U.S. Has 'No Time To Lose' In Space Race

Warning Is Sounded By Leading Rocket Expert

By CHARLES CORDDRY
WASHINGTON, March 3 — UP — The United States has "no time to lose" in the race with Russia to develop space vehicles, a leading rocket expert said Saturday night.

The warning was sounded by Dr. Werner von Braun, German-born scientist who is considered one of the world's leading authorities on space travel. He expressed his views in an indoctrination film prepared by the armed forces staff college and released by the Defense Department.

Von Braun said the Russians are "working hard" on outer space problems. He evidently referred to man-carrying space ships and stations for the future as well as unmanned earth satellites like the ones the United States will launch in the 1957-58 international geophysical year.

He developed V-2 Rockets
"I think we have no time to lose if we want to be first in an orbit around the earth, said the scientist, who heads the Army's guided missile division at Redstone Arsenal, Huntsville, Ala. He was a leading developer of the German V-2 rocket in World War II.

He forecast that a space station 1,075 miles from earth, circling the globe every two hours, could be a base for bombing of "unprecedented accuracy" and jump-off point for rocket ship explorations in "deeper space."

For the immediate future, Von Braun strongly indicated that the U.S. is in the lead.

Debris Off Downed Plane Is Found

KEFLAVIK, Iceland, March 3 — UP — An international weather ship Saturday picked up charred debris in the choppy sea off Iceland where a jinxed N.I. Air Force Globemaster transport went down with 17 men aboard.

Other ships converged on the area to search for possible survivors from the C-124 cargo plane which narrowly missed a crash in the same area a week ago.

An Air Force spokesman said it is "quite likely" that the same crew was aboard the transport when it went down in the ocean.

Iceberg Blamed
Air Force officials said engine icing in the bitter cold probably caused the plane to plunge into the Atlantic. Pilots said the "last reports by the crew of the Globemaster" were received at 10:30 p.m. on March 2.

COMMITTEE SELECTION

Tooley Chosen Texan Of Year

JOE TOOLEY
... 'top tip-top'

Joseph William "Tip-Top" Tooley, the diminutive druggist with boundless energy, Saturday was chosen to receive The Pampa Daily News second "Tip-Top Texan of the Year" award.

Tooley was selected by a secret committee which picked the one person from 51 personalities featured in the Monday Tip-Top Texan stories.

Tooley's story appeared in the September 5 issue of The News. It was written by Tommie Ellis of The News staff.

As Tip-Top Texan of the Year, Tooley will receive a scroll which will include his picture and a reproduction of the original story written by Ellis. It will also bear the title Tip - Top - Texan of the Year, 1955. He will also be presented with a Texas style hat.

Tooley first came to Pampa in 1929. He worked only three hours at Richard Drug before he was sent to Panhandle to manage the Richard Drug in that city.

He returned to Pampa to stay in 1939, and since that time he has been one of the most active workers in the community in voluntary efforts for the city's welfare.

Tooley is a member of the Lions Club, the Optimist Club and is treasurer of the Pampa Elks Lodge. He is a past Excelsior Ruler of the Elks and one of the most active members of the lodge in its benevolent activities.

He heads the lodge committee for the crippled children's hospital and its old clothes drive for needy families. He was also instrumental in the Elks work to provide aid for the Bernard Gordon Memorial Home in Panhandle.

Tooley has been an active worker in the Pampa Chamber of Commerce, having served as chairman of the merchants activity committee.

He is an active worker in the First Methodist Church.

After having moved around extensively as a youngster, he has called Pampa the only place he has been able to call his home town. And his work for the community indicates he doesn't expect to live anywhere else.

Mr. and Mrs. Tooley, the former Dorothy Harper of Panhandle, reside at 1318 North Russell. They have two daughters, Jo, a student at McMurry College and Kay, an eighth-grader in Pampa.

The award last year went to John Schofield.

Youth Dies After Fire Here Saturday

Charles Wayne McKenzie, 2 year old Negro boy, died Saturday afternoon as a result of injuries received in a fire at 8:50 a.m. in his home at 722 1/2 S. Gray. His twin sister Cathy was hospitalized.

The two children were alone in the house at the time the fire started. Their mother had left them playing in their crib only a few minutes earlier.

Firemen were unable to enter the bedroom from the inside of the house due to the fire and had to force entry through an outside door located near the crib. The children were unconscious when found and artificial respiration was administered until the fire department's resuscitator arrived. It was used to revive Charles, who later died.

The fire started as a result of defective wiring, according to Fire Captain Paul Skidmore.

Charles died at 3:05 p.m. yesterday in Highland General Hospital.

Another fire at 3:25 p.m. at 509 Ash resulted in the destruction of a storage building and damage to a 2 room house. Cause of the fire was not determined.

Funeral services for Charles Wayne will be conducted at 2 p.m. Monday in the Church of God in Christ, with Rev. J. N. Haynes, pastor, officiating. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery under the direction of Dukenkel - Carmichael Funeral Home.

Charles is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene McKenzie; one sister, Cathy; and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Thelma Dunn of Pampa and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Coxy of Tulsa.

Floods Hit In Germany After Cold

FRANKFURT, Germany, March 3 — UP — The snow and ice of Europe's worst cold wave of the century melted into floodwaters that swept across Germany Saturday, threatening bridges and homes.

U.S. Army units were alerted for emergency flood relief duty in West Germany, and the Sixth Armored Cavalry sent "watchdog" patrols out to scout the rising rivers.

Water washed the streets of medieval wine villages and led up to the doorsteps of the American embassy in Bonn.

Rivers Swell
The Rhone, Moselle, Elbe and Danube rivers swelled menacingly as snow and ice melted in the thaw that set in after the month-long cold wave in February. The cold wave claimed some 1,000 lives but no deaths have been reported in the floods.

Marshall Formby Principal Speaker Pampa CoC To Honor Engineer

The Honorable Marshall Formby, member of The Texas State Highway Commission, will bring the main address at The Pampa Country Club next Thursday evening, March 8th, when the Pampa Chamber of Commerce will honor James G. Lott, district highway engineer of Amarillo.

Lott was recently named engineer of the year by the Panhandle Chapter of professional engineers. He is being honored locally for the fine service he has rendered this particular part of the State in years past. The public is invited to attend the dinner. Reservations are now being taken at the Chamber of Commerce office.

Pampa High School Sets Open House

Parents and other adults will be special guests at Pampa High School Monday night when the Student Council will stage an open house.

"The public is invited, and we are hoping for a good turnout," said Sheila Chisholm, who heads the affair for the council.

Visitation is scheduled to begin at 7:30. Parents will be urged to visit the homeroom and teachers of their boy or girl. Each homeroom president will be in his room to meet the visitors and answer questions.

A Coke party will be the prize for the room with the most parents registered.

At 8:30, a program of PHS talent will be given in the school auditorium. The program will feature musical talents of students.

Coffee will be served afterwards in the cafeteria, and parents will have a chance to visit.

The affair is being held in connection with Texas Public Schools Week, March 5 through 10.

During the week, parents and others interested are invited to visit the city schools.

Some more special events to be held include:

Monday, March 5th, 8 p. m. High School A Cappella Choir. Tuesday, March 6th, 8 p. m. Jr. High 7th Grade Choir. Wednesday, March 7th, 8 p. m. Sam Houston Elementary Choir. The above 3 programs to be held in Masonic Lodge Hall, and the public is invited.

On Thursday night, March 8th at 8 p. m., all of the city school bands will perform at the Jr. High Auditorium.

On Tuesday night, March 8th, Pampa's teachers are sponsoring a public relations dinner in the High School Cafeteria with Stewart Harral scheduled to make the principal address.

Dry Forces Apply Here For Local Option Petition Forms

Applications were made for the issuance of local option petition forms on March 3 Friday afternoon in the County Clerk's office. The action was taken in connection with the proposed wet - dry election here.

Ten men signed the applications and the group will have until April 6 to return the petitions to the Clerk's office with 2,080 required signatures. This is the minimum number of qualified county voters required before the county commissioners may call an election.

The local option election will determine whether or not the legal sale of all alcoholic beverages should be prohibited or legalized in the county, if the petition meets with success.

The voters must sign their names as they appear on their poll tax receipt or exemption certificate and the serial number of the receipt must be included, as well as addresses.

More than 30 days from the commissioners' meeting on April 9 must elapse before the election can be called. The dry forces were hoping to have the election set before May 12, prior to Mother's Day, at which time several dry counties will vote on the issue.

Signing the petition were, Carroll B. Ray, chairman of the dry movement; Walden E. Moore, architect; Rev. D. D. Elliott, pastor of the Church of Nazarene; Rev. Emnis Hill, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Church; Rev. Woodrow W. Adcock, pastor of the First Methodist Church; Elder C. Herbert Lowe, Seventh Day Adventist Church; John Christy, music director at Central Baptist Church; John Mitchell, E. C. McCullum, and O. E. Eldridge.

Nixon Is Gathering Strength
By RAYMOND LAHR
WASHINGTON, March 3 — P. Vice President Richard M. Nixon appeared to be gathering strength Saturday in the old Taft wing of the GOP against a possible eastern Republican choice for the vice presidential nomination.

Although Nixon has never been identified as a Taft man, backers of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft have been listening to "dump Nixon" talk with suspicion and resentment.

They have interpreted it as the forerunner of moves to displace Nixon as President Eisenhower's running mate this year with someone like former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York or Gov. Christian A. Hester of Massachusetts.

Official Says Chinese Red Agents Able To Enter U. S.

By WILLIAM GALBRAITH
WASHINGTON, March 3 — UP — Everett E. Drumwright, American consul general in Hong Kong, has warned the State Department Chinese Communist agents can be slipped into the United States through an ingenious passport racket, it was learned Saturday.

He reported confidentially to the department in December. The department has kept tight wraps on what he said but has supplied a summary to the House and Senate Appropriations committees.

The latter have been asked for $500,000 to step up investigative operations in Hong Kong.

Drumwright said the Chinese secure American passports through "a fantastic system of passport and visa fraud" and that "adequate security precautions can hardly be taken to exclude them."

Stamping Out Efforts On
The United States is in the process of trying to stamp out the racket. A federal grand jury in New York is investigating and another will be convened in San Francisco.

Drumwright said "citizenship brokers" in Hong Kong sell Chinese desiring to come to the United States faked American citizenship documents for a flat $3,000. The terms are $500 down and the balance payable on arrival in the United States.

Despite efforts of American officials to crack down, he reported, the racketeers have been able to get around every obstacle thrown in their path.

Agents Can Come In
"If ignorant applicants can be brought into the United States under this highly organized fraud system," the summary of his report said, "it is obvious that Chinese Red agents can be so brought in."

So far American authorities know of no case where a Red operative has sneaked in through connivance with the passport ring. But Drumwright pointed out that young men applying in Hong Kong for passports to the United States have studied in Red Chinese schools and that 87 per cent have resided under Communist rule at one time or another.

There also is evidence the Chinese Reds may be preparing to blackmail Chinese in the United States illegally into working for the Communists.

Absentees May Decide Fate Of The Senate Farm Bill

By DAYTON MOORE
WASHINGTON, March 3—UP—Absentees may be the deciding factor Thursday when the Senate takes a showdown vote on adoption of a Democratic proposal to restore high price supports on some basic farm crops.

Proponents and opponents each cautiously predicted victory Saturday but by a narrow margin. Leaders of both sides conceded, however, that absentees and last-minute decisions by a few senators still uncommitted could upset their prospects.

If Congress does not approve the Democratic plan for supports of 90 per cent of parity on some crops, the administration's flexible supports, ranging from 75 to 90 per cent of parity, would remain in effect. Parity is a price calculated to give a farmer a fair return on his harvest in relation to what he must buy.

Sen. George D. Aiken (R-Vt.), leader of administration forces, predicts defeat of higher supports by about five votes.

Chairman Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) of the Senate Agriculture committee, said he expects approval of high supports by about the same margin.

"There is no doubt the administration forces are relying on a few who I know won't vote with them," Ellender told reporters.

Sen. Milton R. Young (R-N.D.), who also advocates a return to high supports, agreed with Ellender. He said he is sure eight, "and maybe 10," other Republican Senators will vote against the administration.

However, Democrats conceded they are threatened with the loss of 10 or 12 votes from their side. Proponents of high supports also said privately that outcome in the fight may depend on how many of these 10 or 12 Democrats are absent.

The Senate is divided 49 Democrats and 47 Republicans. There is little chance of Sen. Eugene D. Millikin (R-Colo.), who is ill, being present. But a successor to the late Sen. Harley M. Kilgore (D-W. Va.) is expected to be appointed in time to vote.

In addition to 90 per cent price supports for corn, cotton, peanuts, milable wheat and rice consumed domestically, the Democratic bill

Adlai Stevenson Charges Administration Forgot Farmer

SAUK CENTRE, Minn., March 3—UP—Adlai Stevenson carried his whistle-stop campaign for Minnesota Democratic support to this home town of author Sinclair Lewis Saturday and charged the Eisenhower administration has forgotten "all about the farmers, the small merchants, and the people of Main street."

The 1952 Democratic presidential nominee continued a five-day swing through Minnesota with hand-shaking visits and short speeches in a series of small "central Minnesota communities. He seeks Minnesota's 30 delegates to the Democratic national convention in the March 20 presidential primary, in which he is opposed by Sen. Estes Kefauver.

Newsman Gets Vote Of Confidence

AUSTIN, March 3—UP—Directors of the Texas Press Association Saturday extended a vote of "complete confidence" to Vernon T. Sanford, general manager of TPA since 1947.

Sanford was indicted by a McLennan county grand jury in Waco last week on two charges of violating the Texas election code through his work for Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey's 1954 campaign.

The resolution setting out the directors' action was released by Russell Bryant, president of the TPA and publisher of the Italy, Tex., News Herald.

The resolution said Sanford had "done an exemplary job of developing for the daily and weekly newspapers of Texas an efficient organization which has won statewide and nationwide respect and esteem."

It said as an individual, Sanford "has demonstrated consistently the fact that he is a gentleman of integrity and dependability."

The blunt-nosed Globemaster was making the return trip from Keflavik to Herson Air Force Base, Newfoundland, when the pilot radioed in quick succession that one, two, and finally three of his engines had conked out. The plane was some 240 miles out over the ocean when he sent his last message. After that, silence.

The international weather ship Alpha steamed to the area and fished out a bottle of oxygen of the type used aboard the lumbering Globemasters. It radioed that the yellow paint on the metal bottle showed signs of "severe burning."

The weather ship also spotted burnt plywood pieces floating in the choppy sea.

Search Planes Cover Area
Twelve planes and three ships scanned over the area where the debris was found to look for other wreckage and survivors.

The plane had taken off from Keflavik in subarctic darkness. One hour and 36 minutes later, the pilot radioed his Mayday distress at the confluence of the Reme and Necker Rivers was described as a "huge sea."

The Iron Curtain was no barrier. Officials in Communist Poland were reported worried about the danger that bridges will be crushed in the breakup of ice jams.

satellites, this country will send altitudes of 200 to 300 miles can help military planners with a tricky problem of the guided missile era. That problem is to locate more exactly points behind the Iron Curtain that are inaccurately mapped now and would be targets in a war.

Aiming Points Important
For future long-range ballistic missiles to hit their targets, launching crews must know just where the aiming points are on the earth's surface in relation to the launching points. That is hard in Russia because many points are not where latitude and longitude coordinates on present inaccurate maps indicate they are.

Earth satellites can be reference points, as they whirl about the globe at 18,000 miles an hour, from which more accurate mapping may be possible. The U. S. plans to launch the first of 10 by Sept. 30, 1957.

The film, now being used in armed forces education programs, was shown to reporters at the Pentagon. A transcript was provided.

Saar Basin's Return To Germany Seen

BONN, Germany, March 3—UP—France and West Germany Saturday made progress on a program for eventual restoration of the rich industrial Saar Basin to Germany.

A communique issued after talks at the West German foreign ministry between West German Foreign Minister Heinrich Von Brentano and French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau announced a "further approach of their views" on the dispute which has poisoned Franco-German relations for decades.

Sources said the two foreign ministers reached "basic agreement" on certain factors in the quarrel for control of the 800-square-mile coal and steel producing region. Other issues will be thrashed out at another conference in Paris, March 17.

Issues yet to be resolved include:

1. Exploitation by France of coal deposits under Saar land.
2. Guarantee of continued Saar coal deliveries to France.
3. Designation of a transitional period for the present France-Saar economic union.
4. Final dissolution of the economic union. Germany has proposed a two-year time limit. France envisages a time around 1963-64.
5. The project of a Moselle canal. German sources said the talks are being based on the assumption that the German-speaking people of the Saar will be brought back politically to Germany.

The Good And Bad Of Week's News

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
The week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet:

GOOD NEWS

1. United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjöld, returning from a visit to the Middle East, expressed belief that the danger of war between the Arab countries and Israel had lessened. Hammarskjöld said he saw no easy way to a complete settlement of the Palestine dispute. "But I do believe in the possibility of an orderly progress toward solutions," he said. He emphasized that he saw no reason for "panicky reactions" to the present situation.

2. The finance ministers of 17 Western European countries, meeting in Paris, approved a plan for the collective development of atomic energy for peace. A special committee was appointed to draft within three months a detailed program of co-operation. This plan would fit in with one under which six of the countries—France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg—would pool their nuclear resources. President Eisenhower's offer of $500 million worth of uranium to aid free countries in developing nuclear energy for peaceful purposes will play a big part in both plans.

3. The United States, Great Britain and France opened negotiations with West Germany for payment of the cost of maintaining armies in Germany under the North Atlantic Treaty. The present agreement for payment expires on May 5. West German Finance Minister Fritz Schaeffer insists that he cannot continue payment. But he said in a United Press interview that an agreement can be reached if negotiations are conducted in the spirit of the Western alliance.

BAD NEWS

1. Despite UN Secretary General Hammarskjöld's optimism over the Palestine situation, Israelis were bitterly angry over the failure of the United States to comply with their demand for arms. The Israeli government demands that the United States give a yes-or-no answer now. A United Press dispatch said the reaction of the Israeli man-in-the-street to President Eisenhower's second-term announcement was unfavorable. The feeling was expressed that under Mr. Eisenhower, the Republican administration has "curried favor with the Arabs" and that four more years of Republican rule is more likely if the President runs.

2. French Premier Guy Mollet embarked on an almost desperate attempt to settle the chronic crisis in North Africa. Mollet demanded unprecedented special powers to crush terrorism in Algeria if the rebels reject his offer of political and economic concessions. Gen. Augustine Guillaume resigned as chief of the general staff because he disagreed with Mollet's policy. Terrorism in Algeria intensified. There was no indication that the rebels would accept any concessions Mollet might make.

3. Negotiations between Britain and Nationalists over the future of the eastern Mediterranean island of Cyprus apparently reached a new deadlock. Colonial Secretary Alan Lennox-Boyd, who went to Cyprus to negotiate with Greek Orthodox Archbishop Makarios, failed to negotiate with the Nationalists. The Nationalists want Britain to give them "self-determination," which would mean union with Greece.

Salary Up Would Bring More Teachers

WASHINGTON, March 3 — UP — A leading educator said Saturday that higher salaries are the answer to the shortage of science teachers in the nation's schools.

Robert H. Carleton, executive secretary of the National Science Teachers Association, made the statement in rejecting a plan proposed by David Sarnoff, chairman of the board of Radio Corporation of America.

Sarnoff had suggested that business and industry "lend-lease" some of their scientists to teach in the schools with full pay for a year thereby establishing what he called an educational reserve.

Carleton said the plan was ill-advised because it promised nothing to help correct the fundamental cause of the current shortage — meager salaries. He suggested instead that industrialists, businessmen, chambers of commerce, scientists and all other non-school citizens join in an active campaign to raise salaries to a $4,200-$9,500 range.

He said that for the past several years "we have been losing about the percentage of American families owning two or more cars nearly tripled in the past seven years — from 4.8 per cent in 1948 to 13.8 in 1955.

Representative Has Gripe At The House Restaurant

By HARMAN W. NICHLS

WASHINGTON — UP — Rep. Usher L. Burdick, the North Dakota Republican, is doubly irked.

First, he is sore because "the only dish you can order in the House restaurant without having to take string beans on the side is ice cream."

Second, he is mad because there is no free bread on the tables. You have to order it and pay extra.

The 200-pound lawmaker doesn't eat bread and he hates string beans with a passion. But he got so worked up over the string beans and lack of bread he decided to look into the matter. So, as he said in his news letter, he called on William Brockwell, manager of the House restaurant.

The interview went something like this:

Burdick: "Why can't we have free bread in the House restaurant like you can get in other beaneries?"

Brockwell: "Well, some congressmen used to come in and order a cup of coffee, grab all the bread in sight, and would not buy any-

Dunnigan Gets 10 Years

Freeman L. Dunnigan, 42, was sentenced to 10 years in the state penitentiary, the maximum penalty for incest, Friday afternoon in 51st District Court.

Dunnigan pleaded guilty to a charge of incest, arising out of the Dec. 8, 1955, attack on his 15-year-old stepdaughter. The indictment of the grand jury was read by District Attorney Bill Waters, who presented the court with the deposition of the girl, and obtained permission of Jack Hood, defense counsel of Borger, to dispense with any further testimony.

The legal penalty for incest varies from two to 10 years.

Howard J. Eldridge of Pampa was convicted last year of a charge of statutory rape in connection with an attack on his 15-year-old daughter and received a penalty of 40 years.

Dunnigan offense lacks some of the aggravating circumstances, however, of the Eldridge case, according to officials.

"I would seem," Burdick said, "that we are doing our utmost to maintain a surplus of wheat."

Then in the closing paragraph of his letter, the North Dakota congressman said, going from bread back to beans:

"... There is one thing I insist on and will never yield, no matter if hell and higher water may sur-

Skellytown Residents Digging Up A History

By RONALD WATERS
Pampa News Staff Writer

The first region-wide roundtable discussion on local history and the biographies of its people was held in Skellytown Thursday night as part of a project, sponsored by the Carson County Federation of Women's Clubs, to survey the history of this area.

The Skellytown roundtable, conducted by Miss Jo Battle, head librarian at Borger, resulted in the assignment of local history to long-time residents and pioneers of the area. These reports will be written, compiled and sent to three public libraries to preserve the material for future reference. The information will then be sent to the Southwest Collection at Texas Tech College, the Carson County Library in Panhandle, and the Panhandle Plains Museum in Canyon.

Historians realize they too will how complex the history of only the past few generations has been and how tremendously important to history is the synthesis of the past in the minds of the people who lived it.

The roundtables in this area are being conducted to stimulate interest in the preservation of historical materials, to encourage clubs and groups to hold programs on local history and to file such materials in the public library, and to cooperate with depositories that are keeping accounts of local history.

tion and most of the number has consisted of people in the surrounding area. Its citizens are stalwart and loyal, however, and residents of "Old Skelly" can still be found today.

Some of them are: Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ross, who can recall the founding of the town in 1926 and the mass move in 1927; Mr. and Mrs. George Allen; Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Crawford, who were part owners of the old Midway Service Station on Main St.; Mr. and Mrs. Guy Dunwoody, early settlers in the Panhandle region; and Mr. and Mrs. John Kramer.

The tales that they can tell and the experiences that they can relate make one recall that the "past" was not so long ago. For example, a few generations ago in the 1930's, a Model-T Ford was chugging along over the chuck holes of the main street at a comparatively slow speed when, suddenly, the driver found himself thrown out of the cloth roof and the car turned over completely on its top. E. E. Crawford and others have antique and interesting photographs to illustrate their stories.

Story assignments made to those attending the round table discussion should prove of interest when completed and compiled. Receiving instructions to write their own story, or biographies, were Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ross, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Dunwoody, and Mr. and Mrs. George Allen. Other assignments were given to Lena Moore, who will write the history of the Norris Dry Good Store; Bill Hall, who will relate the history of Nollette; E. E. Crawford, who will tell the history of the IOOF Lodge on Main St.; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Jarvis, who will recall the history of Roxanna, the churches and schools.

Others reporting will include: Mr. and Mrs. Lee Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Earl New, Mrs. Elsie Virgine, Mrs. John Glores, Mrs. Dona Crawford, Mrs. E. T. Ross, Mrs. C. Coleman, and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Coleman.

Following the Skellytown talk, discussion groups will be held in Groom, Panhandle, and Borger. A roundtable discussion on the history of White Deer was held Friday night, with similar results.

For those who are interested in "digging" up bits of history in this area, an archives collection is available in Lovett Memorial Library. Included is material on the history of Pampa, accounts of oil pioneers of the Panhandle, the county ballot, and information on the 50th anniversary of Pampa sealed in a cylinder to be opened for the centennial celebration.

Other informative material is available for scholars and research historians, who are interested in biographies of the following: J. P. Osborne, Dave Pope, Mary Purvis, Casimero Romero, Alex Schneider, A. G. Springer, Cornelia Adair, Mayvi A. Cornelius, J. N. Duncan, W. R. Ewing, J. D. Crundigton, Bones Hooks, Mark Huselby, Tom Jenkins, P. C. Ledrick, and Henry Lippold.

$21 Taken From Cafe

About $21 in cash was taken in a break-in at Merlie's Cafe, 514 W. Foster, as reported to Police officers at 9 p.m. Friday.

Mrs. Merlie Kennemer, owner, closed the cafe at 8:15 p.m. Friday to attend the Lions Club Minstrel. Later her son, J. W. Kennemer, came by the cafe and discovered the break-in and missing cash.

The west window opening into the kitchen had a broken window pane and evidence indicates that entry was made through the window by pulling the side catches.

A roll of dimes, found later under the cash register, was apparently overlooked by the burglar.

'56 May Be Expensive Year For U. S. In The Cold War

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Foreign Analyst

This is likely to be an unusually expensive year for the United States in the cold war.

Pressure is building up all over the world, directly and indirectly, for American financial and economic help.

The reason usually cited is the threat of Communist aggression or the threat of Russia's worldwide campaign of penetration.

On the indirect side, the attraction of "neutrality" as between East and West is pointed out.

There seems to be good reason for suspicion that some foreign governments are using the Communist menace and the desirability of neutrality as a means of getting money for purely national interests.

In other words, that some governments are crying "wolf, wolf" to get American aid and others are crying that they want to be lambs, grazing in neutralist pastures while the big powers fight the cold war.

Billions Asked for Aid
President Eisenhower has asked for $4.86 billion for the foreign aid program in the fiscal year which starts July 1.

It is expected that in a message to Congress next Monday the President also will ask for authority to spend $100 million a year for the next 10 years for long-range foreign aid projects.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said in a speech Saturday that the government should be empowered to commit $100 million a year for several years to aid under-developed countries.

Unless that power is given, he said, "we take a risk which is quite unjustified, having regard to the small cost of avoiding it."

Washington dispatches say that congressional leaders are either lukewarm or hostile toward this program. It is an election year.

But the pressure on the United States government from abroad, great as it is now, is likely to increase.

Wants Economic Co-Operation
President Giovanni Gronchi of Italy offers the suggestion that the United States ought to pay more attention to economic co-operation among the North Atlantic Treaty countries.

That could cost a lot of money. The threat of Chinese Communist aggression against its neighbors is a reason for substantial aid to the countries concerned.

Prince Norodom Sihanouk of Cambodia, who was long firmly on the Allied side, has declared himself a neutralist. Thailand is reported considering a trade agreement with Red China.

Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin and Communist party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev offered aid to India, Burma and Afghanistan during their visit to South Asia.

That is likely to entail corresponding offers by the United States.

Partly because of the Communist sale of arms to Egypt, American aid to that country in building its gigantic Aswan dam has become urgently necessary.

Greece Angry
Greece is angry over Britain's refusal to give up its colony of Cyprus. Russia is trying to take advantage of that. It may mean more American money.

West Germany, some suspect, is using its value to the Allies in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization to cut down—or cut off—contributions to the American, British and French armies on its soil.

These are only some of the situations the United States faces.

Obviously, American aid to many countries — Allies, neutrals and potential neutrals is going to be necessary. It will be up to the State Department, with what money it may get, to decide which bids for aid are justified.

Brazilian Revolt Near Collapse
ITAITUBA, Brazil — UP — The capture of two rebellious air force officers and the fall of their jungle stronghold were reported Thursday and it appeared the vest-pocket revolt in northern Brazil was near collapse.

Japanese Buying Planes
LOS ANGELES — UP — Seiuro Yanagita, President of Japan Airlines, was here Friday on a buying trip which may produce $50 million worth of plane orders for some Southern California aircraft manufacturer. Yanagita said JAL already has ordered a fleet of jet airplanes for 1960 delivery.

"BETTER" MOUSETRAP—This intriguing mousetrap hasn't caught any mice yet, but it has captured the attention of Mrs. Mary Kirkland of Keller, Tex. Mouse enters through the base on the right. A trap door shuts it in, forcing it to climb the wire tube, center, in search of freedom. But another trap door closes when the mouse reaches the top, so it must enter the compartment at left, through which it falls into a square tin container. The mouse's last fall triggers a spring which opens the first trap door for other curious mice.

Truck Weights To Be Checked

Jack Back, Gray County Tax Assessor and Collector, announced yesterday that the registration laws of Texas state, "the annual license fee for the registration of a commercial motor vehicle or truck tractor shall be based upon the gross weight. Said gross weight shall mean the actual weight of the vehicle fully equipped with body and other equipment."

The Motor Vehicle Division of the State Highway Department requires that all commercial vehicles, falling within certain weight limits, shall be re-weighed and the weight slip presented to the tax office before 1956 registration plates may be obtained. Back urges all owners of commercial vehicles to check with his office to see if any of their equipment falls within these weight limits.

Back stated that sales of the new license plates are behind what they were at this time last year.

All motor vehicles must have 1956 license plates before April 1 and those wanting to avoid the last-minute rush should purchase them early, Back added.

The belief that cows charge with their eyes open while bulls close theirs is false.

Choice of this big, rangy 4-Door Sedan or the dashing Lancer Hardtop

BIG... BRAUNY... BEAUTIFUL ...and built for Texas driving!

It's your kind of car... this handsome, rugged Texan by Dodge! At the very first glance, you'll know this is true. And when you take the wheel and "give the gun" to its mighty, aircraft-type, Super Red Ram V-8 engine, your enthusiasm will burst all bounds. For the Texan boasts a powerplant just like the sturdy Dodge that made automotive history on the celebrated Bonneville Salt Flats in Utah.

Surely you've read or heard recently how a '56 Dodge stock car shattered 306 AAA records for endurance and speed in that sensational 14-day, non-stop run. In this officially witnessed performance, Dodge covered the first 10,000 miles at an average speed of 105.43 miles per hour... then went on to cover more than 31,000 miles of round-the-clock driving at a record-breaking clip. This is the greatest distance at the fastest pace any make of stock car has ever travelled.

Now this handsome, flair-fashioned, specially trimmed Texan offers you the same rugged endurance and the same eager power as the Dodge that established these records. What's more, your biggest surprise is still to come!

Most likely, you'd expect to pay a pretty price for a great car like this. Not so! The Texan is priced right down with the so-called "low-priced three." Yet it's big and powerful and luxurious... actually rivaling cars costing as much as a thousand dollars more!

Never will you find a better "buy" nor make a better deal than your nearby Dodge dealer will give you today. Come in today and see the Texan close-up. Get the feel of its wheel on the road. Then judge for yourself.

DOWN, BUT NOT OUT—Spanish matador Damaso Gomez is knocked to the ground for the second of three times during a bullfight in Bogota, Colombia. Gomez, who lost his cape on his first fall, went down three times before the charging bull, but the assistant at right distracted the bull each time, saving Gomez from serious injury. Judges felt Gomez turned in such a brilliant performance that they awarded him the bull's ears.

Car Buyer Has Big Stake In Car Dealer, Builder Fight

By REY W. BRUNE
DETROIT, March 3 — UP — The average car buyer has a big stake in the current fight between the automobile industry and its car dealers.

It already has affected the price of cars and is expected to affect the services a dealer gives a buyer of a new car.

General Motors, the biggest car maker in the nation, in writing a new contract for dealers aimed to make them forget many of the complaints they've aired before Congress, has agreed, for example, to assume the full cost of warranty adjustments.

In the past, dealers have received only part of the cost of the labor in making the adjustments for car buyers who notice something wrong before they've driven the car the 4,000 miles the guarantee covers.

Warrant Work Done Last
As a result, some dealers, who have had trouble coping with all the backshop business they have anyhow during the shortage of trained mechanics, have tended to take care of "warranty" work after other work.

With the factory making sure the dealer is reimbursed for the full cost of labor, it is believed the dealers who have shied warranty work to the end of the line will be less likely to do so. The factories are expected to tighten up on inspection of new cars to cut down the amount of "warranty" work that has to be done. For car buyers who find taking the car in for adjustments a nuisance, even if the adjustment is free, this could also be a step in the right direction.

One of the big arguments has been about "bootlegging" and "phantom freight" charges. The two have almost always been considered together.

Instead of being billed actual freight charges, dealers have been billed normally for railroad freight charges "from Detroit."

Perhaps Very Little Freight
The car itself might not have come from Detroit, but have been assembled in a plant almost next door. It might have come to the dealer also by a less expensive method of transportation — haul-away trucks.

Dealers argued that this meant car buyers in some sections of the country were paying an "unfair" freight charge. They also argued it spawned bootlegging. The claim was that since there wasn't a freight charge in Detroit, unfranchised dealers were able to find a source for cars in Detroit and haul them away to distant points to sell at a cheaper price than franchised dealers had to pay for their cars, on which they paid higher freight costs.

The three biggest car makers, General Motors, Ford and Chrysler, now have adjusted freight charges to bring them into line approximately with the exact charges to each dealer.

A whale can "hold its breath" for as long as 50 minutes, but like all other mammals, can drown if water gets in the lungs.

IN A WOMAN'S WORLD — Lone male in a flower-arranging class in Pittsburgh's Carnegie Museum Building is Bingo O'Malley, 21. An art student at Carnegie Institute, O'Malley is interested in art in any form, and he says the three-dimensional medium of flower arrangements stimulates his ideas for good design.

More Places To Live To Be Available This Year

By ROBERT F. MORISON

WASHINGTON, March 3 — UP — Americans looking for a place to live can expect a wider choice this year, whether they wish to buy a new home or rent an apartment.

This is the conclusion reached by surveys conducted by the National Association of Real Estate Boards. Another is that home buyers, at least during the first half of the year, can expect price tags to be the same or a little higher. None of the surveys forecast lower price tags on newly-built houses.

In most areas, rents for residential apartments were found to have stabilized. In others, where rapid new industrial development has taken place and created sudden demand, rents have tended upward.

Higher construction costs on new apartment buildings also have caused rents to rise.

Vacancies in about half of the 300 areas covered by the survey were put at one per cent or less of available rental units. Vacancy rates in cities of 500,000 or more population was that low in only one-third of the areas. In this up-per third, the vacancy rate ranged from three to five per cent.

Some Drops Expected
As the supply of rental units improved, 29.5 per cent of the reports expected a drop in rent on the walk-up type apartments and 45.6 per cent anticipate declines for the converted older dwellings which have been made into apartments during the housing shortage since World War II.

NAREB President Clarence M. Turley, St. Louis, said most of the reporting local real estate boards expect the same or a higher rate of new home building from January to July in their areas, compared with the first six months of 1935.

This tends to clash with views of builders. But Turley explained that the sustained or higher level would not necessarily hold for housing starts nationally because expectations were found to be different in various sized communities.

"For larger cities," Turley said, "this view is less frequently shared. Metropolitan centers — that is those in the population class of 500,000 or over — are expecting lower levels of new home construction, according to three-fifths of the reports."

Limited by Available Land
"A third of the communities of 100,000-500,000 anticipate a decline, though 46 per cent predict a volume similar to 1935, and 20 per cent look forward to a rise," he said.

Availability of land for new developments is increasingly becoming a limiting factor in new home building, Turley said.

"Around some major cities, this has already happened. Blocked by natural barriers or firmly established industrial use, further horizontal growth is impossible," he said.

Prices of new homes rose "noticeably," Turley reported, in 1935 and a rise in building costs is expected this year in 47 per cent of the reporting areas. However, on the basis of past experience, the survey said, it does not follow that prices will automatically go up. The survey reported that despite the general cost increase last year, prices, in some areas at least, were not affected.

Surplus Haunts U. S. D. A.'s Aid To American Farmer

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Service Food & Markets Editor

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — The nostalgic picture of a farmer as a man who gets up at four in the morning, raises a family in a little white house with a big red barn and is the backbone of American free enterprise, is incomplete.

Today's farmer can be a man who works three acres or three thousand, a man who spends part of his time tilling his land, the other part of it earning a salary in a nearby factory. He can be a corporation capitalized for millions and either owned or managed by a non-farm industrial organization. Or he can be a tightly controlled cooperative.

In few cases is our modern day farmer the exemplar of rugged independence. The United States Government for many years has been, to a greater or lesser extent, his rich and indulgent uncle.

The new catch-all farm bill is about to go to the Senate floor, so in order to get a non-political statement of what the Government is doing for the farmer, we spent several days in the Department of Agriculture.

His two units near the Washington Monument form the second largest government office building in the world. Only the Pentagon across the river is vaster. Along miles of corridors, through connecting tunnels and over ramps, we trudged, note book in hand. Despite the political fireworks exploding on the Hill, here was only the intense quiet of a laboratory and the unemotional concentration of an auditor's office.

Surplus is the ghost that haunts these halls. To date the Government has $8,666,000,000 invested in surplus farm products. Just to store them off the market to protect prices for the farmer costs the taxpayer over one million dollars a day. Analytical charts and verified crop reports made in this building guide the COC in spending these billions.

In office after office work scientists and economists, most of them farm-raised, studying crop and weather reports, summaries of experiments in livestock feeding, production charts, staggering masses of statistics.

The job of these workers is to bring some order out of the flood of agricultural data and special pleading that pours into Washington daily.

To qualify for their job as service men to the American farmer, they must be highly trained, objective, have had comprehensive field experience and be of proven intellectual integrity. Many of them formerly headed departments in state universities. Others have achieved international distinction in agricultural research.

The job of Agricultural Research Service is to help the farmer get greater production from his land. This one department alone has $40,299,000 to spend on research this year, plus another $24,754,000 to pass along to the states and territories for agricultural experiment stations.

Secretary Ezra Taft Benson reports that in 1955 both cattle and hog production were at record or near record peaks at the same time, that crop yields were nine per cent above the year before, and that total farm output was three per cent above 1954.

A larger share of credit for this increase in production goes to the scientists in Agricultural Research. With test tube and microscope, they discovered ways to get more production out of fewer acres.

Today there are only 1.9 farm foreclosures per 1,000 farms. That is a dramatic drop from the 222,900 foreclosures in 1932. The 1954 figure was 8,600. The low point was reached in 1945-49 with 6,400. Department of Agriculture economists — asking not to be quoted — explain this by stating in effect that the government now owns the farm-mortgages instead of the banks. They are referring to the government's more than eight and one-half billion dollar investment in farm surpluses.

Of course, the government doesn't actually hold the mortgages, but through its price support program it is guaranteeing the farmer a minimum return for his crops. When the government guarantees a man an income, that is free enterprise with qualification.

The administration is now proposing a new $1,350 million project to aid the farmer. It's the Soil Bank designed to take millions of acres out of production and thereby make a dent in the constantly rising surpluses which depress prices. If it works, farmers will be able to get higher prices for

'Horse' Used To Take Off Pounds By 'Slenderella'

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON — UP — I weighed in for the slimming derby at 185 pounds.

Miss Florence Whitley, regional manager of an outfit called "Slenderella," said she would like to introduce me to a horse that would take off some of them.

"You don't even have to take off your girdle," she said.

I assured her I didn't intend to. So Miss Whitley led me to the horse. He looked a little like one, except it had no head or tail or feet. It was an exerciser to reduce fat ladies and I was playing fat man to prove practically nothing. "Forty-five minutes aboard this steed," said the slim reducing lady who apparently practices what she preaches, "is the equivalent of 10 miles aboard a real horse or 18 holes of golf."

I rode a horse 10 miles and I played a round of golf, much of the time flat on my back.

This horse contraption wiggles in three parts.

The first is supposed to reduce the rear bumper. Miss Whitley turned on the juice and mine was bumped all over the place. The second has to do with the bust. You lie on the thing with the tummy down and there is some more bouncing. This operation, if I may say so, wiggled my liver more than a little.

The third exercise is designed to correct the posture while prone. The victim is trussed up in things that looked like a football player's shoulder pads and kidney harness.

After I got unharnessed, Miss Whitley and I fell to talking. We had to agree that her customers, mostly dowagers who won't admit to running to a place like "Slenderella" for help, sort of live it up in Washington.

Too much eating. Over 200,000 cocktail parties a year, with fattening tired appetizers on the side, like olives wrapped in greasy bacon; hearts of celery that can be dipped in sauce.

Miss Whitley said she would like to show me her list of patrons. I said I didn't look because I might lattle.

She said the list includes wives of some of our best party givers. "Step on the scale, man," Miss Whitley ordered.

I stepped, girls still zipped. One hundred and 86 pounds. Ten miles of horsebacking and 18 holes of golf somehow had added a pound. "This business, of course," she IRISH EYES—Sure, and it'll be America's pleasure to have the smiling Irish eyes of May Reynolds of Kilkenny Town, Ireland, as a guest on St. Patrick's Day. The 21-year-old ambassador of charm from the old sod and "Queen of the Shamrock" won a nationwide contest to represent her country in New York City's famous St. Patrick's Day parade.

Stage Repertory Company Is Formed By Hollywood Actors

By ALINE MOBBY
HOLLYWOOD — UP — Fifty film actors, headed by Vanessa Brown, have organized the town's first stage repertory company complete with its own theater, bar, school, magazine, television show — and even a dirigible.

This unusual group is Hollywood's answer to the famed New York school of T-shirt acting, the Actor's Studio.

But while the Actors' Studio only teaches, the American Acting Co. also will stage a play once a month, beginning in April. The group now has a deal practically in the bag to stage the play as a television spectacular.

"We have our own theater in the Hollywood area, but we can't say which one as the papers aren't signed yet," said the breathless Miss Brown, who single-handedly organized the group.

"Television will help us by paying the bills."

This theater will have a Hollywood touch of a patio bar and tea-room plus a dirigible flying overhead. The huge balloon is expected to attract customers.

"I've always wanted a dirigible, and now my husband has promised to buy me one," sighed Vanessa, sounding like the girl upstairs she played in "The Seven Year Itch" on Broadway.

Getting down to earth, Vanessa revealed she has had an urge since 1948 to establish a repertory company here for film actors.

"There's no place here where you can develop in front of a live audience," she said. "You have no chance for experience. On the stage you can experiment and play old men and offbeat parts."

The acting company includes Lloyd Bridges, Ricardo Montalban, Joanne Beranger, Beverly Michaels, Cathy O'Donnell, Joy Paige, Bonita Granville and Ann Rutherford. The plays may be cast outside the group. Vanessa is busy lining up such stars as Dorothy McGuire, Gregory Peck, Jose Ferrer and others interested in pushing local theater.

their crops. In the meantime, they will be paid in cash or in kind for the acres they take out of production.

The Secretary of Agriculture, with the President's backing, is fighting to save flexible price supports. "The Soil Bank would empty our warehouses of surpluses," he said. "But 90 per cent of parity rigid price supports would fill them up again."

While the battle for and against rigid 90 per cent price supports rages in Congress, the scientists in the Department of Agriculture quietly pursue their job in the non-political laboratories. As a result we shall have more eggs this year from fewer layers, more milk from fewer cows, more pigs from fewer sows, more wheat from fewer acres.

Unwittingly, they are intensifying the surplus problem.

Southwest Journalism Pupils To Meet Thursday In Dallas

DALLAS, March 4—UP—The Southwest Journalism Congress this week at Southern Methodist University is expected to draw some 250 representatives from 14 colleges in Texas, Louisiana and Oklahoma.

Activities begin Thursday night for the journalism teachers and students with an informal reception at the Dallas Press Club. Registration continues Friday morning on the SMU campus, where most of the sessions will be held.

This year's 26th annual congress features 11 speakers, including five from New York, one from California and the remaining five from Texas.

CBS Official to Speak
Sig Mickelson, vice president in charge of news and public affairs for the Columbia Broadcasting System, New York, will be the Friday luncheon speaker. Mickelson's address will treat worldwide coverage of news on television, television's future, and some relationships of television to politics in a political year.

Two newspapermen, a photographer and a woman columnist will speak Friday morning. They are Felix R. McKnight, managing editor of the Dallas Morning News; Vermont Royster, senior associate editor of the Wall Street Journal; J. R. Eyerman of Life Magazine; and Miss Phyllis Battelle.

O. B. (Bill) Lloyd Jr., United Press Austin bureau manager, is to address the delegates following the Friday luncheon. Lloyd, who has had extensive experience in covering news in the Southwest for United Press, will acquaint the delegates with wire service reporting.

Talk on Communications
Saturday morning R. W. Bonta, of General Electric, Schenectady, N.Y., will give an illustrated talk on communication techniques and philosophy at his company.

A workshop on the small-city daily and weekly newspapers will be conducted after Bonta's talk by Charles K. Devall, publisher of the Kilgore News-Herald, and Neil Haris, owner of Texas weekly newspapers in Grand Saline, Minn. Edgewood and Wood county.

Member schools which will be represented include Baylor, Hardin-Simmons, the University of Houston, Louisiana State University, North Texas State College, the University of Oklahoma, Oklahoma A&M, SMU, Texas A&M, TCU, TWCU, Texas Tech and the University of Texas, and Tulane.

Mrs. Newton Dies Friday

Mrs. Maggie Lula Newton, 61, died at 1 p.m. Friday at Highland General Hospital.

She was born at Wolfe City and moved to Pampa in 1929 from Jefferson. She lived at 231 West Craven.

Mrs. Newton was a member of the Hobart Street Baptist Church. She is survived by her husband, Richard E. Newton, one daughter, Mrs. Nona Fugate of Pampa, one son, Maurice of Pampa; three sisters, Mrs. Clara Faulkner of Anson, Mrs. Lola Tischner of California and Mrs. Mable Scarborough of Houston; three brothers, Bonnie Mercer of Oklahoma City, Joe and Jack Mercer, both of Abilene; her mother, Mrs. M. E. Mercer of Anson and six grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Monday in the Emanuel Temple with Rev. Bill Sparks, pastor officiating. Burial will be in Fairview Cemetery under direction of Duengel-Carmichael Funeral Home.

POPE'S GIFT—This chalice of engraved crystal was presented to Pope Pius XII on his 80th birthday March 2. A gift from New York's Francis Cardinal Spellman, it bears the Pope's coat of arms and symbols of the Four Evangelists. Three rows of applied crystal on the stem of the glass represent the three crowns in the papal tiara which symbolize the temporal, spiritual and jurisdictional authority of the Pope.

The Aiming Stake

By K. L. FANCHER

Activity at the National Guard Armory has not slowed down any! All of the activity for the past few weeks finally culminated in the Maintenance Inspection which was completed last week here in Pampa and also the other batteries of the 47th Field Artillery Battalion. All of the hard work that went into the maintenance of vehicles and equipment paid off for members of the local units as they passed the inspection with flying colors. Of course, that does not mean the end of maintenance for all units, as this equipment must be kept in top shape at all times.

There'll be some members of Pampa Guard units doing some traveling this coming week. The administrative assistants of Headquarters Battery and Service Battery will journey to Austin for turn-in and requisition of equipment and also pre-camp planning. Sgt. Gerald R. Adamson of Headquarters Battery and WOJG Wesley L. Langham of Service Battery will leave Monday for the trip to the State Capital and WO Bill Leonard of the Battalion will leave for the same place on Tuesday. A good part of the time in Austin will be spent on planning this year's two week encampment at Ft. Sill, Oklahoma, which takes place in August.

Headquarters Battery has re-enlisted a couple of men, Sp 3 Bobby D. Mallock and Sp 2 Richard A. Tilley have both re-enlisted, while Benny Owen has enlisted in the Guard for the first time and will add one more member to the roster of Headquarters Battery.

The next meeting of Headquarters Battery will be this coming Monday night, March 5, and along with the regular battery meeting, there will be a Battery Commanders from the various units in the which all of the Battery Commanders from the various units in the Battalion will meet with the Battalion Commander and Staff. This will mean visitors to Pampa tomorrow from Dumas, Dalhart and Shamrock, while local commanders will also attend, and help to Keep Their Guard UP!

WALKING TICKET—A gal really has to watch where she's going nowadays. Opal, six-year-old elephant, was just walking on the sidewalk near Broadway in New York City and wham! Before she knew it she was getting a walking ticket from Patrolman Samuel Sapan. Opal's owner-trainer, Mack MacDonald, left, of Harlingen, Tex., couldn't talk his way out of it, but he tried. He told the officer that Opal, scheduled to appear on a TV show later in the day, became restless in her van and needed the exercise. Man second from right is not identified.

Some Dolls Dress Better Than Lots Of People Today

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY
NEW YORK — UP — A week in Manhattan:
Some dolls dress better than a lot of people nowadays. And designing miniature fashions is a career for women of all ages.

Two doll dress designers held special fashion shows this week in advance of the annual toy fair. Both are regarded as experts, yet one is 11 years old and one is a grandmother.

Jaci Barrett, a seventh grade student in Garden City, N.J., answered an advertisement in her local paper for doll clothes designers. The company executives laughed when they saw the child's hand writing, but they invited her over anyway.

Her ideas were so unusual yet so sound that Jaci was hired. Now she is responsible for 24 new outfits worn by 10-inch dolls made by the Paris Doll Co.

Takes a Child
It takes a child to remind us about the play value of doll clothes. Fred Gardel, a Frenchman who is president of the doll company, said:

Jaci's ideas of play value clothes often require something extra added to an outfit—such as a nosegay attached to a party dress and a rattle that is part of a baby doll's dress.

Parr Calls Duval Deal Just A Loan

ALICE, Tex. — UP — George B. Parr, the 54-year-old "Duke of Duval" county, says a transaction 10 years ago in which he ended up with $500,000 in Duval county funds was only a "loan."

Parr made the statement Friday in an oral deposition taken in Alice by District Attorney Sam Burris. It was in connection with a $1 million civil suit brought against Parr by the state.

The state contends Parr improperly used county money to buy a 56,000-acre ranch. It seeks recovery of the $500,000, plus additional money which it contends Parr earned through operation of the big ranch, located in LaSalle, Webb and Jim Hogg counties.

The suit is to be tried at Cotulla, Tex., the LaSalle county seat. Parr also faces a series of state and federal criminal charges growing out of a long investigation into his powerful political organization.

Parr said in the deposition that he paid $450,000 for the ranch. He said part of the money was his own, while part came from the $500,000 he said he "borrowed" from the county.

Parr said Duval county Judge Dan Tobin told him the county commissioners had approved the transaction. He said the "loan" involved a deed of trust on the ranch.

Awards Given For Newspaper Achievements

AUSTIN — UP — Achievements of Texas newspapermen and women the past year were recognized by the Austin Headliner Club Friday night with cash awards totaling $1,100.

Awards were presented to five newsmen and two newswomen as the club observed its first anniversary.

An exclusive story of a triple murder confession won a $300 award for Mrs. Terry MacLeod of the Galveston News. It was for news reporting under deadline pressure.

William H. Gardner of the Houston Post and Lorraine Barnes of the Austin American-Statesman tied in the second category—news not written under the pressure of deadline. An award of $150 was made to each contestant.

Giles Story Cited
Gardner was lauded for a copyrighted story on Bascom Giles, former commissioner of the general land office. Miss Barnes won her award for a feature on an 81-year-old recluse who died of malnutrition although he had several thousand dollars in secret bank accounts.

A series entitled "Texas Tinderboxes" on the Texas Prison System, written by Tom Martin and Jim Mathis of the Houston Post, won the award for the third category—a series or feature having outstanding impact upon official of public policy, with special consideration on exclusiveness, adequacy and quality. Each received a $150 award.

44 Building Permits Issued Here

There were 44 building permits issued last month with a total value of $240,852 bringing the total value of permits for the year to $911,727.

In January a total of 34 permits were issued with a value of $370,875. One new business permit was issued.

Accounting for the largest amount of permits last month were 22 residential units with a total value of $231,300. Four new business permits, in the amount of $66,100, were issued. Other permits included four remodeled residences, two remodeled businesses, three garages, and six moves-in.

Permits were issued for new businesses to the following firms: Wilton B. Adair Dental Clinic, to be located at 1700 Duncan, to consist of nine rooms, in the amount of $10,500; Highland Lumber Co. Inc., 1945 N. Hobart, a retail lumber company, in the amount of $30,000; Mud Control Laboratory, 202 W. Brown, a 40 by 100 foot structure in the amount of $7,500; and Pampa Properties Inc., the first drive-in grocery to be located in Prairie Village, a 40 by 30 foot structure valued at $10,000.

Dismissed After Revolt
DAMASCUS, Syria — UP — Unconfirmed reports here said Saturday that Lt. Gen. John Glubb Pasha's dismissal as head of Jordan's Arab Legion followed a revolt against Glubb by several legion officers. Persons arriving here from Amman reported that several officers confined Glubb to his headquarters and demanded his dismissal and that King Hussein then signed the ouster decree.

Competition in the five classifications was open to all Texas newspapers.
Contest judges were W. Lee Bond, Southwest Division News Editor of the United Press, Dallas; Bill Barnard, chief of the Texas bureau of Associated Press, Dallas; Charles A. Guy, editor and publisher of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal; Lon Tinkle, book editor of the Dallas Morning News, and Dr. Walter Prescott Webb, author and professor of history at the University of Texas.

'Home' Show To Travel More Now

By WILLIAM EWALD
NEW YORK — UP — Ariene Francis, who starts her third year on the NBC-TV "Home" show Thursday, will devote more time this season to building "Home" away from home.

"As a starter," said the blonde Miss Francis, "I'm going to Monaco to cover the wedding. I'll be off sometime around the 10th of April and spend a few days in Paris to shoot some film. Then, I'll run down to Monaco for the ceremony. You know, I have a feeling it's going to be like carnival week down there."

Miss Francis meant the Grace Kelly and Prince Rainier wedding. "After that," said Ariene, "we'll take the whole show to California for a month. This is a new departure for us—we've never stayed away that long. We'll do shows all over the place."

This business of jumping around with "Home" has been a continuing process since the show was uncorked on March 1, 1954. In her role as chief chaperone for the daytime stanza, Ariene has galloped some 53,000 miles.

"We pioneered in taking a show on the road," said the Boston-born performer. "We've been to Chicago and San Francisco and Portland and Seattle and Catalina and Cleveland and Miami..."

Ariene paused to catch her breath. "And I guess even more important, I've had a chance to see America as people rarely see it—the backstage operations of things."

Although "Home" is only on the air for an hour each weekday, Ariene's job is an all-day affair. "I get to the studio around 8 or 8:30 in the morning," she said, "then after the show, there are rehearsals in the afternoon. We're constantly hoping to try to give people the chance to see things they would never have the chance to see if it weren't for the show."

Films Show Safety Aids In Tornadoes

WASHINGTON, March 3 — UP — The Weather Bureau began distributing throughout the eastern half of the country Saturday a film showing citizens how they can protect themselves in tornadoes.

The 14 1/2 minute film will be available for showing through local Weather Bureau offices by private individuals, clubs, civic organizations and television stations.

It was made as a public service by the United Gas and Texas Transmission Corp., Shreveport, which also donated 225 prints.

The film is the latest in the Weather Bureau's all-out effort this year to provide the public with as much advance warning as possible of approaching tornadoes.

The advertiser's highest standard—of circulation value

Every industry has a standard by which its products can be measured. The jeweler uses the symbol of a pure diamond. In flatware, the word "sterling," and in dinnerware, the word "bone china," represent high standards of quality and value.

For the advertiser, the symbol of the highest standard of circulation value is the emblem of the Audit Bureau of Circulations*. This hallmark means that newspapers or periodicals so identified are measured according to the most highly regarded rules and standards in the advertising and publishing industry.

The fact that we are privileged to display this A.B.C. emblem here means that you can buy advertising in this newspaper as you would make any other sound business investment—on the basis of well known standards, known values.

*This newspaper is a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, a cooperative, nonprofit association of publishers, advertisers, and advertising agencies. Our circulation is audited by experienced A.B.C. circulation auditors. Our A.B.C. report shows how much circulation we have, where it goes, how obtained, and other facts that tell advertisers what they get for their money when they use this paper.

Pampa News Correspondent

C. T. Satterwhite is in the hospital suffering from a heart attack, which occurred Sunday and again Tuesday.

Mrs. W. R. Combes is visiting her daughter, Bobby, and family in Lubock.

The Ben R. Coffeys of Amarillo, the George L. Collins of Pampa and Mrs. Weldon Smith also of Pampa, spent the afternoon in the home of the Raymond Daughertys. By grapevine news pretty close to home, we hear the George Daughertys are anticipating a new arrival.

We hate to hear the news of losing the Eddie Rowes, long time residents of Lefors. Hear they are transferring to Wichita Falls. Understand Rowe has already left to report for work.

Many, many thanks to Ben Diehl who has donated two trees to our new city park. We hear they plan to have a picnic area, and we hope it's surrounded by many more trees donated by generous people such as Diehl.

Get well quickly to Mrs. Jim Thurmond who has been ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Rutledge, Mrs. E. D. Ross and Mrs. Ray Barham visited in Fort Worth last week.

The Lawrence Edwards are building a new home in Pampa. James Jiff filed Monday morning to run for office of mayor. Filing for reelection as city councilmen are: Hank Breining, H. L. McCarty, Jake Trout, C. H. Guston. Kenneth Cox will be taken to Dallas for further specialized treatment this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Franklin and Mrs. E. D. Parker attended Lodge in White Deer Tuesday night.

Joe Coberly celebrated his eleventh birthday Monday evening with a birthday party. Cake and punch were served to approximately 12 children.

Congratulations 4-H'ers!

4-H Club work is a community affair . . . Widening out across the nation for the betterment of all. These young people and their adult leaders are ours . . . and we feel that 4-H Club Week, March 5-12, is a good time to say to them: "We're proud of you and your progress."

Cattlemen To Hear Shivers

FORT WORTH, March 3—UP—Texas Gov. Allan Shivers and Sen. Price Daniel (D-Tex.) will be among a number of speakers at the 79th annual convention of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association in Fort Worth March 13-14.

Roy Parks of Midland, Tex., president of the association, said he expects "a large number" of the association's 10,000 members to attend the convention at the Texas hotel.

Other speakers will include Don Collins, Kit Carson, Colo., president of the American National Cattlemen's Association; Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety; Dr. P. H. Stephens, Wichita, Kan., director of Research Farm Credit district of Wichita, and Dr. B. T. Simms, director of livestock research, U.S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D.C.

The Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association was founded 79 years ago by ranchers in Northwest Texas to combat cattle rustling.

The organization since has grown to include several southwestern states and has extended its functions to include tax problems, legislation, livestock diseases and other factors affecting the cattle industry.

WEEKLY GRAIN ROUNDUP

FORT WORTH —UP— USDA Weekly grain:

Corn edged forward. Barley held steady, while milo, oats and wheat declined. That's what happened from Friday through Friday in the Southwest cash grain market this week.

Here are the net changes recorded by the Agricultural Marketing Service. White corn went up 15¢ a bushel and yellow corn 1 to 14. Milo lost 2¢ per 100 pounds. No. 2 white oats declined 1½¢ a bushel and wheat ¼¢ a bushel.

Supplies of all grains were plentiful for trade needs this week. Trading was very light. Prices reacted largely on the basis of trends in northern markets.

No. 2 white corn, picking up strength Thursday and Friday, closed at $1.74¼ to $1.76½ — the highest since early August.

No. 2 yellow corn shared the advance of white corn and closed at $1.61 to $1.63½, the highest since Feb. 21, 1956.

Barley was independently steady at $1.20 to $1.23 a bushel. Milo brought $2.20 to $2.25 per 100 pounds.

Oats went down early in the week when corn was declining and failed to rally enough later to erase the losses. No. 2 white oats were quoted Friday at 82¼ to 84-14¢ a bushel.

No. 1 hard wheat, ordinary protein content, slipped ¼¢ a bushel to bring $2.41 3-4 to $2.51 3-4.

In Oklahoma, wheat ranged from $2.02 at Guyton and Hooker to $2.08 at Bison and Hennessey. Prices at Enid, Oklahoma City, El Reno, Clinton, Kingfisher and Yukon stood at $2.07 a bushel.

Milo was mostly unchanged in Oklahoma. It ranged from $1.78 per 100 lbs. at Frederick to $2 at Ada. It brought $1.90 at Enid and $1.95 at Oklahoma City.

Beef Cattle Meet Held In Denver

Twenty states and three Canadian provinces were represented at the first annual meeting of the American Beef Cattle Performance Registry Association is result of a 24 and 25 in Denver.

This association is result of a cooperative endeavor of the Golden Spread Agricultural Council and the cooperators of the progeny trials at Pan Tech Farms and was organized by a few interested men of the Plains area about one year ago.

4-H Club Week Proclaimed

Judge Bruce Parker has designated this week as 4-H Club Week in Gray County in a recent proclamation. The week of March 3-11 has been set aside to give special recognition to the 4-H Club work on a nation-wide basis.

There are now 398 club members and about 20 adult leaders engaged in the 4-H club program in Gray County. This program has a nationwide enrollment of more than 2,000,000 and 42 foreign countries now have organized clubs.

Voluntary training for boys and girls, between the ages of 9-21 in the county, is offered in agriculture, home economics, and citizenship. In Texas the program has been provided for 41 years.

In Gray County the 4-H Club work is directed by the Agriculture Extension Service Agents of Texas A & M College. These agents work with young people, parents, volunteer leaders and others.

SOIL NOTES

When a farmer or rancher requests assistance from the Gray county Soil Conservation District, he usually has one specific problem in mind.

For example, outside water which is damaging his land. It is the purpose of the District, and the Soil Conservation Service not only to help solve the specific problem on which the farmer or rancher requests help, but also to work out with him a complete soil and water conservation plan for his farm or ranch.

The first step in working out this plan is to make a soil map, or an inventory of his soil resources. From the soil map, the land is given a capability class. This capability class is actually the crop load the land will carry due to the soil type, slope, and erosion.

In working up a conservation plan, the capability of the land and its intended use by the farmer or rancher is fitted together into a pattern so that each acre of land is used within its capacity and treated according to its needs.

It is not always possible for the farmer to do this, or he may not be sold on a complete conservation plan. In this case, it is the policy of the District to help him as much as possible as long as it fits into a conservation plan.

The conservation way of farming means fitting man's way of doing it into nature's way, which will prove the most profitable way.

during the yam harvesting season.

"To protect Louisiana agriculture interests," wrote Dougherty, "we see no alternative but for you to require fumigation of Texas citrus fruits that move into Louisiana."

Dougherty said the Louisiana sweet potato market had become "stagnant." He said some 1.5 million more bushels were produced last year than in 1954.

"The continuation of the Texas embargo caused a loss of at least 18 cars of yam movement into Texas during the last three weeks," the farm bureau official declared.

WEEKLY LIVESTOCK ROUNDUP

FORT WORTH —UP— USDA Weekly livestock:

Cattle — Compared close last week: Slaughter steers 800 pounds about steady, others weak to 50 lower, choice heifers about steady, others weak to 50 lower. Cows and bulls steady to 50 lower, thin stocker cattle strong, fleshy feeders weak. Less than 15 per cent of the run comprised cows. Stockers in small supply. Fed cattle made up most of the receipts. Week's tops: Beef steers, including yearlings 18, mixed yearlings and heifers 17.50, some 1234-pound steers 17, few head club yearlings to 20.50, cows 12.50, bulls 15, late top 14.50, yearling stocker steers 18.

Calves: Slaughter calves under 550 pounds steady, others weak to 30 lower, stockers strong to 50 higher. Choice slaughter calves 18 to 18.50, few to 19, commercial and good stocker steer calves 14 to 15.

Sheep: Receipts largely old crop shorn lambs, slaughter lambs and yearlings 25 to 50 higher, slaughter ewes steady, feeder lambs strong. Week's top: Milk fed lambs 19, wooled slaughter lambs 18.50, shorn slaughter lambs 18.50, slaughter yearlings 18.50, slaughter ewes 8, feeder lambs 18.

Hogs: Butchers steady to 25 higher, sows steady. Week's tops: Butchers 13, sows 12.50.

Embargo On Citrus Demanded

BATON ROUGE, La. —UP— The president of the Louisiana Farm Bureau Federation Saturday demanded that Louisiana place an embargo on Texas citrus and pears coming into Louisiana.

The ban would be in retaliation for a Texas embargo on Louisiana sweet potatoes.

President Malcolm S. Dougherty of the federation said that unless Texas citrus and pears are fumigated against the Mexican fruit fly they should be stopped at the border.

He made his demand in a letter to Louisiana Agriculture Commissioner Dave L. Pearce.

Dougherty said Texas Agriculture Commissioner John White has refused to suspend the embargo against unfumigated sweet potatoes. He said it had been the practice in recent years to lift the ban

Drouth Feed Aid Reinstated Here

Drouth feed aid was reinstated in Gray county effective March 1. Applications may be obtained from the Gray County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office and will be accepted through March 16.

The total amount of feed grain for which an applicant may qualify will be that required to carry basic livestock through April 15, taking into consideration feed on hand.

Mauldin Makes 1-4A 'Dream Team'

Miller, Ziegenhorn, Hall Eddleman Complete Roster

Three players — Dicky Mauldin of Pampa, Don Eddleman of Lubbock and Max Miller of Borger — were unanimous choices for berths of the all-Northern District 1-AAAA dream team which was selected by the coaches and sportswriters of the district.

Jerry Ziegenhorn, Amarillo, lacked only one vote and Jerry Hall, Borger, was short two votes of being selected unanimously for the first team.

ALL-NORTHERN FIRST TEAM
Player School
Dicky Mauldin (12) Pampa
Don Eddleman (12) Lubbock
Max Miller (12) Borger
Jerry Ziegenhorn (11) Amarillo
Jerry Hall (10) Borger

SECOND TEAM
Gene Brown (9) Pampa
Joe McKay (7) Amarillo
Jerry Gilley (7) Borger
Jerry Selfridge (7) Borger
Bobby Sumner (7) Lubbock

HONORABLE MENTION
Jerry Gee (5), Buddy Sharp (3), Jerry Pope (3) PAMPA; Ed Watson (2), Max Hood (2), E. J. Holub (1) LUBBOCK; Jimmy Hines (2), BORGER; Albert Henry (1), Dale Tarbet (5), Wendell Cason (2) and Bob Taylor (1) AMARILLO.

Each team placed five starters on the list.

The following cast ballots for selecting the team.

T. C. Hull and Putt Powell of Amarillo. Earl Gols and Tex Hanna of Borger. Tommie Ellis and Clifton McNeely of Pampa. Charles Gillespie and Max O'Banion of Lubbock.

Votes were counted on the basis of two points for each first team selection and one point for each second team selection. Coaches and writers were not allowed to vote for their own players but only for members of the opposing teams. This made it possible for a player to receive as the most 12 votes. The number of votes each player received is shown after his name in parentheses.

ALL SOUTHWEST — The '56 basketball team: top row; Raymond Downs, Texas; Dick O'Neal, TCU; Joe Durrenberger, Rice, bottom. Larry Showalter and Bobby Mills, SMU. Downs was unanimous choice.

Texas' Downs Is Unanimous Choice On S'west All-Stars

DALLAS — UP — Ambidextrous Raymond Downs, whose 28.8-point per game average made Texas a constant threat if not a winner, was the only unanimous choice on the 1956 United Press All-Southwest Conference basketball team that honored four juniors.

The six foot, four-inch Downs, who played the post for Texas although listed as a forward, won a first place ballot from every one of the eight sports writers who appeared in the voting.

He nosed out Texas Christian's Dick O'Neal, a unanimous choice as a sophomore last year, in the all-star voting as well as in the conference scoring race. O'Neal, a 6-7 center, was listed on every ballot, but had one second team nomination.

Rounding out the mythical first team were juniors Larry Showalter and Bobby Mills of champion Southern Methodist's well-balanced quintet, and senior Joe Durrenberger, the team leader of the Rice Owls, who had a 19.5 season record.

Mills, a speedy six-footer, led SMU's renowned fast break and was the champions' chief play maker and top producer at the free throw line where the Mustangs ranked around the top nationally.

Honorable mention votes went to Ronnie Morris of SMU, Jerry Mallett and Louis Estes of Baylor, Norman Hooton of Texas and Ken Hutto and George Mehaffey of Texas A&M.

Between them, Downs and O'Neal provide the team with 52.6 points per game punch, while Durrenberger averaged 18 points per game, Mills 13.8 and Showalter 13.2 — a combined wallop of 97.2 points.

The Amarillo team sparked by guard Robert Echols, who collected 20 points, battled on even terms with French until mid-way in the second half when the Dons pulled away and led the game.

The French offensive stalled mid-way in the last half after the two teams were tied at 39-36. Jacksonville Wins AA Forward Bobby Courville led French scorers with 14 points.

Big Ten Finishes Two-Day Spring Meeting Saturday

EAST LANSING, Mich., March 3 — UP — The Big Ten wound up its two-day spring meeting Saturday by appointing a three-member committee to negotiate a new Rose Bowl pact with the Pacific Coast Conference.

The cream of the field appears to be in the Region 14 tourney at Tyler where the state's three top Jaycoes clubs — Tyler, Kilgore and Lon Morris — will compete.

The free throw by Bourg, who took scoring honors with 24 points, tied up the game at 45-45.

Jr. Colleges Square Off In Tourneys

SIXTEEN junior colleges start firing Monday in two regional tournaments in Texas with the winners ticketed for a berth in the national junior college basketball tournament at Hutchinson, Kan.

The opening round pairings at Tyler include Clarendon, San Angelo, Amarillo, Frank Phillips, and Howard County.

VERO BEACH, Fla., March 3 — UP — A complete rest for "four or five days" was ordered Saturday for Brooklyn Dodger captain Pee Wee Reese, who pulled up with a lame back Friday.

The committee, headed by Big Ten Commissioner Kenneth L. (Tug) Wilson, will huddle with its PCC counterpart to negotiate a third renewal of the bowl agreement which is expected to run for an indefinite period.

The first round pairings at Tyler include Wharton (2-9) vs. South Texas (17-11), Kilgore (19-4) vs. Paris (3-14), Lon Morris (34-8) vs. Allen (11-15) and Tyler (32-8) vs. Panola (15-14).

Reese, who slipped while fielding a ground ball in his second workout of the spring and had to hobble off the field, spent Friday night sleeping on a blanket on the floor of his beach bungalow.

Marshall Captures Third In Overtime

AUSTIN — UP — Marshall's Mavericks edged Harlingen, 54-51, Saturday in an overtime game to win third place in Class AAA in the 36th annual state schoolboy basketball tournament.

The AAA consolation match preceded a battle between Houston Milby and Odessa for third place honors in Class AAAA.

Reese Needs Rest, Four Or Five Days

VERO BEACH, Fla., March 3 — UP — A complete rest for "four or five days" was ordered Saturday for Brooklyn Dodger captain Pee Wee Reese, who pulled up with a lame back Friday.

Phillips Falls To Jacksonville In AA Finals

AUSTIN, March 3 — UP — Jacksonville's Indians outlasted a last-minute surge by Phillips Saturday night to win 70-68 and grab the Class AA crown and join Laredo, Buna and Pollok Central as champions of the 36th annual state schoolboy basketball tournament.

Johnny Johnston, six-foot six-inch center, led Jacksonville to victory over their Panhandle rivals with 23 points in a game which ended under the Phillips goal in futile attempts to tie the score as the game-ending buzzer sounded.

Two Dons Place As Olympic All-Stars

KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 3 — UP — Five players for the college all-star team in the Olympic tournament to be held here April 2-4 were announced Saturday by Arthur (Dutch) Lomborg.

Laredo Upsets Dallas For AAAA State Title

Tigers In State Tourney First Time Since 1924

AUSTIN, March 3 — UP — Laredo's battling Tigers scored a 65-54 upset victory over North Dallas Saturday and joined Buna and Pollok Central as champions of the 36th annual state schoolboy basketball tournament.

Laredo, returning to the state tourney for the first time since 1924, treated a capacity crowd of more than 7,500 to a fancy exhibition of ball-handling and sharp-shooting as they swept to the "big boy" triumph before a four-station television network audience.

Buna's Cougars drove to the second straight Class A championship, the first Class A team in state tournament history to accomplish that feat, by dumping Troup, 52-42, while Pollok Central, a tiny Angelina county school playing in the state tourney for the first time, won the class B title with a record-shattering 74-68 victory over Krum.

Laredo's Phillip Tramel led the surprising Tigers to their first state title by dropping in 28 points aided by the sharp ball-hawking of forward Andy Santos.

The Tigers jumped off to an early lead, holding a 17-10 margin after one quarter and widening the bulge to 13 points when they led 25-12 early in the second quarter.

North Dallas led by forward Bobby Smith, who scored 16 points, rallied to pull within one point of Laredo mid-way in the third quarter.

However, behind the leadership of Tramel and Santos, Laredo pulled away and was never seriously threatened after that point.

Mellard Paces Buna Buna's repeat championship was led by all-state forward James Mellard, who scored 26 points. The victorious Buna five seized

Pollok Central Cops Class B Championship

AUSTIN, March 3 — UP — Pollok Central, playing in the state schoolboy basketball tournament for the first time, powered its way to the Class B championship over Krum 74-68 Saturday in a game which shattered a division scoring record.

Central's Bulldogs led a parade of champions in the 36th annual Texas Interscholastic league tourney to be crowned in five divisions.

Central jumped off to an early lead over Krum, but the Bobcats fought back from a 20-15 first quarter deficit to tie the game twice in the second period before Central moved out to a 45-35 halftime lead.

Led by forward Wilburn Littles, who dropped in 18 points, Central held onto a working lead until Krum, pressed closer midway in the second half, twice coming within three points under the leadership of Sam Marshall, top scorer in the game with 21 points.

The 142 points scored by the two clubs set a Class B record for total high scoring in one game, breaking the old mark of 138 points set by Cayuga and Big Sandy in 1954. Krum's 68 points was the highest number ever made by a losing team in a Class B final.

LOOKING AHEAD — Detroit hurler Steve Santee, who owns a bowling alley in the motor city, starts building for the future as he teaches son Brian, 3½, correct form.

Santee Wins His Last Amateur Race

NEW YORK, March 3 — UP — Wes Santee, an amateur for a night, raced through a crescendo of cheers Saturday night in what may have been his last race to win the Columbian Mile in 4:13.8.

Banned for professionalism by the AAU and running on the strength of a State Supreme Court injunction, Santee finished three-quarters of a lap ahead of the only two men who dared to defy the amateur powers and run against him. They were Ed Kirk, former Georgetown star now in the Air Force and Ed Shea, another serviceman.

Five others had dropped out of the Columbian Mile when, after the AAU failed to get an injunction against Santee's appearance in Saturday night's K. of C. games at Madison Square Garden, they were threatened with possible loss of Olympic eligibility.

Crowd Cheered Him Santee's appearance highlighted the program and the crowd of 12,500 cheered his every step as he ran away from his two rivals and took permanent possession of the Cardinal Spellman trophy on the strength of a 4:10.4 victory last year. The Kansas ran the first quarter in 59.2 but obviously was out of condition as he made his first start in some five weeks.

"I was terribly disappointed by my showing," Santee said after the race. "But I do feel good and I plan to run in Milwaukee's next week."

However, Santee's plans may be upset before then by the injunction hearing next Friday.

Cancer Drive Boosted By Cage Tourney

STANOLIND OIL and Noblitt-Coffey will be the host teams with Skellytown and Groom entering independent quintets and Phil-Tex and Ready-Mix teams turning over from Borger. Amarillo Air Force Base will also be entered.

No admission will be charged for the three-night affair but donations to the cancer drive will be accepted. All teams will be charged with a $5 entry fee which will be used to cover expenses, and all money taken in will go directly to the cancer fund.

The three night tourney is scheduled to get underway with four games Thursday night. Losers will automatically be out of the tourney since no consolation trophy is being offered. Two games will then be played Friday night to determine the final championship contenders. The second night losers will then play for third place in the tourney.

Chicago Survivors To Go Again Friday

CHICAGO, March 3 — UP — Thirty-two survivors from last week's Tournament of Champions will square off in the Chicago Stadium next Friday in quest of eight Golden Gloves titles.

Montgomery, Ala., and St. Louis, Mo., with four and three candidates respectively, pace the field among teams entering the finals.

UCLA Cops Pacific Coast Title

LOS ANGELES, March 3 — UP — UCLA ran away from California, 84-62 Saturday to clinch the Pacific Coast Conference basketball championship with its 14th straight PCC victory.

TIME TRIALS — Dick Barrett, left, Richie Gardner, center, and Dicky Mauldin are really putting it out here as they begin the 440 yard race against the clock. The tracksters, who open their season with a meet in Graham March 17, held their first time trials Friday. These three boys were tops in the 220 time trials and Mauldin was first in the 440. Pampa Track To Begin March 10

Pampa trackmen, who have been busy the past week taking advantage of the spring-like weather, will be opening their track season at the Possum Kingdom Relays in Graham March 10.

Time trials were held Friday to determine which boys were best qualified to run the events. Low and High hurdle trials were held on the grass track and were slow compared to the high school records but they razz track is slow in the first place.

The 220 and 440 yard races were timed also and found that Dicky Mauldin was tops in both events. His time, 24.9 for the 220, 56.1 for the 440, was slow also on the grass track but he is expected to increase his speed and condition when the workers finish the rebuilding of the dirt circle.

Richie Gardner and Dick Barrett were second in the 220 with times of 25.2 and 25.1. Other prospects in the races are Jimmy Enloe, Kenneth Keith and Ed Strickland. Their times Friday were slightly longer than the top three boys.

LAREDO, Tex., March 3—UP—Defending champion Oklahoma A&M will bring only about a dozen athletes to the Border Olympics next week end, but the quality of those 12 may be enough to keep Texas and Texas A&M from resuming their domination of the meet.

Top hands of the crew Coach Ralph Higgins has indicated he will bring to the 24th annual renewal of the nation's first major outdoor track carnival national 440-yard champion, J. W. Mashburn and hurdle king Eddis Roberts.

Jim Graham, who won the Border pole vault title a year ago, and broad jumper Kim Ellis, who won the Texas, Kansas and Drake Relays last year, also will be on the Aggie entry list.

Nine to Oppose Aggies
The Aggies will have nine opponents in the top university division, including Texas, Texas A&M, Baylor, Rice, Houston, Texas Christian, Texas Tech, Southern Methodist and Georgia Tech which is sending two weight men—Carl Vereen and Fred Herman.

The hurdles duel between Roberts and TCU's Bill Curtis should be one of the highlights of the meet. Both are considered top Olympic prospects.

North Texas State, the 1955 champ, heads a list of 14 schools in the college division, which will attract two big Mexican schools—Instituto Politecnico and National University de Mexico—for the first time. Others in this division are Abilene Christian, East Texas, Howard Payne, Lamar Tech, McMurry, Pan American, S. F. Austin, Sul Ross, Southwest Texas, Texas A&I and Sam Houston.

Merrow to Debut
The 1955 debut of Abilene Christian's national AAU champion sprinter Bobby Merrow, will highlight this division.

Victoria, defending champion, is not expected to have much competition from its three rivals in the junior college division—Del

808 and Jerald Barnett of Arkansas at 800.
Showalter His Well
Larry Showalter of SMU topped the second five in field goal accuracy with a .475 percentage, followed by Johnny Betts of TCU at .468, O'Bannon at .467 and SMU's Jim Krebs and Bobby Mills at .457 and .455, respectively.

Rice's Temple Tucker shot more than any other player with 205 attempts, but hit only 92 to rank him 11th at .449.
Tucker and Durrenberger topped the rebounders with 12.3 and 12.2, respectively per game.

Texas A&M's George McHaffey committed the most personal fouls (47), while Mills among the regulars drew the fewest (15).
SMU, the champion, led the teams in both field goal shooting (.465) and free throws (.796).

Denver Student Wins Race
OPPDAL, Norway—UP—Wallace Werner, 20-year old University of Denver student, won the downhill race of the Holmenkollen ski meet Friday with a time of one minute, 36.4 seconds for a 2,200-foot run. Werner, who said the course was "good for ladies," beat Olympic teammate Ralph Miller of Hanover, N.H., by six seconds.

Major League Training Camps Buz

CARDINALS
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—UP—The St. Louis Cardinals can't wait for their exhibition season to begin March 10 because it'll mean they won't have to face Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell in batting practice.

The southpaw speedballer, back from two years of Army service, made his spring debut Friday and left his teammates gasping at his "overwhelming stuff."
"What a practice," moaned infielder Ken Boyer. "You see his glove, then he pivots and somebody near the cage insists he throw a baseball!"

Mizell, 25, is regarded by Cardinal officials as potentially the National League's answer to American League strikeout king Herb Score.

REDLEGS
TAMPA, Fla.—UP—Bill Werber, 25-year old son of the ex-major league third baseman, probably will be assigned to one of the Cincinnati Redlegs' higher minor league farms, according to General Manager Gabe Paul. The younger Werber has impressed club officials here with his all-round play.

RED SOX
SARASOTA, Fla.—UP—Southpaw Mel Parnell, hampered by injuries the last two years, peled up the Boston Red Sox' training camp Friday with a splendid performance in his spring-debut. Parnell had a 2-3 record last season when he suffered from a sore arm and knee. He suffered a broken right wrist in 1954.

SENATORS
ORLANDO, Fla.—UP—The Washington Senators indicated Saturday they expect outfielder-first baseman Roy Sievers to sign his 1956 contract as soon as he arrives in camp. Sievers, the Senators' only unsigned player, was given permission to report late because of his mother's illness.

PHILLIES
CLEARWATER, Fla.—UP—It required just six warmup pitches for perennial 20-game winner port "all satisfied."

Robin Roberts of the Philadelphia Phillies to say, "I'm ready to go."

Roberts, a 23-game winner last season, tossed just a half dozen warmup pitches in the bullpen Friday and then pitched batting practice for the first time this spring. He revealed he had been working out privately in Philadelphia during the winter.

ATHLETICS
WEST PALM BEACH, Fla.—UP—Manager Lou Boudreau of the Kansas City Athletics said Saturday he is primarily concerned with conditions at this stage of spring training and is not yet ready to pass judgment on his rookies. Boudreau said, "It will be at least two weeks before we have a chance to see what they can do under game conditions."

PIRATES
FORT MYERS, Fla.—UP—Outfielder Roberto Clemente signed after a brief conference with Branch Rickey Jr., Friday enabling the Pittsburgh Pirates to re-

DODGERS
VERO BEACH, Fla.—UP—Shortstop Pee Wee Reese is expected to be lost to the world champion Brooklyn Dodgers for several days. He slipped fielding a grounder Friday and suffered what trainer Harold Wendler described as a "pulled muscle in the lower section of his back."

The Dodgers also placed relief pitcher Ed Roebuck on a strict diet after discovering that he is suffering from an ulcer.

BRAVES
BRADENTON, Fla.—UP—Rookies John Endelman, Taylor Phillips Vic Rehem and Bob McMahon, were selected by Manager Charley Grimm Saturday to pitch two innings each in the Milwaukee Braves' first intra-squad game Sunday. Grimm still was eagerly awaiting word from holdout first baseman George Crowe.

Baylor Player Leads S'West In Shooting

DALLAS, March 3—UP—Louis Estes of Baylor topped a quarter of Southwest Conference basketball players who were successful better than 50 per cent of the time they took a shot at the basket from the court.

The tall Baylor star ranked only fourth in scoring average with a 19.6-point-per-game average, but he sank 93 of the 168 shots he took in the 12 conference games for a .554 percentage.

That placed him well in front of Texas' Raymond Downs, who led the scoring with a 26.8-point average, but who wound up with a .511 completion percentage on 94 out of 184 attempts.

Two Break Even
Rice's Joe Durrenberger at 810 on 78 out of 149 and Southern Methodist's Ronnie Morris at 308 on 40 of 79 also broke better than even. Fritzie Connolly of Texas A&M was fifth at .478.

At the free throw line, Ken Hutto of the Aggies was tops with an .835 percentage (71 of 85) followed by Morris at .825, SMU's Larry Showalter at .824, Don Bilbrey of Texas A&M at .821 and SMU's Joe Krog at .818.

Downs, who fired more times than any player from the foul line, ranked sixth in free throws with an .812 record in 134 hits in 165 attempts. Others in the top 10 included John Fortesberry of A&M and Norman Hooton of Texas at .810, Jimmy O'Bannon of TCU at 808 and Jerald Barnett of Arkansas at 800.

Ticket Sales Campaign To Kick-Off Tuesday Morning

The Pampa Oiler Community Baseball Association will get the advance tickets sales campaign underway Tuesday morning at 7 with a breakfast meeting of all volunteer salesmen.

The meeting will be held in the dining room of Hotel Pampa and all persons interested in selling the advance ticket books are asked to be on-hand.

Warren Hasse, co-owner and sports director of radio station KPDM, was selected last week to head the ticket sales campaign. Anyone wishing to sell tickets who have not already contacted Hasse are especially requested to attend the "kick-off" breakfast Tuesday.

Tickets for all the home games, 71 of them, are selling for $35 this year. The $20 books sold last season were not enough to support the club for the 143 day schedule. The Oilers will be playing in a 10-team league this season and should offer local baseball fans the best for their money.

Fighter Withdrawn
HOLYOKE, Mass.—UP—Johnny O'Brien of Boston, former North American bantamweight champion, will replace Bobby Courchesne of Holyoke in a 10-round bout with Dom Sacco of Oakland, Calif., next week, our chesne was withdrawn when the Massachusetts Boxing Commission upheld a 90-day suspension handed him by the New York State Athletic Commission.

Spring training for the local club will be getting underway March 18 for the pitchers and catchers and the rest of the club will be reporting in March 21.

If the sales campaign goes over well this season the Oilers will probably be playing baseball again next season but if the campaign indicates a lack of interest on behalf of Pampa fans the Oilers will probably fold at the end of the season.

Professional baseball in Pampa depends entirely upon the fans. If they want pro-baseball enough to support it in the ticket drives they shall have it, otherwise this will probably be the last year.

The entire roster of Oilers has been signed with no more veterans added to the list this season. "We should have a fast brand of baseball," stated field manager Grover Beltz.

He has declined to say whether he will win the pennant again this season but he has several of his best pitchers back. Red Dial, Tom Pollett, Jack Venable and Buddy Woods will be working from the mound. They are all well known to Pampa fans.

An addition to the pitching staff is Gaeten Laliberte, who was recently purchased from a Canadian team that folded.

OUTDOOR LIFE — Ranchers and hunters get out a lot during the year but ranchers are more familiar with game in the area yet they do less hunting than most people. Shown above are Ray Anderson and Grover Seitz (left rear) they watch Winefred Maddox, Hayhook foreman, run the branding iron. Camie Terry is flanking and Frank Roach is ready to help. (Photo by Whitehorn)

PANHANDLE OUTDOORS

By S. V. WHITEHORN
The fellows living the year round with our wildlife usually do the least amount of hunting. That is, from the opportunity offered. One thing they have work to do almost every day. These cowboys usually are on a cake wagon by daylight and many times are busy throughout the day.

Proving around the other day we witnessed one part of the cowboy's duties in full swing. On the Hayhook ranch some twenty miles north of Pampa, lying in Roberts and Hutchinson counties, the boys were working cows at a fast clip.

The "Hooks," much like many of the other ranches in this part, usually get the word around some weeks in advance that there is a roundup in the office and the boys from the adjoining ranches gather in for the work. Many show up via pickup and trailer while others ride horseback.

Work on Hooks is usually performed in the early day fashion with the boys roping the animals (dragging calves) to the branding fire while there are two punchers that throw and hold the calf while it is being worked, vaccinated, branded, earmarked, castrated and dehorned.

Frank Roach and Grover Seitz were on hand to do a little of it all. Potts Emerson did the vaccinating, while Winefred Maddox, the foreman, was running the iron.

Many times there were as many as six calves on the ground at one time. Rob Harlan, Tooter Henry, Bo Thompson and Ray Anderson did most of the roping as there were four ropers in the corral during the occasion.

Pete Bridwell, of the Jake Osborn ranch was on hand to do most of the flanking as well as Jack Willis of the Willis Price ranch.

Bill Thompson, Camie Terry, and Rob Harlan represented the Spring Creek area. Hal Brown was kept busy for this area through the dehorned area so that the boys could apply antiseptic powder to the wound.

At noon lunch was brought to the corral. Then the men moved over to Hal Brown Camp, on White Deer creek to finish up a few hundred other calves. There were sixteen cowboys that performed the chores.

You would be surprised just how much fun flanking a few calves can be. Mr. Maddox said it would probably be June before they would work the spring calves.

Now is the time to plant trees. Don't forget that you can purchase most any kind of tree that is suitable for this area through your county agent and at prices seemingly below cost. The need for more cover and food in the Top of Texas area is urgent with the increase of our wildlife.

Recent word from A. S. Jackson, senior biologist of the Panhandle, reveals that there have been eighty-six antelope released on 100,000 acres in Lipscomb and Hemphill counties with two more truck loads due. These animals were all trapped on sheep ranches in Trans-Pacos area. The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service has established 1,080 poisoned coyote bait stations in these two counties on or adjacent to the areas where antelope releases were made.

Mr. Jackson also reveals that there have been 204 buck deer killed in Panhandle this past season with twenty of these being black tailed. The turkey kill was 813.

There are more reports to be checked. Roberts county will probably lead the high plains in the total number of deer killed with the number being 90.

Since we had a 30-day season in Hutchinson county my reports we a late arriving and we believe

Hutchinson will be a close second with probably 85 more killed in the county. Can the deer herds continue to supply this number of buck without endangering the base population? That is one of the many duties of a Wildlife Biologist.

There is a continuous study underway on the deer and turkey problems and as a result of this study there probably will be many recommendations made this summer when our deer and turkey laws will be discussed at annual county meetings of the ranchers, sportsmen and members of the Texas Game and Fish Commission.

Baseball's 'Bonehead' Merkle Dies

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla.—UP—Fred Merkle, who appeared in five World Series but never lived down one of baseball's classic "boners," died Friday at the age of 87.

The former major league first baseman died at his home here, where he had lived in virtual seclusion for the last 30 years.

Merkle was in the majors from 1907 to 1926, playing with the New York Giants, the Brooklyn Dodgers, the Chicago Cubs and the New York Yankees.

During his second year with the Giants in 1908, Merkle committed a misplay that cost his team the National League pennant and earned the nickname of "Bonehead." It occurred in a key game between the Giants and the Cubs.

With the score tied in the last of the ninth, Merkle was on first and Harry McCormick on third with two out when Al Bridwell singled home the winning run. However, Merkle neglected to run to second base, turning toward the clubhouse as McCormick streaked across the plate.

Johnny Evers, the Cubs' second baseman, noticed that Merkle failed to touch second. He retrieved the ball from center fielder Artie Hofman, stepped on second and claimed a force out. Evers was upheld by Umpire Hank O'Day and later the game was ordered replayed.

In the replayed game, the Cubs won the contest and with it the national league pennant.

Merkle later went to star with the Giants under the great John McGraw, enjoying his best year in 1912 when he hit .309. He appeared with the Giants in the 1911, 1912 and 1913 World Series, was with the Dodgers in the 1918 Series and with the Cubs in the 1918 classic.

Iowa Clinches Share Of The Big Ten Title
IOWA CITY, Iowa, March 3—UP—Iowa clinched at least a share of the Big Ten title Saturday by jolting Illinois, 96-72, before a screaming crowd of 15,000 and a national television audience.

Texas Tech Coaches Get Promotions

LUBBOCK — March 3 — Two more promotions among Texas Tech coaching staff members have been announced by DeWitt Weaver, athletic director and head football coach.

Basketball coach Polk Robison has also been named assistant athletic director, and Horace (Bud) Sherron has been designated first assistant football coach. Earlier, freshman coach Aubrey (Red) Phillips was moved to a varsity assistant's post.

Robison, center and co-captain of Tech's first Border Conference basketball championship team, the 1933-34 quintet, is in his 13th year as head basketball coach of the Red Raiders. Formerly a coach at Burk Burnett High School, Robison joined the Tech staff in 1941 as an assistant, both in football and basketball. He has continued to help with the football scouting.

Sherron has been on the Tech staff since 1963. The All-American end from Tennessee, voted most valuable player in the 1961 Cotton Bowl, played for Carswell Air Base and the New York Giants professional football team.

Weaver's football staff also includes Beattie Feathers (Tennessee), Junior Artburn (Texas Tech), Tom Hamm (Tulsa), and Phillips (Texas Tech). Feathers is also head baseball coach.

Remainder of the athletic staff consists of Dr. Ray Kirellis (Illinois), swimming coach; George Philbrick (Texas Tech), tennis; Warren Cantrell (Armour Institute of Technology), golf; Delmer Brown (North Texas State), trainer (Texas Tech), assistant basketball coach; business manager; Bill Holmes (Texas A&I), sports news director; Ken Guillet of Otton, student fencing coach; and Bill Vance of Uvalde, student assistant in baseball.

Outfielder Retires
MEMPHIS, Tenn.—UP—Outfielder Ed McGhee, who played briefly with the Philadelphia Athletics and Chicago White Sox, notified the Toronto club of the International League Saturday that he is retiring from baseball to go into private business.

Explanation Due In Indian Teepee

By UNITED PRESS
Chico Carrasquel had time to write a fair-sized novel since he last communicated with the Cleveland Indians so General Manager Hank Greenberg is going to demand "a pretty fair story" when the sick-fielding shortstop finally shows up for spring training.

Greenberg expressed annoyance at Carrasquel's continued absence Friday but said he didn't know whether any disciplinary action will be taken when Chico arrives. Carrasquel was obtained by the Indians last winter in a deal that sent Larry Doby to the Chicago White Sox.

"Let's wait until he gets here and we hear history," barked Greenberg when asked what the

Carmelo Costa Wins Decision Over Vasquez

NEW YORK —UP— Featherweight contender Carmelo Costa of Brooklyn, admittedly off form while winning an unpopular split decision over Baby Vasquez, light-weight champion of Mexico, said Saturday, "I'll be much sharper for my next fight."

Costa's next bout will be another TV-radio 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden on March 30 with Charif Hamia, featherweight champion of France.

Stocky, barrel-bodied Vasquez declared angrily, "I ween eet las' night, but I don' get eet—no?" Most of the 2,500 fans in the Garden Friday night apparently agreed with the Mexican windmill because they booed the decision justly and lengthily. And a poll of writers at the ringside favored Vasquez, 7-3-1.

Manager George Parnassus snarled Saturday, "It was the worst deal Vasquez ever got. But I won't make any official protest. What good would that do now. It was a big mistake. And I want to prove it in a return bout. I'm demanding a return bout soon."

The "Gummy" Brooklyn "cutie pie," who was favored at 4-1 because of his usual speed and elusiveness.

There were no knockdowns as 21-year-old Costa registered his 29th victory in 35 bouts and stretched his unbeaten string to seven. However, 24-year-old Vasquez slipped twice to the canvas in the 10th during his own furious attack. But he suffered his 11th defeat in 50 bouts.

Referee Al Berl favored Carmelo on rounds 5-4-1, and Judge Jack Gordon agreed 6-3-1. However, Judge Joe Vaccarella gave each five rounds, but favored Vasquez on points 6-5. The United Press similarly had it 5-5 on rounds, but 6-5 on points. Vasquez because of his big 10th round.

Colonial Tourney To Be Toughest In Meet's History

FORT WORTH, March 3—UP—British Amateur champion Joe Conrad of San Antonio, and national collegiate champion Hillman Robbins Jr., of Memphis, Tenn., were added Saturday to the select field for the Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament May 3-6.

They are the first amateurs to be invited for this year's 11th annual tournament, but officials predicted that the simon pure field this time would be the strongest in the meet's history.

Conrad has played in the invitation twice and on his first trip in 1952 became the first amateur ever to lead the field with an opening round 68. It will be Hillman's first appearance here.

Addition of the pair brings to 28 the number of players invited for the 84-player field.

A music hall star who has Pampa Kiwanis Club, to appear before in the feature of a star-studded Wilbert makes his hoops do an unprogram against the Honolulu Surfriders is Ray Wilbert, the world's foremost hoop manipulator.

RAY WILBERT
... Hoopla Artist

At the age of six, Wilbert started to play with bicycle rims in his father's bicycle shop and quickly acquired a knack of doing unusual tricks with them. He never dreamed at the time that this would lead him into a successful career in show business, but, that's exactly what it did.

When he was eleven, a touring show appeared in his home town of Niagara Falls, N. Y., heard of his skill and hired him to do his tricks between the acts of the drama. This was in summer during his school vacation, but word soon reached the theatrical agents in the large cities of his peculiar and highly-entertaining talent. They persuaded his father to let him accept a few engagements. Ray liked this and practiced long hours, adding new tricks and his bicycle rims to his expanding repertoire. By the time he was 14 he was rated one of the best of the novelty acts.

He has since played many of the leading music halls and theaters of the world. He has appeared in New York City's celebrated Radio City Music Hall on twelve different occasions, including six times for a total of 18 weeks in one year. For six years he was a circus headliner.

While playing music halls in those early days, Ray took to golf and became a low handicap player. He decided to do a trickshot act and continued it for 14 years. In 1940 while playing Chicago's Oriental Theater, the manager of the theater promised him a salary raise if he would return to his old hoop act. Ray agreed and has since confined himself strictly to that popular routine of his.

He has been a Globetrotter fixture for six years and loves it. Play the piano a few hours each week in order to "exercise" the strings and keep them in good condition.

Grudge Battle Set This Week

The Pampa Shrine Club has arranged for a main event that welcomes the chance to show should prove to be a big thriller. Clancy a few things about wrestling. The main event in this week's wrestling match will see Tokyo Joe going against Irish Mike Clancy in ment, as he likes to use a few unorthodox maneuvers of which the fans are familiar.

The opener will see Bill Parks back again this week after a long absence. Parks has been wrestling in Chicago for the past several months.

Frankie Murdock will take on Parks in a one fall 20 minute opening match. The Club has not signed the other main event but will announce who is signed later.

Wrestling is sponsored every Wednesday night by the Pampa Shrine Club and all proceeds go to the Club's Crippled Children's Fund. Tickets are on sale at Modern Drug.

Peg O' Pampa

WHAT IS CHARM?

Charm is the measure of attraction's power To chain the fleeting fancy of an hour And rival all the spell of Beauty's dower.

A subtle grace of heart and mind that flows With tactful sympathy; the sweetest rose, If not the fairest, that the garden knows.

A quick responsiveness in word and deed, A dignity and stateliness at need, The will to follow or the art to lead.

She to whom this most gracious gift is known Has life's great potent factor for her own, And rules alike the cottage and the throne.

Louisa Carroll Thomas.

Moral indignation is jealousy with a halo. (H. G. Wells)

POTPOURRI . . . and how! . . . what's this we hear about Mrs. Hal Suttle and Mrs. D. V. Burton almost crashing a party recently? . . . their excuse being they thought it was the place their missionary group was meeting . . . Understand Mrs. J. D. Howe of Panhandle gives an excellent talk on her visit to the Holy Land and has slides to illustrate . . . Johnny Kerr is the proud possessor of a white hard-top convertible . . . this is leap year gals . . . and the line forms on the right . . . should be easy to fall for a boy with such excellent inducements as a new convertible . . . the ladies of the friendship class of the First Christian Church are deep in preparations for their annual circus banquet for the high school seniors . . . it will be held later this month . . . this year, though, they are getting an assist from the First Presbyterian ladies, headed by Mrs. Traylor Price . . . Will tell you more about the banquet later . . . Mrs. J. M. Fitzgerald dressed for work so hurriedly one morning this week that she put on earrings of different kinds . . . and wasn't aware of her error until the day was half gone . . . that's not quite as embarrassing as wearing different shoes, as Peg has been known to do . . . a rash of measles seems to be sweeping the town . . . two of the sick little patients are Gina and Miles West . . . children of the Russell Wests . . . Can you remember when you had the measles? . . . Ugh! . . . Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Ford and their two children, Joyce Ann and Charles Jr., were guests of the L. E. Wests over the week end . . . the Fords live in Alva, Okla. . . Jimmy Bossay is attending a convention in Oklahoma City this week end . . . Peg saw Frances Appleby and Marguerite Nash busily conversing over cups of that potent brew — coffee — this week.

A little more patience, a little more charity for all, a little more devotion, a little more love . . . and the race will be ripe for a great burst of light and life. (Elbert Hubbard)

TOWN TRIVA . . . Mrs. B. F. Smith takes her duties seriously as counselor of young people at Lamar Christian Church . . . which is as it should be . . . the congregation of that church is growing by leaps and bounds . . . H. L. Ledrick looks quite handsome in his "spiffy" light and gaberdine shirt . . . Mrs. John Woods is proudly displaying a picture of her brother Clifford's new church now in the progress of being built in Lubbock . . . the congregation hopes to hold its first meeting there Easter Sunday . . . Incidentally, Mrs. Woods' younger brother, Frank, was on his way to Germany via plane this week to serve his overseas hitch with the armed forces . . . his wife, Joan, and young daughter, Barbara, hope to follow him soon . . . also by plane . . . Joan prefers that mode of travel to going by boat as the regulations on shipboard are that any child must be kept on a leash while on deck . . . didn't ever try to keep a leash on quick silver?

In regret matters men show themselves as they wish to be seen; in small matters, as they are. (Gamaliel Bradford)

THOUGHTS AND FACTS . . . on leap year . . . some poor souls had a birthday for the first time in four years this week . . . that sure would be a blow . . . Peg understands, however, that most people manage to celebrate their birthday once a year, though . . . either Feb. 28 or Mar. 1 . . . as you reach those years when you'd just as soon have your age a secret, it might be real nice, though . . . it wouldn't remind you of those fast advancing years so often . . . and if anyone asks your age, you can hedge and say you've only had 10 birthdays, or something like that . . . it could be put to quite good use . . . well, back to those persons with birthdays on Feb. 29 . . . understand there's John Wilds . . . Mrs. Annie Lillian Dixon . . . little Nancy Lam who had her third birthday . . . and Mrs. Burl Lewter . . . understand Mrs. Lewter and her daughter made that famous "Believe It or Not" column one year . . . seems both Mrs. Lewter and her daughter were celebrating their same birthday that year . . . going back to thinking about that extra day every four years . . . Peg was curious to see if there were ever any great persons . . . known throughout the world . . . or at least the country . . . born that day . . . but she didn't have the necessary reference books so never did find out.

The size of a man can be measured by the size of the thing that makes him angry. (J. K. Morley)

HERE AND THERE . . . the Lions Club minstrel was really good this year . . . just as good, if not better, than before . . . Dr. Joe Donaldson and Dr. Malcolm Brown seemed to have so much fun "cutting up" as end men . . . and the minstrel band was excellent . . . only Peg couldn't hear the banjo so well . . . that little Sissy Milliron is "cute as a bear" . . . Peg thinks Henry Gruben should get special, special mention . . . he was business manager and did a good job . . . a big job well done . . . had big crowds their both nights . . . Understand Walter and Maria Stein have two gorgeous dogs . . . German shepherds . . . one, Peg heard, comes from a line of about 60 champions . . . Walter is now teaching the dogs an obedience course . . . seems he had to go to Amarillo and take the course to come back to teach to the dogs . . . sounds quite intricate . . . speaking of pets . . . Lenore Sloan is quite a cat fancier . . . she has two gorgeous cats . . . she likes cats so much she has made all sorts of statues and paintings of them . . . Peg's heart goes out to Lenore as Peg loves cats, too . . . thinks they're much smarter than dogs, but not as affectionate . . . or of quite as lovable a nature as some dogs . . . Well, March came in like a lamb . . . wonder if that means it will go out like a lion . . . guess we'd better be grateful and enjoy the lovely weather we've been having while we can.

There are no trifles in the moral universe of God. Speak but one true word today and it shall go ringing on through the ages. (W. M. Pushon)

THE COUNCIL OF CLUBS greenback coffee is wending its way this way . . . it won't be long . . . next Sunday, in fact . . . Peg's heard some of the plans for the decorations and they sound real cute . . . and the "eats" promise to be real tasty . . . there won't be any special invitations . . . just everyone is invited . . . you men, too . . . the women just want to show off their new furniture . . . and raise a little money to finish paying for it . . . in fact, Peg will invite you, right now . . . so, be sure to come . . . they'll have some entertainment, too . . . A big crowd will be a nice reward for those who've put so much time and effort into it . . . especially Katie Key.

Seeing that we have to attain to the ministry of righteousness in all things, we must not overlook small things in goodness or in badness, for "trifles make perfection" and "the little foxes . . . spoil the vines." (Mary Baker Eddy)

BEFORE PEG'S SPRING FEVER takes over completely . . . as it has been threatening all day . . . she'd better close for the week . . . but I'll be around again next Sunday.

Your Peg.

Miss Charlotte Call Becomes The Bride Of Roy Edwin Lowe In Chapel Service

In a double-ring ceremony at 7 p.m. Feb. 24, in the chapel of the First Methodist Church, Miss Charlotte Ann Call became the bride of Roy Edwin Lowe, Rev. Woodrow Adcock officiated. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Call, 1121 Terrace, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Stella Lowe of Amarillo. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of chantilly lace and tulle over satin. The fitted lace bodice was styled with a sweetheart neckline trimmed with embroidery and edged with tulle. The lace sleeves were short, and the bouffant lace skirt was trimmed with embroidery and edged with a pleated tulle ruffle. She wore elbow-length mitts of tulle that came to points over her hands. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a white lace cap accented with seed pearls, and she carried a bouquet of roses over a white pearl-covered Bible.

Miss Leona Miller was maid of honor. She was attired in an ice-blue gown and carried a bouquet of white and blue carnations. Misses Jan Adams and Jaime Cohea were candlelighters. They wore white gowns and blue wristlets. Neal Lowe, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man. Ushers were Eddie Bowman of Spearman and Bennie Gallahan of Amarillo. The chapel was decorated with baskets of white gladioli, palms and candelabra with white tapers. Mrs. Roy Johnson was organist and Dean Kelley of Amarillo sang "Ah! Sweet Mystery of Life" and "The Lord's Prayer."

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Call wore a navy blue suit with pink accessories. Mrs. Lowe was attired in a navy blue dress with pink accessories. Both wore corsages of pink carnations. Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church parlor. The serving table was covered with a white net cloth over white satin. The centerpiece was an arrangement of roses, stock and white tapers. The three-tiered all-white wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. White punch and cake were served. Miss Margie McKee presided at the punch bowl, and Miss Janice Baker served the cake. Guests were registered by Mrs. Pat Restine of Amarillo. For the wedding trip, the bride wore a brown linen suit with blue accessories. Her corsage was of white roses. The couple will reside in Canyon, where both are attending West Texas State College. The bride was graduated from Pampa High School and has attended Oklahoma City University and WTSC. The bridegroom was graduated from Amarillo High School and is attending WTSC. Both are music majors.

White Deer Circles Hold Mission Study

WHITE DEER — (Special) — Circles of the W.M.U. White Deer Baptist Church, met at the church for mission study. Mrs. L. V. Ratliff reviewed the book, "American Negroes." Scripture was read by Mrs. Dooley. Mission books were distributed among members to be read for the year. The opening prayer was given by Mrs. W. B. Carey. Those present were Mmes. C. C. Kelly, Ralph Higgins, W. B. Carey, G. A. Bell, L. V. Ratliff, Ronald Gooch, C. R. Pickens, Kenneth Lister, Gerald Shultz, J. S. Dooley. Next meeting will be Monday in the church, to begin a week of prayer for home missions. The closing prayer was given by Mrs. Pickens.

Six First Baptist Church Circles Hold Meetings During Week For Bible Study

Circles of the Women's Missionary Union, First Baptist Church, meeting during the week were the Julia Luper, Darlene Elliott, Wini Trent, Mary Alexander, Ruby Wheat and Lillie Rogers. Mission and Bible studies were held during the meetings.

JULIA LUPER The Julia Luper Circle met in the home of Mrs. Rex Jones, who also gave the opening prayer. Mrs. E. B. Bowman led the business session, and the Royal service program was presented by Mrs. Jim Bush. The meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. Glenn Day. Seven members were present.

DARLENE ELLIOTT Mrs. C. L. McKinney was hostess to the Darlene Elliott Circle, with Mrs. A. A. Day giving the opening prayer. The business session was led by Mrs. J. G. Ramsey, who also taught the Bible lesson. Closing prayer was given by Mrs. Dosis Anderson. Present were eight members.

MARY ALEXANDER The Mary Alexander Circle met in the home of Mrs. W. R. Bell. Mrs. T. C. McGlohon gave the opening prayer, and the business session was led by Mrs. W. R. Bell. Dord Fitz Speaks To 20th Century Members On Art

Twentieth Century Club met recently in the home of Mrs. Roy McKernan, 1305 Charles, with Mrs. E. L. Campbell, president, in charge of the business session. Dord Fitz, area artist and art instructor, was guest speaker. He was introduced by Mrs. Richard Stowers, program leader. "A child's world is not our world," Fitz told the women. "His world is much more imaginative, creative and alive. For us to really teach art to a child, we must first train the adult." Fitz showed a number of drawings to illustrate his talk. "In working with children, do not impose an image upon them," he cautioned. "Evaluate the image he has made, and you will really know your child." Guests were Mmes. Frank Stallings, G. F. Branson, George Scott, George Vineyard, all of Pampa; and Mrs. Joe Kirkpatrick and Mrs. Farris Minton, both of Amarillo. Members attending were Mmes. H. R. Thompson, Jack P. Foster, Kirk Duncan, J. B. Massa, W. R. Campbell, R. H. Sanford, Traylor Price, V. J. Pamieson, Raymond Harrah, Roy McKernan, E. L. Campbell and J. B. Massa.

PLAN GREENBACK COFFEE Shown making plans for the greenback coffee, to be given by the Council of Clubs from 2 to 5 p.m. March 11, in the City Club Room, are several members of the decorating committee. They are, left to right, Mrs. H. H. Butler, Mrs. Julian Key, council president; and Mrs. Clarence Lutes. Mrs. Key and Mrs. Butler are co-chairmen of the committee. The coffee will be open to the public. (News photo)

TO BE MARRIED Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Dixon, 809 N. Gray, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Margery Lea, to Harold Salmon, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Salmon of Dallas. The ceremony is scheduled for 10:30 a.m. March 31, in the First Presbyterian Church, Pampa. (Photo by Laughhead Photographers, Dallas)

Miss Dona Ramsey And Jerry Green United In Marriage In Home Service

CANADIAN — (Special) — Miss Dona Ramsey and Jerry Green were united in marriage Feb. 11, in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ramsey of Canadian. Rev. W. H. Bryant of Plainview officiated for the double-ring service. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Green of Amarillo. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white lace over satin. The fitted-lace bodice was topped with a short jacket styled with a round collar and short sleeves. She wore short lace mitts and carried a white Bible topped with a bouquet of yellow jonquils tied with brown ribbon. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a silk braid that accented with pearls and sequins. For something old and borrowed, she carried a silk lace handkerchief and wore a pearl clover-leaf pin, both belonging to her maternal grandmother. "Something new" was a pearl necklace, a gift of the bridegroom; and she wore a blue garter made by her aunt, Mrs. Alston Riley. She also placed a penny in her shoe. Mrs. Buster Walker, sister of the bride, wore a brown linen dress with a lace jacket and lace mitts. She carried a nosegay of yellow roses. Evert Blackwell of Pampa served as best man. Other attendants included Miss Lou Ann Green, candlelighter, and Janie Walker, flower girl. Decorations for the ceremony included arrangements of yellow gladioli and yellow jonquils. Mrs. Mose Damron was pianist, and Mrs. John Para sang "With These Hands" and "Because."

RUTH MILLETT

Some women seem to think that the more they do for a man and the more they do without for him the more they will be loved and appreciated. It doesn't often turn out that way. A man feels much more pleased with a woman when he is pleased with himself because he has done something for her. When he has done something for himself, she owes her gratitude. So the woman with the understanding heart never out-gives her husband. This has to be subtly done. She can't just demand the things she expects of her husband. What she demands, she may get. But doing just what is obviously expected of him doesn't make a man feel pleased with himself. What a woman has to do is make opportunities for a man to see for himself that if he did this or that he would surprise and please the woman in his life. The feeling that he has thought these things up himself is what gives him a feeling of pleasure and satisfaction. The disillusioned woman who complains of how much she has done for her husband through the years and how little he appreciates her sacrifices ought to ask herself one question: "What have I let him do for me?" If she has fallen down there, then she shouldn't be surprised that she isn't as loved and cherished as she would like to be. A woman usually ends up by being taken for granted—sometimes even resented—if what she does for a man isn't balanced by what he does for her.

Billy Joyce Adams And Thomas Franklin Marry In Double-Ring Service In Denton

SKELLYTOWN — (Special) — Miss Billy Joyce Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Adams, Skellytown, became the bride of Thomas Franklin Lyon, son of Mrs. Flora B. Lyon, of Carrollton, Mo., in a double-ring ceremony recently. Rev. F. R. Weedon officiated for the service in the Grace Temple Baptist Church, Denton.

Baskets of white gladioli framed the altar. Preceding the ceremony, organ selections, including "Because" and "O Promise Me," were played by J. T. Coon.

Candles were lighted by James Lyon, brother of the bridegroom. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a pastel-blue wool suit, trimmed in gray mink. She wore a white satin beaded hat and white wrist-length gloves. She carried a white Bible topped with an arrangement of gardenia and narcissus blossoms.

The traditional "something old" was gold and ruby locket, given to her by her mother. The Bible she carried was borrowed from the matron of honor.

Mrs. William E. Mattingly of Houston was matron of honor. She wore a navy blue suit with navy blue and white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations. Robert Lyon of Carrollton, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Adams wore a navy blue suit with white and navy blue accessories. She wore a white carnation corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was held in the Dixie Belle Room of the Southern Hotel in Denton. The table was centered with an arrangement of white stock, blue carnations and silver love birds.

The bride is a graduate of White Deer High School and of North Texas State College, Denton. She is employed by Sun Oil Company of Dallas.

The bridegroom graduated from Carrollton High School and is now a senior student at North Texas State College, Denton. He served four years in the Air Force.

Following a wedding trip to New Orleans, La., the couple are at home at 2268 W. Oak, Denton.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Until recently Kit and Margy, ninth grade classmates, have been best friends. Now Margy has acquired a "steady" boy-friend.

Instead of Kit, it's Joe who walks home with her from school. Her weekends are filled by dates with him. Her talk, once speculation of what some dream boy-friend would say and do, is now filled with references to what the real one has actually said and done.

Last Saturday, Margy telephoned Kit to say that she could come over to supper if she were wanted. Joe she explained, had to break their movie date because of a cold.

Eagerly invited, Margy never arrived. Telephoned, her mother said vaguely, "Why, Joe's mother asked her over there for supper. Didn't you know? I guess she was in a hurry."

To comfort Kit, her mother said, "What a way to treat a good friend like you! If this is how she's going to behave toward a girl who's as loyal as you are, you better let her go."

But Kit has been unable to let Margy go. The implanted vision of herself as an unappreciated but devoted friend to Margy has made it impossible.

The belief that she cherishes Margy when in fact she feels fury at her forces her to continue to depend on the other girl for all her companionship — and exposes her to increasing snubs by Margy that naturally increase her rage.

In these situations, we do not comfort children by endowing them with noble feelings toward the ungrateful friend. For Kit needs to be made aware of her critical indignation with Margy so she'll be freed from the need to cling to her — and begin the development of critical judgment for wiser friendships.

Let me pass on these illuminating remarks on the function of anger by Dr. Erich Fromm. Writing in his book, "The Forgotten Language," he says:

"If rage is permitted to be felt consciously, it can be the basis for healthy rebellion; it can lead to a re-orientation in terms of self-assertion and eventually, to freedom and maturity. Once this aim is reached, the rage will disappear. Thus, rage is sometimes a necessary step in the healthy development and is not irrational."

We are seduced, the Bible says, by those who cry "Peace!" when there is no peace. We are equally betrayed by those who credit us with kindness not yet developed.

BETROTHED

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Henry, Phillips, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Patsy Ann, to Tommy Sullyman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Sullyman, 200 N. Ward, Pampa. One Bane of Toddlers' Mothers is lost objects. Wherever did the ash tray go? And why is the silverware missing one fork? And whatever became of the pin cushion? Most of these turn up when housecleaning takes place. Others have vanished forever. Which do you prefer: an alert baby or that nasty old 1812 spoon?

Baby does enjoy the company of other babies, even if they seem to ignore each other. It Baby is the only one, give him chances to play with neighbors in their homes or in yours.

Now comes the time when mother's tendency is to keep Baby indoors. It may be too windy or seem too cold. But a baby who stays indoors all winter is pasty-faced and has little appetite. For this reason, get him outside for a stroll or shopping often.

A Message from Your Neighborhood Pharmacy

IN ANCIENT DAYS, Pharmacy was practiced only by priests. All forms of the healing arts were connected with religious rites.

DURING THE SEVENTEENTH CENTURY, Pharmacy, the science of compounding, dispensing, and protecting medicines, became separate from the practice of medicine which is the science of treating disease and the prevention of health.

NOWADAYS, A PHARMACIST must study four years in a College of Pharmacy, and pass a state examination before he can receive a license to practice pharmacy. Modern pharmacy is becoming so technical, that it has already been pointed out that in 1960 it will be necessary to increase the College of Pharmacy requirements to five years study.

PHYSICIANS, PHARMACISTS, AND RESEARCH CHEMISTS are the health team that work together to keep you healthier longer. As your pharmacist, we will cooperate by observing the strict requirements of dispensation, and keeping informed of all new progress.

Miss Helen Dunlap Presents Program On Easy Meal Preparation To HD Club

Miss Helen Dunlap, county home demonstration agent, gave a program on main dishes for lunch or supper at the recent meeting of the Goodwill HD club in the home of Mrs. A. P. Coombes, 916 Frederic.

Miss Dunlap emphasized the importance of simplicity in meals to save the housewife time. Meals should be planned a day ahead at least, but preferably a week ahead. She told the women that by storing leftovers, meal simplicity could be maintained without repetition. She also advised serving only one kind of meat each meal to leave a choice of meat for the next meal.

Few people have time to prepare garnishes that take long preparation, she told the women, suggesting using available colors such as in tomatoes, green peppers, carrots and parsley. She advised serving light foods during the summer and heavy foods during the winter.

Miss Dunlap showed shortcuts in preparing a casserole. She suggested grating green peppers and onions, rather than chopping them, using a coarse grater for the peppers and a fine grater for the onions. She also told the women to use leftover meat and rice or potatoes. She recommended adding one teaspoon vinegar to the water in which rice is cooked to keep it from sticking together.

The rice and meat casserole Miss Dunlap demonstrated was served during the social period, with cherry cobbler as a dessert. During the business session, led by Mrs. John Johnson, president, Mrs. Leland Diamond was appointed club reporter to replace Mrs. Derrell Hogsett, who has resigned. Mrs. A. P. Coombes announced the home demonstration clubs cleared more than $100 by selling refreshments at the Fat Show.

Next meeting will be at 9:30 a.m. Mar. 15, in the home of Mrs. Louis Epps, 1909 Duncan.

Attending were Mmes. John Johnson, Bill Cox, Worth Nelson, Leland Diamond, W. L. Epps, James Baird, and Miss Helen Dunlap. Guests were Mrs. LaDon Brandford and Mrs. John Cunningham.

The cookies will arrive at the Little House on East Kingmill Monday noon, and the girls and leaders may pick them up any time after 1:30 p.m., according to Mrs. Fern Dawson, office secretary. A scooter will be used to deliver the cookies to homes and meeting places. Mrs. Dawson expects to have all the boxes issued by Monday afternoon.

The cookies sell for 40 cents a box. A total of 7,300 boxes have been ordered, 1,020 more than in 1955.

PTA City Council Will Meet Tuesday

The Parent-Teacher Association City Council will meet at 8 a.m. Tuesday in the office of Dr. Ruth Lows, Junior High School.

A report of the nominating committee will be given. Mrs. James Lewis, president, will give highlights of the conference to be held in Childress in the spring. A reading and vote on the council amendments to the council by-laws are also on the agenda.

Mrs. Lewis announced the council will cooperate with schools in observing Texas Education Week by presenting a program Saturday and by observing Teacher Appreciation Week.

A new, all-season knitted costume ideal for traveling was recently introduced in New York. It consists of a sleeveless sheath and matching jacket of knitted black-and-white Acrlon. During a demonstration, it was washed, dried and ready to wear in 40 minutes.

An inexpensive magnifying glass provides a fascinating toy for a child.

Cordination is one secret of looking well-dressed. A sequin hat doesn't go with a tweed suit nor inexpensive shoes with a costly dress.

MRS. CHARLES RAY ROBERTS

Marceline McCracken, Charles Roberts Exchange Nuptial Vows In Home Service

Wedding vows were exchanged Feb. 18, by Miss Marceline McCracken of McLean and Charles Ray Roberts of Amarillo in a home service ceremony in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy McCracken.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white tulle dress, styled with a long-torso bodice and scoop neckline trimmed in rhinestones and a rosebud motif. She wore a winter-white straw half-hat and carried a bouquet of red carnations over a white Bible.

Miss Helen Bruner was maid of honor. She was attired in a pink silk-shantung dress with a white carnation corsage. Ringbearer was Cheryl Jean Davis, niece of the bridegroom. She wore a blue tulle dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of baby-pink roses.

Wayne Morris of Clarendon served as best man.

Miss Mollie Ervin played the traditional wedding marches on the accordion, and Miss Jo Ann Turner sang "Because" and "Always."

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. McCracken was attired in a navy blue dress with matching accessories. Her corsage was of red carnations.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held. The serving table was covered with a lace cloth over red linen. Centering the table was the three-tiered wedding cake flanked by white tapers. Guests were registered by Mrs. E. C. Husted of Pampa. Miss Laura Brown served the cake, and Miss Helen Day presided at the punch bowl. Others assisting were Mrs. C. C. Hayter of Lefors and

Mrs. Martin Bilderback of Amarillo, both aunts of the bride.

The bride is a senior student in McLean High School. The bridegroom was graduated from Clarendon High School and is now attending Draughan's Business College in Amarillo. He is also employed in Amarillo by the Santa Fe Railway Company.

The couple will be at home at 408 Houston St., Amarillo.

Perryton Couple Has Anniversary

PERRYTON — (Special) — Mr. and Mrs. Jess Williams celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, recently in the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John McIlroy, 309 S. Drake.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. Dean Yaden and Mrs. Jack Stephens. A family dinner was held at noon, with the entire family present except a daughter, Mrs. Mott Smith of Livermore, Calif.

Open house was held in the afternoon. Approximately 50 called.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams were married in 1906 in Aledo, Okla., and have lived in Perryton for 12 years.

For spring, Jacques Griffe, noted Paris designer, stresses three themes in his collection — the tube, the bell and the ball. Tubular effect is seen in simple sheath dresses. Full cocktail and dinner dresses relieve the bell motif by deep ruffled hems or box-pleated features. The ball silhouette features full skirts pulled into a two-inch band at the hem, like a harem skirt with a cuff.

Show Can't Find Pretty, Brainy Girl

By WILLIAM EWALD
NEW YORK — UP — The channel swim...
The producers of "The $64,000 Question" have given up their search for a glamour girl with brains. More than 200 girls were screened, but none measured up.
Thus far, Phil Silvers hasn't picked a replacement for actor Harry Clark who died in New York this week. Clark played Sgt. Bowditch, head of the mess hall, in the Sgt. Bilko series.
Network brass already are forming plans for the fall season. Among the probable casualties on ABC-TV are "Down You Go" and "Stop the Music" and on CBS-TV, "Navy Log" and the "20th Century Fox Hour."
George Wright, the 14-year-old wonder of "The Big Surprise," carved his $100,000 mason this week. It broke down like this: $30,000 into a trust fund, $7,500 to his family, $10,000 to charity and the rest to Internal Revenue.
Mike Wallace will replace Jack Barry as emcee of "The Big Surprise" on April 7. The producers of the show explain they want "a more intense type."
Bob Keeshan who plays "Captain Kangaroo" on CBS-TV has cut four sides for Columbia Records—"Please and Thank You," "Knife, Fork and Spoon," "Captain Says" and "Captain Kangaroo's Happy Birthday Song."
One girl's leap year: Mary Kelly of NBC-TV's "Today," who championed J. Fred Muggs around the world recently, will take the chip on a tour of the United States this spring.
"On Your Account" and "Love Story" will fade off CBS-TV on April 1. They'll be replaced by a romance drama and a detective series.
And love that quote from Zsa Zsa Gabor who was asked if she would like to do a 39-week series on TV.
"But darling," said Zsa Zsa, "how could I stick with a 39-week series when I can't even stay with one husband?"
The compound eyes of the Dragonfly nearly encompass its head. Each large eye is composed of 20,000 individual units.

FISH TALE—Ted Williams, the Boston Red Sox slugger, is giving some expert advice on another sport—angling—to young David Roberts, of Lexington, Mass. David was visiting the New England Sportsmen's Show in Boston where Williams was a top attraction.

GOING PLACES—Crown Princess Beatrix of the Netherlands is a pedal-pusher like most teen-agers in Europe. She's shown on her bike riding through the streets of The Hague. Just turned 18, Beatrix assumed the title of Crown Princess on her birthday. Bicycling is the most popular means of transportation in Europe, and the Princess does her share.

WELL BALANCED—The Rogge sisters, a German acrobatic team, are rolling the big balls up a 45-degree incline for a circus act in Paris. At the top, they roll down another ramp, but the going is just as rugged downhill.

ON THE ROPES—Referee Frank Udvari gave the spectators an unexpected thrill as he leaped onto the top of the wooden barrier of the ice hockey rink at Madison Square Garden. He was getting out of the way of Larry Popein, left, of the New York Rangers, and Red Sullivan of the Chicago Black Hawks. The Rangers won, 6-1.

PICTURE SPORTS NEWS

OUTNUMBERED—During the first quarter action of a collegiate basketball game between LaSalle and Furman in Philadelphia, Charles Singley of LaSalle fights for the ball. He's surrounded by Furman's Fred Fraley, left, Bill Hanks, in rear, and Dick Wright. LaSalle won, 73-65.

PRETTY CAPTAIN—Jackie Welch of Miami was chosen "Honorary Captain of the Fleet" in the 21st Annual Metropolitan Fishing Tournament. Some 400,000 persons take part in this event each winter, competing for prizes for the largest fish of 31 species. Jackie will help make it eventful.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS—They were the times of sleigh rides, and they're being revived as winter fun at Hartland, Wis., by Fred Werseen. Dashing over the frozen lake with him are Susan Blank, 10, and Barbara Beam, 11, right. The horse wore ice-gripping shoes.

SKIING ALONG THE PALMS—It's indeed a cold wintry day when one can go skiing at Nice, France. One pretty tourist had to swap her bathing suit for a ski outfit when a record snowfall hit the Mediterranean town. The tropical palms in background seem out of place.

WHAT'S GOING ON?—The clues are cold, but a good detective could tell what took place by closely observing these tracks in the snow at Leavenworth, Kans. Give it a moment's thought, then give up if you must. But the track pattern was caused by a boy carrying his sled until it got too heavy. In the foreground, he put the coaster down and just pulled it across that great white expanse.

MAKING THE BEST OF IT—When the Danube River overflowed into the streets of Vilshofen, Germany, things were pretty bad. But the water receded into its proper channel and then froze, so the Bavarian residents used the famed waterway as a playing field for the ancient game of curling. The sport is rarely played any more, but it helped the residents of Vilshofen forget the worst cold wave in Europe in years.

TRYING THEIR LUCK—Ann Woods, 18, and a local prospector are shown dry panning for gold in the rugged country around Phoenix, Ariz. Dude prospecting has become a favorite tourist pastime in the Valley of the Sun, and Ann and her companion aim to find out if there really is gold there.

PIPE THIS—Army Maj. Rhinehardt Schmilski settles back to enjoy one of his 230 pipes. Schmilski, commanding officer of the 1st Medical Battalion at Fort Riley, Kan., collected the pipes during his military tours overseas. He smokes all but one, a 300-year-old pipe he says is "just too rank."

Groom Personals

By BARBARA TERBUSH
Pampa News Correspondent

Groom had its worst wind storm of the year Friday when howling west winds blew in, bringing a blanket of dust from states west. Although the high winds caused considerable extra work for the housewives it is believed little damage was done to local farms.

Along the patients at the Groom Hospital the past week were: Ernest Beck, McLean; Martha Mullins, Clarendon; J. R. Nelson, Wellington; Mamie Arnold, Claude; Mrs. Marilyn Carter, Dodson; Mrs. Mary Dunn, Groom; Mrs. Leslie Henderson, Pampa; B. B. Ashford, Borger; Mrs. W. O. Priest, Vega; Bill Rowe, Groom; Mrs. Guy Beasley, McLean; Mrs. Herman Winegeart, Groom; H. E. Elliott, Clarendon.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Patterson received a letter this week from Texas A&M College that their son, Bud, has received the high scholastic honor of being placed in the "Distinguished Scholar" group. Bud is in his senior year at A&M.

Mr. and Mrs. George Demic of Amarillo were visiting in the home of his brother, J. B. Demic and Mrs. Demic, Tuesday.

Mrs. Travis Johnson and son, Leon of Erick, Okla., visited in the home of her sister, Mrs. Lee Crowell, last week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Stuart were visiting in Clarendon Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Liles of Calumet, Okla., visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Jones, Jr., last Thursday and Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Friemel took a group of young people to Palo Duro Canyon Sunday for an outing. Those attending were Orville Thomas, Wendell Sells and Austin Hooker of Amarillo, Shirley, Don and Diana Friemel and Mary Margaret Fields.

Mrs. Blanche Harris arrived home Monday from Sedalia, Mo., where she visited her daughter, Mrs. John Ryan for the past two months. En route home Mrs. Harvis spent two weeks at Pitcher, Okla., with her cousin, Mr. and Mrs. George Raouls.

Mr. and Mrs. Danna Howerton and children who are vacationing in Florida are expected home this week end.

Clavin Reeves of Plainview was visiting in Groom the first of the week.

Mmes. Frank Burgin, Alice Ward, C. H. Keeter, Jim Stuart, T. E. Latta and George Eschle attended a quilting at the home of Mrs. Jim Eschle Tuesday.

Mrs. Ona Black of Amarillo spent the week end with Mrs. Thelma Pool. Other Sunday dinner guests in the home of Mrs. Pool were Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Pool and Bob Pool and children.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Jones are moving to Amarillo this week to make their home. Gerald, who has been employed at the Hermesmeyer Magnolia Service Station for the past few weeks will be employed at a service station in Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Jones, Mrs. Thelma Pool and Mrs. Bill West attended the Bonita Chapter of the Eastern Star Friendship meeting in Amarillo Friday evening.

Mrs. J. A. Brooks returned to her home Saturday from the Groom Hospital where she recently underwent major surgery. Mrs. Brooks is reported showing satisfactory progress.

Three hundred gallons of jet fuel are required to taxi a current jet bomber from the warmup ramp to the end of a runway for take-off, usually a distance of about one and one-half miles.

BOOK PATTTER

By RONALD WATERS
Pampa News Staff Writer

By Mrs. Eleanor Waggoner

There were more than 30 books about Africa published during a period of two years, in 1953 and 1954. This is an indication both of the curiosity and of the growing knowledge about this continent.

However, there are two superbly written books about Africa which, although published in the 1930's, rank among the best of the more recent ones.

These are "The Green Hills of Africa," by Ernest Hemingway; and "Out of Africa," by Isak Dinesen.

The first is a fine account of big-game hunting in Tanganyika in 1933, written in a prose that is as worth reading for itself as for what it describes. Hemingway wrote in the foreward to "The Green Hills of Africa," "The writer has attempted to write an absolutely true book to see whether the shape of a country and the pattern of a month's action cast, if truly presented, compete with a work of the imagination."

He succeeded so well that this book is in print, while works of the imagination whose praises were sung in the Nineteen Thirties, are forgotten.

In 1938, Isak Dinesen (the Baroness Karen Blixen of the Netherlands) published "Out of Africa," an account of her life on her coffee plantation in Kenya, East Africa.

The first chapter begins simply, "I had a farm in Africa, at the foot of the Ngong Hills. . . the geographical position, and the height of the land combined to create a landscape that had not its like in all the world. . . it was Africa distilled up through six thousand feet, like the strong and refined essence of a continent."

So much beauty of thought and expression lies in the pages of "Out of Africa" that it is very nearly impossible to write of the book in quiet terms. Dorothy Canfield has called it "A book of classic, imperturbable simplicity."

"Classic is the adjective which comes again and again to the mind of the reader: — the feeling for beauty, for pain; for effort, for night and day, and animals wild and tame; for humanity white and black, is poignant and searching. But it is always expressed with reticence and restraint that give the story of life on an African far more singularly aristocratic quality. The last section is heart-rending in sadness, but composed, measured, with the stern quiet dignity of tragedy."

Perhaps the flavor of the book can best be given by this sample: ". . . I had seen a herd of Buffalo, one hundred and twenty-nine of them, come out of the morning mist under a copper sky, one by one, as if the dark and misty, iron-like animals with the mighty horizontally sawing horns were not approaching, but were being created before my eyes and sent out as they were finished."

Seemingly, from recent books, Africa is full of racial problems,

Zale's Buys Five Stores

Purchase of five jewelry stores in Georgia, Tennessee, Alabama and Mississippi by the Zale Jewelry Organization of Dallas, brings the company's total to 65. The transaction took place in Columbus, Ga., this week and was signed and announced by William Zale, vice president.

The new stores, which formerly operated under the names of LeGrand or Elebash, are located in Columbus, Ga.; Jackson, Miss.; Montgomery, Ala.; Florence, Ala. and Chattanooga, Tenn.

Zale's, which begins its 32nd anniversary celebration in April now operates stores in 16 states, according to Al Metz, local Zale's manager.

Zale Jewelry Company was founded by Morris Zale, president, in 1924 in Wichita Falls.

Zale's new home office building in Dallas, owned by employees, is headquarters for Zale executives, the firm's own wholesale jewelry division; construction, store design, printing and advertising departments and general office employees. Zale's also maintains offices in Antwerp, Belgium and New York.

"ELECTRIC LIVING — MAGIC-MODERN MONEY-SAVING!"

say MR. and MRS. ROBERT L. SMITH
318 WEST 12TH • DUMAS, TEXAS

"Just what you want, any time that you want it", that's the kind of convenience that Mrs. Smith gets from her home freezer. Yes, and there's real money-saving, too, for Mrs. Smith buys choice cuts of meat at lowest prices and stores them for future use.

"I always get good results, without sticking or burning, with my electric range. The accurate heat control, plus cleanliness, are my favorite range features." Clean . . . fast . . . accurate . . . automatic . . . the reasons more women want electric ranges now than ever before.

"The convenience and simplicity of electric clothes drying . . . why even my son can dry the clothes . . . and the softer, fluffier, cleaner drying is like magic to me." Yes, it's magic, but no trick, for electric clothes drying's slick. Modern, too.

"Electric appliances team up for you all the time. Take the washer and dryer, for example. You can do the laundry at your convenience, without regard to weather or time of day. The freezer and the range pair up the same way. Quality foods get the best cooking results."

Schools

With the advent of Public School Week, it behooves everyone genuinely interested in the welfare of their children and of the nation to examine closely the results we find mirrored in the totality of young people across the land. An endeavor to isolate individuals for analysis is to choose inaccurately because, as individuals, they reflect specific inherited and environmental factors which cannot give an accurate picture of the whole.

First, there are elements concerning the trend of contemporary youth which are statistical facts. For instance since World War II, the rate of juvenile delinquency has soared until last year it showed to be increasing 300% faster than the birth rate! Another statistical fact is the alarming percentage in the number of young people turning away from science and math courses during their formative years of schooling. No reason for this latter trend is offered except that "snap" courses are preferred to those demanding a strenuous use of the basic faculties.

In the realm of an indisputable trend as to general outlook on life, it is among the younger ages of adulthood that the spirit of relativism is rampant. Since "everything is relative," the only guide for right and wrong is what society or the majority dictate, and the result is an amorphous mass which caters to the whim of the day. This philosophy, of course, is the rationale which leads to delinquency and a hurried escape into the "easy way" of getting by.

To say that the foregoing is a problem is to underestimate the situation. America is past the problem period and in the midst of a crisis stage and an extraordinary crisis at that for it is upon the shoulders of this nation that the survival of Western Civilization depends.

That each succeeding generation more and more depends upon using the government as an instrument to accomplish an economic or social end is nothing but the inevitable secondary consequence of moral degeneracy. Without a moral sensitivity which deals with every basic aspect of personal rights and responsibilities, all so-called education is absolutely futile for nothing can result except the destruction of the resultant world of material and sensual values.

The history of every positive government intervention has been to destroy individual responsibility, the foundation of all moral development. Education is no exception. The superficial complaint that Johnny can't read is but a sidelight of the enormity of the problem which is not producing a moral stamina that can resist the rising tide of brutal totalitarian power which is causing the world to tremble under our feet.

The home, to be sure, must bear a certain responsibility for this situation but we must remember that the modern American home has been largely shaped by government schools which, in the last generation, have become increasingly the tools for remaking society into the slaves of a materialistic welfare state.

The vast majority of government school supporters are honest and sincere in their hope and trust that these schools will impart the ways of virtue to the young, unaware that subtle influences on the part of a dedicated few to remake society have a virtual monopoly in teaching philosophy and technique. The masterminding force behind this effort to capture the minds of America's youth, the National Education Association, is virtually an unknown element on the part of those laboring to "straighten out" the problem of collectivist indoctrination pouring into the classrooms of government schools.

In using initiated violence to gain support for the government school system, the healthy procedure of checks and balances which are present in any voluntary relationship are not active. Hence, the efforts to "straighten out" the present situation on the basis of its premise of initiated violence makes the labor comparable to the creation of a perpetual motion machine.

The individual who does not sense that there is something terribly wrong on the level of national standards of rectitude will be in a complete fog as to the case we are herein making. But, sad to observe, the fog will not change the order of the universe and the rule of reaping what is sown.

Our words, rather, are directed to those who are in a quandary as to why we are, where we are . . . wondering as to the future and what can be done to reverberate the nation to its once high standard of self-reliance and honor.

We offer a solution which, we admit, is difficult because as creatures of habit it is hard for us to change an established pattern of procedure. However, a system of voluntary supported schools, whether parochial, charitable or private-secular, offers the only solution to the pall which the authority of government is spreading over the land.

It is likely that under a voluntary system the great church structure of America would assume the primary responsibility of education and with it, the accompanying inculcation of the fact that we live in a God-centered universe which teaches man to live by the sweat of his brow, love his neighbor and that the material is but a means and not an end in the path to a fruitful life.

BETTER JOBS

Answering Readers Labor Profit Questions

Here are more of the 41 questions asked by A. H. Riley of Odessa, Texas on the wage and profit question.

(34) "If you could abolish labor unions among the big corporations, with what would you replace them?" (35) "What then would be the means of contact between the wage earner and top management?" (36) "Who would represent the wage earner in Grand Prairie, Texas, at the board of directors meeting in Detroit, Michigan?" (37) "Are you trying to create better labor relations?" (38) Do you hold regular meetings with your wage earners and offer to open-mindedly discuss any problems they see fit to bring up?"

My Answers

(34) The 34th question is not clear to me. I presume he means, if I could abolish labor unions among the big corporations, what would I use in their place? Mr. Riley seems to think that I object to working men having an agent to represent them. I have no desire whatsoever to abolish the right of a group of workers to have an agent to make the best bargain for themselves they can with their employer without the use of threats or simultaneously quitting if the employer does not meet their threats.

But that is not the worst part of labor unions. They insist on having the exclusive right to represent and to bargain for those workers who want to make their own bargain or have another agent make a bargain for them. It is this insistence on the labor unions to have a monopoly in bargaining power that I would abolish.

I can think of nothing more tyrannical or harmful, both to those who want the bargaining monopoly and the individual or group who want to make an individual or another collective bargain. It is harmful to the members of the monopoly because in order to do as they aim, they cannot respect the inalienable rights of another worker to sell his services directly or by agent, in a manner that is satisfactory to him. This exalts the members of the labor union and thus is harmful to them. It is harmful to both the members of the monopoly bargaining agent and those individuals who are not permitted to make an individual bargain because it takes away from them their right to use their individual judgment as to the value of their services. And in most cases that is all they have to sell.

And if a man cannot use his faculties and learn by trial and error and mistakes and successes his faculties are not developed because of lack of use. If a man does not use his arm it withers away. If he does not use his mental faculties it withers away or fails to develop.

(35) Individual workers could, individually or through an agent, make a bargain with the agent of the employer. The employer, if he is at a distant point, must have an agent to represent him. (36) The Wage earner at Grand Prairie, Texas could have any agent he wanted to represent him at the directors meeting in Detroit, but no agent should have the authority to deny any other worker from having another agent or making an individual contract with a representative of the directors of a corporation.

(37) I certainly am trying to create better labor relations. It is, in fact, more important that the workers without experience and capital have the best possible labor relations than it is for the worker with capital and experience to have the best possible labor relations. The latter will be able to get along better if his total production is less than the former will be able to get along.

And labor relations as practiced by labor unions by seniority and featherbedding and depriving an individual of his right to make an individual contract greatly reduces total production. And since no worker for long can get more than he produces, it is of the utmost importance that the worker without experience or tools have labor relations that will permit capital to increase as rapidly as possible so that all workers can produce more. And thus what the worker without experience or tools produces, will exchange for more. And thus the man without experience who needs an increase in wages more than the big producer needs an increase in wages, is vitally interested in human relations that will cause his production to go up and thus his wages to go up.

(38) I do not hold regular meetings with wage earners because I am often out of the city. However, my door is always open and all the employees know that I am always available to receive any suggestions or answer any questions on improving confidence between employer and employee. In fact, that I have been attempting to answer all of Mr. Riley's questions publicly should be evidence that I certainly would be willing to talk privately with my employee associates.

Price For Reunification Of Germany Is Desertion

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Russia's next, and most threatening effort to destroy the Western Allies' defenses against Communist expansion in Germany, as evidenced in general rearmament and frustration, has apparently convinced the Kremlin that it should intervene to insure such a revolution. It has already made a bid for a parliamentary association of Communists and the once hated Socialists. A Russian proposal to unite the shattered land, timed for its effect on the 1957 elections of a new Federal government and legislative body, might easily place a virtual puppet regime in office at Bonn. And a strong Germany, whether it adopted a pro-Communist or even a strictly neutral attitude, would be an economic, political and military disaster for the West, but principally for the United States.

Integration Decree Played Into Communists' Hands

By Thurman Sensing

Regardless of one's opinion with reference to segregation of the races, it has now become clear that by the issuance of its integration decree the Supreme Court played directly into the hands of the communists. It is the avowed purpose of communism to overthrow the existing order, to bring about strife and turmoil — through racial conflict or in any other way. Thoughtful people not only in the South but throughout the nation, feared this would be one result of the decree when it was handed down. Their fears are now being realized. If it continues to result in bitterness and animosity, in strife and bloodshed, in greater rents in the social fabric of the nation — and who can now doubt that it will not do so — who will benefit? Not the Negroes, not the whites — only the communists, who would like nothing better than to see our form of government overthrown. And it was all so unnecessary! The Negro race was getting along fine under the "separate but equal" doctrine promulgated by the Supreme Court more than 60 years ago and reconfirmed within this decade. The Negroes had made more progress since the War Between the States than perhaps any race anywhere at any time in history in the same length of time.

In the states where segregation is practiced, rapid strides had been made — in fact, in most places the goal had been accomplished — in providing equal facilities of all sorts. Negro teachers taught their own children and were paid the same salary scale as white teachers. Negroes had their own homes and their own businesses and their own jobs. The rank and file of the Negroes knew these things and were satisfied. Strife between the races was practically a memory. The people of the South know — whether people elsewhere do or not — that segregation is not discrimination. It is based on pride of race — and there is something wrong with a person of any race who is not proud of his own race.

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR P. JORDAN, M. D.

A child born with a deformed twisted foot (of which there are several varieties) is said to have a "clubfoot." The exact cause of this condition is not known. It is possible that the clubfoot is merely the result of an abnormal position of the foot inside the womb of the mother. This is one theory. In some cases the clubfoot may be caused by a failure to develop properly before birth. This may be because of something inherited directly from the parents, but no one knows certainly. ABOUT ONE CHILD out of a thousand is born with a clubfoot. The condition is about twice as common in boys as in girls. Curiously enough clubfoot occurs more often in some parts of the country than in others and it would certainly be interesting to know why. There is a greater tendency to have children with a clubfoot in some families than in others. Older mothers have more chance of bearing a child with a clubfoot than do young mothers. Also mothers who have had one child with a clubfoot or some other defect which is present at birth are more likely to have children born later with similar deformities. IN RECENT YEARS it has been discovered that mothers who have had German measles during the first three months of pregnancy have an increased chance of having children with some deformity, such as a clubfoot. The deformed foot is usually smaller than the normal foot. The heel is likely to be smaller and underdeveloped. Frequently the foot is so twisted that all of the weight is carried either on the ball of the foot or even on what would normally be the top of the foot. The tendons and bones of the foot are therefore twisted. If the clubfoot remains untreated the condition tends to become worse, largely because of normal weight-bearing. Treatment should always be begun early. If it is started within the first six months of life there is excellent chance that the deformity can be corrected without surgery.

THE NATION'S PRESS

NO NASTY WORD (The Wall Street Journal) The right of the people to petition Congress for a redress of their grievances — to try to influence Senators and Representatives — is one guaranteed to them by the Constitution, like the right of free speech and a free press. No one supposes that this protection bars Congress from investigating lobbying, or, if it chooses, from legislating some reasonable rules for the conduct of those seeking to influence Congress. But it ought to suggest to the Senators now embarking on this investigation of lobbying — and to the public — that they keep some important distinctions clearly in mind. We ought not to fall into the habit of thinking of "lobbying" as a nasty word, a habit already encouraged by some self-righteous Congressmen and some elements of the press. Whenever Congress does something one disapproves of, and arguments fail, there is a temptation to blame it all on a mysterious "lobby." Thus at various times there has been a public pillorying of the "China lobby," the "utilities lobby," the "veterans lobby," or what-have-you. Right now there are many who would have you think the only reason Congress passed the natural gas bill was the machinations of a natural gas lobby. Of course if this were true, if Congress were thus manipulated by the various lobbies, then the true villain of the piece would be the members of Congress themselves. For inherent in this argument is the view that the majority of Congressmen are dishonest and can be suborned by a wining and dining from smooth shysters. If that were the case, the Republic would be in such peril that we would need something more than an investigation of lobbying. There has never been any such peril, and the real argument for a Congressional look at lobbying is something quite different. It is, simply, the same reason that may make it advisable for Congress to investigate banks, labor unions, newspapers, or any other activity that involves the public interest. The public has a perfect right to know who is lobbying for what; what their private interests are; what they operate, Congress has a right to require them to follow some standards of behavior; there is already a law requiring the registration of lobbyists and the disclosure of certain information. If the new investigation discloses the need for some new regulations, let us have them. And if it discloses any fraud or bribery, let us have the perpetrators in jail. But let the investigating Senators not confuse any abuses of the thing with the thing abused. We'll be in some bad trouble indeed if influencing a Senator becomes a bad thing.

More Men Than Women Die In Home Accidents

By H. D. QUIGG

NEW YORK—UP—We males always have contended we were the more dashing sex, but now it appears we're just more reckless. Come to think of it, better make that more careless, or... oh, well, we might as well face it—we are stupider, that's what we are.

This fact now is beyond the realm of argument. Cold figures, from a life insurance study, are grimacing at us. Men, they say, suffer twice as many killing accidents in and about the home as women do.

Well, you may say, women spend much more time around the house and thus get accustomed to those home-type booby traps and mine fields and know how to dodge them. Or, in some cases, the women even plant them and thus are not apt to blunder into their own fiendish devices.

Rejects These Theories

These theories I firmly reject. Men generally are not around the house much during the day, but if they can't learn to be careful at night it's their own hard luck. Hard luck is just a nice way of saying they're accident prone. Being accident prone is being unsmart.

Another theory might be that the do-it-yourself craze during the last five years might have caused the higher accident rate among men.

Not so, says the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., which made the study. The present study, among industrial policyholders, covers 1900-54.

The company says: "A study two decades earlier showed a similar excess of home fatalities among men." Also, the present study shows that only about 6 per cent of the fatal home injuries were suffered while the men were doing repair, maintenance, or improvement work.

But Here's Figures

The figures show this:

At ages 15 through 24, the home accident death rate among males was 2.9 per 100,000, compared with 1.4 among females.

At the age range 25-44, the rates were 3.3 males, 2.5 females.

At ages 45-64, they were 13.2 males, 7.5 females.

Fatal falls comprised the leading cause of accidental injury in this study. At ages 45-64, for instance, the death rates from falls were 6.7 males, 3.9 females.

This whole batch of figures can be added up into one piece of advice: watch your step, gents. There are easier ways of leaving a bathroom than treading on a piece of soap and floating through the window.

Hunting or carrying of firearms is forbidden in all national parks.

Dispute Over Asphalt Or Concrete Runways Is Flaring

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE

WASHINGTON, March 3—UP—The long-smouldering dispute over use of asphalt or concrete in jet-age U. S. Air Force runways is flaring again and Congress may have to step in as referee.

Interested by-standers are the oil industry which produces asphalt, the Asphalt Institute, and the Portland Cement Association. Each has millions of dollars at stake.

Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson added fuel to the fire in December when he countermanded a 1954 congressional directive that the Air Force use cheaper asphalt in all except "critical" runway areas — fueling stations, warm up pads and take-off areas. A House Armed Services subcommittee, which investigated the Air Force's reluctance to use asphalt, had said the directive would save $50 million.

Wilson threw his support to the Air Force's claim that asphalt is necessary because asphalt can't stand up under the heat, speed and weight of jet war planes. This was an apparent slip at the Army Engineers Corps which, after extensive tests, approved use of asphalt in all non-critical areas. The engineers built the runways.

Tests at San Antonio

The dispute may be resolved in tests of runway foundations being readied at Kelly Air Force Base, San Antonio. Asphalt producers claim that with proper compaction of sub-base materials—sand, gravel, rock, etc.—asphalt will stand up indefinitely.

The test foundations are being laid according to engineers' specifications. They will be ready for use beginning May 1, and will be subjected to four months of rigorous jet traffic.

Meantime the Air Force presented reports on seven air bases to support its anti-asphalt claims. The bases are Pima Castle, Fla., Tinker and Altus, Okla., Castle and March, Calif., and Williams and Davis-Monthan, Ariz. It said tests there proved that asphalt was not suitable.

The Asphalt Institute sent engineers to the bases for on-the-spot surveys. A spokesman said institute officials were confident that any excesses discovered were due to faulty sub-bases.

"The institute also is confident that the Kelly Field tests will yield better compaction — will vindicate it and the Engineer Corps," the spokesman said.

Pilots Prejudiced

He predicted that if the tests support the claims for asphalt, Congress may have to step in to overcome the Air Force's preference for concrete. Another industry spokesman said Air Force pilots "are prejudiced." He said they prefer concrete merely because it is easier to spot from high altitudes.

The industry spokesman pointed out that the six biggest and busiest airports in the United States—Miami, Los Angeles and San Francisco—have asphalt runways which have stood up. They said the same also applies in England, France and Germany.

Finally, they pointed to Army Engineer tests of asphalt runways at Vicksburg, Miss., where huge B-52 inter-continental bombers land and take off. They said the engineers were highly satisfied with the results.

Pampan To Get Service Award

A 25-year Service Award will be presented to John E. Young on March 8, in recognition of his service with Gulf Oil Corporation. His entire service has been in the Panhandle Area, and he has been stationed at Pampa since September 1, 1933.

He is married and has two children, one daughter married and a son in military service. He will be honored with other awardees of 25-year service and over at a dinner later during the year.

A flash mob was tamed at least three times a year and voiced every three years.

U. S., Canada Rigs Up 34

DALLAS — Active rigs in oil fields of the United States and Canada for the week of February 27, 1956, totaled 2799, according to a report to American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors by Hughes Tool Company. This compares with 2765 reported a week ago, 2687 a month ago, and with 2622 in the comparable week of 1955. A comparison by principal areas for the past two weeks shows:

Pacific Coast, 151, up 8; Oklahoma, 513, up 5; Kansas, 17, down 3; Rocky Mountains, also down 3; Canada, 228, down 5; Ark-La-Tex, 148, down 5; West Texas & New Mexico, 523, up 14; Gulf Coast, 644, down 1; Illinois, 76 up 6; North Texas, 380 up 15.

Senterfitt Hits Texas Congressmen

AUSTIN — UP — A letter from gubernatorial hopeful Reuben Senterfitt to his campaign steering committee Saturday accused Texas congressmen of showing a "lack of courage" in the controversy over interposition.

Senterfitt called for use of the doctrine of interposition, adding, "This action should have been aggressively and effectively inaugurated many months ago when it became apparent that our leaders in Congress were not going to show the same fighting spirit to defend Texas as they did on the tidelands case."

"Texas has no choice but to interpose" because of the lack of courage by its Washington representatives," he wrote.

Senterfitt, who has filed for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, said, "I now call upon all of the people of Texas to join with me in a determined and unrelenting demand that the official government of this state invoke the doctrine of interposition."

need a House to Rent-- I want to rent this house for myself and family -- I have a wife and two daughters that I need to get moved into their own place. I will go so far as to sign a lease for a year -- if the place is nice and well located -- Either 2 or 3 bedrooms will do -- So if you want a renter that is permanent I would appreciate it if you would call me-- JIM ARNDT, REALTOR Combs-Worley Building Home Phone 4-9596 -- Office 4-7938
