Police Fire On India Mobs To End Widespread Rioting

By JOHN HLAVACEK
BOMBAY, India, Jan. 21—UP—Police fired Saturday on frenzied mobs whose wave of rioting, arson and looting threatened to spread across the sub-continent to Calcutta.

An official announcement said 18 persons died Saturday, raising the death toll to 48 for the five days of demonstrating against Premier Nehru. Two persons were shot to death in a suburban area of Bombay and 16 others succumbed to wounds they received in past days. A woman was shot to death in Calcutta.

More than 50 Hurt
Injured Some 2,200 persons have been injured. Some 2,200 persons have been arrested.

There were mounting demands for the resignation of Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru among the frenzied mobs demonstrating against the government's plan to revise state boundaries.

Terrified residents fled Bombay or took refuge in camps opened by welfare agencies. Many pawnbrokers and money-lenders, favorite targets of the demonstrators, evacuated their homes.

Curfew Extended
Bombay Police Commissioner K. D. Bilimoria, who blamed the Communists for the riots extended the darkness curfew until next Tuesday. The ban on the assembly of five or more persons was extended for two weeks.

Police were said to be under orders to "shoot to kill" at any violators of the emergency decrees. The government was reported considering using troops reinforcements for the Bombay area.

"Fight unto Death"
Some 10,000 men and women assembled in Calcutta Saturday night and pledged a "fight unto death if necessary" to get the government to change its re-districting measures. If their demands are not met, their spokesmen warned, they will take actions "thrice as big as Bombay's."

All the Baptist Churches in Gray County are joining forces with the dry movement as part of a seven-county project to promote prohibition in the Panhandle.

The movement is expected to sweep through the seven Panhandle counties in which the sale of alcoholic beverages is now legal—Potter, Moore, Oldham, Dallam, Hutchinson, Carson, and Gray.

A temporary organization has been set up, with John Christy, director of music and education at the Central Baptist Church, acting as temporary chairman. L. P. Fort, who is chairman of the citizenship committee, is spearheading the "Pay Your Poll-Tax Drive" now being conducted in the county.

Fort presided over a session held in Johnson's Cafe Thursday noon to discuss the poll-tax situation. In a round-table discussion the possibility of conducting a local option election this year was considered.

Plans were discussed for an initial organizational meeting to be held Feb. 12 in the First Baptist Church, at which time the keynote speaker will be O. F. Dingler, associate executive-secretary of Texas Alcohol - Narcotic Education, Inc. Dingler, who recently spoke before a mass meeting in Borger, suggested that the prohibition group there get Saturday, May 13, as the wet-dry election day.

Chairmen have been appointed in each of the participating churches—which includes the Pentecostal Holiness Church, the First Assembly of God, Lefors Methodist Church, the Church of God in Christ, and the Bethel Assembly of God Church—to contact church members and to encourage them to pay their poll tax before Jan. 31.

The movement started over a year ago, according to Fort, but the situation was left unresolved. At a meeting of between 75-80 pastors and laymen about two weeks ago in the Calvary Baptist Church, he said, it was felt that alcohol could be voted out of Gray County.

During the mass meeting at the church, organization will be completed for an all-out drive, and about 1,000 persons are expected to attend, he said.

Indications are that the wet forces will join in a counter-campaign, but no organized effort is apparent at this time.

"If all the Christian people will go to the polls and vote, it will be a deluge," said Fort. At least 25-per cent of qualified voters, who voted in the last presidential election, must pay their poll tax in order for the election to be called this year. A signed petition will also be necessary to call the election.

Those attending the session Thursday included: Carroll B. Ray, pastor of the Central Baptist Church; Dr. E. Douglas Carver and J. R. Stroble of the First Baptist Church; Ennis Hill, pastor of the Calvary Baptist; J. B. Caldwell, Pentecostal Holiness; J. N. Haynes, Church of God in Christ; J. R. Marib, Fellowship Baptist; Wesley Daniel, Lefors Methodist; J. E. Neely, First Assembly of God Church; O. E. Eldridge, Bethel Assembly of God; James E. Harrell, Harrah Methodist; O. C. Gilbert, Church of God, and Thurman Upshaw, Lefors Baptist.

The last county-wide election held to legalize the sale of all liquors was in December of 1935, according to County Clerk Charlie Thut. Returns of this election, which covered all 17 precincts in the county, were canvassed as follows: 677—for the legalized sale; and 497—against the sale of liquor.

In May of 1941, a wet-dry election was held in Precinct 5 (McLean and Alameda) with the returns as follows: for prohibition—209, against prohibition—78. Another election was held on March 11 of 1944 in Precinct 1 at Lefors. Canvassed returns showed 235 for the sale of liquor and 87 against.

Prohibition was also rejected in an election held in Precinct 3 in 1938.

SNOWLAND?

Harvester Park looked like a real snowland following the recent snows. The football field was a solid blanket of white. STATE DEPARTMENT SAYS

Reds Threaten War To Force U. S. To Abandon Formosa

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21—UP—The State Department accused Red China Saturday of holding "the threat of war" over the Far East in an effort to force the United States to abandon the defense of Formosa.

It also demanded that Red China make good on its "overdue" promise to release 13 American civilians still held in Communist prisons.

The department issued a caustic, 1,200-word statement blaming the Communists for lack of progress in the Far East peace talks which U.S. and Chinese ambassadors have been conducting at Geneva, Switzerland, since last fall.

Weather
WEST TEXAS—Mostly cloudy with some scattered light rain, except for the Panhandle where snow is likely. Sunday, Monday partly cloudy and cold.

The American blast was prompted by what the State Department called a "misleading statement" about the Geneva talks issued last Wednesday by the Red Chinese ambassador, Wang Pin-Nan. Wang accused the United States of stalling in the negotiations. He said his country had offered to renounce use of force in international disputes, but would not include Formosa in such a declaration because it considers Formosa an internal Chinese problem.

Asserting "it is necessary that record be set straight," the U.S. statement gave the account of the Geneva negotiations:

1. The United States has sought to remove "the threat of war" by proposing a formal agreement in which both countries would renounce use of force in the Far East, and "particularly" in the Formosa area. This country insisted the agreement make clear that each side retained "the right of self-defense" against attack.
2. Red China countered by offering to renounce force in general terms, but refused to apply the no-war pledge to Formosa. This stand, the department said, made Red China's offer of "no value" since Formosa is "the very place against which the Communist threats (of war) are directed."
3. Red China also contended that Formosa is "Chinese territory" and that the United States therefore has no "right of defense" in that area. The State Department said this seems to mean the Communists are "willing to renounce force only if they are first conceded the goals for which they would use force"—namely, forcing the United States to abandon the defense of the island now occupied by Chiang Kai-Shek's Chinese Nationalists.

While proclaiming these conditions absolutely "unacceptable" to this country, the department said "the United States intends to persist in the way of peace." It made clear this country's readiness to continue the Geneva negotiations and said: "We shall seek with perseverance a meaningful renunciation of force, particularly in the Taiwan (Formosa) area."

Visibility was low as fog rolled over the area and the humidity was very high, with a large amount of precipitation in the air. Ice, sleet, and snow were forecast for this morning with a low of 25 and a high today of 28. The low last night was about 28 degrees. The still, cold air and snow were generally spread throughout the Great Plains area.

Solon Hits Gas Bill

By HERBERT FOSTER
WASHINGTON, Jan. 21—UP—Sen. Alexander Wiley (R-Wis.) said Saturday the natural gas bill in the Senate "is a sham and a farce, providing no real protection to consumers."

The House-passed measure would exempt independent natural gas producers from federal controls ordered by the supreme court in a June 7, 1954, decision. The Senate opened debate on the measure last Monday.

Wiley said in his weekly newsletter that the bill must be amended to provide tight standards for rate control to protect the consumer.

Would Free Producers
Tight controls are what the bill backers want to avoid. The measure would free independent producers from direct federal control.

of the price of gas sold for interstate movement, so long as it is sold at the "fair market price" in the field.

Wiley's junior colleague, Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) inserted a statement in the Senate record Friday which said he is supporting the bill because it is in the public interest. McCarthy said continued federal control would result in "less and less" gas and be "a step toward socializing our entire economy."

No Protection
Sen. Paul H. Douglas (D-Ill.) said the measure would offer no protection to consumers. In the fifth day of what promised to be a marathon speech against the bill, he told the Senate Friday that the fair market price could be set only by sales of gas for use within the producing state. Such sales are not subject to federal regulation.

Douglas charged the measure would add $600 million a year to bills of the nation's gas users. His "facts" were disputed by the bill's co-author, Sen. J. W. Fulbright (D-Ark.). Fulbright called Douglas' speech a "masterpiece of inaccuracy and exaggeration."

He accused Douglas of "ignoring" a provision for Federal Power Commission review of price hikes in pipeline companies' contracts with gas producers.

The bill squeaked through the House last year by a 208-203 vote. It has divided Senate Democrats from producing and consuming states, Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas believes he has enough votes to pass it.

The final vote may not come for two or three weeks.

2,384 Poll Tax Receipts Issued

A total of 2,384 poll tax receipts has been issued through Friday with 790 exemptions given, according to Jack Back, county tax collector.

This figure shows an increase of 288 receipts since Thursday and 33 exemptions.

According to a call recently received from Attorney General John Ben Shepperd, those who are on active duty with the National Guard will pay only $1, instead of the regular $1.75 poll tax. All members of the reserves and all veterans who have been discharged within the past 18 months, are also due to pay poll tax.

Senator Says Criticism Can Help U. S. Foreign Policy

By WARREN DUFFEE
WASHINGTON, Jan. 21—UP—Sen. Walter F. George said Saturday that a constructive review of U.S. foreign policy "can be most helpful if criticism is kept on a high plane."

"Personalities should be eliminated so far as possible," he told the United Press in an interview.

The Georgia Democrat, influential chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations committee, said that "if discussions are to be on a purely personal basis, I question whether very much good can result."

The remarks were George's most direct comment to date on the controversy raging around Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' "brink-of-war" statements in a Life magazine article.

Luce Enters Controversy
Henry H. Luce, Life's editor-in-chief, issued a statement Saturday defending Dulles for remarking that ability to reach the brink of war without falling over is part of the art of diplomacy.

"There is nothing in Secretary Dulles' words which is contrary to common sense," Luce said. "For the secretary is stating in vivid

Solon To Ask Government To Buy Beef

By VINCENT J. BURKE
WASHINGTON, Jan. 21—UP—Rep. Ben E. Jensen (R-Ia.) said Saturday he will ask the administration at a White House conference Monday to start a beef buying program big enough to raise sagging cattle prices.

He said he also will ask the government to step up its current pork purchases sufficiently to give the hog market a big financial lift.

Hog Buying Program
Rep. H. Carl Andersen (R-Minn.) said, meantime, that at a big GOP congressional conference with Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson on Wednesday he will call for an entirely new hog buying program to increase prices about 25 per cent.

Jensen is one of the 10 members of Iowa's congressional delegation, all Republican, who will talk with White House staff members Monday on the farm price problem. Andersen is one of more than 30 Republican house members from nine states who will confer with Benson on the same subject Wednesday.

The congressmen planned their strategy coincident with these developments:

Congress Warned
1. Cattlemen and dairy farmers warned that congress must provide iron-clad safeguards to make sure grain acreage diverted under President Eisenhower's proposed soil bank is not used to feed unneeded beef and dairy cattle.

2. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) accused the administration of asking congress to get rid of surpluses—and reduce acreage "without the slightest guidance from the administration as to what they mean by surplus." He said the president's national security council should determine what supply levels of farm commodities should be maintained "for immediate needs and potential emergency needs."

Soil Bank Program
3. Sen. George D. Aiken (Vt.), ranking Republican on the Senate Agriculture Committee, said the administration's soil bank program to increase farm income and cut surpluses would be largely cash transactions for the first year or two and "it's not going to be cheap."

Fire swept the Darlings' home Friday but the kitten's cries awakened Mrs. Darling and she fled safely with two sons.

They moved in with neighbors—petting and praising the kitten.

Then kitty tried to make a meal of the neighbor's parakeet.

Now the hero is in exile—at the home of a relative of Mrs. Darling.

Precinct 5, Potter, Roberts Counties, Lefors Vote No

In a light vote Saturday, Gray County, with the exception of Lefors and outlying areas, okayed the creation of an under-ground water district.

Over 1,500 persons voted in the election in the six counties, with a total of 419 approving formation of the district and 389 voting "no" on district formation. Voting on the question of a tax levy not to exceed five cents per $100 tax valuation for financing operation of the district were 375 who voted yes and 400 who disapproved.

The formation of the district was okayed in Precinct 1 except for Potter County, by a landslide vote in Precinct 2 (Panhandle and Carson County); Precinct 3 (White Deer and Groom); and part of Precinct 4 (made up of Pampa, Groom, Kingsmill, Grandview, and Lefors). Donley and Armstrong Counties in Precinct 5 vetoed formation of the district by a 27-296 count, and declared disapproval of the tax levy by 18-294 votes.

The vote was heaviest in Precinct 5 with a total of 635 ballots cast.

The issue did not carry in Miami and Roberts County while the results here show that Pampa approves formation of the district and the tax evaluation. In the rural vote the tax levy was vetoed but the district approved. Lefors opposed formation of the district. John Hartley was named director of the precinct with 119 votes. There were three write-ins.

Bridge Falls, 5 Die

HEMPSTEAD, Tex., Jan. 21—UP—John Hoff, a Texas Highway Department steel engineer and one of five men who rode a collapsing bridge across the Brazos River to their doom Friday, told a relative a week ago that the bridge wasn't safe and he was afraid of it.

Jimmy Jones, a police skin diver, went into the bitterly cold river Saturday and brought up the body of Bill Bethea, 24, another of the five missing men. The body was partly pinned to the bottom by a huge "T" beam.

Million Pound Weight
The "T" beam was part of 1 million pounds of concrete and steel that crashed into the river, about 12 feet deep, from a height of 75 feet. The part that collapsed was 180 feet long. Five men standing on it were lost. Seven others survived, though three of them were injured.

Karl Hoff of Bellville, Tex., who was John Hoff's second cousin, disclosed that John Hoff told him last week that he felt the construction of the bridge was not safe. He said construction was behind schedule, the job was being rushed and he was afraid to go out on it.

State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer declined to comment on Hoff's statement. But he said that he had ordered the wreckage left where it was and sent two investigators to the scene to determine how it happened.

When Jones brought the body of Bethea to the river bank Saturday, his father, D. G. Bethea, general superintendent for the Austin Bridge Co., was waiting to look at it. "That's my boy," he cried, and broke down.

Rightwing Leader In France Fined

PARIS, Jan. 21—UP—Pierre Poujade, extreme rightwing leader of France's anti-tax movement, was fined 500,000 francs ($1,428) Saturday for libeling outgoing National Assembly President Pierre Schmitter.

Poujade was convicted specifically of repeating libels made by one of his lieutenants during the recent French election campaign.

It was the second blow suffered by Poujade in two days. A credentials committee of the new assembly recommended Friday night that the chamber invalidate the election of four of the 51 Poujadists who won seats in the Chamber of Deputies. Similar rulings may also apply to eight others.

The libel suit was brought against Poujade for repeating charges made by Leon DuPont during the campaign. DuPont said the dead brother of the outgoing assembly president was involved in the theft of resistance funds during World War II.

He also said that Schmitter himself was involved in the murder of a woman who knew about the alleged theft.

Poujade defended himself against the charge in court last week, but neither he nor Schmitter was present Saturday to hear Judge Andre Pivronnie hand down his guilty verdict. They were represented by attorneys.

Included in the sentence was a symbolic one-franc damages to Schmitter. The National Assembly president is a member of the Catholic Popular Republican (MRP) party and plans to run for the post again next week against a Poujadist candidate.

DuPont was fined 500,000 ($1,428) in an earlier trial.

"Then it turned and threw me off. Just then I heard a loud pop and the whole bridge seemed to come crashing down, the next thing I knew, I hit the water 75 feet below with a crash. I swam out under my own power."

Troubles Hit Orchestra In Pampa

Frank Gittelson, assistant concert master of the Boston Pops Orchestra, which performed here Thursday night, was unavoidably detained in Pampa for a few days as a result of an arm injury. While walking from the Pampa Hotel to the Junior High Auditorium, he fell over a car jack and fractured his arm.

He was admitted to Worley Hospital where he will remain for the next few days. His condition was described as "good" by the attending physician, and Gittelson is expected to return to his home in New York City upon his release.

Arthur Fiedler, conductor of the orchestra who stayed here at the Pampa Hotel, said that Gittelson was an exceptional violin player and very important to the orchestra. He expressed concern over his condition, staying over in Pampa until 11 a.m. Friday. Fiedler said that he did not know how the orchestra could continue without the help of Gittelson.

Fiedler, who drove into town Thursday afternoon, had his own troubles. He burned out the transmission on his Cadillac, having it repaired here.

The orchestra left Pampa Thursday night for a concert in Clovis, N.M., returning to Texas for a stop in Amarillo last night. They were scheduled to perform in Albuquerque today, in Roswell tomorrow and in Carlsbad Tuesday.

Fire Damages Ford Agency

Tom Rose Ford Motor Co. was damaged by fire Friday about 1:20 p.m. when a blaze broke out around a repair stall in which a station wagon belonging to Mrs. Rose was parked.

Wayne Hopkins, mechanic, was draining the gas tank and looking for a leak when the gasoline ignited, causing a flash fire that virtually demolished the station wagon and caused undetermined damages to the roof of the building.

While the fire was burning, two sharp explosions were heard, but firemen were unable to determine the cause of the blasts, which knocked out a few window-panes near the station wagon.

Hopkins, who was in the middle of the blaze, escaped with minor burns. Several cars and a Phillips Petroleum Co. seismograph truck sustained paint damage.

Fire Chief Ernest Winborne said the Phillips truck would need a new paint job while the other cars will need touching up or cleaning.

FROM SEPARATE WORLDS — Mr. and Mrs. Don George watched two civilizations undergo changes in separate experiences in two hemispheres. The Georges now reside in Pampa. (News Photo)

Pampa Couple Has Double Story Of Different Worlds

By RONALD WATERS
Pampa News Staff Writer

The story of two civilizations in two hemispheres, as changed by the industrialization and progress of a modern and fast-changing world, is told by a young married couple who have lived in Pampa since June of last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Don J. George have each lived an interesting life amidst two different cultures. Mrs. George has served as a personnel worker in the American Red Cross in Calcutta, India, during World War II. He has spent 16 years in the Dutch West Indies with Stanolind Oil Co. (of New Jersey), where he was stationed at Aruba, at the largest oil refinery in the world. Each has been a share of progress and change.

Mrs. George recounts the time served as assistant to the director of personnel for the China-Burma-India Theatre in interesting terms. While living in New York City in 1944, she decided to go overseas with the Red Cross. She joined the organization and embarked on the M. Randall, with about 5,000 troops and 40 personnel members, for the strange and slowly changing country of India.

While stationed in Calcutta, she took up the job of orientating Red Cross personnel going into China and Burma, offering them courses in the customs of the Chinese, Burmese, and Indians. In the orientation courses, emphasis was put on health and sanitation problems because of the low standard of living. Besides teaching several courses, she also organized dances for the American soldiers and kept personnel records as "another extra-curricular activity."

Land of Contrasts
India was a land of extremes, she recalls, with fabulous wealth on one side and absolute poverty next to it. It is a land of opposites and contrasts with centuries of learning behind the customs of the dignified people.

The Indian Army, at the time, was made up mostly of Gurkas, the fierce-fighting offsprings of Hindus, who became well-known for their knives and their cunning in the woods. The Sikhs were the warriors from the north who now drive taxicabs and act as "gatekeepers." Another group of Indians are the Parsis, the industrialists who have much of the money of India. They are the bankers and the professional men who build the "towers of silence" for burial of the dead to avoid pestilence in time of plague. The Parsis pit the corpses on top of their bones. "Because of lack of space for cemeteries the remains were usually cremated in a religious ceremony."

The caste system is still strictly observed in India, despite the gradual change of customs and slow industrialization and change of the economy on the tradition-laid country. In parts of the country the old law of untouchability is still persistent. Some Indians can not eat with anyone of a lower class nor marry into a lower caste. And the "converted" Christians often hold fast to their old customs and caste ideas.

Only 30 years ago, Mrs. George says, the women would throw themselves on the funeral pyre with their husband's body. This practice had continued for thousands and thousands of years until outlawed by the English.

After years of domination under England and other countries, India now has her chance to make her own way for the first time in history. "Great progress has been made in the past five years," she says, but their Hindu and Muslim factions and their own traditions are still holding back the nation's progress.

Although the country has been invaded at least seven different times, each time the invaders have been absorbed by the people. Mrs. George hopes and believes that the same thing may happen in China, because the Oriental people, unlike Americans, have the ability and stoic quality to wait and to accept conditions as they are with a distant goal in view.

Illiteracy is the major problem of a country where only about 10 percent of the people can read. And the old Buddhist and Hindu doctrine of reincarnation still holds sway. When a person dies, he'll be re-born into a higher or lower caste, according to the type of life he has lived, or his soul may be re-born in the form of an animal according to the belief of many. The Jainist Priests wear masks over their mouths to avoid killing germs and some wear brushes to brush off seats before they sit down in order to avoid killing bugs and other insects.

Don George has a different tale

Shamrock School Census Taken

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Mrs. Huey Cook is now taking the annual census for the Shamrock Independent School District. She served in the same capacity last year. State law required the enumeration of all young people from 6-17 who are resident of the Shamrock District. All persons born after Sept. 1, 1938 and on or before Sept. 1, 1939 are to be included in the count.

The census is to determine the number of eligible children in the District and will be the basis of distribution of state funds appropriated on a per capita basis.

He me his wrl workng in the oil and processing accounting department as assistant to the head of the department in Aruba. She was working in the accounting department a position she accepted after her return to this country in 1947. For the next four years they lived on the island where their first son, Scott, was born.

Aruba is an island, 68 square miles, located off the coast of South America. It is inhabited by about 8,000 persons, most of which work in the refinery. The first inhabitants were descendants of the Dutch, French, and European immigrants. By now the natives have become completely Americanized, living in adobe plaster houses of the simple Dutch style.

Complete facilities, a swimming beach, golf course, hospitals, and houses are available for the employees of the oil co. The country is known as a land of no income tax, but actually the tax is about one-fourth of the tax rate here. While the natives were once a quiet race of fishermen who engaged in deep-sea fishing, they are now a modern group who work for a busy and bustling, expanding American oil co. located in a Dutch colony.

Such is the story of progress.

Better Pay No Coffee

Auto Industry In Lay Off Move

DETROIT, Jan. 21 —UP— The auto industry, anticipating a seasonal buyer slump, has idled some 25,000 production workers in the past month in an effort to right the lop-sided level of supply and demand.

Plymouth division of Chrysler Corp., laid off 10,350 workers Friday, the biggest individual layoff notice announced since the industry started gradually trimming production in mid-December.

Plymouth said 8,350 workers would be laid off in Detroit and 2,000 at two plants at Evansville, Ind.

William J. Bird, Chrysler vice president in charge of the Plymouth division, said production schedules were reduced in order

Marilyn In Revenue Job?

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 —UP— Motion picture star Eric Johnston was "nominated" for president Saturday night and promptly announced that if elected his commissioner of internal revenue will be blonde Marilyn Monroe, aided by Jane Russell.

The mock nomination featured the venerable Alfalfa Club's annual soiree at which Vice President Richard M. Nixon and seven other notables were inducted as new members.

Club members Dwight D. Eisenhower could not be present to see the fun which ran the gamut from friendly jibes at his secretary of state to "candidate" Johnston's crack that his own humble beginning was in "a mere $2-million log cabin" on a movie lot in Culver City, Calif.

The hundreds of members and guests included cabinet members, senators, congressmen, industrialists, supreme court judges and others from all walks of life. Retiring President Thomas W. Brahan surrendered the gavel to his successor, Samuel H. Kauffmann, president of the Evening Star Publishing Company.

No political advice, Johnston grabbed the presidential nomination and started running. "I have searched my soul," said Johnston, "and I say you could not have found a better man, better fitted for the mighty task at 1800 Pennsylvania Avenue (the White House)."

"What other candidate hates the game of golf, abhors life upon the farm, and doesn't like babies or dogs, either?" His audience roared when he promised to bring Misses Monroe and Russell—ladies "of equal proportion and capacity"—into the internal revenue service.

"To bring dealer stocks into line with market demand."

Earlier, other Chrysler divisions and Ford and General Motors announced layoffs of approximately 15,000 workers.

The three firms known as the industry's "big three," turn out 95 per cent of the nation's automobiles. The layoffs came with dealer stocks at near-record level and despite brisk selling by dealers the early part of this month.

Smartest Buy in the fine-car field

You've probably noticed that more and more people seem to be stepping into the upper circle of fine cars.

And there can be no doubt that "good times" have a lot to do with this.

But all by itself, it doesn't explain the sudden spurt in sales of the finest of Buicks—the 1956 ROADMASTER.

For it has always been our experience that folks with the wherewithal to buy any car they choose are apt to be the choosiest of all.

So it seems quite clear that the marked and increasing preference for ROADMASTER is in the fineness of the car itself.

We can tell you why very simply.

ROADMASTER starts off with all the virtues that have vaulted the full line of Buicks to soaring popular favor—then caps that acclaim with a worthiness all its own.

You sense this special eminence at once—in the individualized styling of this gracefully proportioned car.

You recognize it again—in the quiet elegance of its custom appointments—and in the good taste of its luxurious fabrics and color harmonies.

But you know it for sure in the lift and thrill and spirit of ROADMASTER performance.

For here is the obedient might of the highest-powered V8 engine in Buick history—coupled to the flash-fast response and absolute smoothness of an advanced new Variable Pitch Dynaflo—most modern transmission in motoring today.

And here is Buick comfort, Buick handling ease, Buick roadability, and the great Buick ride—each brought to its peak in this Buick of Buicks.

In all truth, no man who puts true merit above mere symbol could ask for more than is his in ROADMASTER.

If that applies to you, we'll be happy to arrange an introduction. Will you phone us—or come in—for a demonstration soon?

Congress Takes More Interest In Page Boys

By HELEN THOMAS
WASHINGTON Jan. 21—UP—Congress is taking a more parental interest in the private lives of its page boys.

The 77 errand boys, 24 in the Senate, 49 in the House, and four in knee britches in the Supreme Court, are under strict discipline while on duty. But, after legislative and court hours, the teen-agers are on their own.

They live in unsupervised rooming houses and take home $260 a month which gives them a chance to "live it up" in the wilds of Washington.

But things may change. Congress is seriously considering legislation to put them under one roof, with a house mother to blow the whistle on them.

One measure being studied by a House administration subcommittee calls for establishment of a "Capitol Page Academy" to house and school the boys. Its author is Rep. Ruth Thompson (R - Mich.). She was a juvenile court judge for 30 years.

"A boy who comes down here at the age of 14 or 15 is not in a position to know what's best for him," she said in an interview.

The white-haired motherly-looking congresswoman pointed out that the page is strictly on his own. That's not to say that Capitol Hill is a playground. Far from it.

Some congressmen run the pants off them. The boys have to jump when a legislator snaps his fingers. A page trots to school at 8:30 a. m. He stays in class until about 10 o'clock. Then his workday begins. It might go into the night, depending on the congressional calendar.

The page system was started in 1827. Some of them have gone on to better things.

Postmen Stay Well
OMAHA—UP—Twelve Omaha postal employees retired from service recently with a total of 1,489 days of unused sick leave. Omaha Postmaster Walter Korisko called it a local answer to charges of government investigators of "widespread abuses" of sick leave by postal workers.

The school is to start today and continue through Friday, Jan. 27. The class will be conducted daily Monday through Friday with the assistance of the church's music department.

The night portion of the association school will start at 7 each night with the exception of Wednesday. Classes and choir rehearsals will not be conducted on this night.

Stocks In Worst Decline Since Ike's Heart Attack

By ELMER C. WALZER
NEW YORK—UP—Stocks broke nearly $1 billion during the past week in their worst decline since the week ended Sept. 30, the week of the Eisenhower heart attack.

Trading lightened with the week's total at 11,372,305 shares, a daily average of 2,274,461, against 12,101,141 and a daily average of 2,420,228 shares last week. In the Sept. 30 week the total was 21,692,460 and the daily average, 4,358,492 shares.

Industrial shares closed the week in the Dow-Jones average at 464.40, off 17.40 from the previous week and a new low since last Nov. 3; rails, 154.32, off 6.38 last Nov. 7; utilities, 63.07, off 0.94 and a new low since Oct. 27; and 85 stocks, 164.90, off 5.88 points, and a new low since Nov. 4.

Others Down
Since the first of the year, the industrial average is down 24 points or 4.9 per cent from the 1954 close; rails, down 8.77 points, or 5.4 per cent; utilities 1.09 points or 1.7 per cent and 85 stocks, down 7.83 points or 4.5 per cent.

In the first 14 days of last year, these averages were down 11.36 points or 2.8 per cent in the industrials; 4.23 points or 4.3 per cent in the rails. Utilities a year ago rose 0.15 or 0.2 per cent.

The one big contrast between this year and last is the activity. Last year in the first 14 days of January, 11 sessions were above three million shares and one of these was above five million. The daily average in 1955 was 3,869,039 shares. This year it is 2,344,105 shares for the same period.

Of the 1,419 issues traded during the past week 1,085 declined, most since Sept. 30 last when the declines numbered 1,128 issues. A total of 228 rose during the week and 106 held unchanged.

The actual dollar losses were moderate—at least well under what the averages would indicate. On the basis of the Standard & Poor's special calculation for the United Press each of the 50 industrials used in the S & P index fell $2.20 a share; each of the 20 rails fell $2.71 and each of the 20 utilities declined 53 cents. The 90 stocks in the three indexes had an average loss of $1.91 a share each.

The reasons for the selloff are varied. Wall Street insists the market is going through a period of consolidation and some hold that the industrial average may go back to levels of last October.

The big unknown facing the market is the President's decision on whether or not he will run again. Then, too, the Ford stock sale sopped up $500 million of investment funds that could have gone into stocks.

There have been cutbacks in auto production and a seasonal decline in home building but other big businesses are holding high. Nonetheless there has been what Wall Street describes as a poor response to good news.

"I asked the boss for a raise last week! This must be the answer—an economy memo!"

Daniel Calls For Some New Texas Laws

AUSTIN —UP— Sen. Price Daniel, rated a likely contender in the coming race for governor, said Saturday scandal-scourged Texas needs new laws "requiring the public's business to be transacted in the light of day."

The junior United States senator from Liberty, in a speech prepared for delivery to an estimated 230 members of the Texas Press Association, referred directly to the veterans land scandals and indirectly to the burgeoning insurance scandals that have sparked two legislative investigations.

He told editors and publishers attending their ninth annual mid-winter meeting that though his remarks, prepared "over a month ago," might apply to "very recent happenings here in Austin," he did not intend to change "these thoughts or one word of my remarks on this account."

"Secrets are intolerable on the federal level and indefensible on the state level," he said.

"On the state and local level, fully as much as on the national level, those who demand the freedom to write and publish without control must exercise the responsibility of searching tirelessly for the truth without accepting controls over their search, whether self-imposed or imposed by governmental practice," Daniel said.

The senator pointed out secrecy and closed door sessions "in both the executive and legislative branches in Washington is serious and that a special congressional committee is investigating this subject for appropriate affirmative legislation."

"Here on the state and local level we need more affirmative legislation requiring the public's business to be transacted in the light of day—and forbidding it un-

Douglas To Bare Gas Bill

WASHINGTON—UP— Sen. Paul H. Douglas said Saturday he will "lay bare all the facts" about the controversial natural gas bill in his marathon speech attacking it.

The Illinois Democrat said he will speak for several days next week. In four hours and 20 minutes Friday, Douglas covered only 33 pages of a 150-page prepared text. He said the text still is incomplete.

He charged the measure, exempting independent natural gas producers from direct federal price controls, would add $600 million a year to bills of the nation's gas users.

"Douglas' facts" were disputed by the bill's author, Sen. J. W.

Fulbright (D-Ark.) Fulbright called his Illinois colleague's speech a "masterpiece of inaccuracy and exaggeration."

He accused Douglas of "ignoring" a provision in the bill for federal power commission review of price hikes in pipeline companies' contracts with gas producers.

Douglas said his speech does not contain "an irrelevant sentence." He said he will speak at length in order to "get everything on the record."

He will take the floor again when the Senate meets Monday for a sixth day of debate on the gas bill.

Kefauver To Visit 2 States In Presidential Primary Bid

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 — UP — Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) announced plans Saturday to visit Wisconsin and California, two of the states where he is making presidential primary bids for the Democratic nomination.

His campaign headquarters announced he will spend Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of next week touring Wisconsin and Feb. 4 to 7 in California, which will have 68 votes at the convention.

As of now, it looks like the big contest between Kefauver and Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 presidential nominee who is seeking renomination, will come in California's winner-take-all primary June 5.

Stevenson to File

Other political developments:

1. Petitions are expected to be filed at Springfield, Ill., Monday to enter Stevenson in the April 10 primary in his home state of Illinois. No challenges are in sight.

2. There were hints here that Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland may be entered in the Illinois Republican primary before the Monday deadline. Illinois GOP leaders already have entered President Eisenhower.

3. Knowland supporters in Wisconsin announced that there definitely will be a Knowland - for-President state in the April 2 Wisconsin GOP primary. The candidate's consent is required in Wisconsin.

Harriman in Arizona

4. New York Gov. Averell Harriman, who says he's not an "active" candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination, flew to Phoenix, Ariz. for a speech Saturday night.

5. The 1956 Republican campaign treasury brimmed with greenbacks as a result of the "Salute to Eisenhower" dinners held across the nation Friday night. While an official tally was lacking, estimates of the take ranged up to $5 million.

6. Rep. William C. Cramer (R-

Fla.) announced that "a full state of delegates pledged to President Eisenhower" will be entered in Florida's May 29 Republican presidential preference primary. Mr. Eisenhower carried the state by 100,000 votes in 1952.

Prince In Rush To See Grace

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 21 — UP — Prince Rainier of Monaco changed from automobile to plane Saturday to speed westward and closer to his fiancée, movie star Grace Kelly. A spokesman said a motor trip across the country was "too long."

The prince caught a National Airliner at Tampa, Fla., after driving across the Florida peninsula from Palm Beach where he had been resting in seclusion from the press hurly-burly of his betrothal to the beautiful star and Philadelphia society girl.

The prince didn't get off the plane at Moisant International Airport. It took off a few minutes later for Fort Worth, Tex., where the prince will change planes for Phoenix, Ariz.

'Too Long A Trip'

The prince refused to talk to newsmen, but his secretary said the abrupt change from leisurely cross-country auto trip to speedy flight was "nothing unusual."

Miss Kelly is now in Hollywood at work on a picture called "High Society," and the prince was not due to go west until later.

The secretary said the prince dropped the motor journey because "it's too long a trip."

He said Prince Rainier planned to "look around Phoenix for an indefinite period before continuing on to Hollywood." But there was speculation that Miss Kelly might meet him in Arizona.

Passengers Didn't Know

Few passengers aboard the airliner knew the identity of the handsome figure who sat huddled in a forward seat.

"I didn't even know it was the prince," exclaimed one of the two stewardesses.

The prince was traveling under the name of "Cresci." A valet and another secretary are driving the prince's car to Phoenix.

"It is necessary not only for the detection and riddance of the few who have violated their public trust, but for protection of the great majority of our public officials and employees who are honest and loyal in their public and private actions," Daniel said.

FUTURE'S BRIGHT FOR APPLIANCES—Appliance makers are predicting a big year in 1956, maybe even bigger than the record year of 1955. They're expecting a 10 per cent gain in appliance sales. They say the hottest unit on the market will be the automatic clothes dryer. And to help make their prediction come true, mass merchandising techniques, built-in kitchens and colored appliances will be used to entice the American public. By GAYLORD F. GODWIN

WEEKLY GRAIN ROUNDUP

FORT WORTH — UP — USDA Weekly grain: Milo, white corn and barley held steady this week. Most other southwest cash grains edged downward in slow trade. Here are the net changes from Friday through Friday based on bulk carlots at Texas common points as recorded by the Agricultural Marketing Service. White oats slipped 1/8c on the high end of the range and 1/16c on the low. This left No. 2 offerings at 84 to 86 1/2c a bushel. Wheat lost a penny. It closed Friday at $2.36 1/2 to $2.46 1/2 a bushel. No. 1 hard offerings, ordinary protein content. There was some flour business in wheat but not enough to influence prices. A big snow throughout much of the winter wheat belt helped to brighten prospects for the 1956 crop. No. 2 yellow corn advanced 1/4c a bushel to sell Friday at $1.57 1/4 to $1.64. No. 2 white corn was quoted at $1.63 to $1.68. There was little or no demand for yellow or white corn. Milo stood still at $2.14 to $2.21 per 10 pounds. It has been at this price since January 10, 1956. Offerings were light but demand was even lighter. Barley held steady at $1.22 to $1.26 a level held since the last of December. At Oklahoma elevators, No. 1 hard wheat, ordinary protein content lost 1 to 2c a bushel this week and closed Friday at $1.97 to $2.5. Milo, however, ranged from 5 to 1c higher at the close, and brought $1.57 to $2 per hundred weight.

Excellent for Grain, Cotton
 It said Latin America probably will increase production after a year in which there was no increase. The crop year 1955-56 has been excellent for grains, and world cotton production rose to a new record. Tobacco production was 2 per cent larger than the preceding year. Fats and oils output was a little higher. Sugar production continued to increase. Livestock numbers have been increasing for several years, and meat output is at record heights. Milk production in 1955 decreased 1 per cent, the first setback in several years, but is expected to rise again in 1956. Butter and factory cheese output also was down. Wool production set a record.

Benson Says Farmers Will Get Immediate Aid This Year

HOUSTON — UP — Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson declared Friday night farmers will receive immediate benefits in 1956 if Congress gives prompt action on President Eisenhower's nine-point farm program. Benson told 1,200 persons at a Republican $100-a-plate Salute to Eisenhower fund raising dinner he can see "no reason why the soil bank program can't be put into immediate effect" if Congress will act now. Benson warned that "attempts may be made to place agriculture on the political action block" in the months ahead. However, he said the welfare of agriculture shall not be sacrificed on the altar of partisan politics. The agriculture secretary said the president's new program "is right for farmers."

"The program," he said, "offers no quack or patent remedies. Rather it is a sound, logical attack on our most urgent problem, the surplus. It strikes at both sides of the price-cost squeeze." "This administration," he said, "is not content with the general level of farm prices today nor with the present income of our farm people. We will seek earnestly, energetically, and constantly to do everything that is fair, right and economically sound to improve this situation." "A month or two of avoidable

Harvesters Defeat Lubbock 72-64 For First District Win

Harvester Ball Handling Was Difference In Game

The Pampa Harvesters, before the best crowd of the season, played "near-perfect" basketball in the first quarter to take an 11 point lead over the Lubbock Westerners and pick up their first victory in 1-AAAA district play.

The Westerners totaled one point more than the Green and Golders in the remaining three periods but couldn't overcome the 21-12 first quarter lead of Clifton McNeely's fired-up Harvesters.

Gene Brown paced the Harvesters during the first period with a total of 10 points on four field goals and two free tosses. He continued throughout the remainder of the contest to carry the load in the scoring department and came up with a grand total of 27 points for his night's work.

Buddy Sharp counted for his only field goal in the first frame while Dickie Mauldin sank two from outside and Tommy Gindorf one. Jerry Gee counted for one of each for three points.

All this happened in the Harvesters scoring department while defensively they played the best first quarter they ever played.

Four boys scored for the Westerners but neither counted for more than four points, as the Green and Golders played the boards at their best and intercepted several passes intended for the post man.

Cotton Simmer dumped in one field goal along with one by Ed Watson, Kenneth Williams and Don Eddleman each counted with one field goal and a pair of free throws to give the Westerners 12 points while the Green and Golders, made 21.

In the second frame each team scored 14 points with Jerry Gee dumping in almost half of the Harvesters. He came through with two field goals and the same number of free tosses. Gene Brown dumped in only one field goal while Gindorf did the same. Dickie Mauldin counted for the remaining pair.

The Westerners hit nine field goals during the first half and counted for five of them in the second quarter. They were cold in the half as they hit only 32 percent of their attempts while the Harvesters averaged almost 55 percent.

The second quarter was repeated in the third frame as each team counted for 12 points. Gene Brown and Dickie Mauldin each came through with six. Brown got four via the gratis line while Mauldin hit from outside on two and laid one up and in to give the McNeely cagers a 47-38 lead.

Going into the fourth period the Harvesters played a ball-control game that didn't fare as well as their first period ball handling. The Westerners, behind by 11 points, took over the ball on several occasions but they also allowed Gene Brown to add up a total of 13 free throws on personal fouls.

The Lubbock quintet counted for 26 points in the final stanza while the Harvesters managed to dump in 25.

Brown came through with one field goal and seven free throws for a total of nine points while Dickie Mauldin and Jerry Gee counted for a pair of field goals each and Gee dumped in two more free throws.

The Harvester substitutes began coming into the game after Gee's free throws gave the local five a 14 point lead, the longest of the game.

Scoring in the second team were Carrol Cole, Jerry Pope and Sam Condo each with one field goal. Gerald Clark with only seconds left shot from the center circle which swished the net but to no avail. He was called for traveling. His shot ended the scoring as the Westerners didn't have time to throw the ball in.

UP AND IN — Dickie Mauldin pumps one in during the last quarter of the Pampa-Lubbock contest Friday night. Lubbock's Ed Watson tries vainly to block the shot. Shown waiting for the rebound are Harvesters Gene Brown, 22, and Buddy Sharp, 21. Also coming in under the basket is Westerner Max Hood. National League Rookies Begin Spring Work Soon

CINCINNATI, Jan. 21 — UP — The National League Saturday announced it would turn loose a huge total of 134 frisky rookies in spring training pastures next month, labelling them "unhesitatingly" as the finest crop of youngsters to come up since World War II.

Dave Grote, head of the National League Service Bureau, who compiled the list of rookies, said a large number of them figured to stick "on the strength of outstanding minor league performance in 1955."

Many of the newcomers are not newcomers at all, nor are they rookies in any sense of the word. They are veterans, who fall into the rookie class because they are ex-major leaguers back and shooting for comebacks.

Among the players returning for another chance are George Mungler, ex-Cardinal right hander who is up with Pittsburgh after a 23-8 year at Hollywood; pitcher Al Worthington back with the Giants after winning 19 at Minneapolis; Ray Murray, ex-Athletics' catcher also on the Giant roster after a .329 batting mark at Dallas; and relief pitching expert Ken Lehman who comes to the Dodgers again after a 22-9 season with Montreal.

Others whose names will be remembered by the squint-eyed baseball fanatics who scan big league box scores are pitcher Stu Miller and first baseman Tom Altson, both in for another look in the Cardinal camp, and pitchers Turk Lown and Jim Brosnan, who will be trying to stick this time for good with the Cubs. The Phillies, only club without a minor league all-star on their roster, are bringing back one of Washington's old knuckle ball experts, Marino Pieretti.

Other players by clubs who are rated as likely to stick with the parent teams: Milwaukee — First baseman Frank Torre, .327 at Toledo; pitcher Red Murff, Texas League's "pitcher of the year" with a 27-11 mark at Dallas; and pitcher Humberto Robinson 14-4 at Toledo.

Pittsburgh — Pitcher Fred Waters, 18-3 with a 2.06 earned run average at Mexico City; infielder, Curt Roberts, .321 at Hollywood; outfielder Bobby Del Greco, .287 with 73 RBIs at Hollywood; first baseman Bob Skinner, .316 at New Orleans and catcher Danny Kravitz, .298 with 88 RBIs at New Orleans.

New York — Infielder Bill Gardner, .310 at Minneapolis and outfielder Bob Lennon, .280, 31 homers, and 104 RBIs at Minneapolis.

CHICAGO — Outfielder Gale Wade, .310 at Los Angeles, and infielder Bob McKee, .278 and the Western League all-star second baseman at Des Moines.

PHILADELPHIA — Outfielder Bob Bowman, .270 at Syracuse; pitcher Jim Owens, 15-11 at Syracuse; and pitcher Lynn Lovenguth, 15-8 at Syracuse.

Moon Mullins Is New Athletic Head At Marquette

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Jan. 21 — UP — Larry (Moon) Mullins, a strong advocate of balance in sports, was named athletic director of Marquette University Saturday.

Mullins athletic director at Kansas State College the past five years, agreed to terms estimated to be about $12,000 a year. He will replace Conrad Jennings, who is retiring July 1 after completing 30 years as athletic director at Marquette.

The Rev. John G. Holbrook S.J., chairman of the Marquette athletic board, said Mullins would have a free hand in running the school's sports program.

Basketball Coach Jack Nagle apparently had nothing to fear in the way of a change with a nationally ranked team. Football Coach Frosty Ferzacca, however, has had bad seasons in his two years at Marquette and is on the last year of a three year contract.

Mullins, 48, gained the reputation of fighting for a balanced sports program since becoming Kansas State athletic director in 1951. He started his athletic career in 1928 as a Notre Dame fullback under the late Knute Rockne. He went into coaching as backfield coach at the University of Kansas in 1931. He later coached football, basketball and baseball at St. Benedict's College in Atchison, Kan., Loyola University of the South, St. Ambros in Davenport, Iowa, and the University of Florida.

Yank's Hopes Look Better For Winter Olympic Win

CORTINA, Italy, Jan. 21 — UP — America's Winter Olympic hopes assumed a more optimistic outlook Saturday when the U.S. bobsladders beat the favored Italians in practice for the first time and injured figure skater Tenley Albright was permitted back on the ice.

These were other pre-Olympic developments at the snow-covered sites on the final warmup weekend before the winter games begin next Thursday:

1. The American men's and women's ski teams arrived at Cortina and expressed confidence in their chances based on the icy runs.

2. At Davos, Switzerland, Helmut Kuhlert, a 19-year-old East German bricklayer, prevented Russia from sweeping the four races in the Swiss international championships when he won the 10,000-meter event in 16:33.2.

3. Russia's chances in the ski events took a nosedive when three Soviet team members were injured in practice accidents.

4. Avery Brundage, U.S. president of the International Olympic Committee, made his first visit to the U.S. team headquarters and pronounced the winter games set up "fine."

Blonde, 20-year-old Miss Albright was pronounced fit to resume training Sunday by her father, well-known Boston surgeon Dr. Hollis Albright, who rushed to her bedside by trans-Atlantic plane and overnight train.

Tenley, world champion Olympic favorite, had cut her ankle with the sharp edge of her skate in a practice mishap two days ago.

Like Icy Ski Runs

The U.S. women took one look at the sparse, icy ski runs and agreed: "That's for us; we'll win."

Andrew Mead Lawrence of Pagosa, Colo., who won two gold medals in the 1952 games, said the rougher course at Cortina was more like the conditions on which she had trained during her childhood in Vermont.

"Rocks and icy snow might give me an edge over some of the European skiers," Mrs. Lawrence said.

But temperamental Tommy wasn't happy with his round, at that.

"I'm not satisfied with my putting," he said, "on that front nine, where I had all pars, I never sank a single putt and I had several chances of nine feet or less."

Bolt had 29 putts for the 18 holes — which is better than most of the professionals can boast on this course, where the greens are good, but deceiving.

Souchak set a course record on the opening day with a 65 and followed that with a 71 Friday.

Bolt has rounds of 60-70-69.

But these two gentlemen of swing don't have the battle all to themselves.

Right on their heels with a 211 is Marty Furgol of Lemont, Ill. He has rounds of 71-69-71. And understand what they're supposed to then comes the local favorite, Gene Luther, with 70-72-70-212; and Tom Winger, Oklahoma City, 69-72-71-212.

In the 212 bracket came amateur Rod Fumesh of Spokane, Wash., and professionals Mike Fetchick, Mahopac, N. Y., and Ralph Blomquist Glendale, Calif. At 214 are a trio of veteran campaigners — Walter Burkemo, Franklin, Mich., John Barnum, Belmont, Mich., and Vic Ghezzi, Englewood, N. Y.

The best round Saturday was shot by young Billy Casper of Chula Vista Calif., with a 34-85-67 for a 215 score.

Language Coach Hired by Giants

NEW YORK, Jan. 21 — UP — The New York Giants hired a new coach Saturday in languages.

He is Mac Lopez, a Spanish teacher and court interpreter, who has been retained to work with the 15 Latin American youngsters who will be in Giant pre-season farm camp for kids at Melbourne, Fla.

Most of the youngsters will be assigned to Giant farm clubs, and in the past Carl Hubbell, head of the farm system, said he had found language difficulties retarded the development of such kids. The managers and coaches simply can't get through to them, Hubbell said he felt Lopez could teach them enough fundamental English and baseball terms to make them understand what they're supposed to do.

Aggies Drop TCU 84-74 For 3rd Win

COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Jan. 21 — UP — Texas A&M led all the way Saturday night as the Aggies beat Texas Christian 84-74. It was A&M third conference victory and sixth win of the season.

The Aggies led by 21 points with 11 minutes remaining in the game but the Frogs whacked away at the margin and narrowed the gap to 10 points six minutes later.

The outside shooting of Johnny Dickerson kept the Frogs in the game the second half. Five of his six field goals came in the second period.

Texas Christian didn't score a point until 4 1/2 minutes deep into the game. A&M led 11-0 before Billy Taylor hit a jump shot. A&M led 23-5 with 11 minutes left in the first half. The halftime score was 42-27.

Dick O'Neal of Texas Christian was the high point man with 28 points and shared rebounding honors with teammate Johnny Betts.

O'Neal had 11 rebounds to 12 for Betts. Dickerson was second high for Texas Christian with 15 points.

Ken Hutto, with 20, and Fritzie Connally and John Fortenberry each with 15 topped the Aggies.

A&M now stands at 3-3 in the SWC and 6-10 for the season. TCU holds a 1-3 SWC record.

High School Boy Signs With Sox

HOUSTON — UP — Reagan high school centerfielder Arthur Brown, 15, signed a contract with the Chicago White Sox Friday.

Brown was selected as the Houston Press' most valuable baseball player in Houston high schools last spring. He also played football as a quarterback and was selected on the all-Houston team.

The White Sox assigned him to Colorado Springs of the Class A Western League.

Sime Sets Record For 100-yd Dash

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 — UP — Dave Sime, a lanky red-haired sophomore of Duke University, flashed to a new American indoor records of .99.5 seconds for the 100-yard dash Saturday night.

Sime, an unheralded runner, also won the 70 and 80 yard sprints in the Evening Star's ninth annual track meet before a crowd of 5,000. His time for the 70 yards was seven seconds and his 80-yard time was eight seconds.

Four watches caught Sime in the record breaking 100 yards. He was about three yards ahead of Andy Stanfield, Pioneer A. C., New York. Stanfield also finished second in the first two sprints.

Sime's triple victory Saturday night undoubtedly places him among the front runners who will compete this summer for a place on America's Olympic team.

Lee Calhoun, representing North Carolina College, tied the American record of .98.8 seconds for the 70-yard high hurdles.

The featured mile event was won by George King of New York University in 4:11.8, far off the American indoor record of 4:08.6.

King drove across the finish line a yard ahead of Bill Tidwell of Kansas State Teachers of Emporia. Len Truax, a member of the Air Force, was third, about two yards behind Tidwell.

Horace Ashenfelter, America's premier two-miler who has been running long distances fast for most of his 33 years, had no trouble winning the two mile run in 9:14.2.

Semi-Pros To Get Awards In Three Divisions In '56

CHICAGO, Jan. 21 — UP — The National Baseball Congress will award national championships in three divisions in 1956, it was announced Saturday.

All three winners will come out of the congress' 22nd annual U. S. tournament held each year at Wichita, Kan.

The tourney's top winner will be awarded a $10,000 cash purse, the congress said, and will become eligible to represent the United States in the second annual Global Cities.

G-G Tournney Set Tomorrow Night

Frogs Strength Up For Grid Workouts

FORT WORTH, Tex., Jan. 21—UP—Southwest Conference champion Texas Christian will start spring football drills next month with seasoned two-year lettermen at six of the seven line spots, but will dig deep in search of left ends and a top caliber reserve quarterback.

That was the prospect Saturday as Coach Abe Martin announced his plans to start practice the second week in February, weather permitting, for the veteran-packed Horned Frogs.

Squad of 75
There will be 14 two-year lettermen on the squad of approximately 75 players expected out for practice, although one of them—all-America halfback James Swink—probably will take little or no part in the drills because he's busy with the basketball team.

Only graduation losses from the first team that swept to a 9-1 season only to lose to Mississippi in the Cotton Bowl were center Hugh Pitts, a second team all-America end Bryan Engram and halfback Ray Taylor.

The Frogs will have a fine signal caller returning in Charles (Chuck) Curtis, but Martin discovered how seriously he needed a capable backstop for Curtis in the bowl game in which Curtis was knocked out of action on the opening kickoff.

Ganged-Up Defense
The loss of Curtis impaired TCU's passing threat and its running game wasn't quite enough to offset a ganged-up Mississippi defense.

Richard Finney who stepped into Curtis' shoes that day and performed capably except for his passing, will be one of the quarterback prospects getting much attention, Martin said. Another will be Delzon Elenburg, like Finney, a sophomore this past season. Hunter Enis, stellar freshman prospect, also will get a lot of attention.

Martin said he planned to return big Joe Williams to center to give the Frogs a solid one-two replacement for Pitts with James Oze, who understudied Pitts as a sophomore last year. Williams had been shifted to guard to find a place for him in the lineup.

Jay McCullough, who played right guard, may be shifted to Williams' left guard spot.

John Nikkel, Chico Mendoza and Frank Windeger, all with two years eligibility left, will be the top candidates for Engram's left end vacancy.

Ken Wineburg seems in line for Taylor's right halfback spot with Jimmy Shofner, Swink's understudy, due to be worked at both halfback posts. Wineburg was a top-flight reserve behind Taylor last year.

Martin also said he planned to take a searching look at three freshman grads at fullback—Bobby Bounds, Doyle Walker and Johnny Gregory—although both of last year's top two fullbacks, Vernon Hallbeck and Harold Polard would return.

"I'd like to come up with two really good teams of about equal strength," Martin said. "With all the experience we have we may be able to do it. These days, you have got to have two boys at every position who can go."

Lamar is a top contender for the 135-open championship while Wilhelm is fighting in the 147-pound class. Best Talent in Panhandle To Participate This Year

By TOMMIE ELLIS
Pampa News Sports Editor
Final plans have been completed, tickets are on sale at Richards Drug, fighters have had their last workouts, officials have been selected and the Pampa District Golden Glove Tournament is set to get underway tomorrow night at Junior High school gym at 8.

Approximately 80 boys are scheduled to enter the tournament with boxers from Memphis, Dallas, Borger and Pampa participating in this the second annual Optimist sponsored Golden Glove competition.

Boys who were eliminated in the Borger tournament last week are expected to try again for the chance to represent either Pampa or Borger in the regional tournament scheduled in Amarillo January 31 thru February 4.

The Pampa tournament will include pee wee bouts from 60 pounds to 100 with championship and runners-up trophies in each of the nine weight classes plus a miniature set of gloves for each boy entered.

A novice division will be scheduled in the high-school division for the first time this year. Trophies and gloves will be presented in this class also.

The Optimists are urging boys to enter these fights because from this class are taken the top fighters of the years to come.

Several fights are scheduled in the open division with local talent expected to take most of the honors. Borger's Scooter Darden and Pampa's Kenneth Wood will probably meet again and from the evenly matched contest in Borger either fighter can win. Pampa's Tommy Lamar is also a top contender.

Jesse Ring is expected to fight for the Optimists in the Pampa tourney. He is expected to boost the Pampa wins in the high school division.

Gary Wilhelm and Charles Snyder, both champions of the Borger contests, will see action in the Pampa fights. Snyder won the 135-pound high school class while Wilhelm was the champ of the 127-pound class.

All boys will weigh in Monday afternoon for the first and only time. Each boy will fight in the weight class in which he falls the first weighing.

Coaches for the Pampa boxers are Ollie Wilhelm, Johnny Campbell, Eddie Lowrance and Bobby Wilhelm. The Pampa fighters are sponsored by the First National and Citizen's Banks, Panhandle Insurance Agency and The Pampa News. All boxers are trained under the direction of the Optimist Club of Pampa.

The tournament this year should prove to be the best ever held in Pampa.

Steelers Sign Four Draftees

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 21 UP—The Pittsburgh Steelers Saturday completed the signing of four players drafted in the first National Football League selections last November with the agreement of center Jim Taylor of Baylor.

Taylor, No. 3 draft choice, was recommended by Steve Owens, his college coach. The 6-3, 230-pounder began as a fullback but was switched to center.

The Steelers also signed another No. 3 choice—linebacker Marv Matuszak. The South Bend, Ind., resident, who enrolled at Tulsa after former Notre Dame Coach Frank Leahy told him he was "too small," was drafted by the Steelers in 1955.

As a rookie that year his performance won him a berth in the all-pro game. He went into military service but was discharged in time last season to play the last four games with the Steelers.

Other draftees signed by the Steelers include bonus choice Gary Glick of Colorado A&M, who will be used as defensive back, former Purdue tackle Joe Krupa and one-time Michigan halfback Lowell Perry.

Erskine Will Play 9th Year With Bums

BROOKLYN, Jan. 21—UP—Right hander Carl Erskine, about to start his ninth season with the Dodgers, has signed for approximately the same $20,000 he received a year ago and reported to Brooklyn officials that his arm is sound again.

Erskine, who sent in his signed contract from Anderson, Ind., began brilliantly in 1955 by winning his first six games. But he suffered arm and back trouble after that and wound up the year with a disappointing 11-8 record.

The teams will be made up of local talent and should provide many hours of entertainment for the participants.

The four teams will play one league game each week and will have the right to schedule any other games they desire.

A team will represent Pampa in the state playoffs. The representative will be decided by the games on the schedule in the coming weeks.

The games will be played on Monday and Thursday nights at the Junior High School gym.

At the present time officials are needed for the games.

There will be no admission charged for these games as the league is organized primarily for the purpose of providing athletic entertainment for the participants themselves.

The four teams are managed and coached by Bob Banks, Noblitt Coffey; Wendell Cox, Panhandle Packing; Fred Jones, Culberson; and Buddy Alexander, Stanolind Oil.

Dusty Rhodes Signs Contract For Same Salary As Last Year

NEW YORK, Jan. 21—UP—Trusty Dusty Rhodes, the jovial Giant with the technique of getting base hits when they count the most, accepted salary terms for 1956 Saturday for about $13,000, the same as he received a year ago. Rhodes, pinch-hitting hero of the 1954 World Series with Cleveland and in countless clutch moments during the pennant-winning campaign of the New Yorkers that season, received a big raise for those memorable contributions. However, his batting average dipped last season from .341 to .304, still a respectable count, even though there were recorded instances when he drilled base hits that didn't win ball games. Ancient Egyptians, whose embalming secrets have long been lost, are thought to have used honey as a principal ingredient in their embalming fluid.

Lady Wrestlers Featured On Wednesday's Mat Card

The Pampa Shrine Club has on the local mat card Wednesday night, January 25, a double main event.

The top event will feature two lady wrestlers, Kathy Lee, 5-8, all weighing 140 pounds from Oregon will pit her skill against Joan Ballard, 5-3, tall and weighing 135.

Kathy Lee is 23 years old and has had five years of professional wrestling experience. She is "a beauty to look at" and a "demon in the ring."

Miss Lee knows all the legal and illegal holds in the book and will use them if she needs to.

Joan Ballard is 22 and a former professional soft ball player that turned professional wrestler just three years ago. She has been able to take care of herself with such stars as Mildred Burke and other well known personalities.

Miss Ballard will wrestle clean most of the way but will get angry if her opponent oversteps the rules.

The second main event will be a match between Sterling "Dizzy" Davis, Houston, and Mike "Irish Whip" Clancy, Boston, Mass.

Davis, who is the southwest states heavyweight champion has the match in the bag as far as he is concerned. On the other hand Clancy, too, is confident of winning.

If Clancy can win this match he can demand a re-match for the title. He is a very capable wrestler and has an even chance of winning this preliminary match. He has previously held the northeast states title on three different occasions.

Another bout will be added to the card later in the week to round out the three match card for a good two hours of rough and tumble entertainment.

Tickets are always on sale at Modern Pharmacy. All proceeds will go to the Pampa Shrine Club's crippled children's fund.

SMU Hires Stram

DALLAS —UP— Southern Methodist University Friday hired Henry Louis Stram for the head backfield coach's job that Doak Walker would not take.

Stram, who was backfield coach at Purdue, will report next week to take over the tasks vacated by Harold (Bo) Hagan, who resigned earlier this month to become assistant coach at Rice Institute.

Hagan, considered one of the brightest young coaches in the business, left the duties of tutoring the backfield under SMU head coach Woody Woodard for the last two seasons for what he considered "better opportunities" at Rice under Jess Neely.

All-pro, halfback Walker, the most famous SMU football product who this year retired from playing professionally with the Detroit Lions, flatly turned-down offers by his alma mater to become head backfield coach. There is still a possibility Walker may find time away from his Dallas business interests to help out on a part-time basis, however.

As the new Mustang backfield coach, Stram will face the job of rebuilding a secondary that lost all four starters to graduation. Three of the SMU starters, quarterback John Roach and halfbacks John Marshall and Don McIlhenry, have signed pro contracts.

Stram, a 32-year-old Purdue graduate, had been considered for the head coaching job at Purdue a few weeks ago upon the resignation of Boilermaker coach, Stu Holcomb, who took over the coaching reins at Northwestern. An older and more experienced Holcomb said, Jack Mollenkopf, stepped up to the Purdue helm, however.

An outstanding halfback on the football team and shortstop on the baseball team at Purdue, Stram was awarded the Big Ten Conference Medal "for combined proficiency in athletics and scholarship" in 1948, the year the native Chicagoan graduated. He has been on the Boilermaker coaching staff since that time.

Safety Campaign In Making For Schoolboy Footballers

CHICAGO —UP— High School athletic officials are drawing up a football safety campaign to make the game safer for schoolboy players.

Secretary H. V. Porter of the National Federation of State High School Athletic Associations said Saturday.

Porter said the federation's football committee is giving special attention to the wearing of face masks, rubber guards and properly fitted pads and helmets.

"Established equipment manufacturers, dental societies and medical societies are co-operating in attempts to make the game of football as safe as possible without eliminating game fundamentals," Porter said.

Statistics gathered by the federation show that deaths directly attributable to high school football dropped from 12 in 1954 to six in 1955, Porter said.

However, the federation is concerned about the number of serious injuries to high school players. A 1955 survey showed that of 32,100 boys participating in football at 640 schools in at least 10 states, 730 sustained injuries requiring the care of a doctor or dentist.

Porter said approximately 48 per cent of the players included in the study wore some type of face protector or rubber guard to protect the teeth.

The study showed that the number of tooth and face injuries was lower than in 1954 but "not as much lower as might have been expected from the great increase in the number of players who this year were equipped with some type of face protector," Porter said.

"The wearers of some type of rubber tooth protector were almost immune to broken and chipped teeth," he said. In contrast, he added, wearers of some types of face masks showed relatively small reduction in number of injuries.

"Investigation indicates that broken teeth often result from a blow on top of the head or on the chin," Porter said. "For such blows a face mask is seldom effective."

He said transparent face masks which cover nearly all of the face "resulted in the greatest reduction in number of injuries."

Porter said the wearing of rubber mouth guards and some type of mask is being recommended in the 1956 football rules. But because of uncertainty as to the degree of protection afforded by the face masks, he said, the federation football committee "did not choose to make the wearing of such masks mandatory for the season of 1956."

The safety campaign will stress protection in tackling or being tackled and will emphasize fundamentals which lessen danger of injury, Porter said.

Polio Stricken Vic Wertz Is 'Fit As Fiddle'

MT. CLEMENS, Mich. —UP— Vic Wertz, Cleveland's slugging first baseman who was stricken with polio late last season, said Friday he's "fit as a fiddle" and ready to make a strong comeback.

"I've just got a hunch that this is going to be a good year," the balding Wertz said. "After all, I had more than my share of bad breaks last season."

The 30-year-old Wertz, who was the batting star of the 1954 World Series although his Indians lost four straight games to the New York Giants, was stricken with polio Aug. 27 and missed Cleveland's spirited but futile stretch bid for a second straight American League pennant.

"We were leading the league by half a game when I came down with polio," Wertz said. "And I like to think I could have helped the Indians during September. My batting average was only .253 but I was hitting at about a .300 clip during August."

Wertz was quick to point out that polio wasn't his only shortcoming last season.

"I had a jammed thumb that put me out for a few weeks," he said. "I also missed a few games with a stiff neck."

He looks for another tight pitching race with the New York Yankees, Chicago White Sox, Boston Red Sox and Detroit Tigers, top contenders along with the Indians.

Cincinnati Manager Will Trade Stars If It Helps

Editors Note: This is another in a series of interviews with the major league managers on their 1956 prospects.

By JOE PHELAN
NASHUA, N.H. —UP— Cincinnati Manager Birdie Tebbetts is ready to trade off a star or two if it will help the Redlegs to a first division finish in the "toughest National League race in years."

Tebbetts figured solution of his two main problems — "real first line performers at third base and left field" — would boost his team from a fifth-place finish a year ago to "at least third place this season."

"And if I get the pitching I expect we'll win the pennant," flatly predicted the affable Redlegs pilot.

Putting bite into his bark, he further ventured in an aside to interested rivals, "We'll deal for anyone to do it. Nobody is immune."

No Pop-Off Guy
Those are no wild statements, either, for Tebbetts, as "brainy" an insurance executive as he was a catcher in his active playing days with the Boston Red Sox, is not a pop-off guy. He is perfectly aware of the obstacles a second division team faces if it expects to rise even as high as third place. In fact, Tebbetts acknowledged the Philadelphia Phillies, one of the teams he proposes to bypass, "will be rugged again as long as they have Robin Roberts."

But as far as he's concerned, "Brooklyn is still the team to beat" though he doesn't see the

New York Yankees 'Loaded' Says Manager Casey Stengel

STENGEL, whose Yanks have won the American League championship in six of the last seven years, said he had men "for every position," however.

"Why, I got so many shortstops I can't even remember their names. Of course Phil Rizzuto is still the best, but at his age (37) we got to have some help for him."

As additional infield strength Stengel cited Gil McDougald, "who can play anywhere," and Billy Martin, both of whom have been used successfully at third base, shortstop and second base.

"And look at first base," Stengel said. "Bill Skowron did a fine job for us last year, although he missed six weeks with a leg injury."

"And Joe Collins—why he's the best second-string first baseman in the majors. Yogi Berra is a great catcher, of course, and Charlie Silvers and Estiron Howard give us depth there."

Stengel said he planned to work Howard more behind the plate in 1956 than last year, first in the majors for the Yankees' first Negro.

Howard still will be used at times in the outfield with Mickey Mantle, Hank Bauer, Irv Noren and Bob Cerv, Stengel added.

"Why should we trade around and bust up a team like that?" he asked. "A first division club has to be careful about trading to avoid being hurt."

Yankee pitching is "in good shape," Stengel said. The squad, which recently returned from a tour of the Orient, is as good as it was in the stretch drive last summer, he said.

"That Ted Williams," Stengel said of the Boston Red Sox outfielder, "is as good a hitter as he ever was. He solves the pitchers in every park before the season is over."

Racial Statements Hurt The Nation Says Robinson

ATLANTA —UP— Brooklyn Dodger star Jackie Robinson says that anti-Negro statements are hurting the entire nation but helping his race "achieve our goals just that much faster."

Robinson, the first Negro to play in the major leagues, attacked the "few bigots" among Southern politicians Friday before attending a banquet of the "10 Per Cent Wrong" club, a Negro sports fan organization.

"As a Negro," Robinson said, "I believe that for every statement made by a public official—even if it is the governor of a state—directed against the Negro, between 40 and 50 other Southern people will reply that 'This is not what we want, that we don't share this belief.'"

Gov. Marvin Griffin of Georgia attempted unsuccessfully to have Sugar Bowl barred from the Sugar Bowl because opposing Pittsburgh had a Negro fullback.

Patty Berg Has Stroke Lead Over Mickey Wright

TAMPA, Fla. —UP— Frackle-faced Patty Berg a perfectionist with her putter, had a one-stroke lead over young Mickey Wright of San Diego, Calif., Friday in the second round of the $5,000 Tampa Women's Open golf tournament.

The St. Andrews, Ill., professional top money winner on the women's circuit in 1955, sank four birdies on the back nine despite a steady rain to card a four-under-par 71 in Thursday's opening round over the Palma Ceia course.

Betsy Ralls of Spartanburg, S.C., and Fay Crocker of Montevideo, Uruguay, were tied for third at 75 and Marlene Bauer Hagge of Asheville, N.C., and Gloria Armstrong of Oakland, Calif., tied five strokes back at 76.

Wanda Sanchez of Baton Rouge, La., led the amateurs with a 77 that was good enough to tie pro Alice Bauer of Sarasota, Fla., and Bev Hanson of Apple Valley Calif.

Russia Is Confident She Will Do Well In Olympics

NEW YORK, Jan. 21—UP—Russia is confident that she will score high in the winter Olympic games beginning this week at Cortina, Italy, and then easily win the summer games to be held late in the year at Melbourne, Australia, Jess Gorkin, editor of Parade magazine, said Saturday.

"Unfortunately, they're probably right," Gorkin said. "That is the reluctant judgement of U.S. observers who scrutinized Red athletes and their astounding training program while touring the USSR last fall."

"The Russians are out to develop a breed of super athletes who will make us and the rest of the world look like minor leaguers. Even so innocent a field as sports, Russia wants to conquer the world."

Gorkin who spent a month in Russia in the fall, went into considerable detail outlining the careful preparations made by the Reds for the athletic domination.

He climaxed his account of Russian preparations with an appeal for Americans to contribute to the U.S. Olympic committee, which is

Trial Date To Be Set For Fight Men

CLEVELAND —UP— Federal Judge James C. Connell said Saturday he would set a trial date later for three representatives of the International Boxing Guild and his Ohio chapter, accused on three counts of violating anti-trust laws.

Released under $2,000 bond each were Charley Johnson, president of the International Boxing Guild; William Daly, treasurer of the IBG, and Al Del Monte, president of the Ohio chapter, after they pleaded innocent on arraignment Friday.

The officers and the organizations were indicted by a grand jury, which charged them with boycotting the televised weekly "studio bouts" at station WEWS here from April 2 to Oct. 1, 1955.

Local residents will learn about the most successful hair and scalp treatments known to science, in a demonstration here by F. A. Cherry, noted trichologist.

NOTED EXPERT COMING HERE TO REVEAL FACTS ABOUT SCALP AILMENTS

If you are worried about falling hair, scaly dandruff, itchy scalp, or kindred disorders, F. A. Cherry, nationally known trichologist and authority on hair and scalp, will put your mind at ease. He will conduct personal demonstrations in his suite at the Schneider Hotel, here Tuesday, January 24, from 12:00 noon to 9:00 p.m.

Science has found the way to end those troublesome disorders, says Vir-Bet, Inc., the firm of consultants with which Mr. Cherry is associated, will accept no case for treatment unless the examining expert feels that satisfactory results can be absolutely guaranteed. "If at the end of 30 days with your scalp troubles. In fact, even baldness may now be remedied in the great majority of cases; the mere presence of a light, colorless fuzz is indication of life in the hair roots, which may be restored by proper care. While in Pampa, Mr. Cherry will give FREE complete hair and scalp examinations. After one of these free private examinations he is able to tell the individual just what is wrong, and what treatments are needed to return the scalp and hair to a healthy condition.

"I wish I could say there is no such thing as a hopeless case," says Mr. Cherry. "Fortunately, such cases are extremely rare. They are usually characterized by slick shiny baldness." When a private examination indicates that the case is beyond help, Mr. Cherry reveals the truth without hesitation, believing that it is better for the individual to know the facts, than to live in false hope. However, he explains that amazing results are being achieved all over America with guidance. He will occupy a suite of rooms in the Schneider Hotel, in Pampa, on Tuesday, January 24, from 12:00 noon to 9:00 p.m.

Ask at the desk for Mr. Cherry and learn what help you may expect for your hair and scalp problems, no matter how troublesome, in Pampa, on Tuesday, January 24, or hopelessly they may see to you.

YOU NEED NOT HAVE AN APPOINTMENT
No appointment is necessary to receive the services of this clinic. Just ask for Trichologist Cherry at the Schneider Hotel. The examination is private. There is no embarrassment and no obligation in any way. Both men and women are welcome.

The Aiming Stake

Sgt. Wayne Anderson members of Service Battery and the Medics was the steak dinner with all the trimmings, served by the Service Battery Mess Section. Something new has been added too, many of the men in the two units that met last Sunday were wearing their new Specialist Stripes. The men of Headquarters Battery will be wearing their new ratings this Sunday.

We never have said too much about the Medical Detachment, but there is one thing they do which merits a lot of mention. The Medical Detachment maintains a blood list of all of the members of Pampa Units... kind of a Walking Blood Bank as it were, and of course this information is available to anyone as a public service, and has already been taken advantage of by many.

Along the news front, the communications sections of the whole battalion have been hard at work for a couple of weeks now, setting up a radio network between this headquarters and the various letter batteries. The net will include Headquarters and Service Batteries here in Pampa, Battery A in Dumas, Battery B in Dalhart and Battery C in Shamrock. All of the sets have already been installed and all that remains to put the net in regular operation, are minor adjustments and a frequency test. This will be a regular "AM" Military Radio Network, designed for fast communication between the units of this command.

Service battery has acquired a couple of new vehicles. One 1/2 ton "Jeep" and one 3/4 ton truck have been transferred from Headquarters Battery to Service Battery for use and maintenance.

After a week of hard work, the state maintenance team, under CWO Carl Leach, left for home station, Brownwood. The team had complete most of the heavy maintenance needed by the Battalion while they were here.

That about winds up the news from the 474th FA Bn today, but remember, Keep Your Guard Up!

Stevenson Dislikes Method
NEW YORK —UP— Adlai E. Stevenson said Friday that some Republicans are engaged in a campaign "to discredit the intelligence, the honesty, even the loyalty, of Democratic leaders in order to capture or keep public office. Writing in the February issue of Harper magazine, Stevenson said this campaign is calculated "to obscure the facts and drown reason in a tide of passion."

Red Heat Off Formosa Base Experts Claim

TAIPEI, Formosa, Jan. 21—UP—American military leaders agree that the Communist heat is off the Nationalist bastion of Formosa, at least for the time being.

American officials stationed on the island and those who have visited the area recently apparently do not expect serious troubles during the next few months, despite the continued Communist Chinese propaganda barrage against the Nationalist regime.

Vice Adm. Stuart Ingersoll, commander of the seventh fleet patrolling the Formosa straits to prevent a Red attack, does not see increased tension around the island. Neither does he see a "big force buildup" on the Communist mainland.

Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, said on a recent inspection trip to Formosa that he doubted the Reds would be foolish enough to assault Formosa or the Nationalist offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu.

U. S. Air Secretary Donald A. Quarles, who also inspected Formosan defenses, agreed with Radford.

Radford and Quarles apparently feel the inability of the Reds to match American might and know-how has kept the "little war" localized to the level of sneak island raids and artillery bombardments against Matsu and Quemoy.

Despite the optimism however, no one here doubts that the Reds are gearing up their forces on the mainland. Possible dates for future Red attempts on Formosa, if any, are problematical. But the weather is clearing now in the Formosa Straits.

The Nationalist leaders reply to the Red threats to take Formosa with the warning that China herself would be bombed in retaliation. American military men have not said it openly, but there are strong indications that they intend to allow no Yalu River sanctuaries around Formosa as was permitted in Korea.

side suit... ly. If the trumps break badly, the side suit will protect you. If the trumps break well, you are in no danger.

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

In many hands the correct technique is to draw two rounds of trumps and then go about your business in the side suits. This is especially true when you can play the side suits in such a way as to keep the opponents out of the lead. It is not necessarily true, as today's hand shows, when you must let the opponents in.

South won the opening diamond lead with the ace and made the mistake of drawing two rounds of trumps with the ace and king. He then led a club towards the dummy, hoping to establish that suit so that he could get rid of his losing diamonds.

West naturally stepped right up with the ace of clubs in order to draw all of the trumps with the queen, jack of spades. West then switched back to diamonds, and the defenders took three diamond tricks. South was lucky to be down only three, since if the diamonds had not broken evenly he would have been set even more.

The correct line of play is to leave the trumps alone at the beginning. South should win the first diamond with the ace and return club immediately. And the ace of clubs has been knocked out. South can recapture the lead and can then draw two rounds of trumps with the ace and king. He is then in position to get to the dummy and run the long clubs, without worrying about the defenders. West can get the two trump tricks and the ace of clubs, but no more.

A good rule to follow in hands of this sort is to establish a long

"I painted your clubs, dear—didn't want them to get all rusty over the winter!"

Peg O' Pampa

DIDN'T YOU JUST LOVE the white, white landscape earlier in the week? . . . Peg gets so thrilled when it snows . . . it's always so long in between snowstorms that the novelty doesn't have a chance to wear off . . . sure wish it would have snowed longer and deeper . . . driving was a little difficult, but if you went slowly and carefully, it wasn't so bad . . . and the beauty and the moisture of it was worth the slight inconvenience . . . maybe winter is really here, now . . . maybe we'll have more cold and snow . . . Peg firmly believes it's healthier than those unseasonably warm days . . . Peg was interested to see that Pampa was having better weather than Miami, Florida, there for a while . . . maybe we should start building Pampa up as a winter playground . . . now if we only had an ocean or two . . . we'd even give Florida some competition!

Try to practice what you already know; and in so doing, you will in good time, discover the hidden things which you now inquire about. (Rembrandt)

PEG WAS GRATIFIED TO SEE where the Exchange Club . . . Pampa's newest civic club . . . is putting forth quite an effort to see if a garden club can be organized in Pampa . . . Peg has heard talk about the need for one for years now . . . we have many fine gardeners in Pampa . . . It should really go over . . . Mrs. V. E. Wagner was made head of a committee to look into the matter . . . her assistants are Grace Morris . . . Betty Hammerschmidt . . . and Lois McCain . . . Come on, now, all you gardeners . . . or those who would like to be gardeners . . . let's get behind this group to help them make their project a success . . . it's all for the glory and beautification of Pampa, too . . . they're going to have a luncheon to explain the set-up Feb. 6 . . . in the Palm Room of the City Hall . . . so why not attend and find out what it's all about, anyway?

There are two kinds of men who never amount to much — those who cannot do what they are told and those who can do nothing else. (Cyrus H. K. Curtis)

DID YOU KNOW . . . there is such a group as the Father's Day Council . . . and that they start promoting that day in January? . . . that we not only have a Father's Day (June 17), but there is a Father-Child month, May 17 to June 17 . . . this is all there is previous, but Peg thought it was rather interesting . . . the Father's Day committee includes such well-known persons as Mrs. Eddie Rickenbacker and Mrs. Lawrence Tibbett . . . and Gov. Allan Shivers is one of the Governors . . . this is all leading up to the fact that they have quoted a very lovely poem . . . which Peg thinks is as applicable now as it will be June 17 . . . and so true . . .

What shall you give to one small boy?
A glamorous game, a tinselled toy,
A barlow knife, a puzzle pack,
A train that runs on curving track?
A picture book, a real live pet . . .
No, there's plenty of time for such things yet.
Give him a day for his very own —
Just one small boy and his dad alone.
A walk in the woods, a romp in the park,
A fishing trip from dawn to dark,
Give him the gift that only you can —
The companionship of his Old Man.
Games are out-grown, and toys decay —
But he'll never forget if you "Give him a day."

Twentieth Century Allegro Club Elects Mrs. James Evans As New President

Mrs. James Evans was elected president of Twentieth Century Allegro for the 1956-57 club year at a recent meeting in the home of Mrs. Bill Davis, with Mrs. James Leverich as co-hostess.

Other officers elected were Mrs. G. M. Walls, vice-president; Mrs. John Frisby, secretary; Mrs. J. E. Thompson, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Creel Grady, treasurer; Mrs. Robert Karr, reporter; Mrs. George Cree Jr., parliamentarian; and Mrs. James Leverich, critic. They are to be installed at the club's spring luncheon May 1.

Mmes. Sam Pruitt and James Evans were in charge of the program, "Values," the last in the Adult Education series on the "Ways of Mankind." The record "When Greek Meets Greek" by Lister Sinclair was played prior to the discussion.

The essential problem in presenting the concept of values was to show two cultures that differed in values but were the same in general cultural conditions, the women pointed out. In this respect the Athenians and Spartans were chosen. "When Greek Meets Greek" offers an example to show how the values differ, and how, in each community, the youth takes over the values of the culture and makes them its own. Sparta had those values of self-denial and endurance that made for toughness and "strength of character." Americans acquired similar values from their Puritan tradition of hard work and self-denial, though they were not expressed in just the same way, the group was told. Athens, the center of the liberal Greek inheritance, emphasized the values of aesthetic satisfaction, philosophical speculation, intellectual independence, and the good life. This tradition also is familiar to Americans and much of it is embodied in our political life as well as our general attitudes, the women stated.

Mrs. Evans stated that values are a part of the cultural heritage. They do, of course, change with times; but they often have a long life. If a people set great store by certain things, if these things are prime values in a culture, the people who have these things tend to be given high status.

Mrs. Pruitt said, in closing the discussion, that man is one, but cultures many. It is his culture that makes him different. This is the basic lesson in understanding the ways of mankind. The adult education program has given us a better understanding of people everywhere and it is such a program as this that should bring people together in establishing world peace.

Manners Make Friends

You don't need to wait for the other person to make the first move toward friendship, once you have met. If you like, extend the first invitation yourself.

Real friendliness is usually accepted at its face value.

Mrs. Dick Dunham Feted With Shower

Mrs. Dick Dunham was honored with a miscellaneous bridal shower recently in the home of Mrs. W. A. Spoonmore, 617 N. Gray. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Spoonmore, Mrs. Mmes. George Hrdlicka, Roscoe Pirtle, A. M. Edmiston and Miss Lucy Jo Neely.

The honoree and Mrs. T. G. Green, mother of the bridegroom, were presented corsages, white carnations tied with red ribbon. Guests were registered by Miss Neely.

The serving table was covered with a white linen cloth and was centered with an arrangement of white carnations around replicas of Cupid and hearts in red with white tapers in the center. Refreshments of white cake, decorated with hearts, coffee, mints and nuts were served. Mrs. George Hrdlicka presided at the coffee service, and Mrs. A. M. Edmiston, aunt of the bridegroom, served the cake.

Skelly Family Feted By Rebekah Lodge

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

"Maya followed the direction of the bark-beetle's gaze and saw a remarkable animal climbing up the tree trunk.

"Hadn't we better hide? she asked, alarm getting the better of astonishment.

"Absurd," replied the bark-beetle. "Just sit still and be polite to the gentlemen. He's struggling against the wind. I hope his legs don't get entangled."

"Are those long threads really his legs?" asked the little bee, opening her eyes wide . . ."

This is a quotation from one of world's great children's books — "The Adventures of Maya the Bee" by the German Waldemar Bonsels. For years it's been out of publication in this country.

Now, it's been re-issued by publishers Farrar, Straus and Cudahy who have given me permission to excerpt this passage, introducing Maya, the venturesome little bee to Hannibal, the daddy-long-legs.

The world's youngsters have made this book into an international classic by demanding its translation into 27 languages since its publication some 50 years ago. Read its first page — and you'll know why.

Maya's adventures will hold you with the same immediate appeal as those of "Alice in Wonderland" and other immortal books of childhood. They demonstrate the Wonderfulness of the Common-place.

In the enchanting pages which describe them, your most ordinary garden insects — the spider, the rose-beetle, the grasshopper all undergo transformation into new, special, wonderful identity — the same kind of transformation by which Lewis Carroll changed little girl's breakfast egg into the irascible character of Humpty Dumpty.

Always, childhood's immortal books seek to deepen the child's understanding and tenderness for his own experience by transforming it for him in this way.

Today's juvenile books are not interested in doing this for children. With few exceptions, their purpose is not to enhance Johnny's appreciation of what he knows but to force appreciation of what adults know.

So they tell him little tales about locomotives that hoot at the wrong time, how hydroelectric power is made and what Andean Indians do on Fiesta Day. Today, children's books give them much information about many facts — but awaken wonder and reverence for none.

GRACE FRIEND

LIVES VIEWS
Dear Grace Friend
I'm so glad you expressed your views on Jehovah's Witnesses as I have been upset by them many, many times. I'm sure they mean well; but they are sometimes very insulting.
Mrs. C. A.

POPULATION
Dear Grace
I wonder if you can answer two questions for me.
I would like to know what the population of the United States is and at what rate it is increasing. I also am curious about how many women have jobs outside their homes.
A. L.

Dear A. L.
The population of the United States is 167 million. If it continues to increase as it is now it will be 178 million in five years; 190 million in 10 years. By 1975 there will be more than 221 million people in this country.
Twenty-one million women have jobs outside of their homes today. This means that 26 per cent of all the women in America have jobs. Thirty percent of all married women work, this being twice as many as in 1940.

THANKS
Dear Grace Friend
I want to express my thanks to you for printing my letter. My husband got a little repair work which helped and I have been working nursing an old couple in their home as a result of the letter you printed.
Thanks many times over
Mrs. D. O. J.

WOOL COMFORTER
Dear Grace
Some time ago you gave an address where we could have our wool comforter repaired. Would you still have the address and kindly send it to me.
Mrs. F. C.

Dear Mrs. F. C.
I am sorry that I don't have the address any more. If the reader who gave it to me before will send it to me again, I'll be happy to forward it to you.

By GAYNOR MADDOX.
Cooking experts of the United States Department of Agriculture suggest that you broil or pan fry your pork chops — at low or very moderate heat. They assure us the chops will be tender, juicy, and thoroughly cooked this way. Frying at high heat or broiling is likely to overcook chops and make the meat hard and dry if its gets thoroughly "done." There's the possibility of scorching, too.

Braising makes nicely browned, tender chops. It's cooking slowly and evenly with moist heat. Have chops at least a half-inch thick. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and flour. Brown in a little fat in a fry pan. Cover closely, and cook over low heat 1/2 to 3/4 hour. Make gravy with the drippings or pour the drippings over the chops on the platter.

Pork goes well with many seasonings — tart, sweet and spicy. So you can vary those chops in many ways. Add a little chopped onion to the pan during cooking or a little tomato juice. Use herbs or a bit of spice. Company for the chops on the platter may be hot spiced peaches, steamed dried prunes, raisins or apricots, fried apple slices or glazed apple rings.

A chicken pie can be just right for Sunday dinner. Let's look at this recipe:

CHICKEN PIE (8-8 servings)

One-half cup chicken fat, 1/2 cup flour, 3 cups chicken broth, 1 cup cream or milk, 1 tablespoon minced onion, 1/2 teaspoon ground ginger, 3/4 teaspoon salt, 3/4 teaspoon pepper, 4 cups cooked chicken pieces, 3 hard-cooked eggs, sliced, pastry using 1 cup flour, 1 tablespoon milk.

Blend chicken fat and flour in saucepan over low heat until bubbly. Add broth and cream all at once and cook stirring constantly until uniformly thickened throughout. Add onion, ginger, salt and pepper. Place chicken and eggs in a 2-quart shallow casserole. Pour in the hot gravy. Roll pastry to fit casserole. Cut openings for steam vent. Adjust pastry cover. Brush top with milk. Bake promptly in a hot oven (425 degrees F.) until top is brown and sauce bubbly, 25 to 35 minutes. (Biscuit dough may be used instead of pastry).

Grandma Can Be Youthful, Svelte

By ALICIA HART

"Well, if I must, now that I am a great-aunt I will buy a gold-headed cane and a white shawl," writes one woman, somewhat facetiously.

But facetious or not, this is one pitfall that awaits women at each birthday or family event, such as the marriage of a child or the birth of a grandchild. She feels, now she is thus-and-such, she must behave in such-and-such a manner.

"Of course, Marlene Dietrich," a grown woman says to herself, as she ponders a pair of knee warmers. "But I'm not the type," she finally concludes as she buys the item. That's just it, of course. She isn't Marlene Dietrich, but she isn't the grandmother next door, either. She's herself.

A woman should dress in the most suitable manner possible, neither too youthful nor too old. But she needn't dress for some outside standard of her age. Grandmothers can be youthful and svelte. Daughters can be academic and businesslike.

There's really no need to dress rigidly in a grandmother style if it doesn't suit you.

Reviewer Says Musical History Made During Boston Pops Orchestra Concert

By RONALD WATERS
Pampa News Staff Writer

Pampa made musical history Thursday night during the first appearance of the Boston "Pops" Touring Orchestra, under the capable directorship of Harry John Brown. It was the first time in the history of the orchestra that an encore was given after the playing of the march, "Stars and Stripes Forever."

Assistant Conductor Brown said that the standing ovation received at the end of the march was one of the greatest ever received by the orchestra.

"It was a wonderful audience," he said. "I could have continued playing for them all night."

He continued by saying that never before had the orchestra failed to close out its concert with the stirring march. Besides being impressed with the responsiveness of the audience, he seemed favorably impressed with Pampa.

In turn, the audience proved that the orchestra was wonderful by giving them the longest and loudest applause ever given to any musical group that has appeared in Pampa, according to Mrs. A. A. Schuneman, secretary of the Pampa Community Concert Association.

The string of encores, following the keen rendition of "Look Sharp — Be Sharp," was well received, and the response to the delightful "TViana" (arranged by Dick Hayman) was especially notable in audible sounds. Following the "Dragnet" finish of the medley of popular television commercials and popular themes, the applause was outstanding. The audience was well pleased with the catchy fast-paced arrangements of the hilarious assemblage of currently well-known themes. Other encores were "Clair de Lune" by Debussy, "Burglar's Holiday" by Anderson, and "Surrey With a Fringe on Top" from Oklahoma, which concluded the program. Encore cards announced each number.

Highlighting the concert was the section "classical music for people who hate classical music" — the overture of "The Barber of Seville" by Rossini, "Suite" from the ballet, "Graduation Ball," by Johann Strauss, Jr., "The Sorcerer's Apprentice" by Dukas, and "On the Trail from "Grand Canyon Suite" by Ferde Grofe. The pictorial music of Dukas brought out each section of the huge orchestra perhaps better than any other selection would have done, although the percussionists played a dominant role in "TViana," as did some other strange sounding instruments.

One of the best received compositions was a popular arrangement of "hit" songs — "Popsorama," a conglomeration of "Mister Sandman," "Melody of Love," "The Naughty Lady of Shady Lane," "Three Coins in the Fountain," and "Tweedle-Dee" — arranged by Jack Mason for the Boston Pops.

RUTH MILLETT

The wife who watches her own weight carefully but lets her husband load up on rich gravies, second and third helpings of potatoes and apple pie topped with ice cream is shirking one of her duties as a wife.

Dr. W. H. Sebrell Jr., former director of the National Institute of Health recently told a group of doctors attending the 28th annual scientific meeting of the American Heart Association that they must set their sights on the housewife as a means of curbing overeating and overweight among the nation's people.

Dr. Sebrell pointed out that "it is the housewife who buys and prepares the food, times the meals and fixes the quantities of food to be served."

It is easier and more pleasant to cook a man all the rich food he craves and listen to him sigh contentedly when he finally pushes his chair away from the table than to serve him the kind of food he ought to have in the quantities that keep his weight down. But that doesn't make it right.

If we women are going to do our utmost to keep our husbands in good health and prolong their lives we've got to become diet conscious not just for ourselves but for our husbands.

It isn't going to be an easy job. For the man who likes to eat is easily made happy by the old system of feeding the brute.

But if we want to keep that man around a long long time we'd better add a qualifying phrase to that old saw. It's not right to just feed the brute. We've to feed him what is good for him in quantities that don't permit him to put on excess weight.

It's our job. Whether we live it or not we'd better get busy at it.

If a floor board splinter has partly broken off, the best way to deal with it is to cut it all away and build up the space with Plastic Wood. When the Plastic Wood has hardened, sand it smooth and touch up with shellac or paint to match the floor. A splinter that is still all there can usually be glued down, using a wedge or weight, or both, to hold it in place until the glue has dried.

When a fuse blows out it is easy to tell whether you have a short circuit or an overload. Take out the fuse and screw a 25-watt bulb into the socket. If the bulb gives a normal light you have a short. One by one, disconnect lamps, overhead lights and appliances on the circuit. When the fuse socket bulb goes out you have located the short. If the fuse socket bulb gives a dim light when you screw it in, or no light, you have an overload. Take one or more of the lamps or appliances off the circuit. (ANS)

Hours out of doors are the best tonic Baby can take in the winter. If he's propped but not overdressed, even the coldest weather keeps his appetite up and his cheek pink. He should move and play to stay comfortable, not sit rigid.

Snowsuits are a big hit in Baby's budget. They are outgrown quickly and get extra hard wear. This is an item that it is worth while to get by swapping, if possible. Some mothers will swap a stroller with a lemon pie to boot for a good one.

A plastic bib will rot and stiffen quickly if it's not cleaned and dried after each use. Water and soap will wash it but it needs to be hung with the pocket open, to dry correctly.

CHEESE AND MUSHROOMS blend their gentle flavors in a harmonious duet to make this lasagne a real treat.

COOK'S NOOK

Baked Lasagne, Highlighted With Mushrooms, Is Treat

By GAYNOR MADDOX NEA Food and Markets Editor Italian cooks have great skill with lasagne — plus the willingness to spend many hours preparing it. But we've found a very good recipe for this wonderful dish that is far easier.

Baked Lasagne With Mushrooms (Yield: 6 servings) One-half pound lasagne (macaroni), 2 ounce cans tomato sauce, 2 tablespoons finely diced onion, 1 tablespoon sugar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1-4 tablespoon pepper, 3-ounce can sliced broiled mushrooms, 1 egg, slightly beaten; 1/2 pound pot cheese, 1/4 teaspoon oregano, 1/2 pound Mozarella or Port Salut cheese.

Cook lasagne in 4 to 6 quart boiling water to which 1-4 cup salt has been added. Let cook until barely tender, about 25 minutes, stirring frequently to prevent sticking.

Drain well and plunge into cold water. Drain again. Meanwhile, combine tomato sauce, onion, sugar, salt and pepper in small saucepan. Drain mushrooms, adding broth to tomato sauce. Bring sauce to boil. Pour a little of the sauce into a rectangular baking dish, about 6x10 inches. Line bottom of dish with strips of cooked lasagne. Combine egg, pot cheese and oregano and spread evenly over the layer of lasagne. Top with a little more of the tomato sauce mixture. Add another layer of lasagne, running crosswise to the first layer. Top with 1-4 pound of cheese cut in slices. Arrange slices of remaining 1-4 pound cheese over the top and spread tomato sauce over it. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until thoroughly hot and the cheese is melted, about 30 minutes. Cut in six pieces. Serve immediately.

Bake Angel Food In Twin Loaves

Ever tried baking Angel Food Cake mix in loaf pans? We used to think it couldn't be done successfully, but recent tests in the Betty Crocker kitchens show that Angel mix batter can be divided easily into "twin" loaf pans.

And the added advantages! In changing baking pans, you will have two cakes from one mix — one sized right for small family or dessert entertaining — and one to pop into the freezer for later use. The smaller cake is easier to keep, serve and carry. Regular "loaf" pans of 9x5x2 1/4" size should be used, and remember to wash your pans thoroughly with soap and water before using. Traces of grease left on pan sides may cause your cake to fall from the pan when cooking. To cool, invert the cake by resting corners of the loaf pans on other pans.

For a luscious light dessert for coffee parties, bridge club or dessert after dinner Betty Crocker has developed the Orange Angel Loaf.

ORANGE ANGEL LOAF Heat oven to 375 degrees (350 degrees for glass pans). Make batter as directed on Betty Crocker Angel Food Cake Mix package. Pour into 2 shiny ungreased loaf pans, 9x5x2 1/4". Bake 25 to 30 minutes. Invert to cool, resting corners on other pans. When cool, loosen from sides off pan with knife, invert pan and hit sharply on table to remove cake.

Split 1 loaf lengthwise into 3 layers, spread Orange Filling, or packaged lemon pudding, and whipped cream between layers. Cover top with more whipped cream (for both filling and topping whip 1 cup whipping cream and 1-4 cup sifted confectioners' sugar). Or frost the entire cake with all the whipped cream. Garnish with chocolate shavings. Chill 1 to 2 hours before serving. 6 to 8 servings. Freeze other Angel Loaf for another time.

ORANGE FILLING Mix in saucepan 1 cup sugar, 1/2 tsp. salt, 1/4 cup cornstarch. Stir in slowly 1 cup orange juice (including pulp). Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly. Boil 1 minute. Blend in 1 to 2 tsp. grated orange rind, 1/2 tsp. lemon juice, 2 tsp. butter. (Frozen orange juice may be substituted for fresh and orange rind omitted.)

Twyla Stone, Perryton, Becomes Bride Of Cullen Neely In Double-Ring Service

PERRYTON — (Special) — In a double-ring ceremony in the sanctuary of the Nazarene Church, Miss Twyla Stone became the bride of Cullen Neely. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Stone, 1013 S. Baylor, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard Neely, Sayre, Okla.

Rev. J. R. Russell read the ceremony before an arch entwined with greenery and flanked by baskets of white gladioli.

Troy Bolerjack, accompanied by Frank Herndon, pianist, sang "Because." The traditional wedding marches were played for the professional and recessional.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ice-blue gown of imported Italian silk and cotton. The bodice was designed with a fitted mid-riff of lace and a small round collar. Lace cuffs finished three-quarter length sleeves. The full skirt, worn over crinoline, was ballerina-length.

She wore a half-hat of satin and lace and carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations over a white Bible.

Miss Shirley Stone, cousin of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a light beige dress with a navy blue velvet neckerchief trimmed with rhinestones. Her corsage was of white carnations.

Eddie Blackburn of Spearman was best man, Edwin Diehl of Garden City, Kans., cousin of the bride, served as usher.

Miss Pat Halpain registered the wedding guests.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Stone wore a brown wool suit trimmed with white angora. Her accessories were yellow and her corsage was of yellow carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents.

The bride's table was laid with a white lace cloth over pink and was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake, baked by Mrs. R. B. Trayler and Mrs. Troy Bolerjack. At either end of the table was a bouquet of pink carnations with white candles at either side and a crystal punch service. Miss Pat Halpain, Mrs. Trayler and Mrs. Bolerjack served the cake and punch.

For a short wedding trip, the

Can you measure the worth of a teacher by a yardstick?

Tokyo's board of education apparently thinks you can. For they have made a ruling that starting next year you can't teach school in Tokyo if you are under five feet.

It seems school children in Japan, like school children in America, are growing taller.

And the Japanese fear that teachers who are smaller than some of their pupils will find control difficult.

Looking back on my own grade-school days I remember that the best loved teacher in the school was so tiny we always thought of her as "cute."

But that didn't mean she couldn't handle the small fry in her room. She handled us with kindness, gentleness, a sense of humor, and a real understanding of a child's needs.

Two incidents stand out most vividly in my memory of her. One was the time a little boy passing my desk suddenly grabbed my hand and kissed it.

The other children started to giggle and one little girl raised her hand to tell the teacher the "awful thing" that had happened.

I sat there in an agony of embarrassment and shame and resentment until the teacher smiled and said: "How nice! You know gentlemen always used to kiss ladies' hands as a sign of respect." That took care of the matter.

Another time when I had been hurt on the school ground and was fighting back tears she called me to the front of the room, sat me on her lap and comforted me like a mother while she read the class a story.

I realize now that she was not only tiny of stature but very young, only a few years out of college. But she used her brain and her heart to keep her students in line and to make them not only love their teacher but love school.

No, you can't measure a teacher by a yardstick. Being a good teacher is a matter of the mind and the heart.

Wedding Vows Exchanged In Oklahoma By Mary Grace Sharp And David Regier

PERRYTON — (Special) — Wedding vows were exchanged in the First Methodist Church of Rosston, Okla., by Miss Mary Grace Sharp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Sharp of Rosston, and Cecil Regier, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Regier of Perryton.

The double-ring ceremony was read by Rev. Floyd LaMunyon, pastor of the Apostolic Faith Church of Perryton.

Nuptial music was played by Mrs. Floyd LaMunyon, Miss Sue Walker of Englewood, Kans., sang, "Melody of Love" and "The Lord's Prayer."

For her wedding, the bride wore a ballerina-length gown of white brocade faille. She carried a white Bible, covered with mother-of-pearl topped with an arrangement of sweetheart roses. The Bible, a gift of the bridegroom, was brought from Jerusalem.

Miss Sue Sharp, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Her ballerina-length dress was of blue taffeta, and she wore a corsage of pink carnations.

Bob Massen of Delhi, Okla., served as best man.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Sharp wore a charcoal-grey dress with red and black accessories and a corsage of red carnations. The bridegroom's mother wore a navy blue faille dress with black and white accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

A reception was held in the dining room and Mrs. Joe Andrews and Mrs. Claude Zollinger, aunt of the bride, served coffee. Miss Gay McAtee was in charge of the guest book.

Following a wedding trip to points in Texas, Mr. and Mrs. Regier, will be at home in Stillwater, Okla., where both will attend Oklahoma A&M college. The bridegroom returned recently from a student exchange trip to Iran and Iraq.

Average Woman Gambler Is Housewife Who Prefers Her Hubby Doesn't Watch

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY LAS VEGAS, Nev. —UP— The average woman who gambles at the casino here is a 38-year-old housewife who will quit if her losses reach $14.

She prefers not to have her husband around when she gambles, but if she wins she tells him about it and spends the money for something for the family. She's strictly a gambling novice and prefers to play roulette because she can talk while the wheel spins.

The survey that turned up these facts took six months to complete and includes documented answers from 1,000 women Jack Entratter, owner of the Sands Hotel, said an even more complicated count showed that 5,475,000 of the 9 million visitors to Las Vegas in 1955 were women.

Proof of Inconsistency Why did they gamble? What did they think about when they gambled?

The facts they turned up are fascinating proof of women's inconsistency. There was a 60-year-old spinster from Duluth, Minn., who said she gambled for excitement. And there was a young divorcee who kept putting silver dollars on the number 27 because she had received her divorce on the 27th of the month and sentimentally hoped she'd get her husband back if she was lucky.

One woman always looked for a gray-haired dealer wearing a wedding band because she thought she'd have better luck at blackjack if a kindly family man dealt the cards.

Of the 1,000 women surveyed, 740 were married and only 212 liked to gamble with their husbands. If they won, 511 said they would reveal their winnings to their husbands and when asked "why?" the majority of these women gave one of three answers:

"To show him women can do things as well as men. . . to rub it in because he lost the last time. . . to put an end to his claims that women are only good at spending money."

Most of the women surveyed were from the eastern states and from cities, Entratter said. Most of those who refused to co-operate with the interviewers were from farms and rural areas.

One question was stricken from the survey after too many women indicated irritation. "What do you think about when you are gambling?" the first few dozen women were asked. "Winning!" they snapped crossly, and suggested they'd like to be left alone while they were playing.

BABY

By BETSY WADE NEA Staff Writer

Those flavored-up Baby aspirin have a kiddie appeal for toddlers and kids. And, taken in quantity, they are dangerous. The top of the medicine cabinet isn't safe enough for storage. Put them under lock and key if your Baby is a climber.

Babies begin to enjoy each other's company early. If it's all possible, Baby should have the opportunity to be with some babies of his own age, some older and some younger. He shouldn't spend all his play time with older babies; it's too frustrating.

Toes of Baby's shoes should be round and firm, but not so firm you can't feel the toes through it. The eyelets should be parallel when the shoes are laced and tied. Baby's socks should also be plenty large for his wiggly feet.

MEAT COOKERY Quiz

Q. What is the name of this cut?
 A. Veal Blade Shoulder Roast.
Q. Where does it come from and how is it identified?
 A. It is from the shoulder section of the animal. It contains portions of rib and blade bones similar to beef blade pot roast.
Q. How is it prepared?
 A. It is placed fat side up on a rack in an open roasting pan. A roast meat thermometer is inserted so that the bulb reaches the center of the thickest part, but does not rest in fat or on bone. Water is not added and the pan is not covered. Fresh veal is roasted in a low oven (300°F.) until the thermometer registers 170°F. If a thermometer is not used, allow 25 to 35 minutes per pound for cooking.

Is Talk Given To Merten HD Members

Merten Home Demonstration Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Volney Day, 736 N. Hazel, with Miss Helen Dunlap, county HD agent, presenting the program, "Purpose and Meaning of 4-H Work."
 Beginners in 4-H work can be as young as nine years of age, she told the women. Through the Extension Service, the girls are guided by the HD agent and her assistant, and the boys are guided by the agriculture agent and his assistant.
 Miss Dunlap told of a beginning 4-H group of girls, the "Cloverettes," which meets in her office the second and fourth Thursdays of each month. They have the same order of rules and officers as the older groups, she explained; adding that the girls choose their own officers, as well as different programs of work of the most interest to them. Adult leader of the "Cloverettes" is Mrs. T. D. Anderson of White Deer.
 There are about two million 4-H youths taking training in this country, Miss Dunlap told the women. The boys start their training by raising pigs, calves and sheep, and through their agricultural leaders learn every phase and the method of stock men and farmers.

Howard Hodge, Midland, chairman of the Division of Safety, Public Affairs Department — during the past year she has directed three safety campaigns and contests; and Miss Ethel Foster, Sterling City, chairman of the Program Division of the Council of International Clubs — who was unable to attend due to injuries suffered from a fall on Jan. 9.

Court May Decide If Stock Plan Is Bargaining Issue

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE
WASHINGTON, Jan. 21 — UP—The Supreme Court will be asked soon to decide whether the Richfield Oil Corp.'s voluntary employee stock-purchase plan is a collective bargaining issue.

If it is, as two courts and the National Labor Relations Board have already ruled, labor has broken through to a new wage benefit front. But oil industry sources say labor may lose more than it can gain.

They say other big industries will shie away from such plans without iron-clad guarantees that they are separate and distinct from wage contracts.

Three business organizations—the National Association of Manufacturers, the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, and the American Retail Federation—were so concerned by the case that they intervened as friends of Richfield.

Could Be Revolutionary
Their anxiety was reflected in a statement by a Richfield spokesman. He told the United Press "the decision could mark a revolutionary change in industrial relations in which workers could make ownership or control of a business a matter of collective bargaining."

Richfield put its plan into effect in its California plants April 4, 1953, without discussing it with the CIO oil workers international union—now the AFL-CIO oil and atomic workers—which represented 2,000 of its 5,000 workers.

The union protested. It said its "continuous work" provisions actually were aimed at blocking strikes and were therefore subject to bargaining. When Richfield refused to negotiate the union filed an unfair labor practice charge and was upheld by the NLRB.

Upheld by Courts
The board's decision was affirmed first by a District of Columbia Federal Court and then—last Monday—by the Federal Circuit Court of Appeals here. Richfield promptly announced it would appeal to the Supreme Court.

It said the decision put the workers on both sides of the bargaining table—as stockholders and employees—thus threatening the rights of business under the free enterprise system.

The plan provides for joint company-employee contributions. If the Supreme Court decides to review the case, it will hear oral arguments. If it rejects it, the lower court decisions will stand.

Lover Is Cleared In Slaying

FLINT, Mich., Jan. 21 — UP—The handsome boy friend of Mrs. Betty Kehl was cleared of suspicion Saturday in the love triangle slaying of her husband.

Prosecutor Jerome O'Rourke ordered the release of William Thomas, 25-year-old construction worker, after a four-hour meeting with detectives who have been working on the case since Mrs. Kehl's husband, Robert, 34, was shot to death last Monday night.

Both Mrs. Kehl, 32, and Thomas were picked up early in the week and held for investigation of murder.

O'Rourke said he recommended that Mrs. Kehl be kept in jail until at least Monday. He said he would know by then whether any warrants would be issued.

Mrs. Kehl told police her husband, a cigar salesman, was shot by a dark-skinned, black-jacketed stranger at a dump near the Flint city limits. She later changed her story and said Thomas was the slayer. He admitted carrying on a love affair but denied any part in the slaying.

Mrs. Kehl, who is expecting a baby in six months, admitted during a series of lie detector tests that two weeks ago she asked a Flint gambler to "beat up" her husband. The gambler, Joseph Cicalo, said he turned down the offer.

Good Tests Reported In Perryton

PERRYTON — (Special) — The south Farnsworth furnished the top oil well in the Panhandle last week and encouraging test were reported at the newest Woodson well south of town to highlight the oil news.

The R. H. Fulton and J. M. Huber Corp. No. 1 Grabel, in Sec. 32, Blk. JTM, BSAF survey, 6 miles south of Farnsworth, was completed for 344 barrels of oil and no water from the lower Morrow. Pay zone is 8002-17 feet.

Another well 1½ miles northwest of the Fulton producer, also on Chester Grabel land, in Sec. 1, Blk. JT, TWNG Survey, reported 30 feet of gas saturated Morrow sand.

The Woodson Oil Co. 1 E Perry Unit, on Ida Garrett land, tested the Douglas sand from 5298-5334 feet with 5-8 bottom choke and 1-inch choke. Gas came to the surface in 15 minutes and 60 feet of fresh water along with 90 feet of brackish drilling mud was recovered. Flowing pressure was zero and shut in pressure was 1400 pounds in one half hour.

The formation flowed 325,000 cubic feet of gas.

At the Woodson 1-D, on Addison Cutter land, the well was hydrofractured with 20,000 gallons of fluid and 17,000 pounds of sand from 8049-8042 feet. The well flowed the frac load plus about two barrels of crude oil before the swab stuck and the well is being worked on now in an effort to free the swab and clean out the well to resume testing.

The Woodson 1-C, on Osborne land, has had a pumping unit installed but the pump has given trouble and is not yet in operation. Through perforations at intervals from 7,552 to 7,637 feet the well swabbed and flowed at the rate of 6 barrels of oil per hour.

The Texas Co. No. 1 W. Pahl-goda well, south and east of Perryton, flowed 1,400,000 feet of gas from perforations at 8517-29 feet and testing is continuing.

A small gas show was found at the Magnolia Petroleum Co. No. 1 Parnell in Sec. 494, Blk. 43, H&TC survey, after perforations at 9004-18 feet. The well flowed 17 barrels of lead oil in 21 hours and had 84,000 feet of gas.

Evidence On Slaying Seen In Indictment

PHILADELPHIA — UP — Events leading to the robbery-slaying of a wealthy Philadelphia widow last July Fourth weekend came to light Saturday following the surprise indictment of a policeman and a former policeman from Tulsa, Okla., by a federal grand jury.

Gus A. DeMoss, 46, of Ardmore, Okla., a radio dispatcher for the Tulsa Police Department, and Robert Thomas, 46, of Miami, Fla., former Tulsa policeman, were indicted Friday on charges of interstate transportation of stolen money. Thomas also once served as a Dade county, Fla., deputy sheriff.

The grand jury indictment also named Frank J. Ellsworth and Raymond P. Wilson, already in custody on commonwealth charges of strangling Mrs. Lulubel Rossmann last July 3.

Arrested in Las Vegas
U. S. Attorney W. Wilson Whit said marshals in Miami and Tulsa had been directed to arrest DeMoss and Thomas. White said their bail had been set at $50,000.

Both Ellsworth and Wilson were arrested in a Las Vegas gambling casino last July 6 after trying to cash some of the $87,000 in $100 bills in their possession.

Police said serial numbers on their bills tallied with bills known to have been in Mrs. Rossmann's central Philadelphia hotel room. After an involved legal fight, the suspects were returned here.

Met in Tulsa
Assistant U. S. Attorney Robert Spiegel said the implication of DeMoss and Thomas followed intensive police and FBI investigations. He said they became acquainted while serving as policemen in Tulsa and there got to know Wilson. DeMoss met Ellsworth in April of 1954, Spiegel added.

The government claimed that while Thomas served as Dade county deputy sheriff, Mrs. Rossmann, a frequent visitor to Miami, reported the theft of $10,000. Thomas investigated, the government contended, and through constant communication memorized her movements and relayed the information to Ellsworth and Wilson.

East German Army Wears Old Uniform Report

BERLIN, Jan. 21 — UP — German soldiers will tramp the streets of Berlin again soon in the same black hob-nailed boots and grey tunics Adolf Hitler's Wehrmacht troopers wore for their tushers.

Communist East Germany is going to clothe its new army in the traditional uniform of the Prussian troops but there the similarity will end.

Western political observers say the spirit of the new "National Peoples Army" will be strictly Soviet.

The East German private will address his superiors as "Comrade Captain," instead of "Herr Captain."

The nucleus of the army will be the 120,000-man Soviet-built Peoples Police Army already patrolling the eastern half of divided Germany. Their necks and uniform will be changed.

The equipment, organization, training and tactics of the new Red Wehrmacht will remain Russian. And the equipment compares favorably with Western weapons.

When the East German Communists proclaimed the formation of their National Peoples Army this week they said the tradition of the great Prussian generals of history would form its spirit.

The privates will swap their olive drab, Soviet-style police uniforms for field grey battle dress almost identical to that of Hitler's troops. Generals will wear red stripes down their trousers just like the tushers' field marshals did.

Law We're For

The greatest threat to American free enterprise comes from the very ranks of those supposedly protecting our rights and liberties.

That seems a safe conclusion on studying the antics of some members of Congress and some other elected officials throughout the country.

These persons now are readying themselves to kill off a piece of legislation, known as the Harris - Fulbright Bill, which is designed to prevent the federal government from further infringing on the rights of free enterprise.

The intended victim of these forces is the natural gas producing industry. If these vociferous, misguided forces succeed in their attempts to defeat this bill or water it down to the point of ineffectiveness, the foes of American free enterprise and our capitalistic system can chalk up another victory.

Briefly, the Harris - Fulbright Bill is designed for one purpose — to partially free natural gas producers from the clutches and shackles of government control.

This, in itself, is a sad commentary on the state to which our nation has descended. Now we find it necessary for laws to be written to protect and safeguard what we've always thought was an inherent American right — the right to take a gamble with your own money, skill and ability in the hopes of furthering your own success.

Those working to defeat the Harris - Fulbright Bill are pounding their chests and screaming loudly about protecting the interests and pocketbooks of us consumers. But their wailing rings false when one realizes that ever before these independent gas producers were forced into the abyss of regulation, only 10 cents of every natural gas consumer's dollar went to the men who risked their capital in the quest for more supplies of natural gas.

If the Harris - Fulbright Bill is defeated, the results of such action will cast a cloud of despair over the whole economy of the country. Once these forces achieve government control over the price of one commodity, there will be no logical reason for them to stop. Then can come controls over the prices of coal, oil, wheat, cement, automobiles or even the bacon and eggs you enjoyed at breakfast this morning.

Defeat of the Harris - Fulbright Bill will lead the country along a road devoid of competition or incentive to a dead end of low production, a short supply and stagnant socialism.

What better gift could this country make to those who preach the wonders of state control — especially the tyrants of the Kremlin who long have calculated that the American system of free enterprise and capitalism will fail because of the actions of unsuspecting agents within the United States.

There are only two things about the Harris - Fulbright Bill which do not meet with our full approval so far as we understand the measure. One is that the bill does not really free the gas industry of government control. It goes a long way toward it however, and is constructive as far as it goes.

The other thing is the name of Senator Fulbright attached to the bill. The senator has, in the past, differed from our point of view on virtually every occasion. He has usually favored more government controls, internationalism and other things which tended toward larger government. In this instance he has reversed himself. We favor the measure, in spite of Mr. Fulbright, because the measure goes in the right direction.

One other matter should be mentioned. The House of Representatives has already passed the measure. It squeaked thru by a very narrow margin, but it is hoped that the Senate will pass it with flying colors.

THE NATION'S PRESS

MULLING IN ON MANAGEMENT

The Daily Oklahoman

In ordering a transplanted Frederick, Okla., leather goods firm to return to New York, a mediator has raised an issue of growing national importance.

In question is the extent to which management is to be deprived by administrative decree of its proper and legitimate functions.

In support of his order the mediator cited a section of the company's contract with the pocket-book workers union of New York. He said this contract clause prevented the firm from moving without the union's consent.

As an alternative to dismantling its Frederick operation the company was told to pay three years of unearned wages to its former New York employees. Of course it would remain for the courts to determine whether there was any validity in a contract that attempted to restrict a business manager in its choice of locations.

The Frederick case and others like it are interesting as examples of how the area of management decision is being subjected to governmental encroachment. It's true that the decisions of these governmental administrative agencies are subject to court review. But administrative orders often are confirmed in practice before their final determination of their original validity. The courts then are in the difficult position of trying to unscramble eggs.

Because of the expanding administrative interpretations an employer never can know what he is going to be called on to bargain about in the future. What begins as a voluntary concession on his part may become a contractual obligation with the passage of time.

Subject to contract negotiations now are such varied matters as lay-offs, discharges for cause, promotions, stock purchase plans, holiday pay, health insurance, pensions and bonuses. Labor is demanding and getting a voice in all these policy matters wherein the responsibility if not the choice rests solely with management.

Management's authority obviously is being impaired by this constant enlargement of the bargaining area. Where this is taking the country is a subject that gets some attention in the Hoover commission report on legal services and procedure.

Its task force in this field observed that "a principal characteristic of the administrative process is the concentration in a single instrumentality of investigative, prosecuting and adjudicatory functions. It noted that this concentration of functions tends to depart from the traditional principle that no one shall be a judge in his own cause." The commission urged congress to investigate "the feasibility of transferring to the courts certain judicial functions of administrative agencies, such as the imposition of money penalties, the remission or compromise of money penalties, the awards of reparations or dam-

The Kingdom Of God's Value To Man

A friend of mine suggested that I reread part of "The Religion Worth Having" by Thomas Nixon Carver. This book was published in 1911.

It is needed today even more than it was needed at that time, unless it was the ideals of the evaluation of man established at that time that has resulted in the trouble we are in today.

In order to get the gist of Carver's measure of the value of a man, a little introduction is necessary. Carver puts it this way:

Basis Of Value
"That the value of a productive agent to its owner is dependent upon the margin between its product and its cost or maintenance, is perceived by every one capable of running a business. A horse whose daily raring power is exactly equal to the cost of keeping him, is worth exactly nothing. A horse which costs a dollar a day and earns a dollar and twenty cents is worth exactly twice as much as a horse which costs the same and earns a dollar and ten cents. It is not so generally perceived that this principle of valuation is not the result of commercial practices but the cause of them. This principle of valuation is universal, and the commercial practice is merely a reflection of it. Though the citizen is not owned by the state, and therefore has no commercial selling price, yet his real value or utility to the state or the group to which he belongs is precisely the same as though he had. If the state should assert property over him and start the commercial practice of buying and selling citizens, that would not create any new factor in the citizen's utility provided he kept the same habits. It would merely inaugurate the practice of estimating whatever utility he happened to have, and giving a quantitative expression to it for purposes of comparison and exchange. The perception of this great economic principle of valuation, and the application of it to non-commercial objects, such as men and moral qualities, is the leading characteristic of Christ's teaching respecting the Kingdom of God. He who gives much and takes little, whose service exceeds his demands by the largest margin, is greatest in the Kingdom. The Kingdom of God, as set forth by its greatest exponent, is nothing more nor less than a kingdom in which this principle of valuation prevails. That is the only, objective characteristic of the kingdom which he ever emphasized. The nation which adopts the same principle of valuation as its basis of selection will approximate as nearly to the ideal of the kingdom as is possible in a world of physical reality.

Meet Conditions
"That is the only conception of a kingdom of God on earth which is possible to a person who believes that this physical world is God's world, and that the laws of selection now in operation are God's laws. If that be true, the kind of a group which best meets the conditions and requirements of this world of struggle and survival, and which can therefore win the world in competition with all other forms and types of social organization, must, of logical necessity, be God's kingdom. That group will survive which evaluates most accurately the fitness of its men to help in the struggle, and which distributes power and responsibility on the basis of that fitness.

Very Shocking
"This view of the situation will, of course, seem very shocking to those amiable liberals who prefer their own standards to those imposed upon us by the conditions of the universe. They are like the woman who didn't like to have to eat wholesome food, but liked to eat what she'd druther. If the people like a certain thing and vote for it, why shouldn't they have it? They may have it, but their liking it will not obviate its consequences any more than the woman's liking for unwholesome food would obviate its consequences. No phase of religious liberalism of today is so demoralizing as the general appeal which is being made to popularity by presenting only the more pleasing, amiable, and sentimental sides of religion and goodness, under the impression, probably, that what the people can be persuaded to like in the way of religion and morality is necessarily good; or that if we can agree in liking a certain type of religious life, that is all we need to trouble ourselves about. For a great many years certain half-baked moralists, of the sociological type, have been discovering and rediscovering the old and time-worn fact that many of our ideals of conduct rest mainly upon custom and convention. They therefore jump to the conclusion that there is nothing to either religion or morality except custom and convention, and that one is as good as another if it only gets itself adopted by the popular will. These brilliant discoverers of what wise men have always known usually assume a scornful attitude, saying wise men never do, toward 'mere middle-class morality,' as though middle-class morality were some kind of low-down occupation unworthy of gentlemen and scholars."

Very Shocking
"This view of the situation will, of course, seem very shocking to those amiable liberals who prefer their own standards to those imposed upon us by the conditions of the universe. They are like the woman who didn't like to have to eat wholesome food, but liked to eat what she'd druther. If the people like a certain thing and vote for it, why shouldn't they have it? They may have it, but their liking it will not obviate its consequences any more than the woman's liking for unwholesome food would obviate its consequences. No phase of religious liberalism of today is so demoralizing as the general appeal which is being made to popularity by presenting only the more pleasing, amiable, and sentimental sides of religion and goodness, under the impression, probably, that what the people can be persuaded to like in the way of religion and morality is necessarily good; or that if we can agree in liking a certain type of religious life, that is all we need to trouble ourselves about. For a great many years certain half-baked moralists, of the sociological type, have been discovering and rediscovering the old and time-worn fact that many of our ideals of conduct rest mainly upon custom and convention. They therefore jump to the conclusion that there is nothing to either religion or morality except custom and convention, and that one is as good as another if it only gets itself adopted by the popular will. These brilliant discoverers of what wise men have always known usually assume a scornful attitude, saying wise men never do, toward 'mere middle-class morality,' as though middle-class morality were some kind of low-down occupation unworthy of gentlemen and scholars."

STATE'S RIGHTS

By George Peck

Undoubtedly, one of the greatest speeches in defense of State's Rights and our American Capitalistic System of Free, Competitive Enterprise was made on March 2, 1930, by Franklin D. Roosevelt, at that time Governor of New York State.

It was delivered over a nationwide radio hook-up. In this address, Mr. Roosevelt, who two years later was destined to be elected President of the United States, decried the encroachment of Federal Government into affairs that rightfully and constitutionally belong to the individual states and he scolded at the idea that there were any "Master Minds" in this country or ever would be.

If proof were ever needed to demonstrate that sometimes men say things that later rise up to embarrass them, FDR's radio address provides that proof. During his many years in the White House it must have been a continuous source of "heckling" on the part of his critics. Here is what he said in part in that speech:

"The doctrine of regulation and legislation by master minds, in whose judgment and will, all the people may gladly and quietly acquiesce, has been too glibly apparent at Washington during these past ten years. Were it possible to find master minds so inflexible; so willing to decide unhesitatingly against their own personal interests or private prejudices; men almost God-like in their ability to hold the scales of justice with an even hand—such a government might be to the interests of the country; but there are none such, on our political horizon, and we cannot expect a complete reversal of all the teachings of history."

"Now to bring about government by oligarchy masquerading as democracy, it is fundamentally essential that practically all authority and control be centralized in our National Government. The individual sovereignty of our States must first be destroyed, except in minor matters of legislation. We are safe from the danger of any such departure from the principles on which this country was founded just so long as the individual home rule of the States is scrupulously preserved and fought for whenever they seem in danger."

"Thus it will be seen that this home rule is a most important thing—the most vital thing—if we are to continue along the course which we have so far progressed with such unprecedented success."

"But what are the underlying principles on which this government is founded? First and foremost, the new thought that every citizen was entitled to live his own life in his own way so long as his conduct did not injure any of his fellow-men. This was to be a new Land of Promise where a man could worship God in the way he saw fit; where he could rise by industry, by thrift, by intelligence to the highest places in the commonwealth, secure from tyranny, secure from injustice—a free agent—the maker or destroyer of his own destiny."

prior to his election to the presidency. The very things which, while Governor of New York State, he declaimed would destroy the U. S. A., he put into practice at Washington. When the Supreme Court ruled against the NRA, which he had launched, he made a desperate effort to pack our highest court. Fortunately, the Congress rebelled and he was frustrated in his attempt to appoint members to the Supreme Court who would do his bidding.

When death called President Roosevelt and Vice President Harry Truman took over as President, the new incumbent continued the policy of mauling the individual states of the powers granted them by the Constitution. Whereas Franklin called his administration the "New Deal," Harry named his the "Fair Deal." A change in name only, both the same in practice.

This is 1956. There will be a national election in November. We must see to it that men are elected to Congress, that a man is elected to the presidency, who will start in action a movement to return power to the individual states that the Federal Government has misappropriated. We must remember the words of Governor Roosevelt, not the actions of President Roosevelt: "To bring masquerading as democracy, it is fundamentally essential that practically all authority be centralized in our National Government."

BID FOR A SMILE

A young industrialist, after a particularly brutal session in a sand trap, sought to relieve the uncomfortable silence by cheerily declaring to his caddy:

REFLECTION

...with JAMES C. MOOREHEAD, President, Spiritual Mobilization

According to a recent news story from Belgrade, Yugoslavia, "First Deputy Premier Miron Constantinescu (of Rumania) emphasized that the new five-year plan (in Rumania) would not be enough to establish the basis of socialism. He said it would be followed by another five-year plan."

Well, well. Can it be that permanent socialization of a whole economy is, after all, impossible? It is beginning to look that way—what with failure in Australia, England, the Soviet satellites, and even Russia itself.

I think Thomas Nixon Carver got to the heart of the matter when he said, "In the absence of force, capitalism automatically exists in the same sense that peace and liberty automatically exist." If that be so — and I believe it is — then the only way you can have either a permanent state of war or a permanent state of Socialism is to forcibly enslave men. And, since men refuse to be forever enslaved, the "dream" of a permanent Socialist economy is impossible of accomplishment — which makes the interim damage done by the Socialist dreamers all the more tragic.

Nehru And Soviet Rulers Have Unexpected Difficulty

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The new and friendly relationship between Russia and India has created unexpected difficulties for Prime Minister Nehru and the Communist Party in his country. The Khrushchev-Bulgarian tour of Asia has had an uncomfortable aftermath for both countries, politically, industrially and economically.

Communists in India do not know where they stand with respect to the Kremlin and New Delhi. They cannot decide whether to continue to harass Nehru's Congress Party, or to join it in a "united front." Russian technicians and engineers discover that training and supervising natives imbued with a spirit of nationalism, freedom and independence is quite a different task from coercing "forced and slave labor" in a totalitarian state.

American diplomats' reports of these clashes have influenced the Administration's policy markedly. A more cautious attitude has supplanted the near-hysteria felt in official circles after the ovations accorded Khushchev and Bulganin. It is reflected in the apparent determination of Congress not to suspend and outbid the Soviet autocrats in India and elsewhere. There is a growing belief that Russia cannot deliver without demanding controls and authority that will be resented fiercely by the local peoples and governments.

Nehru has frequently shown and spoken his detestation for native Communists. He has denounced communism itself as a "reactionary force," still motivated by Karl Marx's obsolete, mid-nineteenth century ideologies. But he has offset vocal denunciations by his praise of Soviet progress during his 1955 visit there, by his gushing welcome to Moscow missionaries, and by his acceptance of Communist aid in rebuilding his backward country.

Temporarily at least, or until the pattern of Russo-Indian relationship is delineated more clearly, the Communists at home have met him halfway. Their central committee, in a formal report, recently damned him with faint praise. It said:

"Although the foreign policy of the Government of India has undergone a welcome change in recent years, no such change has taken place in its internal policies. These policies, on the contrary, continue to be, in the main, reactionary and undemocratic."

Nehru himself has created a political vacuum for the Reds to occupy by destroying the Socialist Party. He did so with his program of nationalization of basic industries, his distribution of land to peasants, and his establishment of a credit system for the new class of farmers.

It is into this spot that the Communists may move with alacrity of a "united front." It was by such a strategy that they virtually took over Indonesia, where they now have several key Cabinet positions and a strong parliamentary bloc. They seek to pursue the same course in France in the current government crisis.

Nehru himself is strong enough, and popular enough, to keep the Communies in check. In fact, they have probably been ordered by the Kremlin, although this is mere speculation, to exercise restraint. But many of Nehru's advisers, as well as Anglo-American diplomats, wonder whether India can remain free and independent under a less towering and commanding leader, especially if the Kremlin makes good on its lavish pledges of economic aid.

The invading Russian technicians, however, are not too sure of such a result from their early experiences. With coercion of laborers out, they have no resources of patience, tolerance and understanding to manage slow, inept and untrained natives. There are also many barriers of language, culture, customs and temperament.

There are other handicaps. In order to demonstrate the superiority of Communist over American methods, they want to do things in a hurry; they want to build show mills, railroads, bridges, etc. Whereas West tries to teach natives to do things themselves, so that the benefits will be permanent, the Reds insist on retaining full control.

Aping the colonizers of another age, they grant the natives only a minimum of initiative, resourcefulness and training. Nehru may soon get fed up with this Russian-style colonization.

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR F. JORDAN, M. D.

It seems incredible in this day and age that anyone should adopt a hopeless attitude towards hemorrhoids yet this seems to be the case.

A mother writes that her 24-year-old son has had bleeding hemorrhoids for four years. She wants him to go to the doctor but he says his no use. She asks specifically whether it is true that nothing can be done for the condition, and whether it is not dangerous to leave the disorder alone.

Hemorrhoids or piles are among the most common disorders of the present age. Actually, bleeding is also the most frequent sign of this condition. Although severe pain is rarely present, itching is frequent.

IN ANSWER TO the first question if such warning signs are ignored the bleeding is unlikely to stop of itself permanently but will probably get worse.

Hemorrhoids are clusters of enlarged veins at or around the outlet of the rectum. They may be internal or external. Chronic constipation, a long-continued cough, childbirth, and muscular strain from work are examples of what will tend to slow down the flow of blood through the hemorrhoidal veins and favor their enlargement.

If untreated, the hemorrhoids become larger and larger and more symptoms develop. Painful ulcers and cracks may form which add to the discomfort. This answers the second question.

THE TREATMENT of piles includes avoidance of chronic constipation, or unnecessary muscular strain. Once hemorrhoids have developed, however, this is not enough to make the veins return to their normal state.

Usually the best treatment is by surgery. The enlarged veins are cut out. This is probably what is necessary for the correspondent's son; surgery does not guarantee that the veins will not enlarge again, and therefore, a person who has had the operation should get advice as to the probable cause and take whatever steps are recommended to lessen the chances of recurrence.

ANOTHER QUESTION on the treatment of hemorrhoids comes from L., who says, "I am troubled with hemorrhoids, and have obtained relief by injections. Now I am told that this is a bad practice which may cover up symptoms of cancer. Other doctors disagree with this. What is your opinion?"

So far as injections are concerned, opinions vary somewhat. Injection treatment in the hands of those who are familiar with the method and for selected patients may be all right, though apparently in recent years, it has been losing in favor of surgery.

We have been asked to make foreign policy no part of the coming election. But the Status of Forces Treaty is a part of our foreign policy. And the Status of Forces Treaty deprives all of our sons serving in the armed forces in any foreign country of the protection guaranteed them by the Constitution they have been drafted to defend. If we ignore foreign policy, we ignore the safety of our sons.

Not now, but in the coming years, it may be in the better land. We'll read the meaning of our tears, and there, sometimes, we'll understand. We'll catch the broken threads again, and finish what we here began. Heaven'll be the mystery explain, And then, all things we understand. We'll know why clouds instead of sun, We've over many a cherished plan; Why song has ceased, when scars begun; Why there, sometime, we'll understand. God knows the way, He holds the key. He guides us with unerring hand; Sometimes with tearless eyes we'll see. Yes, there, up there, we'll understand, Then trust in God through all the days. Fear not, for He doth hold thy hand; Though dark the way, still sing and praise; Sometime, sometime, we'll understand.

CHESS CHATS

By GEORGE KOLTANOWSKI International Chess Master

CAN YOU SOLVE THIS? Problem No. 6 White to play and mate in two moves. Solution to Problem No. 5 is: 1.R.K2. Relations should be postmarked not later than Friday and should be sent to "Chess", c/o Pampa Daily News, Pampa, Texas. FORTUNE promotes everyone without reason and without choice; the foals on the chessboard are nearest to the kings. French proverb. The French "jool" (foal) corresponds to the English "bishop"; it is due, says Professor Gaudin, to the foal's bonnet having been mistaken for a bishop's mitre. Most countries where chess is popular issued stamps with chess or chess players featured. Not the United States, home of Paul Morphy, perhaps the world's greatest natural chess genius. Mrs. Pauline Nearing, Decatur, Ill., philatelist has perhaps the greatest collection of chess stamps. She and others are urging that the chess public insist that the postal authorities issue a special stamp in October, 1957, to commemorate the 100th anniversary of Morphy's winning of the first American Chess Congress in 1857. Efforts to have a Morphy stamp on his birth centenary in 1937 were unsuccessful. Read The News Classified Ads

European Women Too 'Beefy'

By TERESA REESE CHICAGO, Jan. 21 — UP — The average European woman's figure is too beefy to fit the world's best clothing designs, an American fur designer declared Saturday. "The finest clothes designs in the world come from Paris and Rome," said Herman Meltzer, "and it's just lucky there are American women to wear them. Otherwise I think European designers would commit suicide." Meltzer, vice president and head designer for the Evans Fur Co., here, left Saturday on a fur and design buying trip in England, France and Italy. He said the American fur designer's "dream" figure is a size 14 five-foot, five-inch tall, . . . but 38 and hips 39. European female figures generally are at least two inches larger in the latter two respects than their American counterparts, he said. "Those long, heavy lunches have taken their toll on European figures," said Meltzer. "But actually I think the men are to blame. If European men didn't admire tubby builds, I don't think their women would have such deplorable figures." European women aren't as figure conscious as their American sisters, either, said the designer. "I'm not saying that the emphasis on slim, trim figures in the United States is better from a social standpoint," he added quickly. "But it sure makes life more pleasant for a designer." American women find it almost impossible to get fitted in ready-made European clothes, Meltzer said, because of the "figure differential." "Also," he said, "European designers are more concerned with style than with fit. We have to change all the designs we buy because they're either too baggy or too tight around the neck, or pinch or bag in other places." Just 'Imbecility' MEXICO CITY — UP — Argentine Ambassador Jose F. Suarez said Thursday Juan D. Peron's declaration that he will soon return to Argentina is "just another imbecility" of the deposed dictator.
