183 Animals Shown In The Junior Livestock Show Here

The Top O' Texas Junior Livestock Show went into full swing yesterday with the judging of 183 animals in 10 different classes and 78 calves in five classes. Homer Brumley, of Hereford, served as judge for both events.

This morning the FFA Livestock Judging Contest was to be held under the direction of Quentin Williams, superintendent of the contest. The judging of Hereford breeding cattle commenced at 1 p.m. today. Dr. Robert Black, head of the department of animal husbandry at Texas Tech College, is acting as judge for these events.

The Livestock Judging contest banquet was scheduled for today at 5 p.m. in the Sam Houston Elementary School. At that time awards were to be presented to FFA winners in this morning's show. The Top O' Texas Hereford Breeders Banquet is slated for tonight at 7:30 in Fellowship Hall of the First Methodist Church. Dr. Black will be the featured speaker.

Tomorrow morning will see the annual sale of calves and barrows in the junior show at 9 a.m. highlighting the show. At 1 p.m. tomorrow, the Hereford Breeders' sale will proceed with Col. Walter Britten auctioning stock for both sales.

Named as Grand Champion in the Hereford calf division of the junior show was a 1,011 pound Hereford owned by Frank Walker, 14, of Wheeler. "Samson", as the fat calf is called, also placed as Grand Champion in the Wheeler show last month. Winning the Reserve Champion ribbon was Bob Martin, 14, of Briscoe, with a 922 pound calf named "Doc." Both boys are members of the Wheeler County 4-H Club.

In the Junior pig show, a 190-pound barrow owned by John Abbott of Briscoe was named the Grand Champion, and the Reserve Champion Award went to C. B. Haley of Panhandle who exhibited a 198 pound barrow. The barrows placed first and second in the Chester White class.

Japanese Girl Copies Marilyn

TOKYO — UP — A 17-year-old Japanese girl told police Monday she was prompted to leap nude into the Imperial moat because Marilyn Monroe "made her fame by being nude."

Katsumi Furuta said she was seeking only publicity and not suicide when she stripped before startled pedestrians and jumped into the moat Saturday despite the bone-chilling 45 degree temperature.

She succeeded, too. The Japanese newspaper Mainichi printed several photographs of her nude swim. Others carried stories.

City Wrestles With Finances

Mayor Lynn Boyd and the city commissioners this morning wrestled with a major problem of financing the city of Pampa in its latest siege of growing pains, resigned to the fact that a bond issue approaching $2,000,000 will be necessary, probably by April.

A number of major improvements to the city's water system, paving, two new fire stations, water storage tanks and expenses connected with the proposed Hobart Street underpass were cited this morning in a busy city commission session.

Mayor Boyd said he felt the city should seek the professional advice of a financial expert on the question of bonds, someone who can tell the city the most advantageous route to take in the selling of bonds to finance the expenditures.

The commission voted to seek such advice, and will call a public meeting of tax payers within the near future to explain the needs for the growing city and will seek the opinions of tax payers concerning the date for the calling of a bond election.

The exact amount of the bond issue can not be determined until all the forecasts are in concerning the city's needs, especially in connection with the expanding water system.

New test wells must be drilled to determine the best possible location for permanent wells to supply the city's water needs. These wells are being drilled from funds voted in a recent bond election which provided money for two new permanent water wells and for a water survey.

The permanent wells have been drilled, and the city today accepted a bid of $22,468 for two 1,000-gallon-per-minute pumps to be used on the wells. The bids were submitted by H. H. Helakell. They were the only bids submitted.

There was approximately $40,000 remaining in the special bond fund for this purpose. The $22,468 will be paid from that fund, the wells themselves have not been paid for, and test wells must also be financed from this fund.

It appeared doubtful that sufficient cash would remain in the special fund to finance the project, but the commission explained that any additional money needed could be borrowed.

Mayor Boyd explained that another major factor in the impending bond election would be the amount of financial aid the city will receive from the state on the Hobart Street underpass project. He said the city's project will serve to drain three major highways, and it is hoped that the state will assume a big portion of the cost which will greatly lower the city's financial expenditure in this project. But he said that until the state gives its final answer, the city will not be able to set a figure on needed money.

The highway commission meets in Austin this week, Mayor Boyd said, and explained that some indication may be received by the time the city commission meets again.

City To Change Water Billing Method

Pampa will soon be getting their water bills from the city of Pampa at different times during the month.

The City Commission voted this morning to permit the water department to adopt a cycle billing system rather than conform to the present system of sending all bills out on the first of the month.

City Manager Fred Brook explained that the present system puts a lengthy work load on the water department staff. He said that at present the department is billing 8,500 water accounts. In addition to the work load peak in receiving payments for the accounts, he said that by dividing the bills into four cycles, the work load would be spread out over month.

He said the system was in effect by the other utility companies and that actually the city is just behind times.

Brook said the system would probably be put in effect in April. In other action, the commission awarded a bid on a two and a half ton cab and chassis truck to Hogue - Mills Equipment Co. for $2,568.12.

They paid library bills of $148.17 and passed on second reading the ordinance dealing with the renewal of the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. franchise.

NEW YORK — (UP) — Detectives rounding up four men accused of looting the apartment of jazz trumpeter Dizzy Gillespie spent two hours Monday opening four locks on the door of Walter Jackson, 40. When police finally gained entrance to Jackson's apartment, with the aid of a locksmith, Jackson greeted them with a smile and said: "Is somebody looking for me?"

Reds Want Eden's Help For Meeting

LONDON — UP — Russian leaders hope to enlist Prime Minister Anthony Eden's support for a new "summit" conference with the United States when they visit here in April, it was reported Tuesday.

Diplomatic dispatches from Moscow said Communist boss N. S. Khrushchev and Premier N. A. Bulganin also will make a firm bid for a "treaty of friendship and trade" with Britain.

Official sources said the Soviet rulers will find Eden fully prepared to meet their new diplomatic offensive.

The prime minister and President Eisenhower agreed at their meeting in Washington earlier this month on means of meeting any new "divide and conquer" approach from the Russians.

Premier Says Transition To Communism Can Be Peaceful

MOSCOW — (UP) — Premier Nikolai Bulganin Tuesday endorsed Nikita Khrushchev's no-war dictum and declared world transition to communism can be peacefully won.

In a four-hour speech to the 20th congress of the Soviet Communist party, Bulganin echoed the theme laid down by Khrushchev last week in his keynote address to the gathering of Soviet and world Communist leaders.

Like Khrushchev, he declared that while V. I. Lenin once said the seeds of war are present so long as communism and capitalism compete, Lenin also said times changed.

He made it clear he joined Khrushchev in considering that times have changed the old theme that war is inevitable between capitalism and communism.

Various countries can go through the transition to communism by different means, he said. He emphasized peaceful means.

Bulganin also stamped his approval on the new era of collective leadership which has followed the one-man rule of the late Josef Stalin. That is the way the Soviet Union now is being run, he said.

"All important decisions are taken on the basis of a thorough critical exchange of views," the Soviet premier said.

Bulganin endorsed three principles of Leninist theory as brought up to date by Khrushchev's reasoning:

1. That peaceful coexistence of Communist and capitalist systems is possible.

2. That there is no fatal inevitability of war.

3. That different forms of transition to communism exist in different countries a policy that supersedes the old theory of the need for violent revolution.

Bulganin joined the post-Stalin fashion of facing up to past shortcomings just as Khrushchev did in his opening speech one week ago.

In the past five years, Bulganin said, "the party brought to light major shortcomings in a number of areas of economic construction, in industry, and to a greater extent, in agriculture."

Bulganin appraised herself in her autobiography as a woman "content to live for the hour... more often than not in defiance of the maxim of never leaving before taking a prudent look."

Her marriage, she said "was presented me with what surely must be one of the most unusual problems any woman has ever had to face—how to fill the hours for a husband who, having previously known the fullness of prestige and pomp, is excluded, by reason of his royal position, from the normal pursuits of the ordinary citizen."

Duchess Tells Her Life Story

NEW YORK — UP — The Duchess of Windsor began to tell the story of her life Tuesday, disclosing that Great Britain still would be ruled by King Edward VIII "had I had my way, when at the 11th hour full understanding finally came to me."

The autobiography ends her 30-year public silence on her private life and "gives an insight into why I did some of the things I did."

The first installment appeared Tuesday in McCall's magazine under the title "My Side of the Story." It will be published next fall as a book, "The Heart Has Its Reasons."

"Over the years the truth has been largely clouded over by a great mass of misinformation, uninformed speculation and gossip," the Duchess said in a statement released to reporters at a cocktail party Monday in which she appeared for the first time in the role of author.

"I have decided," the statement continued, "that it is only right for me to set down for the record the complete story of my life before and after my marriage to the Duke."

TAX

District Court, that on Oct. 28, 1955, it offered to pay $454.13, representing $1.25 per $1,000 on $36,300 valuation. This was the figure which represented the supply company's valuation at the time of a meeting between the school district and the board of equalization, the answer states.

The firm charges that the school board or its agent had placed a valuation of $30,330 on the properties of the supply company within the city and added an additional $4,000 valuation on an airplane belonging to the company but not located within the city of Pampa.

The school district refused to leave the valuation at such figure but increased it over the protest of the defendant to a total of $41,500 following the meeting of the school district and the board of equalization.

Beacon Supply stated that its offer of $454.13 was refused by the school district.

In charging discrimination in placing of tax valuations, the supply company cited other businesses within the district on which the valuations placed do not represent a fair appraisal of value. The answer cited a chemical firm, a savings and loan company, lumber companies, automobile dealers, hardware companies and bottling companies.

It charged that the school district agent made no true effort to determine the value of the inventory of a company, merely walking through the place of business, spending a few minutes looking around.

The supply company in its answer to the suit said it was now renewing its offer to pay the $454.13 and requests that the school district be obligated to pay court costs.

The suit was filed by Underwood, Wilson, Sutton, Heare and Boyce of Amarillo, attorneys of Beacon Supply.

Arabian Tank Deal Could Weaken Bi-Partisanship

WASHINGTON — UP—Officials Tuesday were privately disturbed by Democratic charges that administration failure to consult Congress on the Saudi Arabian tank deal would weaken bipartisanship in foreign policy matters.

Chairman James P. Richards (D-S. C.) of the House Foreign Affairs committee Monday night accused the administration of treating the House like a "weak-minded legitimate son" on foreign policy matters in general. He mentioned the tank deal in particular.

Earlier, Sen. Herbert H. Lehman (D-N. Y.) angrily told the Senate the tank deal "is but another illustration of the consistent policy of the administration of failing—indeed of refusing—to take the public into its confidence."

The State Department declined to comment. Officials claimed that Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has consistently tried to keep congressional leaders informed on foreign developments but conceded that neither Senate nor House leaders were advised about the tanks.

The 18 light U. S. tanks around and N. D. Steele will head the Cub men's section.

for Saudi Arabia left New York by ship Monday. The ship's departure reversed its earlier order to indefinitely halt the shipment of any arms to the unsettled Middle East.

Officials feared the sharp congressional reaction to the tank deal might result in a stiffening attitude to administration foreign policy proposals.

Richards accused the administration of favoring Senate leaders when it does consult Congress about important foreign policy matters.

"Evidently, the State Department thinks we in the House are kids and the Senate is grown up," the South Carolina Democrat said. "The department pitches a crumb over this way only once in a while."

Humphrey To Return To The East

THOMASVILLE, Ga. — UP—President Eisenhower's host in south Georgia, Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey, leaves Wednesday for a quick trip to the East where he is certain to be pressed for the big answer — whether Mr. Eisenhower will run again.

Humphrey will fly to New York for a speaking engagement, then return immediately to Thomasville where the President plans to remain until the end of the week. Mr. Eisenhower probably will fly back to Washington Saturday morning.

Since last Wednesday when the President arrived here, he and Humphrey have spent long hours together riding over the Cabinet member's large plantation in search of quail, and chatting together before Humphrey's broad fireplace in the evenings.

Humphrey is one of the "trusted advisers" with whom the President has discussed the pros and cons of standing for re-election, but it was doubtful that Humphrey has the answer. There has been no evidence in Thomasville to indicate that the president has made up his mind.

Alben W Barkley, At 77, Is Still An Active Work Horse

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
 WASHINGTON —UP— What's new in Washington:
 Sen. Alben W. Barkley is 77, but he's still an active work horse. The former Veeep is a member of the finance committee, the foreign relations committee and sits patiently through almost every Senate session.
 He was asked the other day if he would campaign actively for the Democratic candidate for president. Said the salty old Kentuckian: "According to how I feel. Right now I feel right chipper."
 Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson likes to tell about the letter a 14-year-old girl wrote to President Eisenhower about the farm problem. The youngster said: "I do not know much about political matters, but it seems to me it is no more sin for the GOP to slaughter pigs than for the Democrats to slaughter pigs. If there is so much extra pork, why couldn't you just ask the farmers to separate the papa pigs from the mama pigs."

She's been pigged—Title-winner Liselotte Schraner seems delighted with this pig, one of her prizes for being picked "Miss Hamburg, Germany." The charming 20-year-old lab assistant is after the "Miss Germany" title, and she hopes the pig's her lucky charm.

 Members from the Church of Christ, Baptist, Christian, and Methodist Churches helped put on skit: "Thy Will Be Done."

 A covered dish luncheon was served during the noon hour.

One Director Says That His Movie Not A Spectacular

By ALINE MOSBY
 HOLLYWOOD —UP— This is the year when movie-goers will have their eyes stretched by gigantic movie spectacles—but the director of one insists his really isn't a spectacle.
 Robert Rossen is back in Hollywood for the first time in four years with one of 1956's super colossal movies in his satchel: "Alexander the Great," starring Fredric March and Richard Burton.
 This year the gigantic screens and stereophonic sound also will bulge with "War and Peace," "Helen of Troy," "The Ten Commandments," "Richard III" and "Around the World in 80 Days."
 But Rossen seems alarmed that his picture will be classed with the million-extras, lavish-costume epics.
 "It's spectacular only because the Un-American Activities committee.

 He later testified in a New York hearing he had been a Communist party member.
 Rossen figures he will "probably settle in the East now because my children are in school there." Many other top movie makers have deserted this town to make films any place in the world. Joseph Mankiewicz, Josh Logan and Eilis Kazan reportedly plan to build their own studio in New York.
 John Huston lives in Ireland. "I go wherever the film takes me," Rossen said. "People should make pictures any place in the world, wherever the story is best suited. I am a gypsy now."
 Missionary's Wife Has Son
 PONTIAC, Mich. —UP— Mrs. Edward McCully Jr., wife of a missionary slain in Ecuador last month, gave birth to an eight pound-one ounce son in Pontiac General Hospital Monday. Hospital officials said both the mother and son, named Matthew Jay, were "doing fine."
 The American Automobile Association likes to get letters like the one it received from Florida. "Do you treat all of your members as well as you did me?" it asked. Your routing of my trip led straight to the altar. Please have my new driver's license made out in the name of Mrs. James Donnelly."

In This Specialized Age, New Cookbook Tells 300 Ways To Prepare Omelet

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY
NEW YORK — UP — In this age of specialization, a kitchen can be crowded with one-purpose gadgets and single-subject cookbooks. Only the woman who presides over it must be an all-around expert.

The egg, for example, is not only the subject of entire cookbooks and chapters, but entire cookbooks. The latest of these is a volume describing some 300 ways to fix an omelet.

The conversation possibilities between husbands and wives in the morning become limitless, just by beginning with that time-honored question, "How do you want your eggs this morning, dear?"

Imagine what would happen if the male voice called out cheerfully, "With cocks' combs and kidneys, a few truffles and the port wine sauce."

Or maybe the voice would say, "The way I always have 'em — with ham, mushrooms, onion and a touch of parsley in the omelet." The book was written by Narcissa Chamberlain an American who has lived for many years in France.

One of the few women in this country who is not in the least surprised that a cookbook has been devoted to omelet making is Madame Romaine De Lyon, who is French and who operates a nine-table restaurant here. The only item on the menu is an omelet.

White Deer HD Club Has Valentine Party

WHITE DEER — (Special) — The White Deer Home Demonstration Club held a Valentine party recently in the home of Mrs. Lloyd Collis. A covered-dish ham dinner was served and games were played.

Attending were Messrs. and Meses. George Bryan, Lowell Bynum, Alvin Lewis, Bill Newman, Nick Nickolson, Floyd Ulrich, Amber Collis, Pat and Sam Bryan.

After use to preserve the oily surface. One practical reason to develop an omelet expert is the new possibility to use leftovers. Did you know you could put leftover spaghetti in an omelet? According to the book, you can.

Jane Talks

By JANE KADINE
Pampa News Women's Editor

MILLIONS OF AMERICAN FAMILIES are now on the move. Settling into a new house or apartment can be an exciting adventure in living, a second chance to make your dream house come true. To get the best out of the move, it's important to systematize the preliminary chores and do them as easily as possible, says Madge Lewyt, director of the Home Service Bureau of a leading vacuum cleaner manufacturer.

Here are simple, practical suggestions the bureau has worked out to help you.

THE BASIC RULE, the experts say, is to have both the new house and all the furnishings you move into it in hand-box order. There's no sense in moving dirt from the old quarters into the new, or having left-over tasks to spoil the fun of arranging and beautifying your new home. So be sure all your possessions are as clean as a new coin before you make a move.

Once you have the spic-and-span principle clearly in mind, outline an easy routine to follow, the Lewyt home-management experts advise. Consult your moving company at once and settle on a date. Otherwise, they may not be able to do the job at the most desirable time. Get an estimate of charges and decide whether you or they will supply the needed barrels and cartons — and wherever they come from, get them early. You'll also need corrugated board, heavy brown paper, tissue paper, old newspaper and cord.

The next step is clear out the things you are going to throw or give away. Get rid of them before you do anything else — be sure to toss out the eyesores you've hated so much. Now you are ready to start packing. But before you start your packing, roll out the vacuum cleaner — it's a willing slave to help you.

Dusting brush attachments of your can spare them for a while. Use the same dusting brush to clean vacuum cleaner will get them clean as a whistle in almost no time at all. Then stand them upright in small cartons. Treat records and record albums the same way. Then cover the exposed edges of books and records with newspaper, and tape or tie it in place.

You should also take care of the draperies in the first days, using the same dusting brush to clean them at the top where they are gathered or pinch-pleated. Then change to the upholstery tool, and, spreading the folds with one hand, run the tool back and forth over the length and breadth of the fabric with the other hand. Take the clean draperies down and pack them in long cartons, preferably with a lid. Otherwise, cover them tightly with paper.

Carpets, rugs and upholstered furniture should also be thoroughly vacuum-cleaned. And of you have the slightest suspicion of moth eggs, the Lewyt Bureau stresses the importance of de-mothing immediately. Follow the manufacturers' instructions for using paradichlorobenzene crystals.

It is important also to make sure that all clothing is free from moths. Anything that needs to be dry-cleaned should be sent to the cleaner with instructions to "hold" until it can be delivered to the new address. Examine all wool clothing to make sure there are no moths. If you find any, vacuum-clean the garments and de-moth, following directions as before.

Other furnishings that your vacuum cleaner and its attachments will clean in short order include: bedding, box springs, mattresses, Venetian blinds, window shades, screens and lampshades. Don't spare the mechanical labor-saver; let the vacuum cleaner do all the work it can, come moving time.

High Prices Keep Frenchman Short On Clothing, Wife Long On Mending

By ROSETTE HARGROVE
NEA Staff Correspondent
PARIS — (NEA) — If statistics prove anything, the average French housewife does a wizard make-do-and-mend job, because, according to a study just published by the National Institute of Statistics, 50 per cent of the male population of France just doesn't have enough clothes.

It is purely a matter of high prices. For instance, before the last war it took a workman a week's salary to buy a suit. Today he has to work 11 days to buy a moderately good quality outfit, and his wife has to make a dress last two years.

A Frenchman spends approximately $85 yearly on clothes, $45 for his wife. Twenty dollars go for shirts, underpants and socks for himself, and lingerie for madame.

Twenty-one per cent of French males wear no underclothes. The Institute of Statistics found that pajamas are essentially an item of the leisured class' wardrobe because 25 per cent of Frenchmen sleep in the shirt they've worn all day, 15 per cent wear a discarded shirt, 12 per cent favor the old-type nightshirt.

Against the 39 per cent who go to bed in pajamas, four per cent sleep naked, and five per cent come under the category of men who sleep in what is euphemistically listed as "divers accoutrements."

Mr. Average Frenchman buys an overcoat every eight years, a suit (ready made) every two years, three pairs of nylon, one pair of panties and three brassieres.

The more affluent industrialist's wife expects her fur coat to last at least 15 years. She buys an average of two dresses a year, five pairs of nylons and one nightgown every two years. Only the wealthy woman allows herself to think in terms of mink.

Other statistics can be pretty humiliating, too.

In Paris, only one out of six Frenchmen own a bathtub or a simple shower. Only one out of 14 peasants have a room where they can wash; the remainder clean up over the kitchen sink, in the yard or at the well.

In the 20 sectors which make up the city of Paris, 83 per cent of the homes have neither bathtubs nor showers. In one-fourth of these homes there is no running water, which means that sanitation is equally primitive. In these homes water has to be fetched at a communal tap on each floor. Sometimes it has to be hauled from a "fountain" in the courtyard.

No wonder Pierre sleeps in his shirt.

Baptist YWA Has Association Dinner

The Baptist Young Women's Association of the Palo Duro Association held a banquet recently in the First Baptist Church of Phillips. "Call To Love" was the theme of the event.

The invocation was given by Mrs. H. M. Stokes of Pampa, president of the Palo Duro Association, and Miss Elizabeth Brewer, Phillips' YMA president, gave the welcome. Mrs. Ode Floyd of Borger, Association youth director, gave the response.

Group singing was led by Ed Clark Jr. of Phillips, and Mrs. V. W. Spake of Borger led taps. Dinner music was provided by Mrs. Ed Clark of Phillips.

Adults attending from Pampa were Mrs. Stokes; Mrs. Gordon Bayless, youth director of the First Baptist Church; Mrs. Charlie Thomas, youth director of the Central Baptist Church; Mrs. Warren Jackson, youth director of Herbert Street Baptist Church; Mrs. R. L. Edmondson and Mrs. Lawrence Barrett.

About 35 young women attended from Pampa.

Mrs. Bessie Johnson Gives Lecture At Beta Sigma Phi Guest-Day Meeting

Mrs. Bessie K. Johnson of Mexico City, Mexico, a lecturer for Pan American Airlines, spoke to members and guests of the Rho Eta chapter of Beta Sigma Phi recently in the Lovette Library.

Mrs. Johnson told of the customs of the Mexican people and how they differ from those in the United States. She pointed out that the Mexican people have kindness and concern for anyone they meet and emphasized the importance of teaching children courtesy.

Mrs. Johnson was introduced by Mrs. Jack P. Foster.

Although Mrs. Johnson lives in Mexico City, she maintains a home in Brownsville also. Her husband was one of the organizers of the Tampico Airline in Mexico and later was associated with Pan American Airlines when it took over the Tampico line. Now Mrs. Johnson does landscaping of airports for Pan American, having landscaped all an American airports in Mexico. She was the first woman to ride a bicycle and the first woman to play golf in Mexico, for which she has won several cups.

Among the honors bestowed on

Mrs. Johnson was being asked to be a Fellow in the Texas Academy of Science for her historical research on Mexico. She is an honorary member of Delta Kappa Gamma, an honor society of teachers, although she is not a classroom teacher. She is an honorary member of four Pan American Round Tables, which are luncheon clubs of women who study Latin American countries "to foster better understanding and goodwill."

Mrs. Johnson organized three of these clubs — one each in McAllen, Brownsville and Mexico City. She is also an honorary member of three garden clubs, in Brownsville, Texas, Toledo Ohio and Mexico City.

Mrs. Johnson has a collection of history books in Spanish and English which she has donated to a junior college in Brownsville. She also has a collection of 35 costumes and a collection of hand-crafts. She also collects glass antiques.

Mrs. Earl Luther, chapter president, led the meeting.

For the social period, the serving table covered with an imported linen cutwork cloth, centered with a doll holding a flower basket. Mrs. Jack P. Foster presided at the coffee service.

Frozen Cherry Pie Saves Time

The legend of George Washington as a boy with his hatchet and the cherry tree, has made cherry pie a long-time favorite dessert this season of the year. Far from legendary, however, is the ease with which today's Mrs. Homemaker can treat her family to luscious cherry pie. She actually can cut meal preparation time in half by serving frozen pies and she can do it without risking her reputation as a good cook!

Frozen pies are quick and easy to prepare and serve. All the hard work is done for you. All you do is just pop them in the oven to bake!

According to the home economists who developed the no-defrost Simple Simon frozen pies, a 9-inch pie, which cuts into 6 generous servings is the best family buy. They also suggest keeping three or four pies of different flavors in your freezer. This provides a variety for desserts for every occasion and saves those frantic, last-minute trips to your grocer's when you want to make an especially good impression on unexpected guests.

Organized Freedom

Those who are seeking an opportunity to "do something" about the state of the nation will find in the Organization to Repeal Federal Income Taxes, Inc., a fine outlet for their energies, time and money.

The organization is located at 3757 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif.

Some real stalwarts of Americanism are serving as officers and directors of the group, including Mary D. Cain of Summit, Miss., outspoken Southern publisher; Frank Chodorov, whose book "The Income Tax, Root of All Evil" is virtually a textbook on the subject; J. Bracken Lee, governor of Utah, who has had the courage to challenge the federal government to force him to pay taxes for overseas gifts; William R. H. Standley, retired Navy admiral and former U. S. Ambassador to Russia; Vivian Kellems of Stonington, Conn., who challenged the federal government to require her to act as a free tax collection agent; Charles Coburn, distinguished Hollywood actor, and many others.

The organization now has a number of tape recordings ready for distribution to groups and organizations interested in the subject and every effort to provide speakers on the subject will be made.

It is interesting to note in connection with the organization that the one and sole topic in which they are interested is the repeal of the federal income tax law. Nothing else. Your are either "with 'em or agin' 'em." This singleness of purpose is a useful stand for there is no equivocation or evasion on the part of the sponsoring group.

As Governor Lee puts it: "For those of us who still believe that freedom is best, the way is clear; we must concentrate on the correction of the mistake of 1913. The Sixteenth Amendment must be repealed. Nothing less will do. For it is only because it has this enormous revenue that the federal government is able to institute procedures that violate the individual's right to himself and his property; enforcement agencies must be paid. With the repeal of the amendment, the socialistic measures visited upon us these past thirty years will vanish. The purchase of elections with federal money will no longer be possible. And the power and dignity of the home governments will be restored."

"This measure should be supported by the governors and legislators of all the states. Every state in the Union now contributes in income taxes to the federal government more than it gets back in grants-in-aid; this is inevitable, because the cost of maintaining the huge federal machinery must come out of the taxes before the citizens can get anything. With the abolition of income taxation the states will be better able to serve their citizens, and because the state governments are closer and more responsible to the will of the people, there is greater chance that the citizens will get their full dollar's worth in services."

"However, the principal argument for the repeal of the Sixteenth Amendment is that only in that way can freedom from an interventionist government be restored to the American people."

TRUMAN GETS HIS ANSWER

(Chicago Tribune)

Gen. MacArthur has put Harry Truman thru the grinder and reduced him to mincemeat. Replying to the former President's charge that MacArthur had to be dismissed because he was insubordinate and was inviting a general war, Gen. MacArthur holds up Truman for inspection, like a laboratory specimen on a pin.

Everything, the general remarks, looks yellow to a jaundiced eye. Truman's memoirs are a form of exploration in a labyrinth of fancy and fiction, distortion, and misrepresentation. They do violence to the truth. They reflect, continues MacArthur, those petty instincts of spite and vindictiveness which have so often led Truman into vulgar controversy. They show, once more, his talent for twisting the facts to serve his own ends.

So much for Truman the person and author. As for Truman the statesman the strategist, he is, says Gen. MacArthur, a man who never caught on to the communist tactic. In his preoccupation with a Europe in which there was no fighting, he accommodated the Kremlin in its planned advance by way of the Balkans in Asia and Africa, where the Communists sought possession of the economic frontiers of the world. Having made the decision to resist them in Korea, Truman did not prove equal to the task. He made a "fatal decision not to see it thru."

He would not permit the accomplishment of communist defeat. Why were MacArthur's hands tied? Because Truman felt that "otherwise we would have caused war with Red China." The general inquires, "How could Red China have been more at war against us? Is it not war when 134,000 American and many times that number of our allied South Koreans were killed, maimed, or captured?"

Again, says MacArthur, Truman believed that if he removed the strait-jacket "it might have precipitated soviet Russia's entry into the war." But, the general observes, that was a risk inherent in Truman's original decision to intervene in Korea.

Own indecision, Truman ordered American forces on the defensive and embarked on protracted negotiations, during the course of which America suffered 60 per cent of its casualties. Of course, the result was defeat: "The only substitute for victory lies in appeasement. A great nation which enters upon war and does not win always suffers the ultimate consequences of defeat. Stalemate may end the casualties on the battlefield but marks the collapse of the purpose which induced entry into combat."

What motivated so curious a policy? MacArthur suggests that America's "allies" had no stomach for a fight to victory over communism, that they meditated the eventual sellout of the Chinese nationalists on Formosa, that these views were entertained by "many influential persons in Washington" as well, and that they also aroused Truman against him. He states that he believes that there was active treason in Washington to undercut him and his command.

His secret dispatches were published in the Washington press almost upon receipt. His order of battle promptly reached the communist enemy in Korea by way of Moscow and Peking. He suggests that Guy Burgess and Donald MacLean, British diplomats who later defected to Russia, were then installed in the British embassy in Washington, and that this fact could explain how the enemy learned his information.

For, says MacArthur, the Red Chinese commander in Korea later disclosed that he had assurance beforehand that he could advance with impunity because MacArthur was restrained from attacking his troop concentrations and bases in Manchuria and his lines of supply. MacArthur said that even he did not know that he would be forced to act under such restraints. The Chinese attack necessarily must have been "predicated on assurances previously given thru Moscow that such intervention would not precipitate retaliation."

That is the story of the man Truman says he was compelled to remove as "insubordinate." It is a story of stupidity, weakness, and of treason in Washington. Let Truman make the most of it.

Can State Education End War?

In the last issue I was quoting from Herbert Spencer's last book on state education. He explained the difference how teaching so many people how to read and not developing their moral qualities brings about exactly the opposite of what the great mass of people believe: Spencer concludes his chapter as follows:

"Other evidence pointing to this conclusion is furnished by the spread of anarchism. Weighed down by the pressure of taxation and aggravated by the demands of military, large parts of the population on the Continent live in a state of chronic discontent. The more cultured among them cannot fail to associate the miseries they bear with a governmental organization which lays hands on their resources and drafts into the army hosts of their younger men; and they are unable or unwilling to recognize the truth that a governmental organization of some kind is necessary, and in a measure beneficial. Besides the constitutionally criminal, those who are led into these erroneous beliefs, and violent acts in pursuance of them, are the educated. Without those facilities for communication which reading and writing and a certain amount of knowledge give them, there could not be formed these schools of anarchy. Here, beyond all doubt, the growth of intellectualization in advance of moralization has done enormous mischief."

"We may with certainty say that intellectual culture increases the power which the emotions have of manifesting themselves and obtaining their satisfactions—intensified the emotional life. Were the higher emotions stronger than the lower, this would be an advantage; were the two balanced it would not be a disadvantage but, unquestionably, in average human beings the lower emotions are more powerful than the higher; witness the results arising from any sudden removal of all social restraints. Hence, education, adding to the force of all the emotions, increases the relative predominance of the lower, and the restraints which the higher emotions are more apt to be broken through. There is a greater liability to social perturbations and disasters."

"So, then, for the sake of social security we are to keep the people in ignorance," will be the exclamation of many on reading the above paragraph. Widely here, as universally on the Continent, is the notion is that we must either aid or prevent. There is no recognition of that passive policy which does neither the one nor the other, but leaves things to take their natural course. What has been said above does not imply that the working classes shall be kept in ignorance, but merely that enlightenment shall spread among them after the same manner that it has spread among the upper and middle classes: being privately aided so as philanthropic feelings prompt; for such feelings and their results are parts of the normal education agency, operative alike on giver and receiver. But now, while excluding this false interpretation, let me note a strange contrast. Social security is thought so supreme an end that to achieve it citizens may rightly be deprived of their free action and exposed to the risks of death—may, upon occasion be seized, shot to fight, and perhaps shot while defending the country. This absolute subordination of the individual to the society is in these cases not condemned as unjust or cruel. But in the case before us it is thought cruelly unjust that for the welfare of society the citizen shall be left without public aid in rearing his offspring. Social security being the end common to the two cases, it is in the one thought right that the individual shall be coerced to the extent of risking his life, while in the other it is thought wrong that he shall be left to do his best for himself and children!

—wrong not to take other people's property to help him!

Supply And Demand in Education "One further fact may be emphasized. If supply and demand are allowed free play in the intellectual sphere as in the economic sphere, and no hindrance is put in the way of the naturally superior, education must have an effect widely different from that described—must conduce to social stability as well as to other benefits. For if those of the lower ranks are left to get culture for their children as best they may, just as they are left to get food and clothing for them it must follow that the children of the superior will be advantaged; the thrifty parents, the energetic, and those with a high sense of responsibility, will buy education for their children to a greater extent than will the improvident and the idle. And if character is inherited, then the average result must be that the children of the superior will prosper and increase more than the children of the inferior. There will be a multiplication of the fittest instead of a multiplication of the unfittest."

He is utterly unlike Woodrow Wilson, Warren G. Harding and Franklin D. Roosevelt, whose deaths led to this belief, although even their records belie the theory. Wilson was an intense introvert, whose mind lived more strenuously and violently than his body. He was a visionary and dreamer, a man far ahead of his times, who could not reconcile his lofty ideals with political practicalities and limitations. He was a fierce and throbbing conflict within himself and with an avary world. And he lived for about three years after leaving the White House. Harding was an indulgent and intemperate individual. He was not the stuff of which Presidents

Only Personal Desires Are Between Ike And 2nd Term

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — As a result of his amazing recovery of health, only Dwight D. Eisenhower's personal desires now stand as President of the United States. That is the unanimous opinion of family and political friends closest to him.

Besides reporting on the merely physical aspects of Ike's condition, Dr. Paul Dudley White disposed of the more basic and serious objection to almost five more years of Presidential activity. These concerned the mental and physical "stress and strain" which the responsibilities, tensions and pressures impose upon the man responsible for the nation's immediate fortunes and future destiny in these troublous days.

Whenever Ike, as a layman, has discussed this intangible problem, he has asked himself and his friends whether (1) he could endure this battering without physical impairment, and (2) whether his physical condition would enable him to make right and responsible decisions on grave world and domestic issues.

It was, in short, a clash between desire and duty.

Dr. White's answer was an unqualified "Yes." The heart specialist's comment on this specific and all-important question deserves repetition, not only as it affects Ike, but also less distinguished Americans. Discussing the "fundamental causes of arteriosclerosis of the coronary arteries themselves," he said:

"Some think that too much rich food is responsible, some think lack of exercise is responsible, some think that stress and strain are responsible. "But some of us, and I personally, do not think that stress and strain are responsible, but it can be an aggravating factor, and that must be weighed in making any statement as I have made, and we have attempted to weigh the stress and strain of the job, which are, of course, considerable."

Here, Dr. White went to the core of the dilemma. Since Ike does not eat "too rich food," and can easily regulate his exercise in accord with medical requirements and prescriptions, the "stress and strain" factor becomes determining save for Ike's own personal inclinations. And Dr. White eliminates that as an objection to a second term.

These are the pros and cons which Ike will weigh before reaching a final decision. In view of the medical clearance on "stress and strain," and the grave effect which a change of Administration would have at home and abroad, it is believed that Ike will subordinate desire to duty.

Should be made of tried. Mounting his loss of freedom of his convivial cronies, he told the late James W. Wadsworth Jr., only three months after his inauguration, that "The White House is a prison." His belated discovery of his pals' betrayal of him contributed to his death.

In view of his physical handicap, it was a miracle that F.D.R. survived as long as he did. And yet, he served for more than 12 years during the worst domestic and foreign crises in the nation's history.

These are the reported words of Judge D. S. Saund, Democratic candidate for Congress from California, at a recent meeting of the Coachella Valley Democratic Club.

Saund assertedly went on to maintain that government interference in the form of minimum wage laws and tariffs have been responsible for the farmer's "plight."

Be that as it may, it would seem that we have just come full circle when one form of government interference is cited as justification for another. And I suppose that, logically, Saund is right. Subsidies for one should mean subsidies for all — if such a thing is possible.

But wouldn't it be better for everyone concerned if all forms of government interference with economic affairs were dropped, the taxes incident to their operation discontinued, and the economic system permitted to function normally? Under the present system carried to its logical conclusion, who but the bureaucrats can possibly come out ahead?

Answer to Today's Puzzle

FOR REFLECTION

Industry is getting fat on the business the United States Government gives it so why shouldn't the government aid the farmer?

"We must stop thinking of aid to farmers as a subsidy and think of it for what it is . . . something that's coming to them because of interference by the government."

These are the reported words of Judge D. S. Saund, Democratic candidate for Congress from California, at a recent meeting of the Coachella Valley Democratic Club.

Could Truman Protect Self In Fist-Fight?

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

I had read the essentials of the life of Harry S. (for what?) Truman, but I did not recall any mention of any fist-fights whether after school, or later in some saloon so I thought I had better take a quick run through the clips, to be dead certain. But, goodness, when a fellow has put in almost eight years as President of the United States, the accumulation is mountainous so I decided to default and put it this way:

As far as my reading has revealed to me, Harry S. (for what?) Truman has never had a fist-fight in all his life. He has been talking a very good fight in his wrangling with Dick Nixon, who denies that he called Harry a traitor while Harry angrily insists that he did, but you have no book on the guy, so you have to add and subtract and divide by the normal accidents in such things and make your own price.

Harry S. (for what?) is 72 years old against 43 for Nixon and that is bound to make Dick the favorite, though maybe only by a hair. For instance, Truman might come tearing out of his corner as fast as a guy of 72 can tear and throw that Sunday slap right into Nixon's feature and unsettle him so that he would be a sucker for a kick in the groin which might end it in a few seconds. I allow for kicking because I am assuming that this would be a Pier Six fracas and because Truman talks like a typical prairie kicker. Moreover, if you ask me, he has the look of one with those thin lips peeled back off those Grave-stone teeth and that look in his eye.

Out his way, most people fought free-style because the purpose of a fight was not to collect clippings from the cafe society columns but to hurt the other guy so badly that he couldn't get up, and do it the quickest possible way. And I am not altogether discounting Truman's legs, either, because this fellow has a daffy habit of taking long fast walks in the morning before breakfast. To do that, at his age, he has got to have pretty good legs. I don't suppose the Republicans will forget to warn Nixon to watch that left, because Truman threw left-handed heaving out the first ball at the opening games in Washington and he may be a side-winder in a fight, too. I have never read of any fights in Nixon's record, so we start about even with regard to past performances. But youth will be served, and given a few seconds of caution right at the beginning, Dick should be able to step in-side old Harry's initial swing, mix him up, grab him by the shoulders and give him the knee in the pants around and around the ring. That would drive Truman absolutely crazy because he is a front-runner who just can't live through the ridicule.

Truman certainly is the peculiar President we have ever had. I do not think many of our citizens would deny him that distinction, although outside his own family circle he will rarely be saluted as our greatest. I never thought to hear of a President who insisted that a vice president had called him a traitor, even against the vice's denials. It seems that Harry enjoys the idea of having been called a traitor by a vice president.

I guess that at his age it gives him a sense of rough-hewn, frontier masculinity and he is not the first one to run up a formidable reputation by talking a great fight. A few years ago, George Raft, a sweet and gentle character with the soul of a baby-sitter, was traipsing around with a sort of baggage-smasher from Brooklyn known as Killer Gray who was supposed to be his body-guard. People carelessly concluded that Gray must be a murderer. But after a while this publicity blew up in their faces because it came out that in his boyhood in Brooklyn Killer Gray had had a hernia and that the word for hernia in the Hebrew language is something like "Keela" which, in the Brooklynese rendition, becomes "Killer."

Well, when it came out that Gray was not a tough guy at all but just a guy with a hernia, all kinds of guys everywhere began taking pops at poor Killer Gray just to say they did. Finally, Raft had to hire a body-guard to protect his body-guard. When Harry S. (for what?) record of fights 0, won 0, lost 0, comes out, the same kind of guys might start taking pops at him, just to say they did.

Mac Says Baseball Should Rule Supreme At This Time

By HENRY McLEMORE

In the ideal state, this is the time of year when every man would stop doing his customary job and become a baseball writer for about two months.

Starting in the middle of February, or a little before that, the doctor would put down his stethoscope, the carpenter his hammer, the milkman his truck, and the gardener his rake, and they'd all head for the baseball training camps in Florida, Arizona, California, and other comfortable points.

For a job, you can't beat covering a Major League training camp. All you need is a portable typewriter, a set of golf clubs, some fishing tackle, a lot of sports clothes and a liking for taking it easy. You can even leave the portable at home if you write legibly and fairly quickly in longhand.

I write from experience and, I might add, with a touch of nostalgia. For many years early February would find me heading south, bound for the homes of the Yankees, the Tigers, the Cardinals, the Senators, and the rest of the big leaguers. The car would be piled with everything but working gear, for reporting on the spring training camps, as I said before, is not work.

It always amused me and still does, in fact, to hear the players complain of the rigors of having to go south in February in order to get in shape. For a good half of the complainers it meant leaving snowbound homes, with icy winds whistling around the eaves, for sunshine, waving palms, deep sea fishing, swimming, and only a few hours of work a day — and all at no cost to themselves.

But the reporters are the ones who really have it easy. Here is the "Life of Riley," plus tassels. There is no such thing as having to dig up a story. There are thousands of them, what with all the rookies on hand to write about, the hopes and fears of the managers, the renewal of old friendships with the veterans. Some are fighting to stay in the majors, others are basking in fat contracts after big years.

Any reporter with a big enough notebook, a batch of pencils, and a sound set of ears can get enough notes for a dozen stories in one afternoon. Then, by judicious spacing he will have time for at least eighteen holes of golf a day, a good swim and, if he cares for it, a shot at a tarpon, a sailfish, or some bass.

Even when he is at the training camp working, the reporter can't find much to fuss about. It's pleasant to sit in the dug-out with a Stengel or a Bucky Harris and talk against the sounds of bats whacking balls and the shouts of the infielders, and to watch the out-fielders drifting back to haul in long ones and the coaches working with the rookie pitchers and catchers.

Covering the exhibition games can't properly be classified as hard work. The press boxes are shady and cool, there is no rush about getting out your story, and when the game is over there is always the cool of the resort hotel veranda on which to rest and swap a few lies, tell a few stories, and listen to baseball yarns.

Yep, if I am ever asked to create my idea of a Utopia, every man will be a baseball writer at this time of year. It's a better job than calling out the stops on a transatlantic liner.

SOMEBODY SQUEALED—Mrs. Ruth Vale of suburban Cleveland, Ohio, studies her birthday "secret" which one of her friends indiscreetly told the world. Some time during the early morning hours, this sign, revealing Mrs. Vale's age, was placed on her lawn. "I'm the last one in our gang to reach 30," she explains. "I have my suspicions as to who did this."

Tony Randall Has Finally Lost Harvey Waverly Weskit

By WILLIAM EWALD
NEW YORK — UP — Tony Randall, finally has managed to bury his best friend, Harvey Waverly Weskit, and Randall is pretty happy about it.

Randall, you may recall, was the young actor who pranced on the "Mr. Peepers" show each week in the role of Weskit, sidekick of Wally Cox.

Since Peepers dropped into the TV boneyard, Randall has devoted his full efforts to Broadway's "Inherit the Wind" and occasional TV dramas. You'll see Randall next in the Feb. 26 NBC-TV spectacular which stars Imogene Coca.

"The three years I spent on the 'Mr. Peepers' Show," said Randall Monday, "were the most beautiful years of my life. Not because it was the greatest show in the history of TV, but because it was so great working with such marvelous people."

In his pre-Peepers period, Randall, a Tulsa product, had been pretty well known in the trade for his performances on the boards, on radio and in such TV shows as "One Man's Family." However, the Peepers show gave him the big push.

"I did a Goodyear Playhouse show for Fred Cox with Wally Weskit," recalled Randall. "Fred saw the possibilities of our complementing each other. Originally, I was supposed to be on 'Mr. Peepers' for just one show, but they kept me on."

Although playing Harvey Weskit week after week made Randall's face familiar to millions, it also hung a type-casting tag around his neck.

"People still tend to think of me a little as Harvey Weskit," he said, "but it's beginning to fade a little. For which, I might say, I'm very grateful."

Randall prefers the stage.

"I'll take the theatre over TV anyday," he said. "I like to work with an audience; there's more respect for the material in the theatre and I've learned, too, that you really don't get good at a part until you've played it 50 or 60 times. That's something you can't do on TV."

Radio Astronomy May Push Man To 'Edge Of Universe'

By JOSEPH L. MYLER
WASHINGTON — UP — Radio astronomy may push man's scientific frontier close to "the edge of the universe."

It may even reveal some of the secrets of creation itself.

That, at least, is the hope of scientists supporting President Eisenhower's plan to build this country's first major radio astronomy center.

The National Science Foundation, anticipating congressional approval, hopes to be able to award a construction contract before the end of the fiscal year starting July 1.

It has been considering sites for some time. The search has narrowed down from 29 to half a dozen, all in the Appalachian Mountain country of West Virginia, Tennessee, Kentucky, and the Carolinas.

Radiotelescopes can "look" much farther into space than even the largest optical telescopes. They also are unhampered by the atmospheric conditions and interstellar dust and gas that frequently block off vast regions from examination by other means.

The starting cost of the radio astronomy center would be about $3.5 million. The final cost might hit $25 million to $30-million. The government hopes operation and maintenance of the center ultimately will be taken over by some yet to be organized group of universities.

Releases Another Balloon
YOKOSUKA, Japan — UP — The U.S. Navy released its ninth weather balloon Wednesday night on a trans-Pacific flight to the United States amid a rising clamor from the Communist bloc nations against flights of similar balloons over their territories. The Navy plans to release a total of 20 balloons.

Hollywood Is Swamped By A 'Reincarnation' Fever Now

By ALINE MOSBY
HOLLYWOOD — UP — Hollywood is caught up in a Bridey Murphy fever — with gags, ads about hypnotists and even one star, Paul Douglas surpassing them all with a new television series.

Bridey is the subject of a best-selling book on "age regression" hypnosis. The book asserts that under hypnosis a Colorado woman recalled events of a previous existence as an Irish girl in the 19th century. Filmlets have cottoned to this new evidence of the old reincarnation theory.

One ad in the Hollywood trade papers reads "reincarnation? Dr. S. J. ... will regress you back through time to try to establish a life before." The doctor says several movie towners have made appointments to try to find out if they were stars in other centuries.

"One patient discovered she was a horse in 1650," he cried. "Columbus and TV comedians have popped up with such gags as 'Ralph Edwards is doing a TV show on Bridey Murphy called 'This was your life.'"

A screen treatment on the book is making the rounds of the studios. But actor Paul Douglas has beat everyone to the punch by announcing a TV series he claims will put Bridey Murphy in the shade.

Douglas, in association with producer Peter Rothman and a United Press London correspondent, Robert Musel, secured rights to dramatize the cases of the Society of Physical Research. This organization since 1882 has collected 80,000 "authenticated" cases of psychic phenomena, such as mental telepathy.

Bridey Murphy-type reincarnation, Douglas says, will not be touched. "We will not attempt to dramatize anything that is not conclusive," he said.

"The society is composed of scientists, professors and learned men. They are very serious. They

Four File For Shamrock Posts

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Four business men filed this week as candidates in the City election to be held April 3. They are Seibert Worley, candidate for Mayor; E. C. Hunter, John Hrciar, Jr., and Harry E. Frye, candidates for places on the city council.

A mayor and three councilmen are to be elected in the forthcoming election.

The men were persuaded to file by a plea made by local citizens that Shamrock needs top level city administration to fit into a projected campaign of community improvement. Not one of them has ever held elective office.

The councilmen whose terms expire this year have stated they will not seek re-election. Mayor plans to seek office again.

Two members of the present council, Bill Holmes and E. C. Hoffmann, are hold-overs. The outgoing councilmen are Cabot Branon, George W. Davis, and Jack Stroup.

About 3,000 gallons or 60 barrels of water are circulated through the average automobile radiator per hour when the car travels at 60 miles an hour.

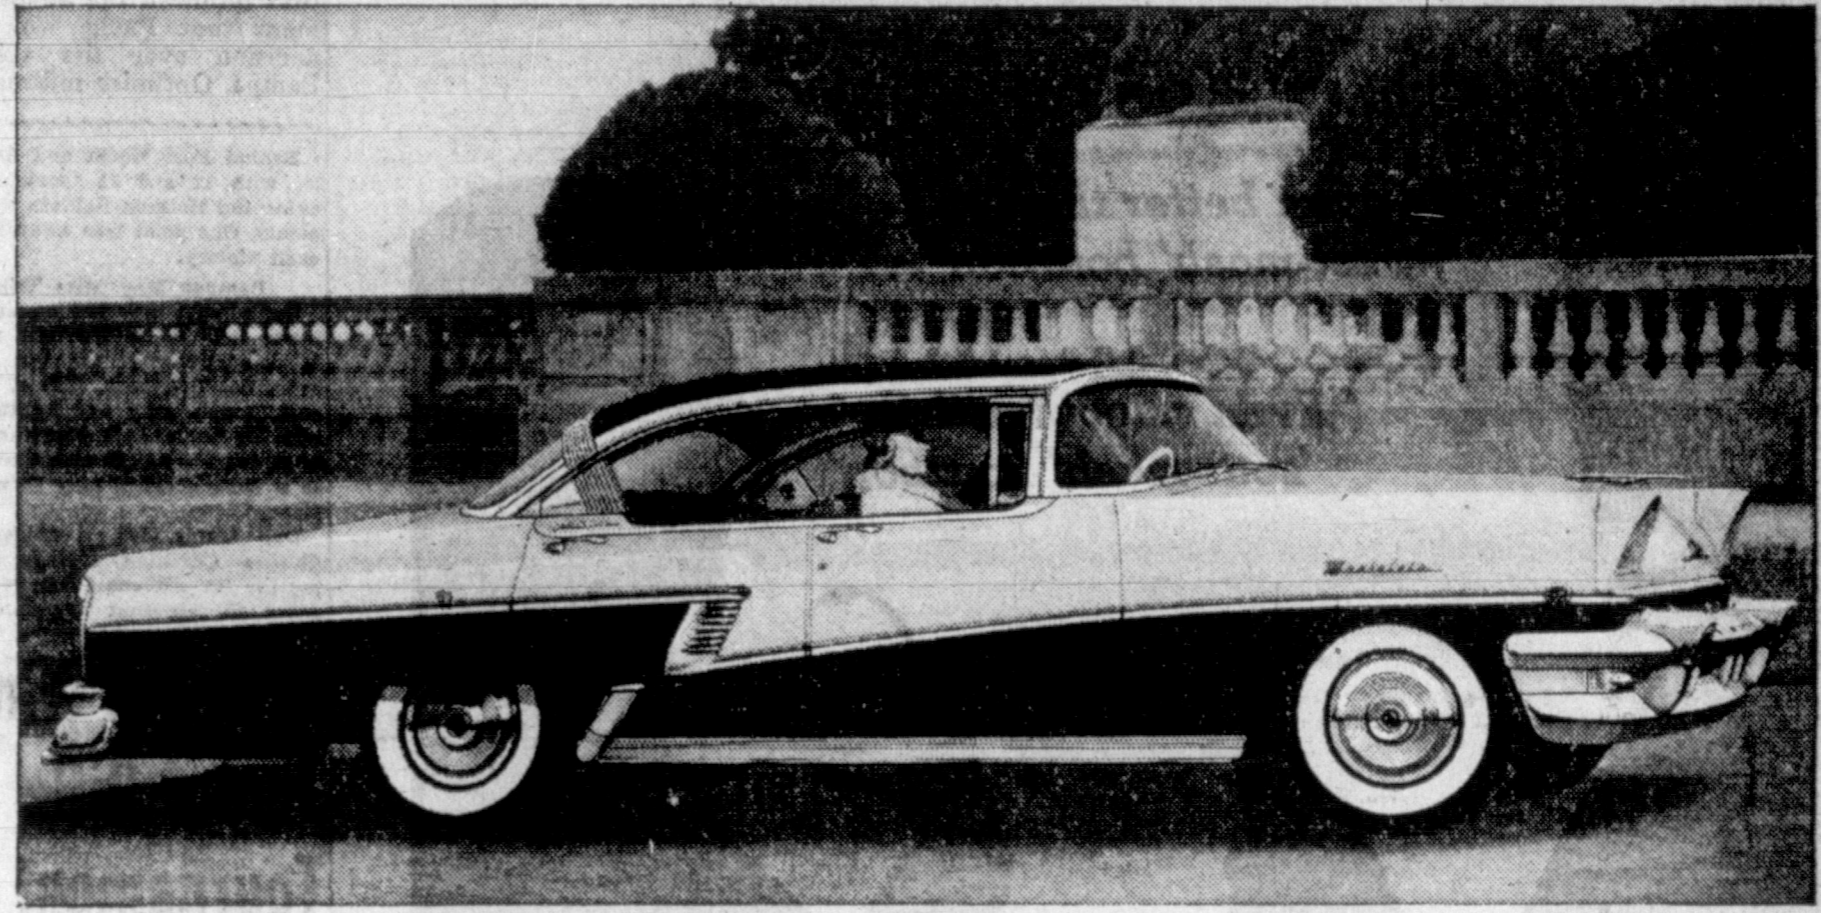

Shamrock Sets School Election

The three members whose terms expire this year have announced their candidacy for re-election. They are Lynn Bell, Roy Scrivner and Lyman Benson.

Final filing date for places on the ballot has been set as Tuesday, March 27.

Mrs. J. H. Caperton has been named as election judge.

Holdover members of the board of trustees are: E. M. (Curly) Rives, Dr. E. Byron Range, Jr., Gerald Mayfield and Stuart Tisdal.

Ramirez To Represent Texas In National Golden Gloves

FORT WORTH—UP—Only one knockout marked an evening of close Texas Golden Gloves championships Monday night as Fort Worth boxers won the team title for the first time since 1950. The championship trophy, however, goes to the top visiting team and the second place Amarillo team took home the trophy symbolic of the best amateur boxing group in the state.

Lighthweight Eugene Merriman, 174, Wichita Falls, sent Jack Fowler, 176, Waco, down for the count with 1:20 gone in the first round of their bout for the only kyo.

Merriman charged Fowler at the bell, scored to the stomach and then connected with a hard overhand right that put Fowler down for the count.

Fort Worth and El Paso fighters won two championships, with the other four regions getting one each before the 5,371 fans at Will Rogers Coliseum.

Fete Melendez of El Paso won the first title of the evening in the flyweight division with a decision over Bryan Daugherty of Dallas.

Melendez, who captured the state title in 1953 and went on to win at Chicago, used a combination of rights and lefts to beat Daugherty in a battle of 113-pound boxers.

Decision Brings Boos
Dalton Park, 119-pound Fort Worth fighter, outlasted a last round flurry by Raul Ramirez of Amarillo and Pampa to take the bantam-weight title in a decision that drew boos of fans for two minutes.

Ramirez took the third round with his fast finish but Park had built up an early lead with an effective right hand that gave him the decision.

Ferrell Snider clinched the unofficial team title for Fort Worth in the third fight of the evening by using a series of underhand lefts to the stomach of Amarillo's Tom Crump, 127, to easily capture the featherweight crown.

Snider, a 128-pound Cowtown puncher, outlasted a rally by Crump in the final round in the bout that decided the team title.

El Paso's Jake Martinez, 135, the only defending champion in the tournament, successfully held on to his lightweight title by defeating 136-pound Johnny Cloud of Brownwood.

Martinez counter-punched his way to points in the first two rounds and then stunned Cloud late in the second round with a solid left.

An evenly-matched bout in the welterweight class was decided in favor of Paul Patin, 148, Beaumont, thanks to a fast finish over Teddy Shores, 148, Dallas. Shores scored well in the in-fighting, but Patin used a strong left hand in the final round to win.

A mild upset featured the middleweight title bout as Mickey Brown, 150, of Houston, dethroned Amarillo's John (Buba) Kelley, former Southern Methodist University football player.

Brown knocked Kelley down in the second round of one of the best fights of the tourney and then staved off a final-round rally despite some fast combinations by Kelley that had Brown groggy.

BULLETIN

Following the state bouts last night the officials got together and decided that Raul Ramirez would represent Texas in the National Golden Gloves competition in place of Dalton Park, Fort Worth.

The decision was probably influenced slightly by the two minutes of boos that followed the announcement that Parks won the decision over the skillful Pampa Optimist mittman.

Behind Fort Worth and Amarillo, with 12 and 11 team points, came the Houston fighters with 10 points. One point was awarded for each victory.

Pampa May Miss Trip
One champ may not be able to make the trip to the next round of competition in Chicago, however, Bob Prigmore, 240, of Waco and Pampa, may not be able to miss his studies at Baylor where he is sophomore and the man he beat in a close, decision may go in his place.

Dub Manis, 198, a student at Abilene Christian College fighting for the Abilene team, will be asked to represent Texas in the

AAU Strengthens Ban On Santee

NEW YORK—UP—Directors of all remaining indoor track meets officially were notified Tuesday by the Amateur Athletic Union that they faced permanent ineligibility if they allowed suspended West Santee to compete in any of their events.

The notification, in the form of a telegram, was sent by Dan Ferris, national secretary of the AAU to directors of the Knights of Columbus meet here March 3, the Milwaukee meet March 10, and the Chicago Relays March 24.

The telegrams, coming on the heels of Santee's suspension Sunday, said:

"We hereby notify you officially that West Santee has been suspended by the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States and therefore is not eligible to participate in any AAU sanctioned event under any conditions. Violation of this ruling will jeopardize the amateur standing of all athletes participating in your meet and render your organization forever ineligible for further sanction."

To Preclude Possibility
The wires were sent, Ferris explained, to preclude the possibility that Santee might seek to establish competitive eligibility by getting an injunction against the AAU suspension in court.

"This is a warning to all athletes and organizations involved in putting on track meets that if Santee takes some legal action for an injunction which might indicate he was eligible again, the people involved will know the penalties they face," Ferris said.

Santee was suspended for expense account irregularities and immediately after the AAU's executive committee announced his suspension Sunday, the Kansas miller's attorney, Charles P. Grimes, announced he would seek an injunction.

Meanwhile, Julius Koenigsdorf, secretary of the Missouri Valley AAU said in Kansas City Monday night that Santee's suspension for life "is a slap in the face" of the Missouri Valley group.

He also charged that the executive committee had no authority in the case, which should have been returned to the Missouri Valley registration committee.

Early Action Overruled
That committee, Santee's home body, suspended America's fastest miller last October, but he was later reinstated when his board of governors overruled it.

The case was reopened in December and a special committee was appointed to study the charges and investigate "new evidence."

There was "discrimination" in Santee's case, he said. In the 25 years he has been with the AAU, Koenigsdorf said, "I have never heard of any other big time athlete."

All the track stars should be investigated, he said. If all their vouchers were "inspected and examined" as in the case of the star miller, he said, they also "could be found guilty."

Moore Downs King

SAN FRANCISCO—UP—Archie Moore, looking more like a Japanese sumo wrestler than the world light heavyweight champion took an easy 10-round decision Monday night over outclassed Howard King, knocking the Reno, Nev., boxer down twice in the process.

Moore, returning to the ring for the first time since Rocky Marciano KOed him in their world heavyweight title fight five months ago, probably could have stiffened King in the first round had he wished.

But instead he was content to stalk the bicycling boxer for the full distance.

Moore, who weighed 197 to King's 186, dropped him into a neutral corner in the first round with a sharp one-two to the head.

In the ninth round King went down in the same place from a left hook. He took nine counts on both occasions.

Both Referee Frankie Carter and Judge Toby Erwin voted the fight to Moore 61-49 while Judge Eddie James saw it 62 1-2 to 47 1-2. The United Press saw it 60 1-2 to 49 1-2.

Wellington, Happy Meet Here Tonight

The Happy Cowboys, winners of district 2-A, and the Wellington Skyrockets, champions of district 1-A, will meet in Harvester Fieldhouse tonight at 8 for the bi-district playoff contest.

The Skyrockets won their district by downing Stinnett, 65-57, last week. Stinnett and Wellington were tied for district honors and the Wellington win gave Coach E. W. Clements' 11-man traveling squad the 1-A crown.

The Happy Cowboys, who have been idle this week, won their district and will be a tough contender for the bi-district championship. Coach LeRoy Roberts could not be reached for his comment on the outcome of the game but with a week to work he will be ready for the Wellington five.

The winner of the game will go to regional Saturday in Lubbock where they will meet the class A champion of the South Plains.

Following the regional meeting the victor will have gained a berth in the state finals scheduled in Austin March 1-3.

Calhoun Wins; Closer Now To Title Shot

NEW YORK—UP—Unbeaten young Rory Calhoun, who registered his 18th straight victory Monday night on a TKO over Angelo Defendis, will be moved "very gradually" toward a middleweight title shot, trainer Charley Goldman said Tuesday.

"He'll be brought along like Rocky Marciano was toward the heavyweight crown," said Little Goldman, who also trains Rocky, although the fighters have different managers.

Rory's next bout will be an eight-round semifinal at Madison Square Garden March 8.

Monday night, the 21-year-old Negro of White Plains, N. Y., stopped 22-year-old Defendis of Brooklyn at the end of the fifth round in their return bout at St. Nicholas Arena. It was scheduled for 10. Rory had a decision over Defendis in their first scrap, Sept. 27, 1954.

The two defeats are the only ones against Defendis' 14-fight record.

It was Rory's ninth knockout. He was favored at 3-1. Defendis scaled 165 1-2 pounds to Calhoun's 161 3-4.

Archie Moore Title Bout Is Postponed

LONDON—UP—Promoter Jack Solomons announced Tuesday the Archie Moore-Yolande Pompey light heavyweight title fight in London has been postponed from March 13 to June 5, but many boxing men doubt it will ever be held.

Solomons said the postponement was granted to give champion Moore additional time in which to pare down from his current 197 pounds to the 175-pound limit.

But well-informed sources insist Moore never will defend in London unless the British Boxing Board of Control consents to appoint a "neutral" referee from some continental European country.

Moore cooled off on the London defense shortly after Kid Gavilan of Cuba lost a scandalously unpopular decision to London's Peter Waterman under Solomons' promotion. The British referee who gave Waterman the decision will have a hearing soon before the British Boxing Board of Control.

Whether the conservative board would consent to a foreign referee for a world title fight is very questionable.

Bronchos, Tigers Meet Wednesday

The Odessa Bronchos will be carrying on for the 1-AAAA basketball district this week when they meet the El Paso Tigers Wednesday in El Paso. It will be the first time since 1950 that a northern team has failed to win the district title and play in the bi-district contest.

Odessa captured the title of the district after defeating the Pampa Harvesters in two close games. The Bronchos won the first contest at Pampa by a 75-73 score in a thrilling overtime. They downed Coach Clifton McNeely's five, 89-85, in Odessa after coming from behind in the final minutes.

The Bronchos meet the Tigers, 2-AAAA champions, in El Paso Wednesday night in the first game of the three-game series. The second two games will be played in Odessa, if three are needed. The date for the second game has been set for Friday night and the third will follow Saturday.

The winner of the bi-district series will be bound for the State finals in Austin March 1-3.

Pampa and Borger had been the only champions of the 1-AAAA district in its history. The Borger Bulldogs won the district in 1952 and Pampa has been in the state playoffs for the past three years.

The Green and Goldens won the state crown in 1953-54 and were edged out in 1955. They ended their bid for a fourth state berth Friday night in Odessa.

Chicox Will Try Pollet
CHICAGO, Feb. 18—UP—Howie Pollet, former Chicago Cub southpaw, will get a tryout at the Chicago White Sox spring training camp, it was announced Saturday, Charles Comiskey, White Sox vice president, said the 34-year-old hurler who won eight and lost 10 games last season with the Cubs, will be signed up "if he looks good." Pollet became a free agent at the close of the 1955 season.

Gray 4-H Wins Junior Rifle Tournament

The Gray County 4-H Junior Rifle Club won top honors with a team score of 571 in the Third Annual Junior Rifle Team tournament that is sponsored every year by the Pampa Rifle and Pistol Club.

The Wheeler County 4-H team came in second with a score of 528. Other teams in the order in which they placed are: FFA team from Panhandle; Post 14 scout team from Pampa and the Trop 4 scout team from Pampa.

Early in the match it was obvious that the high team would be between the two old rivals, Wheeler and Pampa, who in the past had usually taken turns at winning. Although the local 4-H boys did edge out the Wheeler team in every position, it was not until the final rally that the winner was decided.

High individual honors went to Ronald Miles of Wheeler who shot with the 4-H team. His individual score was a 170 out of a possible 200. His position scores were: prone 44, sitting 42, kneeling 44 and offhand 40. Second place individual went to Glen Newman of Pampa who shot a score of 157 and third place was won by Paul Howard of Pampa with a score of 145.

Honorable mention went to the FFA junior team from Panhandle, who with inexperienced shooters, got their team up at the last minute and came through with a good score of 448 to place third in the tournament.

The turnout was not as great this year as last and the girls team from Groom was missed. Plans are being made to take care of 18 teams from over the entire Panhandle and surrounding area next year. This is an annual event sponsored by the Pampa Rifle and Pistol Club for the purpose of allowing any group of boys or girls to compete with similar groups, free of charge in the field of rifle marksmanship. Next year's tournament will be held around the middle of February.

Frisco Gets 29 Of 35 1st Place Votes

By UNITED PRESS
The undefeated San Francisco Dons led the United Press college basketball ratings Tuesday for the 12th straight week but Illinois replaced Dayton in the runner-up spot and all except one of the seven other leading teams switched places.

The 35 leading coaches who make up the United Press rating board gave San Francisco 29 first place votes and a total of 337 points.

The Dons stretched their victory streak to 46 games and their season record to 20-0 last week with victories over San Jose State and St. Mary's (Calif.) but they received one less first place vote and two less points than in the previous week's balloting.

The coaches based their ratings on games through Saturday, Feb. 18. Points are distributed 10 down to 1 votes from first through 10th places.

Illinois Gain Most Impressive
Illinois (16-1) made the most impressive gain when the balloting produced new positions for each of the other nine leading teams except sixth place Vanderbilt.

The Illinois, 9-0 in Big Ten competition, advanced from third to second following their impressive road triumph at Michigan State Saturday. They doubled their first place votes from two to four and their point total went from 276 to 307, only 30 points behind San Francisco.

Dayton (20-2) slipped to third on the heels of its second loss to Louisville this season. The Ohio team lost nearly 100 points, receiving 187 after receiving 283 last week. Dayton received one first place vote.

Louisville (21-2) moved from fifth to fourth with the other first place vote and 171 points. North Carolina State (19-3) dropped from fourth to fifth with 148 points.

Vanderbilt (18-2) lost four points in this week's voting but held sixth place with 129.

Kentucky Loses Most
Coach Adolph Rupp's Kentucky team lost the most ground, dropping from seventh to tenth when its point total fell from 106 last week to 76. The Wildcats have a 16-4 record.

Southern Methodist (19-2), leading the Southwest Conference with

Ned Irish Says Dons 'Not Best'

NEW YORK — UP—Ned Irish, the man most responsible for taking college basketball out of the obscurity of the college gyms and placing it in the national limelight, made this point clear Tuesday in reviewing the 1955-56 campaign:

He disagrees with the designation of San Francisco as the nation's No. 1 team. Irish believes Dayton would beat San Francisco.

Irish, who saw San Francisco play three games in the Holiday Festival Tournament last December, disagrees emphatically with the all-winning Dons' rating as the No. 1 team in the country.

"I believe Dayton would beat San Francisco," said Irish, whose New York Knickerbockers play in the National Basketball Association. "Dayton has a big man in seven-foot Bob Uhl to cope with Bill Russell and the rest of the squad is stronger. San Francisco has a brilliant record but that 46-game winning streak includes a lot of weak teams."

Dons, Flyers Not Likely To Get Together

SAN FRANCISCO — UP — It is very doubtful that University of San Francisco and Dayton University will get together for a basketball just this season—but take the word of a man who should know, USF would win.

Coach Phil Woolpert of the Dons wasn't a bit irked when he heard that Ned Irish of Madison Square Garden said that Dayton would whip USF.

"There's no way of knowing which team would win," said Woolpert. "But I just received a letter from Jim Enright of Chicago, who officiated at our games in the Chicago invitation."

"Enright writes for a Chicago newspaper and he compared the USF team with the other top teams in the Midwest, including Dayton. Dons would whip every other team in the Midwest six days a week and 'He said in the story that the twice on Sundays.'"

Irish's contention that the USF club has a lot of "weak spots" in the schedule is true—but name a basketball state in the country that doesn't have a few weak spots.

He said that while running up 46 consecutive victories, including triumphs in the Oklahoma City All-College Invitational, the NCAA championships, the Chicago invitational and the New York holiday festival, the Dons have met most of the top clubs in the nation.

NBA to Plan Playoffs
NEW YORK — UP—The National Basketball Association's board of governors will meet Thursday to make plans for its post-season playoffs. At the same time, the board will hear an appeal from the New York Knickerbockers regarding a Jan. 18 game at Rochester, N. Y., and a Jan. 25 game at Minneapolis, Minn.

Oiler Baseball Directors Map Ticket Sale Campaign

The directors of the Pampa Oiler Community Baseball Association met yesterday at 5:30 p.m. to map out plans for the ticket sale campaign. The meeting was called to order by G. F. Branson, president, in the conference room of the chamber of commerce.

Hopes of getting 10 members of each civic club to actively participate in the all-out effort to sell the advance tickets were expressed and all persons who want to "keep professional baseball in Pampa" are asked to contact any member of the board about selling tickets.

The business manager of the Oilers, Deck Woldt, has mailed checks to all baseball players and asked them to come on to Pampa for spring training.

Box seats are now on sale and persons wanting to retain their seats from last year are asked to contact Deck Woldt or Grover Seitz. The price of the boxes has been set at $50 again this season.

Signs for the fence are on the market now and all merchants desiring signs this season should see either Woldt or Seitz immediately.

"Almost the players have been signed and the team really looks good on paper," said Seitz last night. "We have Red Dial, Jack Venable, Tom Polst, Buddy Woods and Gastan 'John' Lalbert on our pitching staff and Joe Fortin will probably be the first baseman."

Frank Kemps, former Amarillo Gold Sox manager and second baseman, will be filling Pete Carmona's slot while Allen Cross will hold down Curtis Hardaway's vacant third base.

Rack Slider is working with the Shreveport Sports and if he can't make the team will be back at shortstop, Paul Halter, Dick Haleston and Dub Graves will be filling the outfield spots again this season.

Jim Martin, who was overlooked by scouts last year, will be back behind the plate this season. Martin was out of action for some time last season and didn't make the all-star squad but he is in top shape for the coming season.

Kentucky Loses Most

Coach Adolph Rupp's Kentucky team lost the most ground, dropping from seventh to tenth when its point total fell from 106 last week to 76. The Wildcats have a 16-4 record.

Orioles Refuse $125,000 For Triandos; Good Deal

By UNITED PRESS
The Baltimore Orioles turned down an offer of $125,000 for Gus Triandos three months ago and the way he's belting the ball now, it looks like the best deal they ever made.

Triandos, who will do double duty for Baltimore this year, going behind the plate on days when he doesn't play first base, has been the slugging standout so far in the Orioles' spring drills at Scottsdale, Ariz.

The 200-pound 28-year-old from San Francisco hit a ball over the distant left field wall for the third straight day Monday and kept the outfielders moving for many more of his sharp line drives.

Triandos, who came to the Orioles in their big trade with the Yankees during the winter following the 1954 campaign, is taking special batting instruction from Vancouver Manager Lefty O'Doul. O'Doul is aiding Oriole Manager Paul Richards during the early training drills.

At St. Petersburg, Fla., Yankees' rookies engaged in their first intra-squad game with the "Dickcissles" defeating the "Crossetts," 8-1. Jim Dunn, who relieved Billy Short in the seventh inning, was the winning pitcher when the Dickey's rallied for two runs in the eighth and two more in the ninth.

The Yankees also announced the signing of shortstop Woody Held, who hit .261 with Denver of the American Association last season.

In the St. Louis Cardinal camp at St. Petersburg, the veteran Alie Clark, with Rochester last season, hit two balls over the left field wall.

Branch Rickey was a visitor at the Phillies' camp at Clearwater where Vurt Simmons continued to impress with his smooth pitching delivery.

The White Sox staged their first spring drill at Tampa, Fla., and Manager Marty Marion put 48 players through a four-hour session under a blazing sun.

Back on the home front, the Dodgers announced the signing of pitcher Don Bessent, who posted an 8-1 record, chiefly in relief, with them last year.

Dodger President Walter O'Malley was scheduled to fly to the club's Vero Beach, Fla., training camp Tuesday in the club's plane along with several players, including Roy Campanella and Billy Loos. Don Newcombe left by train Monday.

The Red Sox announced the signing of pitcher Ivan Delock and Al Schroll. Delock had a 6-7 record with Boston last season while Schroll won 11 games and dropped six at Louisville in the American Association.

Texas Western Ties Texas Tech For Border Lead

EL PASO, —UP—Texas Western College and Texas Tech were tied for the Border Conference basketball lead Tuesday, after the Miners tripped the Red Raiders, 83-65.

Tech held the conference lead before Monday night's defeat. Both teams now have 6-3 conference records.

There are more than 5,000 National Guard units in the 48 states, the District of Columbia, Alaska, Hawaii and Puerto Rico.

A DISTINCTIVE NEW CAR, BIG AS ALL OUTDOORS, STYLED AND POWERED TO A TEXAN'S TASTE!

"The Texan" BY DODGE

Choice of this dashing Lancer Hardtop or the big, rangy 4-Door Sedan

Now available at your Dodge dealer's is the snappy 2-door Lancer hardtop pictured above, and also the universally popular 4-door sedan... both easily distinguished by specially designed, gold-plated insignia on front, rear quarter panels and deck lid. Go see them... see how big and roomy they are... just like the proud Texan they represent! Actually drive a Dodge "TEXAN" and discover the thrill everyone feels behind those high-spirited Dodge Super Red Ram V-8 engines that give you up to 230 horsepower. You'll say these cars are as sensitive to your commands... as sure-footed and easy to maneuver as a prize-winning quarter horse. Yet, snappy as they are in action, Dodge also promises you traditional dependability and ruggedness in every feature of these "TEXAN" bodies and frames. They're every bit as husky as a Brahma Bull. And they're priced "way down" to offer you more power, more comfort, more "class" at scarcely more than the so-called "low-priced" three.

Today, if possible, see these two handsome "TEXANS" close up. Note especially their dynamic Jet-Fin styling, their snappy insignia, their fresh colors with exclusive complementary interior trims, their jaunty twin exhausts indicating power aplenty. Then actually ride in one with Magic Touch Push-Button Control for PowerFlite automatic driving. That's when you'll surely agree that these special models will carve a niche "deep in the heart of Texas."

IN EVERY DETAIL OF STYLING AND MECHANICAL ADVANCE, "The Texan" IS A PURE-BRED :::

'Omnibus' Is Stuck Together With Cardboard, Canvas

By WILLIAM EWALD
 NEW YORK — UP — Henry May, who helps stick "Omnibus" together, does it with cardboard, canvas and plumbers' pipe.

"These, along with things like wood, cloth, glass and plaster," pointed out the art director for the CBS-TV offering, "are the things we find handiest for making up the sets."

May, who used to design for such shows as "Studio One" and "Columbia Workshop" before moving to "Omnibus" in 1953, may have the most difficult job of this kind in TV.

For one thing, "Omnibus" has a

Injuries Light In Long Fall

AMARILLO — UP — A 100-foot fall from the top of an Amarillo building left Paul Martinez, 32, with a broken leg and a cut on his ankle.

His fall was broken by a power line which he hit about 70 feet down, and he landed in deep mud in an alley back of the Petroleum Building in downtown Amarillo Monday.

Martinez, a construction worker, was on top of an elevator house pushing a wheelbarrow of concrete at the time. Fellow workmen didn't see him fall, but said a strong wind had come up and might have tipped the wheelbarrow and caused Martinez to lose his balance.

The wheelbarrow landed only a few feet from Martinez.

Recruiting Drive Set At Shamrock

SHAMROCK — (Special) — In connection with the Nation Guard one-day recruiting drive Feb. 22, First Lieutenant Bobby Purcell, commander of the Shamrock Unit, emphasized the importance of Guardsmen between the ages of 17 and 18 1/2 years volunteering for six months of active duty training with the Army. "While this basic training is not required of National Guardsmen it is available to them. It will help open the way for more rapid promotion in the National Guard for a commission and for appointment to the Military Academy."

Lt. Purcell announced that full information on the National Guard may be had by interested young men or their parents by calling at the National Guard Armory between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m. on weekdays or by telephoning No. 678.

Faith Healer Is Freed

MIAMI, Fla. — UP — A Texas "faith healer" was freed Tuesday of charges of practicing medicine without a license.

The charges against Rev. Jack Coe, who tried to heal a three-year-old polio victim through prayer, were dropped Monday by Peace Justice Hugh Duval Jr.

Duval said the "doctrine of divine healing" clearly came within the exemptions of the Florida law concerning the practice of medicine.

He said that all testimony showed the defendant "professed his healing powers to come only through divine intervention."

Cross-Section Of Fraternity Men Hit Hazing Activities

By UNITED PRESS

University officials at such institutions as Georgia Tech, Ohio State University, Stanford, Wisconsin and the University of Pittsburgh have taken a hand by banning freshman hazing or ordering that "hell week" ceremonies be restricted to the fraternity houses or the campus boundaries.

Anti-hazing rules are backed up by state law in Texas, where fraternity ordeals which interfere with a freshman's sleep are prohibited.

Tom Denker, the inter-fraternity and Delta Tau Delta chapter president at the University of Oklahoma, said the fatal MIT hazing stunt "verges on pure idiocy."

"We try to change the attitude of people that fraternity men are a drinking, partying lot," he said. "This sort of thing sets us back 20 years."

The fraternity spokesmen were queried by the United Press concerning the Feb. 10 death of an 18-year-old Massachusetts Institute of Technology fraternity pledge.

Crushed Through Ice
The pledge, Thomas Clark of Harvey, Ill., crashed through reservoir ice and drowned 12 miles from the MIT campus. His superiors in the Delta Kappa Epsilon chapter had taken him blindfolded on a car ride and ordered him to find his way back in the darkness.

Clark was to be buried near his home Monday and at MIT fraternity leaders met Sunday night to discuss plans for curbing "Hell week" stunts.

In other universities, many fraternity leaders said they had changed "Hell week" to "help week." Fraternity pledges, in order to roll up their sleeves and form work gangs for some charitable purpose, they said.

Newspaper Room, Library Of Congress Habitat For Many

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS

WASHINGTON — UP — One fine thing about the newspaper reference room at the Library of Congress annex is that you meet such interesting people.

Like people who want to look up the blood kin of race horses. They pull out the files of the New York Telegraph, which has lines running back to 1910.

The horse players get the same treatment as their second cousins who are interested in back performances of the stock market. The Titans of the ticker tape want to look at the old issues of the Wall Street Journal.

Check Past Workouts
"Same as the horses," said one of the attendants. "Like the last time out, how they did in the last work-out. Things like that."

Actually, most of the business of the newspaper reference room is on the serious side. It is headed up by Paul Betry, chief of the serials divisions, and James Sutton, head of newspaper reference.

I visit the reference room frequently. It's a wonderful place. You can rent a typewriter for a dime a half hour and it works fine if you know the "touch" system. Trying was fun.

There are 151,800 bound volumes of newspapers around the walls and in the cellar are uncounted thousands of unbound copies.

A Ready Reference
One relies on "Gregory's Union List of Papers" for reference, which had its beginning in 1821. It is a compilation of libraries
