JOHN MAYFIELD
...he boosts Perryton

He Organized Fair For Perryton Area

By JOEL COMBS
Pampa News Staff Writer

PERRYTON — John Mayfield, Perryton's chamber of commerce manager, was the man who organized the North Plains Fair Association and boosted the yearly extravaganza into its present place of prominence.

Mayfield, who has been manager of the chamber in Perryton for the last four years, visualized the very top of Texas area as a great agricultural center and believed that such an exposition was due. It was.

Since its inception, the fair has grown to such an extent that it now commands more than state-wide attention. One of its sideline attractions, the naming of the "Wheat Heart of the Nation," has attracted national attention and pretty girls from hundreds of miles around.

John is proud of the fair and the progress it has made. Agricultural exhibits from as many as four states have been entered in the fair and more may someday be entered for the judges' consideration. It is hoped that at some time in the future the fair will rival the largest in the state.

Mayfield came to Perryton from Anson, where he was chamber of commerce manager for a year. The Anson job was John's first after graduating from Baylor University, where he took the first chamber of commerce manager's course offered as such in the Southwest.

John was born in Tulsa, Okla., June 5, 1927. Five years later he moved with his family to Milam County in Texas. He graduated from Buckholtz High School in 1944 and then spent a hitch in the Navy. In 1946, he went to Baylor where he majored in Business Management. At the present time he lacks six courses obtaining a Master's Degree.

After his debut in Perryton, John met and married Neil Peckenpaugh, a Farnsworth girl and therefore a natural Top o' Texan. They have two "chiluns" now, Johnell and Gail.

John is a member of the Baptist Church, the 400 Club (which he helped form in Perryton), the Toastmaster's Club (which he also helped form), the U. S. Highway 70 and U. S. Highway 43 Associations. He is a Lion, a J. C. Legionnaire, a member of the Texas Chamber of Commerce Manager's Association, and a director of the Texas Association of Fairs and Expositions.

John likes his Top o' Texas city and says, "With the oil and gas play and irrigation that is being developed around here, Perryton shows a great potential for growth and development."

To back up his statement, John says that the Perryton area had 15 of the 20 active rice locations in the Panhandle last week. He says that he believes the Top o' Texas will begin a bigger feeding program in the near future, what with increased use of irrigation and better feed crops. Enslage is being produced in the area at a rate of 45 to 20 tons per acre.

John, whose hobbies are hunting and fishing, has taken part in many Perryton betterment projects. His 400 Club is currently building the Memorial Building in the Fair grounds. The building will serve as a sort of community building. The Memorial Building.

John has actively supported the Wolf Creek Dam project, the Junior Livestock program, boosted the recent Perryton newcomers party, he has formed such projects as the park improvement committee, commercial activities committee, safety committee, and many other civic activity groups.

He has also boosted for increased transportation facilities in the area. John's work in Perryton has not been in vain as is evidenced by the rapid rate of growth and expansion the area has seen.

Slain Mate's Clothes Sent To Oregon

PORTLAND, Ore. — UP — Multnomah county authorities prepared Monday to open two trunks believed to contain the bloody clothes and papers of Don Worden, a wealthy Texan slain by his wife last month.

The trunks were shipped here by Mrs. Sunny Canales Worden, 42-year-old wife of the victim, who said that she shot Worden to death Oct. 22 on Padre Island along the Texas coast. She said she killed him after he ordered her to shoot her daughter by a previous marriage.

Multnomah County Sheriff Terry Schunk said the trunks would be opened about noon.

Sent Husband's Clothes

Mrs. Worden shipped the trunks to Worden's uncle, George Worden. When they arrived, the uncle notified Portland authorities, who in turn called Texas police.

Mrs. Worden told Texas police that she had stuffed the clothes and papers belonging to her husband in the trunks and shipped them. She could give no reason for her action.

In Kingsville, Tex., County Attorney Royce Johnston said that "a lot of movements" remain to be taken before the "Svengali" slaying can be turned over to a grand jury.

Calls Story Fantastic

Controversial reports continued to deepen the mystery surrounding Worden's death. Worden's son, T. Sgt. Robert Worden, 22, said Mrs. Worden's story is "fantastic."

New Cold Air Front Seen For Texas

By UNITED PRESS

A new surge of cold air is expected to sweep through Texas Monday night and Tuesday, dropping temperatures well below freezing in the extreme north and readings slightly below normal over other sections.

The new mass of cold air, something less than a front, will move through about 24 hours on the heels of the second one-two cold front of the season that hit the state over the weekend.

Sunday's Canadian front, which followed a Pacific Northwest front late Saturday, barely managed to lose of 31 at Wichita Falls and 22 at Amarillo for the only freezing temperatures in the state.

The new air mass is expected to better that mark by nearly 10 degrees. A low of 22 degrees is predicted for the Texas Panhandle Monday night.

Temperatures in the middle 30s are forecast for an area as far south and east as the Dallas-Fort Worth region early Tuesday.

Several weather stations barely missed the freezing mark early today. Stations reporting 33-degree lows included Salt Flat, Abilene, Junction, Lubbock and Childress. Other temperatures ranged most from the middle 30s to the middle 40s, with Brownsville's 66 the highest minimum reported.

A few rain showers were reported Sunday in South Texas, with Victoria's .85 of an inch the most recorded at one point. Beaumont reported .20 of an inch, Houston .04 and Dalhart .02. The forecast through tomorrow, however, called for no additional moisture in the state.

Sunday's front was accompanied by strong northerly winds that raised small craft warnings to fly all day from Brownsville to Lake Charles, La.

High temperatures Sunday ranged from 85 at Amarillo to 92 at Cotulla. Highs Monday were expected to be within the same range, but were expected to be a few degrees lower for Tuesday.

Ford To Sell Stock

Family To Put Shares On Market

NEW YORK — UP — The Ford Motor Co. made plans Monday for the first public sale of more than $1 billion worth of common stock in the family-owned automobile empire.

The Ford Foundation, which owns 88 per cent of the company's securities, announced it will put $532,293 Ford shares on public sale in January.

Sixty per cent of Ford's voting stock would be sold to public investors. The 40 per cent retained by the family still will give them "working control" of the company. Many huge U.S. corporations are controlled by a considerably smaller percentage of voting stock.

The announcement was hailed as "a landmark in the history of public ownership" by Keith Fundston, president of the New York stock exchange. It was the first time the investing public was offered a voting share in the company since the family gained exclusive control in 1919.

The plan calls for a recapitalization which would reclassify the present 3,495,040 shares of company stock. Of these the family owns 172,645 shares of common stock. The remaining 3,322,395 non-voting shares are divided among the Ford Foundation, 2,089,908; the family, 190,347; and Ford executives and key employees, 42,140.

Under the refinancing plan the 3,322,395 shares of non-voting stock will be split on a 21-for-1 basis. The reclassified $5,461,470 shares would be divided into 39,396,293 non-voting shares and 44,665,143 shares with a single vote each. Public investors would own 6,952,293 new voting common shares.

The Ford Foundation's holdings have been given a "book" value of $135 a share for tax purposes, but financial experts believe the stock actually has a much higher value.

Israel Preparing For Life Or Death Battle

Kansans Seek Soil Bank Farm Subsidy

HUTCHINSON, Kan. — UP — A Kansas farm bureau leader Monday called on the Senate Agriculture committee to approve a "soil bank" subsidy to aid farmers who "will be, in many cases, in an impossible income position."

W. I. Boone, of Eureka, Kan., president of the Farm Bureau in the nation's largest wheat state, offered his plan in testimony prepared for a committee hearing on the politically-hot farm price support issue.

Boone told the committee also it would be "utter folly" to scrap the administration's flexible farm price support program and return to the rigid, 90 per cent of "fair income" parity farm props in effect until last January.

Visit Oklahoma, Louisiana

That would be like "eating more green apples to cure a stomach ache caused by eating too many green apples," he said.

Fred V. Heinkel, of Columbia, Mo., president of the Missouri Farmers Association, asked the committee to approve a $1.5 million production-payment subsidy system similar to the Brannan plan.

Monday's hearing opened the third week of the committee's coast-to-coast tour to gather advice from farmers before writing a new farm bill early next year. Further hearings this week were scheduled Tuesday at Stillwater, an Alexandria, La., and Saturday at Macon, Ga.

Boone, who said growers of commodities which get little or no government price aid, are doing "well," said also that the wheat grower is in a bad position because prices have been depressed by a billion bushel surplus.

Blames Rigid Supports

Rigid government support programs of the past are at least partly to blame for the surplus, he declared.

He urged "vigorous government action" to remove the surplus with soil bank subsidies. These payments, Boone said, would keep farm income up during a period when both price supports and acreage are held down to reduce surplus production.

Under the soil bank program, which has been endorsed by a large number of farmer-witnesses in nine previous hearings on the Senate Committee tour, farmers (See KANSANS, Page 3)

ONE PARTY POLITICS?

PITTSBURGH — UP — A voting machine which did not list Republican candidates brought loud complaints Monday when it was delivered to Kennedy Smith's garage which is used as a polling place.

Smith is a Republican candidate for city comptroller.

Five Women Drown As Car Falls In River

MENDOTA, Minn. — UP — Five women drowned and a sixth popped to the surface and was helped ashore when their car plunged over an embankment into the Minnesota River near here early Monday.

The only survivor was Donna Mae Wills, 23, Minneapolis. Dakota County Sheriff C. L. Cherry identified the victims as Margaret Miskowicz, 20, and her sister, Dolores Mary Miskowicz, 28, both of Minneapolis; Ann Maires, no address, believed to be driver of car; Ruth Ann Pulkrabk, 21, Walnut Grove, and Carol Reed, 21, Minneapolis.

The sheriff said he had conflicting reports on how the mishap occurred. He said the girls had been dancing at the River Road Club and were leaving about 1 a.m. after the club closed. He said some witnesses told him the car drove out of the parking lot and instead of turning, went straight ahead over the embankment. He said others told him the car had started to turn but then toppled over the embankment.

John Stettergen, 22, St. Paul, had just pulled out of the parking lot and noticed a crowd standing alongside the river. He stopped, took off his clothes and plunged into the river after someone had tied a garden hose around his waist. He got four bodies out of the car.

Desert Clashes With Arabs Considered Serious By Jews

By PETER WEBB

TEL AVIV, Israel — UP — This tiny Jewish state, squeezed between the mountains of ancient Judah and the Mediterranean, is preparing if necessary to fight a life or death battle.

That is how serious the Israelis regard the Sinai desert clashes with Egypt which exploded three nights ago into the worst outbreak of Arab-Jewish warfare since the 1949 armistice agreement.

Official Israeli figures said six Jews and 50 Egyptians were killed in the El Auja battle 40 miles south of Gaza where the blinded Sampson, shorn of his hair by Dallah, brought down the palace on the Philistines.

A Tel Aviv taxi driver summed up the attitude here.

"Six dead and not one over 19," he said. "All were good boys but we have no choice. Either we fight for freedom or we learn to swim."

With their backs against the sea Israel's 1.7 million population is preparing to fight if necessary rather than leave their first national home since Biblical days.

Maj. Gen. E. L. M. Burns, the United Nations truce supervisor for Palestine, flew back here Sunday with a UN truce plan for the tense frontier area.

But the Israelis, while hoping for peace, believe that Czech arms shipments to Egypt have altered the Middle East balance of power.

The unofficial reports said Molotov was expected to return with new proposals on German unity and all-German elections that would go at least part way toward meeting the West. The western Big Three and West Germany proposed Friday that free all-German elections be held in September, 1956.

Highly placed western informants disclosed meanwhile the Big Three are drafting a solemn pledge to continue working for a united Germany after the Geneva conference.

Big Four conference sources also disclosed that Communist China, now engaged in protracted conferences with Americans here at Geneva, is asking for a "package deal" in which both countries would renounce the use of force to settle Far East questions.

Molotov May Get Orders On Big 4 Meet

By JOSEPH W. GRIGG

GENEVA — UP — Big Four conference advisers predicted Monday Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov would return from Moscow with new proposals that could break the current deadlock on German unity.

Molotov took advantage of a three-day conference recess to fly home to Moscow for consultations with the other Kremlin leaders.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles flew to Yugoslavia where he and Marshal Tito reached an "accord" that Soviet satellite states should be free. British Foreign Secretary Harold MacMillan flew to London for conferences with Prime Minister Anthony Eden on the Middle East and other problems. French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay returned to Paris for decisions to restore Sultan Sidi Mohammed Ben Youssef to the Moroccan throne.

Actress To Drop Charge In Girl Fight

HOLLYWOOD — UP — Actress Jill Jarmyn said Monday she will not seek a battery complaint against film star Susan Hayward in connection with their fight in the bedroom of actor Donald Barry.

Miss Jarmyn said she would tell City Atty. Stephen R. Powers of Van Nuys that she wants "to drop the whole thing." A hearing had been scheduled for Nov. 16 in the altercation.

Miss Hayward told Van Nuys detectives that she belted Jill on the jaw last week when Miss Jarmyn "made an insulting remark to me." Miss Hayward was wearing pajamas at the time. She and Barry have been dating in recent months. Miss Jarmyn said she and Barry "went steady" before he met the red-haired star.

"I was driving to Hollywood and thought I'd stop for coffee at Don's house as I often did," she told Powers. She said she walked into the bedroom and Miss Hayward assaulted her. Miss Jarmyn said she suffered a bruised left arm, sore jaw and bitten thumb. Police said they saw no injuries, however.

Army Speeds Gas, Germ Warfare

WASHINGTON — UP — The Army was under orders Monday to step up its program for germ and gas warfare.

Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker issued this order in approving a civilian advisory committee report urging that chemical, biological, and radiological warfare be "horrifying in character" and said they should be recognized for their "unique potential."

Among other things, the committee proposed appointment of a top-level officer in the Chemical Corps to keep tabs on germ warfare developments and fit them into overall military planning. It also called for "aggressive" intelligence to discover what other nations are doing in the field.

Party Honors Oldest Vet Nearing 113

HOUSTON — UP — The oldest surviving veteran of the War Between the States, "a Confederate naturally," rocked away in a new rocking chair Monday and accepted the good wishes of friend and former enemy.

Col. Walter Williams, who will be 113 years old on Nov. 14, joined his family in a pre-birthday celebration in Houston Sunday. He even had his silver hair trimmed for the occasion, his daughter, Mrs. Willie Mae Bowles said.

Among the many greetings that came his way was one from Albert Woolson, 708, of Duluth, Minn., only surviving member of the Union army. They fought on opposite sides but, as it turned out, both were drummer boys.

Williams fought with Hood's Brigade and his rank of colonel is only honorary. He still is spry at 112. He came to Houston for his annual physical examination.

He will return to his home in Franklin, Tex., for the actual birthday celebration. On his trip to Houston, he was accompanied by his 81-year-old wife, Mrs. Ella Williams. She must guide him, for he is deaf and blind.

The new rocking chair was a gift of a Houston furniture store. It has a straw bottom, and Williams took to it right away. He spends most of his waking hours in it, in fact, had the 200 persons who attended his party found him rocking gently.

"He has been just rockin' ever since he got it," Mrs. Bowles explained. "So far as he is concerned it's just another birthday. He told one newsmen, though that he'd be here when he's gone."

On his last trip to Houston, Williams appeared on a television program and took a ride in a helicopter. He still is sturdy and hasn't been "really sick."

Political Strategists To Eye Elections

WASHINGTON — UP — Republican and Democratic strategists will have their political barometers out Tuesday when thousands of voters go to the polls in local and statewide elections.

They will be trying to determine what bearing the local elections—based primarily on local issues—will have on the 1956 national campaign.

The voting will be the first on a broad scale since the Democrats recaptured control of Congress a year ago and the first since President Eisenhower's heart attack upset calculations on 1956.

Two states—Kentucky and Mississippi—will elect governors, four—Kentucky, Mississippi, New Jersey and Virginia—will select state legislators, and several cities will elect mayors.

Of special interest to the political strategists will be the not mayoralty race in Philadelphia; the gubernatorial contest in Kentucky, and mayoralty races in Indiana where small towns may provide a tipoff on farm sentiment.

Kentucky's gubernatorial election probably will get the most national attention. Democrats are torn by interparty strife in the Blue Grass state where A. B. Chandler is making a comeback try.

Chandler is opposed by Republican Edwin R. Denny, former U.S. district attorney, whose hopes of winning in the normally Democratic state are based on a split in Democratic party ranks.

In Mississippi, the Democratic nominee for governor, Attorney General J. F. Coleman, is unopposed.

Of the states electing legislators, New Jersey is the only real two-party state. But even Democratic Virginia will be watched to see if there is any sag in its normally small GOP vote. The state went for Mr. Eisenhower in 1952.

Besides Philadelphia, other large cities with mayoralty races Tuesday are Indianapolis, San Francisco, Boston, and Little Rock, Ark.

In Cotton Bowl Classic Writer Says SWC Can't Bar Aggies

BRYAN, Tex. — UP — The Southwest Conference cannot legally bar Texas A&M from the 1956 Cotton Bowl game if that school wins the championship, P. a. s. c. h. a. l. Price, sports editor of the Bryan Eagle, claimed in his sports column Monday.

Price's claim was based, he pointed out, on a section in the conference by-laws which says: "The conference football championship shall play in the Cotton Bowl game, and permission of the conference is not necessary in accepting the Cotton Bowl invitation."

Section Not Amended

Price claimed that the conference did not amend this section of its by-laws before it met out a two-year probation penalty, which prohibited post-season competition, to Texas A&M for violation of recruiting laws.

And, he says, conference president Dr. Edwin Mouton of Southern Methodist told him that the article in question has not yet been amended. He said Mouton refused to comment on whether such an amendment was now being presented to the conference faculty committee in a mail vote.

Price, whose paper is published here only six miles from the Texas A&M campus, said he was not condemning the conference for penalizing Texas A&M since the school obviously was in violation of the rules.

Questions Retroactive Rule

Instead, he said, it was the faculty group's "hasty" action which caused it to assess a penalty (the Cotton Bowl ban) without first making such a ban legal under its own operating laws.

Price questioned the legality of such an amendment at this late date since it would be a case of the council making it retroactive to fit the situation.

In an earlier column, Price had pointed out that four of the six other Southwest Conference schools have admitted at least some form of rule violation, yet it is possible one of these four may wind up as conference champion or runner-up and get the Cotton Bowl berth.

City To Get Tax Advisory Board

A Tax Advisory Board to confer with the City Tax Department will be appointed at the City Commissioners session next Tuesday morning. They will be consulted on tax matters and problems and will help the work of the equalization board.

Also on the agenda will be the signing of social security papers prepared in time for the session.

THE COLLECTING of porcelain figurines, tiny statuettes and other miniature art pieces is returning to popularity, says June Cabot, home arts consultant for Libbey-Owens-Ford. And the use of plate glass shelves backed by mirror is again recognized as "perfect" for their display.

The best location for a grouping of miniatures is a room corner in which triangular shelves can be backed by two panels of mirror, one on each wall. The miniatures are then directly visible from the front, visible above and below through the glass shelves, and reflected in two different aspects in the mirrors.

Shelves backed with mirror can also be used to advantage against the flat of a wall, though in this arrangement only one reflection is possible. Or, if the mirror itself is to be a decorative feature of the room, collectors find a single shelf or ledge beneath the mirror to be the best solution.

An old "picket fence" stairway can easily be refurbished as a modern stair by replacing the wooden stair-posts with panels of patterned glass.

Step-wide panels of the ornamental glass can be cut-to-size, and installed beneath the handrail at every second step. The effect will be one of wide, translucent stair-posts which brighten the stair area and provide a perfect complement to modern furniture and accessories.

The gloom of winter yields to bright interior decoration. And perfect brightness, reflecting exactly the glow of fire and candles, can be achieved with handsomely framed mirrors of high-precision "twin ground" glass.

Blanketing draperies are unnecessary for warmth in homes using double-pane picture windows. Instead, a dead-air space provides insulation against cold, and warmth is gained by free passage of the sun's rays.

MODERNIZE an old-fashioned breakfast or glass-doored closet by making gaily-colored drapes to hang inside the cabinet, suggests the Pfaff Sewing Institute. Just tack the drapes to the wooden panel above the glass panes and let them fall in soft folds. Colors can blend or contrast with window curtains, throw pillows or upholstery fabric.

Use your sewing machine as a room divider. New cabinets are designed with a sculptural quality — perfect from all sides. Placed at right angles to the wall, a desk or console model sewing machine cabinet serves to separate a sewing corner or hobby area from the balance of the room.

Let your draperies repeat the entire color scheme of your room. One of the newest decorating trends is to use different tones of the same color throughout a room: light grey walls, deeper carpets, charcoal and white upholstery. Make your own draperies using alternating strips of each color for a startling and very new effect.

Texas Garden Clubs Slate District Meet

The fall board meeting of District One, Texas Garden Clubs, Inc., will be held in the First Methodist Church, Wednesday. The executive board is made up of the district officers, chairmen of standing committees, the immediate past governor, and the presidents of each local federated club. The vice-president or an alternate may attend the meeting in place of the president. Only members of the board are entitled to vote, but other members are invited and urged to attend.

Registration chairman is Mrs. E. L. Black, Box No. 87, Amherst. Registration fee is $3.00, which includes morning coffee and lunch.

The morning session will be a business meeting, and the afternoon session will be a workshop.

Awards—When and How to Apply for Them. This will be directed by Mrs. Joe Deason of Amarillo, awards chairman, assisted by Mrs. Russell Glenn, of Odessa, scrap-books chairman, and Mrs. Martin Gossett of Dumas, yearbooks chairman.

First Baptist Class Given Book Review

The Doors-of-the-Word Class of the First Baptist Church met recently in the home of Mrs. W. R. Morrison, with Mrs. E. B. Bowman giving the opening prayer.

The devotional, a review of the book, "A Gift From The Sea" by Mrs. Charles Lindbergh, was presented by Mrs. Cal Applewhite.

During the business session, plans were made for a social, and group captains gave reports. Mrs. James Goodwin, president, outlined the duties of each officer. Plans were made also for visitation. Closing prayer was given by Mrs. Morrison.

Attending were Meses, Betty Cooper, Lonnie Richardson, Day, Bowman, Goodwin, Applewhite and Morrison.

In the scene above, Karen Andre grabs Mrs. Faulkner's arm and intimates they both know who the murderer is. (News photo)

Baptist WMS Has Luncheon Meeting

The Women's Missionary Society of Hobart Street Baptist Church held a covered-dish luncheon recently. The invocation was given by Mrs. Ernest Winborne.

Tables, decorated with a fall and Thanksgiving theme, were arranged by the Doryce Coggins Circle.

Opening prayer for the royal service program was given by Mrs. Ed Foran. The program, "Christ For A World," was presented by the Nina Hankins Circle, using the Southern Baptist foreign mission board as their theme. A special prayer for foreign missionaries was given by Mrs. Charles Tingle.

The business session was led by Mrs. M. K. Keyser, president. The meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. Don Alexander.

Visitors present were Meses, J. L. Farrar, Clyde Schaub and Lil Strigham. Members attending totaled 48.

Canadian Pioneer Club Has Meeting

The Canadian Pioneer Club met recently in the log house of the Sam Woods, located at the home of Mrs. I. M. Simpson. Opening prayer was given by Mrs. Ben Baird, president.

Each member was urged to send in her life story to be compiled in a book to be presented to the library. The devotional on prayer was given by Mrs. W. J. Conatser.

Mrs. Tom Hext reviewed a book on the life of Mrs. George Simpson written by Laura Farley, as told to her by Mrs. Simpson. It dealt with the dangers of the Panhandle frontier and the hardships suffered by the early settlers of this area.

Following the meeting special organ music was provided by Mrs. Marion Smith and Mrs. W. A. Merrell. Refreshments of sandwiches, apple crisp, potato chips, minis, tea and coffee were served by Mrs. John Fundt and Mrs. Simpson.

Attending were Meses, Ben Baird, W. J. Conatser, C. L. Frye, W. L. Helton, Tom Hext, W. A. Merrell, John Fundt, Isaac Simpson, Marion Smith, Charles Tibb and D. A. Witte.

When COLDS Make Baby Cry Does More Than Work on Chest

GIVE HIM RELIEF THAT

When a chest cold strikes, use Vicks VapoRub—the proved medication that acts two ways at once.

When you rub it on, VapoRub quickly relieves muscular tension. At the same time, VapoRub's medicated vapors bring relief with every breath.

The soothing medication travels deep into baby's nose, throat and large bronchial tubes. Congestion starts breaking up. Coughing eases. Warming relief comes, lasts for hours.

So when colds strike, depend on—

VICKS VAPORUB
Rub on Relief. Breathe in Relief.
Vicks and VapoRub are Reg. Trade Marks.

STARE THAT COULD SCARE—These stony stares greet visitors to the suburban Pittsburgh, Pa., home of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Cline. The two "watch dogs" have guarded the entrance for the past 20 years. Mrs. Cline believes the stone dogs once adorned the mansion of George Westinghouse, famed inventor of the air brake and other appliances. She guesses they were placed in front of her house by its former owner. The dogs are about four feet long and two and a half feet high.

Communication Facilities Expanded At Gettysburg

By MERRIMAN SMITH
DENVER—UP—Backstairs at the Denver White House: The White House is not financing any of the expansion of telephone, telegraph or press facilities at Gettysburg, Pa. The expansion of telephone facilities is part of a three-year program which is being speeded up, however, because of the influx of reporters following President Eisenhower.

If the weather at Gettysburg is uncomfortable for any prolonged period, it still is a good bet that Mr. Eisenhower might spend part of December in the South.

An amazing volume of "get well" mail has come to the President from school children. Literally thousands of postcards have arrived at the Denver White House, proclaiming in childish scrawl and sometimes illuminated by waving but colorful crayon, that the sender wishes very much for the chief executive's recovery.

School kids of entire communities have joined in well-wishing by mail.

The President also has received hundreds of phonograph records from people who had read how recorded music has made his stay at Fitzsimons Army hospital more pleasant. One of his finest assortments of records was a gift from Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, former secretary of health, education and welfare.

Two unsung heroes of the tense, around-the-clock watch by reporters at the Denver White House offices on Lowry Air Force base following the President's illness were Maj. Gen. John T. Sprague, the base commandant, and Maj. Walter Tkach, the Air Force doctor who is the assistant physician on the White House staff.

Sprague has endeared himself to the White House staff, the reporters and photographers for his several times a day check to see whether anything could be done to improve their working conditions.

And Tkach has done yeoman service in emergency treatment of staff members and the White House press party who developed minor ailments increasingly as the fatigue of the long watch at Lowry built up.

Not to be overwhelmed by the boom Mr. Eisenhower has given beef bacon and beef sausage, a big packing house recently rushed to Fitzsimons a 66-pound leg of lamb for the President and appropriately marked with a "get well" tag.

Those aren't miming, uncertain steps Mr. Eisenhower is taking in his daily walks about the hospital. His swings confidently, but not too fast, down the corridors in something approaching his old golf course stride. A man who watched him the other day observed, "The only thing missing was a golf club in his hand."

Two Men Fined In County Court
Two men were fined in County Court this morning on driving violations.

Henry Lee McWilliams, 22, of White Deer, pleaded guilty to charges of driving while intoxicated and was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to three days in jail. McWilliams was arrested by members of the Highway Patrol about 1:45 a. m. Sunday, approximately four miles west of town on highway 152.

Johnny Milton Sims, 37, of 1009 Twiford, pleaded guilty to charges of driving while license suspended and was fined $25 and costs. He was arrested about 2:05 p. m. Saturday by members of the city police.

Ike Given Complete Examination

DENVER—UP—President Eisenhower Monday morning underwent an extensive medical examination to determine how fast and how actively he can resume the full reins of the presidency.

The best educated guess before the doctors emerged from his Fitzsimons Army Hospital room was that the President could fly back to Washington on Friday.

Dr. Paul Dudley White, the Boston heart specialist, flew here from the East late Sunday to join Mr. Eisenhower's large medical staff in a "wind-up" or re-evaluation of his clinical progress in the last two weeks.

Mr. Eisenhower over the weekend started trying small stair-steps, according to the doctors. They said the reaction was medically fine. But the chief executive was dead set against being lifted into his plane next Friday and his conquest of stairs did not indicate an energetic stride up the ramp to his plane.

The President planned to make his own decision about leaving Denver. If he follows the schedule anticipated by his press secretary, James C. Hagerly, Mr. Eisenhower will fly back to Washington on Friday, spend the weekend at the White House and go to the family farm at Gettysburg, Pa., Monday to observe Mrs. Eisenhower's 50th birthday.

Hagerly said it was possible the President might conduct a briefing on his state of the Union message for congressional leaders of both parties at the White House on Dec. 12-13. However, he said it depended on "a further medical determination."

Remember this show is a guaranteed show. If you are not entirely satisfied, you can get your money back immediately after the show, according to Shultz.

Out-of-town visitors at the First Baptist Church Sunday were: Ann Smith from Dimmitt, Sarah Harnby from Miami, Brent L. Deal of McAllen, E. G. Dupuy from Longview, Johnnie Ross of Texola, Okla., Bill Jenkins from Hedley, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Farley of Oklahoma City, Mrs. Hoaks from Ada, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. Travis Brown of Denver, Colo., and Mrs. Jackson from Ft. Morgan, Colo. The Sub Deb Club from Pampa High School were also guests.

F. T. Shanahan, instructor of engineering and drafting for A&M College at Okmulgee, Okla., and Mrs. Shanahan, chairman of the Oklahoma State Board of Cosmetology and B. A. Shanahan, of Sapulpa, Okla., and Mrs. Margaret Black of Springfield, Mo., spent the week end with their sister, Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Hollenbeck, 1128 Garland who are leaving this month for California where they will make their home.

The Order of the Eastern Star Study Club will meet at 7 p. m. today in the home of Mrs. Wilson Hatcher, 210 N. Gillespie.

W. G. Chesney of Electra is visiting in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Dayton White, 931 Mary Ellen.

Rev. J. E. Harrell of the Harrah Methodist Church and Roy Johnson, music director of the First Methodist Church, are conducting a revival at the First Methodist Church in Miami this week.

Future Farmers of America will elect a sweetheart at their meeting today according to Franklin Baggerman, club vice-president. Candidates nominated are: Carol Carnes, Mary Kennedy, Joan Robertson, Rita Brown, and Nancy Moore.

ROBERT ADAMSON — assistant county agent

R. Adamson To Work In Agent's Office

Robert Adamson, 23, was appointed Assistant County Agent by Knox Parr, District 1 County Agent, effective Nov. 1. Robert assumed his new duties today, replacing Jerry Mobley, who was promoted to Dallam County Agent.

Adamson came to Pampa from Crosbyton where he was assistant County Agent in training for the past four months. Prior to that time, he served in the U.S. Army for 22 months, seeing duty in Germany for 10 months and at Grand Island, N.Y., for four months. In Germany, Robert was stationed with the First Infantry Division, Communications Department.

Born in Post in 1932, he finished high school at Takoka in 1949, and attended Texas Tech College. A graduate of Texas Tech in 1953, he majored in Agriculture Education, obtaining a B.S. degree.

"I think I will like it here in Pampa," Bob says. "I'm looking forward to my work with Ralph Thomas and other agencies in the extension service." He is especially interested in 4-H Club work, and plans to keep on where Jerry left off in working with the clubs.

Jordan Accepts Chamber Job
BROWNWOOD, Tex. —UP—George Jordan, manager of the Breckenridge Chamber of Commerce the last four years, has accepted a similar job in Brownwood. He takes office Nov. 12, succeeding Norris Willis. Willis resigned to enter business in Fortales, N. M.

Designers Use More Tricks To Help Problem Figures

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY
NEW YORK —UP— Women with problem figures will be comforted to know that other people are worried about their measurements too. Designers are paying more attention to tricks that make plump women look slimmer and thin women look curvier.

Some of the tricks are just now being passed along to you and me from movie star wardrobes. The camera's even more critical than your friends. Others are architectural plans to compensate for hips that are too big or a bustline that is too small.

"I would say," Elgee Bove commented, "that architecture would be an excellent background for a designer now. It is becoming more important to build a basic form into a dress."

Bove is Young Success
Bove is the youngest of the successful designers in the high fashion field. The 21-year-old wonder boy of the fashion world got his start by sketching flattering dresses for such curvaceous performers as Julie Wilson and Denise Darcel.

Now he has a considerable following of show people, plus a job designing clothes for Elfreida, Inc. And the clothes for both types of clients feature "figure makeup." "I like to bring out the best in a woman," Bove explained. "Line is more important today than it ever has been."

Bove's "figure makeup," as he calls his tricks of color and cut to slenderize waist and hips, began with some dresses he did for Miss Darcel.

Had Hip Problem
"She had a hip problem," he recalled. "I used darker fabric down the sides of her dress to shade the outline. Since then I have become even smarter about it."

Sometimes the dresses are three-color combinations. By shading the colors to darker panels at the sides, a plump girl can wear light colors with the same slenderizing effect of an all-black dress.

A white linen dress from Bove's resort collection, for instance, has two squares of navy blue linen pipled in red set in at either side of the waistline. A light brown linen dress has a torso jacket effect made by setting in black horizontal panels that curve down past the unbelted waistline.

Bove used a "cupped bodice" for too-small bustlines. Stiffened fabric curls out from the snug midriff to emphasize the bosom in his lowest cocktail and evening clothes, although a discreet band underneath fits close to the body.

"The bustline is the most interesting part of a woman's figure," the young designer stated flatly. "We should never build dresses that try to hide that."

Mrs. Ellington Dies Here
Georgia Annie Ellington, 70, died at 2:30 p. m. Sunday in a local hospital where she had been admitted last Friday.

A member of the Church of the Brethren, she moved to Pampa in January of 1907 from Plainview. Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p. m. Tuesday in the Church of the Brethren with Rev. Don Speaker, pastor, officiating.

Mrs. Ellington lived with her son, Charlie, two and one half miles east of town. She is survived by two sons, J. W. Ellington, Jr., of Skellytown, and Charlie of Star Route 2; two daughters, Mrs. Don Trimble of Roswell, N.M.; Mrs. Jimmy Shelton of McLean; three sisters, Mrs. Mollie Huffman of Longview, Mrs. Manie Rainwater from Gordon, Ark.; one brother, Leonard Harris, also of Gordon; nine grandchildren, and five great grandchildren.

Interment will be in Memory Gardens under the direction of Duenkel-Carmichael Funeral Home.

A. G. Seitz Dies Sunday

A. G. Seitz, a retired farmer, died at 2:35 a. m. Sunday in a local hospital. He resided at 1020 S. Hobart.

Funeral services will be conducted at the First Methodist Church at 2 p. m. tomorrow. Rev. Woodrow Adcock, pastor of the church, and Dr. E. Douglas Carver, pastor of the First Baptist Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery.

Seitz was the husband of Cleo Moore and the father of Mrs. George Phillips, Mrs. J. B. Jones, and Mrs. Rolland Daurer all of Pampa.

Born March 14, 1879, in Arkansas, he moved to Moberle from Montague County in 1902. Seitz came to Miami in 1912, and moved east of Pampa in 1915. In 1917 he moved to White Deer and lived there until 1949 when he moved back to Pampa.

Survivors are his wife; three sons, Roy, Willie, and Buck of Spearman; three daughters; two brothers, Jeff from Moberle, and Pink of Miami; ten grandchildren, and seven great grandchildren.

Funeral arrangements by Duenkel-Carmichael.

Asks 100 Per Cent
Boone said payments would be high enough to induce farmers to cooperate but not high enough so that Washington would completely "subsidize a farm operation."

Hemkel said in a prepared statement that if given a choice, Missouri farmers would choose rigid over flexible supports.

He urged the committee, however, to approve direct production payment to bring farm income up to 100 per cent of parity. Payments would be limited to the first $6,000 of gross income on any one farm, he said.

44 Scouts To Be Given Advancement

Candidates for the rank of First Class are: Rodney Strawn, Charles Port, Jack Zuerker, Larry Bolander, Jimmy Crenshaw, and Johnny Bradford from Troop 4; Dick Batson and Richard Halpain of Troop 14; Eugene Jackson of Troop 15; Tommy Bartlett, Rushie Snyder, Tommy Waters, Roy Wilson, and Bill Ed Abraham from Troop 71 of Canadian; and Bill Byerly, John Anders, David Thomas, Robert Milliren, Roy Webb, and Mike Palmer of Troop 80.

Jr. Red Cross Plans Talked

Reports were made by teacher sponsors from all the city schools and plans were made for the coming year at the annual Junior Red Cross Breakfast held in Johnson's Cafe this morning at 7.

Ted Swindle, president, reported on the work done by the Pampa High Jr. Red Cross. Harlan Yoder, Jr. RC chairman, introduced those present and discussed gift boxes to be used in all the schools this year.

A financial report was given by Mrs. F. W. Shotwell, executive secretary, who was in charge of the meeting.

Wayne Smith spoke about the Junior Red Cross exhibit material, and Judy Neslage discussed the RC album to be prepared.

About 20 persons were present for the breakfast session.

Texas A&M Can Take Over SWC Unless Texas-TCU Tie This Week

Tyler, Highland Park Tilt Is Crucial 4-A Game This Week

HAPPY WHEELER HOMECOMING

The Wheeler Mustangs rolled to an easy 33-0 victory over the Estillene Bear Cubs Friday night at the Mustang homecoming. The Wheeler eleven pulled into a tie position with the Matador Matadors for the district crown after losing nine of 10 games last season. Shown here with the ball is Roger Topper who scored all but one of Wheeler's touchdowns. He is shown going over for the third time last night. Other Mustangs are unidentified but Estillene's number 45, Weldon McClendon, is a little late to stop the score. (News Photo)

Tyler vs. Highland Park in Class AAAA and the Palestine - Temple, Beaumont South Park-Beaumont French and Victoria-Kerrville games in Class AAA are the most crucial contests coming up this week-end in Texas schoolboy football's upper divisions.

Powerful Tyler, one of five perfect record teams left in its class, will go after its eighth straight victory against the improved Scots, who share the district 5 lead with Tyler and unbeaten-tied Wichita Falls with the winner due to battle Wichita Falls for the title. The Scots own a 6-2 season record.

Palestine, beaten only by Tyler and Lufkin this season, places its 5-0 District 5-AAA lead on the line against a Temple team that has bowed to Brownwood in district play, been beaten outside by Waco and tied by Texarkana. The winner probably goes to the playoffs.

South Park, one of AAA's three unbeaten but tied teams, offers up its unblemished District 6-AAA record against cross-town rival French, which has lost inside the district only to Fort Neches. The latter team's 4-0 district mark doesn't seem in jeopardy against Spring Branch.

Victoria and Kerrville share the 7-AAA lead with Harlandale, each with a 4-1 record. A Victoria victory would practically shove that team into the playoffs since it has beaten Harlandale, while a Kerrville triumph would push Harlandale into the post-season play since the latter team beat Kerrville.

Defending AAAA champ Amitee returns to the wars this week against Lubbock, a high-scoring outfit that has lost only to Odessa and San Angelo in district play. Baytown can win a definite playoff berth by beating Freeport in 8-AAAA after having clinched a title tie last week, while another top game will find Hillcrest and Forest seeking to knock each out as a contender for Smetser's front row spot in the Dallas district.

Two games in 2-AAAA also will help pare down a wide open title race as Ysleta plays El Paso Bowie and Jefferson and Austin meet in an all-El Paso battle. Texarkana can clinch a tie for the 4-AAA crown by beating Marshall.

Texas A & M's team of destiny could, with a bit of help from Lady Luck, slice itself a hunk of Southwest Conference championship pie this week.

The young alert Aggies, rising to every occasion Saturday after Saturday, bump into the thoroughly plucked Rice Owls at Houston this week in the next to last game on their schedule.

At the same time, their only challengers—Texas and Texas Christian—knock heads at Austin with the loser joining Rice, Southern Methodist, Baylor and Arkansas among the also-rans.

But, should fate decree that these two teams battle to a stalemate, something they have done but once in 40 previous meetings, then Coach Paul Bryant's poised Aggies could clinch at least a co-championship by beating Rice.

That's an accomplishment, however, that no Aggie team has mastered since 1944 when Texas A&M whipped the Owls 19-6. Should such happen, however, the Aggies then would have only Texas left on its schedule and could lose that one and still wind up in a tie with Texas and possibly TCU if the Horned Frogs went on to beat Rice and SMU.

But, the odds are against a TCU-Texas tie and the Aggies probably will be faced with the task of whipping both Rice and Texas to gain a claim to title fame.

While these crucial contests are being unrecled, defending champion Arkansas closes, out its conference schedule at Dallas against SMU with both teams fighting only for position in the second division.

The Aggies spoiled SMU's last hopes of contending for the title with a 15-2 verdict over the faltering Ponies at College Station Saturday night after Texas had squeaked by Baylor 21-20 at Austin a few hours earlier. Arkansas had beaten Rice 10-0 in another afternoon game at Houston, while TCU remained idle.

TD Passes Win
The Aggies' Jimmy Wright pitched two touchdown passes—the only ones the Aggies completed all night to beat SMU after his mates, led by fullback-linebacker Jack Pardee, put a fine defensive halter on SMU's fumble-ridden attack.

Texas Western, smarting under an upset 23-21 loss to Hardin-Simmons, gets a chance to turn spoiler on its own right this week as the Miners host-Border Conference pacemaker Arizona State in the circuit's only title game.

The Miners, chopped out of the title picture by the Cowboys' come-from-behind victory, will be out to smear Arizona State's perfect record mark when the two clubs meet at El Paso Saturday night.

Texas Western's loss gave it a 2-1-1 record inside the league, while the Tempe school made it 2-0 with a convincing 27-7 victory over West Texas.

The game with the Miners will be the only away-from-home Border contest for the Sun Devils, who still have downtrodden New Mexico A&M and Arizona to meet after this week.

The Devils do not play Texas Tech, the only team with much chance of grabbing its second game against one tie by beating Arizona 27-7 last week, will face Tulsa at Tulsa in one of the four outside games this week.

Arizona entertains Montana at Tucson, Hardin-Simmons goes to Ohio against Cincinnati and New Mexico A&M plays San Diego State at Las Cruces, N. M. in the others.

The Aggies did right well last week, blasting little Adams (Colo.) State 47-8 for their second victory against six losses this season.

One Phenomenon Of Sports Is Swinging Sammy Sneed

By HAL WOOD
PALM SPRINGS, Calif.—UP
One of the phenomena of the sports world has to be 43-year-old Samuel Jackson Sneed.

The oldest man ever to play on a Ryder Cup team, Sneed not only fired some of the most brilliant golf of his long and distinguished career, but the way he captivates a gallery would do credit to a Barrymore.

It was interesting to listen to the gallery arriving for the Ryder Cup matches.

The first question asked by the late comers always was: "Where will we find Sneed?"

When Sammy goes on the practice tee hundreds of fans jam around him—while such fine players as Dr. Cary Middlecoff, Tommy Bolt and Jackie Burke participate in comparative obscurity.

The adulation heaped on Sneed's Sam doesn't all come from the hackers, either.

Sneed Has Color
I ran into Ralph Guilan, a late arrival for the Sunday matches. He watched Bolt and Christy O'Connor off on the 10th hole, then asked the same question as any other tourist:

"Where will I find Sneed?" "Nobody ever has been able to properly define 'color' but they all admit that Sammy has it. He has just about everything that the hero worshippers love.

Like Jack Dempsey in the ring, Sneed has the big punch of the tees; like John Barrymore, Sammy plays his best before a big gallery; like Bob Hope, he is a natural-born comedian when it comes to jesting with an audience.

No matter how tight the other matches were in the Ryder Cup competition, and no matter how lop-sided Sammy's were, the gallery of about 2,000 each day stuck with the hill-billy. It was estimated that while there were 16 men competing each day, at least 50 per cent of the crowd at this swank Thunderbird Country Club course, followed Sneed every step of the way.

Losers Trim Figure
A woman in a dark dress and hat stands in a doorway, looking out. The scene is dimly lit, with a strong light source from the side, creating a dramatic effect.

LEADING THE WAY—Footprints painted on sidewalks of New York's Times Square remind everyone it's cleanup time in the big city. The prints direct residents like this girl to the litter baskets for deposit of trash.

ACC, Midwestern Close Out Season
By UNITED PRESS
Abilene Christian and Midwestern, both badly mauled last week, close out their Gulf Coast Conference schedules this week against each other.

The ACC Wildcats, battered 40-0 by Mississippi Southern last week, will go to Wichita Falls Saturday afternoon to face the Indians, who dropped their second Gulf Coast contest 38-6 to Trinity. The loss counted as a loop setback for ACC, which got into the conference too late to schedule a game with North Texas.

North Texas, which lost 14-6 to Chattanooga, will stay at home Saturday night to meet McMurry, the newly-crowned Texas Conference champion which has won seven out of eight games this year. Trinity, now possessing a five-game winning streak, will be idle for the third week out of the last five.

Don Prigmore Wins C-C Golf Championship

The second annual Pampa Country Club Golf Tournament came to a climax yesterday with the final matches being played for the championships of three of the four flights and battles in all of the consolation brackets.

Don Prigmore defeated Dr. Foster Elder to top the Championship trophy and take over as the second Pampa Country Club Golf Champion.

Martin Lantau defeated John Clark in the class A Flight while Myron Marx stepped into the driver's seat in the class B Flight.

Loyal Davies had previously won the class C Flight by defeating Otis Nace last week.

Consolation winners were C. F. McGinnis in the Championship flight, Al Prigmore in the class A flight, Shorty Lane in the class B flight and P. D. Grommon who defeated F. N. Hills in the C flight.

The trophies will be presented at a banquet the date of which has not yet been set.

Freiberger Traded
MINNEAPOLIS—UP—The Minneapolis Lakers Monday traded Jim Holstein to the St. Louis Hawks for the rights to six-foot eleven center Marcus Freiberger, now playing with the Ada Oilers of Houston. The Lakers said they hope to persuade Freiberger to turn professional.

Fondren was Menan Schriewer's best passing team with a 135.8 yard average.

On defense, SMU led against rushing with 118.4 yards to 143.8 for the Aggies and in total defense 203.7 to 229.1 for A&M, which led against passing with 73.4-yard average.

Orange Bowl favorite. The other said it was a tossup in a poll conducted by sports publicist Bill Callahan.

Coach Don Faurot agreed on the lossup decision. "I'd say they're about even," Faurot said. "It ought to be a real tough game."

"McDonald Best"
Faurot, mindful of his team's 29-0 loss to Oklahoma Saturday, said "Tommy McDonald of Oklahoma is the best halfback we've met."

Jimmy Hunter, Missouri's ace quarterback, said "I'd rate McDonald over Maryland's Ed Vereb. He (McDonald) is probably the best back we've met."

End Harold Burnine, the nation's leading pass catcher said "I'd pick Oklahoma over Maryland because of its depth and terrific offense that grinds out the yardage."

Sooners Rated Tops
The gridders established Oklahoma as a stronger team than either Michigan or Maryland. Counting one point for each first place vote, two for second and three for third, Oklahoma had a four-point edge over Michigan and a 17-point lead over Maryland. Oklahoma got 25 points, Michigan 29 and Maryland 42. The Sooners got nine first place votes, Michigan six and Maryland one.

The United Press board of coaches currently rank Michigan first, Oklahoma second and Maryland third.

Missouri opened its season with a 13-12 loss to Maryland. Next week the Tigers host 42-7 to Michigan, but played without services of Hunter, the team's steady influence. Hunter, who had a leg injury, returned to lead the team against Oklahoma Saturday. The 20-0 loss was the first time Missouri had been shutout in 17 games.

SMU's John Roach Takes Over Idle Swink's Position

By UNITED PRESS
Long John Roach, Southern Methodist's trigger man, had a bad night against the Texas Aggies in a losing cause Saturday night, but still managed to take over as the Southwest Conference's top offense leader.

Aggie forwards smothered Roach for a minus 25 yards net rushing and the overall Aggie defense held his passing to seven completions out of 16 tries for 97 yards, but the 72 yards pushed him past Slim Jim Swink, the Texas Christian halfback who's been leading for the past five weeks. Swink was idle last week.

Roach now has 872 yards on 202 net yards rushing and 871 passing to Swink's 881 yards, all of which was gained on the ground. Both are well ahead of Joe Clements, the Texas passer in third spot with 673 yards.

Swink Leads Rushers
Clements' total offense figure was 12 yards less than his looping pass total because of a minus rushing yardage. Roach gained 22 yards on Clements' in the pass department with his 45 completions good for 671 yards to 55 completions and 685 yards for Clements.

Swink's idleness didn't hurt him a bit in the rushing division where his 851 yards stand out like a sore thumb. Henry Moore, Arkansas fullback, gained 96 yards against Rice but was still far in the rear at 629 yards for the season. Walt Fondren of Texas was a poor third at 450 yards and Texas A&M's Jack Pardee fourth with 407.

Roach also led the circuit in punting and punt returns. He had kicked 19 times for a 41.5-yard average to 40.8 for King Hill of Rice, and 40.5 for Baylor's Del Shofner. He had averaged 18.3 yards on eight punt returns, trailed by Ken Wineburg of TCU at 17.7 and Fondren at 11.9.

Texas Best Passers
Weldon Holley, Baylor, led in kickoff runbacks with a 23.8-yard average for eight returns. Swink was close behind at 23.0 and Don McElhenry of SMU was at 22.2.

A 39-yard scoring pass from Cy Young's Rites Held
PEOLI, Ohio—UP—Denton True (Cy) Young, the man many fans regard as the greatest baseball pitcher of them all, was buried in this quiet little village Monday.

Young, who died Friday at the age of 88, was honored by fraternal services of the Masonic and Elks Lodges Sunday evening. Funeral rites were conducted earlier Monday at nearby Newcomerstown, Ohio, and here prior to burial.

Many of Young's long-time friends from this area served as pallbearers. Honorary pallbearers for the former "iron man" pitcher included ex-Yankee pitcher Sad Sam Jones, former Pittsburgh outfielder Fred Clarke and Big Ed Walsh, one-time pitcher for the Chicago Cubs.

Also listed among the honorary pallbearers, though not present because of illness, was Connie Mack. Young won 511 games and lost 315 in the "dead ball" era of the major leagues, from 1890 through 1911. He was an avid fan until the day of his death, when he died peacefully though unexpectedly while sitting in his favorite rocking chair.

Oklahoma Favored To Drop Maryland In Orange Bowl

COLUMBIA, Mo.—UP—Missouri football players Monday established Oklahoma a near unanimous choice to defeat Maryland in the Orange Bowl, providing the two meet as expected Jan. 2 at Miami.

Sixteen of Missouri's best players, the only ones in the nation to play the three top-ranked teams this fall, were polled as to relative strength of Oklahoma, Michigan and Maryland.

Fifteen named Oklahoma the Orange Bowl favorite. The other said it was a tossup in a poll conducted by sports publicist Bill Callahan.

Coach Don Faurot agreed on the lossup decision. "I'd say they're about even," Faurot said. "It ought to be a real tough game."

"McDonald Best"
Faurot, mindful of his team's 29-0 loss to Oklahoma Saturday, said "Tommy McDonald of Oklahoma is the best halfback we've met."

Jimmy Hunter, Missouri's ace quarterback, said "I'd rate McDonald over Maryland's Ed Vereb. He (McDonald) is probably the best back we've met."

End Harold Burnine, the nation's leading pass catcher said "I'd pick Oklahoma over Maryland because of its depth and terrific offense that grinds out the yardage."

Sooners Rated Tops
The gridders established Oklahoma as a stronger team than either Michigan or Maryland. Counting one point for each first place vote, two for second and three for third, Oklahoma had a four-point edge over Michigan and a 17-point lead over Maryland. Oklahoma got 25 points, Michigan 29 and Maryland 42. The Sooners got nine first place votes, Michigan six and Maryland one.

The United Press board of coaches currently rank Michigan first, Oklahoma second and Maryland third.

Missouri opened its season with a 13-12 loss to Maryland. Next week the Tigers host 42-7 to Michigan, but played without services of Hunter, the team's steady influence. Top Lone Star Teams Will Meet Toughest Foes Saturday

By UNITED PRESS
Southwest Texas and East Texas, co-leaders and co-champions of the Lone Star Conference football race, take on their toughest challengers this week.

The Southwest Texas Bobcats will have the home field advantage, and may need it, when they entertain Sam Houston's Bearkats at San Marcos Saturday night.

East Texas State's Lions will have that advantage working against them when they move into Nacogdoches the same night against Stephen F. Austin's Lumberjacks.

The Bobcats are the only unbeaten outfit in Texas, but have two ties against outsiders to mar their record. Inside the circuit, they stand at 4-0. Sam Houston likewise has two outside ties, but also has dropped one game—to East Texas.

East Texas hasn't beaten anybody outside the conference, but owns a 3-0 league record, while the Lumberjacks—two losses in seven starts—have both come in loop action to Southwest Texas and Texas A&L.

In week's other games, A & I and Lamar Tech get together at Kingsville in a game that will wind up A&L's schedule while Sul Ross, winless in four loop starts the same as Lamar, plays Howard Payne at Brownwood.

Southwest Texas and East Texas both had scares last week, but pulled out identical 14-7 victories over Lamar Tech and Texas A & I with last-quarter rallies. S. F. Austin beat Sul Ross 13-9 in the only other game played.

Brown's Graham Ready To Play

CLEVELAND—UP—Otto Graham, Cleveland Browns quarterback who suffered a slight concussion in the second quarter of Sunday's game against the New York Giants, says he'll be ready to play against the Eagles next Sunday at Philadelphia.

"I just got shaken up," Graham said. "I feel fine."

Graham, a rugged 205-pounder who has played in each of Cleveland's 132 league games since 1946, was taken out after colliding with an elbow belonging to New York's Herb Rich in the second quarter.

Graham was on the sidelines in the second half but did not re-enter the game. George Ratterman, who subbed for Graham and guided the Browns to victory by throwing for two touchdowns and running for another, said he was happy to play but not at Graham's expense.

"It was great to be back in the game again, but I don't like to do it under conditions like Sunday—with Ott hurt," Ratterman said.

Efficiency In Govt.

Much has been said about the desirability of having an efficient government. Even among our ardent conservatives the cry is frequently that "we could spend the money better and more efficiently than the men now in office!" We might ask if efficiency in government is the thing most needed.

Business, to be successful, must be efficient. And almost any businessman will tell you that someone in business has to be in the position of final authority. Orders are issued with finality. Any lost motion means lost money. Things must be done by the shortest and most direct method. No business can tolerate inefficiency.

But these same efficient methods carried over into government bring us face to face with a dreadful realization. The most efficient government is a dictatorship. Some one is in absolute final authority. His word is law. Efficient governments are those which with a minimum of talk and motion, get things done.

But this is tyranny. We abhor it. We rejected such government when we defied King George III. The only kind of government we care to tolerate is the kind in which every man has his say; where endless hours can be spent in getting everybody's point of view, and where authority is reduced to the apprehending and punishing of criminals. But this is not efficient government. It is appallingly inefficient. By such practice any businessman would find himself on the rocks of bankruptcy in short order.

A quick look at history will substantiate this view. The government of England was so lax for centuries that Britain was jokingly referred to as a tiny island completely surrounded by smugglers. Many of her Stuarts took little interest in ruling. Consequently, the British subjects, left with freedom, went out and founded the British Empire. Then came George III. He decided that the inefficiencies of his predecessors must not becloud his reign. He established an efficient government. No colony escaped taxation. No slightest offense was left to go unpunished. What happened? He began the destruction of the British Empire, which has found extensions in the socialist cabal that took over Parliament during the late great war and virtually finished the dissolution.

A similar case is found right here in America. Our Constitution provides for a system of checks and balances so carefully weighed that it provides the acme of inefficiency. Virtually ANY part of the government can constitutionally check virtually any other part of the government. This is just not the way to get things done. But during a hundred and fifty years, Americans kept their politicians running around in the most futile of circles while they went out and established the greatest civilization with the highest standards of living on earth.

It wasn't until FDR took over that efficiency came to Washington. Then, the executive branch of the government shook off its constitutional shackles and enslaved the other branches and the entire country.

Efficiency in government is not the criterion. Instead, it is found in a constantly shrinking authority. We should recognize that all governments constitute a form of sickness, brought on by man's inhumanity to man. The degree of our health by the diminishing nature of our sickness.

Men are imperfect creatures at best. But the trademark of their imperfections is their government. Its size, power and efficiency indicate in direct ratio, the distance the men under it have come from barbarism. If size, power and efficiency are large, barbarism is near. If size, power and efficiency are small, if government is futile, harassed, enclined, then true civilization draws near. For civilization is dependent upon freedom, upon a very minimum of government. We should beware the efficient government. It is the indication of tyranny.

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR P. JORDAN, M. D.

Mrs. Y., asks for a discussion of rupture and whether this and hernia mean the same thing. Also, she wants to know whether or not there are any ways of treating this besides surgery.

Mrs. Y., is correct: Hernia and rupture do mean the same thing. A hernia results from a weakening of the structures which are supposed to hold the organs in place, the most common location for such rupture being through some part of the abdominal wall. In men particularly, this occurs most frequently in the groin.

IT IS GENERALLY BELIEVED that the weakness leading to hernia is inborn, at least so some extent, though it may not become obvious unless some strain has been put on the weakened tissues by heavy lifting or some similar activity.

For a person not engaged in heavy manual labor a rupture may not cause any trouble though there is always the risk that it will someday come out farther and get strangled or develop into some other complication.

Nevertheless, treatment is usually desirable and unless there are good reasons to the contrary, surgery is best. A truss or support may help but does not cure. Most operations for hernia can be done without special risk at almost any age, but one has to decide whether the occupation and other considerations justify the period of invalidism and the expense.

SOME YEARS AGO the injection treatment was suggested for hernia. The purpose of the injections is to irritate the inside of the hernial sac so that a firm scar will form at the point where the hernia is bulging and force back the contents of the sac where it belongs.

This method requires several treatments and carries some risk. Also, the scar tissue formed is not always strong enough to bring permanent relief. Although the injection treatment still has some supporters; it is probably not used as much as it used to be and is not as desirable as surgery in most cases.

WHEN ONE SPEAKS OF double hernia, it means that the wall has given way on both sides so that there is a rupture in two places. Operation is the same (though it takes twice as long) and surgeons often repair both at the same time.

One should realize that an operation is not always successful and occasionally a rupture breaks through again. If it does, which does not happen often today, it will have to be operated on again in order to produce a firm wall.

Minimum Wage Decisions

Here's the balance of the article or minimum wage laws by Attorney Carl Sect as appeared in Liberty Magazine, a magazine of religious freedom.

"The act, as above shown, also covers transportation, transmission, or communication across State lines. Does this decision mean that even if religion be not commerce, its promotion by the printed word is? Does this decision mean that all those persons who participate in the work of spreading the gospel across state lines by means of the printed word, excepting those few whom the act specifically exempts, are employees of the church wherever they may be located, and would be required to receive the wage specified in the act?"

"Few denominations confine their activities to one State. A major part of the communications with, and the supplies sent to, their local churches, Sunday schools, and missions cross State lines. Anyone familiar with the conduct of such church work knows there are now thousands of persons who participate in these church activities that cross state lines and who give their time and service to the work. If all of these persons have to be listed as employees (with time records of their work kept), and have to be paid the wage required by the act, it can at once be seen that the clerical and wage load the church must carry would be far beyond its ability to meet, and most, if not all, of these religious activities that cross State lines, that are now being done by church workers gratis, would be stopped.

"In the above case, while proceedings were pending in the United States Supreme Court, a compromise settlement was offered the church, which would limit the application of the act to only a few individual workers in the general headquarters, and the litigation was terminated by such a decree. The decision, however, stands as a precedent to all other church organizations.

"What can be done to remove this threat to religious work?"

"There are at least two courses that might be taken to remedy this situation. The first and most desirable would be for the court, when this matter again comes before it, to overrule this decision and determine that the act does not apply to such activities of a religious organization. We believe there are substantial grounds for questioning the correctness of this adjudication. The Circuit Court of Appeals seems to base its decision on the theory that the act is remedial and establishes a wage that is necessary to maintain a 'minimum standard of living,' which Congress deemed necessary to the well-being of the workers, that persons who work for a church organization have to live the same as those who work in a secular business, and that the need to maintain this 'minimum standard of living' would be no less than if working in a secular business.

While helping Mary shop in a super-market she sent me clear over the horizon to get a bottle of ketchup. On the way back to the car — Mary insisted on driving it because she said I never held out my arm on turns — I dropped the bottle of ketchup and smashed it on the floor. You've never seen such a mess. It looked as if I had slaughtered a bull.

Now, what was the proper thing for me to do? Act arrogant, summon the manager and demand that he have the ketchup cleaned up properly right away or ignore it all, and walk away as if I were accustomed to wading through ketchup all my life? Or, should I have gotten the you-know-what out of my pants. That brought half the breakfast cereal and ready-mix section?

I didn't know what to do except to yell, "Mary! Mary!" at the top of my lungs. That brought half the store running and there I was, bloody with ketchup and somewhat bowed.

Then I lost my head completely. I started racing about looking for paper towels to swab up the stuff, but you know how hard it is to find anything in a super-market. It's like looking for half a needle in a silo. I found everything else, but no paper towels — dried beans, — can raise the price of its product to meet rising costs.

"It would seem, therefore, that the holding of the court, that application of that act to religious workers does not prohibit a free exercise of religion, when it appears that the act, or amendments thereof, could eliminate religious work, is open to question.

"The second course that the matter might take would be to procure Congress expressly to exempt religious activities from application of the act. Although such course is desirable, it would, however, leave this decision still standing as a precedent and a dangerous threat to religious freedom, and would, perhaps, open the way for other limitations to be imposed. Mr. Justice Sutherland said, 'Beware of beginnings.' He also said that the saddest epiphany that can be carved for a lost liberty is that its possessor did not put forth a hand to save it while there was yet time."

"We believe that the potentialities of this decision should cause serious concern to every person interested in the advancement of religion, and that a saving hand should be put forth while there is yet time."

Mac Thinks A New Book On Etiquette Is Needed

By HENRY MCLEMORE

Someone should sit down and write a book on etiquette for people like us.

It's all right for the authorities to warn us that butters shouldn't have mustaches, that pork and beans are never served with peanut, that a man should remove his overcoat before handing a woman a fifty-carat diamond ring, and that it is impolite to throw silver dollars to the crowd from one's barouche, but such information scarcely meets the demands of everyday living.

We of the hot polid need a guidance that is little more down to earth. For example, take my dilemma of yesterday.

While helping Mary shop in a super-market she sent me clear over the horizon to get a bottle of ketchup. On the way back to the car — Mary insisted on driving it because she said I never held out my arm on turns — I dropped the bottle of ketchup and smashed it on the floor. You've never seen such a mess. It looked as if I had slaughtered a bull.

Now, what was the proper thing for me to do? Act arrogant, summon the manager and demand that he have the ketchup cleaned up properly right away or ignore it all, and walk away as if I were accustomed to wading through ketchup all my life? Or, should I have gotten the you-know-what out of my pants. That brought half the breakfast cereal and ready-mix section?

I didn't know what to do except to yell, "Mary! Mary!" at the top of my lungs. That brought half the store running and there I was, bloody with ketchup and somewhat bowed.

Then I lost my head completely. I started racing about looking for paper towels to swab up the stuff, but you know how hard it is to find anything in a super-market. It's like looking for half a needle in a silo. I found everything else, but no paper towels — dried beans, — can raise the price of its product to meet rising costs.

"It would seem, therefore, that the holding of the court, that application of that act to religious workers does not prohibit a free exercise of religion, when it appears that the act, or amendments thereof, could eliminate religious work, is open to question.

He also said that the saddest epiphany that can be carved for a lost liberty is that its possessor did not put forth a hand to save it while there was yet time."

"We believe that the potentialities of this decision should cause serious concern to every person interested in the advancement of religion, and that a saving hand should be put forth while there is yet time."

baking power, cooking fats, apples, frozen TV dinners, and yogurt.

By the time I got back to the scene of the accident, it had been cleaned up. Again I needed a good sensible book on etiquette. Who should I thank? And how? Should I pay for the ketchup? Or should I simply leave my card and have the store's attorneys get in touch with my attorneys? What I finally did, and I could have been in the very worst possible taste, for all I know, was to offer to pay and when the manager graciously declined to accept my money, I asked him and his wife to dinner next week.

Here's another situation which I have never known how to handle and for which the etiquette books offer no solution. What is the proper procedure when a person sitting next to you on a bus, in the movies, or on a plane, takes up both the arm rests and leaves you no place to put your elbows? This is always happening to me and I never know quite what to do. It seems a bit abrupt to shove one of his elbows off and say, "Who do you think you are, Mac? Think you own this bus?" And it seems a bit chummy, especially if the offender is a girl, to plunk your elbow down on top of her elbow and relax. Yet it makes me feel rather childish to get up and tell the bus driver that the person sitting next to you is taking up more than his share of the room and would the driver please come back and see to it that you got your share.

Anyone want to collaborate with me on an etiquette book?

Western World Doubts Germany To Be Re-United

By RAY TUCKER

BONN — The Western world scoffed when Secretary John Foster Dulles professed "optimism" over the outcome of Chancellor Konrad Adenauer's recent visit to Moscow. The head of the Federal Republic did not achieve reunification of his broken fatherland, and it is doubted that the statesmen now meeting at Geneva will accomplish anything constructive on that key problem.

All that the Chancellor gained was the release and the return home of several thousand West German prisoners of war detained in slave camps and mines by the Russians for more than 10 years. Also released, as the newspapers here and abroad have noted, were Hitler's personal valet and chauffeur, who were with him and Eva Braun in their last hours, and helped to pour gasoline over their bodies after they carried out their suicide pact.

The psychological impact of the returned prisoners' reports has been terrific. A few of the newspapermen in our delegation were fortunate enough to talk with some of them here, at Frankfurt, Cologne and other places. Besides detailed publication in West German newspapers and magazines, their accounts of Communist brutality are getting around by word of mouth. Several have withheld the most horrible stories because they hope to capitalize on them by writing books and magazine articles.

Seen in this light, Adenauer's visit to Moscow was a triumph for the West. The Germans in the Western Zone may not like Americans too well, despite our generous treatment of them since the surrender in 1945. But they hate and detest the Russian regime for personal rather than for political reasons. They are not deceived or misled by the "smiles of Geneva."

"This was the essence of an address delivered here . . . by Dr. Arnold J. Toynbee, British historian and writer. He spoke at the . . . Church and Work Congress arranged under the auspices of the Albany diocese of the Protestant Episcopal Church."

I think Dr. Toynbee is absolutely right. One of the major troubles with America today, as well as a lot of other countries, is that we seem to think our daily work bears no necessary relation to our professed religion.

James tells us: "A double minded man is unstable in all his ways."

And Paul declares: ". . . this one thing I do . . . I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus."

Every calling of God is a "high calling." Nothing that is low or mean or unworthy can be reconciled with Christian discipleship. All of us are called to do "one thing" — and whatever is inconsistent with that "one thing" should be discarded.

Who can imagine the moral renaissance that would sweep America — and the rest of the world — if all of us would really try to make our daily work completely consistent with our religion?

BID FOR A SMILE

A fisherman was hauled into court for catching ten more black bass than the law allowed. Judge — Guilty or not guilty? Sportsman — Guilty. Judge — Ten dollars and costs. After paying the fine cheerfully, the defendant asked: Sportsman — And now your honor, I'll have several copies of the court record to show my friends.

THE NATION'S PRESS

THE I.P.R. GOES OFF THE FREE LIST (Chicago Daily Tribune)

The internal revenue service has got around to revoking the tax exempt status of the Institute of Pacific Relations, which has been passing itself off for a number of years as a nonprofit educational and research organization. Those who contribute to it no longer can claim an income tax deduction on their gifts.

The revenue service has thus come to a conclusion reached by Sen. McCarran in 1950, by the late Sen. McCarthy, as chairman, and by his associates of the senate internal security subcommittee in 1952 and by Alfred Kohlberg, one of the early members of the I. P. R., some years before any of the senators. Mr. Kohlberg tried to force a housecleaning of the I. P. R. years ago, contending that it was in the hands of the Communists and soviet sympathizers. He got nowhere.

Sen. McCarran in 1950 stirred up a hornet's nest with attacks on the I. P. R. as a vehicle for propagation of the communist line and on Prof. Owen Lattimore, who for years had been one of the guiding lights of the I. P. R., as a man who had worked for communist causes here and in Asia. The Democrats tried to laugh the senator off by commissioning Sen. Tydings to produce a whitewash. The matter did not rest there, however, for the McCarran subcommittee, after an exhaustive investigation, produced a report in March, 1952, which, among other conclusions, offered the following: "That the I. P. R. had not maintained the character of an objective, scholarly, and research organization."

That it had been considered by the American Communist party and by soviet officials to be an instrument of communist policy, propaganda, and military intelligence. That it disseminated and sought to popularize false information,

In contemporary German opinion, Hitler turned out to have feet and brains of clay. Besides being a false and tragic prophet, he was a funny and cowardly clown. Our delegation of Congressmen, Government officials and newspaper correspondents from California, Washington and New York, got definite evidence of the truth of this psychological response. When I asked about the possibility of a revival of Hitlerism, and used the phrase, "Corporal Hitler," at the audience granted us by top officials of the Adenauer, the Germans at the conference snickered.

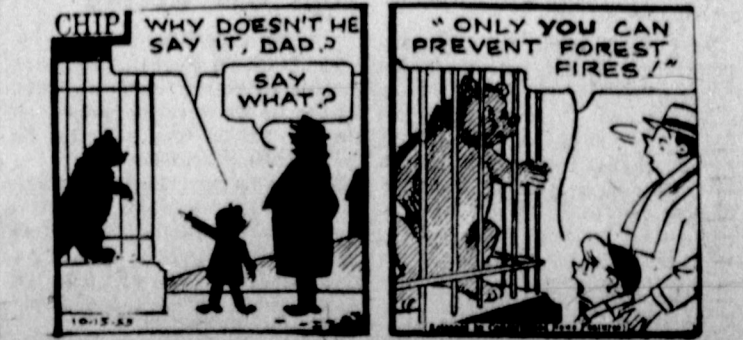

However, there is a movement, whether conscious or not, to absolve the German Army Command of responsibility for their World War II defeat. It is being carried on, through speeches and writings by surviving members of his General Staff.

Few of their books and statements have been published in the United States, although they should be. It is a repetition of the philosophy that brought Hitler to power in 1933. Germany, according to this theory, lost the war because of Hitler's blunders, not because of the power or the righteousness of the Allied cause.

The German General Staff — Rommel, Guderian, Keitel, etc. — fiercely opposed Hitler's provocation of war in 1939. They told him that Germany would not be prepared for a global conflict until 1942 or 1943. They told him that England would make a negotiated peace with him. Oddly, he had a sneaking admiration for the British Empire.

But, for a few brief and dramatic moments in history, he proved to be correct. France fell far faster than Hitler and his military advisers expected. Hitler danced a tragic jig when his troops goose-stepped down the Champs Elysees. He proved to be right in other respects in those early and unhappy years. But he and his clownish colleague, Mussolini, whose death scene at an obscure gas station we subsequently saw in Milan, began to blunder out of belief in their invincibility.

Our delegation, based on talks with big and little folk throughout Germany, does not believe that this legend of personal rather than national responsibility for defeat, will gain popular credence. After all, we beat them badly in two of history's most crucial wars.

Thanksgiving, the first of the holidays, will be here before most of us know it. C & C now has a fine selection of imported and domestic wines and champagnes. As you prepare for your gatherings, why not call C & C and have this store chill your favorite wines and deliver them when you want them?

For your Thanksgiving meal, that Mallard Duck, Canadian bonker and for the big one that didn't get away—baste with Mogen David wine to enhance these flavors.
Try these recipes:
A MOGEN DUCK

- 5 to 6 lb. duckling
- 1 tsp. salt
- 2 tbsps. duck fat
- 1/2 clove garlic, minced
- 2 tbsps. flour
- 2 cups Mogen David Wine
- 2 mushrooms, sliced
- 2 sprigs parsley
- 1 small bay leaf
- 1/2 tsp. thyme
- 8 small carrots
- 8 small white onions

Remove skin and fat from duck; wash duck into serving size pieces. Cover and cook skin and fat with giblets in 2 cups water and 1/2 teaspoon salt. Drain off liquid. Allow fat to rise to top, then pour it off. Melt brown, duck fat in large frying pan. Brown pieces of duck in fat over moderate heat. Remove duck in 3-inch casserole. Add swine to fat and cook 1 minute. Stir in flour. Add wine, mushrooms, parsley, bay leaf, thyme and salt. Bring to a boil, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens. Place pointed onions, trimmed carrots and duck giblets in casserole with duck. Top with sauce. Cover tightly. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until duck and vegetables are tender, about 1 1/2 hours. Serves 4.

ROAST DUCK
with Mogen David Wine
3-4 lb. duck
2 tbsps. cooking fat
1 medium onion
Stalk of celery
1 large carrot
1/2 cup Mogen David Wine
Soak duck several hours in enough water to cover it, with 1 tsp. salt and 2 tsp. soda. Rinse and wipe dry. Rub inside and out with Mogen David Wine mixed with the cooking fat. Place the chopped onion, celery and carrot inside duck, and put bird on a rack in the roaster. Use rest of wine and cooking fat for basting. Cook until tender. Wine drippings make excellent gravy for rice.
(Alternate stuffing: make stuffing with brown rice, dried mushrooms and garlic, basting duck with Mogen David.)

BAKED FISH
with Mogen David Wine
1 cup tomato sauce
1 slice lemon
1 tsp. parsley, minced
1/2 tsp. salt
1/2 tsp. black pepper
1/2 tsp. mixed powdered mace and marjoram
1/2 cup bread crumbs
1 cup Mogen David Wine
4 fillets of fish
Mix bread crumbs, herbs, salt and pepper, spread this mixture over the fish fillets in a greased shallow baking dish pouring the wine and tomato sauce in the dish. Set in a moderate oven (375 degrees) to bake, uncovered, for 25 to 30 minutes. Baste fish at regular intervals with liquid in the pan.
Copies of these and many other recipes may be obtained at C & C, your liquor store with the drive-in window. Drive in, ask for them, and for other cocktail recipes.

MAKING A GO OF LIFE

By ROY L. SMITH
Read Luke 6:1-11

Jesus taught a new concept of sin. Against the entire Jewish philosophy of sin he threw the weight of his powerful personality. With fine dignity he broke with the intricate laws of the Sabbath and viewed many of the regulations regarding ceremonial cleansings with almost studied contempt. For this he was branded as an enemy of the faith by the Temple authorities, who were quick to realize that if he was successful in alienating the people from their complex system he would completely undermine their own position as leaders of the nation. The issue was clear: they had to destroy him or be destroyed by him.

In the meantime, Jesus put the question of sin over on an entirely new base. It was, to him, an attitude of mind or spirit which produced an evil quality of life. It was something that was inwardly destructive something that polluted the human spirit.

It is very instructive to note that in his preaching he always dealt tenderly with those who were weak, and reserved his most severe strictures for those who were guilty of the sins of the spirit. He knew the frailty of human nature and was compassionate; he was well aware of the fact that men are made of human stuff, and he made all due allowances therefor.

According to Jesus' teachings sin consisted of unholy purposes, selfish desires, lustful thoughts. To lust was as actually sinful as to commit adultery. To covet was as serious as to steal. To hate was as wicked as to kill. All this had the effect of upsetting the religious mind and thought of the day, and it remains to our day as a revolutionary concept of sin.

I lay my thoughts of this day before thee, O God, asking thee to make plain to me which of them has been offensive to thee. Make me sensitive to thy mind, that I may have in me the same feeling about evil that thou hast. Stand guard with me over my thinking. Amen.

Try laying Jesus' measurement of sin (evil desires, purposes, thoughts) up alongside your moods and mind of the last 24 hours. Of which do you think he would approve, and of which do you think he would disapprove? Does that suggest any action?

Your Best Friend Is Gunter, Your State Farm Agent

The wise have ceased to say "a man's best friend is his dog." Now they say "a man's best friend is his State Farm Mutual Insurance agent."

In Pampa your State Farm friend is Albert Gunter, whose office and home are at 400 Lowry, 4-4338.
Auto, Fire, Life
State Farm, which offers the three major types of insurance, auto, fire, life, pioneered the 80 per cent auto collision plan. Under the plan State Farm pays 80 per cent of the first $250 of each loss and 100 per cent of the amount in excess of $250 resulting from accidental collision or upset. If the damage amounts to only $10, State Farm pays $8 and you pay just $2.

In addition to auto, fire and life insurance, State Farm now offers the low cost plan to finance new and recent automobiles. This plan has saved as much as $150, and on occasions more for persons who make a down payment of one-third the purchase price, and have a good credit rating.

By using the plan you get low bank rates, life insurance for the term of the loan to pay off the loan in case of death, and normally on new cars up to 30 months to pay. The car payment, automobile and life insurance, all are included in the monthly plan.

Call Albert Gunter. He will be glad to explain this finance plan, also the State Farm life insurance plans, fire insurance, liability insurance.

Mortgage Cancellation
For insurance the mortgage cancellation life insurance, which would pay for your home in case of premature death.
According to the Life Insurance Courant (May, 1955) State Farm Life moved from 28th to 27th place in paid for ordinary life insurance among all United States and Canadian companies. This new ranking means that State Farm Life, in 1954, enjoyed the greatest gain for its size among all ordinary life insurance companies.

Farm Insurance
Gunter has offered a special invitation to farmers — to send him a card or to call him about their insurance — he will be glad to comply — and to out of state policy holders who are moving to Pampa. Feel free to call on him for service or to transfer your insurance to a Texas policy.

Albert Gunter, who has studied company and life underwriter training courses, offers farm and personal liability insurance.
Reasons he offers such low cost automobile insurance include:
State Farm insures careful drivers only; you distribute premium cost by paying semi-annual premiums; continuous policy which is retained as long as the car and coverage and conditions remain the same.

Can you qualify? Not every one can, of course. But if you use good judgement, common sense and courtesy behind the wheel, it should be easy. For complete information talk to Ab Gunter.
Also you receive from State Farm personalized claim service; at home you know your agent who assists in handling your claims; away from home a friendly State Farm Agent gives you the same helpful service he gives his own

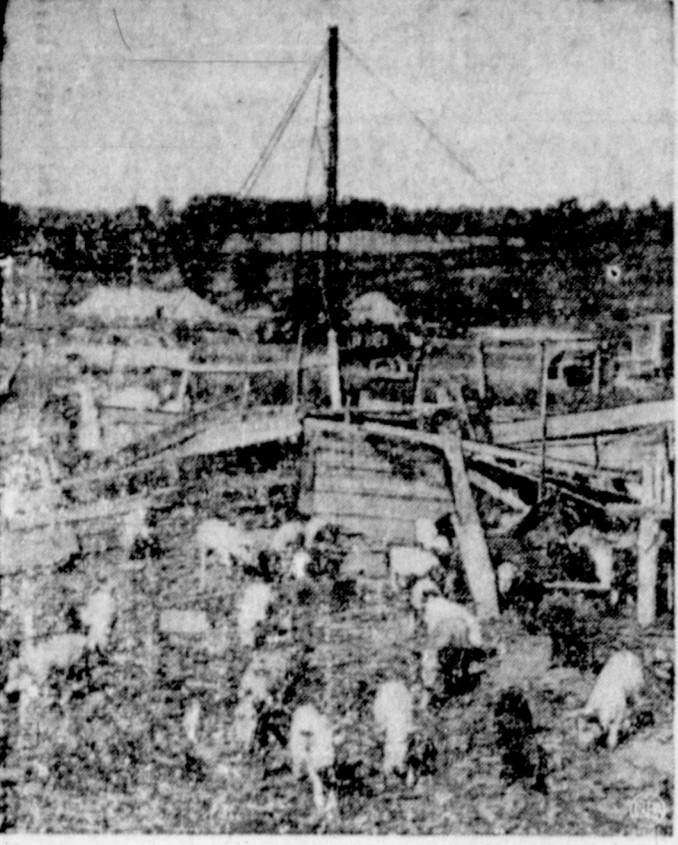

YOUR FRIEND AND STATE FARM MAN, ALBERT GUNTER — Albert W. Gunter, your State Farm Mutual Insurance agent, helps you to protect your family and yourself with low cost insurance; automobile, fire, life, residence and personal liability; farmers comprehensive personal liability; and with a new service: low cost auto financing. He explains services your policies, and assists in handling your insurance claims. Come in, meet Albert Gunter, your State Farm friend.

NEW SMELL—The smell of oil now mingles with the odors from the barnyard on the farm of Frank Hoge, in Denver Township, Mich. The well is worth $7450 a day to the struggling farmer, his share of the $56 a day the well's 200 barrels a day produce. Klondike Petroleum Company, of Muskegon, plans to drill two more wells on Hoge's land and another 40 or 50 in the area, reported one of the richest oil fields found in Michigan in years.

Being Girl Friday To TV Star Can Be Real Frantic

By WILLIAM EWALD
NEW YORK—UP—What's it like to be a girl Friday to a famous TV star?
 Nancy Robinson, a sidekick to Robert Q. Lewis for the past three and a half years, admits its pretty frantic, but, as they say in TV world, derful.
 Nancy, a 25-year-old dish from Dallas, Pa., is the girl in charge of Lewis' business and social life. As such, she buys his socks, listens to the problem of his sponsors, makes sure he gets a haircut once a week, sends flowers to his girl friends, helps arrange his trips out of town and even orders his booze for cocktail parties.

Nancy, a former production secretary at NBC and ABC, eased into her present slot after casting her for a job that wouldn't chain me to a desk.
Runs the Office
 Unchained, she is. Her day with Lewis begins at about 10 in the morning. "He calls me around then," said Nancy, "to find out what's cooking."
 What's cooking, can usually be found on Nancy's calendar. A typical day might run: "11 a.m.; rehearsal; 2; show; 2:30; meeting with writers and producer; 4; haircut; 4:30; committee meeting for tribute dinner; 6:30; interview at dinner; 8:30; theatre date."
 "I run his office," said Nancy. I hire and fire his staff of office workers and see to it that his fan mail is answered. He gets about 1500 letters a week.
 Some of those letters are doozies. "Aspiring actresses and singers want to meet him," said Nancy. "Girls propose to him. And fans from out-of-town want to pay a call when they're coming into New York."

Quotes In The News

By UNITED PRESS
LOWDEN, Wash.—William James, 37, one of 10 convicts who escaped from Washington state penitentiary, on his surrender to a farmer:
 "I forgot my heart pills and couldn't run very fast."

All Get Brush-Off
 Because of the number of such requests, all have to be given a polite brush-off by Nancy. "I even cancel his dates with girl friends when he has to get out of an engagement," said Nancy. "I'm a great story-teller."
Officials at community bazaars constantly write to the Lewis office for some personal article they can auction off. "A necktie, a totem pole, anything," pointed out Lewis' girl Friday. "If we complied with all the requests, he'd be completely out of clothes."
 Nancy totes around an oversized handbag to care for Lewis' needs. "I carry facial tissues, aspirins, and plenty of cigarettes and matches—he's always out of both. I also carry an extra pair of tinted glasses for TV—he's always losing his glasses."

MINNEAPOLIS—Dr. Arnold Toynbee, noted British historian, on mankind's future:
 "Today, for the first time, the whole world is having, within a single lifetime, to go through a greater revolution than it is perhaps possible within just one single lifetime for human nature to digest."

Heavy Coffee Drinker
 Among the other chores that Nancy essays are seeing to it that his laundry is picked up, that plenty of coffee is always at hand (Lewis drinks at least 10 cups a day), that petty cash is available for cab fares and such. She also maps out his personal appearance plans, helps arrange his vacations, does his gift shopping when occasions like Christmas roll around and makes sure his home color TV set is operating.
 "I've bought him a new bed for his apartment and gotten rid of his old one," ticked off Nancy. "I've seen to it that his rugs were cleaned and his furniture upholstered. I make sure food is on hand when his writers are at his place and I buy him shirts, shoes, whatever he needs—I have a list of his sizes and favorite stores."
 Nancy, on call 24 hours a day, seven days a week, was married six months ago to an ad agency executive.
 "I tell you," she said, "my husband is looking forward to the day when I become a housewife. Right now for me, it's like having two people to take care of."

DENVER—Mrs. Mamie Eisenhower on her last visit to Corona Presbyterian Church for services before she and the President return to Washington:
 "I hope to see you again next year at this time. I told Mr. Eisenhower I was coming here this morning and he said to give you his best regards."

Not Stack of Records
 "We don't want people to think it is supposed to look like a stack of records," reported an anxious Capitol Records, as we ran (in circles) around the building.
 "There's no connection. The architect suggested it because a round building is more efficient, with 85 per cent usable floor space."
 "At first I didn't like it. The sketches reminded me of the world's fair building in New York in 1939."
 One lunch counter here is shaped like a hot dog. Some orange-shaped juice stands are still around. One of the Brown Derby restaurants remains shaped like its name. But other buildings in the design of doughnuts, fat men, cats and pigs

BRNO, Yugoslavia—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles on the "common accord" he reached with Marshal Tito that Russia's East European satellites should be free:
 "We were common accord regarding the importance of independence of these states, of non-interference in their internal affairs, and the right to develop their social and economic orders in a way of their choice."

MOSCOW—Soviet First Deputy Premier Lazar M. Kaganovich on Soviet production:
 "In volume of production, we occupy the second place in the economy of the world. I am convinced, however, that by correct application of Socialist methods we shall fulfill Lenin's behest to catch up and outstrip the U.S.A."

SHAMROCK'S NEW MOTOR OILS

SHAMROCK

QUALITY YOU CAN MEASURE BY YOUR CAR'S PERFORMANCE

GUARANTEED... the new multi-viscosity motor oils will do more to improve the winter starting characteristics and extend the life of your car than any other petroleum lubricating oil.

It's a scientific fact... most engine wear occurs:

1. During the warm-up period before ordinary oil thins down enough to circulate freely.
2. At high operating temperatures when ordinary oil thins down too much to give proper protection.

It's a scientific fact... Shamrock multi-viscosity motor oil steps this wear because:

1. It circulates freely in temperatures as low as 30° to 35°F below zero.
2. It retains its viscosity (thickness) at highest operating temperatures.

Improve the performance and extend the life of your car with Shamrock 5W-20 or 10W-30 motor oil. Ask for them at the Shamrock station near you.

BLUSHING SALLY—Hollywood's little Miss Censored, Sally Forrest, is blushing at what censorship did to the movie version of "Seven Year Itch." Sally, who starred in the Marilyn Monroe role on Broadway, says the movie is more censorable than the play.

Cadet Freshman Dies in Pool
COLLEGE STATION, Tex.—UP—James Burnis Koym, 19, of Pasadena, Tex., a freshman cadet at Texas A&M College died from an apparent heart attack Wednesday while swimming in the A&M pool. He failed to respond to artificial respiration administered for almost two hours. Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julius B. Koym and a sister, Vivian 14.

Hollywood To Unveil First Round Office Building

By ALINE MOSBY
HOLLYWOOD—UP—Hollywood has given restaurants shaped like hats, oranges and hot dogs to the world, and soon filmville will unveil the world's first round office building.
 This latest amazement of movie-town has been built by Capitol Records a block north of the famed corner of Hollywood Blvd. and Vine St. It will be premiered on a network television show next February.
 Crowds gather daily to stare at the newly-completed structure, and the singers, songpluggers and TV workers who fill Vine St.—Hollywood's Tin Pan Alley—are busy coining gags about the building.
 Samples: "What speed does the building go around on, 78, 45 or 33?" Or, "You can't corner girls in a round building."

Cinderella Story
 The $2 million 15-story building is a concrete-and-glass cylinder supported by two rows of columns. The first floor of the cylinder is smaller in diameter than the others (80') to give the illusion the building is floating.
 There'll be a marble foyer, roof terraces for employees' meals and piped-in music ("Our own, of course") in every office.
 George Callison, from the office of architect Welton Becket, explains that the building is efficient because the "mechanics"—elevators, conduits, restrooms, etc.—are in a core running down the center. Thus each pie-shaped office has an outside view.
 The new building is a "Cinderella" story for Wallachs. In 1942, he, songwriter Johnny Mercer and the late Buddy De Sylva started Capitol in three tiny rooms. The big New York record companies thought the West Coast upstart would die overnight. But Capitol built such stars as Peggy Lee and Nat Cole and last year coined $18 million.
 "And now our own building—a dream come true," said Wallachs.

Scared history leaves a blank leaf between the Old Testament and the New Testament. For hundreds years passed after Malachi had uttered his last word before the beginning of the period of which Matthew writes.

SUPREME COURT JUSTICE?

Young Don will someday be of real service to our country — if we see to it now that he gets the education that every child deserves. You can help in your community by joining local movements and neighborhood committees working for better schools. You'll be glad you did! For informative, free booklet, write: Better Schools, 2 West 45th St., New York 36, N. Y.

HORSING AROUND BEHIND SCENES—Taking the easy way out is Oscar Homolka, left, during filming of Tolstoy's "War and Peace" in northern Italy. The character actor didn't feel too happy about riding a white stallion during this scene. So he got himself a folding wooden chair, which, as anyone can see, he rides expertly. Filmgoers will not see the improvised mount, as Mel Ferrer, right, playing the role of "Andrea," will hide the view.

More On British Humor On American Husbands

By H. D. QUIGG
NEW YORK — UP — A journalist has found that the British think of American husbands as something that American wives keep lying around on the floor to wipe their feet on.

The journalist, S. Robert Musel, a man with a sociological turn of mind, reported from London that in British joke-telling, the docile, house-trained American husband is a guaranteed bait for a scream, a laugh-getter as dependable as a flunk pie in the puss.

He quotes a current British joke about a visiting lady wiping her feet upon entering an American home and saying, "What a darling idea—tweed doormats." The hostess replies, "that's no doormat, that's my husband, Wilbur, do get up!"

"Well, there may be truth as well as humor in those jokes.

Used for Dishrag
It so happens that there are numerous American husbands lying around our office. One of them was asked about the doormat charge. "My wife uses me for a dishrag," he said. "We've got a doormat."

"Uses you for a dishrag?"

"After she's taken me for a cleaning, she hangs me up until she's ready for another cleaning," he explained.

Another husband seemed rather miffed at the British attitude.

"I read that report," he said, "and I would like to state that I like doing things for my wife. In America, a man's home is his wife's palace. But the office is his doormat. (And let those trans-Atlantic horse-jugglers fall where they may.)"

HOLLYWOOD — UP — Actress Lana Turner was recuperating at home Friday from an operation for removal of a small tumor. Doctors said the tumor, removed Wednesday, was not a malignant one.

Philippines Chief To Face Stern Tests In Elections

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Foreign Analyst
One of the best friends the United States has will face a test of his strength Tuesday.

He is big, hearty, corruption-hating President Ramon Magsaysay of the Philippines.

In a mid-term election, Filipinos will be voting for nine of their country's 24 senators and for thousands of provincial governors, mayors and city councilors.

The two men who were mainly responsible for Magsaysay's election in November, 1953, are among those who are campaigning against him.

Though few of the election contests are of national importance, Magsaysay's opponents are looking forward to the next presidential election, to be held in November, 1957.

Served Brilliantly
Magsaysay's enemies have been able to find but one big accusation to make against him—that he is too pro-American.

His two most bitter opponents are Senators Claro M. Recto and Jose P. Laurel. They, as Nationalist party leaders, picked Magsaysay as the man who might defeat Liberal President Elpidio Quirino for re-election in 1957.

Magsaysay had served brilliantly as Quirino's defense minister. But he resigned from the cabinet, and from the Liberal party, because he said the administration was ridden by corruption.

The biggest contest Tuesday is one for the senate.

Ceto is running for re-election as senator. Though he says he is still a Nationalist, he is running as a "guest" candidate of the Liberal party. Laurel, also still in the Nationalist party—officially, is backing him.

Called Him Puppet
Magsaysay broke with Recto last July when Recto said, in a senate speech, that he was "an American puppet."

Recto announced he planned to run for the presidency in 1957 in order to keep Magsaysay from getting a second term.

"Let him run," Magsaysay said. "He can run as a candidate of the Chinese Communists. I will run as an enemy of communism and a friend of the United States."

Magsaysay certainly has been a good friend. He joined the underground when the Japanese overran the Philippines in 1942. He served with the greatest distinction throughout the war. He cleared the Luzon coast for Gen. Douglas MacArthur's landing.

Later, as defense minister, he drastically reorganized the army and formed commando combat teams which smashed the serious Communist Huk rebellion.

Magsaysay is now 48. He is a big man for a Filipino—five feet 10, weighing 175 pounds. He has untiring energy. He campaigned for president among the grass roots, shaking hands and bouncing babies. He was elected overwhelmingly on an anti-corruption platform.

Rocket Men Want Look At Moon's Face

By JOSEPH H. L. MYLER
WASHINGTON — UP — U. S. rocket men are itching for a look at the moon's other face.

They have made the necessary calculations. They know what it would take to shoot an unmanned rocket 240,000 miles into space and make it photograph the side which the moon keeps constantly averted from earth.

Some of them believe a moon rocket project would be a logical follow-up to the current U. S. program to send up 10 earth satellites during the 1957-58 international geophysical year (I. G. Y.).

But knowing theoretically that something can be done is a far cry from designing and manufacturing the practical hardware that will do it.

Norman V. Petersen, guided missiles engineer of the Sperry Gyroscope Co. and president of the American Astronautical Society, believes a space-bringing moon rocket is feasible now.

He believes two rockets equipped to explore space as far as the moon and even beyond could be built and successfully launched within the $10 million budget of the "low-orbit" earth satellite program.

A moon rocket is not, however, being officially planned as part of the satellite project. Some of the key satellite scientists think Petersen is too optimistic in point of time.

But one of them, Dr. Homer E. Newell, Jr., of the Naval research laboratory here, believes rockets will soar to the moon "some time in the future."

Designates Thanksgiving Day
AUSTIN — UP — Gov. Allan Shivers designated Nov. 24 as "Thanksgiving Day" in Texas and called on all persons to join in giving thanks to God for the many blessings enjoyed. The 52nd Legislature enacted legislation specifically designating the last Thursday in November (Nov. 24) as the date for observing Thanksgiving in Texas.

Science Shrinks Piles
New Way Without Surgery
Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—
Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain without surgery.

In one after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H. At your druggist. Money back guarantee.

Confidence Grows In Ike Cabinet

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON — UP — It is six weeks now since President Eisenhower suffered a heart attack and confidence is beginning to succeed despair in the cabinet.

There is growing belief and talk among high ranking administration members that Mr. Eisenhower will run again.

This is most notable among some who recently visited the President; they came away with memory of a vigorous, healthy man capable of work.

Burden Lifted
A recent visitor summed it up this way:
"Why shouldn't the President run again? His policies are established. He's become accustomed to the Presidential routine. More important, he has set up a staff organization to lift some of the burden."

"The job can be made even less difficult—so much less that Ike could find ample time for his Gettysburg farm."

"And there are two other factors:
May Sacrifice Health
"First, a man who likely must cut down considerably on golf and fishing might find absolute retirement at Gettysburg less appealing than if the farm merely were a base from which to engage full blast in favorite sports.

"A second factor easily might put the greatest pressure on Ike to run again. It is the foreign situation now developing. Perhaps there will be a turn for the better before long. But, frankly, we don't see that coming. The President feels that his greatest competency is in the fields of defense and foreign relations. He might decide to try another term, even at some risk to his health, in the cause of peace."

So goes the argument for another term. Some may be wishful thinking. But it is remarkable how the point of view has changed here since the President was stricken Sept. 24.

Tuberculosis kills about four million people in the world every year.

Iron Works Given Orders
WASHINGTON — UP — The National Labor Relations Board ordered Iron Castings, Inc., of Beaumont, Tex., to stop refusing to bargain collectively with International Molders and Foundry Workers Union of North America, Local 228, AFL. Board also ordered the company not to interfere with, restrain, or coerce its workers in exercising their right to form labor organizations.
