Secret Police Head Arrives In London

LONDON — Soviet Secret Police Chief Ivan Serov arrived here Thursday on a non-stop flight from Moscow in the first Soviet jet airliner ever shown west of the Iron Curtain.

Serov, the successor to the executed Lavrenti P. Beria, came here to check the security arrangements for the 30-day visit starting April 18 of Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin and Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev.

The arrival of the man who helped send millions of persons to Siberia was an obvious embarrassment to the British government. He was greeted by headlines in the British Press calling him a "thug" and "an executioner."

But interest in the Soviet plane, copied from the Russian atomic bomber, almost outweighed other factors and western aviation experts were at the airport for a first-hand look at it. Security precautions were strict and reporters were herded into a pen 200 yards from the plane.

Serov made the 1,500-mile flight non-stop. He filed a flight plan with Western authorities, and Allied radar tracked him across Europe.

Tornadoes Lash At Several Points In Central Texas

By UNITED PRESS

Tornadoes lashed at several points in Central Texas last night and a severe hail storm wiped out crops and smashed windows in the lower Rio Grande Valley.

Farm buildings, pumphouses, and small buildings were blown down by a tornado between Moody and Troy in Central Texas. Other tornadoes hit, or were sighted, in the Temple area and north of Alice.

The brunt of the Valley storm hit the Rio Hondo area near Hurling and in the vicinity of Hidalgo. Crop damage was heavy to cotton, cantaloupes and tomatoes.

Had Five-Inch Rain

Jim Lang, a farmer near Rio Hondo, said every plant on his place was destroyed "without a green leaf left." He said he lost 75 acres of cotton and limbs on some of his citrus trees were split by hail.

Some 250 window panes were broken at the Rio Hondo school and windows in cars, homes and business places were heavily damaged in a 45-minute violent storm.

Up to five inches of rain—the heaviest precipitation in weeks—lashed sections of the lower Valley with wind gusts up to 75 miles per hour.

In Central Texas, a tornado funnel-dipped to earth in the Cedar Creek sector, 15 miles northwest of Temple, and the Department of Public Safety in Austin said this apparently was the same twister reported later near Troy. A house was blown down six

Parade Highlights Shrine Ceremonial

One of the most colorful parades ever to be held in the city of Pampa will be seen here Friday afternoon beginning promptly at 3:15 when the Khiva Temple holds its Shrine Ceremonial at the Top o' Texas Sportsman's Club, John O. Pitta, who is serving as ceremonial director for Pampa, announced yesterday that a total of thirty-three novices have already signed petitions to receive their degrees and at least eight more are expected before registration time Friday.

Registration will begin at 1 p.m. in the lobby of the Pampa Hotel with Harold Miller in charge of registration details.

Wives of all out-of-town Shriners will be entertained by a committee of Pampa ladies under the general direction of Mrs. Howard Threalt, wife of the president of the Pampa Shrine Club. The ladies' program includes registration from 1 to 3 p.m., a tea at the Pampa Country Club from 4:15 to 5:15, the barbecue at 6, and the dance that evening at 9.

The parade, which will move out promptly at 3:15, will be under the general direction of the Bedouins, a uniformed unit of the Temple, with Chester Thompson, local vice president of the Bedouins in charge. The parade will form just south of the Pampa Hotel, go up Russell Street to Francis, east on Francis to Cuyler, south on Cuyler to Tuke, east on Tuke where the parade will disband at the Baker School. Immediately following the parade, nobles and novices will go to the Top o' Texas Sportsman's Club for the first section of the ceremonial with entertainment by the Patrol Drum and Bugle Corps, and the Shrine Band.

The barbecue, scheduled for 6 p.m. at the Sportsman's Club is expected to draw an attendance of at least six hundred Shriners and their wives. Special barbecue teams are being organized from the local Shrine Club who will act as hosts for the barbecue under the general direction of Paul Crouch.

The dance, scheduled to begin at 9 p.m. following the ceremonial, will feature music by the Khiva Shrine Band, and all nobles, novices, and their wives are urged to attend all entertainment activities.

The entire personnel of the class scheduled to receive degrees Friday, which is dedicated to Rev. Dick Crews, Rev. E. Douglas Carver, and Rev. Woodrow Adcock, are as follows:

Fletcher Kennedy, R. C. McPherson, Ralph W. Delashaw, L. R. Lenning, Volney S. Day, Hugh L. Kenner, Jr., Roy M. Hall, Roy L. Kay, Taylor G. Groves, R. J. Bradley, D. C. Ash, W. N. Adams, C. M. Jeffries, E. E. Shelhamer, Belton B. Bearden, Vernon L. Hobbs, M. K. Griffith, Paul W. Appleton, Woodrow W. Adcock, Marion N. Roberts, Vernon Bell, Richard W. Crews, J. B. Wilson, N. Garth Jackson, E. Douglas Carver, J. A. Kirchner, J. O. Sears, Carl F. Hills, Vardeman Smith, Ralph M. Richardson, Clifton B. Estes, Joe Curtis Miller, M. D. Winegar.

Shriners from the churches of Revs. Adcock, Crews and Carver are honoring the three ministers with membership in the class.

Britain Arrests 3 Of Own Guard

NICOSIA, Cyprus — UP — British arrested three of its own security guards Thursday on charges they mistreated Cypriots suspected of underground anti-British violence.

Officials refused to detail the charges or disclose the names of the men. But the arrests indicated some of the soldiers had taken the new "get tough" policy too literally.

Police investigators concentrated their efforts Thursday on finding Neophitos Sophocles, a Cypriot domestic servant suspected of an abortive time-bomb assassination attempt on Sir John Hardin, British governor of the island.

Sophocles, a servant on Hardin's household staff for six months, did not show up for work Wednesday when an unexploded bomb was found under the mattress of the governor's bed.

Officials Speculate Reds' Nuclear Test

Missiles, Atomic Arsenal May Be Russians' Goal

By JOSEPH L. MYLER
WASHINGTON — (UP) — Official sources speculated Thursday that the new Soviet nuclear test means the Russians are going all-out to perfect atomic warheads for long-range ballistic missiles.

Others said it proves the Russians have achieved "atomic plenty." They are now, one well-informed source said, building up a "whole family of atomic weapons" comparable in versatility to the larger U. S. nuclear arsenal.

Such weapons include atomic warheads for everything that now uses high explosives — artillery shells as small as eight inches in diameter, a growing variety of missile charges, bombs of many calibers, land mines, torpedoes, and depth charges.

The new Russian explosion was announced Wednesday night in London and Washington. It was part of a series of explosions which have been going on intermittently since August, 1955. Although the United States has reported only five individual shots in the series, informed sources said there may have been many more.

Never before, since their first test in September, 1949, has the Russian been able to stage so many tests in so brief a time. Instead of months, the gap between tests previously had been years.

It was Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.), a member of the congressional Atomic Energy committee, who said the Russians apparently "are developing a whole family of tactical and strategic weapons."

Tactical atomic weapons are designed for battlefield use, strategic for destroying vital city and industrial centers far from the fighting fronts. Jackson has said often that the Russians may be ahead in development of far-ranging missiles which, with H-bomb warheads, could destroy entire cities without warning.

The Atomic Energy Commission did not say whether the new explosion, which occurred in the "past few days," was an atomic or hydrogen device. It used the word "nuclear," which could be either.

Chance To Derail Price Props Seen

WASHINGTON — UP — House Republican leaders claimed a good chance Thursday of derailing a Democratic drive to boost farm support prices for 1956 crops to levels unacceptable to the administration.

House GOP Leader Joseph W. Martin Jr. (Mass.) said some of the big city Democrats who helped put a rigid high price support bill through the House by a 206-204 vote last year will not dare support such legislation now because it is an election year. He noted that a switch of three votes would be enough to reverse the decision.

Therefore, Martin said, he believes that Republicans will succeed in a last-minute counter-attack to revamp a final compromise farm bill into a form acceptable to the President.

The House must act on farm legislation again because the Senate did not accept its bill of last year. Instead of approving rigid 90 per cent supports outright as the House did, the Senate continued the administration's flexible price support program in principle but through various other legislative gimmicks raised supports on corn, cotton and wheat to near the 90 per cent level. The administration opposes both bills.

Martin said a Republican substitute compromise bill would be put forward.

Martin and former GOP House Leader Charles A. Halleck (Ind.) acknowledged they have little hope that a compromise farm bill satisfactory to President Eisenhower will emerge from the Democratic-dominated Senate-House conference committee. The conference committee will work out an initial compromise bill for the two houses to consider.

Borgnine, Anna Take 'Oscars'

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD — UP — Newcomer Ernest Borgnine and his picture, a low-budget little film named "Marty," swept over veteran actors and expensive pictures Wednesday night to win Hollywood's coveted Oscars.

Another offbeat newcomer to Hollywood films, Italy's fiery Anna Magnani, was honored as the best actress of 1955 for her explosive role in "The Rose Tattoo," her first U.S. movie.

The supporting player awards made it an all-newcomer year. Jo Van Fleet snared the award for "East of Eden" and Jack Lemmon was honored for "Mister Roberts."

But it was the toothy Borgnine and the unpretentious "Marty" that captured the sentiment of more than 2,000 celebrities in black tie and glittering evening gowns who jammed the Hollywood Pantages Theater on Hollywood Boulevard for the 28th annual award ceremony.

Topped Expensive Pictures

"Marty" was made in New York from a television drama at a cost of only $300,000. But it swept over such multi-million dollar productions as "Picnic" and "Mister Roberts" in the election among the 1,700 members of the honorary Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

Borgnine a year ago was only a player of small villain roles in films and a virtual unknown. But Wednesday night the 38-year-old actor heard his name called by Grace Kelly, last year's best actress winner, as the top actor of 1955 for his first starring role—

Adlai Starts Comeback Campaign

CHICAGO — UP — Adlai E. Stevenson set forth Thursday on a come-from-behind campaign to get the Democratic presidential nomination despite his stunning Minnesota primary defeat.

Stevenson promised to step up the tempo of his campaign and "work harder than ever." But he refused to change his policies or try to out-promise other candidates.

"I have tried to tell the people the truth," he said in a news conference Wednesday. "I have not promised them the moon and I never will. This may not be the way to win elections, but it is, in my opinion, the way to conduct a political campaign in a democracy."

Stevenson admitted he is no longer the front-runner in the nomination race and faces an uphill battle to overcome Sen. Estes Kefauver's Minnesota victory.

The Minnesota returns were still incomplete because some of them must be brought in by canoe from north woods precincts. But they already assured Kefauver 26 of the state's 30 Democratic national convention votes.

Stevenson conceded Kefauver "the first round," but vowed he isn't beaten yet. He pointed out that the Democrats polled a 2-to-1 heavier vote than the Republicans and said "if anyone should be worried, he should be even more worried than I."

The Stevenson camp also kept a worried eye on Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, an "inactive" candidate for the nomination. Stevenson aides charged that a secret "stop Adlai" meeting of Democrats was held in Denver two weeks ago for the purpose of boosting Harriman.

Harriman Played Politics

By HOWARD WILSON

OKLAHOMA CITY — UP — Gov. Raymond Gary of Oklahoma says a secret meeting of backers of Gov. Averell Harriman for president agreed March 4 that Harriman should wait at least until after the Minnesota primary to decide if he will make the race.

Gary said he attended the meeting, held in Denver. He said friends of Harriman from 11 mid-western and western states were present.

But he denied a charge by James A. Finnegan, manager of Adlai Stevenson's campaign, that the party was held to "stop Adlai."

He said, "My recommendation to Harriman's friends was for Harriman not to enter the race until at least after the Minnesota primary."

"Thing to Do"

"I think my reasoning was sound," he went on. "If Adlai won in the New Hampshire and Minnesota primaries, it would be an indication he had caught on, and

Anti-Kefauver Demos Survey Dark Horses, Favorite Sons

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON — UP — Anti-Kefauver Democrats began surveying the field of dark horses and favorite sons Thursday for a presidential candidate.

There was a widespread feeling among these Democrats who dominate the party organization that Adlai E. Stevenson had suffered a serious and perhaps fatal defeat in Tuesday's presidential primary in Minnesota. He lost to the underdog, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee.

This reaction was evident among that wide segment of party professionals who favored Stevenson or at least considered him more acceptable than Kefauver. But they also were asking, "If not Adlai, who?"

Toss Many Names Around

The names being tossed around included: Gov. Averell Harriman of New York, Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri, Gov. Frank J. Lausche of Ohio, Gov. G. Mennen Williams of Michigan and Sen. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma.

Oklahoma Gov. Raymond Gary said that as a result of Stevenson's defeat, the nomination now "lies between Harriman and a dark horse." He said neither Kefauver nor Stevenson would get the nomination.

There was no evidence yet of an organized stop-Kefauver movement but one can be expected if Stevenson fails to get up off the ground.

Kefauver is out of favor with many southern Democrats because they regard him as a southerner who has turned against them. And he is unpopular with many Democratic professionals because he campaigned against the "bosses" four years ago, when he lost the nomination to Stevenson, and is doing the same again.

Stevenson to Keep Trying

Stevenson responded to his defeat by declaring his intention to "work harder than ever" for the nomination. He must slug it if he expects to reverse the result in Minnesota, where the backing of the state organization seemed to stack the cards in his favor.

Late returns showed Kefauver had 234,351 votes to Stevenson's 179,452.

Kefauver gle wfrom Minnesota Wednesday to the Far West. After stops in Montana and Washington, he was headed for California for more campaigning. He hopes to knock out Stevenson in the June 5 California primary in which 68 delegate votes are at stake.

Pentagon Releases Flood Of Guided Missile Information

WASHINGTON — UP — The Pentagon has set loose a flood of new guided missile information in an evident effort to knock down Democratic claims that weapons development is lagging.

In less than two weeks, the armed forces have given details on four new guided missiles, ranging from short-range anti-aircraft to intercontinental types. The Pentagon also has disclosed improvements to two others.

It also was giving special treatment Thursday to about 80 members of Congress who are visiting the Caribbean where the Navy is demonstrating its new guided missile cruiser Boston as well as the super aircraft carrier Forrestal.

The flood of weapons data is remarkable for the usually secretive Defense Department and indicates a change of policy since Senate Democrats first began steady criticism when Congress returned in January.

Less than three weeks ago, Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson said he wanted to quiet-guided missiles talk because he thought the sales department was ahead (See PENTAGON, Page 2)

New Generator At Police Station

The local police department received a portable generator this morning that will be used for emergency lighting purposes, according to Chief of Police Jim Conner.

The generator will be used in the police station when they are without lights due to power failure or a disaster in the community.

Conner also stated that the generator will be available for other emergency uses in the community when not in use at the police station.

Tree-Planting Project In Final Stages

Final plans for Operation "Johnny Appleseed," the tree-planting project of the Boy Scouts, which will be held at Camp Ki-O-Wah next Saturday and Sunday, were made in the Santa Fe District monthly roundtable Tuesday night. Every troop committee in the council and Scoutmasters will load up one or more trees, at least two inches in diameter, and take them to the camp. Explorers will act as work parties for the planting of trees on the long hill by the dining lodge. The planting activities committee has tented the hillside in preliminary work. The trees will be planted at 2 p. m. Saturday in a pre-arranged order. Then the new watering valves will be opened. Work will continue through Sunday noon. Scouters' awards were presented to three Scoutmasters for outstanding service over three years. Winning recognition were Paul Buchanan, member of the district training committee and scoutmaster of Troop 81 of White Deer; Frank Fincher, scoutmaster of Pampa, scoutmaster of Troop 4. During the general session, plans were made for signs to be placed on the outskirts of each community showing the scouting units in that town. Results will be reported at next month's round table. Miniature soap-box derby kits were distributed and final details set for the "Pine Wood Derby" to be held at next month's session.

Two Fire Calls Are Answered

A Phillips pipeline, on the Perpetual lease, eight miles west of Pampa, exploded about 5:30 p. m. Wednesday, resulting in a hole approximately seven feet deep and 30 feet across, according to Fire Chief Ernest Winborne. The local fire department answered a call to the explosion but there was no fire and only the pipeline was damaged, Winborne stated. A second alarm was answered by the fire department at 8:35 p. m. when a lounge chair in the living room of the residence at 709 N. Zimmers caught fire from a cigarette. The only damage was to the chair according to firemen making the run.

Other tornado funnels were reported sighted 20 miles north of Alice and near George West, about 60 miles to the north. Hail and rain also fell in the Troy and Moody areas north of Temple. Hail and some high winds were reported at Harlingen, Raymondville and Rio Hondo and at Port Isabel on the coast. Two commercial airliners made unscheduled landings at Corpus Christi because their pilots considered weather too turbulent in that area Wednesday afternoon. Rains on Upper Coast. Some heavy rains fell Wednesday along the upper coast. Refugio reported 2.5 inches and Beeville 1.67. Skies were clear over West Texas Thursday, but temperatures were down as much as 15 degrees from Wednesday's lows. Dalhart and Lubbock reported the lowest temperatures, and Amarillo had a 29, compared with a low of 43 Wednesday morning. Other low readings early Thursday mostly were in the 40s, with 55 at Brownsville the highest minimum. Other rainfall measurements for the 24-hour period ended at 6:30 a. m. Wednesday included Port Arthur 1.43, Texarkana 1.10, Galveston .88, Lufkin .23, Brownsville .25, Victoria .18 and less than .10 at Corpus Christi, Dallas, Austin and Houston.

Culberson Speaks To Rotarians

Olin Culberson, member of the Texas Railroad Commission, told Rotarians at their Wednesday luncheon meeting that the future of the independent gas producer didn't look too promising with the advent of the President's veto of the Harris bill. Culberson pointed out that the great danger on the existing condition with regard to Federal Power Commission control is that regulation of casinghead gas is in the offing which would spell a long step down the road to socialism. A musical program was given by the 60 members of the Ninth Grade Choir under the direction of Mrs. Jim Winters of the night selections given several evenings ago and two touched the lights. CoC Urges Reservations For Dinner

The entire membership of the Chamber of Commerce is urged to get reservations into the chamber office by Saturday noon for the membership luncheon slated for Monday, March 26, at noon in the Palm Room of the City Hall. Jim Roberts, manager of the southwestern division of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce in Dallas, will be the featured speaker. He is a graduate of the University of Colorado with military service including 48 missions as a B-26 bombardier during World War II. Roberts joined the staff of the national Chamber as the first manager of the newly created Tulsa District in 1952. He will speak on the community building as it relates to Chamber of Commerce operations. Leige Craig, district manager of the Denver office, will also appear on the program. Ed Myatt, president of the chamber, extends a special invitation to all members in a recent letter. The luncheon meeting will adjourn at 1:30 p. m.

The Navy demonstrated its Terrier anti-aircraft missile in operation. It announced development of a new anti-aircraft missile, the Tartar, to be standard armament on future destroyers. It disclosed that a new, longer range Terrier is under development. The Air Force, long under security wraps on new missile developments, announced two major new types Wednesday. Air Secretary Donald A. Quarles disclosed that a second intercontinental ballistic missile, the Titan, is under development as a companion of the already publicized Atlas. He also disclosed that the Air Force's 1,500-mile range missile is called the Thor and is a companion development of the Army-Navy mid-range missile. Quarles said flatly that the United States is ahead of Russia in "the guided missile field as a whole," although the competition is close in the long-range ballistic missile category.

G. F. Donnelly, Borger, pleaded guilty in County Court to charges of swindling with a worthless check and was fined $1 and costs and made restitution for the check yesterday. He was fined by William Finkbeiner for a check in the amount of 18.75, dated August 12, 1955, and Houston.

Exams To Be Given For Road-e-o

Written exams will be given in area schools next week in connection with the Teen-Age Road-e-o, sponsored by the Pampa Jaycees, slated for April 8. Tests will be given to teen-agers in Miami at 9:45 a. m. on March 26, to students at Canadian at 2:30 p. m. on the same day; to Lefors students on March 28; to McLean High School at 12:45 p. m. Wednesday and to White Deer students at 2:30 p. m. March 29. Plans for the examinations were announced Tuesday at the Jaycees meeting by Johnny Campbell, co-chairman of the certification committee. High scoring contestants in the community road-e-os will go on to the state eliminations usually conducted in June. Charley Wilkerson, over-all chairman, said that teen-agers must obtain releases from their parents in order to participate in the driving contest. Jim Terrell announced that the Pampa Little Theatre had been formed last Friday, asked Jaycees to contact their friends, and urged their support of the organization.

George Neef urged attendance at the Teen-Age Ball Week program to be held next Monday in the Chamber of Commerce office. A program of musical numbers was presented by the King's Carolers, a girls trio consisting of Ramona Hudgins, Beverly Brewer, and Ruth Mounce. They sang, "Are You Satisfied?" "Muskrat Ramble", and one encore, Ramona Wilkerson announced the tickets are "available for Pampa's Community Concert season at $6 for adults and $3 for children.

They agreed with me that that would be good practical politics, the thing to do." Gary said the chairman of the meeting was Frank McKinney of Indiana, former Democratic national chairman. He said the meeting did not even discuss the possibility of helping Sen. Estes Kefauver in Minnesota to "stop Adlai." The Oklahoma governor said he talked with Harriman by telephone Wednesday afternoon and "gave him some advice." But he declined to say what the advice was. Probably has Oklahoma Vote. Gary predicted neither Stevenson nor Kefauver would be the Democratic nominee. He said the contest "lies between Harriman and a dark horse," but did not speculate on who the dark horse might be. Gary is expected to lead Oklahoma's 28-vote delegation to the Democratic convention into Harriman's camp, although he has not yet announced formally whom he is backing. Gary said he thought Stevenson was now "stopped." He said Stevenson was "a very brilliant man," but that rank and file Democratic voters "are not accepting him."

Want Federal Aid AUSTIN —UP— The Texas Highway Commission and State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer have asked Texas Congressmen to press for early enactment of a program to boost federal highway aid to the states. They said the "unprecedented growth" of Texas' population and motor-vehicle total "has created a traffic load... in excess of the ability of the present system to carry with comfort, speed and safety."

Work On SS Titanic Has 1,000 Aspects On TV

By WILLIAM EWALD
 NE YORK —UP— From now on, the SS Titanic may come to be known as the ship that launched a thousand phases.
 At least around TV's Kraft theatre.
 It was early this year that the men who put together the hour-long drama decided to stage Walter Lord's "A Night to Remember," a current best-seller about the sinking of the Titanic in 1912.
 It turned out to be a job with a thousand aspects. You'll see the results of their Titanic efforts next week on your home screen via NBC-TV.

"By far, it is the biggest thing we've ever attempted," said Duane McKinney, designer of more than 4,000 sets for Kraft over the past five years, worked for three weeks reproducing parts of the Titanic.
 48 Scenes in First Act
 "Right now it looks as if we'll have 72 speaking parts and 48 sets," said McKinney. "There will be 48 scenes in the first act alone."
 "We usually use about four cameras. For this production we'll have six with two in reserve. Where we usually have a crew of about eight men, this time it will be 35. We're spending about $50,000 on scenery and effects alone, double our usual outlay."
 McKinney, a former actor who decided to go straight, turned out a two-foot high stack of drawings for the upcoming production. He researched the history of the ocean liner for 35 years, and he consulted a marine engineer to make sure the set would be shipshape.
 McKinney reproduced almost all of the floating hotel—among other things, six of the Titanic's cabins, two radio rooms, the crew's nest, the three first class decks, the stateroom, the ship's Parisian cafe, its smoking room, boiler room and lifeboats.

Some Sets With Water
 "We're building a duplicate of the ship's grand staircase which was 50 feet across and 20 feet high," said McKinney. "We're also building several duplicate sets—we have a dry boiler room and a boiler room under two feet of water, we have three corridors dry and one corridor under four feet of water."
 One set, the ornate smoking room of the liner which went down on its maiden voyage, will be built so that it will tip in toward the audience at a 90 degree angle. "It's to give the illusion of the ship going down," explained McKinney. "Everything will fall apart."

 In the lifeboat scenes, he said, actors actually will be lowered from a height of about 12 feet in the studio.
 "All the sets will be full-scale. Everything will be authentic—where damask was used on the walls of the Titanic, we'll use damask," said McKinney.
 Most unusual of all, many of the actors actually will be floundering in rising water. McKinney has designed his production so that the sets that are to be flooded will be built inside giant tanks.
 Catwalks, all out of camera range, will extend from the edge of the flooded sets to outside the tanks.
 "The actors," said McKinney, "will all escape on the catwalks—I hope."

Shamrock Rotary Elects Officers
 SHAMROCK — (Special) — President of the Shamrock Rotary Club elected recently is Harold Williams, co-owner of Men's Wear. Roy Berten, outgoing president, automatically becomes vice president.
 E. J. Brookshire, secretary, and George Farris, treasurer, have both been re-elected.
 H. B. Hill is the retiring vice president.
 The officers were announced at Friday's luncheon meeting by the board of directors, selected by the club.
 Members of the board are: Berten, Harry Clay, Harold Teegerstrom, Williams, Bill Day, James Brothers, Kenneth Laycock, Brookshire and Farris. The new officers and directors will assume their duties on July 1.

Blonde Expense
 ELM GROVE, Wis. —UP— The village board, checking through its list of bills, came across one from dogcatcher Ralph Vergolino for the "picking up of one blonde."
 When called to explain, Vergolino said the reference was to a blonde cocker spaniel.

Uncle Sam Recruiting Dogs, Prefers German Shepherds

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
 WASHINGTON —UP— If you are between age one and three, have ribs that are well sprung, and a nose that is cold and wet to the touch — Uncle Sam needs you. You of course have to be a dog. It would help a heap if you also were a German Shepherd. But this should not discourage Poodles, cockers, terriers and the alley kind of pups.
 The Army is in the market for dogs, and thinks German Shepherds are the best.
 If you are interested, you can write to the office of the Quarmaster General, Remount Section, Washington 25, D. C. If you pass the test, you have a good chance of walking off with $125.

Have to have the paws for it, though. Well-cushioned. Hind legs must be straight. And "pasterns," whatever they are, must be strong. The girl dogs aren't too popular with the Army brass — and may as well resign themselves to producing recruits.
 Mostly, the Army is looking for the ideal male. There are a bunch of things a pup ought to read up on before he gets his master to watch as he puts his paw mark on a blank.

"... Must be sound, sturdy." The requirements state, "working type, revealing evidence of power, endurance and energy. Well-proportioned body, good bone, deep chest. Good teeth, healthy gums. Tail must be bushy and he must be bright of eye. Must be alert and steady of paw and responsive to command."

Dogs that quality can look forward to sentry duty and a chance to sink an eye tooth into the shank of a spy about to cut a wire running into one of our airplane plants.

Recruits take their "basic training" at the Army Dog Training Center, Fort Carson, Colo. Eight to 12 weeks of indoctrination and off they go to permanent duty to various Air Force installations.

The pup, more often than not, replaces a man. And at $125 a dog, plus so much a month for dog food, it saves us taxpayers a pretty penny. Owners may worry about whether they will get the same gentle pet back.

 The Army has another school for the pups before they are mustered out of the service. The edogs have to forget everything they have learned about being nasty. Sometimes it isn't easy.

Easter Seal Saturday Night Tea Supper

If you belong to a crowd that likes to get together on Saturday night, why not have everybody in for a Saturday night Tea Supper — this one for charity's sake.

Inform "the gang" that each person will be expected to pay for his supper — so that little crippled children may benefit, and that the money that you realize over the cost of the food, will be given to the Easter Seal Society which is holding its annual campaign this spring.

Hundreds of such teas and tea suppers will be held all over the country during the campaign to raise money for the hundreds of thousands of crippled children and adults who will receive care, training and guidance for a more productive life.

Last year, the Easter Seal Society sent 7,500 crippled children to camps for fresh air, sunshine, exercise and training. It helped, in all, more than 122,000 crippled adults. And there are so many more to be helped if it can get the funds.

Plan a substantial and economical menu to serve 20 people. Boston baked beans with frankfurters and brown bread, tossed green salad, gingerbread and piping hot tea, make an ideal meal.

You'll want lots of well brewed, stimulating tea for the crowd — at least 40 to 45 cups and the easiest way to serve perfect tea to such a group is to make up a tea concentrate. Just before your guests arrive, bring 1½ quarts of freshly drawn cold water to a rolling boil, remove from heat and immediately add ¼ pound loose tea. Cover and brew 4 minutes. Strain into a heated pot and keep warm.

To serve, pour about one ounce of the tea concentrate into a cup and fill with piping hot water. With the concentrate it's very easy to regulate the strength of the tea in accordance with the preferences of your guests.

Just think, the approximate cost of serving all this tea is only 77¢: tea, 50¢; milk, 12¢; lemon, 10¢; sugar, 5¢. Because it's the cheapest of beverages except water, tea is perfect for serving at any party where a penny saved is a penny for charity.

Ham Gives Touch Of Spring Cheer To Easter Dinner

Amidst gay thoughts of Easter bonnets and Easter parades comes a vision of a luscious baked ham. It's traditional fare and it's sure to please everyone. Ham is easy to prepare no matter which kind you choose, asserts Reba Staggs, meat expert.

Today's markets feature many retail ham cuts.

You may purchase uncooked hams, ready-to-eat hams, hams which need only heating through and canned hams. The label on the ham or can will tell you the type you are buying, and includes the directions for baking or heating.

There are also the new shankless hams now on the market. They can be purchased from 10 pounds and over.

The parts removed on this type of ham are the shank bone, the heavy skin and some of the fat. This means there is a higher proportion of lean meat to bone.

Some Shankless hams are marketed as fully cooked and others require cooking.

Be sure to purchase your favorite retail ham cut to give your Easter meal a spring cheer.

Chowders . . . "Easy Come, Easy Go"

"Easy come, easy go." When you stir up a kettle of chowder, you see how fittingly this carefree old slogan fits the savory eating that comes forth. And how timely for this Lenten season. March winds send appetites soaring like kites. And your hungry board calls in for supper, ready to eat everything in sight.

As early New Englanders found, best butter to March winds is a steaming kettle: with seafood and vegetables adrift in a tantalizing broth.

Coastal History includes chowders. Many a historic feast has centered around a peppery chowder. Who hasn't read Moby Dick; and hungered for a whole-size bowl of the fish chowder which perturbed the air of Nantucket Inn? Descriptions of French and Italian coastal villages often tell glowingly of seafood soups—like those we can enjoy from Florida to California, on Atlantic and Pacific shores.

Chowder 1956 style. Chowder to coast, all across the U. S., families scurry to the kitchen signals. In true 1956 style, they often find Mom busily brewing . . . mixing cans of prepared soups to make magnificent chowders. This is the kind of beautiful broth she can render up . . . without setting foot near ocean or stream.

Lamb Slices In Sauce For Springtime Meal

Its delicate flavor makes a roast leg of lamb a fitting meat suggestion for early springtime dinners. And the sauce for the lamb should sparkle with the arrival of spring, too.

Here is a recipe for a fresh mint and fruit sauce in which slices of cooked lamb are heated. It is sweet and spicy and blends well with the flavor of the meat.

FRUIT SAUCE FOR LAMB
Mix 1 tablespoon cornstarch with 1 cup water. If you have some lamb gravy, substitute it for 1-3 cup of the water. Stir in ½ cup currant jelly, ¼ cup orange juice, and ½ cup minced fresh mint leaves. (A teaspoon dried mint may be used instead.) Cook until thickened, stirring to prevent lumping; add about 8 slices cold cooked lamb and continue cooking until they are heated through. Serve the sauce with the slices. 4 servings.

Fresher Than Spring-Time

Colorful Lime Apricot Surprise Molds bring spring fancy to March menus. Refreshing lime-flavored gelatin conceals the surprise in each individual mold—an apricot half, with a cream cheese ball and moist. Top with apricots, cut side down. Arrange 2 or 3 peach halves around side of mold. Fill molds with slightly thickened gelatin. Chill until firm. Unmold on salad greens. Serve with mayonnaise. Makes dessert, garnished with whipped cream.

LIME APRICOT SURPRISE MOLDS

1 package lime-flavored gelatin
1 cup hot water
1 cup cold water
1 package (3 ounces) cream cheese
6 drained canned apricot halves
Peach halves

Dissolve gelatin in hot water. Add cold water. Chill until slightly thickened. Shape cheese into 6 balls. Place in bottom of 6 individual molds. Top with apricots, cut side down. Arrange 2 or 3 peach halves around side of mold. Fill molds with slightly thickened gelatin. Chill until firm. Unmold on salad greens. Serve with mayonnaise. Makes 6 servings.

Leg Of Lamb Calls For Special Accent

A relish accompaniment adds piquancy to the main dish and may well serve as the garnish, too.

For instance, a pork loin roast, suggests Reba Staggs, meat expert, just naturally calls for apple sauce but a rosy colored apple sauce certainly would add a note of taste and color appeal to the meal.

When it comes to eating a leg of lamb, some people think mint sauce or jelly is the only accompaniment. But perhaps other suggestions for lamb accompaniments may be just as well liked.

Fill a pear half with mayonnaise tinted a delicate pink, top with paprika and serve as a leg of lamb accompaniment. For a typical "kiddies" garnish on Easter, top an orange slice with lightly browned coconut and fill the center of the coconut bed with colorful jelly beans.

For a delightful vegetable suggestion, try minced carrots, or accent peas with diced bacon and small cocktail onions.

For the best in flavor, prepare gravy from the drippings of the lamb roast. Use currant jelly in the gravy to give a delicate pleasing flavor.

For those cold slices of lamb, use colorful garnishes which add savor to eating. At times, especially during the warm summer months, these garnishes may serve as a salad.

For a cool garnish for cold slices of lamb, roll pineapple chunks in minced mint leaves and sprinkle with confettiers' sugar. Or, perhaps you prefer a warm garnish with cold lamb — in that case try fried bananas. This is bound to please the children. There is always your favorite barbecue sauce which can be served over cold lamb slices.

Easter Breakfast Is Special Event

Week-end breakfasts are always a special event but Easter morning breakfast is a particularly important occasion.

Amidst the whirl of the children's Easter egg hunt is the adult's happy anticipation of a king-size breakfast on returning from an inspiring sunrise Easter service.

Reba Staggs, home economist, suggests a hearty, wholesome meal centered on hard-cooked eggs and bulk pork sausage for this breakfast of breakfasts. Garnish the serving plates with just a sprig of watercress to add that special jester of spring.

Begin with orange slices topped with confectioners' sugar. Or, per by ready-to-eat cereal and hard-cooked eggs and bulk pork sausage. Corn muffins and a beverage complete this typical Easter morning feast.

Mom, your Easter hunt ends before the children's even begins. Your Easter find this spring is not a multicolor egg; instead, it will be a leg of lamb that will catch your eye. It now holds the place of honor in your meat dealer's display case, and Easter Sunday it will command attention and praise from all who gather around your Easter spread.

Yes, the hub of the Easter meal is planned around a frenched leg of lamb, all dressed up in its paraffin and set off by tart, spiced peaches.

Well-known meat expert Reba Staggs suggests that correct carving, especially on Easter, is highly important as the final step in assuring complete satisfaction in the lamb dish.

To carve, place leg of lamb with the shank bone to the carver's right, and thick meaty section to the far side of the platter. Remove several slices from the thin side, then turn the leg to rest on the cut surface. With the fork inserted at the left end, carve thin slices down to the leg bone.

Run the knife along the bone, releasing all slices at once.

LEG OF LAMB
5 to 6-pound leg of lamb
Salt
Pepper

Do not have the fell removed. The fell helps preserve the shape of the leg during roasting and shortens the time of cooking. Season. Place leg of lamb, skin side down on a rack in an open roasting pan. Insert meat thermometer so the bulb reaches the center of the thickest part of the leg, being sure the bulb does not rest in fat or on bone. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (300 degrees F.) about 3 to 3½ hours or until done. The meat thermometer will register 175 degrees F. for medium done; 180 degrees F. for well done. Allow 30 to 35 minutes per pound for roasting.

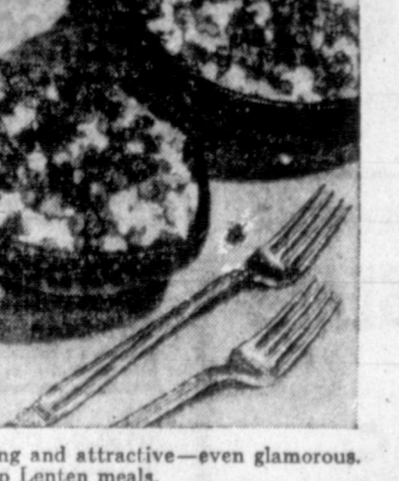

Manners Make Friends

You give a party for teen-agers and they don't seem to realize that it is time for the party to break up. Tactfully remind them by announcing a dance as "the last dance."

Then if you stop the record player even the hard-to-convince will get the idea that it is time to say "Good night."

Deviled Seafood With Corn Flake Topping

Lenten meals can be interesting and attractive—even glamorous. Here are a few ways to pretty-up Lenten meals.

Give your foods an attractive coating. Ready-to-eat cereal flakes make unusually attractive, colorful, crunchy, nutritious toppings for fish and seafood, egg, or vegetable casserole. Fine cereal crumbs are used most frequently for coating croquettes, cutlets, and fish.

Breakfast cereals are excellent for ingredient use in recipes. They are inexpensive, add flavor and texture, and make important nutritional contributions of protein, the B-complex vitamins, minerals, and food energy. Just think of the time you can save this Lenten season with ready-to-use cereal every time buttered or fine crumbs are called for in a recipe.

Deviled Seafood with Corn Flake Topping will add variety and interest to your Lenten menus. It's easy to prepare and can be served either in individual casseroles or in one large casserole. The seasonings and cereal flakes add zip and interest and make this a different version of the ever-popular creamed fish casserole.

Deviled Seafood with Corn Flake Topping
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon paprika
2 eggs, beaten
1½ tablespoons lemon juice

1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 cups flaked, cooked, seasoned seafood
1½ cups slightly crushed corn flakes, bran flakes, or whole wheat flakes

Melt butter, add flour, salt, and paprika. Stir to a smooth paste. Add milk gradually; cook over low heat, stirring constantly until thickened. Remove from heat and blend in egg, lemon juice, onion, Worcestershire sauce, seafood, and ¼ of the crushed cereal flakes. Pour into individual casseroles or shells. Sprinkle remaining cereal crumbs over top. Bake in moderate oven (350° to 375°F.) about 20 minutes. Yield: 6 servings.

Lamb Au Gratin Is Good Leftover Dish

A leg of lamb on Easter Sunday may mean leftover lamb on Easter Monday. There are many ways to prepare the leftover or the last of the meat, so plan on having a unique leftover dish to please your family—chase that old rascal, meat monotony.

Reba Staggs, home economist, says that diced lamb au gratin is easy to prepare, too. Your family will just rave about this unusual dish. It's good eating and just the ticket for a busy day dish.

Diced Lamb Au Gratin
2 cups diced cooked lamb
½ cup diced green pepper
2 tablespoons minced onion
¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup flour
2 cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon pepper
2 medium potatoes, cooked and diced
1 4-ounce can mushroom pieces, drained
1 pimiento, diced
1-3 cup grated American cheese

Cook green pepper and onion in butter or margarine until tender. Stir in flour and add milk, stirring constantly until thickened. Season. Add diced lamb, potatoes, mushrooms and pimiento. Mix well and pour into a greased 1-quart casserole. Sprinkle with grated American cheese and bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) 15 minutes or until heated through and lightly browned. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

To keep the cap of a glue or nail polish container from sticking, coat the screw threads with soap.

Suggestions Given For Apple Dishes

Queen's Apple Pudding is a delicious dessert the teen-agers can prepare for their own party, or for the whole family to enjoy. Combine 1 cup Graham cracker crumbs with 4 red Washington Winesap apples, pared and sliced. Add ½ cup chopped nuts and ½ cup brown sugar. Juice of one lemon and 2-4 cup water. Turn into well greased casserole and bake, uncovered, in moderate oven (375 degrees F.) for 25-30 mins. or until apples are tender. Serve warm with cream.

Serves 4.

A deliciously different salad is the combination of kidney beans and spicy red Washington winesap apples. To prepare, mix together 2-½ cups drained, cooked kidney beans, ¼ cup diced apple, ½ cup chopped cabbage, 1-2 tsp. salt and mayonnaise to moisten. Serve on crisp salad greens. Serves 6.

Spiced Apples make a savory accompaniment with beef, ham or sausage and are easy to prepare. Cut 3 red Washington Winesap apples in half crosswise and remove cores. Sprinkle each half with lemon juice. Combine 1-3 cup brown sugar, 1-3 cup catsup and 2 tbsps. butter or margarine. If desired, 2 tbsps. horseradish may be added. Top each apple half with some of the mixture and place in shallow baking pan containing small amount of water. Bake in moderate oven (325 degrees F.) about 30 mins. or until apples are tender. Serves 6.

IT'S THE LAW
★ IN TEXAS ★

In this unpredictable life of ours, it is the law's business to take a long look into the future and say what would "happen if." For in your contracts, leases, wills, insurance policies, escrows, and the like, you had better say what would "happen if" some of your best laid plans go awry. Such events the law calls "contingencies."

Who gets the "earnest money" you put down, if you cannot go through with buying that house? What if you want to pay up that loan and save interest? What happens if a partner goes sour, or a partner gets sick or dies? What happens if the people you name in your will should die before you do, or if you all perish in a common catastrophe like a car smashup?

The law is wise but it cannot do your thinking for you. It settles such questions — but not always to your liking. If you don't make a will, the law says who shall get your property. If you leave certain things out of a contract, the law assumes that you meant to put some certain things in. But how much better it would be in the first place to put them in the way you want them, by asking "what if?"

Take your will now. Your first desire, of course, is to take care of your wife and children—those nearest to you. But it won't hurt anything to put "contingent beneficiaries" in your will in case something happens to thwart your first intentions.

Review your will every year or so to see if it meets the new things that have come up or arrange with your lawyer to write in "contingent beneficiaries"—those who will receive your property if your first beneficiaries should die before you do.

You may long ago have had your son provided for in your will, but what about those lovely grandchildren he and his wife have presented to you since you wrote the will? What would happen to them if things go wrong and your son should die before you?

Or take your widowed sister and her children now. Suppose you and your immediate family should be wiped out? Would you want your property to go equally to her and to your well-to-do bachelor brother? Or would you prefer to leave your brother some token of your affection, and then really take care of your sister?

You may be impatient with the law's long memory. Such things never happen, you think, but the court records are full of plans which failed. And so the law has ways in which you can provide for "what happens-if." One way is the device of contingent beneficiaries in your will and insurance policies.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform, not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts because the facts may change the application of the law.)

One-Act Play Contest Slated

WHITE DEER — The District 14-B one-act play contest will be held in the White Deer High School auditorium on March 24, with eight schools entered in the division this year.

Plays will be produced in the following order: Canadian, McLean, Lefors, Wellington, and Clarendon. The contest will be run in two sessions. There will be four plays produced in each session.

The afternoon session will begin at 1:30 p.m. with Canadian's production of "High Window." The evening session will begin with Stinnett's production of "The Shot That Missed Lincoln." Admission prices for each session will be students — 25 cents and adults — 50 cents.

PICTURE NEWS

AROUND THE SPORTS WORLD

IT'S ALL THE SAME—While Duke Snider, Stan Musial, Willie Mays and Mickey Mantle are getting their spring training in Florida sunshine, the same thing is going on in Chicago. Buzzy Voynow, Harry Korshak, Nick Pritzker and Jerry Schwartz took their mitts out into the open to play a little ball after a long, cold winter.

STIFF OPPOSITION—A young goalie in Stockholm, Sweden, is so weighted down with hockey equipment that it's doubtful he could move fast enough to help his team. He was one of 800 boys playing in a tournament sponsored by a Stockholm newspaper.

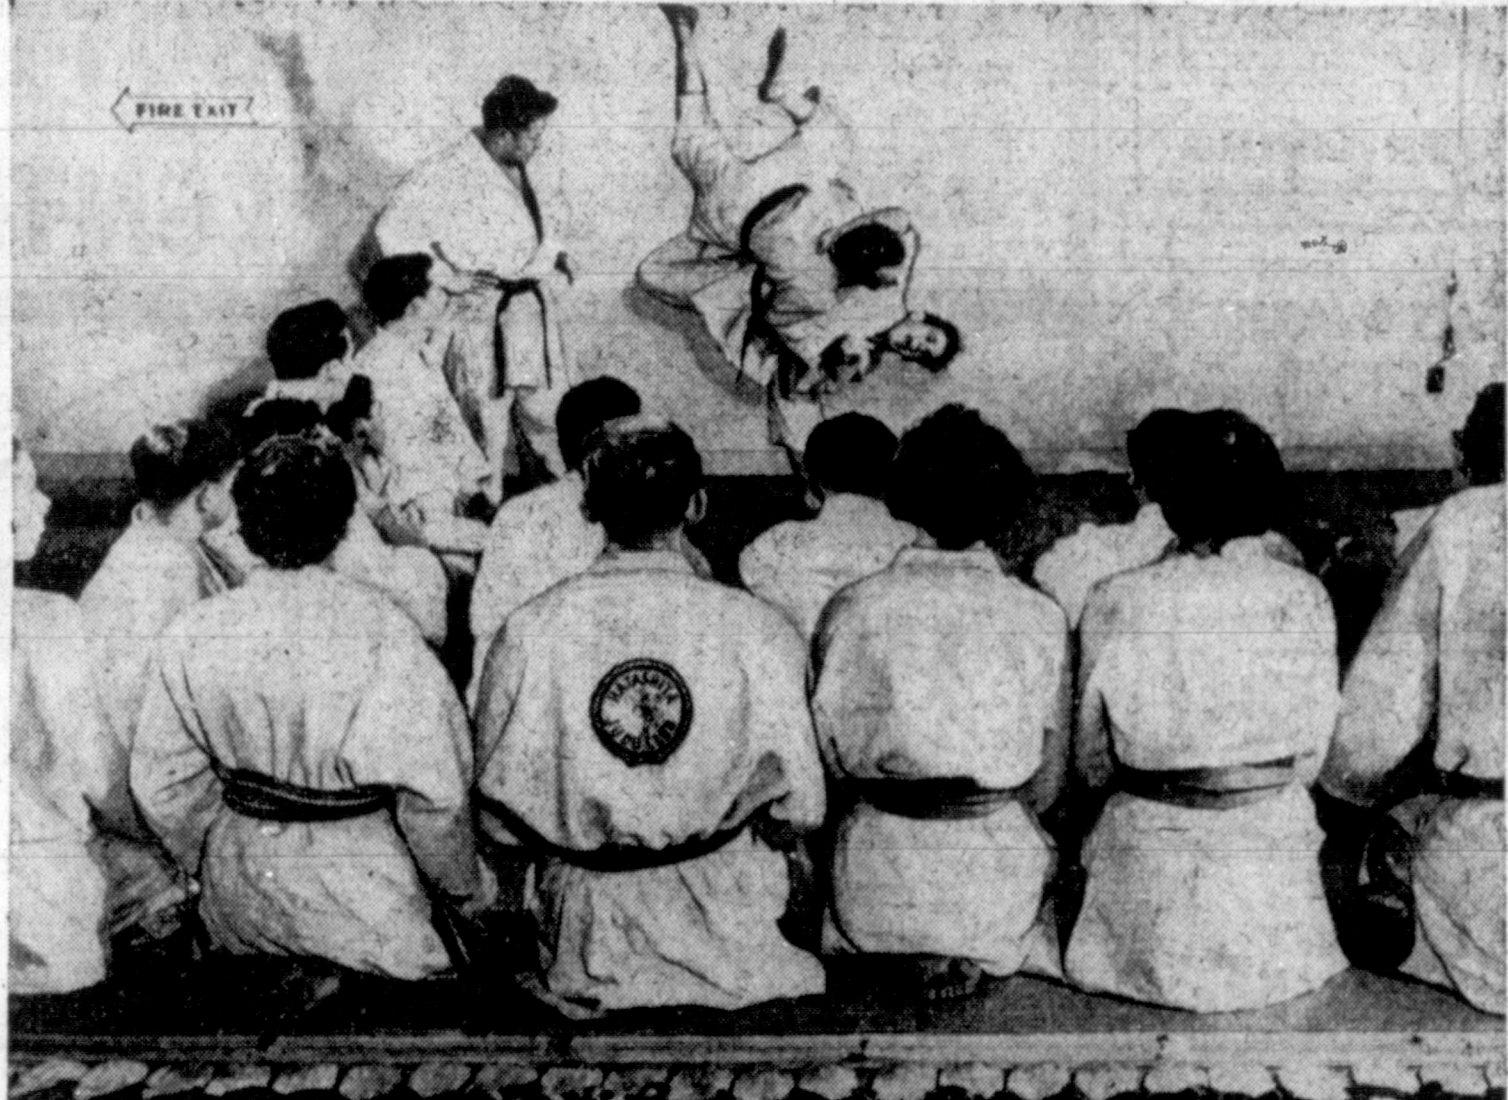

RODEO QUEEN—Lillie Ann Badley, 18, of Tolleson, Ariz., is adjusting the bridle of her horse on which she won the title of Rodeo Queen for the 25th annual World's Championship Rodeo in Phoenix. She attends Arizona State College at Tempe.

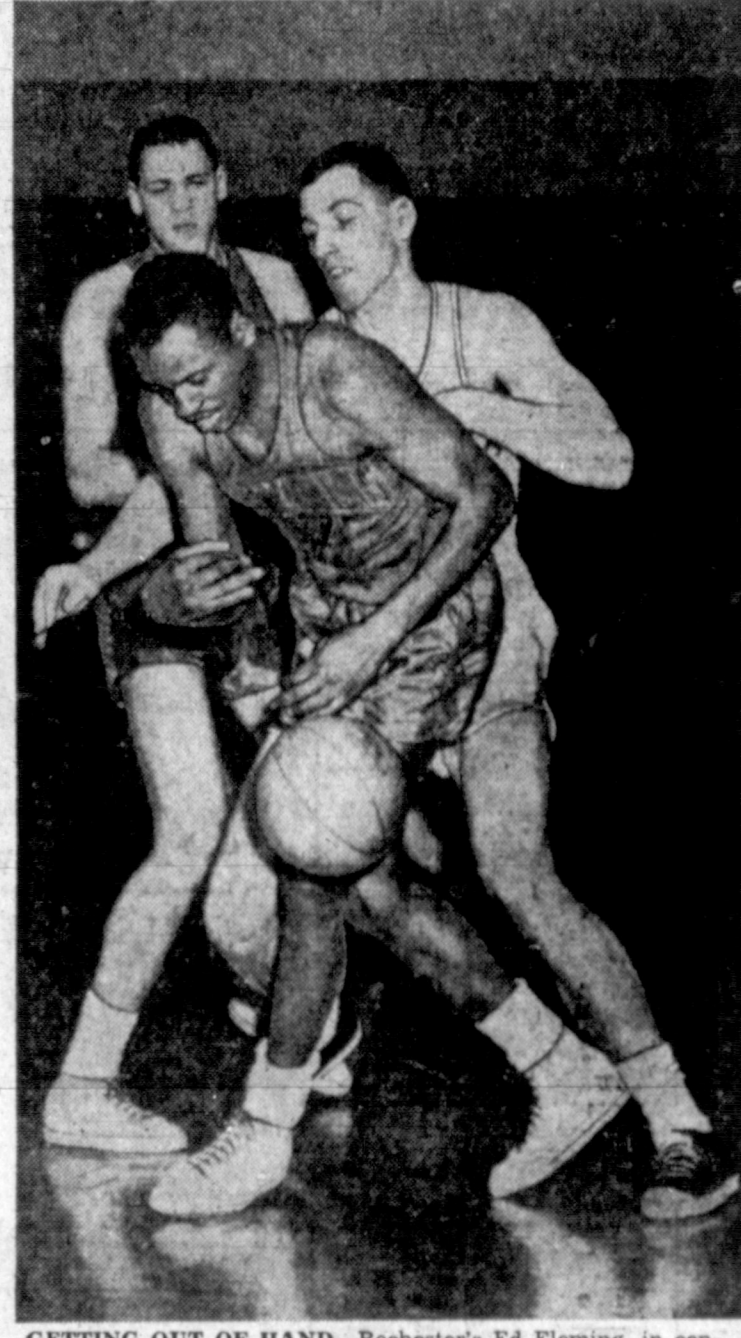

OUT OF THE ORDINARY—Andy Kruzyinski, left, and Ed Rotoworowski are beating the traffic tie-up in Montreal, Canada, by skiing to work. A blizzard had dumped 16 inches of snow on the city, causing the worst congestion in 19 years.

GOING IN CYCLES—These youngsters are known as the Whiz Kids and they ride unicycles like most youngsters ride bikes. They're shown performing in a boat show in Atlanta, Ga., where Jimmy Hall, four; Carmen Hall, five, and Ervina Hall, seven, seemed to do their stuff with the greatest of ease.

THE WAY OF THE EAST—Judo, the ancient Japanese art of self-defense, has become a modern-day sport with a wide following throughout the world. In Toronto, Ont., the Hatashita Judo Club has more than 200 members, making it the largest in Canada. Here, men and women judo students in white outfits are watching a demonstration by an expert.

IT'S ALL RELATIVES

FAMILY STYLE—A lull in practice finds Braves' manager Charlie Grimm playing catch with his eight-year-old grandson, Chuck Steinbeck, of St. Louis, at the Milwaukee training camp in Bradenton, Fla. Moss-laden trees provide a typical southern backdrop. Chuck probably knows he's a lucky lad to have such a famous grandpop to give him instruction.

MUTUAL BOOSTERS—At Vero Beach, Fla., Brooklyn Dodger pitcher Clem Labine is giving a boost to two of his favorite boosters—his twin daughters, Bobo and Gigi, three years old. They were visiting their father at the Dodger spring training headquarters where they posed for the photographer.

PRACTICE—It's always a help and Lori O'Brien needed some experience with rod and reel. Because she was going to model fishing tackle at the San Francisco Sports and Boat Show, Lori went out and learned her lesson.

Shamrock Juniors To Present Play

SHAMROCK — (Special) — The Junior Class of Shamrock High School will present "Go West Young Man," Friday evening Mar. 23, at 8 in Clark Auditorium.

Mrs. E. Claude Montgomery, class sponsor, is director of the three-act comedy, by John Raud, which is being produced by special arrangement with Samuel French.

Members of the cast are: Glendene Wairaven as Jane Willis, a young rancher; Edna Shipley, Tills Beggs, a hired girl; J. L. Hughes, Alkali Al, a rough, tough hombre; James Lanham, Harry Martin, a play boy; Troy Jolly, Was Hopper, his friend, Donald Burkhalter, Ken Thornton, a sleepy man; Jimmy Cannon, Charlotte Stone, a stenographer; Karol Harrison, Fran Davis, her friend; Margaret Grogan,

THE STORY OF EGGBERT

Plagued Day And Night with Bladder Discomfort?

Simple Irritations Quickly Soothed With Today's Help

Such a common thing as urine sitting or drinking may be a source of mild, but annoying bladder irritations—making you feel restless, tense, and uncomfortable. And if restless nights, with nagging backache, headaches or muscular aches and pains due to over-exertion, strain or emotional upset, are adding to your misery—don't wait—try Doan's Pills.

Doan's Pills have three outstanding advantages—act in three ways for your speedy return to comfort. 1—They have an astringent soothing effect on bladder irritations. 2—A fast pain-relieving action on nagging backache, headache, muscular aches and pains. 3—A wonderfully mild diuretic action thru the kidneys, tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes. So, get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years. Get Doan's Pills today.

HE'S DIFFERENT—Most persons use a ladder when they're painting a house. But not Dale Bradley of Santa Ana, Calif. Sixteen-year-old Dale reaches the eaves on his home by riding high on a unicycle, as above.

It's hard to believe that today's and was misplayed by one of the best known bridge players in the country. He disregarded a basic principle of correct play. He may not be the only one, so perhaps a little discussion of that principle will help.

Your problem is to limit the trump loss to one trick. You're bound to lose both red aces. How should you play the trumps? Assume that you cannot see the cards held by the opponents. What is the correct theoretical play?

The correct play is to finesse the jack rather than to play the king. The advantage is small, but even a small advantage is better than none.

Suppose that each opponent has two trumps. You must guess whether to play the king or the jack. One guess is just as good as another, in the long run.

Suppose that the trumps are 4-3. The finesse of the jack will often succeed. To play the king will succeed only if West has the singleton queen.

There is also the chance that East has all of the trumps, in which case it is surely better to finesse the jack than to put up the king.

It's true that you are occasionally doomed to failure no matter what you do, since West will sometimes have both the ace and queen. It's also true that one guess is about as good as another if the high cards are divided between the two opponents. The big advantage of playing the jack is that East may have both high trumps.

If you always finesse the jack whenever you have a situation of this kind, you will be far better off in the long run than the player who always plays the king.

ROAD BLOCK—Motorists in Kaub, Germany, find this road blocked—by blocks of ice. The huge chunks of drift ice were washed up on the road when the Rhine River flooded parts of Kaub and Oberwesel, then receded leaving the drift ice behind. The flood accompanied the thaw which followed Europe's worst cold wave of the century.

Hogs, Hens, Other Animals Grow Larger Every Year

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON (UP)—Not long ago I wrote about how man is getting bigger by the generation. So this farmer from Iowa wrote in and said how about his pigs, and cows and hens?

"Isn't it true," he wrote, "that animals are getting bigger and fatter by the year, too? And don't they have more generations per year, coral and coop?"

That was a question, multiple as it were, that deserved looking into. Turned out the gallused man of the soil from the wonderful state of the Hawkeye had a good point.

This all started with what I thought was an innocent little piece about bigger heads being put in a new motel here. It seems the architect got nosy and decided to look into the growth of man.

He found that in the Civil War there were twice as many men over six feet than in the Revolutionary War. Also our lads in World War II ran an average of an inch higher than in War I.

But getting back to hams, steaks and chicken legs.

The Department of Agriculture says that it is mostly the feeding that makes a hog fat, also steers and mother hens.

The company of Ezra Benson, Inc., has a little booklet with a drawing showing a 1910 hog—a puny little critter. It stands beside a slopper, vintage of 1950, but even this guy is overshadowed by one dated 1955.

Different breeds were put into three feeding groups with average starting weights just over 51 pounds. Those fed new rations gained 2½ times faster than those fed the 1910 variety. When the experiment was over the pigs on modern rations weighed 200 pounds; those on 1938 rations 103 pounds, and the little 1910 guy looked skinnier than before weening.

The Iowa farmer can look in the back 40 acre pasture and see that his steers are getting bigger, too. His Department of Agriculture will tell him what he probably already knows.

More than a decade ago, his steak on the hoof gained only two pounds a day. Today, with improved feeding, the steer puts on weight at the rate of 2½ pounds a day.

On the rations fed chickens over an eight-week period in 1930, the chick weighed in at 1.62 pounds. In 1938 that was increased to 1.89 pounds. In 1948 it was 2.17 pounds. A real whopper was produced in 1954—2.81 pounds.

First thing we know we'll have to build bigger stys, enlarge the corral and move out of the main house to make room for the chickens.

EVER NOTICE HOW THE BEST COOKS always seem to have the most inviting kitchens? Most good cooks, it seems to me, are aware of the importance of having cheerful, efficient surroundings. Perhaps it gives them inspiration, who knows! At any rate you just know they not only love to prepare good food, but are content simply doing everyday chores in their kitchens.

THE INVITING kitchen is not necessarily the most elaborate one. But today it is the one that is warmly decorated and efficiently arranged so that work flows smoothly.

If you've been thinking about doing over your dull kitchen, be sure to keep these factors in mind. Regardless of the size of the work room, it's easy nowadays to make it as gay as you wish, at the same time you pack it with conveniences. This is particularly true if you plan to replace your storage cabinets with steel units. For the latest steel cabinets — standard units as well as the custom built ones — are obtained this year in a wide selection of shades, in addition to white.

You can, for example, have the baked enamel finish on your cabinets in such currently popular tones as turquoise, pink, or yellow. Or you can color like the cabinets to the walls of the dining and living areas of house. More and more women seem to be doing this, in fact, particularly in open-planed type homes. By choosing a cabinet tone that harmonizes with walls, or selecting bright or deep tones that pick up color from the accessories in other rooms, the kitchen becomes a part of the overall decorative scheme.

Of course, a good many of you may still prefer soft white. If you do, you'll find white steel cabinets are being used as smartly as the colored units today. Their colorful countertops, painted or papered walls, the floor covering, and even the curtains can be chosen to contrast with white most effectively.

Speaking of counter tops, the color you select for them is just as important to the overall decoration of the kitchen as the color of your cabinets. So pick your surfaces of durable plastic or linoleum in tones that contrast boldly or harmonize softly with your storage units. With a bit of imagination, as a matter of fact, your cabinets and counters may well set the theme for the entire kitchen's color styling.

One of the things you'll appreciate about choosing steel cabinets is a smooth, long wearing baked enamel finish, is that you know their color will never fade nor grow dingy. Thus, your kitchen will remain inviting and pretty for a long, long time with no costly upkeep.

ONLY "THE LOOK" of the frankfurter-in-a-bun is changed in this sandwich. In frankfurter-egg sandwiches the favorite foods are all here. Combine 1/2 cup chopped, cooked frankfurters with 1 chopped, hard-cooked egg, 1 tablespoon each of minced onion and chili sauce, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon prepared mustard and 1/4 teaspoon pepper.

Yield: Filling for 4 sandwiches.

IT'S A THRIFTY trick to divert the three-or-four-too-many eggs left in the Easter basket into next-day sandwich fillings. For the children's lunch boxes, make egg-vegetable sandwiches, spreading the filling on each white bread or between bun halves. To make: Combine 2 chopped hard-cooked eggs, 3 tablespoons each of grated carrot, chopped celery and mayonnaise or salad dressing. Yields: filling for 4 sandwiches.

BOTH YOU and the Easter rabbit have designs on the egg supply. To avoid the children color more hard-cooked eggs than they can eat on Easter morning, they can be the makings for sandwiches. Vary them with tuna-cheese-egg filling. Combine 1/2 cup chopped hard-cooked egg, 1/2 cup flaked tuna or salmon, 1-3 cup grated process cheese, 1 tablespoon each of chopped green pepper, chopped onion and chopped stuffed olives and 3 tablespoons mayonnaise or salad dressing. Yields: filling for 6 sandwiches.

FEW FOODS pair off so well with other foods as do eggs. Combined as sandwich fillings, the variations become unlimited. One of the best of these is egg-crabmeat sandwiches. To make filling: Combine 1/2 cup chopped hard-cooked eggs, 1/2 cup flaked crabmeat, 1/4 teaspoon celery salt, 1 tablespoon mayonnaise or salad dressing and 1/4 teaspoon lemon juice. Yields: filling for 4 sandwiches.

Election Of Officers, Life Membership Award Highlight Junior High PTA Meet

Election of officers highlighted the recent meeting of the Junior High School Parent-Teacher Association in the school auditorium. Chosen were Mrs. Siler Hopkins, president; Mrs. Homer D. Johnson, vice-president; Mrs. Fredson, secretary; Mrs. Irene Osborne, treasurer; Mrs. Dale Pinner, historian; Mrs. Jack Foster, parliamentarian; Mrs. Elmer Darnell and Mrs. T. G. Worrell, city council representatives.

Another highlight of the meeting was the presentation of a life membership award to J. Hermon Jones, Junior High teacher, for 23 years service in the school system. The presentation was made by Mrs. F. G. Jernigan.

The ninth-grade student-night program was introduced by Mrs. Gene Fatheree, program chairman. The school band, under the direction of Joseph DiCosimo, played several selections prepared for the spring conference, to be held in Canyon, Apr. 26. Its numbers included "Semper Fidelis" and "High School Cadets," both by Sousa; and "Horizons" and "Scotch Folk Suite," both contest numbers.

Members of the Bell Home Demonstration Club entertained their families with a St. Patrick's Day party recently in the Bell schoolhouse. Hostesses were Mrs. Herchel Kelley and Mrs. Tom Anderson.

Busy Bee HD Club Plans For Project

WHITE DEER — (Special) — Busy Bee Home Demonstration Club met recently in home of Mrs. Hoyt Taylor. It was reported that $120 was collected for the resuscitator fund. Proceeds of $30 from a recent bake sale were included in this amount. It was decided that house numbers will be sold by members to raise more money for this fund.

The program was a demonstration on making a Swedish teatime by Mrs. Hoyt Taylor. Members present were Mmes. Raymond Blodgett, C. T. Smith, Jay Phillips, D. C. Freeman, Harold Collins, J. E. Wheeler, Dale Burch, Leon Osborne, Hoyt Taylor.

Top O' Texas Medical Auxiliary Fetes State President With Brunch In Borger

The Women's Auxiliary of the Top o' Texas Medical Society entertained its state president, Mrs. Joseph H. McCracken Jr. of Dallas, with a brunch in the Borger Country Club recently.

In an informal talk, Mrs. McCracken, wife of a prominent surgeon, complimented the group on the work it is doing in nurse recruitment and scholarships and on the donations being made to the American Medical Education Foundation. She urged the doctors' wives to familiarize the lay people with the work of the Foundation, and to encourage them to donate to it.

"It is important everyone realize that the medical profession is trying to keep our medical schools out of government hands, and this can be done only if the schools can secure financial independence," she explained. "Thus, the American Medical Education Foundation has been formed to give financial aid to the medical schools."

She urged the group to become familiar with legislation concerning the profession so that it may inform outsiders as to why the doctors oppose or endorse certain bills that come before Congress.

Mrs. McCracken told of the work of various auxiliaries throughout the state, explaining what they are doing in civil defense and in improving mental health. She stated that most mental problems can be cured within a year with the proper treatment and care. She told of the work being done by the Dallas Auxiliary for girls in the Juvenile Delinquent Home there.

During the business session, it was announced that 10 members of the Pampa Future Nurses' Club will attend the Future Nurses Convention in Dallas Saturday. Mrs. Joe Donaldson, sponsor, and Mrs. M. C. Overton, will accompany the girls. Mrs. Donaldson reported that members of the Pampa Club are working in hospitals Saturdays. The Borger group announced five members of its Future Nurses Club will attend the convention.

Attending from Pampa were Mmes. J. R. Donaldson, J. M. Key, M. McDaniel, E. S. Williams, J. F. Riden, R. W. Laycock, Carl Lang, Joe Gates and H. F. Fabian. Present from Borger were Mmes. W. G. Stevens, W. W. Brooks, M. E. Ingham, C. G. Brindley, Larry Hamra, M. C. Kimball, H. M. Hamra and H. C. Pennel.

The refreshment table was covered with a white cloth and centered with the Girls Auxiliary emblem. Cookies, tea and punch were served. Those present, not previously mentioned, were Mmes. C. V. Biggers, A. M. Dean, Lee Thomas, E. C. Fitch, R. T. Davis, J. M. Glange, M. C. Dunnivan, and Mmes. Gloria Huggins, Patsy Moore, Kay Dunnivan, Diana Aubrey, Janet Davis, Sheila Snyder, Sally Banks, Sandra Biggers, and Karen Sue I. Ich.

COOK'S NOOK

Build A Spring Salad Around Mushrooms

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor

This is the giddy season because spring began today. A New Yorker noted for his interest in food comes up with a "giddy" salad suggestion. His name is Fred Smith and his salad idea, though different, is really delicious and refreshing.

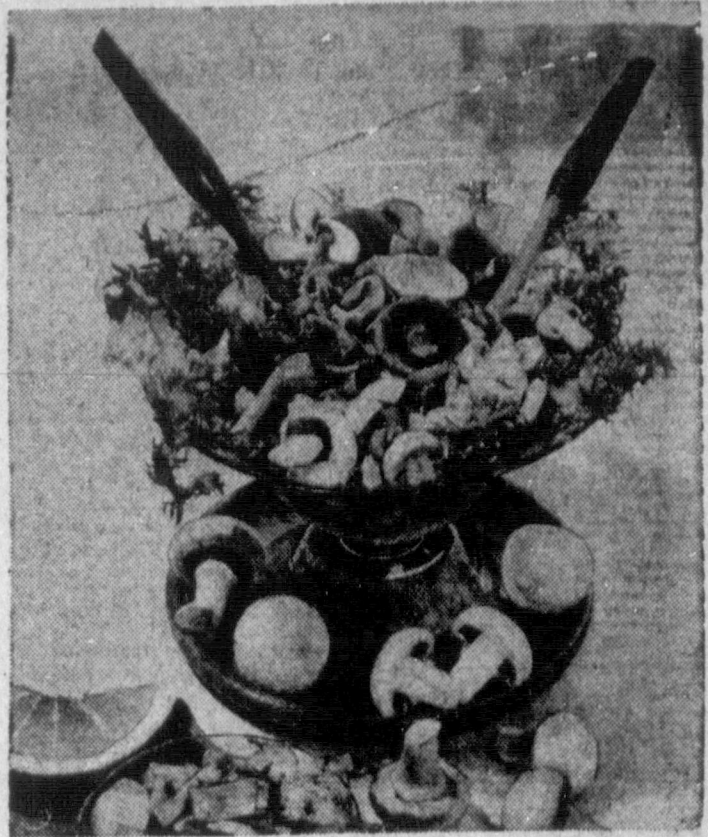

Fresh Mushroom Salad
One lb. fresh mushrooms, 1 cup diced celery, inner stalks, 1 hard-cooked egg, 2 or 3 tiny sweet pickles, finely diced.

Remove stems from caps and use as an addition to any soup or sauce. Skin (do not peel) mushroom caps and slice crosswise into to this slices. Place slices in deep bowl. Pour on marinade described below and cover with lid. Place in refrigerator for at least 30 minutes; longer is fine. Stir occasionally.

Marinade
One-half cup salad oil, 5 tablespoons wine vinegar, 1/4 teaspoon salt, generous amount freshly ground black pepper, dash tabasco.

To serve: Drain off marinade, add celery, diced pickle, egg cut into chunks. Toss together and pile into center of glass salad bowl lined with celery or lettuce hearts. Add more of the marinade if necessary. Garnish with paper-thin circles of green pepper and pineapple strips.

THE WELCOME GREEN of spring gives fresh mushroom salad a compelling eye-appeal. And serve this salad very cold.

Dallas Fashion Designers Put Accent On New Fabric, Silhouette And Color

By MARY PRIME

DALLAS — Fashion designers in Dallas have put the accent on new fabrics, a new silhouette, and new colors for summer. Twenty-six manufacturers opened a three-day spring fashion showing sponsored by the Dallas Fashion Center at the new Staller-Hilton Hotel Tuesday. More than 50 fashion reporters reviewed the collections.

Manufacturers showed familiar fabrics combined with new wrinkles and materials that save ironing and are especially designed for vacation travel.

Lorch Manufacturing Co. displayed a sheath dress of novelty nylon and acetate that will not wrinkle or stretch. The material featured a pattern of raised squares that formed a soft, one-color check design. Julie Clark, Jr., showed dresses of shantung cotton, gale polished cottons, and smart cotton paisley. Most plain cotton fabrics shown were crease resistant, designed especially for suits and two-piece dresses with slim skirts.

Julie Clark Jr. showed a worsted cotton check in cognac and white, with a flat bow high above the waist to emphasize the empire style.

Sheath dresses took the spotlight. Many were cut high in front and low in back, with the accent on back interest, including bows, buttons, and T-line cut-out necks. Many sheaths were worn with jackets, both long and slim and short and flared. Other designers added a dramatic touch to sheaths by including long dusters.

Colors were gay enough to lend a special vacation-time touch, but soft enough to look cool on a fresh. Lorch Manufacturing Co. featured colors inspired from the Mojave desert. Shades included sundust and desert cantaloupe. Julie Clark Jr. showed prints, colored frocks, and smart navy dresses and suits trimmed with white pique. All white collars were detachable to insure easy washing with a minimum of fussing.

Guests were Mmes. Paul Payne, Audra Carey, E. B. mwstra afrow Floyd Lassiter, Jack Florence, Ivan Marlin, Murray Sealey, Buck Moore, C. P. Richardson, Jack Hood, Bill Gablemann, Ray Jones, Chester Farmer, Lloyd Walker, and Misses Martha Montgomery, Lucy Cathcart, June Stevenson and Kitty Jaynes.

Others present were Mrs. Jack P. Foster, sponsor, and Mrs. Thelma Bray, chapter director. Members attending were Mmes. Harold Anderson, Vernon Bell, Betty Chadwick, Charles Dukenel Jr., Kenneth Huey, Jack Lockett, Earl Luther, Dwayne Lyon, James Matlock, Jack Tabor, Jim Terrell; and Misses Babs Eaton and Betty Tom Riddle.

Next meeting will be at 8 p.m. Mar. 27, at Mrs. L. A. Barber's Decorating Shoppe, 124 Osage.

How To Pay Is Chief Home Repair Problem

By ROBERT F. MORISON
WASHINGTON, March 17 — UP — With spring around the corner, it's time to think about home repairs and improvements.

For the more ambitious the question of how to pay for them is usually the homeowner's first obstacle.

The Metropolitan Association of General Improvement Contractors here has outlined several ways to do so. The Veterans Administration has another.

The contractors first of all recommend paying cash. That way, of course, interest payments are avoided. For those who haven't the cash, the contractors offer these possibilities:

- 1 — A Federal Housing Administration "Title I" loan. These are available to qualified borrowers through local lenders and are insured by FHA. Sufficient income and good credit standing are mandatory and a maximum of $2,500 is placed on the loan. Interest is deducted at the rate of 5 per cent per year before the loan is completed. Repayment is made in equal monthly installments.
- 2 — Bank loan. Without FHA backing it carries a higher rate of interest — usually about 7 per cent — but repayment periods can be made longer. A five-year loan would cost a borrower $22.50 a month per $1,000.
- 4 — First mortgage. This depends largely on the availability of lending funds and "usually" is refinanced into the existing mortgage, resulting in additional closing costs and higher monthly mortgage payments. If not, it means extra payments each month with interest running from five to six per cent and repayments ranging from $7.90 to $11.10 a month per $1,000.
- 5 — Second trust. This is described as the "most undesirable" type, but a borrower may be forced to use it. Under this plan, the bor-

Fly Density To Reach Peak Soon

AUSTIN — March 22 — Fly densities in Texas will reach their peak within six weeks, state health authorities cautioned today.

Temperature and moisture will be ideal for fly growth and propagation by May, and coinciding with the increase in the number of flies will be a marked rise in the number of cases of dysentery diseases, State Health Commissioner Henry A. Holle predicted.

Last year in Laredo, sanitarians were able to accurately chart on a graph a rise in dysentery diseases side by side with a rise in fly densities. They found that by starting intense fly-killing campaigns at the peaks in fly densities as shown on the graph, a parallel drop occurred in the incidence of dysentery diseases.

"There is an object lesson in Laredo's experience for the rest of the state," Dr. Holle said. "Right now is the most important time of the year to begin really serious fly control programs."

More than 1100 deaths were attributed to dysentery diseases last year, most of the victims were babies.

Senior Engineer Frank von Zuben of the State Health Department's environmental sanitation staff pointed to general community sanitation as the most vital aspect of fly control.

If I had one choice of what I would like to impress on the mind of every man and woman in Texas, it would be neighborhood cleanliness," Von Zuben said. "Neighborhoods are clean only when everybody living in them takes care to keep their own places free of litter and fly breeding media."

It is a known principle of disease transmission that flies "seed" disease organisms among some humans. Thereafter the sick persons spread the illness to their "contacts," even after peaks in fly densities have passed.

Another "peak" will come in the fall, after hot weather has passed and fall rains come.

With ideal conditions of temperature and moisture, flies may breed and lay eggs in a harmless looking pile of grass clippings. They won't pick up disease organisms in the grass clippings, but when the eggs hatch the flies will find an attractant — a privy, an animal shelter, or an open garbage dump, where disease organisms are prevalent.

Therein lies the importance of community wide sanitation.

Included among the major fly-borne diseases are tuberculosis, typhoid fever, bacillary dysentery, infant diarrhea, and the eggs of tapeworms and round worms.

Letters Favor Seeing Birth On "Medic" TV Program

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD — UP — Do television viewers want to see a caesarean birth on their home screens? "Medic" producer Frank LaTourette is counting stacks of letters from persons who say they do.

The mail bag for the producer of the NBC-TV series on medicine has been extra-heavy since the network censored a schedule controversial program showing a baby being born by caesarean section. "And only three letters out of 200 have been against the show, and those were largely crank letters," LaTourette said Thursday as he sifted through his mail.

"The letters saying the program should be shown are intelligently written. And everyone I've shown the show to thinks it should go on."

The provocative program still has the network and the "Medic" makers playing tug-of-war. NBC refuses to run the filmed show unless part of the operation is deleted. But LaTourette and writer Jim

Can We Turn Back?

The Constitution of the United States was a great document.

The men who drafted it were imbued with the idea that God had created man, and that men were equal in God's sight.

They had had enough of the posturing and pretense of kings. They recognized that if men were free from the onus of government regimentation, that inately men could rise to astonishing heights.

And they were wise. For they knew well that some men might not rise, but that others might; and that no man in advance could predict with certainty which were destined to achieve.

The Constitution provided for that freedom of achievement.

The Constitution was the first governmental straight-jacket in world history. With its first ten amendments, without which the Constitution could not have been ratified, it placed off-limit signs over certain areas of human activity. Government was to make no law respecting freedom of speech and of the press and of religion. Even without the Bill of Rights, the Constitution listed carefully those functions which the founders deemed advisable for governmental operation.

When copies of the Constitution were distributed among the crowned heads of Europe, a roar of laughter greeted its reading. Here was an instrument framework so divided the powers within the government framework as to make it, virtually, no government at all. Sovereign power was split and restricted. And the people themselves were to have the last word.

But the kings and emperors laughed too soon. Instead of a weak and vacillating republic, the United States grew in power and might.

But, curiously, the growth of power and might did not occur at first within the governmental framework, but rather outside of it. Indeed, the government was weak. But individual people became strong because of that very weakness. And, they became wealthy. Because they were caught up with the spirit of freedom which the Constitution specifically permitted. The little people of the United States became a moving force which changed the history of the world.

It was true that the American government was simply impotent to do a great many things. But the people were not. And they voluntarily came forward to accomplish great things.

This was the revolution of the modern era. And the kings, who laughed, found themselves with toppling thrones and rolling crowns.

But as time passed, the American people took their Constitution for granted. They deemed it so good, that it would even withstand the tinkering of amateurs. And here is where the great error occurred.

For, had the Constitution been made impervious to internal monkey-business, as it had been made a bulwark of freedom, the problems we face today in this country could not have arisen.

But, alas, the drafters of the document felt that they had to provide a flexible instrument which would respond to the will of a majority. But they could not build in a safeguard which would preclude stupidity on the part of that majority.

It wasn't long, as history is written, when the majority became a tool in the hands of the skillful politician. Through favors which resulted in outright public bribery of the electorate, the very nature of the government was changed. And where it could not be changed readily, devices were rigged so that the limited government envisioned by our founding fathers gave way to a limitless government, of dictatorial power scarcely rivaled by the tyrants and despots of the middle ages.

Instead of remaining a simple, clear-cut instrument, which retained the principles of freedom, the Constitution was buried beneath an avalanche of bureaus, executive orders and decrees and unlimited taxing power.

Students of government, seeing what has happened, are today in large numbers clamoring for a return to the Constitution. It seems to us that this clamor, while understandable, must result in futility.

The Constitution has been breached and by-passed. Its principles were magnificent. But in practice, it has permitted internationalists, communists, socialists and just plain crack-pots to subvert and obfuscate the principles on which the Constitution rests.

To seek for a return to the Constitution is like yearning for a return to innocence. It is highly to be desired, but impossible of achievement.

Even if the invader is driven out, the hole in the wall will remain. And since it is there, what guarantee could we have that others in later years will not find it and exploit it? The first patches to appear upon our national garment were understandable and served to strengthen the fabric of freedom. But patches came upon patches. And in the end we may have more patches than garment. Then, finally, the threads which are drawn from the loom of liberty, will be all that holds the cloth together.

Today, those who seek this return to strict adherence to the Constitution are filled, we fear, with more hope than logic. Their belief is centered in finding the RIGHT personnel to fill the sprawling labyrinth. But our enemy is not the persons presently inhabiting this rabbit warren of authority; it is the warren itself. We are lost in the maze of channels, red tape and confusion and some are hopeful that we can find a Theseus who will lead us out. Yet, even if we do, the halls of obfuscation will remain.

Clear and careful analysis is needed. The importance of the Constitution is found in the principles on which it is based, not in its particular wording of those principles.

If the American people will take those principles to their hearts, a solution to our dreadful plethora of legitimacy can be found. Without these principles we are doomed. In itself, the Constitution cannot save us.

The Rights Of Property— A Refutation Of Communism & Socialism No. XI

In his book, "A Refutation of Communism and Socialism," Adolphe Thiers has a chapter of "The True Foundation of the Right of Property." This chapter follows a chapter showing that the man that labors and produces wealth has a right to give away his property during his life or after his demise. Then Thiers proceeds in this manner:

"Showing from all that has preceded, that labor is the true foundation of Property.

"What is the result of all these deductions, the various links of which seem to me to be nowhere disconnected? In my opinion it is this:—

"Man, brought naked into a naked world (nudus in nuda humo), passes from a state of wretchedness to abundance by the exercise of the faculties which God has given him.

"These faculties constitute a first property, inseparable from him; from their exercise proceeds a second property, consisting in the goods of this world, less adherent to his existence, but, if possible, more worthy of respect, for the first comes to him by nature, the second by his own labour, and, for the very reason that it is less adherent requiring the formal guarantee of society, in order that a man, certain of possessing the fruits of his exertions, may labour with confidence and zeal.

"This acquired property, being guaranteed by society, possesses, as necessary consequences, the right of gift and inheritance; for gift is one of the indispensable methods of using it, and inheritance, deriving in its turn from gift and nature, cannot be prevented by any means, and completes the system of property, by creating for labour an infinite stimulus, instead of one that is insufficient and limited.

"From hereditary transmission proceed new acquired inequalities, which, being added to natural inequalities, produce certain accumulations termed riches. These accumulations possess nothing contrary to equity, for they have been taken from nobody; they contribute to the common abundance, serve to pay for the choicest productions of industrial skill, are the means of beneficence, and, being the offspring of labour, melting away and perishing through idleness, present man to us as rewarded or punished by the most inflexible of all justice—that of the result.

"Such is the exact history of the manner in which things take place in society, in relation to labour and property. What do we behold there? That man must labour, labour without measure and without end; that by labouring, even immoderately, according to the bent of his faculties, he does good to himself and to others; he acquires an abundance which spreads its benefits on all around, and consequently, that the personal property which gives him an aim, but a limited aim, and property transmissible by inheritance, which creates for him an unlimited aim, are a social necessity.

"Property, which at the commencement of this chain of deductions we have looked upon as a general fact, is therefore a fact not only general, but a legitimate and necessary fact.

"What more is required to authorize our saying, when speaking of property, that it is a right, a sacred right, like the liberty of coming and going, the liberty of thinking, speaking, and writing?"

"For instance, I want to take exercise abroad, for without it I cannot live. Although at this moment I might not have the desire, the mere idea that I cannot do so, that I am confined within the walls of a city, or in the vast forests of Paraguay, would be a punishment to me; and society, before it became civilized, recognized as a natural habit, and after it was civilized, as a written law the liberty of going and coming, and entitled it personal liberty.

"I possess a mind—which perceives the relations of things,—the relations of states with the world, of citizens with the state itself, which judges soundly of them, which can speak of them in a useful manner, which will do it so much the better in proportion as it can be done freely, to which silence on this subject would be unbearable, which would bring appellation, perhaps death itself, if endeavours were made to prevent it; and, considering the utility for the individual, and for the state, of allowing this inclination to produce itself, society declares, when it is civilized, that the liberty of thinking and of publishing our thoughts, is a right, a sacred right."

He Has A Right
The observation of these facts has given rise to the expression: He has a right.

"The propriety, as regards equity, of leaving to a man the fruits of his labour; the interest, with regard to social utility, that this labour should be active, energetic, and unbounded, should evidently lead to the guaranteeing of its productions, and society is as fully authorized to proclaim property a right, as to proclaim as rights the different liberties of which human liberty is composed.

"Civilized society having consecrated in writing the right of property, which it had found existing under the shape of a custom in barbarous society,—having consecrated it with the object of securing, encouraging, and stimu-

Editor Asks Help To Probe Prejudice In North

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — A unique challenge that the New York Evening Post, an ultraliberal newspaper, laid him in investigating and reporting on racial prejudices and clashes in New York and the North generally has been made by Grover C. Hall, Jr., editor of the Montgomery (Ala.) Advertiser.

With scores of Northern and even European reporters scouring Dixie and writing about its difficulties for their millions of readers, Editor Hall believes that such a reportorial exchange would result in a more sensible, balanced and understanding approach to the racial problem.

The Montgomery editor addressed his letter to James A. Wechsler, editor of the Post, and extreme advocate of overnight implementation of the Supreme Court's decision. With Hall's help, Northern newspapermen have been covering the Negro boycott of buses and business in Montgomery, and the case of Autherine Lucy at the University of Alabama.

Hall contends that, while Northern newspapers and magazines publish sensational and colored articles on racial disturbances in the South, they ignore or play down similar instances of anti-Negro discrimination in their own circulation areas. He also suggests that Northern politicians, especially Governor Averell Harriman of the Empire State, play politics with an issue which they do not understand.

In his letter, Hall cites examples of this kind of mishandling of the news in New York, Minneapolis, Chicago, etc. So, he seeks to prove by his journalistic expedition into the "Deep North" that the Negro problem is an American affair, not simply a Southern question.

He gives proof of this contention, quoting Adlai E. Stevenson as follows: "(The race problem) is an American, not a Southern dilemma. . . . Before we cast a stone at Alabama, it might be well for those of us who live in some of the great Northern states to ask ourselves in candor how the Negro is faring in our own communities."

Hall reports this statement from Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York City: "I have been increasingly concerned with the realistic situation of factual segregation in our elementary and high schools. We cannot oppose segregation only in the South."

The New York Times, which favors integration, and recently published an 8-page report on its progress in the South, recognizes that the North is not blameless on this issue. Hall cites this editorial expression: "The explosive issue of segregation in New York's own schools has now been put to the test of scientific study. . . . Obviously, New Yorkers could more consistently argue for the rights of minorities elsewhere, if such rights were more completely secure here."

Murray Kempton, the Post's reporter on racial relations, helped instigate labour, — we may say that labour is the source, the basis, the foundation of the right of property."

In a 6-to-3 decision, the Supreme Court recently held that labor unions can strike against employers' "unfair labor practices" without violating "no strike" contract pledges or the 60-day "cooling-off" period provided for in the Taft-Hartley Act. Under provisions of that law, a violation of either the "no strike" pledge or the "cooling-off" period leaves the attacked company free, as it obviously should be, to fire strikers, who would then have no recourse to the National Labor Relations Board for reinstatement. However, the High Court, despite a vigorous dissent by Justices Frankfurter, Minton, and Harlan, said these provisions apply only to grounds and not to strikes against an employer's "unfair labor practices."

Ho, hum. This seems to me to be making out that Tweedle-dee-dum is a lot more different from Tweedle-dee-dum than he actually is. And it aptly illustrates what difficulties we have got ourselves into by throwing the mantle of legality over some kinds of strikes and trying to withhold it from others. After all a strike is not simply a work stoppage: it is an attempt by force or the threat of force to keep others from occupying the jobs vacated. And, as I may, I can see no legal or moral justification for such action under any circumstances.

Why not repeal the whole Taft-Hartley Act, along with all other acts giving labor union members a privileged status, and make unionists answerable to the same laws as anyone else can we hope to preserve those voluntary and constructive aspects of union activities to which none can object?

FOR REFLECTION
...with JAMES C. INGEBRETSEN, President, Spiritual Mobilization.

There is a general misimpression that Roosevelt invented this mischief, but unfortunately it began under Woodrow Wilson and continued down through the Republican regimes of Harding, Coolidge and Hoover. They tried to prop up limp and dissolute sovereignties East and West in the hope that they would be grateful to us and favor us over our enemies, especially with quaint stuff abundant with them but rare and necessary to us. Most of those sovereignties have been washed away and new boundaries have been lightly scratched and new national governments created which have no more valid authority than a roomful of racketeers have over a local union of movie ushers, car washers or pin-bos.

Their peoples have no loyalty but it is always possible to rile up a few thousands bums of any stripe, including Americans, as we have seen in the union insurrections, to raise hell under the banner of a Lovestone, Hitler, Tito or Peron. Governor Won't Pay Tax To Support Other Countries

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Bracken Lee, the Governor of Utah, refused to pay his income tax, beyond the amount arbitrarily withheld without his consent, on the ground that our national government has no right to tax him to support Turkey, France, Italy and India, to name a few nations which have been sucking his blood and yours and mine.

Mr. Lee is absolutely right under the law but he hasn't got a Chinaman's chance of winning because the bulk of the American people who pay the taxes to keep those other peoples on the dole are scared stiff that if we should saw them off they would go Communist on us. Probably some of them would go Communist but the fact remains that nobody in our national government has any right to give a nickel of our taxes to any other nation under any pretext.

There is a general misimpression that Roosevelt invented this mischief, but unfortunately it began under Woodrow Wilson and continued down through the Republican regimes of Harding, Coolidge and Hoover. They tried to prop up limp and dissolute sovereignties East and West in the hope that they would be grateful to us and favor us over our enemies, especially with quaint stuff abundant with them but rare and necessary to us. Most of those sovereignties have been washed away and new boundaries have been lightly scratched and new national governments created which have no more valid authority than a roomful of racketeers have over a local union of movie ushers, car washers or pin-bos.

My message to Bracken Lee parallels that of Charles Chapin, of Pulitzer's old world, when the reporter phoned in that the woman's husband threatened to shoot him for asking embarrassing questions. Chapin said, "Go back and tell that man he can't intimidate me!" I am with Mr. Lee in principle but quite frankly I am too sensible by this time to think of expending any more spirit and strength on lost causes. He is going to learn that even his noisiest adherents will not be allowed to wage honest controversy about the economic and political basis of various foreign countries.

Mr. Lee's case will never reach a decision in our courts because in all such cases, notably the Vivian Kellems protest against withholding and the Marshall girls' revolt against the baby-sitters' tax, the treasury will take to subterfuges and never face the issue. In short, his protest will not be heard, the issues will not be tried and the right of the American to pay no taxes to a foreign power on wages earned in the sweat of his brow will go by default.

Mac Gets Book To Learn How To Dance

By HENRY McLEMORE

I got an anonymous book through the mail the other day. No card, no "For Henry" on the flyleaf. Just a brand-new copy of "How to Become a Good Dancer" by Arthur Murray.

"Wonder who could have sent me this," I wondered to Mary. "Not the publishers, Simon and Schuster, because it isn't a new book for review."

Mary said that if she were I she wouldn't try to figure out who sent it. "Might as well sweep back the ocean with a broom."

"Whatcha mean by that?" I asked.

"Well," she said "how long have you been dancing?"

"Better'n thirty years."

"And in that time," Mary said, "how many girls to do figure you have danced with?"

"Runs into the thousands, I guess," I answered.

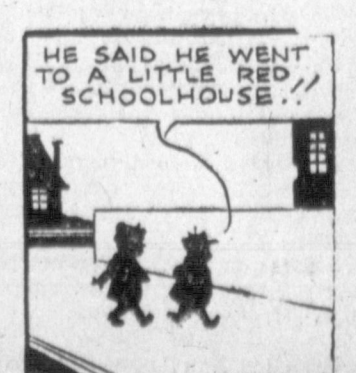

"Any one of your victims could have been the donor," she said. "Or they could have all clipped in and sent the book to you together."

A nasty thought struck me.

"You didn't send it to me, did you, precious, honey chile?" I asked.

"No, but I would have if I had thought of it," she said, "about ten years ago."

I read the Murray book clear through, but I wasn't half-way through it before I knew that Arthur and myself didn't see eye to eye much less foot to foot, and our acquaintanceship goes back to the 1920's when I shook a mean foot at his place at Peachtree and Third. I believe it was, in Atlanta. On page 182 Mr. Murray comes out against too much conversation, especially the argumentative type, when dancing. He's wrong there. Experience has taught me that the best way for a man to lead his partner is with crisp commands,

INGRID BERGMAN tries out a gown for a movie she made in Paris last fall — the first film not directed by Roberto Rossellini since she married him.

When Hollywood Films Ingrid Can She Live Down Stromboli?

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Ingrid Bergman will appear this summer in her first Hollywood movie since "The Bergman Scandal" raged across the world's front pages in 1949-50.

Will it be a grand comeback for the one-time lady of the screen or a flop?

Is the famous star of the cool, fresh beauty and purity of expression still poison at the box office or are U.S. moviegoers who once threatened to boycott her films ready to forgive and forget?

Will there be a repetition of what happened last year when she returned to her native Sweden for the first time in 18 years? She appeared in the opera "Joan of Arc" and the critics blasted her performance.

In a flare of temperament unlike the Ingrid Hollywood once knew, she even turned on the audience from the stage, saying:

"The Swedes begrudge anyone who attempts to rise above the crowd."

The 20th Century-Fox movie slated to star Ingrid in Paris this summer is the Broadway hit, "Anastasia," and for the second time in six years she will not be directed by her husband, Roberto Rossellini.

At the time Darryl Zanuck signed her for the film, some important Fox executives are said to have opposed the idea. They still remembered her soiled reputation.

But Zanuck insisted: "I don't believe the public is concerned with the private life of an actress."

But there was plenty of public concern about the private life of Ingrid Bergman six years ago. The film industry itself labeled her poison at the box office. Women's clubs and movie fans all over the U.S. threatened to boycott her pictures.

"The Bergman Scandal," in fact, ended her brilliant Hollywood career.

Six years ago Ingrid left Hollywood, home, daughter and husband to become the mother of a baby in Rome.

The stories before and after were page one headlines all over the world.

The baby's father was not her husband.

A week after the baby's birth, the Mexican divorce she had been seeking so frantically from her shocked husband, Dr. Peter Lindstrom, became official.

Three months later the film star and her Italian lover, Director Roberto Rossellini, were married — by proxy — in Mexico.

The boycott threat against Ingrid's pictures, however, wasn't necessary. "Open City" and "Paisan," the Italian movies Rossellini made when he was Anna Magani's boy friend, were box office champions.

But "Stromboli" and other Italian films he made as Ingrid's husband and director were such artistic flops that no one even bothered to boycott them. Only a few people saw the films in big city theaters which feature foreign movies.

What if they had been hit movies?

Would U.S. moviegoers have flocked to see Ingrid despite "The Bergman Scandal"? After six years, the answer to that question now will be answered with her stardom in "Anastasia" by a powerful Hollywood studio. The play was a hit. The film will be directed by Hollywood's Anatole Litvak. Ingrid's co-star will be Yul Brynner of "The King and I" fame.

There will be a full-scale publicity campaign on Ingrid's return to the screen in an expensive Hollywood film. Millions of dollars will be poured into the advertising campaign. There are plans for a U.S. personal appearance tour for Ingrid — her first trip to America since becoming the mother of Rossellini's son, Renato, and later twin daughters, Isabella and Ingrid.

Hollywood has taken the sting out of scandal before.

A big studio helped Errol Flynn survive a series of girl charge trials. Many movie queen like Rita Hayworth has leaped from one husband to another. Even the recent Hollywood exposés in the scandal magazines haven't hurt certain stars.

Whether Ingrid Bergman can win back her fans is a question.

For several years after the scandal headlines, magazine writers and newsmen wrote glowing reports of the Rossellini's idyllic marital life in their Roman villa.

But lately there's talk in Rome that Ingrid and Rossellini are fighting, that she "has taken to going out frequently without him." Rossellini, self-styled genius and egotist — "when I make love, ah

Newspaper Men Hit PO Claim

NEW YORK — UP — The American Newspaper Publishers Association has accused the Post Office Department of a "deliberate and planned smear" by claiming that daily newspapers receive a government subsidy through use of second class mailing rates.

In a letter to the House Post Office committee, Cranston Williams, general manager of the ANPA, reiterated the ANPA position that newspapers are "ready and willing" to pay what it costs to handle second class mail but challenged the Post Office's figures, relating to such costs.

"The American Newspaper Publishers Association insists that daily newspapers want to pay their way," Williams said in his March 19 letter. "Newspapers seek no favors in the form of second class postal rates. We resent the deliberate and planned smear that daily newspapers get a subsidy from the federal government because of the present rates."

Harvesters Enter West Texas Relays

ODESSA, Tex. —UP— An increased number of entries plus competition among some of the nation's best trackmen was almost a sure bet Thursday to see several records topple this weekend in the 11th annual West Texas Relays.

The Pampa Harvesters, after winning second place in the Possum Kingdom Relays March 10, and taking fifth place in the Canyon Reef Relays last week, will be entered in the 11th annual West Texas Relays this weekend.

The Green and Golders will leave for Odessa today and will begin preliminaries at 1 p.m. Friday. The high school finals will take place Saturday afternoon.

One of the chief threats to existing records will be Abilene Christian College's great sprinter, Bob Morrow, who is the national sprint champion and hasn't lost a 100-yard dash race since 1953.

Morrow, a sophomore at ACC, is considered one of the top Olympic prospects for the United States.

Close in High Hurdles

Keen competition also is expected between Texas Christian's Bill Curtis and Oklahoma A&M's Eddie Roberts in the high hurdles. A strong contest also is certain between Texas and Oklahoma sprinters.

Interest in the sprint and mile relays will be focused on entries from Houston, Texas, Oklahoma A&M and Baylor.

Baylor pulled a major surprise in Fort Worth last week when the Bears won out over favored Oklahoma A&M for the team championship of the annual Southwestern Recreational meet.

Abilene Christian is almost a sure bet to beat out defending champion North Texas State and other entries in the college division.

In the university division, defending champion Texas is expected to get strongest competition for the team title from Houston, Baylor and Oklahoma A&M, which is making its first appearance at the West Texas Relays.

Nine Colleg. Entries

Altogether there are nine entries in the college division and seven in the university class.

The university division includes Texas, Baylor, SMU, Houston, TCU, Texas Tech and Oklahoma A&M. In the college division are ACC, Howard Payne, McMurry, North Texas, Sul Ross, Texas Western, Corpus Christi, East Texas and Hardin-Simmons.

Both big school divisions compete in only eight events — high jump, broad jump, high hurdles, 100-yard dash, 440 relay, sprint medley relay, 880 relay and mile relay. They also run in an open mile, but no team points are awarded in that event.

High school preliminaries begin at 1 p.m. Friday. College preliminaries start at 9 a.m. Saturday, and finals in all three classes begin at 1 p.m. Saturday.

Santee's Hearing Continues

NEW YORK —UP— Pincus Sober, chairman of the so-called "secret seven" committee whose report led to the suspension of track star Wes Santee, was expected to testify further about his probe Thursday afternoon when the Santee case was resumed in state Supreme Court.

Sober was on the stand when Wednesday's session wound up, as Charles P. Grimes, attorney for Santee, attempted to show that Santee's suspension from track by the national AAU was illegal.

Justice Walter A. Lynch, who is hearing the case without a jury, indicated he would like to see the arguments ended quickly because "the Olympics will be over with before we get this case decided."

But he also indicated the decision might not be rendered for some time because he must study all exhibits and documents in connection with the case.

Attorney Grimes argued Wednesday that Sober's committee acted improperly, contending that it was formed at the AAU convention in Louisville, Ky., last January not by a resolution of the AAU but merely by the AAU's executive committee. Grimes appeared to lose this round when Justice Lynch intervened to say he thought an action by the executive committee was sufficient to set up an investigating group.

Sober's committee reported its findings on Santee to the executive committee, finding that the Marine Corps track star accepted about $1,500 in excessive expenses for competing in nine track meets last year. The executive committee then suspended Santee from amateur track for life.

Hockey Player Turns To Baseball In Spring

Gaetan "John" Laliberte, 24, native of Canada has signed with the Pampa Oilers for the coming season. Laliberte is considered one of the strongest additions to the Oilers pitching staff since Red Dial was added last season.

Laliberte, who prefers to be called John, is a righthander all the way and is considered a class man. He played with Alexandria Aces for four years and managed them the last year. The club folded and he is now signed with the Pampa Oilers.

Righthand speedballer Laliberte won 17 and lost only 10 during the 1955 season with the Aces of the Evangeline league. He won 17 and lost 11 in 1954 and led the league in the earned run average department allowing fewer runs per game than any pitcher in the league.

In 1953 he won 13 and lost only nine.

He is a native of Canada and speaks both English and French. He has been in the Netherlands during the winter. He managed a hockey team at the Hague, Netherlands in Europe this winter. He is considered quite good at both hockey and baseball.

A good hitter for a pitcher, he has averaged almost .250 during his four years with the Alexandria Aces. Most pitchers are hitting good if they make the .200 mark. Laliberte is the first new pitcher to sign with the Oilers this season.

Several other players are expected to be on hand when the first baseball is hit this season. Pitchers and catchers began working March 18 and the remainder of the club was scheduled to report March 21.

Jim Martin, first string catcher, will be unable to report for duty until shortly before the season begins. He is expected to miss all 10 of the Oilers' exhibition games.

Redlegs Short On Pitchers, Long In Batting Power

Editors Note: This is the fourth in a series on the prospects of the major league clubs.

By LEO H. PETERSEN

TAMPA, Fla. —UP— The Cincinnati Redlegs are long on power and short on pitching, but Manager Birdie Tebbets thinks he can still parlay that combination into a legitimate pennant contender.

Complicating Tebbets' plans at the moment is big Ted Kluszewski, who has been hobbled all spring by a stubborn muscle pull in the base of his back.

"Frankly, I'm worried about it and so is Ted," Tebbets said Thursday. "He doesn't know how he got it and none of the treatment he has taken so far seems to do any good. But we think he'll come around all right. We certainly hope so, anyway."

If Kluszewski has to remain on the sidelines for any length of time, the Redlegs are bound to miss his heavy bat. He hit 47 homers, drove in 113 runs and batted .314 last year and you don't find hitters like that under every bush.

Has Rookie Robinson

But if "big Klus" has to remain on the bench for a while, Tebbets is determined to go with rookie Frank Robinson at first base. Robinson has tremendous power and has been exceptionally impressive this spring. His only drawback is a questionable arm, which he won't need too much at first base. He injured the arm mysteriously with Columbia of the Sally League last year and it hasn't fully come around yet.

If Klus comes around okay, "I'll put Robinson in left field," said Tebbets.

That would make Cincinnati's outfield Robinson in left, Gus Bell in center and long-ball hitting Wally Post in right, and that outfield could be the most powerful in baseball, bar none. Other outfield available are Bob Fitzle, up from Nashville of the Southern League, where he hit .314; Stan Palya, and Bob Thurman.

Rounding out the Redlegs' infield will be the dependable Johnny Temple at second base; smooth-fielding Roy McMillan at shortstop; and the hard-hitting but erratic fielding Ray Jablonski at third. Rocky Bridges is the No. 1 utility man, while Charley Harmon can play third, first or the outfield.

Smookey Burgess, who batted .306 last season, is ticketed for regular duty behind the plate with Ed Bailey the No. 2 man and Matt Batts behind him.

The pitching staff, however, is Tebbets' chief problem and currently he is still trying to find a fourth starter to go along with Joe Nuxhall, who won 17 and lost 12 last year; Art Fowler, who had an 11-10 record; and skinny Johnny Klippstein, who posted a 9-10 record.

"Then there are such men as veteran Joe Black, Hal Jeffcoat, Hersh Freeman, Bud Podbielan and lefthander Bill Kennedy for relief.

Cincinnati has power to burn but whether the Redlegs will rocket into first division or flounder out in second division depends entirely on their pitching staff.

Rice Stops Minnesota Baseballers

By UNITED PRESS

The Rice Owls made crystal gazers take another look into their magic spheres today after upsetting the University of Minnesota 3 to 1 in Houston Wednesday.

Rice was not highly thought of in the pre-season predictions, but in beating the Gophers was able to do something that the favored Texas Longhorns couldn't accomplish.

Minnesota beat Texas in two games this week, but the Owls managed to edge them thanks to an unearned run in the eighth inning on relief pitcher Jack Hope's wild pitch with the bases loaded.

With the conference season starting Saturday, Texas and Texas A&M look like the most probable title contenders. But Southern Methodist won eight exhibition games without a loss and Rice has looked good in its only two starts.

One thing seems certain—conference baseball fans will be treated to another close season.

Dayton, Louisville Are Favorites In NIT Cage Tourney

NEW YORK —UP— It's David vs. Goliath in both ends of the National Invitation Basketball Tournament semifinals Thursday night and both Goliaths—top-seeded Dayton and second-seeded Louisville—are solid favorites.

Dayton and its seven-foot center, Bill Uhl, looked tense and jittery in the quarterfinals, but the Flyers are expected to down scrappy little St. Francis of Brooklyn in one game.

Louisville's tall towers, led by six-foot Charley Tyra, are picked over third-seeded, aggressive St. Joseph's of Philadelphia in the other.

Of Thursday night's four semifinals, only Dayton has ever gone as far as the NIT finals in previous years, and the Flyers lost in the finals three different times — to Brigham Young in 1951, to LaSalle in 1952, and to Duquesne last year.

HOUSTON —UP— The Rice tennis team beat Hardin-Simmons 3-1 Wednesday.

Tomy Roberts of Rice won the No. 1 singles from Bill Herring, and the only match that Hardin-Simmons won was the first doubles.

Miami Beach Tourney To Start Today

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. —UP— The Open golf tournament gets underway Thursday with former PGA champion Walter Burkemo of Franklin, Mich., listed as the pre-tourney favorite.

Burkemo, playing the best golf of his career this winter, became the top money winner of the pro-amateur events by winning both the Seminole pro-am at Palm Beach Tuesday and the pro-am tournament for the Miami Beach Open Wednesday.

"A field of 145 in all is on hand for the 72-hole event, including Ed Furgol of St. Louis, Sammy Sneed of White Sulphur Springs, W.Va., Tommy Bolt of Chattanooga, Tenn., Bo Winninger of Oklahoma City and all the other leading winter circuit players."

Sneed, a perennial favorite for the Miami Open, won't be on hand to receive the prize money should he win it this year. The veteran golfer has received permission from the PGA tournament committee to play his final round on Sunday so that he can keep a golf date with President Eisenhower on Monday.

Burkemo and Furgol topped the field of 50 professionals with five-under-par 67's Wednesday to share honors in the $1,500 pro-am event. Each received $225. Tied for second were Bolt, Dow Finsterwald of Bedford Heights, Ohio, and Gardner Dickinson, of Panama City, Fla.

Pampa Harvesters Down Frank Phillips 11 To 10

The Pampa Harvesters came from behind in the seventh inning yesterday to edge out Frank Phillips College baseballers 11-10 in the Harvesters' first outing of the season.

The Harvesters took an early lead in the first inning after David Marlar and James Evans got on. Cecil Reynolds then drew a walk and Jerold Clark came up and drove one to right field scoring Marlar and Evans.

Frank Phillips then came up with three runs in the first to lead 3-2.

Cecil Reynolds retired the next six batters while the Harvesters were making six runs.

The Green and Golders scored one run in the second when David Marlar slammed one to right field to advance John Lee to third. He then scored when Cecil Reynolds hit to left center.

The Harvesters racked up five runs in the third as John Perkins walked four men and gave up two hits. Jerold Clark led off with a fly to second base and Robert Langford walked. Bobby Dehs got on on a fielders choice as Langford was caught at second.

David James got on on an error at third base and John Lee came through with a smash to left center. Lee then came home after three men walked and Cecil Reynolds cleared the bases with a long drive to right centerfield.

Frank Phillips scored five runs in the fourth as Jim Parrish gave up five walks and one hit that loaded the bases and accounted for one run.

Lee Dorsett then hit a line drive to the centerfield which took a bad bounce and went over James' head. He drove in the three baserunners and came home himself for an "in the park homer."

The Phillips team scored one in the fifth to make the score 9-9 and Bill Wills stole three bases in the sixth to come home and give the college nine a 10-9 lead. He stole home after stealing his way from first to third.

The Harvesters then put up a two run rally in the seventh as David James and Bill Brown scored on a single by James Evans. That ended the scoring and gave the Harvesters their first win of the season.

Otis White picked up a win and Benny Biddy was the losing pitcher for Frank Phillips. The Harvesters made only two errors while Frank Phillips made three. The Harvesters will meet the College team in Oiler Park Saturday afternoon.

Gov. Harriman Gets Bill For Sports Center

ALBANY, N.Y. — UP — The bill authorizing construction of a huge sports center in Brooklyn, which would include a new home for the Brooklyn Dodgers, was sent Thursday to Gov. Averell Harriman for his signature.

The measure completed passage through the legislature Wednesday on the minimum two-thirds vote, 39-15, only when Sen. George Manning of Rochester switched his vote from "no" to "yes." Gov. Harriman is expected to sign the bill soon.

That will turn the matter completely over to the city of New York, since the bill is "permissive" legislation.

The measure gives the city permission to set up a special authority to build and operate the new center, acquire land for it, and finance it by issuing up to $30 million in tax-exempt bonds. The construction also would include a new railroad terminal for the Long Island Railroad.

Kilgore, Moberly In Semifinals Of Jr. C. Tournament

HUTCHINSON, Kan. — UP — Defending champion Moberly, Mo., winner the past two years, and Kilgore, Tex., Junior Colleges held semifinal berths in the National Junior College basketball tournament Thursday.

Two more games slated Thursday night will determine teams to play in the other semifinal. Pueblo, Colo., meets Cameron, Okla., and New York City Tech meets Hannibal-LaGrange, Mo.

Moberly had to come from behind for a 52-51 win over scrappy Boise, Idaho, on a long jump shot by Joe Gummerebach with eight seconds left. Kilgore had a much easier time leading all the way to down Graceland, Iowa, 85-63.

Dan Callahan led Moberly with 16 points and Edward Erickson paced Kilgore with 28.

In the final two first round games Wednesday, Pueblo downed North Greenville of Tigerville, N.C., 88-84 and Cameron romped over Chicago City Junior College, Wright Branch, 91-71.

Miami Cagers Are Honored With Banquet

MIAMI — (Special) — The Miami High School boys and girls basketball teams were honored recently with a banquet in Fellowship Hall of the Methodist Church, by the High School Mothers Club.

Donald Stobaugh, high school principal, acted as master of ceremonies. Coach John Turner gave the invocation. A toast to the Basketball Sweethearts, Miss Billie Ann Shaw, and Doyle Smith, was given by Tommy Wells. Lets were then presented them.

The centerpiece used on the head table, was an arrangement of red and white flowers. The Mardi Gras theme was used. Black masks, decorated with sequins, were given as favors. Fellowship Hall was decorated with a large heart filled with red roses and a trellis with greenery and roses.

Following a dinner of baked ham, green beans, potatoes on half shell, deviled eggs, relishes, hot rolls, cake and ice cream and hot tea, the group was entertained by musicians Wilbur Ard Tommy Akins, and Coy Palmer of Pampa.

After the banquet, a party was held in the Legion Hall.

Dons Meet SMU Tonight In NCAA Tourney

EVANSTON, Ill. — UP — San Francisco's undefeated basketball team aims for its second straight NCAA championship Thursday night and Coach Phil Wolpert expected that rival Southern Methodist would have fears of the potent Dons.

The Dons, winners of their last 53 games, were an eight-point choice to defeat the Southwest Conference champion, winners of their last 19, in one semifinal clash. Iowa's Big Ten titleholders, with a 16-game winning streak, were rated nine points better than Temple for the other semifinal.

Wolpert said his team was "a little better balanced, a little better on the boards, a little better shooting and with a little more bench strength" than last year's club which captured the NCAA title last from defending champion LaSalle.

Will Miss Jones

But the team will miss K. C. Jones, a standout a year ago who was ineligible for this tournament because he has played in three previous seasons.

"The amazing thing about this club is that they continue to win," Wolpert said. "In a lot of games they have had a real good chance to get beat and the fact that they haven't cracked is a good sign."

Should the Dons win the tournament it would be the first time in history that a team has repeated. Oklahoma A&M won in 1945 and 1946, while Kentucky won in 1948 and 1949. Only one other team has ever entered the NCAA final unbeaten. Columbia won 21 without defeat in 1951 but lost to Illinois in the first round of the tournament.

Won 27 This Year

San Francisco has won 27 without defeat this year.

Iowa's Coach Bucky O'Connor reported his starting forward, Bill Schoof, would be able to start against Temple even though he suffered a charley horse in the last game Saturday against Kentucky.

O'Connor said his team would be stronger on defense and off the boards but not as deep as the club which won fourth place a year ago.

Temple also was handicapped by a back injury to Capt. Hal Reinfield, and Coach Harry Litwaker said he was an uncertain starter until Thursday.

Akins Thinks He Can Take Saxton's Welterweight Title

ST. LOUIS — UP — Virgil (Honeybear) Akins, rising St. Louis welterweight, figured Thursday he has the ingredients to take champion Johnny Saxton's crown.

"We'll keep after Saxton until he gives us a fight," Akins' manager, druggist Eddie Yawitz said following his boy's "greatest fight."

Akins, ranked No. 6 in the division, outjuggled Hector Constance of Trinidad in the early rounds, weathered a boxing lesson in the middle session and took a decisive 10th round with a furious body attack Wednesday night in a nationally-televized fight at the arena.

The decisions of the officials, Judges Fred Connell and Howard Hess and Referee Benny Kessler were identical, 81-49, in favor of the local puncher.

"This was Virgil's best fight," Yawitz said. "That boy was tough — the smartest Akins has met."

A total of 2,080 fans paid a gross gate of $4,025 to see Akins pound out his fifth consecutive victory over the British West Indian, 11th ranking welterweight. Akins at 148 1-2 outweighed Constance by three pounds.

Surprise Witness To Testify In Boxing Probe

LOS ANGELES — UP — A "potential" surprise witness was expected to testify Thursday as state investigators questioned boxing figure in charges of "fixes" and sought to link the local ring with eastern underworld leaders.

James Cox, counsel for the governor's investigating committee, refused to identify the mystery witness but said he believed "he'll be a pretty potent witness."

Cox brought in the names of New York underworld figures Frank Costello and Frankie Carbo and former local gambling figure Mickey Cohen Wednesday in questioning of Cal Eaton, promoter of Los Angeles' Olympic Auditorium. Eaton's matchmaker, Babe McCoy, was accused of being involved in a "fix" of one fight and the attempted fixing of another.

Former lightweight boxer Tommy Campbell testified Tuesday he "threw" a 1950 fight with Art Aragon on McCoy's orders. He said he was told to lose another with Del Finagan in Minneapolis in 1951 but won after a state boxing commissioner warned him of "fix" rumors.

McCoy and Campbell's former manager denied the charges.

Aggies To Play Night Baseball

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. — UP — Texas A&M will play four of its Southwest Conference baseball games at night under the lights of Travis Park in Bryan, it was announced Wednesday.

The games are against Texas Christian, April 8; Baylor, April 13 and 14; and Rice, May 4.

Browns Sign Parrill

CLEVELAND — UP — Babe Parrill, former Kentucky T-formation star and regarded as the successor to Otto Graham, signed Tuesday with the Cleveland Browns for an estimated $12,500. Discharged from the Air Force last week, Parrill was acquired from the Green Bay Packers two years ago in exchange for Stanford's Bob Garrett.

TITLED—Lovely Emmi Ruckbauer poses with her regal bash after being named "Miss Vienna" in the Austrian capital. She'll compete for the "Miss Austria" title, and if she wins she'll enter the next "Miss Universe" contest at Long Beach, Calif. Vital statistics: 55-32-37.

PRIDE OF THE PARADE—This five-by-seven-foot banner will be the pride of New York City's St. Patrick's Day parade, if Ireland's County Meath men have their wish. The Meath men will march in the parade as a separate unit this year for the first time. So they ordered the "biggest and best" banner in the show. This one, designed by Elizabeth Donlan, shown inspecting it in Dublin before shipment to New York, was woven by three craftsmen working more than six months, 12 hours a day. The central figure is St. Patrick surrounded by flames representing the Pascal Fire on the Hill of Slane. Thirty-two shamrocks, symbolic of Ireland's 32 counties, are woven into a blue background.

Stalin Falls From Saint To Sinner In The Kremlin

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Foreign Analyst

The Kremlin evidently has decided to put its Communist "thought control" system to a historic test.

Russians are being asked to believe that Joseph Stalin, elevated to Red sainthood on his 70th birthday in 1949, actually was a general no-good.

That ought not to be difficult. It certainly was no secret even from the people themselves. They knew all about the secret police. They knew about the slave labor camps in which millions of people were worked and starved to death. They knew about the police spies in their own social circles, even in their own families.

It is impossible not to believe that people will ask about premier Nikolai A. Bulganin, Communist party leader Nikita S. Khrushchev and the rest: And where were you all the time?

All the men in the presidium of the central committee of the Communist party, the rulers of Russia, were close collaborators of Stalin. It was they who elevated him to sainthood, they who helped to send Communists and non-Communists alike to the slave labor camps, they who made Russia itself a gigantic slave camp.

Stalin's life in power is now being divided into two parts. First, the period between 1917 and 1934 when he collaborated with Lenin, succeeded Lenin and consolidated his own power. Secondly, the period from 1934 until his death in 1953, when he ruled as absolute dictator.

But Bulganin, Khrushchev and the rest were Communists long before 1934. They were co-directors of the Red terror. They, too, shared responsibility for the famine of 1932-1933 in which untold millions died—a famine caused by ruthless farm collectivization.

After 1934, Bulganin, Khrushchev and the rest co-operated with Stalin in the purge trials of the mid-1930's, when he wiped out the "old Bolsheviks" who had been his closest colleagues.

It was relatively easy for Stalin to concoct the evidence on which these men were judicially murdered. Also, the victims themselves were dedicated Communists. Though confessions were extorted from them by torture, many of them seemed to co-operate in their own denunciation. They, too, were thought-controlled.

It is not going to be so easy for these men to convince Russia's 200 million people, or even its seven million members of the Communist party, to swallow the idea that they were guiltless. Nevertheless, it is quite plain that the men in the Kremlin are convinced that they can get away with it. Henry Shapiro, chief U.P. correspondent in Moscow, returned there last fall after a stay in the United States. Shapiro has spent most of the last 23 years in Russia. One of the first things he noted was a new air of confidence among the top leaders. Undoubtedly, they already had decided to de-bunk Stalin—and had decided the Russian people would buy the new party line.

The United States has more than 454,000,000 acres under cultivation, the largest area of any country in the world.

Junior-Senior Banquet Held At White Deer

WHITE DEER — (Special) — The annual Junior - Senior banquet was held at 7:30 p.m. Saturday March 17, in the high school cafeteria. A Mardi Gras atmosphere greeted guests and hosts as they arrived to the sound of trumpets and showers of confetti.

Place markers were red balloons. After places were taken, Otis Frost gave the invocation.

John Parsons, president of the junior class, extended to the guests a "majestic welcome," after which the president of the senior class, George Bagley, gave a "royal response."

A paper, simulating a stone wall covered the entire lower part of the room and blue crepe paper streamers formed a roof overhead. Balloons and confetti streamers were thrown. The tables were brightly colored with confetti and flowers. A red and yellow canopy formed the entrance, on each side were trumpeters and a confetti-throwing clown. Various colored masks were worn by everyone. Clown head nut cups were favors.

Sophomore girls, dressed in bright clown suits, served dinner, which consisted of festival cup, the king's choice, mashed potatoes, streamer, in Louisiana, confetti, crowned jewels, jester's delight and spirit de New Orleans.

The Masqueraders from Frank Phillips College directed by Mrs. Loma Harrison presented the entertainment. Novelty tunes and a Melody of songs from "South Pacific," so entranced the listeners, who showed their appreciation by recalling the songsters for additional numbers.

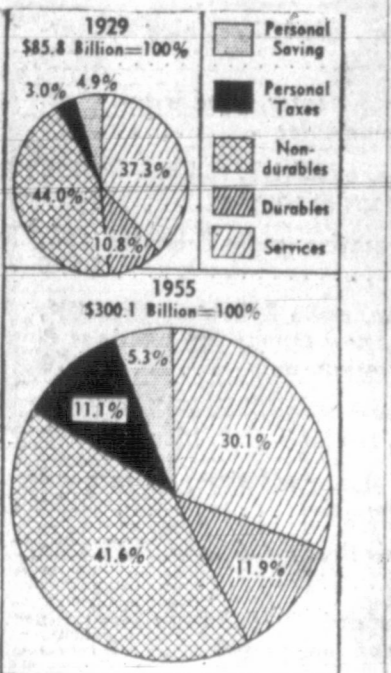

The Master of Ceremonies, Rex King of Carnival, James Smith added touches of humor and concluded the evening with "that personal touch."

Bob Inard of Amarillo was introduced as the Court Jester. Ideas were presented in such a manner that the audience didn't realize until later they were being given serious thoughts upon which to meditate.

A benediction was pronounced by Huey Laycock.

A Junior-Senior dance sponsored by Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Foote was held in Cargray Hall immediately following the banquet.

Squatter's Rights
FLINT, Mich. —UP— An unfriendly cat delayed the start of a city commission meeting. The cat took up residence in the commission secretary's desk. Secretary refused to occupy the desk until a patrolman removed the reluctant feline.

TAXES—In 1929, only 3 per cent of our personal income faded into taxes. But by this year, that chunk had grown to 11.1 per cent. There's been little change in other major expenditures, except services. That category takes somewhat smaller percentage of our personal income now. Personal income is income from all sources. Durables include permanent items, such as furniture and cars. Data from the Conference Board.
