New Inquiry Into Taylor Death Case?

Mary Miles Minter, Sister And Mother Before Grand Jury

LOS ANGELES, May 7 (AP)—The district attorney's office, studying evidence obtained by the grand jury, was considering today the possibility of another inquiry into Hollywood's darkest death mystery—the shooting, 15 years ago, of Director William Desmond Taylor.

A voluminous new chapter was added to the file.

It was the testimony of Mary Miles Minter, 35-year-old ex-film star, who was Taylor's sweetheart; Mrs. Margaret Fillmore, her sister, and Mrs. Charlotte Shelby, her mother.

The full content of their statements was unknown, since the session was secret. But District Attorney Fulton Fitts did say Mrs. Fillmore had introduced a new name into the case. He said Mrs. Fillmore testified that James Kirkwood, one-time screen hero, had been in love with Miss Minter.

He said he might ask Kirkwood who is in Grand Rapids, Mich., for a statement. "But it would have to be a voluntary statement. There isn't anything to warrant bringing him here."

Two of Miss Minter's daughters one of which, she said, recorded her "emotions and sensations" after Taylor was slain, also were brought before the grand jury.

Fitts said they were of "utterly no value in this case."

A statement by Mrs. Fillmore about the divorce and another statement about her mother that attracted the sudden resumption of interest in the case.

GIANT OUTFIELDER SUFFERS CONCUSSION

SOIL CONSERVATION MEASURE IS PASSED BY TEXAS SENATE

AUSTIN, May 7 (AP)—The senate finally passed a bill today intended to conserve Texas soil. The house previously had approved a bill on the same subject, and a composite measure will be worked out in a conference committee.

Features of the senate bill included: A conservation district could be formed of a county by selection of the tax-paying voters, and directing boards would be provided for counties, six state districts and the state as a whole.

FORD TO FIGHT PROFITS TAX, SAYS HIS FIRM IS THE TARGET

DETROIT, May 7 (AP)—Henry Ford, who steadfastly opposed the NIRA to the day it was declared unconstitutional, said today he also would oppose the federal tax on undistributed profits.

He described it, in an interview, as "ramshackle legislation," enacted by "politicians who are parrots for the international financiers."

The Ford Motor company, he declared, is the "target."

"The real purpose is to tax the independents, large and small, out of existence," he said. "The financiers want to drive every independent business man to borrow money, to make American business pay continual tribute to the money lenders."

He spoke approvingly of a "changed attitude" he noted in congress toward that and similar matters.

"Congress did not concoct this ramshackle legislation, although it passed it," he declared.

"If we knew where the money is going, if we knew it was doing anything to lift the national level, that would be different. But the spots where things are not getting any better are the spots where they say the money is going."

"If the government took every cent of Ford profits and used the money to raise the standards of the people, I'd take my hat off to them. That is what we have been crying to do for thirty years. They are not doing it."

AAA Refunds New Problem

Govt. Outgo May Be Boosted By Many More Millions

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP)—Officials interested in budget-balancing saw new difficulties today in the possibility of increased refunds of taxes collected under the unconstitutional agricultural adjustment act.

They said a bill urged by Rep. Cullen (D-NY) might add millions more than anticipated to the government's expenses for paying back illegal AAA levies against processors.

The deadline for taxpayers to make claims is June 30. Treasury experts have estimated that less than 10 per cent of the billion dollars collected under the farm law would be returned.

Cullen asked a hearing, however, for a bill to extend the time for filing claims until Dec. 31.

Man Is Killed Under Engine

Seek To Identify Body Of Victim; Personal Effects Destroyed

Efforts to identify the body of a middle aged man, found badly mangled beneath a Texas Pacific switch engine on a siding near Rannels and W. 1st here Thursday evening, had been unavailing up to noon Friday.

Justice of Peace Joe Faucett, investigating the case, said that personal effects of the victim had been shredded and destroyed by the apparent dragging of the body beneath the train. He secured finger prints from a left hand off the body in an effort to effect identification through Washington. Fingers of the right hand had been severed, mutilated and mashed.

The body was discovered by Sam Johnson, brakeman, as he prepared to mount the front of the engine. Officers said that Johnson noticed the mangled newspaper and then sighted the body beneath the train.

Faucett said that a young transient, whose name was not learned, related that he had been with the man shortly before the mishap. According to him, the victim had been drinking heavily and had been ejected from a cafe. He said that he last saw the man near the siding adjacent to the Radford Wholesale grocery, drinking.

The justice of peace said that report the man had escaped from an Arizona institution would be investigated.

Evidence Friday morning indicated that the man had been here for several days, hanging around the "jungles" in the railroad yards.

TOWNSENDITES HERE MAY TEST THEORY

John Baker, president of the local Townsend club, disclosed Friday that plans are being considered to "put some person on the $200 a month Townsend plan in Big Spring in the late summer or early fall" as an experiment to demonstrate the practicability of the plan.

He announced a meeting of the club for May 9 in the lodge quarters. The Townsend weekly newspaper will be exhibited and membership cards will be available for those who wish to join the movement. The meeting is to be held in the county court room at 2 p. m.

Disaster A Setback To US Dirigibles

Nation Already Has Lost Enthusiasm For That Type Construction

EXPLOSION WILL BE STUDIED THOROUGHLY

Advantages Of Non-Explosive Helium Gas Again Pointed Out

WASHINGTON, May 7 (AP)—Leaders concerned with military policy in congress expressed almost united belief today that the Hindenburg disaster would crystallize sentiment against building more government dirigibles.

Although Secretary Swanson has enunciated no definite naval policy, there has been virtually no talk of new airship construction since the Macon crashed in 1935.

Before boarding a plane for Lakehurst, Rear Admiral A. B. Cook—chief of naval aeronautics—said Germany's loss taught no new lesson but only emphasized the advantages of non-explosive helium over the hydrogen gas which the Hindenburg used.

The German ambassador, Dr. Hans Luther, flew to the disaster scene last night after appealing for the public not to lose faith in lighter-than-air craft.

Through Study Secretary Hull called the government's sympathy to Baron Kanstantin Von Neurath, German foreign minister.

Expressions at the capitol indicated the explosion would be studied from every angle. Senator Copeland (D-NY), whose committee on air safety has dealt primarily with heavier-than-air craft, asked Col. Harold E. Hartney of the investigating staff for a complete report.

Secretary Roper dispatched Major R. W. Schroeder, assistant director of the bureau of air commerce, to Lakehurst as an observer.

Pending the results of the inquiries, officials withheld comment on the possible effects on plans for American participation in trans-Atlantic air service.

Trans-Atlantic Service? Congress recently provided funds to promote oceanic airplane service in carrying the mails. No action ever has been taken, however, on the recommendation by President Roosevelt's aviation commission three years ago for a $17,000,000 appropriation to start trans-Atlantic airship service.

Admiral Cook, a believer in helium for dirigibles, pointed out that the three American craft apparently were "lost because of structural failures."

Chairman Walsh (D-Mass) of the senate naval committee said the Hindenburg accident showed the soundness of "relinquishing from further ventures into the experimental field of lighter-than-air craft."

Both he and Chairman Sheppard (D-Tex) of the senate military committee predicted it meant a setback for dirigible construction. Sheppard and other said use of helium might have averted the tragedy.

Exports of the gas, produced in Texas, ordinarily are forbidden. After the navy's dirigible Macon was destroyed in 1935, President Roosevelt indicated exports might be allowed for scientific and experimental use.

ANARCHIST REVOLT REPORTED SPREADING

McCOLL, S. C., May 7 (AP)—P. A. Frontier, May 7 (AP)—The anarchist revolt against the Catalan government spread today from Barcelona to towns and villages outside the regional capital.

The anarchists, border advisers said, seized the town of Figueras with the aid of soldiers garrisoned at San Fernando fortress.

Public officials were ousted there and at Gerone by militant anarchists protesting against what they consider too conservative an administration by the autonomous Catalan regime, allied with the Madrid-Valencia government.

ABSTON CONVICTED, ASSESSED 50 YEARS

CLAIREMONT, May 7 (AP)—Clarence (Pony) Abstons was found guilty of murder and given fifty years in the penitentiary for the barbers home slaying of Miss Rebecca Coursey, aged Haakell county woman, by a jury in 39th district court here this morning.

Abstons was tried first at Haskell for Miss Coursey's death. A death penalty assessed there was reversed. C. Matur, also tried for the crime, is under sentence of death. He testified for the state in the trial here.

Nazis Wonder On Sabotage Possibility

Commission Will Hasten To U. S. To Inquire Into Disaster

NATION IS PLUNGED INTO PROFOUND GRIEF

Will Continue, However, With Lighter-Than-Air Navigation

BERLIN, May 7 (AP)—A shocked and tearful German nation summoned an official commission today for a quick trip of investigation overseas to fix the cause of the tragic Hindenburg disaster, yet rallied amid the deepest mourning to follow "the same path" of aerial trail-making.

The Nazi air ministry called an early afternoon conference of officials of the Zeppelin Construction company, the Zeppelin Airlines, and the German Institute of Aeronautical Research to decide the personnel of the commission that will speed by plane and liner to Lakehurst.

The German people, from Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler and Dr. Hugo Eckener down to the poorest workman in the stunned and tearful knots that gathered in the streets, were plunged into profound and amazed grief.

Some at Frankfurt-On-Main, the zeppelin's home city, stood beneath half-stuffed bags to wonder of "sabotage."

"What else could it be?" they asked.

There was no official expression of such suspicion.

So great was Germany's wonder that "our pride" had burned and fallen with a loss of 24 lives that few were willing to hazard a definite guess as to the cause. There was some speculation that a "static spark" in the dirigible's metal structure had ignited the gas.

As early as Nov. 10, 1930, Dr. Eckener gave the Associated Press an interview in which he expressed the belief that the British R-101 accident had proved the necessity of helium gas. The United States has a virtual monopoly on that gas.

Riding with Mr. McNutt was Walter Dodd, also of Tyler, who received minor injuries.

He is survived by his widow and two daughters who attend college at Denton, Texas. His body was sent overland to Tyler for funeral services.

BIG LINER CHARRED WRECK AFTER EXPLOSION AND FIRE

68 Survive Stunning Catastrophe At Lakehurst, Some Of These Seriously Injured; 'What Was The Matter?' Is General Question As Investigation Launched

LAKEHURST, N. J., May 7 (AP)—The flaming destruction of the once-seemingly impregnable dirigible Hindenburg brought swift action today by the American and German governments to determine the cause of the disaster.

Thirty persons were known dead or missing.

Of the 97 passengers and members of the crew aboard when the greatest of all airships exploded, burst into flames and crashed to earth last night—just as it was lowering to the mooring mast, and only 200 feet above the ground—68 persons survived. One of those killed was a spectator, burned to death in the falling, fiery debris.

The ruins of the luxurious liner of the sky lay crumpled on the landing field at the naval air station—a junk heap of black metal, a mass of ghastly, grisly framework.

On the lips of everyone was the question—what caused the crash, what was the matter? Twenty times had the Hindenburg crossed the north Atlantic safely.

At Washington officials and Dr. Hans Luther, the German ambassador, opened inquiries, three possible causes—all, however, relating to the highly inflammable hydrogen used in the German zeppelins—were outlined by the ship's designer and pilot of numerous voyages, Dr. Hugo Eckener.

"I should say that if this disaster was caused by sabotage," said Dr. Eckener, who was in Austria on a speaking trip, "only the firing of a burning bullet into the bags x x x could have accomplished it. That seems highly unlikely."

From this distance and on the basis of incomplete information, Dr. Eckener set forth these possibilities:

"1. When the ship is lowered, some hydrogen usually is released. This free hydrogen in the air might have been sufficiently concentrated to be ignited by lightning or a spark.

"2. When landing the water ballast is released from the tanks. A stream of water, connecting with the earth, might have served as an electrical conductor to bring up a spark from the ground.

"3. Someone aboard may have made a fire, a spark possibly from a cigarette lighter. I regard this also as unlikely, for the conduct of passengers and crew is watched carefully."

Smoking on the Hindenburg was allowed only in a spark-proof compartment.

Commander Charles E. Rosenthal, commandant at the naval station, said the fire originated at or near the stern of the ship about 6:25 p. m. (EST).

In his report to the navy department, the commandant, a veteran in lighter-than-air service, said:

"About four minutes after the hopes had been dropped a fire appeared in the after part of the ship and worked progressively forward. The ship settled to the ground tall first and was practically completely ablaze for her entire length by the time the ground was reached. x x x Fred D. Fagg, director of the federal Bureau of air commerce, was on hand preparing for the government's inquiry. Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper appointed a board of inquiry to hold public hearings. The secretary said they would probably begin during the afternoon and not later than tomorrow morning.

A naval inquiry was regarded as a certainty, since the dirigible crashed on a naval reservation. The identification of dead was difficult. The ship's manifest was destroyed in the holocaust. Zeppelin officials were in frequent communication with Germany, checking last minute changes in the passenger list. Reservations had been made for 39 persons, but company officials said only 36 were aboard, and 61 members of the crew.

Reservation Barred To All, Troops Guard Wreckage

All bodies recovered from the twisted, fire-warped skeleton were brought to an improvised morgue in the hangar which was closely guarded. All but officials of the line and navy officers were barred entrance; the entire naval reservation barred to everyone except officials and newspapermen.

United States troops guarded the ash-strewn ruins of the airship—the first of the Zeppelins to carry a commercial passenger to death.

With Dr. Eckener saying sabotage could not be entirely eliminated as a possible cause, Senator Copeland, chairman of the committee on commerce, said one of the purposes of the government's inquiry was to determine if sabotage brought the disaster.

"There are two things that I want to know," he told reporters in Washington.

"I want to know if there was any sabotage connected with the disaster, and I want to know the type of material connected with the interior construction of the dirigible."

Many of the survivors—some of whom jumped from the lines as it fell to earth, others who were catapulted to safety in the impact and even some who staggered out of the inferno alive—were in dangerous condition in hospitals near the air station.

Captain Max Pruss, who was commanding the Hindenburg for the first time, was one of those in a critical condition.

Captain Ernest A. Lehman, whom Pruss succeeded and who was on the ship in an advisory capacity, also was in a very serious condition.

Scores of spectators witnessed the sudden, shocking tragedy. One instant, they waved greetings up to passengers standing in the windows of the observation compartment.

Then, in a flash, a cannoning explosion jarred the huge cigar-shaped craft, a streak of flame lashed out, and the Hindenburg plummeted clumsily to earth.

Tiny black objects—bodies hurled from the flaming craft. On the ground, women spectators screamed and covered their eyes in horror.

In the span of seconds before flames enveloped the silver fabric of the world's largest dirigible, some of the passengers and crew jumped, crawled or were hurled clear of the falling ship.

Three minutes later—explosion. The ship settled to earth, its bag now a solid mass of flame, its terrified, bewildered occupants shrieking.

"The stories of the tragedy were all the same."

"A blinding flash," said Herbert O'Laughlin of Chicago, a survivor. "A noise that sounded like bullets coming out of the gondolas," said Robert Seelig, a photographer on the ground. "I saw the ship just sit down and the flames go through it."

The disaster, writing a fiery finale to the Hindenburg's 135,000 miles of safe transit across the Atlantic, was the first major wreck to involve a lighter-than-air ship.

'FLOOD-LIGHT ON EUROPE: A GUIDE TO THE NEXT WAR'

by Felix Wittmer; (Scribner's, $3.75).

Here is a shrewd, good-humored and evenly balanced book on the situation in Europe today, as it seems likely to affect the situation tomorrow. It is by Felix Wittmer, a Swiss-born internationalist, present lecturer on European affairs at a certain American college. And it is called "Flood-light on Europe."

The book is a synthesis. It is not a windy, superficial study of political trends at all, but a study of each European country which combines (as such studies certainly should) a glance at history, at economics, at politics, and an estimate of what may be expected when another war comes along. It will come along, Mr. Wittmer thinks, although he is not sure it will arrive this year.

The Spanish and the German situations are, it seems to this writer, handled superbly. We have grown so used to having Hitler's Germany switched around the ankles by "exiled" writers, and to wild estimates of Germany's activities, resources, and whatnot, that a realistic view of Germany's position today is quite impossible for us. But it is possible for Mr. Wittmer. He is not at all concerned with lashing, but only with performance. Hitler emerges from Mr. Wittmer's treatment a far more significant figure than the world has been allowed to see, so far, and many of Germany's policies take on continuity and point. It would be a good thing to read Wittmer on Germany.

This same realistic viewpoint makes Spain and her present agony understandable, and France and Italy as well. Indeed, this readjustment is so general, and sometimes so subtle, that even general illustrations do not do it justice. Possibly it is Mr. Wittmer's Swiss birth that makes his Olympian impartiality possible; perhaps it is that, too, which enables him to hold back from prediction, and to realize that the words fascist, communist and so on do not imply a standard behavior. Mr. Wittmer has not lost sight of the fact that fascists, for example, are first human beings.

Brides Should Name Preference In Gifts For Bridal Showers

The wise bride-to-be will make up her mind about color schemes and silver and china patterns almost as soon as she makes up her mind to say yes.

For the minute she announces her engagement her friends will begin making plans for showers. And if she doesn't have some sort of heterogeneous collection of lime green and Aztec Red bathroom accessories and kitchen utensils of every color in the culinary spectrum.

Consult Bride's Mother It is not only proper but wise for friends to ask either the bride herself or her mother about color and pattern preference. They, in turn, may be referred to the local department stores and specialty shops.

The bride's immediate family, however, should not give showers in her honor. They may bear the expenses of showers given in homes of friends. But it is in better taste for others actually to give the showers, since gifts are expected.

Guests invited to attend such functions, of course, should be good friends of the bride. If an old friend of the bride wishes to entertain for her in a community in which she is not well known, it is best to give a tea or buffet supper or some other function which does not require gifts.

Men Join Group Later Because of the personal nature of the gifts presented in many cases, it has become customary for women only to be invited to showers. But husbands and masculine friends may be asked to join the group after the shower is over. This is often true of evening parties.

Sometimes the group which plans the shower will stipulate the maximum amount to be spent on the gift—especially when all the money is to be spent on one gift. Such arrangements are not wise unless all those invited to attend are very close friends and there is no possibility of overstepping financial limits in individual cases. For such limitations may make it impossible for some guests to attend—something the bride would regret very much if she knew about it.

Sometimes, too, those who attend showers are under the impression that gifts presented then are the substitute for wedding gifts. Gifts at either or both affairs, however, should bring or send gifts for each.

Two Entertain Rook Club Members At J. B. Pickle Home As a return favor to members of the Rook club Mrs. J. B. Pickle and Mrs. H. F. Williamson entertained at the Pickle home Thursday afternoon for the women in whose homes they have been guests upon several occasions.

Rain Or Sand-- Club Women To Serve Dinner

"Hit won't make any difference" if it's raining or sanding Sunday afternoon, members of the Women's Golf association will serve dinner at the country club house beginning at 5:30 o'clock.

It's to be another of those clever informal parties similar to the one held two weeks ago when more than 100 men, women and children gathered at the club house to dine.

The association plans to have such affairs once a month and invites the public to attend. Proceeds thus far will be used to finance the annual women's tournament in June for which qualifying is now under way by members.

'Three Mesquiteers' In New Adventure Picture At Queen

The "Three Mesquiteers," gentlemen of wide fame among the "Boss opera" devotees, are due at the Queen theatre Friday and Saturday. The picture "Gunsmoke Ranch" is the latest outlet for their talents, and it offers, in full flavor, all the elements of the first class western picture.

The three, Bob Livingston, Ray Corrigan and Max Terhune by name, appear as the Don Juans of the cattle country, who save a settlement of panic-stricken flood refugees from being taken in by the tactics of one Phineas Flagg, villain deluxe.

Julia Thayer takes the role of Marian Warren, who divides her affections between the Three Mesquiteers, keeping them in doubt up to the last as to who has won her favor. Sammy McKim, as her kid brother, is said to be a new contender for juvenile fame. The two of them appeal to the Mesquiteers when their grandfather, a kindly old preacher, is kidnapped by a gang of bad men and held for ransom in the form of a cancelled deed. Flagg's heavies, knowing the land they have sold to the settlers for a small down payment, is soon to be condemned, plan to demand payment for "improved" land from the government, but the Mesquiteers have queered their plans by providing the funds for one settler to pay for his land in full. Although this deed is cancelled and returned to them as ransom for Warren, the old man is cruelly murdered, and the means by which the Three Mesquiteers bring his killers to justice form diverting entertainment.

LONDON SCHOOL TO RE-OPEN ON MONDAY

NEW LONDON, May 7 (Sp.)—W. Reagan, chairman of the New London school board, said at a board meeting last night that the school would re-open Monday.

Reagan and W. C. Shaw, superintendent, returned yesterday from Austin where they conferred with officials in the state department of education. They declined to comment on their mission in Austin.

It was said unofficially that Shaw would remain as superintendent. Authoritative sources said a petition for his removal was submitted to the board recently. The school has been closed for a week pending what school authorities termed "re-adjustments."

Given To 360 Coahoma Students Tuberculin Skin Tests To Be

COAHOMA, May 7—Members of the Parent-Teacher association of the Coahoma schools favored giving tuberculin skin tests to the 360 pupils in the Coahoma schools, when they met in regular session Thursday evening in the school auditorium.

Members of the PTA, with the cooperation of Supt. George Boswell and members of his faculty will launch the health campaign, and get things in readiness, so that the skin test can be given before the close of school.

Dr. Frank Boyle and Mrs. C. W. Dickerson of Big Spring, members of the Howard County Tuberculosis association, attended the meeting and explained to the parents why the tuberculin skin test is a simple, harmless, and practically painless test that shows whether or not the germs of tuberculosis have invaded the body of the pupil.

In case the tuberculin test shows evidence of infection, the person should be taken to his family doctor, or the doctor of his choice for an X-Ray and chest examination. When the skin test is negative, nothing further will be done.

"It is worth much for a parent to know that his child is negative, that he is free of tuberculosis, and that is where the tuberculin skin test is worth most," Dr. Boyle stated.

The test will be given free of charge, by the Howard County Tuberculosis association, with the cooperation of Big Spring doctors. They will come to Coahoma to give the tests, and will report the results of each child's test and give recommendations. If a child shows positive, the parents will take him to the doctor of his choice for X-Ray and chest examination.

Boswell told members of the PTA that he has asked for the T.B. skin test for pupils of his school. He considers it a safety measure to protect the home, to protect neighbors, to protect the public health of the community, and urged the cooperation of the parents, the teachers, and the pupils in putting on this health program in the Coahoma schools.

Installation ceremonies for new officers in the Coahoma PTA followed the talks on tuberculin skin tests. Mrs. Hayes Stripling installed the new officers.

Mrs. Adams, retiring president, gave a brief review of the work done by the Coahoma PTA this year, and they have done many worthwhile things for their school, and raised over $500 to buy playground equipment and other things.

CROCKETT FUGITIVES STEAL A NEW AUTO

CROCKETT, May 7 (Sp.)—Bee Rains and Thelmer "Red" Banks, who shot their way out of the Houston county jail yesterday morning, are believed by officers to have come back to town last night, taken a new car, and sped away.

Deputy Sheriff Bill P. Carr, who was wounded in the jail fight, and whose car was taken by the fugitives, said his car was recovered this morning. A photograph window at the Crockett jail company was broken and a new automobile was missing.

Parole and residents on the outskirts of Crockett said the new car headed northward this morning and their description of the occupants tallied with that of the fugitives. Failing thought the fugitives might be heading for Dallas.

ROLLED, TOSSED WITH GAS PAINS!

Stomach Pains At Night Almost Unbearable, But Van-Tage Relieved!

Many druggists in this section say they never saw anything like the way Reliable People praise Van-Tage Tablets in the Amazing New Medicine which is being sold in Great Quantities here in Big Spring. Recently Mrs. A. B. Shepherd, of Three-D Stock Farm, Arlington, Tex., endorsed it.

"No matter Mrs. Shepherd, what I ate, even a drink of pure water, would fill me up with gas until I could hardly breathe, and make me have terrible pains in my stomach. I couldn't even keep a drink of water on my stomach. It seemed like it was impossible for me to get a good night's rest, for I was so nervous and full of gas pains that I just rolled and tossed from one side of the bed to the other. My kidneys also broke up my rest, too, as they were so sluggish that I had to get up three or four times every night. I read about Van-Tage and got it. The very first dose seemed to go right to work on me, and now I am not in misery with gas and I feel like an entirely different person and can hardly believe it."

VAN-TAGE helps invigorate bowel, stomach and kidney action. Its 21 Great Herbs and Other Splendid Medicinal Agents (over 30 ingredients in all) have a surprising effect on suffering people. Due to the immense volume in which it sells, Van-Tage is NOT expensive, so get it—TODAY—at the Collins Bros. Drug Store. Also sold by all Leading Druggists in Big Spring and throughout Texas and Nearby States—adv.

'Lefty' Brown Only Champ At League Meet

BY TOM BEASLEY

MORE THAN 4,000 high school pupils and teachers descended on Austin today, the Associated Press reported, ready to take part in the 57th annual interscholastic league meet—a test of "brawl" and "brawn" for winners of district and regional contests. Preliminaries were ticketed for today with finals Saturday.

In the "brawl" division 375 athletes will seek championships in track, field and tennis. Only one of last year's champions, Edward 'Lefty' Brown of Waco high school, returned to defend his title. Last year Brown and Charles Turner won the tennis championship. Brown is paired with Edward 'Moe' Monroe this year.

San Angelo is expecting Harry Hays to set some new sprint records at Austin. But the races Hays expects to enter are timed fairly close and he may not be permitted to enter as many events as he would like.

The court house volleyball ball team defeated Moore Wednesday night. Wrestling promoter Herman Fuhrer has made a slight change in his wrestling card for next Tuesday night. Gorilla Pogi and Jerry Markus will tangle in the main event as first scheduled, but Joe Kopecky and newcomer Jack Tarry will meet in the semi-final, placing Ace Freeman and Vic Webber in the twenty minute opener. Webber defeated Freeman in last Tuesday's main event.

INJURY RIDDLED CUBS FIGHT WAY TO THIRD PLACE

BENGALS KNOCK OFF YANKEES

By SID FEDER (Associated Press Sports Writer) For a bunch of cripples who were supposed to need wheel chairs and stretchers, those Chicago Cubs are showing a lot of health.

In spite of a casualty list that makes Wrigley Field resemble a base hospital, the Cubs have climbed from sixth place to a tie for third in the last week, and are showing no signs of letting up.

When Pitcher Larry French and Second Baseman Billy Herman went on the hospital list with Tex Carleton, Curt Davis and Gabby Hartnett last week, the "experts" figured it was curtains for the Cubs.

Since then, the Cubs have won six of seven starts, they've averaged close to nine runs and 18 hits a game, and have held the enemy to less than four scores per nine innings.

Their surge wound up in third place yesterday when rain cut their tilt with the Phillies to five innings, with the Cubs winning 1-0 by their sixth straight triumph.

Bill Lee, going the route for the second in the week, muffed the Phils with one lone hit. The big change in standings for the day came in the American league, where the Tigers topped the Yankees 12-6 and the Red Sox nosed out the Browns 3-1 to throw the lead into the three-way tie.

For the first time this season the Cincinnati Reds showed a winning streak of two by blanking the Giants 4-0 behind Lefty Lee Grasso's five hit hurling.

The Dodgers snapped the Pittsburgh Pirates' streak at four straight by a seven-run rally in the fifth inning for a 9-5 victory. The Cards and Ecstons Bees were rained out.

Conie Mack's upsetting Athletics topped the Chicago White Sox for the second day running 5-1. Roy Weatherly's homer with a mate on base in the eighth gave the Cleveland Indians a 4-2 win over the Washington Senators.

Wide Open Derby Draws Big Crowd

TONY CANZONERI MAKES LAST RING STAND AGAINST AMBERS

NEW YORK, May 7 (AP)—Battle scored and weary, Tony Canzoneri will bring his ancient armament into the Madison Square Garden ring tonight for one last fling with destiny and Lou Ambers' lightweight title.

If he wins, Tony will defend the title he has held twice. If he loses, a great fighter ends his career and goes back to his Marlboro farm and life among the cows and chickens. Ambers, young, fast and confident, is a 12 to 5 favorite over the man he once served as sparring partner. He lost to Tony in their first bout and then whipped him for the title. The wisest ones say he will be a 3 to 1 choice by the time the fighters enter the ring.

Tony hangs his hope of victory on punching power and spirit. His manager, Sammy Goldman, argues that one punch flush on the button will drain the speed from Ambers' nimble legs and let Tony come in for the kill.

The feeling persists that it will be Ambers' fight. Never a knock-out hitter, Lou substitutes quantity for quality and he can pepper his opponent with the speed and facility of a cooper going around a barrel.

While thousands of turf followers milled today on gaily decorated streets, where only a few months ago flood waters stood several feet deep, nearly a score of the nation's equine royalty awaited the coronation of the Kentucky Derby winner as king of the three year olds.

Around 4:45 p. m. (central standard time) tomorrow Starter Bill Hamilton will release the barrier, well "come on" and the 63rd running of the country's most famous horse race will be underway to the accompaniment of the cheers of 65,000 spectators.

A little more than two minutes late, at the end of the mile and a quarter whirl, the winner will have a horseshoe of roses draped around his neck, the fortunate owner will collect upwards of $50,000 and the backers of the victorious horse will rush to the mutual windows to collect.

More than $1,500,000 may pass through the mutual windows for the greatest play since the days of Reigh Count and Gallant Fox. The added impetus of a wide open race, with at least seven horses rating consideration, figures to draw the largest crowd in derby history through the turnstiles of historic Downs. Officials have prepared for a record attendance by increasing the seating capacity to 30,000.

War Admiral Favored The consensus of the experts is that the winner will come from either Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Milky Way stable or Samuel Riddle's farm, with the latter sending out the favorite in the diminutive War Admiral, a son of Man O'War.

War Admiral will enter the race the only unbeaten horse in the field. The offspring of "Old Red" is expected to go to the post at odds of close to 9 to 5.

In meeting Mrs. Mars' Reaping Reward and Military, however, War Admiral will be asked to match strides with one horse seasoned by winter racing and another that showed his class as a two-year-old.

While War Admiral and Mrs. Mars' entry are expected to battle it out in the mutuels, there should be plenty of support for Delior, the Wheatley stable's Melodist, headed from the Waggoner Brothers' Texas owned Three D's stable, Maxwell Howard's Sevenshire, ace of the pair trained by Earl Sande, and J. H. Louchheim's Pompoon, the erstwhile favorite.

Heckly, Pompoon and Sevenshire forced into the picture with brilliant workouts. The Three D's colt stepped off the derby distance in 2:06 2-5 in his final prep. Pompoon worked himself back into consideration with an excellent mile and an eighth trial over the derby course.

Sevenshire tuned up with a speedy six furlongs in 1:15 2-5. A victory for any of the others, including Mary Hirsch's owned and trained No Sir would furnish even more of an upset than when Bold Venture won last year and paid $48 for each $2 ticket.

CHICAGO, May 7 (AP)—Milwaukee's home record in the American Association was alive today due largely to Ted Gullie.

Indianapolis had an 8 to 2 lead when Gullie tripled to drive in two runs as the climax of a four-run rally. The Indians picked up another run in the fifth, making it 9 to 6, but Gullie binged out on sixth home run with two men out, topping off a five-run uprising that gave the Brewers 11 to 9 decision.

The Saints, with Johnny Welch outpointing Paul (Dizzy) Trout, in a hurling duel, beat Toledo, 4 to 3. Each pitcher allowed only five hits.

Minneapolis pounded three Columbus pitchers for 14 safeties in a 12 to 6 victory. Kansas City bunched seven hits off Dick Bass to defeat Louisville, 4 to 3, in their series opener.

CONNIE MACK-74 YEARS YOUNG NEW YORK, May 7 (UP)—Connie Mack is 74. But you'd never know it by being around him, listening to him or talking to him. He's all enthusiasm.

A majority of major league managers are always finding fault with this or that, causing the breaks or their luck, mumbling about what they all ought to take a tip from Connie.

Now he's talking about winning another pennant with his kids. At 74 the lean, kindly old man visions another championship team in 1939.

"I've got a good club now," says Connie. "They're all hitting and they played the whole game out. It wouldn't take a great deal to make us a factor in the race this year, but we still lack a little something. Next year we'll be a contender and in 1939 we'll be ready for all of them."

Mack has been managing the Athletics for 37 years. He won their first major league title in 1903 and they've never had another. Some say that Connie's getting too old that he ought to quit.

No Thought of Retiring Those who know him say he'll never quit. He'll manage the Athletics as long as there's breath in his body.

"It's his life," said one of his veteran players. "It's what keeps him young. In all the years I've known him he hasn't changed a bit. He has the same keen baseball mind I encountered when I first came up."

He's the greatest handler of men in baseball. He can get more out of a temperamental player than any other manager. His own big theory is to let each player do everything his own way. If a player likes to hit the first pitch Mack lets him hit it. When Al Simmons came up, he stepped in his bucket. They all wanted to change his style. Mack stopped them. "Let him alone," he said. "If that young fellow can hit standing on his head that's all right with me as long as he hits."

And he never asks a player to do something he can't do. If he can't punt, Mack never asks him to punt. That's simple, but Mack makes everything simple.

He rarely criticizes a player, and never before others. He can make a player feel worse by looking at him than most managers can by flogging him $100.

Called Mr. Mack All his players call him, "Mr. Mack." The only man on the club who have other names for him are his son, Earl Mack who calls him "Dad," and Coach Lena Blackburne who calls him "Boss."

When the A's are on the road he doesn't enter the dugout until 15 minutes before game time. He sits in the stands and watches hitting and infield practice. Only twice in the past four years has he been in the A's clubhouse. At home he comes in the clubhouse more often but only when he has business such as talking to a player, talking over the hitters, etc.

During a game he seldom sits down. He watches every move. He shifts his players on the defense for each hitter, saving them for that way with a scorecard. He knows almost every hitter in the league by heart.

Whatever he's doing, he always has enthusiasm for the job. He's 74, and still going strong.

Some don't, time will motion old Fred Marberry to the sidelines. In his 40-odd years he has slanted every a fresh pitch toward the batter's box, including a stretch with Washington's Senators, and should by ordinary calculations be ready to call it a day.

But you couldn't tell it by the way he performed last night. Through nine innings the aging veteran whipped them past futilely swinging Houston's centermen. They managed six hits off him but when a score was in the offing he bore down. Houston's only run was unearned, Harvel letting a hit get by him.

Marberry had to pitch good ball to keep up with Allyn Stout. Except for eighth-inning wildness, Stout likewise pitched air-tight ball, allowing only four hits. When it was over Marberry was on top, 2 to 1. The win pulled Dallas out of the cellar.

Frank Anderson of Galveston also had something to boast of. He blanked Fort Worth 4 to 0 in a four-hit exhibition which kept the ball within the infield for five innings. Anderson is a former Georgia Florida leaver.

Another South Texas game saw that Beaumont's youngsters are not at the league helm by accident. They shelved a recent flurry of jitters that threatened to cost them their leadership and annexed their second straight game in whipping Tulsa, 7 to 4.

An important sidelight of the game featured Boots Poffenberger, Beaumont pitcher. He pitched good ball, holding the hits to nine scattered blows; he booted the ball around the infield to endanger his leads; and then, as if to do penance for his awkwardness, stepped to the plate and slapped out two doubles.

Oklahoma City kicked San Antonio into the basement, 5 to 4. Easterling and Kott got ninth inning hits to overcome a Mission lead.

DALLAS, May 7—A gigantic spectacle, presented on the largest outdoor stage in the world, and linking the nations of the western hemisphere, will be "Cavalcade of the Americas" at the Pan-American exposition.

On opening day of the exposition, June 12 in Dallas, the water screen curtain will go up on this dramatic sweep of five centuries of history told in 26 scenes. Hundreds of actors and scores of colorfully grouped portray the struggle of the nations of the new world to gain liberty.

Beginning with an Aztec sacrificial scene against the background of the ever burning volcano, Popocatepetl, on the site of Mexico City, and ending with President Franklin D. Roosevelt's speech at the Buenos Aires conference, history will march across the stage, portrayed in human incidents.

A co-ordination of sound and movement, made possible by the installation of a sound room where the actor's lines are spoken to synchronize with pantomime, permits the slightest whisper to be heard by the audience.

GALVESTON, May 7 (AP)—Police today sought the slayers of Maxie Paroutte, 35, South Texas sports figure cut down in a blast of gunfire on a street corner last night.

Police said a car had been parked for half an hour near the spot Paroutte was shot down last night. A moment after bullets had riddled his body that car and another sped away.

William Buchanan, sign painter told police he heard Paroutte groaning and ran to his side. He said Paroutte could not answer his questions. "I could see he was dying," he explained.

carrying paying passengers. All other crashes, in the 78 years since Count Zeppelin began the use of dirigibles, involved military or naval craft.

It was America's fourth major tragedy of its kind, the other three being the naval dirigible Shenandoah, which broke in two during a storm over Ohio, Sept. 3, 1925, with a death toll of 14, the destruction of the Akron off Barnegat Inlet, April 4, 1933, with 73 killed and the plunge of the Macon into the sea, off the California coast, early in 1935.

Curious Stream In

Curious humanity, in long untrailing streams of thousands, poured into Lakehurst throughout the night and early morning, eager to gaze in awe on the scene.

Ten miles out, on roads radiating from the pine-hemmed airport, guards shouted in vain at the oncoming hordes of motorists: "Nothing but ambulances down this road!"

The determined crowds abandoned their cars and pressed forward on foot, through wood, swamps and thickets to the spot where lay the fused, skeletonized girders of the colossus of the skies.

Navy men patrolled the high fence, which many agile spectators had climbed before the "keep out" lines were formed.

In the Zeppelin company's office beside the hangar, a score of Germans, grim and nervous, conversed gutturally. An officer with his head swathed in crimson-stained bandages, roared thick German into a telephone.

Graphic Descriptions

Eleven times, a truck backed up to the hangar. Each time, it brought another charred body.

Graphic descriptions of the disaster came from eye witnesses.

"All was serene on the ground and ship when suddenly flames burst from the Zeppelin's tail," said Dr. Carl A. Gesswein, of Matawan. "Her rear half puffed up and burned, then the front bulged out and burst into flames. In less than a minute, she was on the ground, dropping like a deflated parachute."

As the flaming mass plunged downward, there rose a cry to the ground crew: "Run for your lives!"

The first bewildered group they ran back to the blazing still exploding wreckage.

"The navy boys grimly dove into the flames like dogs after rabbits," said Gill Robb Wilson, state aviation director, in lauding their rescue work.

given extra time to demand refunds, treasury officials said the amount of refunds would be increased.

Several senators privately expressed skepticism over the economy campaign, declaring it was "just plain talk" to offset demands for increasing the expenses suggested by President Roosevelt in his budget.

"When the smoke clears away, there will be few major reductions in the estimates," declared one.

Cecil C. Collings, accompanied by his sister-in-law, Sallie Wilson, left Friday noon for a brief visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Collings, in Glen Rose.

YARDLEY OF LONDON

2-Year Term Is Suspended

Man Pleads Guilty To Charge Of Driving While Drunk

Judge Charles L. Klapproth, presiding of the 70th district court, Friday assessed a two-year suspended sentence against Evan Easter, who entered a plea of guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated.

The court also suspended Easter's driving license for the period of one day. The indictment was returned against Easter Thursday afternoon and one for drunkenness, a misdemeanor, against Donald Lay, charged in justice court originally with Easter.

In a report Friday morning, the grand jury returned three other counts, one for swindling by bogus check, one for cattle theft, and one for perjury.

The jury adjourned subject to recall at any time before the end of the current term May 22.

Monday there will be a special judge sitting on the 70th county bench, but just who it will be was a matter of conjecture today.

Judge Klapproth has received a commission from Governor James V. Alford to sit in the 106th district court Monday and during next week at Lamesa.

Judge Louis B. Reed, who had been appointed to succeed the late Judge Gordon B. McGuire, was to have exchanged places with Judge Klapproth, but he had to submit to an appendectomy and then suffered a pneumonia attack.

Consequently the local bar association will be called upon to name a special judge.

Cases to be heard next week include those of W. E. Cooper, indicted for attempted attack, and Hiram A. Knox, indicted for forgery. The Knox cases may be extended into the following week pending negotiations to replace some of the alleged shortage in Templeton and Causton, portofice contractors, funds.

The five indictments returned by the grand jury Thursday and Friday boosted the number to 34 for the term, believed to be a record number. Eleven were against one person, however.

Chester Matheny will go to Waco Sunday morning to visit his father, who has been quite ill.

ment agencies succeeded in "priming the pump" for industry," he was asked.

"Government money provides no purchasing power and no market for industry," Ford replied. "And it hasn't provided employment either, else, why do we hear of millions of men still unemployed?"

"Our government does not understand the primary necessity which is production. We have not enough of anything, and all the politicians can think of is to make it harder for producers to produce."

"The answer to the unemployment problem is to produce more goods, and that is what we are trying to do."

Delay On Wagering Repeal Vote Again Talked In Senate

AUSTIN, May 7 (AP)—The senate's refusal to act on a house bill repealing the horse race betting law figured in house debate today on a motion to postpone consideration of the eleemosynary appropriation bill until a special legislative session.

Rep. Coke Stevenson of Junction, twice speaker, said that if action on the major appropriation bills was delayed until a special session "the master strategist in the senate" might be able to continue to play the same game and block race repeal. He said he was referring to Sen. Frank Rawlins of Fort Worth, leader of the anti-repeal forces.

Stevenson said repeal might be effected if only it and the private carrier truck bill were submitted to a special session.

The motion to postpone the appropriation bill failed more than 11 to 1 and the house considered many amendments before recessing for lunch.

Proposed salaries of a pharmacist and farm hand at the state hospital at Abilene were boosted respectively from $1,080 to $1,200 and from $474 to $545 annually. An effort to increase the proposed pay of the shoemaker there was unavailing.

WILL ATTEMPT TO NAVIGATE RAPIDS OF SANTA HELENA

AUSTIN, May 7 (AP)—Navigation of swift rapids in the boulder-choked Rio Grande through the picturesque 15 miles of Santa Helena canyon wilderness in the proposed Big Bend national park, will be attempted next week in two specially constructed steel rowboats by a party under Dr. Walter Prescott Webb, consulting historian of the national park service.

Dr. Webb, author of "The Texas Rangers" and "The Great Plains," is making the trip to get additional information of this comparatively unknown area, to include in a report he is preparing on the historical background of the Big Bend country. He said today he expects to start from the mouth of the canyon May 15, accompanied by William R. Hogan, associate historian of the national park service; and Thomas V. Skaggs and Joe Lane of McCarney, Texas, who are experienced river men.

All members of the party will wear life-preservers throughout the trip, which is expected to require at least two days.

THE EMPIRE ON PARADE

LOVE PREFERRED. It might have been his coronation, but Edward VIII abdicated to become an exiled Duke of Windsor in order to marry the "woman I love."

QUEEN TO EX-KING. Both the Duke of Windsor and Mrs. Wallis Simpson were born in June. This year their birth-month may find them bride and groom.

MIRRORED GLORY. There's more than one way to see a king. Mr. John Bull here has the popular mirror-on-hat.

BUTTERFLY TIME. It's the season for coronation butterflies. This one is worn on the shoulder.

FRILLS FROM AFAR. From distant Australia comes this soldier in feathered hat for the ceremonies.

GOD SAVE THE KING. Here's a lusty voice for the anthem of the Empire... Tommy's tribute.

Queen Elizabeth

Heavy The Crown

Too weighty for comfort, the traditional crown (below), made for Charles II in 1685, is worn only a moment. It is replaced by the imperial crown. Left, head of the scepter containing the Great Star of Africa cut from the Cullinan diamond. Right, the ampulla which holds the oil of anointment.

Elizabeth Margaret Rose

PRINCESSES ROYAL. Elizabeth, next in line to the throne and Margaret Rose are the two children of Britain's king.

King George VI

BORN TO RULE. Picture of a baby who became a king.

AND THEN A PRINCE... saw this little mistress of Glamis castle, fell in love with her and made her his queen.

NO CARES THEN. Affairs of state meant nothing to him when the boy who was to be George VI posed for this.

The King's Men

Wave on wave of military ranks from the one-quarter of the world under the English flag participate in the royal pageantry. Here are swaggering Highlanders, mystic Royal Orderlies from India and strapping jack tars of His Majesty's navy.

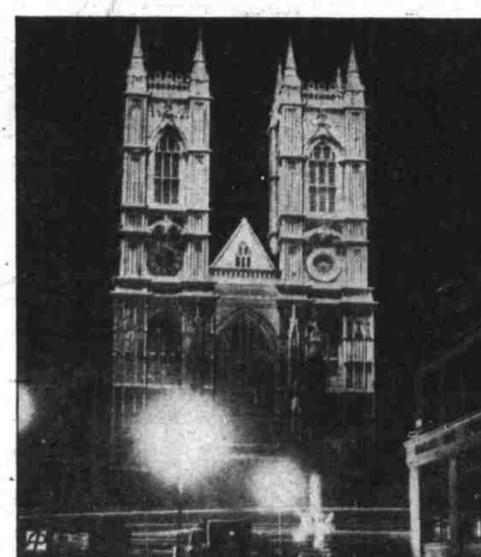

Queen Mother Mary

KING-MAKER. Since the twelfth century it has been the office of archbishops of Canterbury to anoint the kings of England. The Most Rev. Cosmo Gordon Lang (above), now the archbishop, will crown George VI.

KING'S SEAT. Captured from the Scots in 1297, this chair has been used for English coronations since. Beneath its seat is the "Stone of Scone" which tradition says was the original Jacob's pillow.

ITS 36TH SHOW. Brilliant twentieth century floodlights glorify the old stones of Westminster Abbey, some of which date to 1060. It is its thirty-sixth coronation, but its first to see such innovations as radio and newsreels.

DUCHESS. A picture of the Duchess of York, now Queen Elizabeth, when she visited at Harrow several years ago.

KING'S HORSES AND GOLDEN BUGGY. The eight royal greys now used for English coronations mark a change. The World war ended importations of the famous cream colored horses from Brunswick for the royal stables. Right, the royal coach, resplendent in gold leaf and numerous emblems and figures, is a vehicle of many symbols. It is 176 years old. Practically every part of the Empire is represented in the decorations. At top is the royal crown.

YEOMEN OF THE GUARD. London's picturesque regiment, the guards who still wear uniforms of the original sixteenth century yeomanry, marches beside the royal coach.

PILOT. As the Duke of York, England's new king was a wartime Royal Air Corps pilot.

Jean Taylor A New Team

Stars Appear At Ritz Sunday-Monday In 'Personal Property'

Two of the outstanding names in the film firmament are co-starred in "Personal Property" which will be the attraction at the Ritz theatre Saturday midnight, Sunday and Monday. They are Jean Harlow and Robert Taylor, making their first appearance together in the comedy-drama, based on the H. M. Harwood stage play, "Man in Possession."

The new picture, coming from the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, was directed by W. S. Van Dyke, who has come to be known as "the man who has never made a failure" as the result of his direction of such successive hits as "Rose Marie," "San Francisco," "After the Thin Red" and numerous other successes.

In the supporting cast are Reginald Owen, one of Hollywood's outstanding character actors, Una O'Connor, Henrietta Crossman, E. E. Clive, Cora Witherspoon, Maria Shelton, Forrester Harvey, Lionel Braham and Barnett Parker. The story of "Personal Property" casts Miss Harlow as Mrs. Crystal Wetherby who poses in London soety as a wealthy American widow, but who is actually impoverished and is being pursued by her creditors. When Taylor, playing the part of Raymond Dabney, is given a job as a sheriff's officer assigned to watch the personal property of Mrs. Wetherby, she induces him to pose as her butler in order not to "give her away" before a man whom she hopes to marry for his money and thus liquidate her debts. Since this man turns out to be none other than Dabney's brother, who, under the impression that Mrs.

Lily Pons In Musical Film At The Ritz

Jack Oakie, Gene Raymond With Opera Star In 'The Girl From Paris'

Again the scintillating voice of the vivacious coloratura soprano Lily Pons, comes to the screen again, playing at the Ritz Friday and Saturday in "The Girl From Paris." Starred with the French prima donna are Gene Raymond and Jack Oakie, and Herman Bing, Mischa Aber, Frank Jenk and Lucille Ball are seen in supporting roles.

"The Girl From Paris" is the story of a famous French opera star, played by Miss Pons, who rebels at a marriage of convenience, jilting her wealthy impresario, an hitch-hiker across the ocean to the United States in pursuit of a handsome American jazz band leader, who has ignited a latent romantic spark in her soul.

Wetherby is rich, similarly plans to marry her for her money, the complications run thick and fast to make an exceedingly merry comedy.

The vicissitudes of this charming little singer, who smuggles her way into a strange land incognito to find herself a fugitive from the immigration authorities, and entangled in an almost hopeless romance, are at the same time heart-rending and highly humorous.

Spotted throughout the picture is a pot pourri of musical offerings ranging in rhythm and color from a strolling "swing tune" to "Una Voce Poco Fa," the aria from "The Barber of Seville" sung by Miss Pons.

Showing an amazing versatility the diminutive diva also sings "Tantarella" by Pasolini, a swing version of "The Blue Danube Waltz" and three modern original numbers by Arthur Schwartz and Eddie Heyman, "Seal It With a Kiss," "My Nephew from Nice" and "Call to Arms." Jack Oakie also sings one of the five original songs written by this pair for the photoplay, "Moonface," and the other in an instrumental number played by a "swing" band.

Deviating sharply from the average opera star vehicle, "The Girl From Paris" is crammed with hilarious comedy, and Miss Pons displays a surprising flair for her light, humorous role.

A series of colorful backgrounds are shown, the action starting in Paris, shifting to the French countryside, next to an ocean liner and finally to New York and environs where a typical New Jersey roadhouse and the Metropolitan Opera House are the principal locales. Gene Raymond is cast opposite Miss Pons in the romantic lead.

THEY MAKE MUSIC OF ALL KINDS

Presenting Jack Oakie, Lily Pons and Gene Raymond, seen together in Miss Pons' newest starring vehicle, "The Girl From Paris," a gay story that has plenty of comedy as well as all types of music. The vivacious Miss Pons essays various numbers as well as opera selections in the musical comedy romance. The picture is at the Ritz Friday and Saturday.

Pat O'Brien In Cop Role

That ever-popular Irish film star, Pat O'Brien has the title role in "The Great O'Malley," a melodrama of life in New York's colorful East Side which plays at the Queen Sunday and Monday, with a midnight matinee preview Saturday.

Pat's a policeman this time. He's Officer O'Malley, a tough, hard-boiled copper who cannot see beyond his rule book until a little crippled girl and a lovely school teacher humanize him. Sharing stellar honors with him, Humphrey Bogart, who scored so greatly as the killer in "The Petrified Forest," again runs amuck of the law.

Ann Sheridan, another recent discovery of the studio, who was a high school girl in Dallas, Texas, only a year ago, plays the school teacher.

The little crippled child is played by Sybil Jason, the seven-year-old South African child actress who captivated movie audiences in "The Little Big Shot" and "The Singing Kid."

Frieda Inescort, who is a fairly new comer to the screen, although a veteran stage actress, puts real pathos into the role of Sybil's mother.

Others with important parts are Donald Crisp, Henry O'Neill, Mary Gordon and Hobart Cavanaugh.

JACK BENNY HEADS CAST OF PICTURE AT LYRIC

The radio broadcasts of Jack Benny which have delighted millions over the air are a feature of "Transatlantic Merry-Go-Round," which brings an all-star cast of the screen and radio favorites to the Lyric theatre Sunday and Monday.

Benny plays a master of ceremonies broadcasting from a celestial ocean liner plying between New York and Europe in this sparkling comedy drama with music, mystery and romance from the pen of Leon Gordon. With Nancy Carroll and Gene Raymond, Benny heads a cast including Sydney Howard, who is known as England's Charlie Chaplin, Misti Green, The Silvers, Frank Parker, The Bowdler Sisters, Sidney Blackmer, Ralph Morgan, Shirley Grey, Sam Harris, Patsy Kelly, William Boyd, Jean Sargent and Jimmie Orier and his orchestra. Benny's famous radio satire, "Grind Hotel," is included in the "broadcasts" and another highlight is the inimitable imitations of screen stars for which the new groupup Misti Green is noted.

Western Drama Is Booked At Lyric Friday-Saturday

In the pioneer drama, when conditions on the warpath actually committed many atrocities, it was quite the usual thing to blame all villainy upon the "redskins." There can be little doubt that many a deprecation perpetrated by thieving or murderous white men unjustly ascribed to the feared and hated Indians.

Upon this fact is hinged the plot of the new western melodrama, "Ranger Courage," which plays Friday and Saturday at the Lyric theatre.

Bob Allen, hard-riding young hero of the photoplay, with young Martha Tibbets as his leading woman, will be seen in a story which ranks with the best of the outdoor thrillers.

Adding a strong human-interest touch to the tale, it is declared, in the work of talented little Robert Henry, Columbia's juvenile cowboy, Robert, in the role of "Buzzy," brother of Alice, (Miss Tibbets), does some exciting rough-riding.

Bob (Walter Miller) is a "bad hombre"—a white desperado and head of a gang of bandits—who hides his dirty work behind the camouflage of Indian war-paint and feathers. Bob penetrates this disguise and, with the aid of friendly Indians, outwits the outlaws.

Such actors as Bud Osborn, Bob Kortman, Harry Strang, Bill Gould and Horace Murphy appear importantly in the supporting cast.

HOW MANY JOBLESS?

There is no need to get excited about the anxiety of some Washington statesmen to have a census of unemployed taken, a proposal that is said to not be favored by the president. Its advocates insist that there is such a wide discrepancy between the figures of the various estimating agencies that an exact census should be taken so that it would be known how much to appropriate for relief.

There is wide variation in the estimate because each estimator uses a different classification for his figures. One will include seasonal workers, which of course makes the total larger. Others will include those who apply for relief and claim unemployment when perhaps they have not sought employment, or have quit a job because of some difference of opinion with the boss.

With the large number of inspectors, case workers, auditors, distributors of commodities, unemployment agency heads and clerks, and other employees in the relief business, a census should be possible without employing people especially to make it, and it could be done in a day, if the voluminous records made and kept at various headquarters were checked and totaled and are accurate.

Of what great advantage would it be to know exactly how many people claim to be unemployed at the moment? The better thing to do would be to give legislative time to contriving measures that would result in putting people to work—to real work and fairly steady work, rather than insignificant projects that are of no lasting benefit. If the tariff is responsible for curtailing sale of our products, revise the tariff and create a bigger market and more employment. If trusts are operating to the disadvantage of the working man, smash the trusts. The congress can better occupy itself with such things than to squabble over taking a census of unemployed.

Man About Manhattan

By GEORGE TUCKER
 NEW YORK—This is the sort of day on which nobody with a grain of intelligence would willingly go out (except Garbo, who likes to walk in the rain), so let's go through the mail basket and then close up shop.
 Here is a note from the president of the Museum of the City of New York. . . There's going to be a private glimpse of something special in the way of exhibits—an exhibition of "Dining in Old New York." It ought to be very roccoco and very gay, too—winning in the mauve decade, when the gentlemen wore inverness capes and the ladies were wasp-waisted and had their tresses piled on their heads in the Gibson-girl manner.

On Friday there's to be a dinner ("black tie") at Maria De Kammerer's apartment, on 61st street, near Central Park. . . I'm to meet Bob Reud at the St. Moritz, the note says, and go thither with him. . . Guthrie McClintic postcards from Ireland that the song writers are all wrong. . . It's even fairer and greener, and the colleens are prettier, much prettier, than the song writers say.

"In your wanderings in New York," writes Bill Depperman, "keep an eye out for those 'Mutiny on the Bounty' murals which are somewhere down in the Village. They are patterned after the book by Nordhoff and Hall—they were painted by Thomas Hunt nearly 10 years ago." . . The 'Bounty' murals, a wild, panoramic sweep of island palms, half-nude dancing girls, and motley, uncouth sailors, are at the Greenview Village Casino, a nightclub at No. 5 Sheridan Square. . . There's an earthy quality of abandon that makes them just a wee bit startling—especially if you've read the 'Bounty' trilogy.

Ray Henderson notes that Maxwell Anderson is rumored to be composing another triumvirate of plays, but says it isn't true. "The probability is that he hasn't touched pen to paper this winter," he writes. It is his method to let his ideas germinate several months, until the play is entirely formed, before he begins writing. Anderson's first drafts are seldom changed until rehearsals begin.

Inquires Isabel Manning Hewson: "What's in a name? General Pershing is a flower; Queen Mary is a boat; Vincent Lopez is a wrestler; Phil Baker is a pugilist; Wm. Shakespeare is a Notre Dame football player; and George Tucker is the name of a doll dress courted at a toy fair in New York!" . . . Gracious goodness!

"A fine way to become famous"—this is from John Nesbitt—"is to get yourself a job as secretary to somebody who is. . . For instance, Richard Himber once served as secretary to Rudy Vallee; Kay Francis, the movie star, was secretary to Mrs. Dwight Morrow; Charles Butterworth served in a secretarial capacity to J. P. McAvoy; Ricardo Cortez was the late Barbara La Marr's secretary, and Lucille Manners was secretary to the great legal authority, John Leonard. . . But, I don't know shorthand!

BEHIND THE NEWS

House starts observers by defeating pension bill. Move indicates serious attack on budget problem. Economy drive may cancel PWA revolving fund. Cut would virtually end pet child of Ickes.

Economy
 WASHINGTON, May 7—The millennium arrived last Monday. On that day, the house of representatives declined to pass a pension bill. Lobbyists, old-timers and insiders may not believe it, but the congressional record shows the house then refused to consider a bill appropriating $5,000,000 a year more for soldiers' salaries and nurses of the Spanish-American war.

When legislators decline to vote for pension bills, you may be reasonably sure that something is wrong with the world. In this instance, it is a fairly good indication that the appropriators are downright serious about setting President Roosevelt's budget aright.

In fact, those who have joined the house and senate appropriations committees in their corner sessions lately have it on top authority that Mr. Roosevelt's recommendation for a one and a half billion dollar relief appropriation would be cut to a flat billion.

A majority of the two committees are agreed on it. Their decision will be made public eventually.

Curtailment
 The committee also has some bad news in store for Interior Secretary Ickes. The subcommittee of the house appropriations committee has decided to trim his PWA expenditures down to a point approaching abolition. What the committee says usually goes, which means that the Ickes area of PWA spending is probably nearing an end, by congressional edict.

PWA expires June 30. A resolution extending it for two years has been under consideration by the federal government for expect disbursements amounting to $282,000,000 during this two-year extension period. In addition, he has a $745,000,000 revolving fund, which amounts to a drawing account on the treasury.

The subcommittee was decided to let Mr. Ickes spend his $282,000,000 of obligation, but to cancel his drawing account. His $145,000,000 revolving fund is to be abolished. The money automatically is applied to curtailing the national debt.

In a word, this would be the end of the far-flung PWA, pet child of Ickes.

Sense
 If these things cut you, you will have to think it to congress. The workings of this democracy down the ages have created the general supposition that congress is the irresponsible spending agency and the executive is the sound retrenchment force. Now you have a situation in which the congress, under able and quiet leadership, is taking the budget in hand to do an effective job on it. You have serious-minded legislators bent on a common sense revision of federal expenditures instead of trying to hog all they can from the federal treasury for their local districts.

It may seem to be too good to be true, and it probably is, but, if the current drive is carried through, a lot of legislators who have just been ordinary congressmen for the last few years, will earn justifiable renown as statesmen.

Papa Wins
 What papa said, went. The Farley candidate for the secretaryship of the federal communications commission still is with the domestic national committee, hoping for a job in the commerce department.

The successful candidate for the post was Thomas J. Slowie, secretary to Rep. William S. Jacobson of Iowa. His selection was dictated by the president's son and secretary, James Roosevelt. He was papa's candidate.

De Valera's Plans
 Mr. De Valera's new Irish State proposal impressed authorities here far less than the headline writers. As they see it here, even if Mr. De Valera can achieve his goal, he does not intend to remove himself from the British commonwealth. He wants a status like that of Canada and Australia, but the big guns of the British Royal navy are too comforting to be abandoned.

Court
 The latest check indicates Mr. Roosevelt cannot get six justices, no matter what he does. Even the house is against this. Many think the best he can get there is two justices and a constitutional amendment providing automatic retirement of judges over 70 or 75. The president, however, has given no indication that he would compromise, even to the extent of half an eyelash of the sixth justice.

The truth is most legislators wish the court packing plan had never been offered. They would like to forget it. They feel that it is only a personal issue with the president, and less important than he seems to believe it. Rumor also persists at the capitol that two court members intend to resign after the present term ends. If that should develop, then all the hard feuding engendered by the court fight

MOTOR SALESMEN OF TEXAS HONORED
 During the past month, in three mass assemblies of dealers, sales managers, and salesmen, Chevrolet motor division honored the retail salesman of the Dallas zone area, which is comprised of 100 counties of North Texas. This recognition was occasioned by the splendid selling record achieved by these salesmen in delivering new Chevrolet passenger cars and trucks and used cars for Chevrolet dealers during the year 1936.
 One hundred thirty retail salesmen in the Dallas zone area qualified for membership in Chevrolet's exclusive "100 Car Club" and these men were feted with an elaborate banquet with entertainment and presented by Chevrolet motor division with "appreciation checks" in the amount of $75 each, and a "100 Car Club" pin with a diamond mounted in it for each year in which they have qualified for membership.
 Dallas zone of Chevrolet has great pride in their men of the "100 Car Club." More men of this zone qualified for membership than in any other zone in the United States, in 1936.

EVE'S ORCHARD

By MARGARET WIDEMER

Chapter 34
EVE COLLAPSES

As soon as Eve had carefully torn her letter to Denny into very small pieces and burned them, she went downstairs to the kitchen. Her hands were still numb, but her mind was very clear, and she worked until three the next morning. Then she went to bed. She lay awake and thought it all over and over. In between she thought about the wallpaper and tried to plan her work ahead. She could not eat anything at breakfast, but she talked in a matter-of-fact voice to the others as she drank black coffee.
 "Mother's letter says they have the greatest pink house, and a police dog," Judge said timidly across the table. "Did she send you the ransay?"
 "I don't know, Judge. I didn't read her letter."
 She regarded him, sitting there over his oatmeal. The weeks since his parents went away had given him added health and serenity. She had paid over all her responsibilities for the welfare of this child who was nothing to her. Things were odd in this world. She wondered if she would go on liking him when she got so she could feel anything again. Oh, yes, she must read Marilyn's letter.
 There was little more as regards herself and Denny than "You naughty girl to throw poor Denny over, when we all thought it would be a match!" . . . and then a long delightful description of the circumstances under which they had fallen on their feet this time. "The darlingest old lady—and a cousin of Sarah James in Buffalo, so she felt she knew all about us—an old lady, it seemed, who didn't like children, so it was a mercy Eve was such a darling about Judge—and who wanted Peter to do her portrait, and simply loved having them, and was going to take them on a trip to Honolulu when she was out of the hospital; where she'd had to go to after three days. Meanwhile, it seemed the Featherston's were living with all expenses paid, waiting on by a corps of servants in her pink stucco mansion. The old lady collected poets; she was excited because Peter was a painter. There was not a word about paying Eve."
 "Well, after all, why should that?" she thought, with a cynical cynicism. "They've been supported by experts! Probably they feel they did wonders in signing a paper saying they'd pay board!"
 To Keep From Thinking
 But it didn't matter. Nothing mattered. Nothing but finding enough hard physical work to do to halfway keep from thinking. Denny and Mitzl—Mitzl and Denny. Denny had laughed at Mitzl for being so old. He had made fun of her affections and pretenses. . . . And he was marrying Mitzl. Oh, it couldn't be Denny! "God, let it not be true," she whispered. But it went on being true.
 When the day's routine of baking was done and labeled for delivery, Eve went feverishly to the attic. The afternoon sun pouring down made it an oven but she was glad, it had seemed to her she would never be warm again. She piled and undrilled trunk and boxes aimlessly. Halfway through she stopped and tried to recall what she was looking for. . . . Of course. A spinning wheel. Some body wanted to buy one, Emily had said at the post office yesterday, hadn't she? Great-grandmother Denton's spinning wheel. . . . She carried it down in her arms when she found it. She caught a glimpse of herself in the long mirror at the head of the stairs. Streaked, crimson-flushed, drenched with perspiration, she looked like a caricature of herself. She walked on out of the house without knowing she carried the heavy wheel full, straight through the lawn and to the orchard path. She did not know where she was going. Something in her subconscious, she supposed afterward had some idea of selling the wheel to Mrs. Cleveland.
 It was George who faced her, as she staggered pasting the attic between the orchards.
 "Eve, Eve, what's the matter?" His arms were strong, and she let go the wheel. She mustn't tell him that her Denny was that kind of man.
 "Marilyn is going to Honolulu," she said wildly, and sank against him, strengthless.
 "Enough to make anybody sick," Uncle Henry was saying angrily when she opened her eyes on the front-parlor sofa. "Wretched most of the night and then started cleaning the attic like that!"
 George held a glass to her mouth and said quietly, "Drink this, Eve." She drank it and said again weakly, "She didn't send the money and she's going to Honolulu."
 "Don't, Eve, you break my heart!" George said harshly.
 Uncle Henry said: "Nonsense, child, we're more than making our living. She's all shaken up. You lie right there!" he added sternly. Judge, in the background, clapped a pitcher of water in the hope she might have use for it. They surrounded her with their loving anxiety and anger. Through all her misery a little comfort after because of George's kind arm lifting her shoulders, and Uncle Henry's affectionate scolding and Judge's devoted eyes.
 "Sweet-and-butler Of Life . . . They made her rest all the day and the next. One of the three stood guard over her most of the time; Adriano waited on her hand and foot; George's housekeeper, Mattie hovered about with all possible comforts. George came in the next day with his mother's check for $150 for the lacquer cabinet, and she heard Adriano and George taking it away.

"I'm using it, for the present, for my own papers!" he said matter-of-factly. "Mothers in Southampton for some time to come."

She'd know about Denny and Mitzl then. . . . Of course. Everyone would. She hoped George would not talk about it to her just now.

He never did, whatever he heard or knew. Ellen came out over the weekend of the failure and success of her stock company near Sharon, gay and friendly with George, indignant about Marilyn, the same stable decline Ellen. She said nothing more to Eve about George. And Eve could not bring herself, even to Ellen, to tell about Denny. Ellen would know, soon enough.

Somewhat as the summer passed, Eve was well and put herself to work once more. The apple blossoms fell and the little apples began to come; and the flowers along the lawn changed with the seasons, larger and brighter for July.

There would never be any Denny again. She must get used to that. She must go on with a life that had nothing of the failure and with the plain bread-and-butter of life-earning her living, being kind to the old man and little boy, making friends and doing her work.

George asks Eve to be a tennis and swimming party, tomorrow.

FD Expresses His Sympathy

Wants To Keep Track Of Developments In Hindenburg Crash

GALVESTON, May 7 (UP)—Shocked by the Von Hindenburg disaster, President Roosevelt today requested he be kept informed of latest developments in the explosion that wrecked the famous German dirigible at Lakehurst, N. J.

Immediately upon learning of the tragedy through press dispatches and navy radio last night, the president, from his vacation yacht Potomac off Port Aransas, dictated messages of sympathy to the German people and the families of those who lost their lives.

To Adolf Hitler, German chancellor, at Berlin, he sent a radio-gram saying:

"I have just learned of the disaster to the airship Hindenburg and offer you and the German people my deepest sympathy for the tragic loss of life which resulted from this unexpected and unhappy event."

In a separate public statement, he said:

"I am distressed to hear of the tragedy of the Hindenburg, and extend my deep sympathy to the families of the passengers, officers, and crew who lost their lives."

This was the second disaster to occur on successive trips away from Washington by the chief executive.

While at Warm Springs, Ga., in March, the explosion occurred which caused several hundred deaths at the New London, Tex., school.

White House headquarters here were uninformed today of the president's plans for the week-end. Yesterday, he spent most of the day at his desk on the Potomac signing official mail and 32 bills recently passed by congress.

GALVESTON, May 7 (UP)—Adolf Hitler today sent a message to President Roosevelt thanking him for his expression of sympathy in connection with the Hindenburg disaster.

Made public at White House headquarters here, the message said:

"I thank your excellency sincerely for the heartfelt words of sympathy which you have expressed to myself and the German people with ter of a natural stage in a drama of death.

Little human figures ran crazily. Shrieks and hysterical screams came from the few hundred men and women spectators who had braved the rain to see the end of just another routine voyage.

A boy sobbed. Red faced men gasped, cursed and looked.

The crushed skeleton of the ship blazed fiercely. Cars with shrill sirens, trucks, delivery wagons, every motor car on the reservation, streaked down the road to the wreckage.

The twilight had dimmed into funeral gloom then, with only the flames and occasional blasts from the wreckage to tell the story.

SPORT SLANTS

By TOM PAPROCKI

Associated Press Sports Writer

Not only has Joe Cronin rejuvenated the Boston Red Sox by returning to his old post at shortstop, but he also has added needed batting power.

Last year Cronin ran into lots of bad luck. He fractured his thumb early in the season. After that he spent too much time boiling out in steam baths to keep his weight down. And he constantly fretted about his inability to earn the high salary Tom Yawkey was paying him. Not that there was any need for worry. Yawkey is extremely fond of the smiling Irishman for whose services he paid Clark Griffith $250,000. Yawkey often has said he would make the same deal again—even after Cronin failed to show the form he displayed at Washington.

There was not a harder worker in camp this spring than Cronin. The result is that Joe is down to his best playing weight, 175 pounds, and is looking forward to playing 154 games.

There may be a more rabid baseball fan in this broad land than Richard Himber, the orchestra leader, but if there is he hasn't crossed our path. Himber lavishes his attention on the New York Yankees.

Before the season got under way, the subject of Red Ruffing's contract caused Himber many sleepless nights. Ruffing was offered $15,000 by the Yankees, but held out for $16,000. So anxious was Himber to see Ruffing in the Yankee fold that he offered to make up the difference, to be put in escrow and paid to Ruffing at the end of the season if he hit 300.

Ruffing cut his demand to $15,500. Again Himber made his offer, and stuck to the original $16,000. This time, however, Himber asked that Ruffing match his record of last season in games won and lost as well as in batting.

Until he became a Yankee fan Himber was no flying enthusiast. Now he uses that mode of travel to follow his favorites around the American league.

SENATE GIVES VIEW ON OIL PRODUCTION

AUSTIN, May 7 (UP)—The senate adopted a resolution today requesting the governor to gather information from time to time as to oil production in states signatory to the interstate compact and to terminate Texas participation in the agreement if it appeared this state was not permitted a fair share of such production.

The resolution was not binding on the governor, nor was it subject to adoption by the house of representatives. It merely expressed the sentiment of the senate. There has been considerable talk among oil operators that other states had a larger proportionate share of the national market demand as estimated by the federal bureau of mines than their potential production, compared with Texas, justified.

Both houses recently approved without opposition and Gov. James Allred signed a bill extending Texut oil participation in the compact for two years.

'It Took Only A Minute'; Proud Craft Quickly Reduced To Twisted Mass

By ROBERT OKIN

LAKEHURST, N. J., May 7 (UP)—The world's greatest airship nosed cautiously into a rain-swept port in the murk of twilight, and an instant later—scant minutes from security—she was a mass of flames.

It was just after 6 p.m. (Eastern Standard Time) yesterday when the Hindenburg headed downward to the naval air station and a mooring to complete the first westward trip of the 1937 season.

She had idled in the neighborhood more than an hour—officers had avoided the great surger of the field where thin flashes of lightning and ominous crashings of thunder accompanied squalls of wind and circled in the distance, where the sky was clear of clouds.

Gleaming despite the dusk, the great ship settled carefully after the storm moved on, streamers of liquid ballast were flung from her aft tanks. Lights above at nose and tail and observers could see through the windshield into the control cabin as she neared the ground.

Two weighted cables dropped several hundred feet to the ground. The ground crew seized them. The powerful drone of the motors was the only sound in the still, twilight hush.

Then came a dull, sickening boom.

The entire stern burst into red flames and black, cloaked smoke. The Hindenburg sank aft.

Then the forward fabric caught fire and, her steel girders horribly naked, the ship flattered to the ground in the scarlet light of her own end. It only took a minute.

Even in death she was majestic. Against the brooding background of gray clouds and the lonely tower that was her port, the great Zeppelin held the cen-

5 Beer And Wine Licenses Cancelled

Five beer and wine retail licenses were cancelled in this district during the month of April.

Leith E. Morris, district supervisor for the Liquor Control Board said today after state figures were made available.

The state total of revocations during the month was 172.

Other facts released by the board in its monthly review, sent to the local district office, revealed that liquor revenues amounted to $451,732.16 in April, well ahead of the $306,287.53 a year ago. Permit and license fees accounted for $11,756.38 while the balance was from stamp tax sales.

Inspectors surpassed the March record of violation cases by filing 629 cases, a gain of 26 cases over March, previous high. Fines assessed in April totaled $15,967.14.

During the month per capita consumption of distilled spirits in Texas declined from .0593 in March to .045. While liquor drinking fell off markedly, beer consumption gained from .298 in March to .639 in April.

GIVEN SENTENCES

GALLUP, N. M., May 7 (UP)—Tom Anderson and G. W. Roberts, of Wasco, Calif., convicted by a jury of robbing Robert Austin, Lubbock, Tex., merchant near here last September, were sentenced to from 20 to 25 years in the state penitentiary today by District Judge David Calvez.

SENATE GIVES VIEW ON OIL PRODUCTION

AUSTIN, May 7 (UP)—The senate adopted a resolution today requesting the governor to gather information from time to time as to oil production in states signatory to the interstate compact and to terminate Texas participation in the agreement if it appeared this state was not permitted a fair share of such production.

The resolution was not binding on the governor, nor was it subject to adoption by the house of representatives. It merely expressed the sentiment of the senate. There has been considerable talk among oil operators that other states had a larger proportionate share of the national market demand as estimated by the federal bureau of mines than their potential production, compared with Texas, justified.

Both houses recently approved without opposition and Gov. James Allred signed a bill extending Texut oil participation in the compact for two years.
