Lawyer Charges Monopoly Controls Oil Production

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — A lawyer for independent oil distributors charged Wednesday that a monopoly composed of integrated oil companies controls petroleum production in Texas and other states so it can regulate nationwide prices and "fleece" the public.

General counsel Paul E. Hadlick of the National Oil Marketers Association said in a prepared address to the Northwest Petroleum Association that unless the situation is corrected, independent jobbers and refiners will be squeezed out of existence.

He recommended that either Congress or the states enact laws divorcing transportation and marketing from production of oil. This falling, he said the Department of Justice should file anti-trust suits against the so-called integrated companies.

An integrated company is one which produces, refines and sells its own products. Many of the big oil companies which market familiar brands of gasoline fall into this category.

"The integrated oil industry is more powerful than the United States government and all the people in it," Hadlick said. "It has fairly well squeezed the oil jobber out of the retail gasoline business in the big cities and the trend is to smaller operations in areas unprofitable to the integrated companies."

Hadlick said the big companies had grown to monumental stature through the "phony" Texas oil proration (conservation) law and federal tax "subsidies" such as the 27 1/2 cent depletion allowance and the privilege of writing off all drilling and development costs.

"Tax laws have removed the financial risk of the integrated companies so they can be said to operate in a preferred class," he said. "If there is any risk left, it has been assumed or underwritten by the federal and state governments."

Hadlick asserted that "no greater hoax has ever been perpetrated on the American people" than the Texas proration law. He said it was enacted "under the guise of conservation" but actually is a mechanism used by the big companies, along with other legal devices, to control market demand and prices.

"Texas allows its wells to operate less than half the days in the month and then howls about the damaging effect of imported oil," Hadlick said. "Super-imposed on this scheme is the international petroleum cartel which is now before the courts charged with violation of the federal anti-trust laws."

"This cartel could not operate efficiently unless it was able to hold back domestic production." He added that the companies themselves could not legally limit production but that they do so legally through the Texas Railroad Commission, which controls production and is the bellwether for the other producing states.

Maceos Indicted For Tax Evasion

AUSTIN — UP — Two heirs to a Galveston gambling empire and their chief accountant were indicted Wednesday for federal tax evasion. The government out of a total of $71,000 by income tax evasion.

The indictments were returned by a federal grand jury in Austin only 24 hours before the three men were scheduled to appear before a U.S. Commissioner to answer similar complaints filed Dec. 29 by Internal Revenue agents.

The indictments, each for the year 1954, named Vic Maceo, Frank Maceo and Sam Serio. The Maceo brothers are cousins of the late Sam Maceo, who ran a gambling syndicate at the island resort city of Galveston until his death in 1951. Serio serves as their chief accountant.

The three were accused in complaints filed by Internal Revenue agents last month. The complaints alleged income tax evasion for the same amounts cited in the indictments. It was understood they could post bond either in Galveston or in Houston.

They were scheduled to have appeared today before U.S. Commissioner Robert Sneed in Austin. Return of the indictments superseded their appearance, however.

The indictments accuse Frank Maceo of evading in income taxes more than $49,000—the largest amount in the three indictments. Vic Maceo was accused of evading some $18,000 in income taxes, and Serio, some $4,400.

Frank Maceo was accused in the indictment of reporting his 1949 income at $2,819.54, and paying $6,859.18 in taxes. He was accused of actually making $116,273.17 on which he should have paid $36,317.69 in taxes.

Vic Maceo reported a $27,099.43 income and paid $5,776.66 in taxes, the indictment said, and alleged he actually made $65,629.96 on which taxes of $24,334.43 should have been paid.

Serio's reported income for that year was $15,510.27 on which he paid $2,488.32 in taxes. But he was accused of making $29,537.45 on which taxes of 6,904.18 should have been paid.

Texas Insurance Firms Must Prove Solvency

New Laws Planned To Rule Solons In Attorney Cases

AUSTIN — (UP) — State authorities moved swiftly Wednesday to sort the weak from the strong in Texas' huge insurance industry. Simultaneously, an informed committee source predicted Senate investigators — reopening their inquiry into Texas insurance scandals — will seek help from the state bar in drafting legislation spelling out the rules under which lawyer-members of the legislature may accept retainer fees.

Committee Chairman William S. Fly said investigators will hear two witnesses—Paul Connor, legal counsel for the Insurance Commission, and State Liquidator J. D. Wheeler—as they probe earlier allegations of fraud, graft and bribery.

Prove It or Close Up

A drastic order announced by Insurance Commission Chairman J. Byron Saunders required the 1,400 insurance companies headquartered in Texas to prove their solvency by May 31 or be put out of business.

As the commission sought to spotlight the bad apples in the state's insurance barrel, a statement from Gov. Allan Shivers indicated Texas may have 56 to 70 weak companies he said should not be allowed to exist.

He spoke of the weak "4 to 5 per cent" of the state's 1,400 home-officed insurance firms.

Rush Questionnaires

An insurance commission spokesman expressed belief the first of the lengthy "solvency questionnaires" will be in the mail to the insurance companies within 24 hours.

"We're working as fast as we can," he said.

Saunders, in his solvency order, said each company must prove its financial soundness by the May 31 deadline. Licenses to do business will be refused the companies that cannot.

The bold program, intended to restore public confidence in Texas insurance industry, was hailed by Shivers.

"The 4 or 5 per cent of the weak companies should no longer be allowed to reflect against the 95 per cent of Texas companies which have proven through years of operation that they are as sound and dependable as any in the United States," he said.

Similar demands will be made (See FIRMS, Page 3)

Pampa Group To Attend Fair Meeting

The annual meeting of the Texas Association of Fairs and Expositions scheduled to be held in Dallas on Feb. 3 and 4, will be attended by a delegation of Pampans.

Bob Andis, president of the Top of Texas Rodeo Association; John Pitts, vice president; George Neef, treasurer; and E. O. Wedgworth, secretary, will leave Thursday, Feb. 2, for the conference.

The conference program this year will feature such topics as insurance programs for fairs and expositions, methods of financing building programs, problems of the concession operator, contracts, public relations, advertising, publicity, catalogs and question and answer sessions.

Bill Petnecky, T.A.F.E. president, will preside at all sessions.

No sessions are scheduled at the conference on Friday afternoon. That period is left open for the delegates to visit advertising and display booths and entertainment bookers display rooms. The delegates will be able to make talent and entertainment contracts during the period. Most special features in the Top of Texas Rodeo are contracted at the conference.

Wedgworth will attend a board of directors meeting at 3 p.m. on Feb. 2. He is the immediate past president of T.A.F.E. and is an ex-officio member of the board.

Headquarters for the conference will be the Baker Hotel in Dallas. The Pampans will return on Friday afternoon.

Beer Dealer Talks On 'Wet-Dry' Issue

The possibility of a wet-dry election to be held here this year was discussed by Bob Perry, Schiltz wholesale dealer yesterday noon in an appeal to members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce to conduct a "Pay Your Poll Tax Campaign."

"If this town should go dry, you'd lose 50 dealers quickly," Perry said. He pointed out that there are now 50 retail and wholesale dealers in Gray County and 52 dealers in the city. A lot of people would be thrown out of work and there would be a decrease in population, as a result, he emphasized.

"We see that many many people vote dry and drink wet," said Perry, who continued to outline the amount of freight shipped into Pampa each year. The largest importers in Pampa, Perry and Eagle Distributing Co., import between $325,000 - $350,000 of beer a year in about 35 cars. The cost of freight averages between $27,000 - $30,000, he said.

The warehouses which are servicing every wet county in the Panhandle, bring in a lot of money to Pampa. Now a wholesaler must be screened by the F. B. I. to gain a permit, Perry pointed out. "If the town dries up, your law enforcement groups will have to double their force," he said, indicating that they would make Pampa the "driest" town possible. A two-point program is being undertaken by the "wets" in a movement to clean up the retail dealer's houses and to prohibit bootlegging, he said. In the days of prohibition the bootleggers would sell anything to anybody regardless of age, he continued.

"The chips are down this year," he said, "we don't care if a man is 'wet' or 'dry' if he pays his poll tax. We know there will be some petitions circulated to hold an election," said Perry in closing.

Dr. Harold Meador, chairman of the membership committee, announced that the committee planned an "Out and out membership drive." He urged members to make out a list of prospective members to be returned to him for committee members to contact in person.

Bob Olson, manager of the Royal Crown Bottling Co., presented a service film for new employees of Nehi bottling companies. The public service slides illustrated the complete bottling procedure.

Merle Hull of Plains Creamery was presented with his membership kit and received into the club by Bob Carmichael, president.

Rep. McIlhany To Run Again

State Representative Grainger McIlhany has announced that he would be a candidate for re-election to the Texas legislature. McIlhany is made the 57th District, which is made up of Gray, Collingsworth and Wheeler Counties.

McIlhany is 37 years old, married, and a graduate of the University of Texas with degrees in business and law. McIlhany is a veteran of World War II and has since been engaged in the management of a department store in Wheeler and in stock farming.

McIlhany has represented the 57th District for the past 8 years in the Legislature. This is the first time he has been opposed for the spot since his first election.

John Willis, 21, of Pampa announced his candidacy recently. Willis is married, and has studied at the University of Texas. He formed the first page-boy club in the State Legislature, worked in the office of the Secretary of State and was assistant Sergeant-at-Arms during the last session of the legislature.

There is a possibility a third candidate will file.

McIlhany is one of the House sponsors of the present farm-to-market road program and is the author of legislation authorizing Texas A and M College to conduct agricultural experiments in the eastern Panhandle area.

He has sponsored bills designed to promote safer driving on the highways by teenagers. He wrote the sections of the present narcotic control act which increases penalties for the sale of narcotics to a minor.

At the last session of the Legislature, McIlhany sponsored legislation which banned the sale of lewd literature. In 1954, he offered an amendment to the revenue act to repeal the tax on the manufacturing of carbon black on the ground that it was the only manufacturing process being taxed in the state. The amendment was adopted.

Anti-Gas Bill Filibuster In Fourth Day

By JOHN W. FINNEY

WASHINGTON — UP — Sen. Paul H. Douglas, the college professor turned politician, Wednesday neared the end of a prolonged filibuster in the Senate against the natural gas bill.

The Illinois Democrat carried his talk against the bill into its fourth day even though most of the Senate was "cutting class" on him. He expected to wind up his speech Wednesday.

As he did at the beginning, Douglas at the end hammered away at the theme that passage of the bill would "gouge" gas consumers of hundreds of millions of dollars increased gas rates. The bill would exempt independent natural gas producers from direct federal price control.

Covers 200 Pages

In his marathon speech Douglas has given a markedly inattentive Senate a detailed study of the multi-billion dollar natural gas industry, such as only an economics professor would present. The senator privately describes it as probably one of the most definitive studies ever made of the industry. The 200-page, 50,000-word speech is the product of months of research by Douglas and his staff.

Douglas at times seemed dismayed by the fact that only a few senators at any one point had been on the floor to hear him speak. But six hours a day he talked away, most of the time in a low monotone, sometimes rising to an oratorical crescendo as he reached a conclusive point.

The barrel-chested, silver-haired Douglas occasionally veered and leaned on the arm of his chair for rest. It was a violation of Senate rules, but nobody thought of calling him on the point. Sometimes other senators broke in for questions, touching off a sprightly round-robin of arguments.

Sees 'Unreasonable' Price Hike

"I speak for the 21 million American families and for approximately 80 million Americans who consume gas," Douglas said in his speech Wednesday. Then he made these principal assertions:

"Passage of the bill would impose on the consumers as much as $900 million annually.

School Aid Bill Stalled In Committee

WASHINGTON — UP — The drive to bring the Democratic $1.6 billion school aid bill to the House floor was stalled at least temporarily Wednesday.

The House Rules committee began working over the bill Tuesday. And so far, the committee showed no signs of letting it go.

However, House leaders hoped the bill can be brought to the floor for a vote next week.

The bill calls for federal grants of $400 million a year to states for school construction during the next four years. The administration wants to give states $1.25 billion over a five-year period. The Republicans have pledged to fight for the administration plan.

Any school aid plan is certain to run into a segregation fight on the House floor. Proposed amendments would bar federal funds to segregated schools.

Snowstorm Ices Roads In Midwest

By UNITED PRESS

A new snowstorm drove eastward out of the Great Plains Wednesday, icing highways in southern Illinois and Indiana.

The snows, following fast on the Southland's first major storm of the winter, laid a five-inch blanket from Missouri northward.

In the West another in a series of Pacific storms which have plagued northern California dumped heavy rains in the lowlands and snow in the mountain areas.

The western snows extended as far east as Nevada, where Reno reported one inch on the ground.

Freezing Rain in Kansas

The Midwest snows were falling early Wednesday from Minnesota southward into Iowa, Missouri, Illinois and Indiana. Farther south there was drizzle and fog through the lower Mississippi Valley.

Earlier, freezing drizzle disrupted communications in western Kansas. The ice caused more than 100 long-distance telephone line breaks, isolating Liberal, Kan., for several hours.

A school bus carrying 17 children skidded off a snowy road at Seneca, Mo., Tuesday and overturned in a ditch. No one was hurt.

Several Asphyxiated

The snows followed a rash of freezing and asphyxiation deaths in the Midwest. Two Kentucky truckers, trying to keep warm during the night by keeping their motor running were found dead of carbon monoxide poisoning near Antigo, Wis., Tuesday.

In Indiana, fumes from a faulty motel heater killed two persons at Hobart and another gas heater was blamed for the death of a Richmond woman.

A mass of cold air followed the snows in the Southeast. The storm left up to 11 inches of snow in the North Carolina mountains and two to six inches from Tennessee into the Carolinas.

Poll Tax Sales Show Increase

Poll tax receipts in County Tax Assessor - Collector Jack Back's office this morning showed a sharp rise in sales since last week.

A total of 4,188 poll tax receipts had been issued at the close of business last night, with 886 of these claiming exemptions.

A total of 3,134 poll tax receipts had been issued through last Friday, with 750 of these claiming exemptions.

The new figure represents an increase of 1,054 in three days of business.

Back reported that the record for poll tax sales in this county occurred during the last presidential election when "approximately 10,000 people either paid the poll tax or claimed exemptions."

A resident in the county for six months or in the state for one year is eligible to participate in the election this year. However, if some time before an election is held, a person will have lived in the county for six months, he will be eligible to vote.

New Lights At Schools In Perryton

PERRYTON — (Special) — Work will be completed soon on the re-wiring and lighting of the three Perryton school buildings, superintendent Gilbert Mize said recently. The local firm of Stubblefield and Kille has the contract for re-wiring the three buildings and installing new fluorescent light fixtures in all classrooms. Work was completed in the summer on wiring and installing the fixtures in the elementary building, and improvement was so noticeable that the school board decided to put new lighting in the other two buildings. All of the existing fixtures were of the overhead globe type installed 25 and 30 years ago. A survey was made of buildings last summer by a lighting engineer, who made recommendations. In some classrooms, light meters showed that the lighting was raised from 3 candlepower to 50 candlepower by the installation of the new type fixtures. There were 174 new classroom light fixtures installed in the north building during the summer. A total of 370 fixtures will be installed in the junior high school when the work is completed. Total cost of the project is approximately $15,000, which includes labor and materials.

Texas Hits Bottom Of Fund Bucket

AUSTIN — UP — Texas hit the bottom of its general revenue fund — the main cash barrel for operation of the state government — Tuesday. However, State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert quickly cautioned there was no cause for alarm. He said the deficit was seasonal, temporary and confidently predicted "no one will lose any money." The same situation occurred last year. "Nobody lost any money then and no one will now," he said.

Payment of $1,935,000 to the state's junior colleges pushed the general revenue fund $1.1 million in the red Tuesday. Calvert predicted the deficit will increase monthly, possibly hitting as much as $10 million by March 31. He forecast tax revenues will start a seasonal upswing about that time, and by May 5 the state should be operating in the black again. Multi-million dollar drains on the general revenue fund for operation of the public schools dwindle to a trickle during June, July and August. This also bolsters the state finances. The state had approximately $31 million in its general revenue fund on Sept. 1, the start of the current fiscal year. The next big outlay will come with paying of the state's employe payroll Jan. 31. That approximates $3 million. Last year banks agreed to hold the state warrants, at no discount. Employees got their money. Similar arrangements were expected this year.

Fog, Drizzle Leaving State

By UNITED PRESS A weak cold front that had little effect upon temperatures is expected to move out of Texas Wednesday and take the fog and drizzle with it.

Cloudy and cooler weather is forecast for the state Wednesday, but the skies are expected to clear up and the temperatures get a little warmer by the weekend, according to the Weather Bureau.

The only freezing expected in the state Wednesday night is in the extreme North central and West portions, with temperatures in the lower and middle 20's.

Low clouds and fog still covered much of North Central and North-east Texas early Wednesday, but forecasters said some spots began to clear at daybreak and the entire area should clear off before the day ends.

Temperatures overnight ranged from a low of 14 at Dalhart to the upper 40s and lower 50s along the coast and in South Texas. The freezing belt early Wednesday extended across the Panhandle and South Plains and the upper sections of North Central Texas.

Traces of rain were measured overnight at Fort Worth, Dallas, Texarkana and College Station, but for the time being, at least, the rainy spell seemed to be over.

Almost a whole week of precipitation, featuring the season's first snowfall, helped to ease the drought in Texas, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture's weekly crop report Tuesday.

However, most of the northwestern sectors received only light snow last week and this only extended the time in which the struggling dry-land wheat can survive, the USDA said.

But small grain and winter pasture prospects over the eastern half of Texas were "greatly improved" by last week's moisture, with frosts extending from Fairbairn west to around Eagle Pass, but only spotted and light rain fell in the lower Rio Grande Valley.

Livestock lost a little weight in the cold, rainy weather but otherwise remained in fair condition.

Fashionable Dallas Home Offered For Sale To Negro

By KYLE THOMPSON DALLAS—UP—Dr. Cosette F. Newton, who feuded with her neighbors over a ship in her backyard said Wednesday she will sell her home in a fashionable all-white Highland Park district to a Negro.

The neighbors are up in arms. Dr. Newton has hired a bodyguard. Her insurance company has cancelled her insurance policies on the house.

But the slight woman, who holds five degrees including one to practice medicine, said she doesn't care what the neighbors say.

To make certain, she said, that it is a Negro who will own her property she has willed it to the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Erected Fence Around It The fuss in the neighborhood started just after the end of World War II. Neighbors told Dr. Newton that her ship—30 feet across the beam and 70 feet from stem to stern—in her backyard was "an eyesore."

Dr. Newton's private air was next to her swimming pool. During the war she entertained servicemen at dances. At war's end she used it for an art gallery and to house flowers as well as to entertain her friends.

Despite a 10-foot fence Dr. Newton erected around the ship, the case was taken to court. Dr. Newton fought a losing battle up to issued to its employees a new set of instructions which borrow a leaf from the textbook of radio script writers. "Say it simply." In other words, write like you talk, but copyread it a little.

It's a new chapter in the government's drive against "gobbledygook," or the science of saying nothing in ponderous language. This science thrives among federal employees.

The postal service lets the world out that it would be happy if the help uses one word instead of two, if one will do.

The service has a long list of, for instance, Here are a couple with alternatives: "Above-mentioned" — "this" or "those" is better.

"Always," instead of "at all times." Things like that. It goes on and on. Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield's writing boys suggest:

"After careful consideration." Why not just say "after consideration?"

"At the present time." Why not say now?

"Enclosed herewith for your information." Better is "the enclosure gives."

"Hereinbefore," according to the postal clan should be eliminated.

"In the event of." The little old word "if" takes up very little space and says what it means.

"In the near future" also wastes words. What's wrong with "soon?"

The ban on city editors is the phrase, "Owing to the fact that." It is much simpler, and to the point to say "because of."

The Post Office Department would like to have its letter writers avoid the three-needle phrase "this is to inform you." If you aren't giving the man you are writing to some information, what's the use to waste his time and yours?

Avoid the phrase "the writer." Who else would be putting pen in hand?

"When you say 'you are informed' it is waste of words. If you didn't have anything to say, you could save your time and everybody else's by staying away from your writing machine.

Stock tanks, already at a low level in many counties, didn't get much runoff during the week as the precipitation fell slowly.

The five-day forecast predicts another dose of rain Saturday, however.

Reds Told They Lead In H-Bombs

MOSCOW—UP—Marshal Vasil Chukov told a congress of the Ukrainian Communist party Tuesday that "the Soviet Union is thermonuclear (hydrogen bomb) weapons."

In Washington, U. S. atomic officials said Soviet claims of H-bomb superiority are false.

Atomic Commissioner Thomas E. Murray recently described a U. S. H-bomb as "Soviet propaganda." He said it would be unfortunate if the Russians themselves believed any "false estimates they may have of our superiority."

Marshal Chukov is one of the Soviet Union's top soldiers, although he has not been in the public eye very much of late.

During World War II, he was best known as commander of the Russian 62nd army, which stopped the Germans at Stalingrad.

Later, he accepted Berlin's surrender and remained in the Russian zone of Germany in various occupation posts until he assumed the top military command there in 1949.

He was relieved of his German command in June, 1953.

Red Premier Resigns Post

LONDON—UP—The premier of the Soviet Union's biggest republic has resigned "to strengthen the leadership," radio Moscow announced Tuesday.

The broadcast said A. M. Puzanov quit as premier of the Russian Soviet Federal Socialist Republic, the central area which includes Moscow and most of what was Czarist Russia.

Puzanov was the second premier of a constituent republic of the USSR to fall in a week. Last Thursday Medhislovas Gedvilas was removed as premier of Lithuania. No reason was given.

Radio Moscow said Puzanov "has tendered his resignation in order to strengthen the leadership of the RSFSR (Russian republic) council of ministers."

"He is replaced by Hasnov," the broadcast said.

Western observers could not immediately identify the new premier.

FIRMS

Continued from Page One upon the 524 out-of-state insurance companies operating in Texas. However, the May 31 deadline will not apply to them. The information will be used, Saunders said, for future investigations of out-of-state concerns.

The "solvency call" will be made in a questionnaire which insurance companies will be required to fill out. This is in addition to regular financial statements for 1955, which the companies are required by law to make to the commission by Feb. 28.

Saunders said that "under no circumstances" will any company be relicensed "until it has passed the two-pronged test." All present licenses expire May 31.

Other Highlights 1. A Train County grand jury in Austin, investigating the scandal, heard closed door testimony from 9 a. m. until 2 p. m. by four state employees, headed by Insurance Commission Chairman Saunders.

2. Gov. Shivers called the latest Insurance Commission action "another positive, constructive action taken by the commission to weed out any companies not worthy of public trust and investment."

3. The McLennan county grand jury met in Waco Wednesday to study the affairs of the collapsed U. S. Trust and Guaranty Co., the fall of which set off the insurance scandals and whose president A. B. Shoemaker, tried to commit suicide.

The NAACP officer here has said the NAACP wants nothing to do with the case and has adopted a "hands-off" policy.

Tito To Permit Flow Of Arms TRIESTE, Italy—UP—President Tito has agreed to permit Communist Czech arms to pass through Yugoslavia to speed their shipment to Egypt, well-informed sources said Tuesday.

The sources said Tito and Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser reached the secret agreement during the visit to Cairo of the Yugoslav president.

The reported agreement would make Communist Yugoslavia a "clearing house" to facilitate Egyptian military contacts with the Soviet bloc.

The sources said Tito had authorized the shipment of the Czech arms to Egypt through the Yugoslav port of Rijeka on the Adriatic Sea. Rijeka was known as Fiume until it passed from Italian into Yugoslav hands in World War II.

TEEN TOPICS

By HELEN STEWARD

THIS, SENIORS, is your last semester at Pampa High School. The beginning of the new term Monday means that there are only 18 more weeks until that Golden Graduation.

This year's graduation will be golden in the sense that it will be the fiftieth graduation ever from Pampa High. The very first one was in 1906.

With the beginning of the new term, the social life has slowed down with a sigh after the strain of exams, the school is buzzing with business.

The office has been swamped with students wanting to change schedules or the ck up on credits. New classes have opened and new books issued. The newest class is in Algebra III. This is the first time such a course has been offered in PHS. Mr. Piaster teaches the class which consists mostly of senior boys.

The new class in tennis isn't very large, but with the clearing of the smog that clung over Pampa Monday and Tuesday, they will soon be practicing away and getting ready for the district contest.

A bus was chartered to take Harvesters basketball fans to Amarillo last night. A good number of students went along to support the Green and Golders.

If the quint can make the season and as good as did the Lubbock team last Friday night, we may be Austin bound again. Who knows?

For some people, it seems that the school day never ends with the 2:35 bell. They always have some activity to attend to — such as play rehearsals, Little Harvesters staff meeting, a Student Council committee meeting, or annual staff meeting. While their friends grab books and run out to catch a ride home, they wearily go on to their "seventh period class."

These are the students (and teachers) who make our school outstanding.

This week debaters are meeting "seventh period classes." They are getting ready for the Top of Texas Invitational Debate Tournament that they are sponsoring on Feb. 2.

Scheduled to participate in the tournament are Perryton, Guymon and Dalhart. The debates will be staged in classes on tournament day.

Another little-recognized group who spends long hours on extra-curricular activity is the girls' volleyball team.

The girls practice every day sixth period, and occasionally after school. Miss Betty Tom Riddle is their coach. Captains of the "A" team are Martha Rithaler and Barbara Pirkle. Delores Lovingsgood and Joy Vanderberg are "B" teams chiefs.

The girls' first tournament will be Feb. 23-25 in Big Spring.

THIS MORNING the student body got a view of their Student Council in action. The governing group staged their weekly meeting in assembly.

Also today, senior play tickets were issued for sale. Each senior has a number of them to sell. Prices are 30 and 75 cents.

The play is "Harvey," and it has a great cast of seniors. So be sure that you get your tickets soon from any member of the class.

Eight more days until the season opens — Twirp season, that is. Beginning Friday night, girls will be the aggressors and boys the coy things who have to sit at home and wait for the telephone to ring.

It is against the "law" for any girl to ask for a date without a Twirp license. They can be obtained from SC members, soon.

Profits from the Junior Class bake sale amounted to $116. So, we may have a very nice junior-senior banquet after all.

A lot of juniors worked hard to see that the bake sale was a success. Their efforts were not in vain, it seems.

Several Pampa High boys are participating in the local Golden Gloves tournament. Some of the "big boys" of the affair are Rabbit Ramirez, Gary Wilhelm, Tommy Rhoten, Richard Conner, Charles Snyder, Jesse Ring and Tom and Jerry Lamar.

Tonight is the last night of the fights that are being held in the junior high gym. Winners of the tournament will probably enter the competition in Amarillo next week.

In pills, like lies, it is not the size that matters, but the results it achieves.

Shamrock Sets Course In Marriage

SHAMROCK — (Special) — A class called, "The Bible, Courtship, Love and Marriage" is to be taught in the First Baptist Church annex in Shamrock beginning Saturday February 4 at 2 p.m.

This is an attempt on the part of Rev. H. L. McKinley, pastor of the First Christian Church, to help the youth in knowing themselves and understanding what the Bible teaches regarding the sacredness of marriage.

There will be no charge for the course except 25 cents for the cost of materials that will be available. Among books used in the course will be "For Better Not For Worse," by Maier; "When You Marry," "Before You Marry," and many others.

The first chapter studies will be "Know Thyself." Ways of knowing self and ways to improve self will be stressed in preparation for qualifying for the type of mate one might desire.

Forms for enrollment will be given to those wanting to take the course. All youth over 14 may enroll with their parents' consent.

IT DOESN'T TICKLE—Try as he may, this Italian youngster can't get a giggle out of his tickled victim. That's because the feet belong to one of the statuesque group of St. Francis and his Friars, which rises in front of the Basilica of St. John in Rome.

New School Plant Studied In Shamrock

SHAMROCK — (Special) — The problems concerning the building of a new school plant in Shamrock are being studied. Members of the board have traveled to see new buildings over Texas and Oklahoma before making a tentative agreement with an architectural firm.

A 27 acre site has been selected in the east part of town. The site, now owned by four parties, is being purchased at a cost of approximately $10,875. The tract takes the east line of the city limits and runs about one-fourth mile north from "Cemetery Road." It lies about equal distance from the north and south sections of the city. The acreage is large enough to accommodate any buildings that might be added in the future.

The Board hopes to submit a $600,000 Bond issue to the voters sometime in March. Tentative plans are to include a modern high school building, gymnasium and auditorium, as well as provide repairs on present grade and junior high buildings.

Estimated cost to taxpayers of the proposed bonds would be about 31 cents per $100 valuation. The present rate is 88 cents, which would make the total rate an estimated $1.19 per $100 valuation or an overall increase of approximately 35.64 per cent on the present tax bill.

Herbert Brashers and Associates of Lubbock, will have a representative in Shamrock the next few weeks working with local trustees and faculty members, learning the needs and trying to fit them into a satisfactory blueprint. His fee is entirely contingent on passage of the bond issue. If and when the bond issue is voted he would receive five per cent fee of the building contract price.

Family Is Reunited In Shamrock

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Four members of the Ferguson family, whose ages range from 81 to 89 years, were together for the first time in 36 years last week. The three brothers and a sister, who are the four remaining members of a family of seven children are: James F. Ferguson 89, of Albuquerque, N.M.; George W. Ferguson, 87, and Mrs. Phama Loter, 83, both of Shamrock, and Jess H. Ferguson, 81, who lives near Duncan, Okla.

The four Fergusons were born near Rover Post Office in Yell County, Ark. and moved with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert V. Ferguson, to Texas about 1875. The family settled in Parker County for six or eight years before moving some nine miles north of Weatherford in Jack County.

All the Fergusons are farm people. Mrs. Loter was among the early settlers of the Pampa Community, having moved there in 1902. Since a fall last August that fractured her hip, she gets around on crutches and spends much of her time in a wheel chair.

George Ferguson moved to Oklahoma in 1904 and made his home near Guymon until 14 years ago when he moved to Shamrock.

It was a great occasion for the brothers and their sister to be together after so many years away from each other.

X-RAY VIEWS OF X-1—These cutaway drawings show the interior of the Navy's four-man midget submarine, the X-1. The X-1 was designed primarily to test harbor defenses. In side view at bottom, two men are at the airplane-like dual controls, a third is working with sub equipment and a fourth is preparing to exit through a water lock, over which is located one of the two bunks on board. Engine room is aft, ballast tanks are forward. At top are template drawings showing: left to right: Engine room bulkhead with access doors and inspection windows; view of cabin looking aft toward dual control console; view of cabin looking forward toward periscope, oxygen tanks, crew comfort equipment and communications racks; water lock with crewmen swimming from escape hatch. Air conditioning adds to crew's comfort.

Governors Urge Unity In Race Issue

RICHMOND, Va. (UP)—Five southern governors urged unity of action by the South Tuesday in efforts to bypass or possibly defy the U.S. Supreme Court's decision on school segregation.

"Any action without unity won't be worth anything," Gov. J. P. Coleman of Mississippi told newsmen. "We've done too much talking and not enough acting."

Rep. Walter Sillers, speaker of the Mississippi House, said "we want as many states as possible—at least 13—to join in the movement to overturn the Supreme Court's ruling. Sillers said that he is sure that if the governors can agree on a unified plan Mississippi will go along."

Gov. Marvin Griffin of Georgia said Georgia is "for a strong resolution of interposition"—"interposing the sovereignty of the state in a declaration that the state will not recognize the ruling of the Supreme Court unless it is ratified by at least three fourths of the states of the union."

When it comes to Protection ... it pays to have the BEST

Evidently this wife doesn't believe in taking any chances.

It's unwise to take chances with insurance, too. Dependable insurance is one thing you can't buy when you need it most. After an accident or loss has occurred, it's too late to get better insurance if the policy you have proves unsatisfactory.

So don't gamble with "cheap" insurance. Buy only the BEST—and buy it today.
