Gusty Cool Front Pushes Over State

By UNITED PRESS

A gusty cool front pushed rapidly through Texas along a curved line Friday, promising to cover all the state with cooler temperatures for the weekend.

The front is relatively mild, however, forecasters said there was the possibility it would touch off scattered showers through East Texas and along the coastal area of South Central Texas.

It should drop temperatures later in the day by 15 to 20 degrees over most of the state compared with Thursday's readings. Forecasters look for readings in the mid-60's late Friday and Saturday in North Central Texas, and near 60 in the Panhandle.

Lufkin, College Station and on south of San Antonio and Del Rio.

Some Rainfall
Some rainfall was reported in the state during the past 24 hours, but most fell prior to Thursday night. The heaviest official amount was .75 of an inch at Galveston. College Station and San Antonio reported traces, as did Fort Worth and Dallas. Tyler in East Texas got a few sprinkles.

Overnight temperatures dropped to 35 at Daltiel, and ranged upward to 73 at Galveston. Readings Thursday ranged from 51 at Cotulla to 73 at El Paso.

Small craft warnings were ordered hoisted from Brownsville, Tex., to Morgan City La. The advisory by the New Orleans weather bureau ordered the warnings hoisted at daybreak for southerly winds 12 to 22 miles an hour, shifting to northerly 20 to 30 miles an hour late in the day.

Ike Watches 'Wild West' Film Show

By MERRIMAN SMITH

DENVER—UP—President Eisenhower, whose movie tastes run to Tom Mix, William S. Hart and Hopalong Cassidy, has reached a new point in his recovery from a Sept. 24 heart attack.

The President may now go to the movies, as long as they are shown on the eighth floor of Fitzsimons Army hospital and he can be moved from room to the small auditorium by wheel chair.

Mr. Eisenhower's doctors at 8:45 a.m. sat Friday said he had a good night's sleep of seven and one-half hours and continued to progress satisfactorily without complications.

"He awoke feeling refreshed and in a good mood," the bulletin said.

While the wheels of government ground on late Thursday, the President spent two hours watching a western movie. He was in his bathrobe and pajamas and got an admitted kick out of watching "a lot of Indians that bit the dust."

Most some Hollywood studio derive a commercial advantage, the President's staff declined to disclose the title of the movie. The fact that it ran two hours and was in color indicated it probably was one of Hollywood's more recent western efforts.

The President scheduled no official callers at his hospital quarters Friday. But Saturday he will confer with Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson who periodically find himself as the center of political controversy.

Lefors Sets Homecoming Tomorrow

The fifth annual Homecoming celebration at Lefors High School will be held tomorrow with the climax coming when Lefors' football team, the Pirates, take on the Panhandle Panthers at Shaw Park at 2:30 p.m.

A full day of activities is planned for the ex-students and friends of the school.

Registration for all ex-students and their families, ex-teachers and their families, present employees of the Lefors schools and their families, past school board members and supporters of the Lefors school will begin at 12 o'clock and continue until game time at 2:30 p.m. The registration will be held in the entrance hall of the high school building. Coffee will be available in the homemaking department preceding and during registration. All guests will have time to tour the school plant, inspect the new vocational building which is in its first year of operation, and view numerous other improvements on the campus.

During halftime activities at the game, the Football Sweetheart, Miss Grace Barber, will be crowned.

Following the football game, there will be an assembly program in the auditorium, at which time the business meeting will be held and the usual recognitions made. The speech and music departments will present entertainment for the group, of which the honored classes will be the graduates of 1930, 1935, 1940, 1945, 1950 and 1955.

The annual barbecue will begin at 6 p.m. in the new cafeteria. After the meal, everyone will be urged to remain to visit with friends and former schoolmates or attend the halloween carnival in the Junior-High gymnasium.

This homecoming celebration promises to be one of the outstanding events that have been held for the ex-students and friends of the school.

Two Scientists Create Life In Test Tube

BERKELEY, Calif.—UP—Two University of California scientists who created a living virus in a test tube were credited Friday with taking a historic step in the fight against some of man's most dread diseases.

Dr. Wendell M. Stanley, Nobel laureate and head of the University of California's virus laboratory, said the step is "an utterly fantastic discovery on the borderline of life."

The researchers, Dr. Heinz L. Fraenkel-Conrat, a associate research biochemist, and Dr. Robjey Williams, professor of biophysics, created from non-living material in a test tube a "live" virus capable of spreading disease.

Specifically, the two broke down a virus of the tobacco mosaic disease and then reassembled it into a living substance they are convinced is the same virus. It is the first time inert fragments have been put together to form living substances.

The reconstructed viruses can reproduce themselves and can cause the mosaic disease in the tobacco plant.

Stanley said the discovery opens up the possibility of "dazzling vistas" for the future.

Solon Says More In GOP Hoping Ike Runs Again

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON—UP—Sen. Frank Carlson (R-Kan.) said Friday he is finding "more and more" Republicans regaining hope that President Eisenhower will seek a second term despite his heart attack.

Long a close friend of the President, Carlson was one of his earliest backers for the 1952 Republican nomination.

"As the President's health improves," he told a reporter, "I find during my travels that more and more people are hopeful that the President will be able to run again."

Declines Predictions
Carlson declined to make any predictions, however, or to indicate that he had any knowledge of Mr. Eisenhower's intentions. He did make it clear that he thinks Mr. Eisenhower will be a sure thing if he should seek re-election.

Mid-East Crisis Brings Fast Meet

Dulles, Britisher Hold Hour-Long Emergency Talk

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG

GENEVA—UP—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and British Foreign Secretary Harold MacMillan held a one-hour emergency meeting on the Middle East crisis which threatened to erupt into open warfare Friday.

Dulles asked for the meeting soon after he had been informed of an Israeli raid into Egypt, in which both sides claimed to have inflicted casualties on the other.

They met at MacMillan's villa on this second day of the Big Four foreign ministers conference only 30 minutes after Dulles telephoned and asked for the meeting.

Officials confirmed they discussed the latest dangerous Israeli-Egypt flareup, but did not disclose if any decisions were taken.

Refuses Comment

Dulles refused to comment on his session with MacMillan. However, a U.S. spokesman said they also discussed procedural matters connected with the Big Four conference.

Reports circulated in Geneva that Dulles was seeking Allied approval of a new declaration guaranteeing Israel's borders; Tel Aviv dispatches said, however, the West had not yet made a firm commitment.

French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay was forced to return to Paris where his government faced a crucial vote of confidence in the national assembly but he conferred before departure with Israeli Premier Moshe Sharet.

Sharet hoped to see both Dulles and Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov as well.

Shoves Issue Ahead
The new gunfire in the Middle East was rapidly shoving the Communist arms-for-Egypt issue ahead of European problems.

The raid in which Israeli troops stabbed five miles across the frontier into Egypt and wiped out an Egyptian desert outpost recalled Sharet's declaration that "Israel will fight again if she must."

The Middle East flareup came before the East and West could formally tackle cold war problems at Friday's Big Four meeting to discuss European peace and security. A French foreign office official was sitting in for Pinay.

WEATHER

WEST TEXAS—Fair and colder Friday night; lowest 28 to 38 Panhandle, Saturday fair and warmer.

IT WAS A FOWL JOB, BUT JUST MONKEY BUSINESS

VENTURA, Calif.—UP—Sheriff's deputies, called by a woman who said someone was trying to break into her hen house, put the case down as monkey business.

They said the "burglar" fled the hen house empty-handed on their arrival. It was a monkey.

Farmer Demands Benson Quits Job

By BERNARD BRENNER

MINOT, N. D.—UP—A North Dakota farmer, Friday demanded the resignation of Agriculture Secretary Ezra T. Benson and warned the Senate Agriculture committee "we are due for some land reform which will distribute the ownership of land more equitably."

Oswald K. Ophaug, a spokesman for the Nelson county chapter of the farmers union, told the committee in a prepared statement there will always be a "farm problem" while farmers are divided into classes by the size of their farms.

"We ask for the resignation of Ezra Taft Benson because of his attitude toward the farm problem; which we feel does not serve the general national interest," Ophaug added.

Fifth of Hearing Series
Ophaug testified Thursday at the fifth in a series of Senate farm hearings scheduled to gather "grass roots" advice before the committee writes a new farm price law next year.

The Farmer's Union is strong in this state and many witnesses scheduled Friday were local officers of the organization. They echoed its attack on the administration's flexible price support program and demanded rigid farm price props at 90 or 100 per cent of the "fair income" parity level.

Under the administration program, wheat and four other major crops are supported this year at 82 1/2 to 90 per cent of parity.

Next year the range will be 75-90 per cent and Benson has already set the 1956 support level for wheat—a major crop in this northern plains area—at 76 per cent of parity.

Robert E. Lee, a Larimore, N. D., farmer and Farmers Union leader, said in prepared testimony he "highly recommended" Benson's removal.

Case of 'Benson Blues'
"My take-home pay is down to the point where I'm not making expenses. I've got a bad case of the Benson Blues," he said.

At a hearing in Worthington, Minn., last Tuesday, a crowd cheered witnesses demanding Benson's removal until Committee Chairman Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) cut a witness off by telling him "that's something we can't cure right now, so let's not discuss it."

Benson is scheduled to go into Minnesota Friday to speak before the farmers day observance of the Moorhead Chamber of Commerce.

In Racial Integration

Ike Says Capital Should Lead Way

By PATRICIA WIGGINS

WASHINGTON—UP—After the Supreme Court outlawed racial segregation in public schools last year President Eisenhower said he hoped Washington would be "an example to the nation" in making integration work.

Friday, school officials said they believed the nation's capital had fulfilled the President's expectation.

"It's not perfect yet," said one member of the District of Columbia Board of Education. "But we have made remarkable progress. Things are going very smoothly."

First Big Test
Washington was the first big city with a segregated school system to put the Supreme Court's desegregation order into effect.

District of Columbia school officials began integration immediately but gradually at the start of the 1954-55 school year. The scattered student demonstrations last fall—more spectacular than serious—have given way this year to an "all quiet" atmosphere.

School boundaries were not made compulsory for high school seniors last year and they were allowed to attend schools away from their home neighborhoods until graduation if they chose. This year, however, all students are attending schools closest to their homes.

This has led to overcrowding in schools in "mixed" neighborhoods where children used to scatter to segregated schools. In fact, officials feel that integration is now less a problem than overcrowding. Two new high schools and additions to two grade schools are being built.

Negro Ratio on Rise

Israeli Troops Attack Fortress
TEL AVIV—UP—Israeli troops attacked an Egyptian border fortress Friday, killing 10 Egyptian soldiers and capturing about two dozen, the Israeli army reported.

Egyptians manning the fortress at El Kuntilla offering no resistance, the Israeli army reported, and the raid took only 23 minutes.

It was the first big border flareup since Communist arms reached the Arabs.

Israeli army officials said the raiding party was ordered to "capture the fortress and take prisoners, but do no more."

Church Asks Prayers For Heart-Broken Meg

LONDON—UP—A Church of England publication summoned the nation Friday to pray for Princess Margaret whose obvious heartache and indecision over Peter Town send has rallied new support to her side.

She gave open evidence of the heartache, and fresh evidence she has not yet decided by taking her problem to Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, the Archbishop of Canterbury, chief foe of the remarriage of a divorced person.

She showed it again Thursday night when a cruel coincidence forced her to sit through a light opera about a girl who had to decide between her family's choice of husband and her own. It was Smetana's "The Bartered Bride."

Spectators thought they saw tears sparkle in her eyes as the villagers on the stage of Covent Garden Opera House shouted to the opera's heroine—"make up your mind; make a decision."

Every eye in the house turned toward Margaret at that line but she gave no sign.

Shotgun Is Found Here
A Remington shotgun was found, yesterday morning on a dirt road west of Harvester Football stadium by Jimmy Johnson, 313 N. Hobart, according to a Police report.

Chief of Police Jim Conquer asks the owner to identify the shotgun by the serial number, if possible, or by other identifying marks in order to recover.

A kick-off breakfast will start the general drive on Monday at 7 a.m.

Saving Time Ends In U.S. Saturday

CHICAGO — UP — The hold out part of the nation goes back on standard time Saturday night, ending a $1.5 million headache for the television industry and repaying about $1,575,000 persons the hour's sleep they lost at the start of daylight saving time last April.

Eleven states returned to standard time Sept. 25, but a dozen others retained daylight saving time for another month. These included New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont, Connecticut, Delaware, Maine, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, and about half of Illinois and of Indiana.

Eggleston Gang Man Is Arrested

FORT WORTH — UP — One of two alleged members of the Leroy (Tincy) Eggleston gang, hunted in two states for two months following an Oklahoma gambling house robbery, was in Fort Worth city jail Thursday.

Richard Noonan Kent, 30, of Wichita Falls described as "very dangerous," was arrested on a drunk charge in the 6400 block of East Lancaster late Wednesday night.

Kent was sitting in a parked car when Policeman G. L. Everman found him. Detective Herman Cobb said the 1956 model Dodge Kent occupied had been stolen in Duncan, Okla. The speedometer showed only 329 miles. Kent and Joseph Rowland Brown, 34, were charged Aug. 20 with robbery of the Saddle Club, swank gambling house near El Reno, Okla. Both are ex-convicts. Brown was captured a short time later in Oklahoma.

During the robbery, Tincy Eggleston's brother, Charlie Bob Eggleston, 30, a bouncer at the club, was shot and wounded in one arm. It was still bandaged when he attended Tincy's funeral in Fort Worth, after the gang leader's body was found in an abandoned well Aug. 30.

Church

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

DONOVAN E. SPEAKER, Minister
Church of the Brethren
Pampa, Texas

Matthew 5:1 . . . "And seeing the multitudes, Christ went up into a mountain . . ."

Many years ago, as the Master walked the face of this earth, He was teacher, physician, leader, and Son of God. In many and most respects, He was far beyond the understanding of the people of His day . . . even His closest followers. This was the case on that day, the greatest teaching that man has ever received was given to all the world . . . the Sermon on the Mount. There were people who were tired and hungry. They left their very homes behind to follow the Master. And yet, there must have been many who balked at going all the way. Can't you hear them say, "We have followed this man for many days. At last it seems He is about to really teach us and yet He foolishly climbs a mountain and asks us to follow. Why couldn't He stay down here?" Many must have turned aside. In a sense, Jesus was dividing the men from the boys . . . He was testing them. Those who followed heard the greatest teaching of all time. Those who would not go "all the way" lost this great privilege.

Perhaps this same is true today. How many times have you felt that the other person . . . even the Church was going a little too far . . . that it was asking too much. This was the feeling of those who would not go all the way at the time of Christ. The lesson to us is unforgettable. The greatest that the master has to offer comes only to those who are willing to trust . . . to go "all the way." There is little excuse for the half-hearted Christian unless he wishes also to be known as the "half-rewarded Christian." The choice is always left squarely up to us. When you feel overworked for Jesus, ask yourself "Am I willing to go up into a mountain with my Lord?" We are led there not for Him, but for us.

He Deserves Help

The refusal of Gov. Bracken Lee of Utah to pay at least a portion of his income tax as a means of protesting the United States Government's support of foreign governments with tax money deserves full consideration by the federal authorities.

Gov. Lee holds, and rightly, that it is unconstitutional for this nation to tax its citizens for the support of foreign nations and he is entitled to every consideration in getting the question before the general public and the United States Supreme Court.

Americans were warned when the graduated income tax laws were introduced that there were numerous dangers to our Constitutional form of government. Burke Cochran, in a memorable speech in Congress, pointed out that such a measure would set up different classes of citizens with some paying more than others. He warned that if the government could tax three per cent of the income of some (as it was at the start of the law) that it was the nature of government to increase and increase this percentage.

When he envisioned a time when the government might take even as much as 10 per cent of everyone's income the proponents of the tax laughed at him, saying that no government would dare do such a thing. Had he said that there would be those who would be taxed to 90 or 93 percent of their income they would have thought that he had slipped a cog.

Today the amount that is being taken by the government has reached the point where it is virtually impossible for anyone to do anything more than keep his head out of the financial waters. It ought to be remembered that the portion of our incomes that we are permitted to keep comes to us as a favor from government and that the government has the "right" to confiscate the entire income of all its citizens and to hand back to them the amount that the government feels is right for them to have. In other words, all income belongs first to government and that portion of the income of any individual that is retained is done so at the kindness of the government.

It is small wonder that men like Gov. Bracken Lee are being moved to such lengths as the defiance of government in order to establish their point before the people and before the government. We have been given other examples of the revolt of people against the tyranny of government in recent times that are equally important. The case of "the Marshall girls" in Texas who refused to pay taxes and collect taxes from baby sitters; the case of Mrs. Vivian Kellens, Connecticut industrialist, who refused to become an unpaid tax collector for the government; the case of Mrs. Lucille Miller who has challenged the Constitutionality of the draft law; the case of Mrs. Elsie Mumma who refused to pay a fine for growing wheat. These are only some of the more celebrated cases in which people are protesting against the dead hand of government taking over their private lives and attacking their rights as free and independent American citizens.

We hope that Gov. Lee will be able to so focus public attention on the question of the income tax law that it will give encouragement to others to make a protest and that the lawmakers in Washington will start paying some attention to the problem and attack the question from the viewpoint of trying to do something about it and not shrugging off the point.

Slippery Footing

In the Freeman magazine review of a new book on the role of big enterprise in a competitive business system, Paul L. Poirot writes, "One gains the impression that the footing is indeed slippery at the top of the business world, and the great lubricant is competition."

This is borne out by a simple set of figures. Of the 100 largest American industries in 1909, only 36 were still in that magic circle when 1948 rolled around.

Long ago it was said that "nothing is permanent but change." That certainly holds true in the business world, under a competitive system whereby success comes to the enterprises which best adapt themselves to ever-changing conditions, demands and tastes.

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR P. JORDAN, M. D.

Blind fear is not the proper attitude to take toward any disease.

This, however, is the frame of mind taken by one reader who said, "every time I see a dog or animal I get scared about rabies. How can you get this disease? How long does the germ live on the outside if it dropped someplace from clothing?"

Rabies or hydrophobia is acquired only by the entrance into a wound of saliva containing the responsible virus.

In other words, indirect exposure from contaminated objects is of no importance because the virus dies so easily in the atmosphere.

A bite by an animal which is not itself rabid will also not cause hydrophobia.

These ARE, HOWEVER, some important things to consider about rabies. It is an old disease and a terrible one. Over the years, it has been responsible for many deaths; it can be eliminated.

From the practical standpoint, dogs are the most important carriers of the rabies virus. It can afflict cats as well and is quite common among some wild animals, particularly foxes.

If it can be eliminated from dogs, however, the danger to human beings falls to practically nothing.

IN NORTH AMERICA the most important measures of rabies control are aimed at dogs. It has been found, for example, that dogs can be effectively vaccinated against rabies and this should be done and is, in fact, required in many communities.

The third recommended point in the control of rabies is to reduce any excessive numbers of wild carriers, particularly foxes, if they have become too common in a particular area.

These measures have not been followed to the point where rabies has been eliminated in the United States or Canada, but they could be. It is important to do this because the disease in human beings is so serious, even though all of those who are bitten by rabid animals do not get hydrophobia.

The reason for the latter fact is that the virus must be present in the saliva of the biting animal and apparently this is not always the case.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

Whereof Of Inflation

There is an inevitable cause that brings on inflation. Higher prices are the result of inflation. Inflation is an increase in the quantity of money or its substitute, credit.

Inflation is the attempt to reduce injustices resulting from former errors in human relations. The Primary Cause Of Inflation Now let's try to look back and see, if we can, the erroneous beliefs that lead up to inflation.

Probably, the primary belief that is bound eventually to result in inflation is the belief that man does not need to live by the sweat of his face. Here in the United States one of the leading ways of attempting to live on sweat of others is labor unions that practice collective bargaining that insists on bargaining for individuals who want to make their own bargain. The Wickedness of Labor Unions

Collective bargaining labor unions are based on a conspiracy. A conspiracy is a combination of men for an evil purpose, an agreement between two or more men to commit a crime in concert. Labor unions of this kind promote the caste system that deprives workers who earn less than having the right to compete with those in the union. Even if they are permitted to join the union they are deprived of their right to compete by seniority or tenure rules. They, in short, are not treated as brothers as do all men of integrity treat each other, but they are treated as outcasts as barbaric, cruel primitive people treat each other. The result of this treatment is to greatly reduce production. It causes those workers who are deprived of their rights to compete to be at the mercy of those with seniority privileges. Those with seniority insist on having the right to live on the sweat of workers who are deprived of their God given right to compete.

The result is there is no way of establishing a natural wage so that all people who want to work will have jobs where they are able to get all they produce. Labor unions thus are the primary cause of unemployment. They fix wages arbitrarily so that the product they produce costs so much that those deprived of their rights to compete cannot buy their product. Thus, fewer sales and unemployment. The result of the extremely depressed wages for those unemployable workers is so pathetic that human emotions attempt to reduce the injustice by passing minimum wage laws. This further aggravates unemployment.

Predicament Of Farmers Labor unions that increase the cost of things that farmers buy puts the farmer in a predicament. They do not get nearly as much for their labor as do union members with seniority or tenure laws. To try to reduce this handicap, government, instead of correcting the cause of their trouble, adopts the union monopoly policy of restricting acreage and trying to establish farm parity in prices.

Social Security Error Another error in attempting to reduce the injustice resulting from labor union monopoly is unemployment payments and pensions. Instead of correcting the cause of unemployment, monopolies — especially labor monopolies — unemployment payments perpetuate the cause of unemployment.

The belief that labor unions can raise wage levels evidently results from the erroneous belief that the employer who makes a profit makes it at the expense of keeping wages down. Believers in labor unions do not see that in free enterprise the gain of one is the gain of all. That profits, in order to benefit the owner, have to be distributed by spending for personal happiness of the owner or by gifts or by investments. That this distribution causes a demand for labor and thus increases wages. Competition in the sale of goods reduces prices.

Competition Raises Wages Believers in labor unions have to deny the axiom that all our improved living standards come from competition between men and not from monopolies between men. The only monopoly that benefits everyone is for everyone to have a monopoly on his own life and on no one else's life. Labor unions promote monopolies and conspiracies among men and deny those without seniority privileges a right to have a monopoly on the control of exchanging the product of their labor.

Inflation, The False "Remedy" The government, instead of correcting the cause of unemployment and injustices that are the inevitable result of collective bargaining labor unions by punishing the perpetrators of labor monopolies as they do to other monopolies, robbers and cheats, becomes a party to another injustice. They try to reduce the injustice of labor monopolies by inflation; by going off the gold standard and flooding the country with confetti paper credit. This just shifts the injustice onto the shoulders of those who have their savings in the various forms of credits, such as bonds, notes, life insurance, preferred stocks and cash.

Inflation Only Delays Remedy One injustice permitted by government invariably leads to succeeding injustices. This is true because the means predetermine the results, and when the erroneous means of attempting to raise wage levels and the standard of living by labor unions are put in practice, the results are always evil and never good. The result is to keep wage levels down rather than raise them, as they would con-

U.S. Thinks It Now Knows More Iron Curtain Info

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Although not pretending to be oracles, State and Pentagon experts believe that they have today a more complete and exact knowledge of Russian conditions and intentions than at any time since the Iron Curtain was lowered in our faces. The Anglo-American Intelligence service and allied agencies are operating at top efficiency.

There have been many more Communist "defectors," including Army personnel and secret MVD police officials, than Allen W. Dulles, head of our Central Intelligence Agency, can reveal. They have given us invaluable information on conditions within Russia and the satellite areas, as well as on the Soviet's international spy system.

More foreigners than ever before have been permitted to visit Russia — Members of Congress, businessmen, newspaper correspondents, even a U. S. Supreme Court Justice. Although their movements were circumscribed, a rigid questioning of them on their return, and an analytical check of their observations, furnishes a fairly definite mosaic of the Communist scene.

Here are the major conclusions drawn by our top Intelligence men:

(1) Russia is not ready for war, economically or industrially, and is not preparing to attack the West. But she does strive to weaken us in every way for a possible showdown. She seeks to destroy Western solidarity, especially in Europe, and to break up our ring of military alliances on her borders.

Russia will not precipitate a shooting affair until she is convinced of winning. That may be never, if the West maintains even equality in atomic and aerial weapons. Red leaders are not fools, and they know that even a technical victory — which we do not concede — would destroy conqueror and conquered.

Such a breakdown of the Russian society and economy, already burdensome to citizens of the Soviet and satellite countries, might provoke a successful counterrevolution that would consign the communists themselves to the firing squad. There is no great patriotic sentiment or affection for the men in the Kremlin among the home or captive populations.

Finally, the Reds have made stately raise on a free and unhampered market.

If we would correct inflation, we must go to the roots of our trouble rather than attempt to correct an original injustice. So long as people believe labor unions can raise wage levels or total wages the inevitable result will be inflation. When the dollar finally gets so it will not buy a toothpick, then possibly we will realize that collective-bargaining labor unions are as despotic as the worst forms of despots ever devised, by the human mind. The fruits of it are subsidies, class legislation, unnecessary poverty, unemployment and a continuous rise in prices and moral and intellectual decadence.

Halftime Description Of TV Game Great, Says Mac

By HENRY McLEMORE

A great many television viewers complain about the dullness of the show given them between the halves of football games, but not me. As far as I am concerned, the fifteen or twenty minutes when the players are off the field are both entertaining and instructive.

This is particularly true on cloudy, overcast days when visibility from the living room is at a minimum and the screen resembles 21 square inches of clam chowder. Then it's fun to lean back in your chair, relax all over, and see if your imagination will allow you to picture, say, the marching band as the announcer describes it.

Oblong University's famed 120-piece marching band has come onto the field from the west side of the broadcasting booth, and is moving toward the center of the gridiron. You study the gray screen and attempt to visualize what Oblong U's band looks like in its Hungarian Hussar uniforms.

"The band has formed a gigantic hen, with the drum major at the beak and the drummers — at the tail. It's really spectacular. What are they doing now, folks? Well, you'd never guess. It's not only a hen the band has formed, but a molting hen! You can see the molting taking place. The trombone players are marching off to one side and the horn players to another. They represent the falling feathers, see? What'll these bands think of next?"

You can't help but feel pleased with yourself if your imagination proves strong enough to allow you to see the molting hen in your mind's eye. The same is true with the card tricks as the voice informs you that you are looking at 2700 students spelling out "RAH!"

and "CLAW THOSE CINNAMON BEARS" with cards of every color in the rainbow. There is no end to the information a viewer picks up between halves. I can reel off the names of half the directors of college bands in the country, and that is something to know in a land where a fellow can win a small fortune by answering almost any sort of question. Most of this information comes from the assistant announcer, the one engaged to provide what the networks chose to call "color."

There is nearly always a five-minute period just before the players come back on the field when the color man is pretty well drained of color and has to fall back on meaty facts to fill the time. A great deal of this information comes from the library in the back school, and many of the schools have histories as colorful as all get-out!

You'd be surprised to know how many of them were founded in the period between 1879 and 1900, how many of them rank sixth or seventh in total enrollment, the large number of them which have men whose middle initials stand for the names of presidents. And how fans have just completed, or are just beginning to celebrate, a jubilee of some sort.

They all have lovely campuses, too. I have yet to hear of a school where the campus trees were suffering from a blight or where traffic made it risky to cross the street from the library to the school of business administration. Between halves in a good time to run to the store and do the marketing, too!

THE NATION'S PRESS

HAVING IT BOTH WAYS (Chicago Tribune)

Secretary of Defense Wilson states that if the federal budget is to be balanced during the present fiscal year, this result will be attained through any substantial reduction in defense expenditures, but only through the possibility of increased federal tax receipts.

This statement, somewhat discouraging to taxpayers, is partially offset by the hopeful remarks of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey that higher receipts, coupled with economies, still might bring the budget into balance. Humphrey said that it had never been contemplated that the budget would be balanced by defense cuts that might jeopardize national security.

In combination, Wilson and Humphrey have punctured a Democratic attempt to make political capital out of the contention that the Republicans were willing to imperil the country to balance the budget. An investigation into defense was launched by a senate preparedness subcommittee under the chairmanship of Sen. Johnson of Texas, Democratic majority leader, after word got around that Wilson might be planning to trim the defense budget.

The secretary has disposed of the cry that he contemplates severe cuts by stating that the current estimate of defense spending for the year is 34.4 billion dollars, half a billion more than was budgeted. Nevertheless, the Democrats, having got started on the job of trying to prove that something is wrong with defense, can hardly be expected to drop the subject.

From the first report of the Johnson subcommittee, it appeared that they are out to prove two mutually exclusive things — first, that no cut in defense spending can be tolerated; second, that the profits of armaments suppliers show that there is water in the defense budget.

Indicative of the Democratic argument against trimming defense expenditures was former President Truman's statement in Chicago that the condition of American air strength and proposed cuts in ground strength gave "cause for alarm."

"Responsible authorities tell us we are losing ground to the soviet union in air power," Mr. Truman said. "We are losing the margin of leadership we have built up a few years ago. The implication of these facts are (sic) enormous and dreadful."

But right upon the heels of this contention comes Sen. Johnson with the implied complaint that the major producers of airframes are cashing in, which they certainly could not do unless there was a large continuing government aircraft procurement program.

The majority leader's report has 38 pages of statistics on profits of 21 airframe companies turning out most of the planes for the military. Their net profit, before taxes, in the 13 years since 1942 is said to represent 60 per cent of their "net worth" — i.e., excess of assets, such as investment in plant and equipment, over debts and other liabilities.

After taxes, this cumulative 13 year profit drops to 29.4 per cent, and, for the whole period, the average annual profit after taxes is 5.3 per cent.

We submit that this double-barreled argument is nonsense. The business is to survive on war.

The CRACKER BARREL

I doubt if there are any more deeply dedicated patriots and sincere anti-Communists in this country than John A. Clements, Adrienne Suddard, Dr. J. B. Matthews, Irene Corbally Kuhn, George Fielding Elliot, Ralph de Toledano, and Eugene Lyons. All of these people made a historic move lately when they quit their jobs on a publication which they alleged was showing signs of becoming anti-Semite. By doing this, they set an inspiring example for all patriots. There is no quicker way to wreck the cause of anti-Communism in this country than to pollute it with anti-Semitism. You cannot be for American religious freedom and for bigotry at the same time.

Jane Talk

By JANE KADINGO
Pampa News Women's Editor

THE MIND OF THE BRILLIANT hair stylist Michel of Helena Rubinstein is as sensitive to fashion trends as his fingers are to hair. Thus in his 1955 fall collection, just released after his recent trip to Paris, he has caught the Oriental influence so strong there now — caught it gently and gracefully — and passed it on in eminently wearable coiffures to American women.

EMINENTLY WEARABLE, yes; incomparable Michel keeps well in but with a strong feeling of the mind the demands of modern living. These coiffures, like the keynote. These coiffures, like the keynote. These coiffures, like the keynote.

One of the largest and most varied collections ever presented this one by the trend-setting Michel includes new styles for short hair (still preferred by many smart women) as well as for the slightly longer locks favored by fashion.

The return of the piquant, lifted bangs for youthful faces, and the sleek "sideburns" for sophisticates are two of the most remarkable features in Michel's group, while the brushed-up look apparent in several styles makes even very short hair look new and fashionable.

The lady-like effect in each of Michel's latest creations is very much in the mood of the season's fashions, yet their simplicity renders them extraordinarily easy to care for. A modern himself, the

WITH MORE AND more people using electric blankets, sleepwear designers can forget about warmth when they design new styles. The result is a smart fashion story that is brief and frivolous.

No longer do sweeping floor-length gowns dominate the night-time picture. Instead the short young-looking skirt looks smarter and is infinitely more comfortable, too.

Not content with the dress length style, designers now borrow inspiration from bathing suits and come up with a series of short shortsies. Lucite lingerie reaches the ultimate in brevity with a new night dress that has matching panties.

The little sleeper has a fitted bodice and hip-length flaring skirt, reminiscent of a ballet dress. Sheer black tricot is used over sheer blue to give an iridescent effect. The bodice is banded with dainty Val lace and the same lace encircles the hemline of the skirt. The little blue panties to wear underneath have black lace edging, too.

Some of the other brief sleepers are styled like peignoirs with satin ribbon sashes catching them to the waist. Still others are termed "Craddle Snatchers" because their design is adapted from dainty baby dresses.

The short sleepwear not only has styling with fresh fashion appeal, but the colors are unusual, too. Deep vibrant reds, clear aquas and blues, pastel pinks and rose, even black are all a part of the new color scheme.

And, of course, the best feature of all is that the new sleepwear is all of nylon tricot, so you can wash it quickly and it is dry and ready to be worn a short time later.

Civic Culture Club Has Talk On China

"Millions of Chinese farmers have fought with bare hands and baskets for thousands of years to control the flood waters of the Yellow River," stated Mrs. A. C. Houchin, program leader for the Civic Culture Club during a recent meeting.

Mrs. Houchin spoke on "Chinese Retort." The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Willis White. Present were Mmes. Henry Link, D. W. Coffman, Katie Vincent, J. B. Townsend, A. D. Hills, R. E. Dauer, M. M. Moyer, W. C. Scott, A. C. Houchin and Willis White.

Birthday Observed By Brownie Troop

Brownie Troop 57 of Woodrow Wilson School celebrated its first birthday recently in the school auditorium.

Three girls received their first-year pins and gave the Girl Scout Promise. Thirteen others received pendants for one-year attendance. The awards were made by Mrs. R. H. St. Aubyn, leader.

Entertainment consisted of singing Brownie songs and of several accordion selections played by Miss Betty Futrell.

The prayer, "Hark To The Chimes," was sung before refreshments were served to the mothers by the Brownies. A white cake was decorated with a Brownie girl holding a single taper. Punch was also served.

Assistant leader is Mrs. Vernon Stuckey, and troop officers include Jill Zuerker, president; Melinda Gunter, junior vice-president; and Jan Gayle Pendergrass, secretary.

Central Baptist Circle Holds Mission Study

The Central Baptist Business Women's Circle met recently with Mrs. Louis Allen, 508 E. Browning.

Mrs. Paul Baker led the opening prayer, and Mrs. Edgar Flynt led the business session. The mission study from the book, "That the World May Know," was presented by Mrs. Nellie Ralston.

Refreshments were served during the social period. Attending were Mmes. Neal Herd, Nellie Ralston, Paul Baker, T. C. Narron, Edgar Flynt, Fred Bates, Louis Allen; and Miss Grace NeCase.

Mrs. Joe Chudej Feted With Coffee

Mrs. Joe Chudej was honored with a farewell coffee Wednesday morning in the home of Mrs. Floyd Lassiter, 528 Powell.

The Chudejs are being transferred to Amarillo by the Southwestern Public Service Company.

Co-hostesses with Mrs. Lassiter were Mmes. Joe Gidden, Buck Moore and Omar Bybee.

The serving table was covered with a white linen cloth and was centered with an electric coffee pot, a gift to the honoree. Flanking the centerpiece were red tapers in white holders.

Refreshments of coffee and pecan rolls were served. Mrs. Lassiter and Mrs. Gidden alternated at the coffee service.

Attending were Mmes. Robert Shugart, Ed Culberson, Evert Richard, W. T. Seitz, Pat Fincher, Gordon Lyons, Herman Topper, Evert Goad, Olin Bridges, Norman Flaherty, Buck Moore, Omar Bybee, Joe Gidden, Floyd Lassiter and Joe Chudej; and Vicki and Geniva Shugart, John Hair, Patty Fincher, Kathy Topper, Janice and David Bridges, Molly Flaherty and Billy and Kathy Chudej.

Time Out With Tom

By TOMMIE ELLIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

We don't mean to be getting the cart before the horse but we heard someone talking the other day about organizing a Pampa Basketball Club. They had the idea of getting fellows from each civic club together and organizing several teams in the city. We also understand there are several businesses that would field a team too. Just as thought we thought we would drop and see what kind of response we get.

The Optimists are still looking for a place to work out the boxing club. They have several places to hold fights but don't have a place convenient to the boys that would have to walk to workouts three or four times each week.

Notice according to Puff Powell the Amarillo boys are already holding fights. The Pampa boys aren't ready for that yet and won't be if they don't get some place to work. The Pampa and Berger clubs split the team trophy last year and we hope to win it this year. The Optimist Club is prepared to pay a reasonable amount of rent for a suitable place.

Well the Green and Golders are in Midland now and the game will be getting underway pretty soon. The Harvesters lost a close 20-14 game at Harvester Park last season and won at Midland the year before but we don't think they have the stuff to stop Wahoo McDermott. We predict a good game though, with the Harvesters on the short end.

Amarillo and Abilene fans should see the Sandies taking another defeat. The Sandies will probably play them a better game than Odeza. But not as good a game as the Harvesters gave them. The Eagles should win by 40 points. Guess Puff did wave the white flag at that.

The Berger Bulldogs might pick up their first win this week if they get the breaks in their favor but we don't believe in breaks before the game so we will have to give the Bronchos the nod by two touchdowns. The Bulldogs will be looking for their first district win of the season. They haven't won a game and yet they were rated pretty good before getting into district play. Guess the Little Southwest Conference is a little tougher than most outsiders think if the bottom teams can beat the better teams of the other districts.

San Angelo should have one of its toughest games of the season tonight. The Lubbock Westerners will be out to stay in the win column after dropping Midland 19-14 at Lubbock last week. We pick San Angelo over the Westerners 20-26.

All teams in the district will probably be putting out all they have this week to get into or stay on the winning side since the district has an open date next week.

We almost hesitate to call the games in the Border Conference this week after drawing a big fat goose egg last week but the 4 of 5 in the Southwest tilted our average considerably so we will go along again this week.

The Rpd Raiders and the Buffaloes meet at Jones Stadium and should be a good contest. The Herd should take the Tech Raiders this week and average the 23-7 loss they sustained last year. The West Texas State team has been beaten only by the league-leading Hardin-Simmons Cowboys and that was last week at Canyon, Texas. West Texas should drop the New Mexico A&M eleven in El Paso this week just as they did last year when they came out on the long end of a close 12-7 decision.

The upset didn't prevail in the Southwest Conference last week like they usually do. There was only one and it didn't make a difference in the top standings. We did good in that district last week by picking four of five. We aren't too optimistic this week. However, we think Kentucky should stop Rice as the Owls will be on strange ground. We think Texas Christian will stop the Baylor Bears just as Texas A&M did last week especially since five of the main stringers have been dismissed this week.

We disagree with some when they say Texas is an underdog in their game with SMU this week. We rate the teams even and a flip of the coin should make our decision. We came up with heads and SMU 13-7.

We didn't hear if anyone took those tickets to the Texas-TCU game this week end but just in case they aren't taken Ed Cleveland has four. He told us Wednesday he would give them away or sell them to someone who had helped to go and couldn't get tickets.

You had better get your application in if you intend to get tickets to the Cotton Bowl game this year. We understand they are selling out fast.

Injured Harvesters Meet Midland Tonight

The injury-hampered, win-hungry, never-give-up Pampa Harvesters will be high in spirit when they hit Midland tonight for their fourth 1-AAAA tilt of the season.

The Harvesters have their first conference game to win since they dropped three starts: Amarillo, 13-6, San Angelo, 35-6, and to Abilene 40-12. Thus the Green and Golders have racked up only four touchdowns in three games while their opponents have scored 13 times for a total of 88 points.

The Harvesters have made 30 first downs to their opponent's 45 and have gained 299 yards rushing while their opposition raked up 749. The Green and Golders have passed 18 times and have completed nine for 84 yards and have allowed 13 of 28 passes to be completed for 230 yards.

They have intercepted two passes and have had two intercepted while they have lost eight and recovered five enemy fumbles. They have punted 14 times for a 33.6 average while Amarillo, Abilene and San Angelo have had to punt only nine times for a 36.3 average.

The starting lineup will probably be the same as last week's with only one possible change. If Burt Kirbie is able to make the grade he may start at the end position.

The Pampa offensive starters will probably be Jesse Ring, 150 Jr., at the fullback spot with Gary Dearen, 149 Jr., calling the plays. At the halfback spot will probably be Gene Emerson, 170, Sr., and been brought up from the "B" squad and will probably see some action from both defense and offense.

Defensive linemen for the Green and Golders will be Bill Kirbie, Ed Strickland and Don Jones at the guards with Strickland over center. Gene Emerson and Gene Devers will fill the defensive tackle spots.

The Top o' Texas footballers will be out to avenge the loss they sustained at Harvester Park last year when the game ended with Pampa on the one yard line and the short end of a 20-14 score.

The Harvesters will be without the services of quarterback, Buddy Sharp, who is still on the injured list. Coach Lockett said yesterday, "Buddy Sharp is not likely to make the trip and even if he goes he won't be able to play more than one or two plays." Sharp tossed the first pass for the Green and Golders against Abilene. That was his only play.

"We are going down to give the Bulldogs all we have and try to make a good game of it," was Lockett's comment about the game.

Trainers' Patching May Decide The Winners Saturday

By UNITED PRESS
How well the trainers do their last-minute patching jobs Friday on a number of injured stars may very well decide the winners in several of Saturday's biggest college football games, like Navy-Notre Dame and Michigan-Iowa.

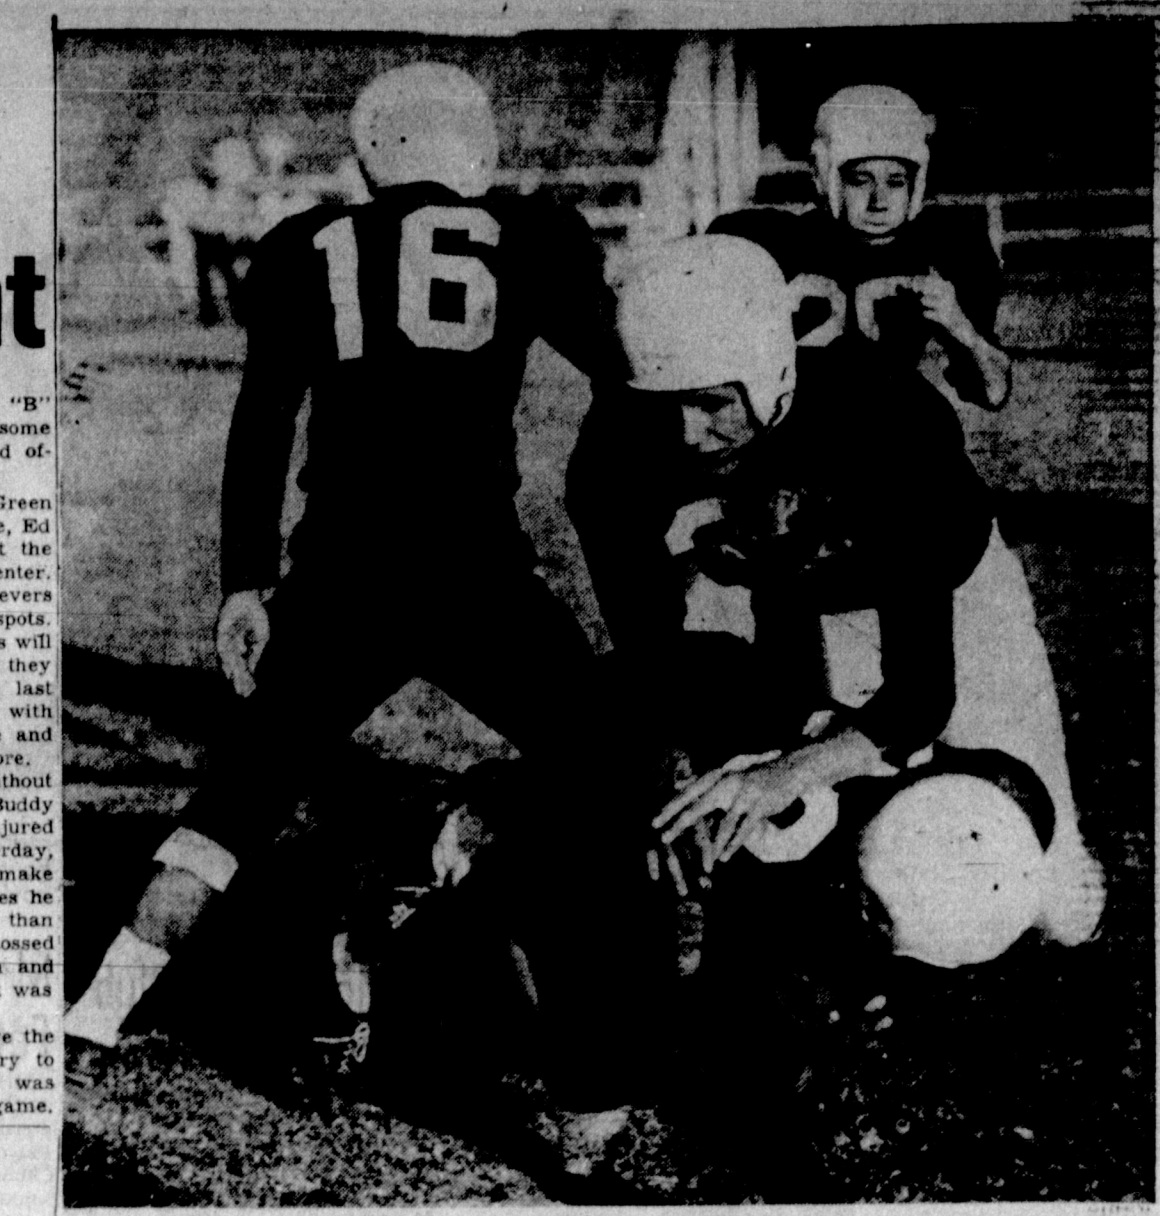

For example, if the bruised thigh of Notre Dame quarterback Paul Hornung doesn't respond well, the Fighting Irish may fall as six-point favorites and lose to revenge-hungry Navy for the first time since 1914.

And the key Big Ten battle between Michigan and Iowa, which will be nationally televised, may depend on how healthy are the most highly publicized stars of each team—end Ron Kramer of Michigan and guard Cal Jones of Iowa. Michigan, rated the nation's No. 1 team and battling desperately to hold onto that rank is a seven-point favorite.

Kramer has missed two straight games with a chest injury; Jones has been hampered by a knee injury.

Maryland, Oklahoma Favorites
No such problems appear to beset Maryland and Oklahoma, the two mighty grid machines that are pressing Michigan hard for the national leadership. Both seemingly could miss a man or two this week.

A tentative starting line-up for the swashbuckling baccaneers would be: Bernard Johnson or Milton Miller at left end; Mike Nichols, left tackle; Tony Maples or Stracener at left guard; "Tex" Nolan at center; Bennell Rippy, right guard; Jerry Herring, right end; Bonnie Rice, quarterback; Tommy Hedrick, left halfback; Johnny Quarles, fullback; and probably Bernard Johnson, right halfback.

DOWN BOY—The Amarillo Bowie player seems to be having a hard time getting the Reaper down. Action of this type was typical of the Reaper-Bowie game yesterday at Harvester Park when the Pampa boys won 68-7. They did allow the Bowie club to make its first touchdown of the season after a series of penalties and quarterback sneaks. The Reaper players here are Dwayne Glover, carrying the ball, and Bob Smith (No. 16).

Pampa Reapers Defeat Amarillo Bowie, 68 To 7

The Pampa Reapers ran wild at Harvester Park yesterday to defeat the Amarillo Bowie eleven 68-7 before a small but enthusiastic crowd. The Bowie team managed to score their first touchdown of the season on a series of penalties and quarterback sneaks. Ray Kellen, the Bowie ninth grade quarterback, sneaked across for the touchdown and the point after.

The Reapers ran up 26 points in the first half with three runs over 70 yards, and one for 27 more. Bob Smith got loose from the Bowie 27 through the forward wall and scored first for Coach Woldt's team. Dwayne Glover ran the point after over to give the Reapers an early 7-0 lead.

Gary Heiskell slipped through on a keeper and scooted 79 yards for the second counter for the blue jersey Reapers. Bob Smith made the point good for a 14-0 lead. Then Dickie Watkins took the handoff and swept left end for 74 yards and the Reapers' third touchdown.

The last counter before the half came when Dwayne Glover took the handoff on a quick opener over left tackle and ran 71 yards and six more points. Gary Heiskell's attempt to kick the point failed to give the Reapers a 26-0 half time lead.

Bobby Smith took the kickoff on the Pampa 20 and twisted and turned for 10 yards for the only such touchdown of the afternoon. The point was good on a pass from Heiskell to Charles Kilgore. The next Reaper counter came when Dwayne Glover passed to Gary Matlock for 30 yards and another Reaper touchdown. The point was good from toe of Heiskell again. Two other counters were made by Heiskell and Smith. Heiskell attempted to pass and found no receiver open. He ran the pigskin over from the Reaper 47. He passed to Bobby Smith for the last counter which was good for 80 yards. The pass from Heiskell was taken in the end zone by Paul Brown with a shoe string catch to end the game with the Reapers out front 68-7.

Southwest Conference Reaches Crucial Point

By UNITED PRESS
The Southwest Conference football race reaches another crucial weekend Saturday with Texas A&M, SMU and TCU favored over conference rivals, but Rice a one-touchdown underdog to Kentucky in an intersectional clash.

The odds-makers say only one touchdown should separate Texas A&M and Arkansas, SMU and Texas and TCU and Baylor.

The Texas Longhorns meet SMU in the Cotton Bowl before an expected crowd of 80,000. TCU and trouble ridden Baylor tangle at Waco, and A&M invades Arkansas for the Razorbacks' homecoming before some 27,000 fans.

Can't Afford Loss
Texas, TCU and Baylor already have one defeat blotting their records and another would serve to all but wipe them out of the championship picture since no team has ever won a conference crown with two setbacks.

The Aggies, with two victories and no losses, and SMU, with a 1-2 record, could possibly withstand the shock of an upset at least until they meet each other under the lights at College Station a week later. But the road ahead would be a bit smoother if they clear this week's hurdles.

Pre-season favorite Rice already is out of the picture after two straight conference losses to SMU and Texas. But the Owls always are late starters, known as a "November" team, and might spring an upset against the Wildcats at Lexington.

Coach Bear Bryant's Aggies may also be riding for a fall if they take the Razorbacks too lightly. For the Hogs can usually be depended on to be particularly ferocious in their backyard and especially so on homecoming day.

SMU would have been a solid choice over Texas but for the spirited performance shown by the Longhorns in downing Rice 32 to 14 last week.

Baseball World Mourns Clark Griffith's Death

By ERNEST BARCELA
 WASHINGTON — UP — A beloved baseball world Friday mourned the death of one of its elder statesmen—Clark Griffith, owner, president of the Washington Senators and co-founder of the American League.

Death came quietly to the 85-year-old Griffith. His personal physician, Dr. George A. Resia, said the beloved "Old Fox" of baseball died in his sleep at 9:40 p.m. Thursday night.

Funeral arrangements were to be announced Friday.

For five days Griffith had waged an up-and-down fight against a massive stomach hemorrhage and other complications. Doctors despaired of his life last Sunday, but he rallied and told his family Wednesday that he intended to be out of the hospital by Nov. 20—his 88th birthday.

But Griffith's gallant heart finally gave out.

Only his son, Calvin, and Resta manager, owner and unofficial "goodwill ambassador" for the game.

Griffith played a leading role in lifting baseball to a high plane of dignity and respectability from its rough-tough estate during the gaslight era.

It was he who brought baseball into the White House and who personally interceded with two presidents—Woodrow Wilson and Franklin D. Roosevelt—to win a "green light" for baseball during the two world wars. And it was Griffith who not only brought Presidents out to the ball game, but persuaded them to throw out the ceremonial first ball—a custom he inaugurated with William Howard Taft. He was a personal friend of every President from Taft to Mr. Eisenhower.

Known for Pitching

Although famed as a trader and owner, Griffith is immortalized in baseball's "Hall of Fame" at Cooperstown, N.Y., for his pitching greatness.

Griffith, who broke into organized baseball in Bloomington, Ill., at the age of 17, went on to establish a pitching record which ranks him among the 12 top major league pitchers of all time.

In 17 full seasons of big league pitching, starting in 1891, he won 237 games and lost 149.

It was he who invented the "screwball" pitch. He unveiled it in 1895 while pitching with the old Chicago Nations. He won 25 games that season.

He pitched with St. Louis and Boston in the old American Association and with the Chicago Nationals before he, Ben Johnson, and Charles Comiskey led a group of insurgents and formed the American League in 1901.

He considered Ty Cobb to be the greatest player of all time.

And Griffith's candidate for greatest manager was his contemporary, dear friend and fellow patriarch—Connie Mack.

Clark Calvin Griffith might never have become a great pitcher and a power in major league baseball had it not been for a barn full of cows.

Milking cows, he used to recall, gave him a fine grip on a baseball.

When he was an amateur in Normal, Ill., his catcher was Nauve Dekins. Nauve had to mix his catching with his milking. And, according to Ira L. Smith, a baseball historian, the cow business kept Nauve busy twice a day.

Trouble was, Griff was so strong with his fast ball that his battery mate kept coming up with damaged milking hands, a matter that made the catcher's father pretty sore. He said, in effect, that if his son couldn't do his catching and milking both, he would have to quit baseball. Griff came in as an assistant milker. And in later years, the "kid," as Griff was known, admitted that he could hit a ball with a squirt as accurately as he could hit the plate on the ball field. But that's what gave him a strong grip on a baseball.

Griffith went on to the big leagues. Between 1891 and 1914, the old man won over 20 games six times. His best year was with the Chicago Cubs in 1896 when he won 25 and lost 12.

A little known statistic in the career of 85-year-old owner of the Washington Senators was the fact that he often risked a bob on the horses in the spring of his youth.

OOH MY NOSE—Gary Wilhelm, Shocker quarterback, is shown here as he scoops for five yards on his nose. The play was good for a total of 12 yards on a keeper by the new signal caller. The action was part of the Shocker-Palo Duro game last night at Harvester Park. The Shockers won 45-13. Other members of the Shocker squad are Don Bigham and Wesley Curtis. (News Photo)

Weakened Shockers Hit Palo Duro 'B' 45 To 13

The Pampa Shockers, despite the loss of Buster Baird, Dale Lake and Robert Langford, impressively defeated the Palo Duro B string 45-13 at Harvester Park last night before a cold and dusty crowd of 250 fans.

The game was a make up game for a game that was rained out earlier in the season. All members of the Shocker squad saw action as coaches Weldon Trice and Bob Field substituted freely.

The Shockers got off to an early lead when Don Bigham scooted 32 yards for the first touchdown, and Buddy Lamberson made the point good. A short time later, after the Palo Duro team gave up the ball on downs, Shocker righthalfback, Robert Warren, galloped 41 yards for the second counter. The point failed and the score was 13-0.

After the kickoff the two teams played it nip and tuck for a short time but the Shockers got the break when Palo Duro club had to punt against the wind. It cost them seven yards and the ball.

The Shockers put the ball in play at the "B" 13 and in three plays had another touchdown. Buddy Lamberson went over for the honors from the eight. The Shockers led at halftime 19-0.

Other scorers for the Shockers were Robert Warren, for 23 yards, Don Bigham for 15 and 43 yard runs and Buddy Lamberson for another 23 yard-run. Scoring extra points for the Shockers were Lamberson and quarterback, Gary Wilhelm.

Condolences poured in from the high and the humble.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said in Denver that President Eisenhower, a long time friend of Griffith, was aware of his illness but was not told immediately of his death.

Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick spoke for the baseball world when he said: "I am very deeply shocked. I have known Griffith as a friend and associate for 30 years. He devoted his life to baseball and made many contributions to baseball. Griffith's memory will live for a long time among baseball people."

Griffith was hospitalized Oct. 19 for treatment of neuritis. Three days later he was stricken with a massive stomach hemorrhage. Then he developed lung congestion and doctors feared he was near death. But he rallied, only to suffer a relapse and die.

Griffith devoted 59 of his nearly 88 years to baseball—as a pitcher,

Today Is Last Day For C Bowl Tickets

DALLAS —UP— Ticket applications for the Cotton Bowl game Friday's mail will be placed in the New Year's Day will be accepted through Friday, bowl officials announced.

A previous announcement said "all applications postmarked before midnight Thursday" would be placed in a box for the ticket lottery.

Wednesday's announcement was a "clarification" of the previous notice to assure applicants that their applications arriving in Friday's mail will be placed in the lottery. The first big batch of mail brought an estimated 3,000 letters Tuesday asking for tickets.

Felix R. McKnight, president of the Cotton Bowl, said "all applications arriving Friday will get equal consideration in the drawing."

Parachute Jumpers Have Own Language; Are Hardy Breed

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON — UP—The men who parachute out of airplanes are a hardy breed and they talk their own dialect.
According to the army, the soldiers of the 82nd airborne division at Fort Bragg, N. C., got a little weary of being misunderstood at the supper table while home on leave. So they came up with their own "shop-talk" dictionary.
So, in case you run into one of the tough jumpers — all men of courage — you might paste their glossary in your bonnet.
You'll know what the kid in the boots is talking about.
Translated, the Airborne jargon goes like this:
"Stand up and hook up" means a man should check his equipment before he dives head-first out the side or through a hatch in the belly of his aircraft.
When a man jumps, he doesn't jump, really, he "hits the blast." They tell me that is a blast of air that greets him.
A "die" is a drop zone. That, to a jumper, is a cleared area where he might have a chance to dig his heels into the good earth, instead of a tree or a river.
When a jumper tells you that he has "clobbered in," you can jolly well know that his landing was rough. And when he says that he "landed soft," he means that everything went off fine.
The jumper uses the word "gossamer" in a whisper, because to him that means the steady, sunny characters who train paratroopers.
The "camp" is the nylon fabric portion of a parachute assembly. The part that balloons out. Something pretty important if a man is hanging by strings in mid-air.
A "looth knocker" is a quick release box — a thing that releases the parachute harness after a jump. Important, too.
All paratroopers are known, among their own, as "hoppers," and there is no explanation of this.

Violence Ruled Out In Tot Case

SALT LAKE CITY — UP— An autopsy Thursday ruled out "any form of violence" in the death of a five-year-old girl whose mother hitchhiked across the Utah desert with her daughter's dead or dying form in her arms.
A physician said that the girl, Helen Elizabeth Jennings, died "a respiratory type of death," probably due to a form of anoxia or suffocation but that no conclusive finds could be made until microscopic sections of tissue are examined in a few days.
The girl's mother, Mrs. Arthur Jennings of Los Angeles and Jackson, Wyo., hitchhiked from near Wendover with her daughter in her arms only to have the youngster pronounced dead on arrival at Salt Lake General hospital.
An examination showed the girl had been dead for some time.
It was indicated the girl could have suffered her fatal injuries when the Jennings family of 11 spent Tuesday night sleeping in their car when it broke down 30 miles east of Wendover.
Weight of the other members of the family could have severely bruised or suffocated Helen, physicians indicated.
The family was on its way from Los Angeles to Jackson Hole where the father was going to seek work as a lumberjack. They previously had lived in Jackson Hole.

Newsprint Cost May Up Paper Rates

NEW YORK — UP—Cranston Williams, general manager of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, has predicted that the daily newspapers will increase advertisement and subscription rates as a result of increases in the price of Canadian newsprint.
Williams made the prediction in a statement issued after the giant Canadian International Paper Co. announced Wednesday that it was increasing newsprint prices by $1 a ton. Previously St. Lawrence Corporation Ltd. and Abitibi Power and Paper Co. Ltd. had announced $5 a ton increases.
"To stay operating, our newspapers will have to find new and additional income," Williams said. "They have only two sources, advertising rates and the price of the newspaper to readers. These will have to go up if the papers are not to go out of business."
Williams said the total cost of the newsprint increase to American dailies will be $2 million annually. He said this "staggering sum" is more than any newspaper in the country can absorb because the newspaper profit margin is "the narrowest ever and growing narrower."

Cotton Pullers Needed In Area

About 100 cotton pullers are needed in McLean and Wheeler with two to three room houses available for crews, according to Bill Ragsdale of the local Texas Employment Commission.
Other towns in this area have enough crews for the present time. But a need is still felt for small crews and individual workers in many fields.
Two persons are needed locally to pull bolls on a farm near Pampa. Pay scale this year is $2 per 100 lbs.
An early freeze or cold weather will de-foliate the cotton crops making it easier to pull, Ragsdale indicated.

White Deer Lions Club Sets Carnival

By BOB E. SMITH
Read Jeremiah 8:14-22
The problem of sin faces every Christian. It is one of the storm centers of modern religion, and no discussion of the spiritual life is complete until some scientific study of the question of sin has been made. Every religion deals with the subject, and all religious people hold some kind of opinion concerning it.
On nothing, however, is the any wider disagreement. Indeed, there are those who go so far as to say that sin is nothing more than "an invention of the priests devised to compel ignorant people to believe their creeds."
It is impossible to make any scientific study of man's spiritual life and ignore certain facts concerning sin, for there is too much spiritual distress in the world, too much unhappiness, too much frustration. The truth is that sin is a disease of the human spirit, and any affliction which prevents the spirit of man from functioning properly is too serious to ignore.
The sense of guilt is a universal experience. Regardless of differing moral standards, men everywhere have a feeling that they have outraged the moral order of the universe. For some reason or another they have a feeling that they have offended God; they feel out of harmony with the divine order. The sense of distress which follows such a state of mind calls for forthright treatment.
The signs of sin are all about us: movies, song and dance routines, the fishing pond, and games of luck and skill.
Everyone is invited to attend and support this Lions Club project. Proceeds will go to the Club's general fund, to be used in community betterment projects.

White Deer Lions Club Sets Carnival

WHITE DEER — (Special) — Final plans and preparations for the Annual Lions Club Carnival, which will be held here Saturday, October 29, have been made.
The program will begin with a turkey and ham shoot Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Doc Meaker will conduct that portion of the affair, which will be held at the White Deer Trap Shooting Field.
Other portions of the carnival program will begin at 8 o'clock Saturday evening and will be held at the White Deer Elementary School.
Plans call for this to be the biggest and best carnival of all, according to Winfield Powers, vice-president of the Lions Club. Most of the regular raffles and booths will be featured again, with the addition of some new attractions. All of the games and booths will be conducted by members of the Club.
As usual, the food, serving pie, sandwiches, coffee and cold drinks will be one of the features. George Coffee will be the chef-cook.
Dalton Ford will conduct the Bingo game, always one of the most attractive and popular games. Valuable prizes for the Bingo are being provided by merchants of White Deer, Pampa, and other surrounding communities.
The cake walk will be conducted by W. J. Stubbelfield; Otis Holladay will preside over the basketball toss; Sam Christy has been appointed chairman of the ducking tank. Other features will include son has been mismanaging his life? Was there not some spiritual collapse before there was a physical breakdown?
