

Hunger Riots Hit Italy

ROME—UP—The government Wednesday rushed food to southern Italy where hunger riots flared in seven towns and raging blizzards and the worst cold wave of the century threatened thousands with starvation.

The known death toll throughout Italy totaled 45 since the snow and cold rolled down from the north Feb. 1.

The specter of starvation hung ominously over tens of thousands in hundreds of mountain villages in the Apennines isolated by heavy snowfalls for as much as eight days.

Road, rail and telephone communications were out in hundreds of places. Automobiles, buses and trains were stranded by drifts up to 16 feet.

The government, struggling against the cold wave for which this country is not equipped, rushed 10,000 pieces of army clothing to the distressed areas. It allotted emergency relief funds to prefects, and authorized mayors to hire the unemployed to clear the snow which has been falling for more than 100 hours in some areas.

Real Estate Men Discuss Loans

A round table discussion on veterans loans and public housing administration was conducted by the Real Estate Board during the regular monthly meeting yesterday noon at Johnson's Cafe.

The discussion was headed by Quentin Williams and E. L. Campbell, who reported on conventions recently held in Chicago and Dallas. Ed Griffin, secretary, reminded board members that the deadline for paying of dues was set for Feb. 1.

Jim Arndt, newly elected president, presided at the meeting.

Members attending included: D. C. Bayless, Charlie Ward, Aubrey Jones, Aubrey Steele, Mrs. Geneva Henderson, Miss Jay Flanagan, Roy Sparkman, Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Ferrell, and Mrs. Jessye Stroup.

HARTFORD, Conn.—UP—The president of the National Education Association, J. Lester Buford, told a teachers' meeting: "Change that hair-do once in a while; I wish our teachers to look pretty. I wish I could." Buford is bald.

Washington Tourists Not Partial To Visiting The Capitol

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON—UP—The tourists who come into our town are more partial to old bones and old violins than to the White House and the capitol.

Henry Burroughs, president of the Gray Line sightseeing outfit which hauls over half a million visitors around the city each year, was talking.

He said that his people conducted a survey and found that the place where dinosaur bones, the remains of former whales and tired violins are kept—the Smithsonian Institution—draws other attractions. Three and a half million people go there every year.

"I hasten to defend the White House and the Congress," he said. "The Smithsonian is open a good part of the light hours most days. The White House is open to the public only a couple of hours a day. The Congress works only a few hours a day and is not in session for extended periods between sessions."

Anyhow, Burroughs gathers that the Smithsonian is popular because in addition to the bones and fiddles it shows such interesting things as the original gowns worn by the first ladies from Martha Washington to Mamie Eisenhower. Not to mention a fine collection of beetles under glass. Everything there is interesting.

The Washington Monument attracts over a million people a year, according to Burroughs, and the Lincoln Memorial almost two million. The White House averages about 35,000 a week when the gates are open to the public.

People asked the drivers of the Gray Line buses a lot of silly questions. Like "where is Lenin's tomb," and "does all of the paper money come out of the mint and can we see it?"

The drivers, bearing the patience of Job, tell the folks that Lenin's tomb is hidden behind a curtain, and that paper money is made at the bureau of printing and engraving and that the only mints in the United States are in Philadelphia and Denver.

Court To Speed Up Work Law

AUSTIN—UP—The State Supreme Court has voted to speed up its decision in an important case involving Texas' "right-to-work" law.

The court announced plans to proceed with a decision "in due course" in a suit brought to bar signing of a union shop agreement between the Santa Fe Railroad and 14 non-operating unions.

The action reversed an order handed down last Oct. 19 when the court ordered the case to be passed up pending a ruling by the U.S. Supreme Court on a Nebraska case.

The trial court ruling contradicted provisions of an act of Congress permitting union shop contracts and upheld the Texas membership or non-membership in a union may not be made a condition of employment.

represented points of law "to a considerable extent the same."

The State Supreme Court's order, handed down late Tuesday, was sought by counsel for the railroads, who said the Santa Fe case, appealed by the unions from the Amarillo trial court, was in many respects "substantially different" from the Nebraska case.

The trial court ruling contradicted provisions of an act of Congress permitting union shop contracts and upheld the Texas membership or non-membership in a union may not be made a condition of employment.

Why "Good-Time Charlie" Suffers Uneasy Bladder

Such a common thing as urines acting or drinking may be a source of mild, but annoying bladder irritations—making you feel restless, tense, and uncomfortable. And if restless nights, with nagging backache, headache or muscular aches and pains due to over-exertion, strain or emotional upset, are adding to your misery—don't wait—try Doan's Pills.

TV Is Both Horn Of Plenty And A Bottomless Stomach

By WILLIAM EWALD
NEW YORK—UP—TV is a bounteous horn of plenty or a bottomless stomach. It depends upon your vantage point.

It is a study in contrasts. It is a wooer of new talent, a creator of a new race of giants, a bestower of wealth and stardom. But it is also a fickle and sometimes ruthless glutton.

It has dropped multi-million dollar contracts in the laps of such performers as Milton Berle, Jackie Gleason, Martin and Lewis and Ed Sullivan. But it had tried to chew up others like Imogene Coca, Wally Cox and Red Buttons.

The first giant of television was Milton Berle. He engineered the "breakthrough." He picked TV up on his shoulders and carried it over the hump. He did it in 1948.

There were about 175,000 receivers in the nation that year. TV was a sometimes thing.

An Eight-Hour Show
"Back in 1947," recalls Berle, "I did an all-night telethon for a heart benefit on DuMont. I stayed on for eight hours without stopping. I got to like it."

"A little later that, the Texas Company decided to go into TV and I was approached by their ad agency and asked if I had any ideas. I said—'how about doing something I've been doing for 25 years—a variety-vaudeville show.' We put it on June 8, 1948.

"During the summer we started to gain momentum and that was it."

That first season, Berle did 39 shows on TV plus 38 more on radio.

"That first show cost $12,000," remembers Berle. "Now, my show costs $232,000—that's what it costs. During that first year, you could get a top performer for a few hundred dollars. I got Bill Robinson for $450 and Pearl Bailey for $350. Now, a guest gets $7,500, $15,000."

Berle is on only 13 times a season now, but he plans to cut it down to four appearances next season.

"I'm not a kid anymore. I'm going on 46 and I'd like a normal life. I've got a wonderful wife and home life and I'd like to give more to it. Right now, I'm really beat."

To Hospital After Show
Beat is a word you hear all over television. It is an exhausting medium. Martha Raye, for example, sometimes goes to a hospital for two days after her show—to rest and get some quiet.

"I don't move a muscle," says Martha.

One of the best known female clowns of our time, Martha is not reluctant to talk about her debt to TV. She began rolling in the medium in 1948-49 with Berle.

"It appeals to the ham in me—where else can you get 42 million people looking at you at once?"

But Martha, like all comedians, faces a problem—the danger of over-exposure.

"Once a month is the answer," says Martha, "then they don't tire of seeing you."

Over-exposure is the constant worry of the TV artist. It caught up with Wally Cox who starred as "Mr. Peepers" from July, 1952 to June, 1955.

Cox takes it rather philosophically. He lives in an east side Manhattan apartment and busies himself making furniture, jewelry and lamps. He took a turn in a Las Vegas nightclub last year and flopped.

"I've never liked nightclubs and they have never liked me," he says.

"What do I think about the draining powers of TV? Well, I'm not supposed to tell you. I think, you see, I've still got five and a half years to go on an NBC contract. But it certainly does give one pause, doesn't it?"

Perhaps today's contract is slightly overbid, but it isn't at all unreasonable. South should make his game contract against normal breaks.
East wins the first trick with the ace of hearts and returns a trump. How should South proceed?
If South can ruff twice in the dummy, he is pretty sure to make 10 tricks. The trouble with such a plan however, is that South must let the opponents take a club trick before he can ruff a club in dummy. The defenders will then lead a second trump, leaving only one trump in the dummy. Since South cannot manage to ruff twice in dummy with only one trump, he must give up this attractive plan.

Because short suits will not work, South must rely on a long suit. The idea is to establish dummy's long diamonds.
At the second trick South can win the trump return in either hand, but he must return a diamond and play low from both hands. If trumps are returned, South wins in his own hand, leads a diamond to the ace, and ruffs a third round of diamonds with a high trump.
This establishes dummy's long suit, and South gets to dummy with a third round of trumps to the jack. This draws all of the outstanding trumps and puts declarer in dummy at the same time. Now he can cash the high diamonds, obtaining all of the tricks he needs for his game contract.

Sweets Make A Hit On Valentine's Day

Serve something sweet to your Valentine and he'll be sure to show his heartfelt thanks for your thoughtfulness. This delightful confection called Peppermint Fruit-Jells makes a hit just as though Cupid aimed the bow himself. And you'll say some angel's been at work in the kitchen too, when you find out just how easy it is to make this tasteful candy. Sweet and smooth, with the consistency of gumdrops, Fruit-Jells have a flavoring of peppermint inside, all sealed up in a crusty outer coating of granulated sugar.

Peppermint Fruit-Jells
Yield: about 5 dozen candies (1-1/4 lbs.)
1 bottle (8 oz.) Certo fruit pectin
1 cup light corn syrup
1/2 teaspoon soda
1 cup sugar
15 drops red food coloring
1/2 teaspoon peppermint extract

Pour Certo into 2-quart saucepan. Stir in soda. (Pectin will foam as soda is added.) Mix sugar and corn syrup in another saucepan. Place both saucepans over highest heat. Cook both mixtures, stirring alternately, until foam has disappeared from pectin mixture and sugar mixture is boiling rapidly. (This takes about 3 to 5 minutes.)

Pour pectin mixture in a slow steady stream into boiling sugar mixture, stirring constantly. Boil and stir 1 minute longer. Remove from heat. Stir in coloring and flavoring. Pour immediately into 8x8-inch pan. (Or use 8-inch pie pan or round layer pan, or 9-1/2 x 6-1/4 or 10 x 6-inch loaf pan.) Let stand at room temperature until mixture is cool and firm (about 3 hours). Cut into 3/4-inch squares and roll in granulated sugar.

NOTE: If these candies are to be stored or packaged, let stand overnight at room temperature before storing, to prevent weeping.

HONEY SANDWICH FILLINGS
Use chopped dried fruits and nuts with enough honey to moisten. Use cream cheese softened with honey and grated orange peel. Use equal parts of honey and peanut butter with chopped raisins.

HOT HONEY LEMONADE
Combine the juice of 1 lemon and 2 tablespoons honey in a glass. Add enough hot water to fill the glass to within 1 inch of the top.

Lima Beans Accent Sausage Casserole

Nearly a half million hogs are still coming to market every week, reports the Agricultural Marketing Service.

With marketings so large, prices of hogs are running six to seven cents below a year ago, promising homemakers another month or more of pork supplies at the cheapest retail prices since the war.

Pork sausage is now so cheap that it comes to the table at lunch and dinner as well as at breakfast. Here's a main dish sausage casserole that combines with another plentiful food in this area — lima beans.

You'll need 1 cup large dry lima beans; 2 1/2 cups water; 1 teaspoon salt; 3 medium-sized carrots, sliced; 1/2 pound sausage and 2 tablespoons chopped onion.

Add the water to the beans, then boil 2 minutes and let soak an hour before cooking — or soak overnight if preferred. When you're ready to cook the beans, add the salt and boil gently for 30 minutes. Add carrots the last 5 minutes. Do not drain.

If you use bulk sausage, blend onion with it, shape into small patties and brown in fry pan. If link sausage is used, cut in 1-2 inch slices and brown with onion.

Add the cooked sausage and 2 tablespoons of the drippings to the beans.

Bake at 350 degrees F. (moderate oven) in a covered casserole until beans are tender, about an hour. If necessary, add water during baking.

Diced Pork, Corn Accent Soup Dish

Bowls of hearty, steaming soup served with thick slices of crunchy bread mean good eating for supper. This unusual soup is rich with diced pork and cream-style corn.

PORK AND VEGETABLE SOUP

1 1/2 pounds diced pork
2 cups chopped onions
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup catsup
1 10 1/2 oz. can mushroom soup
2 soup cans water
1 potato, diced
3 carrots, diced
2 cups chopped cabbage
1 No. 303 can cream-style corn
1/2 teaspoon celery salt
2 teaspoons Worcestershire sauce

Calling All Party-Givers

BREATHES there a lady fair who isn't a bit of a social butterfly. And oh how February brings out that yen for "partying". Valentine's Day seems to start the ball rolling. "Let's have a party", you suggest. And soon it snowballs into a party for 3 honorees... Cupid... Washington... Lincoln. All three so worthy of remembrance; why not merge all into one spectacular party? Be it for your bridge luncheon. Or the monthly supper club.

Decorations for this threesome blend perfectly. Hearts and cherries, hatchets and stars. Trim the table with cut-out symbols of all.

"Frilly" food belongs at this party. Stir up the most de-luscious casserole you can. Something along the lines of chicken and rice drenched with rich chicken sauce, (just a can of soup), and crunchy almonds. For salad, strawberry gelatin with fruit couldn't be more fitting. Top each serving of salad with a cream cheese cut-out... heart, hatchet, star, etc. Ring a patriotic note at the end... frozen cherry pies with coffee.

Cupid's Chicken Casserole
3 cups cooked rice
1 can (1 1/4 cups) condensed cream of chicken soup
1/2 cup milk
1 can (8-ounce size) -boned chicken
1 cup cooked peas
1 cup shredded cheese
1 cup diced pimiento
1 teaspoon grated onion
1/4 cup chopped toasted almonds
Drain the hot, cooked rice. Blend with remaining ingredients.

1/2 teaspoon curry powder
Cut some fat from pork cubes and fry out in a large, heavy saucepan. Remove pieces and brown pork cubes. Push pork to one side and cook onions until yellow. Add remaining ingredients.

Cover and simmer 1 hour or until meat is tender. 6 to 8 servings.

However inaccessible it is, don't jerk on the cord to pull a plug out. Get down on your knees, if you have to, and pull the plug itself.

Cookies Add Touch Of Orient To Meal

If you like to regale your friends with Chinese food, these cookies are a perfect end for such a dinner. And, thinking of just the family, they are wonderful to have around for the kiddies...real good with a glass of milk...also very nice with a fruit cup for dessert.

RICE AND ALMOND COOKIES

2 cups sifted flour
3/4 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 cup Cream of Rice, quick-cooking rice cereal
1/2 cup butter or margarine
4 ounces, blanched almonds, 1 cup
1 egg
2 tablespoons water
1 teaspoon almond extract

Sift flour, sugar, salt and baking powder into large mixing bowl. Stir in Cream of Rice. Add butter and blend in thoroughly with hands or pastry blender. Chop and add enough almonds to make 1 1/2 cup. Beat egg, water and almond extract together until smooth. Sprinkle over blended flour mixture, stirring with fork until dough comes away from sides of bowl. Knead until smooth and chill for 1 hour. Form balls about 1 inch in diameter. Place balls on ungreased cookie sheet and flatten with hand until about 1/4 inch thick. Press a whole almond into the center of each cookie. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees F., until golden brown, about 20 minutes. If you want a glazed cookie, beat 1 egg yolk and 2 tablespoon water until smooth, then brush over the tops of the cookies before baking. Yields about 48 cookies.

Prune Turnovers Are Easily-Made Dessert

Here's a delicious turnover for afternoon tea or dessert which can be made quickly and easily from these simple Woman's Home Companion directions: Make sweet pastry; roll out 1/4-inch thick. Cut into rounds with plain or fluted 3-inch cookie cutter. Remove pits and cut cooked prunes in half; combine 1/4 cup sugar and 2 tablespoons flour. Dip each prune half in sugar mixture; place on pastry round. Fold pastry over prune; moisten edge with water and seal all around. Prick top. Bake on ungreased cookie sheet in hot oven (450 degrees) about 15 minutes or until lightly browned.

Serve Bacon Muffins On Dreary Mornings

Hot, oven-fresh muffins spark appetites on dreary winter mornings. In this recipe for breakfast muffins, bits of crisp bacon are stirred into the batter, and tomato juice can be used as part of the liquid.

BACON MUFFINS

2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
3/4 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
6 slices cooked bacon, crumbled
1 egg, slightly beaten
1 cup milk or 1/2 cup tomato juice and 1/2 cup milk
3 tablespoons bacon drippings
Sift dry ingredients together. Stir in bacon. Mix egg, milk and drippings and add to dry ingredients; stir only until flour mixture is dampened. Spoon into greased muffin pans, filling cups 2/3 full. Bake in a 425 degree F. oven 20 minutes or until well browned. 8 muffins.

BIG THING IN LITTLE PACKAGE—This little (11.5 feet long and four feet wide) Italian car is bigger than it looks. It can carry six passengers comfortably. Or its four back seats can be folded to provide room for as many as a dozen pieces of luggage, according to its manufacturer. A 22-horsepower motor is housed in the rear of the Fiat "Multiple 600," a more spacious version of the popular Italian utility car.

British Labor Celebrates Birthday With New Battle

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Foreign Analyst
Britain's Labor party is celebrating its 50th anniversary by engaging in a new fight between its right and left wing factions.
Leftist Aneurin Bevan has declared war on rightist Hugh Gaitskell, who defeated him on Dec. 14 for the party leadership.
Bevan has no chance of winning. All he can do is to weaken the party in its role of official opposition to the Conservatives.
Hence the winter will be Prime Minister Anthony Eden, who only one month ago was under heavy fire by members of his own party.
Bevan, the fiery Welshman who is Labor's chief anti-American, has taken his lumps in the last few months. He seems pretty bitter.
Gaitskell defeated him for the post of party treasurer by a vote of more than four to one at Labor's annual conference last Oct. 11.
Then More Defeats
Next Gaitskell defeated him for the party leadership by 157 to 70 on Dec. 14 after the retirement of Clement R. Attlee.

Bevan then shot for the deputy leadership. James Griffiths, a fellow Welshman and onetime fellow miner, won that post last Thursday by a vote of 141 to 11.
Bevan went into rebellion. In a speech last Saturday, he accused the party leadership of using dictatorial methods. He said party leaders were betraying socialist principles. He denounced Gaitskell and other chieftains who favor a slowing-up of Labor's former sweeping policy of nationalization of industry.
"I know these words are going to get into trouble," he added. He probably was right. There is speculation that he may be thrown out of what is called the "shadow cabinet" of his party. That is the committee of Labor members of Parliament that decides on policy.
Bevan was expelled from the parliamentary Labor party—made up of Labor members of the House of Commons—last March 18 for rebellion. A motion to throw him out of the party itself was withdrawn after he promised to be good, and he was readmitted to the parliamentary group.
Off Once More
Now Bevan is off again. In his new rebellion, he probably will be able to number more than 100 "rank and file" party members among his supporters. They will vote against the Conservatives in Commons and against Gaitskell on party issues.
It is not a very happy prelude to the celebration of the party's 50th anniversary next Sunday.
Labor now has 176 members out of the 630 in Commons. Eden's Conservatives have 341.

Two men were elected to Commons as Laborites back in 1874. But it was in the general election of 1906 that Labor emerged in its present party form. In that election Labor won 54 out of 570 seats. With occasional setbacks, Labor increased its strength to a peak of 393 in the election of July, 1945. The once-dominant Liberal party was slowly crushed between Conservatives and Laborites. It now has but six seats in Commons.
Labor's weakness lies in its inability to impose party discipline. Unless Gaitskell can restore that, he is in for a rough time.

QUOTES IN THE NEWS

By UNITED PRESS
WASHINGTON—Sen. Harley M. Kilgore (D-W.Va.) in a letter to the Department of Justice demanding investigation of the desegregation riots at the University of Alabama:
"If our nation is to uphold the banner of democracy, it cannot under any circumstances permit such despicable incidents."
TUSCALOOSA, Ala.—State Sen. Albert Davis of Pickens county in Alabama's "black belt" on the University of Alabama riots:
"Yesterday was a great day in Alabama. This is a time to get mad and raise hell."
WACO — Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force Chief of Staff, on the success of the B-36 bomber and prospects for its successor, the all-jet B-52, in preventing war:
"We all hope the B-52 can do its job just as the B-36 did—that is, without dropping a bomb."

LOS ANGELES — Adlai Stevenson on the problem of racial integration:
"It is the spirit, not troops or bayonets, that will solve the problem of successful integration. We cannot upset habits overnight that are older than the republic."

CHICAGO — Basketball Coach Waldo Fisher of Northwestern, whose team has won one game and lost 14 — including the last eight straight:
"Confidence is what we need. A lot of it... one victory would give us a world of help, possibly so much we might break even on the rest of the schedule."

DENVER—Judge D. W. Bartlett on the televising of a Texas murder trial at which he presided:
"Under our guarantee of free speech, I see no objection to live television in the courtroom.
"I think it had a wholesome effect on the trial. The lawyers didn't give me any horseplay."

Ike Urges More U. S. Immigrants

WASHINGTON —UP—President Eisenhower urged Congress Wednesday to boost U.S. immigration quotas by about 65,000 persons a year as part of a 14-point program to liberalize the controversial McCarran-Walter immigration law.
He also called for legislation to prevent "depraved criminals" from "abusing" the right of appeal to the courts after they have been ordered deported from this country.

In a 5,800-word special message to the House and Senate, Mr. Eisenhower said the additional immigration quotas which he proposed should be "distributed among countries in proportion to their actual immigration to this country" since 1945. The effect would be to give a break to countries like Italy and Greece, which have long waiting lists of would-be immigrants to America.

Present ceiling on immigration is 154,057 persons a year. Mr. Eisenhower noted that this was "derived from a formula based upon the 1920 population." He said the country's "economic growth" since that time warrants increasing the ceiling to 220,000.
Despite the president's plea, chances for congressional approval of the program this year are believed to be slim.

Mr. Eisenhower also proposed:
1. Setting aside a "special pool" of 5,000 visas a year to be available for aliens "without regard to nationality."
2. Immigration quotas which are "unused by the countries to which they are allocated should be made available for use elsewhere," instead of becoming void as they do at present.
3. Giving the secretary of state and the attorney general authority to waive the requirement that every alien coming here on a temporary visit must be fingerprinted.

Deadlocked Over Issue
WASHINGTON —UP—The Senate Judiciary committee deadlocked Monday over Democratic proposals to appoint a special counsel to defend the government in the Dixon-Yates damage suit. After what was described as a "very hot" three-hour meeting, the committee decided to postpone a final decision until Feb. 20.

GM'S HARLOW CURTICE AND TURBINE CAR — "You can't set a production record every year."

City Views Auto Production Cut

More Character, Better Cars Is Detroit's Aim

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent
DETROIT, Mich. — (NEA) — This is the year for the auto industry to build more character and better cars.

That's the frank opinion of spokesmen for some of the big manufacturers commenting on recent production cuts.

Most auto company executives — especially those in charge of manufacturing — see this as one of the hidden gains of a return to the 40-hour week from the frantic over-time production race of 1955.

There's only slight apprehension here over the reported backlog of about 80,000 new cars still standing on dealers' floors and car lots.

In addition to wiping out over-time, the backlog is causing estimates of total production cuts of from 10 to 15 per cent below last year's all-time high of 7,900,000 cars. And total layoffs in the industry, here and elsewhere, were pushing 40,000 by the last week of January.

The big question in the industry is not production cuts, however. It's guessing what the new "production plateau" is going to be.

Before last year's startling record, the plateau was between five and six million cars turned out each year. Now the estimates run between six-and-one-half and seven-and-one-half million cars.

"You can't set a record every year," says General Motors President Harlow Curtice. He estimates the figure is to be seven-and-one-half million.

GM is backing this prediction with a billion dollars which it is spending to expand its car production facilities. This is also an all-time record.

Ford and Chrysler will spend more than a half-billion dollars each expanding plants as part of programs begun last year.

This should come as good news to many customers dissatisfied with the performance of 1955 models. Dealers and customers alike blame performance troubles on too much production last year. Sloppy work on production lines also brought a bumper crop of gripes due to there not being enough service facilities to handle all of the cars on the road.

Explanations of big producers added up to this:

"When you're forced to run your plants from eight to 10 hours over-time each week for an extended time there are bound to be difficulties. Workers become fatigued. This causes them to get careless and make mistakes.

"At the same time you don't have the opportunity to clean up adequately after one shift and prepare for the next one. Under this kind of production-pressure, inspectors tend to become careless. More mistakes are made and more slip by them.

"However, with a normal 40-hour week, for which production facilities are planned it is inevitable that the end-product will be better. And we will turn out better cars this year, too."

In addition there have been few completely new models offered this year. Last year most models were brand new, but most of the '55s are just "face-lifted" '55s, which gives manufacturers a chance to eliminate the "bugs" of the new models.

Along with this gain, Ford, GM and Chrysler this year hope to catch up with the drastic shortage of mechanics. This shortage is mostly responsible for the poor servicing of cars which last year became something of a national scandal.

GM has its $30 million mechanics-school program going full steam. Ford is also training thousands of new mechanics for its dealers. And Chrysler is announcing activity, too.

Hand Lotion Rated
Kitchen Necessity

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

A homemaker who doesn't keep a good hand lotion in or near the kitchen is one who somehow manages to avoid doing dishes.

Winter weather, soap and water, all too frequently administered, can turn the stoutest hands into chapped masses of redness and cracks.

A good hand lotion, one with a healing agent or a water-screen ingredient, can do battle with the elements and hold the line, even if only summertime really beautifies them.

Designed just for this time of year is a new plump bottle of a lotion with a chap-healing ingredent plus a favorite scent. This one comes with a squirt dispenser right on the bottle.

HONEY TOPPING TO USE ON FRUIT

3-4 cup of honey and 1-4 cup of thin cream. Mix honey and cream thoroughly. Freeze until firm.

The making of a pizza pie is no longer an exotic accomplishment. This housewife serves it to her family regularly along with other European dishes once nearly unknown in this country.

Growing Trend Is Toward The Serving
Of Foreign Dishes, States Food Broker

By GAILE DUGAS,
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Sick of serving stew and broiled chicken to your family? Want to try your hand at something new and different?

In a growing trend, more housewives are doing just exactly this every day. A matron in Texas gives her family pizza pie. A mother of three in the Deep South gives her family shish-ka-bab for dinner in place of fried chicken. An Irish housewife living in New York tries out lasagna on her family in place of corned beef and Irish tea.

People tend to cling to customs. It's true. But the curiosity about dishes from other countries can be accounted for in several ways. For one, the world is shrinking. For another, it's tiresome to serve the same kind of food day after day. For a third it's far easier to get the necessary ingredients for new dishes than ever before. And often, it's possible to cut time in recipes by using frozen or canned foods and taking other short cuts.

National origin will continue for some time to play an important part in the food choices of most housewives, according to Paul Sayres of Mount Vernon, New York, one of America's leading food brokers. He's made a study of food preferences in the United States, both for business and for fun.

It's next to impossible, Sayres says, to buy Hungarian salami in Portland, Maine or Belgian sardines in Albuquerque. That's because Maine has only 87 Hungarians while the Belgian population of New Mexico adds up to a mere 38. So if you're hankering for salami or sardines and you live in these respective spots, Sayres' advice is to move.

"We have a total of 10,161,168 foreign born living in this country," Sayres says. "And an additional 23,389,485 who have foreign or mixed parentage. The eating habits of these people are directly influenced by the country of their origin."

An Italian would be right at home in either Chicago or New York. Both cities have Italian sections where you can buy olives from wooden barrels, spices, imported macaroni and spaghetti, sausages of all kinds.

But if you're Irish, stay away from Cleveland, where there are only 4,229 Irish-born citizens in the population. New York has 141,723 and Boston has 27,737. In both cities, you can get Irish tea, corn-

Pampa News Women's Editor

PAMPA NOW HAS A GARDEN CLUB. Not for the first time, but for the first time since World War II when the old garden club was disbanded because the women's time was pretty well occupied with war work. Some of the members of the new garden club, organized Monday, are new, and some were members of the old garden club.

AT ANY RATE, I think is a wonderful idea. It will help make Pampa a prettier city and perhaps inspire Pampans to take more pride in their lawns, gardens, etc.

At the luncheon, Mrs. Pete Randall, who was elected president of club, gave a "Gardener's Prayer" for the invocation. It is a lovely thing, which I thought I'd pass on to you.

"Help us, O. Lord, to grasp the meaning of happy, growing things, the mystery of opening buds and floating seeds, that we may weave them into the tissues of our faith in eternal life. Give us wisdom to cultivate our minds as diligently as we nurture tender seedlings. Help us to weed out envy and malice as we uproot troublesome weeds, and give us strength to accept with serenity the things that cannot be changed, and give us wisdom to distinguish one from the other."

Speaker for the luncheon was Mrs. Tony Vaughn, a charter member of the Phillips Garden Club, as is Mrs. Randall. She closed her speech with a poem that I also liked very much.

GARDENING

Folks who make a garden,
Who love to weed and hoe,
Always seem less worried
Than other folks I know.

They also seem more gentle,
Their hearts with love abound,
You can almost tell such people
By the look they carry around.

Can it be that gardening
Plays a double role,
Fulfills creative longing
And cultivates the soul?
By Ruth Randolph Hueter.

SENTIMENT is in style the year-round — but along comes Valentine's Day, focusing a whole year's worth of sentiment on twenty-four romantic, heart-shaped hours.

If the sentimental side of your nature needs some brushing up, what better time than February 14? The Jewelry Industry Council points out that a Valentine's Day gift is like no other — it's purely from the heart, inspired wholly by affection. And who's to say it isn't appreciated all the more?

Such a gift need not be costly or frivolous. It can be as practical and down-to-earth as you please, because sentiment has a way of attaching itself to almost anything.

Each member may bring two guests, Mrs. Martin announced. Following the meeting, refreshments will be served.

For a fiancée, a diamond engagement ring, of course; Valentine's Day has been catching up with Christmas as a favorite time for presenting engagement rings. For a sweetheart, a karat gold or sterling.

Hopkins' PTA Sets Meeting For Tonight

The Parent-Teacher Association of Hopkins School will meet at 7:30 p.m. today in the Hopkins' Community Hall.

Featured speaker will be Harry Garrison, principal, whose topic will be "The Family Sustains the School." Mrs. Will Abernathy will talk on Founders' Day. The program will be under the direction of the fourth grade students. During the business session, a nominating committee will be elected. Hostesses will be mothers of third grade students.

Hand lotion is an absolute necessity in the kitchen. This young cook is using one with a healing agent.

collar pins and tie clips are designed these days with such variety that there is sure to be one to suit a man's individual tastes. Wrist watches, watch attachments, rings, cigarette cases and lighters, all are highlighted as thoughtful Valentine's Day remembrances, happily.

Showdown Battles Rage For Tournament Berths

IT'S A SMALL WORLD

By UNITED PRESS
Leaders in three major conferences — Atlantic Coast, Ivy, and Skyline — will be in jeopardy Thursday night as the college basketball season draws near the "showdown" stage in the battles for tournament berths.

Duke, ranked 10th nationally by the United Press board of coaches, risks its pace-making 8-1 Atlantic Coast record in a home game against Virginia. If the Blue Devils lose, they will drop into a first-place tie with North Carolina.

Columbia puts its perfect 5-0 Ivy League mark on the line in a home game against Dartmouth. A loss would still leave the Lions technically on top but would wipe out their all-important "lost column" edge on Princeton (3-1).

Skyline Lead at Stake

Brigham Young pits its 5-1 Skyline record against Utah State (5-2). A loss would drop the Cougars to second place and move

Utah State into the lead.

Teams bound for the National Invitation Tournament held the center of the stage Wednesday night, improving their records with important wins. These were Duquesne, Seton Hall, and Marquette, plus unbeaten St. Francis of Brooklyn, which has received an NIT bid but hasn't yet accepted it.

St. Francis racked up its 16th win by an 84-77 count over Bridgeport. The Terriers rank with national champion San Francisco as the only unbeaten major-college teams in the nation.

Marquette came through with one of the night's most dramatic wins, 90-81 over Michigan State in overtime. State could have won in regulation but Duane Frankovskik missed a free throw after the final gun had sounded. Six-eight Terry Rand, who led Marquette with 24 points, sparked the Warriors in a 13-point spree in the overtime session to set their record at 11-5.

Harvester Cagers Finish Season Play Friday Night

The Pampa Harvesters under the guidance of Coach Clifton McNeely, will be concluding their seventh successful season Friday night when the Amarillo Sandies come storming into Harvester Fieldhouse for the final Harvester contest of the regular season play.

The Green and Golds can clinch a division tie by dropping the Amarillo five and could win the last championship of the 1-AAAA district if either Amarillo or Lubbock can stop the tough Berger Bulldogs.

Presently the Harvesters are atop the standings with one more win than the Berger five but the district is expected to wind up in a two way tie with Pampa and Berger fighting it out in post-season play.

Borger is favored to defeat the Lubbock Westerners and Pampa has a very slight edge over the Amarillo Sandstorm. Pampa dropped the Sandies on the hardwood at Canyon by only three points and will have to be playing top notch basketball if they get by them here tomorrow night.

Amarillo, Lubbock and Berger have games to make up while the Harvesters will finish the season Friday night. The weather has caused cancellation of games between Amarillo and Lubbock and Amarillo and Berger giving the Harvesters the undisputed first place rank.

Tickets for the contest are on sale at the school business office at the present time and thus far they are moving slowly. Only 100 adult admissions had been sold by 9 a.m. today and the same number had been sent to Amarillo.

Student tickets are expected to go faster in both Pampa and Amarillo and unless tickets start moving faster tomorrow there will be plenty at the door Friday night.

Fans that plan to attend should make reservations though, because this is the last home game for the seniors of the Harvester squad as well as the last contest of the regular season's play.

Only if the Harvesters are tied for division honors will there be another game and it probably won't be played in Harvester fieldhouse.

Rice Owls Can Win In SWC

By UNITED PRESS
The third-place Rice Owls soared to an 89 to 72 victory over the cellar-dwelling Texas Christian Frogs in Fort Worth Wednesday night to remain in contention in the Southwest Conference race.

But leading Southern Methodist is still the team to beat and with a favorable schedule the rest of the way the Mustangs are odds-on favorites to repeat as SWC champs.

SMU has a 7-0 record and while second place Arkansas has a 6-1 mark, the Hogs still must play the Mustangs in Dallas. Arkansas also must play Rice at Houston Saturday and the Owls may get revenge on the Hogs for an earlier loss in Fayetteville, Ark. which gave Rice its second defeat after losing the opener to SMU.

Center Temple Tucker was held to his lowest point production of the season last night by a deep sagging defense thrown up by the Frogs, but Owls Joe Duranberger and Gerry Thomas took up the slack in the attack with 23 and 22 points respectively.

Dick O'Neal, TCU's one-man shotmaker, made 30 points to take top honors but was the only scoring threat the Frogs could muster. Tucker only hit nine points before fouling out mid-way in the second period.

After a slow start, Rice moved into a 45 to 34 halftime advantage and when a TCU rally moved to within seven points in the second half a 13-point scoring surge put the Owls safely out in front.

Conference basketballers enjoy a brief rest until Saturday, when all but leading SMU play again. Texas plays TCU in Austin, Rice takes on Arkansas in Houston, and Baylor faces Texas A&M in Waco in weekend games.

Corpus Christi Boy Dies In Spring Grid Work

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex. —UP— Justice of the Peace Patrick Dune indicated Thursday he will not return a verdict in the death of James Russell Brown, 16-year-old high school football player, until he has talked with the boy's parents.

Russell, a student at W. B. Ray high school, collapsed and died Tuesday after tackling a teammate in spring practice. He did not play last season because of a head injury he suffered the year before.

Bob Pettit Regains Scoring Lead With Last-Second Tap-In

By UNITED PRESS
A last-second tap-in goal had the double effect of helping Bob Pettit regain the scoring lead in the National Basketball Association and extending the St. Louis Hawks' winning streak to nine games.

Pettit slapped the ball in just as the final gun sounded in the opening game of Wednesday night's twin bill at Rochester to give the Hawks' a 111-110 victory over the Boston Celtics. Bob Cousy's hook shot with five seconds to play had put Boston ahead and seemingly clinched the game.

In other games, the New York Knickerbockers downed the Rochester Royals 102-97, and the Minneapolis Lakers drubbed Detroit 104-82.

Mike Souchak, Tommy Bolt In First Round Of Tucson

TUCSON, Ariz. —UP— Burly Mike Souchak, Grossingers, N.Y., and defending champion Tommy Bolt, Chattanooga, Tenn., pitted their records against a list of the nation's top professionals Thursday in the first round of the Tucson Open.

The first round began in the morning on a rain-soaked El Rio Country Club course. The 72-hole $10,000 tournament will continue through Sunday.

With Cary Middlecoff, Dallas, home finishing up a book on golf, Souchak was regarded as the man to beat. The former Duke footballer finished second to Middlecoff in last week's Phoenix Open.

In the condition of the course, however could make it a wide-open affair. Rain fell Wednesday during most of the pro-amateur event, and the course seemed to show the effects late in the day.

Bolt hit his stride here a year ago in winning the tournament, and can't be overlooked. Others expected to be top contenders include Gene Littler, Palm Springs, Calif.; Ed Furgol, National Open champ in 1954 and Lionel and Jay Hebert, both high finishers at Phoenix.

In addition to Middlecoff, Jimmy Demaret, Klamesha Lake, N.Y., was among others passing up the Tucson tourney.

Furgol, St. Louis; Art Wall, Pampa, Pa.; Bob Rosburg, San Francisco; Don January, Abilene, Tex.; and Bill Ogden, Chicago, all shot four-under-par 66s Wednesday in the pro-am.

A number of others broke par on the course, despite the weather.

Lonely Figure Tries To Sell Golf To Reds

By HAL WOOD
SAN FRANCISCO — UP — A lonely figure, with golf club in hand, will be knocking at the door of the Russian housing project in Melbourne during the Olympics next fall — with the avowed purpose of selling the game to the Reds.

The man's name is Robert L. Carlson of Healdsburg, Calif., who already has tried — and failed — in an attempt to get the Russians to take up the game of golf.

During the 1952 games at Helsinki, Carlson showed up, got an appointment to talk to some of the Russian sub-leaders — but never got any place.

"I am planning to take in the 1956 games at Melbourne," Carlson wrote to his guide at Helsinki, who happened to be Art Rosenbaum of the San Francisco Chronicle. "And I still hope to introduce golf to the Russians."

"It all boils down to a very simple idea. I would rather see a Russian come at me with a five iron than a pistol. Russia is the only major country in the world that does not have a golf course."

Rosenbaum recalls that the Russians welcomed the U.S. men at their camp in Finland, but laughed when the subject of golf was brought up.

"Do they play golf on Wall Street?" one asked him, indicating it was a game only for capitalists.

They would be surprised, of course, to see some of the laborers, ditch diggers, shoe clerks, jockeys, bankers and others playing the game in United States, as well as in many other nations.

When Carlson appears, carrying a golf club and a ball, at the Russian camp in Melbourne, he probably will be cordially received — but just how much co-operation he'll get in the way of attempting to promote the game is doubtful.

"The man in charge at Helsinki," Rosenbaum recalls, "explained he was on temporary duty, but would inform his superior in charge who would get in touch with us and probably arrange to play a game of golf on the Helsinki course."

"The super-man never did telephone. Maybe he was off his game."

Yankees Get McDermott In 'Pennant Insurance Trade'

NEW YORK —UP— The New York Yankees acquired Mickey McDermott in their "annual pennant insurance deal" Thursday and even the Washington Senators conceded the southpaw speedballer "will be a big help" to the defending American League champions.

The deal was the Yankees' answer to the key transactions swung earlier in the winter by their chief rivals — the Cleveland Indians, Chicago White Sox and Boston Red Sox.

"Mickey had told people in our organization he'd like to go to the Yankees," Senator President Calvin Griffith disclosed. "He'll help them quite a bit, too. He'll have an incentive to produce for them."

Never Real Stardom

McDermott had a 10-10 record with the Senators and ranked 14th in the league with a 3.75 earned run average last season. But he pitched only eight complete games and except for an 18-10 season with the Red Sox in 1953 has not reached the stardom predicted for him.

Manager Casey Stengel will turn over McDermott to Jim Turner, his specialist in coaching pitchers, in the hope that Mickey's control can be harnessed. McDermott struck out 78 batters last season but walked 98.

Tentatively, he is ranked with Whitey Ford, Tommy Byrne, Don Larsen and Bob Turley as the Yankees' starters.

The Senators also sent shortstop Bob Kline to the Yankees in acquiring catcher Lou Berberet, pitcher Bob Wiesler, outfielder Dick Tettelbach and infielder Herb Pless.

The Yankees also agreed to send a "mutually agreeable outfielder" to the Senators by April 1.

"This is the kind of deal we like to make," Griffith said. "The men Washington obtained all fit into our program of rebuilding around 'hungry' prospects. They're eager to make the grade as big leaguers."

Berberet was the International League's all-star catcher with Toronto last season, batting .265 and hitting 15 home runs; Tettelbach hit .309 at Denver and Pless batted .302 for the same club.

Baseball World Mourns Death Of Connie Mack Wednesday

Cornelius McGillicuddy Spent 64 Of His 93 Years In Baseball

By JACK O'BRIEN

PHILADELPHIA — UP — A nation of baseball fans, from President Eisenhower to the spectators who once cheered the world champion Philadelphia Athletics, Thursday mourned the passing of Connie Mack, 93, whose baseball fortunes plummeted from the dizzy heights of World Series victory 25 years ago to the depths of despair when his beloved club was sold 15 months ago, died at the home of a daughter in the Mount Airy section of Philadelphia.

CONNIE MACK ... dies at 93

Death Cast Pall Over Hall Of Fame

By UNITED PRESS
Connie Mack's death cast a pall Thursday even over baseball's Hall of Fame, which houses 14 immortals who once played under him.

Of those 14 Hall of Famers who once served under Mack, seven—Eddie Collins, Eddie Plank, Chief Bender, Rube Waddell, Herb Pennock, Nap Lajoie and Jimmy Collins—are dead.

The other seven—Ty Cobb, Bob (Lefty) Grove, Jimmy Foxx, Mickey Cochrane, Frank (Home Run) Baker, Tris Speaker and Al Simmons—joined the entire baseball world Thursday in mourning the "Grand Old Man," who is enshrined in the Hall of Fame at Cooperstown, N.Y., himself.

Cobb, who finished his career under Mack, called him "a kindly and fatherly man."

"Still a Shock"

"I never enjoyed playing so much during all the years I was in baseball as the last two under him at Philadelphia," Cobb added. "There's no one I ever knew who could say anything against him, and that is pretty rare in baseball. When a man reaches 93, you expect he will pass on soon but it still is a shock to know Mr. Mack is gone."

Grove, the fabulous fireballer who won 30 games during a 17-year career with the Athletics and Red Sox, said Mack "was the greatest man in the world."

"Nothing I could say about Mr. Mack would be great enough," he added.

Foxx, the No. 1 home run hitter for Mack's great Philadelphia teams of 1929, 1930 and 1931, declared:

"There will never be another man in baseball like him. He was a grand, grand old guy and his death is a tremendous loss to the game."

Cochrane, generally regarded the finest catcher ever to serve under him, remembered how he questioned Mack's choice of the Athletics' starting pitcher in the opening game of the 1929 World Series against the Cubs.

"Are you really going to start him?" I asked Mr. Mack. "Yes, he's sure going to start," he answered me. "Is it all right with you?"

Giants Sign Four Backs
NEW YORK — UP — Four of the outstanding offensive backs on the New York Giants last season—Captain Kyle Rote, Frank Gifford, Charlie Conerly and Alex Webster—all have signed their 1956 contracts with the club. The club also has signed seven of its 10 top draft choices.

The tall, white-haired "grand old man of baseball" passed away at about 3:30 p.m., a time of day when things were brightest for him in summers long past. Connie, a prime developer of the American League, was a picture of managerial efficiency as he sat ramrod straight waving his scorecard from the dugout. Veteran and rookie players alike hastened to change their positions in accordance with Connie's scorecard signals.

Daughters at Bedside
At Mack's bedside in his last hours were his four daughters and a grandson. His son, Roy, had left for home 30 minutes earlier after spending most of the day with his father. Another son, Earle, was confined to his home by illness and his youngest son, Connie Jr., was working at his shrimping business in Fort Meyer, Fla.

Praying silently as life ebbed were Mrs. Frank Cunningham, in whose home Connie died; Mrs. Rita Breedlove, Mrs. Elizabeth Nolan and Mrs. Mary Schurr. Rev. Joseph A. Cavanaugh administered the last rites of the Catholic church to Mack about three hours before he died.

Mack will be buried in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery here Saturday following a solemn requiem mass in St. Bridget's, his parish church in the East Falls section of the city. Among the honorary pallbearers will be baseball Commissioner Ford Frick, the presidents of both major leagues, and all 16 major league club presidents.

Ike Expresses Sorrow
One of the first to express his sorrow at Mack's passing was President Eisenhower, who said in Washington: "For decades Connie Mack has typified to the American people sportsmanship of the highest order. He will long be remembered by us for all the inspiration he gave American youth as a leader in the most American of sports."

Mack fractured his hip in a fall last October and never fully recovered. He had been confined to a wheelchair ever since and his last public appearance was three days before Christmas when he greeted newsmen and photographers at Roy's suburban Philadelphia home. The occasion was Connie's 93rd birthday anniversary.

During his reign for 59 years as head of the Mack baseball dynasty, the Athletics won nine American League pennants and five World Series. The last days of glory for the A's were in 1929-30-31, when they won the American League flag each season and captured the world championship in all but the last year. The St. Louis Cardinals, behind the brash base running of Pepper Martin, beat them, four games to three, that year.

Despite his advanced age and recent infirmity, there was little doubt the departure of the Athletics to Kansas City was the factor that drained much of life from Mack, who was owner-manager of the club for more than 50 years.

Mack was the manager when the A's were founded in 1901 and Connie won his first pennant just four seasons later. His teams won the World Series in 1910 and 1911;

the Boston Red Sox won it in 1912 and the Athletics came back with a world championship club in 1913. Mack's club also won the pennant the following year, but lost the series to Boston. Those were the golden days of Frank (Home Run) Baker, Chief Bender, Edie Collins, Rube Waddell, and Eddie Plank.

With the coming of the depression, the House of Mack began to totter in the early 1930's. Step by step, the great team was broken up. Connie was forced to sell such Hall of Fame stars as Lefty Grove, Jimmy Foxx, Al Simmons and Mickey Cochrane to pay the bills. From the home fans came jeers, but Mack hoped to build another winner before retiring.

He never succeeded and the A's deteriorated into a chronic second-division club without a hope of copping another pennant in Philadelphia.

Mack himself made the Hall of Fame in 1937 and at the time of his death he was honorary vice president of the American League and honorary board chairman of the Kansas City Athletics.

Born in East Brookfield, Mass., of Irish immigrant parents, Mack was christened Cornelius McGillicuddy, but he later shortened his name to fit in baseball box scores. He started out as a shoemaker, but turned to baseball as a youth.

Mack was a catcher in his playing days, although hardly built for the job.

But Connie will be remembered more as a director of ball clubs than as a player.

Teenage Girls Favored In Palm Beach Women's Open

PALM BEACH, Fla. — UP — Teenagers Ruth Jessen and Anne Quast, winners of the Hollywood, Fla., women's four-ball tournament last week, are favored in second-round matches of the Palm Beach women's amateur golf tournament Thursday.

Miss Jessen of Seattle, who whipped Jean Carlson of West Palm Beach 7 and 6 in the opening round Wednesday, is paired with Mrs. Norma Shook of Morgantown, N.C., while Miss Quast, who eliminated Nadyne Grannick of Milwaukee 3 and 1, meets Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore in what is expected to be the best match of the tourney.

Mrs. Shook advanced by defeating Mrs. Dana Brown of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., 7 and 5 while Miss Downey downed Mrs. Fran Emerson of Dayton, Ohio, 4 and 3.

Two 18 hole rounds are scheduled for Friday with the final 18 holes to be played on Saturday.

The only major upset of the opening round occurred when Jane Nelson of Indianapolis scored a 5 and 4 win over Mary Patton Janssen of Charlottesville, Va. Miss Janssen and Mrs. Glick were runners-up in the Hollywood tourney last week.

Ike Entered In Minnesota

WASHINGTON — UP — Minnesota Republican leaders entered President Eisenhower in their presidential primary without asking or getting assurances that he would go along, Sen. Edward J. Thye (R-Minn.) said Wednesday. Thye and other Minnesota GOP leaders put the President's name in the Minnesota primary last week. This action has not yet been acknowledged by the President. Mr. Eisenhower has his next medical examination scheduled early next week and his doctors will inform him of the results Feb. 14. The doctors' report on his recovery from his heart attack last fall is expected to weigh heavily in his decision whether to accept renomination.

 WILLIMANTIC, Conn. — UP — Paul Hanna, 49, was so entranced by new automobiles in a showroom that he walked through a plate glass window. A salesman said: "He didn't buy anything — he was just looking."

White House Staff Ignoring Pressure For Ike's 2nd Term

WASHINGTON — UP — Backstairs at the White House — Some of the White House staff are studiously ignoring the outside pressures developing on President Eisenhower to run for a second term. They say they want the President to make up his own mind first. And yet some of Mr. Eisenhower's closest friends are meeting several times a week in Washington, busy mapping plans for calling Ike votes this fall. The locations of the rendezvous are known only to police and a few top advisers. The doctors still don't want the President to amble around his Gettysburg, Pa., farm when there is an appreciable amount of ice and snow covering the ground. They don't like the possibility of his slipping.

Cadillac

His Favorite Investment!

"It's the wisest investment I ever made!"
 "I've owned a great many makes through the years, but Cadillac wins my vote as the finest investment of them all."
 "In my book, it is the best dollar investment on the highway today!"
 We can't tell you how many times we've heard it. In fact, Cadillac's value and economy have become favorite topics of conversation among Cadillac owners everywhere.
 And their sentiments are based on some very real facts about the "car of cars."
 First of all, there's the economy of buying a Cadillac. Many models are actually priced competitively with the so-called "medium-priced" makes.
 Then there is the economy of operating a Cadillac. Cadillac's gasoline mileage is simply phenomenal for a car of its size and stature... and its dependability and freedom from repairs are truly extraordinary.
 And, finally, there is the economy that comes from Cadillac's great value. In resale markets all across the land, the Cadillac car traditionally returns a higher percentage of its original cost than any other automobile built in America.
 And consider, for a moment, what generous dividends Cadillac owners receive from their investments.
 ... the great pride they derive from Cadillac's beauty and luxury... the pleasure that comes with Cadillac's performance and comfort... and the satisfaction they take in Cadillac's reputation among the world's motorists.
 We suggest that you pay us a visit soon and investigate the latest and finest Cadillac investment of them all.
 We have the car... and the keys... and the facts—and we'll be happy to give you all three at any time.
