HANGING PAINTINGS

Mrs. Carl Lang and Dord Fitz are shown above hanging one of the water color paintings by Charlie Bunnell, Colorado Springs modern artist, for his one-man show opening today at 4 p.m. in Lovett Memorial Library auditorium. The painting is typical of his geometrical forms treated in a fantastic style, and this one is symbolic of the horrors and desolation created by warring nations. See story on page 8.

Experts Predict Business Will Keep On Booming

By RICHARD E. MOONEY
WASHINGTON, Sept. 10 — UP—Economists in and out of the government predicted Saturday that business will keep on booming even if the administration succeeds in balancing the budget.

Harold Miller, chairman, reported on a communication received from the National Foundation saying that a general policy set-up requires all local chapters to send in at this time 50-percent of their cash on hand.

When the government wound up its business for fiscal year 1955 in July, the deficit was $4.2 billion. Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey recently estimated the deficit for this year at only $1.75 billion. And with further savings, he said, it could be wiped out entirely by next July.

When the government runs a deficit, it is putting more money into the nation's economic bloodstream than it is taking out. Spending is higher than tax collections. Such deficit spending can have a buoyant effect on business and employment.

Roy Bourland is the new chairman of the Gray County chapter of the American Cancer Society, following an election of officers Friday evening.

Other new officers are Joe Tooley, vice chairman; Mrs. Nicholas Kadingo, secretary; and B. D. Robison, treasurer. Bourland, formerly vice-chairman, has been acting chairman since Rev. Porter Brooks moved from Pampa during the summer. Bourland announced committee chairmen will be appointed following the district meeting here in October.

Frank Stockwell of Amarillo, district field representative, spoke briefly on the need for increased development of the education and service programs of the chapters in the district. He suggested a special education committee be appointed.

"The incidence of cancer has risen," he explained, adding that it is expected that one out of every four persons will develop cancer this year.

Mrs. W. A. Spoonmore reported that there were six cases of cancer in Pampa that she knew of within the last two weeks. Sheriff Rufe Jordan reported on the results of the Cancer Crusade, of which he was chairman.

Attending the meeting were Mrs. H. H. Hicks, Sheriff Jordan, Mrs. Spoonmore, Elvin Svoboda, Mrs. Jack Foster, Bourland, Tooley, Mrs. George Hrdlicka, Mrs. Kadingo, and Mr. and Mrs. Stockwell of Amarillo.

a matter of practice, discuss the activities of congressmen.

The Rundown

In response to questions, the embassy's press attache, Aleksander L. Zinchuk, supplied a list of 28 names and the following additional information:

- "Some" members of Congress requested and were granted permission to bring along "their wives or secretaries" on the visit to Russia.
- The list of 28 names is incomplete because it includes only those who submitted their visa requests at the embassy here.
- Not all of the 28 actually will visit Russia. Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) for one, "probably won't go," Zinchuk said.

Junkets Already Underway

Of the 11 senators listed by Zinchuk, at least six have already used their visas to visit Russia. They included Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), John J. Sparkman (D-Ala.) and Allen J. Ellender, (D-La.).

House members on Zinchuk's list included Reps. Joe Holt (R-Calif.), who submitted their visa requests testing that a Soviet soldier pulled a gun on him, and Patrick J. Hillings (R-Calif.), who came back complaining that the American embassy in Moscow looks like a "pig pen." He blamed congressional apathy.

south of Fort Worth and it was destroyed by fire. The storm raged in the northwest section of Fort Worth in the Sansom Park area. Heavy rains fell in Dallas, as lightning and thunder knocked out power in some parts of town.

Temperatures dropped 29 degrees at Gainesville — from 97 to 68 degrees — in little more than an hour as the storm hit there. Sixty-five hundredths of an inch of rain fell at the Gainesville post office in the downtown section during 30 minutes.

Three miles west of Gainesville at the municipal golf course, two inches of rain fell in slightly more than an hour. Heavy rains also were reported 29 miles north of Gainesville.

Part of the cold front — which is expected to drop temperatures 10 to 15 degrees — blew into the southern Texas Panhandle earlier in the day.

The tail end of the front, which stretched on a diagonal line through Oklahoma into the Texas Panhandle early Saturday night, was expected to push on into North Central Texas during the night. Forecasters said it would reach into the central part of the state by Sunday night.

While squall lines pushed ahead of the front into the top half of Texas, a low pressure area was reported building up over the Western Gulf of Mexico about 250 to 300 miles southeast of Brownsville, Tex., at the southernmost tip of the state.

The New Orleans weather bureau issued a special bulletin that urged caution for shipping in the southwest portion of the Gulf of Mexico. The bulletin said the disturbance picked up strength during the day.

Relatives left Saturday for California to attend funeral services, arrangements for which are not completed.

going to be a candidate," Hall said. "I am going away from here strengthened in my previous assumption that he is going to be a candidate again."

Assistant White House Press Secretary Murray Snyder, who furnished reporters a resume of Mr. Eisenhower's remarks at the one-hour and 15-minute closed session, said the President told the group that when he saw the faces of the assembly chairmen, he liked the Republican party more than ever.

Toward the end of his remarks, the President also said: "Again I say this country, this party, is not only big — it overthrows every individual and any individual in it."

Complimented by Telegram

But he said that for him to "fall to say I am complimented" by a telegram sent him by the GOP chairmen urging him to run again "would be inexcusable."

The telegram was sent him Friday night by the party leaders before they left Washington to fly here for the meeting with the President. He received it shortly before Saturday morning's session.

CHINA

negotiations do not mean that the United States is recognizing the Peiping government.

Further Relaxation

But officials in Washington, commenting on the agreement, said it almost certainly will lead to further relaxation of tension between the United States and Red China.

As part of Saturday's agreement, the Chinese Reds named Great Britain, which has recognized them, as its agent to assist in the repatriation of Americans. India will act as United States' agent in assisting in the repatriation of those Chinese students who may want to go to the Communist-ruled Chinese mainland.

Chinese delegate Wang said in his communique on the agreement: "...The Americans who have been held in jail or under house arrest will be released and sent to Hong Kong within a few days."

It was emphasized here and in Washington that the repatriation agreement covers only American civilians.

Top O' Texas Fiesta Was Big Thing 17 Years Ago

By RONALD WATERS
Pampa News Staff Writer

Welcome pioneers of yesterday and patrons of today to the Top o' Texas Fiesta, June 9-11. This was a full two-page ad in the June 7, 1938, edition of "The Pampa Daily News."

The message continues, "In the parade we see the transition from this on-cart to high-powered automobile; from a sparsely settled country to a land of diversified agriculture, cattle and industry; the strides of courage and vision are reflected in our community through . . . ambitious people."

JayCees Project

An outgrowth of the Texas Bicentennial, the celebration was held three years previous to 1938. Reno Stinson changed the name, after the Texas Centennial in Dallas was held in 1936, to Top o' Texas Fiesta. Sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, the festivities continued until June, of 1941 with the "Folk Fiesta." Activities ceased during the war years.

Among the active JayCees participating in the project were: Bob Watson, Clarence Kennedy, Jack Dunn, William Fraser, Jack Back, Dick Hughes, Ben Guill, and W. B. Weathered.

A Coronado Trail Pageant was held here one year, re-enacting Coronado's route over this region. Dick Hughes brought some Indians from Oklahoma, who participated in a pageant at the football field on one occasion. Ben Guill wrote the script and directed the show.

Archer Fullingem, former city editor of "The Pampa News," was an enthusiastic member of JayCees who helped to sell the organization on sponsoring the event, according to Clarence Kennedy. Fullingem is now owner and manager of "Kuntz News."

Seventh Fiesta

The seventh annual fiesta in 1938 was held at Roadrunner park with a program that featured four rodeo performances and a parade of giant figure balloons. The three-day celebration included a French harp contest, old fiddler's contest, barbeque, and old time dance.

Part of the news stories describing the coming events stated . . . "the celebration will be a significant demonstration of the energy of a region that is not deterred by depression, dusts, or any other condition of economics or weather."

In one story on the parade figure balloons, a prehistoric monster is mentioned that holds more than 4,000 cubic feet of air in its stomach, head, and tail. Tooty was his name, and he loved ice cream cones, especially if they were 15 feet high and contained 38½ gallons of ice cream. The balloon required 22 men to carry down the street.

Above two five-column serial views of Pampa are these words: "This enthusiastic city proudly invites all Top o' Texans to attend her fiesta." Underneath the photographs, the invitation is extended . . . "There will be a thousand things to do and a thousand things to see, and Pampa, a city of fine schools, homes, streets, trees, flowers, books, and fine people, welcomes the entire Top o' Texas to visit her . . . and prove to her visitors, as she has done many times before, that she is just as good as she looks in the above pictures." These cutlines were written by a reporter with an obvious weakness for long and involved sentences.

Fiesta Edition

The fiesta edition is full of many interesting stories and bits of past history. The sub-head on the front page reads, "Sheriff Earl Talley Dies of Brief Illness." Another story tells of Col. Ernest O. Thompson, of the Texas Railroad Commission, who is to speak at the fiesta. Pampa's past history is reviewed under the impressive headline of "Pampa built on solid rock of stability" and reads in part as follows:

"Stability has been the keynote of Pampa's sensational growth from a town of less than 1,000 population in 1825 to its present 12,000 or more inhabitants."

At that time, R. G. (Dick) Hughes was insurance manager for the American United Life Insurance Co., and the story states that he had been a resident here since 1928.

Walter Rogers was then City Attorney.

Bit Of Humor

A bit of humor was furnished in a story from Lubbock on Texas Tech freshmen examination papers. One wrote that the Spanish Aznada was a "dance something like the rumba, which organized during the time of Queen Elizabeth." Other answers found in history exam papers proved resourceful:

"The Boston tea party was the first social gathering of women in Boston at which tea was served, and the custom of serving tea has come down to the present day."

"The Pilgrim Fathers settled at Plymouth Rock because the winters were very cold, and the rock was big enough to give protection from the icy north wind."

Old Photographs

Some photographs of interest, scattered throughout the paper, depict: Canadian's power plant, the largest and longest bridge in the Panhandle spanning the Canadian River, an aerial view of White Deer "spread over big area"; and smoke pouring from one of the Coker Co. plants. The Phillips Pampa gas plant and three photos of prehistoric reptiles that "once roamed high plains area" are also shown.

A geological publication on the late County Judge J. A. Mead of Miami and his find of prehistoric bones exhibited in the Roberts County Courthouse is featured. In a story written exclusively for the news by Ray E. Colton, science writer, is a complete survey of the geology of the Panhandle area, the first of four special features.

Headlines

Fascinating and unusually written headlines are in evidence on every page. Examples: "Mead's excavations hint 'Alley Gops' slew prehistoric Miami elephants with spears"; "Student finds that his theme is read"; "Yellow River floods may save China yet"; "GI-gantic animals used to splash in Panhandle bogs"; and "Fast pooch nabbed and reward paid." History-in-the-making was indicated by headlines: "Japan best customer for war supplies" and "France sends more troops to frontier."

Some of the advertisements may bring back memories to some. "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," Walt Disney's first full-length feature production, was playing at the Crown. Clifford Braly was running for District Attorney, Plymouth was featuring a five-passenger sedan for 1935, the "Roadking De Luxe." And Clark Gable is shown gallantly escorting Myrna Loy from a flaming crashed plane, a scene from M-G-M's "Too

WHAT'S IT?—This maze of copper tubing surprised Ohio State Fair visitors by turning out to be a "frost fountain." The decorative centerpiece in the Agriculture Building at Columbus was described by one official as looking like "something put up by a drunken pipefitter."

Hot to Handle." The Santa Fe announced improved passenger train service to Kansas City, Chicago, and Los Angeles as "The finest ever offered this territory."

Yes—all of this happened just 17 years ago, which points out the important fact that today's news is tomorrow's history.

BLUES MAN Jack Webb portrays Pete Kelly, a Kansas City jazz man of the wide-open 1920's, in the CinemaScope, WarnerColor production, "Pete Kelly's Blues," which opened today at the LaNora Theatre. Film is a Mark VII Ltd. production from Warner Bros.

Dragnet Man Now Plays The Blues

Many years before cameras rolled on "Pete Kelly's Blues," Jack Webb was already dreaming of making a motion picture about jazz.

This was long before he conceived "Dragnet." In fact, it was several years before he got his first job in the entertainment world.

Webb's dream has taken concrete shape at Warner Bros. where he directed and starred in "Pete Kelly's Blues," a musical melodrama of the roaring 20's, now showing at the LaNora Theatre.

The film has a few embellishments that probably never occurred to Webb long ago, such as CinemaScope and WarnerColor. It also has Webb in the role of a cornet player, although he never dreamed of himself as an actor, only as producer and director.

Webb's idea for a jazz movie was revealed in 1943 to Dick Cathcart, cornet musician who taught Webb how to tootle the horn for his screen portrayal. Webb was then an Air Force cadet at Gardner Field in California and Cathcart a PFC who played in the camp band.

"Jack spent all his spare time in the band barracks playing records," recalled Cathcart, "and we became good friends. He was a real jazzophile and knew all about the early and modern jazz players."

"He had been collecting records for five years and was familiar with every phase of jazz music, including its history. He told me he hoped some day to produce and write a movie about a jazz band. Or else have a radio show centering around a band."

That was advanced thinking by Webb. He'd been a store clerk and steel mill worker before the war. He got his first job in the entertainment field in 1945 as a member of station KGG's staff in San Francisco, and parlayed his talents into fame and fortune.

Out of Webb's deep knowledge of jazz he chose Dixieland as the particular jazz style he wanted to do in "Pete Kelly's Blues." He calls it "New Orleans two beat" in his character of Pete Kelly.

He surrounded himself in the film with six stars, Janet Leigh, Edmond O'Brien, Peggy Lee, Andy Devine, Lee Marvin and Ella Fitzgerald. He had Oscar-winning writer Richard L. Breen do the screenplay.

He chose Kansas City in 1927, a time and place in which jazz and racketeering flourished, for his story background and added a prologue said in New Orleans, from 1915 to 1919.

Another solid asset to make his dream come true was the same band combination he had used in the radio show, "Pete Kelly's Blues," which was broadcast for 13 weeks in 1951.

Movie Battle Too Realistic
DURANGO, Mex. —UP— Movie battle scenes being filmed by a United States studio on location near here proved so realistic that 24 casualties turned up in one day.

Director George Sherman said he stopped production of the film "Comanche" after three of the 24 men injured were hospitalized. Mexican stuntman Pedro Padilla suffered a concussion when he fell on his head off a running horse. Dr. Pedro Rivera said he has treated "about 60" men hurt in movie battles the past 10 days between U.S. Cavalry forces and Indians.

Heavy Schedule for Phillips
AUSTIN —UP— State Sen. Jimmy Phillips, regarded as a potential candidate for governor next year, Thursday announced a busy speaking schedule for next week. THE MARQUEE BY DICK KLEINER

By DICK KLEINER
Star Letter Route: Dear Dick: Desi and I have found the cutest place here (Del Mar, Calif.) and what a location—on the ocean and across the street from the Del Mar track. Quite a parlay, eh? We're sort of vacationing, although our Sunday Lazy Show is working hard for us, judging from the mail we're getting. This is the first time we've been on CBS all summer.

We're having a wonderful time here. We've been clearing the beach of rocks and seaweed in the mornings—it's healthy! And playing and swimming with the children—they're just brown as berries and love the water. We walk across the street and manage to break even at the track a few times a week. We go back to Beverly Hills in time to start work again Sept. 8. Desi and the children send best regards.

Sincerely, Lucy Ball.
While he jokes about most things, Sam is deadly serious about juvenile delinquency, especially about the parents, whom he holds at fault in most cases. And he has one tip for all parents—somebody should be home when the kids return from school. He says that one item would do a lot toward controlling delinquency.

ABC-TV's new puppet show for the kids, "The Soup Sales Show," has gone into the toy business. Copies of two of the cast—Cedric the Centipede and Willie the Worm—are available for youngsters. Youngsters who like centipedes and worms, that is.

All the world—except, perhaps, darkest Bechuanaland—knows that Sam Levenson used to teach Spanish in a Brooklyn high school. But less well known is the fact that Sam sometimes wishes he still did.

"I got a great deal of satisfaction out of working with kids," says Sam, a man with a personality like a mountain stream. "Some of these mornings I wish I was back teaching. I had more freedom then—no money, but more time. My wife and I love Mexico. When I was teaching, we couldn't afford to go, but we went."

"We went by train, coach all the way. Sat up for days. And we walked through Mexico. Had a wonderful time. We were there ten weeks. Now I could afford to go first class, but I haven't got the time. Nowadays, I have to sneak off if I want to go to a concert."

He has only himself to blame.

Insecticides Poisonous To Birds, Study Shows

By DELOS SMITH
NEW YORK —UP— The first prolonged and complete scientific study of how poisonous the hydrocarbon insecticides are to birds has shown they are very poisonous, indeed.

For instance, only 0.0005 per cent of aldrin in the daily diet of quail will kill every bird within 42 days. Increase the daily amount to 0.50 per cent and you get 100 per cent mortality in four days.

Aldrin is a chemical relative of DDT, which is considerably less toxic for birds as well as for insects. In quail, the addition of 0.020 per cent of DDT to the daily diet resulted in only a 10 per cent mortality in 154 days. But increase the amount by only .005 per cent (from 0.020 to 0.025) and there is 100 per cent mortality within 45 days.

The study was made by James B. DeWitt of the Fish and Wildlife Service of the U.S. Department of the Interior and published in a technical journal of the American Chemical Society. He experimented with quail and pheasants, using these hydrocarbon insecticides, in addition to aldrin and DDT: Dieldrin, endrin, and strobane.

DeWitt included 0.02 per cent of aldrin in the daily diet of quail. Their eggs were less hatchable than the eggs of other quail, and fewer of their chicks were able to survive quail infancy. He got similar results from feeding 0.001 per cent of dieldrin to breeding quail.

Within two hours after eating food containing 0.50 per cent of endrin, adult quail began showing extreme nervousness, severe tremors, and lack of co-ordination and all were dead within 48 hours. At the other extreme, 0.001 per cent of endrin in the daily diet produced no sign of illness in other quail until the 23rd day—but three days later all birds were dead.

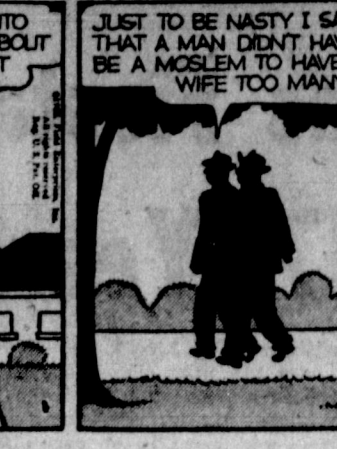

His experiments had much point because of the continuing controversy over what effect widespread spraying of the hydrocarbon insecticides has on wild life. Insects are sicked by the insecticides, but poisons are accumulative—they're stored in body fats, especially the liver.

Previous studies had shown that continuing sprayings with DDT reduced the bird population in sprayed areas. But DeWitt's was the first report on how hydrocarbons act upon two representative species of wild birds.

Hollywood Publicists Rob 'Star' Of True Meaning

By JACK GAVER
NEW YORK —UP— The three most abused words in the show business lexicon are "star," "comeback" and "Cinderella."

Hollywood's publicists and journalistic homers long ago robbed "star" of its true meaning with a thoroughness that caused even those not toiling in the celluloid vineyard to be infected. An actor who takes time out to go around the block for a parcel of cigars better make it a fast trip lest he be hailed as making a comeback upon his return.

This season the historians of Broadway are on a Cinderella kick. There are more Cinderellas around than the best-heeled prince would care to supply with slippers. The one attracting the most attention—because of the eminence of her sponsors—is Judy Tyler, a petite, pert brunette singer with a truly vivacious charm who will be the ingenue lead in the new Richard Rodgers-Oscar Hammerstein musical play, "Pipe Dream," their first new work in more than two years.

Howdy Doody Star
Miss Tyler (she's married to Colin Romoff, vocal coach) comes most recently out of television, although she has had some minor movie and stage experience. This summer you've seen her on NBC's "Caesar Presents" on Monday nights. Before that she was, of all things, Indian Princess Summer-Fall-Winter-Spring on TV "Howdy Doody" program.

Caesar had visions—and a contract to bolster them—of using Miss Tyler on his own program during the fall and winter, but when she came out on top in the auditions of many singers held by Rodgers and Hammerstein, he gracefully bowed out of the picture. She'll reciprocate by making some guest appearances for Caesar during the new season.

Tammy has been apped for the so-called Cinderellas. This 22-year-old is scarcely bowed with experience, but she did have the important assignment of filling in for Kim Stanley as leading lady of "Bus Stop" for several performances recently.

Tammy has been tapped for the title role in "The Amazing Adèle," a musical comedy adapted by Anita Loos from a French play. Miss Loos first discovered her leading lady in a student production at the neighborhood playhouse last spring.

Good Pumpkin Crop Helps
Another virtually unknown actress assigned to an important chore is Jacqueline Scott of Sikeston, Mo., who has been studying around here for some time and finally was spotted by playwright Moss Hart in a Harvard College production. She has at least as the 19-year-old girl who is a prominent part in "The V. I. W. G.," Edmund Morris' serious drama starring Louis Calhern which is due here Oct. 6.

Then, of course, there is the buxom Jayne Mansfield of Hollywood who came out of nowhere to grab what could be one of the plums of the season—leading lady in George Axelrod's new comedy, "Will Success Spoil Rock Hunter?" No professional stage work at all. There is even a pair of twins in the act, Dran and Tani Seitz, a toothy but handsome pair of blondes who have had bits in two Broadway shows in the past two seasons. Now, suddenly, Tani has an important role in the new drama, "Island of Goats," and Dran has taken over a leading role in the established musical, "Plain and Fancy."

It's a lucky thing the pumpkin crop was good this year.

QUITE A "THING"—This fearsome-looking monster is the Marine Corps' latest antitank weapon. The "land-going destroyer" is called "Ontos," a Greek word meaning "The Thing." Developed by the Army, Ontos carries six 105-mm. recoilless rifles, four 50-caliber spotting rifles and one 30-caliber machine gun. Before firing the forward-aiming recoilless rifles, Marine crews draw a bead with the spotting rifles. All six 105-mm. rifles may be fired in salvo. Ontos is called a hit-and-run weapon because after firing, the vehicle runs quickly for cover to reload. Its General Motors 145-h.p. engine speeds it at 40 m.p.h. Ontos will be produced at the Allis-Chalmers La Porte, Ind., plant.

Postmaster Gives Mailing Hints

The public can get better mail service by cooperating with the Post Office Department's "3-Point Program." Postmaster O. K. Gaylor said today. The "3-Point Program" involves: 1. The sorting of mail into local and out-of-town bundles, and with regular 3c mail separated from air mail. Post Offices will furnish without charge labels reading "all for out-of-town" and "all for local delivery." 2. The tying and bundling of mail by those who mail in quantity. The Postmaster said, "This sorting procedure is normally relatively convenient for business firms but it becomes extremely time-consuming when it must be done in the post office." 3. The earlier mailing of letters and parcels. Gaylor said, "If more mail would be deposited earlier in the day, peak loads would be reduced and a larger proportion of mail could be dispatched by earlier trains, planes and motor vehicles, thus assuring earlier delivery."

Negroes Claim Reprisals By Employers

By ED ROGERS ATLANTA—UP—More than half of a group of Alabama Negroes who signed a petition seeking unsegregated schools Friday were reported fired and boycotted by white employers. The petition presented to the city school board last Monday at Selma, Ala., bore the names of 29 Negroes. Chairman Alton Keith of the Dallas County Citizens Council made "an educated guess" that 16 have since been fired. The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People disclosed at its headquarters in New York that a plan for defensive action in the form of counter-boycotts is already afoot. The reliable Southern School News published at Nashville, Tenn., reported earlier this month that similar petitions of Negroes seeking admission to white schools are on file with 188 local school boards in the region. Many of those localities are sites of the white citizens' councils whose pioneer organizers in Mississippi openly proposed economic boycott as a primary weapon against desegregation moves. NAACP attorneys commenting on the Selma situation said the NAACP would stand by any Negroes who lose their jobs because of the petitions but has no job-placement service to help them. The NAACP has chosen petitions as a mainstay of its prospective campaign to win integration degrees in local courts but will have to depend on counter-economic measures to protect the petitioners, the attorneys said. Order Crockett Vase DALLAS—UP—A $3,000 Steuben crystal vase with an engraved design of Texas hero Davy Crockett was on order Friday by the State Fair of Texas for presentation to the "Texan of Distinction." The award will be made at the fair's annual banquet Oct. 11. It will go to Bill Cunningham, a sports columnist of Boston, Mass.

ART TO BE SHOWN—An exhibition of 44 paintings in the abstract and mystic style of Charlie Bunnell will open today at 4 p.m. in Lovett Memorial Library auditorium. Bunnell has had one-man shows all over the country and has been well represented at many museums and galleries. His work, noted for its geometrical design, will be on display this week.

Art Exhibition Here Sunday To Feature Bunnell's Work

A one-man exhibition featuring paintings by Charlie Bunnell, prominent Colorado Springs artist, will open with a tea today at 4 p.m. in Lovett Memorial Library auditorium. The comprehensive show has been arranged by Dord Fitz, area art instructor, and will be made up of 20 paintings dating back into the 40's and 24 recent paintings.

The tea has been planned by the executive board of the Pampa Arts and Crafts Association. Fitz is sponsor of the exhibit. Table decorations will feature pieces of sculpture by Mrs. Fred Sloan, ornamented with wild grass and drift wood. Mrs. Clifford Jones and Miss Florence Jackson are in charge of decorations. Coffee and cookies will be served by Mrs. W. C. Waggoner and Mrs. Dewey Palmiller. Fitz will receive attending guests and lecture on the paintings.

The public is invited to attend the tea and exhibit from 4 p.m. today, the paintings will be on display for one week.

The recent paintings are abstract and successfully reveal the spirit of the new world and its wellborn visual iconography.

During an exhibit of his paintings at New York City in May, the "New York Times" described his work in a column, "About Art and Artists" as . . . "A geometrical bias is strong in Charlie Bunnell's abstract paintings . . . Beneath jagged forms, excitably colored like icebergs at sunset, lurk suggestions of landscape and hints of symbolic significance. Paint is either bladed on heavily or laid on calmly with the brush. A cool, intellectual note is struck by the work as a whole." (May 13, 1955).

Fitz refers to his earlier paintings as . . . "almost hypnotic in their other-worldly quality, they are similar to Blake, but cast a greater mystic spell upon the beholder. The recent paintings are abstract and successfully reveal the spirit of the new world and its wellborn visual iconography."

Charlie Bunnell was born in Kansas City, Mo., Jan. 17, 1897, where he attended high school. A veteran of World War I, he married Miss Laura Palmer of Colorado Springs in 1922, and now has three children.

For years his home and studio at the foot of Pike's Peak along side of Fountain Creek has been a mecca for artists, great and not-so-great, spending their summers in the west. He is noted for his own big-hearted, inimitable personality.

Bunnell studied at the Broadmoor Art Academy from 1922-23. Starting out to study under Ernest Lawson at the academy in 1927, he became assistant instructor for the winter classes of 1928-29.

In 1929 he taught painting class at Kansas City Art Institute for over a year, and later returned in the same capacity in 1940-41. Bunnell later studied with Boardman Robinson of Colorado Springs Fine Art Center. He painted and taught

Military Men Aid Forest Fire Fighters

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 10.—UP—Firefighters reinforced by battalions of Army troops and Marines Saturday battled two of California's major forest fires to a standstill but at least five other blazes still raged unchecked.

State and federal authorities pointed out the difficulty of estimating fire damage "at this stage" but both agreed California had suffered losses that would run in excess of $15 million in valuable timber and watershed alone.

Exhausted firefighters were forced back on all fronts during a week of stifling heat. Army troops and Marines, numbering in the thousands, were called in from posts as distant as Ft. Lewis, Wash., to bolster the fire line.

Mother, Son Die In Crash

DALLAS, Sept. 10.—UP—A new red station wagon hit a bridge abutment Saturday and caught fire, killing a young mother and her four-year-old son, who were trapped in the wreckage.

The victims were Mrs. James Bain, 27, of Garland, in northeast Dallas county, and her son, Jimmie. The bodies of the victims were nearly consumed by the fire.

The station wagon went off the pavement on Skillman Road, northeast of Dallas, and hit the right abutment of a bridge over White Rock Creek.

Then it creased across the bridge, struck the left railing, skidded 18 feet sideways and stopped.

The bottom plug of the gasoline tank was found where the station wagon hit the abutment.

That apparently had let gasoline splash over the underside of the vehicle. Deputy sheriffs theorized that the child tumbled from the back seat of the station wagon and his mother lost control of it when she tried to catch him.

Oilers Take Series Lead With 10-1 Win Over Albuquerque

4th Game Of Series Set Today At 2:30

By BUCK FRANCIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

Veteran Jack Venable, making his first start in the playoffs, tossed a brilliant four-hitter at the Albuquerque Dukes last night to lead the Oilers to a 10-1 victory before a disappointing paid crowd of 1,065 at Oiler Park.

The victory gave the Oilers a 2-1 edge in the best of seven series in the first round of the Shaughnessy Playoffs. Fourth game of the series will be played at Oiler Park this afternoon, starting at 2:30.

Lefthander Tommy Harrison has drawn the starting mound assignment for the Oilers today. Harrison compiled a 2-1 record over the regular season.

Manager Eddie Bockman of the Oilers was undecided on his mound choice today but said he would likely be either Ted Shandor or Ernie Bartolomei.

In last night's game, which was witnessed by the WT-NM League president, Hal Bayles, the Oilers took command in the third inning with a four-run rally and Venable was the master after that.

Before the third inning outburst by the Oilers, the score was tied at 1-1. Albuquerque put together two of its four hits off Venable to score its only run of the game in the first inning and a temporary 2-0 lead.

A last-of double by Pedro Santiago and a single by Gene Howard produced the lone Duke marker.

After that, Venable was virtually invincible. He only allowed three Dukes to reach base from the second inning on. Two of the Dukes getting on after the first inning earned their way on via a base hit while the third got on via an error.

The Oilers, in the meantime, tied the score in the lower half of the first on Rach Slider's leadoff double and a line single to center by Sonny Tims.

Then the Oilers teed off on starter Henry Overin in the third for four big runs to break a 1-1 tie and the locals breezed in behind Venable's fine performance the remaining distance.

In the Oilers third, Curtis Hardaway started the rally by getting hit by a pitched ball, Joe Fortin then tied a single through the middle to send Hardaway to third.

Paul Halter followed with a double to the left field corner to score Hardaway and both Fortin and Halter came all the way around when the relay from the outfield got past second baseman Vince Sarubbi.

Catcher Jim Martin followed with a homer over the left field wall to make it 5-1 and the Oilers were on their way.

The Oilers added their sixth run in the sixth on a sacrifice fly by Hardaway and put the game far out of the Dukes' reach with a pair of runs in each the seventh and eighth frames.

The three Dukes who got on after the first inning were Ken Menkel, who got life on an error in the second; manager Eddie Bockman, via an infield hit in the seventh; and Gil Valentin on a double in the ninth.

Venable retired 14 Dukes in succession in one stretch, starting with one away in the second and ending with two away in the seventh when Bockman beat out his infield roller.

Venable struck out four and did not walk a man.

Rain Halts G-Sox, Ponies In 1st Frame

PLAINVIEW, Sept. 10 — Rain, starting as a drizzle and turning into a heavy downpour, washed out tonight's fourth game of the first-round Shaughnessy playoffs between Amarillo's Gold Sox and Plainview Ponies with the Sox leading 4-0 in the lower half of the first inning, two out, a Plainview runner on third base and a three-two count on the batter.

Weather and ground conditions permitting (but the prediction here is for more rain), the teams will try again Sunday afternoon, starting at 2:30. Jodie Beeler, Plainview manager, said he will come right back with Mike Conovan, lefthander off whom tonight's four Amarillo runs were scored. The Sox will use Dave Schleich, also a lefty.

But Amarillo now has played its last game at full strength, and the rain-out conceivably could cost the Sox this first-round series.

Paul Mohr, brilliant rookie first baseman, and Emil Tellingier, power-hitting right fielder, were to leave the club after the game, both headed for Virginia, where Mohr will report for active duty with the Army and Tellingier for a federal position which requires his presence at once.

Announcement that these immediate and crushing losses to the team were in prospect had been withheld because it had been thought both might obtain deferments sufficient to permit them to complete the playoffs. Uncle Sam refused to wait, however.

Main Chance Wins Playground Stakes

MAYS LANDING, N. J., Sept. 10 —UP —The Maine Chance Farm's Busher Fantasy, winner of only one race in nine starts this year, closed willingly at Atlantic City Saturday to score an upset three-quarter length triumph in the $30,925 World's Playground Stakes.

The son of Mr. Busher, ridden by Sammy Bouinetta, raced second throughout the seven-furlong event for two-year-olds and finally made his move entering the stretch. He sped past the pace-setting Iobe as the D. and H. Stable's Needles, the 2 to 5 choice of the crowd of 23,183, made his move late.

Needles, winner of the Hopeful and Sapling Stakes in his last two starts and generally considered the leading candidate for two-year-old honors, ran seventh for the first three furlongs. When Eddie Arcaro urged him on near the top of the stretch, he closed fast but had too much ground to make up and finished third, a neck back of the Jaclyn Stable's Espes.

Busher Fantasy completed the distance in 1:23 flat and paid $12.20, $40.20 and $2.80 as the 10th choice, while Espes, the fifth choice, returned $11.20 and $2.20. Needles returned $2.20.

Pampa Harvesters Blast Lid On '55 Season At El Paso Friday Night

Opening Foe Is Top Pick To Win 2-4A

Pampa's Fighting Harvesters will swing into action next Friday night when they take on the Austin High Panthers of District 2-AAAA at El Paso.

The Panthers, the defending District 2-AAAA champions are again rated as the top choice in the Border City Loop.

The Harvesters clipped the Panthers last year, 22-13, when the two clubs opened the season here.

Austin will likely get the favorites nod this week, since she will be playing at home and since she is the pre-season choice to nail down the 2-AAAA pennant.

But the Harvesters, who will be starting a season under a brand new coach, Jack Lockett, aren't conceding a thing and the locals are well confident of turning back the El Paso eleven.

Only five lettermen are returning to the Harvesters fold but a goodly crop of players are coming up from the B team in addition to the squadmen of last season.

Season tickets for the Harvesters home games are now on sale at the school office in the City Hall.

Sports Even Padres Series

SHREVEPORT, La., Sept. 10 —UP —The Shreveport Sports evened their playoff series with San Antonio at two games each Saturday night with an 8 to 7 victory.

The Sports were three runs behind when Les Peden and Joe Koppe homered with one aboard to make the score 4-3. Shreveport added two more in the seventh and John Andre seemed to have the game well in hand.

Capitols Draw Even In Series

HARLINGEN, Tex., Sept. 10 —UP —A wild pitch by Chico Oquendo in the bottom of the ninth allowed Keith Carpenter to score the winning run as the Harlingen Capitols nosed out the Corpus Christi Clippers 4 to 3 in the second game of their playoff series Saturday night.

The Clippers held a 3-1 lead going into the ninth, but after two walks and fielders' choice Carpenter hit a long triple to right center which scored Jack Bloomfield and Frank Torny to tie the field and Frank Torny to tie the count. Carpenter then scored on the wild pitch.

The Clippers scored their two runs in the second on three hits. Connie Ryan driving in the tallies with a double. Their final run came in the sixth. Keith Little singled home Jack Wilkinson, who had walked the stolen second. The other Capitol run came in the fifth on two hits.

The teams are now tied at one game apiece and continue their series here Sunday night.

Buff's Edge Eagles For Series Lead

HOUSTON, Sept. 10 —UP —The Houston Buffs took a 2-1 lead over Dallas in their first round Texas League playoff series Saturday night by edging the pennant-winning Eagles 3 to 2.

Bill Greason blanked the Eagles for eight innings, and then Harry Holtsma came on in the top of the ninth to cut short a Dallas rally and save the game.

Charlie Fowler, Dallas starter, took the loss as the Buffs got to him for a pair of runs in the first frame and were never behind.

Freddie McAllister and Willard Brown drove in the Buff runs, while Lee Tate and Dick Getter accounted for the Dallas scores.

Archie Just Coastin' Until Bell Rings For Big Fight

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., Sept. 10 —UP —For 16 years they laughed when Archie Moore talked about fighting in Madison Square Garden, but there was no laughter Saturday when he said, "I'm ready to step onto the heavyweight throne right now — I'm just coastin' along until the bell rings."

He's been at his peak for a week, and his conditioning has resolved now into merely keeping "sharp" without going stale for the "fight of the decade" with Rocky Marciano a week from Tuesday in Yankee Stadium.

To maintain his edge he usually spars but two rounds in Glover's Bowl, but his session with reporters and photographers are becoming more numerous and longer. For the sports world has discovered that the long-rejected Archie, at 38, is a truly remarkable character.

No Crowd Pleaser
He has been recognized as a top-flight fighter for more than a dozen years; but the men who thumbed him away from the "big time" again and again insisted that he wasn't a crowd-pleaser. That he wasn't a ring personality and that he had no box-office appeal. Six years ago he was ready to hang up his gloves in disgust because he couldn't get fights.

Tribe Hikes Lead To 1 1/2

By UNITED PRESS
The Cleveland Indians left the Boston Red Sox "for dead" Saturday and headed for New York, where they'll have a golden opportunity Sunday to kill off the New York Yankees' American League pennant hopes.

Rallying for five runs in the seventh inning, the Indians defeated the Red Sox, 10-7, and seized a 1 1/2-game lead in the fast-closing flag chase when the Chicago White Sox dealt the Yankees a staggering 9-8 loss in 10 innings.

The Indians, riding a six-game winning streak, can take an almost insurmountable 3 1/2-game margin if they beat the Yankee in a doubleheader at New York Sunday. Following Saturday's triumph, the Indians have only 13 games to play and lead the Yankees by 1 1/2 games, the White Sox by 2 1/2 and the Red Sox by six.

Doby Cuts Margin
The Indians trailed, 7-4, entering the seventh frame but quickly cut the margin to one run when Larry Doby doubled and Ralph Kiner hit his 18th homer of the season.

Two walks, pinch-hitter Bob Lemis' one single, Jackie Jensen's error and a sacrifice fly completed the rally.

At Yankee Stadium, a crowd of 31,458 saw Chicago's Minnie Minoso score the winning run when first baseman Eddie Robinson dropped a throw with two out in the 10th frame. The White Sox rallied for three unearned runs to go ahead, 8-7, in the ninth only to have the Yankees tie the score when Minoso dropped a fly by Hank Bauer with two out in the bottom of the frame. Mickey Mantle scored from second base on the error.

Minoso opened the 10th inning, however, by drawing a walk and moved to second on a sacrifice. He went to third when Bauer, pressed into service as a catcher, committed a passed ball and a three-run homer by Elton Howard enabled the Yankees to take a 6-1 lead in the second inning but the White Sox kept pecking away at the lead and finally cut it to 7-5 in the seventh when Bob Kennedy blasted a two-run homer.

Zernial Hits Two Homers
Gus Zernial hit two homers, the second with two aboard in the ninth inning, to give the Kansas City A's an 8-6 win over the Washington Senators and Jim Wilson won his 10th game with a seven-hitter as the Baltimore Orioles beat the Detroit Tigers, 5-3, in the other American League games.

In the National League, the champion Brooklyn Dodgers and the Chicago Cubs played a 3-3 tie in a game halted by rain after six innings. Carl Erskine was on the mound for Brooklyn and Dave Hillman for Chicago.

Eddie Mathews hit two homers to drive in four runs and Johnny Logan knocked in six more as the Milwaukee Braves routed the Pittsburgh Pirates, 13-5. Ray Crone won his 10th game for the Braves while Vernon Law was charged with his ninth defeat for the Pirates.

Stan Musial's 28th homer capped a four-run third inning that sparked the St. Louis Cardinals to a 4-3, five-inning verdict over the Philadelphia Phillies. Roberts homered in his own half in the third inning but suffered his 12th loss against 22 wins.

The Cincinnati Redlegs shaded the New York Giants, 4-3, in the other game, rookie relief star Buster Freeman winning his seventh game and Jim Hearn losing his 15th contest of the season.

The teams are now tied at one game apiece and continue their series here Sunday night.

Archie Just Coastin' Until Bell Rings For Big Fight

NORTH ADAMS, Mass., Sept. 10 —UP —For 16 years they laughed when Archie Moore talked about fighting in Madison Square Garden, but there was no laughter Saturday when he said, "I'm ready to step onto the heavyweight throne right now — I'm just coastin' along until the bell rings."

He's been at his peak for a week, and his conditioning has resolved now into merely keeping "sharp" without going stale for the "fight of the decade" with Rocky Marciano a week from Tuesday in Yankee Stadium.

To maintain his edge he usually spars but two rounds in Glover's Bowl, but his session with reporters and photographers are becoming more numerous and longer. For the sports world has discovered that the long-rejected Archie, at 38, is a truly remarkable character.

No Crowd Pleaser
He has been recognized as a top-flight fighter for more than a dozen years; but the men who thumbed him away from the "big time" again and again insisted that he wasn't a crowd-pleaser. That he wasn't a ring personality and that he had no box-office appeal. Six years ago he was ready to hang up his gloves in disgust because he couldn't get fights.

Saturday's little white training cottage in the beautiful Berkshire at suburban Camp Kenwood has become the "mecca of maul." He is admired as pugilism's personal kid, and the super-duper salesman of duets for the million-dollar brawl. His preparations and his utterances are followed by millions of fans in many countries.

What brought about the transaction? Did he suddenly become a sensational fighter?
Real Dreamer
"No," said the light heavyweight champion and challenger for the heavy crown. "No—I became a practical dreamer instead of just a dreamer."
What did he mean by that?
The moon-faced man with the black mustache and wee goatee gazed over the shoulders of "Cheerful" Norman, who was taping his fists. He told the reporters in the dressing room:
"I was always a good fighter—maybe not as good as now. And I was always a dreamer. I dreamed of becoming light heavyweight champion and then heavyweight champion and drawing big gates—and making thousands of dollars. But I never harnessed by hands to my dreams for a long time. I became a practical dreamer about four years ago."
He Changes Style
Acting upon the advice of friends, he changed from a defensive boxer to an aggressive fighter in order to have television appeal. Similarly he changed from a shy, soft-spoken chap to a "war-talkin'" fellow, whose mail and press campaign practically forced reluctant Jack Kearns to let Joey Maxim defend the 175-pound title against him in December, 1952.
And he used the greatest personal mail-and-press campaign in ring history to force Al Weill and the International Boxing Club to accept him as heavyweight challenger in case he beat Nino Valdes and knocked out middleweight champion Bobo Olson, which he did. Weill is Rocky Marciano's manager. Weill wanted no part of slick, explosive Archie.

Lefors Rips Past Wolves In Opener

By JOEL COMBS
Pampa News Staff Writer
LEFORS, Sept. 10 — The Lefors Pirates, led by two spectacular half-backs, swept to a 20 to 0 victory over the Dalhart Wolves at Shaw Park in Lefors Friday night.

Johnny Rowe, who scored two times and had another nullified, and Tommy Hedrick, 142 pounds of greased lightning, sparked the Pirates to the victory before approximately 1,800 fans.

The Pirates scored on their first play from scrimmage on a screen pass from quarterback Ronnie Rice to Rowe, who took the ball on his own 34 yard line and spun through half the Dalhart team to score standing up only to have the play called back because of a clipping penalty.

The bad breaks didn't all fall on the Pirates however. The Wolves drove down to the Pirates two yard line after holding the Lefors on downs following the nullified pass. On first down, goal to go, a Dalhart back fumbled into the Lefors end zone and a Pirate was the last one off the stack.

That gave the Pirates the ball on their 20 and time ran out in the first quarter before they could score. Early in the second, though, Tommy Hedrick scooted around right end for the tally from eight yards out after the Pirates had mounted a sustained drive.

Time ran out at the half with Dalhart on the Lefors one foot line.

Johnny Rowe brought the crowd to its feet right after the half, though. He took the second half kick off and snake-hipped through the entire Wolf team to score, helped by a spectacular block thrown by junior tackle Mike Nichols, who overtook Rowe from behind, crossed in front of him and took out a potential tackler.

Tommy Hedrick ran across the extra point. Lefors 13, Dalhart 0.

Dalhart threatened twice more in the second half before Rowe set sail from 40 yards out to score the Pirate's final touchdown and then kicked the extra point. That ended the scoring for the night.

Outstanding players for the Pirates included Nichols, Rowe, Hedrick, Rice, Larry Ridsr, Tony Mackles and Jerry Herring.

Dalhart players deserving credit for a determined game in spite of defeat include halfback, Gary Finch, center, Norman Bradley, tackle, Lonnie Parr, and end, Bobby Anderson.

The Pirates have an open date this week but play the Clarendon Bronchos at Lefors September 23.

Bucks Open With 20-12 Win Off Groom

WHITE DEER — (Special) — Before a crowd of some 1,500 at White Deer Bucks eked out a 20-12 victory over the Groom Tigers in the season opener for both teams.

Left Halfback Jerry Mills sparked the Bucks, tallying once in the first quarter and again in the third, with runs of 52 and 53 yards. Early in the first quarter, Mills ran 52 yards around right end, then tallied the extra point.

Groom came back in the 2nd quarter, when Ronald Homer went over left guard for 27 yards and six points.

Mills' third quarter run was over right guard and quarter-back Don Jones went around left end for the extra point.

In the 4th quarter, Denny Kotara tallied for Groom when he went 12 yards around right end. The extra point conversion failed.

White Deer took the ball at the kick off and in four plays marched 55 yards and Alton Hill went over left guard for four yards and a TD.

Canadian Nips Wheeler, 13-6

WHEELER, Sept. 10.—Canadian's Wildcats scored 13 points in the second quarter here Friday night and then staved off the fighting Wheeler Mustangs in the final two periods to capture the non-district meeting, 13-6.

The game opened the 1955 season for both teams.

George Schoenhals went 35 yards for the first Canadian score which was later followed by a 25-yard scamper by Bobby Crowell.

Wheeler fought back with one TD in the third quarter but that was as close as the Mustangs could come to catching up. Roger Topper went over from the Canadian one for the only Wheeler tally.

Aggs To Get Stern Test In Opener With UCLA Friday

By ED FITE
United Press Sports Writer

Sophomore-hued Texas A&M, picked for the cellar but openly aiming considerably higher, gets the first and most-supreme test of the blossoming Southwest Conference grid campaign this week.

Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant's young Aggies, who have only 11 letters back from a team that won but one game last season, have the dubious honor of providing the opposition for UCLA, the Pacific Coast powerhouse again being touted as a contender for the nation's No. 1 spot.

The Aggies will get the jump on the four other clubs who open this week by meeting the Uclans at Los Angeles Friday night. The invaders will be decided underdogs.

One Daylight Opener

The remainder of the opening schedule will be highlighted by the first use of lights at Austin and Waco, where Texas entertains ambitious Texas Tech and Baylor hosts Hardin-Simmons under the stars Saturday.

Texas Christian, the dark horse of the conference race, also opens at home under the lights, meeting weak Kansas at Fort Worth Saturday night.

Defending champion Arkansas opens at home against Tulsa in the only daylight encounter on the program.

Rice, SMU Open Late

Rice and Southern Methodist, the two prime title favorites, won't join the parade until Sept. 24 when SMU meets Notre Dame at Suth Bend, Ind., in the afternoon and Rice plays Alabama that night at Houston.

While the Aggies start as underdogs, the other conference teams rate anywhere from a slim choice in the case of Baylor over Texas Tech to prohibitive favorites as in the cases of Baylor over Hardin-Simmons and TCU over weak Kansas.

Arkansas, too, is forced over Tulsa, but the Razorbacks are a big questionmark as to offensive ability due to a change in coaches and offensive formations.

Pigeon-Toed T

Jack Mitchell, the only new head coach in the circuit, brought in the pigeon-toed T to replace Bowden Wyatt's highly-successful single wing at Arkansas.

The Texas A&M-UCLA game ushers in what promises to be a sparkling intersectional slate for conference teams. In addition to the

PORT ARTHUR TIES ODESSA

Abilene, Midland Win Grid Openers

By UNITED PRESS
Class AA Nederland's crushing 34 to 8 defeat of touted Port Neches of Class AAA provided the only major upset of the first big week of the Texas school football race, but some unheralded teams came up with an unexpected score of offensive power.

Nederland's feat, accomplished without its star quarterback, marked the second straight year the Bulldogs had knocked off a high-ranked Indians, but it was in much more convincing fashion this time.

Port Arthur and Odessa, two highly-regarded Class AAAA power, fought to a 7 to 7 stalemate at Odessa in a game that went about as expected since it marked their third deadlock in six meetings.

Defending AAAA champion Abilene romped to a 34 to 0 victory over Highland Park with reserves playing much of the last half to sound a warning that the Eagles will have to be reckoned with again.

Breckenridge Tough Agals Breckenridge, the AAA champ of the year ago now playing in AA, also indicated it would be a power again as the Bucks beat AAA Snyder 14 to 7.

Other AAAA teams that came through about as expected were Midland over Lamesa, 20 to 13; Waco over Corsicana, 27 to 6; Tyler over Palestine, 21 to 0 and Corpus Christi Ray over Beaumont St. Anthony, 52 to 0.

Austin McCallum lived up to its AAA expectations with a 9 to 0 verdict over Austin S. F. Austin, Temple and Texarkana fought to a 6 to 6 tie, Victoria bounced Aline, 39 to 0, Alice beat San Antonio Edison, 14 to 12 and Harlingen looked sharp in beating Harlandale, 19 to 12. Brownwood came alive with a 47 to 0 victory over Stephenville.

Other Impressive Showings

Other impressive AA victories were turned in by:

Defending champion Phillips, 45 to 0 over Oklahoma City South-east; Ballinger, 13 to 3 over Sonora; Carthage, 27 to 7 over Mount Pleasant; Jasper, 47 to 9 over Newton; LaVega, 12 to 6 over Belton; Port Lavaca, 40 to 0 over Aransas Pass; Del Rio, 55 to 7 over Sundeen and Weslaco, 13 to 2 over AAA McAllen.

Deer Park, the 1954 Class A champion, beat AA LaPorte, 12 to 0; Hale Center ran over Lockney, 35 to 6; McCamey bumped Stanton, 14 to 7; Clifton rolled to a 33 to 7 verdict over Waco Comally, Plano surprised with a 39 to 0 victory over Farmersville and touted Teague fell before Rusk, 22 to 6.

Irish Stun McLean, 13-6

McLEAN, Sept. 10.—The Shamrock Irish, who failed to crash the win column last season, stunned the McLean Tigers here Friday night, 13-6, in the 1955 grid opener for both teams.

The Irish, thus made Coach John Bond's debut as the Shamrock coach an auspicious one. Bond has replaced Scott McCall as the Irish coach.

One of the 1954 Shamrock defeats came at the hands of McLean, last year's District 1-A champion. McLean won last year's game by 45-6.

Shamrock opened the scoring in the second quarter on a 59-yard gallop after taking a lateral from James Lanham.

The Irish then made it 13-0 shortly before the halftime gun on a three-yard run by Wayne Henry. Dayton Perkins, who had converted after the first Irish score, failed on his second attempt.

McLean scored its only touchdown on a 66 yard drive in the third quarter. Charley (Davy) Crockett climaxing the scoring march with a 25-yard run.

The Tigers held a slight edge in statistics, leading in first downs, 10-8; in yards rushing, 230 to 215; and in yards passing, 35 to 0.

Rams Trade Off No. 1 Draftee

LOS ANGELES —UP— The Los Angeles Rams of the National Football League Saturday announced they were trading their No. 1 draft choice of 1954, end Ed Beatty, to the San Francisco 49ers. Niners for veteran halfback Jim Cason, guard Nick Feher and a "high future draft choice."

Bert Rose, a Rams' spokesman, said the Los Angeles club would send Feher to the Pittsburgh Steelers for another high draft choice.

A spokesman for the San Francisco club said the Forty-Niners planned to use Beatty to back up Bill Johnston at the offensive center spot.

Rangers Race Past Panthers In '55 Debut

PERRYTON, Sept. 10.—(Special) —The Perryton Rangers opened their 1955 season with a 38-13 triumph over the Panhandle Panthers before a near capacity crowd here Friday night.

The Rangers scored in every period, holding quarterly leads of 12-0, 19-6 and 25-13.

Jimmy Todd led the Perryton touchdown parade with two payoff gallops, covering 30 and 35 yards.

Others scoring for Perryton were Dempsey Gyger and Larry Hargrove.

Larry Hiron and Teddy James scored touchdowns for the Panthers.

The Rangers opened the scoring in the first quarter when Easter fell on a fumble in the Panhandle end zone. Later in the quarter, Todd dashed 30 yards to make it 12-0 for the Rangers.

Hiron passed for a Panhandle score in the second quarter to cut the difference to 12-6 but Johnson ran 15 yards later in the quarter and Gyger converted to make it 19-6 at halftime for Perryton.

Todd opened the second half scoring with a 55-yard scamper. James came back to go over from Ranger one for Panhandle's final TD, cutting the Perryton lead to 25-13.

The Rangers pulled away in the final quarter when Gyger went 80 yards and Hargrove 60 yards for TDs, the latter after intercepting a pass.

First downs were even at 12-12 but the Rangers held a decided edge in rushing, 342 yards to 220 for Panhandle. The Panthers, however, dominated the passing game, completing 10 of 24 for 111 yards while Perryton failed to connect on six attempts.

I LIKE TO SMELL fresh apple pie; rain on the street hot and dry, clean clothes right off the line, and a bruised geranium vine, coffee perking before a meal, the aroma of an alfalfa field. Oh, I like perfumes, colognes and such. But they're expensive; cost too much. Take a baby from head to feet — it has all bottled perfumes beat. There are smells I don't like, too. Like wet hair on dogs and garbage trucks. Phew!

ALBERTINE AND BOB TRIPPLEHORN, with Mary and Homer Johnson are the sponsors and party "planner-upers" for a group of teenagers this month... the first "doings" was an informal dance at the Country Club Friday night and great fun was had by all... Isn't it astounding how the young ones seem to grow up practically overnight? Seemingly one day they're awkward, lumpy and coltish... then one suprisingly discovers that they have suddenly attained a certain maturity and dignity... we're thinking particularly of Mary Sturgeon who has blossomed out into a lovely and sweet young creature with poise and grace...

The way to a man's heart may be through his stomach, but you don't get there by jumping down his throat. (C. Clark)

EVEN THOUGH SCHOOL has started some Pampans refuse to settle down and are still tripping hither and yon... or just returning from there... Doc and Rachel Purley are enthusiastic over their recent vacation in Old Mexico... it met all expectations... and they plan to return as soon as possible... Doc says, and we quote: "The scenery is beautiful, especially the xenotias"... during the Long Labor Day week end, Barbara Zigler, Gwen Gray and Jean Chisholm journeyed to Colorado Springs and report a simply marvelous time... then Wednesday morning, at the crack of dawn, Dr. and Mrs. T. J. Wright left for a two-weeks' fishing trip in Colorado... Mrs. Wright won't much more than get back home until she'll take off again for Indianapolis... Opal has been selected as the PEO delegate to attend the convention being held in that city in October... Glen and Florence Radcliff returned last Wednesday night from a week's fishing trip in and around Creed, Colo... as they started home, they saw Traylor Price, John McFall and Harvey Nensiel heading for John Studer's place... also a fishing... these followers of Isaak Walton surely get around... just to coin a pun (ouch) should they be known as "The Compleat Amblers"?

MEMBERS OF THE CWF of the First Christian Church are knee deep in preparation for their Christmas party and dinner next Friday night... the women of the different circles will bring articles needed in mission work for Ruth and Leonard Brummett... the First Christian's "living link missionaries" to the Philippines... in case you've forgotten (or never knew) Leonard is a born and reared Pampa boy... his parents, the B. V. Brummetts, still reside here... this annual Christmas party is quite a thing... it's fun, and everyone lets his hair down and enjoys himself to the "nth" degree... the missionary groups, named for various foreign missionaries of their brotherhood, decorate the tables, serve foods and wear costumes appropriate to the country they represent... such as Africa, Japan, Thailand, India and the Philippines... the guest speaker this year is Evelyn Cunningham who will talk of Japan... she's bubbling over on that subject since she spent the summer there... the gifts for the Brummetts' mission work will be displayed around the Christmas tree before being shipped to the Philippines... Oh, sure, there will be a tree... didn't we mention this IS a Christmas party?

Freda LeMond recently painted her hair a Chinese red... she remarked that the color certainly peeps up the place and blends in perfectly with the olive-green living room and natural-toned bedrooms... Harold and Anna Jo Weidner are proud and happy in their new home on Mary Ellen... Saw the two young lovelies, Linda Skewes and Kay Waggoner, appearing demure and sweet in church Sunday... incidentally, Kay's father has "one of them there" flat-top hair cuts... on him, it looks good... petite and attractive Mrs. Charles Elshimer downtown shopping in a cute little black and white checked frock... she appeared more like a school girl than a matron... Clara and George Dillman will celebrate their silver wedding anniversary Sept. 22... Isn't Mrs. Ray Evans a cool and serene appearing person... she is always immaculate as though she'd just stepped from a band box... Betty Hink looks pretty enough for a cover girl in the orange squaw dress she wears... Peggy and Pat Ward are off to college, being separated for the first time in their twin lives... Peggy is going to Baylor and Pat to Texas Tech if our information is right... Mrs. H. G. Guill walking briskly down the street clad in a most becoming red frock and looking like a breath of autumn... Jim Cornutt called away from indulging in his favorite brew... coffee... to take a long distance call... Mrs. Dorothy Shoup collects animals... or else, they collect her... her family is now blessed with kittens and puppies... don't blame the animals for taking up with her... she is such a likable person... Mrs. O. W. Allston is busy typing recipes for her daughter, Charlotte, who is soon to be a bride... Mrs. Allston is a wonderful cook... understand that R. E. Anderson has a yen for Rogers, Ark... although Joe Nivers is hobbling around on a broken foot sustained while removing window screens... his wife Valentine, now has been papering their house... and since we mentioned good cooks, that Joe Nivers slings a mean skillet, too... his corn bread is succulent enough for the gods...

A GROUP OF OLD FRIENDS... 27 in all... surprised Mrs. Vivian Pierce with a housewarming Thursday evening... not only did Mrs. Pierce receive many lovely gifts but the hostesses decorated the house with arrangements of asters... and served punch and cake to all present... aren't friends wonderful?... the D. Vows Exchanged In Double-Ring Rite By Marlene Kolb And Dawrence Rice

Vows were exchanged at 7 p.m. Sept. 2, in the First Baptist Church by Miss Marlene Louise Kolb and Dawrence W. Rice. Rev. Richard Crews of the First Christian Church officiated for the double-ring candlelight ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Kolb, 323 N. Purviance, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Rice, 712 N. Somerville. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of pink and gray brocade. Her bridesmaids wore pink and white. The bride's hair was styled in a deep scoop neck-line accented with lace appliques and seed pearls. The long satin sleeves came to petal points over her hands. The bouffant, floor-length satin skirt swept into a cathedral train. Her fingertip veil of nylon illusion fell from a band of orange blossoms accented with seed pearls. MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

Dear "Worried":
I have your letter telling me of your great fear that you have not made the proper sexual development for a girl of 15.

And I am glad you've asked me for direction. Certainly, a motherless person living with a "heavy drinking" father and a grandparent who seems "narrow-minded" to her can't ask it of them.

Here's what to do: Sit down tonight and write a letter to the National Association for Mental Health, 1790 Broadway, New York. First, ask for the address of the mental hygiene clinic nearest your town. When you get this information, write and tell him what you have told me. He will find a way to get you the competent reassurance for your fear.

In the meantime, let's see if we can't quiet it a little.

Sexual development, my dear, is not like school promotions. Nature doesn't promote us from childish sexual feelings into adolescent ones as a teacher passes us from grammar school to high school. She gives us no diploma to mark our graduation into full sexual maturity. In Nature, all sexual changes interfuse each other.

There's nothing unusual about this. Though people like everything clear and definite, Nature doesn't. She mingles day and night in what we call "dusk." She makes changing tides interflow each other. She makes winter chill penetrate a day that belongs to April on human calendars — and deals with sexual seasons in exactly the same way.

She projects childish sexual feeling into adolescence and makes adolescence linger on in adults until she's ready to complete the change.

If adolescent people understood this, they would be more patient with their uncertain bodies.

As it is, boys feel terribly humiliated when their voices begin a sentence with a child's voice — and end it with the booming baritone of a man. If fat hasn't appeared where a girl thinks it should, she tortures herself with suspicion that her body has betrayed her. Yet, as this uncertainty of the body is the right thing, impatience with it is most unreasonable.

Nearly always, this anxiety about the body's development is just an excuse for anxiety about other problems. For example, your father's interest in the divorce you mention could have aroused a good deal of uncertainty about his feelings for you. It could be very easy to imagine that your body had betrayed you if you hadn't looked at your fear that your father might have betrayed in mind.

Families Get More Income In Salaries

No matter how you look at it, Dad is a popular fellow, even on payday.

Of course, we all love Dad for himself alone, but there's no denying that his paychecks are popular, too. Also Mom's paychecks, if she happens to be one of the army of married women who have jobs today.

It's no wonder that paychecks are so important. Americans have geared themselves to a "paycheck" economy, both in outlook and in spending habits. The reason? Over the years, our families have been receiving a larger and larger proportion of the nation's income in the form of salaries and wages.

The purchase of homes out of paychecks is a familiar story to millions of American families. Right now more than 11,000,000 homeowners in cities and the suburbs are paying for their residences out of paychecks.

Another example of the profound change wrought by our paycheck economy is the phenomenal growth of installment buying. "Buying on time" may have different roots, but the prospect of a paycheck regularly received is one of the best kinds of guarantee for obtaining credit. Installment buying has reached the point where today $76 out of every $100 borrowed by consumers is paid back on an installment basis.

Millions of families who buy things on time also pay for life insurance protection on a regular monthly basis. Although this is not installment buying, it is nevertheless geared to the paycheck.

As many as one in four policyholders with "ordinary" life insurance usually $100 or more — chooses to pay his premiums by the month, according to an estimate of the Institute of Life Insurance. Millions who also own group insurance (purchased through the employers), and who split the cost with the boss, pay their share of the cost through regular payroll deductions.

Still other millions of men and women with "industrial" insurance — smaller policies with weekly or monthly premiums — pay on the basis of installment buying. "Buying on the basis of the paycheck economy too.

Billfold Teaches Care Of Money

From crowded pockets to a jam-packed billfold is just a short step for today's youngsters — they start using a wallet almost as soon as there's an allowance or photographs to stuff into one! Experts say it's a good way for parents to encourage the organization of possessions, plus teaching a child how to keep track of his money.

For back-to-school, when youngsters and teenagers will be handling locker keys, personal cash, lunch and transportation allowance, a new billfold is a good investment. Pictures of new friends met on vacation, places visited during the summer, a collection of trading cards — everything gets stuffed into the billfold, to be pulled out and passed around between classes and after school.

To suit the very young, there are strong but inexpensive plastic wallets which may be washed free of sticky finger prints. For a child old enough to have his or her own house key, other billfolds come with key pockets. An accordion-folded picture window section is ideal for the photograph or card collector, and there are styles with a lipstick and compact for the miss who pays attention to her grooming. Gay, washable leathers with embossing or "jewel" trims suit the fashion-conscious young lady who chooses all of her accessories carefully.

However, the "secret" compartment, according to surveys, is the one most popular billfold feature with youngsters of any age! It's all good training, though, for managing their cash and identification material when they grow older.

RUTH MILLETT

"Teen-agers comprise a multi-billion-dollar market and have more buying power per capita today than ever before in history. Teen-agers influence the buying habits of their families, and, as a group, set styles and are capable of making or breaking an industry." So says a publicity release sent out by the first public relations firm devoted exclusively to the teen-age market.

Parents of teen-agers may not be aware that today's teen-agers comprise a multi-billion-dollar market. But they can vouch for that statement about teen-agers influencing the buying habits of their families.

Our teen-age children wield their powerful influence whenever we make a family purchase, whether it's an automobile, a TV set, or a new home.

They have a lot to do with when and where we vacation, in what neighborhood and school district we live, what movies the family takes in, etc.

As for their own clothes — they follow the dictates of teen-age fads more slavishly than grown women follow fashions.

Many of the things we parents think the family simply must own have been sold to us by our teen-agers. For they are tireless salesmen. If one argument doesn't work, they try another.

And if success doesn't come quickly, they keep digging away until they have us sold.

But it actually isn't as grim as it sounds. While they may at times make us feel old, actually our teen-agers keep us young.

For they are the great sellers of the new. It's the teen-ager in the family who is always saying, "What we ought to do" and "What we ought to have." And it is surprising how often their ideas perk up a family.

Pampa Branch Of AAUW Plans Tea And Lists Membership Requirements

By MISS HELENE HUFF

Plans for the tea which will honor all prospective members are underway by the American Association of University Women, Pampa Branch. All newcomers and new teachers are invited to attend the tea Tuesday, Sept. 20, at 8 p.m. in the City Clubroom.

The AAUW, a member of the Federated Women's Clubs, has as its main goal to maintain high standards in education. With this in mind, it has been the policy of the local chapter to award a scholarship each year to an outstanding senior girl.

Miss Pat Lunsford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Lunsford, is the 1955 AAUW award girl. She is attending the Oklahoma Baptist University, Shawnee, Okla., this fall.

Miss Marie Roberts, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roberts, who was awarded the 1954 scholarship, is attending the Oklahoma School of Nursing, Oklahoma City, Okla.

In addition to the annual award of scholarships, the local AAUW sponsors plays for the Pampa elementary schools. Last year a play presented by the Children's Little Theater Group of Pampa High School, under the direction of Miss Helen Schaefer was sponsored by the AAUW. Plans for the coming year include the sponsorship of several plays by this group again.

The outstanding social meetings of the AAUW year include the September tea for prospective members; the Christmas party in December; and the May tea which honors all senior girls and their mothers.

General requirements for membership in the Association state that any woman is eligible who holds an approved degree from a college or university that has met AAUW requirements for approval.

These requirements include high academic standards; basic general education; adequate provisions for women students; recognition of women in administration and on faculties; and intellectual freedom for teaching and administrative staffs.

Perhaps the requirements seem unfair, but one example shows that it is actually those colleges and universities which are not members who request that membership be withheld.

At a recent national convention, it was proposed that the by-laws be changed to make all college and university alumnae eligible to membership.

Immediately members from various parts of the country, and especially those employed by institutions not approved by AAUW protested. "Don't do this to us," they said. "If AAUW will not approve an institution until improvements are made, we have a strong argument to use with our trustees and our president. But if our institutions are approved for membership now, we may never get the changes that are needed."

Although the local membership chairman should like to take in alumnae of unapproved institutions, it must be understood that the individual herself is not excluded because she is unacceptable. It is the institution which is.

Prospective members are urged to attend the tea and to contact Miss Mary Reeves, membership chairman, as to the specific requirements for membership.

Mrs. Otis Nace will present the program for the tea. Mrs. Mack Hiatt will present several vocal selections.

Dear Grace Friend
I am very interested in your work and answers.

An old lady at a party in her honor was asked to let new guests in as the hostesses were busy in the kitchen.

A new guest came and this old lady let her in and then took her around the room and introduced her to all the other guests there.

The young lady in charge of the party said she did wrong in taking her around and introducing her. She said she should only ask her in and then ask her to sit down and then sit down herself.

Please tell me who was right here so the old lady will know next time.

I thank you

TELEPHONE COURTESY

Dear Grace
I have a friend who has the annoying habit of never returning telephone calls.

If you call the house and she is out or busy and you leave the number and ask if she will call back she never does. If it is important, of course you have to put the call in again and then she always is apologetic and says she was just meaning to call.

Do you think this is rude?

J. R.

Dear J. R.
It is courteous to return telephone calls as soon as it is convenient. Often it is important to the caller if not to the person called and sometimes it even makes a difference in plans as the person making the call cannot complete them until she hears from the second person.

SILK STOCKINGS
Dear Mrs. Friend
I have a friend who says that seamless silk stockings are coming. They are for all kinds of dress. Do you agree with this?

Madge
Dear Madge
Fashion experts generally state that stockings with seams are smarter and in better taste for dress up occasions.

If you must wear them do it when you are dressed casually.

Joyce Dene Ensey And Emmett R. Riggs Unified In Marriage In Double-Ring Rite

Miss Joyce Dene Ensey of Lubbock and Emmett Ray Riggs were united in marriage at 4 p. m. Sept. 4, in the First Baptist Church of Archer City. Rev. John Alexander officiated for the double-ring service.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Ensey of Archer City, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Eula Riggs, 1012 Jordan, Pampa.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of chantilly lace and tulle over taffeta. The fitted lace bodice was styled with a stand-up collar and long lace sleeves that came to points over her hands. Her bouffant skirt was waist length.

Her veil of chantilly lace fell from a tiara of seed pearls and diamonds. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses and white anemones.

Maid of honor was Miss Jean Walters of Wichita Falls. She was attired in a waist-length dress of white embroidered organdy over blue satin. She carried a bouquet of pink feathered carnations with tufts of white lace.

Flower girls were Radona Hasley of Wichita Falls and Patsy Bosell of Holliday, nieces of the bride. The wore identical dresses of blue taffeta with scalloped necklines and bouffant scalloped skirts caught with tiny pink rosebuds. They carried lace baskets filled with pink rose petals and wore crowns of pink rosebuds in their hair.

Tommy Riggs of Lamesa, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were George Ensey Jr. of Archer City, brother of the bride, and Billy Baird of Wichita Falls. Candlelighters were Michael and Dewayne Cox, both of Holliday, nephews of the bride.

The couple was married before and archway entwined with white caryanthems and greenery and flanked by floor baskets filled with white mums. Miss Thesa Roberts was pianist and Mrs. Joe Eustace sang "Because" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. The serving table was covered with a lace cloth over pale green, centered with an arrangement of red roses and pink carnations. The three-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Mrs. Eula Riggs, mother of the bridegroom, presided at the Crystal punch bowl, and Mrs. Paul Hasley and Mrs. Howard Lyles, sisters of the bride, served the cake. Guests were registered by Miss Virginia Lyles.

For the wedding trip to points in Colorado, the bride wore a blue-grey suit with white accessories.

The couple will be at home in Lubbock after Monday.

The bride was graduated from Archer City High School, where she was named high school beauty and wheat harvest princess. She is now employed by the Denver Oil Company in Lubbock.

The bridegroom was graduated from Pampa High School and is now attending Texas Technological College, Lubbock, where he is majoring in petroleum geology. He served three years with the Army.

MANNERS MAKE FRIENDS

Most men don't like to have their wives call them pet names in public. It's like hanging a label on a man saying, "This man is mine." Since a husband isn't likely to ask his wife to reserve her pet names to use only when they are alone, she ought to do it without being told.

Sweet talk should be private, not public.

MODERN METHOD — Suzanne Padakowski, five, decided to do something about the weather when her pet dog, Tootsie, showed signs of heat prostration in New York. That helicopter did its part in taking off passengers.

WHOOPIING IT UP — During a water regatta at the South Beach Hotel in Young's Point, Ont., Kathy Darlyn Smith and "Wild Bill" Hatfield decided to make their water skiing routine a bit different. U.S. HITS RECORD EMPLOYMENT—At mid-1955 more Americans were working for their bread and butter than ever before—64 million of them. Dimmer side to the chart above is the slight rise in unemployment in June, but this was due to schools closing for the summer, crowding employment centers with youngsters seeking extra cash for clothes and dates. Increase in both employment and unemployment reflects the general increase in U.S. population. Data from Department of Commerce and Council of Economic Advisers.

Growing Population May Eat Surplus

By PATRICIA WIGGINS
WASHINGTON, Sept. 10.—UP—Will the nearly three million, new mouths provided each year by America's growing population eat up the country's farm surplus?

The consensus at the Agriculture Department is that they may, eventually, for some crops. One expert even envisions the United States importing meat, as England does, in another 100 years.

But this optimism does not cover the immediate future. Most officials, including Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson, readily admit that chewing up the mountain of surpluses now piled up in federal larders will take time and, in many cases, more than just population gains.

Some officials reject the idea that population jumps will help reduce farm surplus problems.

Hasn't Happened Yet
"For 30 years," said one old-timer, "I've been hearing how we're going to run out of food. It hasn't happened yet and I don't think it ever will."

He and those of similar views think scientific improvements in the farm and food industries will keep pace with the population. In a recent speech Benson cited two developments in the research field which he said could "revolutionize" the dairy industry, let milk producers cash in on the growing population market and reduce the dairy surplus.

Surplus milk, turned into butter, cheese and dried milk, has caused one of the biggest pile-ups under federal support programs. The trouble, experts feel, is the distribution and marketing problem of fluid milk.

They claim that slow-to-change milk marketing methods and, until recently, lethargic advertising and promotion efforts, left milk behind in the soft drink boom. With proper promotion milk actually could become scarce instead of plentiful, one dairy expert said.

May Have Several Forms
Benson noted that a frozen concentrated whole milk and a stable, palatable dried whole milk powder have been developed to a point where "either may be perfected within a relatively short time."

He said such a process could revolutionize the milk industry the way the development of frozen concentrated juices did the citrus industry — costing less and tapping new customers.

Undersecretary of Agriculture True D. Morse also has been looking toward research gains, as well as population growth, as a hopeful sign toward cutting farm surpluses.

"There have been no short crops of babies in recent years," Morse told a recent audience.

Morse noted that the population increase between 1930 and 1940 was nine million; in the next 10 years over 19 million; and the predicted rise for the current decade, ending in 1960, 25 million or more.

"All these people eat," Morse said, "and they wear clothing. Most of what they eat and wear

The average new house built last year had 1,140 square feet of floor area, making it 5 per cent larger than the average house built in 1941.

must come from the land — and there will be little if any increase in crop land in the United States."

May Import Meat
The factor of limited land led one Agriculture Department expert to predict America in 100 years will be a meat importing country.

He said research may well continue to help increase yields on grains and other growing crops. "The atomic age is just beginning," he said.

He noted that average corn yields, with the aid of research, have been increased from 29 to 43 bushels an acre in the past 15 years. The story is the same on other grains, with the top not yet reached.

From that standpoint, this expert does not look to population gains to ease some crop surpluses — such as wheat and cotton.

But meat production is another thing, he said. "There is just so much grazing land for beef cattle. You use it all and you've got no more."

Best Way To See Self

One of the best ways to understand ourselves is to listen to what is said by others. Often, at a personal level, this is impossible. But in the current issue of Collier's Magazine there is an item called, "As Germans See Us," by John F. Mead, executive secretary, U.S. Education Commission in Germany, which is worthy of thoughtful reading by all who have been concerned with the American educational system.

Ever since pre-World War II days, great hordes of Europeans and Asians have descended upon these shores to partake of our institutions of higher education and to receive indelible impressions concerning what we call "the American Way of Life." This year something in the neighborhood of 34,000 of these "exchange" students will attend about 1450 American schools and colleges. Recently the Fulbright Commission sponsored a symposium of German professors, teachers and university students who had spent the 1953-54 academic year in this country. The report was prepared in Germany and presumably is accurate. It bears some of the things we have frequently stated respecting our government-dominated educational system.

How do Germans define the American philosophy of life? "Pragmatism is the dominant influence; anything patently useful is accepted without reservation. There is strong emphasis on material values, and old theories and practices are rapidly discharged." That's what the Germans say. Yet, it was only a few years ago that the dominant influence in American life could scarcely have been called pragmatic. Before John Dewey and his "progressive" creed, American education was shaped on classic idealism even while it supported economic realism and individual freedom and independence. Emphasis was placed on the "eternal verities" and students in school were disciplined to learn these truths, as the basis for a good and useful life. Now our visitors find us shallow and pragmatic. We adopt new things, we discard old things, often for no reason other than that they are new or old.

How does college education in America differ from that in Germany? "Mainly in the approach. American colleges emphasize inductive methodology (drawing general conclusions from a study of specific examples), primarily because high school students in the United States are relatively so weakly prepared. This emphasis develops a scientific type of mind which can solve set problems quickly and surely but finds it difficult to do independent research. Furthermore, the American system of tests and examinations leads to methodological thinking and a lack of initiative. Checking off answers in a multiple-choice test prevents a student from stating his own opinion and gives him a chance to get a correct answer without knowing the background of his subject. On the other hand, German education is still based on the principle stated by Humboldt in the nineteenth century: 'The German student must work out his own methods, essential facts, and insight in his special field...' In the United States, students should be permitted more freedom in choosing their curriculums so that they may develop more independence and self-responsibility in their studies."

We do not wish to hold the German educators or students up to admiration. The Germans began governmental indoctrination through schools long before we did in this country. In their country it has led to the rise of Prussianism, Kaiser Wilhelm II, and Adolf Hitler. We got into the indoctrination business at a later date but have now gone further into it than even the Germans, as evidenced by their criticism of our pragmatism.

What it may lead to in this country can only be imagined. It is safe to conclude, however, that education and politics must be separated. The moment the government touches the education system in the slightest degree the system is damaged by just that much. Again we say that the government should make NO law affecting education. Our schools should not be supported either by politics or by tax money, any more than our churches are. Until we return to freedom in education, our progress as a nation will be fraught with peril.

THE GREEN MOUNTAIN FILEMAN

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Miller,

I have written to Mrs. Loeb concerning Mrs. Miller's suggestion in regard to Mr. Chapman. Mr. Loeb now advises that after inquiry he finds that the reports made to you about Mr. Chapman are incorrect and that there may have been others concerning me. These reports are intended to create difficulty between your counsel and yourself.

Mr. Loeb expresses his complete confidence in Mr. Chapman and states that he will withdraw his support of the appeal unless Mr. Chapman remains a part of it.

Chapman has had a close association with the Federal Court in New York that will be most valuable on the appeal.

I am completely satisfied with Mr. Chapman's work and part in the case. I personally feel that he should remain. Both Mr. Manning and I will withdraw if you insist that Mr. Chapman do so, though funds are available for expenses.

Very truly yours,

Broderick, Manning & Sullivan

Mauro A. Broderick

At the risk of appearing ungrateful to William Loeb, we find it impossible to accept further help from him at the price of continuing Ralph Chapman as one of our attorneys.

You all know that Westbrook Pegler, at great personal risk, has defended our case consistently and has defended us personally to such effect that the Government was unable to hold Lucille Miller in its dungeon - madhouse. Westbrook Pegler did this because he could not stand by and see the members of the public abused by haughty officials. The attorney, Ralph Chapman, hired among others by William Loeb to "defend" us, went to considerable pains to vilify Westbrook Pegler, and he was not satisfied to do this on a random basis but had to make lengthy public statements to at least one reporter, in which he attacked Pegler viciously and systematically. Chapman also lost no opportunity to praise the fairness and high-mindedness of Judge Gibson and to scoff at any suggestion that Gibson could possibly harbor personal resentment against either of us, or that Gibson would ever abuse the power of his office. Since our whole case rested on the plain facts that Gibson had abused the power of his office, not once but repeatedly, Chapman's statements to the contrary were a deliberate effort to undermine us as well as to destroy the cause we represent. Other statements made by Chapman are too incredible to repeat here. Let us merely say that before Lucille Miller's trial was over and before Manuel Miller's trial had begun it was plain to us that we were stuck with a "defense" counsel who, from whatever motive, was set on cutting our throats and at the same time exalting the enemy. This is not strange when you consider that Chapman is a member of the United World Federalists and a firm believer in the Divine Right of Judges to "interpret" the constitution to suit themselves or ignore it altogether.

We reassured the quite properly puzzled and concerned patriots by telling them that Chapman was only the local sponsor and not a key figure and that he would be dropped when action in this court was completed. When we learned that Chapman was to be retained in spite of his activities we demanded his dismissal. After a short wait for cross-country conferences we have received our answer: that those who pay for Gift Horses reserve the right to drive them to whatever destination suits them and in whatever manner they find pleasing. That's fair enough. But we are not without recourse. We are under no obligation to accept a Gift Horse if we can't peek into its mouth to see whether or not it has poison fangs. We'd rather walk than ride the enemy's horse. This case is not going to be tried in the Courts anyhow. It's going to be tried in the Public Arena where YOU can watch it and judge for yourself.

Even then, President Eisenhower

and Secretary Dulles were hesitant. They feared that official approval might be interpreted as Moscow weakness. Having won in 1952 partially on the issue of Democratic softness toward communism at Washington, Yalta and Potsdam, they were concerned over the political reaction—in short, over the effect on the voters.

But when the press prision Senator George for his "vision and courage," as British newspapers had welcomed Churchill's similar suggestion, Eisenhower fell into line. His appearance and disarmament offer at Geneva have disarmed European feeling that Americans were "warmongers." There is greater hope of lasting peace than at any time since World War II.

Nor can the day-by-day dispatches of special and regular correspondents be disregarded. They have contributed to understanding and sympathy, perhaps subconsciously.

Particularly penetrating and enlightening series have been written by such men as Brooks Atkinson, Harry Schwartz and Harrison E. Salisbury of the New York Times; by William Randolph Hearst, Jr., and by Martin S. Hayden of the North American Newspaper Alliance. Evidence of their effect is seen in the fact that the articles by those writers have been clipped and filed at the State Department and the Kremlin.

Partnership For Legalized Robbery—Not For Freedom

The Americans for Democratic Action have mailed out a booklet named "Partnership for Freedom" which was subsidized by the Whitney Foundation.

In reality, it is not a partnership for freedom but a partnership to make robbery legal; to rob the United States on the contention that so doing would eliminate poverty throughout the world.

The booklet contends that freedom which more than a billion people seek, among other things, is freedom from economic servitude. In other words, it backs the Americans for Democratic Action believe that if we tax the Americans enough—by direct taxes and inflation they can bring about a condition throughout the rest of the world so that people will not be subject to economic laws.

One gets a little idea of the nature of the Americans for Democratic Action by looking at their executive committee. It is headed by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. Other members of the executive committee are Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., Walter P. Reuther of the C.I.O., W. P. Kennedy, labor union leader, A. J. Hayes, labor union leader, Senator Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota and Senator Wayne L. Morse of Oregon. What could one expect from an organization with directors like the above. They can not tell the difference, other than degree, between their idea of government than that of Karl Marx.

The booklet is a 52-page booklet advocating various forms of financing the rest of the world. It contends:

"a. The United States should at the start appropriate a billion dollars a year for grants, or loans repayable in local currency. The appropriations here proposed should be over and above the cost of technical assistance, and exclusive of 'direct forces support,' a variety of military subsidy which we contribute to such countries as South Korea, Formosa, and South Vietnam. In administering grants, we should experiment and test as we go."

"b. The banks now making international loans should be pressed to double their rate of lending to underdeveloped countries as rapidly as suitable projects can be set up. The Export-Import Bank already has access to about two billion dollars in unloaned funds. The World Bank can raise about the same amount through sale of bonds which are guaranteed by the United States Government."

"c. To help stimulate American private investment abroad, the Congress should approve the proposed International Finance Corporation as an affiliate of the International Bank empowered to make loans or non-voting investments for private enterprises abroad."

These methods all mean more and more inflation. It means that those people who have their savings in Credits are to be legally and systematically robbed. It is hard to tell whether the directors of the A.D.A. do not see what they are doing or that they believe in robbery—world Socialism.

The whole gist of the argument is materialistic. They seem to think that we can buy with gifts, friends. They think we can outbid Russia in gifts, which we undoubtedly could for a while, but sooner or later if we adopted the policy advocated here, we would be able to help the rest of the world, let alone survive.

They contend, "We have strong European allies, united to us by the common ideals and objectives of free men." But men are not free when the government has a right to tax, not for the purpose of common defense but for gifts throughout the world.

The booklet gives a little idea of the scientific collectivism, un-American ideologies of the Americans for Democratic Action. It is headed by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Honorary Chairman.

Other statements made by Chapman are too incredible to repeat here. Let us merely say that before Lucille Miller's trial was over and before Manuel Miller's trial had begun it was plain to us that we were stuck with a "defense" counsel who, from whatever motive, was set on cutting our throats and at the same time exalting the enemy. U. S., British Papers Helped Improve Relations With Reds

WASHINGTON — Although the Eisenhower Administration will claim and deserve considerable credit for any real improvement in relations with Russia, the current effort in that direction has been inspired and pressed by non-governmental sources—namely and principally, by the newspapers and magazines of the United States and Great Britain. They have knocked together the heads of cautious and sometimes stubborn statesmen.

Secretary Dulles, for instance, was extremely dubious when the Des Moines Register and Tribune proposed exchange visits of Russian and American farmers. But when the press reaction here and abroad was invariably favorable, he gave a reluctant consent. As his cautious remarks on present and future negotiations reveal, he does not want to raise any false hopes about a full and final settlement with Moscow.

The results of the exchange have been extremely helpful, as Dulles now admits. The tact and friendliness of Vladimir Matskevich's group made an excellent impression, proving that Communists do not "wear horns" and are "not 10 feet tall." They discovered that American people entertain no prejudice or bitterness toward Russians as such.

Their observations in the corn-wheat belt, as they said privately and publicly, disabused them of any ideas that "American capitalism faces the collapse" so frequently forecast by Stalin. They have undoubtedly reported these facts to the Kremlin, with a possibly salutary modification of foreign policy.

American agriculturists' tour of Russia opened their eyes as well as those of the natives. Our delegation found a fund of friendship and admiration of the United States. They also discovered that, although Russia's living standards do not match the West's, they have improved since the Czarist era. We cannot await or trust in an economic crack-up or internal revolt.

Partially as a result of this social experiment, many other groups seek permission to cross the "iron curtain"—housing experts, engineers, professors, newspaper correspondents and sight-seeing tourists.

Rubbing elbows may mean the erasing or minimizing of political, economic and ideological differences. Khrushchev and Bulganin have entertained American diplomats and newspaper correspondents at picnics and cocktail parties, and have permitted Ambassador Charles E. Bohlen to visit a plant powered by atomic energy.

Had it not been for Senator Walter F. George of Georgia, Chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, there would have been no Geneva conferences with the Russian, or with Chinese Communists. As so often happens on Capitol Hill, he discussed his idea with a few Senate Gallery newspaper friends before he proposed a Big Four meeting. They thought it a constructive proposal, and a "swell story."

Even then, President Eisenhower

and Secretary Dulles were hesitant. They feared that official approval might be interpreted as Moscow weakness. Having won in 1952 partially on the issue of Democratic softness toward communism at Washington, Yalta and Potsdam, they were concerned over the political reaction—in short, over the effect on the voters.

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M. D.

Among one of mankind's most unpleasant afflictions is the condition known as sciatica. In the past this was commonly considered a single disease but now it is believed to result from any one of several different causes.

Regardless of cause, however, the principal symptom is pain along the course of the sciatic nerve which runs through the buttocks and down the back of the leg. The pain of sciatica may not involve the whole length of the nerve, however.

SIMPLE NEURITIS or inflammation of the sciatic nerve may be the result of such conditions as diabetes, infections elsewhere in the body such as an abscessed tooth, rheumatic conditions, or vitamin deficiency. In such cases treatment is aimed at identifying the source of the trouble and correcting it whenever possible.

It is in such cases that the administration of vitamin B1 about which Mrs. M. M. inquires may sometimes prove useful.

IT IS NOW BELIEVED by many doctors that sciatica is in most cases caused by a hernia or rupture of the cartilage—like substance which lies between the vertebrae of the spinal column, or in the nerve roots near these discs of cartilaginous substance.

In cases of sciatica of this sort there have been reports of successful treatment by a variety of methods such as—placing the spine under traction—that is, stretching the vertebrae apart by pulling the head and feet in opposite directions. The wearing of a corset or brace and sleeping on a stiff mattress are also methods that are useful in many instances of this sort. In some indeed, operation on the rupture of the cartilage—like substance or the spinal vertebrae themselves has resulted in relief of pain.

IN SOME CASES it is hard to decide what treatment should be tried. Injections are sometimes used, often with good results, sometimes without.

Some Fear Soviet Smiles Can Weaken U.S. Security

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — In these piping times of peace and the "new spirit" in relations with Soviet Russia, a reappraisal is being made of how best to maintain American security.

There are a number of factors tending to make the United States let down its guard. This is a cause of some concern among America's allies, who now fear that this country is growing soft on communism.

The friendlier atmosphere introduced at the Big Four summit meeting in Geneva, the freer exchange of scientific information at the United Nations atomic energy conference, the good will created by the exchange visits of American and Russian farm delegations, and the reopening of the U.N. disarmament talks in New York contribute to this intangible thing called the relaxing of tensions.

If the promise these good deeds materializes, there is a general agreement that the Russians have more to gain than they have to lose.

An extreme view of this situation now being heard in Washington is that the Soviet farm delegation which visited America did more to strengthen the Russian economy and build up its war potential than all the Communist espionage efforts of the past.

The reasoning behind this statement is simple. One of Russia's greatest weaknesses has been her shortage of food for a growing population. The American farmers who visited Russia were appalled by the waste of manpower on the Soviet collective farms. As long as the U.S.S.R. is so handicapped, it cannot wage a long, aggressive war.

By the introduction of more hybrid corn farming and the raising of more livestock on its grasslands for a larger meat supply, the Soviet could greatly increase its food production in a few years.

By the adoption of American mechanized farming methods, Russia might at the same time relieve much of her manpower from farm labor. This would make more men available either for industrial production, or the Red armies.

It follows naturally that American farming "secrets" obtained through the open door of friendly relations are of more value to Russia than all of America's atomic secrets.

The American ideal has always been to share its technical knowledge with less progressive countries. But if this generosity helps build up the greatest potential enemy of the free world, then a case can be made that this know-how should be guarded more closely than the hydrogen bomb stockpile. Only thus can the superiority of the American arsenal of democracy be preserved.

As for the atomic secrets themselves, Sen. Clinton Anderson, chairman of the Congressional Committee on Atomic Energy, points out that at the Geneva conference, the Russian scientists revealed they had made more progress by their own research than they had by espionage.

If this is true, then the way to maintain American security is not to try to lock up scientific secrets. It is to develop more young American scientists who can keep this country ahead of competitors in any and all other nations.

Ralph Abelson Olsen of Ellsworth, Iowa, one of the American dirt farmers who visited Russia, says that the thing which impressed him most was the zeal of Soviet youth for higher education. At one Russian agricultural college where only 350 students could be admitted, he saw 1000 students taking competitive entrance examinations.

American youth, observed Olsen, has no such incentive for higher learning. With two cars in nearly every garage and a lavish standard of living at home, American young people have nothing more to work for, he declares.

The shortage of students for the tough courses in engineering schools has long been a concern of American leaders in education, industry and government.

The greatest resource in any country is its brain power. Any realistic reappraisal of American security must therefore consider how this asset can be further developed.

Before The Dishes Are Done

By BETTY KNOWLES HUNT

HOME AGAIN! The six Huns and their Boxer pup are all back at the old home-stead again after a delightfully rewarding month's vacation in Wisconsin's "bit of New England"—called Door County.

Except that our green station-wagon is slightly more modern than a covered wagon, and covers the miles with more speed and comfort, we looked for all the world like some old pioneer family heading westward, for we were packed solid to the roof. Why it is that one always has more stuff coming home than one took in the first place? And why is the return trip always so much longer?

Being home again brings mixed emotions, especially when one's vacation environment is such a contrast to the home one. Ours was such a peaceful, unburied, uncomplicated, back to nature existence for those few weeks. We had a radio, but it was almost never on, and there was no telephone, no television, no door-bell, no corner drug-store, no comics, no meetings, no social duties. Even domestic chores faded to a minimum for we cooked and ate in the open with our fingers as much as possible, and housekeeping was little more than sweeping out the sand every few days. A couple of times a week, we drove to the nearest village to market and leave films, and that was the only time we wore shoes! Laundry consisted of a once-a-week trek to a do-it-yourself laundromat. Mostly we just lived in our bathing suits all day long, adding jeans and sweat shirt on cool evenings.

But on cool evenings, and wearing enormous lists of what they simply MUST buy before school opens a mere month hence.

No doubt I'll adjust back to this hectic tempo in a few days, but the sudden impact feels like a landslide of mountain rocks. Let's see. Do we enroll Craig in the nearby Nursery School or not? We must decide at once. Don't forget about Marcia's and Terry's dancing classes. If we don't sign them up immediately, they won't get in. (Always too many girls and not enough boys, you know.) How about Diana's piano lessons? Will she have time this year? And how can I figure out the right days for everything? Who knows when the various Scout troops are meeting, or the church choir rehearsals, or which afternoons which of them will be staying for after-school sports?

Girls! What's all that commotion about? Oh no! Diana is taller and thinner? Oh dear. We'd had your things down to Marcia. What? Marcia is plumper, and they're too good round her middle? And Terry has stayed so petite that Marcia's hand-me-downs won't fit her for at least another year? Good heavens, Diana! You're thinner than I am! ALL have to have new wardrobes? Fate just couldn't do this to us after we so wisely had three girls in a row in a four-year span! (An economical arrangement.)

Pardon me—the phone is ringing. Yes—Mr. Smith. But I thought we didn't start until September. All right. — just mail me the material. (Why was I so rash as to promise to do their publicity?) Phone again! Oh—hello, Sally. Yes, we had a wonderful time. This Friday morning? I promised to bring the salad? And a cake? I DID? O. K. — I'll put it on my calendar.

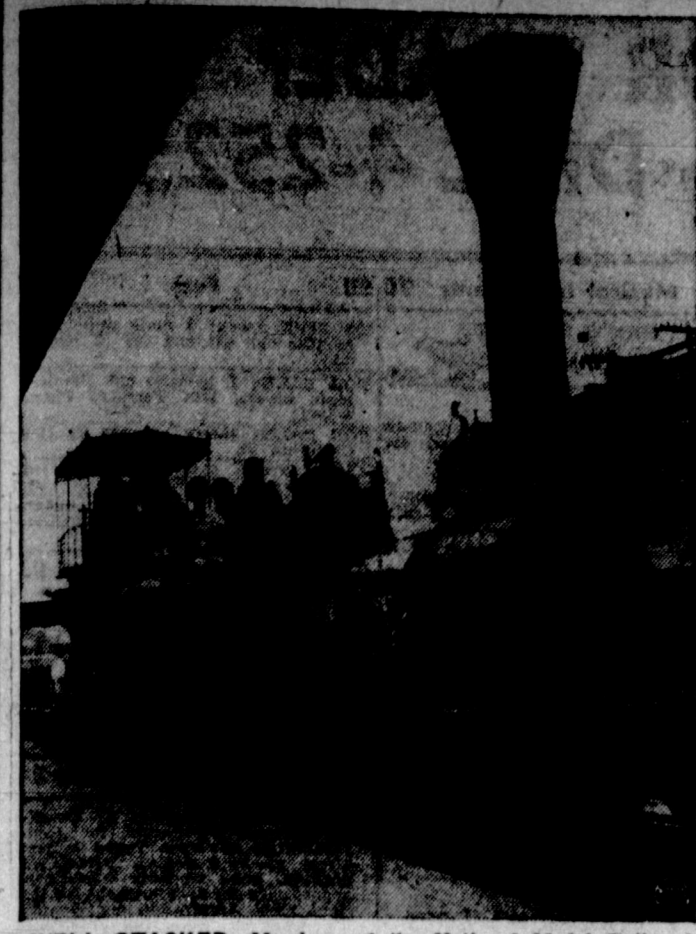

What is it, Diana? A new wool suit for your birthday? And Marcia wants a skirt and sweater to match? BIRTHDAYS! Good heavens, that's right. You both have birthdays the first week in September. Parties? Why — I guess so. Do they have to be as big as last year's? Well — just make your plans, but PLEASE let me know soon what you want. Can you have the phone? By all means, YES! Keep it tied up for a long time. Craig, what's the matter? You want to go swimming? Honey—our vacation is over. Terry — answer the door-bell, will you? Full a brush man? Tell him we don't need anything. Oh all right. I will come.

Dear Lord, Thank You, so very much for my wonderful vacation!

THE CRACKER BARREL

When Franklin Roosevelt was about to recognize Soviet Russia the late Samuel Gompers (president of the American Federation of Labor) said to him, "The Soviet power cannot be recognized because it is an autocracy forced upon the people of Russia without their consent." The facts haven't changed. What do you think the enslaved millions of Russia, China, Poland and the satellites think when they see the leaders of the Free World patting around with Russian leaders who have slaughtered more of their Own People than all the Tsars of history? Wouldn't it be great if an American President would show the Russians the Emancipation Proclamation and say, "When You Recognize This, We Will Recognize You!"

Gas Men Expect 'Little Inch' To Be Petroleum Carrier

WASHINGTON Sept. 10.—Natural gas industry sources predict that the Federal Power Commission will reaffirm its order authorizing the Texas Eastern Transmission Corp. to convert its "little inch" pipeline to a petroleum carrier.

The original order was issued June 14 and confirmed in a modified order July 1. But protests were lodged by the city of Pittsburgh, Pa.; River Company, Inc., an oil-hauling barge line; and the American Pipeline Corp., which wants to build a competitive transmission line. They charged the order was issued without hearing.

The FPC has now set hearings for next Wednesday on the sole issue of whether the order "will serve the public interest."

Texas Eastern has charged the opposition, in turn, told the commission Texas Eastern was moving to encroach on their fields.

Would Save Money

The original FPC order gave Texas Eastern permission to retire part of the little inch from gas service and convert it to oil and gas products. At the same time Texas Eastern would build a new line to continue and expand its gas service.

The change would save Texas Eastern $1,350,000 in construction and service costs in an overall expenditure of $71,814,000. This includes 481 miles of pipeline and compressor stations generating 123,000 horsepower.

The section of little inch to be converted to oil stretches 1,186 miles between Baytown, Tex., and Moundsville, W. Va., and includes five compressors and parts of 16 others.

The new line and compressors would stretch from Texas through Louisiana, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee, Kentucky, Ohio and Pennsylvania. This includes a 382-mile line from Beaumont, Tex., to Kosciusko, Miss.

The commission's first order approved Texas Eastern's plans. The company then proposed to substitute a 30-inch line for a 24-inch line between Beaumont and Kosciusko, elimination of two compressor stations, and changes in others.

Complaint of No Hearings

Commission approval of this brought the complaint that hearings should have been held. The commission then fixed the hearing date but said pointedly it was simply giving the opponents an opportunity to testify for the record. It said it "was not within this commission's jurisdiction or concern" to consider the competitive aspects of the matter.

Industry circles said this declaration makes next Wednesday's hearing meaningless, formally and that the commission's order will stand.

Texas Railroad Commission Reports Three Deep Intents

Three of the 14 intentions to drill filed in the Pampa office of the Texas Railroad Commission last week were for depths of over 5,000 feet.

One Gray County's Rip C. Underwood and the Shamrock Oil and Gas Corporation, Beville No. 1, 13 miles north east of Pampa, was for 10,000 feet.

Twelve oil wells were reported completed. No gasers were reported.

HUGHES DEVELOPMENT COMPANY Presents... the Summit Since 1948 the National Association of Home Builders has sponsored a nationwide annual observance of National Home Week. In connection with National Home Week, September 11 through 18, the nation's home builders present a "Parade of Homes" in various communities where there are affiliated chapters of N.A.H.B. Members of the Texas Panhandle Home Builders Association are "parading" 14 beautiful new homes before Panhandle people who are interested in new design, new materials, new appliances and equipment — and the application and adaptation of new materials to new design. The object of each builder is to assemble new materials into a home which will provide the average family with a home that is the most comfortable and liveable under today's modern standards at an affordable price. The various approaches to the solution of "the most comfort and livability" is as varied and different as there are individual builders — but all are good. SEE THEM — you'll find some idea or ideas in this parade of 14 homes, which, adapted to your personal use, may make life and living a little more pleasant throughout the years to come. In "THE SUMMIT" you will see our adaptation of "the most comfort and livability" under today's modern standards for the tight budget of the average family.
