Jury To Probe Ben Ramsey's '54 Campaign

WACO, Tex. —UP— District Attorney Tom Moore, Jr., said Thursday a grand jury convening here Thursday morning was due to investigate both insurance and the 1954 campaign expenditures of Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey.

But Moore added, "I don't think there's any connection" between the two probes.

Moore said he had been approached by C. T. Johnson, a 1954 campaign foe of Ramsey's who has filed a civil suit against the lieutenant governor.

"Mr. Johnson took the matter up with me and with Dean Ahner McCall of Baylor University Law School, who is foreman of the grand jury," Moore said. "Mr. McCall is also chairman of a committee of lawyers who wrote the election code."

Moore said that Vernon Sanford, general manager of the Texas Press Association, was among the witnesses subpoenaed to appear before the grand jury.

Moore said that $11,500 was "about what it costs for ads in all those newspapers covered by the Texas Press Association." He said newspapers in Waco were included, thereby bringing the matter under the grand jury's jurisdiction.

The district attorney said Johnson was due to bring "depositions and other records pertinent to these expenditures."

Moore said Johnson "tells me this same matter has already been presented to the Travis county grand jury."

The jury has also been investigating the defunct U.S. Trust & Guaranty Co., which was based in Waco.

Subpoenaed to appear in the insurance probe were Insurance Commissioner Chairman Byron Saunders, Commissioner Mark West, and Dallas accountant Felix Elmsloh.

Hereford Sale Ends Stock Show Here

The Top O' Texas Hereford Breeders Association sale yesterday afternoon brought a close to the Live-stock Show, one of the largest ever staged in Pampa.

Col. Walter Britten of College Station served as auctioneer for the sale. A large group of farmers and ranchers were on hand at the show barn placing their bids on the fat stock entered by 10 consignors in the region.

Four - H and FFA boys sold 77 calves at an average of $30.60 per hundred, and 108 pigs at $23.90 per hundredweight yesterday morning in the Junior Livestock Show.

J. P. Callihan's champion bull, JP Zato Heir 4th by Texas Zato Heir 12th, brought the top price of $1,150. He was sold to Tommie M. Potts of Memphis. Callihan, of Conway, also sold JP Zato Heir 15th to T. G. Milliken of Panhandle at $600.

The average bull sale price was $404.70 and the nine females averaged $265. Over-all average of the 26 head was $353.

Wayne Maddox of Miami had the second-best selling bull, Larry Return 22nd, sired by Larry's Return 5th, a summer yearling. He was sold to Frank Cobb of Tulsa at $1,000. Maddox sold his grand champion female, Pretty Stanway 11th, at $325 to John A. Baggerman and Sons of Groom.

The Reserve Champion bull and female were sold at a total price of $960. Tommie Potts of Memphis, sold bull, TP Dandy Larry D 65th, to Virgil Moore of White Deer for a sum of $615. The female, TP Larry Ann 53th, was sold to Allie Byrum of Kingsmill at $333. Byrum also bought TP Larry Ann 74th, one of Potts' heifers, for $350.

Consignors for the event included: John A. Baggerman and Sons of Groom, Walter Camp of Wellington, J. P. Callihan of Conway, Combs and Worley, Paul Dauer of Panhandle, F. Jake Hess of McLean, Wayne Maddox, Miami, Tommie M. Potts, Memphis, Gordon Whitener of Wheeler, and Robert L. Newton of Lark.

Compromise Offered On Corn Props

WASHINGTON — UP — Senate backers of high rigid price supports for basic farm crops Thursday offered privately to compromise on corn.

The compromise offer was prompted partly by a bill that it would result in a bill with a better chance of being signed by President Eisenhower.

The offer came on the second day of Senate debate on an omnibus farm bill. Chairman Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) of the Senate Agriculture committee urged approval of the bill to ease the plight of farmers caught in a cost-price squeeze.

The compromise calls for a return to rigid price supports at 90 per cent of parity for corn, cotton, peanuts and millable wheat. It also would provide for higher price supports for dairy products, an administration-backed $1.1 billion soil bank and a two-price plan for rice.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson has predicted that Mr. Eisenhower would veto any bill providing for a return to 90 per cent price support. But a North Dakota Republican congressman, Rep. Usher L. Burdick, predicted Wednesday night that if the President goes through with his threat, Republicans will take a beating at the polls.

Corn belt senators were concerned over a provision in the pending bill that would require corn farmers to comply with an acreage allotment of about 45 million acres in order to receive soil bank payments.

Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) introduced an amendment that would increase the corn allotment to the normal planting of about 58 million acres. But flexible price supports would be maintained. The corn support level has been set at 81 per cent of parity for this year.

Proponents of 90 per cent supports for all basic crops indicated they would be willing to leave flexible supports on corn with a compromise allotment of about 50 million acres.

Carpenter Runs Again

Arlie Carpenter, Gray County commissioner for precinct one, today announced his candidacy for re-election to the post.

Carpenter, who is filling his third consecutive term at the position now, has represented precinct one for 16 years. He had previously served five terms in the post.

He has lived in Lefors for 29 years and is known throughout the county.

Carpenter and McLean's Oscar Tibbets, commissioner for precinct three, are the only commissioners whose terms will expire this year as outlined in a new state law extending the terms to four years.

In announcing, Carpenter said, "I hope to continue the quality of work that has been carried out in precinct one in past." Carpenter was instrumental in the paving of a farm-to-market road through Lefors and west to Hopkins.

Hitch-Hiker Sought In Airman's Death

MADILL, Okla. — UP — A federal warrant was issued Thursday for the arrest of Prentice Frank Day, 22-year-old Littleton, N. Y., hitchhiker and suspect in the death of an Illinois airman.

D. A. Bryce, FBI agent in charge of the Oklahoma City bureau, said the warrant charges Day with the interstate transportation of a stolen automobile.

Marshall County Attorney O. C. Barnes went further and filed a murder charge against Day, accusing him of killing Airman 2C Roger C. Timm of Evanston, Ill.

Timm's body was found Tuesday just off U.S. 70 on a little-used country road near Madill in southern Oklahoma.

Oklahoma Crime Bureau Chief O. K. Bivins described Day as a tall (six feet two inches), slender man with a "hatchet-thin" face. He said he may be armed and is mentally ill.

Bivins would not elaborate. Timm had been shot twice, once in the back and once in the back of the head, with a .32-caliber pistol. Bivins said either would have killed him.

The body was devoid of shoes and underwear but wore khaki shirt and trousers. Timm was en route to an Air Force base in Abilene, Tex., where he had been due to report on Feb. 15.

His Belongings Scattered
His car was found abandoned, a bullet hole in the side, near San Antonio. His bilfold turned up Friday on a bus in Tulsa. His traveling bag was found Monday in a Chicago bus station.

Bivins believes he may have been killed as long ago as Feb. 15. He was still bleeding, Bivins said, when dumped out of the car near Madill.

The hunt for Day started when San Antonio issued a pickup for him, saying he had been identified as the person who parked Timm's car near that Texas city.

Tulsa Detective Woody Wilson stopped a hitchhiker Tuesday who gave his name as Prentice Day. Wilson questioned him and left him on the Tulsa-St. Louis highway.

The pickup from San Antonio was not received until late.

Elmer Francis Dies Of Attack

Thomas Elmer Francis, Pampa groceryman, whose "shack by the side of the road" had become a familiar trade mark to thousands of shoppers and diners, died this morning of a heart attack.

Mr. Francis would have been 80 years old in June.

He moved to Pampa from Lubbock in 1946 and first operated a package store on Cuyler street. Then in 1950, he bought the old Jones Brothers Market, where the present Elmer's is now located.

At the time of his death, he operated Elmer's Supermarket and Cafe on the corner of Frederic Street and Barnes. The business grew into one of the largest independent grocery stores in Pampa.

The business will be closed today and until after funeral services are held.

Mr. Francis suffered a heart attack at his home, 1112 Food and was dead on arrival at Highland General Hospital at 8:05 a.m. today.

He was a past member of the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce, the Pampa Lions Club and the Pampa Elks Lodge.

He was an active member in the Elks project of providing food baskets for needy families at Thanksgiving and Christmas each year.

He always provided "a little something extra" in the food baskets purchased by the lodge for gifts to the needy.

Mr. Francis is survived by his wife, Dorothy; one daughter, Carolyn Larue; a son, Thomas E. Francis Jr., all of Pampa; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Francis of Pampa; three brothers, Ernest of Pampa, Connie of Oklahoma City and Clyde of Okmulgee, Okla. and one sister, Mrs. Vera Posey of Wichita Falls.

Funeral services are pending at Duemmel - Carmichael Funeral Home.

Dulles May Say He Okayed Tank Shipment

WASHINGTON — UP — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles Thursday was reported ready to tell Senate investigators that he originally approved the controversial shipment of 18 U.S. tanks to Saudi Arabia.

Dulles and Undersecretary of State Herbert Hoover Jr. will appear Friday before the Senate Foreign Relations committee to explain the "off-again-on-again" tank deal.

The Senate committee wants to know why tanks for an Arab nation were approved at a time when the State Department was delaying action on a request for U.S. arms aid from Israel.

While Dulles was ready to concede his original approval of the deal, he emphasized Wednesday that he had nothing to do with the on all arms shipments to the Middle East after word of the tank deal leaked out. The embargo was on only for 48 hours, was then lifted and the ship on which the tanks had been loaded departed for Saudi Arabia.

Dulles said the embargo was a development which occurred while he was on a Caribbean vacation and that he was not informed about it.

Assistant Secretary of State George V. Allen and Undersecretary Thurston B. Morton were questioned about the tank deal Wednesday by a House Foreign Affairs subcommittee. Chairman Thomas E. Morgan (D-Pa.) said after the closed-door meeting that the subcommittee was not satisfied with their explanation and would summon Dulles later.

Morgan also predicted that there will be no more arms shipments to the Middle East "until it can be worked out on an equality basis."

Negroes Pray After Arrests In Bus Boycott

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — UP — A minister called 10,000 Negroes to prayer Thursday on the eve of a proposed "mass pilgrimage" through Montgomery streets in protest against scores of arrests for boycotting segregated city buses.

The Rev. R. D. Abernathy, one of 67 Negroes rounded up Wednesday and charged with plotting the 11-week-old racial boycott, said he expected 10,000 Negroes to gather for his prayer at his church Thursday night.

The boycott, started last Dec. 1, was staged originally as a one-day demonstration protesting the arrest of seamstress Rosa Parks for refusing to move to the Negro section of a bus.

The boycott was continued as a means of protesting seating arrangements under segregation laws, not the laws themselves.

The Negroes objected to having to stand on buses while seats remained empty in the section reserved for whites.

The boycott, termed about 80 per cent effective from the start, almost immediately caused a 50 per cent hike in fares to make up for revenue losses. It has remained as effective, if not more so, since the indictments were returned.

The Negroes named in 11 indictments returned by the Montgomery county grand jury two days ago were brought in by sheriff's cars traveling in relays to Negro districts. Defendants all quickly made the $300 bonds uniformly imposed.

JAMES G. LOTT ... engineer honored

Engineers Name Lott Man Of Year

The Panhandle Chapter of Professional Engineers honored James G. Lott, district engineer of the Texas State Highway Department of Amarillo, as the "Engineer of the Year" at its meeting in Amarillo last night.

Lott, who was born in Gonzales County in 1881, attended Beville High School and later graduated from Texas A&M College with a degree in engineering, has rendered a long tenure of service in the field of highway engineering to the state and particularly to the Texas Panhandle.

Lott was commissioned as an Army Engineer in 1917 in World War I and was advanced to the rank of captain in 1919. He was employed by the Texas State Highway Department in 1919, and has served continuously since that time in all parts of Texas, coming to Amarillo as District Engineer in 1940. Lott has given outstanding service to the Panhandle area where road construction under his supervision has been most outstanding from the number of miles of highways as well as quality engineering.

The Highway Committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce is planning a dinner early next month to further honor Lott for the service he has rendered this particular area during the past 36 years, according to Fred Thompson, chairman of the Highway Committee of the Chamber.

Cold Wave Deaths 828

LONDON — UP — The death of a 14-month-old Portuguese infant in a haystack fire Wednesday night increased the number of Europeans killed directly or indirectly by this month's cold wave to 828, it was reported Thursday.

The haystack fire, in the rural village of Fafe, had been lighted by children seeking relief from the bone-chilling cold of the continent's worst winter of the century.

Reports from 17 countries gave the following totals of dead: France, 192; Italy, 155; Germany, 85; Yugoslavia, 79; Britain, 58; Denmark, 37; Belgium, 28; Portugal, 27; Sweden, 26; Austria and The Netherlands, 24 each; Spain, 22; Switzerland and Greece, 20 each; Turkey, 17; Norway, 12, and Finland, 2.

The freezing gales howling out of Russia have lashed Western Europe for more than three weeks and there is no solid hope of relief in sight.

Mississippi 'Bombed' With Constitution

CHICAGO — UP — Negro disc jockey Al Benson's chartered plane returned Wednesday night after "bombing" Mississippi with copies of the U.S. Constitution and a Mississippi record-spinner promised to shower Chicago with Confederate flags in retaliation.

Benson, a 48-year-old Mississippi native, didn't make the Washington's birthday flight because he said he feared for his personal safety.

The "raid" was performed by his hired pilot, Jim Cras, and a flight instructor, Peter de Kalita.

They dumped most of the 5,000 pamphlets on the capital city of Jackson, Miss., and then winged onto Greenwood, Miss., to get rid of the rest. Cras said the 650-mile non-stop flight was completely uneventful.

At Oxford, Miss., disc jockey Allan English said he will return Benson's gift Monday in the form of 25,000 paper Confederate flags. He will hire a plane and scatter them along Chicago's Loop and Lake front, he said.

Reports Growing That Chief Has Already Made Decision

By MERRIMAN SMITH
THOMASVILLE, Ga. — UP — The White House Thursday attempted vainly to stem the growing flood of reports that President Eisenhower was willing to run again.

Almost hourly, Mr. Eisenhower's press secretary, James C. Hagerty, was pelted with a fresh batch of published and broadcast reports that the President had reached a decision and would be a candidate for re-election.

These reports flowed in from the West Coast to New York, the bulk of them stemming from Washington sources.

Hagerty attempted to stand his ground, however, and continued to forecast that the first authoritative word from the President will be given to the American public and not to a few Republican leaders.

Denies Word Passed
He also denied that Sherman Adams, the assistant to the President, had "passed the word" to GOP leaders that the President was a sure thing for a re-election race.

"Has Sherman Adams passed such word?" Hagerty was asked late Wednesday.

"No, he hasn't and I've talked to Sherman Adams. He says he never made any such statement like that at all," Hagerty said.

GOP National Chairman Leonard M. Hall also was mentioned in the published reports as a source of the information that the President was willing to stand for re-election.

Asked if the President had reached his fateful decision, Hagerty replied, "I wouldn't know, and if I do know, I'm not going to tell you. When he is going to make the announcement, he will tell me and I will tell you."

All of which seemed to add up this way: That the worst place to find out what Mr. Eisenhower intends to do is right here where the President is hunting and golfing.

Reporters literally rubbed elbows with the President Wednesday on the Glen Arven Country Club golf course as he played 18 holes for the first time since his September heart attack. He looked fit and ruddy.

Mr. Eisenhower will remain here until Saturday morning when he will fly back to Washington.

New Campaign Laws May Be Passed For '56

WASHINGTON — UP — The Senate lobby investigating committee may try to govern some laws passed in time to have campaigning in the 1956 presidential election.

A prospective committee member—who refused to be identified—said Thursday the special committee would try to report on lobbying activities in time for Congress to enact corrective legislation before fall.

The committee, set up by an almost unanimous Senate vote Wednesday, has broad powers to investigate any and all attempts to influence the senate, any senator, Senate candidate or government employe "improperly or illegally."

Other action in Congress:
UN-AMERICAN
Victor Perlo, alleged to be a former leader of an "underground espionage group," was called as a witness by the House Committee on Un-American Activities. He is a New York City economist and former employe of the Treasury Department, Office of Price Administration and War Production Board.

MILITARY HOUSING
Rep. Carl Vinson (D-Ga.), chairman of the House Armed Services committee, said the government will pay more than $5 billion on 80,000 military housing units before it finally obtains complete ownership of them in 55 to 75 years. He said the government should buy the units outright and save money.

ECONOMIC
Dr. Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, told a House Appropriations subcommittee the outlook for homebuilding is "a little better now" than in January.

Area Welfare Meeting Held

A bi-area meeting of the Pampa and Amarillo areas of the State Department of Public Welfare is being held in Pampa today and tomorrow.

The meeting is for the purpose of studying service cases and training workers from every county in the Panhandle. John B. Hensley is heading the Pampa area as supervisor while William Gibbs heads the Amarillo area.

L. C. Rouse, of Austin, state director of public assistance, is leading discussions in the meetings, which are being held in the conference room of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce.

The State Department of Public Welfare is the department which gives out old-age assistance, aid to dependent children and aid to the needy blind. John Winters is head of the department.

Injunction Sought In Highway Strike

An injunction suit against truck drivers working on Highway 66, in Gray County, was filed yesterday by Seago Contracting Company and J. R. Fanning, a firm under contract to build the two-lane strip that will be a part of the highway.

The suit alleges that the truck drivers, with trailers attached to their trucks, pulled fully-loaded trailers, which belong to Seago Contracting Company up in a single line on a county road running north and south near Groom and refused to move them.

The suit seeks an injunction against the drivers in an effort to restrain them from "interfering" with the use of the trailers. The trailers, fully loaded, cannot be moved other than with trucks. The suit further alleges that payment by the firm was refused by the truck drivers, who were under oral contract with the contracting firm.

4-H Council Sets Dance, Box Supper

The Gray County 4-H Council is planning to hold a square dance and box supper Saturday night in the American Legion Hall at 7 p.m.

The supper was originally planned for last month but was postponed due to the snow.

This is the first event in observance of National 4-H week, slated for March 3-11. The 4-H girls will bring lunch boxes and the boys will bid for their supper.

David Miller, vice - chairman of the council, will auction the boxes to the highest bidder. Lem Greene, chairman, is in charge of the event. Nancy Tate has been named as head of recreation and Shirley Chase is in charge of decorations.

The new Assistant County Home Demonstration Agent, Patricia Broyles, will be on hand for the event.

Ike Informed Associates That He Wants A Second Term

By LYLE C. WILSON
WASHINGTON — UP — President Eisenhower has informed close associates here that he wants a second term.

The United Press was informed that he qualified his statement only to this extent: He would not commit himself publicly until after making a personal test of his physical powers during a vigorous shooting and golfing vacation at Thomasville, Ga.

Mr. Eisenhower will return from Thomasville Saturday. He played 18 holes of golf there Wednesday. His game was markedly stronger. Republican leaders are confident now that he will announce after his return that he is available if the party desires to nominate him again.

The Detroit News reported Wednesday in a Washington dispatch by Martin S. Hayden that Sherman Adams and Leonard W. Hall had informed top Republicans that Mr. Eisenhower would run. There "was no ifs or ands or buts about it," Hayden wrote.

Insisted He'll Run
Adams is Mr. Eisenhower's chief White House assistant. Hall is chairman of the Republican national committee. Hall has insisted on his own for many weeks that Mr. Eisenhower would be a second-term candidate.

Doubt that the President would run had been shrinking for nearly a fortnight since a medical exam-

White said Mr. Eisenhower re-announced here after which Dr. Paul Dudley White made an unforeseen estimate of Mr. Eisenhower's physical condition, and possibly could expect 5 to 10 years of active life—the kind of activity to which a President might expect to be subjected.

"Put Him in Nomination"
"Dr. White practically put him in nomination for a second term," a White House aide remarked thereafter. It was before that medical examination that Mr. Eisenhower talked with his associates about wanting another term, despite the heart attack which he suffered last Sept. 24 during a Colorado vacation.

He may not have put it to each in identical words, but his position added up to this:

He was generally unimpressed by the likely Democratic opposition a Republican nominee might expect this year, but appalled by the thought that some of those mentioned might reach the White House. He would like more time to carry out the programs to which he feels he is committed and would be glad to take on another four presidential years if his health warranted it.

Says Decision Made Recently
A Chicago American story said Mr. Eisenhower made his decision to seek a second term after he arrived at Humphrey's Georgia estate Feb. 15. It said Humphrey and White House press secretary James C. Hagerty were "in on the conversation" in Georgia when Mr. Eisenhower disclosed his intentions.

Humphrey, after reading the Chicago American dispatch, sent word to reporters here that he would have "no comment" on it. He referred them to Hagerty.

Before leaving Thomasville Tuesday night, Humphrey told reporters that he had "no idea at all if President Eisenhower will run for re-election." He said Mr. Eisenhower had not discussed the matter with him.

Farm Work Slows Down

AUSTIN — UP — Spring field work was slowed over most of the state last week by weather that was "too cold," "too wet" or "too dry," the U.S. Department of Agriculture said Tuesday.

"A few warm days will quickly change the 'too cold' and 'too wet' areas," the USDA said, "but in the 'too dry' south and southwestern counties, soaking rains are urgently needed to get the spring planting season off to a favorable start."

It was the third consecutive week that field work was slowed. However, in the lower Rio Grande Valley, one of the more active areas, cotton planting was underway. Land was being bedded for sorghums and cotton in the coastal bend with some sorghum seed going into the ground.

The USDA said that in the low plains country, some farmers heaved the "too cold" conditions to get some spring oats or barley in the ground before the moisture got away.

Wheat in the northwest has colored up and was making good root growth with improved moisture, but cold weather held back top growth.

Moisture penetration from the recent snows in much of the high plains wheat country is generally five to eight inches with much deeper penetration in the Plainview area where snowfall was heaviest.

Melting snow, coupled with recurring freezing and thawing, has pulverized the top soil, making it very susceptible to blowing unless protected by heavy vegetation cover, the USDA added.

Conditions were favorable in most commercial vegetable areas, and harvest of winter-type vegetables was active. Early-planted spring crops showed good recovery from the previous cold spells.

He Warn't Real Texan!

SEATTLE, Wash. — UP — A Texan visiting here Wednesday was trying to convince friends that George Washington came from the Lone Star state.

Said the man with the drawl: "Y'all know George was a Texan, don't yah?"

"He had his bowie knife out one day and he hacked down a mesquite bush in the back of his home in the Panhandle country."

"His pappy asks, him: 'George, I'll teller, did y'all chop down that there mesquite bush with yore ol' ole bowie knife?'"

"George replied, straight-forward like: 'I can't tell a lie, pappy, I cut down that there mesquite bush with my bowie knife.'"

"Son," said the father, "son, if you can't tell a lie, we just can't live in Texas no more!"

"So they packed the sbrags and moved to Virginia."

Pampans To Attend Meet

A delegation of four Pampans will leave Friday afternoon for Sweetwater, where they will attend a meeting of the Texas State Highway 70 Association, scheduled on Saturday.

Frank Lord, chairman of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce's tourist development committee, will head the group, which will include Jack Vaughn, Oliver Trimble and E. O. Wedgeworth.

Highway 70 is now paved from Perryton to Bronte, some 80 miles south of Sweetwater.

Recent developments on the highway include the completion of the bridge across the Canadian River, north of Pampa, a new modern grade separation in Sweetwater and the completion of 84 miles of new pavement from Sweetwater south to Blackwell.

The group will return to Pampa on Sunday morning.

For Lent — a Toothsome Tidbit

Although social activities slow down somewhat during the Lenten season, the busy housewife never seems to realize on the change of pace. She still wants easy-to-prepare menus and recipes. The selection of canned, fresh and frozen fish today is greater than ever... but she still needs inspiration.

Cooked-in-the-can Maine sardines are even more appealing at this time of year because they lend themselves to such a variety of menus... at almost any hour of the day. They come in 3 1/4- or 4-ounce size so there's no waste when someone just wants a snack, and they're easy to stock because they use so little storage space. Try this interesting recipe today:

CREAMY SARDINES IN BAKETINS

1 small onion, minced
1/2 green pepper, minced
1 tablespoon butter
1 can condensed cream of celery soup
1/2 cup evaporated milk
1/2 cup grated process cheese
3 cans Maine sardines (3 1/4 or 4 oz.)
1/2 cup cooked green peas
Biscuit doughs

Saute onion and pepper in hot butter. Stir into combined soup and milk. Add cheese and heat until cheese melts. Gently stir in coarsely broken sardines and green peas. Spoon mixture into greased individual baking dishes or ramekins. Top each with a biscuit round and bake in hot oven (400° F.) until biscuits are browned, about 15-20 minutes. Makes 4-5 servings.

*Use packaged refrigerator biscuits, if desired.

Individual Fish Dish For A Lenten Meal

No one will object to a meatless meal when this fish dish is served. Mushrooms and sour cream blend into a bubbling sauce that covers the fish with glory. The taste is special enough for company, too. Pop some hot rolls or biscuits into the oven at the same time and you have a fine Lenten menu.

BAKED FISH FILLETS AND CARROTS

2 cups cooked diced carrots
1 cup sour cream
2 1/2 pounds fish fillets
1 teaspoon salt
1-8 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon paprika
3-ounce can sliced broiled mushrooms
2 tablespoons sliced onion or chives

Mix carrots with about 3-4 cup of the sour cream. Divide into four individual shallow bakers. Place fish fillets over carrots. Spread fish with remaining sour cream. Sprinkle with salt, pepper and paprika. Drain mushrooms, save broth for use in soup or gravy, and garnish tops of fish. Sprinkle with chives. Bake in moderate oven, 375 degrees F., until fish flakes when tested with a fork, about 25 to 30 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Baked Meatballs Are Light, Puffy

Oven-baked meatballs that are light and puffy... and the trick is quick cooking rice cereal. Here's a dish that can be prepared in advance and baked just before serving. It makes a good laundry day or P.T.A. meeting-day dish. Make full use of the oven by baking some glazed carrots and an Apple Betty to complete this menu. Add a salad and dinner is on the table.

MEAT BALLS EN CASSEROLE

1 cup water
1 teaspoon salt
3/4 teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons Cream of Rice, quick-cooking rice cereal
1 pound ground lean beef
1 egg, beaten
1 teaspoon minced onion
3/4 cup catsup
1 tablespoon water
1 teaspoon kitchen bouquet

Place water, salt and pepper in saucepan over moderate heat. Bring to boil and sprinkle in Cream of Rice so that boiling does not stop. Cook, stirring constantly, until thick, about 1 minute. Lower heat, cover and cook, stirring frequently, for 5 minutes longer. Remove from heat and let cool, covered, to room temperature. When cooled rice is cool add ground beef, beaten egg, minced onion and mix well. Shape mixture lightly into 8 balls and place in shallow baking dish, about 8 x 10 inches. Mix catsup, water and kitchen bouquet and top each ball with about 1 tablespoon of this mixture. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees F., until done, about 30 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

Manners Make Friends

Before a wife accepts an invitation, that includes her husband she should check to see if it is agreeable to him. All she has to do is say to the prospective hostess, "May I check with Jim and see whether or not he has already made plans for the evening?"

But of course, she should check and call back promptly, so that the hostess won't be kept in suspense.

Glazed Ham Roll-Ups With Apples Give Easily Prepared, Tasty Luncheon Dish

Just reading this recipe for baked ham, stuffed with juicy, tangy-flavored apples, will set your taste buds dancing and when you serve this to luncheon guests or to the family you'll find it more than lives up to your expectations. Easily prepared, this dish requires a minimum of baking time and the light corn sirup adds a shining, golden glaze.

You might like to serve the ham rolls with a fresh apple salad, or garnish with apple slices. You'll find the spicy Winesap apples from Washington State may be used in the ham filling as well as for garnish or in the salad.

GLAZED HAM ROLL-UPS WITH APPLES

Winesap apples, coarsely shredded to make 1 cup
1/4 cup fine dry bread crumbs
1/4 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. pepper
1 tsp. powdered dry mustard
1 tsp. sugar
2 tbsps. melted butter or margarine
6 slices boiled ham, 1/2 inch thick
Sirup
3/4 cup light corn sirup
3 tbsps. water
1/4 cup cider vinegar
2 tps. grated orange rind
6 whole cloves

A 2-inch stick of cinnamon
Combine apples, crumbs, salt, pepper, mustard, sugar and butter or margarine in a bowl and blend well. Spread each slice of ham with a spoonful of apple mixture and roll up like a jelly roll. Fasten with toothpicks. Arrange the ham rolls in a shallow baking pan and pour sirup glaze over them. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) for 30 mins., basting several times during baking. Remove toothpicks before serving. Makes 6 servings.

To prepare the sirup, combine

To prevent filling from soaking into a cake, sprinkle each layer with powdered sugar.

Science Will Tell Why You Married The One You Did

By DELOS SMITH
NEW YORK —UP— Science has provided a handy guide to help you determine why you married the woman (or man) you did marry—in case you've ever wondered, if you're not married, the guide can give you hints to the kind of woman (or man) you'll marry eventually.

According to the studies of three psychologists, certain personality traits can be grouped together as "assertive," and another set fall under the general head of "receptive." The psychological tendency is for "assertives" to marry "receptives" and vice versa.

Opposite Sets
An "assertive" personality has these traits: (1) "To work diligently to create something and/or to emulate others." (2) "To influence and control the behavior of others." (3) "To fight, injure, or kill others."

The "receptive" personality is marked by these traits: (1) "To accept or invite blame, criticism, or punishment." (2) "To admire and praise others." (3) "Fear, conscious or unconscious, of harm or misfortune arising from the hostility of others and/or social reaction to one's own behavior."

The psychologists are Robert F. Winch of Northwestern University, Evanston, Ill., and Thomas and Virginia Kisanes, Tulane University, New Orleans. They have been engaged for some years in studying scientifically the psychic things which attract the sexes to one another and which the sexes are contented to call "love."

Need Complementary Traits
"Mate-selection," they reported previously, usually is based on

Plane Crashes In Florida

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. —UP— A four-engine Strato-freighter crashed and exploded "like a rocket" in a routine landing attempt Tuesday on the edge of Palm Beach Air Force Base, killing the five men aboard.

The Air Force withheld names of the victims pending notification of next of kin.

"the greatest promise of providing him or her with maximum need-gratification," and this "great promise" is provided by "complementary" rather than "similar" personality traits.

In their newest report to a technical journal of the American Psychological Association, they went into the question of what personality traits complement other personality traits. In short, assertives "need" receptives and receptives "need" assertives. The "need" may be partly conscious or altogether unconscious.

Baptists Set Training School Here

W. A. Martin of Waco will be a special teacher in the Group Training School of the Pampa Baptist churches next week. He is Director of Education for the Texas Alcohol Narcotics Education, Inc.

Martin prepares material to be used in public schools, and is a speaker in various colleges, schools, summer camps, P.T.A.'s and Service Clubs. He is well qualified for this position, having graduated with a Masters Degree in Education at Baylor University, and in several graduate courses on Narcotic-Alcohol Education in California, Colorado and Oklahoma. He is also a graduate of National Boy Scout and YMCA Training Schools. He has been a teacher, coach and principal of public schools, and is a church school superintendent and teacher in the Methodist Church. The book he will teach during the week will be "Alcohol the Destroyer."

Join Christy, dean of the school, announced that there will be 22 books taught by members of the Baptist Churches of the city. Sessions will be held each evening, Monday through Friday, beginning at 7 p.m.

A Nursery will be provided and the public is invited to attend.

'Hams' Get Together

Radio "ham" operators from all over the Panhandle and Oklahoma held an informal "get together" meeting at Pampa Hotel last Tuesday night. About 60 operators from 18 towns attended the session.

The Pampa Radio Club has been contacting many members of the neighboring towns by radio for some time. They extended an invitation to the amateur radio clubs and they "descended in force", according to Bill Ragsdale.

Representatives were present to get acquainted from the following towns: Wheeler, Shamrock, Mobeetie, Plainview, Canadian, Dumas, Phillips, French, Masterson, Angri- llo, Stinnett, and Follett. Towns represented in Oklahoma included Elk City, Mangum, Sweetwater, Balke and Sayre.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service
Every experienced player knows about the holdup play. You refuse to take a trick when it is offered, holding up a winning card until a more suitable time.

In today's hand we see an unusual holdup. The play was executed by a defender. It had to be timed perfectly.

West opened the king of hearts and continued with the ace. South ruffed and drew three rounds of trumps.

Declarer next led a club and finessed dummy's jack. East won with the queen and returned a heart, making South use his fifth trump.

South now led a club to dummy's king, and East let dummy hold the trick. East was Sam Katz, well-known Miami bridge expert, and no stranger to the science of the holdup play.

Now declarer had to get out of dummy somehow to continue the clubs. He cashed the ace of diamonds and ruffed a diamond, thus using up his last trump. South couldn't make another trick. He was down two.

If Sam had taken the second club, or had refused the first, declarer would have set up the long clubs and would have made the game contract. If South had begun trumps he'd have landed on his feet, but it didn't occur to him that his magnificent trump suit needed careful coddling.

Indian Dances To Be Held Friday Night

The Tejas Indian Dancers will present "A Pageant of the Redman" at 8 p.m. tomorrow in the high school auditorium. The dances were originally scheduled for Feb. 9 in Harvester Field House but the performance was postponed.

A group of 28 boys from 14 units in the Borger area will perform authentic Indian dances, which they learned at the Anadarko, Okla., Indian reservation last summer.

Performing in hand-made Indian costumes, the boys will present the Texas Flag Dance to highlight the program. Other dances will include the Piecemeal Dance, Ute Sun Dance, Snake Dance, Medicine Bell Dance, Sioux Eagle Dance, Round Dance, and Chippewa Feather Dance.

Jack Ross of Borger, district scout executive, has directed and planned the program of dances.

They have made numerous appearances before civic clubs and performed before shows in Shamrock, Hedley, and Nashville, Tenn. The group has also made appearances on television, radio, and several other public appearances.

The average housewife will wash 2,500,000 cooking and eating utensils during her lifetime. That's about 70 stacks as high as New York City's Empire State Building.

Pleas Heard On Check Charges

Two pleas of guilty were heard in County Court last Monday and Tuesday, both were made to charges of swindling with worthless checks.

Robert E. Worthem, Fritch, plead guilty to a swc charge, was fined $1 and costs and made restitution. He was filed on by Holmes Concoco Station for a check dated Feb. 18, 1956 in the amount of $2.92.

A. A. Forbus of Amarillo entered a plea of guilty to a charge of swindling with worthless checks and was sentenced to 90 days in jail. He was filed on by Levine's for a check, dated Feb. 20, '56 written in the amount of $35.

Shivers Blasts Publisher Jailing

AUSTIN—UP—Gov. Allan Shivers said Wednesday if a Texas publisher can be forced to prove his allegations before a grand jury, his political opponents should be given the same medicine.
Shivers said he was "shocked" to learn Laredo publisher William Prescott Allen had been jailed at Fort Worth for refusing to reveal his sources of information to a Tarrant county grand jury.

The governor specifically named some of his oldest opponents in the political arena Ralph Yarborough, a longtime opponent of the governor's, and Byron Skilton of Temple, chairman of the Democratic Advisory Council, keystone of liberal opposition to Shivers leadership of the conservative Texas Democrats.

Good Reason?

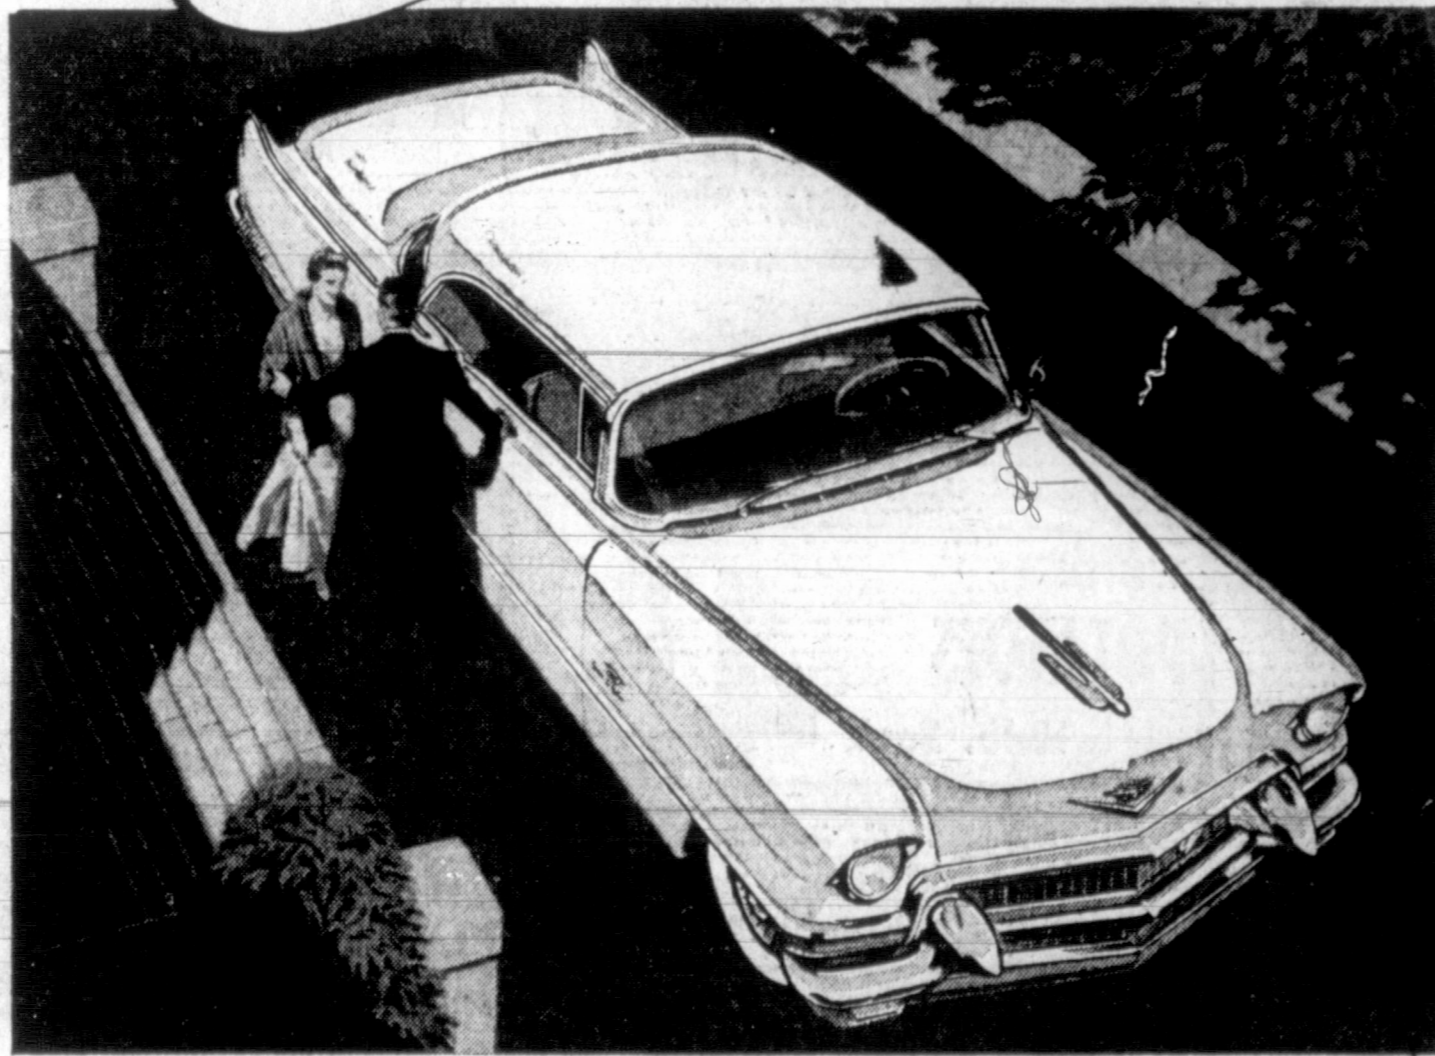

FORT WORTH—UP—A 14-year-old Fort Worth boy Wednesday was arrested for car theft—the third time this week.

His mother gave police this explanation: "He goes with a little girl down the street who won't date anybody unless he has a car."

Cadillac

Stepping Out...With His Two Loves!

It's the hour of twilight!

And what happier prospect could a man ask for a wonderful evening. For tonight he's stepping out with his two favorite companions—the lady in his life... and the car in his life!

And you can rest assured that the "car of cars" will make a contribution all of its own to his evening's enjoyment.

First of all, there will be the inner satisfaction a man always feels as he steps into his Cadillac and settles behind the wheel. All about him will be the inspiration of Cadillac's luxury... and beauty... and graciousness.

Then there will be the thrill of Cadillac's marvelous performance. Driving will be so easy and so effortless that every mile will be a mile of relaxation and pleasure.

There will be the contentment that comes with Cadillac's great safety... and the comforting knowledge that he—and his lady—are surrounded with every comfort and safeguard known to automotive science.

And, finally, there will be the joy of arriving in the "car of cars"... and of catching those glances of admiration that will come his way as he pulls to the curbstone at journey's end.

Little wonder, then, that Cadillac owners have so great an affection for their motor cars.

And their sentiments etch themselves all the more deeply in the light of Cadillac's great economy and practicality. For how wonderful it is to know that the satisfactions of Cadillac ownership are coming from motordom's soundest and wisest investment.

Why not come in soon—with your lady—and "step out" for an hour or so at the wheel of a 1956 Cadillac? The car is waiting for you... and we'll be delighted to do the honors!

Greece Faces Danger Period Of Great Political Instability

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Foreign Analyst
Greece seems to face a period of dangerous political instability. Pro-Western Premier Constantine Karamanlis came out of Sunday's election with a slim majority in the 300-seat single-chamber parliament.

But the seven opposition parties which ganged up on him won a plurality in the popular vote. The campaign was a bitter one. The opposition coalition parties are bitter over Karamanlis' victory. They

Great Britain surrender its colony of Cyprus. Because of that, Greek relations with both Britain and Turkey are bad.

Britain refuses to give up the island, which is becoming the biggest military base in the Middle East.

Twenty per cent of the people of Cyprus are of Turkish origin. Turkey is quite willing to see Britain keep the island. But it does not want Greece to get it.

Domestically, the Greek economic situation is bad and getting worse.

The parties which combined against Karamanlis in the election ranged from the extreme right to the extreme left. They included the so-called union of the democratic left, which represents the outlawed Communist party, and the fellow-traveling democratic party of the working people.

Karamanlis' victory, close as it was, was something of a surprise. There is some indication that he won it with the aid of the women, who voted for the first time in a Greek election.

That is partly because of Karamanlis' personal appeal. He is one of the most handsome men in Greece. He is tall and arched, with a profile and physique which have been compared to those of the ancient Greek sculptures.

Was a Lawyer

At 48, he is one of his country's youngest prime ministers. A lawyer, he entered politics in 1935. He held posts in seven cabinets before he was made prime minister last Oct. 6 after the death of Field Marshal Alexander Papagos.

U. S. corn pickers increased in number by 81 per cent from 1950 to 1955. King Paul personally picked to 1954.

Karamanlis, who was serving as minister of public works in the Papagos cabinet, Karamanlis had won a name for efficiency in all of his cabinet jobs. But he was not a top-ranking political leader. Papagos, on his death-bed had asked that Foreign Minister Stephan Stephanopoulos be named his successor.

There was considerable complaint against the king's action, naturally.

At least, in the election, the Communists did not get a foothold in the government, as they would have done if Karamanlis had lost. But Greece is likely to be a political hot-spot for months.

Crude Oil Shows Rise

TULSA—U. S. daily average crude oil production increased 66,200 barrels last week over the previous week to set a new record, the Oil and Gas Journal reported Tuesday.

Daily average production for the week ended Feb. 18 was 7,126,810 barrels. Previous record production week for the U. S. was 7,072,000 barrels during the week ended Feb. 4. Production for 1956 now totals 344,831,000, compared with 332,336,000 barrels for the corresponding period in 1955.

Canadian production also reached a new high last week, averaging 481,600 barrels, the Journal said. Canada's previous high was 487,100 for the week ended Jan. 21.

Oklahoma production increased 14,600 barrels; Kansas up 49,300; Arkansas up 90; Louisiana up 800; North Dakota up 5,800; Texas unchanged; California down 6,900; Colorado down 1,100.

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

The average person does not often use the term "negotiable instruments" in his everyday conversation, and the words may not mean much to him. Actually, it is just a mouth-filling term used in law to describe certain important pieces of paper that we normally call by simpler names.

Even though we seldom use the words, we deal with negotiable instruments all the time. Every check we write to pay the gas bill is a negotiable instrument, and so is your paycheck or pension check. The note you sign to buy a new car, the money order you purchase at the bank or post office, or the traveler's checks you take with you on a trip instead of cash, all are negotiable instruments.

It was all started by merchants who had to send large sums of gold or currency between cities or nations. They worked out a way to exchange money, or the value of money, by written messages, much of the time through a third party like a broker or bank. But when you deal in pieces of negotiable paper instead of hard money, there have to be certain standards and safeguards or the paper could lose its value.

Consequently, there developed a whole system of laws within nations and between nations, upon which all our business rests. Through the courts, if necessary, the owners of negotiable instruments may enforce the terms written on the paper.

In the United States things used to be confusing some times because of different state laws, but by 1924 all 48 states had adopted a Uniform Negotiable Instrument Law which sets up the same rules nationwide.

Since so-called negotiable instruments are so important, since they are ordinarily just like money in many ways; since they often are used like money, or are sold to other persons or companies, and since there are special laws defining the ins- and -outs of negotiable instruments which we wouldn't ordinarily have any reason to know about, there are one or two simple rules we should follow:

We should make certain we read what's on the paper, that we know what the words mean, and what the penalties and dangers may be, before signing our name.

Remember: You are the only person in the world with that signature, and the courts, as a rule, must take your signed promises at their face value.

(This column, based on Texas Law, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts because the facts may change the application of the law.)

'Creepy Peepy' Announced By Army

WASHINGTON — UP — The Army has added a new word, "creepy-peepy" — to military lingo. That's the name of a new television outfit which can provide front-line pictures of a battle in progress.

The "creepy-peepy" consists of a hand-held TV camera and a portable transmitter with which a soldier can relay views of a battle to his commanders the arm yeays reception is as good, if not better, than commercial television.

The camera will take a picture a mile away and relay it to a receiver, mounted in a jeep, can then send the televised picture to commanders' headquarters.

The Army said the "creepy-peepy" fits ideally with the "walky-talky" radio of World War II fame to give the soldier "electronic eyes and ears."

It said the "creepy-peepy" might even replace men in some instances by serving as a "silent sentry" to report enemy movements.

The Army said the lightweight sending set, weighing 55 pounds, also could help civilian newsmen "cover fast-breaking stories such as fires recorded from rooftops, arrival of dignitaries at airports and aircraft wrecks on craggy mountaintops."

It said the camera would be

Agent Started Name Change Fad For Hollywood Actors

HOLLYWOOD — UP — Humphrey Bogart occasionally blasts the new fad for such actors' names as Lance, Rock and Tab — so Wednesday I looked up the man who's responsible for the movement.

Agent Henry Willson is the person who has given society such names as Lana, Rhonda and Race. He started to fame Rock Hudson, Tab Hunter, Lance Fuller, Guy Madison, Rhonda Fleming, Race Gentry and a host of other play-ers — after changing their names.

"Some were embarrassed," admitted the affable Willson in his Sunset Strip office. "Race Gentry has been kidded by a lot of those non-working actors who hang around Schwab's drug store. He wants to change his name to John."

"But I believe a new actor, unless he already is established on the stage, needs an unusual name to get him attention. A name must have their flair and flash. Like Rex Reason. Most of the kids who come to me have names that are just dull."

Henry started his name-changing with Lana Turner. He moved onto "ideal-for-on-the-spot-interviews" at presidential nominating conventions and sports events.

on. Can't you just see the fan magazine stories — 'He's raising Cain in the industry!' mused the agent.

Special automotive taxes paid by U. S. motorists in 1954 totaled $6.2 billion.

Friend Started Myth About Washington And Cherry Tree

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS WASHINGTON — UP — Things I had forgotten about George Washington:

That the hatchet and cherry tree myth was an added matter in a book. It was published in 1800 — the first biography of Washington — by "Parson" Weems (Mason Locke Weems), who had known our first leader in childhood. He dragged in the cherry tree thing by the heels in his fifth edition.

At the time, the "Parson" said that the yarn had been told to him 20 years before by a hugging cousin of the general. Weems quoted: "I can't tell a lie, Pa; you know I can't tell a lie. I did it with my hatchet."

Whereupon George's father, Augustine, is supposed to have replied: "Ram to my arms, you dearest boy. Run to my arms; glad am I, George, that you killed my tree, for you have paid me a thousand-fold. Such an act of heroism in my son is worth more than a thousand trees, though blossomed with silver, and their fruits of pure gold."

I had forgotten that the striking six foot, two inch soldier who weighed 200 pounds was "big of foot." He wore a size 13 shoe. Also that he actually was born on Feb. 11, 1832, and not on Feb. 22. History reminds us that it happened this way. Proof of the actual date was found in an old family Bible where the first President's birth was recorded.

Two decades later, the British government ordered the Gregorian calendar adopted. As a result 11 days were added, and that is why now we observe the birth anniversary on the 22nd.

I had forgotten that Washington was the first prominent distiller in the new America.

I had forgotten that Washington hated to make appointments but that he did get around to naming our first cabinet. It included secretary of war, Henry Knox; secretary of state, Thomas Jefferson; attorney general, Edmund Randolph, and Alexander Hamilton, secretary of the treasury.

We are reminded also that the Washington, Martha and George, were fancy entertainers when Martha went to New York in 1789. They were criticized in New York and when they moved to Philadelphia the following year.

I had forgotten that criticism of great men dates way back. John Adams called Washington an "old mutton head." And Thomas Paine said he was a "hypocrite in public life."

Also I didn't know that Washington was the target for the political cartoonists of his day. He caught it like every president has since — and like others to come also will catch it.

Credit Is Due

The labor unions' rise to power started at about the same time as the great change-over in industry to mass production.

The birth of mass production was the beginning of the end of hard physical labor that had plagued mankind since the dawn of time. In every field of endeavor the worker's lot has been made easier by the use of machinery made available through the techniques of mass production, and the machine age has only just begun.

Through the use of machinery the worker's productive capacity has been greatly increased, in some cases more than a hundred-fold. This increased production has brought us the highest standard of living ever enjoyed by any nation in history.

This was when the big labor bosses moved in and claimed all the credit for something with which they had nothing whatever to do. They imported to America the old-world Marxist idea that the employer is the enemy of his employees.

We say that unionism is an old-world idea because we know from experience that 50 years ago the slogan of the labor organizers was: sign up the foreigners and the native Americans will have to come to it.

Henry Ford, the elder, did more to improve the lot of workers in a single stroke, than all the unions have accomplished with their bloody labor wars.

Through the use of the assembly line Ford discovered that he could manufacture automobiles by the millions instead of by the hundreds as heretofore.

He created customers by increasing production, cutting costs and raising wages at one and the same time.

It is noteworthy that the Ford enterprises were the last elements of big industry to succumb to the unions.

Today the unions, granted a monopoly and guaranteed protection by the government, have become the most powerful and the most destructive force in America.

THE NATION'S PRESS

BOGP (SAMP OLD GAG PLAN) (New York Daily News) Several times in this space we have taken exception to current proposals that laws or lawyers' codes of ethics be changed so as to keep the newspapers from getting pertinent facts about upcoming trials, civil or criminal.

The latest chapter in this story was told here Monday evening, at the winter meeting of the New York State Society of Newspaper Editors, by President Floyd Laporte, of the New York State Bar Association.

Laporte's view is that the objective of these alleged reforms is to discourage publicity-minded lawyers from giving out information about future trials. Apparently attorneys should practice their profession in a news vacuum.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

Legal But Not Legal

What happens in the field of finance when government controls money and disregards standards, such as the gold standard, is being shown both in England and the United States.

"What is not in fact legal tender is nevertheless declared legal tender; the immorality of governments in the field of money." This is a quotation from an article by R. J. Martin in the London, England "Financial Times."

"Our golden sovereign is still the world's greatest international coin in spite of the fact that nobody but the very middle-aged has ever handled one as currency at home, none has been struck at the Royal Mint for general circulation since 1917."

"It can be said that its circulation stretches from Hong Kong to Paraguay, but it is in the Near East, along the Red Sea and particularly in Saudi Arabia, that the use of the sovereign is most extensive..."

"During the Korean war American and British airmen, it is understood, carried sovereigns sewn in their clothing as a financial protection in the event of their landing behind the enemy lines."

"There can be no doubt that English gold coin is acceptable almost anywhere in the world. Even today France is partial to the sovereign and it is understood that many a one is to be found in those secret hoards so loved by the thrifty and cautious Frenchman."

"In recent years legal battles have been fought on the Continent regarding the exact status of the gold sovereign. Many cases of counterfeiting have occurred. Indeed, in Milan and Tangiers veritable factories were discovered turning out large quantities of counterfeiters. These counterfeiters were of full legal weight and made of standard gold...but their manufacture was profitable because the sovereign commanded a substantial premium over its bullion value."

"Prosecutions were instigated in several countries, but various and novel defenses were pleaded. A common one was that the sovereign is no longer legal tender in Britain while another was that the imitation sovereigns have been struck as trinkets and not to be passed as coins."

"The British Government completely repudiates the suggestion that the sovereign is no longer legal tender...Continental courts in their decisions now support our Government's attitude and the coiners are paying the penalty."

"But some might ask, why does the Treasury take such vigorous action? What harm can these Continental counterfeiters do...The sovereign may no longer circulate at home, but it is respected and trusted all over the world. Spurious imitations lower its prestige."

"It is perhaps ironical at a time when legal battles rage to protect the status of the sovereign, that it is illegal to possess one at home..."

Dr. Walter E. Spahr, Spokesman for the Economists' National Committee on Monetary Policy, shows that in this country we are just as badly confused as they are in England. Dr. Spahr writes:

"When a government declares a coin to be legal tender which may not be used legally at home it is declaring that black is white, that no is yes, that falsehood is truth. The action by the British government in this case is symbolic of the degeneracy that is sometimes seen in governments when they resort to the use of irredeemable currencies."

"We have some of the same lack of respect for the meaning of full legal tender in our now badly confused money and banking laws. By the Act of May 12, 1933, and Public Resolution of June 5, 1933, all varieties of our money, except gold coins when below the standard weight and limit of tolerance, were declared full legal tender. Full legal tender means that any holder of such money can pay any debt, public or private, with such money. But no one may legally use gold coins in this country. Federal Reserve banks and the Treasury may not pay out gold certificates to our people, and our people may not use them. Although all Treasury currency is full legal tender, Federal Reserve banks may not use anything but gold certificates as reserves against their deposits or Federal Reserve notes, and none of that reserve may be paid out to our people; and the only full legal tender which Reserve banks may pay out may not be used by them as reserve against their notes and deposits."

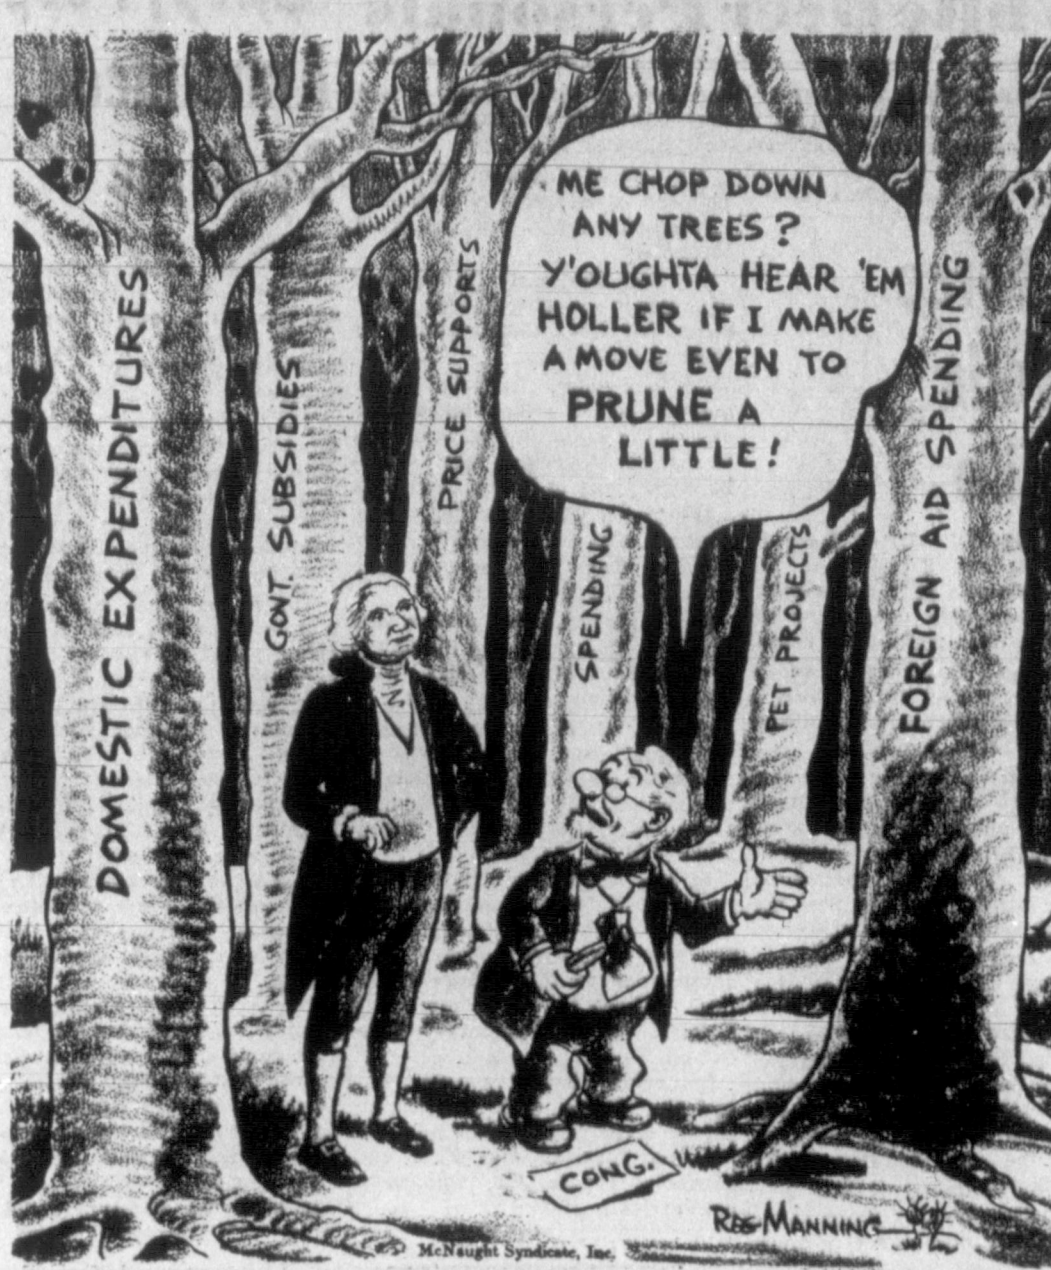

"Just as respect is irredeemable currency spells degeneracy on the part of a government employing this dishonest device, so does the confusion of laws and practices related to efforts of governments to cover up, or adjust to, their monetary sins, lead to such legal monstrosities as are exhibited by the British government in respect to the 'legal tender quality' of our monetary laws and practices."

2 Versions Of Ike-Eden Meet Published In U. S., England

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The versions of the recent Eisenhower-Eden discussions of world problems published in the two countries — the United States and Britain — were so divergent that they might have been reports of two different conferences. Political requirements of the American President and the British Prime Minister account for the contrast and contradictions.

After each session, Eden and his large staff of advisers briefed accompanying British newspapermen on the talks. At separate meetings, Secretary Dulles and his aides reported on results to American correspondents. Each statesman emphasized his achievements, and minimized his concessions to the other side.

There is nothing sinister or unusual about this seemingly lop-sided procedure. It is customary at these international conferences, with each participant putting his best foot forward. Each was talking to a different audience.

Eisenhower had to keep in mind next November's elections, especially on the China-Formosa and the Israeli-Arab problems. Eden had to think of charges by both Labor and Conservatives that he was "weak and futile," and a great comedown from Winston Churchill, in standing up for British rights.

Here, then, is a post-mortem on the salient differences between the two versions which were glossed over in the somewhat vague and ambiguous communiqué:

Far East: Eden believes that the U.S. will eventually recognize Red China, although he realizes that it cannot be accomplished until after the Presidential election. Mean-while, through Prime Minister Nehru of India, he will try to persuade Mao Tse-tung to honor our demands on Korea and Formosa. The main objectives are a peace treaty in Korea, settlement of the Formosa question through negotiation and release of all American prisoners.

Dulles said that we are adamant on nonrecognition of Red China, unless she meets all our terms without haggling. He does not trust Nehru as an impartial negotiator. He maintains that the U.S. will oppose any general trade with Peiping, merely permitting small and select shipments to strengthen Burma and Malaya against Communist inroads.

Britain will not support us in a war with China over the Matsu and Quemoy Islands, unless it is a U.N. action. A Russian veto can block any U.N. decision favorable to us. Ike, too, seeks to avoid a conflict on the offshore possessions. Middle: East Eden wants establishment of an international police force along the Israeli-Arab border to prevent warlike clashes. He opposes military intervention because British troops would have to bear the brunt of fighting. He does not think that the West can afford to alienate the Arabs. Dulles stressed the 1950 agreement under which the U.S., Britain and France guaranteed to preserve present boundaries. Although this does not satisfy the Israelis or pro-Zionist Americans, it implies American action, and the use of force, if necessary. The Administration cannot afford to antagonize Jewish voters or contributors.

Fair Enough

Defeated Solon Got Soft U. S. Position

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

When Homer Ferguson was a Republican Senator from Detroit he delivered two important votes for the White House. One of them defeated the Bricker Amendment. The other was delivered after he had been defeated for re-election and was facing a gloomy future without an assured job as far as the public knew. This was a vote against Joe McCarthy. It was not decisive and Ferguson could have refused to support the White House conspiracy to discredit the man who had discredited Eisenhower's friend, George Marshall. But everyone knew how the White House wanted Ferguson to vote and Ferguson had little money and had only a few weeks left on the Senate payroll. A vote in favor of Joe and in favor of the integrity of the Senate, itself, would have been construed by Eisenhower as a hostile act.

An avalanche of union money beat Ferguson, as he himself, bitterly explained later. Whether they pay and it was obvious that Ferguson couldn't last long. Now, after a further short interval, Eisenhower has appointed him for 15 years to the Court of Military Appeals, a soft spot at $25,000 a year, the highest pay he ever drew in all his years on various public payrolls. He will be 82 when his term ends and by that time he should be able to save a little and to roll up some pension rights. The court sits in Washington where Ferguson is really at home and Mrs. Ferguson knows her way to the supermarket, the movies and the church.

Joe McCarthy had bitterly enjoyed the hatred of the New York political clique of anti-Constitutional Democrats, many of them declared New Dealers of the Roosevelt-Truman regime, and erstwhile Republicans who had swung in behind Eisenhower in 1951-52. Ike was a creature of Roosevelt's favor and patronage. In the nature of his own career, and by the traits of his own character, he was certain to uphold George Marshall, his old colleague and a beneficiary of the same patron.

McCarthy had helped to expose Marshall to wide popular repudiation. Eisenhower declared his resentment publicly. So, without putting themselves to a foredoomed effort to vindicate Marshall, the clique and clique, conspired to dam McCarthy to ignominy. This trick, on results to date, has done Joe no permanent harm but it has wrought irreparable damage to the Senate.

It would have been unthinkable down to Roosevelt's time that a White House palace guard should organize a conspiracy to degrade and discredit a Senator and that the Senate should fail to stand up for its own honor and its status in the combination of government powers. But in this case, the Senate curled up and quit. Far from demanding an inquiry into the origins of this attack on its own self, the Senate joined in a contemptuous campaign by the White House cabal to degrade congress.

Actually, the condemnation of McCarthy achieved only a spurious public effect of a great victory for Eisenhower, Marshall and the Eastern court.

Homer Ferguson is a lawyer. He knows the Constitution. He knows the division of powers. As an expert investigator of criminal conspiracies in Detroit, where he got famous—as a "One-man grand jury," he knows the symptoms of the frame-up.

Senator Case, of South Dakota, recently raised a flurry with a priggishly righteous disclosure that a lawyer—lobbyist from another state had given $2,500 to one of his political managers as a campaign contribution. Later, Case diluted his indignation over a petty and familiar incident.

He admitted that the gift was not made in an effort to bribe him for he had already indicated how he intended to vote on an issue in which the donor of the money had an interest.

Neither was Homer Ferguson bribed, but Eisenhower has lavishly rewarded him for political service to the un-American Eastern wing of his adherence.

Not long ago I mentioned the terrible dullness of radio and TV announcements and their guests at the half-time-of-football, basketball and other games.

At the risk of becoming tiresome, I must come right back with a repetition of my boredom at the sameness. I am now listening to the intermediate chapter of a Big Ten basketball game. You can imagine nothing worse. The announcer says, "I am grateful indeed to have with us today Stubby Awning, (or some such name) who is recognized throughout the United States as an authority on basketball. Stubby, it's nice to have you here."

"It is very nice of you to have me here," says Stubby. "It is always a pleasure to speak over the air with you."

The announcer then asks Stubby what he thinks of the first half of the game. Stubby says it was a great battle between two great teams and he would be hard put to guess the outcome. The fact that one team is leading the other by 20 points and is clearly superior doesn't shake Stubby's analytic mind one whit. Then we TV listeners have to hear Stubby asked how long he has been in the game, how his wife and children are, and what does he think of any possible changes in the rules.

Stubby will then tell us where he played, when he graduated, that he hopes Martha and the two boys are looking in, and that as far as he can see the game is being played under the best rules possible.

As soon as Stubby gets off the air we will meet his counterpart—Stubby Elliott from somewhere else. Stubby will tell us how long he has been around the game, name the great players he has seen, and predict that the present game looks as if it might go down to the final whistle.

To be completely honest, basketball, as of 1956, must be the most boring sports event of all. There is absolutely no chance of putting competitive men, most of whom are abnormally large in size, in a small court and expecting them to behave like a Vassar Daisy Chain. Almost every second the referee's whistle blows for fouls. Clark has bumped into Edmonds. Edmonds has bumped into Clark.

Hankering

Mac Blasts Halftime At Basketball Games

By HENRY McLEMORE

Smith has hacked Thomas Russell's name directly into Phillips. There is no smoothness to the name. There is no allowance for natural contact. I say "it is impossible to put almost a dozen overgrown boys in an enclosed place and expect them to act like well-mannered girls. There are usually bands at basketball games, but the band music is nearly always drowned out by the whistle of the officials."

The announcers are so busy trying to sound technical that they can convey little knowledge of what is going on. They speak of back, hook, and jump passes. Why doesn't one of them say that No. 23 has the ball, is going down the court all by himself and will undoubtedly ring up two points unless he fudges it? Would it be too hard for the announcers just to say, Bigelow has the ball, has just passed to Irish, and Irish has sneaked close inside and is making a shot? A little simplicity on the part of the announcer would help a game that very much needs helping. Next thing you know basketball announcers will be as troublesome as football announcers.

You know, there is no such thing as a football announcer saying that Jones has the ball going off tackle. He must tell you that is a part of a series and things wind up so complicated that you really don't know what is happening at any point.

These are just my ideas, and they are connected with no one living or dead except myself—it's just the way I feel.

Program On 'Growing Into Freedom' Given At Parent Education Club Meeting

The program "Practical Questions Growing Into Freedom," was presented by Mrs. Homer Johnson at the recent meeting of Parent Education Club in the home of Mrs. Clinton Evans.

Mrs. Johnson's topic was "Self-Discipline, Responsibility and Freedom."

"True freedom is acquired, step by step, as controls from without are replaced by controls from within — as discipline means self-discipline," she pointed out. "Freedom and responsibility go hand in hand in a free world. Our responsibility to our children is to help them grow into freedom."

She went on to explain that a free man is subject to the restraint of laws he helps to formulate. She stated that a practical method in helping children develop into responsible citizens of a free society includes obedience, punishment and rewards.

"The ability to be obedient when necessary is essential to getting on in the world," Mrs. Johnson told the women. "In a democracy, we must obey the laws whether we like them or not. In daily life, in any job, we must obey the rules and regulations. A child therefore must learn to obey the rules of life — rules pertaining to health, danger and the rights of others."

She pointed out that parental authority should decrease as the responsibility of a growing child increases, adding that it is natural for a child to resent being made to do things as he feels he is giving up his right to make decisions.

Mrs. Johnson told the group the punishment of a child is a controversial question. An intelligent parent will think in terms of discipline, rather than punishment, as discipline implies a constructive point of view, she advised.

She stated the only justification for punishment is to avoid repetition of the forbidden act. She pointed out the best punishment is that which comes closest to natural punishment, such as making a child pay for a window he broke from his allowance. She advised the removal of causes of undesirable behavior to make punishment unnecessary, adding that a child has a right to know what to expect. Forbidden behavior should be explained.

On the subject of awards, Mrs. Johnson said, "Rewards are part of life which rewards us in many ways. The best incentive is the child's own feeling of success or failure. Success is that feeling of satisfaction and the thrill that comes with it. Success helps the child to feel adequate and to develop a self-confidence which he can use as a stepping stone to further achievements."

She pointed out that rewards should be reasonable and that money is not a good reward. She advised the group to distinguish between rewards, given for a completed action, and bribes, usually offered ahead of time for behavior which should be expected.

Mrs. Johnson told of four types of behavior through which a child passes on to maturity. They include behavior insisted upon by adults, behavior in which the child has a limited choice within a controlled situation, behavior in which the child has complete freedom of choice and behavior in which group control is established.

She explained that a yardstick for successful discipline is if a child follows the discipline pattern set for him when he is away from his parents.

"Parents can lead by the whip or the word," she pointed out. "The word means much more of sharing and living together. It calls on us and the child for building mutual understanding and confidence. Discipline need not be synonymous with dictatorship."

"Discipline should become a matter of fellowship, as well as fellowship," she continued. "There must be affection, sincere love and understanding. We must try to feel what he (the child) is feeling and put it in words that he can understand."

She said it is important for a child to have a feeling of being wanted, belonging and being accepted. Every child must feel he is capable of achievement.

"Oftentimes, school-age children develop behavior difficulties," she told the women. "Although strong hostile feelings may be at the root of this, it may be caused by loneliness, fear, guilt or anxiety. The teen-ager's group of friends is one of his prime sources of stability, experience and pleasure. It takes repeated experience for him to learn that the irksome restrictions and rules are enforced by the social system in which he is about to acquire membership. The dangerous and forbidden lose much of their charm as soon as adolescents learn that adults are subject to the same rules."

Mrs. Johnson stated that conflicts of adolescence are due to yearning for adult freedom and responsibility. She said that adoles-

Study Meet Held By Service Guild

The Wesleyan Service Guild of the First Methodist Church met recently in the church parlor.

Mrs. W. A. Hutchinson opened the meeting with prayer and led the business session. The devotional, "Meditation," was presented by Mrs. Aubrey Jones, who pointed out people are allowing their minds to become lazy from lack of use, accepting things presented to them rather than thinking issues through for themselves.

Miss Ila Pool led the group in prayer.

Miss Inez Clubb led the study, "Five Spiritual Classics," taken from the book "The Imitations of Christ" by Thomas A. Kempis. The book was written five centuries ago. Miss Clubb explained, yet next to the Bible, it has become the most widely read devotional classic in the Christian world.

Written in four parts, it contains more than 600 Bible quotations, she told the women.

Refreshments were served during the social period by Miss Lillian Mullinax, the hostess.

Mrs. S. E. Scruggs was welcomed as a new member. Others attending were Mmes. W. B. Fountain, Irl Smith, Laura Sue Jean, J. A. Knox, A. Hutchinson, J. M. Turner, Harold Wright, Sherman White, Frank Showell, A. Jones, R. M. Wells, Lee Harrah, Malcolm Denson, Ben Ogden, and Misses Lillian Mullinax, Ila Pool, Inez Clubb and Alma Wilson.

Sheriff Jordan Talks On Civil Defense At Meeting Of Pampa AAUW Branch

Sheriff Rufe Jordan spoke on civil defense at the recent meeting of the Pampa Branch of the American Association of University Women in the City Club Room.

"It (civil defense) is something we neglect from time to time," he pointed out. "We think of civil defense when an emergency arises and when we need it."

He stated that civil defense means exactly what it says and operates in time of disaster, such as cyclone, flood, fire or bombs.

A civil defense system "takes a lot of people — a lot of folk who are trained," he told the women. He said the largest system in Texas was in Houston and the second largest is in Borger, with Sheriff Hugh Anderson as co-ordinator.

Its purpose is the preservation of life and property, Jordan explained. Such a system must have a headquarters and must be large enough to be effective. He told the women that Gray County's civil defense headquarters in case the house, with the Armory as an auxiliary headquarters in case the Courthouse is demolished.

Sheriff Jordan said the county's system is "sufficient to carry on a nicely-organized civil defense program." It has a radio set-up to operate within a radius of 75 to 100 miles in case the local radio stations were knocked out.

"When we think of disaster in this area, we think of cyclone, fire or flood," Jordan pointed out. "It is not impossible for us to be bombed."

He told the women this area is approximately 8 hours jet-flying time from the Siberian Peninsula. He said in case atomic or hydrogen bombs were dropped, the radioactive fall-out is most to be feared. He defined the fall-out as "pulverized dust." He said it is recommended the people go underground, in ordinary storm cellars, or stay on the first floor of their homes with all the windows closed.

He said that water is the best thing "to take care of the fall-out." He said clothing should be destroyed as soon as possible by burning or burying and that baths should be taken.

"I'm not trying to worry anyone, but it is something to keep in mind," he advised.

Sheriff Jordan told the group the local civil defense group plans to get around to train people in the evacuation of schools, churches and other places where groups gather. He said the main factor there is to keep calm.

Identification in times of disaster has always been a big problem, he stated. He reported that Val Peterson, national civil defense coordinator recommends everyone wear an identification, like a dogtag or a bracelet. He said the Pet Milk Company is sponsoring such a campaign and applications for such identification can be obtained at local grocery stores. He told the women that the dogtag or bracelet can be carried in a billfold if a person does not want to wear it.

"Surely, it would be a big help in time of disaster," he explained.

He told of the ground observer corps, with a membership of 50,000 to 75,000 in Texas. The ground observers try to identify the kind of plane flying over a city and the nation to which it belongs. The corps has headquarters stations in Corpus Christi, Houston, Dallas, Galveston and San Antonio. He added that there are some observers in the County and stated that the group is "very essential."

'Never, No Never' Say The Designers About Returning To 'Shapeless 20's'

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY

NEW YORK — UP — It began with one of those depressing man-type jokes directed at women's fashions.

"They're auditioning clowns for the circus at Madison Square Garden this morning," the boss greeted me as I took off my coat. "Why not put on one of those new-style dresses and go get an audition?"

Several men at desks in the immediate area snickered.

"You'd be a clown," one fellow suggested. "If you'd wear one of those Italian dresses I saw pictures of yesterday. They have no shape any place!"

Well, as I keep telling men around here, women do have a sense of humor about themselves. But no woman could be expected to laugh at the idea she was going to look like a clown in next year's styles.

So, leaving the men to amuse themselves, I began checking into the future. We're really about to go back to those shapeless styles of 30 years ago?

A Few Each Season

Each season for the past two years has brought a few dresses and suits that whip past a woman's waist without so much as a dart to divide top and bottom.

But now there are more of them than usual among pictured predictions of future clothes. Rome designers featured copies of the 1920's in their spring fashion shows.

The first authority questioned had arrived from Italy this week with eight society models to show off new Italian fashions.

"Never, no never," exclaimed Giovanni Giorgini, director of the Florence, Italy, fashion center, when he was asked if Italian women would wear shapeless clothes.

"We like to see the figure," Giorgini said. "There are some dresses that can be worn straight, that is true, but very, very few."

"Will American women ever go back to those 1920 fashions?" the question was put to Maurice Rentner, who has been designing clothes for more than 40 years. He did flapper fashions when they were in their heyday, he admitted.

"But never again," Rentner said. "Those fashions cannot come back, not only now—but never."

"Every season there is somebody who tries to bring something back from the dead. They cannot bring back those styles from the 20's. We have advanced too much. Women will not sacrifice their shapes any more just to look new."

"It was popular in the 1920's only because it was a time when women would try anything that was a change. Now they will try something new only if they can see it is better."

"You'd be a clown," one fellow suggested. "If you'd wear one of those Italian dresses I saw pictures of yesterday. They have no shape any place!"

Well, as I keep telling men around here, women do have a sense of humor about themselves. But no woman could be expected to laugh at the idea she was going to look like a clown in next year's styles.

So, leaving the men to amuse themselves, I began checking into the future. We're really about to go back to those shapeless styles of 30 years ago?

A Few Each Season

Each season for the past two years has brought a few dresses and suits that whip past a woman's waist without so much as a dart to divide top and bottom.

But now there are more of them than usual among pictured predictions of future clothes. Rome designers featured copies of the 1920's in their spring fashion shows.

The first authority questioned had arrived from Italy this week with eight society models to show off new Italian fashions.

"Never, no never," exclaimed Giovanni Giorgini, director of the Florence, Italy, fashion center, when he was asked if Italian women would wear shapeless clothes.

"We like to see the figure," Giorgini said. "There are some dresses that can be worn straight, that is true, but very, very few."

"Will American women ever go back to those 1920 fashions?" the question was put to Maurice Rentner, who has been designing clothes for more than 40 years. He did flapper fashions when they were in their heyday, he admitted.

"But never again," Rentner said. "Those fashions cannot come back, not only now—but never."

"Every season there is somebody who tries to bring something back from the dead. They cannot bring back those styles from the 20's. We have advanced too much. Women will not sacrifice their shapes any more just to look new."

"It was popular in the 1920's only because it was a time when women would try anything that was a change. Now they will try something new only if they can see it is better."

BABY

By BETSY WADE
NEA Staff Writer

If you've been stymied in attempts to get either a laxative or other unpalatable preparations into your two-to-three-year-old, try this, if there's no objection from the doctor—mix with a little chocolate syrup and serve over a small portion of ice cream, as a "sundae."

If Baby's a "chow hound," and the bottle nipples won't deliver milk rapidly enough, try enlarging the holes with a hot needle. Hold needle in pliers or tweezers and enlarge only ONE hole in each nipple at a time until you've found correct output for baby's input.

Never underestimate the power of Baby to reach. Keep all knives, hot pans, electrical appliances far back from edges of working areas. Safest bet is to use your dangerous tools when Baby's in bed.

Auxiliary Of DMF Has Social Meeting

The Auxiliary of the Doherty Men's Fraternity, Cities Service Gas, held a Valentine party recently in the home of Mrs. Ray Cates.

A chicken spaghetti dinner was served from a table decorated with a "hearts-and-kisses" tree. Games were played with prizes going to Mrs. Robert Sailor and Mrs. Clyde Martin. The door prize was awarded to Mrs. Homer Kessinger.

"Good discipline is a compromise," she concluded. "It is a discipline for life. We compromise and we do it for a long, long time. Children learn too slowly for it to be a speedy process. The compromise can easily turn into a conflict if we aren't careful. We must constantly make allowances. This comfortable discipline means good living for parents and children and it enables children to grow fit to live well in our world."

"Bring the business session, it was decided to hold a bake sale Mar. 1, in the lobby of the Hughes Building. Appointed to make arrangements were Mmes. George Hofess, Solon Blundell, H. L. Gunter, and Rex Rose.

Mrs. Zenas Dee, council representative, announced the Council of Clubs will hold a greenback coffee from 2 to 5 p.m. Mar. 11, in the City Club Room. She reported the Parent Education Club is on the decorating committee.

The club accepted the invitation of Beta Sigma Phi to participate in the Women-of-the-Year award by selecting a nominee.

Next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Rex Roe, with Mrs. George Hofess and Mrs. George Snell in charge of the program.

Mrs. B. King, mother of Mrs. George Snell, was a guest.

there's a secret

...to making good coffee!

and the secret is MARYLAND CLUB! For no matter what strength you like your coffee... mild, medium or strong... you can't make a really good cup unless you use a coffee that's rich in flavor. And rich flavor comes only from rich coffee... the kind that actually costs more... the kind you enjoy in every cup of MARYLAND CLUB, the world's richest flavor in coffee! Also, because of this extra flavor richness, you use much less coffee per cup when you make it with MARYLAND CLUB than with a less-flavorful brand... so, actually, MARYLAND CLUB costs you no more, cup for cup! Why serve your family and friends "just any" coffee when, for just a penny or so more, you can serve them the very best... MARYLAND CLUB!

Try it, in either vacuum-pack or instant... you'll be proved that you did!

Measure Maryland Club against all other coffees!

Measure MARYLAND CLUB, either vacuum or instant, against any other coffee. Measure its richer flavor... its more cups per can or jar... its true cost. Here's what you'll discover... because with MARYLAND CLUB you actually can use less coffee per cup than with less-flavorful brands. And no other coffee offers you so much real flavor satisfaction. For MARYLAND CLUB is not "just another" coffee... it's a celebrated blend of the world's finest coffees. Try it, and you'll agree... measure for measure, MARYLAND CLUB is matched by none!

The coffee you'd drink if you owned all the coffee in the world!

Time Out With Tom

By TOMMIE ELLIS
Pampa News Sports Editor

Can't say we told you so because we didn't! We will just have to back up on our prediction of the outcome of the Harvester-Odesa playoff series.

We felt the Harvesters were over-confident when they met Odesa in Harvester fieldhouse but we can be wrong. We still don't think the Bronchos have a better team even though they did win two straight games from Pampa.

Anyhow "We wish them luck in the bi-district play-offs."

It was our privilege to see both games with the Red and Whites and we still think they have a good team. The Green and Golders defense folded the first night in Harvester fieldhouse and Dicky Mauldin was ill before, during and moreso after the game. Dicky has been a spark to the basketballers all season and we are glad we will have him back.

Sure hate to lose Jerry Gee, Gene Brown and Buddy Sharp but we want to take this space to "Wish you boys the best of luck in college." We feel sure you will all find what you are looking for in sports in the college ranks. Lots of luck to Jerald Clark and Jimmy Enloe too.

Nothing like a spring day to get athletes to feeling better and that's what the track and field men have had the past three days. We were out to watch the boys work Tuesday and they look good for the second day outside.

Jim Fischer looks exceptionally good in the pole vault department as he clears 9' 8" with ease. The high school record is somewhat higher than that but with several days work Fischer will go higher too.

Ed Strickland seems to be in on almost all the events. Ed is a good athlete and we feel sure he will be a great help to the Harvester Tracksters this coming season.

Almost all you basketball fans missed a good game Tuesday night. We were on hand to see the Wellington Skyrokers edge out the Happy Cowboys in a 58-50 thriller in Harvester fieldhouse. Wellington is coached by E. W. Clement and he has stacked up an impressive 30-2 seasonal record with the win last night. The Happy Cowboys sure gave the Rockets a scare as they, trailing all the way, tied the game up for the first time at 45-45 with only five minutes left.

Coach Leroy Roberts is to be commended for the excellent job of coaching he has done. The Cowboys stole the ball time and time again but the Skyrocket height controlled the backboards and won the contest.

Some of the people around Pampa were really surprised to find that Raul "Rabbit" Ramirez was selected as an alternate to fight in the state Glove tournament. Ramirez was unable to win either the Pampa District or Amarillo Regional championship in the 118-pound high school division.

Then a better surprise came to Pampans. Ramirez had advanced to the finals. Almost all of Pampa was pulling for him by then and it was a bit of a letdown when he failed to win the state championship.

(Some of the local boxing enthusiasts have under-rated Rabbit all along and didn't want him to make the state meet.)

Then the news came. Ramirez called us from Amarillo Tuesday morning and we were informed that he would be representing Texas in the National Golden Glove tournament. We were truly happy to hear this since he was a bit letdown when he didn't win at home, at Amarillo or at Fort Worth.

We hope this is the break that will pull him out of his "Blues."

The Pampa Oilers have the major portion of their baseball players signed now and spring training is not far off.

Ticket books that sold for $20 last year will be increased to $35 this season and admission price at the gate will not be reduced as it was last season.

We would advise all you baseball fans to get those tickets in the book form if you intend to see very many games. They're cheaper that way.

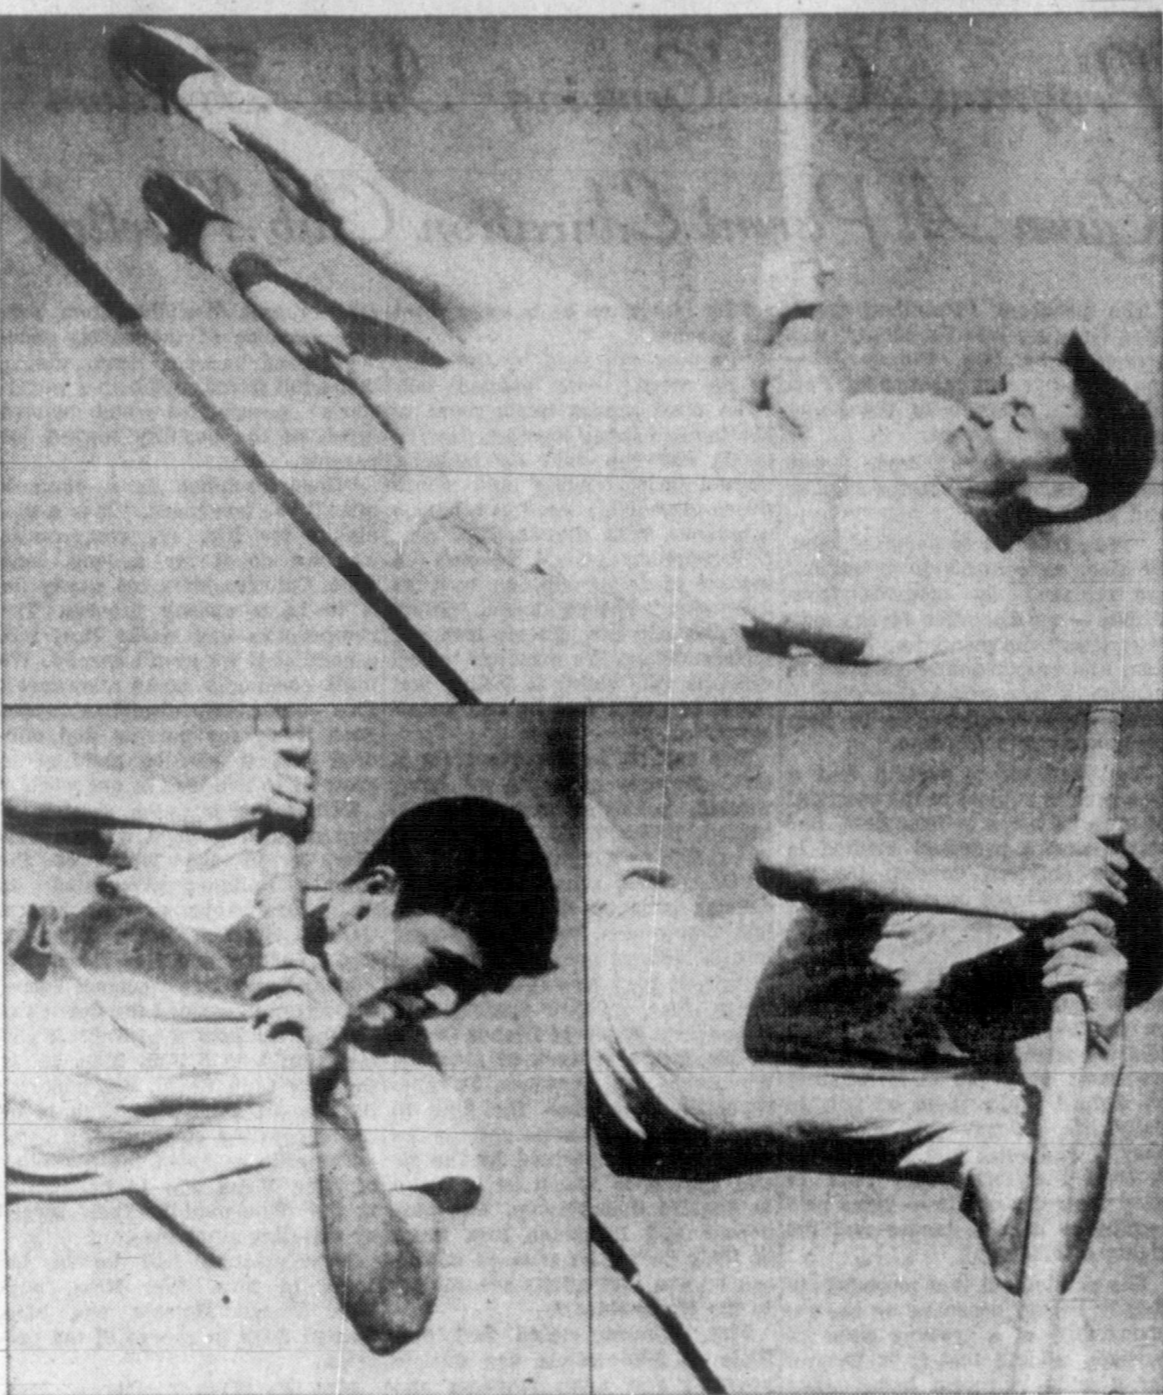

We no sooner finish with one thing than another is right on us. Noticed the Harvester baseballers working out yesterday along with the track and field men.

That reminds us that Little League and PONY League baseball is coming up again and the Optimists have expanded their facilities this season.

Three more baseball diamonds are in the making. The playing fields will be constructed on the recently purchased tract of land. The Optimist Club is planning construction of a "Boys Work Headquarters" on this block of land and it still needs all the help, both financial and otherwise, it can get.

We are sure that the members will get the job done regardless of the support of the community but the community as a whole can do the job much better so let's get behind them.

Purpur Gets Three Goals
NOTTINGHAM, England — UP — Ken Purpur of Grand Forks, N. D., performed the three-goal "hat trick" Monday night in leading the U. S. Olympic hockey team to an 11-3 victory over the Nottingham Panthers.

Title Chases Confuse NCAA Playoff Tournery Directors

By LYLE SCHWILLING
KANSAS CITY — UP — The Midlands basketball title chase was completely confused Thursday as three of the four conferences which automatically qualify for NCAA playoff berths.

But the "at-large" selections were all but made. Oklahoma City University was named to an at-large berth Wednesday night. It's won-loss record for the season thus far is 17-5. Two other teams making strong bids for the last at-large berth were DePaul of Chicago and Drake.

Too Many Ineligible Players
Washington University of St. Louis also has a good record, but has too many players ineligible for NCAA competition.

The at-large teams can be selected from any state which borders the Mississippi River. Second-place or other teams from conferences which automatically qualify a representative cannot be selected, western selection committee Chairman Reeves E. Peters said.

As it looked hursday, the Big Seven qualifier could be either Kansas State, Iowa State or Colorado, with Kansas State the favorite. Missouri and Kansas still could tie, but mostly were out of contention.

Houston held the Missouri Valley lead for a berth, but has to play Wichita at Wichita Saturday. Chances of Houston being thrown into a final tie with Oklahoma A&M or St. Louis threatened a sudden death playoff.

Three in Running
In the Border Conference, Texas Tech, Texas Western and New Mexico A&M still were in the running. Southern Methodist, with a 20-2 record, was chosen to represent the Southwest Conference.

The two at-large teams play each other at Wichita, Kan., March 13 with the winner playing the Big Seven representative in the regional at Lawrence, Kan., March 16. The Border and Southwest Conference representatives meet at Wichita March 13 with the winner meeting the Missouri Valley winner at Lawrence, March 16.

The winner at Lawrence March 17 will move on to the semifinals at Evanston, Ill., on March 22, to meet the Pacific Coast representative.

O'Neal Is Best Bet As SWC Scoring Champ

By UNITED PRESS
Dick O'Neal, Texas Christian's one-man gang, hit the hoop for 30 points against Texas A&M Wednesday night to set a new school scoring mark and became the best bet to become this year's Southwest Conference individual scoring champion.

The 6-7 junior dropped in 10 field goals and as many free throws to help his team whip the Aggies 91 to 47 in a bid to come out of the SWC cellar.

O'Neal now has scored 1,135 points in two seasons to surpass George McLeod's old TCU scoring high of 1,124 set in the three seasons of 1950-52.

Sas Good Chance
If O'Neal can continue his current average of nearly 16 points a conference game he has a good chance of staying ahead of Raymond Downs of Texas in individual scoring and thus become the sixth player in conference history to win the title two straight years.

Last year, O'Neal set a new individual conference high with 382 points and now has 174 points to Downs' 165 through 11 games.

Texas A&M took an early lead against TCU in Fort Worth Wednesday night, but the Frogs caught up and went ahead 28-26 on a tipin by O'Neal with 7:46 left in the first half.

The Frogs were never behind after that, stretching the margin to 39-37 at the intermission and storming back in the first six minutes of the second period to score 16 points while holding the Aggies to six.

Zone Game Abandoned
Mid-way through the second half A&M abandoned its zone defense and went after the ball in a full court pressing defense. Then Jim Swink, TCU's All-American footballer, cut lose with fast driving, dribbling and passing to maintain the Frog lead.

As a result of the game, the Aggies dropped into a three-way tie for fifth place with Texas and Baylor with a 3-7 loop mark while TCU is still in last place with a 2-9 conference record.

No more games are scheduled until Saturday night when leading Southern Methodist fights it out with second place Arkansas at Dallas; Baylor plays Texas at Waco; and Texas A&M meets Rice at College Station.

Arkansas Between SMU-NCAA Bid

By UNITED PRESS

Oklahoma City and Seattle joined the growing list of teams named to the NCAA's basketball championship Thursday and Little St. Joseph's College of Philadelphia just about clinched itself a berth in the National Invitation Tournament by scoring its second big upset in a week.

The NCAA named Oklahoma City (17-5) and Seattle (15-10) to at-large berths in the 25-team tournament.

Southern Methodist (20-2) can become the eighth team in the field if it defeats Arkansas at Dallas Saturday night for the Southwest Conference crown.

SMU already has clinched a tie and has Arkansas and Rice yet to play. A victory over either one would wrap it up for the seventh-ranked Mustangs.

Other teams previously named to the NCAA tourney include Holy Cross (20-4, at large), Connecticut (17-8, Yankee Conference), Memphis State (16-5, at large), Marshall (17-3, Mid American), and Idaho State (16-7, Rocky Mountain). First round play gets underway in New York, Fort Wayne and at two as yet unnamed sites, March 12 and 13.

Two Successive Upsets
St. Joe racked up its 17th win in 21 starts by upsetting eighth ranked Temple 77-68 Wednesday night. Last week the Hawks snapped St. Francis' (N.Y.) 18-game winning streak. Trailing through most of the game, St. Joe put on a scoring spree in the last four minutes and won going away against the Owls.

The NCAA probably will make a bid for St. Joseph's, but officials of the loosely-knit Middle Atlantic Conference aren't expected to make their choice between the Hawks, Temple, Lafayette and Muhlenberg until next week.

Already named to the 12-team NIT carnival are Louisville (21-3), Seton Hall (18-3), third-ranked Dayton (21-2), Niagara (18-5), Duquesne, the defending champion (11-9), Marquette (11-9), Xavier of Ohio (14-8) and St. Francis (N.Y.) (18-1). First round play in the NIT is scheduled for March 17 in Madison Square Garden.

A&M Footballer To Enter West Point
COLLEGE STATION, Tex. — UP — Next fall's Texas A&M football team will be without the services of Don Usry, freshman end on this year's squad.

Usry, of Cleburne, said he is withdrawing from the school and plans to enter West Point.

Rejected Gets Up to a Big Race
At all is a tribute to the training ability of W. J. (Buddy) Hirsch who has handled the horse since he came to the races. Rejected has an ankle that swells every time he takes a hard workout or runs in a race. Then Hirsch has to doctor the horse until he's ready to work or run again. It takes a trainer with patience and skill to keep a horse like Rejected going and it's no secret that he soon will be retired to stud.

Rejected, made an inauspicious debut in racing as a two-year-old, and as a three-year-old.

But a few months later he dazzled the turf world by capturing the Westerner Stakes at Holly Park when that fixture for three-year-olds carried a purse of $100,000. He also added the Oakland Handicap in his sophomore year.

The rather plain-looking colt then went into his biggest season as a four-year-old when he won the Santa Anita Handicap, the American Handicap and the Hawthorne Gold Cup. His earnings for the year came to $276,800.

Last year Rejected started off slowly as usual, but he was carefully nursed along by his trainer until the $100,000 Hollywood Gold Cup in which he defeated a field that included Mister Gus, Porterhouse and Social Outcast.

'Flying Femmes' Win Two Games in Air Force Tournery
BROOKLYN — UP — Gals from the Andrews (Md.) Air Force Base, with two victories in one day, stood out from the field Thursday in the Northeast Air Force Sports Conference women's Air Force basketball tournament at the Manhattan Beach base here.

The Andrews 'Flying Femmes' defeated Otis (Mass.) AFB 51-49 and Fort Meyer, Va., 44-28 in the opening round of competition Wednesday.

King Ranch Horse Rates In Big Race
ARCADIA, Calif. — UP — The King Ranch of Texas has an almost uncanny knack of coming up with winners in big races and for that reason, among others, Rejected rates consideration in Saturday's $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap to many a follower of the sport.

Rejected also commands respect as the 1954 winner of the race but his record at the current meeting has been mediocre. He has one win in an overnight race at a mile to his credit in three starts.

Rejected's six-year-old son of Rejected in a period of three years has captured seven stakes including some of America's top handicaps and he has amassed $549,800 in earnings.

'Clutch Man' For Celtics Is Cousy

By UNITED PRESS
 Bob Cousy's not in the running for National Basketball Association scoring honors this year but he's still "Mr. Clutch" when there is a game to be won.
 Cousy displayed that again Wednesday night when he tallied eight points in the last 87 seconds to give the Boston Celtics a 93-90 decision over the Minneapolis Lakers. Until that game-winning outburst, Cousy had been held to four points.
 The New York Knickerbockers downed the Philadelphia Warriors 117-108 and the Rochester Royals scored a 110-108 triumph over the St. Louis Hawks in the other to give the Boston Celtics a 93-90 game.

Champion Tag Team Match 'No Contest'

EXTRA ACTION — Dory Funk and Tommy Martindale are shown here as they engaged in some extra action in their tag team match with Art Nelson and Rip Rogers after the referees warned Funk for clinching his fists. Frankie Murdock gave Funk a push to get this started. The referees disagreed about which team won the match and called it a 'No Contest.'

Wrestling Fans saw a rough and tumble wrestling match end in 'no contest' last night as Dory Funk and Tommy Martindale tangled with Rip Rogers and Art Nelson for the tag team championship of the world.
 Nelson and Funk finished the first fall after Rogers and Nelson did a 'trade out' to soften up Dory Funk. They had Funk in the corner several times and Martindale wasn't allowed to help. The referees, seemingly trying to break it up, let Rogers and Nelson choke the breath out of the Umbarger rancher and Art Nelson pinned him to win the first fall.
 Funk and Nelson started the second fall and Dory, after the first fall beating, seemed to be getting the same in the second until he came alive suddenly and slammed Nelson into the ropes at the corner. The ropes came down and all four wrestlers got into the battle.
 Funk, Nelson, Martindale and Rogers were all going toe hold on Nelson and that was the end of the second fall.
 The third fall saw the ropes come down again and all four wrestlers and the two referees trying to stay in the ring.
 Funk and Martindale seemed disturbed by the calling of Frankie Murdock and started getting rough. The fight then got started with six men in the ring throwing punches.
 The referees didn't agree and consequently the match resulted in no contest. A fine of $25 each was recommended by Murdock but Homer T. Miller, wrestling commissioner, declined to say whether the fine would be levied.
 Mike Clancy took the second main event over Tokio Joe after the wrestlers had split the first two falls. Joe was disqualified in the third round. This match was a grudge match because of the decision in a previous match between the men.
 Rip Rogers and Tommy Martindale squared off in the 15 minute warmup bout which went the full time and ended in a draw. The match just increased the feud between the boys for the final match of the evening.

Southwestern AAU Swimming, Diving Begins At SMU

DALLAS — UP — Entries from Oklahoma, Louisiana and Texas are expected Thursday for the start of the annual Southwestern AAU men's swimming and diving championships at the Southern Methodist University pool.
 Teams from Tulsa and Norman, Okla., and New Orleans will compete in the events continuing through Saturday.
 School and college enrollment in the United States is placed at a record high $7.2 million by the Census Bureau.

Bums Aren't Prima Donnas As Spring Workouts Begin

The Brooklyn Dodgers served notice on their rivals Thursday that winning a world championship has not made them prima donnas.
 Four of the team's highest-paid stars — pitcher Don Newcombe, catcher Roy Campanella, first baseman Gil Hodges and outfielder Carl Furillo — worked as industriously as the lowest cub Wednesday when Manager Walt Alton greeted his "advance guard" of 27 pitchers and catchers.
 Newcombe, who had been advised by a doctor to go slow because of a recent virus attack, was the first man on the field. A 20-game winner last season, "Big Newk" looked like an 18-year-old minor leaguer determined to win a job. Campanella, Hodges and Furillo soon after that requested — and received — permission to join the workout.
 Elsewhere, the American League champion New York Yankees' pitchers and catchers started workouts under Manager Casey Stengel and the Washington Senators revealed that Dean Stone, star rookie pitcher of 1954, is a holdout.
 Bob Turley, a 17-game winner last season, was the center of attraction at the Yankees' first workout. Turley impressed Stengel when he tipped the scales at 202 pounds — 18 fewer than when he reported last spring.
 At Orlando, Stone checked into the Senators' camp and declared he has refused a $2,000 payout from the $10,000 he received last year.
 At Mesa, Ariz., catcher Clyde McCullough launched his 17th season as a big leaguer when he checked in at the Chicago Cubs' camp. Manager Stan Hack also expressed pleasure in the appearance of pitcher Russ Meyer — obtained in a winter deal with the Dodgers and already being called the "hardest working player in camp."
 Manager Marty Marion scheduled the Chicago White Sox's first intra-squad game for Friday while Manager Mayo Smith of the Philadelphia Phillies said "everything was ready" for next week's camp opening.
 PHILADELPHIA — UP — Hebrew funeral services will be held Friday for Harry Lewis, 66, who once claimed the welterweight championship of the world and later was partially paralyzed in a local bout. Lewis died at Episcopal Hospital here Wednesday.
 A native of New York who began his boxing career as a boy, Lewis claimed the welter title in 1909 after he knocked out Honey Melody and Frank Mantell. He later fought in France and once went 20 rounds with Georges Carpentier.

AUTOMATICALLY... Most Modern Trucks on any job!

New Chevrolet Task-Force Trucks for '56!

With new Powermatic—a Chevrolet truck exclusive—and a wider range of Hydra-Matic models, there's an automatic drive for every series! A new 5-speed transmission is offered in heavier duty models!

Revolutionary new Powermatic combines six fully automatic forward speeds and a torque converter in three drive ranges! That means a ratio that's right for every pulling job. Built-in hydraulic retarder adds to engine braking!

Smooth-operating Truck Hydra-Matic is now available in 3000 and 4000 series trucks; a new 5-speed Synchro-Mesh transmission in heavy-duty haulers! With a V8 for every model and new, more powerful sixes, we've got great power-drive combinations! Stop in soon, for details.

Anything less is an old-fashioned truck!
