17 Persons Killed In Florida Air Crash

Plane Falls On 'Routine' Landing At Jacksonville

DAWSON N. OPPENHEIMER
JACKSONVILLE, Fla. —(UP)— Seventeen persons were carried to sudden death early Wednesday in an Eastern Airlines Constellation that crashed and exploded almost in the back yards of residences bordering municipal airport here.

All aboard the Miami to New York plane—12 passengers and five crew members—were killed and charred beyond recognition by gasoline-fueled flames that seared the 199-yard bulldozing path of the stricken aircraft.

There was also a body on the plane, identified as that of C. D. Thrift, an Eastern Airlines accounting employe. It was being shipped to Washington for burial. Passengers were en route to Washington, New York and Boston.

Cause Unexplained

The plane was coming into the Jacksonville airport for a routine instrument landing. Cause of the crash was unexplained.

John Ingie, local EAL manager, said that one of many rumors and reports that "undoubtedly will be checked" came from an unidentified airline pilot who said the sound of jet planes was heard in the vicinity just before the crash. The Jacksonville control tower said it had no contact with any other planes at the time.

The four-engine plane was on air coach service and an airlines official in Miami said this just happened to be a slack pre-Christmas week for north-bound flights. Any other week the plane probably would have carried up to 60 passengers.

Crashes in Wooded Area

The airliner crashed in a wooded area, clipped off tree-tops at the 25-foot level, then bored 66 yards through the trees and hit the ground.

The charred remains of those aboard were taken to Jacksonville mortuaries. They could be identified at the scene only by sex.

The huge four-engine plane, making an apparent routine landing approach to the airport, slammed into the ground less than 50 feet from two houses in the Hollow Ford community, a suburb of Jacksonville.

Eden Reorganizes British Cabinet

LONDON —UP— Prime Minister Anthony Eden reorganized his cabinet from top to bottom Wednesday to meet the threats of inflation at home and new Soviet provocations abroad.

A key feature of the reshuffle was a decision to stress air power in Britain's armed forces at the expense of the Army, whose authorized first-line reserve strength was slashed Tuesday from 12 to two divisions.

Four major posts and many minor ones were involved in the reorganization, in which Eden replaced ministers inherited from Winston Churchill with younger men of his own choice. The average age of the cabinet was reduced from 58 to 53 years by the changes.

The major replacements were existing cabinet, but seven minor ministers were dropped. Six of them were either elevated to the peerage or promoted within its ranks.

Chancellor of the Exchequer R. A. Butler was promoted to lord privy seal and majority leader in the House of Commons, making him in effect deputy premier.

Harold MacMillan, whose policies as foreign secretary have been under opposition fire for some time, was shifted to the exchequer post to replace Butler as head of the fight against Britain's ominous inflation.

Defense Secretary Selwyn Lloyd replaced MacMillan as foreign secretary to lead the diplomatic fight against Russia, and Labor Minister Sir Walter Monckton moved up to the defense post to protect Britain if diplomacy fails.

Health Minister Iain MacLear replaced Monckton as labor leader, and was replaced in his turn by R. H. Turton, who is new to the cabinet.

BENEVOLENCE IS QUESTIONED CHICAGO —UP—

Cook Co. officials filed a tax delinquency suit of $56,139 against the Women's Christian Temperance Union. It charged that the training of antislavery missionaries at the society's Evanston headquarters does not make it tax exempt.

Europe Storm Death Toll Reaches 22

LONDON —UP— The death toll in Europe's latest storm reached 22 Wednesday and there were fears that the crews of three missing ships had died in the stormy Baltic Sea where the bitterest cold in 100 years was reported.

Widespread aerial searches were ordered Wednesday for the ships — weather permitting. But the blizzard sweeping down from Siberia almost wiped out hope the sailors would be found.

The missing ships were the Swedish freighter Hocken (Hawki) with 16-men aboard and the German freighters Sibylla and Ernie with a total of 12 crew members.

Earlier searches over the great expanse of the Baltic failed to locate the missing vessels.

Rain, fog and gale winds plagued shipping in the North Sea while ice added to the danger in other European waters. Several ships ran aground but were saved by rescue vessels.

Snow, ice and sub-freezing temperatures crippled transportation ashore and caused at least 22 deaths since the storm first struck this weekend. Sweden was hardest hit with 10 deaths. Ireland reported four deaths. Norway and Holland each one each.

Northern England and parts of Scotland dug out of the worst snowstorm of the season. Snowdrifts up to 5 feet high blocked roads. Master Cutler express from Sheffield to London was "missing" for 90 minutes when railroad officials lost contact.

Radio Day Planned By JayCees

The Board of Directors of the Junior Chamber of Commerce yesterday set up a committee to work out details and arrangements for "Jaycee Radio Day," a tentative project planned for next month.

Joe Glidens was named to head the committee consisting of five members. Proceeds from the planned project will be used to defray expenses of the dental equipment to be used in the free dental clinic, which will open next month.

Bob Carmichael, president, announced that the next meeting of the club would be held on Jan. 3, after the Christmas holidays.

A Tri-Regional meeting will be held in the Herring Hotel at Amarillo on Jan. 7-8. A group of about 10 Jaycees plan to attend, this session.

Colored films taken of the Santa Day Parade, Jaycee float, participating bands, and the Pancake Supper were shown by Don Taylor.

Success Story: How Ford Co. Started, Grew

By UNITED PRESS

Ford stock background—Americans get their first chance next month to buy a chunk of the Ford Motor Co., a $2 billion giant that ranks as the nation's 13th largest corporation.

Ford — the world's second biggest auto maker — has been privately owned since its founding in 1903 by the late Henry Ford Sr. in a small Detroit plant with a hand-made, two-cylinder, eight-horsepower car, a dozen friends put up $28,000 in cash for 1,000 original shares.

By 1919 Ford had bought them all out and was in sole control of his company.

Now Ford is being made available to the general public for the first time. The offering will be made in January — possibly by the week of Jan. 16.

The Ford Foundation, the biggest philanthropic trust in the world, will make Ford stock available to the public from shares contributed to it by Henry Ford and his son, the late Edsel Ford.

Originally the foundation planned to sell about 15 per cent of its Ford stock. Heavy pre-sale demand caused it to increase the initial offering to approximately 22 per cent.

It is expected to net up to $600 million and possibly more from the sale of up to 10 million shares of the stock. The shares made available by a split of the 3,989,980 shares contributed to the Ford Foundation by the Ford family.

Final details of the offering, including the price of the stock, still remain to be worked out between the foundation and the seven big investment banking firms which will manage the offering.

The sale also meant that Ford had to issue a financial report revealing its sales and earnings. This information has been one of the world's best kept business secrets.

United Fund Has $44,691.70 Total

The United Fund Campaign total was reported at $44,691.70 this morning by Mrs. Emmett Gee, secretary. This sum shows an increase of $108 since last Sunday, Dec. 18.

Paul West, general drive-chairman, returned to his home yesterday following hospitalization in Lubbock for a heart condition. He was reported in good spirits though tired from his long trip in an automobile. According to Charlie Fletcher, assistant manager of Video Theaters, West will be able to spend 15 minutes outside within one week and 30 minutes after two weeks. It will be a month before he can come to town for one hour.

At the present time, Paul can not receive many visitors or guests. His condition is improved.

Adlai's Son Injured In Auto Crash

GOSHEN, Ind. —UP— Adlai Stevenson's son, John, 19, was seriously injured in a car-truck collision Wednesday which killed two Harvard University classmates riding in his car.

The dead were William S. North III, 19, Lake Forest, Ill., and William C. Boyden Jr., 19, Chicago.

The son of the presidential candidate was taken to Goshen General hospital in serious condition. He suffered a broken knee cap, cuts and bruises. Also injured was another classmate, James Gilligan 19, Nebraska City, Neb.

Police said a truck driven by Fred Gill, 29, Detroit, Mich., collided head-on with the westbound Stevenson car. Gill's truck was attempting to pass another truck and was in the wrong lane when it struck the youths' auto, police said.

The trucker was not hurt. The accident occurred on U. S. 20 about 10 miles northeast of here. Stevenson's car was on an incline approaching a bridge over a railroad.

The Harvard students were on their way home from school for Christmas vacation. The car was loaded with ski equipment.

Damones Lose Jewels

LONDON —UP— Thieves stole jewelry valued at $28,000 from the apartment of American crooner Vic Damone and his movie star wife Pier Angeli Friday night, police reported Saturday.

10.2 Million Shares To Be Sold By Ford

WASHINGTON —UP— The Ford Motor Co. announced Wednesday it plans to offer 10.2 million shares of its common stock for public sale — the first such public offering in its 52-year history.

This would be the largest corporate offering in history. A registration statement filed with the Securities & Exchange Commission indicated that the common stock will be offered to the public at about $75 a share.

The actual price will be announced before the securities are put on sale next month.

The registration statement revealed publicly for the first time in the firm's history the Ford Co. financial status.

It showed that from 1946 through Sept. 30, 1955, Ford's net profits totaled $1,528,800,000.

For the nine years 1946 through 1954, Ford's net earnings were $1,224,000,000. This compares with $1,775,000,000 by its chief rival — General Motors Corp. — and $688 million by Chrysler during the same period.

Other highlights:
A 39-page prospectus also revealed:
1. Sales during the first nine months of this year totaled $1,922,600,000.

2. Consolidated net income for the first nine months of this year was $312,300,000.

3. Total capital and earnings retained in the business as of last Sept. 30 amounted to $1,840,000,000.

4. The company plans to introduce a new line of passenger cars.
5. The company had factory sales of 1,991,000 passenger cars and trucks during 1954. This represented 30.2 per cent of the industry's total sales.
6. Factory sales of passenger cars and trucks for the first nine months this year totaled 1,901,000 or 27.5 per cent of the industry's total factory sales.

Vote Divided
The prospectus showed that the company's directors already have voted a dividend of 60 cents a share for the first quarter of next year. Future quarterly dividends will be subject "to business conditions" and the company's operating and financial position, a statement accompanying the statement said.

waters killed two persons, and in the frost-bitten East. In addition, some of the iciest weather in European history was blamed for 22 deaths.
The storms and cold provided a fitting end for the fall of 1955, which will give way to winter at precisely 9:12 a.m. est Thursday. The last full day of fall Wednesday was also the shortest day of the year, since the sunshine will start lasting longer after winter's arrival.
The nation's east was feeling the bite of the season's harshest cold wave, with temperatures well below zero throughout New England's interior and near zero along the Atlantic Coast.
Mile-high Mt. Washington in New Hampshire was the frostiest spot in the nation. The mercury dipped to 26 below there early Wednesday, adding to the misery of four Boston television engineers who were marooned on the peak following a Sunday program.
In the West, a new Alaskan storm moved into northern California in the wake of flooding rains, which caused $2.1 million damage. The storm threatened to send more pounding rains, even as an estimated 150 families were returning to their homes along the falling Russian and Eel Rivers.
Meanwhile, temperatures eased in the Midwest and shot up dramatically into the 60s and 70s in Colorado and New Mexico. The warm Chinook winds in the west weren't precisely welcome, since they all but ruined any chance for a white Christmas.

Nation Shivering In Coldest Weather

By UNITED PRESS
Fall made its farewell appearance Wednesday and set a high mark of sub-zero cold and icy storms for the oncoming winter to shoot at.

New England and the Northern Plains were a sub-zero "ice box." A new Alaska storm threatened rain-battered northern California and a two-day snowstorm buried autos and piled up two feet of snow on the famed ski runs of Sun Valley, Idaho.

In Washington state three snow weasels pushed into the mountains in search of a downed paratrooper whose chances for survival were "fading with every hour."
The death toll rose elsewhere in the Pacific Northwest, where flood-

There's No Christmas In Moscow, Despite Gay Look

By HENRY SHAPIRO
MOSCOW —UP— Tall fir trees strung with lights and capped by shining stars stand in all the principal squares of Moscow.
Figures resembling Santa Claus are in every store window.
People shopping for gifts crowd the big department stores and the scene looks just like Macy's basement.
But all this has nothing to do with Christmas.
There is no Christmas, officially, in Soviet Russia. This season of exchanging gifts is the celebration of the New Year.
The decorated trees are not Christmas trees but something called the "Yolka," which Russians have used for generations to mark the mid-winter season. The star on top is the five-pointed star of the Soviet flag.
Character of Folklore ...
And the man who looks like Santa Claus is really "Ded Moroz," or grandfather frost, a character of Russian folklore dating back to pre-Christian times.
It is Ded Moroz who, on New Year's eve, descends from the North Pole with a team of reindeer bringing cheer and gifts to Russian children and grown-ups. His companion is "Segurocha," the snow maiden who helps him decorate the Yolka.
Grandfather frost and the snow maiden were in disgrace for a few years after the Communist revolution but by the mid-30s they were welcomed back by Soviet officials. But as symbols of the new year, not Christmas.
Dec. 25 is an ordinary working day on the Russian calendar. The Soviet encyclopedia defines Christmas as "the birthday of the mythical founder of Christianity."
Quiet Celebration
Devout members of the Russian Orthodox Church quietly celebrate Christ's birthday. But for the great mass of Russians, the occasion for giving gifts and general merriment is New Year's Eve.
As in the West, Russians are advised to do their holiday shopping early. They have been jamming department stores to buy anything from inexpensive plastic toys to prohibitively priced television sets.
"Yolka" trees are on sale at 10 to 30 rubles, depending on size. Yolka decorations can be bought anywhere. There is practically no home in Moscow without its Yolka on New Year's Eve.
A husband may be an asset to his wife and also might represent a great lie ability.
Now is the time when it pays to have an old car. They're the ones seldom ruined in a skidding smash-up.
From earliest times people have gathered around any big fire. And after the fire, the fire sale.

By O. B. LLOYD JR.
ACUSTIN —UP— Gov. Allan Shivers again voiced his opposition to Adlai Stevenson as a presidential candidate Tuesday and predicted that if President Eisenhower seeks re-election the Democrats will have a hard time pulling Texas out of the Republican fold.
Shivers told a news conference that any Democratic candidate "will have to be a stepper" to carry historically Democratic Texas against Mr. Eisenhower.
In speaking of Democratic presidential possibilities, Shivers said he was committed in his view on only one candidate — that was Stevenson. Shivers said he was opposed to him now as he was in 1952 when he led Texas into the Republican column because Stevenson refused to support the state's claim to its tidelands.
Needs To Believe In States
"No man who does not believe in state's constitutional boundaries or rights deserves to be president," the governor said Tuesday.
He expressed hope the Democrats will nominate a "moderate type candidate — one who will keep the government as balanced as it is now."
He predicted the Democrats have

The seven in turn, will ask 700 smaller brokerage houses throughout the nation to participate in the sale of the stock to the public. CRASH of Jacksonville, on the southwest side of the airport.

"The plane practically went through our back yards," Mrs. A. T. Collins said.

The tragedy, third air disaster in Florida within a week, all happened in the space of a few ticking seconds at 2:46 a.m. est and brought residents in the area out of their sleep with two explosions that ripped the plane apart as it bored its way through a wooded area, spewing flames in its path.

The shattered aircraft then skidded almost one-half mile and was rent by another explosion that finished ripping the once beautiful plane apart.

Trees were bowled over like topkins by the huge aircraft and brush fires broke out in the scorched path of disaster, ignited by the flaming torch that was but a few seconds before an airliner making a normal night flight.

The plane was burned, torn and twisted almost beyond recognition as an aircraft. Two engines lay near the shattered fuselage and were put to use as props for portable floodlights.

Mrs. Collins whose home is a half-block from the crash scene said the impact "almost knocked me out of bed."

"When we arrived a few minutes later all we could see was fire," she said. "There was fire everywhere you looked. I couldn't even make out the pieces of the plane at first, except for two wheels that were sticking up in the air."

support the man I think will be best for the future of this nation, regardless."

Shivers mentioned other announced and potential Democratic candidates, including:

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.), who last week announced his candidacy.

"I'm glad to see him enter the race. . . it's good to have as many candidates as possible and let the people make a choice. . . I have neither said I would support or oppose him."

Shivers said New York Gov. W. Averell Harriman was a longtime "personal friend" and carefully pointed out he neither said he would support or oppose his possible candidacy.

Of Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, the governor said: "He is more moderate than extreme. We have been good friends for many years. . . we have agreed and disagreed on many fundamental views."

Instead Of Prayers Toy Shop Mixup Makes Doll Growl

ATLANTA—UP—A toyshop mixup threatened Wednesday to ruin some little girl's Christmas because a dainty doll that is supposed to say a goodnight prayer will instead growl a fire prevention rhyme in a bearlike voice.

The mixup occurred in a toy factory commissioned to manufacture talking models of Smokey, the bear used on posters by the U.S. Forestry Service in its fire prevention campaign.

The same factory also makes a little teddy bear equipped with a voicebox that says gently:

"Now I lay me down to sleep, I pray the Lord my soul to keep, God bless mommy, God bless Daddy, Amen."

Difference in Voices The prayer and the voice are much different from the sounds created for Smokey, the forest service teddy bear.

It growls in a gruff voice: "I'm smokey the bear, I'm smokey the bear."

"Running and looking for smoke in the air. . . I warn careless people and tell them 'take care.' 'Please prevent forest fires, says Smokey the bear.'"

The South Carolina Forestry Commission ordered 96 of the stuffed bears for use in its fire prevention campaign. The first of the 96 smokey bears to arrive in the commission office was immediately tested. It created pandemonium by uttering in a childlike voice:

"Now I lay me down. . . Regional employees speculated that the toyshop mixed the voice boxes earmarked for the Smokey bear and the dolls.

One of the bearlike voice boxes was sure to end up in one of the dainty "praying" dolls, they calculated.

And they feared it was bound to make whoever got the doll with the gruff voice mighty unhappy on Christmas Day.

THIS IS THE TIME OF PARTIES AND GUESTS, a situation which will, no doubt exist through New Year's day. If you're in doubt about how to entertain the little ones who come along with their parents, here are some suggestions by Kay Sherwood of the NEA. Following her article, Alicia Hart of the NEA tells about dieting during the holidays.

MOST POPULAR hostesses of the Christmas season—at least with parents and their small fry—is the warm-hearted woman who greets the youngest guest as enthusiastically as the older ones.

Especially during the holidays, when baby sitters are as scarce as taxicabs on a rainy day, the informal afternoon calls that are a large part of the seasonal fun must be made with the little ones in tow. Although their own children are grown, many of the most gracious hostesses I've known have not lost their relaxed touch with the small fry. The result is a reduction of the bored and restless misbehavior which makes even a short visit a strain and reduces conversation to a nervous "Behave yourself, Susie."

Every hostess has her own special time-tested tricks for welcoming the mixed-age groups. But there are some common pointers. One hostess knowing the youngsters' uninhibited delight in surprises keeps a tiny treat ready to hand each child on his departure.

Worthwhile Group Installs Officers, Has Yuletide Party

The Worthwhile Home Demonstration Club held its Christmas party recently in the home of Mrs. Dewey Lunsford.

During the short business session, led by Mrs. J. L. Carlton, president, it was decided to give a gift to each girl in the Panhandle girls' home, and to present the home with groceries.

New officers installed by Miss Helen Dunlap, county HD agent, were Mrs. Roy Tinsley, president; Mrs. J. R. Clark, vice president; and Mrs. Ora Wagner, secretary-treasurer.

Group singing of Christmas carols was led by Mrs. O. G. Smith, with Mrs. Rex McKay at the piano. Gifts were exchanged, and Mrs. Carlton presented each member with a hand-woven pot holder.

Attending were Meses. Bob Barrett, Noah Cude, J. L. Carlton, J. R. Clark, W. G. Kinzer, Rex McKay, R. T. McCallip, Marion Roberts, Ethel Robinson, Roy Robertson, P. G. Turner, Ora Wagner, N. L. Walton, O. G. Smith, and Misses Helen Dunlap and Mary Kay Lunsford.

Costner, mother of the honoree; the honoree; and Mrs. A. L. Weatherred, mother-in-law of the honoree. Hostess was Mrs. H. H. Graham, 404 Powell. (News photo)

Dinner Party Held By Store Employees

The employees of Bentley's Store held a Christmas party recently in the Pine Room of the Pampa Hotel. Special guests were employees of the Boger, Bentley's store.

Guests were welcomed by Mrs. Ruth Hutchens, and a game was played to choose partners for the evening. Following dinner, a program, arranged by Miss Cynthia Campbell, was presented. A piano performance was given by Miss Dixie Rhoades, and Ted Swindle gave a humorous reading. Miss Joan Robertson sang several selections, accompanied at the piano by her sister, Miss Jacqueline Robertson.

Following the program, gifts were exchanged, with Mrs. Jimmie Jordan acting as "Mrs. Claus." About 40 persons attended the event.

Builders Class Has A Christmas Social

The Builders' Class of the First Christian Church held its annual Christmas party Tuesday evening in the "little red school house," north of city.

IT IS ALL over for 1956. Going to school, that is, because today was the very last day of school this year.

There are twelve big days before school takes up again on Jan. 3. Twelve days for having fun, sleeping late, traveling, eating more than you can hold and writing term themes.

The first big event of the holidays will be the dance Thursday morning. Yes, tomorrow morning. That is when it is! Different, what?

The affair is an informal at the Country Club. D. I. and Vivian Wilkinson, Betty and Jim Osborne, P. and Butch Reynolds and Rich Hankins are the hosts.

Then Friday night there are two more dances, the Sub Deb and the Las Creas presentations.

Las Creas will hold their annual fair in the YFW hall. The Sub Debs will present about ten girls on the same evening at the Country Club. Phil Phillips will make the noise for the dance.

Saturday, of course, is the day everyone does their last minute shopping and then hurries home to wait for Santa.

So the holidays are filled with activity until Christmas and, no doubt, they will be just as full after the big day.

HELPING ALL of you with that shopping will be a lot of high school people at McClallan's you will find Betty Hogsett, Sandra Walsh, Jerry Hughes, Rita Gibby, Sharon Hill and Travis-Rasco. At Moses, Marilyn Moore, Barbara Pickle, Wanda Cook, Jerry Hill, Barbara Arney, Jerrie Shelton and Nadine Slaton can be found.

Peggy Olivivo and Don Prigmore work at Penney's, Joan Robertson at Whites and Janna Harvey at Woolworth's.

According to Mr. Nance, speech teacher, claustrophobia (fear of being closed in) is "when you have two 'clausets' and you are in one of them."

Just as a lot of people had predicted, Don Babcock was awarded the Fighting Heart Award for his performance on the Harvester football team. Don, who played at end, is a senior letterman. The announcement was made at the annual football banquet Friday night. Also at the banquet, Peggy Olivivo presided as queen. Thera Warner and Joan Robertson were her attendants.

FOR HER WINK in planning the homecoming last month, Jeanette Leith was chosen Councilman of November.

Jeanette is a junior. She was featured in a story in last week's Little Harvester.

The Thespians, girl's choir and the A Cappella teamed up to bring PHS a real solid Christmas assembly yesterday.

The Thespians presented a play entitled "Road to Glory" which featured Lu Koch as the lady who was disappointed with Christmas and Lynn Followell as an angel who came to earth and taught all the people the real meaning of Christmas.

The choir, of course, sang carols. One outstanding one was done by the girl's choir and featured Helen Turner as a soloist.

A lot of ex-students were at school yesterday to see the program. We saw Norma (Jiggle) Qualls, Christine Pierce, Adelaide Skelly, Carolyn Dial, Jo Ann Miller, Winifred (Twedy) Watson, Jon Cantrell and a lot of others.

John Warner gave a talk on life at A&M to an English class.

Carol Hughes is here, and so is Alton Flynn.

We saw Duane Kuntz talking to Ed Dudley and Don Fagan down town Monday.

Just everywhere you look, there are familiar people.

The snow man waited: The night was clear: The tree lights glittered And dawn was near: A stiff tin soldier Watched packaged dreams Of dolls and skates And chocolate creams.

A star shown high In the night of fame, And silver fell And Christmas came.

Have a cool Yule and a frantic first, all you cats. Or to be pibelian about it, Merry Christmas, everyone.

Texas Crude Hits Highest Production

ABC To Unveil First TV Spectacular During 1956

DALLAS - UP - The Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association released statistics Wednesday showing Texas oil producers hit a new high in crude oil production and a 12-year low in the discovery of new fields.

"The nation's demand for oil this year was up about 8 per cent over 1954," French M. Robertson, president of the association, said. "Ordinarily, production of more than one billion barrels in Texas should pep up the venturesome spirit of operators, but this has been offset a great deal by extensive drilling outlays."

Robertson said other factors included a bad streak of high dry-hole percentages on wildcat wells, plus the uncertainties of national legislation involving the industry.

The association estimated that total output of liquid hydrocarbons would be close to 1,050,000,000 at year's end, of which some 1,020,654,000 barrels would be crude oil, the remainder liquids extracted from natural gas.

(Previous top crude output figure was 1,009,000,000 in 1952. In 1954 it was 954,434,060 barrels.) To hold the production pace, Texas operators had drilled 22,387 wells by Dec. 10 — a new high mark. The 154 total was 20,123.

In this period, 4,253 attempts were made to find oil in new areas with wildcat wells and the percentage of failures rose to 89 per cent, biggest in 12 years. Only 285 found any oil, 83 gas (compared to 110 in 1954) and there were 3,785 dry holes.

Robertson said the principal legislative issue worrying producers was the outcome of the Harris-Fullbright bill which producers hope the Senate will pass.

This legislation seeks to remove independent gas producers from direct federal control, but still empowers the Federal Power Commission to establish reasonable market prices for gas bought by pipeline utilities.

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK - UP - Robert Kintner, president of the American Broadcasting Co., confirmed reports Wednesday his network is planning to unveil its first "spectaculars."

"We expect to do about 12 special shows during the 1956-57 season," said Kintner. "All of them will be live. As yet, we haven't chosen the properties or producers."

"It's our hope that the theatre guild will do a specific number of them for us. All of them will be in black-and-white — we don't believe the importance of color in the industry will be really felt until the fall of 1957."

Kintner, who will mark his sixth year as head of ABC next week, ticked off three reasons for his network's planned entrance into the field of the big show.

"First of all," said Kintner, "a show of longer length can use better story ideas, more stars and more people to produce a stronger show."

"Second, it's possible to hold an audience for a longer period of time as we do with our 'Warner Bros. Presents.'"

The 46-year-old Kintner, who has worked for ABC since 1944, pointed out that his network has now completed the second year of a five-year plan aimed at bringing it abreast of NBC and CBS.

For the first time, beginning this January, the ABC network will move into daytime programming. The initial breakthrough will be made with 100 feature films which ABC bought from a British movie company earlier this month.

The films, which include Laurence Olivier's "Hamlet," "Genevieve" and "This Happy Breed," will be televised from 3:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. preceding Walt Disney's "Mickey Mouse Club." Kintner said there would be periodic summaries of the plot so that the viewer could tune in at any time.

"It is probable that in the fall of 1956 we will tackle afternoon programming further."

"Give us those three years," concluded Kintner, "and I think we'll be up on a par with each of the other networks."

BOO!—These weird-looking creatures in Minneapolis, Minn., are not visitors from outer space. They're members of a fighter-interceptor squadron, stationed there, wearing their new Arctic parkas. The parkas were issued to them recently when temperatures dipped to seven below zero. Extended hoods protect their faces from the weather. Hidden faces belong to A/1 Robert Dutton, left, and S/Sgt. Gordon Baklund.

Egyptians, first architects to work with stone, began using the material for building about 2730 B. C.

Reds Return To Soviet Union

KABUL, Afghanistan —UP—Russia's touring leaders flew back to the Soviet Union Monday with a renewed promise of Afghanistan's neutrality in the cold war. They left behind a promise of $100 million in aid.

Nikita Khrushchev took off in a Soviet transport for the flight across the Himalayas into southern Russia. Moscow radio reported they landed at Tashkent in southern Russia. The Russians ended their official duties Sunday night when they signed a joint communique with Afghanistan Prime Minister Sardar Mohammed Daud and agreed to extend for 10 years the joint non-aggression pact first signed in 1931.

Washington Parking Group Announces Christmas Plans

WASHINGTON — UP — Wrat's new in Washington: In this congested city, the Washington Parking Association has done something pretty nice. Anybody who wants to drive down town for church can park in any lot or garage free on Sunday. The program will run past the Yuletide—from now on.

The Farm Bureau news letter reports that if each of 50 million families in our land serves just a single kraut, pork and apple dinner, a 100 million-pound dent could be made in the current pork supply. The suggestion originates with the kraut packers—naturally.

The National Democratic committee received a letter addressed to "President or Sen. Adlai Stevenson." There was no signature, but there was a $5 bill inside.

Reporters covering the joint congressional economic committee hearings on tax policies stopped loafing and put pencil to pad when Sen. Paul H. Douglas, the Democrat from Illinois, started to spiel. Why not, he said, let the government take over collection of all state income taxes, and redistribute the money? Turned out the senator was just talking, not proposing. That was just a joke, folks. But it happened here.

Representatives, Hap Morris, says that mail going out of the House office building is heavier than usual this Christmas time. Packages and cards and letters back home. The incoming mail, for some reason, isn't so heavy.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon has a Christmas card from a little girl named Judith in Tucson, Ariz. "I know we have never met. (correct). You are my Vice President and I feel it necessary to give you a Christmas card."

Nixon also had a long hand-printed letter from a young fry in New England who said he wished the Vice President would "pass a law so we could have school a lot longer. Maybe 14 months a year."

Mr. Nixon is giving that one more than considerable pause.

SCRAMBLING—Harry Gallatin (11) of the N. Y. Knickerbockers is trying to steal the ball as two St. Louis Hawks, Chuck Share (5) and Bob Harrison (7), reach for possession of it in the pro game in Manhattan. St. Louis won the game with a final 104-91.

GONE!—When patrons of Alphonse Secinaro's barber shop peered through his window in Iron Mountain, Mich., this is the sight that greeted them. A mounted deer head in the barber chair meant Secinaro had gone hunting.

TIGER IN THE SNOW—The Princeton Tiger took to skis before the start of the game with Dartmouth at Princeton, N. J. Warm and dry under that pelt was Mike Briggs, of Wenatchee, Wash. He was biding his time while the Princeton band got ready to play the National Anthem. The Tigers won, 6-3.

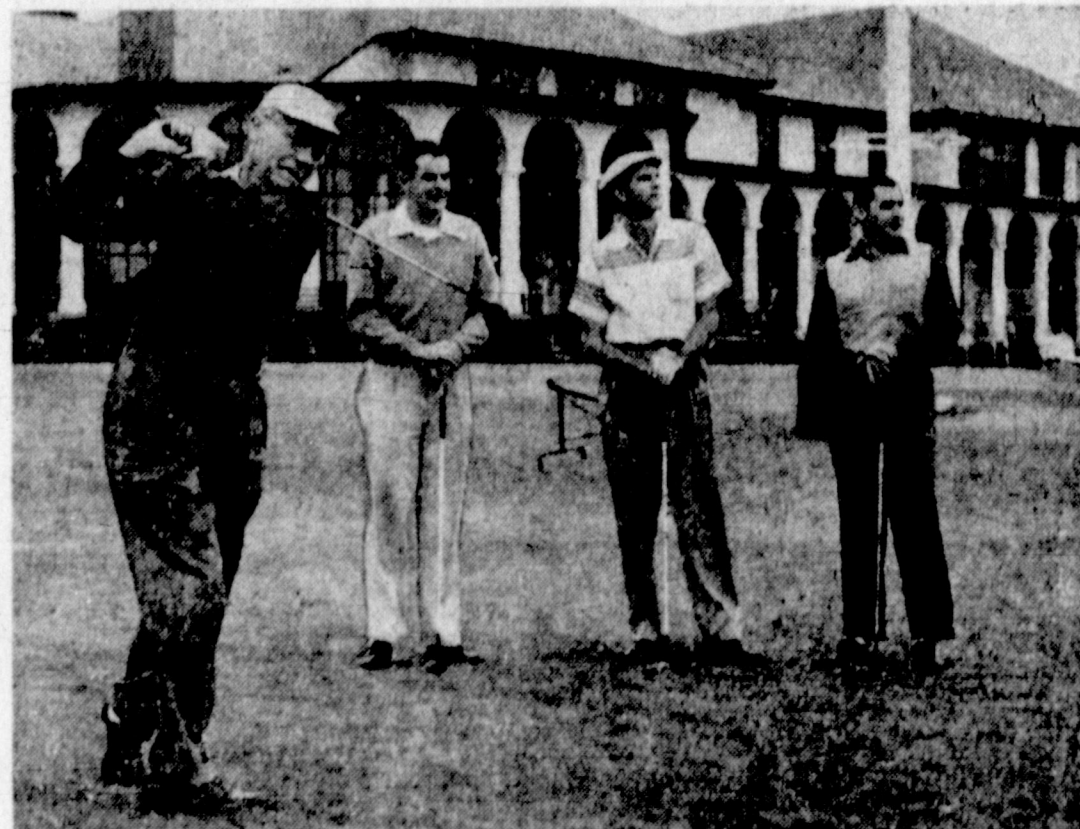

PICTURE SPORTS NEWS

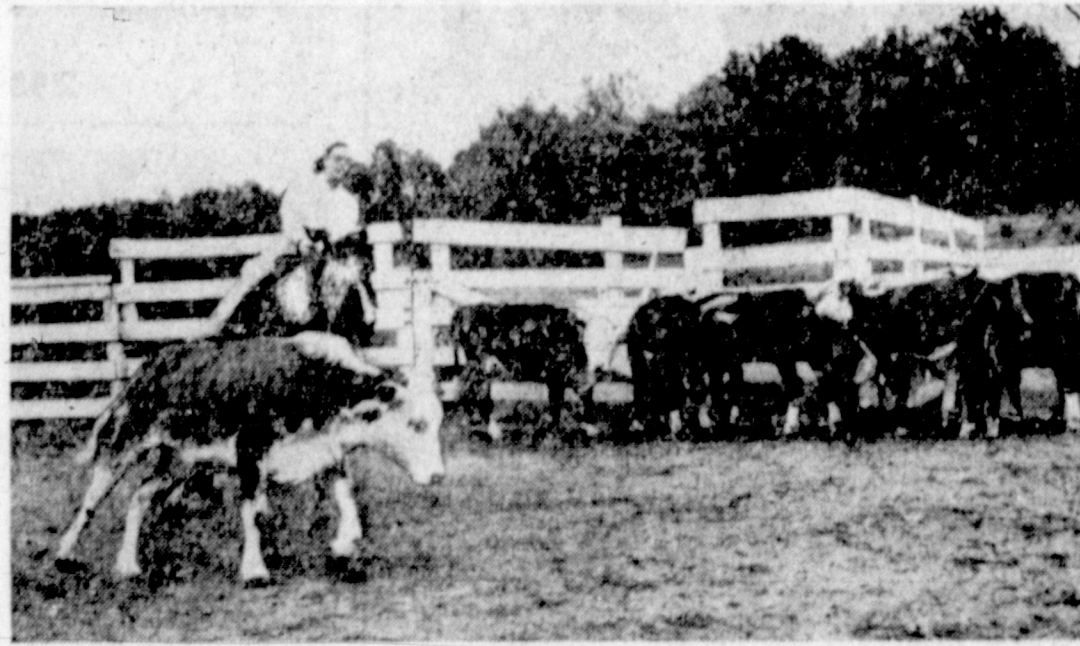

SHELL BE ON HAND—Pretty 18-year-old Lynn Brown, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., is showing the main current of her thoughts these days—the Orange Bowl Game on January 1st. A student at the University of Florida, Lynn is the 1956 Orange Bowl Queen and will reign over the game and accompanying festivities. Maryland and Oklahoma will meet.

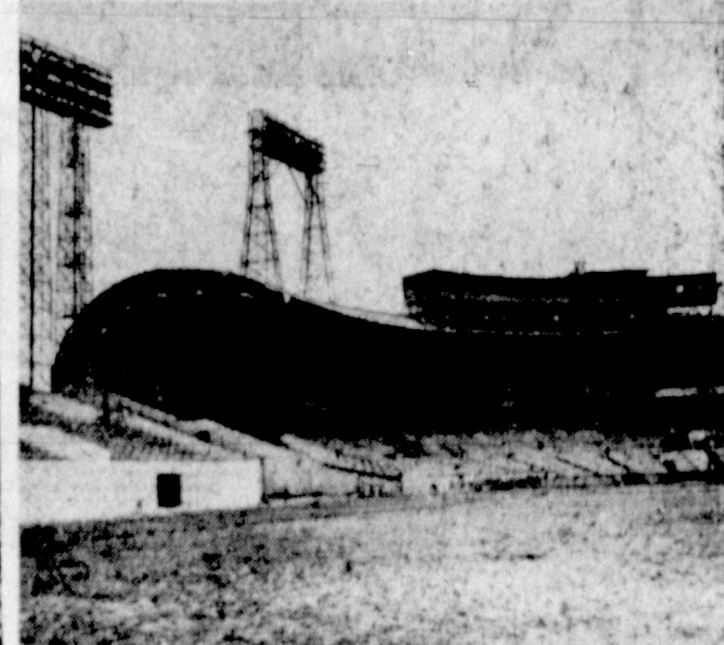

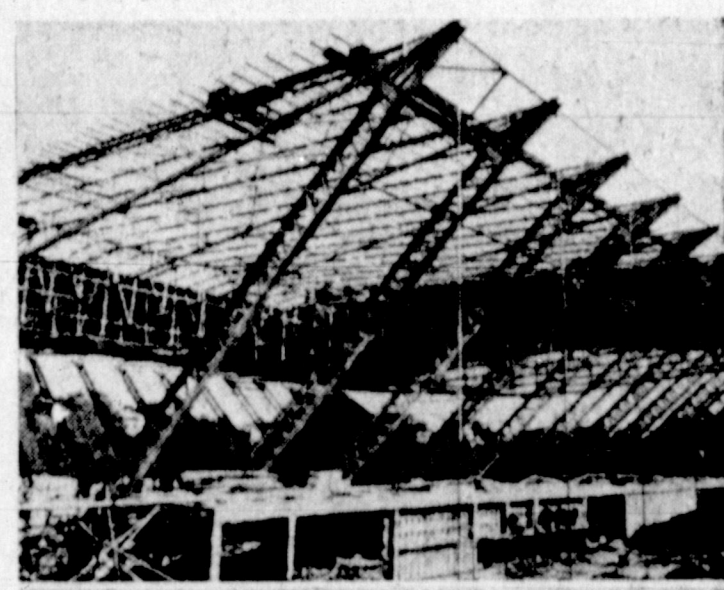

COURTING TIME—Film starlet Kathleen Case took a breather from studio work in Hollywood to remind one and all that it's courting time in the world of sports. The brown-haired looker from Pittsburgh boasts a good form even if she never does manage to sink a basketball through the hoop.

A FAMILY AFFAIR—A father and three sons, all in service, are shown playing golf in Pinehurst, N. C. Col. Walter D. McCord, of Teaneck, N. J., of the infantry and his sons, left to right, Capt. Robert, Major Richard and Commander Walter McCord arranged their leaves to be together. Three are West Pointers, but the commander went to Annapolis.

SCENE AND HERD—Mrs. Garvin "Bazy" Tankersley is shown on her Arabian horse, Al Marah, as it "cuts" out a steer from her herd near Bethesda, Md. The horse is one of her 115 thoroughbred Arabian mounts which are trained to herd the 500 head of cattle on the ranch.

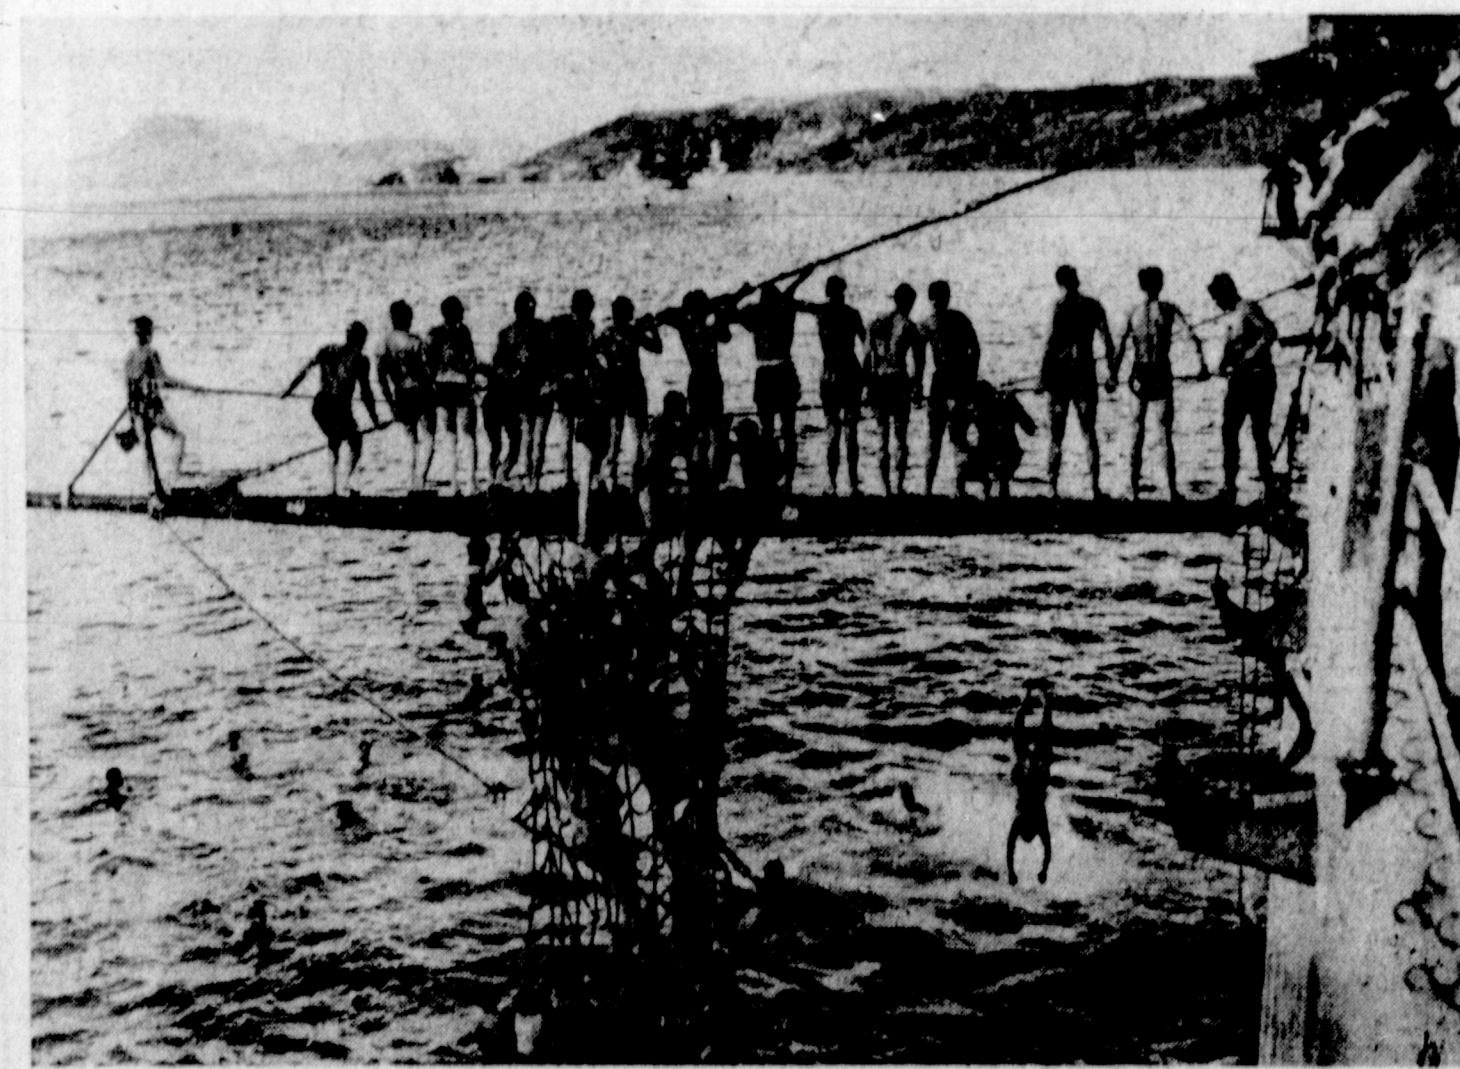

GOING UP—A most interesting feature of the $9,000,000 construction program for the 1956 Olympic Games in Melbourne, Australia, is a swimming stadium which will hold 5,500 spectators, top photo. The new stadium in Ciudad Trujillo, Dominican Republic, will open December 20 when the Fair for Peace and Progress of the Free World opens, below.

WRAP IT UP—Willie Pastrano of New Orleans forced Joey Lawan of Phoenixville, Pa., through the ropes during a 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden. Pastrano was making his debut as a heavyweight. He won a unanimous decision over Lawan by the jabbing and dancing tactics that boosted him to second place among light heavyweight contenders.

GOING TO WORK—Swimmer Florence Chadwick, left, and Doris Hart, the tennis champion, seem to have traded the symbols of their respective fields in Miami Beach, Fla. They'll both work at a hotel there, instructing fortunate guests in tennis and swimming. Miss Hart recently turned professional, and both girls are tops in their line.

JUST LIKE SUMMER—Some U.S. Navy men are shown diving from a yard-arm, swimming in the Mediterranean and clambering up the net for another dive. The crewmen of the cruiser Des Moines, with the U.S. Seventh Fleet, found Souda Bay, a Greek naval base on the island of Crete, a welcome spot for relaxing. They'd been in NATO naval maneuvers.

GIDDAP!—Alex Kerr seems ready for a jaunt through the Ascol, England, countryside—on tigerback. Actually, though, the animal tamer is training the tiger for his new circus act. Kerr thinks—nothing of riding tigers, leopards and lions.

Would you please bring me a bike basket, head lamp also, some triple roll socks, some dresses and skirts, 2 T. shirts and 1 sweat shirt. Just bring what you can. Please don't forget the other children in this camp. Oh yes San-

TV BOUND—Actress Lauren Bacall is due for another TV spectacular, "Blithe Spirit," with Noel Coward on Jan. 15. Although live TV gives her the jitters, she says you can't ignore it. Besides, she adds, it's good training if you have little stage experience.

Ia, I have moved into a different house.
I will have something for you to eat when you come.
I love you Santa.

Citizens Ask Base Stay Open

WASHINGTON—UP—Leading citizens of Mineral Wells, Tex., Monday appealed to the Pentagon not to abandon Wolters Air Force Base.

Reps. Omar Burleson and Jim Wright, Texas Democrats, arranged an afternoon conference with Air Force Secretary Donald A. Quarles and other defense officials to discuss the problem with a Mineral Wells delegation including Fred Brown, manager of the Crazy Hotel; banker Charles Lee; George Barber and Harrell Dennis of the Mineral Wells Chamber of Commerce.

The Air Force is giving up its aviation engineers, which had had their headquarters at Wolters. Air Force engineering work will be handled by the Army Engineers. The Mineral Wells group appealed to the Pentagon to find some further use for the base instead of virtually deactivating it.

Harvesters Place Ed Strickland On All District Eleven

Time Out With Tom
By TOMMIE ELLIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

Well, We wont say we told you so, but we are sure relieved that the Abilene Eagles defeated the Tyler Lions. We felt sure the Eagles would come out with the championship again this year but so did the Golden Sandies on that day 25 years ago when the Tyler Lions upset them in the "big game."

We remember that one of the Amarillo sports scribes gave Joe Kerbie plenty of praise when the Sandies held the Eagles to 33 points. He said he thought Kerbie could take the Eagles and defeat the Sandies by 80 points.

Let's take a look at the figures and see just how good the Eagles are, compared to Amarillo.

The Wichita Falls Coyotes dropped the Sandies 27-0 and Tyler defeated the Coyotes 13-6. That makes Tyler 34 points better than the Sandies. Then the powerful Lions fell to the Eagles 33-13. Add that 20 points to the 34 and you come up with an even 54 points.

Then consider the fact that the Eagles' second string was in the game in the last few minutes and allowed the Lions to score their 13 points. Take those away from Amarillo and the Eagles figure just about 70 points better than the Sandies.

We don't think these figures are absolutely correct but at least it's fun to figure out the probabilities.

We know that these figures put the Eagles a few points over the Harvesters but we know that anyway. All teams can't be "State Champions."

Pampa's 180-pound tackle, Ed Strickland was named to the first team offense all district team and to the second string defense position, David Mullins, Gene Devers and Dickie Mauldin were given honorable mention spots on the defensive unit.

Strickland is a senior and has been playing with the Green and Golders since he was a sophomore. He was co-captain with Buddy Sharp this past season.

David Mullins and Gene Devers play in the guard positions while Dickie Mauldin is a halfback.

Abilene placed five boys on the first team offense while Midland placed two and Amarillo, San Angelo and Odesa placed one each. Lubbock and Borger failed to place on the first offensive unit.

Abilene again placed four men on the first team defense while the Sandies placed three. Odesa, San Angelo, Midland and Lubbock placed one boy each while the Bulldogs and the Harvesters failed to place.

The Harvesters' Ed Strickland again placed on the second team defense while the Harvesters failed to place on the second team offense.

Gene Devers, 165-pound right guard, is a junior this year and will be with the Green and Golders again next year. Dickie Mauldin, 156-pound left halfback, is also a junior and will be a top con-

Dodger's World Series Win Is Top Sports Story Of '55

TODAY'S SPORT PARADE
By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK—UP—The long frustrated Brooklyn Dodgers, changing their tatters for a tuxedo as they finally reached the end of the glory road, took the headline honors in sports for 1955.

Six times beaten in previous World Series, the beloved bums turned in the year's outstanding sports feat as they came off the floor to defeat the mighty New York Yankees.

Yet, in analyzing the year's top sports stories, the Dodgers were given a hearty run by Nashua, the bouncing bay beauty from Belair. Nashua cracked into the big headlines three times.

The first was in defeat, when he bowed to Swaps in the Kentucky Derby; the second when he flattened Swaps in a match race, and the third time when he was sold for an all-time record price of $1,251,200.

ual performers. The unknown Iowa golfer pro scored a smashing upset when he defeated Hogan, shooting for a record fifth open, in a playoff.

Robinson smashed an ages-old boxing jinx when he knocked out Bobo Olson and, regaining the mid-dleweight crown, became the first man ever to come out of retirement and win back a title. Marciano ran himself out of more competition with a decisive triumph over Moore.

Bob Sweikert won the rugged Indianapolis 500 when the lead-footed Vukovich, running out in front in his search for a record third straight victory, overturned and was decapitated. Swaps atoned his feud with Nashua by winning the Kentucky Derby but Nashua, after his match race vengeance, still was running at the headlines in his record year-end sale.

Those 10 stories will take a lot of heating in 1956.

Bowl-Bound Gridders Work Hard Before Christmas Rest

MICHIGAN STATE
PASADENA, Calif. —UP— Michigan State Coach Duffy Daugherty was disappointed Wednesday in the defensive work of his first two teams. He watched the first two teams scrimmage against the reserves running UCLA plays Tuesday and wasn't a bit happy over the outcome. The reserves applied the Bruins' double blocking pattern and opened up big holes for huge yardage.

PITTSBURGH
PITTSBURGH —UP—The Pittsburgh Panthers will hold a workout Wednesday and then take off until Monday in their Sugar Bowl drills. They held another drill indoors Tuesday to escape the freezing weather outdoors. The squad will regroup here Monday for the plane trip South.

OKLAHOMA
NORMAN, Okla. —UP— Coach Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma was faced with a pleasant dilemma Wednesday: Which is his best team, the first or second?

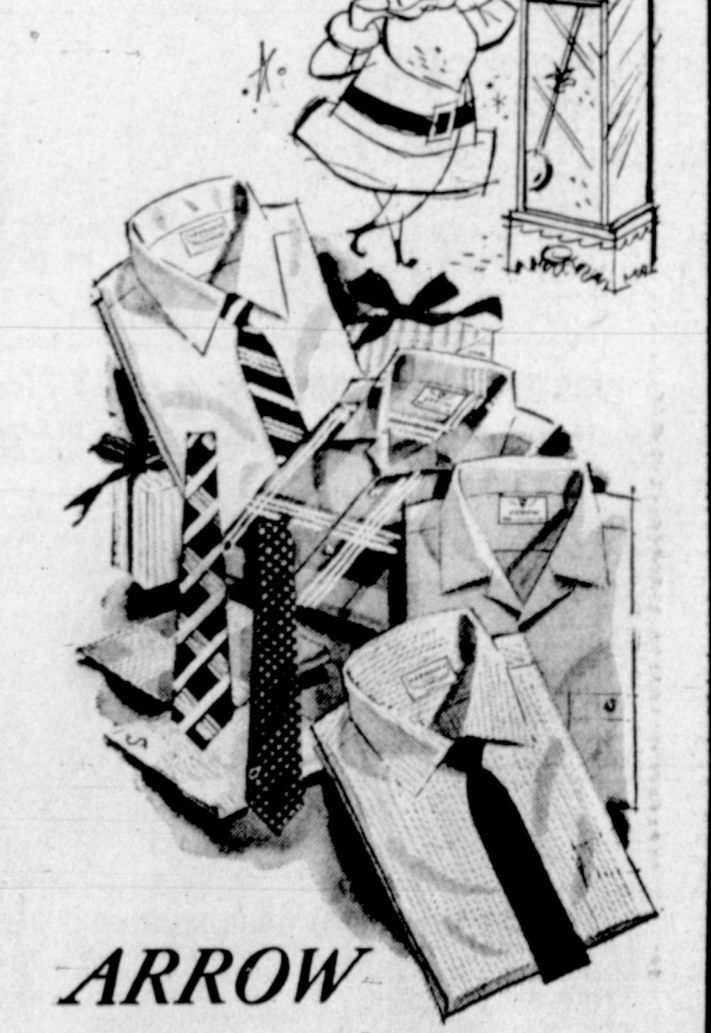

The question remained unanswered as the two teams battled to a 6-6 tie Tuesday in their Orange Bowl preparations. All season long, Oklahoma fans have been debating the merits of each squad and Wilkinson, himself, has refused to say which is the better unit.

Mittmen Take 12 Of 15 Bouts From Wellington

By Raul "Rabbit" Ramirez

The Pampa Optimist Club Boxers came through with a team victory over Wellington last night. The Optimists took 12 bouts of the 15 bouts at the Community Barn.

In the final bout Tommy Richardson, a two time regional champion came through with the only knockout of the evening.

The Citizen's bank and Panhandle Insurance Agency divided the team victories with four each. First National took three and the Pampa News one.

In the opening bout of the evening Donnie Shipp, a new comer to the ring, decided J. C. Saunders in a "lefts and rights" battle.

Claude Baily came through with his first boxing win last year as he defeated Ken Bourd, of the Wellington team.

Baily didn't have any trouble after the first round.

Dickie Powell, a 1954 district champion, TKO'd Willie Thompson. Thompson was unable to answer the final bell as Powell had pounded him with his hard rights. Powell scored with a knock down in the first round.

The Optimist Boxers lost their first bout when James Bunch defeated PIA's John Ironmonger.

Billy Martin, Clovis Shipp and George Richmond came through with the fifth, sixth and seventh wins of the night.

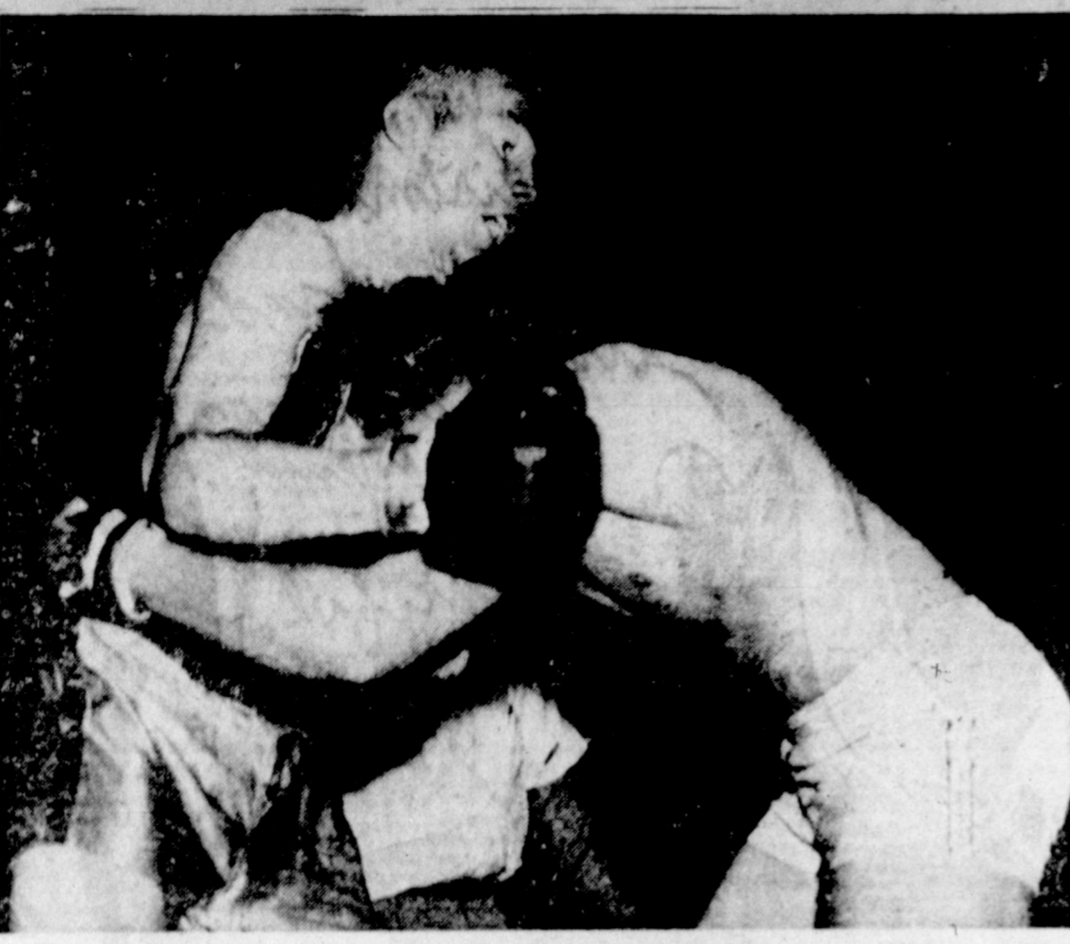

Getting up in the heavy division Pampa's Jim Murray took a well earned decision over Wellington's Bobby Langford. Murray had knocked Langford down in the first round. It was Murray's fifth victory against three defeats.

Vernon Goodwin came through with his third victory of this season without a defeat as he defeated Austin White. Goodwin, a top contender for the district championship, kept throwing straight lefts to the face of White all three rounds.

Gary Wilhelm, a '55 regional champion, came through with a victory as he defeated Wellington's best boxer, Don Hood. Hood has been fighting approximately five years.

Hood came out pretty sharp in the first as he kept Wilhelm against the ropes in the 2nd both boys were still game but Wilhelm's sharp left jabs and good defense earned him the victory.

Charles Snider, another top contender for the district crown, came through and defeated David McCuskill.

Towering Dons Take Second Pampa Win

The Pampa Harvesters and the Gene Arrington, who fouled out late in the last frame.

The Shockers were defeated in the New Palo Duro gym last night as the towering blue and white clad Dons handed them their second straight defeat.

The Harvesters put on a last quarter scoring threat but too late. The Dons won by a 75-55 score. The Shockers fell by only five points as they scored 60 points to the Dons 65.

The Dons top scorer, Gene Arrington, was held to a minimum of points in the first two frames but got loose in the last to rack up 12 of the Dons 35 counters.

Gene Brown, who usually does the Harvester honors counted for 23 points to lead them again. He fell to the floor in the last frame and was groggy for a short time but he was ready to go again. He never left the game.

The only Don that went out was

Newcombe Signs With Brooklyn

BROOKLYN, N.Y. — The Brooklyn Dodgers' fears that signing their new world champions might prove a troublesome task were dissolved Wednesday with the sudden agreement to terms of 20-game winner Don Newcombe.

Newcombe, who shaped up as perhaps the most difficult of the Dodgers to sign, came to terms Tuesday for an estimated $26,000, a raise of about $8,000.

Newcombe, who won 16 straight games to open the season and hit .339 during a spectacular campaign, had a 3.19 earned run average.

The Harvesters trailed all the way but several times came close to catching up with the towering Dons. The score at the end of the first frame was 15-29, at the half 32-40 and at the end of the third 52-62.

Both boys started the first round feeling each other out. In the second round McCuskill took the offense as he kept Snider backing with straight lefts. In the final stanza Snider took over and came out with a one point decision. It was Snider's seventh win with three defeats.

In the final bout Tommy Richardson threw a hard upper cut to the chin of Paul Wilson which knocked him out.

Both boys started the bout slow and easy but Richardson's upper cut ended the fight. Wilson went down for the count. It was Richardson's 33rd victory in three years of boxing.

Sexes Mix It Up In Ring Tonight

The Pampa Shrine Club has on tap two main events and one warm up bout at the Top of Texas Sportsman Club at 8 p.m. tonight.

The first main event is a 2 out of 3 fall one hour time limit, mixed tag team match. Leo "The Lion" Newman and Carol Cook vs. Luis Martinez and Mary Jane Mull.

Carol Cook is 22 years old 5'7" tall weighs 125 pounds has blue eyes, auburn hair and fair complexion. Carol's charm, personality, rare beauty, and ability has made her one of the greatest in the girl wrestling world. Her father before her was a wrestler and has trained her from childhood. Her partner Leo Newman has been appearing in Pampa and needs no introduction. Leo says the way to wrestle is do anything you are big enough to do and Leo says he is pretty and big.

Mary Jane Mull the opposing girl was here last week and won her match over Dot Dotson in a grand style. Mary Jane is a tall blonde weighing 150 and used to be a professional model before taking up wrestling. Her partner, Luis Martinez, is champion of Mexico and is capable of taking care of himself in any company.

The second main event is a rematch between Dory Funk and Roy Heff. Two weeks ago Heff won over Funk with the unwanted assistance of Leo Newman. Heff refused to take his 60 per cent of the purse and instead split the purse with Funk and asked for a rematch.

The warm up is a one fall fifteen minute time limit match between Leo Newman and Luis Martinez. This one should produce some fireworks as there is bad blood between the two.

The fans who want to see these matches better make your reservations at the Modern Pharmacy by calling 4-6858 or go by and pick up your tickets because it looks like a sell out crowd.

Something Wrong

Something is certainly wrong in Washington. When secrets are on the shelf, what does our government do? It approves, one way or another, any device to prevent the American people from learning what those secrets are. At the same instant it approves any device whereby the Communist overlords of Russia can have these same secrets. How illogical and how strange.

The American people, presumably sovereign of the United States, are suspect by their own servants, their government. But the great militant imperialism of international communism is not. The truth of Yalta has only been partly told. We Americans cannot be trusted with the information. Potsdam and Teheran are still among the suspected but furtive bits of intelligence the American people would like to know. Sorry. . . . the high brass in Washington is fearful of what we might conclude if we knew the facts.

Today in Washington, D. C., chains keep the people from the Lincoln Memorial. Armed guards are ready to shoot down any American who dares assay the White House porch without prior approval. But the plotting, conniving Russian government men? They can go anywhere.

Further, our State Department is urging them to GO EVERYWHERE. We can't do enough for them: The freedom of the skies, cameras for picture work, all our military secrets are theirs for the asking!

But let some American stray too close to a military enclosure, intent on peering at some other harmless pleasure, and he can face hours of unfriendly interrogation.

In this same vein, it is noticed how much effort is put into pleasing the Reds. Nothing is too good for them. We spend hundreds of thousands of dollars on conferences, both at and near the summit. We hire hordes of mincing parasites to flutter around the Russian bolsheviks. We smile and we fawn, and our press breaks into poems of praise whenever an enigmatic twitch convulses the lips of the commissars. How we love to please them!

But the American people? They plead and pray and beseech. Individually they are treated scurvily by the same Washington officials. The only way one can preserve his dignity in that city of pre-heated politics is to come as a representative for some pressure group. Then, some effort will be made at civility.

All of which leads us to ask the question, just who do our bureaucrats represent? Which is to say, whom are they trying to please?

If the Russians can be trusted with all our secrets; if we must spend thousands of dollars to please them; if we must make a fuss over them and do everything to make them happy. . . . why not compel them to put up the tax money that makes it all possible?

If the American people are to be suspect; if they are not to be trusted, but must have 30 different classifications on documents just so they can be kept in darkness; if the American people are to be treated as though they were the enemy, then the American people are not paying taxes to support a "friendly" government, but are instead paying tribute to a foreign and despotic power.

It seems that that strange aggregation of men and women who make all manner of laws and rules and regulations for the rest of us, get off on the wrong foot pretty consistently. Certainly they seem to do things exactly opposite from what they should with astonishing consistency.

What would be wrong with trusting the American people and distrusting the agents of a foreign dictatorship up to take over the world?

Christmas Toys Awe Old Fashioned Mac

I went shopping for Christmas toys the other day and instead of making me feel young again, as you might reasonably expect it, the excursion made me feel every day of my age.

It wasn't the sight of hundreds of youngsters crowding the aisles and counters that caused me to feel old. It was the toys that were off asle.

I hadn't covered more than two or three aisles, with my eyes alternately popping at the sizes, complexities and prices of the toys displayed, before I realized that I was really born back in the horse and buggy, pioneer days for sure.

When I was a boy there were standard toys, Christmas in and Christmas out. You could practically name them on the fingers of your two hands. Bicycles. Skates. Baseball bats, balls and mitts. Boxing gloves. Cowboy and Indian suits. Littered wagons, Tricycles and Irish Mills.

The last word in complicated toys in those days were Erector sets and Tinker toys. And they were only given to children who were thought extra bright and capable of handling them.

Of course, there were clothes and books, but no child ever thought them worth a hoot as a present, and whoever gave such gifts to him dropped fifteen notches in his esteem.

Today's child, if shown the toy departments of my day, wouldn't feel that he was in a toy depart-

Essential Definitions Needed
One of the great causes of confusion and animosity and misunderstanding is that individuals use words that are in common use but have about as many different meanings as there are individuals.

One of the ways to get control and enslave other individuals is to use a word that the listener thinks means a different thing than the speaker means by the word. Here are a few words that are in common use that are repeatedly used but are seldom defined.

Probably the word that is used more often than any other word and causes a lot of confusion is the word "liberty" or "freedom."

The words "right" and "wrong" and "justice" are seldom defined. Probably the reason these words are used with different meanings is that our "educators" would not want these words properly understood. They would not want these words to have an absolute eternal meaning. So they do not attempt to define them.

As Voltaire said, "if you would discourse with me, define your terms."

And Lord Kelvin told how one should define his terms. He wrote: "When you can measure what you are speaking about and express it in numbers (principles, axioms), you know something about it; but when you cannot measure it when you cannot express it in numbers, your knowledge is of a meagre and unsatisfactory kind."

And professional "educators" never attempt to define "liberty" or "right" or "wrong" or "justice."

I recently gave a talk to the Freedom Club and attempted to define these words. I want to set forth the definitions I gave in this talk and have the readers see if there are any exceptions to these definitions.

"Liberty" is the absence of the use of aggressive force or fraud or the threats of the use of aggressive force.

"Liberty" is the right to do with respect to others as one hopes they will do to him.

"Liberty" gives every person an equal right to establish values.

"Liberty" gives every person a monopoly on his own life and property — no more, no less.

A true libertarian will accept only that to which all have an access on equal terms. This definition does not mean that a man is free from restraint so that he need not respect the eternal rights of other people. It gives him no right to do anything that would injure any other person.

The definition of "liberty" as I understand it would not permit a libertarian to do anything to himself that would impair his ability to carry out any contract or obligation that he had voluntarily entered into. If he had all his contracts and obligations fulfilled he would then be free or at liberty to impair his health, to loaf, to starve himself to death, or to kill himself by overdosing or by committing suicide. Upderstand this: it is not contending that he should do any of these things but it is only contending that a libertarian could do them if he had all his obligations all fulfilled. He could still be classified as a libertarian.

It seems to me that this interpretation of "liberty" is what our Founding Fathers had in mind when they deduced their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor to support life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

Why Are People So Confused As To The Meaning Of This Word "Liberty"?

It seems to me there is a natural cause for this confusion. Every government school or every business in taxes would not dare define "liberty" as above defined because taxes and public schools are based on the use of aggressive force. Therefore, if they so defined "liberty" they would then be admitting that they did not really believe in liberty; that they believed in some form of aggressive force and fraud or the threats of same.

And an "educational institution" that will not define liberty because they are either violating it or refusing to speak out against the violator of liberty, as do all private colleges that I know of, are ill-qualified to educate the youth of the land.

The columns, of course, are open for more light to be thrown on the true meaning of "liberty."

But now the specter of a possibly triumphant Stevenson in 1956 darkens Williams' vision. If the Chicagoan should win, next year, his assured renomination in 1960 would force the Governor to wait still another four years.

His age would be no bar, for he would then be only 53, but it might be impossible for him to keep himself in the limelight for so long a period. By 1954, he might be just another "forgotten man."

Williams has several alternatives. An unlikely one is that he continue to run for governor for the interim. He may oppose Senator Charles Potter in 1958, although senators are rarely chosen as Presidential candidates. A Vice Presidential nomination with Stevenson in 1956 is out for geographical reasons, since both hail from the Middle West. His best chance appears to be to adopt the role of a dark horse next year, hoping that Stevenson will stumble.

Harriman's pressures result from the fact that he was 64 years old last November 15, and he will be beyond the nominating age in 1960, even if he should be re-elected Governor. He must make his attempt next year, or bow out permanently.

Ike's Illness May Hurt Dems Chances In 1956 Elections

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Although President Eisenhower's illness has panicked Republicans who counted the 1956 election as a White House walk-in with him at the top of the ticket, his possible retirement from the race has precipitated personal and factional and ideological rivalries that may damage the Democrats' chances even against a substitute and less popular GOP nominee.

It has given itching feet and hands to redoubtable opponents of Adlai E. Stevenson, who had fully expected to be renominated on the first ballot at a harmonious convention. Instead, he has been subjected to harsh criticism for his "moderation" proclamation by three ambitious Democrats — Governor Averell Harriman of New York, Governor G. Mennen Williams of Michigan and Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

Although Harriman and Williams refuse to announce their candidacy openly, it is the belief of politicians close to both men that they would not weep. If Stevenson failed to make the grade, Kefauver has already complained that the Democratic leaders in several states, notably California, are stacking the cards for Stevenson and against him.

The uncertainty about Eisenhower's plans has upset Governor Williams' carefully arranged Presidential timetable. Only 44 now, he had planned to step aside next year, permitting Stevenson to wage as the Michigan man a thought, a hopeless battle against Ike. Then Williams would be available in 1960, when the GOP might have worn out its welcome at Washington.

But now the specter of a possibly triumphant Stevenson in 1956 darkens Williams' vision. If the Chicagoan should win, next year, his assured renomination in 1960 would force the Governor to wait still another four years.

His age would be no bar, for he would then be only 53, but it might be impossible for him to keep himself in the limelight for so long a period. By 1954, he might be just another "forgotten man."

The Nation's Press

PARADING THE SKELETON
(Chicago Daily Tribune)

Paul Butler, Democratic national chairman, announces that his and the Republican national committee are working on a joint bipartisan appeal for funds for the 1956 campaign.

The Republicans said that Chairman Leonard Hall had approved the "general idea." Contributors would say which party got their money.

Unless Comrade Khrushchev outdoes himself before New Year's day, we deem this likely to go down as the most asinine proposal of 1955. Much as we esteem the talents of Adlai Stevenson in this direction, we doubt whether he can beat it in the three weeks left to him.

Mr. Butler, in effect, confesses, and Mr. Hall seems to concur in the confession of something that the American public has long suspected but has been loath to believe. This is that there is no essential difference between the two parties.

Otherwise how could Mr. Butler justify beating the drums for contributions to broadcast Republican assertions that Adlai is a nunny, while Mr. Hall is passing the hat to help the Democrats prove that Richard Nixon can't be trusted because he put the finger on Alger Hiss?

Even the normal instinct of self-preservation should warn him of his folly. If we are going to have one campaign fund, jointly raised, the next logical step would be to have only one national chairman and then, of course, only one candidate.

We have come pretty close to that during the last 20 years. While there have been two candidates, there has been no choice of policies.

But it is one thing to trick the voters when they can't do anything about it except stay away from the polls, and quite another to tell them that they have been tricked all along and might as well institutionalize the process.

Fair Enough

Supreme Court Judges Can Do As They Please

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

There was an argument in this saloon whether Bill Douglas of the United States Supreme Court was within his rights in batting about the world, climbing mountains, getting rolled on by his horse and his slats all busted, dancing the little putcher-foot, that is a kind of a quaint folk - number, and singing cow-poke laments through his nose at the Jenkins Dude Ranch in the Arizona desert down near Sasabe, shooting off his big ugly bazoo to the CIO national convention and selling special articles to Look magazine or even the Daily Worker, if it comes to that.

Jimmy Brennan, the bartender (he goes to law school nights, but this was Saturday night), Jimmy said Douglas certainly was within his rights.

Matty Flood, he sells ladies' stockings, wholesale, his wife works in the county recorder's office, Matty said Jimmy was crazy, just a half - taught lawyer, worse than no lawyer at all. They were all arguing this way and that way, one thing and another, when this bald-headed guy at the far end of the bar watching the wrestlers on the TV, said in a firm voice, not quiet but not yelling, either, like the voice of a guy who knows his stuff: "Douglas can do anything legal that he wants to do except practice law."

"He can't practice law but he can tend bar, he can hire out as a comedian like Joe E. Lewis, or he can yowl and howl and squawk like that belly-acher, Johnny Ray. He can give imitations of Christine Jorgensen, he can handle fighters in the ring or he can run for Congress or dog-catcher. He can get him a radio program in some all night hamburger joint and blast the ears off Eisenhower, Truman, Frankfurter or anyone else. He can have Paul Robeson for guest artist."

Matty Flood said: "Yes? says who?"

The bald-headed guy said: "Says me. Do you know who I am? Here is who I am," and he flipped his card on the bar, Matty Flood read it out loud. It said the name was Chief Justice of the United States Court for this district.

"How do I know you are who it says on the card?" Matty said.

"Well," the guy said, "if you ever get rapped in front of me you will dam well find out I am who it says. I just gave a bum twelve for armed robbery at a bank. That is the kind of a guy I am. The District Attorney said 'ten.' But I said: Ten isn't enough. The bum was loaded with marijuana. The next time he might blow holes in a lot of people. You heard me, I said 'twelve' and that goes. Take the ugly bum out of here."

Matty said, "Okay, suppose you are the Chief-Justice, do you mean to say Douglas can start a saloon on Third Avenue with his name in big lights outside, 'The Supreme Court Saloon, King's Size Martinis and Manhattan, 75 cents, Television, Justice Bill Douglas Proprietor' with the seal of the Supreme Court on the window?"

"He sure as hell can," the bald-headed guy said. "He can do anything legal except practice law. He can't crack a safe or fence any hot merchandise because that is contrary to law. But he can holler his head off about cases before the court, he can give imitations of old wienie and he can call Warren a big dumb Swede blubber-eater and nobody can stop him. And they have to pay his salary every payday until he dies."

Jimmy Brennan said, "That's for me. I want to be a Supreme Court Justice."

The half-headed guy said: "It doesn't have to be Supreme Court. It can be District Court, Tax Court, Commerce Court or any State Court, like Surrogate or Oyer and Terminer or County or Circuit. The rules are the same for all of them."

Matty Flood said, "gee, why that is awful. I thought they was supposed to keep dignity."

The bald-headed guy said: "Where would those kind of characters pick up dignity? Politicians and easy-riders all their life. You ought to hear a roomful of Judges in a conference."

"Like a bunch of bums in a padded wagon. Do you know what we wear under those black robes? Undershirts and suspenders."

Jimmy Brennan said, "It beats me how Douglas gets all that time to go whipping around Asia and all those places. When does he work?"

The guy said, "I don't know, but he don't have to work at all. When you are on the Supreme Court all they can do is go on for is misconduct. It isn't misconduct to do no work. The other bums have to do your work for you. They may blast you if they get a snootful and meet you at some gridiron dinner or Perle Mesta's, but you can pop them on the nose if they get too noisy and annoy you. you don't have to ever work a lick. You don't have to even go to the office. That is all there is to it."

The guy picked up his change and went out.

Matty Flood looked sadly down at the floor.

"Well what do you know?" he said. "And we always thought of the Supreme Court alums like you think of God. Them bums!"

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR P. JORDAN, M. D.

According to an article in one of the leading medical journals not long ago, "accidents have become the leading cause of death among children over one year of age. . . . One of the commonest, though not most fatal, types of poisoning among young children is caused by the consumption of petroleum oils, principally kerosene."

The bulletin of a large life insurance company says that about 6,000 deaths occur each year in the United States alone from accidents among children between the ages of 5 and 14. "Accident prevention," the bulletin goes on "constitutes the broadest single area for life conservation among children of elementary school age."

Among children from 1 to 4 years of age about 5,500 deaths or 1/4 of all those which occur in children of these ages in the United States and Canada, happen each year as the results of accidents of one kind or another. The picture is really appalling since most accidents in small children could be prevented and we should guard these tots more carefully against the dangers of accidental death or severe injury.

One particularly heart-rending type of injury to small children is that which results when they get hold of some poison in a bottle in the medicine cabinet or elsewhere and try to drink it. If poisonous liquids, including kerosene, or solas MUST be kept around the house they should always be placed beyond the possible reach of the curious youngster.

IF A CHILD does swallow poison, vomiting should be brought about at once by placing the finger down the child's throat (this with the exception of lye or kerosene poisoning). Naturally, the poison bottle should be kept so that the doctor will know what the child has taken and professional advice should be obtained at once.

Most accidents to children — about 1/2 of the total — are the results of motor vehicle accidents and this is half as bad again in Canada as in the United States. Deaths from burns of various origins, from drowning, from accidental swallowing of poisons and from other usually avoidable mishaps are also too common among these toddlers. The greatest possibility in caring for motor vehicles especially if small children are around is obviously needed.

THE MOST EFFECTIVE method to avoid burns is to keep fire or fire-making equipment entirely away from small children. If the clothing of a child actually does catch fire the fire should be smothered at once by wrapping the child in a rug or blanket. Another important preventive measure is to keep hot pots and pans on the stove out of the reach of the hands of small youngsters.

PROVIDENCE, R. I. — UP— Judge Eugene L. Jalbert has a suggestion for doctors. After trying unsuccessfully to decipher a medical excuse written by a doctor for a potential witness, he commented: "—think doctors ought to be compelled to use a typewriting machine for everything."

Freight Train Derailed

BLAIRSDEN, Calif. —UP—The Pacific Coast, a 90-car Western Pacific freight train with a four-unit diesel locomotive hit a rock 1,000 feet east of Blairdsden early Monday, derailing the locomotive and 18 cars. A Western Pacific spokesman said no one was injured.

Let's Go Shopping

One of these days I must go shopping. I am completely out of self-respect. I want to exchange the self-righteousness which plagues the other day for some humiliation which they say is less expensive and wears longer. I want to look at some tolerance which is being used for wraps this season. Someone showed me some pretty samples of peace. We are a little low on that and one can never have too much of it. And by the way, I must try to match some patience that my neighbor wears. It is very becoming to her and I think it might look well on me. I might try that little garment of long-suffering they are displaying. I never thought I would wear it but I feel myself coming to it. Also I must not forget to have my sense of appreciation mended and look around for some inexpensive everyday goodness. It is surprising how quickly one's stock of goodness is depleted.

Baghdad Alliance Another Of Many Troubles For Arabs

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Foreign Analyst

Young King Hussein's trouble over his desire to take Jordan into the Baghdad Alliance is just another of the crises that have long beset the Arab countries.

Eight Arab nations are supposed to be united in the Arab League.

When that alliance was formed March 22, 1945, it seemed to be a step toward the years-long dream of Pan-Arabism, which would unite 50 million people.

Actually the Arab countries are torn by rivalries which have prevented any real co-operation.

The Arab League members are Egypt, Saudi Arabia, Iraq, Syria, Lebanon, Jordan, Yemen and Libya.

Both Egypt and Saudi Arabia would like to be dominant in the Arab world.

A Feud Inherited

King Saud of Saudi Arabia has inherited from his father, Ibn Saud, a feud with Jordan and Iraq. Saud, like his father, is bitterly opposed to a recurrent proposal for a "greater Syria" which would unite the blood-related royal houses of Jordan and Iraq with Syria.

Syria wants no part of any such union.

Lebanon, though a member of the Arab League, does not want to be dominated by it and especially it does not want to be drawn into a war with Israel.

The so-called Baghdad Pact was a punishing blow to Arab unity, if not to Arab independence.

This treaty for Middle Eastern defense against Communist agreement was signed Feb. 26 last between Turkey and Iraq.

Egypt and Saudi Arabia were bitterly angry over this development. It hit at their own ambition for Arab leadership and it put Turkey, the most powerful of Middle Eastern nations, into an influential position.

Since then Pakistan, Iran and Great Britain have joined the alliance and the United States has associated itself with it.

Now Jordan is involved in a serious internal crisis because King Hussein wants his country to enter it.

In doing that, Hussein would be following the lead of his cousin King Faisal of Iraq.

From English Schools

"Anti-colonialists" might suspect that Britain has played a part in this situation.

Both Hussein and Faisal attended Harrow, the famous English "public" school which means it is highly private—that numbers Winston Churchill among its more illustrious pupils.

Iraq has long been allied with Britain and Jordan's Arab Legion, the most powerful fighting force in the Arab world, is commanded by British Gen. Glubb Pasha, who is John Bagot Glubb. He has been in Jordan since 1926, after fighting there in World War I, and assumed command of the legion in 1929.

As it happens, the Baghdad pact has become the strong alliance which the Arab League was supposed to be.

UNIFORMLY NEAT—This is the new uniform the nation's letter carriers will be wearing next year. Styling was designed for greater functional efficiency. Shirts will be blue instead of gray, and ties will be maroon instead of black. Trim will also be maroon. Shoulder insignia is designed from the official Post Office Department insignia.

Italian Movie Will Feature Swanson As Nero's Mother

By GLORIA SWANSON
Written for United Press

ROME — "My Son Nero," the Italian movie in which I play Nero's mama (Agrippina), has at last got under way.

To say that I am the most bewildered person in Rome is an understatement. It is my first Italian film and it is in color and Cinemascope — an all-round new experience for me.

Nero is played by Alberto Sordi (A young Italian Bob Hope, so I am told). Poppea, Nero's "girl friend," by the French actress Brigitte Bardot, and Seneca, the philosopher, by Vittorio de Sica of Directorial as well as acting fame.

One Word Is 'Patience'

"Steno" (Stefano Vanzina, our director, is a pint-sized man with, I imagine, the patience of Job. He knows only a few words of English and the most used word in his vocabulary is "patience." I can now understand why he and other Italian movie-makers so often use this word on Americans working over here.

In the American film industry, schedules are made to be adhered to, as well as working, sleeping and eating hour. And a script which has taken months to write is a sacred document not to be tampered with by every Tom, Dick and Harry.

Here they have a casual, or let us call it Latin, approach to all these things. In fact, I don't think they deeply worry about anything and, as a consequence, ulcers which head the list of Hollywood maladies, are all here.

I wrote an article about Italians all taking off from 1 to 4 p.m. for siestas. I should have added that this does not apply to the movie industry. The first day I worked until midnight. The cook didn't seem the least surprised or "long-faced." The following morning it was I who was long-faced because I was awakened at 6:30 after only four and one-half hours sleep.

A Heary-Eyed Mother

I had to be ready to face the cameras again at 9:30 a.m. (If Nero's mama looks bleary-eyed and dug-up, you'll know why). Neither Nero nor Poppea speaks English. Nero speaks Italian, Poppea French and I English. So none of us knows what the other is saying.

You can just imagine the problems this presents to the actors. And even more strange is the fact that the Italian actors are inclined to ad lib, making up their own dialogue as they go along!

All in all, Nero's American mother is having a heck of a time holding her own but it's fun! And I love them.
