51 per cent of the stock. The Socialists, naturally, want them to be almost entirely nationalized.

There are other issues, too, like the proper method of giving farmers higher prices for their milk.

But even though the conservatives and the Socialists decided to call an election one year before schedule, they had rather a hard time getting hot in their campaigning.

Each Accuses Other One
Now, however, the two parties are calling each other enemies of the people in speeches and election posters, and accusing each other of trying to strangle Austria's new freedom.

Dispatches from Vienna note that the posters are sometimes

A recent article entitled "Handle Me Easy, Daddy" enumerates common faults of parents in handling small children.

Putting a child alone by one hand or walking it between two adults, especially if one is taller than the other may cause neck injury, as well throwing a child in the air and catching it; or carrying a sleeping youngster and not properly supporting its head.

Dangerous practices, like cuffing a child on the side of the head, or pushing him between the shoulders should be stopped. All of these practices are dangerous as they injure the neck and the nerves and lay the foundation for future trouble. Our Clinic records show that weak eyes, mastoid trouble, enlarged tonsils, rheumatism, constipation, St. Vitus' dance, infantile paralysis, fevers, colds, delicate stomach, convulsions, and many other disorders, began with such injuries.

Homer Happy Season Faces Major League Hurlers

Ruth's Homerun Record In Jeopardy This Season

By United Press

Both major leagues will set new home run records this season. Eight teams will surpass their 1955 totals. Seven will set new club marks. And five players will top Babe Ruth's record of 60 round-trippers in one year.

That's the awful prospect for major league pitchers in the face of what's shaping up as the most "homer happy" season in history.

A total of 307 home runs were hit in the 147 games played so far this season a pace which would give both leagues some 2-480 round-trippers when the last ball disappears into the bleachers next Sept. 30. It averages out to about 2.04 homers every nine innings.

The heaviest cannoning had been going on in the National League where 154 homers have been hit in 70 games. At that pace, the league will total about 1,340 homers for the season and surpass the circuit mark of 1,263 set in 1955.

In the American League, there have been 147 homers belted in 77 contests. That pace would give the circuit approximately 1,140 round-trippers for the campaign and easily eclipse its record of 973 established in 1950. The league fell just short of that total last season with 961.

The biggest home run barrage in the majors has been set off by the NL's Cincinnati Redlegs, who have walloped 38 homers in 20 games. They're travelling at a pace which would give them 273 for the year as compared to the current mark of 212 for one team set by the New York Giants in 1947.

The Redlegs aren't the only team in the majors travelling ahead of the 1947 Giants' record homer pace, however. The American League—leading New York Yankees have awaited 34 in their 21 games and would wind up with 249 if they were to continue the pace. Three of her National League teams are running ahead of the 1955 home run paces and in the American League, four teams besides the Yankees are ahead.

Only Two Games Played
Just two games were played in the majors Thursday, both in the American League, as Cleveland beat New York 7-2 and Chicago downed Boston 2-1. Detroit at Washington, the only other AL game scheduled, was postponed because of rain.

The National League's two scheduled affairs, Brooklyn at Chicago and St. Louis at Milwaukee, also were rained out.

Bob Lemon, Cleveland's veteran sinker-ball specialist, subdued the Yankees in an eight-hit performance to register his fourth victory of the season. The 35-year-old right-hander struck out five and walked only two, yielding the Yankees' only runs on Mickey Mantle's 11th homer and Yogi Berra's 10th.

George Kell's solo homer in the seventh inning gave the Chicago White Sox their 2-1 win over the Red Sox and snapped a five-game Chicago losing streak. Minnie Mi-noso's second homer and Dick Ger-nert's run-scoring single—both in the first inning—had produced a tie that lasted until Kell belted his first homer of the season.

America Has No Corner On Sportsmanship Or Talents

TODAY'S SPORT PARADE

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK—UP—John Landy takes another whack at the four-minute mile Saturday and whether he makes it or not it's been a privilege and a pleasure to have him with us.

If that sounds like a chamber of commerce speech, so be it. Because we too often are inclined to take it for granted that we have a corner on sportsmanship as well as athletic talent.

This lean, 26-year-old school-teacher from Down Under is a champion in both departments. It's a cinch, as he takes a bead on his own world mile mark of 3:58 in the West Coast Relays at Fresno, Calif., Saturday, that sooner or later he or somebody else is going to break it. Modestly deprecating his own ability to run faster than 3:56, Landy admits as much.

"Someday they'll run as low as 3:50, and it might be within five years the way they're running now," he predicts.

Notice he didn't say the way "we" are running. But this is the lad who just might do it, because six men have run the mile under four minutes a total of 11 times. Landy himself has done it five of those times.

Landy, aside from a few laudatory words for Bailey, was apparently unperturbed. Instead of blowing his top, he maintained a marked poise, jokingly observing that if he had his career to plot over again he would be a sprinter "because it's easier and shorter."

He has proved several times before that he was a sportsman of whom Australia can well be proud.

The most notable occasion was in a recent race in Australia when an opponent tripped and fell. Landy stopped to help him to his feet—and then went on to win the race. He ran the mile that time in 4:04.2, too.

Coming to the United States to help plug the Olympic games, to be held in Australia late this year, Landy has really made friends and influenced people. One reason is his straightforward appraisal of himself, on which shows a wide streak of humor.

Asked why he doesn't own an automobile or even a bicycle, general John explained he was "a frugal sort of fellow."

"Besides," he said, tapping a long forefinger on one leg, "I've been able to get along rather well on these."

Time Out With Tom

By TOMMIE ELLIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

Well Folks! It has been nice knowing all of you these past three years. We are leaving Pampa for another position over in the land of Oklahoma.

We have made many friends here and regret leaving Pampa more than any place we have ever lived.

We are happy to have been here as long as we were. We had a chance to see several of the best athletic teams in the history of the state as the cagers went to Austin three times and brought back the state crown twice.

We saw the Harvester golfers win district for the first time in the history of the sport in Pampa and district 1-AA. We were privileged to see the Harvester base-ballers take second place in the 1-AA baseball district and we were on hand to see the Pampa Oilers take the pennant of the West Texas-New Mexico League two years in a row.

In addition to that we saw the Pampa Optimist Club organize the first "Kid Baseball" program here in Pampa. The club, in its infancy, struggled during the first year and is still struggling. But many changes have been made in Pampa because of it.

The club now has purchased property for the construction of the "Boys Work" center. Three baseball diamonds are under construction there and three have already been completed at other sites throughout our fine city.

Also, plans for a clubhouse and other things are in the making and we feel the Optimists, closer connected to sports than any other local civic club, will go on to better things with the support of the community. Other clubs have made advancements too, and helped the Optimists.

Pampa's boxing team has taken the regional crown one year and split with Berger once during our stay here in Pampa.

Probably the greatest thrill of our career here was the cagers' victory over Berger in the playoffs of the northern half of the 1-AA district this past season.

In addition to all the above mentioned items we have seen a new district organized in which Pampa will participate. We want to wish you athletes all the luck in the coming years.

My wife, Betty, and I, and our children, Diane, Daris and Debbie will be leaving the Panhandle Saturday for Duncan, Okla., where we will be working for another newspaper.

We don't like goodbyes so... See you.

If anyone comes through Duncan be sure and look us up.

Oilers Outhit Ponies, But Fall Again, 22-14

The Pampa Oilers' pitching staff, mangled for 4 runs the last two nights, had to call for outside help from acting manager, Joe Fortin, last night as they fell to the League leading Plainview Ponies, 22-14.

Grover Seitz, tossed out of his first game of the season, set a new record for gentlemanly conduct as he went through the first 20 games before being "run."

Fortin, however, was unable to pull the game out of the bag as the Ponies led 19-10 as he took over the pitching duties in the sixth frame.

He allowed only three runs in his three innings of pitching and two of them were unearned.

Red Dial, Oiler "charter," was an easy mark for the powerful Ponies as he gave up only seven hits but was tagged for 10 runs.

Jerry Tucker came in and was met with the same hitting attack as he was tagged for nine hits and the same number of runs.

With Seitz out of the game, Fortin, wanting to rest the pitching staff, hurried the final three frames.

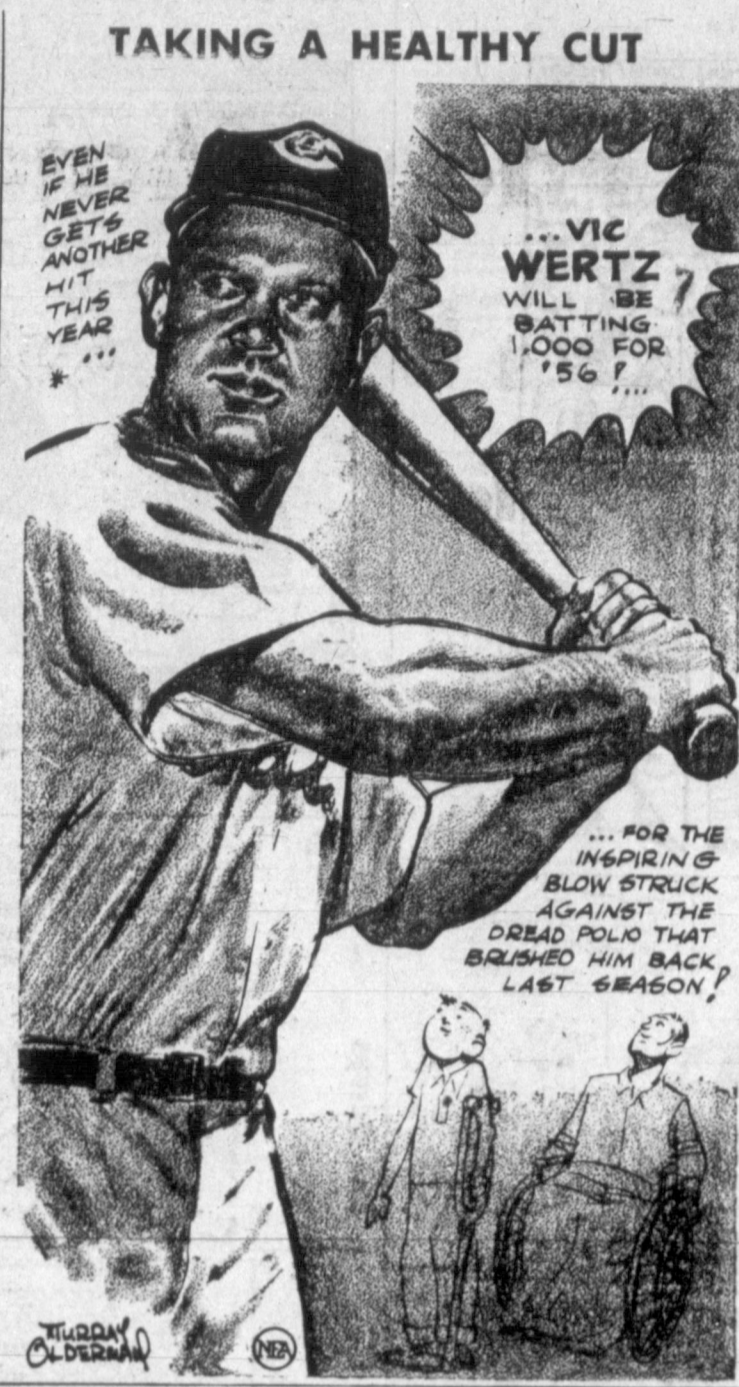

Johnny Yanchura and Jim Martin led the Oilers' hitting attack as they blasted out three for five and scored a total of five runs.

Frank Kempa, on the other hand, led the club in the RBI department as he forced in four of the 14 Pampa runs.

The two teams will be back at it again tonight in Jaycee park in Plainview. Game time is 8 and the Oiler starting pitcher may be Red Dial. He should be ready to go after pitching only 1 and 1-3 innings last night.

T. Tech Raiders Host Border Teams In Track Meet Today

LUBBOCK —UP— Texas Tech plays host to the 26th Border Conference track and field meet Friday for the first and perhaps last time.

Texas Tech has hopes of being admitted to the Southwest Conference at the spring meeting this weekend in Fayetteville, Ark., but isn't expected to resign from the Border circuit until something official comes from the Southwest Conference.

Arizona State and Arizona are joint favorites in the conference track and field meet with Texas Western rated the third choice.

In accompanying tennis and golf competition, Arizona is expected to defend its net laurels while both Arizona schools may press Texas Tech in its effort to defend its golf crown.

Preliminaries in all track and field events except the variety pole vault got under way Friday afternoon. Finals in some freshman divisions and varsity javelin also will be wound up Friday. They include frosh pole vault, high jump, shot put, broad jump, discus and some track events.

If the predicted afternoon thunderstorms don't put a damper on proceedings, the fast Razorback track may be the scene of several all-time record performances. In the freshman division, no record is really safe, not only because of a crop of yearlings that have been outshining their varsity brothers yearlong, but also because the record was the winning performance last year.

High Standards Expected

In the varsity group, several standards were expected to be improved in view of prior performance this season, and the athletes' hope of getting into the Olympic tryouts this summer.

Phi Beta Kappa is the oldest American college Greek letter fraternity. It was organized in 1776 at William and Mary College.

Olson Shoots Robinson's Title May 18

SAN JACINTO, Calif. —UP— Although the San Jacinto River has dried up, all was serene Friday in the camp of Sugar Ray Robinson, who defends his middleweight crown a week from now against Carl Bobo Olson.

Here under the mystery trees, Harry Mendel, the training camp's roly-poly publicity man, refused to shed tears when sports writers commiserated with him on the parched condition of the river bed — the only possible aquatic spot within miles.

"'Twas sad, indeed, the writers told the plump press agent. Now he would be unable to have Robinson heroically rescue man, woman or child from drowning — as is the custom at fight camps. No water, no life saving."

"We don't need a rescue this time," Mendel, of Newark, N.J., replied triumphantly. "We've already got $122,000 in the till for this fight, and the gate is almost certain to go over $200,000."

Mendel's glowing statement about ticket sales was pedaled by Robinson's own declaration. "I'm in the best condition and the sharpest since I started my comeback."

When he steps into the ring against Olson at Wrigley Field, Los Angeles, next Friday night he will be a much better fighter, he assured, than he was last Dec. 9 when he took the 160-pound title from San Francisco's Bobo on a second-round knockout at Chicago.

Horned Frogs, Mississippi In NCAA Play

NEW YORK — UP — Texas Christian and Mississippi are the first of 28 to 22 college baseball teams to win berths in the 1956 NCAA championship playoffs.

Texas Christian qualified during the weekend, the NCAA confirmed Friday, by clinching its first Southwest Conference championship in 23 years with a 9-1 victory over Texas. Mississippi will play Florida for the Southeastern Conference title this weekend, but Florida is on NCAA suspension and so the tourney berth will go to Mississippi, win or lose.

Twelve berths in the tourney are reserved for conference champions; selection of 16 to 20 "at-large" teams will complete the district playoff brackets.

The eight district champions emerging from these playoffs will meet in a double elimination tourney for the title at Omaha, Neb., June 9-15.

S'west Considers Texas Tech

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. —UP— Southwest Conference faculty representatives met Friday to consider Texas Tech's long fight to win admittance to the conference, while 242 athletes fought to get into Saturday's finals of the top's 41st track and field championships.

Observers, who said Tech had the best chance of trying, reported that a final decision on Tech's application for membership in the seven-school conference would probably not come until Saturday.

Meantime, preliminary events were run off in the track meet, with records in danger in all divisions.

Lincoln Downs Amarillo, 6-2

Lincoln used home runs and the six-hit pitching of Manager Larry Shepard Thursday night to defeat first-place Amarillo 6-2.

Outfielder Dick Stuart hit two homers for the Chiefs—the first one in the fourth with one on and the second in the seventh with two on. Amarillo pitcher Mike Coen accounted for the other Lincoln run in the fifth when he balked with the bases loaded.

The Pueblo Dodgers, after five innings of a deadlocked game, broke a 1-1 tie in the sixth with five runs and coasted on to defeat the Des Moines Bruins 9-3.

Fourth-place Topeka defeated Albuquerque 7-6 and Colorado Springs at Sioux City was rained out elsewhere in the league.

Market Hogs, Cattle In Decline

WASHINGTON—UP—The Agriculture Department has reported that market supplies of hog and heavy fed cattle have turned downward from their fall and winter highs.

The reduction is partly seasonal, the department said in the publication, "The Livestock and Meat Situation." But with fewer cattle reported on feed April 1 and fewer sows farrowing spring pigs, the overall level of livestock marketings will be lower than in past months, the department predicted.

While this is "a significant let-up from post expansion," the department said, "it is not a major reversal of trend." It said hog production will remain "less than in the past year, but cattle production will continue high, as cow members are being fully maintained."

The number of cattle on feed in 14 major feeding states on April 1 was 8 per cent less than in April, 1955. The number of heavy cattle was about unchanged, promising a supply for slaughter in the near future about equal to a year ago. Most of the reduction was in cattle of the lighter weights, and unless a great many young stock are put on feed soon, the supply of fed cattle for slaughter in late summer and early fall could be considerably below the large supplies of last year.

Prices of fed cattle have strengthened recently and may continue gradually upward. Prices of grass cattle, however, are expected to be influenced by unsatisfactory feeding profits of last winter and may be slower to reach the prices of last year.

The department said indications from hog producers in nine states show that spring farrowings for the entire country probably are being reduced by somewhat more than the 2 per cent planned earlier. In the same nine states, producers intend to reduce summer farrowings (the first half of the fall pig crop) by 8 per cent. From all evidence, the department said, a smaller fall pig crop seems likelier this year than last.

South felt very silly when he reached the unlovely contract of five hearts in today's hand. Five of a major is more dangerous than a game and is not more profitable. Nevertheless, even fine players sometimes get themselves into such dangerous contracts while exploring slam possibilities.

South could have been defeated in today's hand had the defenders taken the ace of spades and the two top diamonds at once. The club opening lead gave South a fighting chance for his contract, and he took full advantage of this chance.

Declarer won with the queen of clubs, drew two rounds of trumps, and then ran the rest of the clubs, discarding spades from his hand. Fortunately, the player with four clubs also had the last trump and therefore couldn't ruff.

Declarer next led the king of spades from the dummy. East covered with the ace, and South ruffed. South then got back to dummy with the queen of hearts and cashed the queen and jack of spades. This furnished 10 tricks, and South still had a trump for his vital 11th trick.

Just the same, South is going to be a bit more careful the next time about venturing past the level of game!
