SHOOTING FOR KEEPS

Little Mike Sibole, 4, of Orlando, Fla., son of a Baptist minister, takes one of the last glances he'll ever experience down the sights of his six-guns, unaware that on Wednesday, July 18, sight will be lost to him forever. The little lad, victim of cancer of the retina, has already lost one eye and must lose the other eye, doctors say, if his life is to be saved. His parents, the Rev. and Mrs. James W. Sibole, are cramming the last days of sighted life for the little boy with all manner of colorful experiences, in order that the lad may have a lifetime of memories to enjoy. (NEA Telephoto)

President Eisenhower Is Back On Work Schedule

Bandaged Ike In Talks On Policy

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower, still wearing a bandage, discussed atomic and foreign policy problems today on his first return to his White House desk since his operation more than five weeks ago. Mr. Eisenhower arrived at his office at 8:20 a.m. (e.d.t.) and held a brief work session with his staff before swinging into a limited series of appointments.

He conferred later with Adm. Lewis W. Strauss, chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission. He later called in Secretary of State John Foster Dulles for a foreign policy review and to discuss plans for the Panama conference of American presidents which the President will attend this weekend. Mr. Eisenhower Tuesday will confer with Republican leaders of the House and Senate and on Thursday he will preside at a meeting of the National Security Council.

Capitol Hill Roundup

By WARREN DUFFEE
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Congress stepped up its work tempo today in an effort to adjourn within two weeks.

Both houses began the rush to wind up the 84th session by calling on for debate controversial matters involving, directly or indirectly, the racial issue. The House tackled President Eisenhower's four-point civil rights program and braced for what was likely to be its sharpest and most prolonged debate of the year. Southerners were ready to put through every possible parliamentary block in the bill's path, but it was expected to pass.

The Senate, meeting 2 1/2 hours earlier than usual, planned to consider Mr. Eisenhower's nomination of Solicitor General Simon E. Sobeloff to be a Circuit Court of Appeals judge in the circuit covering Virginia, Maryland, West Virginia, North and South Carolina. Southerners also object to Sobeloff's nomination. As solicitor general, he presented to the Supreme Court the government's arguments on how the court's school desegregation decision should be carried out.

Congress hoped to wind up its session in time for members to have a brief vacation before the national political conventions. The Democratic convention opens Aug. 13 at Chicago; the Republican convention, Aug. 20 at San Francisco. There were some optimistic predictions that Congress could quit by the end of this week and some pessimistic ones that adjournment is unlikely until early August. But the week end of July 28 was considered the best bet.

The big issues remaining to be dealt with are: Civil rights: With the backing of nearly all Republicans and Northern Democrats, the measure is virtually certain to pass the House. But most observers believe it will be sidetracked in the Senate, where it would face a Southern filibuster.

Foreign aid: The Senate planned to take up this week a bill providing a $4 billion foreign aid appropriation, but a floor fight to trim it appeared likely. The House already has approved a $3.4 billion appropriation. A conference committee probably will have to work out a compromise figure.

Social Security: A bill lowering retirement ages for women and disabled workers is scheduled for Senate debate this week. The House passed a similar bill last year.

Housing: The Senate has passed a housing bill continuing present housing programs and providing for expanded public housing. In the House, the measure has bogged down in the Rules Committee in a fight over the public housing features.

There are a number of other bills slated for consideration in one or both houses. Among these is the administration measure to raise postal rates. It has cleared the House but may not get before the Senate before adjournment.

Senate-approved bills awaiting House action include legislation authorizing government construction of atomic power reactors, a flood insurance program and liberalized pensions for federal workers.

In 'Death March' Case Marine Trial Is Underway

By H. D. QUIGG
PARRIS ISLAND, S. C. (UP)—Marine S-Sgt. Mathew C. McKeon went on trial today charged with causing the deaths of six recruits he marched into a tidal creek to "teach them discipline." McKeon, ram-fod straight as he was led into the tense general court martial, was the central figure in a trial that some military authorities called the most important court martial since Billy Mitchell's.

McKeon was charged specifically with being drunk the night of the "tragedy of Ribbon Creek," with negligence and with using the night march as punishment. Seven officers of the court filed into the white shingled elementary school building of this famed Marine training depot and took their places in the auditorium where the children of the Marines stationed here have their chapel exercises.

Fragrant Wife
McKeon's pretty dark-haired wife, wearing a white maternity dress, watched from a spectator's seat as her accused husband walked into the courtroom with his trial counsel.

With her were James McKeon, Worcester, Mass., the defendant's brother, and his half-sister, Mrs. Mary Hanratty, also of Worcester. Of the 138 seats in the courtroom, 34 were reserved for the press. Only 35 spectators, civilian and Marines, were seated as the trial began.

McKeon, hands clasped in his lap, sat at one corner of the defense table. He was dressed in freshly pressed khakis, his tie clipped with a Marine emblem. Opening Formalities
The opening session was occupied with the military formalities of getting a court martial underway—introduction of counsel and swearing in of the court.

McKeon's lawyer said he was fighting through a "barrier of silence" concerning irregular training practices at the Parris Island depot, such as night marches into the marsh land which forms a good part of the terrain around here. His counsel, New York attorney Emile Zola Berman, charged that a "substantial segment" of the non-commissioned personnel on this Marine recruit training base are "extremely reluctant" to testify. No Girls Allowed!

The boys shut-out the girls 4-0 at Highland General Hospital in an all-male week end on the maternity floor. Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Turner, 417 N. Christy, became the parents of an eight lbs., six ozs., boy at 6:40 p. m. Saturday.

The youngest Oiler was born to Mr. and Mrs. Joe (shortstop) Kretschmar, 420 N. Cuyler, at 5:50 p. m. Saturday. He weighed seven lbs., one oz. A seven lbs., eight ozs., boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Walker, 417 N. Russell, at 1:07 a. m. Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Anderson, 125 S. Nelson, became the parents of a seven lbs., eight ozs., boy at 8:27 p. m. Sunday.

'Worst' Subway Jam Hits New York City

Tie-Up Caused By Water Used In Fire
NEW YORK (UP)—One of the worst subway jams in history hit New York City today when some 300,000 rush-hour commuters were forced to seek alternate routes to lower Manhattan.

The normal routes were flooded and knocked out by tons of water used in fighting one of the city's worst fires in a quarter of a century.

The 25-hour blaze gutted the 34-year-old John Wansmaker department store on lower Broadway, a once-palatial structure that was in the process of being torn down to make way for an apartment building.

The cascading water knocked out sections of the Interboro Rapid Transit system, which links Grand Central Terminal with the Wall Street financial district, and the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit system, which links Brooklyn with lower Manhattan under the East River.

The biggest tie-up was at Grand Central Station where thousands of commuters arriving from suburban areas fan out through the subway network to their jobs. Police reported 16 casualties thus far as a result of the subway jam. One woman suffered a heart attack and 15 other persons collapsed from the heat on the crowded platform.

In addition to the crippled subways, 18 firemen were hospitalized and another 18 required treatment. Surface traffic in the area was rerouted because of the danger of street collapse and the jam caused by some 55 pieces of fire-fighting equipment and a tangle of hoses.

Thousands of subway riders using the lines to reach jobs between the two points were forced to use buses, taxis or West Side subways. Authorities feared some subway lines might be out of service for as much as 30 days.

The fire had become an inferno by the time it was discovered at 5:45 p. m. EDT Saturday. Officials believed it was started by acetylene torch sparks some time Friday in basement debris left by the plane.

The plane was scarcely airborne from McGuire Air Force Base, adjacent to Fort Dix, when it crashed and broke into four pieces. All seven women and two children aboard were among the dead.

Investigators learned from survivors Saturday that the four-engine plane was sucked to the ground by a "downdraft" 60 to 70 seconds after it had taken off in a violent electrical storm accompanied by wind and rain.

W. M. Kirk, Pampa, pleaded guilty Monday morning and was sentenced by the court to 90 days in County Jail. He was fined by B. and B. Pharmacy for a check in the amount of $5.

Saturday afternoon a man, and his wife pleaded guilty and were given fines by the court. J. A. Clubertson, White Deer, was fined $5 and costs by the court and made restitution for a check given by him to the Eagle Radiator Shop in the amount of $97.30.

Mrs. Clubertson, also charged, was fined $1.00 and costs by the court and made restitution for a check in the amount of $15 given to Elmer's Super Market, which filed the charge against them.

Safety Experts Probe Crash For Clues

FORT DIX, N. J. (UP)—Safety experts made a detailed examination of a crashed C-118 transport today to determine whether 21 of the 66 passengers aboard survived because of the plane's rear-facing seats.

Brig. Gen. George B. Dany, commander of the 1611th Air Transport Wing led Air Force officers and civilian investigators through a sandy swamp to go over the mangled remains of the Douglas "Liftmaster," military equivalent of a civilian DC-6, which crashed a minute after takeoff Friday.

Forty five persons were killed in the crash. The 21 who survived were injured, five seriously. Doctors said it was impossible to tell if the five seriously injured would survive. The other injured all were expected to recover.

Strong interest centered on the investigation because the plane had been outfitted with seats facing to the rear. Several hundred military planes have been equipped with such seats as a result of British experiments that indicated such an arrangement was safer in crashes.

The crash of the C-118 was the first involving a backward-seated U. S. plane in which there have been survivors. Other planes so outfitted were demolished on crashing and all aboard were killed.

Members of the 309th National Guard military police battalion, of New York City, who were completing a two-week training period when the plane crashed, were posted as security guards around the disaster scene.

Mr. Cates came to the Panhandle in 1929 from Casper, Wyo., and to Pampa in 1934. He had been ill for six and one-half months and had been in Veterans Hospital for the past three months.

He was a World War I veteran and spent six months overseas in the 41st Division of the medical department. He was the owner and operator of the Yates Beauty Shop, the oldest in Pampa. His wife worked with him. Mr. Yates was born in 1885 and attended school in Denver, Colo. He is survived by his wife Cora Yates of Pampa; one son, Frank Yates of Cheyenne, Wyo.; and M. Two Killed In Fights

W. Germans Demand Stricter Discipline By U. S. Army

MUNICH (UP)—Bavarian government heads called a special session today to demand U. S. Army action to halt clashes between American soldiers and German civilians. Two Germans were killed and a third hospitalized over the weekend.

Bavarian State President Wilhelm Hoegner summoned the Council of Ministers to Munich. "Words do not help," he said. "Serious action must be taken now by U. S. Army authorities or real trouble will start."

Hans Weyrauch, a 29-year-old bricklayer, died in a Munich hospital Sunday night of internal injuries. Police said he was beaten and killed by a drunken American soldier.

Guenter Muller, 17, died Saturday of a fractured skull. Police said he was beaten over the head with a beer bottle.

According to the Munich police report, Weyrauch was standing on a street corner Friday night with four friends, his fiancée and another girl. The group was accosted by a drunken GI who asked who the girls "belonged to," according to the police.

Divine Guidance Asked For Atomic Age By Prayer Group

By JACK WILKINSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
TRINITY SITE, N.M. (UP)—Representatives of three faiths prayed Sunday for the divine guidance of mankind in the atomic age. They gathered at the spot on the barren, desert mesa where 11 years ago today the first nuclear weapon was exploded.

Five hundred persons attended the brief religious services conducted by a Catholic priest, an Army Protestant chaplain and a rabbi.

They were the first members of the public ever admitted to the once closely-guarded location on the vast White Sands Proving Grounds where today the armed services conduct their rocket tests.

The religious observance was sponsored by civic groups of Alamogordo, N. M., 70 miles south, and nearby Tularosa. The spot is 20 miles from a main north-south highway and plans are being made to set it aside as a national monument.

Sunday's visitors, most of them New Mexico residents and military personnel from nearby bases, braved intermittent showers and dusty winds to attend the services and spend an afternoon looking at the once closely-guarded location on the vast White Sands Proving Grounds where today the armed services conduct their rocket tests.

"We know it's unimportant—but it's fun," the London Daily Sketch exclaimed in a banner headline.

"It's very simple," she said of the dress. "It isn't my idea—but it's my midriff."

British newsmen applauded and cheered as the pretty actress snapped out wisecracks, while teen-aged fans outside the building screamed with delight each time she walked past an open window.

Marilyn told the British press that her early sexy roles in the movies were just an accident. "It just happened to be those kind of parts," she said. "Naturally, I want to improve in every direction possible in my acting."

She said she wanted to play "MacBeth" and Grushenka in Dogoyevsky's "The Brothers Karamazov."

"But I still hope to wear bathing suits as long as I'm able to wear them," she added. Nothing on but perfume. Miss Monroe, who once said that Chanel No. 5 perfume was all she wore in bed, was asked if she will change her sleeping habits now that she's in England. "Well, I might try Yardley's lavender," she quipped.

Quarles Hits Manpower Cut Reports

WASHINGTON (UP)—Air Force Secretary Donald A. Quarles said Sunday that reports of major military manpower cuts being planned by the administration are "way ahead of the facts."

Quarles conceded that a study of U. S. military manpower is in progress. He said it could involve "far-reaching changes" in the level of American armed forces. But he said this does not mean necessarily that the proposed changes will be accepted and put into effect by the Defense Department.

Quarles was asked if a reported dispute among top military leaders on manpower size would be referred to President Eisenhower. He did not answer directly, but said there was no doubt that the final manpower plans would be presented to the President when they are "worked up."

The air secretary said military leaders "always" are studying the question of force levels. He said the "fact that they are considering different possibilities has been put completely out of focus."

Quarles made the statements to the United Press Sunday as he left for London. He will confer with British officials today and Tuesday and then go to Paris to confer with Gen. Lauris E. Norstad, new commander of the North Atlantic Treaty forces, July 19-22.

Three persons were tried in County Court Saturday and Monday on charges of swindling with worthless checks.

W. M. Kirk, Pampa, pleaded guilty Monday morning and was sentenced by the court to 90 days in County Jail. He was fined by B. and B. Pharmacy for a check in the amount of $5.

Marilyn Keeps Merrie Old England Agog

LONDON (UP)—Wise-cracking, sexy Marilyn Monroe kept merrie old England agog today. Usually-stolid Englishmen turned their attention from more important world affairs to the question of whether the shapely loose-hipped blonde will mount her new bicycle for a tour of the English countryside.

"We know it's unimportant—but it's fun," the London Daily Sketch exclaimed in a banner headline.

"It's very simple," she said of the dress. "It isn't my idea—but it's my midriff."

Ike's Doctors Caution About Work Load

By HERBERT FOSTER
GETTYSBURG, Pa., July 14 — President Eisenhower's doctors cautioned Saturday that he must not try to resume full duties when he returns to the White House sometime early next week.

On the eve of the President's sixth post-operative week the doctors reported his recovery has "gained momentum" but that his increasing activity and impending return to the White House "should not signify that his convalescence period has been completed."

Just after the President's abdominal operation on June 8 his doctors said they expected it would be from "four to six weeks" before his convalescence would be over.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerly said Saturday he expects it will be "at least" six weeks.

The doctors issued the statement soon after the President conferred with Vice President Richard M. Nixon on politics and affairs of state.

Nixon said he found Mr. Eisenhower in excellent and optimistic spirits, and with "bounce" which enables him to make a comeback "from these physical bouts that we all have."

He said he and Mr. Eisenhower discussed the President's second-term "campaign plans" briefly but not his (Nixon's) role.

Nixon has announced he is a candidate for re-election if Mr. Eisenhower and the Republican national convention want him.

He told newsmen Saturday it would be "presumptuous" for him to assume he was going to be renominated but would be "willing and honored" if he was.

Hall's Statement

Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall said Thursday after meeting with Mr. Eisenhower that the President made it "absolutely" clear he still would be "pleased" to have Nixon as a running mate.

Hall also said flatly that the convention at San Francisco Aug. 29 will again nominate the Eisenhower-Nixon ticket.

The latest medical statement extends Mr. Eisenhower's convalescence period at least through next Saturday. The chief executive is scheduled to leave Washington Friday for Panama for the July 21 to 23 meeting of chiefs of American states.

Hagerly was asked if Mr. Eisenhower still would be convalescing when he goes to Panama.

"I don't know," he replied. "He's still going to Panama."

Jane Talk

By JANE KADINGO
Pampa News Women's Editor

FOR THE NEXT THREE WEEKS, Nick and I will be wending our way half-way across the country and back again on our vacation, visiting along the way relatives we haven't seen for years. While I'm away, Gwen Thurmond will be taking my place at the society desk ready to serve you in any way she can. However, I've prepared my columns before departing, so you will be hearing from me there.

IN CASE you happen to be an armchair traveler — one of those chief. Here we will visit Nick's family and relatives for five days. In fact, we should already be ensconced in his favorite chair — I thought I'd tell you a little bit about our trip and our itinerary. And each day, I'll put at the bottom of the column, where we happen to be.

We're mainly visiting relatives, who happen to be pretty well spread out over the Eastern and midwestern parts of the country. As Nick and I happen to be the West, our immediate families.

The first lap of our journey will be a long 1,600 mile-and-some trip, via automobile, to Nick's home in Shamokin, Pa. I am especially looking forward to this, as my only view of Pennsylvania up to this point in my life has been a rather limited one from the Pennsylvania Turnpike. Shamokin is just north-east of Harrisburg and about 125 miles northwest of Philadelphia.

Although I know nothing of the region, or the town, I do know that if you transpose the letters, "Shamokin" is "Nikomah" spelled backward in memory of an Indian

New York Authority Gives Hints On Brewing Tasty Iced Coffee

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor
As soon as the temperature starts to climb, the rattle of ice cubes is heard in every kitchen. The tinkle of ice in tall glasses tells us that our own annual Ice Age is upon us again. Now, then, is the time to review the rules for making that wonderful refreshing iced coffee.

We asked Ellen Saltenstall, well-known New York coffee making authority, to give our readers her best hints on iced coffee. Here is her expert advice for happy hot weather brewing.

There are several excellent ways to make good iced coffee, but one of the easiest and best methods utilizes Coffee cubes as its base.

When you make your breakfast coffee, prepare an extra cup or two. When it cools, pour the coffee into an ice tray and freeze. Then, when the sultry afternoon arrives, you need only to make a pot of regular - strength coffee and pour it into glasses filled with the coffee ice cubes. This way, the iced coffee will be full strength and delicious.

Here's another way to make iced coffee at its refreshing best. Brew double - strength coffee by using half the amount of water to the usual amount of coffee. Fill tall glasses with ice and pour in the fresh, hot brew. The melting ice persons and its name means "wild rice." My first taste of that delicacy — and it really is good — was this year in Pampa at a meeting in Inez Carter's home. I had to move to Texas to have my first taste of wild rice!

Menominee is situated on Green Bay, 50 miles north of the city of Green Bay, Wis. It doesn't have much industry, but it does have beautiful parks along the beach, and outside of town, and lovely beaches. A wonderful place to spend a vacation. It has a nice harbor which, during the summer, is filled with yachts from Chicago, Ill., Milwaukee, Wis., and other places on the Great Lakes.

Of local interest is the fact that Pampa's Deck Wold; was reared on the other side of the bay, which can be seen as a thin line on the horizon on clear days.

Well, that's enough about my vacation. I'll tell you more about it when I get back.

will dilute the coffee to regular strength. Pop in more ice if necessary. And there you have it, all ready to serve with sugar, or sugar syrup, and cream.

Incidentally, instant coffee may also be used for a quick and delicious glass of iced coffee. Generally speaking, you will need to use about twice as much instant coffee as you would use for the average cup, but it's well to consult the directions on the jar.

RUTH MILLET

No mother in her right mind wants her teen-age daughter to attract rude stares, invite wolf whistles from corner loafers and provoke less than gentlemanly remarks by strangers.

And yet all over the country otherwise protective mothers who are trying to bring their daughters up like ladies let them run around town in brief shorts, rolled up to even briefer than the manufacturer intended they should be.

There's a place for shorts in today's living. Worn at appropriate times and at appropriate places they fit in well with the ease and freedom we now enjoy.

But why should a girl who has skirts in her closet run around town in shorts?

If we want our daughters to act like ladies and be treated like ladies we can't let them dress as though they are out to attract any kind of attention they can get.

Sure, they may be entirely innocent of the kind of attention they are attracting.

But their parents shouldn't be that naive.

Just because they think of their daughters as sweet little girls doesn't mean the rest of the world is going to if they run around looking as though they're dressed for a pin-up portrait.

Many public schools have had to make rules against girls wearing shorts to school. They enforce the rule by sending offenders home promptly to don a dress.

That's a sad reflection on parents. It's not at school that a girl should learn to dress and act like a lady but at home.

And some towns have even had to put into law just how few clothes women can wear on public streets and on public beaches.

What has happened to women's own sense of lady-like behavior?

Growing Demand For Frozen Foods Is Making The Refrigerator Change

The growing demand for frozen foods is making the American refrigerator a basically different kind of appliance. Some 1956-model refrigerators are actually two appliances in one — with a home freezer and a refrigerator in separate compartments of a single cabinet.

Occupying no more space than a large conventional refrigerator, a freezer - refrigerator can store enough frozen foods in the kitchen to provide more than a sample of "freezer living." Yet it offers plentiful refrigerator capacity.

"In five to ten years, practically all refrigerators sold in cities will be freezer - refrigerators," predicts F. F. Dugger, vice president and general manager of Deepfreeze Home Appliances, which is introducing three models of two-zone appliances for 1956.

"This kind of space - saving appliance offers the frozen food capacity that enables the homemaker to buy and prepare ready-to-cook and ready-to-eat foods for weeks and months ahead. And unlike the refrigerator with enlarged ice cube section, the new appliance will produce the steady zero temperatures needed for safe long-term storage and fast freezing."

Where floor space is limited, as in apartments, the combination appliance may serve as the home's only refrigeration center. Or it may be used as an auxiliary for a larger freezer.

The Deepfreeze freezer-refrigerators are equipped with two separate sets of cooling tubes, one to keep 40-degree temperatures in the refrigerator part and the other to hold the freezer at zero or colder. Each compartment has its own temperature control dial.

Refrigerator defrosting is never necessary, for no more than a thin film appears, and even that is melted and evaporated automatically.

Locals Win, 14-5 Take To Road

Only one and one-half games out of second spot in the Southwestern loop standings the Pampa Oilers completed their long home stand by easily shacking the Roswell Rockets, 14-5, to take the two game series.

Ernie Bartolomei, the crafty southpaw flinger for the Oilers kept the Roswell batters well in check and permitted only five runs to cross the plate during the span of the game. Bartolomei had a good afternoon against the Roswell thumping power as he fanned seven and gave up only one walk.

Three Rocket hurlers took their turn on the mound for the visitors in trying to check the onsurging Oilers. Roswell's starter Jim Kenega lasted only 4 1-3 frames as he gave up eight runs. Konkick came on in relief with one out in the fifth and allowed six appreciated tallies to come home for the Oilers. The third Roswell twirler Buckingham tried his fling against the Oilers coming on in eighth with one out and gave up three bingles but was effective in his brief appearance in that no runs came home.

The Oilers creeping up on league opposition, used their home run talent power to completely baffle the lowly situated Rockets. Oilers' fine receiver Jim Martin was the big attack in the homer barrage for the Oilers as he pored two round trippers, one with a mate on and the grand slam dandy. Oilers' stocky third sacker Johnny Bruza and sprinting center fielder Len Tucker blasted homers. Bruza's round tripper was a bases empty affair while Tucker's four bagger came with one teammate on. Roswell started off the scoring feat between the two teams as the visitors were able to tally one lone run in the first. Second baseman Jerry Limman, singled and then advanced to third on error by Oilers' capable left fielder Jim Robinette. Third sacker Everette Moore flied out to left scoring Limman.

Both teams were kept in check in the second inning and the Rockets were able to squeak home two runs the biggest scoring march for the visitors. The Rockets added one run each in the fourth and sixth frames to complete their low scoring drive.

Pampa bounced back in their half of the third firing home four runs two tallied by Oiler homers. Leadoff batter Kempa connected for a homer over the left field fence. Tucker soloed and then stole second base. Martin blasted a three run round tripper over the left field fence with Bruza and Tucker on.

The fifth frame for the Oilers Tucker started off the three run drive for the locals as he pored a four bagger over the left field fence with Robinette on. Robinette had got on base with a walk. Roswell's playing-manager Hal Simpson trying to find a sturdy twirler to control the Oilers scoring drives brought in Konkick and Bruza added a bases empty homer.

The Oilers only sent home one run in the sixth and sent home five tallies in the eighth for their last scores of the game. Konkick issued a walk to Kempa. Robinette singled. Then the Oilers' fine hitting Tucker singled driving Kempa home. Martin stepped into a pitch thrown by Konkick for a grand slam round tripper. Roswell's third hurler for the afternoon Buckingham came on to twirl rest of the game, for the Rockets.

Pampa is presently on the road for eight days. The Oilers meet the Clovis Pioneers tonight in the first of a three day stand.

ERNE BARTOLOMEI ... Baffles Rockets

Musial Takes Batting Lead; Cards Split Twin Bill

By FRED DOWN
 United Press Sports Writer
 Stan Musial took over the National League batting lead for the first time this season today in a powerful bid to make good his prediction that he'll win the seventh title of his career.

The 35-year old Musial hammered out seven hits in nine trips as the St. Louis Cardinals split a doubleheader with the Philadelphia Phillies Sunday, to lift his average to .327 and take the lead from Cincinnati's Ed Batley by one point. Musial, who also leads the National League with 69 runs batted in, has halloped 12 hits in 20 tries for a .600 mark since the All-Star interlude.

Stan the Man drove in three runs with a single, double and homer to lead the Cardinals to a 9-1 win in the opener and had two doubles, a triple and a single in five tries although the Redbirds dropped the nightcap, 7-5. Murry Dickson won his seventh game in the opener while Saul Rogovin was credited with his fifth win for the Phillies in the second game.

Alvin Dark, continuing his blazing post All-Star batting pace, supported Musial with three hits in the first game but was held to one hit in five attempts in the nightcap.

A seventh batting title would enable Musial to tie Rogers Hornsby and leave him one short of the National League mark held by Honus Wagner. Ty Cobb holds the big league mark of 12 batting championships.

The Milwaukee Braves, meanwhile, retained their two-game hold on first place in the NL when they downed the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3-2 and 4-1. Warren Spahn won his eighth game in the opener when Vern Law walked Danny O'Connell with two bases filled in the eighth inning while Bob Trowbridge and Taylor Phillips collaborated in a six-hitter in the second game.

Relief pitcher Buster Freeman pitched a record of five shutouts in three games to receive credit for both wins as the second-place Cincinnati Redlegs won a pair of extra-inning, 4-3 decisions over the New York Giants. Rocky Bridges delivered his first hit and drove in his first run of the year to win the nightcap in the 11th inning after Bob Thurman singled home the winning run in the 10th of the opener. Freeman shut out the Giants for the four innings in the first game and pitched one shutout in the second game to pick up his sixth and seventh wins of the campaign.

Carl Furillo drove in six runs with a two-run homer and a grand slam to help the Brooklyn Dodgers down the Chicago Cubs, 10-8, and snap a five-game losing streak. Don Newcombe scored his 12th victory — tops for the NL — although relieved in the seventh. Ernie Banks hit a grand, slam homer for the Cubs. The New York Yankees increased their American League lead to 10 1/2 games when they downed the Chicago White Sox, 2-1 and 4-5. Whitey Ford outpitched 13-game winner Billy Pierce in the opener and Hank Bauer came through with a two-run single off Jim Wilson to take the 10-inning nightcap. The White Sox, who have lost eight straight, were within three putouts of a split when Fred Hatfield homered in the top of the 10th.

Keep Your Shirts On, Men-- Summer Styles Beat Heat

By DICK KLEINER, NEA Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (NEA)— It wasn't so long ago that men faced the summer with grim determination and hot shirts. The man who gave you the shirt off his back did so because he couldn't stand it on his own. That isn't necessary in this era of cool, built - to - stand - heat shirts. You can get perfectly acceptable summer shirts that look neat, trim and clean no matter how hot the weather gets. And they also come with short sleeves, if you prefer, to give you happy elbows. At Manhattan Shirt Co., one of the big three, they say that sales of lightweight shirts are up 45 per cent over last year. The short sleeve job is especially hot (in a figurative sense only) this summer. In summe shirts, colors are not too important. White shirts are over -whelmingly the biggest sellers. That's because they somehow feel the coolest, even though color engineers will tell you that's not so. Actually, a blue or gray would be the coolest color, but the difference is so minor that you might as well buy white and be content. Last year there was more interest in the faded colors of '55 - pink, yellow, mint green - but Manhattan says that a virtually non-existent now.

TRIAL

fifty about practices used to discipline recruits.
McKeon, 31, a soft-spoken New Englander who acts and talks more like a studious chaplain than a hard-bitten sergeant, has said that, as a junior drill instructor, he marched recruit Platoon 71 into the tidal waters of Ribbon Creek to "teach them discipline."
The platoon panicked in deep water. At about 8:30 p.m. last April 8—a chilly, moonless Sunday night—six of the recruits drowned. The march was unauthorized, and McKeon has admitted he did not know the creek area and had not attempted to familiarize himself with it.
Berman got from Navy Secretary Charles S. Thomas this written assurance: "I am confident that no one in a position of authority in the Marine Corps would subject any person to reprisals or punitive measures as a result of his telling the truth at the trial of this case."
The defense counsel had asked Thomas to issue an order or statement to the men and command of this famed boot training camp that no man who tells the truth in McKeon trial testimony will be subject to reprisal or punitive action. The secretary replied by letter that he had the utmost confidence in Marines to speak the truth and that any other presumption "would be inconsistent with my position."
Berman apparently had wanted the secretary to guarantee immunity from prosecution to drill instructors who testified to unlawful practices.
Berman also moved to have the court strike out two counts of the four-count charge alleging that McKeon had been drinking during the day of the death march. Berman said they were "trivial" and would prejudice the "main" charges in that they did not allege the accused had been drunk or in any way under the influence of alcohol.
One of the two other charges alleges manslaughter by "culpable negligence." The other alleges he oppressed the platoon by leading them without authority into the water for "purposes of punishment."
All four charges are alleged violations of the Uniform Code of Military Justice. Conviction on all could get McKeon a maximum of six years and three months in prison and a dishonorable discharge.

Philippines, Japan At Peace

MANILA, P. I. (UP)—The Philippine Senate ratified the San Francisco peace treaty today to end the state of war between this country and Japan.
Earlier the Senate ratified a $500 million reparations agreement with Japan, opening the way to restoration of full normal relations between the two countries.
Japan signed the San Francisco treaty in 1951 to end its state of war with most countries with which it had fought in World War II. But the Philippines held out in a demand for greater indemnity payments for war damage inflicted by Japanese forces.
The $500 million reparations agreement finally was signed last May 9 after years of negotiations.

Only a steel fence surrounding the blast site itself, a small hole in the earth, some greenish chunks of fused sand, bits of metal and the foundations of a house erected as part of the first blast experiment remained "as visible evidence of what happened here on July 16, 1945.
The tower that held the first bomb was vaporized and the hole created by the explosion was mostly filled in by bulldozers later so that now it is only about two feet deep and six feet in diameter.
A piece of the generator used to explode the bomb still lies in the sand a short distance from where the tower stood. Several hundred feet away is the foundation of a building that was erected to test the structure's reaction to the explosion. The building itself disappeared in the blast.

Jehovah's Witnesses Plan Trip

The Pampa congregation of Jehovah's witnesses are making preliminary plans to attend a four-day district assembly in Lubbock, July 26-29, it was announced last night.
J. W. Nash, presiding minister of the group, in discussing the announcement to the congregation, pointed to the challenge to Christians thinking and Christian works in the rising tide of materialism.
"The object of the program," Nash said, "is to equip every one of the preaching fellowship of Jehovah's witnesses in the practical use of the Bible as a help to fortify the spiritual morale of the people in our community."
The announcement came as a climax to the weekly ministerial development program held at the local Kingdom Hall, 944 S. Dwight.
Nash said that Jehovah's witnesses are enrolled in ministerial training of at least five classes weekly.
"We maintain," he emphasized, "that if a religion is worth believing it is worth putting into practice."
"For that reason, the Watch Tower Bible and Tract Society, sponsors of the four-day district assembly, have arranged for this all-important Christian training program," he explained.
The entire program will be held at the Fair Park Coliseum in Lubbock. More than 2,500 delegates are expected to attend. The high point of the assembly will be the public talk, "Why Permanent Peace Will Come in Our Day!" to be given at 3 p.m. Sunday, July 29. All sessions are free and open to the public.

ADD LIFE TO YOUR YEARS

Listening a few month ago to a television program concerning the present status of our world of people, the panel of experts decided that the only thing good about the good old days, was the fact that they were safely beyond the point of recall.
Diabetes was reported under control. I know what was inferred here. Just because we have found a way to wring out the vital insulin from the pancreas glands of slaughtered animals and Miller D.C. giving this animal insulin to humans has perfected a technique of man beings to replace the insulin shortage in the human diabetical patient, we now make loose statements that diabetes is under control while absolutely nothing has been done to get at the cause of illness and remove it.
The human glands that manufacture insulin get lazy or partially paralyzed or diseased in some manner and the human gets sick. Replacing this shortage with an animal secretion is not the answer. That is only the first aid method for temporary use.
The only people that attempt in practice to attack the cause and restore life to the sick human pancreas glands are the Chiropractors.

Consider this clinic case record from our files:
Diabetes Mellitus for two years, taking insulin, nervous breakdown, joints aching, headaches, stomach trouble, elevated blood pressure, etc., is quite a list of ailments any one of which would be enough, but all being on one woman of over sixty years was almost too much for her. She said they just sort of accumulated one by one through the years. She was never able to eliminate any entirely when another would crop up and add its burden of pain and discomfort.
As a last resort she found the Miller Chiropractic Clinic. We made our routine spinal analysis and spinal X-Rays. The cause of nerve interference was located, and necessary corrections began to remove the cause of the interferences.
This is her last report: "No insulin and clear tests, aches gone, nerves practically normal, blood pressure only 134 over 80."
These cases may seem amazing to the uninitiated, but wise readers are investigating.
