MRS. CRYSTAL HANKHOUSE

She Works With Rainbow Girls

By JANE KADINGO
Pampa News Women's Editor

During a period when the country is, and has been, concerned over the growth of juvenile delinquency, Mrs. Crystal Hankhouse of Pampa has done her part in bringing out the best in young people by devoting much of her time and energy to working with the Pampa Assembly of the Order of Rainbow for Girls.

"This is a Christian organization for girls between the ages of 12 and 20, sponsored by the Masonic Lodge. Mrs. Hankhouse explained that each girl must be recommended by a Mason before she may be accepted for membership.

Purpose of the organization is "to better-teenage girls, to give them a higher outlook and aim."

Mrs. Hankhouse explained, "It keeps them busy in the right way."

She pointed out that the Order of Rainbow for Girls is a Christian organization, with its ritual based on the Bible.

"It is a wonderful thing for girls," she stated. "We have a lot of fun and a lot of serious things, too."

The girls work hard each year to make their own money to go to the Grand Assembly and this year are working to be able to attend the Supreme Assembly, as well. The Grand Assembly, held each year, will meet in Houston this year, and the Supreme Assembly, held every two years, will convene in San Antonio this year. Each year, from 15 to 25 girls attend the Grand Assembly, and Mrs. Hankhouse has made many of these trips with the girls.

Mrs. Hankhouse was mother advisor to the Rainbow Girls for about four and half years, during which she helped build up the organization from a handful of girls to nearly 100.

"When we first started, we hardly had enough to hold a meeting," Mrs. Hankhouse explained. "Now we have over 150 girls."

Since Mrs. Hankhouse ended her term as mother advisor, she's served on the advisory board. All in all, she has been working with the girls for 15 or 16 years.

"I don't feel like I've done more than anyone else," Mrs. Hankhouse stated, but her "girls" will disagree with her.

Mrs. Hankhouse's home was always open to the girls and she always had time to talk over any problem with them. She says that some times, she had from 19 to 35 girls in and out of her house coming or going from consulting with her about some problem concerning the Rainbow Girls or themselves personally.

However, Mrs. Hankhouse states modestly: "They really helped me out of some hard places."

Mrs. Hankhouse says she doesn't know how she got started working with the Rainbow Girls, adding that it was "just one of those things."

Jailer Held After Convicts Escape

LAREDO, Tex. —UP— Jailer Roberto S. Hernandez was held in his own jail Monday on charges of helping seven prisoners—three of whom are still at large—escape by smuggling them back saw blades for $85.

District Attorney E. James Kazen said Hernandez, 38, admitted during a lie-detector test Sunday night his part in the plot. Kazen said Hernandez apparently was the only one besides the prisoners who knew about the escape plan.

Texas Rangers planned to take another jailer to Austin Monday for a lie detector test concerning a jailbreak last Nov. 5 by two Milwaukee brothers who took part in the escape early last Saturday.

Kazen said the second test didn't necessarily mean that the effort was suspected, but was an effort to "clear up the November escape."

Four Quickly Captured
Four of the prisoners who broke out Saturday were captured later in the day north of Laredo by border patrolmen using an airplane and an automobile.

... entertaining speaker

Knife, Fork To Hear Minister

William Clyde Donald II, counselor and chaplain of the Deaconess Hospital in Milwaukee, will be guest of honor at the meeting of the Top of Texas Knife and Fork Club in the High School cafeteria at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Rev. Donald studied at Albion College and the Northwestern School of Theology at Evanston and Northwestern Graduate School in Chicago. Later he studied special ministry for hospitals at Presbyterian and Wesley hospitals in Chicago.

He is strong, forceful and dynamic and makes an inspirational, humorous lecture which has brought him from the front ranks of speakers in the Middle-West. To hear him is to get out of one's self; to lead a richer and finer life.

Rev. Donald also holds a charge in a community close to Milwaukee and finds time to deliver three or four lectures a week. Civic clubs, schools, colleges, women's clubs and business groups from the bulk of his engagements.

In fact, what with one thing and another, he is one of the busiest young men in the Middle West. This is largely because his lectures—his modestly called then "talks"—are so much in demand.

Jurisdictional Problems Slow Senate Probe Of Bribe Charge

By JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

WASHINGTON —UP— Jurisdictional problems Monday engulfed the Senate's proposed investigation of improper attempts to influence legislation through campaign spending.

It appeared certain that a broad investigation will be conducted in the wake of controversy arising from a $2,500 campaign gift offered to Sen. Francis Case (R-S. D.) by an attorney interested in passage of the natural gas bill. But it was by no means certain who will conduct the inquiry.

The Senate elections subcommittee, which has voted to make a broad inquiry, was called into session to consider a budget for the investigation. Chairman Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) said he also hoped to select a committee counsel Monday.

But Senate Republican leader William F. Knowland (Calif.), in a week end statement, questioned the authority of the Gore subcommittee to conduct the broad inquiry. Knowland said other committees have a stake in the subject matter of such an investigation. He said a new bipartisan special committee might be formed to do the job or an extension voted for the special committee currently studying the Case incident.

Chairman Walter F. George (D-Ga.) called a morning meeting of the special committee but made it clear that he wants to close up shop. George said the group would inspect some documents and then decide whether any further hearings are required.

The committee's two Republicans—Sen. Styles Bridges (N.H.) and Edward J. Thye (Minn.)—have urged that the committee's inquiry be broadened. But the other committee member, Sen. Carl Hayden (D-Ariz.), was said to agree with George that the committee should report as scheduled by March 1, on the Case incident and then go out of business.

A third committee was edging into the act. Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) called an afternoon news conference to describe hearings planned for next month on federal lobbying regulations. Kennedy heads the reorganization subcommittee of the Senate Government Operations committee.

Ike Awaits Response On Surplus Offer

THOMASVILLE, Ga. —UP— President Eisenhower Monday awaited response from Western European nations to his offer of American surplus farm commodities.

The chief executive announced Sunday at this nation was ready to make surplus agricultural products available to the countries of Western Europe now suffering one of the most cruel winters of the century.

Such details as whether the commodities will be given or sold and the quantities to be involved depended first on the desires of the Western European nations and a determination of their needs.

The President's dramatic offer applied, for the present, at least only to Western Europe and not to countries behind the Soviet Iron curtain.

Premier Karamanlis' Party Win 151 Of 300 Seats

ATHENS —(UP)— Pro-Western Premier Constantine Karamanlis squeezed through to an upset victory over a Communist-backed coalition in Greece's national elections, official results showed Monday.

The National Radical Union party of Karamanlis won 151 seats in the 300-member, one-chamber parliament. The Democratic Union which included a coalition of the left and right, won 149 seats, official results showed.

The Democratic Union rolled up a big popular vote but a complicated electoral system of proportional representation introduced last December by the handsome premier gave him the victory.

Virtually complete figures, which were subject to minor revisions, showed a total vote of 3,156,494. The Democratic Union polled 1,641,861 to 1,415,598 pro-Karamanlis in the country's 5,460 precincts. The Progressive party received 62,458 votes, and the Independents 36,217.

After announcing a government victory, Interior Minister George Lianopoulos informed newsmen at a hour later that he had discovered a "few outlying returns" were still incomplete.

He also said the allocation of seats needed a double check. Both factors, he said, conceivably could (See ELECTION, Page)

Plane Crash Kills 49

By WALTER COLLINS

CAIRO —UP— A French airliner carrying 61 persons from Saigon to Paris dipped too low on its landing approach to Cairo airport Monday and crashed into a hill with a flaming impact that killed 49 persons.

French officials said 12 persons survived the fiery crash but that most were in critical condition including five who became lost in the western desert in a rescue vehicle that was taking them to a hospital.

Pilot Capt. Charles Billet was among the survivors. He said his co-pilot was bringing the plane in low over the desert toward the international airport in pre-dawn darkness when "he became too low."

Flying Too Low
"When I realized he was flying too low it was late to avert the crash," Capt. Billet said.

The four-engine American-built DC8B of the French airlines TAI banged belly first into a low desert hill and burst into fire.

Airline officials here spent nine hours sorting out varying reports of the number aboard the plane before announcing the count was 61, including 32 passengers and nine crewmen. Many of the passengers were children. Most were French.

The airline at Karachi, the plane's last stop, had said 64 were aboard. But the Cairo officials believed this was based erroneously on the fact three others were booked to board in Cairo—where the plane never arrived.

Third Major Disaster
The disaster was the third major one to strike world aviation within three days. The death toll in the three crashes was at least 138.

The survivors, flown to the airport by helicopter, were reported in serious condition. One of them was the pilot, who had reported engine trouble on the much delayed flight. He radioed his position only minutes before the pre-dawn crash.

A company spokesman said it was taking all aboard—including 18 children — to Paris when it limped toward the airfield for a landing, faltered and fell into the desert nine miles away, bursting into flames immediately.

Loyal Peru Forces To Hit Rebels

LIMA, Peru —UP— Official reports indicated Monday loyal naval and air units are preparing to strike at the "jungle redoubt" of the army rebels who hold the city of Iquitos and part of remote Loreto province.

A government communique said the "Amazon fleet" is blockading Iquitos, a river port 500 miles northeast of here. The official radio warned the people of the city to listen for instruction on means of "avoiding damage by government action"—presumably meaning air attack.

The communique declared also that garrisons elsewhere in Peru rejected rebel Gen. Marcelino Peseva's appeal to them to join the revolt.

No late word was heard from the rebels' radio Loreto, and government restrictions on telephone service made it impossible to obtain information direct from Iquitos.

The rebel radio reported on Friday—the second day of the revolt—that Merino had assigned Lt. Abel Cordero as "political military commander" of Loreto and installed Lt. Col. Daniel Orozco Quintall as chief of police.

County To Buy Government Bond

County Judge Bruce Parker said this morning that cash in the permanent school fund had reached $5,197.53.

Judge Parker said it was enough for the purchase of another government bond in the amount of $5,000.

Interest from previous bond purchases constantly adds to the fund, Judge Parker explained.

Un-Segregated Addition Planned In Pampa By Pair

The Development Committee of the Chamber of Commerce for colored people met with members of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce this morning to propose the development and annexation of a 40 acre site to include about 160 un-segregated homes which will be located east of Prairie Village.

The proposed development area will contain 175 lots and the building plans are subject to FHA approval in Washington, D.C. The site will be named the Boyd-Hughes Addition.

Committee members meeting with the chamber group were: Rev. W. B. Moore, chairman, Bruce Brooks, and James Morgan.

They met with Lynn Boyd and Dick Hughes, E. O. Wedgeworth, Ed Myatt, who presided over the session, and Fred Brooks, city manager.

A committee of representatives met with Floyd Watson, chamber president, about one year ago, to request help for providing an un-segregated addition for Pampa. Mayor Boyd and Dick Hughes, who was chairman of the Public Improvements Committee of the Chamber at the time, were contacted to start to work on the project.

This morning they announced that the preliminary plots for the land had been drawn up and the title must be cleared through the FHA.

Dick Hughes said, in the session, that he had contacted the President in Washington, gaining his approval to start the housing project.

The same type and quality houses, similar to Prairie Village, with wooden frames, asbestos and wood siding, are tentatively planned for the development site. The lots will be from 55-75 feet.

In the meeting this morning, the group was discussing the naming of streets, a suitable name for the addition and other pertinent parts of the project.

The certainty of the project was assumed, however.

Playoff Contest To Be Held Here

The Wellington Skyrockets and the Happy Cowboys will meet in Harvester Fieldhouse tomorrow night in a bi-district playoff contest. The teams were the winners of 1-A and 2-A districts respectively.

The Wellington Skyrockets have racked up a seasonal record of 29-2. The traveling squad of Coach E. W. Clements consists of 11 holdovers from last year's team.

LeRoy Roberts, Happy mentor, has a good ball club and has racked up some impressive victories in winning the championship of the 2-A district.

Game time has been set at 8 p.m. The winner of the game will represent the Panhandle in the regional playoff to be held in Lubbock Saturday.

St. Margaret Guild Has Business Meet

St. Margaret's Guild of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church held a business meeting in the Parish Hall recently following Confirmation services conducted by Bishop Quarterman of Amarillo.

Refreshments of coffee and cookies were served to the congregation following the services, with Mrs. James Harris and Mrs. George Roraback as hostesses.

During the business meeting, a report was given on the pancake supper by Mrs. Bill Feller, chairman of the committee. It was voted to give 25 per cent of the profits to the Young People's Service League in appreciation of their cooperation with the supper.

It was also decided to make the Pancake Supper on Shrove Tuesday the group's money-making project each year.

Special recognition was given to the Borden Company, Superior Egg Company, Panhandle Packing Company, Fife Food Market, Armour & Company, Wappies, Platter Company and Pinkney Packing Company for their contributions to the supper.

The program was postponed until next meeting, which will be held in the home of Mrs. S. J. Meador Jr., with Mrs. Paul Hinton as co-hostess.

Attending the meeting were Mrs. Charles Bruce, Eddie Roberts, James Harris, George Roraback, Paul Hinton, B. R. Plummer, William West, William Feller, Harry Creel and Bill Ragsdale.

Mrs. Bessie Johnson Speaks On Mexico During Junior High PTA Fathers' Night

Mrs. Bessie K. Johnson spoke on life in Mexico compared to life in the United States at the Father's Night meeting of the Junior High Parent-Teacher Association Thursday in the school auditorium.

Mrs. Johnson said somewhere along the way, Americans, as parent-teachers, have failed the teenagers, since there are approximately 4,000,000 delinquents in this country. In Mexico there is comparatively little delinquency, she pointed out, attributing this to the training of reverence for old people, of primary importance in the Mexican home. The middle-aged respect the older people, she explained, and the child is taught, from the time he can learn anything, to respect older people.

"In this way, the child learns not only to respect others, but self-respect and self-control," she advised.

Mrs. Johnson stated she believes firmly in doing all things with temperance and self-control.

"A child needs sustenance and protection," she stated. "He must not be left to his own devices while his parents work or have to be away from home for other reasons. The Mexican home, as most of us know, is built inside a wall, with a patio in the middle. This patio is the hub of the family life. This contributes to a closely-knit family with a private life of its own, a life in which each individual member has his place and his duties."

Meals in Mexico are served at different hours from those in this country, Mrs. Johnson explained. The days begins with coffee or chocolate and a roll, followed at 11 a.m. by a heavy breakfast. Between 2:30 and 3 p.m., a lengthy dinner is served, after which everyone takes a nap. A light supper is served between 9 and 10 p.m.

She told about the legends of Mexico, pointing out that the people of Mexico built reason around all happenings.

She concluded her talk by urging everyone to visit Mexico, to try to stimulate friendship with all Latin American countries to help peace between the nations of America.

Mrs. Johnson was introduced by Gene Fatheree.

Jack Foster presided for the meeting, and Rev. J. R. Strobbe presented the devotional. Fred Vandenberg served as secretary. It was announced that during the executive board meeting, McHenry Lane and Mrs. F. H. Jernigan were elected to serve on the nominating committee. Elected during the general meeting were Mrs. H. H. Hahn, Dale Pinson and E. A. M. Lemman.

Following the meeting, refreshments of beans and tortillas were served from a table decorated with a Mexican theme. The refreshment committee included Bob Andis, chairman; and Henry Gindorf, E. L. Biggerstaff, Joe Denton, Carl Baer, F. A. Alvery, Bruce Parker and Paul Brown.

Goodwill Home Demonstration Group Is Given Program On Sewing, Baking

Mrs. Johnny Johnson, Mrs. Leland Diamond and Mrs. Bill Cox presented the program at the recent meeting of the Goodwill Home Demonstration Club in the home of Mrs. Cox, 733 Deane Drive.

Mrs. Johnson explained the buying and sewing of plaids, pointing out the difference in an even plaid and an uneven plaid. She advised the women to pick out a square of the cloth, fold it and study it to decide if it is even or uneven.

Mrs. Diamond and Mrs. Cox gave a demonstration on the making of soups and meat loaf. The recipe they gave for the meat loaf was:

- 1 1/2 lbs. ground beef
- 1/2 lb. ground pork
- 1-3 tsp. pepper
- 2 tsp. salt
- 1 cup cornflakes
- 1 egg
- 1 cup tomato juice

An appetizing vegetable dish that hums with flavor is a carrot and apple bake. To prepare wash and scrape 8 to 10 carrots. Parboil in salted water 10 mins. Drain and cut crosswise in thin slices. Peel, core and quarter 4 red Winesap apples; slice thin. Arrange carrots and apples in alternate layers in greased baking dish. Combine 1/2 cup brown sugar, firmly packed, with salt and pepper. Sprinkle this mixture over each layer of carrots and apples and cover with butter or margarine. Cover and bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 45 mins. to 1 hour, as until carrots and apples are tender. Uncover during last 15 mins. of baking. Serves 6.

McLean Methodists Hold Birthday Party

Members of the First Methodist Church held their second annual mass birthday party in Fellowship Hall. Twelve tables were decorated according to the seasons of the months of the year and each person sat at the table representing the month of his birthday.

Following a buffet dinner, a program was presented. Rev. Marvin Fisher was master of ceremonies. The program included: a pantomime by Jerry Stubblefield; piano solo by Billie Rogers; readings by Mrs. Irma Hester and Sammie Haynes; and a surprise "food pounding" by the congregation for Rev. and Mrs. H. A. Longino.

Leslie Talbert led the singing, and James Clett gave the benediction.

Approximately 180 members attended.

Fabric blends are more numerous than ever this spring. To mention just a few: silk and wool, cotton, silk and worsted, linen and wool, worsted and linen. More lightweight fabrics than ever before.

E. S. Hancock Dies Sunday

Ell Smith Hancock, born April 26, 1873, in Shady Grove, Lamar County, died about 5:45 p.m. yesterday at his home, 320 S. Houston, following a heart attack. Mr. Hancock moved to Pampa in 1936 from Canyon. He was a member of the Harrah Methodist Church, a retired farmer and cabinet maker. Survivors include his wife, Mary; two daughters, Mrs. Eula Summit, Del Rio, and Mrs. Betty Ragsdale, Roswell, N.M.; three sons, George of Pampa, Ell, Jr., of Roswell, and C. R. of Happy; 12 grandchildren; and 10 great-grandchildren. Funeral services will be held at 11 a.m. Tuesday at the Harrah Methodist Church with the Rev. J. E. Harrell, pastor, officiating. Graveside services will be held at 3 p.m. tomorrow at Canyon, where he will be buried by the side of his daughter, Beatrice Hancock, who died in 1946. Pallbearers are Emmett Osborne, Tom Perkins, Gene Lewis, Roy Brancum, Claude McLaughlin, and Vernon Langley.

Belton was awaiting transfer to prison and a 99-year sentence for the shooting of a Laredo dentist during a holdup attempt. The Karabelas brothers were wanted in California for attempted murder. Hernandez said Belton first propositioned him about escaping around Feb. 1 or 2 and that he refused to listen. Several days later, he said, Belton gave him $20 and asked him to buy some hack saw blades. He bought six blades for about $6 and kept the change. Hernandez said Belton also gave him $60 with which to buy magazines and cigars. He spent about $10 or $15 of this for magazines and cigars for Belton and kept the rest of the money, he said. Hernandez said he used the money he got from Belton for "groceries and other necessary expenses." The Karabelas brothers also promised to send him some money after they got out, but he told them not to bother, Hernandez said.

(Continued from Page One) change the number of seats either way. Karamanlis apparently also drew support from women who voted for the first time in Greek history. Observers said the women voted more conservatively than had been expected. The voting for the one-chamber parliament was held Sunday in this rugged country which already has suffered one Communist civil war since the end of World War II. Western diplomats had feared the election might let the Communists back into the government. The decisive vote came Monday from two remote sections of northern Greece—Evros with six seats and Pieria with three. Karamanlis carried Evros and that victory gave him a narrow victory and a surprise one.

Rains Return To California

By UNITED PRESS Heavy rains and howling winds, reminiscent of northern California's disastrous Christmas week floods, returned to the area Monday. Three inches of rain pounded a small community north of San Francisco in 11 hours and minor flash floods and mud slides were reported at San Rafael and Kentfield. In the mountains, weathermen measured 17 inches of new snow in northern California and 20 inches at Mt. Baker Lodge, Wash. Bad weather let up in the East, but the weather bureau warned that heavy rains might touch off floods along the Ohio River below Cincinnati. There was already flooding on parts of the lower Ohio and its tributaries in Kentucky and Tennessee. The rising waters were fed by a week-end storm which also dumped eight inches of snow on Boston, Mass., and six inches on Concord, N.H., before going out to sea. Elsewhere, rains and showers pelted the northern Gulf states and moved into the middle Atlantic area as far north as southern Pennsylvania. Monroe, La., got a 1.15-inch dousing Sunday night and Lufkin, Tex., measured 1.09 inches.

When asked what she thought about juvenile delinquency, Mrs. Hankhouse stated: "I never saw a really bad girl. There were always circumstances that caused it. I've had some kind of mischievous, but I don't think there's a bad child." Mrs. Hankhouse has been a Pampa native for nearly 29 years. A tribute to Mrs. Hankhouse appeared in a letter sent to The Pampa News recently by a former Pampa.

House Talks Bill Requiring Bid Use In Military Buying

WASHINGTON — UP — The House Monday called up for debate a bill requiring the Pentagon to make greater use of competitive bids on military buying. A key Democrat — Chairman Carl Vinson (Ga.) of the House Armed Services committee — predicted quick approval of the measure. The bill would revoke the present blanket authority which allows the armed services to ignore competitive bid requirements in purchasing military goods during a national emergency declared by the President. The administration still is using former President Truman's 1950 Korean emergency declaration as authority for its widespread use of negotiated contracts. The bill would repeal this authority and provide a blanket waiver only in case of an emergency proclaimed by Congress. Vinson has accused the administration of a "shocking" abuse of this authority. He said it has led the Pentagon to virtually abandon competitive bids in favor of secret, negotiated purchases. Other congressional developments:

Baptists Set Convention In Amarillo

Of special interest to Baptists in this area is a meeting of the District Ten Convention of the Baptist General Convention of Texas, the San Jacinto Baptist Church of Amarillo, on Tuesday. February 21. This, the eighteenth annual session of this organization, will be an all-day meeting, starting at 10 a.m., according to Harry Wofford, president. An inspirational program emphasizing the theme "Magnifying Christ," will be presented by such outstanding speakers as Nolan M. Kennedy, E. Hardy Childress, W. W. Moore, Emnis Hill, Glenn Norman, J. R. Stroble O. C. Curtis, Mrs. Tom Carmichael, C. C. Dillow and J. E. Byers. The praise through music portion of the program is under the direction of such capable leaders as John Christy, Homer Peden, A. T. Bryant and Ray Scroggins. Those attending this convention will be lifted up as thanks are given to Him in song. The climax to the program will be the convention message to be delivered by W. Herschel Ford, D.D., pastor of the First Baptist Church of El Paso. Dr. Ford, prominent in Baptist circles for many years both as pastor and evangelist, is being used mightily of the Lord in preaching Christ crucified, risen and coming again. Speculation Over Veep Choice Seen

WASHINGTON — UP — Speculation over who will be nominated as Democratic and Republican vice presidential candidates mounted Monday. Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.) occasionally mentioned as a vice presidential possibility himself on the Democratic ticket, predicted that if Adlai Stevenson wins his party's nomination, a southerner will be named as Stevenson's running mate. Kennedy said this would be done "to give the ticket geographic balance." Kennedy mentioned no names. But one southerner known to be interested in number two spot on the Democratic ticket is Tennessee Gov. Frank Clement. A strong Stevenson supporter even though a fellow Tennessean, Sen. Estes Kefauver, is seeking the Democratic presidential nomination. Two Democratic mayors — Ben West of Nashville, Tenn., and Richardson Dilworth of Philadelphia — predicted Sunday that if President Eisenhower runs again, the "identity of his vice presidential running mate will be a major factor in the election. West said Democrats will make a big issue of the man "who is one heartbeat away from the presidency" if Mr. Eisenhower is a candidate. "I don't think they can put Dicky over again," Dilworth said in reference to Vice President Richard M. Nixon. "Even with a new dog, I doubt they can do it." This remark brought a charge from Los Angeles Mayor Norris Poulson, a Republican, that Dilworth was resorting to "demagoguery." Poulson said the Republicans "are going to have the same team and we're going to win."

We Can Do It

Look Magazine, for February 21, has moved into the bitter educational wrangle that is rapidly becoming this nation's number one issue.

"The Truth About Teachers" is Look's and staff writer George B. Leonard Jr.'s answer to the dreadful inadequacies of our out-moded, compulsive, tax-supported government school system. To even the casual reader it will appear a little less than conclusive.

Mr. Leonard begins by saying that Rudolf Flesch's book, "Johnny Can't Read," is all wrong. For proof he says he has visited 50 classrooms. . . he doesn't say where, or how many were in one school . . . and in these classrooms the teachers were getting back to phonics and some pretty basic ideas about reading.

What he doesn't say is that Flesch's book has been out almost a year. That its criticism was so accurate and so effective, that in many of our government schools wide-scale revision in reading instruction has already come about.

But with whitewash brush swinging merrily, Mr. Leonard goes through the school system and finds everything glowing with health and vitality.

There is one item he gives us, however, which has inspired this rebuttal. He states that in the United States we spend $8 1/2 billion a year on government education. However, we spend $10 billion a year on automobiles. Without meaning to do so, Mr. Leonard has helped to prove the very point we have in mind.

The $8 1/2 billion is collected at the point of a shotgun . . . the tax collector's shotgun. And the injustices it creates, besides the fact that it just never is enough money, is at the bottom of the present uproar over government education.

Violence is no way to get better education. Witness what we spend on automobiles. Is any American forced by the tax collector to purchase an automobile? The record is clear. The answer is in the negative. People buy automobiles because individually they want to do so.

Are they expensive? They are. They not only cost a great deal to buy but a great deal more to run. Is there any lack of automobiles? There is not. The market is crowded with them in all makes and models.

Why are people willing to spend so much on autos and unwilling to spend even what they are putting out for government schools? Could it be that subconsciously American people just don't want to be told what they HAVE to do?

We all take pride in having a brand new car. If education were something in which we could take pride, isn't it possible that there would be a great vying with one another in the matter of providing Johnny with the very best education money could buy?

And if this were true, would it be evil? We do not think so. We note that some persons on the highways drive cars that are five years old and older. Others drive the latest Cadillac. These inequities in cars merely prove that freedom is operating in the car market. There is an abundance for everyone regardless of income level, desire, degree of attainment, or anything else.

But in education we don't work things that way. We have adopted the famous old sophistry that educationally we must all be equal. Yet, any honest teacher will tell you that all children are individuals, and that some will learn faster and learn more than others. This is so self-apparent that it seems redundant to mention it.

Yet, while we are in the midst of frantically seeking to regiment an entire nation of boys and girls into the same silly molds of conformity, and using the force of government to do it, we are passing up the abundance, the opulence, the endless variety, the freedom and the opportunity which the free market, were it applied to schools, could provide.

The next time someone tells you that the schools are overcrowded, look at the highways. They are crowded, too, but in precisely the opposite way and for the exact opposite reason.

The schools are crowded with children who are not getting an education. The highways are crowded with cars, many of them going nowhere, bumper to bumper.

The children and the cars could be said to both be the product of private enterprise. There is no lack of either cars or children.

The government is providing schools and highways. There just aren't enough of either to go around. There never has been enough of anything the government got into. Scarcity is the rule. Why, when private enterprise is so successful and government enterprise is such a dismal failure, do we continue to look to government to solve the dilemma?

Let's quit kidding ourselves. The way out is the free way. There never has been a job too big for free men to undertake. Let's solve the nation's educational problem. Let's get the government out of the picture and do it ourselves.

BETTER JOBS

Educating Man's Emotional Nature

Since our public officials are putting so much emphasis on education, a chapter in Herbert Spencer's last book, "Facts and Comments," under the heading of "Feeling Versus Intellect" is very timely. I want to quote from this chapter.

"... The chief component of mind is feeling. To see this it is necessary to get rid of the wrong connotation which the word mind has acquired, and to use instead its equivalent — consciousness. Mind properly interpreted is co-extensive with consciousness: all parts of consciousness are parts of mind. Sensations and emotions are parts of consciousness, and so far from being its minor components they are its major components."

Then Herbert Spencer makes this observation: "Moral Superior To Intellectual" "The over-valuation of intelligence necessarily has for its concomitant under-valuation of the emotional nature. Considered in respect of their fitness for life, individual and social, those in whom the altruistic sentiments predominate are far superior to those who, with powers of perception and reasoning of the highest kinds join anti-social feelings — unscrupulous egoism and disregard of fellow-men. The contrast between some uncivilized tribes well illustrates this truth. Among savages the Fijians were, when found, remarkable for their cleverness, and for an ability to think which the lower races rarely show; while at the same time cannibalism was rampant among them, slave-tribes were preserved for food, and it was an ambition to be a known murderer. On the other hand the peaceful Arararas are not described as intelligent; some of their ideas imply the contrary. But living together as they do without antagonisms and with only nominal government, their feelings are such that one who, being young, was disappointed in his desire to be chief (a distinction mainly implying responsibility for the welfare of poorer tribesmen) consoled himself by saying — 'Well, I can still use my property in helping my fellows.' When thus put in opposition, the superiority of the moral element to the intellectual element becomes conspicuous. So long as it will hold together, a society wicked in the extreme may be formed of men who in keenness of intellect rank with Mephistopheles; and, conversely, though its members are stupid and unprogressive, a society may be full of happiness if its members are scrupulously regardful of one another's claims, and actively sympathetic. This proposition, though almost a truism, is little regarded. Full recognition of its truth would make men honour, much more than they do, the unobtrusively good, and think less of those whose merit is intellectual ability. There would, for example, be none of the unceasing admiration for that transcendent criminal, Napoleon."

"Emotions The Master" "An over-valuation of teaching is necessarily a concomitant of this erroneous interpretation of mind. Everywhere the cry is — Educate, educate, educate! Everywhere the belief is that by such culture as schools furnish children, and therefore adults, can be moulded into the desired shapes. It is assumed that when men are taught what is right, they will do what is right — that a proposition intellectually accepted will be morally operative. And yet this conviction, contradicted by every-day experience, is at variance with an everyday axiom — the axiom that each faculty is strengthened by exercise of it — intellectual power by intellectual action, and moral power by moral action. The current notion is that these causes and effects can be transposed — that assent to an injunction will be followed by exercise of the correlative feeling. It is true that where the feeling is already active, or the capacity for it exists, some effect may result; but where the feeling is dormant or congenitally deficient, the injunction practically does nothing; unless, indeed, it excites repugnance, as sometimes happens. It seems, however, that this unlimited faith in teaching is not to be changed by facts. Though in presence of multitudinous schools, high and low, we have the rowdies and hooligans, the savage disturbers of meetings, the adulterers of food, the givers of bribes and receivers of corrupt commissions, the fraudulent solicitors, the bubble companies, yet the current belief continues unweakened; and recently in America an outcry respecting the yearly increase of crime, was joined with an avowed determination not to draw any inference adverse to their educational system. But the refusal to recognize the utility of moral instruction as a means to moralization, is most strikingly shown by ignoring the conspicuous fact that after two thousand years of Christian exhortations, uttered by a hundred thousand priests throughout Europe, pagan ideas and sentiments remain rampant, from emperors down to tramps. Principles admitted in theory are scorned in practice. Forgiveness is voted dishonourable. An insult must be wiped out by blood; the obligation being so peremptory that an officer is expelled the army for even daring to question it. And in international affairs the sacred duty of revenge, supreme with the savage, is supreme also with the so-called civilized."

"Erroneous Conceptions of Mind" "As implied above, this undue faith in teaching is mainly caused by the erroneous conception of

Ike Survives Blunders Of 'Business Friends'

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20 — It is surprising — and only so because of the popularity of the man — that he manages to survive the spectacularly inept blunders of the Administration's so-called "business friends and interests." Their stupid mistakes range from the complex Dixon-Yates transaction to the crude slipping of $2,500 to Senator Francis Case's campaign fund.

Eisenhower might well feel justified in saying that "Heaven protect me from my friends, for I can take care of my enemies." Were it not for the public trust in his personal and political integrity, which he may or may not be able to bequeath to a successor, the Republicans could be sunk without a trace next November.

Whether Ike runs or not, however, the Democrats believe that the accumulation of seemingly sharp practices by so many businessmen and interests will support their charge that the GOP is the Party of too many powerful and unprincipled forces.

Trolically, and largely because of Ike's prompt intervention, none of these slick, behind-the-scenes activities seems to have paid off. They were exposed and nullified by Executive action in most instances. His corrective action accounts for his immunity from the opposition's indictment. But it may not exonerate the GOP, if he quits the political field.

Should Vice President Richard M. Nixon be the nominee, the Democrats plan to open up on him with reminders of the secret fund raised for running his office by prominent Californians. The Democrats have built a bulky file on this episode. Nixon satisfied Ike in 1952 that he had done no wrong in accepting this money. His dramatic television explanation made it a fine show. Nevertheless, many who voted for Eisenhower had their doubts about his running mate.

Eisenhower has had to drop four high officials because they appeared to have used their government positions and influence to favor firms in which they were interested, politically or financially. The President did not hesitate in getting rid of them, despite their ability. One was a White House bridge associate, too.

Two bankers — former Budget Director Rowland R. Hughes and Dolph Wenzel, now a New York investment banker — arranged the embarrassing Dixon-Yates contract. Although no corruption was chargeable, they were not entirely frank with the White House, Congress, or the American people. Neither was Lewis L. Strauss, banker-chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission. All seemed hazy about Wenzel's double role of government adviser and possible financial beneficiary in the affair. From the standpoint of cold political mind, Wenzel is fully understood: that the emotions are the masters and the intellect the servant. It would be seen that little can be done by improving the servant while the masters remain unimproved. Improving the servant does but give the masters more power of achieving their ends."

ities, it was the utter ineptitude of their scheme which appalled Administration friends. The main objective — namely, preventing TVA's expansion into the nonhydroelectric field — could have been achieved by permitting Dixon-Yates to build and sell direct to AEC's plants. There was no need to drag TVA into the political-economic mess.

Ike, of course, is not involved in the Superior Oil Company's campaign contribution attempt with Case, or its admitted payments to Senator Joseph R. McCarthy's campaign committee. But since the petroleum industry's heads generally favored him because of his stand on offshore tidelands, these blunders make no votes for an Eisenhower-Republican Party.

The series of stupidities may be summed up in a topical paraphrase of Cardinal Wosley's exclamation: "If I had served my Party (or country) as diligently as I have served my pocketbook, the GOP would not now be left naked to Stevenson Harriman and Keifer."

"I'll bet a married man runs the Weather Bureau. You can't tell me that all hurricanes are named after women by coincidence."

Fair Enough

Many Would Do Away With The Constitution

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

There is one fundamental difference between the position of President Eisenhower, his palace guard and the clamorous bosses of the Democratic party on one side and Constitutional Americans on the other. The first group are fed up with the Constitution of the United States. However, like Roosevelt and Wilson, the pioneer saboteur, they are warned by their political sense that they would shock the population if they should say, outright, "The Constitution is out-moded and must be superseded by a new document curtailing the rights of the people and the national sovereignty of the United States."

Those actually are their objectives. They have been largely won already by a series of invasions comparable to McCarthy's island beeh-heads in the Pacific.

Social security, for one flagrant example, revoked the citizen's right not to buy an annuity insurance policy. It also confiscates money from the citizen and his employer to pay premiums on a policy which is a rank fraud, issued by a "company" which arbitrarily alters the terms of the contract at its own corrupt convenience and does not even pretend to be solvent. The "company" frankly admits that it is meeting accumulated obligations out of current receipts, having squandered the contents of the vault.

The military law which permits the federal government to drag young Americans into military service in time of peace and place them in jeopardy of horrible punishments for civil misdemeanors, including petty larceny, in foreign countries, is another example. The public apathy toward this abrogation of a basic American civil right is plain proof that the majority of the people have surrendered, if they ever really were aware of them, rights reserved to the people and withheld from the federal government by the Constitution.

As time has dragged on and the enormities insisted upon and by Wilson, Roosevelt and Truman have become confirmed by passive consent, a few bold political agents of this revolution have had the candor and impudence to damn the Constitution in plain words.

The most truculent of these is Mrs. Eugene Meyer, the wife of a fabulously rich and mighty manipulator of vast interests. The Meyers' home is a veritable castle in Westchester County, N.Y., with a warm water, marble swimming pool, indoors and vast acres requiring a large corps of foresters and gardeners. In one political emergency, 20-odd years ago, Mrs. Meyer boasted that she had ordered all her staff, indoors and out, to go to town and vote, plainly outlining her personal position on the issue involved. They run the Washington Post and Times-Herald and their position on Alger Hiss after his conviction under conditions plainly implying adherence to the obvious though undeclared Soviet enemy, was that the political "climate" of the time mitigated the offense. We all remember, of course, that the offense was active participation in a treacherous Soviet "apparatus" for espionage.

Mrs. Meyer, as quoted in her own family paper, recently came out flatly for a new Bill of Rights. "Mrs. Meyer said the new standards of freedom should, for example, establish welfare rights on a more secure legal basis," this article said, "and 'rescue them from the onus of charity.'"

This derogation of charity as an evil is typical of the principles of this mighty political force including, be it noted again, Eisenhower and his mock - Republican following. Yet, the same cut endlessly campaigns with professional hooligan and plain elements of extortion by blackmail, raising hundreds of millions of dollars yearly for "charity," with the mocking indument that such tribute, even when given under pressure, is deductible as "charity."

Continuing, this article said: "Such a modern bill of rights, she said, would assert that every American was entitled to education to the full extent of his capacities"; in plainer words indoctrination by the Hitler method, "to health protection and to medical care, the cost of which exceeds his economic resources."

That kicker about excess of the subject's economic resources is familiar to the Veterans' Administration. Thousands of veterans, including many with only nominal service to justify their status, receive free surgery, medicine and hospital beds, who, by their own tax returns and inventories are able to pay, and, legally, should. This should be well-known to Mrs. Meyer but if so would not necessarily weaken her enthusiasm for this concept of the citizen's status in relation to the state.

She also wanted guarantee of old-age pensions and unemployment insurance written into this new bill of rights. This is sheer impudence, of course, because both and, though few citizens know it, the unemployment grant paid by their respective states is largely subsidized by the current federal social security.

Last summer, A. A. Berle, the Harvard wonder-boy who knew of the Hiss situation in the State Department years before it broke, frankly came out for abandonment of nationality in favor of some vaporous brotherhood of peoples.

He was a little leagard, for that ideal was imposed by the United Nations. Thereby Soviet Russia got access to the military decisions of the Pentagon well in time to pass them along to the Communist who were slaughtering and torturing Americans in Korea and China.

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR P. JORDAN, M. D.

Small children, like grownups, are sensitive to their experiences and these are not only in the emotional field but the physical field as well.

An excellent example was sent in by a reader recently. She said: "About three months ago I took my little three-year-old son downtown. While in town he had to go to the bathroom so I took him into one of the stores. Afterward, I flushed the toilet and it made a terrific noise which frightened him. I had almost had him trained, but since then he will not go near a bathroom anywhere except at home. Now the problem is that we are about to move and he will not even go near our new bathroom."

Obviously, this child was frightened and associates his fright with the performance of his natural functions. I BELIEVE that calmness and firmness in helping the boy to get over his fear will do the job. Certainly he should not be punished for his present fright and the mother will probably have to make up her mind that it will take some months to get the boy back where he was before.

This question raises the problem of training children in toilet habits. In this connection, I should like to say first that not all children develop control at the same speed or exactly the same age. Those who are somewhat slower in this respect will probably grow up just as well as the ones who achieve control early.

A healthy baby usually begins to establish bowel control between one and two years old. When the baby is nine or ten months old it can be placed for short periods on the "potty" — this should be done at first with the child lying down as it is not able to sit up safely so soon. MOST INFANTS begin to catch on quickly, especially with praise. The "potty" should be used regularly at the same time of day, usually after the first morning meal. But neither the mother or the baby should be exhausted by keeping it up too long if success is not achieved.

Every infant enjoys cleanliness and appreciates the praise received. The parents should avoid scolding when the infant fails. Once bowel control has become established — and the child is a little older, the responsibility for the bowel should be placed on the child rather than the parents.

The process of emptying the bladder in small babies is automatic. As soon as the bladder is stretched to a certain point, the nerves carry the message to the spinal cord and the bladder is emptied without conscious thought.

GRADUALLY, the sensation of a full bladder begins to be carried up the brain itself and when this develops, it is possible for the child to control urination. Until the message is received in the brain, however, it is useless to expect something the baby cannot do.

The emotions play a big part. The problem is almost always more difficult in children who live where the parents quarrel, in broken homes, or those in which one child is favored over the others. In fact, almost anything which makes a young child feel insecure tends to delay control of these bodily functions.

BID FOR A SMILE

Years ago there was an old man who lived at the edge of the Grand Canyon, and who used to tell tourists that he had dug out the big cliff in the ground, and had wheeled away the dirt in a wheelbarrow. He told the tale once to a young girl from the East. Young girl — I don't believe it! (Indignantly) Old man — Why don't you believe it? Young girl — Well, you might have dug it out, as you say, and wheeled the dirt away in a wheelbarrow—but what did you do with the dirt?

Good And Bad Of The Week's News

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
The week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet:

GOOD NEWS

1. Premier Guy Mollet and Pierre Mendes-France, his co-leader in the French government, put aside their differences to join in a determined attempt to bring peace to Algeria. Mollet, addressing the National Assembly in Paris, outlined a three-point program to end terrorism in France's most important overseas possession. He promised immediate economic aid to relieve unemployment and poverty, long-term economic and political reforms and free elections. The Algerian situation remained serious. But authoritative Frenchmen expressed confidence that this crisis will be solved.

2. Soviet Russia failed in its apparent attempt to cause illfeeling between the United States and Great Britain by producing missing British diplomats Donald D. McLean and Guy De M. Burgess at a Moscow press conference. The public appearance of the two men, nearly five years after they vanished behind the Iron Curtain, proved to be only a one-day sensation. The Kremlin apparently hoped it would cause bitter American criticism of lax British security screening.

3. Newly inaugurated President Juscelino Kubitschek of Brazil lifted the state of siege which had been imposed on Nov. 15. At that time, there was serious danger of a revolt which would prevent Kubitschek's inauguration and plunge the largest Latin American republic into political turmoil. The revolt failed to materialize.

BAD NEWS

1. Nikita S. Khrushchev opened the 20th congress of the Russian Communist party in Moscow with a speech boasting that communism would triumph over capitalism. He showed no sign that Russia is willing to seek friendship with the West on acceptable terms. At the same time Khrushchev, who is first secretary of the party, revised the fundamental Marxist dictum that war is inevitable as long as western capitalism and "imperialism" exist. Khrushchev held that communism can triumph without resort to violence. Economic and political methods will suffice, he said.

2. Pakistan started a review of its ties with the United States and other western countries. Pakistan, a key member of the Middle Eastern Defense Alliance, until recently was regarded as firmly on the side of the Western Allies. Now, it has accepted a Russian offer to negotiate a trade agreement. In Southeast Asia, Premier Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia turned "neutralist" and went to Communist China for a visit. He, too, until recently had been regarded as firmly pro-western.

3. Great Britain's serious financial situation was emphasized when the government raised the "bank rate" sharply from 4-1/2 to 5-1/2 per cent. This means a higher interest rate on loans of all sorts. The rate was aimed at curbing inflation, cutting down on public purchases of non-essential goods and increasing exports.

Georgian Says 'Carpetbaggers' Trying To Split The South

SAVANNAH, Ga., Feb. 18 — UP — A segregation leader who also has a strong voice in allotment of Georgia education funds told the student body of a Negro state college Saturday that "carpetbaggers" are again trying to divide the South and that bloodshed may result.

Some 900 of the 1,000 Negro students at Savannah State College heard Roy V. Harris through a speaker at the assembly when he finished.

There was no obvious boycott, picketing or any other demonstration although the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People had denounced Harris' appearance and called for protest by the students. NAACP leaders have called Harris a "demagogue." Cites Rapid Progress

Harris is a member of the state board of regents, which governs the Negro college here as well as other units of the Georgia university system. He is one of the founders of the State's Rights Council of Georgia, a pro-segregation group, and was one of the first to protest Georgia's Tech's appearance in the Sugar Bowl against a Pittsburgh Negro player.

Harris spoke here at the invitation of Dr. W. K. Payne, president of the institution, for the dedication of a group of new buildings.

He said Negroes in Georgia should be proud of their race because it has made more progress in the 90 years since the Civil War than at any period in its history before that conflict.

"Carpetbaggers are back"

"We can live together as two great races, each maintaining its own pride and each its own integrity," Harris said. "So long as we

Answer To Cold And Dust: New Plains Storm Windows

KEEPS OUT COLD AND DUST — Harold P. Smith here holds one of the famous Dust-Stopper Storm Windows manufactured in Panhandle by Plains Aluminum Industries. The window fits between the regular window and the screen so that it is invisible from the street. When the wind blows the window tightens to keep out dust and cold. Call or write Owen Moore, Panhandle area representative, at 1057 Huff Road, Pampa, phone 4-4431 or 4-3538, for a free demonstration and estimate.

The first and only Factory in Texas devoted to the Exclusive manufacturing of Storm-Windows and Doors is Plains Aluminum Industries, P. O. Box 38, Panhandle, Texas, Phones 2621 or 3781. There is no side line to detract our personal attention from Designing, manufacturing and supervising the installation of Plains Aluminum Dust Stoppers.

EXPERIENCE

There is 21 years of experience standing behind this business which assures its expansion and success. We have all the latest types of equipment and machines for precision work thus guaranteeing our customers and dealers of the Finest Storm Windows and Doors on the U. S. Market along with the type of installation that any home owner can be proud of.

There is no finer Storm Window at any price that will do what the Dust Stopper will do with ease. We employ over 15 people who make Storm Windows their profession, which in turn assures you of a professional job on your home. The Dust Stopper has been proven by 24 months of Service and over 11,000 units have been installed.

WEATHER STRIPPED

The Dust Stopper Storm Window is weather stripped, has no inserts, cleans easily, fits between screen and inside windows, so that it is invisible from the street. When the wind blows the window tightens. For Ventilation you simply raise the window from the bottom, just like a double-hung window. As you can see in a picture the top sash swings down to make cleaning easy.

When more people begin to realize how important Storm Windows are to their home from a standpoint of cleaning, heating and air-conditioning, we will have to build a new plant to handle the increased business. We can turn out 15,000 units a year with the present factory and personnel.

For further information just write or call Owen Moore, 1057 Huff Rd., Pampa, 4-4431 or 4-3538. He will go any where in this area and give a free demonstration and estimate.

Studebaker Sets Sales Division

The establishment of a new Southern sales division with headquarters in Dallas has been announced by William A. Keller, Studebaker general sales manager, Studebaker-Packard corporation.

The new Southern division covers twelve Southern and Southwestern states and includes the company's Atlanta, Dallas, Kansas City, Memphis and St. Louis zones. Division offices are located with the zone offices at 1924 Cedar Springs Street.

Glenn S. Finney will head the regional sales organization. He was formerly zone sales manager in Dallas, Keller said.

Robert L. Stevens was promoted to Dallas zone sales manager to replace Finney. He had been assistant zone sales manager.

Keller said that the creation of the new division was made necessary by the company's substantially improved position in the Southern market and related dealer requirements.

AROUND THE SPORTS WORLD

RUGGED SOLOIST—Edward Allcard, 40, is standing on the bow of his newly-launched ketch, Sea Wanderer, in Hampshire, England, in which he intends to sail on a round-the-world trip alone next spring. Allcard is the tough Atlantic sailor who attracted attention in 1951 when he was making a voyage from the U. S. to England. About 12 hours out from the Azores, he found a beautiful stowaway on board.

BACK AND AWAY—Displaying excellent acrobatic skill, Undine defender Azimonti, right, kicks the ball back and away from his threatened goal, as Inter forward Fraschini, center, displays chagrin in missing a chance to score. The Undine team, which leading Italy's "B" division, beat the Milan team of Inter, 6-4, at the Milan Stadium. Inter is one of the top teams in "A" division.

THE START!—Braving foul, wintry weather which has gripped most of the nation east of the Rockies are three youngsters in Chicago. Left to right: Jonjack, 10, his sister Ellena, 13, and 12-year-old Darlene Travetto aren't going to be denied some early morning ice skating.

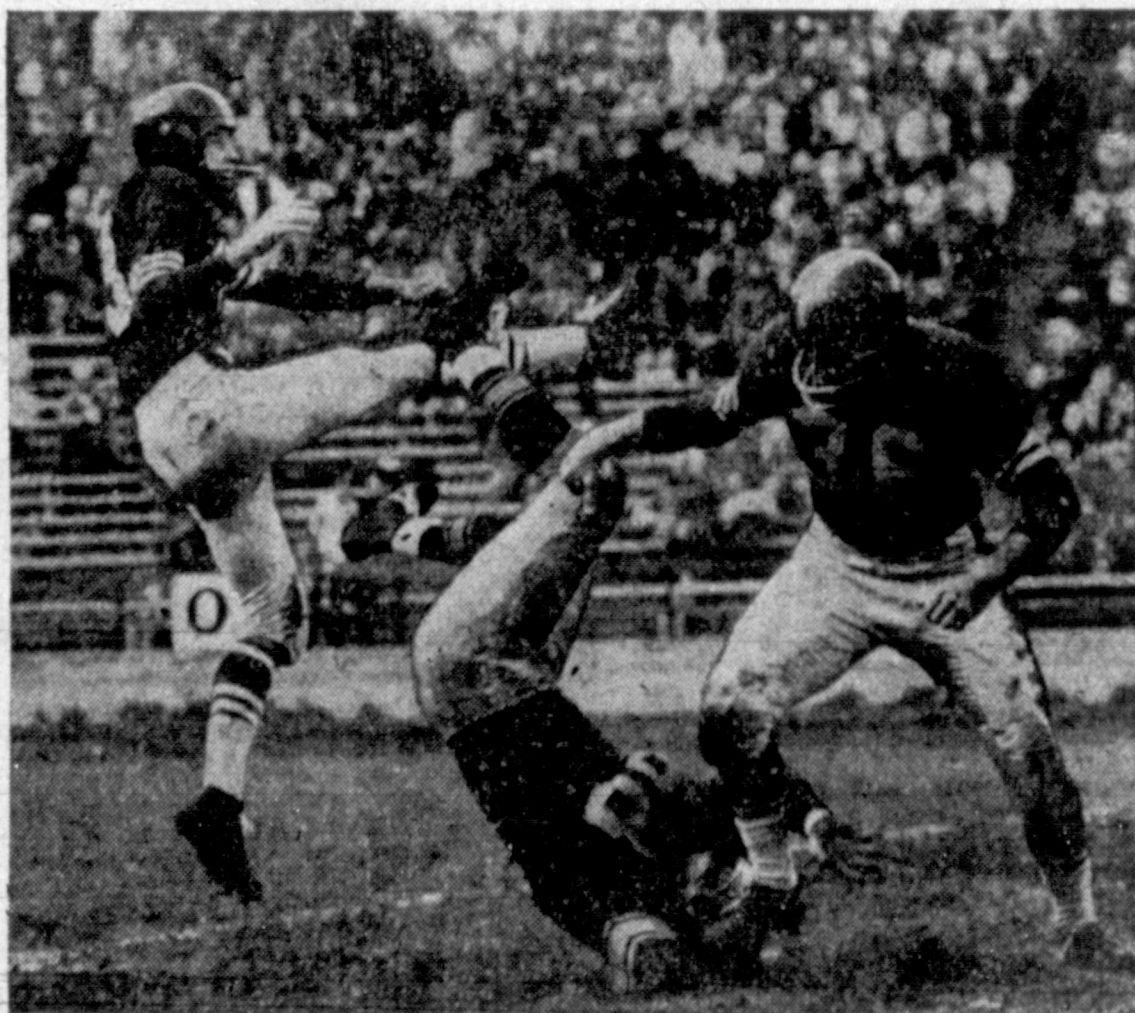

TEMPTATION—Sporting a belt studded with silver coins and a silver mounted knife, a gaucho—one of Argentina's cowboys—fusses with his mount, but still has eyes for that more modern transportation near Buenos Aires, right. He may be wondering if he has enough coin to trade in his one-horse-power model on a motorized mount.

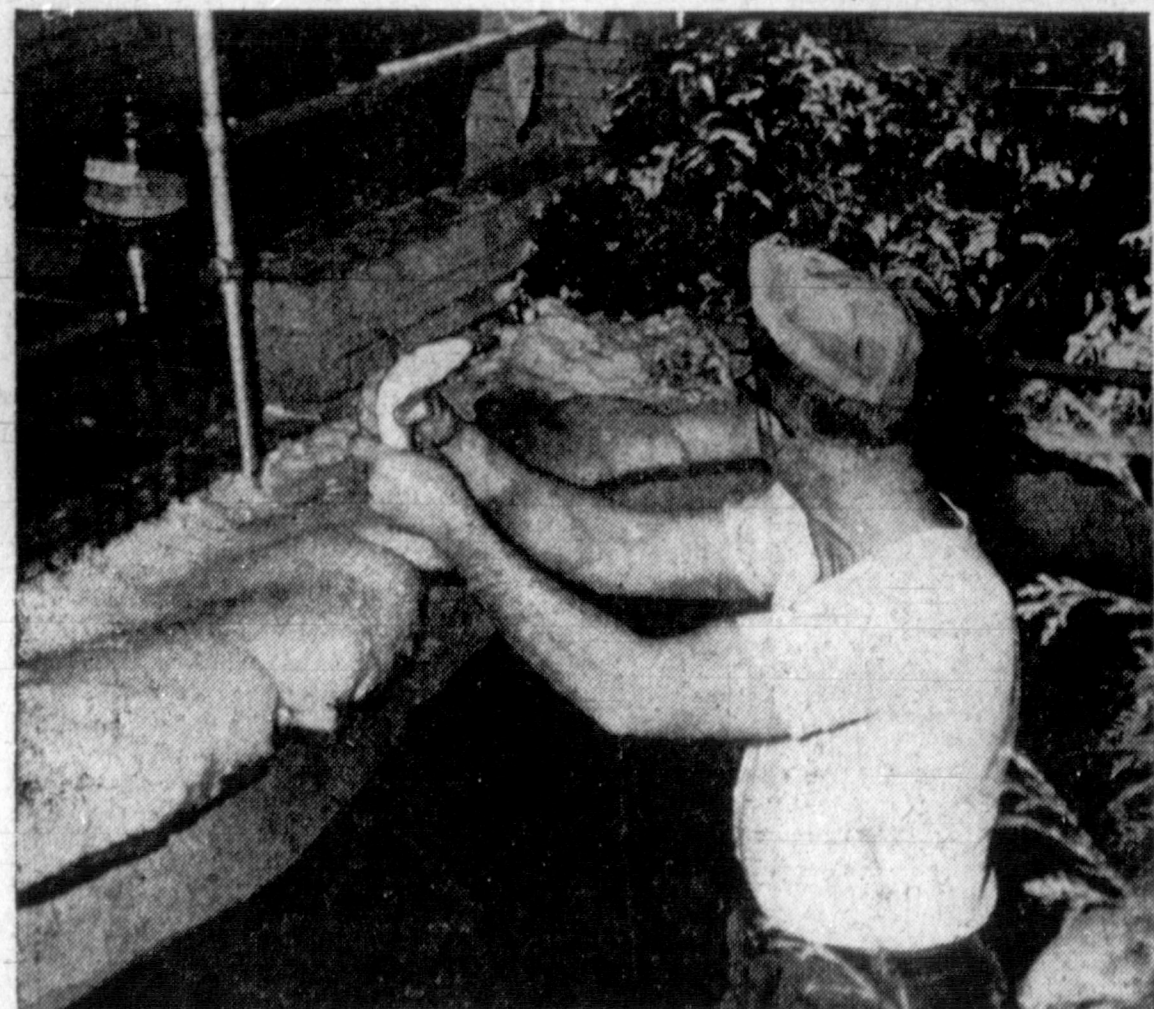

KNIT FOR NET—Two paris perfect for a workout on a tennis court, this white knit ensemble cuts a pretty figure in Palm Springs, Calif. Betty Koch of Los Angeles wears the outfit which has a sequined racquet and tennis balls embroidered on the shorts.

UPSA DAISY—Western Kentucky's Owen Lawson, right, lays the ball up and in despite the supplicating gesture by Seton Hall's Ed Petrie, 22. This took place during their game at Madison Square Garden. Lawson scored 35 points in a losing effort as Seton Hall won, 87-85.

ABOUT FACE—Green Bay Packer guard Len Szafaryn ended up head down as he tried to block a punt by 49er halfback Bobby Luna during their pro clash in San Francisco. At the right is 49er fullback Bud Laughlin who had a hand in Szafaryn's unorthodox position.

HELPING HIMSELF—Glenn Bruce, of Cedar Grove, Wis., couldn't refuse the challenge when offered a free trout for dinner. He had to catch the fish bare handed in an icy trout pool in 15-degree temperature, but he's got a fish in his hands—so he dined.

HOUDINI OF GOLF—One of the world's foremost trick shot golfers, Jack Redmond is shown swinging a club on one of Egypt's famed Pyramids. Redmond has golfed in every country where the game is played, demonstrated trick shots on 3,200 courses, and is now on the staff of Colt Golf, Inc.

SLOW, BUT SURE—Young David Ferris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ferris of Boston, had a little trouble getting his puppy, Trixie, started in a pet show in Pinehurst, N. C. But Trixie finally came up with an award for being "cutest" entrant.

GETTING AHEAD — Gene Brown is shown here as he prepared to put the Harvesters ahead again, after trailing by a single point at the end of the first quarter. Brown paced the Harvesters scoring with 27 points but a court mistake in the last three minutes gave the Bronchos the chance they needed. The red-and-white clad Bronchos won the Friday night contest and the championship of the final 1-AAA district in which the Pampa Harvesters will participate. Jerry Gee (33) and Tommy Gindorf (43) are ready to grab that rebound while Warner Gamblin, (55) tries to get position. Don Hitt, (88) paced the Bronchos in their 59-55 victory. (News Photo by T. D. Mustangs Can Clinch Title Tie By Downing Baylor's Bears This Week

Ponies Unbeaten On Home Court This Season

By ED FITE
United Press Sports Writer

Southern Methodist's prancing Mustangs can deliver a second straight Southwest Conference basketball championship to the school's trophy case this week as the race rushes pell mell toward the finish line.

Coach E. O. (Doc) Hayes' stalwarts, living up to their eighth spot in the national rankings, have surged to the point where only one victory is needed to clinch a title tie with three games remaining. Arkansas and Rice, the only clubs with a remote chance of overthrowing the front-running Ponies, each get a shot at trying to lasso the marauding Mustangs by the Feb. 28 finale, but SMU should have at least a tie clinched before either one comes up on the schedule.

That feat is expected to be accomplished Tuesday night when SMU hosts the improving Baylor Bears at Dallas. A victory there would not only assure a title tie, but would run the Methodists' string to 15 in a row and give them a 20-2 season mark.

Unbeatable at Home SMU beat Baylor by 20 points on the Bears' own court in the first half of the race and have been unbeaten on their home court this season. Arkansas' crack at SMU will come Saturday night, also in Dallas and it'll be a last ditch hope for Coach Glen Rose's fighting Frogs. Unless they can avenge a 56-53 Fayetteville setback at the hands of the Mustangs the light will flicker out for both Rice and Arkansas.

Rice which has a 7-2 record to 5-2 for Arkansas and 9-0 for SMU has two tough assignments, this week of its own before tangling with SMU in the season finale at Houston a week from Tuesday night. First the potent Owls who own a fine 18-3 season record of their own must go to Austin Tuesday night to face Texas then must in-

Championship Battle Is Set For Wednesday's Mat Card

The Pampa Shrine Club is pleased to announce to the wrestling fans that they have been successful in signing Tokio Joe and Mike Clancy as the second main event in Wednesday's bouts.

The main event is a World's Championship bout, featuring Dory Funk and Raymond Torres vs. Art Nelson and Rip Rogers, a match all will want to see. The second main event, two out of three falls, one-hour time limit should be a real rough and tough affair as Mike Clancy was not at all pleased with the outcome of last week's match. He asked to get a chance at Tokio Joe and now his wish has come true.

This is an all-star card — a card that most fans will not want to miss. A 15-minute one-fall match between Rip Rogers and Raymond Torres will start the evening's program. Tickets at regular price may be purchased at Modern Drug.

ET Baptists Can Win Big State Title

By UNITED PRESS

East Texas Baptist College which already has clinched a tie for the Big State Conference basketball title can make it a clear-cut decision by a victory Saturday night over Texas Wesleyan College, the defending champion.

East Texas Baptist increased its league lead last week to 7-1 by two victories — one over St. Edward's University 79-54 and the other over University 92-66.

Until its two losses last week St. Edward's shared the conference lead with East Texas Baptist. Texas Wesleyan handed St. Edward's its second defeat of the week 76-69.

Texas Wesleyan is in second spot with a 6-3 league record although it was beaten last week by St. Mary's University 83-80. Other conference games last week saw Southwestern beat St. Mary's 69-55 and Texas Wesleyan defeat Pan American 68-55.

In non-conference contests East Texas Baptist was beaten by Centenary 87-75 while Texas Southern downed Pan American 93-57.

Three teams — St. Mary's, St. Edward's and Southwestern — close their season this week. St. Edward's plays Southwestern at Georgetown Tuesday night and meets St. Mary's in Austin Friday.

Calhoun, Defendis Meet Tonight In Televised Match

NEW YORK — UP — Rory Calhoun, unbeaten young middleweight slugger of White Plains, Fla., N.Y., is favored at 12-5 to win again over Bomber Angelo Defendis of Bensonhurst, N.Y., Monday night in their return 10-rounder at St. Nicholas Arena.

Defendis, 22, had Calhoun on the floor but lost a four-round decision in their first bout, Sept. 27, 1954. Angelo seeks vengeance for the only defeat in his 13 professional bouts. He won eight straight since the loss to Calhoun.

Each is a knockout puncher. Rory belted out eight men while winning all 17 of his professional bouts. Defendis knocked out seven of his 13 pro opponents.

Vic Seixas in Tourney BUFFALO, N.Y. — UP — Vic Seixas, the nation's No. 1 amateur player, meets Irv Dorfman of New York and Billy Talbert, non-playing captain of the U.S. Davis Cup team, plays Ulf Schmidt of Denmark Saturday in opening round matches of the Buffalo Tennis and Squash Club's 21st mid-winter invitation tennis tournament.

Kefauver Denies Charge ATLANTA — UP — Sen. Estes Kefauver flatly denied Tuesday an accusation by Georgia's Democratic chairman that he was seeking the support of the NAACP in his bid for the Democratic presidential nomination. John Sammons Bell, Georgia's Democratic party chairman said last week Kefauver sought support of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and had made himself "an avowed enemy of the South."

Krellow Wins Baseballer's Golf Tourney

MIAMI, Fla. — UP — Lou Krellow of the Kansas City Athletics didn't win a single game in 1955 but he'll be a "man of distinction" in major league dugouts this year.

The 32-year-old right-hander, who has won only 23 games in nine big league seasons, defeated defending champion Alvin Dark of the New York Giants 2 and 1 Sunday to capture the National Baseball Players' golf championship.

Victory in the tournament — one of the major leaguers' favorite winter pastimes — assures a player a high standing in the ballplayers' lodge.

Krellow overcame trouble on the tees with splendid chipping and one-putted six greens while Dark, who won the tournament in 1951 as well as in 1955, three-putted six greens.

Jackie Robinson of the Brooklyn Dodgers beat Phil Rizzuto of the New York Yankees 4 and 3 in a consolation match; Art Somersfield, former Toronto pitcher, defeated Pete Harris of the Atlanta Crackers, 1-up, in the minor league division and Jack Russell, formerly of the Boston Red Sox won the inactive division with a 3 and 2 win over Augie Bergamo, formerly of the St. Louis Cards.

Cornelius Is Victor At St. Petersburg

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — UP — Cathy Cornelius, Lake Worth, Fla., played slow, careful golf Sunday for a final 72 and a four-stroke victory in the $5,000 St. Petersburg Women's Open.

It was the first tournament victory for the dark-haired mother of an 18-month old son. Her total of 287 netted her $900 first place money.

Marilynn Smith, Wichita, Kan., had a par 71 over the difficult Sunset Course for a second place total of 291 good for $650. Defending Champion Patty Berg, St. Andrews, Ill., got third place money of $540 with her 293. Miss Berg had a chance to catch Mrs. Cornelius, but muffed short birdie putts on three straight holes and took a double-bogey on the 10th when her drive landed beside a tree.

Tied for fourth were Beverly Hanson, Apple Valley, Calif.; Louise Surge of Sea Island, Ga., and Joyce Zlake of Waterford, Wis. All had 296.

Miss Surge and Betty Dodd of San Antonio, who wound up with a 296, tied for the best round of the day with 70's that brought them far down the list of entrants into the money.

Santee Demands 'American Trial'

NEW YORK — UP — Miller Wes Santee Monday charged the national AAU with "star chamber proceedings" in suspending him for life and demanded to meet his accusers "face to face in a real fair American trial."

Charles P. Grimes, Santee's attorney, declared he meant "to accomplish a complete vindication of Santee as an amateur and restore his rights to compete as an amateur in the Olympics."

Santee, America's No. 1 miler and its best hope for a gold medal in the 1,500-meter run at Melbourne, Australia, next December, was suspended for life by the AAU Sunday for allegedly accepting about $1,500 in excessive expense money for competing in various meets.

Others Also Suspended

Also suspended were Al Frank, described as Santee's agent in California, and Fred Van Dyke, vice president of the Pacific AAU. Tom Moore, promoter of the Modesto Relays, also was charged with paying Santee excessive expense money for competing in the meet.

Santee announced through Grimes immediately following the announcement of the AAU's action, that he "will sue in a New York civil court enjoining the AAU from carrying out the suspension."

Dan Ferris, secretary-treasurer of the AAU, revealed that the executive committee voted 14-1 to suspend Santee. The dissenting vote was cast by Lew Wilkie, last year's AAU president, who contended the matter should be referred to the Missouri Valley Association of the AAU.

The Missouri Valley Association originally suspended Santee for alleged violations of the amateur code last Oct. 11 but reversed the decision by a 21-7 vote on Nov. 20. The case was reopened in December and a special committee, dubbed the "secret seven" — appointed to study the charges and investigate "new evidence."

Santee was charged specifically with accepting excessive expense money from three California meets—the Modesto Relays, the Stockton Pacific AAU championships and the Los Angeles Coliseum Relays. The AAU said he received about $80 from those meets; also received about $900 for competing in various meets in Cleveland, Chicago, Philadelphia and Washington. The AAU said all the violations occurred last year.

In his formal statement, Santee said he was "extremely disappointed in the action of the executive committee."

"I do not believe I have received fair treatment," he said. "I am convinced the AAU has violated its own constitution by laws and rules in suspending me."

"I am frank to say I am going to demand a real fair American trial. If there are any accusers then I shall meet them face to face and have full rights of cross examination by competent counsel."

Gene Littler Back On Road To Victory With Texas Win

SAN ANTONIO — UP — Gene Littler 24-year-old Pol m Springs, Calif., pro who scores accurate iron shots won him top money in the $20,000 Texas Open, hoped he was back on the victory trail Monday.

It was the first major victory of the year for Littler—who won four tournaments last year—as he and the other pros headed for the $50,000 Houston Open, beginning Thursday.

Littler's controlled iron shot helped him to a seven-under-par 65 over the Fort Sam Houston course and a 278 total. It won him $3,750.

Littler's total was 12 under par but was the highest score to win the Texas Open since 1934. He began the final round with a 211 total—five strokes behind—and got a four-under-par 32 on the front nine, and a three-under 33 on the back.

With Seven Birdies

He sank seven birdie putts of less than 10 feet and parred 11 of the 18 holes in the final round. Ernie Vossler, former Texas Amateur champion from Fort Worth; Mike Fetchick of Mahopac, N.Y.; and Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, tied for second spot in the tournament with 270 totals. They each won $1,600.

Vossler took a 73 on the final round, while Stranahan had 68 and Fetchick a 68.

Doug Ford of Kiamesha Lake, N.Y.—the leader going into the final round—took a one-over-par 73 that dropped him into a fifth place tie.

Fetchick set a course record of 63 in the opening round and then had two bad rounds—the worst a six-over-par 78—before he got his control back and carded a 66 on the final day.

Balling Hurt Stranahan

Stranahan appeared to have clinched second place in the tournament, but an official ruling cost him a tie. He overshoot the green on the 130-yard fifth hole, and was required to play the ball instead of dropping another. It gave him a double bogey on the par three hole and a 68 for the day.

Ford tied for fifth-place money of $850 each with Freddie Haas of Claremont, Calif., and two brothers—Jay Herbert of Sanford, Fla., and Lionel Herbert of Erie, Pa. Haas got a final round 71, while Jay Herbert got a 67 and Lionel Herbert a 68.

Jim Tom Blair of Jefferson City, Mo., won low amateur prize by taking a swatfest from Rex Baxter Jr. of Amarillo. Each had a 293 total.

Memphis St. Gets Berth 'At Large' In NCAA Tourney

NEW YORK — UP — Memphis State College, the nation's fourth highest scoring team, Monday was named as an "at large" entry in the NCAA basketball tournament.

The Tigers, who have been averaging almost 90 points a game, have won 15 and lost four thus far this season. They walloped Centenary 101-82 Saturday night.

It will mark Memphis State's second appearance in the national championship tournament. The Tennessee school bowed to Penn State in the opening round last year.

Cypriots Kill Three

NICOSIA, Cyprus, Feb. 11 — UP — Cypriot rebels killed two Royal Air Force men and seriously wounded a third with submachine guns Saturday on the main street of this capital city.

ENDING THEIR TRAVEL — The Pampa Harvesters ended their traveling for the season as they fell to the Odessa Bronchos, 59-55, last Friday night in Broncho Fieldhouse. The Harvesters here are not happy like the district winning Odessa five. The scene was the gym floor just before the mob of Odessa fans smothered the Bronchos. (News Photo)

Tech's Raiders To Meet Acid Test In Two Games This Week

By UNITED PRESS

Texas Tech's sizzling offense that has carried it to the top of the Border Conference basketball standings meets its acid test Monday night and Tuesday night with the lead hanging in the balance.

The Red Raiders who have been operating at virtually a 90-point per game pace against league foes have only two challengers to their 6-2 league-leading record.

They're New Mexico A&M whose 55.9 defensive mark is one of the best in the nation and Texas Western which has yielded only 67.1 points per game. Each owns a 5-3 league mark.

DALLAS — (UP) — Southern Methodist University announced Monday that it has changed its position regarding expansion of the Southwest Conference and now favors the admission of Texas Tech.

Blocking Tech's path to the crown it shared a year ago with West Texas is two games each with these two toughies.

The first meetings will come on the road—at Texas Western Monday night and at New Mexico A&M Tuesday night.

Last week Tech beat HSU 20-85 and Texas 84-72; Texas Western downed Arizona 85-84 in overtime and West Texas 83-71; New Mexico A&M defeated Arizona State 83-73 and West Texas 66-51 and Hardin-Simmons lost to Arizona State 71-65 and to Arizona 83-73.

Ashenfelter To Defend Title In Chicago Races

CHICAGO — UP — Horace Ashenfelter, the racing FBI man, said Monday he will defend his two-mile Rotary title at the Chicago Daily News Relays March 24.

The 33-year-old Ashenfelter, winner of the 3,000-meter steeplechase in the 1952 Olympics, predicted he may cover the two-mile distance in 8:46 this year if conditions are right. That would break both his world indoor record of 8:50.5 and his American outdoor mark of 8:49.6.

NOTICE TO BIDDERS

The City Commission of the City of Pampa, Texas, will receive sealed bids in the City Commission Room, City Hall, Pampa, Texas, on Tuesday, March 6, 1956, for the furnishing of all necessary materials, machinery, equipment, supervision and labor for constructing Asphalt Surface Treatment and Seal Coats for city streets. Bids shall be addressed to Edwin S. Vicars, City Secretary, City Hall, Pampa, Texas.

Bidders must submit Cashier's Check or Certified Check issued by a bank satisfactory to the Owner, or a Bidder's Bond from a reliable Surety Company payable without recourse to the order of Lynn Boyd, Mayor, in an amount not less than five (5%) percent of the largest possible bid submitted as a guaranty that Bidder will enter into a contract and execute bond and guaranty in the forms provided within 30 days after receipt of award of contract to him. Bids without required check or Surety Bond will not be considered. The successful Bidder must furnish performance bond in the amount of 100 percent of the total contract price from a Surety Company holding a permit from the State of Texas to act as Surety, or other Surety or Sureties acceptable to the Owner. All lump sum bids and unit bids must be stated in both script and figures. The Owner reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive formalities. In case of ambiguity or lack of clearness in stating the price in the bid, the Owner reserves the right to request the most advantageous construction thereof, or to reject the bid. Unreasonable or "unbalanced" unit prices will authorize the Owner to reject any bid. Attention is called to the fact that these bids must be paid on the project not less than the general prevailing instructions to Bidders, proposal forms, specifications and plans are on file at the office of the City Secretary at Pampa, Texas.

Copies may be secured from the City Engineer, Pampa, Texas, under the following conditions:

Edwin S. Vicars, City Secretary, Feb. 13 and 20

Minimum bid: three 3-point lines. Monthly rate: $2.50 per line per month (no copy charge).

Let's Go Shopping

One of these days I must go shopping. I am completely out of self-respect. I want to exchange the self-righteousness I picked up the other day for some humiliation which they say is less expensive and wears longer. I want to look at some tolerance which is being used for wraps this season. Someone showed me some pretty samples of peace. We are a little low on that and one can never have too much of it. And by the way, I must try to match some patience that my neighbor wears. It is very becoming to her and I think it might look well on me. I might try on that little garment of long-suffering they are displaying. I never thought I wanted to wear it, but I feel myself coming to it. Also I must not forget to have my sense of appreciation mended and look around for some inexpensive everyday goodness. It is surprising how quickly one's stock of goodness is depleted.

SEWING MACHINE VILLAGE—A treadle-type sewing machine was used to chisel this miniature village from soft wood. Here's how: A tiny chisel (insert), one sixteenth of an inch wide and one inch long, replaces the needle in the sewing machine. Operator controls the cutting speed with the treadle. Chisel cuts soft wood like a knife cutting butter. It can cut perfect circles and the most intricate patterns. One blade will cut up to 30,000 running feet of wood before wearing out, and it's possible to use it for cutting thin sheets of aluminum or copper. Village above was fashioned by William Koenig of Pittsburgh, Pa., who began the hobby 25 years ago. The tiny chisel is called a jig-saw needle for sewing machines.

Bandits Hit Store In Kansas

TOPEKA, Kan.—UP—Three jive-talking bandits, one of whom wore a woman's silk stocking over his head, were sought Monday after robbing a Safeway store of some $16,000 in checks and cash from two days' receipts.

The holdup was the biggest in Topeka since Aug. 31, 1934, when a bank messenger was robbed of $17,500 in cash while en route to the express office.

Safeway officials would not disclose the exact amount of cash taken in the holdup, which occurred a few minutes after the store closed Sunday night. However, detective Ray McKinney said it likely would "be quite a lot."

The bandits told store employees: "You cats better play it smart," as they admonished them not to look at them. They took the checks and money in two grocery sacks, spilling some $50 in cash in their haste as they left.

They forced seven employees to the rear of the store, and forced John J. Meier, assistant manager, to open the store safe.

It was the second supermarket robbery of the month. Earlier in the month, a Kroger store was held up and robbed of $8,000 in cash. Four men later were captured and charged.

Topeka police gave chase to a speeding automobile, fitting the description of one seen near the Safeway store, a few minutes after the robbery. The automobile sped across a viaduct at about 80 miles an hour and disappeared before officers could close in on it.

VICTIMS OF RED DOUBLE TALK—"Reactionary" is what these stone lions are officially termed in Communist China. That's why they were removed in 1951 from in front of the Communist Bank of China in Hong Kong and replaced with a pair labeled "progressive." The Reds gave these "reactionary" statues to the University of Hong Kong, but university officials didn't know what to do with them. So the statues have been sitting on the campus, unmounted, apparently unwanted.

WICHITA FALLS, Tex.—UP—An AWOL airman faced charges Monday of killing a Wichita Falls city tax employee last December.

The airman, Roy Allen Hunter, who was stationed at Sheppard Air Base in Wichita Falls, was returned here Sunday by Sheriff Weldon Bailey in the stolen automobile of the victim, Jack Spangler, 26.

Spangler was shot to death near Wichita Falls and his automobile stolen last Dec. 17. Hunter was arrested at Tracy, Calif., in the stolen automobile.

It's the all purpose 4-wheel drive truck!

Here's a rugged, all-purpose truck designed not only for highway travel, but with the extra insurance of 4-wheel drive for difficult terrain or weather—the 'Jeep' Truck!

It shifts easily from 2-wheel drive for highway or street into 4-wheel drive when extra traction is needed to carry its payload over a ton through mud, sand, snow or soft earth, where ordinary trucks can't go. Equipped with power take-off, it supplies mobile power for many types of machinery for business or farm. The 'Jeep' Truck is now available with power brakes.

Speck Of Dust Can Cause Plane To Veer Off Course

By ROBERT SHORTAL

NEW YORK, Feb. 18—UP—A speck of dust in an automatic flight control instrument can cause a multi-million dollar supersonic jet airplane to veer widely off its course.

Lint from clothing and moisture from fingerprints can make a guided missile zooming along at and miss its mark.

Smog and humidity also can make intricate flight instruments go haywire and endanger the success of vital military missions.

G. M. Giannini, a noted scientist, said Saturday.

The problem of instrument "contamination" has manufacturers in a dither. It has become so serious many instrument makers now require their employees to wear lintless clothes and work with tweezers.

"But all these safeguards would be useless," Giannini noted, "if we did not wash and dry the air in such plants more exactly and carefully than a mother cleans a newborn baby."

Miracles of Miniaturization

The 45-year-old Italian-born scientist said modern flight instruments are miracles of miniaturization, often using wire three times finer than a human hair and ball bearings smaller than a match head.

"One of these ball bearings," Giannini explained, "could easily be jammed by a particle of dust so small that one million of them would be needed to cover the head of a pin."

"That's why we dry the plant's air after washing it," he added. "It takes very little corrosion to alter or run a wire that is less than one one-thousandths of an inch in diameter."

Giannini, who studied under the late physicist Enrico Fermi, is president and chairman of G. M. Giannini & Co., which specializes in automatic flight control equipment.

Giannini noted automatic controls are vital in supersonic and ultrasonic flights. "Human pilots cannot think fast enough at these speeds," he adds, "so we must depend on high-speed precision instruments."

Usually Stored a While

Giannini, whose firm is a leader in the billion-dollar instrument field, said the contamination problem is heightened by the fact instruments seldom are installed and used promptly after production.

Since each missile or jet plane employs dozens of tiny instruments and controls, he added, "the possibility of flight error is enormous."

Giannini said an error as small as one-tenth of one per cent in a single instrument can cause a target error of 25 feet in two miles.

"At supersonic speeds," he said, "A miss of 25 feet is as good as a mile."

Cave-In Kills One Youth

WICHITA FALLS, Tex.—UP—A cave-in at the bottom of a 15 to 20 foot tunnel of sand killed one boy Sunday while another boy was rescued by a narrow margin, on the banks of the Wichita River.

Authorities said Jerry Robertson, 14, died of suffocation, but his companion, Robert Mills, 11, was dug out of the sand which caved-in while they were tunneling in the deep trench scooped out by a sand and gravel contractor.

Henry Stevens, who lived a quarter-mile away, was called to the scene by an unidentified boy who was playing with other two. Stevens dug the sand away from the Mills boy, but had to get help to uncover the Robertson boy, who died before they could get him out.

Escaped Con Gives Self Up

DALLAS—UP—A 32-year-old convict who "took a notion" to give himself up was returned by plane Monday to Maryland where he faces charges of shooting a man during a robbery.

Maryland officers arrived Sunday to return Eldridge Bozman Jr., who is accused of shooting Bill Hall, a retired lumberman at his Marion Station, Md., home during a robbery Feb. 8.

Hall was shot in the hip, but is reported recovering after surgery.

Bozman, of Crisfield, Md., gave himself up to sheriff's officers in Dallas after he "took a notion" to surrender. He said he got $486 in the robbery, but Maryland officers said it was closer to $600.

Abilene Stages Dope Raid

ABILENE, Tex.—UP—Three more persons were sought Monday after a giant weekend narcotics raid in Abilene resulted in the arrest of about 120 persons as part of a "get tough" policy by the city.

Twenty-two places were hit after two weeks of undercover work by a state narcotics agent who said he made 23 buys of marijuana. A one-block area, known as "the Hill," housed 19 of the places in the northeast part of the city.

Eleven persons were held on charges of possession of marijuana, and 64 jailed on misdemeanor charges. Most of those arrested were Negroes and persons of Latin-American descent.

Texas Rangers, 10 state agents, sheriff's officers and city police did the raiding, directed by Joe Kinder, head of the Western District of the state narcotics division at San Antonio.

Mayor C. E. Gallin said the new "get tough" policy included the addition of a vice squad to the police force.

Missing Youths Were in Park

ARLINGTON, Tex.—UP—Two Arlington children, whose disappearance set off an all-night hunt for them in the rain, were back home Monday after spending most of the night huddled under a tree in a park about three miles from home.

Cindy Lou Sabatucci, 7, told her mother that she and Bobby Hughes 11, who lives across the street, decided Saturday to run away so that Bobby could "get a job."

They wandered around over the city for a few hours and finally wound up in centrally-located Meadowbrook Park. Some of the several hundred men looking for pair apparently passed within a few feet of them as they huddled under the tree.

The were found coming out of the park early Sunday by M. H. Brogdon, office manager of the Arlington Water Department. Their two dogs were with them.

Cindy's father is a retired sailor who works for a department store. Bobby's father is a traveling salesman.
