Vandalism May Bring Closing Of Pioneer Park

Vandalism in the new Pioneer Park being constructed south of town by the Big Spring Hunting and Fishing Club may mean that the area will be temporarily closed to the public.

Douglas Orme, vice president of Coden Petroleum Corporation who is in direct charge of park development, stated that consideration is now being given to closing the park until something can be worked out to protect the property.

Latest incident of vandalism occurred last night. Someone removed the structure posts for a steel fence which have already been constructed around the old big spring. Orme said the steel posts were thrown into the spring.

Police arrested some youths in connection with the vandalism, but Orme said charges would not be filed.

The fence is to be constructed near the spring to keep onlookers from slipping and falling. It is also designed to make the area more attractive. Some fences have already been installed about the area, and roads have been paved.

Orme pointed out that recently someone painted a memorial marker which had been constructed from stone out of the old courthouse. The paint had to be removed.

People have also entered the hunting and fishing club's private property area, removing signs, tearing down fences, breaking locks, etc.

Dixie Presbyterians May End Race Bar

ATLANTA (AP)—Proposals for abolition of segregation within the Presbyterian Church, U.S., will be presented to the 49th general assembly of the denomination in Montreat, N. C., on May 27.

The church will be asked to "lead rather than follow" in the move to end segregation in a report submitted by the Division of Christian Relations, Board of Church Extension.

If approved, the proposals would not be compulsory on local congregations.

Atomic Control Meeting Opens

By ARTHUR GAVSHON
LONDON (AP)—The world's five leading atomic powers meet in this H-bomb-wary capital today in quest of a pact ending the arms race and outlawing atomic and germ warfare.

There were guarded hints from British and American informants that the Western nations, jointly or individually, might put forward revised proposals in a bid to break the years-long deadlock with Russia on the issues.

The secret talks at the British government's stately Lancaster House are under United Nations auspices.

The group is meeting as a sub-committee of the U.N. Disarmament Commission.

Recent disclosures of effects of hydrogen-bomb-test explosions gave new urgency.

Revelations stemming from U.S. tests in the Pacific touched off a chain reaction of nervousness in many parts of the globe and especially in this exposed island.

This led the Churchill government to propose that a new effort at control should be made in London.

There were no clues to the possible nature of any new Western proposals for disarming or atomic and germ warfare control.

To start the talks, however, the four Western Powers—the United States, Britain, France and Canada—were reported planning to stand on their old position that establishment of reliable enforcement machinery must precede any ban on atomic weapons.

The West apparently wants to see whether the Soviets have anything to offer either in the form of concessions or new ideas.

seriously wounded in the long defense of the fallen fortress.

French officials hoped the mass airlift of casualties from the Vietnam-held valley 175 miles west of Hanoi would start tomorrow.

They anticipated it would bring out about 700 men—half of the 1,300 to 1,400 estimated wounded. The Communists agreed at the Geneva conference to release only casualties in the "serious" category.

Dr. Pierre Huard, 62-year-old dean of medicine at the University of Hanoi, headed the group going to Dien Bien Phu by helicopter.

The French anticipated Huard's mission would be quickly successful. French air force observers reported hundreds of coolies already were readying Dien Bien Phu's airstrip to receive the big French transports, filling in the trenches and shell holes which wrecked it during the 56 days of rebel attack.

Huard's party took off from Luang Prabang, the royal Laotian capital 115 miles southwest of Dien Bien Phu. Accompanying him were two French army medical officers, French air transport experts, and the helicopter crew.

Doctors and nurses were mobilized in Hanoi to staff the Dakota transport planes which will bring out the wounded. Most of them were to be brought to Hanoi.

The wife of Brig. Gen. Christian de Castries, commander of the Dien Bien Phu garrison, arranged to fly to Luang Prabang today in hopes of word of her husband when Huard returns. The Vietnam radio has announced only that De Castries was captured when the fortress fell; there has been no word if he was wounded.

The French announced their transports had dropped more than nine tons of ice, food, medical supplies and equipment for the wounded concentrated near the battlefield of Dien Bien Phu. The Vietnam radio has marked off the entire area with red crosses and assembled the French casualties in tents there. Doctors in the fortress when it fell are attending the wounded.

The trip to Dien Bien Phu was Huard's second such mercy mission to the Vietnam.

In Indochina since 1953, he long has been prominent in Red Cross work and is widely respected by the Vietnamese. After the French defeat at Cao Bang in October 1950, he took a leading role in arranging for evacuation of hundreds of French held by the rebels.

Laniel Opens Battle To Remain In Power

By HARVEY HUDSON
PARIS (AP)—Premier Joseph Laniel opened the defense of his shaky government today, asserting the battle of Dien Bien Phu had served to delay Vietnam attacks on the vital Red River Delta and on Laos.

Pleading with the National Assembly for a vote of confidence, the Premier said although the fortress fell under tragic conditions, its defense had not been in vain.

The balking Assembly members are to vote on the confidence issue later today. The outcome will decide the fate of the Laniel government and possibly that of the Geneva conference as well. If 314 negative votes are cast at the session, Laniel will have to resign.

His coalition cabinet is rounding out its 11th month in office—an unusually long term in France.

Much hostility to Laniel still seemed in evidence in the Assembly at the start of the debate but the general sentiment seemed to be he would be continued in office, at least a little while longer.

Recounting details of the establishment of the northwest Indochina fortress at Dien Bien Phu, his siege and its fall, Laniel said no government could have done more than his to help the besieged bastion.

Laniel asserted Dien Bien Phu was organized as a fortress to resist one type of army but was "unable to meet the attack from a Chinese type of army."

As for reinforcements, he said, "even up to the final day, commanders had more volunteers to parachute into Dien Bien Phu than they could use for this mission."

Sustained applause from the Assembly interrupted his speech after this statement.

The issue was the Premier's demand that debate on Indochina be postponed until after the Geneva conference. He won a 311-262 confidence vote on the same question last Thursday, but that was before the fall of Dien Bien Phu aroused nationwide bitterness.

In Laniel's favor, however, French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault is in the midst of negotiations at Geneva for much-desired peace in Indochina. To throw out the government now would mean throwing out Bidault as well. While much of the resentment in the Assembly was directed against the foreign minister, many deputies were hesitant about leaving France voiceless at Geneva because of a Cabinet crisis.

The general desire to have France fully represented at international conferences has done much to keep Laniel in office. He won previous confidence votes because of then-pending negotiations, first at Bermuda and later in Berlin.

The deputies have been generally bitter over Laniel's refusal to debate the Indochina situation at this time. Many also feared that if they voted confidence in him, their people back home might interpret it as approval of the Dien Bien Phu situation.

On the other hand a government crisis could lead to dissolution of the Assembly and new elections, which few deputies would relish. Laniel argued that "an unprepared debate now" on Indochina would lessen the government's authority and would "suspend the work of the Geneva conference."

Man Dies In Flames, Apparently Suicide
ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP)—A man who told friends he was "a sinful man and should be punished" perished in kerosene flames last night while wired tightly against a tree.

Police Chief Claus C. Miller surmised at first that someone had poured kerosene over James Nelson of Rock Island and ignited it. However, after an investigation, he said he believes Nelson arranged his own fiery death.

The wire which held Nelson against the tree in a secluded residential neighborhood encircled his waist and his hands were free. The wire had been tightened with pliers. A pair of pliers was found nearby. Also nearby was a five-gallon can still containing about a gallon of kerosene.

Miller said Nelson, a former dishwasher in a Rock Island hotel, had deep religious feelings about sin which he discussed with friends and neighbors.

He added that a neighbor told of seeing Nelson taking a five-gallon can of kerosene from his home yesterday.

Young Prisoner Disarms Chicago Deputies, Flees

CHICAGO (AP)—Police and sheriffs officers hunted today for a young prisoner who at gunpoint disarmed two deputy sheriffs, forced them to drive him 15 miles, robbed them of about $50 and then stole their car.

Two Du Page County deputy sheriffs yesterday arrested Arthur Peters, 23, in suburban Franklin Park on charges of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

The deputies quoted Peters as saying he had been convicted of murder and kidnaping while serving in the Army in Korea and was on 12 years probation.

They quoted him as saying: "One false move out of either of you and you're dead."

The deputies, John Albrecht, 53, and John Eyer, 28, said Peters had agreed to return with them to suburban Wheaton to post bond. They said after they searched him and found no gun, Eyer got in Peters' car with Peters at the wheel. Albrecht followed in his car.

Eyer said that after driving a few miles Peters pulled a .45-caliber automatic pistol from beneath the seat and forced Eyer to surrender his revolver. He stopped the car when Albrecht pulled alongside, Peters disarmed him.

The deputies said Peters then forced them into the front seat of Albrecht's car. With a gun in each hand, Peters got into the back seat and ordered the deputies to drive through the western suburbs and return to Chicago.

On the city's South Side, the deputies were ordered out of the car after Peters told them to throw their money on the front seat. They said he fired one shot as they drove away.

Police said Peters' wife Margaret, 19, said her husband had served in Korea before the war in 1950. He and another soldier took a jeep and went drinking, she said, and another man was killed. He was tried by a military court and sentenced to 50 years, which later was reduced to 12 years. She said he was paroled in February 1953 from a military prison in Pennsylvania.

The warrant for Peters' arrest, police said, stemmed from a teenage drinking party in his home last Saturday night.

Reds Return Spy Charge

LONDON (AP)—Russia today accused a British major now in London of spying on her military secrets and said he could not return to his post in Moscow.

The Soviet charge came just six days after Britain accused two assistant air attachés at the Russian Embassy in London of attempting to engage in spy activities.

The two, both majors in the Red Air Force, were given 10 days to leave the country.

The Foreign Office identified the Briton as Maj. Charles R. P. Landon, an assistant military attaché in this country's Moscow Embassy.

A spokesman said the British government remains "unimpressed" by the Soviets espionage charge. In the Foreign Office view the Kremlin action was in retaliation for the British demand that the two Soviet majors leave.

Soviet Ambassador Jacob Malik told the Foreign Office yesterday his government rejected the charges against the two majors, identified as Maj. Ivan Popyayev, 36, and Maj. Andrei Gudkov, 37. The Kremlin envoy added, however, they would be withdrawn from London.

Landon is at present vacationing in Britain.

The Foreign Office said he would not return to his post.

100 Homeless In Oklahoma Flood
WAURIEKA, Okla. (AP)—More than 100 persons remained homeless today in a flood which caused the near-drowning of three teen-agers.

Rampaging Cow and Beaver creeks, perennial flood threats in southwestern Oklahoma, overflowed yesterday into the north-west residential area. Flood waters lapped two blocks over in the business district.

The Lincoln schoolhouse, located in a V formed by the creeks, exploded and burned last night. Authorities said boiler fires were extinguished by the water and a gas explosion followed.

The area had been evacuated long before.

Stage Set For AF Day Event

The stage is set for Big Spring's greatest Armed Forces Day celebration.

Webb Air Force Base, of course, will be the center of activity, not only for Big Spring, but also for a large area of West Texas.

The program, complete with visiting dignitaries, exhibition of equipment at Webb, an aerial show, a full dress review and a host of staidlights will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday.

At that hour, Webb Air Force Base will throw open its gates to the public.

Guests will include the Hon. Fred Korth of Fort Worth, who served as assistant Secretary of the Army until Feb., 1953; the Hon. George Mahon, Congressman from the 19th District of Texas, and Rear Adm. William Studdert, USNR, of Midland.

Korth will be principal speaker during Wing Review ceremonies scheduled for 10 a.m.

During the ceremony Major G. W. Dabney will make a special award to Marine Lt. George O'Brien Jr. as a mark of honor from the City of Big Spring in recognition of Lt. O'Brien's heroism in Korea—heroism which brought the Big Spring Marine the Congressional Medal of Honor from the hand of President Eisenhower.

Col. Fred M. Dean, commander of Webb Air Force Base, will present awards for heroism to several Web officers and airmen at the outset of the review.

Formations of T33 jets and T28 propeller training planes will thunder over the reviewing area as some 2,000 officers, airmen and aviation cadets pass before the reviewing stand. Concluding feature of the review will be a thunderous "fly-by" of 650-mile-per-hour B47 Stratojets.

A two-hour aerial show will begin at 2 p.m. This will include acrobatic maneuvers, speed runs by the latest jet fighters, diamond formation flight exhibitions, performances by liaison ships and a simulated rescue by helicopter of a pilot adrift in a life raft. Several "surprise" flights will highlight the show, Webb officials said.

Armed Forces Balls have been scheduled Saturday night in the Webb Officers', Airmen', NCO's and Cadets' clubs.

All Webb personnel have been asked by Col. Dean to bring civilian guests to the balls, and the aviation cadets have invited the entire Air Force ROTC groups from Texas Tech and Hardin-Simmons University.

Maj. William C. Whalin, project officer for Armed Forces Day in Central West Texas, said that Webb is expecting the largest crowd in its history Saturday.

Throughout the day Webb planes and Sabrejets, Stratojets, Superfortresses, Flying Boxcars and other Air Force ships will streak through the skies in low-altitude formation flights over every West Texas city.

Trial Of Kean Starts Today

Trial of George Kean on charges of burglary got under way this morning after District Judge Charles Sullivan overruled a defense motion to quash the jury panel.

After a jury was selected for the trial, Judge Sullivan excused remainder of the panel until 3 p.m. It was hoped the Kean trial could be completed this afternoon in time for the trial of Herbert Cochran, also on burglary charges.

Kean and Cochran are under indictment on charges of burglary of the Radford Big Spring grocery warehouse Feb. 27. They also are charged with burglary of the Higginbotham - Bartlett Lumber Company, but have not been indicted on the latter charge.

Motion to quash the jury panel this morning came from Defense Attorneys George Thomas and Gil Jones. They contended the panel should be dismissed because it was called for a previous week, although it was excused on that occasion when all cases set for trial were continued.

Judge Sullivan granted a motion for severance of the case involving the two defendants and it was decided Kean would go to trial first.

Jury for the trial was completed shortly before noon.

Aide Denies Any Trade In Favors With McCarthy

WASHINGTON (AP)—Army counselor John G. Adams insisted today the Army had no desire to stop the McCarthy subcommittee's investigation of Ft. Monmouth although he conceded it was pleased when the prospect of a suspension arose last fall.

And he denied the Army (1) ever engaged in "trading favors" for Pvt. G. David Schine in an effort to get the investigation stopped, or (2) sought to "appease" Sen. McCarthy.

Adams said any special consideration for Schine stemmed only from the McCarthy subcommittee's picturing him as essential to its work, and that any special deference for McCarthy was a matter of trying to avoid "open hostility."

Adams was back in the witness chair at the McCarthy-Army hearings for the second day—this time for cross-examination.

At the outset, he swore Secretary Stevens never instructed him to try to halt the McCarthy inquiry into alleged security risks at Ft. Monmouth and that he never attempted to stop it.

But he said, as Stevens did earlier, that they wanted the "type of hearings" ended. Stevens had characterized those hearings as "hammering" the Army on the head.

For the rest of the forenoon session, Ray H. Jenkins, special counsel to the Senate Investigator's subcommittee, pressed questions which turned largely about these contentions.

Jenkins climaxed this phase of his cross-examination by asking whether Adams was saying the Army had "no desire, however slight," to stop the McCarthy investigation. Jenkins asked for a yes or no answer.

Adams hesitated. He asked that the question be read back to him by the stenographer. When it was read, he said "the answer is in the negative" and went on to make an explanatory statement as to the desire for an end to the "type of hearings."

Leading up to this point, Jenkins: 1. Recalled that Adams had testified yesterday he was disturbed when Ray Cohn, general counsel to the McCarthy subcommittee, became enraged at being barred from a secret radar laboratory at Ft. Monmouth last fall. He noted Adams had said his concern was because he felt Cohn had the power to prolong the investigation. Jenkins asked if that wasn't "an admission or confession" that Adams wanted the investigation terminated.

Adams declared it was not. He said McCarthy had volunteered previously that the subcommittee investigation was about complete; that it was preparing to turn it over to the Army.

2. Recalled that Adams had testified a Nov. 6 luncheon at the Pentagon, attended by Stevens, Adams, McCarthy, Cohn and Francis P. Carr, staff investigator for the McCarthy subcommittee, was arranged to "further pursue" McCarthy's earlier statement that the hearings might be terminated. Jenkins suggested that indicated the Army wanted the hearings.

Bidault Says U.N. Must Eye Any Voting In Reunited Korea

By EDDY GILMORE
GENEVA (AP)—French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault told the 18-nation Korean conference today Korea must be reunited through United Nations-controlled elections.

Speaking for the first time in the Korean discussion, Bidault said reunification should be guaranteed by an all-Korean commission in which both North and South Korea would be represented in proportion to their population.

Bidault called upon the North Koreans to show a sincere desire for the creation of a united, democratic and independent Korea. He said the United Nations is the most qualified organization to designate observers to watch the proposed elections.

Bidault said he wanted to set forth two principles which the French delegation considers fundamental:

"1. No project on Korea's unification is conceivable if it does not include a real, effective guarantee that all representation of the Korean people within the common organs which might be instituted will be proportional to the numbers of citizens consulted in each part of the country.

"2. It will be extremely necessary, if these elections can be considered as valid, that the conditions of the freedom of ballot be verified and attested by neutral observers endowed with sufficient powers of control."

Earlier, the 18 nations which fought under the United Nations flag in Korea were reported to have considered at a private session the question of winding up the Korean phase of the Geneva conference.

The Western leaders were understood to have decided that Russian opposition to any U.N. supervision of elections made it futile to offer a formal 18-nation proposal.

The tightly deadlocked Indochina talks were in recess today while delegates awaited the outcome of the French political crisis, but there was no inclination yet to consider ending the Indochinese parley.

Some followers of French international politics said it was a tussle whether Premier Joseph Laniel's government would survive a National Assembly vote of confidence scheduled for tonight on the Indochina issue.

The feeling here was that if the government fell, the Geneva parley would have to be suspended until a new cabinet was formed.

No formal meeting of the nine-delegation Indochinese conference was scheduled for today, but diplomats planned numerous private meetings to discuss strategy and review developments so far.

The next formal session on Indochina was set tentatively for tomorrow afternoon, unless developments force cancellation.

During early stages of the Korean debate, the United States let it be known it was annoyed by the failure of its Western allies to answer sharp Communist attacks on the United States. Since then the U. S. allies have come along one by one to defend the American and associate themselves with U.S. policies.

The Western Powers still were having difficulties lining up South Korean President Syngman Rhee

Sound Advice From Tall Girl

Beverly Michaels, leading lady for United Artists' "Wicked Woman," tells Lydia Lane her early problems as a tall girl. The popular blond actress also has some suggestions for bleached hair vs. natural.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY Stay With That Natural Hair Color, Says Star

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — They say in show business that all you need is one good break. Well, Beverly Michaels feels that being chosen for the starring role of "Wicked Woman" has given her career just such a break.

"It's a good picture and a good part," Beverly told me over a salad luncheon in Beverly Hills yesterday. "It's a big fat dream come true."

"When you look back on your life it's strange how the very thing you cried over in your teens becomes a big asset. That's what happened to me," Beverly confessed. "My childhood tragedy was that I shot up faster and taller than any girl in my class. There I was flitting with six feet, wearing flats, slumping and being tremendously unhappy. One of the most tragic things which can happen to an adolescent is to feel abnormal."

"But," Beverly added, "the fact that I was tall got me a job in Billy Rose's 'Diamond Horse Shoe' and you have no idea what it did to me psychologically. To be the shortest girl in his line of 'glamorous' I found too, that by changing my attitude toward my extra inches I was no longer uncomfortable around men who were shorter, and they didn't seem to mind either."

"Now that I'm looking on the bright side of being tall I realize that I can wear practically everything. And it's no longer a problem to find clothes because they are including tall sizes in most lines."

Beverly's hair is platinum blond which is quite a striking contrast to her dark eyes.

"I wouldn't get the parts I'm playing if I weren't blond," she confided, "but personally I prefer my natural color. For one thing it's much less trouble and a lot more economical to keep your hair as nature gave it to you."

"I have to have my hair done every five or six days and I have to have constant treatments to keep it from getting dried out and broken," she added. "I can't have permanents now so every night I have to put it up."

"I take it you wouldn't advise a girl going blond," I said.

"Lightening your hair or adding high lights is one thing but for a brunette to try to be blond gives the hair quite a bit of punishment. I have regular scalp treatments, use a conditioner and sit under a heated cap with every bleaching. So if my hair has held up very well," Beverly said as she crossed her fingers. "But if my career didn't depend on blond hair I'd go natural tomorrow."

Stronger Insurance Laws Loom As Big Problem For Legislature

By BO BYERS
AUSTIN (AP)—Strengthening of Texas insurance laws was projected as a major problem for the next Legislature to be following, a scathing court attack on abuse and lack of enforcement of present insurance statutes.

State Insurance Board Chairman Garland A. Smith, agreeing with the 3rd Court of Civil Appeals that it has been too easy for insurance firms to organize in Texas, said he has drafted six bills he thinks will remedy the situation. The court fired its blast yesterday in a decision which said the Texas Mutual Insurance Co. could not assess certain policyholders an extra year's premiums to meet claims of 6,000 claimants totaling more than $1,200,000.

The ruling reversed a district court judgment which had been granted the then State Insurance Commissioner, W. J. Knox. The trial court order would have permitted an assessment equal to one annual premium against policyholders of the firm who had a policy in force during the period from Feb. 14, 1952, to Feb. 13, 1953.

Associate Justice Robert G. Hughes, author of an opinion concurring with the main opinion of the appellate court, said the Texas Mutual case "is a typical case of insurance fraud and abuse of our insurance laws and gross if not criminal laxness in their enforcement."

Smith, who was not a member of the insurance board at the time Texas Mutual was first authorized to do business, said his department needs three times as many examiners as it now has to keep tabs on the state's 1,894 insurance companies. He said the department also should be given enough funds to pay the kind of salaries needed to attract better personnel.

To gain better control over organization of insurance firms, Smith said he will recommend legislation that would:

1. Require real estate boards to make appraisals on all properties that insurance companies may enter into their assets column.
2. Prevent fraudulent claims as to financial status based on short-term bank loans payable on demand.
3. Control investments by insurance companies.
4. Place the sale of insurance company stock under the State Securities Act.
5. Give the insurance board better control over policy forms.
6. Increase the capital structure required for a company to organize.

Smith said essentially the same recommendations had been made to the Legislature in the past by the late George B. Butler, who was chairman of the board at the time Texas Mutual was approved to do business.

Judge Hughes' opinion dealt at length with the trial record regarding circumstances surrounding a $436,000 valuation placed on a Beaumont office building which Texas Mutual secured Aug. 5, 1949.

The actual consideration for the deed was $100,000, all notes, no cash, Hughes observed. Texas Mutual assumed a $40,000 debt and gave notes to the balance to the vendors, David E. O'Neil and Emmett E. Langham of Beaumont.

Paul and Leslie Lowry, as president and secretary, respectively, of the Texas Mutual, advised the insurance board Aug. 8, 1949, they had jointly advanced their company $336,000. Attached to this certificate was an appraisal of the office building at a "present market value" of $436,000.

"Just how this property which mushroomed in value so fast was valued and how approval of such value by the insurance board was obtained with such ease and dispatch brings into focus the part played by State Senator and Attorney William T. Moore of Bryan," wrote Hughes.

He then quoted trial testimony to show that Moore had conferred with Butler concerning the property appraisal matter.

Moore, who had testified he thought he presented the appraisal to Chief Examiner L. W. Blanchard, told the Associated Press by telephone yesterday he had "merely followed the law as I saw it" in securing the appraisal.

The law now requires only that two freeholders make the appraisal. Moore said he had had three freeholders make the appraisal for Texas Mutual.

"I did not see the property. I do not hold myself out as an expert on real estate matters," said Moore. "All I had was some sworn appraisals which I assumed were authentic. All I did was act as a messenger boy in delivering the appraisal to the insurance board."

Moore said he did not feel he had committed "any moral wrong."

Moore, who was appointed chairman of the Senate Insurance Committee by Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey last year, said he had talked to former insurance board chairman Butler and later to Smith, the present chairman, about "the need for revision and strengthening" of the appraisal law.

"I think it should be done and will be done at the next session of the Legislature," he said.

OUR C-C Relations With Military Are Rated Excellent

The Big Spring Chamber of Commerce has extended every courtesy to Webb Air Force Base, according to Col. Fred M. Dean, base commander.

"Relations between the base and the Chamber of Commerce are excellent," he stated. "The Chamber has been most helpful to the base, and we in the military in turn have attempted to cooperate with the Chamber in every way."

Negotiations between the two groups fall into three categories, Col. Dean pointed out. They are (1) ways in which the Chamber can help the base, (2) things the base can do to help the Chamber, and (3) projects of mutual interest.

The base commander cites the Chamber's assistance in obtaining a housing development here as an aid to the base. The Monticello and Banks additions, when built, provided sufficient houses at a reasonable price, Col. Dean said.

The Chamber has also assisted the base in obtaining graduation speakers, by entertaining visiting dignitaries, through support to school improvements, and with establishment of recreational assists for service men, Col. Dean pointed out.

The Chamber of Commerce has cooperated with the base relative to the Air Force non-segregation policy and has assisted with racial problems. Chamber officials have also been behind recreational facilities for Negroes on the north side of town.

Webb Air Force Base furnishes its band for any civic occasion possible and cooperates in campaigns being sponsored by the Chamber, the colonel said. For example, Scouts were recently entertained on the base, and airmen cleaned up several down-town lots in the clean-up campaign.

United Fund and blood drives are examples of base cooperation in programs which are of mutual interest to the Chamber and Webb, Dean pointed out. "We will assist the community in any way possible within our governing regulations."

Col. Dean stated that he is confident of a continuance of the friendly relations which now exist between the residents of the area and base personnel.

"We realize that the area has been hard hit by the drought, and we are happy that our $200,000 monthly payroll plus $250,000 in monthly local purchases, has been able to help in the crisis," he stated. "We hope that as the drought subsides our payroll will continue to aid a prosperous community."

Projects which Dean would like to see the Chamber support include another housing development, a direct access road from Webb to the Monticello Addition, additional school facilities, and a school transportation system.

The base commander believes that another housing shortage is at hand. If a new housing project is constructed, he hopes to see it on the west side of town near the base. A direct access road to Monticello Addition would enable base personnel living there to travel the distance to and from work in much less time and greater traffic safety, he said.

President Eisenhower Signs Seaway Measure

By JAMES C. MUNN
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower signed the St. Lawrence seaway bill today in a White House ceremony.

"Now work can begin on the great project," the President declared as he put his signature to the measure which sets in motion a plan to bring ocean trade into the heart of the American continent.

The bitterly contested seaway legislation finally cleared Congress last Friday after a 30-year struggle.

The measure authorizes the United States to join Canada in building a waterway deep enough to let ocean ships sail from the Atlantic as far inland as Toledo, Ohio, by going up the St. Lawrence River to the Great Lakes.

Engineers figure it will take about six years to complete the project. There is talk about extending the ocean channel all the way to Duluth, Minn., at the end of Lake Superior, but this will require further congressional action.

The seaway idea has been endorsed by every president beginning with Woodrow Wilson. Eisenhower has supported the project on grounds it would help both this nation's economy and its security.

The 46-mile rapids, beginning near Ogdensburg, N.Y., will also be dammed to permit construction of a vast 600-million-dollar electric power plant. This is a separate project being undertaken by New York state and the province of Ontario.

Without the power project, the seaway would not be economically practical.

The seaway bill passed the House a week ago today. The Senate, which took similar action in January, concurred Friday in minor amendments made by the House.

Widow Weeps In Murder Case Trial

MARSHALL (AP)—Testimony in a murder trial here had to be recessed yesterday when the widow of the slain man broke down, sobbing, on the witness stand and a physician attended her.

Danish Mass Nuptials Out

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP)—Thirty Danish civil servants who planned to marry for money, then divorce at once, have called off arrangements for the mass nuptials. Last-minute parliamentary action gave them hope of higher pay by less dramatic methods.

"We part as friends and are only too glad," said Verner Overoe, organizer of the wedding project.

The 15 men and 15 women decided to call the whole thing off last night at a meeting called for signing necessary papers for a three-minute ceremony followed by mass divorce.

The mass wedding was planned as a protest against government regulations giving higher wages to married or divorced employees.

In Parliament yesterday, Finance Minister Viggo Kampmann accepted a resolution which would make it impossible for Overoe's group to get any financial advantage from the momentary marriage.

But Kampmann also promised higher pay for some categories of civil servants and promised to consider equalizing pay for single and married employees.

"The politicians freed us of the unpleasant task," Overoe, a customs officer, said. "They made our action useless and at the same time gave us a bit of what we wanted."

A Bible Thought For Today

Recipe For Custom-Made High Temperatures Was Hickory Tea

A clinical thermometer is a handy thing to have around, but all too often it becomes a tyrant in the household. Every time little Boso becomes flushed with over-exercise, or slightly off his food, mama applies the thermometer, discovers the pointer has moved upward from that more or less arbitrary 98.6 degrees, and proceeds to call the family doctor from his golf game—or quite possibly from the bedside of some really sick patient.

General Mark Clark, on occasion, breaks through the conspiracy of cover-up which is so characteristic of government officials and particularly officers of the Army. The cover-up is a disease in our society. Men who know of specific wrongs are torn between loyalty to the corps and loyalty to the country. To many of them, the greatest crime is to damage the corps, the better one believing that ultimately they will find a way to cure the ills of which they are conscious. The evidence is that no group succeeds in cleansing itself without pressure from outside.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States is in a jam in Indochina. Part of it, or all of it, may fall to the Communists. Unless the Western world can find a way to prevent it, all Southeast Asia may go the same way.

said of the attitude of the Vietnamese: "In this war refugee-swollen city of more than 500,000 . . . the people seem to be unconcerned whether the Vietminh or the French are winning or can win."

The Chinese just had to pour in supplies and specialists to help direct the fight. Now the French are groggy. Dulles talked behind closed doors to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee yesterday.

Today And Tomorrow—Walter Lippmann

Navarre Plan Placed Too Much Confidence In The Viet Namese

Although they could hardly be a worse moment than this to make a re-appraisal of the position and prospects in Southeast Asia, there are a few fundamentals which must be taken into account before we can form a new policy.

lacking manpower—unless the Chinese intervened directly. This basic hypothesis of the French strategists accounts also for the miscalculation which produced the tragedy — the glory but the tragedy — of Dien Bien Phu.

Soldiers Always Think They Are Being 'Took'

NEW YORK (AP) — During the American Revolution a considerable number of Frenchmen, following Lafayette's example, came over here as volunteer fighters for freedom.

more than a century and a half later, served in France during the Second World War were equally disillusioned—and on the same point. They felt more like victims than liberating heroes.

"We figured the French would roll out the welcome mats," they wrote back home. "But you have to count your fingers every time you shake hands with these Jokers."

What was the Navarre plan and what went wrong with it? There is available a description of it in the March issue of the French magazine "Realities". The article is by Mr. Raymond Aron, who is a highly informed and responsible journalist.

The other thing that went wrong with it was that the military value of the Viet Namese battalions had been greatly overrated — both their political reliability and their will to fight. Because of the censorship we do not know the whole of that story, including the whole story of Dien Bien Phu, and we have not seen the end of the story in the Red River Delta.

Unyielding Attitude Of Reds May Solidify The West Again

GENEVA — The completely unyielding all-or-nothing attitude of the Chinese and Russian delegations on Korea is having its inevitable effect. The Western Powers have begun to close ranks as the hope cherished by some of these powers of a decent compromise fades to nothingness.

Wooten Firm Handles Any Moving Task

Furniture can be moved to any point in the United States or Canada through the services offered by Wooten Transfer and Storage Company.

And people contacting the firm can be assured that their furniture will receive the best in care while being moved, according to owner and operator Harvey P. Wooten.

Safety is also assured as Wooten has the Big Spring agency of the Rocky Ford Van Lines, one of the most reputable of nationwide operators.

The transfer company is located at 805 East 2nd, and phone number is 4-7741 during business hours and 4-6292 at night. Free estimates will be made on cost of moving.

Storage facilities are available for practically any item, from a trunk to complete household furnishings. Wooten says he has plenty of room in his warehouse, and guarantees that no damage will come to the items while stored.

No job is too small for Wooten to tackle when it comes to moving. A full crew of expert personnel is on hand to pack and crate items to be transferred.

Furniture to be moved is covered by insurance, Wooten said.

McMahon Sets Quick Service On Concrete

More and more contractors are finding they can save time on tight construction schedules, as well as a lot of unnecessary worry, by getting their concrete from Clyde McMahon, Big Spring.

McMahon supplies ready-mix concrete and other construction supplies from a modern new plant at 809 North Benton (the Snyder Highway).

Contractors find that by simply calling McMahon (Dial 2-2132) for their concrete when they get ready for it, they save both time and what is often unnecessary expense involved in rounding up men, materials and equipment for mixing on the job.

McMahon ready-mix is prepared with the latest in equipment according to exacting standards which assure durability and permanence of construction. The McMahon plant mixes concrete to the individual contractor's order or to specifications worked out for various types of construction in the laboratory.

Highest quality is assured because nothing but the finest materials are used. Clean sand and gravel are used in the preparation of every batch of concrete so that there is no crumbling or other weaknesses.

McMahon maintains a large fleet of mixing trucks for the delivery of concrete to any point in the area. Recently, the trucks have been hauling ready-mix to a project at Lake J. B. Thomas as well as to other construction sites throughout the area.

The big mixers keep the concrete thoroughly mixed en route to the job, assuring contractors of the same high-standard concrete they would mix right on the job.

Contractors aren't the only ones favoring McMahon concrete. Many homeowners, with driveways, retaining walls or similar projects, call for the ready-mix for their jobs.

McMahon also supplies washed sand and gravel and paving aggregate for various types of construction. The paving aggregate is used for driveways and off-street parking, as well as for road construction.

Oldster Doubts Stamina Of Today

TULSA, Okla. (AP)—Loby Torres, 109-year-old veteran of the Spanish-American War from Enid, Okla., took off yesterday on his first airplane ride with a comment about longevity.

Sea Returns Rodeo Bronco To Owners

CAROLINA BEACH, N. C. (AP)—The sea has returned an escaped rodeo bronco to the men who pursued it for four days.

The body of the big red roan was found here Saturday washed up on the beach in an end to the long chase.

The horse leaped into the sea Tuesday and swam until it disappeared beyond the horizon.

Its owner said he had intended to turn the animal out to pasture if it ever returned.

The Outer Banks area where it escaped is famous for its wild horses — but no one knows what the horse was seeking in the sea.

The bridle was still on the animal's head.

North Carolina's Senator Hoey, Old Style Gentleman, Succumbs

By LEWIS GULICK
 WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Clyde R. Hoey of North Carolina, an "old school" Southern gentleman who spent a lifetime in newspapering, law and politics, died yesterday. He was 78.

Distinguished by a courtly manner, flowing white hair and frock coat, he had served in the Senate since 1945 after a term as governor of his state. He was probably best known for his chairmanship of the subcommittee which investigated the 5 percent scandals in the Truman administration.

Hoey was the fifth senator to die in this Congress. One of the five, Sen. Willis Smith, was also a North Carolina Democrat.

The Senate lineup now stands at 47 Democrats, 47 Republicans and 1 Independent. A Democrat will doubtless be named to fill Hoey's place.

Dr. George W. Calver, physician to Congress, said Hoey apparently suffered a stroke and died in his sleep yesterday afternoon. He was found seated at his office desk, not long after he had attended a lengthy committee session.

"He went the way he wished," said an aide, who recalled the senator saying that when he died he hoped it would come suddenly and while he was active.

William B. Umstead, North Carolina's Democratic governor, will name Hoey's successor. Unofficial speculation centered on Gress Cherry of Gastonia, a former governor, and Carlisle Higgins of Winston-Salem, a Democratic national committeeman. Umstead himself had no comment.

Tall, slightly stoop-shouldered and sharp-featured, Hoey was a picture on Capitol Hill of the legislator of bygone years. He had glowing white hair and a courtly manner. He wore a frock coat, high-topped shoes, a high collar and old-fashioned ties. He sported a fresh carnation in his lapel every day.

Born at Shelby, N.C., Dec. 11, 1877, he set out in the business world at age 12 as a printer's assistant. Four years later he bought a county paper, which he edited and published for the next 14 years.

Meanwhile, he studied law and began his way up in politics. He won election to the State House of Representatives in 1906, to the State Senate in 1902, was appointed an assistant U.S. attorney in 1913. In 1920 he served briefly in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Then he returned to law practice for 15 years, served as governor from 1937 to 1941 and then came to the U.S. Senate, where he remained until his death.

He will be buried at Shelby Saturday afternoon.

O. J. Turnbow Jr. and Ray C. Smith were brought to Malone & Hogan Hospital in Big Spring for treatment. Turnbow was not hospitalized.

Smith suffered chest injuries, cuts and abrasions. Turnbow received a cut on his face and other minor injuries.

Highway Patrol officers said the car Smith was driving collided with a Caprock Electric Co-op truck at the intersection of the Snyder Highway and a county road. The truck started to turn left off the highway as the car prepared to pass. Both vehicles were going toward Snyder.

Driver of the truck was Robert Edward Lee, Stanton, the officers said. Neither he nor a passenger, Gus Jenkins, was injured. Smith and Turnbow were brought to the hospital in an Eberley-River ambulance.

C-City Lake At New High

COLORADO CITY — Lake Colorado City rose to a record high Wednesday when it was gauged at 3 p.m. at 2065.65 feet above sea level. The previous high in the Texas Electric Lake was Sept. 21, 1953, when the lake measured 2065.22.

Estimates placed the water in the lake at more than 8 billions of gallons with the crest slightly more than 4 feet from the spillway. The spillway is set at 2070 FASL.

The catch was 7.3 feet of water, resulting from rains on the West-brook-Coahoma vicinity.

Miller Convicted; Gets Two Years

Juan Miller was found guilty by a jury in 118th District Court Wednesday afternoon on charges of assault with intent to murder.

The jury assessed his punishment at two years in the penitentiary.

Miller was charged in connection with the shooting of Victor Yanez at the Central Cafe on Feb. 27. Yanez was struck in the abdomen by a bullet and was hospitalized for 20 days.

The jury was out approximately an hour before reporting its verdict.

It was the third conviction in 118th District Court this week. Earlier, Thomas Ray Taylor and Donald Eugene Robinson were found guilty on burglary charges and each was assessed 15 years in the penitentiary.

Truman Hits Administration For 'Creeping McKinleyism'

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. — President Truman accused the Eisenhower administration today of following an economic policy of "creeping McKinleyism." He suggested six steps he said would "carry us far toward full employment within a year."

Truman did not explain the phrase "creeping McKinleyism"—an obvious parallel to the words "creeping socialism" which President Eisenhower has applied to some "Fair Deal" measures.

President McKinley was notably conservative on economic issues, and his name is often used by Democratic orators as a symbol for reaction.

In an address prepared for the CIO Amalgamated Clothing Workers annual convention, he said the administration seems to be "merely hoping and praying that things will not get still worse," and recommended:

1. Increasing federal spending by about three billion dollars a year to strengthen defenses against aggression and to meet needs for power and resource development, public works and roads, education, health and housing.
2. Raising personal income tax exemptions from the present $600 to $800, which would cut taxes about 4 1/2 billions yearly, or combining some such increase with "equitable readjustments" in tax rates.
3. Tossing "out of the nearest window" Secretary of Agriculture Benson's plan for flexible farm price supports and substituting a program to "support true parity" of income for the farmer.
4. A "clean-cut policy" favoring a rising level of wages, including an increase in the federally required minimum wage to bring the standard "into line with present-day conditions." He said also the government should not try to "weaken collective bargaining by repressive labor legislation."
5. Expansion of unemployment insurance to provide broader coverage, payments for a longer period, and larger benefits. He said the administration program consists merely of exhorting the states to do what everybody knows they will not do without federal action.
6. An expanded housing program, including federal leadership to double the annual rate of home building as rapidly as possible. He said the administration goal of a million houses a year is about equal to the number of houses built in 1925.

"The Republican orators told us in 1952," the former President said, "that they were going to cure the world situation, and achieve peace, and slash defense. They said they were going to give us real peacetime prosperity. 'Well, they haven't been very successful at it.'"

"The world situation is just as critical and dangerous as it ever was, if not more so. Obviously, a change of administration here does not change the problems of Asia and Europe or the minds of men in the Kremlin."

"And instead of having peacetime prosperity, the Republicans have given us a recession."

Truman said this "economic recession" is still here, has already been too big and lasted too long, and that it is time to do something about it, lest this country runs into a "real depression."
