Language Barrier Should Not Bother Touring Farm Students

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON — UP—What's new in Washington: The problem of a language barrier came up when nine college students were being briefed about their trip to South America on an exchange of young farmers. Farmerette Mary Louise Ansberry of San Ardo, Calif., on her way to Uruguay, said she didn't think any of the nine in the group would have any trouble. All of them know how to pitch hay and milk a cow. Language would be no problem, either, she said. "I can't read any of the blackboard signs," she said. "I can't read any of the signs on the road."

One of the oldest bars in Washington is the "Old Ebbitt" which has been in business since the Civil War. It still exhibits a sign which says: "One man on his feet is worth two on his seat." The point is that since the repeal of prohibition it has been against the law in Washington to stand on your feet at a bar.

Speaking of lovely ladies, Betty Owen is one government gal who can tell you that the spoils system doesn't mean too much. She was "spoiled" from her job in the Agriculture Department when the Republicans came in, gaining she got a notice saying:

Ike's Doctors May Send Him To Florida To Recuperate

By MERRIMAN SMITH
DENVER — UP—Backstairs at the Denver White House, the President apparently is under the assumption that he will spend his period of convalescence at his farm in Gettysburg, Pa. His medical advisers, however, are toying with the idea that he might be more comfortable somewhere in South Florida during late November and December.

No decisions have been made, but when the President is in an optimistic mood, he undoubtedly will be asked how he feels about Florida. One thing seems certain: If Mr. Eisenhower does go to Florida, it won't be Key West, the favorite resort of former President Truman.

When Mr. Eisenhower was army chief of staff after World War II, he was ill for a time and spent several weeks in Key West. He did not like the golf course and what with his illness, he retained a distinct preference for watering spots other than the southernmost city of the United States.

MAKING A GO OF LIFE

By ROY L. SMITH
Read John 19:6-11

We are at all times under spiritual pressure. A fact to which we must give reverent attention is that we are, at all times and under all circumstances, under a spiritual pressure entirely from outside ourselves. What one of us has not experienced the warnings and rebukes of conscience, as though a voice from another world were pronouncing judgment?

It is true, of course, that our conscience is subject to training, and it is possible for us to stifle it, or, for a time at least, to silence it altogether. But even in such cases we are well aware that we are dealing with some-thing quite independent of our will. When it speaks we recognize it as a spokesman for some authority entirely outside ourselves.

To say that we believe we are dealing with the Holy Spirit of God under such circumstances is to expose us to ridicule at the hands of a certain type of person.

God, my Father, thou hast been talking to me all this week. The shame with which I have viewed my failures has been thy voice calling to me; the sense of strength with which I have emerged from honest efforts has been the applause with which thou has followed me. Amen.

You have felt impelled to act generously, to forgive an enemy, or to live with beautiful unselfishness during the last few days. Write a record of those impressions and examine the evidence to discover, if possible, where the impulses came from.

We can't tell you the title of the story, but we can tell you it's one of the latest of Hollywood's best attractions! We believe everyone who saw our last SNEAK-SHOW PREVUE really enjoyed this new twist in family movie entertainment. Bring the family and enjoy two outstanding attractions for the price of one!

Here's a hint for this technicolor Surprise Package: It's a light-hearted comedy that has mixed together a wonderful blend of new faces, familiar faces in new characterizations, plus a fresh, bright story that comes up with a sparkling comedy that will be enjoyed by the entire family.

Cocktail Parties Get More Praise Than TV Premieres

By ALINE MOSBY
HOLLYWOOD — UP—Premieres of the new fall TV shows are over, but the cocktail parties for them wound up with better reviews than the programs.
The television industry has a custom of herding the press together, stuffing them full of ice, olives and hors d'oeuvres, and then flashing some new show on a screen.
After two weeks of this hazardous life (once there were eight parties in one day) the results are in: The food got the highest rating.
Most critics agreed not one top new show or new personality emerged on the fall TV scene. Last year TV got "Medic," George Gobel and Disneyland. This year's George Gobel wasn't rated as high as last year's George Gobel.

The movie studios moved into TV with the air of a hero rushing to the rescue. But the Warner and Fox programs turned out to be long commercials, in disguise, for movies — plus filmed dramas that drew few raves. MGM may revise its show of old film clips, trade reports say, to include more live entertainment at the request of the sponsor.
Even Walt Disney's new "Mickey Mouse Club" was bombarded with complaints of too many commercials not enough cartoons.
The Screen Directors' Guild marched bravely into the TV wars, but its first two filmed dramas brought a mixed reaction.

Food at the SDG premier party, however, received a high Nielsen rating. It was produced by Chasen's restaurant, the credits said.
The SDG made sure the press made the event by hauling them by bus from a competing party at the Beverly Hilton Hotel that introduced the new Jackie Cooper show. Liquor was furnished on the bus so critics need not go without during the 15-minute ride.

Scouts Set Fund Drive In Perryton

PERRYTON — (Special) — Team captains for the general solicitation committee of the local Boy Scout drive have been named by chairman F. B. Whigham. They are Dean McCutcheon, Gordon Shackelford, Joe Erickson, Gilbert Iltz, Max Melarty, Walter LaMaster and Troy Sullivan.
Sidney Jines is general chairman for "Operation Greenback" which will open Tuesday, October 25. The drive is being carried on throughout the Adobe Walls Council, consisting of 35 communities in the Panhandle of Texas and Oklahoma.
Goal for the council is $12,000 for the 35 communities.
Other chairmen for the drive include Max W. Boyer, arrangements; Jack M. Allen, prospect and rating; Vance Apple, advance gifts; and Harold Hudson, publicity.
A goal being followed by the solicitation workers is to secure as many $12 contributions as possible, since it takes this amount to keep a boy in Scouting for a year.

Baptist Standard Circulation Up

DALLAS — UP—The Baptist Standard, official weekly magazine of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, has a circulation of 309,523, highest of any daily weekly or monthly publication in the state, Dr. E. S. James, editor, said Monday.
The magazine has grown from 6,000 circulation in 1889 to 200,000 in 1948 and 250,000 in 1952. Despite its growth, its subscription price is the same as it was 25 years ago, Dr. James said.
He attributed this to "economical operation and diligence in management." Four per cent off the magazine's operating costs are provided by the Baptist General Convention of Texas.
The magazines published in Dallas.

Modern in the Forward Look manner but the ultimate in the tradition of graceful elegance is the new 1956 De Soto Fireline four-door sedan shown here. The second phase of De Soto's Forward Look highlights extensive exterior body changes, including a dramatic new upswipe lift to the popular color sweep that runs the virtual length of the car. Other glamorous new touches are the all-new front and rear ends, both color-keyed interiors in broadcase, damask, leather, faile and other decorator materials. New perforated mesh grille with built-in parking lights, and a dramatic, turreted, three-tiered taillight assembly are among over two dozen highlight changes in design and engineering. The auto will be on display tomorrow at Plains Motor Co., 113 North Frost.

Coty Tells French Political Wars Could End Their Power

By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Foreign Analyst

President Rene Coty has given his fellow French leaders an earnest warning that they had better end their long political spree. Unless they do, he told them, France is going to lose its position as a world power.

He said that parliament must meet a situation in which a French premier is harassed and tormented from the moment he takes office until he resigns or is overthrown.

The sole solution, he said, is radical constitutional reform which will give France the political stability it has lacked for 40 years. In giving his admonition, Coty flipped aside from his accustomed role.

The role is that of a non-political chief of state. Coty is not a chief executive. His job more nearly approximates that of Queen Elizabeth II than that of President Eisenhower.

A Critical Note
Coty gave his warning in a speech Saturday. He had in mind the fact that Edgar Faure, France's 21st premier since the end of World War II, faces a critical vote of confidence Tuesday.

Coty must have thought deeply before he spoke. He usually is content to remain in the background, as he is supposed to do, as the

Land Board To Accept Applications

Earl Rudder, commissioner of the General Land Office, announced from Austin that the Veterans Land Board would accept requests for application forms to purchase land through the Veterans' Land Program beginning Oct. 31, 1955. Rudder stressed that all requests must be by mail. Requests received before October 31, 1955, will not be honored, and will be returned.

Rudder continued that the requests received the five-day period of the first week, beginning Monday, October 31, will be placed in a locked box, and then be drawn and numbered. A limited number will be mailed application forms immediately. The remainder will be notified of their relative position. After that first week, requests for application forms will be numbered consecutively as received.

Rudder cautioned veterans on the following matters:
(1) Old application forms will not be honored since entirely new forms have been written under the amended Veterans Land Act. These application forms can be obtained by written request to the veterans' land board only.

(2) The veteran should not send checks or cash with the request for application forms.
(3) The veteran's request must clearly set out his mailing address.

(4) The veteran should have the tract selected which he wishes to purchase before requesting application forms, as veterans will have only 30 days from the date the forms are mailed from the Veterans' Land Board to complete and return them.

Rudder concluded his announcement saying, "This system which we will use is designed to eliminate accumulation of paper work, enable the veteran and seller to conduct their business promptly, and to secure efficient utilization of the veterans' land board personnel."

Another Hollywood Babe Wants Roles With More Sex

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK — UP—Polly Bergen, who looks like the girl next door if you happen to live next door to her, 20th Century-Fox, announced Tuesday she was abandoning the old Bergen in favor of sex.

"I'm tired of playing adorable types," said the adorable Miss Bergen. "I want to do sultry-type things—the sex girl who takes the husband away from the wife, I've been playing quiverly—lower-lip things for too long. They're boring."

Miss Bergen, who has hit the spot for the past year and a half as the Pepsi-Cola girl on television, crossed her well-formed gams and reflected.

"By sex, I don't mean I want to be a Marilyn Monroe—I'm not a Marilyn Monroe type any way you look at it. (Reporter's note: It all looked fine). What I mean by sex is a womanly maturity, a kind of earthiness."

The blue-eyed singer-actress surveyed her 35-23-35, and added: "Actually I've never had the guts to do low-cut types or cheesecake. But my manager has been asking me for years to wear gowns that show I have a bustline. Now I'm going to wear them. And sweaters, too."

Thus far, the 25-year-old entertainer has spread her charms through such diverse channels as hillbilly and bop records, eight movies including three with Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis, night clubs, one Broadway show, "The Champagne Complex," and TV assignments with Ed Sullivan, Frankie Laine, Steve Allen, the Schlitz Playhouse and 13 weeks on "Your Hit Parade."

Despite her enthusiasm, Polly indicated that she had some misgivings about her new tack. "I was the Grace Kelly of my day when they weren't interested in Kelly types, I was singing hillbilly songs before they became really popular. And as a pop singer, I made the first vocal record of 'Autumn Leaves' a year before it became a hit. I'm very famous for doing things before they become popular."

School Men Hold Meet

A group of seven school officials from Pampa and four administrators from Lefors attended the first meeting of the Panhandle School Leaders Association meeting in Amarillo Saturday in conjunction with the American Childhood Education Association, a national organization.

Attending the sessions from here were: County Superintendent Bert R. Nuckols, Principals Harland Yoder, Sam Begert, Homer Craig, and John Evans; Roy McMillen, business manager, and Jack Nickols, assistant high school principal.

Attending the session were school administrators from all over the Panhandle who divided into six groups for the first session at 5 p.m. in the Amarillo High School Auditorium. The groups, discussing their individual problems, were: superintendents, secondary principals, elementary principals, board members, business managers, supervisors and counselors.

A joint sectional meeting followed in the cafeteria at 7:30 p.m. for a discussion of the school evaluation program this year, and the new certification law in regard to teacher's certificates.

Accidental Shot Fatal To Boy

JACKSBORO, Tex.—Gary Dean Cole, 13-year-old Jacksboro boy, who was killed while hunting, was buried following services here Tuesday.

The boy was shot by a .22 caliber rifle when he pushed it through a fence Sunday to a hunting companion. He was hunting birds with two other youths when they thought they heard a crane. Their hurry in getting through the fence in quest of the crane was blamed for the tragedy. The young victim was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Cole.

Jane Talk

By JANE KADINGO Pampa News Women's Editor

WHEN YOU BUY A PAIR OF SHOES you try to match them up with your wardrobe. You do the same with socks, shirts and ties. The question is: Do you follow the same example when you pick out a hat? Benjamin Parrill says a lot of people don't and you should. Mr. Parrill, who is president of The Adom Hat Manufacturers, Inc., is the world's leading authority on "hat etiquette," which is the do's and don'ts of wearing a hat.

COLOR IN A HAT is just as important as color combinations in the rest of your clothes. "A dark complexioned fellow," Parrill warns, "should shy away from blacks and deep greys and dark browns. He should wear a lighter shade to accentuate his color or a medium shade to tone it down."

No man can get away with just one hat anymore. The well-dressed man about town could use at least six hats. As a minimum, he needs a grey shade and a brown shade felt fedora. He needs at least two straw hats for summer wear, a cap for informal wear, and a homburg for important business occasions. He might add to that a derby, a silk topper, and a hat for rainstorms.

Picking out a hat that looks well on a man is one of the most important aspects of buying. And just as important as size is the shape of the hat, its styling. "A hat should go with a man's personality and body type," Parrill says.

IN CASE YOU are planning on donning a new bonnet, here are suggestions to help you pick out the right shaped hat. An experienced hat salesman can give you additional pointers. 1. If you are short, a pinch-crown hat shaped higher in front will add

2. If you are tall, a hat with a narrow band, moderate crown and wide, full snap brim will flatter the vertical lines. A long slender face is set off by a well-rounded moderate width brim with a full snap. 3. If you are lean, you can soften the angular lines of your face by wearing a tapered medium crown hat with a wide band, tilted slightly to a side. If your face is short and slender you need a low crown shaped high and narrow at front, low and spread out at back. 4. If you are stout, for eye pleasing top-toe proportions, you should wear a hat of medium height with a full crown, narrow to medium band and a wide brim snapped full across. If you face is short and full you need a slight taper to the hat to take away from the roundness of the face. 5. If you have a square face, you'll look better if you will wear a hat with a medium height crown, dented at the sides; a brim with a wide flat snap. A full snap brim, or off-the-face hat is ideal. Softer colors will make you look friendlier. Parrill's final word of advice: Try on a number of hats before you buy one. Don't be rushed. When you get the right hat you'll be able to tell. A good hat does wonders for a man's appearance.

Rubinoff's Violin Is World-Famous

When Rubinoff appears in Pampa in a program of popular concert music, he will play on one of the most precious instruments in the world, the famed Romaboff-Stradivarius violin insured for $100,000.

The violin is famous for its silken, lustrous tone, its full range and almost unbelievable depth. Made in 1731 by the master of all violin makers, this particular "Strad" eventually found its way into the hands of the Romanoffs, one time rulers of Russia, and still bears the bejeweled crest of that family. During the revolution it was smuggled out of Russia and eventually was purchased by Mr. Rubinoff.

Sensitive to heat, humidity, altitude and the risks that beset any treasure of such vast value, the Stradivarius is guarded and handled with deference and extreme care at all times. The ancient instrument still retains the original varnish and is the acme of perfection in musical instruments.

An interesting fact is that during certain passages of "Warsaw Concerto" Rubinoff exerts as much as 60 pounds of pressure on the violin. It takes tremendous strength of highly developed muscular action to draw certain tones from one of the world's most delicate instruments.

Rubinoff will appear in the Junior High School auditorium Dec. 8. Tickets are available from members of Ailurus Club, sponsoring the concert. Proceeds will go into the club's scholarship fund.

Time Out With Tom

By TOMMIE ELLIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

AS ALWAYS THERE'S ONE WEEK which sports scribes wish they hadn't popped off and last week seems to have been one of them. We didn't do so good in our predictions of the I-AAAA district, Southwest Conference or the Border Conference, but then neither did the teams that were favored to win. There were three of four upsets in the Southwestern loop.

Texas was bulldozged by the rough Arkansas Razorbacks and the tough TCU club fell before the revenging power of the A&M Aggies. The Rice Owls, who had earlier been selected by some as the top team in the conference, fell at the hands of SMU. We did pick the Baylor-Washington game correctly though for a .250 average.

Prospects for Midland look better now since Odessa has been eliminated for the top spot in the district. Abilene still is the team in the district and will probably be rated as the top team in the state after their easy victory over the strong Odessa club which was making a strong bid for the second spot in the district.

The tale will be told next week though when Midland meets the Lubbock Westerners who dropped a hair-splitting game to the Odessa club last week. That game should prove the power of the Bulldogs and give an insight to the game between Abilene and Midland scheduled for Nov. 18 which should be the deciding game of the season.

Waldorf, who had won 82, lost only 18 and had three ties before this year, was hanged in effigy on the U. C. campus Monday by unknown persons; and a group of California alumni, known as GROW (for get rid of Waldorf) is reportedly campaigning against him in the southland.

But the wise walrus of Strawberry Canyon appears to be not too disturbed.

"I've heard of no direct complaints from the alumni," said Waldorf. "And as for that hanging in effigy, I can just say that I guess that is one of the hazards of the game. I'm glad it was only in effigy."

This year California has lost to Pittsburgh, Illinois and Oregon, has tied Washington State and last Saturday took a 21-0 licking from a fair Oregon team.

But what is discouraging about the whole schedule is the future. The next three games are against Southern California, UCLA and Washington, the three powerhouses of the Pacific Coast Conference. The final two are against pretty fair clubs, too: Oregon State and Stanford.

Understand there is an Antelope Hunt going on in the southern part of Roberts County. The sport is limited because of the small number of the animals in this part of the country. We sure don't want them to become extinct like the Passenger Pigeons.

Southwest Conference Teams Hold Tough Practice Today

Hard practice sessions were in store for most Southwest Conference teams Tuesday following the usual light post-game workouts that start each week.

SMU's regular players who saw the most service in the Mustangs 20 to 0 win over Rice ran through a light drill Monday.

Players who saw only limited service against the Owls and members of the Gold Shirt team engaged in a scrimmage session with the Golf Shirts using plays run by the Kansas Jayhawks, in the next opponent.

Blake Tucker, senior two-letterman halfback, is the only Mustang expected to miss the Kansas game because of injuries.

At Houston, the Rice Owls also had a light workout, practicing getting into position more quickly on defense.

This was just one of the many departments where Rice looked bad against SMU.

Four top players were on the crippled list but were expected to be ready by Saturday when the Owls meet Texas at Austin.

They were tackle Eddie Rayburn and end Marshall Crawford, the team co-captains, guard Jay Riviere and reserve halfback David Kelley.

Michigan, Maryland And Oklahoma Still Top Three

NEW YORK — UP—Michigan, Maryland and Oklahoma, which weathered the wave of weekend upsets, clung to the top three United Press college football ratings Tuesday, but a shakeup of the remaining places in the top 10 vaulted Navy into the No. 4 spot. Michigan State, Auburn and Southern California all advanced to the select group as the ratings underwent their biggest scrambling of the season thus far. Notre Dame, one of the four major powers upset, dropped six places to 10th.

He won a total of 198 games and was named manager of Cincinnati in August, 1948, while still on the active list. He was fired after the Reds wound up seventh in 1949.

Ben Hogan Retires To Play For Fun

NEW YORK — UP—Ben Hogan, the game little guy who knew how to play golf only for keeps, will play it only for kicks from now on.

Hogan, four-time winner of the National Open, announced his formal retirement from competitive golf Tuesday in an article in Look magazine. The 44-year-old Bantam Ben, who originally stated his intention of "quitting after falling in his bid for a fifth Open title last summer, will play the game now only for pleasure.

"I can no longer compete in tournaments," Hogan said in the article. "I can no longer maintain the concentration or strength necessary to prepare properly."

Hogan added he "dedicated" his life to golf 25 years ago and made up his mind at the time that it "was going to be just about the biggest thing in my life."

The pocket-sized Texan won his first pro-tournament in 1938. He enjoyed his greatest year in 1953 when he captured the Masters tournament with a record 274 for 72 holes; then won the National Open at Pittsburgh for the fourth time. He completed a "grand slam" a month later by winning the British Open in Scotland.

Among Hogan's other achievements were captain of the Ryder Cup team in 1947 and 1949; PGA pro golfer of the year, 1948-50-51-52; leading money winner on the pro circuit, 1940-41-42-46-48, and winner of the Harry Vardon Memorial Trophy Award, 1940-41-48.

The second semifinal event between Boris Krameroff and newcomer to the local mat arena Buck Lipcomb, went to Boris Krameroff in 13 minutes 3 seconds with a neck breaker.

The main event, an Australian Tag Team match, pairing Overhuls and Krameroff against Murdock and Lipcomb, almost wound up in a free for all. It resembled a boxing match at times with the wrestlers and referee trading blows freely.

Overhuls won the first fall over Murdock in 11 minutes 8 seconds with a full Nelson. Krameroff took the second and deciding fall over Lipcomb with a body press in fifteen minutes.

All four wrestlers were competing in the ring at the time of the last fall.

The next wrestling bout will be Wednesday, October 26th.

Afflee Apparently Ready To Give Up Party's Helm

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Foreign Analyst
"Dear old Clem" Attlee seems to have made up his mind to give up his 20-year leadership of the British Labor party.

There are reports from London that the modest, colorless little man who became a Socialist by accident back in 1910 will announce his retirement when Parliament meets next week.

In any event there seems no doubt that he has decided to go. It is expected that, when he does, he will give up his seat in the House of Commons too, perhaps to become a peer and enter the House of Lords.

Attlee is 72. He suffered a heart attack last summer. He is tired out after years of riding herd on the highly undisciplined Labor party, chronically torn by dissension.

It is expected that aggressive, shrewd Herbert Morrison, now deputy leader, will step into Attlee's job.

But Morrison is 67. It is being predicted that he will act only as a place-holder for Hugh Gaitskell, the 49-year-old party treasurer. He is the up-and-coming man.

They call Attlee a mousy, uninspiring man and a political accident. But he has proved himself a man of parts.

Clement Richard Attlee was not born into the Labor party level of British society.

The son of a lawyer, he went to an expensive "public school" and to Oxford University. He came out a conservative and an imperialist.

But it happened that a settlement house in London's east end needed a secretary and Attlee was looking for a job. Few Britons of Attlee's background ever even get to the east end. He saw for the first time the bitter, grinding poverty in which so many of his fellow Britons lived.

Attlee was shocked and shaken. With the resolution and sincerity that have marked him all his life, he joined the Labor party.

He entered the army at the outset of World War I. He served with distinction in the Middle East and in France, and came out a major after being twice wounded.

After the war he became mayor of Stepney, in the east end. Then in 1922 Limehouse, another east end slum district, sent him to the House of Commons.

Despite his lack of color, his lack of oratorical prowess, his lack of combativeness, he rose to deputy party leader.

When George Lansbury, the party head, retired there were two rivals for the leadership. Attlee was not one of them. But "Clem" was picked because of his sincerity and his gift of making himself liked and trusted by all factions of the party.

He became prime minister in 1945 when Churchill was swept out of office. He served through the difficult years until 1951, and made international, the same good name he had made for himself in Britain.

Wage Law Said Broken In Texas

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M. —UP— A New Mexico Federation of Labor spokesman charged Monday that because Texas "can and does" break federal wage laws is no reason for New Mexico cotton farmers to pay Mexican national labor anything less than the prevailing wage.

The spokesman, Secretary W. S. Roberts, was answering a telegram sent by Gov. John F. Simms to Secretary of Labor James C. Mitchell protesting what Simms called "apparent discrimination" against New Mexico growers.

Simms said farmers in the state are required to pay more for harvesting 100 pounds of cotton than growers in adjoining Texas counties. But Mitchell replied that a federal law requires that Mexican nationals must be paid the same rates as domestic laborers in a given area.

Roberts, who is also a member of the New Mexico Employment Security Commission, said a survey showed that domestic workers in the Roswell area were receiving $2.50 for each 100 pounds of cotton harvested, while in Artesia they were paid $2.40 and in Carlsbad $2.25.

The wage scale for Mexican aid, therefore, he said, was necessarily the same under the terms of the international agreement with Mexico.

But, he charged, in Lea and Grant county areas, Mexican labor was being paid only $2.05—the minimum under terms of the international agreement—and roughly the same as that paid in the neighboring Texas counties.

The reason, he said, is that there is such a shortage of domestic labor at both points that it has been replaced entirely with Mexican help.

Parr Gets Tax Hearing

WASHINGTON —UP— The Supreme Court granted a hearing Monday to George B. Parr, controversial South Texas political leader, indicted for federal income tax evasion.

The high court will hand down a decision in the case after hearing arguments later this term.

Parr was indicted in the U. S. District court in Corpus Christi in 1954. But Judge T. M. Kennerly ordered the case transferred to Laredo on grounds that Parr could not receive fair trial in Corpus Christi because of the prejudice against him.

The government objected to the new site, claiming that Laredo is "the seat of petitioner's (Parr's) political power." A new indictment was brought against Parr in Austin last May and the government won a dismissal of the first indictment.

In his appeal to the Supreme Court, Parr claimed that the government was "shopping around for an illegitimate advantage" and "circumventing" federal procedure rules in not trying him in Laredo.

He asked the high court to either dismiss the Austin indictment or order it transferred to Laredo.

The one and only "mellow-mash" bourbon... Mellow Yellowstone

THE ORIGINAL "NO-BITE" BOURBON IN THE OLD KENTUCKY BOTTLE!

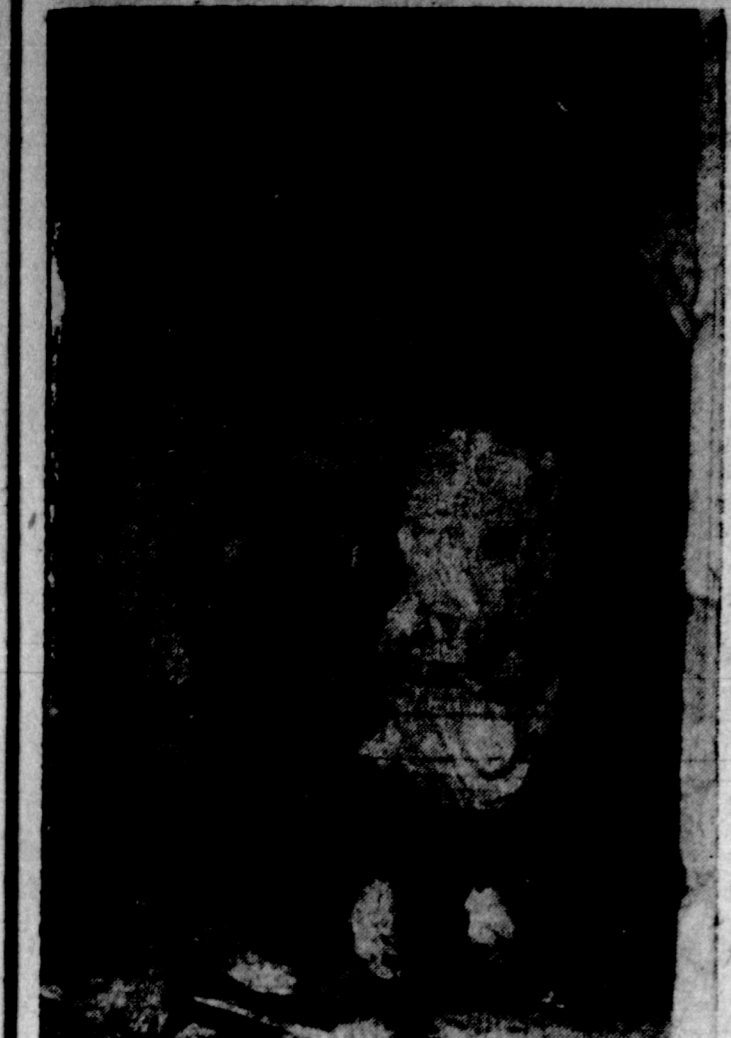

KENTUCKY STRAIGHT BOURBON WHISKEY 86 PROOF - ALSO AVAILABLE 100 PROOF - BOTTLED-IN-BOND

For over 100 years, people have been discovering something "new" in old Kentucky. It's a different bourbon—better, smoother, remarkably free of bite.

The reason? It has the best characteristics of sour-mash bourbon and sweet-mash bourbon. It's one step better—mellow-mash, the exclusive Yellowstone way of achieving full-bourbon flavor with light body.

People outside Kentucky are discovering this old favorite. Why don't you? Once you taste it, you'll know why it's called "the greatest American whiskey!"

FAIR AND WETTER—Sarah Lee, of Memphis, Tenn., "Fairest of the Fair of 1955" thought it was fun to help bathe a prize haifer at the Mid-South Fair in Memphis. Ike May Stop Off At Capitol Enroute To Gettysburg Farm

By WARREN DUFFEE
L. RIVER —UP— Backstairs at the Denver White House, Mr. Eisenhower hasn't been checked out with the President yet, but he may stop off in Washington for two or four days enroute to his Gettysburg, Pa., farm from Denver.

The doctors aren't worried about Mr. Eisenhower being able to make the trip east, once they decide he can leave the hospital for convalescence at Gettysburg.

And the President himself has decreed that he wants to be well enough to walk onto the airplane, and not be carried, when he leaves Fitzsimons Army Hospital.

However, his doctors are aware that a six-hour flight, even in the plush Columbine, can have a fatiguing effect.

For that reason, they are giving serious thought to landing the chief executive in Washington first. That way they could give him some rest before he takes the long automobile ride from an airport near Gettysburg to his farm.

If the plan to stop in Washington carries through, Mr. Eisenhower will be taken immediately to the White House and will remain virtually incommunicado in the residence section until time for the move to the farm.

Among the hundreds of gifts that poured in for the President's 60th birthday was a milk cow lie. A New York furrier sent it.

Taciturn Sherman Adams, the granite-faced Presidential assistant who bosses the White House staff, has his own private nickname for White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty. It's "Shamrock."

Although Hagerty's bulldog face looks like the map of Ireland itself, he isn't an out-and-out Irishman.

Most people think he is, however, and he's long since given up trying to explain that he's really only part Irish; that much of his ancestry is from north Ireland at that, and that he's an Episcopalian.

Adams has a reputation as a stern, hard worker. But he enjoys a sort of awesome respect among the White House staff.

After he arrived to take over operations at the temporary White House, one staff member was asked if his early-to-work habits meant any change in routine.

"No, we don't have to come to work any earlier," was the reply, "but we have to be on time."

Despite his reputation for sternness, the former New Hampshire governor knows how to relax in his off hours—in his own way.

He puts on nondescript lounging clothes, gets behind the wheel of a big maroon White House Cadillac, and drives through the picturesque canyons of the nearby Rockies.

Two of the crack air policemen—imported from air bases all over the country to guard the temporary White House at Lowry Air Force Base—didn't even recognize the little man in khaki slacks, windbreaker and western hat who chatted with friends in front of the headquarters building one quiet Sunday afternoon.

Of course, it was Sherman Adams.

WON'T PAY—Utah Democrats are demanding that J. Bracken Lee, the state's Republican governor, either pay his federal taxes or resign. Governor Lee said he will not pay his income tax, hoping, he says, to secure a U.S. Supreme Court test of the federal government's "right to tax American people for the support of foreign countries."

THIS IS ONE of those weeks when I am most happy I am not still writing sports and making predictions on the outcome of football contests.

The scribes around the nation look pretty sad these days, and it always happens, at least on one week end a year.

I always had a respectable average in the "guessing" department, but it would never fall that I would come up with a Saturday like the one just past and have to spend the rest of the year taking the ribs that always come from readers.

One day I started a feature in which I let some fan get in on the predictions, and I usually picked the fellow who gave me the most static on my bum picks. Be surprised how it quietsens folks down.

Of course, the real happy guys today are the Elks from Aggie-land. I remember last week talking with one Ex Aggie, Gene Holler, who was planning a trip to Fort Worth for Saturday's game with TCU, and I thought about what a long trip that would be just to see the old Alma Mater get taken to the cleaners. Must be difficult living with that old boy this week.

WOULDN'T BE at all surprised if a new enthusiasm in Aggie Alumni organizations blossoms around here in the next few days. I don't want to give the impression I'm anti-Aggie. Matter of fact they were my first heroes in the football world. The Aggies used to play the annual Rose Festival classic in Tyler when I was a youngster in school, and the colorful band and football team always made that October week end a memorable one. In those days, the Aggies were a football power to be reckoned with — as they apparently are becoming again.

DON FORSHA, chief metallurgist at Cabot shops, on one of his frequent trips to the East Coast recently stopped at New York City and visited in Jack Dempsey's Restaurant. In a recent meeting at the Pampa Elks Lodge, Don was showing off a $10 bill which he had autographed by the great former heavyweight champion of the world. It was a souvenir for Don's daughter. But also signed on the bill was the signature of Myrtle Power, and I'll bet few of you know who she is. Give up?

That's grandma Myrt, the old lady who was such an expert on baseball that she won $32,000 on a television quiz show, and quit short of $64,000 because she said she didn't want to beat her beloved Dodgers to a "world series" victory.

Don explained that Myrt was in Dempsey's restaurant at the time of his visit and he met and talked with her while there.

PATRONS WHO take in the "Masquerade Ball" Saturday at the Pampa Elks Lodge will find a re-painted and decorated lodge for their entertainment. Several lodge members dug out work clothes and paint brushes Sunday afternoon and Monday night and gave the place a face lifting. Many other improvements are planned.

Saturday night's affair will be in the Halloween theme, and what with the decorations and costumes, it promises to be a colorful affair. Tom Dunham's "Notables" will provide the music, and prizes will be given for the best costumes. Attendance will be limited to 50 couples, so folks with large parties should plan to get their tickets in advance. Revenue from the dance will aid the Elks Crippled Children's Hospital in Ottine.

THE POET'S NOOK

Last week I quoted from a "non-sense" poem entitled "Evolution" by Langdon Smith. There were no phone calls from folks who recognized it, and I am beginning to feel that people just don't recognize poetry excerpts any more. But recognize it or not, you may wish to get a copy of "Evolution" and read it for amusement.

The art film program comes to Pampa beginning Thursday, and the work of a pet named William Shakespeare will be presented as the initial feature. It's "Romeo and Juliet."

Years ago I saw the film version of this story which starred Leslie Howard and Norma Shearer. It was a tremendous production as I recall, and I am told the version coming to the LaNora is even better.

"Poems That Tell a Story" is the title of a division in a volume of poetry I have, and one of the poems might make a fine movie for some studio looking for material. This is especially true today since there is so much interest in western settings and stories.

Anyway I am going to quote from this poem today and let it be the mystery quote for the week. If you recognize it, give us a call.
"I want free life and I want fresh air;
And I sigh for the center after the cattle,
The crack of the whips like shots in a battle,
The medley of horns and hoofs and heads
The wars and wrangles and scatters and spreads;
The green beneath and the blue above,
And dash and danger and life and love."
