

Standard's Arabian Oil Stance Causes Anger

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Standard Oil of California, the nation's 12th largest corporation, ran into a public opinion buzz last week when it called for support of Arab aspirations in the Middle East but made no mention of Israel's hopes.

A Jewish community protest, including splashing of buildings with red paint and threats to boycott Standard products and return credit cards, led to a fast public relations "clarification" of the company position.

By Saturday, the storm seemed to be abating although some Jewish leaders were insisting that Standard take further steps to clear the record.

The furor began when California Standard's board chairman, Otto N. Miller, sent a letter to 262,000 stockholders and 40,000 employees from his San Francisco headquarters.

Miller referred to the current oil and gas shortage in the United States, pointed out that the Arab-Persian Gulf area's vast oil reserves and traced 40 years of Standard Oil relationships with the Arab people.

Miller said there was a growing feeling in much of the Arab world that the United States has "turned its back" on the Arab people.

"There must be understanding on our part of the aspirations of the Arab people and more positive support of their efforts toward peace in the Middle East," the letter said.

"It is in the best interest of all of us who are citizens of the United States to urge our government to work toward conditions of peace and stability. We must acknowledge the legitimate interests of all the peoples of the Middle East and help them to achieve security and a dependable economic future."

"Looking forward to the energy needs in the years ahead, it is in our mutual interest to encourage a United States government course which recognizes the importance of these objectives to the future of all of us—a course which above all seeks a peaceful and just settlement of conflicting viewpoints."

The reaction from the Jewish community and from California political figures was swift and intense.

Edward Sanders, president of the Jewish Federation-Council of Greater Los Angeles, an "umbrella" type organization representing Jewish religious, service and social groups, said he was "shocked and dismayed by the implications" of Miller's letter.

"The letter raises serious ethical and moral questions as to the utilization of a vast, profit-making organization to influence American foreign policy," he said.

Democratic Sens. John V. Tunney and Alan Cranston were quick to join the protest. Tunney said the letter was an attempt "to solve our fuel crisis by selling out Israel." Cranston wrote Miller saying he interpreted the letter as meaning "the United States should withdraw its support of Israel."

"I do not share your apparent inference that what is good for Standard Oil is necessarily good for the United States," Cranston said.

Zev Yaroslavsky, executive director of the Southern California Council for Soviet Jews, saying he was speaking on behalf of a coalition of Jewish leaders, called for holders of Standard Oil of California credit cards to cut them in half and mail one piece to him and the other to the company.

When enough severed credit cards have been gathered, he said, the group would use them to fuel a bonfire in front of the corporation's headquarters here.

A company spokesman said "several hundred" credit cards had been sent back and acknowledged that phone calls, letters and telegrams were running heavily against the company.

On Tuesday the office buildings of the company in Los Angeles and San Francisco were splashed by early morning vandals with red paint in plastic bags thrown from automobiles. A Star of David was painted on a window with an aerosol spray can.

Standard Oil's immediate reaction was that sections of Miller's letter were being taken out of overall context.

"We feel it is unfortunate that some people have misinterpreted our background information to our stockholders and our employees which calls on the United States to work toward conditions of peace and stability in the Middle East," a company statement said.

"One of the reasons we are still a great nation is that we have, thus far, been unable to exhaust our resources in spite of our best efforts."

Phase IV Begins Tonight Allowing Few Exemptions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The price freeze ends, and Phase IV begins, at midnight Sunday for most of the economy—almost two years to the day after President Nixon began his "temporary" experiment with wage-price controls.

Starting Monday, prices for most all goods and services—except beef and petroleum products—are free to rise within a range laid out under a complex framework of rules administered by the Cost of Living Council (CLC).

However, since the biggest corporations will have to give 30 days advance notice to the government before boosting prices, consumers won't be feeling the weight of some price boosts until mid-September.

Phase IV rules also require businessmen to cut prices under certain conditions, but reductions are likely to be rare.

Instead, administration economic controllers are warning shoppers to brace for a new inflationary surge as companies race to mark up prices that were held in check during the two-month freeze.

The freeze is being thawed gradually in order to prevent a sudden price explosion and give the economy time to absorb the higher prices that the government concedes are on the way.

Thus, food prices, except beef, were unfrozen July 13. The freeze will be lifted on most other prices at 10:59 p.m. CDT Sunday. However, gasoline, home heating oil and other petroleum products will remain covered an extra week, until Aug. 19, and beef will remain under price ceilings until Sept. 12.

The standard for wage increases remains the same as before: 5.5 per cent a year for wages and 0.2 per cent for fringe benefits.

Despite administration attempts to make the expected price boom as palatable as possible, consumers may find some increases hard to swallow.

Food prices, particularly, will continue to be a headache. Last week the Agriculture Department predicted shoppers would pay 20 per cent more for groceries in 1973 than a year earlier. If the forecast holds true, it would be the biggest one-year jump in food retail food prices since 1947.

When Nixon startled the nation by imposing an across-the-board 90-day wage-price freeze on Aug. 15, 1971, he called it a "temporary" measure that would lick excessive inflation "without the mandatory wage and price controls that crush economic and personal freedom."

Nixon stepped in June 13 with a new price freeze to be followed by a tough, comprehensive Phase IV program designed to return the nation, once and for all, to a free market economy.

Public Funds Agnew Confirms Money Reports

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Some $100,000 in public funds has been spent for security improvements in Vice President Spiro T. Agnew's new $190,000 home in Kenwood, Md., his office confirmed Saturday.

Press aide Marsh Thompson, asked about a Parade Magazine report that the expenditures totaled $125,000, said a detailed accounting was not immediately available but that he remembered the total as about $100,000.

Parade reported the expenditures included $39,000 for a brick and redwood fence, $14,000 for a driveway and parking area, $3,000 for remodeling a basement bathroom and painting the basement, and $850 for a flagstone walk to an outdoor patio.

Thompson said the work had been done on the property for security purposes, but that Agnew had made it clear "expenditures from public funds would have to be absolute necessities to the Secret Service and the Government Services Administration" before he would accept them.

The Vice President "would not tolerate anything of a frivolous nature," Thompson said.

The items described by the magazine story appeared to be necessary to provide Secret Service accommodations, Thompson said, adding that a detailed accounting would be made public as soon as possible.

A spokesman for the Secret Service said his agency asked the GSA to contract for the fence, driveway and parking improvements in order to make the grounds secure and to provide room for security vehicles used in vice presidential motorcades.

Thompson said Agnew had moved into the house about a month ago.

Intermediary Not Known

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI) — Search planes equipped with sophisticated tracking gear including infra-red cameras were unsuccessful Saturday in discovering the location of a boy thought trapped in a pickup truck with his dead or injured father for five days.

State police disputed an Army sergeant's claim he had talked for three hours with the youth. The possibility of a hoax was not discounted.

Sgt. W. A. Schmidt, of Albuquerque, said he had communicated with the boy shortly after midnight and called the contact "the most significant development since we started searching Tuesday."

But State Police Lt. William Edlemen, who is responsible for checking all reported contacts, said the communication could not be verified.

"There was no direct contact," Edlemen said. "He (Schmidt) said the contact with the boy supposedly came through an intermediate citizens band operator who heard the boy and passed the information along."

State police had not been able to locate the intermediary and Schmidt admitted he did not know the name of the person who had supplied him tapes of the boy's alleged replies.

Soviet Union Unleashes Campaign Against China

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union, after months of virtually ignoring China, has suddenly unleashed a furious press campaign against Peking that has Western diplomats here guessing.

"I wouldn't be surprised to see the Soviets come out soon with an assertion that China is no longer a Socialist country," one diplomat commented.

There also is speculation that Moscow may be setting the stage for another world Communist conference that would be called to deal with the problem of China.

The press campaign erupted last Tuesday, with a long article in the Communist party newspaper Pravda that many diplomats assume was written in the party Central Committee. The article accused Peking of being "hostile to the Socialist world," and of having effected "a complete rupture from Marxism-Leninism" and a "complete deviation from the common policy of Socialist countries."

Since then hardly a day has passed without fresh attacks on the Chinese leadership. Diplomats said Chinese attacks on the Soviet Union also have been increasing in tempo lately.

The Pravda article on Tuesday was written as a commentary on the meeting in the Crimea two weeks ago between Leonid I. Brezhnev, general secretary of the Soviet Communist party, and party leaders from Eastern Europe and Mongolia.

Although China was not even mentioned in the official communique on that meeting, the Pravda article made clear that China was a major subject of discussion.

Western diplomats who have been following the press this week have been struck by repeated references to the world Communist conference held here in 1969, and to similar meetings in Moscow, in 1960 and 1957.

China was a major topic at the last two of those gatherings. Moscow failed in both instances to get all-out support for its side of the dispute, as Romania and party organizations from several other countries refused to go along.

Revisionists Delete $80 Million Ceiling

AUSTIN (UPI) — Constitutional revision members Saturday voted to delete the $80 million a year ceiling on welfare payments from new state constitution adopted, and approved new provisions expanding the power of local governments.

The commission, winding up a two-day meeting, earlier had voted to leave in the proposed new constitution sections dealing with so-called "emotional" issues — liquor, branch banking, and homestead exemptions.

The recommendations finally agreed to by the commission are to be presented to the 1974 constitutional convention as a guide to the drafting of a new state constitution.

The welfare ceiling was wiped out Saturday in a vote by the commission to do away with constitutional provisions on a whole series of items which members said would be in other sections of the charter—or left entirely up to the legislature.

"All the ceilings are off," said Jim W. Weatherby of Kerrville after the vote. "There are no dollar amounts on welfare or anything else the way I understand it now."

The commission also adopted a provision prohibiting the legislature from enacting laws dealing with only one city or county, and another item that would stop lawmakers from passing laws that require expenditures by local governments unless the state provided the funds to pay the costs.

That measure, recommended by the local government subcommittee headed by Judge Barbara Culver of Midland, passed 16-11.

Other changes in the local government sections would permit counties to adopt home rule charters and ordinances, and give cities and counties any power not denied to them by general law, the constitution or charters.

"We would like for the local governments to be partners with the state instead of its servants," Mrs. Culver said.

During its meeting Friday, the commission had voted to leave in the constitution a provision requiring local option votes to legalize liquor sales, and a ban against branch banking.

There had been strong moves, backed by the liquor and banking industries, to delete those restrictions from the recommended new constitution.

The commission did make one sharp departure from the present constitution—voting by a one-vote margin to permit part of a workman's wages to be seized for child support payments.

The commission's recommendations are scheduled to be completed and turned over to constitutional convention delegates by Nov. 1.

Divers Survey Andrea Doria

FAIRHAVEN, Mass. (UPI) — Two divers made a survey Saturday of the main salon of the sunken luxury liner Andrea Doria, 240 feet below the surface of the Atlantic Ocean, as part of their attempt to salvage riches from the wrecked ship.

Crewmen aboard the support ship Narragansett said former Navy aquanauts Donald Roderick and Christopher DeLucchi, both of San Diego, were in "good spirits" in their fourth day living in an underwater chamber at the ocean bottom.

The divers plan to spend a total of 10 days to two weeks attempting to salvage an estimated $1.1 million in cash and nearly another $1 million in jewelry and art objects from the liner, which sank July 25, 1956, after colliding with the Swedish vessel, the Stockholm.

They already have retrieved some objects, which were taken aboard the Narragansett by surface cables and lines, according to Tom Ingersoll, a member of the support dive team. But members of expedition have refused to detail exactly what objects have been salvaged.

Crewmen said the former frogmen hoped to enter the main salon of the 700-foot sunken liner Saturday, and also planned to begin cutting their way into the purser's office of the ship, where most of the valuables are believed located.

Kissinger Is Summoned About Cambodian Affair

CAMP DAVID, Md. (UPI) — President Nixon summoned Kissinger to his adviser on Monday. Kissinger is on a mountain retreat in the White House, presumably to discuss the increasingly tense military situation in Cambodia as the United States prepares to halt bombing raids at midnight Tuesday.

Kissinger was accompanied by presidential aide Bryce Harlow to Camp David, where Nixon has been working since Wednesday on his Watergate speech. Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said the Kissinger-Nixon meeting did not concern Watergate.

The meeting coincided with reports that exiled Cambodian Prince Norodom Sihanouk sent a cable Friday to Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, an old friend, calling for an end to all U.S. interference in Cambodia.

Neither the White House nor the State Department would comment on the Sihanouk cable. Mansfield was traveling in his home state of Montana and could not be reached for comment.

Nixon has agreed to abide by a compromise deadline set by Congress to halt all bombing of Cambodia at midnight Tuesday.

State Department officials said they feared the bombing halt would provide a distinct advantage for the Cambodian insurgents—some of them sympathetic to Sihanouk—who have encircled the capital at Phnom Penh.

Agence France Presse, the French news agency, said in a report monitored Saturday by the U.S. Foreign Broadcast Information Service that Sihanouk's cable to Mansfield prescribed conditions for a peace settlement in Cambodia.

AFP, which received a copy of the cable in Peking, said for an end to all U.S. interference in Cambodia.

Sihanouk warned that "the only conditions for peace in honor ... were a complete and definitive halt to aerial bombing and all other direct or indirect U.S. military intervention in Cambodia, then a complete and definitive end to all aid to the self-styled Khmer republic" of President Lon Nol.

Saturday was Nixon's fourth consecutive day at Camp David and he was surrounded by an entourage of aides and speech writers working on the speech he will give the middle of next week in response to Watergate allegations.

Proxmire Charges Illegalities

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Navy has illegally provided a personal servant and a private secretary to a retired admiral now serving as U.S. ambassador to Spain, Sen. William Proxmire charged Saturday.

Proxmire, D-Wis., said in a statement that two active duty military personnel were assigned last November to Ambassador Horacio Rivero and that they were "personally provided" by Adm. Elmo Zumwalt, chief of U.S. naval operations.

Rivero retired from the Navy in June, 1972, and became ambassador to Spain last September.

"In response to my inquiries," Proxmire said, "the personal servant has been dropped...but the private secretary remains on duty collecting regular military pay."

The senator said existing regulations permit assignment of military personnel only to active officers, not civilians, and only for "desirable military reasons."

Harrelson sentenced for killing. BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — Charles V. Harrelson, a 35-year-old wanderer who spent more than 4-1/2 years in jail without being convicted of a crime, was sentenced Saturday in his third murder trial to 15 years for killing a grain dealer for a $2,000 fee.

The smartly dressed Harrelson, imprisoned without a conviction longer than any man in Texas history, showed no emotion but turned sympathetically to a niece who broke into tears.

"It's not going to help to cry," he said. "That's (the prison sentence) not so bad."

Judge Darrell Hester set Sept. 5 as the formal sentencing date for Harrelson, who also faces a three-year federal conviction in Kansas City, Mo., on possession of a sawed off shotgun and trial in Houston on charges of possessing stolen credit cards.

Prior to his conviction, Harrelson spent 57 consecutive months in jail. He was arrested Nov. 20, 1968, by Texas Rangers in Atlanta and extradited back to Texas.

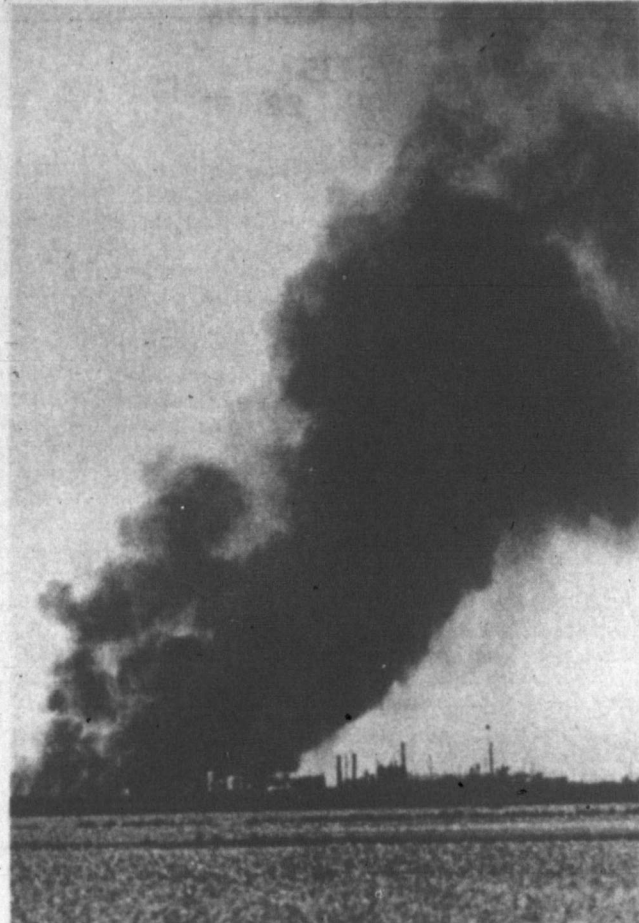

He hired defense attorney Percy Foreman to represent him and Foreman successfully won him an acquittal and a mistrial over that 4-1/2-year period.

Harrelson was first charged with murdering Houston carpet executive Alan Berg for a $1,500 fee. The jury found Harrelson innocent.

Two years ago, Harrelson was brought to trial in Edinburg, Tex., for the murder of Sam Degelia Jr., who was found dead July 6, 1968.

Harrelson maintained his innocence and the jury deadlocked 11-1.

The jury, however, found Harrelson guilty Friday.

Houston Deputies Patrol Site Of Youths' Burials

HOUSTON (UPI) — Sheriff's deputies patrolled the sand and salt grass along a Texas beachfront Saturday where officers expect to find more graves of boys who were ravished, murdered and buried by a homosexual bachelor and two teen-aged accomplices.

Police have dug up 23 bodies at three locations, but high weekend tides covered some of the search area on the beach near High Island and the hunt for more victims was delayed until Monday.

"What we are watching for is people who would disturb the soft area," said Chambers County Sheriff Lewis B. Otter. "I've got boys making trips at intervals down there to make sure there's no one digging or upsetting the applicat."

The two teen-agers — Elmer Wayne Henley, 17, and David Brooks, 18 — told police they buried six or more bodies along the beachfront. Both had admitted they took part in the three-year sex, sadism and slaying scheme with Dean Allen Corli, 33.

Henley was jailed Saturday at suburban Pasadena. Brooks was locked up in Houston. Both have been charged with murder. Henley said he killed Corli in self-defense during a paint-sniffing sex orgy Wednesday.

Anxious parents in the Houston area, from across the nation and even foreign countries called police seeking information about missing sons. But police said it will take months to identify the remains of the victims, and some may never be identified.

"We are getting calls from all over the United States and Canada. We had one call from Germany," Detective D.M. Fults said. "There are thousands of people missing in the United States alone."

In his confession to police, Brooks discussed several of the slayings casually, saying some of the victims — lured for Corli by the two youths who promised sex, marijuana and liquor — were tortured for days before they were killed.

"I remember one boy who was killed. Dean kept this boy around the house for about four days before he killed him. I think I helped bury this boy, but I don't remember where it was. This was about two years ago."

"It really upset Dean to kill this boy because he really liked him."

Then Brooks, recently married with a pregnant wife, told police of another youngster who he procured for Corli. Brooks said Corli had homosexual relations with the boy, who then was sent home.

"I had taken him home one time, but he wouldn't get out because he wanted to go back to Dean," Brooks said. "I took him back and Dean ended up killing him."

Both Henley and Brooks led police to burial sites. Officers dug up 17 bodies in a tin boat shed in Houston, found four more near Lake Sam Rayburn at Broadus, Tex., and two more on the beach east of Galveston.

"Brooks is relieved now that he's got all this off his chest," said Houston Detective K.D. Porter. "I think any murderer would be relieved."

Police said it might be difficult to find more bodies on the beach when the search resumes Monday.

"They were buried at the edge of the grass line. This shifts in a year's period," said Detective Jack Hamel. "We'll probably have to take a machine and I guess dig back as far as you can go to uncover the graves. It is obvious that if you take a shovel, you could spend the rest of your life at it."

Deep Throat Ruled Obscene By Dallas Jury

DALLAS (UPI) — A seven-man, five-woman jury saw the movie "Deep Throat" Friday and 16 minutes later declared the picture obscene.

Three men and two women convicted of exhibiting the movie were sentenced to five years in prison and a $5,000 fine in the first felony prosecution for exhibiting obscene material to be tried in Dallas County.

"If that film doesn't violate community standards, then it must be the community standards," assistant district attorney Norman Kinne said. "And if that isn't obscene, then I don't know what is."

The defense argued the defendants should not be convicted because they were only doing their job in showing the film.

"The first time we heard that was at Nuerberg and I just lit the gas," Kinne said.

Pampa Band To Begin Rehearsals

Harris Brinson, band director at Pampa High School, said today that the Harvester Band will start rehearsals tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the band room at the high school.

Tuesday through Friday, rehearsals will begin at 6 p.m. and continue until 9:30.

All previous members of the band and students new to Pampa who are interested in playing in the band are asked to attend the rehearsals.

Incubators Hit

RALEIGH (UPI) — Noise from infant incubators may be causing some hearing loss in babies, two scientists reported Saturday.

Dr. Joseph C. Farmer, an assistant professor of otolaryngology at Duke University, and Dr. Stephen A. Falk of the National Institute of Environmental Health Services, said they had found noise levels in incubators are below levels dangerous to adults.

But, they said, infants' ears may be more easily damaged than those of adults and the prolonged exposure to constant noise—up to several months for some babies—may be more damaging.

Their arrests brought to 98 the number of persons taken into custody since the demonstrations began July 6.

Four Arrested In Washington WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sister Elizabeth McAlister, wife of antiwar priest Philip Berrigan, and three other women were arrested Saturday for demonstrating at the White House against the continued U.S. bombing of Cambodia.

Authorities said the demonstrators, three nuns and another woman were arrested when they broke from a tour line and began praying at the East Portico of the executive mansion.

NOT RESTING — L.F. Noe, 2000 Coffee, sits in front of a number of various wooden articles he has fashioned as a hobby during his later years of retirement. Although he is 96 years old, he's not content to just sit around and prefers to be doing work on his hobby.

Elderly Man Not Content To Sit In Rocking Chair

By LARRY HOLLIS
"You're only as young as you think," goes the familiar saying.
If so, then L.F. Noe, 2000 N. Coffee, is much younger than indicated by his chronological age of 96.
While most other people of his age — and many much younger — are satisfied with just sitting around and resting on their laurels (among other things), Noe spends much of his time in his workshop fashioning various wooden articles to make use of his time.
"My advice to elderly people is to find something to do to occupy your time," he said in a clear voice. "Get plenty of exercise and stay out of the rocking chair. And stay out of politics."
Not content just to sit around and reminisce about his many years, Noe continues making the various articles he has been preparing for several years.
Among the items are picture frames, salt and pepper shakers, wishing wells, pin cushion holders, bird houses, lamps, jewelry boxes, letter-bill holders, signs and plaques, and knick-knack shelves.

Decorations are simple, a bit of paint, some varnish, pecan and walnut shells, marbles and any other material that is handy.
His garage is adorned with a number of the articles he has made. Many he has given away to friends and other acquaintances.
He has occupied his time with the hobby for about 10 years, and has no immediate plans for discontinuing the operations.
As he has remarked at other times, "I have to find something to do to keep away from the rocking chair."
Noe was born Aug. 11, 1877 in Winchester, Ky., where his father was a farmer. After some time spent traveling, he finally entered Texas when he was 18 years of age, about 78 years ago.
When he was about 21, in 1898, he was a member of the Missouri-Volunteers, Third Company of the U.S. Army, during the period of the Spanish-American War. Serving as a private, he never left the United States, however.

During other years of his life, Noe has worked as a farmer and rancher, insurance salesman, druggist and real estate salesman.
Falling in love with a high school teacher at Edmund, Okla., while selling insurance, he married Anne E. Murray in 1902.
She passed away in 1943, leaving four children. Noe currently lives with one of his daughters, Mrs. Frances Perkins, who taught third grade at Horace Mann Elementary School.
After their marriage, Noe and his wife lived in Oklahoma for several years until in 1916 they brought the family by covered wagon to pioneer near Spearman at a small community, Morse.
There they built a henhouse and lived in it until the regular house was constructed. At first, they had to walk a quarter of a mile just to get water.
After living on the ranch for 22 years, Noe and the family moved to Sunray, where he worked first in the real estate business and then later entered the druggist business. He stayed in that business until he retired just over 30 years ago.
He moved to Pampa in 1951, determined not to waste his remaining years.
Still going strong, he celebrated his birthday yesterday, with family and friends gathered around to give their salutations to a "young" old man.
Tea is "in."
NEW YORK (UPI) — A decade ago tea was considered a "little old ladies" drink. The advent of instant tea has changed that image, according to the Tea Council of the U.S., lead tea, especially in the younger age brackets, has become a full-fledged part of the beverage revolution which now sees cold drinks served all year long, the council said.

SUNDAY, AUGUST 12
Your birthday today: Despite efforts to steer a moderate course, abrupt events characterize your coming year. There are lucky breaks, confrontations with rivals. Theories show flaws, so you must use your own wisdom. Today's natives often make a great deal of either abstinence or indulgence.
Aries [March 21-April 19]: Open your home and hands to friends. Pursue social activities, the sharing of sports and pastimes.
Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Restrain temptations to press business dealings. Sounder progress can be obtained by attending to spiritual growth first.
Gemini [May 21-June 20]: Make the rounds early, find out what has happened since you were last free to observe. Discussions settle little.
Cancer [June 21-July 22]: Get up and out of your accustomed groove. Go exploring once you've tended your normal share of Sunday rituals.
Leo [July 23 - Aug. 22]: Aside from some friends' misconceptions, it's a great day, with everybody in a generally happy mood.

Virgo [Aug. 23 - Sept. 22]: It doesn't do to take for granted the continued cooperation of those you cherish. Involve them in what you are doing.
Libra [Sept. 23 - Oct. 22]: Everything falls into swinging, happy rhythm, and much can be achieved in reasonably short order.
Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: An expansive mood is likely. Reflect on any impulse to see if you can estimate the results of what you do.
Sagittarius [Nov. 22 - Dec. 21]: Encourage everybody to do his own thing. Don't be surprised if it turns out to be what you would have chosen.
Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: It is time to brighten up, present your best. Where corrections of discrepancies are in order, make them quietly and quickly.
Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: If anybody seems reluctant, it's likely that you have urged action a little sooner than is practical.
Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Since you have abundant energy and many things to do if you wish, set priorities early for a balanced, orderly Sunday.

Business World

By MARCA NURRE BRUSSELS (UPI) — The U.S. Embassy attache draped his feet over the arm of a brown leather chair and talked of the European trend to do more than just sell products in America.
European businessmen now want to make them in the United States, too, he said.
Charles Fagan, industrial development attache, smoothed a small wrinkle in his starched white shirt. He looked out across the economic capital of a booming Europe. Van Rode's Archangel Michael shone in the sunlight from atop the town hall spire. He smiled.
"The jump in European manufacturing investment in America? My favorite subject," Fagan said.
The dollar devaluation this spring sparked it, he said. Manufacturers who export to the States are faced with a choice: "Either they give up their market or get the hell over there and manufacture that product inside the boundaries of the United States," Fagan said.

"All the factors which caused American industry to come to Europe in the '60s have now switched," he said.
He began to list the changes: American wage scales now are competitive with those in Europe, "partly because of the devaluation and partly because of high social benefit payments European manufacturers make in addition to salaries," he said.
American inflation is lower, he said. Unemployment is higher in the States. Consequently, more workers are available.
Also, he said, since the Common Market has expanded,

European firms have found it unnecessary to set up auxiliary plants in other countries and instead can spend the time and money to do so in the United States.
European companies pushed by the devaluations and other factors into seeking a plant site in the United States, have more help in Brussels than just Fagan. Four states—New York, Illinois, Virginia and Michigan—maintain "mini-embassies" in Brussels which are devoting an increasing part of their time to helping European manufacturers find plant sites in their states.
New York's representative, J. Stephen Stanton, is a European-educated American, fluent in seven languages, who operates from a modern office building on Brussels' fashionable Avenue Louise.
He said he is dealing with almost 200 European manufacturers who are considering a location in New York State. "This happened almost overnight," he said.
So far, he said, he has sent to New York state a French commercial bakery, a French aircraft parts factory, a British firm specializing in steel shelving, a German aluminum works and others.
Fagan said American corporations now have an estimated $80 billion invested abroad. About 10 per cent comes back to the States yearly as corporate profit. In contrast, he said, European investment in the states is now estimated at $14 billion.

The Pentagon was completed in 1943 at a cost of about $83 million.

have to cope with at your work.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Everything tends to fall into your lap today, finding you not quite prepared to make the best use of it.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: You have an uphill task persuading anybody to do things your way—keep it very simple.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Look thru facts and figures rather than relying on anybody's estimate. You must concentrate on practical issues.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: There is no quick road to success, but today progress is rapid. Routines vary to fit current exceptions, special deals.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Consider the overall perspective on what you're doing. Little progress is likely on any long-standing local problem.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: If you become thwarted or frustrated, it's because you said too much about what you plan to do, how, and more important, why.

No Pizza In The Sky

If you grant that government has a proper function in the deterrence of fraud, you can make a case that political agencies are not out of bounds when they require accurate labeling of hamburger. For a hamburger ought to have beef in it.

You can say the same thing for strawberry jam that is made with artificial strawberry flavoring plus a few genuine strawberries for visual effect and grasse seed to resemble the tiny pits that characterize the real berry.

But the line that separates rightful government activity from usurpation becomes mighty thin, when some agency undertakes to regulate a meat pizza.

Nope, we are not indulging a hyperbole. The Department of Agriculture is on record that meat pizza must contain 15 per cent meat. A cheese pizza, by the same set of rulings, must contain 12 per cent cheese. The obscurity of the case for the magistrate's intervention in this instance lies in the matter of definition. Hamburger is subject to relatively reasonable identification. And strawberry jam clearly should be related in a substantial degree to the commodity whose label it bears. But how do you legally describe a pizza?

Those who eat pizza are probably in the best position to know how it ought to taste. If it has enough meat flavor to give the consumer a satisfactory impression of meat content, what greater authority is to determine how much meat it ought to have in it?

Everybody understands that a pizza can't be 100 per cent meat and still be pizza. Most of it in fact is a tough Italian dough with a heavy covering of melted cheese. Suppose the round hot delicacy has 10 per cent meat or 8 per cent cheese, who is to say that it is not a meat or cheese pizza if it tastes all right to the chap who buys it?

No need to belabor the point. It's a little thing that shows how big things get started. The feds work like Satan himself to get the tax money in, and then throw cash away by the bundles in an attempt to regulate the trivia of human existence.

Even where a case for intervention can be made on theoretical grounds, the more practical solution is to let the customer determine how much fat or cornmeal he prefers in his hamburger. And one of the benefits of brand names is that the consumer learns which jar of strawberry jam to rely on. To suggest what the bureaucracy ought to do is as futile as talking to a rock; both are inanimate objects. The important thing is to see foolishness for what it is.

Military Quality

The U.S. Army is making an effort to get along without the draft. The bodies are regularly available, but the modern military requires brains to go with them. So the recruiting is rough. And some observers are predicting that an all-volunteer army is just not practical.

Time, of course, is required before the correct answer will be known. But we will say this by way of prediction: If military methods cannot produce an army, this will be the first time that voluntary methods have failed to produce a needed service or commodity. We think it will work if enough people believe in the need. The problem that the Army faces is to make the job attractive enough so that somebody will wish to do it.

That is not an automatic process. The Army carries with it some old-style methods that aren't particularly alluring. Incentive pay alone will not offset the negatives. There are two things that the Army might do to overcome its recruiting problem. The first is, to make a complete inventory of the practices and habits that make military life repugnant to a serious, career-minded individual. The second is to compile a list that would make military life advantageous to a normally intelligent person.

Among the negatives that come to mind is the loud-mouthed and vulgar quality that so often were regarded as typical of the Old Army types. That was not so intolerable on the drill field, but in the barracks or classroom it amounts to an unproductive oppression. On the positive side, the Army could look to those awards and methods that fulfill a man's sense of personal dignity. In short, the Army will have to resort to business-like sales and personnel methods if it is going to compete against business for mentally superior individuals.

Just as one plus one equals two, it follows that when the military life — when taken as a whole — is made sufficiently attractive to the level of recruit that the top command believes is required, the Army will get the manpower. But any man worth recruiting will not sell his soul for a paycheck. An all-volunteer Army can and will succeed, provided the military life-style appeals to quality men.

Henry Hit By Scandal In Capital

Dr. Henry Kissinger, Mr. Nixon's National Security Advisor, has finally been drawn into the scandals whipping about the White House. An informed Washington source has advised that Kissinger approved the plans to burglarize the office of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist. The purpose of the break-in was to force a dismissal of the charges against Ellsberg, who was a close friend of Kissinger going all the way back to Ellsberg's student days at Harvard where he was a protegee of the German-born Professor. Their relationship continued over the years, and in 1968 Kissinger recruited Ellsberg as part of a special panel of foreign policy experts to formulate an Ind-China policy for Richard Nixon.

Daniel Ellsberg was so unstable that, when he went to work for the Rand Corporation in California, he lived in a commune in a ramshackle Malibu beach house. The entire building was flooded with psychedelic lighting, and the inhabitants behaved in such a weird fashion that the commune was raided by police.

When Daniel Ellsberg's first wife divorced him he married Patricia Marx; together they were involved with other "uninhibited" couples in "broadminded" activities in California, which included nudism, sensitivity training, and yoga. Patricia Marx is the daughter of multimillionaire toy manufacturer Louis Marx who has six factories in the United States and others in Germany, France, Mexico, South Africa, Japan, Australia, and Brazil. Patricia Marx Ellsberg has long been a radical "Liberal" active in Vietn activities. Both she and Ellsberg participated in the Communist-sponsored May Day demonstrations in Washington, D.C., during the first week of May 1971.

But Daniel Ellsberg was no longer at Rand. In 1970 he had been appointed as a senior research associate at Massachusetts Institute of Technology Center for International Studies, a C.I.A. financed operation in which one of the key members is Harold Isaacs, an identified Communist who was a member of the Sarge Far East Spy Ring which played an important part in the fall of China to the Communists.

Nonetheless, Kissinger was out to protect his protegee. And the break-in was designed to provide the excuse for throwing the case against Ellsberg out of court.

The fact is that there was no need to obtain any information from the files of Ellsberg's psychiatrist as the government already had a complete dossier on him which allegedly involved Daniel Ellsberg in making confidential documents available to the Soviet Embassy. The government reportedly had an ironclad case against Ellsberg on charges of conspiracy to violate the espionage laws. After all, Ellsberg admitted that he removed the Secret and Top Secret documents at the Rand Corporation and arranged for them to be copied and distributed, thus jeopardizing a number of covert C.I.A. operations.

PAUL HARVEY NEWS Everybody's Punching The Newsmen Again

By PAUL HARVEY
Months ago everybody was picking on the news media, jumping up and down on us. Everybody from Whitehall to the White House wanted to clip the wings of the networks, legislate, regulate.

That was months ago. Weeks ago, with a score or more newsmen in jail or threatened, with Watergate demonstrating the need for clandestine sources, the President and the public rallied to the rescue.

President Nixon told the White House press corps, "Whenever I'm wrong, give me hell."

Now suddenly, newsmen are the punching bags again. We gave him too much hell. Nobody jikes a smart aleck. Let's be candid.

This Administration was not the first to find newsmen nettlesome, but this one implied threats to newspapers by name and one news network by its initials.

So when those who'd felt threatened pried the lid off Watergate, they made the most of it. They ventilated the stink, a paragraph at a time, and rubbed the President's nose in it day after day without letup.

Reaction was inevitable. Our best friends are telling us off. Israel's foreign minister, Abba Eban, tells a conference of editors and publishers to restrain themselves. He said "The quest for peace is made more difficult under pressure of publicity." He asked us

"voluntarily to avoid interfering with diplomacy." Even our colleagues, from a distance, were agast at our recent overkill.

The London Daily Express said "the outside world stands astonished at the ferocity of the infighting." The Times of London said we were parties to "a political lynching."

President Georges Pompidou of France, when reporters demanded to know if news was interfering with his public activities, replied, "If I've been staying in more, it's because you newsmen give me a pain."

Singapore's Prime Minister Lee Kuan Yew, when he visited the United States, said that during his travels whenever he said anything in praise of President Nixon it was scarcely mentioned by the mass media.

Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.), usually friendly to newsmen, scolded them for searching out and amplifying the slightest dissent among returning POWs and for making light of their professions of patriotism.

In Cleveland, the Fraternal Order of Police accused newspapers of "misleading," insisted that they be licensed by the federal government as radio and TV stations are.

Again, we asked for it. And there is no better insurance that a free press will remain free than the fact that informed people are aware when that freedom is being abused. And they — you — won't let it happen overlong.

VIEWPOINT Private aviation growing, helping

By DON OAKLEY
The general aviation fleet in the United States is growing. Aircraft manufacturers this year will produce approximately 14,000 new aircraft, ranging from light, single-engine planes to executive jets that travel at airline speeds.

These are among a number of facts and figures cited by Edward W. Stimpson, president of the General Aviation Manufacturers Assn. before the recent annual conference of the National Association of Counties in Dallas.

One of the reasons for this growth, said Stimpson, is to be found in an examination of air transportation patterns in the United States. Scheduled airline service occurs at only a little more than 500 airports out of the total of 12,500 airports, public and private, in the country.

As airlines have cut back on frequency to many airports and have placed wide-bodied jets into service, it has become uneconomical for them to serve many communities.

Another reason is the decentralization of American business. Since 1954, over 94 per cent of new plant sites built in the United States have been located outside of major hub areas. Many companies now regard the general aviation aircraft as a business tool similar to a computer, office machine or company car.

As an example of how general aviation airports can have an important impact on regional and community development, Stimpson pointed to Ohio, where a decision was made several years ago to build an airport in each of the state's 88 counties.

Each county was offered $100,000 by the state, and now 84 counties have airports of 3,500 feet or longer. Accompanying industrial development has conservatively resulted in at least 60,000 new jobs in Ohio and an increase of $250 million in personal income.

In stressing the role counties can play in the development of a balanced air transportation system, Stimpson outlined a number of funding programs available. Recent federal legislation, for example, now permits sponsors of general aviation and small- and medium-size airports to receive up to 74 per cent federally matching funds for the cost of developing local airports.

The general aviation airport is increasingly serving as a "community port of entry," Stimpson told the county officials. "It is the link to the air transportation system and literally to the rest of the world."

When history proves that forced labor is least successful and freedom is most successful in eliminating poverty, why are we increasingly forcing more Americans to labor more months each year to earn taxes to be given away to eliminate poverty?

ROLE OF THE REBEL

Probably the most valuable members of society are, and always have been, its rebels. Since time began the rebels have been the enemies of the oppressors, the scourge of tyrants.

Thank the rebels for the Magna Charta and the foundation of all freedom. Thank the rebels for the destruction of the divine right of kings. Thank the rebels for the birth of America and freedom from the oppressors in England.

Constant rebellion against injustice is liberty's only sustenance. The society that can boast the highest percentage of rebels will be the freest society, and therefore the most just society. When rebels will disappear, freedom will wither on the vine.

Tyrants welcome armed resistance, because they are much stronger than any army that can be bought to oppose them. They tremble in the face of moral courage, because they have no defense against it.

Thomas Jefferson said: "Resistance to government is so valuable that I wish it to be kept alive always."

Allow, the authoritarians one inch, and they will take two. Allow them ten, and they will take thirty. Allow them thirty, and they will be no freedom left.

The most oppressive tyranny in the world today is not the Politburo in Moscow, nor Mao Tse-tung, nor the successors of Ho Chi Minh, nor President Thieu. Much worse is the tyranny practiced by the IRS in the United States; worse because it is a hidden tyranny, worse because it operates under a disguise. In Russia, China and Vietnam the ground rules are known, and openly admitted. That is at least the first beginning of fair play. When dealing with the IRS, the ground rules are camouflaged. In the dictatorships, authority has been seized and it resides in the authoritarians, and everyone knows it. With the IRS, authority is seized, but it is disguised, and the truth is twisted; and it operates under the guise of fair play. But it is not fair play. It is deceit, misrepresentation of law, bluff, intimidation, and oppression. And these tribulations are visited indiscriminately upon the very citizen who pay the money that the citizens pay in taxes keeps their tormentors in business.

U.S. Senator Henry Bellman of Oklahoma quoted an official of the IRS. Bellman said: "I was amazed when he told me that, if the taxpayers of this country ever discover that the Internal Revenue Service operates on ninety percent bluff, the entire system will collapse."

Confidence thrives only on honesty, on honor, on the sacredness of obligations, on faithful protection and on unselfish performance. Without them it cannot live. — Franklin D. Roosevelt.

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, Ph.D., M.D.

Harry describes the intense conceit of about 75 percent of America's clergymen. For they refuse to imitate the great platform artists! But young medics gladly pattern after the great surgeons and even Little Leaguers mimic the pitching stars. It irritated Bishop Raines, too!

CASE X-584: Harry S. aged 34, is an insurance salesman. "Dr. Crane," he began, "our preacher is a dud as a public speaker."

"Yet isn't effective speaking supposed to be one of the essential marks of an effective clergyman?"

"Recently, I invited him to join Toastmaster's Club with me, saying I'd pay his dues."

"For I figured he would learn a lot about his platform mistakes when the fellows at Toastmaster's began to criticize his voice, gestures, and the content of his talks."

"But he turned up his nose at the idea of joining a speaking organization."

"For he said he took homiletics (public speaking) at the seminary!"

"He may have been 'exposed' but I'd say it never 'took.'"

"Why will such clergymen refuse to imitate superior orators?"

"Even sandlot baseball kids try to mimic the star pitchers."

CONCEITED CLERGYMEN

A dud in the pulpit is not an egotist, but is certainly a conceited prelate.

An egotist thinks he is good and is.

A conceited person thinks he is good but isn't.

Yet any clergyman could easily see he wasn't rating even a "D" grade in oratory if he'd count the many empty pews staring him in the face.

Plus the parishioners who doze or stare vacantly into space during his stodgy Sunday monologue.

It takes a livewire in the pulpit to electrify a congregation!

"You must fill the pulpit," runs a valuable maxim, "if you wish to fill the church."

About 75 percent of clergymen are now the most conceited group of adult males in America!

Only about 25 percent of them rate a "C" grade or better in their public platform ability. The other 75 percent are duds as orators and poor platform psychologists!

I wouldn't be so harsh on them if oratorical skill had to be inborn:

But anybody with an I.Q. of 100 can easily become an interesting speaker just by imitating Dr. Peale, Bishop Sheen, Rabbi Samuel Silver and other eminent pulpit orators.

And every clergyman can find the superb recipe for holding the attention of an audience merely by studying Christ's forensic formula, which involves:

(1) Using a dramatic text or sermon topic;

(2) Documenting it with a series of relevant local cases, told as narratives; not as dull, stodgy essays;

(3) Using the baseball pitcher's change of pace regarding use of the voice, especially when telling a story to illustrate a point;

(4) Quoting appropriate verse in the peroration to lift up the audience to a higher emotional climax.

Former Bishop Raines invited me to Indiana on 3 different occasions to address each of the 3 conferences of the Methodist Church.

"Tell them how to make an interesting talk from the pulpit," he urged.

For he said too many of his churches were being emptied by stodgy "essay" preachers coming from Garrett Biblical Institute at Evanston, Illinois.

So send for the booklet "Public Platform Strategy," enclosing a long stamped, return envelope, plus 25 cents.

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of The Worry Clinic, Hopkins Bldg., Melrose, Indiana 47521. Enclose a long stamped, addressed envelope and 25 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

Red Cross News

By LIBBY SHOTWELL, Executive Secretary ARC

This week ends the swim classes at the Youth Center Pool. Of course they will begin again in September and classes will be taught through the fall and winter months.

Don't forget that you can get your patches for beginner, advanced beginner, intermediate and swimmer after you have passed the courses at the Red Cross office for 25 cents. These patches are to be sewed on your bathing suit so others can see how far advanced you are in swimming.

James Dalrymple showed the film, "People Afloat," to the junior and senior life saving class at the Youth Center Pool Wednesday morning. He also taught the class how to give artificial respiration to a drowning person.

Watch for the boys and girls names who passed this course. Mrs. Jan Robertson is the WSI teaching the class.

Our sympathy to Mrs. Jess Beard in the loss of her husband this past week. Pauline has been a Hospital Volunteer for Red Cross since Dec. 10th, 1959. She has given many voluntary hours to the Red Cross Hospital Service.

We have received the news that Mrs. Emily L. Trantham has been appointed to the Services to Military Families Director for West Texas Division, Fort Worth. We will be happy to work with Mrs. Trantham in solving our service cases.

Don Dillman, First Aid Instructor in the Multimedia FA, taught several classes for the Texaco Co. employees this past week. We are glad to work with these instructors in their training programs.

The Red Cross Youth has changed its name to Red Cross Youth Service Programs. Mrs. Don Case will be the new teacher sponsor for the RCYSP for Pampa High School for this new year. Miss Kathy Kille is the new president of this organization.

New Manager Named

Bill Slaughter, a Pampa native, has been named manager of the new Pampa branch office of Panhandle Savings and Loan Association, headquartered in Amarillo.

Slaughter has completed a tour of duty with the U.S. Army in Vietnam, serving with a combat military intelligence unit.

Slaughter and four other men in the organization have also been promoted to the position of assistant vice president. The others are Larry Daniels, Wayne Cameron, Bob Mills and Wayne Sims.

Panhandle Savings and Loan has two offices in Amarillo with branch offices in Pampa and Canyon.

70-80 Feared Drowned

CAIRO (UPI) — Police said Saturday between 70 and 80 persons were feared drowned Thursday when a bus swerved to avoid a horse drawn cart and skidded into an irrigation canal 70 miles southwest of Cairo.

They said there were 12 survivors and that navy frogmen had recovered 25 bodies. Police said they were told at first 140 persons were jammed into the bus but later reports said 80 to 90 persons were aboard.

Transport Minister Hussein Abdel-Latif issued a brief statement which put the death toll at 23, but this was before the 25 bodies were recovered. He said the 12 persons hospitalized had now been released.

Dear Friends:

Panhandle Savings has opened two new full-service offices in 1973.

We opened our Canyon Branch for business on February 9, and we opened our Pampa Branch on March 19 in a mobile office facility. Our projections for each of these facilities was $1,000,000 in savings within 12 months. Monday, July 30, at 8:30 Pampa's new savings reached $1,000,000. Approximately three hours later, our Canyon office reached $1,000,000 in new savings.

On behalf of Panhandle Savings, its officers, directors and stockholders, we would like to express our sincere appreciation to the people of Canyon and Pampa for their acceptance and endorsement of our two new facilities. In short--THANKS A MILLION FOR A MILLION.

Your continued good will remains this Association's most valued asset.

Sincerely,

Cindy Poteet, E. Michael Smith Exchange, Afternoon Wedding Vows

Miss Cindy Poteet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Poteet, Panhandle, became the bride of Ernest Michael Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Smith, Lefors, in a ceremony at 3 p.m., August 11, in the First Christian Church of Panhandle.

Rev. Ivan Potts, pastor, read the double-ring rite before a setting of greenery intermingled with roses. The communion table centered the setting holding the white wedding candle which the couple lit with orange tapers. Spiral candelabra flanked the setting, decorated with greenery and roses.

Mrs. Maxine Potts was organist and chose traditional wedding selections for the ceremony.

Pews of honor were marked with roses and center side windows of the sanctuary were decorated with greenery and roses and centered with tapers.

BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father, Nolan Poteet, with the "her mother and I" avowal, the bride chose a gown of white slipper satin as her wedding ensemble. Designed and fashioned by the bride, the empire waistline, long fitted sleeves, and high scalloped collar of the gown were enhanced by border lace complimented with floriettes centered in yellow. The floor-length skirt was bordered with matching lace and ended in a chapel train. A mantilla of tulle, edged in lace, completed the costume. She carried a cascade bouquet of roses intermingled with baby's breath, atop a white bridal Bible, which her mother carried in her wedding. The bride wore new pearl earrings, a penny in her shoe and the traditional blue garter.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Sandy Poteet attended her sister as maid of honor and Miss Mary Wade and Miss Susan Poteet were bridesmaids. Susan and Miss Gay - Lynn

Freezing Vegetables

Have good, fresh-tasting vegetables next winter — by freezing them now. Miss Jimmie Lou Waincoat, county Extension agent, said.

Almost any vegetable can be frozen, from asparagus to zucchini. And it doesn't take much time or a lot of equipment.

All you really need is a big kettle of hot water for blanching, a wire basket, cold water for cooling and packaging containers.

Despite the simplicity, some people have problems with frozen food being of poor quality. To resolve this, there are four simple steps essential to excellent quality.

First use young and tender vegetables. Then freeze them immediately. Leaving them in the garden even a day too long can mean the difference between tough and tender condition next winter.

After washing and preparing the vegetables comes blanching — the most important step. This brief plunge into boiling water is the big secret to successful home freezing.

Its whole purpose is to stop the action of enzymes. Needed for the living plant's growth, these enzymes continue to work — even in the freezer — unless stopped by blanching. Their action results in off-flavor, toughness or mushiness and off-colors.

Fortunately, blanching is easy. All that's needed is a gallon of rapidly boiling water in a kettle, about a pint of vegetables and a wire basket. Put the vegetables in the wire basket and plunge them into the water. Cover the kettle and start timing immediately.

Exact timing is important. Too much or too little will hamper the quality. For recommended times on each vegetable, consult a cookbook or freezing manual.

The third key to successful freezing is quick cooling. A pan of ice water or even cold running water will do the job. Check a cookbook or freezing manual for exact times. But generally it takes about as long or longer to cool as it does to blanch.

Next, drain the vegetables and pack in airtight containers. Milk, ice cream or cottage cheese cartons can be used only if the vegetables are first sealed in plastic freezer bags.

Then, quickly set the containers in the freezer, making sure it is set at zero degrees F. or lower to maintain quality.

Follow these four main steps and use recommended blanching and cooling times for better quality vegetables.

Natural Brows
To avoid an artificial, penciled look for eyebrows, follow the natural contours of your brows, brush or pencil in with gentle strokes and use two shades, such as medium and dark brown, for a more natural effect.

Davis, White Deer, niece of the bride, lighted the tapers and Miss Lisa Fuston was flower girl. The maid of honor and candlelighter wore dotted Swiss floor length gowns of orange-gold while bridesmaids and flower girl ensembles were fashioned of yellow dotted Swiss. Bouquets of yellow and orange roses were carried by the attendants who all wore white ribbon hair ornaments. The attendants' gowns were all made by the bride.

James "Jim" Thompson, Washburn, attended the bridegroom as best man. Groomsmen were Dennis Potter, Pampa, and Michael Coskey of Tulia. Ringbearer was Johnathan Alley, Panhandle.

Mrs. Poteet chose a dress of ecru and blue geometric design knit with bone accessories for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Smith wore an ensemble of pink knit with charcoal-brown accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations.

RECEPTION

Miss Susan Poteet and Miss Gay - Lynn Davis registered reception guests at Fellowship Hall immediately following the ceremony. Miss Raylene Biggs, Mrs. Benny Fuston and Miss Virginia Choate presided at the serving table which was covered with a white lace inset cloth used by the bride's parents for their wedding reception. The three-tiered cake was served from a cake plate used at the bride's great-grandparents', the late Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gripp, 50th wedding anniversary, and again at her parents' wedding.

The white cake was topped with a dome and bell. Floral replicas were designed with yellow and orange accents. The punch was orange, following the bride's chosen colors of orange, gold and yellow.

PRE-NUPTIAL EVENTS

The bride was honored by friends in Panhandle with a shower June 30. Friends of the bridegroom were hostesses for a shower Aug. 4, in the Civic Center in Lefors. A lingerie shower for the bride was conducted July 23 in Panhandle, and Clarendon College classmates honored the bride with a shower April 30.

Parents of the bridegroom hosted a rehearsal dinner in Fellowship Hall Aug. 10.

Brenda Evans-Richard Simpson Vows Solemnized In Midland

The Covenant Presbyterian Church of Midland, was the setting Saturday, Aug. 11 at 4 p.m. for the exchange of nuptial vows by Miss Brenda Lynn Evans and Richard Ray Simpson of Odessa.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Evans of Midland are parents of the bride, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Emmett Simpson of Winters, Tex.

THE CEREMONY
The ceremony was performed by the Rev. John K. Alexander, pastor, and Dr. Craig Meyers, Faith Presbyterian Church, Kokomo, Ind., uncle of the bride.

The sanctuary was centered with a heart-shaped arch and Prie Dieu. The archway was outlined with greenery and white carnations and a pair of doves, silver wedding rings, and two white wedding bells with silver trim, centered the arch. A pair of seven-branched candelabra, holding white tapers, greenery, white carnations and white satin bows with streamers, flanked the arch. The Prie Dieu centered with twin hearts, was decorated with greenery and white carnations. The pews were decorated with white satin bows matching the candelabra.

Cliff Sherrod, pianist, accompanied Mrs. John K. Alexander as she sang "The Lord's Prayer."

THE BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an angelskin peau de soie formal gown designed with an empire waistline. A-line silhouette high skirt styled with Victorian long sleeves and a chapel train. Alencon lace appliques enhanced the bodice, cuffs, skirt and train of the gown. Her finger tip veil of Mantillo nylon illusion fell from a camelot base of Chantilly lace. The bride carried a large bouquet of white cattleya orchids atop a white Bible with pearls, bridal lace and peccot streamers.

For something old and borrowed, the bride carried a handkerchief in her Bible, belonging to her great-grandmother, Mrs. Burl Glass of McLean. She wore pennies of the couples' birthdates in her shoes, and the traditional blue garter.

The mothers of the bride and bridegroom were presented red roses from the bride.

ATTENDANTS

Mrs. James Jones of Midland, sister of the bridegroom, was matron of honor, and bridesmaids were Miss Jody Powell and Miss Pattie Beverly, both of Midland. They wore identical formal length dotted Swiss gowns styled with a low neckline, empire waistline, and short puffed sleeves. The gowns featured a ruffled hemline, trimmed in yellow braid. Mrs. Jones carried a semi-cascade of bright and yellow camellias and her headpiece was a large camellia surrounded by two smaller ones, and ribbon streamers. The bridesmaids carried nosegays of bright yellow camellias with satin and peccot streamers, and each wore a matching headpiece of a single camellia with matching streamers.

Flower girl was Holly Howell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Howell, of Midland. She was attired identically to the other attendants, and carried a basket of yellow camellia petals, decorated with yellow bows.

Bobby Evans, brother of the

bride. Midland, was ringbearer. Jodie Evans, cousin of the bride, Jal, N.M., lighted the candles.

James Jones, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, Midland, served as best man, and groomsmen were Larry Evans, brother of the bride, Midland, and Andy Simpson, brother of the bridegroom, Kermit, Tex. Serving as ushers were Kenneth W. Evans, brother of the bride, Midland, and Randy McWhirter, nephew of the bridegroom, Big Spring, Tex.

RECEPTION

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in Fellowship Hall of the church. Cliff Sherrod provided musical selections. The bride's table was covered with a white satin cloth and net overlay, with corners accented by bows and bells. A camellia arrangement centered the table, where crystal appointments were used. The three-tiered white wedding cake, was decorated with yellow flowers and topped with a gold cross with wedding rings entwined. This was a gift of Dr. and Mrs. Craig Meyers. Assisted with houseparty duties were Mes. John Beverly, James Ramsey, and Don Mattlin. Miss Peggy Miles registered wedding guests.

For the wedding trip to Ruidoso, N.M., the bride wore a yellow pantsuit with white accessories and lifted the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will be at home Aug. 17, in Odessa.

AFFILIATIONS

The bride is a 1973 graduate of

Lee High School, Midland, and attended Midland College. Prior to her marriage, she was employed by Powell Printing Co. The bridegroom is a 1971 graduate of Winters High School, Winters, Tex., and attended Odessa College. He is presently employed by Foodway Stores in Odessa.

The bride was honored with several wedding showers recently.

Attending the wedding from out-of-town were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Meyers, grandparents of the bride, Pampa; Walter P. Evans, grandfather of the bride, McLean; and Mrs. Burl Glass, great-grandmother of the bride, McLean.

PEO CHAPTER

Friday evening, Aug. 3, Dr. and Mrs. T.J. Wright hosted a picnic dinner for members of Chapter CS and their BILS, in the backyard and patio of their home. Twenty-eight guests were present to enjoy the fellowship and evening.

Combining meat with beans, pasta or rice saves on the food bill — but provides adequate high-quality protein for good health, says Karen Kreipke, foods and nutrition specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A & M University.

Pampa College of Hair Dressing

This week I am going to give you a few hints on coloring. If you make a major change in the color of your hair, remember that the color of your make-up will probably have to change too. Also remember to consider your entire wardrobe and do not make such drastic changes that it will be impossible for you to wear your favorite outfits. Don't brush your hair vigorously just before having it colored, as this might irritate the scalp. Always have your permanent before coloring, as the wave might alter the color.

Study Lamps

COLLEGE STATION — Eyestrain often strikes students soon after they return to school.

"Much of this can be prevented by using a good study lamp," according to Patricia A. Bradshaw, housing and home furnishings specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"Proper illumination is essential for effortless reading and writing. It eliminates eyestrain and fatigue — which make studying unpleasant.

"Poor lighting, on the other hand, can cause permanent eye damage."

When buying a study lamp, the specialist warned against purchasing one simply labeled "study lamp."

Many gooseneck and high-intensity lamps sold as reading lamps actually contribute to eyestrain — by creating glare, she continued. "They provide poor light diffusion and no upward light.

"Take time to examine and compare several lamps — and choose one that provides soft illumination of proper intensity," Miss Bradshaw advised.

"A diffusing element under the lampshade softens light and reduces glare from shiny surfaces," the specialist said.

In addition, look for lamps which carry a black and yellow tag marked "BLS."

"This tag indicates the lamp has been performance tested by the Better Light — Better Sight Bureau of the Illumination Engineering Society of America.

Debra Wolfinbarger-Lewis Davis Vows Solmenized In Panhandle

Exchanging nuptial vows Friday, Aug. 10, at 7 p.m. in the First United Methodist Church of Panhandle were Miss Debra Gail Wolfinbarger and Lewis Keith Davis, Jr.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Wolfinbarger of Panhandle, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Keith Davis of Pampa.

THE CEREMONY

The Rev. Keith Wiseman, pastor, officiated for the double-ring ceremony. Organist, Mrs. John Gill, Pampa, accompanied Frank Davis, brother of the bridegroom as he sang, "O Perfect Love," "Because," and "The Wedding Song."

The church was decorated with a floral arrangement of pink roses and white spider mums placed at the center of the altar, flanked by spiral candelabra decorated with greenery. Family pews were marked with bouquets of pink roses and daisies.

THE BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of dotted Swiss over bridal satin, styled with a low rounded neckline, long full sleeves ending in deep pointed cuffs which flared over hands. The long gathered skirt fell from a midriff band, above the fitted waistline. The neckline and hemline of the gown were enhanced by a self ruffle. The dress was designed by Mrs. Carl Witt of Panhandle.

Her four-tiered shoulder length veil of bridal illusion, fell from a bandeau of roses and she carried a bouquet of pink roses, daisies, baby's breath, and pink ribbon streamers.

For something new, the bride wore a string of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom.

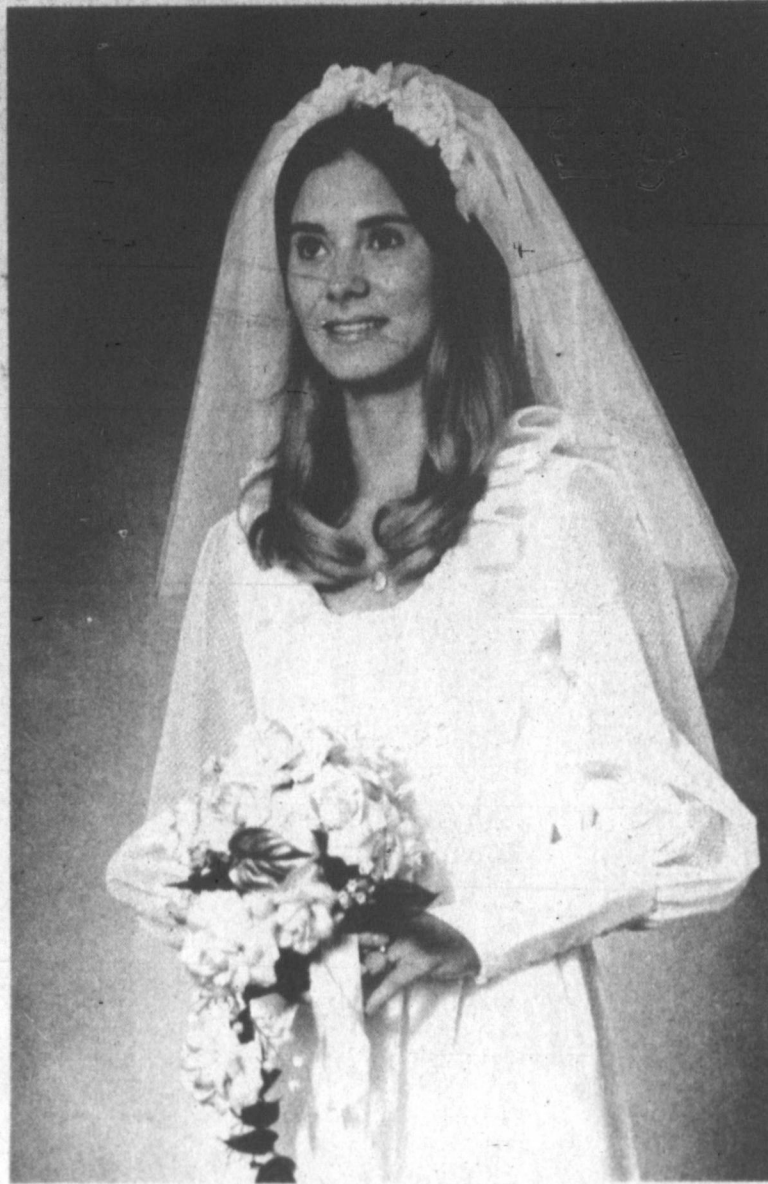

ATTENDANTS

Miss Carol Lynn Williams of Panhandle, was maid of honor, and Miss Michelle LeMaire, Albuquerque, N.M., was bridesmaid. They wore floor-length gowns of pink dotted Swiss over light pink, designed with low square necklines and full gathered skirts. Each carried a white basket of pink roses, daisies and baby's breath, tied with pink ribbons. Miss LeMaire's gown was designed by the bride.

Rhonda Raincrow, a second-cousin of the bride, Quapaw, Okla., was flowergirl. Her dress was pink dotted Swiss over light pink lining styled with a high waistline featuring a pink satin ribbon, also designed by the bride. She carried a small white basket of pink roses and daisies.

Vandy Vanderburg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Vanderberg, Jr., Pampa, was ringbearer.

C.E. Williams of Panhandle served as best man, and groomsman was Charles Bowers of Pampa. Ushers were Tony Beets, cousin of the bride, Quapaw, Okla.; Joe Davis, brother-in-law of the bridegroom; Lubbock; and Ken

MRS. LEWIS KEITH DAVIS, JR.
...nee Miss Debra Gail Wolfinbarger

Burger, and Ronnie Fields, both of Groom.

MOTHERS

The bride's mother wore a floor-length gown of beige lace and the bridegroom's mother wore a floor-length gown of light avocado. Both wore pink rose corsages.

RECEPTION

A pink roses, daisies and baby's breath arrangement centered the serving table for the reception, which was held in Fellowship Hall of the church.

The four-tiered wedding cake was decorated with pink roses and small baskets of lilies. Mrs. Barry Broadway of Panhandle assisted at the punch bowl and Mrs. Beverly Raincrow, cousin of the bride, Quapaw, Okla., and Mrs. Ken Burger, cousin of the bridegroom, Groom, assisted with the serving. Mrs. Joe Davis, sister of the bridegroom, Lubbock, registered wedding guests from a table covered with a lace cloth holding a pink rosebud vase.

For the wedding trip to Dallas, the bride wore a light mint-green dress and lifted the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The couple plans to reside five miles north of Pampa on the Perryton Highway, where the bridegroom is engaged in farming.

PRE-NUPITAL EVENTS

The bride was honored recently with a shower in the home of Mrs. Paul Bowers, Pampa. Hostesses were Mmes. E.N. Babcock, Paul Bowers, Richard Bowers, Dean Burger, Jim Cunningham, Raymond Maddox, James O. McCracken, Fred S. Vanderburg, Sr., Fred S. Vanderburg, Jr., Eugene Wienheimer and Frank Babcock, all of Pampa.

Another shower was held in the Heritage Room of the First National Bank recently in Panhandle hosted by Mmes. E.S. Hale, Clinton Williams, J.C. McCollough, Don Vance, Carl Witt, Howard Neely, Alvin Ware, Dale Kingham, Johnnie Farrell, Charles Brown and A.D. May, all of Panhandle.

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Keith Davis, parents of the bridegroom, at the Coronado Inn in Pampa.

Dallas Troupe To Appear In Local Dinner-Theatre

SUSAN COLEMAN
...Likes Traveling

KARL HEIST
...Second Season

The Pampa Fine Arts Association is sponsoring a dinner-theatre production, the Alpha-Omega Players, a nationally acclaimed troupe from Dallas, in one performance of "Thurber Carnival," by James Thurber.

The show is based on a series of sketches based on the noted humorist wild and wacky stories and cartoons.

Two performers scheduled to appear Tuesday, Aug. 28, are Susan Coleman, a native Texan from Ballinger, who majored in drama while attending Angelo State University, where she earned a BA degree in 1972. She made frequent appearances on television for promotion of college production. Among her starring roles have been Katrin in "Mother Courage," Alexandra in "The Little Foxes," and Empress Julia in "Romulus."

Susan's hobbies are sewing and dancing. This is her second tour with the Alpha-Omega Players. She says, "I love to travel."

Karl Heist, a graduate of McMurry College in Abilene, makes his second appearance with the Alpha-Omega Players this season. While majoring in speech and drama at McMurry, Karl appeared in "Arms and the Man" as Petkoff, as Private Driscoll in an adaptation of Irwin Shaw's "Bury the Dead," and as Daddy in "The American Dream."

Also, he directed William's "This Property Is Condemned." Karl hails from El Paso, where he first began acting in his home church and in local community theaters.

The dinner will be served at 7:30 p.m. in the M.K. Brown Auditorium, Heritage Room, and the performance will follow. For tickets and reservations, contact Mrs. Calvin Lacy, Box 818 or 2122 Mary Ellen.

Auxiliary Meets In Hospitality Room

The Ladies Auxiliary to Pampa Post No. 1657 met Tuesday, Aug. 7, at 7:30 p.m. at Citizen's Bank Hospitality Room for a regular business meeting.

After the chaplain's prayer was offered and pledge of the flag, Mrs. Vernon Stuckley, secretary, read official communications from the department and district.

Eva Teer, state president in general orders, asked participation in VA hospital programs, financially and in service.

Mrs. Willard Henson, district

nine president, sent a program of events of a district meeting at Amarillo, Aug. 11-12 with VFW Post No. 1475. She also stated membership dues for 1974 are now payable and new or reinstated members can be accepted.

Pampa Auxiliary voted to pay registration fee for all delegates attending district meetings this year.

A contribution was made to the Memorial Chapel Fund located in the VFW building at Austin, Tex.

Auxiliary members were asked to help with the fund raising project of selling table napkins.

Mrs. Jones Seitz, treasurer, gave the financial report. Membership dues for 1974 should be mailed to her.

The meeting closed by ritual with the chaplain's prayer.

Next meeting will be Aug. 21, a social in VFW Hall.

Double-Ring Service Unites April Schulz-D. D. Lofton

Mr. and Mrs. Robbie Selvidge, Hedley, Tex., former Skellytown residents, are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Miss Rhonda Lewis, to Billy Michael Owens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Owens, Clarendon. The bride-elect is a junior in the Hedley High School and plans to continue her education in the fall. The prospective bridegroom is a graduate of Clarendon High School and is presently employed at the Donley County Feed Lot. The wedding is set for Sept. 28 in the Community Church of Skellytown.

The Pampa Church of Christ was the setting Friday, Aug. 3, at 7:30 p.m. wedding of Miss April Gayle Schulz and D.D. Lofton.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Schulz, 736 Roberta, and Mr. and Mrs. O.N. Lofton, 1817 N. Dwight, are parents of the bridegroom.

THE CEREMONY
 J.D. Barnard, minister, officiated for the double-ring ceremony. The A cappella Martin Quartet sang, "This Day," and traditional wedding march and recessional. Miss Patricia Greenwood sang, "The Wedding Song."

Church decorations were two, seven-branched candelabra holding white tapers entwined with greenery and lemon leaf, and two basket arrangements of white gladioli and blue carnations.

THE BRIDE
 Given in marriage by her father with the "her mother and I" avowal, the bride was attired in a formal floor length wedding gown of bridal satin designed with a high neckline, empire waistline, long Camelot sleeves, and A-line silhouette. Re-embroidered Venice lace highlighted the neckline, bodice, sleeves and skirt of the gown. Wide, white velvet ribbon, with a Doir bow, complemented the waistline of the gown, and her detachable wateau train of satin, lace, and ribbon, enhanced the gown design.

Her veil of imported illusion fell from a coil of lace and tiny seed pearls and she carried a cascade bouquet of blue and white carnations.

MRS. D.D. LOFTON
 nee Miss April Gayle Schulz

ATTENDANTS
 Mrs. Beverly Martin served as matron of honor, and maid of honor was Miss Linda Schulz. Bridesmaids were Miss Patricia Greenwood and Miss Christie Whaley. They wore identical floor length gowns of blue double knit with a band of blue and white daisies complementing the empire waistlines. They carried butterfly nosegays of blue and white carnations.

Lighting the candles were Miss Amber Dawn Schulz, sister of the bride, and Gary Barnard, cousin of the bride.

Danny Winborne, Pampa, was best man, and groomsmen were Danny Reed, Canadian, Sandy Covey, Wellington, and Larry Gastan, Canyon. Davey J. Stewart of Canyon, and Danny M. Martin, Pampa, were ushers.

RECEPTION
 For the reception in Citizens Bank Hospitality Room, the serving table was covered with a blue nylon net cloth over white, and centered with a candelabrum holding blue tapers, and a floral arrangement of blue and white carnations, white cushion mums and baby's breath. The four-tiered wedding cake was decorated with blue roses and topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Mrs. Lodema Reed assisted at the punch bowl and serving cake were Mrs. Starla Tracy, and Mrs. Sharon Covey. Mrs. Susan Winborne registered wedding guests.

For the wedding trip to Dallas, the bride wore a navy, with red pinstripe skirt and vest, with a long sleeve red blouse and red accessories. She lifted the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

The couple will reside at 413 Buckler, Pampa.

AFFILIATIONS
 The bride is a 1973 graduate of Pampa High School and the bridegroom graduated from West Texas State University in Canyon, with a BS degree in all-level art education. He is presently a ninth grade art teacher at Pampa Junior High School.

PRE-NUPTIAL EVENTS
 The bride was honored with a wedding shower July 24, held at Citizens Bank Hospitality Room, hosted by Mmes. Peggy Martin, Beverly Martin, Naomi Martin, Rose Matlock, Carolyn Mann, Peggy Randall, Day Smith and Jackie Barrett.

OUT-OF-TOWN GUESTS
 Out-of-town guests attending the wedding were: Merrs, and Mmes. Sandy Covey, Wellington; Danny Reed, Canadian; Millard Windom, Clarendon; Russell Collins, Amarillo; Tom W. Greenwood, Cordell, Okla.; Jody Mills, Borger; and Joe D. Martin, Snyder.

Other guests were David J. Stewart, Canyon; Sue Osburn, Clarendon; Larry Gaston, Canyon; Mrs. Cora Castleberry, Clarendon; Mrs. Kenneth Hambricht and Beth Hambricht, both of McLean; Oran Durham, McLean; Evelyn Lewis, Amarillo; Patricia Greenwood, Cordell, Okla.; Tommy R. Vehon, Fritch; and Bob Pennington of Lafayette, La.

Mrs. Mack Named AARP President

Members of the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) residing in the Pampa area met Monday, Aug. 6, at 1:30 p.m. in the Flame Room, Pioneer Natural Gas building to elect officers, name the chapter, and sign the charter.

Officers elected were Georgia Mack, president; Mrs. Mary Weaver, vice-president; Mrs. Jewel Shackleford, secretary; Ross Neugin, treasurer; Legislative chairman, Mrs. Ruby Whorter; Hospitality, Mrs. Jessie Rance and Mrs. May Hatcher; and Insurance Chairman, William A. Bennick.

The name of the group will be "The Pampa Area Association, and will be referred to as the Pampa Area Chapter.

Thirty members signed the charter, which will be open for members wishing to sign, at the September meeting.

All persons 55 years of age or older, retired or not, are eligible for membership in the local chapter by joining AARP and becoming charter members of the Pampa Area Chapter. All interested persons are urged to attend the closing charter meeting Tuesday, Sept. 4.

Annual membership fees of $2 provides subscription to the 51-monthly "Modern Maturity" and the monthly AARP bulletin, as well as the opportunity to use income stretching services operated for the association members. A fee of $1 per person for local membership is required.

Included among these services are recommended health, automobile, and life insurance programs, a world-wide travel service, and pharmacies, offering medicine at reasonable prices on a walk-in and mail-order basis, a temporary employment service and a continuing education program.

The new Pampa Area Chapter will promote programs and services designed to involve old citizens in the affairs of the community, state and nations.

The AARP currently has about five million members in 1500 chapters in the United States. The association is a volunteer organization on a national level.

There were 30 members present for the August signing of the charter. The program was a "Howdy Party" with everyone telling their names, how long they have resided in Pampa, and their hobbies and interest in forming the Pampa Area Chapter.

Weekly Market Report

COLLEGE STATION—"The overall food situation is currently in a state of uncertainty," Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt said this week. Under Phase IV controls, a more normal marketing pattern of fresh fruits and vegetables is expected," according to the consumer marketing information specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "However, 'demand exceeds supply' is showing up on many commodity market reports. This will undoubtedly result in continued higher prices.

"It's most difficult to forecast fruit and vegetable supply-price situations at this time, but consumers still can buy wisely if they watch for locally grown and nearby produce, make their own selections and take the best possible care of the items when they get home with them," she said. Seasonal items include cantaloupes, peaches, nectarines, seedless white grapes, cherries, plums and pineapples. Also cucumbers, corn on the cob, blackeye and purple bull peas, carrots and okra.

Preserve and Prevent

Mix as for butter cake, creaming butter and sugar, then adding dry ingredients and mix alternately. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites, nuts and coconut. Pour into three 9" layer pans that have been floured and greased. Bake at 350 degrees for 25 minutes or until cake tests done. Cool. Frost with recipe below.

Cooked dry beans freeze well. For best quality, cook beans until barely tender—freezing, like cooking, softens them, says Mrs. Gwendolyn Clyatt, consumer marketing information specialist, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

55-year-old widow falls in love 'for first time'

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: Please don't think me foolish, but I am a 55-year-old woman [widowed nine years] and I have fallen in love for the first time in my life. [My mother picked out my first husband, and my one regret was that SHE never had to live with him.]

This man I love [I'll call him Bob] was separated from his wife when we met. He says he loves me and I believe him, but he keeps going back to his wife. He is 58, but his physical condition is like a 30-year-old.

Right now Bob says he is definitely going to file for a divorce. I asked him when, and he said, "Not until Nov. 19, because our 25th wedding anniversary is Nov. 18th, and I don't want to slap her in the face before then."

What is wrong? I bend over backwards to please this man, but I must be doing something wrong because after loving him for two years, I still don't have him.

A CONN. MESS

DEAR MESS: If you ever land Bob you will have a very considerate husband. Be patient until after his 25th wedding anniversary, and if he doesn't make the break then, come Thanksgiving, cook his goose.

DEAR ABBY: First of all, let me tell you that I have five children. My husband and I are getting a divorce and he can't help me, so I am going to have to raise these children alone. After my husband left, I found out I was pregnant. I am too far along now for an abortion.

I don't want this baby. Can I give it up for adoption? I have given this a lot of thought and have decided if I were to keep it, it wouldn't be fair to the five children I have, nor to the one that's on the way.

I believe every child should have two parents who really want it. Please don't give me a lecture. My mind is made up. Just tell me where to go to give it away.

NEEDS HELP NOW

DEAR NEEDS: No lectures from me. I agree, every child should have two parents who really want it. [Sometimes, one is enough.] Get in touch with your County Welfare Information Center. Also, ask your doctor for guidance. There are plenty of couples who desperately want a child.

DEAR ABBY: I am a single girl living in New York City. I have my own car and I am dating a guy who doesn't have a car. It takes about an hour and fifteen minutes from his house to mine using public transportation, but it's only 15 minutes by car.

I find myself in the position of picking him up and taking him home whenever we go out.

Compounding the problem is the fact that I must use the toll bridge to get to and from his house, which adds up considerably for me.

I find this a very difficult adjustment as I have been accustomed to having my dates pick me up and take me home. Should I continue this pickup and delivery service? He's not a native New Yorker, and is afraid to take the subway late at night.

DOOR TO DOOR SERVICE

DEAR DOOR: Thirty minutes in an automobile beats two and a half in a subway, no matter who does the driving. If he hasn't offered to pay for the toll, suggest it. If he can't or won't pay for it, you will have to decide whether dating him is worth the portal to portal service you're providing.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69706, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Today's hand appeared in our column of June 25. We pointed out a way to make the hand but there is a better line of play and Ray Alexander of Winfield, Ala., has been the first to suggest it.

South ruffs the third club and draws trumps with three leads. Then he stops to get as good a count as he can.

West has shown up with seven clubs and three spades and three unknown red cards.

If they are all hearts no line of play will bring the contract home. If all three are diamonds and East's singleton is either the king or the queen then South can play the ace; drop that singleton and make his contract. If one is a heart and two are diamonds any line of play will work.

Now suppose that two are hearts and one a diamond, as is most likely. If the singleton diamond is the 10 South can make the hand by leading the jack from dummy. He can also make it if the singleton is the king or queen and East makes the mistake of covering the jack.

Mr. Alexander's play, which is the best, is to simply lead a low diamond after drawing trumps and to win the return in his own hand and run off the rest of the trumps.

If East started with exactly three diamonds he also held six hearts, is squeezed by the last trump lead and is forced to let South make the last trick with a low diamond or North to make it with the four or five of hearts.

Vows Pledged In Private Ceremony

MRS. MARK NELSON BUZZARD
 ...nee Miss Vanessa Gail Arthur

Golden Anniversary

MR. AND MRS. ROY WILLSON
 ...To Be Honored

A reception from 2 until 5 p.m., Sunday, Aug. 19, will be held in the Flame Room, Pioneer Natural Gas Building, and will honor Mr. and Mrs. Roy Willson, 1127 S. Clark, on the occasion of their 50th Wedding Anniversary. Hosting the event will be children of the couple and their families, who are Ruth Camp, James Floyd, and Alfred Willson, Pampa; Bettie Craig, Kingsmill; Nadine Lockheart, Amarillo; and Viola Duggan, Sanford. The couple also has fifteen grandchildren and three great-grandchildren. They were married in 1923 in Eldorado, Okla. Friends of the couple are invited to attend.

The wedding ceremony of Vanessa Gail Arthur and Mark Nelson Buzzard, was solemnized in private ceremony, Saturday, Aug. 4, at 4 p.m. in Kelley Chapel of the First Presbyterian Church, Pampa.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. William L. Arthur, 604 E. 17, and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Buzzard, 2429 Christine, are parents of the bridegroom.

The Rev. Martin Hager, pastor, officiated for the single-ring ceremony before an altar arrangement of spring flowers flanked by two candelabra entwined with greenery. Jerry Whitten provided wedding selections at the organ.

The bride wore a full length white satin gown featuring a high neckline, long full sleeves ending in wide cuffs at the wrists, and a soft full skirt. The bodice of the gown was enhanced with a center row of lace. She wore ribbons in her hair and carried a spring nosegay.

Jill Donaldson was maid of honor and Robert Davis was best man.

Miss Elsa Plants, 2217 Charles, hosted the reception, which was attended by family members and close friends.

The two-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom. Dianne Arthur, sister of the bride, assisted at the punch service and Lynn Gabelmann served cake.

Following a wedding trip to Southern California, the couple will be at home in Lubbock at 2902 3rd Place, Apt. C-4.

The bride is a 1971 graduate of Pampa High School. She attended the University of Tulsa and will continue her studies at Texas Tech. The bridegroom is a 1971 graduate of PHS, and graduated from the University of Oklahoma with a BS degree this year. He will enter Texas Tech Law School in the fall.

The bride was honored with a miscellaneous shower, July 24 hosted by Mrs. S. Gene Hall.

Washable Wools For Fall Wear

Check labels on wool and wool-blend fabrics—or garments—for fall.

Many feature washable wool. Miss Jimmie Lou Waincott, county Extension agent, noted. Wool has always been washable, but homemakers had to exercise extreme caution. Even then, they used mild soap, cool water and little or no agitation.

In contrast, some of today's washable wools can be tossed into the washing machine and tumbled in a dryer.

Improving laundering procedures resulted from a new treatment process. Fibers are given a chlorinated treatment, followed by application of resin—which coats fiber scales to prevent matting together when agitated in a washing cycle.

Blends vary in wool content and cleaning method. Some contain only a small amount of wool—usually less than 25 per cent. However, even this small percentage adds a wool-like surface texture to fabric.

Since blends may be either washable or dry-cleanable, check labels carefully. Just because wool is blended with an easy-care fiber doesn't make the fabric machine washable.

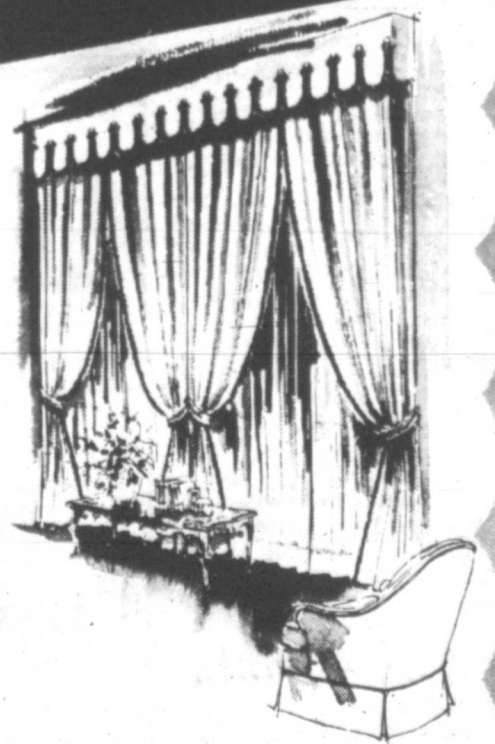

Washing or cleaning method depends on three factors—amount of wool used in the blend, fiber with which it's blended, and whether finishing is given the wool fiber.

Records

Classical

By WILBUR G. LANDREY
NEW YORK (UPI) — At the center of the view that the old world of music is complete if not finished, and the new has yet to emerge stands Pierre Boulez, composer, thinker, polemicist and musical director of the New York Philharmonic.

No one in the musical generation that followed World War II tried harder, and went down more alleys, than Boulez attempting to create, or synthesize, a new musical world.

Think of the contrast between the rigid formula of serialism and the opposite pole of aleatory music, based on chance.

Boulez's own international reputation as a composer was confirmed with "Le Marteau Sans Maitre", first performed in 1955. So it is fascinating to have a recording, just issued by Columbia, of Boulez, the conductor, leading the strings of the New Philharmonia Orchestra in the first major work of Boulez, the composer (M32160).

The middle '50s are times long ago for Boulez, now 48, and a famous conductor even of the classical repertory that does not renew itself.

So much have our own layman ears been educated, or changed, that "Le Marteau" is no longer a jumble of sound and confusion, supported by surrealist theory, but something that can be comprehended and enjoyed as music. What is avant garde and called music now has gone far beyond "Le Marteau" and Boulez.

Future generations will have their own, perhaps truer, appreciation of both. Where Boulez stands is somewhere between the masters of the early 20th Century and today's avant garde.

Other Boulez compositions recently on record are the piano sonatas No. 1 and No. 3 played by Charles Rosen (Columbia M32161).

No. 1 was composed when Boulez was 20. No. 3 from the late '50s is aleatory in that the performer has a choice of where to begin.

In Trope, one of the two completed movements, the performer may start with any of the four sections.

The other movement, Constellation, has a forward version and a backward version. The order of the fragments that compose it, is not fixed, but in either case, once a choice is made, certain other fragments must follow. The choice is thereby limited.

So much for the theory of the music, which requires concentration to understand and to hear. Rosen, the intellectual as well as the pianist, helps bring it to life in music.

Other music by Boulez, the conductor:

"Boulez Conducts Berg" (M32162) — On one side seven early songs by Anton Berg sung by Heather Harper with the BBC Symphony Orchestra, on the other excerpts from Boulez's prize recording of "Wozzeck" with Walter Berry, Isabel Stratus and the Paris Opera orchestra and chorus. Excellent.

"Boulez Conducts Ravel", Vol. 2 (M32159) — Boulez conducting the New York Philharmonic in "Le Tombeau de Couperin", "Valse Nobles et Sentimentales" and "Une Barque Sur l'Ocean". Excellent.

Homes

Keep your cool tips for the homeowner

By DOROTHEA M. BROOKS

NEW YORK (UPI) — Keeping cool has always been a preoccupation of summer. Now, it's a question of keeping cool with the least expenditure of energy and money.

With energy conservation high on everyone's list, and with soaring prices for just about everything focusing attention on the budget, how-to tips for the homeowner abound.

From G. O. Mabry, vice president of Owens-Corning Fiberglas Corp., comes word that "owners of properly insulated homes spend up to 20 per cent less for air-conditioning than their neighbors whose homes have little or no insulation."

"Proper insulation also will reduce the cost of heating a typical 1480 square foot house by as much as 36 per cent," Mabry says. "Cooling or heating an insulated home is like operating a refrigerator that has no door. Heated or cooled air moves freely — in and out — through roof and walls, uselessly consuming part of the homeowner's paycheck and our dwindling national energy resources."

Approximately 20 million American homeowners, Mabry says, are paying excessive heating and cooling bills because of inadequate insulation. Most live in homes built before 1971 when minimum insulation standards were raised for new homes built for sale with Federal Housing Administration-insured mortgages.

The FHA now requires at least six-inch thick R-19 insulation in ceilings and three-inch thick R-11 in the walls of new homes throughout most of the country. (The R-numbers describe thermal resistance values. The higher the number, the greater the insulating value.)

Mabry urges the family shopping for a new home to be sure these minimum standards are met. "Don't rely on advertising claims, such as 'Fully Insulated,'" he warns.

He says owners of older homes can perform their own tests for insulation and make improvements.

The easiest place to check insulation, he says, is between the rafters in the attic. If insulation measures less than six-inches, more should be added.

Effectiveness of wall insulation in an air-conditioned home can be checked by placing a thermometer tightly against an exterior wall and another thermometer in the center of the same room. "If, after four hours, the thermometer reading at the wall is more than five degrees higher than in the middle of the room, more insulation is needed," he says.

Other critical areas for insulation are: dormer, ceilings and walls, walls of attics and basements finished as living spaces, and second-story floor areas that extend beyond the first floor.

GROWING-UP EXERCISES NO. 5

The floor arm slide

(Marjorie Craig is the author of Miss Craig's 21-Day Shape-up Program for Men and Women and Miss Craig's Face-Saving Exercises — both best-sellers. She has directed the exercise program of Elizabeth Arden Salons for 21 years and has worked on physical rehabilitation with men, women and children at the Neurological Institute of Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center, N.Y.)

By MARJORIE CRAIG

This exercise prevents "forward head and shoulders." Do exercise five times.

Lie on the back on the floor, knees bent, feet on floor close to hips. Feet should be close together, knees slightly apart. Place fingers on shoulders. Pull elbows in close to the body. Push wrists and elbows down toward the floor. Rock pelvis backward with small of back on the floor. Pull tummy in. Push top of head away from the shoulders, but don't press chin against the neck. Keep head on the floor.

Turn palms so they face the ceiling. Keep wrists and elbows on the floor.

Slowly slide arms up over the head as far as possible. Only slide as far as the arms will go, keeping the elbows and wrists on the floor.

Slowly slide the arms back down to starting position. Keep elbows and wrists on the floor. Bring elbows in close to the body and bring fingertips to shoulders. Push waist back, pull tummy in. Push wrists and shoulders back toward the floor.

Annual Homecoming Planned

Residents and former residents of the communities of Morgantown, Griffithstown and Kennytown are planning their third annual homecoming.

Also included will be former residents of Hoovertown. Homecoming activities have been set for Sept. 2, the Sunday before Labor Day, on the former Burks Farm three miles east of Blossom.

Food donations from those planning to attend the affair can be sent to Mrs. John (Margie) Walker, Route 2, Paris, Tex. 75460, to provide for the picnic lunch.

Among the planned activities are horseshoes, volleyball, sack racing, dough roller throwing and a tobacco spitting contest.

Mrs. Wilson Norris will give the welcome, with invocation by Coy Chumbley. Haskell Booth will be in charge of the entertainment program, with Paul Wood serving as narrator.

Last year 300 people from the communities signed the register for the homecoming.

U.S. To Send Team To East Germany

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States expects to send a team of State Department experts to East Germany in August to find a site for a future American Embassy in East Berlin, department officials said Saturday.

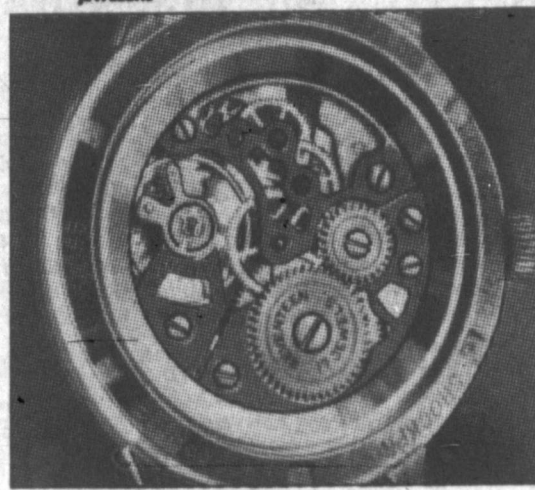

The team will hold the first official talks with East German representatives in East Berlin since that Communist government was established in 1949.

On Thursday, the United States began the lengthy process of negotiating diplomatic recognition of East Germany when Walter J. Stoessel Jr., assistant U.S. secretary of state for European affairs, conferred for 30 minutes with Dietmar Huckle, the acting East German observer to the United Nations.

The long-awaited meeting marked a further turning point in the dismantling of the Cold War period which followed World War II.

Survey Shows Texans Favorably Disposed Toward Police

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the second of a series of five articles dealing with a public opinion survey on criminal justice in Texas, conducted in connection with a 39-month, four-state study called Project STAR. The findings will be used in developing education and training programs for criminal justice personnel. This article deals with public attitudes toward police.

AUSTIN — More than 80 per cent of Texans are favorably disposed toward their police departments, while only three per cent rate the job police are doing as "extremely poor."

So says the report of a public opinion survey on criminal justice, sponsored by the Commission on Law Enforcement Office Standards and Education and partially funded by Gov. Dolph Briscoe's Criminal Justice Council. Even though most Texans look favorably on their police and the job they are doing, they show no hesitancy in pointing out what they consider to be police inadequacies and attitudinal or operational flaws.

Mixed reaction greeted interviewers on the matter of police - community relations. Forty-five per cent of the interviewees, for example, faulted law - enforcement officers for failure to provide complainants with follow - up information on their cases.

On the other hand, 63 per cent believed that police in their communities actively encourage citizen help in providing law - enforcement services. But when a citizen has a complaint against a police officer, 39 per cent of the survey group maintained, he will have a hard time getting authorities to look into the matter.

Almost half (48 per cent) believed police officers do not habitually use excessive force in making arrests, but 25 per cent believed they do. More than three - quarters thought police more prone to arrest a person manifesting a "bad attitude."

Some important areas of police work, in the minds of the Texas public, are not being given sufficient emphasis.

Citizens feel, according to the survey indications, that police tend to be remiss in treating all requests for public service assistance seriously, in respecting the dignity of persons being booked and in treating an accused person as innocent until proved guilty.

Police, said the interviewees, could take the time to hear a traffic violator's story before issuing a citation; there's room for improvement in handling family problems, with greater effort needed to resolve them in a manner that strengthens the family, and in recognizing and dealing with persons with emotional disorders.

On the other hand, certain areas of police work were considered over - emphasized, and these things, too, contributed to the basic attitudes toward officers. In the public view, police are guilty of employing pressure tactics to obtain information, of allowing racial origin to impair objectivity, and allowing the nature of the group to determine the harshness of police treatment of civil disorders.

Of lesser importance to the public image, police were seen as overzealous in arresting bystanders at a civil disorder who are slow to obey police orders, in staying out of sight to trap traffic violators, and in treating jail inmates severely.

They seem to think police testimony should carry extra weight in court and tend to be too lax in enforcing laws that are frequently violated.

But only about 10 per cent of the survey group of 749, drawn from a cross section of the state, was severely critical of police, while 83 per cent was favorable. Residents of the Dallas - Fort Worth area were least critical (four per cent), those of the Houston - Galveston sector the most (15 per cent).

Police were given substantially higher ratings than other components, placing them higher on the scale of performance than prosecutors, judges, defense attorneys, probation and parole officers, and correctional officers, each of which will be treated in a subsequent article.

Attitudes toward police, however, varied from group to group. Most critical were Negroes, 25 per cent of whom rate their local police departments as "poor." Mexican Americans, on the other hand, were fully as supportive as Anglos.

Younger Texans were less favorable toward police, with 15 per cent of the 18-24 age group giving them a "poor" rating. This compares with 13 per cent for interviewees in the 24-39 bracket, 6 to 8 per cent for the over-40 group.

The lower the socioeconomic level, the more critical the attitude toward police. Seventeen per cent of those classified lowest criticized their police departments for doing "a poor job," compared to a 4 to 8 per cent in the higher level.

Attitudes also appeared related to education; the higher the educational level, the less critical. Men were more critical than women.

Most critical of all were persons who have been interrogated by police for some offense besides a traffic violation (21 per cent) and those who have been arrested (27 per cent), and victims of such crimes as malicious mischief, vandalism, burglary or car theft (15 to 17 per cent).

Texas evidently do not feel that a college education is essential for a policeman to do a good job. Fifty-five per cent of those interviewed held such a view.

A single storm in Nebraska once destroyed a wheat field that would have yielded some three million bushels.

Farmers have discovered several ways to combat parasites which each year cause losses of up to one billion dollars in cattle, according to the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture. The Rancher above is spraying his cattle for external insect parasites while the farmer, above right, has eliminated the possibility of his cattle contracting parasites from the ground by chopping forages and feeding them in the barn. The researcher, right, is taking a blood sample from an infected steer at the U. S. Agricultural Research Center, Plum Island, N. Y.

Grain Stocks Down... Egg Production Down... Texas Lamb Crop Down... Wool Production Down... Sheep and Lambs on Feed Increases.

Phase Three and Phase Three and a Half can't be blamed for all of it, but nevertheless production of a number of Texas agricultural products shows declines. One of the exceptions is sheep and lamb feeding which shows an increase from a year ago but still a decline from a few months ago.

As for grains on hand, only stocks of oats are above levels of a year ago. Texas' stocks as of July 1 for the four feed grains—corn, oats, barley and sorghum—are estimated at 95,000,000 bushels, down 50,000,000 bushels from a year ago.

Grain sorghum was responsible for most of the decrease. Stocks of wheat, rye and soybeans are also below a year ago.

Old crop carryover of wheat is estimated at 20,200,000 bushels compared to 42,100,000 bushels a year ago.

Sorghum stocks stored in all positions are estimated at 79,000,000 bushels compared with 129,000,000 bushels a year ago.

Corn stocks are about the same as a year ago. Old crop oat stocks are 700,000 bushels higher than a year ago. Soybean stocks are estimated at 2,700,000 bushels compared to 3,600,000 bushels a year ago.

Nationwide, stocks of all grains are estimated 67,900,000 tons, which is 17 per cent less than a year ago. April-June grain disappearance totaled a record high of 51,300,000 tons, 14 per cent more than the same quarter in 1972.

All of the above figures relate to grains produced in 1972 and earlier. The 1973 crops are not a part of this report.

EGG production in Texas during June is four per cent below a year ago and five per cent below last month. Texas' layers totaled 11,100,000 during June, which is seven per cent below a year ago and two per cent under May's total.

The number of layers throughout the nation totaled 285,000,000; this is five per cent below last year and two per cent under last month.

LAMB crop in Texas (lamb born during the period Oct. 1, 1972 through June 30, 1973) is estimated at 1,964,000 head; this is down 15 per cent from the 2,302,000 head last year.

Nationwide, the 1973 lamb crop is estimated at 11,400,000 head. This is down nine per cent from the 1972 crop of 12,500,000 head.

The January 1, 1973 number of breeding ewes one year old and older totaled 12,100,000. This is a decrease of six per cent from a year earlier while ewe lambs under one year were down four per cent.

SHEEP and lambs on feed in Texas as of July 1 is up 13 per cent from a year ago. This, however, is 28 per cent below March. Sheep and lambs on feed are those intended for slaughter being fed a ration of grain or other concentrates or on pastures and expected within the next three months to go to market.

Marketings of fed sheep during March through June at 229,000 head were 3,000 head below the same period a year ago.

4-H Club News

By RICHARD GUGGISBERG
 And AUDETTE VAUGHN,

 It was my privilege to attend the State 4-H Horse Show last week in Odessa. I say privilege because I feel it was a privilege to see so many fine horses gathered together under one roof. It is amazing at the quality of horses that 4-H Club members are mounted upon.

Some of the finest geldings and mares in the State and Southwest were there. It's very impressive, and I urge you to attend the next one if it's close enough.

Janet and Sue Smith attended the show. Both girls were entered in the cutting contest.

Janet was also in the regular show. She was one of 120 picked from approximately 250 horses to compete in the semi-finals showmanship class. She was then picked one of 20 out of the 120 to compete in the finals. To show you how tough it is, only one girl was placed in the top ten that placed last year.

Bake Show
 The County Bake Show will be Saturday, August 25. Any plain muffin or cinnamon roll product will be accepted.

Pete Gibbs And Davis Named Best Horsemen

ODESSA — The champion horseman of the 1973 State 4-H Club Horse Show is Pete Gibbs of Wichita County, and the reserve champion is Phil Davis of Baylor County.

Gibbs and Davis won the honors on the basis of their performances in the Saturday night finals that ended the 11th annual show held in Odessa for the second year.

For the third consecutive year and the fourth time overall, Davis won the big reining class.

The second annual Vit-a-Way trophy was won by Jerry Gaines of Grayson County.

Results in the four performance classes Saturday night were:

Barrel racing — Shanna Bush of Mason County, first place; Janice Townsend of Bexar County, second; and Leslie Walker of Bexar County, third.

Reining — Phil Davis of Baylor County, first; John O'Hara of Montgomery County, second; and Walter Crider of Wood County, third.

Pole bending — Sandra Sutherland of Nueces County, first; Bebe Coe of Hardin County, second; and Jerry Gaines of Grayson County, third.

Crop Conditions Looking Good Across Texas

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — Crop conditions over Texas continued to look good with recent rains boosting dryland crops in western areas and in the plains.

Grain sorghum harvesting gained momentum in South Central Texas counties. Some rice and peanuts are being harvested and cotton harvesting is beginning in deep South Texas, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service said today.

Gotton is making good progress over most of the state although insect damage is increasing in some central and western counties. In the South Plains hot, sunny weather is needed for maximum fruiting.

Corn harvesting will start soon in central and eastern areas and yield prospects are generally good.

Soybeans are making good progress although insects are damaging the crop in the Coastal Plains, according to the Extension Service.

Watermelon harvesting is still active in Central and East Texas and in Knox County in the Rolling Plains.

Some vegetables continue to be harvested in the High Plains and Far West and East Texas while land preparation is underway in the San Antonio-Winter Garden area and in the Rio Grande Valley for fall crops. Some planting is also in progress.

Hay making continues to be a major activity across Texas although lack of baling wire is causing delays as well as some hay losses, said the Extension Service. Armworms are also active in central and eastern areas and are damaging pastures and ranges.

Land preparation for wheat and other small grains is active in the plains and North Texas.

Livestock conditions are good with adequate forage available in most sections. Recent rains have boosted range conditions in western areas. Screwworms continue to increase and are moving northward. Several horses in the Beaumont area have died from a type of sleeping sickness.

The word "boycott" originated when Captain Boycott, a land agent on Ireland's Achill Island, was ostracized by his tenants for charging unjust rents, National Geographic says.

Panhandle Water

By FELIX W. RYALS
 The southeastern portion of Gray County and all of Wheeler County lies outside the boundaries of the Panhandle Ground Water Conservation District. According to studies made by the old Texas Board of Water Engineers in the early Fifties the area did not contain underground Ogallala water in sufficient quantity to make it eligible for inclusion in the delineation of the underground subdivision.

The Board of Water Engineers was acting in accordance with the best information available at the time. Very little was known during this period concerning available water in the area.

During the past two years the Texas Board of Water Development has carried out extensive studies in the area and has released the following information: Underground water supplies in Wheeler County and that part of Gray County below the High Plains escarpment are described in a new report issued by the Texas Water Development Board.

Mainly ranching country, but with a steady trend of increasing irrigation farming, this arid region has obtained almost all of its water supplies from underground, according to Report 170, "Ground - Water Resources of Wheeler and Eastern Gray Counties, Texas."

Total water use is stated to have increased three-fold from 1955 to 1966 when 6,900 acre-feet was pumped for irrigating crops, 1,800 acre-feet for industrial uses, and 1,500 acre-feet for municipal supplies.

Despite dependency on underground sources and increasing water consumption, the water outlook for Wheeler and eastern Gray Counties is presented as optimistic.

About 15,000 acre-feet of water annually (13 million gallons per day) could be pumped continuously from the principal aquifer, the Ogallala Formation, without causing depletion. This much is replenished by rainfall and by underground flow from other areas.

Tremendous amounts of additional water could also be pumped for a limited time, as some 8.5 million acre-feet of underground water is available. However, faster pumping than the 15,000 acre-feet per year would be a "mining" operation tending eventually to empty the principal aquifer.

These conclusions of the report are based on geological evaluations and the records of over 600 water wells and springs which are included. Chemical analyses of 185 water samples show the suitability of the water for various uses.

The Ogallala Formation provides all of the irrigation water in Gray County and about half of that used in Wheeler County. Of excellent quality, the water is characteristically hard or very hard with less than 500 milligrams per liter (mg-l) of dissolved minerals.

In parts of southeast Wheeler County the only major sources of underground water are the Blaine Formation and the Whitehorse Group. Water in these aquifers is very hard and more saline, the dissolved minerals ranging from about 400 to over 2,000 mg-l in the Whitehorse and from 2,000 to 7,000 mg-l in the Blaine.

The study found no serious declines in the water table of decrease in the amount of water contained in the aquifers.

Jack 3rd-Round Leader By One Shot In Tourney

CLEVELAND (UPI) — Jack Nicklaus muscled his way through the pack with a three-under-par 68 Saturday to grab a one-stroke third round lead in the PGA and move within a day of becoming golf's all-time top winner of major championships.

The redoubtable Golden Bear, already established as the game's all-time top money-winner with $1.9 million in a dozen years on the tour, ignited his surge to the top when he powered onto the green at the 535-yard ninth hole in two shots and two-putted for a birdie.

From there, Nicklaus went on to birdie four of six holes to pass the faltering longshot 36-hole co-leaders, Mason Rudolph and Don Iverson.

Nicklaus' 54-hole total over the hilly and tree-lined Canterbury Golf Club was 208, five under par.

Rudolph, the cigar-smoking, graying veteran who once made a Ryder Cup team but hasn't won a tournament for three years, and Iverson, an obscure 27-year-old Wisconsin pro whose only victory in three years was a satellite event, were at 209. They both shot one-under-par 70's Saturday.

For Nicklaus, getting past the third round with the lead put him in the position he has been waiting for since he won the U.S. Open in June 1972.

That was the 13th major championship of his career, tying him with the late Bobby Jones, and five times since then he failed to get No. 14—being sabotaged at the Masters and U.S. and British Opens this year with early rounds of 77, 74 and 76, respectively.

Three players in the cut-down field of 76 tied the course record of 67 Saturday—a day that started hot and sunny, came up with heavy mid-afternoon rain and turned sunny again when Nicklaus finished—and the best-placed of them was Denny Lyons, a club pro from Niagara Falls, N.Y.

Lyons, who tried the tour in 1969 but gave it up after winning only $1,000, was alone in fourth place with his 67-210. He had 10 one-putt greens.

The other 67 shooters were Bruce Crampton, the No. 1 money-winner on the PGA tour this year, who shared the 211 spot with Jim Colbert, and Buddy Allin, who was far down the list at 216.

Tom Weiskopf, a winner of the British Open, Canadian Open and three other tournaments in his last nine starts, shot his second straight 71, tied Dan Sikes Jr. at 212, and complained that "I just can't get used to the speed of the greens."

Defending champion Gary Player and Masters champ Tommy Aaron were at 216, a stroke in front of U.S. Open titlist Johnny Miller who shot 74 Saturday. Lee Trevino had 73-219. Arnold Palmer missed the 36-hole cut.

USAC To Discuss Safety Precautions

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UPI) — The board of directors of the United States Auto Club meets Tuesday to consider recommendations emphasizing increased safety in racing, particularly for Indianapolis "500" type machines.

Considerable effort has been made in some racing circles to reduce the maximum horsepower for Indianapolis-type cars from about 1,000 to 600.

Reducing the size of the controversial "wings" even further may also be placed on the agenda, along with new regulations for rear-engine sprint cars and other items concerning stock, championship dirt and midget cars.

Recommendations geared to greater safety are an outgrowth of this year's rain-shortened and accident-plagued Indianapolis "500" which claimed three lives—those of veteran drivers Art Pollard in practice and Swede Savage in the race and a crewman in the pits.

Ex-SWC RB Dies

FRISCO, Tex. (UPI)—Weldon "Speedy" Mason, a two-time all-Southwest Conference running back at Southern Methodist four decades ago, died Friday. He was 64.

Mason starred for Coach Ray Morrison's SMU team from 1929-30-31 and was all-conference as a sophomore and a senior.

Mason remained a Dallas resident after graduation and combined a career in insurance with a farm he operated near this Collin County town.

Services were scheduled today in Waco where he had starred in high school.

ALL YOU GOT TO DO IS ASK
Murray Olderman

The tipoff:

Larry Brown of the Washington Redskins could hardly afford to continue his holdout — this, the third year of a three-year pact, calls for him to collect $90,000.

Q — Do you think it is because of the death of the late Roberto Clemente that the Pittsburgh Pirates are doing so bad this season? — Mark Scarpellino, New Haven, Conn.

A — Obviously a team has to miss an all-time major league star, and particularly this season for his defensive skills. But the real reason for the collapse of the Bucs is no pitching.

Q — A man I work with claims that to enter a horse in the Kentucky Derby, it has to be registered for the Derby on the day it was born. Is this true? Also, did two former Derby winners, Riva Ridge and Canonero II, meet in a race in early 1973? I say that they did and Canonero beat Riva Ridge. — John Durkin, Pittsburgh, Pa.

A — Your co-worker's way off. A horse can be nominated for the Derby until Feb. 15 of the year of the running. On the second part, you're only half right. Canonero II won by five lengths over Riva Ridge at a mile and an eighth in the Stryme Handicap at Belmont, setting a record of 1:46.1. But the race was held Sept. 20, 1972, and Canonero then retired, leaving Riva Ridge to race another day — like for instance that upcoming match duel with Secretariat Sept. 15.

Q — Do the players on the Montreal Expos baseball team pay income taxes to the United States? They work in Canada, right? — Ted Mauser, Rahway, N.J.

A — They work in Canada, only half right. Since they play half their games in the U.S. I talked to the Expos' comptroller and he says they pay income taxes to both countries. But in Canada the player pays only for the 81 games. As an American citizen he pays taxes on his entire salary, but under foreign tax credit granted by the U.S., he deducts the taxes he pays in Canada from the total due in the U.S. It's not as complicated as it sounds. An even simpler solution — find a Canadian ball player.

Q — I met some of the old-time football greats at the recent Hall of Fame celebration and would like to know why they don't share in the pension plan. Considering their contribution to the game, it seems inequitable to me. — Karen Paddison, Canton, Ohio.

A — The old-timers would like to know, too. The cutoff date for players eligible for the pension is 1959. The irony is that men like Gordie Soltau, who quit after the '58 season, helped organize the present NFL Players Association and yet don't qualify for the pension. That's why the old-timers' group, led by Leon Hart, has filed a class action suit against both the NFL owners and the players association. It seems inevitable they'll be embraced when the NFL figures out a way to increase the fund without disturbing the present pension.

Q — Does Howard Cosell wear a wig? — Julie Anderson, San Diego, Calif.

A — No. Just a hair piece. And you might find him some night at Dewey Wong's or Mike Manuche's with his hair down — or rather, off. Though it's become a more or less permanent part of him.

Q — Why do some coaches find it necessary to call all the plays for their quarterbacks in professional football? Aren't quarterbacks supposed to be paid for their brains? — Jim O'Reilly, Lynn, Mass.

A — So are coaches. And some of them think they're smarter than their quarterbacks, or know more football. In the case of Paul Brown, the pioneer of the messenger system, it's hard to argue. Now when Chuck Fairbanks, new to the pro game, does the same with the New England Patriots (arguing that he's done it as long as he's been a coach), critics arise. Among them is John Brodie, the 49er signal-calling veteran, who thinks it'll affect the Patriots' Jim Plunkett as a performer. Ironically, Tom Landry, who took Dallas to Super Bowl heights sending in all plays, is thinking of abandoning the system this year because it affects the morale of his quarterbacks.

Parting shot:

One pro football team has a good excuse for not flying its veteran players to training camp first class — ever since one of its top stars got to doing so much thinking about the rigors of training over multiple martinis that after the plane landed he turned right around and went home (he has since reported).

STAELELINE, Nev. (UPI) — Harrah's Tahoe Racebook Saturday installed the Washington Redskins and San Francisco 49ers 5-2 co-favorites to win the National Conference title in the NFL this fall.

In the American Conference, the Racebook made the Super Bowl champion Miami Dolphins the 5-2 favorite with the Pittsburgh Steelers second at 3-1 and Oakland Raiders third at 2-2.

The pre-season odds by conferences:

National — Washington and San Francisco, 5-2; Dallas, 4-1; Green Bay, 3-1; Minnesota, 6-1; Los Angeles, 8-1; New York, 10-1; Detroit and Atlanta, 12-1; Chicago, 25-1; St. Louis and Philadelphia, 30-1; New Orleans, 50-1.

American — Miami, 5-2; Pittsburgh, 3-1; Oakland, 7-2; Cincinnati, 6-1; Kansas City, 8-1; New York Jets, 12-1; Cleveland, San Diego and Baltimore, 15-1; Denver and Buffalo, 30-1; New England and Houston, 50-1.

Debbi Winning Ladies Pro Golf

Wadsworth, Ill. (UPI) — Debbi Austin fired her second straight par-busting 70 at Midlane Country Club Saturday to hold on to the lead in the LPGA's $30,000 Child and Family Services Open with a 36-hole total of 140, six under par.

Miss Austin stood off a course record challenge by Joyce Kazmierski and a sub-par rally by rookie Laura Baugh to post a three-stroke lead going into Sunday's final 18 holes.

Miss Baugh, with 72-71, trailed by three shots and Miss Kazmierski, equalling her best competitive round ever with a 68, deadlocked with veteran Betty Burfeindt for third place, each two under par at 144.

Ironically, none of the four has ever won a Ladies Professional Golf Association event, and it was the first time Miss Austin, a five-year veteran, ever has led going into the

14-10 Redskins Manage Squeaker Win Over Broncos Friday Night, 14-10

WASHINGTON (UPI) — George Allen was smiling again.

His Washington Redskins "managed" a 14-10 victory over the Denver Broncos Friday night, the first pre-season victory for the 1973 National Football Conference champions.

"We managed to struggle through, but I'm happy to get that win," Allen said. "We played everybody we hoped to and we held them to one touchdown."

If Allen was smiling, Dave Robinson, the linebacker coaxed out of retirement after being acquired from Green Bay, was "estatic."

"This team is any linebacker's dream," bubbled the 11 year veteran. "I always said that when the urge to play hit me, I'd be in there. I just like to keep hitting, that's my job."

Defense is Revamped

The defense that held Denver to eight first downs, two in the second half, and 10 points, was revamped since last week's 17-14 loss to the Detroit Lions. Robinson started at left linebacker in place of Steve Kimer and Ken Houston played the whole game at safety in place of the injured Rosey Taylor.

But the Redskins spotted Denver a 10-0 second-quarter

Sandies Favored To Win 3-AAAA Football Laurels

By PAUL SIMS

Five district 3-AAAA head football coaches agree that Amarillo High, not considering possible injuries or upsets, will be the strongest team in the district this season.

The other coach, Kenneth Clapp of Amarillo High, doesn't name a district favorite but expresses an optimism which implies a favorite. "We've got size and experience — experience from tackle to tackle on our offensive line and experience in our backfield," said Clapp, who finds his Sandies cast into a role quite uncommon for the Amarillo school in recent years.

District teams will begin two-a-day practices Aug. 20 in shorts and Aug. 24 in pads. Everybody except Palo Duro and Caprock begins season play Sept. 7, while the Dons and Longhorns open the following day.

Here is a pre-season, pre-practice round-up of 3-AAAA teams:

Amarillo High

The Sandies will move into two things this year — the 3-AAAA spotlight and a new building, after 51 years in the old school building in downtown Amarillo.

Amarillo High moves into the spotlight as the district's team to beat because of experience — returning six offensive and five defensive starters.

"We feel pretty good about all our returning starters, however, we anticipate problems with our depth. Our second and third teams are inexperienced," said Clapp, who will be starting his fifth season as Sandie head mentor.

"Lack of speed is going to be another problem. We don't have any kids that can break."

Tailback Mark Redus, a 5-11, 185-pound senior, will lead Amarillo High's offensive attack. Redus, all-district in 1972, carried the ball 95 times in district play last year for 331 yards, a 3.5 average.

Mac Jefferies, 5-10, 170, will return as starting quarterback for the Sandies. The senior signal-caller completed 11 of only 35 passes in district action last season.

"We didn't throw the ball a lot last year. Mac's a good ball-handler and a good runner," said Clapp.

Other players returning, who were instrumental in Amarillo High's finishing in second place in 3-AAAA last year, include senior offensive and defensive tackle David Thomas, 6-2, 210, and Tom Maynard, 5-10, 175, a senior defensive tackle.

Borger

Sonny Lang's Borger Bulldogs will rely on one of 3-AAAA's stronger defenses, hoping for a possible title.

"Last year it was hang on and scratch for everything we could get, but we have the potential to be stronger than last year," said an optimistic Lang.

"Defensively, we'll be strong, especially against the run."

"We stand a chance of starting two sophomores in the defensive secondary — Tracy Hindman and Mike Glover. They've got to get some experience, but they're good football players."

The Bulldogs return two starters on both offense and defense.

Glen Gray, a 5-11, 175-pound senior halfback, who gained 479 yards on 112 carries, in district action last year, will pace Borger's offense. Gray finished third in regional track competition in the high hurdles last season with a time of 14.2.

Bobby Ingham, the other returning offensive starter, will lead the defense at middle linebacker.

"Bobby's a very good linebacker, with exceptional quickness (5.1 in the 40). He's built low to the ground (5-9 and 201) and when he hits somebody, he usually stops 'em," mused Lang.

The Bulldogs will line up a Tandem-I offense and 4-3 defense.

Caprock

Ray Basinger's Caprock Longhorns are no longer district patsies, finishing 7-2-1 in 1971 and 6-4 in 1972. This year's version of the Amarillo team returns five offensive and two defensive starters.

"We're more optimistic than we were this time last year. We had a senior defensive team and a very young offensive team last season, and we weren't really able to score," said Basinger, who added, "This year we're going to be experienced offensively."

"We'll run a Power-I and an I-Slot. Defenses are catching up with the Wishbone. We dropped it early last year and we started doing pretty good with the I-formation."

Center Gerald Nipp, 6-0, 190, a senior; quarterback David Ream, 5-7, 145, a senior, and fullback Jerry Kern, 6-0, 195, a senior, should pace the offense, according to Basinger.

Defensively, Caprock will run a basic 4-3. Junior Louie Mendoza, 6-0, 215, middle linebacker, and senior Mark Perez, 5-9, 185, left-side linebacker, are "as good as any linebackers in the Panhandle," in Basinger's estimation.

Palo Duro

The Dons, 7-4 and district champs last season under Doug James, aren't returning any starters, and only five players on this year's team lettered last year — all on specialty teams. Not too bright an outlook for PD.

"We solved a few problems in spring training. We had to find a whole new ball club; we found a couple quarterbacks and some running backs," said James.

"We don't have any proven players since no starters are back. We're gonna have to get a few games under our belt."

The two quarterbacks James must decide between are 5-10, 160-pound senior Robert Douglas and 6-1, 175-pound junior Stanley Stambaugh.

"Terry Bradley (5-8, 155-pound senior) is our most consistent runner. He's pretty quick, though not exceptionally fast."

The Dons will run an I-Slot offense and a 5-2 defense.

Senior Gene Jolly, 5-11, 185, strong-side linebacker, will lead the Don defense.

Pampa

"Everything looked rosy this time last year and it turned out sour," said Buddy Williams, whose Harvesters were picked to win district last season but finished in a third-place tie with Tascosa, Caprock and Borger.

"We're small and inexperienced, offensively and defensively. We'll be quick, we have better than average speed."

Pampa returns four starters on offense, six on defense and 14 letterman. The Harvesters will run the I-Slot and Wishbone, and will go into a 5-2 defense.

Offensively, Pampa could be hurt as halfback Steve Mathis injured his knee in spring training and is recovering from surgery. "We don't know when he'll be ready to play," said a disappointed Williams.

Two juniors will compete for the starting quarterback job — Rick Leverich, 5-11, 165, and Charles Quarles, 5-8, 140. Leverich started last season and Quarles is up from the B-team. "I feel like any one of these two can do the job for us."

"As a coaching staff, we're going to be totally objective. If a kid can do the job better than someone else, we'll put him in the game," said Williams.

Senior Jack King, a 5-10, 180-pounder, will start at fullback and, according to Williams, is an excellent runner and blocker. King started nine games at halfback last season.

Heading the Harvester defense will be tackles, Bill Cox and Joe Graves; end, King; linebackers, Terry Moore, David Nipp, Joe Holt and David Hampton, and halfbacks, Rich Smith, Chuck Reeves, Mathis, Mike Adair and Bobby Hendricks.

NOTE: A complete, in depth look of the 1973 Harvesters will be included in the Sunday, Aug. 26 Pampa News.

Tascosa

All-district running back Paul Smith will pace a run-oriented offense as Tascosa, under second-year head coach James Harris, hopes to rebound off a mediocre 5-5 season and win the district crown for the first time in five years.

The Rebels will run the Slot-I offense and will change from last year's six-man line on defense to a 5-2.

Smith, 6-0 and 165, carried 107 times for 483 yards (4.5 average) and four touchdowns in district play.

According to Harris, Tascosa doesn't have a proven quarterback. "Rusty Raleigh is probably going to start at quarterback, he's a fair passer and runner." Raleigh is a 6-0, 155-pound senior.

Cornerback Chris Vechan and tackle Chris McDaniel will lead the Rebel defense.

"We graduated 27 out of 33-men this year. We're more inexperienced than last year, but the boys' attitude is better," said the Rebel coach.

American Masters Favored In US Chess

CHICAGO (UPI) — Two American grandmasters, including the Catholic priest who was Bobby Fischer's second in Iceland, will be the favorites when the U.S. Open Chess Championship begins Sunday.

More than 500 players from the United States and a handful of foreign entries will compete for a record $10,000 in prizes, $3,500 more than awarded at last year's tournament in Atlantic City.

Walter Browne, 26, and The Rev. William Lombardy, both of New York—the No. 4 and No. 6 American rated players—tied for the 1972 championship and rule as pretournament favorites again this year.

Father Lombardy gained international note last year by serving as Fischer's representative in the negotiations with the International Chess Federation (FIDE).

WITH SINGLE

May Paces Astros Over Chicago Cubs

CHICAGO (UPI) — Lee May's bases-loaded single in the top of the seventh inning Saturday triggered a three-run Houston rally that carried the Astros to a 6-4 triumph over Chicago and pinned the Cubs with their seventh consecutive loss.

May's single broke a 4-4 deadlock and came off reliever Bob Locker.

For the second straight day Ken Forsch recorded a save while the victory, his first of the year, went to another former starter, Larry Dierker.

The Astros scored unearned runs in the third and fourth innings off Cub loser Rich Reuschel. But the Cubs came back in their half of the fourth to tie the score on a single by Jose Cardenal and Billy Williams' 14th home run of the year.

The Cubs went ahead in the fifth inning on a single by Reuschel, a sacrifice and Cardenal's single to right.

Houston scored its third unearned run against Reuschel in the sixth inning.

The Cubs went ahead in their half of the sixth on a single by Randy Hundley and a double by rookie Dave Rosello.

Reuschel, who was tagged with his 10th loss against 12 wins, walked Cesar Cedeno with one out in the seventh and gave up a single to Bob Watson to bring on Locker.

TEE-OFF TID-BITS

By Hart Warren

With the weather this week being twice as good as is possible for the Texas Panhandle, the golf course got a real workout this past week.

Thanks to all the folks who complimented the good condition of the course. If we are fortunate enough to catch another rain this month, out-of-town guests for the Top 'O Texas Tournament should be pleasantly surprised.

I would like to ask everyone to start repairing ball marks, or grass burns as some wish to call them. Please observe all etiquette rules so the game will be more enjoyable for all.

This past week a few of our members posted better-than-average or better-than-par scores. Paul Howard led his partners to victory with an effortless 72.

Keep an eye out, Chickenhawk — the midget says it's here to stay.

Jan Elston bogied the 18th hole Thursday to card an 80, one of the finest rounds this season by one of the ladies. Jan is a potential club champion this year; if she only knew which side to hit it from.

Eddie Duenkel carded low round this week — 68. Just another super putting exhibition as usual. Eddie holds the title of the world's greatest putter or it seems like he should if you're on the other side.

But that fellow who just can't play our course because it makes his mind "snap," as do a few of his clubs, shot his magic number — 69. Magic because it made objects move from one pocket to another.

Don't forget the Junior Golf Tournament at 8:30 a.m. Tuesday and the Ladies Panhandle at 9 a.m. Thursday. A reminder to all men — next Saturday and Sunday is Ladies City Championship. The course will be closed for the tourney between 9 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. Ladies, make your tee-off times Friday, accordingly.

Top 'O Texas openings filled up Wednesday. If you are not signed up, put your name on the waiting list and hope someone drops out. If you are playing, check on cart reservations.

A GOOD RULE TO KNOW — Ball overhanging hole — When any part of the ball overhangs the edge of the hole, the owner of the ball is not allowed more than a few seconds to determine whether it is at rest. If by then the ball has not fallen into the hole, it is deemed to be at rest.

NOTE: 1971 U.S.G.A. definition of a few seconds is 10.

HEAD PAMPA football coach Buddy Williams speaks to approximately 80 guests, made up of mostly players' parents, Friday night in the high school music building prior to the annual "Open House" in the Harvester field house.

New Swim Lessons
The summer swim lesson program has been our most successful ever, but now we must turn our minds to new heights for the coming year. During the school year our swim lesson programs revert back to the afternoon sessions from 4-5 and 5-6 p.m.

This enables all of the school children to be able to enroll in the program without interfering with their school work. Classes during the school year meet on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Fridays for 10 meeting days. This gives each child 10 hours of training. Classes are limited to 15 in polywogs and 25 in each of the other classes. Polywogs classes will last 30 minutes each day because of the attention span of the younger children.

Enrollment is open to the general public and you do not have to be a member to enroll. It is more expensive to be a member, because you receive the lessons free of charge. Enrollment in all the classes is free to members and $4 to non-members. Members may call in to enroll, but non-members must come by and pay the enrollment fee.

Fall Volleyball Leagues
Volleyballers are reminded to get their volleyballs out and dust them off. League practices will begin on Sept. 5 for men's, mixed and women's divisions.

The organizational meeting will be held on Thursday night, Sept. 6, at 8 o'clock in the TV room at the Center. Teams desiring to enter should all have representatives at the meeting. Entry is open to all teams whether in town or out of town. A mixed team consists of three men and three women on a side. Entry fee will be $20 per team per league.

Trophies will be awarded winners and runners-up in each division. All inquiries should be directed to Director George Smith at 665-2622 or you may come by and talk to him any day the Center is open.

Memberships and Participation
Newcomers to Pampa should be interested in this full explanation about our use of the Center.

First of all the Center is a private non-profit organization run for the pleasure of Pampans and persons from surrounding areas. Our operational revenue comes from two sources — memberships and donations. Several individuals and businesses and civic clubs donate to the Center each year so that the cost of your membership can be kept at the very minimum of cost.

Memberships are divided into two categories according to use. The limited membership allows you to use the gym, recreation hall and swimming pool along with locker room use.

Any activity in these buildings is included in your membership. For an individual limited membership the cost is only $5 for six months or $8 per year. For a family limited membership the cost is only $12 for six months or $20 a year. This includes all members of the immediate family.

The more elaborate membership called our unlimited membership allows you use of all of the above facilities plus the use of the new health facility. Our new health facility is one of the most used buildings we have.

Housed in it is all our exercise machines, weights, dumbbells, health walkers, incline boards, sit-up boards, bicycles both manual and motorized, jungle pulley machine, multiple press machine, leg and thigh curl machines, leg press machine, beauty bars, sun area, punching bag and many other machines. Also there are two handball and racquetball courts, dressing room, reception room and sauna room.

Hours for the women are from 9 a.m. till 11:45 a.m. each morning Monday through Saturday and also on Tuesday and Thursday nights from 7-10 p.m. Men's hours are from 11:45 a.m. till 9:30 p.m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 11:45 a.m. on Tuesday and Thursdays and 12 noon till 5 p.m. on Saturday.

Membership fees for the unlimited membership for individuals are $65 for six months or $118 a year. We have an installment plan for your convenience. A husband-wife combination costs only $90 for six months or $166 a year.

40 Arrested For Drug Charge

DALLAS (UPI) — Texas Department of Public Safety personnel and local officers have arrested 40 persons for narcotic and dangerous drug law violations in Dallas and Collin counties, a DPS spokesman said Saturday.

Raiding parties, with arrest warrants for 7 persons, and search warrants went out Thursday night and the DPS spokesman said raids were continuing. The raids followed four months of undercover work.

The DPS spokesman said some of those arrested were arrested on the arrest warrants and some others were arrested when agents used search warrants and caught them in places where there were drugs.

About half of those arrested were seized in heroin cases.

Dr. Richard Bright of England first described the kidney disease now known as Bright's Disease in 1827.
