Senate Ready To Probe Lobbying

By JOHN A. GOLDSMITH
WASHINGTON — UP — The Senate was ready Wednesday to approve a "wide open," bipartisan investigation of attempts to influence Senate votes "improperly or illegally" through campaign contributions and lobbying.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Texas) and Republican Leader William F. Knowland (Calif.) put their combined leadership prestige behind a resolution to set up a special investigating committee. Approval was regarded as certain.

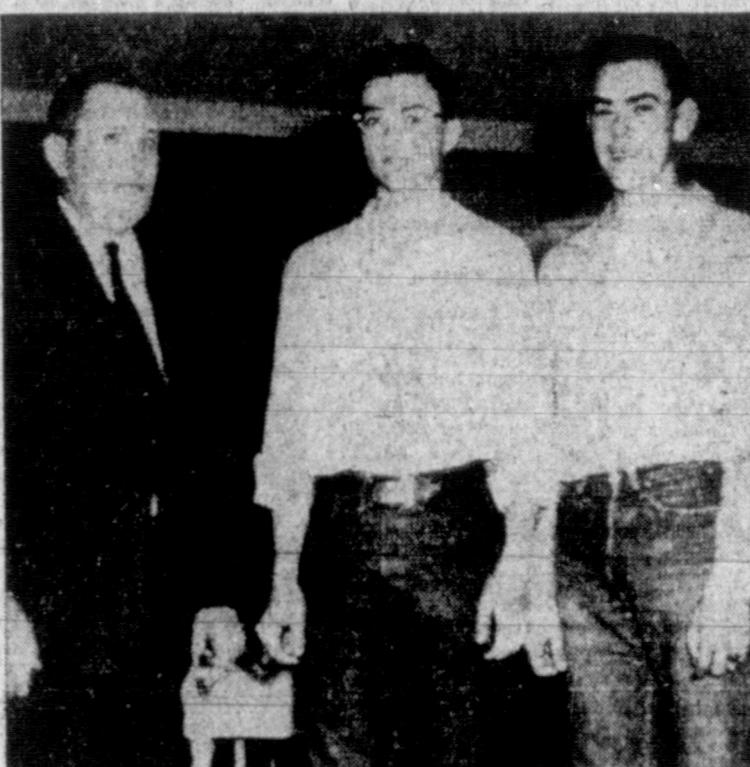

The eight-member committee—four Democrats and four Republicans—would be charged with undertaking an exhaustive study of campaign contributions, political activities, lobbying or other pressure tactics.

Senate action on the special investigation was a by-product of debate on the controversial natural gas bill. Sen. Francis Case (R-S.D.) provoked widespread demands for such an inquiry when he disclosed that he had rejected a $2,500 campaign contribution from a Nebraska oil lobbyist interested in passage of the bill.

The Case incident, and subsequent disclosures about it, caused President Eisenhower to veto the bill last week.

Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N.H.) who heads the GOP Policy committee, announced Tuesday the inquiry will be "wide open."

He mentioned, as possible targets, the congressional activities of labor unions, Americans for Democratic Action, the Committee for a More Effective Congress, trucking lobbyists, postal lobbyists and sugar lobbyists. Bridges also mentioned the lobbying activities of foreign governments.

F. F. A. Banquet

Highlighting the Top O' Texas Future Farmers of America Livestock Judging contest held at Recreation Park yesterday, was the announcement of winners during a banquet given for the boys at Sam Houston Elementary School cafeteria.

The Pampa FFA Chapter was named winner of the contest, in which boys competed in judging beef, cattle, swine and lambs.

Members of the team, receiving the honor are: Paul Payne, coach, David Miller and Frank and Nace Baggerman.

Col. Walter Britten of College Station, spoke on the importance of salesmanship before the group. He is serving as auctioneer for both sales today, the Junior Livestock and the Hereford Breeders sale. The Groom FFA chapter team conducted the recognition ceremonies. Ed Myatt, president of the Chamber of Commerce, was toastmaster for the occasion.

The fourth Frank M. Carter scholarship was awarded to Wesley W. Masters, Cotton Center high (See F.F.A., Page 3)

Long-Range Weapon Would Cancel Our Military Strength

By CHARLES CORRDY
WASHINGTON — (UP) — America's worldwide military strength will be largely cancelled out if Russia is first to perfect ballistic missiles with 1,500-mile range, the magazine "Army" said Wednesday.

The magazine, published by the Association of the United States Army, jumped on the Air Force for contending that such mid-range missiles in Russian hands would not basically alter present military conditions.

At the same time, one of the most urgent calls yet for a speed-up in ballistic missile development came from a famed German who claimed no other weapons will be able to deter or win global war in the future.

Bombers 'Sitting Ducks'
Dr. Walter R. Dornberger, who directed German V-weapons development in World War II, said air defenses in five or six years will make "sitting ducks" of bombers and even guided missiles that go no higher than 10,000 feet and no faster than 2,600 miles an hour.

The "only way out" for the offense is the ballistic missile that streaks through space at speeds up to 15,000 mph. Dornberger told an Aviation Writers Association meeting Tuesday.

He put the emphasis on an intercontinental ballistic missile (ICBM) which, he said, America must have "first and fast," while "Army" magazine emphasized the intermediate range (IRBM) or 1,500-mile missile. The publication said Russia may have an IRBM "before we even get off the ground" with an ICBM.

Says Bases Already in Peril
"Army" is an unofficial magazine published by an association comprising active and former U.S. Army personnel and other Army supporters. The association's president is Lt. Gen. Walter L. Weible, Army deputy chief of staff.

Democrats contend Mr. Eisenhower won't use his veto in order to save his "soil bank" program. But Republicans point out that Mr. Eisenhower has said a return to rigid supports would nullify the "soil bank" plan.

There was virtually no Senate opposition to the "soil bank." It would pay farmers for taking surplus-crops out of production and planting conservation crops such as grass and trees.

But Democratic and GOP leaders of the House Agriculture committee Tuesday assailed both the administration's flexible support program—and some provisions of the "soil bank" plan.

Other action in Congress:
PLANE PROFITS
A House Armed Services subcommittee summoned Boeing Airplane Co. officials in an investigation of whether military aircraft manufacturers are making excess profits.

TIMBER
A joint congressional subcommittee reopened an old investigation of sales of timber on federal lands. The subcommittee called Richard McArdle, U.S. Forest Service chief, and Edward Woolley, Bureau of Land Management director.

27 Animals Shown In The 12th Hereford Breeders' Show

The Twelfth Annual Top O' Texas Hereford Breeders' Association Show swung into action yesterday afternoon with the judging of 27 bulls and females in nine classes.

Officers of the Hereford Breeders' Association, who were on hand last night for the awarding of trophies to the winners are: F. Jake Hess, president, E. O. Wedgeworth, secretary, Carruth, vice-president, and Frank Carter, treasurer.

This morning the Eighteenth Annual Junior Livestock Sale began with over 100 pigs and 77 calves available. The Hereford Breeders' sale was slated to begin today at 1 p.m. Col. Walter Britten served as auctioneer for both shows.

Grand Champion of yesterday's show was JP Zato Heir 4, No. 8851464, exhibited and bred by J. P. Callham of Conway. The animal was sired by exas Zato Heir 12th, and dam was Rose 36th.

Named as Reserve Champion of the show was TP Dandy Larry D66, No. 8713462, shown by Tommie Potts of Memphis. Calved Sept. 19, 1954, the calf was sired by Dandy Larry D-81st, with dam Lovely Miss. Both champions were entered in the Senior Bull division.

Demo Wants 'Old Rule' In Conventions

WASHINGTON — UP — Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-S.C.) Wednesday called for revival of the old "two-thirds rule" at Democratic National Convention.

The "two-thirds rule"—abandoned in 1936—gave the South a veto for more than 100 years over selection of Democratic presidential candidates.

Thurmond, 1948 presidential nominee of the States Rights party, called for revival of the rule in his weekly report to South Carolina. He said it would "prevent the nomination of a person who is antagonistic to the views of the South."

The famed two-thirds rule was adopted by the Democratic party at the Democratic national convention in 1852. It called for approval of presidential nominees by two-thirds of the convention delegates.

Ike Is Playing Golf Again

THOMASVILLE, Ga. — UP — President Eisenhower, his face tanned from long hours of quality hunting, played his first 18 holes of golf since his heart attack Wednesday and started off with a booming 240-yard drive.

It was the President's second visit to a golf course since his attack. He played nine holes last week shortly after his arrival at the Georgia plantation of Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey.

The big golfing day indicated that Mr. Eisenhower is making much more rapid progress toward complete recovery than had been expected. The chief executive's doctors had thought it would be spring before he should undertake a full regulation round.

Flood Waters Roll Over California

Flood waters rolled over wide northern California and Pacific Northwest areas Wednesday, isolating towns and causing at least seven deaths.

It was the second disastrous flood in the region in two months and the worst in Washington's Columbia Basin in 10 years.

A stationary storm hanging off the coast of Washington, plus a sudden thaw, triggered the floods. Rains eased Wednesday, but there were threats of new floods from southeast Washington to northern California.

The little farm town of Connel, Wash., was surrounded by water and most of the population was evacuated.

77 Calves and 106 Pigs Sell In Jr. Livestock Sale Here

'Guard Muster' Observed Today

Today, Feb. 22, has been designated as "National Guard Muster Day" in Texas by Governor Allan Shivers for the purpose of calling attention to the efforts of the Guard in obtaining qualified men.

The official recognition states: "Bringing the Texas National Guard up to full strength for the two hundred eighty-eight units composing the Army and Air National Guard is a measure that is essential to the welfare of our people."

Members of the Guard are always willing, ready, and capable of furnishing relief during disaster and of protecting life and property during civil emergencies, the designation adds.

TEEN TOPICS

Amid laughter and applause, Harvey made his exit last night at Pampa High as the final curtain came down on the 1956 Senior Play.

The play, which ran two nights, was apparently a big success, as it was enjoyed by everyone who attended.

After the play, the cast held its customary "cast party" in the home-making dining room. They had a lot of fun; everyone was carefree with that it's-all-over attitude.

Monday in assembly, the play cast staged an introduction skit. Such notable persons as Sir Winston Churchill (Jimmy Frudenberg), Lucille Ball (Carolyn Miller), Pinky Lee (Don Pendergrass), Grace Kelly and Prince Ranier (Anita Wedgeworth) and Lynn Don Gardner and Joe Friday (Gary Green) gave their opinions of the play.

Harvey appeared in person, too—in the person of Tommy Richardson, Tommy, who is 6'5", was dressed as a big rabbit and hopped through the audience. Tom's costume consisted of white track pants and sweat shirt and big cotton bunny-ears.

His hopping was authentic; maybe he really has the "rabbit habit."

Firm Builds New Natural Gas Plant

SPEARMAN — (Special) — The Northern Natural Gas Company of Omaha, Neb., has begun construction of a gathering plant two miles west of Spearman on forty-five acres of land purchased from Jess French, a local farmer.

Northern has contracted for all the out-pipe of gas from 16 wells in Hansford County, with Baker and Taylor Drilling Company and Sharples Oil Corporation.

Northern will build a pressure system for gathering to the well head.

A. E. Finigan, a Northern Natural public relations executive of Omaha, says this plant will likely be in operation by late summer; it will also bring at least twenty new families to the area.

Northern plans to extend their lines in this area to bring more gas to their dehydrating plant. At present, Northern sells gas to 349 communities in Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska, Minnesota and South Dakota.

It is reported a natural gasoline extraction plant will be located in this area sometime this year.

Pampan's Kin Joins The Navy

Richard Walton Varmon, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Varmon, of Pampa, was enlisted in the Navy's electronic program on Thursday, Jan. 16. He travelled from Naples, Italy early this year to join the U.S. Navy at the Chula Vista recruiting office in San Diego, Calif.

Robert Walton Varmon, son of the Varmons here, who is Chief Pay Clerk at the Naval Station in San Diego, swore in his son.

Richard is a graduate of the American Dependents School in Naples, where he was senior class president and starred in basketball. He was at Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941, where his father was stationed aboard the USS Lexington, which was later sunk in the battle less than three weeks after the senior Varmon had been transferred to another ship.

Yesterday was election day at PHS. By now, the election results are out and the president of 1956-57 is named.

Candidates in the election were Rhona Finkelstein, Earl Cooper, Jerry Don Hopkins, Carroll Cole and Jimmy Edwards.

It certainly must have been a hard choice for the voters to make with so many capable people running.

The candidates went all-out in their campaigns. Students could barely get through the halls Monday and Tuesday for all the posters. Signs hung from the ceiling, adorned the walls, decorated the show cases, clung to stairways, stuck to locker doors, swung from the lights and lay on the floor.

Chewing gum and tooth picks were passed out everywhere attached to cards that said "Vote for Whoozit."

One of the cutest stunts was the set of little black footprints that walked all over the walls, on the ceiling and even through the radiators.

Congratulations to the new president.

Several local citizens held a meeting last Wednesday night to discuss something or other about youth problems. Nine high school students attended along with adult representatives of Girl and Boy Scouts, Y Clubs, churches and civic clubs.

After a couple of hours of conference, they came to the conclusion that (as they all knew before they began) Pampa needs a youth center.

But, as should be expected at a roundtable discussion, the talk went in circles.

Maybe someday —

Malcolm Brown, Ramona Huggins and a troupe of musicians from Pampa High will travel to Borger on Tuesday to present an exchange assembly there.

Borger, in return, will bring a program to Pampa soon.

This exchange of talent is a project of the two Student Councils.

Here is an advance invitation to all parents and towns people to visit Pampa High School on March 8. That night an open house will be held.

The object of the affair is to acquaint the citizenry with the inside of the school their taxes support. We don't intend to make vivid displays on our desks for proud parents to compare and admire, like we did in grade school, but each teacher will be in his room with the president of that home room to talk with visitors. A program will be presented in the auditorium and coffee and doughnuts will be served in the cafeteria.

May 12 has been picked as the date for the annual All-School Prom. Rhona Finkelstein and the social committee has picked the theme for it. Course, that's a big secret, but it is really a "real, real, real good one."

Today is the birthday of the father of our country. May we never forget to be thankful for the things he fought for.

It was Washington (or was it Lincoln?), who said, "if you want to destroy an enemy, make a friend of him."

Armed Forces Day Statement By Reservist

Business firms throughout the Nation are being asked to encourage young men to participate in the Army Reserve units of their community. Lt. L. M. Edward Callahan, local Engineer and commanding officer of B Etwy, 330th Field Artillery Bn, local Reserve unit said today.

The Reserve Forces Act of 1955 will give the nation the greatest amount of security possible without the heavy tax expenses that would be necessary with a huge standing Army, Lt. Callahan said. He urged local businessmen to give the new Reserve Forces Act their fullest support, particularly from an employee relations standpoint.

"Each employer has a strong moral obligation in this program, and I hope that no employer in Pampa will penalize an employee or prospective employee because he happens to be a member of the Ready Reserve." Increasingly large numbers of able-bodied young men are now acquiring a Reserve obligation and are required by Federal law to take Reserve training, he pointed out.

"An intangible consideration is employee morale. The young worker must know his employer is back of him in carrying out his duty to his nation. To be caught between his responsibility to the law and an uncooperative and disapproving employer on whom he may depend for his livelihood and future could be as intensely difficult and moral-shattering dilemma for a young employee," Lt. Callahan said.

Reemployment of Reservists who undergo active duty training is automatic under the Reserve Forces Act and most companies have established fair practices on compensation for training time, protection for seniority, continuity of benefits and other matters that touch employee welfare, according to information received from the Department of the Army by state military districts. Many other business firms are reported to be reviewing their current policies, particularly those governing military leave, in the light of the new law, Lt. Callahan asserted.

The local Reserve officer explained that members of the Ready Reserve are required to attend 48 unit training assemblies per year and go into the field for two weeks active duty training with their unit each summer. The assemblies are held the same night each week from 7:30 p. m. till 9:30 p. m. If he fails to participate in the assemblies, 10 per cent of which can be excused for just cause, the Reservist must take 30 days of active duty for training each year. If the Reservist fails to perform this obligation set out under the law, he will be required to take 45 days of active duty for training.

Advantages to business, in addition to the tax-saving features of having a stronger Army Reserve, were pointed out by Lt. Callahan as follows:

1. Military obligations can be completed by young men as early in life as possible.
2. Interference with the civilian labor force will be minimized by the fact the bulk of the obligated time on active duty will be spent by the youngest workers, those 18 to 20 who possess fewer skills and work in less essential occupations.
3. Employers will have a far better idea of what to expect than ever before. Barring an emergency, the new stabilized Reserve plan will avert disorderly catch-as-catch-can denuding of the labor force in a business firm.

Fire Destroys Chevrolet Agency

PANHANDLE — (Special) — A fire Sunday afternoon destroyed the Randel Chevrolet Agency here, causing an estimated $75,000 in damages.

The fire, believed to have been caused by defective wiring, began in the rear of the attic and was discovered about 4:30 p. m. by an unidentified small boy.

The 50 by 140 foot brick building housed a garage, office and show room. Randel had operated the business since 1928 and had owned the building since 1942, when he purchased it from the Shaller Estate of Canadian.

The loss was covered partially by insurance.

Ike's Plans Remain Unknown

THOMASVILLE, Ga. — UP — President Eisenhower is playing his political cards so close to his vest that one of his best friends, Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey, has "no idea" whether the chief executive will run again. Humphrey made this abundantly clear as he left Tuesday night for Washington and New York. He will speak Tuesday night before the Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York.

The treasury secretary, who is Mr. Eisenhower's host in Georgia, has been widely credited as having the inside track to the President's second term intentions.

Knife, Fork Hears Address By Minister

William Clyde Donald, II, Milwaukee minister, told members of the Knife and Fork Club last night that there is an inseparable companion one must learn to live with, his inner self.

Donald asserted that man was just beginning to understand his place in the universe. . . a spiritual man in a spiritual universe. . . and that learning to live with one's self is an important ingredient, if not the most important in life. Donald gave his address, "Make Living With Yourself A Pleasure" after his introduction by Dr. J. R. Donaldson. Because you cannot escape living with yourself, he said, you should endeavor to make yourself something pleasant to be with. He stated that the unconscious mind accepts as truth what the conscious mind put into it, therefore, when one constantly tells his self that he is inferior, that he hates this thing he lives with, his unconscious mind reacts in such a manner as to intensify the feeling and perpetuate it, sometimes with dire results to the organic system or emotional stability. Describing man as so complex no machine could compare, Donald said that there was no duplication in man. . . you are it, there will never be another you, he added. His stimulating speech and following question-and-answer period left the crowd more aware of an inseparable companion, with whom they were glad to be associated.

Resuscitator Show Is Set

Pampa Fire Chief Ernest Winborne will give a demonstration of a resuscitator in the White Deer Cafeteria at 7:30 p.m. Friday. A resuscitator is used to administer artificial respiration and White Deer residents plan to start a drive to raise money for one to be kept in the White Deer Fire Department.

The demonstration will be sponsored by the Busy Bee Home Demonstration Club and is open to the public.

Trichologist L. M. DenAdel, who will be in Pampa Thursday, Feb. 23, to demonstrate the most successful hair and scalp treatment known to science.

SCALP EXPERT COMING HERE TO REVEAL FACTS ABOUT SCALP AILMENTS

If you are worried about falling hair, scalp dandruff, itchy scalp, or kindred disorders, L. M. DenAdel, nationally known trichologist and authority on hair and scalp, will put your mind at ease. He will conduct personal demonstrations in his suite at the Pampa Hotel, here Thursday, Feb. 23, from 12 noon to 9:00 p.m. Science has found the way to end those troublesome disorders, says Mr. DenAdel. Two of the newest discoveries — Acterin and Hexa-Chlorophine, add greatly to the effectiveness of the already highly successful methods of treatment. No longer need you suffer the embarrassment of dandruff, the torment of itching, the haunting fear that you may infect other members of your family with your scalp troubles. In fact, even baldness may now be remedied in the great majority of cases; the mere presence of a light, colorless "fuzz" is indication of life in the hair roots, which may be restored by proper care. While in Pampa, Trichologist DenAdel will give FREE complete hair and scalp examination. After one of these free private examinations he is able to tell the individual just what is wrong, and what treatments are needed to return the scalp and hair to a healthy condition.

"I wish I could say there is no such thing as a hopeless case," says Mr. DenAdel. "Fortunately such cases are extremely rare. They are usually characterized by slick shiny baldness." When a private examination indicates that the case is beyond help, Mr. DenAdel reveals the truth without hesitation, believing that it is better for the individual to know the facts, than to live in false hope. However, he explains that amazing results are being achieved all over America with cases which might appear hopeless to any but the skilled technician.

Really Debate?

As an indication of the power and influence exercised by the National Education Association in these United States, take the present situation in high school debate. High school students from coast to coast in this country have but a single subject on which they are supposed to debate. This has been true for many years.

This year, the subject has to do with Federal Aid to Education. And the proponents of the big educational barony governed by the political bosses in Washington, want it understood that getting the federal government into the act is a wholly good and wise move. Therefore, the debate subject has been worded in such a way that only that portion of the question dealing with federal grants to allegedly qualified students for the purpose of making higher education available to them, comes under discussion.

We have been told by both young men and young women who are being called upon to oppose this type of federal aid with verbal wisdom, that "all the facts" reside with the affirmative. When asked how it happened that the affirmative side had so much ammunition and the negative side so little, they revealed that this is what they had been told.

Now, this is an interesting point of view. Time was, before our violent and predatory system of education became so dominating, that any question up for debate was an open book. It was presumed in suggesting a subject that there actually were two good and legitimate sides and the best DEBATER would win. Now, because of national influence at federal level, one subject is all that is necessary, and one point of view is expected to carry the day.

Apparently instructors in government high schools are handing out reams of materials "proving" that federal aid is a good thing. When it comes to evidence opposing this view, they are, it seems, indicating to the luckless negative side that they will have to do the best they can with a hopeless point of view.

Here is propaganda with a vengeance. Of course there is more printed material available on the side favoring federal aid. How could it be otherwise? Tons of repetitious sophistries are printed in Washington at the taxpayer's expense and delivered by the bale all over the country.

Incidentally, as taxpayers we hereby register our specific protest against use of our taxes for this mountain of propaganda. If we really had freedom of speech, we could refuse to pay that portion of our taxes used for this propaganda and devote it instead to the alternate views which we favor. Freedom of speech today in these United States means only the freedom to speak with the assets you have left after the government propagandists have seized funds from YOU to further THEIR views.

But the amount of written material has little if anything to do with what is factual, reasonable, logical, and moral. There may be more PRINTED MATTER favoring federal aid, but there are more legitimate reasons AGAINST federal aid than have ever been printed.

A concise example is the subject of this very editorial. Under federal domination, and it exists already, prior to formalized federal subsidy, debating societies have become little more than extensions of the drama department. The FACTS are apparently not as important as the poise, the self-assurance, the diction, the eloquence. Never mind the logic, the reasoning, the data. The prizes apparently are reserved for the spell-binder, ignorant though he may be.

And if this situation already persists as a result of national influence via the NEA, the federal board of health, education and welfare, et al, further federal aid will take it all the way.

Under federal aid, we can well believe that eventually debate would be ruled out as a high school subject. It might conceivably create controversy, despite all the brainwashers could do to prevent the expression of an alternate point of view.

We were told, by one high school debater, that "after all, there are only certain facts. And these facts tend to support federal aid." Could there be a more hopeless, unrealistic, biased and brainwashed point of view than this? We can only express a hope that those unlucky students who through ill-starred adventuring have been condemned to support the negative side in their high school debating endeavors will have the fortitude to dig up the REAL FACTS OF THE CASE.

If facts, rather than glamour and stage presence, have anything to do with these debates, the negative will sweep the field.

Incidentally, we'd be glad to help.

SHADES OF FRANKLIN DELANO ROOSEVELT
(The Southern Conservative)

In New York recently Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare Folsom issued a public statement reminiscent of the Thirties when Socialism first began taking root in this country and Roosevelt set up the proposition that the weak and the incompetent were more worthy of government consideration than the strong and the able.

Folsom called on American business and labor to join government in pursuing vigorously "a policy of prevention and elimination of need," whatever that means.

"We must renew our combined efforts to achieve for each person an ever-increasing measure of economic security, well-being and freedom from want" this Republican Oscar Ewing told a meeting of the CIO-AFL which recently merged.

Although Ewing - pardon us, Folsom - advocated a program in which the government would underwrite the expenses of the citizen from the cradle to the grave and perform every personal service for him except giving him a bath, the Socialist laborites later bitterly assailed the administration for which Folsom was trying to create votes.

It was apparent from resolutions passed that the Union leaders prefer the Democratic brand to the Republican type of Socialism.

Spencer's Last Opinions On State Education

Herbert Spencer gave a great deal of thought to education; to training the emotions rather than intelligence. In his last book, published in 1902, called "Facts and Comments" Spencer writes on state education:

"Early in life it became a usual experience with me to stand in a minority - often a small minority, approaching sometimes to a minority of one. At a time when State-education was discussed more as a matter of speculative interest than as a matter of so-called practical politics, I found myself opposed to nearly every one in expressing disapproval - a disapproval which has continued until now, though with most it has become a political axiom that a government is responsible for the mental culture of citizens.

"In the forties this question of education by governmental agency was frequently argued between myself and a valued friend, who in those days wrote letters urging that Church-property should be laid under contribution to provide means. Holding the view I did even at that time respecting the limitation of State-functions, I opposed, for both general and special reasons. The general reason, allied to reasons which took definite shapes at a later time, was that society is a product of development and not of manufacture. The special reason, harmonizing with this general reason, was that the law of supply and demand extends from the material sphere to the mental sphere, and that as interference with the supply and demand of commodities is mischievous, so is interference with the supply and demand of cultured faculty. Many years later my friend confessed that his experience as a magistrate in Gloucestershire had changed his opinion. It had shown him that education artificially pressed forward, raising in the labouring and artisan classes ambitions to enter upon higher careers, led, through frequent disappointments, to bad courses and sometimes to crime. The general belief he had reached was that mischief results when intellectualization goes in advance of moralization - a belief which, expressed by him in other and less definite words, at first startled me, though it soon became clear that it was congruous with the views I had often urged.

"Here I am not about to enter at length on the general question of State-education; otherwise I should demur to the assumption that any government is competent to say what education should be, either in matter, manner, or order; I should insist on its right to impose its system of culture upon the citizen, so that under penalty for disobedience his children may be moulded after its approved pattern; and I should deny the equity of taking, through the rates, the earnings of A to pay for teaching the children of B. I should, in short, protest once more against that political superstition which has replaced the divine right of kings by the divine right of parliaments, but I must limit myself to the issue implied above - denying the commonly supposed connexion between intellectual culture and moral improvement; and giving evidence that a society is not benefited but injured by artificially increasing intelligence without regard to character."

Then Spencer relates how having more people read the English papers that were infaming the readers against other nations leads to very serious consequences. Then he put it this way:

"And the passions thus manifested were the passions of those who, educated by the State up to the level of newspaper-reading, had been absorbing every day the self-glorifications and the vilifications of the enemy, eagerly looked for, the slumbering instincts of the barbarian have been awakened by a demoralized Press, which would have done comparatively little had not the artificial spread of intellectual culture brought the masses under its influence. Says the Duke in Measure for Measure, 'There is scarce truth enough alive to keep societies secure' - a saying which, varied to suit the occasion, becomes, - 'There is scarce truth enough alive to keep societies in health. For the war-fever which has broken out and is working immense mischiefs, not abroad only but in our social state, has resulted from daily breathing an atmosphere of untruth. Is there no reason, then, for the opinion that immense evils may result if intellectualization is pushed in advance of moralization?'"

This was written around the beginning of the present century.

England is reaping the fruit of its growth of Socialism and Collectivism exactly what Spencer saw was bound to follow state schooling that by its nature must emphasize moralization. It would be emphasize intellectualization rather than moralization. It would be embarrassed if it attempted to instruct its pupils to believe they should not covet. State schools are supported by coveting.

Germany shows such reluctance about rearming that it will be four years before she can reinforce the thin line to the West, if then. France and the Low Countries have neither the funds nor the spirit to increase their forces, which are far below minimum requirements.

Last week's SEATO military maneuvers was a sorry show. The alliance which is supposed to defend Southeast Asia has not yet come into existence, and it is doubtful if it ever will become an integrated military unit.

Neither Pakistan nor France participated, although they sent a few "observers." A few planes, a few cruisers and destroyers and fewer than 10,000 ground troops - American, British, Philippine and Thailand - composed the defending array. So unsympathetic are the Asian nations that the demonstration was described as an "exercise," not a "military maneuver."

To the North, Japan equals Germany in delay of rearmament. Chiang Kai-shek and Syngman Rhee complain that they have not received sufficient heavy weapons from us. They are untrustworthy Allies in a serious showdown. And that observation applies to the wobbly Northern Tier Alliance on Russia's southern border in the Middle East.

Their attack threw the Pentagon into such a panic that Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson virtually admitted the truth of their criticism. Military sources indirectly confirm their indictment. A crash program for priority in the long-range missile field will soon be announced.

This sudden shift in high Democratic strategy may have two extremely important political developments. It may add to the reasons why President Eisenhower must run, for his military stature and experience may be needed to counteract the opposition's charges. It could be difficult to convince the voters that the World War II hero would deliberately neglect the nation's military establishment.

On the Democratic side, it would strengthen Senator Symington's darkhorse candidacy, entailing him at least by the vice presidential nomination, and possibly to the top of the ticket. It might enable the Democrats to subordinate the segregation question, that threatens to split them right down the middle.

It should be noted here that, neither Senator Symington nor Sen. Jackson are damogogues, intense partisans or of the swash-buckling type. In this connection, it is significant that no important Republican has arisen in the Senate to refute their charges.

But it is the admitted and obvious security breakdown in the collective security setup overseas, which causes the greatest alarm in military circles with knowledge of the facts. The vaunted network of alliances encircling the Soviet Empire from Norway to South Korea is only an organization on paper. It could be routed any time Russia chooses to attack.

NATO, for instance, consists of fewer than 20 less-than-strength divisions, facing several hundred satellite and Russian units at full complement. NATO is deficient in modern pursuit and bomber planes. Whatever advantage in atomic tactical missiles the Allies once had, has been overcome by the Reds.

Military Defense System May Be Campaign Issue

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON - The seemingly insecure state of America's military defense system at home and abroad may become a major issue in the 1956 Presidential campaign as a result of recent disclosures of weakness. It could change completely the Democratic line-up, in which Adlai E. Stevenson now has a galloping lead over his floundering rivals.

It was not accident but carefully planned strategy that led Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri and Henry M. Jackson of Washington to charge almost simultaneously that the United States had fallen far behind Russia in development of the 1,500-mile intermediate and the 5,000-mile intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Their attack threw the Pentagon into such a panic that Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson virtually admitted the truth of their criticism. Military sources indirectly confirm their indictment. A crash program for priority in the long-range missile field will soon be announced.

This sudden shift in high Democratic strategy may have two extremely important political developments. English Press Habitually Misleads, Confuses Clients

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

The English press habitually misleads and confuses its clients, who are not excessively intelligent; anyway, with correspondence on American politics from special agents stationed in Washington and New York. At the current writing, few of this seedy corps ranks in achievement above the professional quality of the hack opinionariars of our native punditry. For three months, practically all of them, British and American, drearily speculated whether General Eisenhower would stand for re-election. For their change of pace, they confided that (A) the gangsters of the union racket, scrupulously called labor-leaders, would oppose him, and (B) that that would make no difference because the American worker is a wise and conscientious man who wears no man's collar.

The Brits impose on the total ignorance of their editors and their readership concerning the American system of electing presidents. But this ignorance is shared by the American people who are not wise and conscientious at all, but ignorant, opinionated, selfish and unfit for the responsibility of choosing their presidents. They don't chose presidents but they think they do, which proves that they are too ignorant for this great responsibility. This is nowadays an international responsibility, for the delusion that the United States is a magnificent moral ideal, has become an obsession of millions of these ordinary American people and of most editors and many manufacturing merchants, such as Henry Ford.

This is a dangerous condition. It prompts us to hate and offend people who disagree with us.

We lay it down that something called "racism" is a horrible evil and howl insults to peoples who do not only disagree but know that we are a leading practitioner of "racism." We who have believed about it, long maintained in California and other western states that it was only a misdemeanor to kill a Chinaman and not necessarily that if he was underpricing you in farm truck, the restaurant business or laundering. That would be provocation and mitigation.

We tried to prevent Japanese from acquiring real estate. This was a wise precaution, and so was our exclusion of Hindus who may be very fine characters, but drink their bath-water, smear their faces and bodies with abomination and other-wise offend our sensibilities. And the first 1,000 American-wo-mers who today are berating the south, among them could not prove that they have been lifelong social friends and equals of 100 Negroes.

The Roosevelts are the classical example of this hypocrisy. They not only refused to mix white and colored employees in their homes but wrote the African exclusion clause into property deeds at their real estate promotion at Warm Springs, Ga.

Our people are pompous fat-heads in politics. That has seldom been proved more convincingly than by Estes Kefauver, of Tennessee. Here is a tall-board professor selling magic tiger marrow-fat in an age when we are bragging of our education, our discriminating intelligence and our ideals, whose total achievement consists of a paltry campaign against an innocent man who was falsely slandered as a gangster and the sinister head of a non-existent band vaguely called "The Syndicate" and the Mafia. Frank Costello has been known to admit that he did not get his money selling Bibles. But neither Kefauver nor the Department of Justice has proved that he engaged in crime except in an incom - tax case so tangled that even a degraded political Supreme Court granted him certiorari.

That conviction came long after Kefauver hammed it on the television from New York in a spectacle so tawdry that even Tom Connally an abandoned Southern Democrat, remarked that you couldn't count on Kefauver for a vote because he was probably out raiding a crap-game. Kefauver's only achievement has been a low forbidding interstate shipment of slot machines. This probably is unconstitutional. The right to regulate or forbid gambling is a right of the states.

It would be just as sensible to forbid interstate traffic in pennies lest criminal characters match them, heads or tails.

The dramatic, disgraceful, humiliating fact is that on such a record Kefauver can make a serious play for the presidential nomination and command a respectful hearing and the votes of many.

Our British cousins will not be appraised of all this by correspondents themselves too damned dumb to understand.

Mac Applies For Job As Model For Men's Fashions

By HENRY McLEMORE

"Fall right out of your chair if you want to, but I have applied for a job as a model for men's fashions. That's right - a male mannikin. It's not so much the pay I'm after as the chance to do millions of my fellow Americans a great service - one for which they have a real need and have long been denied.

If I get the job I'll be the only male model in the country who isn't very bit as good-looking as Cary Grant and who doesn't have a physique the equal of Burt Lancaster's. Every illustration of male apparel from hat to socks is posed for by a big chunk of handsome brute who looks fit and ready to win an international slalom race or tool a Mercedes to victory in a Grand Prix.

Models of this kind dress up advertisements, there's no doubt of that, but what purpose do they serve? How many men who buy clothes look and are built like these charmers? Not more than one out of every 100,000 you can be sure of that.

Most of us no more resemble them than a fly-swatter does a base-ball bat - we come in all shapes and sizes and are generally homely. For the average American male to buy a garment just because it looks good on one of these handsome, streamlining models is ridiculous and dangerous. I know because I have done it.

Not too many weeks ago I saw in an advertisement for a turtle-neck sweater. The model was leaning nonchalantly against the mantel-piece of a ski lodge and looked handsomer than all get-out, so I went out and bought myself a turtle-neck sweater.

I wish you could see me in it! I put it on one day and leaned nonchalantly against our fireplace. Mary took one look and suggested that I get inside the chimney. "You'll look better with your head out of sight," she sighed. The sweater make me look exactly like a turtle - and a frightened one at that. The neck kept popping over my chin, leaving nothing showing except my big, round eyes and big, round ears.

It wasn't fair to have the model make the sweater look so good. If the model had been a man of my appearance I never would have bought the fool thing! The use of models with my looks and build won't stop men from buying - fear that. Men have to keep on dressing because they can't go to animal skins.

It's in the field of swim clothes that I believe manufacturers play their dirtiest tricks. The fellows who model those swimming trunks and lure us into buying them should be arrested. Their stomachs are as flat as the Gobi Desert, their legs are as strong as young saplings, muscles cawort in just the right places and there is always a girl or two in the ad looking at the model with admiring eyes. So what happens? Thousands of us average guys buy the trunks and head for the beach. We come closer to getting catcalls than the ad-admiring glances.

If I get the modeling job the first thing I want to model is a double-breasted suit with an elastic back that will give when a man is a bit stout to get behind the steering wheel of his car without squeezing. That would be an honest ad. I also want to model one of those foreign sports car caps. When men of my age and general condition see that kind of cap mases me look like a defrocked locomotive engineer, they'll invest in some other type of headgear.

FROM THE MOMENT THAT A YOUNGSTER HEARS the first coin plunk into his piggy bank he begins to have money trouble. Maybe they're only penny-size problems at first, but by the time he reaches his fifteenth or sixteenth birthday, dollars have become one of his biggest problems, says the Institute of Life Insurance.

THIS IS CONFIRMED by a new study of students in junior and senior high schools in a large northeastern city, and reported by the Institute of Life Insurance. Dr. Martin Bloom, the Springfield, Massachusetts teacher who conducted the study, singled out Tenth-Grade pupils — high school sophomores — as being concerned with a great many problems revolving around the need for money.

"They seem to have more problems than any other grade," Dr. Bloom observed. No matter how much money these youngsters have, it always seems too little. They would like to have more, either in the form of bigger allowances or from a part-time job, to satisfy personal wants, to meet the spending competition of fellow students and have some left over to save.

They are also uncertain about whether any of their earnings should be given to the family, who in turn feel that their children aren't old enough to make all the decisions on the buying of their clothes, the educator reported.

Grade 10 seems to be the turning point in adolescents' struggle for independence, and results in their being in a state of unrest, he explained.

Students above and below the Tenth Grade have money problems too, but with less apparent agitation. Certain things stand out. Seventh Graders are concerned about allowances and knowing when to tap for money, and when. Eighth Graders are more concerned with wanting to buy school lunches, knowing how to divide their spending money correctly, and having some freedom in spending money.

RUTH MILLETT

Couples don't have to agree all the time in order to have a happy marriage. But if they are going to quarrel they ought to abide by a few gentlemanly rules. One. Any quarrel should be confined to the incident that starts it. Dragging old arguments, disagreements, and disappointments leaves a bitter taste and a sense of disillusionment. Two. Traits of character shouldn't be attacked. While you may get by with telling a man you think he is making a mistake in a certain instance you won't get by with telling him he has poor judgment.

Society For The Preservation Of Leap Year Is Needed, Says Elizabeth Toomey

NEW YORK — UP — The society for the preservation of leap year had better call a meeting. People are paying less attention to it than they used to, according to the observations of several authorities. To become a leap year authority you need only two qualifications — be single and over 21. Among already-married youngsters, the usual leap-year-meritment calls for arched eyebrows and playful digs in the ribs of single-minded men, accompanied by the sly warning, "Better watch out, boy, the girls are out to get you this year, you know."

Single girls miss the poke in the ribs but rarely escape a leap year without grinning and bearing dozens of funny sayings such as, "This is your big chance" or even worse, "This is your last chance." But something has happened to the jokes this year. Several seasoned bachelors we know say the subject hasn't been mentioned, even by their hopeful mothers. Single girls, usually a little sensitive to the hilarious (to some)

COOK'S NOOK For An Exciting Dessert Try Almond Chiffon Pie

By GAYNOR MADDOX NEA Food and Markets Editor We went to dinner in White Plains, N.Y., last week and discovered a new dessert. That's good news in most homes. So here goes: Almond Chiffon Pie Two egg yolks slightly beaten; 1 1/2 cups milk, 1/4 cup sugar, 1 envelope (1 tablespoon) gelatin, 1/2 cup whipping cream, 1/4 teaspoon almond extract, 2 egg whites, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons sugar. I baked fluff pie shell; almonds, blanched and toasted; tender-thin flakes of coconut, toasted. Blend egg yolks with 1 cup of the milk in saucepan. Add remaining milk, 1/4 cup sugar, and gelatin. Mix well. Cook and stir over medium heat until mixture begins to thicken and coats a dry metal spoon. (Do not boil) Remove from heat. Chill until mixture thickens slightly. Whip cream and fold in thickened mixture. Add almond extract; blend. Beat egg whites with salt until foamy throughout. Add 4 tablespoons sugar, 2 tablespoons at a time, beating after each addition until sugar is blended. Then continue beating until mixture withstands stiff peaks. Fold into gelatin mixture. Pour into pie shell. Chill until firm. Garnish with toasted coconut, sprinkled between rows or toasted almonds. To toast almonds and coconut spread almonds and coconut separately in a thin layer on a shallow baking pan. Place in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) at least 5 to 7 minutes, or until golden brown, stir often to toast evenly.

Amarillo Presented With Trophy

AND THE CHAIRS FLEW — Dalton Park, right, Fort Worth, is shown here as he throws a right to the ear of Pampa's Raul Ramirez in the championship bout of the Texas Golden Gloves tournament in Fort Worth Monday night. Pampa Fighters To Fight In Chicago For Texas

The Amarillo Regional Boxing team brought home the team trophy from the state golden glove finals Monday night as it placed second with a total of 11 points. The Fort Worth team, being the home team, has always given the trophy to the second-place out of town team when an out of town team doesn't take first place honors.

Raul Ramirez could have clinched the State Team Trophy for the Amarillo regional golden glove team if he had beaten Dalton Park, Fort Worth, in the state championship bout Monday night. The Fort Worth fighter won the decision but the majority of the fans and the press thought differently. Some of the officials seemed to think the same according to Duke Nally, Amarillo regional director.

Immediately following the announcement of the decision, officials met in the dressing rooms and found that Dalton Park couldn't make his weight for the Chicago matches and decided to take Pampa's Raul "Rabbit" Ramirez to the national competition in Chicago.

The two minutes of boogie following Park's win over the Optimist fighter probably influenced the officials' decision slightly. Ramirez had a better than even chance of being eliminated the first night since he was unable to win either the Pampa or Amarillo high school championship. The winner of the 115-pound open championship in the Amarillo Regional tournament was unable to make the trip to Fort Worth because of illness in his family and Ramirez was selected as an alternate.

He was given less chance to win the state match than any of the fighters on the Amarillo team but he was one of two boys that advanced to the finals. He will be the only fighter from the Amarillo region to make the trip to Chicago.

Pampa's Bob Frigmore, who was fighting for the Waco team, will be making the National Golden Gloves tournament if he can get permission from Baylor University.

Frigmore won the State Heavy-weight championship. Ramirez is 18 years of age and is a junior in Pampa High School. He stands 5'3" and lives at 310 W. Atchison. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Ramirez. He hopes to attend college at West Texas State.

He has won 12 trophies in boxing in the Pampa and Amarillo glove tournaments. He has also won awards in track.

Ramirez has been fighting for the Pampa Boys Club and the Pampa Optimist Club for several years. He has had a total of 71 fights before entering the State tournament and had won 52 while losing only 19.

In his six years of boxing he has won one regional championship, five district crowns. He was regional runnerup two times and district runnerup four times. Ramirez has not limited his athletics entirely to boxing as he played football under Coach Marvin Bowman in Junior high school and basketball under Terry Cully and received letters in those sports. He also has been active in track and won two letters in that sport. He plans to enter into the Harvesters track workouts when he ends his boxing season.

Ramirez was an around sport in the local softball leagues several times and was selected as a cheerleader this season. He is unable to continue with his cheerleading activities after boxing season started.

The Fighters will leave Amarillo at 10:50 a.m. Friday for Fort Worth where they will join the other Texas representatives. They will depart Fort Worth at 2 p.m. Saturday and arrive in Chicago Sunday morning.

Weigh-in will take place Monday and the first round of the national competition will start Monday night. Following the first three nights of competition the fighters still in the running, will continue their work and training and go into the national finals March 3.

Duke Nally will be going with Ramirez to the National Golden Gloves Tournament.

Mustangs Cinch Tie In Southwest Conference

By UNITED PRESS Southern Methodist clinched a tie for its second straight Southwest Conference championship Tuesday night and the Arkansas Razorbacks remained Wednesday the only team with even a slim chance of tying the Mustangs.

SMU whipped Baylor 59 to 68 in Dallas for its 10th straight loop victory without a defeat while the University of Texas eliminated Rice from title contention in Austin with a 94 to 82 upset.

To gain a share of the crown, the Razorbacks, who visit the home court of the Mustangs for a showdown match Saturday night, have an 8-2 mark and must win both their remaining games while SMU loses its two.

Guard Ronnie Morris led the Mustang attack against a sinking zone defense used by the Bears. He hit 21 points, mostly from outside the Baylor line of defenders. Larry Showalter netted 15 points on his long-distance sharpshooting to back Morris up. Wayne Connally of Baylor salvaged high honors for his team with 22 points.

The Mustangs hit 44.4 per cent of their shots and held a 40-26 half-time advantage. With less than three minutes left, SMU led Baylor 87-56 but the Bears put on a final spurge against the Mustang reserves.

Should SMU finish the conference season undefeated, it will be the first time the trick has been accomplished since Texas won all of its games in 1947.

Teas shoved Rice into third place thanks to sharpshooting by Hooten, who hit 32 and 29 points, respectively.

The loss was the third against seven loop victories for the pre-season favorite Owls. They still have a chance to tie Arkansas for second, however, should the Razorbacks lose another game and the Owls win the rest of theirs.

Rice took a 43-41 half-time lead, but Texas pulled ahead to stay with seven and a half minutes remaining in the game. Temple Tucker, Owl 6-10 center, snagged 19 rebounds and hit 26 points to lead his team.

Fifth Annual PGA Matches Set For May

NEW YORK — UP — Top professional golf stars of the United States and Canada will meet in the fifth annual international PGA team matches at the Colonial Country Club, Fort Worth, May 7-8, it was announced Wednesday.

This year's meeting, again sponsored by the International Golf Association, headed by John Jay Hopkins, will be the second held in the United States.

Teams for each nation, six players and an alternate on each side, will be picked by the U.S. Professional Golfers Association and the Canadian PGA. Competition on the first day consists of three, four-ball, 18-hole matches, on the second day of six singles 18-hole matches.

Golfers, Jockeys Make Most Money In Athletics

By HAL WOOD SAN FRANCISCO — UP — The best get-rich-quick ideas in the sports world now are those that lead to professional golf or horse racing.

While professional football players toll all year for $10,000 to $20,000; and a star baseball player may make only about $30,000, golfers and jockeys can make that in a weekend.

Wellington Edges Happy; Gains Berth In Regional

The Wellington Skyrockets, guided by E. W. Clement, downed the Leroy Roberts-coached Happy Cowboys in Harvester Fieldhouse last night, 58-50, to gain a berth in the regional meet Saturday in Lubbock.

The Wellington five went ahead 8-0 early in the first quarter and the Happy Cowboys, despite their full court press during most of the game, were unable to stop the Skyrockets scoring.

The Cowboys tied up the contest at 45-45 with five minutes left in the final stanza but Happy's personal fouls and quiet opening plays by the red and white Wellington quint allowed the I-A district winners to stretch the final score to a eight-point victory.

Dons Drop First Game Of Playoff

Amarillo's Dandy Dons were plagued with personal fouls and court mistakes last night as the Grand Prairie Gophers came from behind late in the final period to win the first game, 43-35, of the class AAA bi-district playoff.

The game was played in Grand Prairie and gives the Gophers the lead. The second two games, if two more are needed, will be played in Don Fieldhouse Friday and Saturday nights.

Jim Reid, Don rebound expert, fouled out with four minutes left and with the score knotted at 40-40, the Gophers then managed to take the lead which they never gave up.

The Dons led 18-12 at the end of the first period and 28-25 at the half. The Gophers took over the lead in the third frame as they led 44-43 going into the final stanza.

The Dons were paced by Gene Arrington and Robert Hoyer in the scoring department as they scored 18 and 17 points respectively. The high point man of the night was Sammy Fountain of Grand Prairie with 21. Jackie Crawford netted 19 points for the Gophers.

The Dons were charged with 13 personal fouls while the Gophers fouls netted the Dons only three points. Robert Echols missed two gratis tries and Paul Hyatt missed one. The Gophers counted for nine of 17 from the foul line.

The Dons sank 26 of 79 attempts from outside while the Gophers counted for 27 of 67 attempts.

The officials for the contest were Ward and Gzod.

Reggie Smith and James Lee paced the Wellington quint with 14 points each while Jerry Elbert counted for 11 and Pat Wilkens sank 10 points. The Wellington starters went through the entire game while seven Happy boys got into the contest.

The officials for the game were Stine Cain and Stanley Level. Wellington will represent the Panhandle in the Regional meet in Lubbock Saturday and the winner there will go on to the state playoffs in Austin the following Saturday.

Atlantic Coast Conference Tied 4 Ways

By UNITED PRESS An unheralded North Carolina State substitute, who has warmed the bench for most of three seasons, was the principal cause of a four-way snarl-up for first place Wednesday in the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball race.

Lou Dickman was the unsung sub who scored eight points in the final four minutes Tuesday night to give the Wolfpack a come-from-behind 78-75 victory over North Carolina.

As a result of Dickman's heroics, North Carolina State, North Carolina, Wake Forest and Duke all are tied for first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference with identical records of 10 league victories and three defeats.

Duke Downs Virginia Duke rolled over Virginia 92-58, with center Junior Morgan scoring 24 of the Blue Devils' points. Bob McCarthy and Wistar Nelligan each netted 14 points for the losers.

Gear Shift, Endurance Boost Sowell

PITTSBURGH — UP — Arnie Sowell of the University of Pittsburgh Wednesday credited a "built-in" gear shift and the endurance of an eight-day clock for his rapid rise as a crack middle-distance runner and hot prospect for the U.S. Olympic team.

The gear shift Sowell referred to is what he calls an innate ability either to speed up or slow down during a race, depending upon the situation.

"Something just tells me when to put myself in high gear, slow down to second or drop into low," he said following a rugged two-hour workout at Pitt Stadium.

"This endurance thing came to me after my coach, Carl Olson, suggested that I run each fall with the Pitt cross-country team," Arnie said. "Endurance is just as important to a middle-distance man as it is to a miler."

Sowell successfully defended his national AAU 1,000-yard championship last Saturday night.

His time was just two seconds off the 3:08.2 record which he shares with Don Gehrman for that event.

Arnie, only 20, also holds the world's record for the four-turn 880-yard run, set last year at Boulder, Colo., with a time of 1:47.8. International fame came when he captured the Pan-American Game's 800-meter event (1:49.8) last year in Mexico City.

Sowell will return to New York this Saturday to defend his IC4A 1,000-yard title.

Then he and Coach Olson will devote full attention to landing Arnie an Olympics berth in the 800-meters.

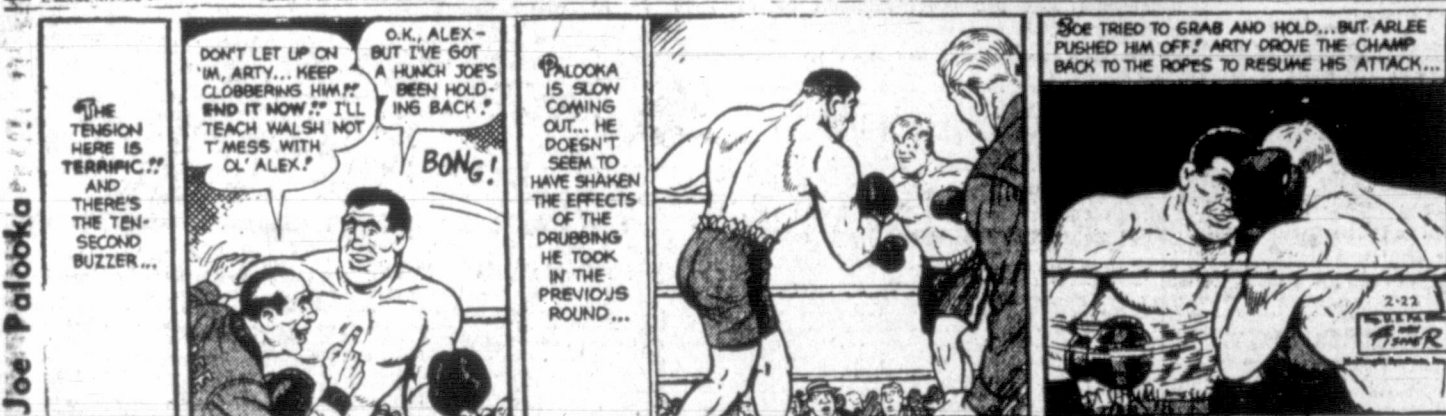

SMU Has 10-0 Record Southern Methodist clinched a tie for its second straight Southwest Conference title with an 88-68 triumph over Baylor as guard Ronnie Morris of Shawnee, Okla., hit for 21 points for the Mustangs. SMU now has a 10-0 conference record.

In other games Tuesday night, St. Louis defeated Drake 96-81; Eastern Kentucky State upset Louisville 84-84; Pittsburgh topped Carnegie Tech 85-81; Columbia defeated Harvard 78-55; Texas beat Rice 84-82; Western Kentucky State licked Cincinnati 85-74; George Washington beat Georgetown 76-67 in overtime, and Muhlenberg defeated Bucknell 10-56.

Now! DODGE offers you today's lowest priced trucks with automatic transmission

Modern Truck PowerFlite Gives Dodge Trucks the Driving Ease of a Passenger Car

In trucks, as in cars, the swing today is to automatic transmissions.

And Dodge leads the industry—offers you the lowest priced trucks with automatic transmission that money can buy.

Easier on both truck and driver, Dodge extra-rugged Truck PowerFlite frees you of constant gearshifting, eliminates annoying, jerky starts and ends the danger of costly clutch troubles. PowerFlite ups resale value, too—because trucks with automatic PowerFlite command higher trade-ins.

But that's only half the story! Dodge also gives you:

- ★ Highest payload capacities—for bigger, more profitable loads—up to 22% more than other makes.
- ★ Biggest cab, plus biggest wrap-around windshield—for extra comfort, extra safety.
- ★ Shortest turning radius—for easier parking, easier turn-around, easier handling in traffic.
- ★ Famous Dodge dependability—for lower upkeep, minimum "time-out" for servicing.

Don't buy a truck in the dark! See your Dodge dealer and get the facts before you decide on any truck!
