Hopes For Revised Canal Plan Dashed

Egyptian Newspaper Hits Internationalization

By WILBUR G. LANDRY
United Press Staff Correspondent

CAIRO — UP — The government newspaper Al Gomhouria today dashed hopes that Egypt might accept a revised Dulles plan for the Suez Canal. The paper attacked internationalization as "modern piracy."

Lt. Col. Anwar El Sadat, former member of the ruling military junta, blasted the Menzies mission with a five-point rejection of the Dulles plan. Publication of the attack in the government organ gave it more than a semi-official stamp. The blast against placing the canal under international control came a few hours before President Gamal Abdel Nasser met with the five-nation Suez committee.

Australian Prime Minister Robert Gordon Menzies, head of the five-nation Suez committee, had been cautiously optimistic. But near war threats, increased military preparations, and a sudden new spy crackdown increased tension in this sweltering Nile city.

The Al Gomhouria commentary was addressed to Menzies himself. "You could have an idea of our sentiment in your own country—if you were asked to permit international control of Sydney Bridge," Sadat wrote.

He also condemned the Anglo-French military preparations in the Mediterranean and hinted they might be linked with the Menzies mission.

Sadat's sarcastic condemnation was headlined: "With Due Respect to Mister Menzies."

Menzies and his committee made up of representatives from the United States, Sweden, Iran and Ethiopia, met the revolutionary president twice Monday when the silver-haired Australian outlined the Suez plan put forth by Secretary of State John Foster Dulles.

A third meeting was called for this afternoon when Nasser may outline how he would like to calm the furor aroused by his July 26 nationalization of the old Suez Canal Company. This plan calls for international guarantees which Egypt would like to be expressed through a new 45-nation conference.

Pretty Coed Jumps From Airplane

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (UP)—Searchers combed rugged mountain terrain today for the body of a pretty and cheerful coed who mysteriously plunged 2,500 feet to her death from an airplane.

Authorities called the death of Flora Elizabeth Anderson, 21, a "bizarre and unexplainable" suicide. Miss Anderson, a graduate political science student at the University of California, had thrown herself from the light airplane after a desperate struggle with the pilot who tried to restrain her.

The pilot, Stanley Gordon, 28, of Belvedere, Calif., landed the rented Aerona Chief plane here Monday and told police Miss Anderson had jumped from the plane after a silent struggle with him.

Gordon said he had rented the plane at the San Rafael Airport to take Miss Anderson on a flying date to Sinson Beach, a resort area on the Pacific Ocean a few miles north of San Francisco.

A Marin County sheriff's posse and an Air Force helicopter searched the rugged Mt. Tamalpais area for several hours late Monday but found no trace of the San Francisco coed.

Assistant District Attorney Roger Garey and sheriff's investigator Marco Melovich questioned the bespectacled pilot for several hours. Garey said that at this stage the incident appeared to be suicide, and that Gordon had been released.

Race Problems Continue

CLINTON, Tenn. (UP)—Twelve Negro students prepared to return today to integrated classes at Clinton High School despite mounting racial friction that touched off a shooting nearby.

Armed National Guardsmen marched into Clinton following several wild weekend demonstrations and forced a tense calm in this seething county seat. But trouble erupted in Oliver Springs, 20 miles away, when a Negro shot a white man following a meeting of segregationists.

In Mansfield, Tex., Gov. Allan

Shivers sent two Texas Rangers to Mansfield High School to prevent violence if three Negroes make another attempt to enroll. The three Negro students, all boys, were frightened away last week by a mob of 400 angry white persons who surrounded the school.

Clifford L. Davis, attorney for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in Fort Worth had applied for registration for the students by telegram. School Superintendent R. L. Huffman refused to accept the telegraphed application and said the Negroes would have to appear personally.

Davis said the Negro students might try to attend today if the crowd isn't there. "If the crowd is there, it might not be reasonable for them to try to enter," he said.

Racial trouble in Fort Worth, 18 miles to the northwest, appeared to have eased today with the report that a Negro, Lloyd G. Austin, who moved into an all-white block in the Riverside section had agreed to sell his house.

Austin had fired a shot into a milling crowd which gathered in front of his house Sunday night. The bullet struck an automobile. In other school integration developments, Virginia legislators and private citizens met in Richmond to reopen a special session of the General Assembly and hold a public hearing on a half dozen plans for keeping schools segregated.

Governor Offers Reward
Tennessee Gov. Frank Clement's office today offered a $5,000 reward for the arrest of five men who beat up two National Guardsmen enroute to a guard meeting near Soddy, some 80 miles southwest of Clinton.

Crowd Hostile To Mansfield Speaker

By KYLE THOMPSON

MANSFIELD, Tex. (UP)—An Episcopal clergyman who tried to lecture 200 white persons in front of Mansfield High School today on the equality of man ran into a wall of hostility and catcalls and was escorted away by Texas Rangers.

The clergyman, the Rev. Donald Clark of Timothy Episcopal Church, Fort Worth, walked up to a crowd of townspeople gathered to make sure that three Negro teen-agers don't accomplish the desegregation of Mansfield High School today on the first day of classes.

"This comes as a shock to me as a Christian that something like this should come about," he told the crowd. "I came down here to see if there is anything I could do. I'm a peacemaker and don't like to see this type of things go on. We all know that the Supreme Court is the law of the land and that we should abide by the ruling."

Bill Lightfoot of Dallas introduced himself to authorities as "Jesus Christ," and asked whether he couldn't take down two Negroes-in-effigy that were hanging on the flagpole and over the entrance to the high school. Officers told him to go ask Principal Willie Pigg. Lightfoot said Pigg gave him permission to cut down the effigies, but he did not try to get them down at once.

Lightfoot has been sending letters to persons in Dallas, offering to give advice. He signs himself "Jesus Christ."

Soon after the enrollment began, the only Negroes in sight were two effigies hanging at the school grounds, one on the front of the school building, another on the flagpole.

The two dummies were hanged there last week, when an angry mob of some 400 persons gathered and kept Negroes from registering at the all-white school.

That crowd had apparently scared Negroes from trying to attend the school, but the crowd was on hand this morning to make sure.

The Ranger detachment was headed by Capt. Bob Crowder of Dallas. Tarrant County Sheriff Harlon Wright and three of his deputies were on hand, along with the Mansfield constable.

The crowd this morning was watching the front of the school quietly. Members of the group evidently believed there would be no attempt by Negroes to register at

Holiday Traffic Deaths Soar Past 400

CHICAGO (UP)—Traffic deaths for the Labor Day holiday soared past the 400 mark early today, but safety officials doubted that a new record for highway slaughter would be set.

Late reports were expected to swell the toll slightly. Ned H. Dearborn, president of the National Safety Council, said the surge of traffic fatalities expected in the final hours of the three-day holiday apparently did not materialize.

"We are hopeful," Dearborn said, "that the death toll not only will fall short of the Labor Day record but will be substantially below the pre-holiday estimate of 480."

At 7 a.m. C.E.T., highway accidents had accounted for 420 deaths. Also, 88 persons drowned, 7 died in plane crashes and 52 were killed in miscellaneous accidents for an overall holiday death total of 567.

Texas Leads States

The highest traffic toll among states occurred in Texas, with 36 deaths. Next was California with 22, followed by Ohio with 20, New York with 27, Missouri and Illinois with 23, and Pennsylvania and Michigan with 20 each.

Earlier, safety officials had feared the generally fair weather across the nation and the crush of homeward-bound motorists might, rapidly push the highway toll past the record of 453 deaths set for the holiday in 1955.

States massed policemen and volunteers to cope with the problem of hurrying and nerve-frayed motorists returning home from vacation resorts and outings to be on the job today.

Biggest jump in fatalities had been expected during the twilight and night hours ending the Labor Day weekend, traditionally the last fling of summer. But the closing hour surge brought few death reports from the nation's roads.

Multiple Traffic Mishaps
Most auto fatalities accounted for single deaths. There were, however, a few multiple traffic mishaps.

Near Newark, Ohio, a family of five was killed when their auto crashed into the side of a milk truck.

Three teenage youths drowned near Zanesville, Ohio, when their car plunged down a 40-foot embankment into the Muskingum River.

A two-car accident near Troy, N.Y., took the lives of four men, and a three-car smashup near Hudson, N.Y., accounted for the deaths of two women and a man.

In another mishap, four persons including two children drowned when their boat capsized in rough water on Lake Houston near Huffman, Tex.

Violent Deaths In Texas Number 50
By UNITED PRESS

Violent deaths in Texas from 8 p.m. through 12 midnight Monday — excluding slayings and suicides — stood at 50 today with 39 of them charged to traffic.

The Department of Public Safety had predicted 32 traffic deaths for the Labor Day weekend but its count did not begin until 12 midnight last Friday whereas the United Press and National Safety Council tabulation began at 6 p.m. Friday.

There were three miscellaneous deaths, one by fire, an accidental electrocution and an accidental shooting during a hunting trip. Eight persons were drowned, including four in a single accident on Lake Houston Monday night near Huffman, Tex., when a 12-foot outboard motor boat overturned. The only survivor was Bobby Gilmore, 6, who stayed afloat by a life preserver until rescued.

Those who were drowned were his father, Weldon Gilmore, 32; Wade Peacock, 25; Jeanette Pearson, 10; and Larry Conner, 8; all from Channelview, Tex., near Houston.

Bill Smith of Fort Worth was drowned in Lake Texoma Monday afternoon when his boat rammed a log and split apart, plunging him into the water.

V. P. Dunbar, 51, of Big Spring, was killed Monday morning when his car went off the highway and overturned about 22 miles south of Ozona.

Nuclear Test Is Recorded
TOKYO (UP)—The government's central meteorological observatory announced today that its instruments recorded the second Soviet nuclear test of the present series on Aug. 30.

Yarborough Rules Out Legal Contest

AUSTIN (UP)—Ralph Yarborough today ruled out a legal contest in the Texas governor's race as a "course too impractical to pursue."

Yarborough, who trailed U. S. Sen. Price Daniel by 3,343 votes in the Democratic primary runoff election for governor, said, "I do not intend to file a contest in the governor's race."

"While I know that this will be a disappointment to the many who have furnished me with evidence of illegal voting in Webb, Duval and other counties and urged a contest, the involved and expensive contest procedures with resulting delay, make such a course too impractical to pursue," he said in a prepared statement.

The statement was a virtual concession of defeat by Yarborough, who has consistently refused to concede the victory to Daniel since the Aug. 23 election.

"I feel that we can be of more service to the Democratic party and to democracy by actively campaigning for Adlai Stevenson and Estes Kefauver, than by a long contested election dispute, while the presidency is being fought out and decided in the public forum," Yarborough said.

"From the bottom of my heart, I thank my friends, known and unknown, seen and unseen, for their sacrifices and their generous contributions of their time, their money, and their labors on my behalf, and on behalf of good government in the 1956 governor's race."

"The people sustained us with their hearts and hands, their intellect and their spiritual prayer. The people of Texas rose for the greatest effort for good government in this generation. They worked diligently, almost superhumanly, and fought bravely against great odds. This effort was their effort."

"I will continue to fight for good government in Texas, and as I did in 1952, I will again take the stump for Adlai Stevenson. I predict a victory for the Democratic party in Texas and the nation this November," Yarborough said.

Driving Caution Urged By Chief

Chief of Police Jim Conner, in a statement made today, requested local motorists to use extreme caution when driving in the vicinity of schools during school hours.

The city has placed 15-mile-per-hour speed limit signs near the schools and Conner stated that the speed limit would be enforced during school hours.

He continued by saying that all motorists should watch for children running into the streets near the schools. He asked parents to instruct their children to stay on the sidewalks on the way to and from school, and that they should not play in the street.

Conner also requested parents that take their children to school to refrain from double parking while the children are getting out of the car. He explained that this constitutes a traffic hazard and endangers the lives of other children.

Meeting On Community Council Set

Pampa organizations will hear plans for the organization of a Community Council discussed in a meeting in the Palm Room of City Hall Thursday night, Sept. 6, with Ed Myatt, president of the Chamber of Commerce, presiding.

The idea for organizing the community council grew out of a survey made recently on youth activities and attitudes of youth.

The general idea of the community council is to set up an organization with representatives from all working organizations of the city whereby things of interest to the community in the field of youth activities, welfare work and related fields will be undertaken.

All organizations are urged to have representatives at the meeting prepared to speak for their respective groups. E. O. Wedgeworth, chamber manager, said.

If the plan is approved by all groups present it is expected that steps will be taken for the formation of the council.

Cold Russian Winter Seen

LONDON (UP) — Russia hinted today that the forthcoming winter will be a little colder and hungrier for the Soviet man in the snow. Harvesting is behind schedule in Siberia, radio Moscow reported. The Communist party newspaper Pravda said many railway lines are "lagging behind" in transporting fuels and raw materials before the long winter freeze. Pravda complained that many industries were not making proper preparations for the winter, particularly singling out the railways. "Not a single day must be wasted in preparing for the winter," the paper said. "All shortcomings must be eliminated quickly and efficiently."

The government disclosed that 18 more persons had been arrested in a new sweep against an alleged British espionage ring. The British Embassy said a fourth Briton, John Thornton Stanley, of the Prudential Assurance Co., was arrested at his home. 3. France sent new shiploads of troops into the eastern Mediterranean and defense ministry sources said "several thousand" paratroopers would be in Cyprus within the next two days, ready to strike instantly at the Suez canal action become necessary.) 4. France and Britain blocked a walkout by non-Egyptian Suez Canal pilots. A delegation of pilots went to Ismailia to hand in their provisional resignations but they were persuaded to uphold any action until the end of the Menzies-Nasser talks.

The talks were being held in secret and Menzies explained he wanted to conduct the discussions "in an objective, manner and not in a spirit of hostility." Informed sources said the first meeting Monday was limited to a discussion of procedure and that Menzies used the second meeting to present the Dulles plan with the explanation that 15 of the 22 nations at the London Suez conference backed the plan.

Fire Department Gets One Call

The Pampa fire department received only one alarm over the holiday weekend. The call was to a grass fire approximately two miles east of town at 4:07 a.m. Monday. No damage was reported by the firemen answering the call.

CROWDS

(Continued from Page 1) or three members of the race were stepped by the crowd last week. At least one of the three Negroes said he planned to enroll at a school in nearby Fort Worth. It was believed the other two would not try to enroll here, with the crowd watching carefully.

Clifford L. Davis, attorney for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in nearby Fort Worth, said earlier, "If the crowd isn't there, it is possible Negro students will try to attend. If the crowd is there, it might not be reasonable for them (the Negro pupils) to try to enter."

Trouble in Fort Worth Fort Worth, 18 miles to the northwest, was also having racial trouble. A Negro moved into an all-white block in the Riverside section last Saturday, and a crowd gathered in front of his home. The Negro then decided to sell, but later changed his mind and indicated he would stick by his guns, for awhile at least. The NAACP in Fort Worth was also thinking about trying to enroll Negroes in Fort Worth Technical High School today. A spokesman said Tech would be the most likely of any Fort Worth school since it teaches subjects which are not taught in the Negro schools.

Appeal to High Court J. A. Gooch, attorney for the Mansfield School Board, has petitioned the U.S. Supreme Court to stay the desegregation order, pending an appeal. A Supreme Court stay would settle the whole problem, probably for the 1956-1957 term.

In anticipation of the Negroes' attempts to register, white citizens have formed committees to watch the school every day this week. Angry townspeople surrounded the school Thursday and Friday and dared the three Negroes, all boys, to try to register. The Negroes didn't show up, although Davis "applied" for registration by telegram.

School Superintendent R. L. Huffman refused to accept the telegraphic application and said the Negroes would have to appear personally so he could see what their qualifications are.

Negroes Make No Attempt To Enter School

ALVARADO, Tex. (UP) — Negroes made no attempt to enroll at the white high school here today, after six Negro effigies were burned Monday night. Hobbie Van, principal of the Negro school here, said no Negroes had planned to enroll at the white school.

There was no crowd in front of the white high school this morning, except for students trying to enroll.

A rumor circulated in Alvarado Monday that as many as 15 Negroes might attempt to enroll at the white school. A group of some 35 white persons gathered on the town square, but broke up early this morning without any violence.

The crowd gathered after some high school boys reported that a Negro youth said he and 14 others might try to enroll in the white school.

One of the dummy figures was hanged from a flagpole on the town square. Another, hanged from a light pole, bore a sign saying "This Negro won't go to school on the hill." The white school is located on a hill.

In addition to the effigies being hanged, a cross was burned on a railroad overpass.

Truman Sets Off Dispute

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UP) — Former President Truman has touched off a controversy over a speech by Vice President Richard M. Nixon in Texarkana, Tex., four years ago.

Mr. Truman said here Monday that he is not going to give the Republicans "hell" in the campaign—"I'm just going to tell the truth about them."

"They might not think that's hell," he said during his day-long stay here Monday, which he capped with an attack on Republican labor policies since 1952.

Mr. Truman said he was "already campaigning" for the ticket of Adlai E. Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver in denying to newsmen a rumor that he would not campaign for Stevenson.

"Who started that rumor—the Republicans?" Mr. Truman asked. He said the Democrats will win in 1956, and added with a grin, "with my help."

On a television show earlier, Mr. Truman told a questioner he was sure Nixon's renomination would "detract" from the GOP ticket. He also gave the date and place of Nixon's alleged remark that the Democrats are a party of treason. Mr. Truman said Nixon made the remark at Texarkana, Tex., Oct. 27, 1952.

"You read that speech and see if I'm not right," the former Chief Executive said.

Nixon has denied making that remark.

The Texarkana Gazette quoted Nixon as saying on that date: "The Truman-Acheson-Stevenson Democrats have forfeited their rights to the support of the millions of good rank and file members of the Democratic party. They, Truman, Acheson and Stevenson, are traitors to the high principles in which many of the nation's Democrats believe. Real Democrats are outraged by the Truman-Acheson-Stevenson gang's toleration and defense of communism in high places."

Two Deaths Mar Convention

LOS ANGELES (UP) — The American Legion's 38th annual convention was in full swing today following a spectacular parade which was marred by two deaths.

The convention was scheduled to open its business with key addresses by George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, and Hollington K. Tong, Nationalist China's ambassador to the United States. An estimated 30,000 Legionnaires marched for more than six hours Monday.

Two deaths marred the Labor Day observance. Marine 1st Lt. Paul Hightower Jr., 23, of Los Angeles, who took part in the flyover, was killed when his FV9F Panther jet fighter crashed while landing.

Newton Spence, an American Legion commander from the 8th district of Minneapolis, died of a heart attack during the parade activities.

Wrong House Refrigerator

OCEAN BAY PARK, N.Y. (UP) — This small village on Fire Island is seven or eight miles from the mainland and an electric refrigerator is a necessity. Supplies sometimes must be kept for a week.

And so when Helene Walsh of Yonkers surveyed the broken down icebox in the kitchen of the beach cottage she shares with several girl friends she knew that something must be done. There was no ice and the food was spoiling.

John Flynn, owner of the house and of the icebox, took one look at the refrigerator and pronounced it ready for the scrapheap. He ordered a new one from the mainland and was promised immediate delivery.

The new icebox arrived that afternoon on the freight boat and Flynn ordered two college students to install it in Miss Walsh's house.

They did. But they had picked the wrong house.

The neighbor's ice box? Thrown onto the village dump and in accordance with the rules and regulations pertaining to the welfare of young children who might get themselves locked up in it, it had been destroyed—demolished with an axe. Only the ice trays, still frozen, remained.

The aviation committee of the local Chamber of Commerce has been assured by the Borger Chamber that they will cooperate with the local committee in requesting airline service from the Pampa-Borger area down state to Fort Worth.

The aviation committee of both Chambers met last Friday in Borger where they went over plans for pursuing the project. The Borger Chamber of Commerce will conduct a similar survey to the one that is being conducted now in the Pampa Chamber to determine the potential of airline travel.

Swiss Turns Back On Reds

BASLE, Switzerland — UP — Emil Arnold, one of Switzerland's leading communists, turned his back on communism Monday because "great changes in the world" have made the party's ideals obsolete.

The 59-year-old Arnold denounced Communist policies in a letter of resignation as editor of the party organ "Vorwaerts" (Forward). "Today a policy of peace is prevailing, and with it social progress," Arnold wrote in his letter of resignation. "The policy of keeping wages low is no longer valid. Instead, the struggle for higher wages and shorter working hours in finding universal support. We have fulfilled our task. Great changes in the world have created new tasks which go beyond all we have known so far."

Effigies Hanged In Alvarado

ALVARADO, Tex. (UP) — Six Negro effigies were hanged in the downtown area here Monday night after a rumor that as many as 15 Negroes might attempt to enroll in the white high school this morning.

In addition, a cross was burned on a railroad overpass. Alvarado is about 15 miles south of Fort Worth. It is near Mansfield, Tex., which has also been the scene of a dispute over school integration.

One of the dummy figures was hanged from a light pole, bore a sign saying "This Negro won't go to school on the hill." The white high school is located on a hill. Some high school boys reported Monday that a Negro youth tried to enroll in the white high school. The effigies were hanged Monday night.

Monday night, a group of some 35 white persons congregated on the town square, but broke up early this morning. A deputy sheriff's car was parked nearby and the crowd was orderly.

FBI Releases Kidnap Suspect

HAMDEN, Conn. (UP)—The FBI released its only known suspect today in the hunt for the mysterious dark-skinned woman believed to have kidnaped 6-week-old Cynthia Ruotolo.

Four women shoppers at the Sears and Roebuck store where the infant was abducted Saturday failed to identify a former mental patient brought in by Middletown, Conn., police.

The woman, Miss Stella Xenakias, 23, of New Haven, Conn., was found Monday night walking along a road in a dazed condition, her arms scratched by bushes.

G-men absolved the woman of any connection in the case after several hours of questioning early today.

"They couldn't identify her," Hamden Deputy Police Chief Frank Cattaneo said after the four women shoppers had looked at the suspect.

Monday a search centered around Mill River, a three foot deep stream near the store where Cynthia was taken from her carriage. Thanks Crowd

"We're only trying to help speed the baby's safe return," said Joseph Casper, thanking a crowd of about 500 persons assembled in front of Hamden police headquarters.

Desperate appeals by Stephen Ruotolo, 33, and his wife, assisted by their neighborhood priest, were directed to a woman. Police theorize that a woman abducted the child as no ransom note was left. The appeals, rebroadcast in Greek, promised no reprisals if the baby was returned safe.

"We have checked very lead, no matter how faint but it has netted us nothing," Police Chief Harry Barrows said.

store where Mrs. Eleanor Ruotolo, 29, was shopping.

Renewal of a "human chain" search by hundreds of volunteers was called off by authorities who feared that the kidnaper might be frightened by crowds and abandon the baby to her death. The recent kidnaper of Peter Weinberger had left him to die in a patch of woods near a Long Island road soon after his July 4 abduction.

Some grumbling and resentment were heard among the volunteer searchers when police called off

"We are hoping now that the conscience of the unidentified woman who took the baby will give us the break we are looking for," Barrows said.

The appeals directed the "woman" to return the child to one of the town's 13 churches.

Baby Had Cold

The baby was suffering from a slight cold and sore throat when kidnaped. Authorities said the infant would still be all right now if given reasonably good care.

The appeals by Mr. and Mrs. Ruotolo were made from the lawn of their modest, ranch type home. Another son, Gary, 8, lay ill with a virus infection and a 102-degree temperature. The couple's other living child, Susan, 20 months, gurgled happily when a neighbor took her for a walk.

Mrs. Ruotolo broke down midway in her appeal. Her husband put his arm around her and she was able to finish. In his plea, Ruotolo said he was "bewildered."

"The baby is very young and so very helpless," he said. "And in constant need of love and care, and of course, only her mother can provide her with that love and affection."

Two of the couple's other children have died, one of pneumonia and one in a nursery accident.

Nuclear War Of Nerves Pressed

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States is pressing hard in the diplomatic war of nerves with Russia over nuclear weapon tests.

The Atomic Energy Commission Monday announced Russia has set off its third nuclear blast in 10 days in the current Soviet test series.

The announcement was in line with the U.S. policy to keep the world informed of Soviet nuclear test practice while Soviet diplomats preach the outlawing of nuclear weapons.

The AEC announcement said: "The third explosion in the current Soviet test series occurred yesterday. It was in the same region and the same range of size as the two previous bursts."

President Eisenhower announced the first Russian test blast in the current series Aug. 26 while he was in California. He reported the second at his news conference Friday.

Writer Dies

PITTSFIELD, Mass. (UP)—Anthony H. Leviero, 50, Pulitzer Prize-winning Washington correspondent for the New York Times, died Monday of a coronary occlusion.

Liviero was vacationing with his wife at Chatterwood Inn in nearby Lee when he was stricken. He died 30 minutes after being admitted to St. Luke's Hospital here.

Leviero was a member of the Times staff since 1929 and was assigned to the newspaper's Washington bureau since the end of World War II. He was stricken while taking a short rest between the national political conventions which he helped cover and the forthcoming presidential campaign in which he was to have had major assignments.

Pampa News Women's Editor

COORDINATION OF SEPARATES couldn't be more so for fall, in fact, separates, by conforming to slim silhouettes, now amount to two-piece dresses, states Women's Wear Daily. Contrast is totally absent. Separate blouses and skirts are cut from the same fabric, or jersey blouses or sweaters in dyed-to-match shades are related to skirts through fabric trimming. The bloused top, new in separates, will tuck in at natural waistline and is being made full and gathered into a peplum-like band. The coordinated bloused top is being done in several ways: Mounted onto a band that fits at natural waistline, or one that fits at hipline, or gathered with a drawstring.

MILANERY fashions for fall 1956, says Women's Wear Daily, offer the greatest assortment of styles presented in years. Included are such diversified types as the feather hat, the tall toque and the deep manipulated cloche, the turban and the ornamental hat.

Hats dripping with ostrich will be shown for dress-up wear. Hats offset with pheasant to coque and hackle will be given a send-off for wear with tweeds, and hats that cap the head with feathers, take a feather side-sweep, will be included among latest theater-goers.

Among the fur hats on the agenda are flat ones such as broadtail processed lamb or leopard, and long hairs such as black-dyed fox. The fur hat will make its mark this year as a companion for suits and coats, even wool dresses.

The turban rates high among 1956 newcomers and will be highlighted in all of its expressions from the peaked to the chachia. The toque is favored tall, tremendous and raised to the hairline, with sleek detailing. Side tilted and with new draping, the toque is reminiscent of the 1910's.

The profile, small to oversized, is welcomed back everywhere, says Women's Wear Daily. With rolled brim, with enormous sweep or no brim at all, the profile will be seen in toques to beret to cloche form.

The cloche will be spotlighted with draped crowns, with tall squared crowns, with pointed, balloon and bloused crowns. It will be seen with as much variety of brims, from razor-edged to cushioned, from cupped to rippled to down-sweeping and face-shadowing.

New gains will be made for the full-length fur coat next fall and winter. It will have big fashion play in three silhouettes: The slim, with width starting from shoulders; the Empire, most significant fashion slated for fur; the paneled, bringing back fullness in disguise (mostly through pleats). The new fur silhouettes will also be built up with back blousing in long and short coats.

CONCENTRATION of what goes over and on top of the slim silhouette has even extended to outdoor sportswear. More than in any preceding fall season, sportswear firms are showing coats for outdoor wear. Success this spring of the poplin auto coat has prompted a flock of fall versions in every conceivable fabric, ranging from classic to novelty.

College girls last fall began to adopt the fleeced-lined auto coat as their campus coat. The dressier

A "sit-down" wedding breakfast in the California manner is a gala affair. We asked Lucien Heyraud to help you plan one. He is chef at the Palace Hotel in San Francisco, one of that hospitable city's most famous landmarks.

His menu: — Pineapple palooza royal or coupe de pineapple au champagne, consommé madirois, breast of capon, filette; salade cordon rouge, strawberry melba, petits fours, champagne punch or pineapple party punch, coffee. He says this can be served at home for about $7.50 a guest.

Consommé madirois: combine equal parts of beef consommé, chicken consommé and tomato juice. Heat and serve with thin slice of lemon.

Salade Cordon Rouge: Serve pickled beets, cut in thin strips, marinated in French dressing; also celery root, cut in thin strips, marinated in mustard dressing, all on a bed of lettuce and watercress.

Strawberry Melba: Soak fresh or frozen strawberries in brandy and Grand Mariner (half and half). Combine with ice cream. Cover with following Melba sauce: 2 table-ons cornstarch, 2 1/2 cup sugar, 1 1/4 cups red raspberries, 1-3 cup currant jelly. Combine cornstarch and sugar, stir in crushed raspberries and currant jelly. Cook until mixture is thick and clear.

PINEAPPLE PARTY PUNCH
(50 3-ounce servings)

Three quarter cup sugar, 1/2 cup fresh lemon juice, 6 cups (1 large can) unsweetened pineapple juice, 2 (4-5 quart) bottles California sultana wine, 1 large bottle domestic champagne.

Disolve sugar in lemon juice and pineapple juice. Pour over bulk of ice in punch bowl. Add sultana and mix well. Just before serving, pour in champagne. Garnish with strawberries, mint and orange slices.

London Fashions Accent Simplicity

By GALE DUGAS
NEW YORK (NEA) — Clothes that are pretty and easy to wear, marked by simplicity and becoming softness typify the London collections this fall.

From designer Norman Hartnell comes a greater emphasis on the short evening gown length, even for ball gowns. Fern cocktails, dinner, theater and on to gala affairs, the length varies between street and ballet length.

His daytime clothes are simple, running to the bloused silhouette over slim skirts. Suits are slim with easy fit.

Digby Morion, another top designer, uses the slim fitted silhouette for daytime. They are done in fabrics that are both supple and soft. He likes easy-fitting tweed suits and coats with related dresses.

At Ronald Paterson, there are back panels for suits, coats and dresses. Most of these take the slim line but there are some full-skirted dresses in heavy fabrics. He shows many street-length evening gowns, most with their own matching coats.

Black is a big color both for daytime and evening and the little black dress shows up strongly in nearly all important collections. Black is also mixed with brown or white for tweed suits and coats.

Red rates importantly in the rich blue-red shades, in plum colors and is seen even in dashes of scarlet. Blues emphasize the sapphire tones and greens run from bronzy metallic shades to sharp lime.

Daytime Separates Have Elegant Air

By GALE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK (NEA) — This fall's air of elegance in ready-to-wear has spread to separates. There was a time when the term separates almost automatically meant casual clothes. Later, it came to include evening separates.

For fall, however, daytime separates may mean sweater and skirt but scarcely an outfit in which to ramble around the countryside.

The panel influence, typical of autumn's ladylike clothes with slender line, takes over in a skirt of British tweed. Colors for this are aqua and beige. The skirt is worn with a simple camel-colored wool jersey pullover that lends itself very well to a big pin and a radiant chiffon scarf tucked in at the neckline.

For a black cashmere cardigan bound in lace, there's a skirt of fern-embroidered gray British tweed. The skirt is cut on straight lines but falls into graceful folds at the hem.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

As a youngster, James was forbidden ever to "play" with his father's truck.

One evening just before bedtime, he remembered that he'd left his new cap pistol out in the yard. In to his mind rushed all the warnings he'd been given about leaving toys out in the weather.

But in the yard it was too dark to locate his pistol. Worriedly scuffling through the grass, James suddenly realized the presence of his father's truck in the driveway. Seizing on it as his solution, he ran to it, switched on its lights — and saw the pistol gleaming in some nearby grass.

He was switching the lights off when his father grabbed him. Shouting, "Playing with the truck, were you?" his father cuffed him twice — and sent him crying into the house to bed.

He went with rising anger. That his father had called his productive, momentary use of the truck's lights "playing" seemed an impossible stupidity to James.

The more he thought about it, the more intolerable grew the prospect of unending submission to an authority so incapable of fair judgment. Cried he to his mother, "I don't want to live with him any more! I'm going to run away!"

Scared, she told his father. Scared, he told the corner policeman. Scared, the corner policeman told James all about the bad things that happen to boys who run away from home. Scared, James decided not to try it.

But his secret contempt for his father's authority, he mentioned to nobody. So, though fear blocked his running away, his longing for flight was left untouched and undissolved along with that secret contempt for authority.

If it remains undissolved, James can become a person who spends his life running away from authorities of one kind or other.

What can his father do to help him?

He can confess the selfishness that earned the contempt. By confessing it, he will repudiate it, exposing it to James as something he wishes to be freed from. Then his son can gradually free himself of the contempt the selfishness aroused.

As we all suffer from selfishness in some degree, we need never wallow in guilt when we confess it to a child. Such wallowing is just as egotistical as refusing to admit fault at all.

The value of quiet confession is described by famed European psychoanalyst Victor E. Frankl in his book "The Doctor and the Soul" by these words: "In repenting, man may inwardly break with an act; and in living out this repentance, the inner act, he can undo the outer act on a spiritual, moral plane."

HD Club Members, 4-H Girls Schedule 'Achievement Day'

Members of County home demonstration clubs and 4-H girls will observe an "achievement day" Saturday in the American Legion Hall.

Highlight of the event for the 4-H girls will be a baking contest, with the girl receiving the highest score on muffins and shaggy cookies being declared "baking queen."

Her exhibit will be frozen and displayed during the Tri-State Fair. Judging will begin at 10 a.m. The women will have educational exhibits of their work, such as tailoring, nutrition, bulb planting, food freezing containers and electrical wiring.

During the afternoon, beginning at 1:30, a series of team and individual demonstrations will be given by Carson and Gray County 4-H demonstrations will be judged.

The public is invited to attend the demonstrations and exhibits from 1:30 to 4 p.m. Miss Helen Dunlap, county HD agent, explained.

Contrary to some European ideas, not all Americans are millionaires and not all American women have unlimited leisure. Actually, most American women have to handle a clothes budget carefully and plan their leisure hours with the same care.

Therefore, come autumn, most of them don't pitch out last fall's wardrobe and start from scratch. They buy some new things, alter others and add new accessories for others.

This fall, fortunately, the choice of accessories is large and the price is right. Whether it's a matter of gloves in a vivid color, a scarf to spice a black dress or a little head-hugging hat for a date night, they're on hand. Small collars, winding silk and chiffon scarves in Edwardian mauve, mammoth button earrings, stockings in crystal clear jewel tones all help to give new life to old favorites in a wardrobe. Many of them can play a dual role and team up equally well with casual or dressy clothes.

Best of all, the new accessories require no how-to knowledge. They don't cut into leisure hours; they're designed and made for you by people with great know-how.

Accessories Spark Fashions For Fall

NEW YORK (NEA) — The refurbishing of a fall wardrobe is not always a thing easily or quickly accomplished. Time and money are factors.

Tribe Pow-Wows Over Burial Ground

WYANDOTTE, Okla. (UP) The Wyandotte Indian tribe, its ranks divided over old customs and modern wampum, will hold a pow-wow here tonight about selling a century-old burial ground in Kansas City, Kan.

Huron cemetery, a two-acre site on Minnesota Ave. in the heart of Kansas City's business district, was returned to the 894 member tribe by recent action of the State Legislature.

Chief Lawrence E. Zane of the Wyandottes called the meeting on the old camping ground tonight. He said the land, valued at $1.5-million, will be sold for commercial development.

However, Miss Helena Conley, whose mother and sisters are buried in Huron, declared if Zane sells the land, "I'm going to put a curse on him." Some 400 Wyandottes are buried in the old cemetery.

The treaty of 1855, Miss Conley said, established the tract as an Indian cemetery "as long as the rivers flow and the grasses grow." She said she believes that God would intervene and prevent the sale of the old graveyard.

Miss Conley, who says she is "one sixteenth Wyandotte," once defended the cemetery with a shotgun when previous efforts were made to sell it.

A tombstone above the Conley family plot reads: "Cursed be the villain that molests these graves."

Mrs. Clyde E. Glendon, president of the Wyandotte County Historical Society, said her organization believes the cemetery should be made a national monument by an act of Congress. The executive board of the society will meet, she said, to decide what action, if any, can be taken to stop the sale.

U. S. To Put Fuel To Boom

By ROBERT G. SHORTAL
United Press Financial Writer
NEW YORK (UP)—Americans will fuel the boom this year by spending more than a quarter of a trillion dollars for goods and services of all kinds.

"Consumers are more confident about the economic future now than ever before and they are backing this confidence with the greatest expenditure in history," said economist A. W. Zelomek.

The head of International Statistical Bureau said he was greatly impressed during recent cross-country trip with the optimism that prevails at the grass roots level.

"Consumers themselves are in an excellent position," Zelomek said in an exclusive United Press interview. "Employment is high, earnings are rising, and consumers have liquid assets of a considerable magnitude."

Increase Over 1955
Zelomek, a visiting professor at Virginia University Graduate School of Business, predicted consumer spending this year will soar to a record-smashing $265 billion, an increase of $11 billion over 1955.

This big increase will be chalked up in the face of lower automobile sales and a decline in housing starts.

The economist, who wrote "No Major Depression in our Lifetime," said Americans this year will shell out $168 billion for goods ranging from autos and refrigerators to clothing and food. This compares with $161.9 billion in 1955.

Spending for such services such as haircuts, medical care and taxi cabs will rise to $99 billion in 1956 from $92.1 billion last year.

Christmas Will Help
Zelomek anticipates a 3 to 5 percent increase in retail sales during the fourth quarter, when the big Christmas buying season gets into high gear.

"The near-term outlook for the economy is excellent," he said, noting that never has the nation's economic health been better.

Zelomek said at the end of June consumers had cash on hand totaling $180.4 billion and another $37.9 billion in U.S. government savings bonds.

"Compared with 1950," he said, "cash on hand is up $36 billion and holdings of savings bonds $3.5 billion."

Adlai Drafts Policy Talk

CHICAGO (UP)—Adlai E. Stevenson drafted a foreign policy speech today for delivery to the national convention of the American Legion at Los Angeles Wednesday.

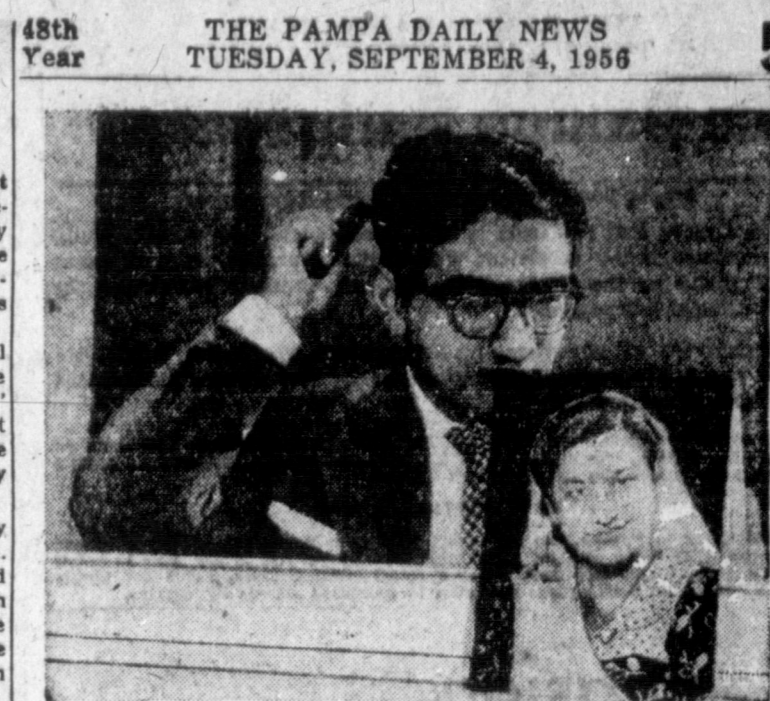

The Democratic presidential candidate, remarking he felt like he'd been on a "merry-go-round," returned here late Monday night after stumping Michigan by plane and auto in a series of Labor Day talks.

Stevenson drove to his country home at nearby Libertyville, Ill. Aides said he planned to spend several hours today working on the speech he will deliver to the Legion convention. Sources close to Stevenson said it would be on foreign policy.

After appearing before the Legionnaires, Stevenson will fly to San Francisco, where he will conduct a meeting with California and Nevada Democrats to talk campaign strategy Thursday.

Stevenson delivered five speeches and made two off-the-cuff political talks in a 14-hour trip that took him to Detroit, Hamtramck, Pontiac, and Muskegon, Mich., traveling by plane and by motorcycle.

In contrast to his 1952 Labor Day tour along much the same route, he was welcomed enthusiastically this time. Michigan Democrats expressed confidence about their chances of winning the election.

Scientific players might go all the way around the mulberry bush with the South cards before getting to six no-trump. The immediate jump is startling, but every bit as good. North needs a very good hand to double three spades when vulnerable against non-vulnerable opponents. South wants to be in a slam opposite any very good hand, but should avoid a grand slam for fear of bad breaks.

West opened the queen of spades, and South won with the king. He wondered how to play the diamonds to have the best chance for all four tricks.

Before touching the diamonds, South took two rounds of hearts and two rounds of clubs, leaving the ace of each suit in the dummy. Since West followed suit, and since West was known to have started with six spades for his

When does a sensible player make a high bid with practically no high cards? When he has good distribution, of course. What could give West good distribution? Only a void suit somewhere or other.

In short, South suspected the diamond distribution before he touched the suit. Hence he began diamonds by leading low towards dummy's ace.

West showed out, as expected, and South could lead diamonds twice towards his own hand in order to make all four tricks in the suit.

Nixon's Father Grows Weaker

LA HABRA, Calif. (UP)—The condition of Vice President Richard M. Nixon's father grew weaker today but he was still putting up a courageous battle in hopes of living to see his son re-elected.

The father, 77-year old Frank Nixon, continued to grow weaker but he still amazed his doctor by managing to cling to life. His condition Monday night was reported about the same but his heart was getting weaker.

Plane Show 'Safest' In Its History

OKLAHOMA CITY (UP)—The 1956 National Aircraft Show emerged today as one of the safest in the 10-year history of the event.

Only one mishap marred the three-day show, during which records were shattered in four major races.

And ASD twin jet Navy fighter crashed on takeoff Monday while the Labor Day crowd was leaving Will Rogers Field, site of the show.

The plane, piloted by Lt. Cmdr. Jack Critch, did not catch fire and he and two other crewmen escaped injury.

The Army, Navy and Air Force each claimed its share of the honors in air races and ground demonstrations.

The feature of the final day was the Thompson Speed Trophy, won by the Navy. Cmdr. Robert W. (Duke) Windsor, 37, Wilmington, Del., piloted an F8U Crusader jet fighter at 1,015.428 miles per hour to win the event.

The Army set a new world's helicopter flight endurance record by keeping a Bell H133 copter in the air for 57 hours, 45 minutes.

The helicopter was piloted by six men in two to three hour shifts. The previous record was 31 hours, 17 minutes, set only Aug. 24 by the Army.

An Air Force ground crew from Wabbe Air Force Base, Big Spring, Texas, won the Allison Trophy, presented for a quick engine change on a Lockheed T33 trainer.

The team chopped more than three minutes off last year's time with a record eight minutes, 18.8 seconds.

One-Armed Player May Get A Starting Role At A&M

By ED FITE
United Press Sports Writer
COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UP)—Coach Paul Bryant was reluctant to go along with an assistant's recommendation that Murray Trimble be offered an athletic scholarship at Texas A&M.

But he told the assistant, Elmer Smith, to use his own judgment about the one-armed, 184-pound Hanceville, Ala., youngster — and he's never been sorry he gave in.

Trimble, who lost his left arm just below the elbow as a child for firecrackers, has literally scrapped his way against the odds from a fourth-string berth on the freshman team two years ago to a virtual starting role on a Texas Aggie team that's picked as chief challenger to Texas Christian's Southwest Conference title.

This fighting spirit was typical of the against-the-odds play of the young Aggies last season when they turned a cellar-picked team into a championship contender.

It's like one of his teammates pointed out recently: "How can you get it when Murray's out there playing his heart out with only one arm."

Hank Crisp, another one-armed athlete who now is athletic director at Alabama, introduced Trimble to the Aggies.

Trimble was a tailback in the Notre Dame box formation at Hanceville high school and was good enough to be chosen to play in the Alabama all-star prep game in Mobile his senior year. But, because his squad was using the T-formation, Trimble was shifted to the line.

Powerboat Winner Awaited

DETROIT (UP)—The American Powerboat Racing Commission hoped for an early decision to decide who won this year's Gold Cup, but some West Coast owners said no matter what the decision they were reluctant to race again in Detroit.

The APRC's race committee Monday threw out five of six protests filed after the race, leaving only the complaint of Willard Rhodes, owner of Miss Thriftway, which finished first but was disqualified for allegedly hitting and destroying a buoy.

While the race committee had issued point standings showing Miss Thriftway the winner after three heats on the 30-mile Detroit River, Saturday, it decided 15 minutes later Thriftway was disqualified and announced Miss Pepsi the winner.

"From start to finish, the Gold Cup was loosely conducted. Nobody seemed to know what they were doing," said William T. Waggoner of Vernon, Tex. "There was a lack of organization all around."

"If I thought the 1957 Gold Cup or any other Detroit race would be conducted like this one was, they couldn't hire me to come back and race my boats," Waggoner said. He owned two boats in the race.

Oilers Sweep Last Home Bill

The Pampa Oilers closed their home season in fine style last night as they came from behind to pull the second game of the double-header against the Carlsbad Potashers out of the fire 6-5. That gave them a sweep of the three game series. They won the first 10-8 on the strength of a nine run, eight hit first inning.

The Oilers now journey to Clovis, N.M. to play the Clovis Pioneers today through Thursday, when they end their season.

The Oilers really gave their fans a boot when they came from behind in the second game to pull it out of the fire 6-5. The Potashers were ahead 5-2 going into the last of the seventh. Harry Young, although touched for doubles by Len Tucker and Bobby Flores, sandwiched around a single by Bruza for the two runs, seemed to be in complete control of the situation. He brought that out further by whipping Bruza to start the seventh inning.

Yankees Explain Rizzuto Release

NEW YORK (UP)—The New York Yankees have issued an explanation on how and why they released veteran shortstop Phil Rizzuto last month, an action they said has been criticized in some quarters.

Rather than turning their back callously on an "old pro" who had starred for them for 20 years in their organization, the Yankees said Rizzuto had been released under "the best possible circumstances from his standpoint."

The club stressed that Rizzuto was being paid the remainder of his 1956 salary, estimated at $28,000, although there was no obligation to do so. It also said Rizzuto had been offered a place on the roster again when the manager lineup went off Sept. 1, but he declined.

Babe Catches Mickey Mantle

NEW YORK (UP)—Babe Ruth has at last "caught up" to Mickey Mantle in the race to the home run record.

For many weeks young Mantle of the New York Yankees has been hitting homers at a faster rate than did the late, immortal Babe in 1927 when he set the all-time record of 60 circuit clouts in a single season. But when Mickey went homer-less in Monday's doubleheader against Baltimore, he dropped down exactly even with the Babe's pace.

Kaplan Repeats As T O T Champ

Borger Golfer Followed By Pampa's Don Prigmore

Don Kaplan, although experiencing a weak third round 73, came back strong in the final round to close with a hot 68 to close the Top of Texas Golf Tourney with a ten-under-par 274 to win for the second successive year.

Close behind the Texas Tech Junior was Don Prigmore who closed with a 284. Harold Sexton, coming from far back, came up fast yesterday with morning round score of 68 and an afternoon round total of 70, to garner third place laurels.

Kaplan was never in danger, although his poor morning of 73 caused some concern to the spectators. When questioned, Kaplan, a seasoned veteran along tournament trail, couldn't explain his poor round. He just went out and played for it by posting his third 68 of the tournament in the afternoon.

DON KAPLAN
... wins again

Probably the outstanding shot of the day was made by Les Howard on the 14th hole, a 165-yarder. His tee shot came to a halt some three inches from the pin, just shy of a coveted hole-in-one. Naturally, Les holed out on the next shot.

What Kaplan in good shape, especially in the afternoon was a hot putter. Kaplan, a young fellow with ice-water in his veins, sank a beautiful 25-footer on the 11th hole, an 18-footer from the 12th, as his long putts of the day. With a wind of high proportions sweeping the Pampa CC all tourney, Kaplan still managed to belt the ball with some authority. He didn't drive the 18th Green yesterday in either round, falling short both times.

Women Toasted In Tennis

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UP)—Faced with a possible men's all-Australian final in the current U.S. Amateur championships, the favorite toast of the United States tennis brass today was:

"To the ladies, bless 'em."

There is no question but what the American girls have been, and will continue to dominate the game throughout the world. The reasons, pro and con, are quite varied.

Principally, the girls are attracted by fancy court clothes. The boys have been on the downgrade, officials believe, because of the distractions of such rival sports as baseball, basketball and golf.

Nine Americans Still Favored

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UP)—Nine Americans, led by Ham Richardson and Vic Seixas were favored to win places among the last 16 survivors in the U.S. tennis championship today.

While the Yanks had quantity, the Australians still packed the top quality in Lew Hoed and Ken Rosewall and there was only a faint chance either of those two accents could be beaten today.

Roswall, a 1955 Wimbledon champion, was matched in the feature today against 1950 champion Art Larsen of San Leandro, Calif.

Braves Magic Number Now 20 As All NL Teams Split Holiday Fare; Yanks Number 15

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press Sports Writer
The "magic number" was 20 for the Milwaukee Braves today because young Hank Aaron went on a batting spree while the Brooklyn Dodger "old pros" failed in the clutch against the six-place Pittsburgh Pirates.

The second-place Dodgers and Cincinnati Redlegs came out of Labor Day double-headers still trailing the Braves by 3 1/2 games. Any combination of Brooklyn or Cincinnati losses and Braves triumphs adding up to 20 will give baseball-happy Milwaukee the National League pennant.

Aaron enabled the Braves to divide two games with Cincinnati despite some fielding lapses that must have made Manager Fred Haney wish the Milwaukee dugout cooler contained something stronger than water.

Hank blasted two homers and then scored the winning run after doubling in the ninth as Milwaukee rallied to win the opener, 3-2. Cincinnati won the nightcap, 7-5. Double Aaron socked a homer and while Aaron sought the National League batting leadership from Wally Moon of the St. Louis Cardinals with a .327 average.

Milwaukee outfielders made two errors and turned three other drives into doubles by mishandling them as they made teammate Lew Burdette sweat to win the opener. Aaron dropped a fly by Wally Post and Bill Bruton dropped one by Smoky Burgess, but both Redlegs were thrown out trying to get another base on the misuses.

The split before a record Milwaukee Stadium crowd of 47,604 gave Brooklyn a chance to gain on both the Braves and Redlegs. But the Dodgers, reeling through their third double-header in as many days opened a long home stand by dividing with the lowly Pirates.

The Dodgers defeated Bob Friend, 4-3, in the opener but he returned to halt a rally in the eighth inning of the second game and preserve a 3-2 triumph for Elroy Face. The Dodgers blew chances to at least tie the game in the eighth and ninth when such veterans as Duke Snider, Jackie Robinson and Carl Furillo couldn't make clutch hits.

The New York Yankees boosted their American League lead to 8 1/2 games and reduced their "magic number" to 15 by whipping the Baltimore Orioles, 6-1 and 5-0. Yogi Berra hit two homers to back Johnny Kucks' seven-hit pitching in the opener and Don Larsen gave only four hits to win the second game.

Pitcher Early Wynn singled Gene Woodling home in the ninth inning to give the second-place Cleveland Indians a 2-1 victory after Vic Power drove in the runs with two homers to help the Kansas City Athletics win the first game, 5-2. Any combination of Cleveland losses and New York victories adding to 15 will give the Yankees the pennant.

Drives In Eight Runs
The Boston Red Sox, with Jim Piersall driving in eight runs, defeated the Washington Senators, 7-5 and 16-0. The Detroit Tigers pounded five White Sox pitchers for an 11-4 victory but Larry Doby, Minnie Miñoso, Fred Hatfield and Jim Rivers hit homers to help Chicago win the second game, 5-3.

In the other National League games, the Chicago Cubs defeated the St. Louis Cardinals, 6-0, after losing the first game, 4-2. Wally Moryn of the Cubs hit one homer in the first game and two more in the second. Jackie Brandt's single scored Willie Mays in the eighth to give the New York Giants a 2-1 victory after Bob Miller, formerly a relief pitcher, gave only four hits in leading the Philadelphia Phillies to a 5-1 triumph in the first game.

As the men's field was slanted to 32 Monday, slugging Dick Savannah of Orange, N. J., on a come-back after four years' absence, gave U.S. hopes a tremendous boost. The towering baseline batter mowed down young Al Harmon of Coral Gables, Fla., 6-0, 6-1, 6-0, with an assault that looked sharper than he showed even in 1951 when he won the Wimbledon crown.

For his third round test, Savitt drew Tim Cross of Washington, who trimmed Dick Sorten of Radnor, Pa., in a five-setter.

Sammy Giammaiva of Houston, Tex., was pitted against Ed Schwartz of Long Beach, N. Y.

Negro To Stay In White Section

FORT WORTH (UP) — A Negro who purchased a home in an all-white block in the Riverside section today had changed his mind about selling out, despite threats from throngs which had surrounded his house.

The Negro, Lloyd G. Austin, Monday told E. G. Brown, spokesman for the Riverside Merchants and Homeowners Association, that he would sell the house if he could get his equity back. Brown said a committee met and raised the $1,350 equity necessary to get Austin out of the house, but that Austin had changed his mind.

Acted Too Soon
"Austin said he had decided not to sell right now. We asked him why he had changed his mind and he said he had been thinking about it and thought he had acted too soon," Brown said.

Police said if Austin agreed to sell the home he had moved into only Saturday, the tension would be eased.

Whites Own Other Homes
Austin fired a rifle shot into a crowd of whites that milled about in front of his home Sunday night. The bullet went through the hood and radiator of a teen-agers car and didn't hit anybody.

Austin is the only Negro home in the block of modest houses, although Negroes moved into an adjoining block about three years ago.

There was no crowd around the house Monday although a continuing string of holiday sightseers passing in their cars craned their necks trying to see the Negro. Six police patrol cars wove in and out of the neighborhood.

Brown said he personally was against using violence to get Austin to move but couldn't speak for the other whites. He said it was all a plot by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to get Negroes into a white school district. L. Clifford Davis, attorney for the NAACP in Fort Worth, denied this.

Bad Weather Hits Texas

By UNITED PRESS

The weather unleashed its fury in Central Texas Monday, causing the death of a 16-year-old boy and leaving considerable damage.

High winds blew an electric line across a barbed wire fence near Taylor. The boy, Lynn Everitt Hudson, was electrocuted about 6 p.m. when he touched the fence and a butane tank in his yard at the same time.

Hail, strong winds and rain lashed at Marlin, 28 miles south of Waco.

The greatest damage was on the C. E. Barganier farm seven miles south of Marlin. One small tenant house was blown away, a larger house occupied by Latin American laborers lifted off its foundation and a third house badly damaged.

Wind Rips Off Roof
The wind ripped the roof off Barganier's barn, which contained oats, corn and hay. Hail and rain struck the Highbank community and about one inch of rain was measured.

Scattered showers fell around Taylor and there were reports of high winds around San Marcos. Waco reported light spotted showers and rain fell at Austin.

A cold front brought cooler weather to the Panhandle, but weather forecasters doubted that the front would be strong enough to have much effect on the rest of the state.

Partly cloudy and warm weather is expected today with scattered afternoon thundershowers in Central and East Texas.

Maximum temperatures Monday ranged from 87 at Corpus Christi and Victoria up to 101 at Presidio. Most temperatures were in the upper 80s and lower 90s during the afternoon.

Rainfall reports included: Houston, .46-inch, Victoria, .27, College Station, .02, Lufkin, .01 and Austin, Beaumont and San Antonio, each a trace.

CALLED FOR TRIAL—Dr. Otto John, former chief of West Germany's counterespionage organization, has been charged with high treason in Karlsruhe, West Germany. John created a sensation when he defected to communism, fleeing to East Germany in 1954. In December, 1955, he re-defected to the West and has been under investigation ever since.
