Red Leader Turns Charms On England

LONDON — UP — Grinning Georgi Malenkov paused on a mid-town sidewalk Friday to wave his hat like a movie star at gaping, awe-struck shopgirls.

The former Soviet premier made his gallant gesture as he launched his tour of England under a British veil of secrecy and security that was decreed by both the Communist and free press.

He stepped from the big black limousine that drove him from the Soviet embassy to Central Electricity Authority building near the Oxford Circus.

A gathering mass of shopgirls and passersby gasped a chorus of "oohs." Malenkov, smiling broadly, acknowledged the greeting with a two-way sweep of his gray, snap-brim tribby.

On the trip through London's streets he craned in the car to see the western sights beyond the escort of police outsiders.

He peered with interest at the red-brick American embassy floating in the Stars and Stripes when his limousine rounded Grosvenor Square.

When Malenkov and his delegates walked into the centrally-heated Electricity Authority building, Malenkov insisted on stopping and shaking hands with everybody he met.

Scotland Yard maintained extreme security safeguards and allowed only a handful of carefully-checked reporters to go along with the roving Russian.

Identity Of Woman Still Confused

LULING, La. — UP — A "mystery woman's identity, once concealed by her coma and then her death from an automobile collision, Friday was again confused by a babel of aliases.

A funeral home shipped the bodies of cattle buyer Oscar Eugene Hoskins and his woman companion to Phoenix, Ariz., for burial without definitely establishing her identity.

Hoskins, 43, was killed instantly in the collision two days ago and the woman died Thursday without giving her name. Personal effects of the couple gave no inkling of her identity.

Hoskins' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hoskins, at Phoenix claimed both bodies in the belief that she was his bride. The funeral home at Raceland, La., released the bodies under that understanding, it was reported.

Authorities through a six-state investigation meanwhile traced the woman to Odessa, Tex., where police believed she had used as many as six names. The name apparently last used was Leona Wells Mantho, 45, Odessa police said. She was hooked at Odessa for drunken driving.

Hoskins, 43, Washburn, Mo., was quickly identified by his papers and a packet of money orders in his car totaling $17,500. Police also found a blank marriage license in the car.

Chief Deputy Sheriff P. D. Lorio Jr. said a tavern owner near the accident scene in Boutte, La., told him the couple had been in "for a beer or two" and said they were celebrating their marriage.

Action Is Hurried To Avert Mid-East War

Curfew Set On Cyprus

NICOSIA, Cyprus — UP — British authorities Friday clamped a 24-hour curfew on the towns of Limassol and Kato Zodia. The action placed their 76,000 inhabitants under virtual house arrest.

Under such curfew housewives may venture forth only for a few minutes at the noon hour to buy groceries.

In Nicosia, police rounded up 60 persons including 10 women for questioning on recent murders in the capital city.

The stern measures were ordered in reprisal for bomb throwing and stone hurling incidents against the British army now engaged in tracking down the murderers of a British police sergeant.

Limassol, one of the major ports of Cyprus, has a population of some 75,421. Kato Zodia is a village of 1,700 in an agricultural district 20 miles west of Nicosia. Both have been the scene of recent anti-British outrages.

The British authorities took similar action Thursday against the 16,000 residents of Larnaca, a port city 23 miles southeast of Nicosia.

The 24-hour curfew there was lifted Friday.

The curfew at Larnaca was imposed to prevent Cypriot retaliation for the killing of a 7-year-old Cypriot. The town was described as a "powder keg," its pent-up indignation ready to explode for the shooting of the boy on Wednesday. Residents could leave their homes only once a day for food and water.

In Nicosia itself British paratroopers patrolled the center of the city for the third straight day in expectation of new outbreaks against British arrest and deportation of Archbishop Makarios, leader of the Cyprus union-with-Greece movement.

NAACP To Picket Speech By Shivers

HOUSTON — UP — Houston Negro leaders said Friday 300 Negroes will picket Texas Southern University Sunday when Gov. Allan Shivers speaks at the inauguration of a new university president.

Attorney Francis L. Williams, president of the Houston chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said "we intend going about this picketing in a prudent and lawful manner."

Shivers, a leader of Texas conservative Democrats, had vigorously backed the doctrine of interposition to stop "federal encroachment" on states' rights.

Shivers will deliver the main speech at the inauguration of the S. M. Nabrit as president of the all-Negro university. The NAACP attacked the governor because of his "publicly declared views on integration in public schools."

Thursday night about 100 Negroes attended a meeting in the small Mt. Zion Missionary Church and voted to picket Shivers' appearance. The meeting was called by the executive board of the Houston NAACP branch.

Williams asked those present if they felt the boycott should be "active or passive." The NAACP had earlier urged Houston Negroes to stay away from the appearance, but there was no talk of picketing until Thursday.

All but two or three persons at the meeting voted for picketing when Williams asked for a show of hands. One of those not voting for the plan was a young woman who declined to identify herself, but said she was a student at the university and feared she would be expelled if she joined the boycott.

Williams said the NAACP is right to say anything he desires to say, but that "we also have a right to boycott his speech and to influence other people not to attend and listen to a man who has publicly declared he will do everything in his power to abridge the rights of the Negro citizens and their children in this state."

U. N. Move Favored Despite Opposition By Hammarskjold

By DONALD J. GONZALES
WASHINGTON — (UP) — The United States Friday hurried plans for United Nations action to prevent a drift toward war in the Middle East.

High administration officials said the UN action was being favored by the United States despite reported opposition to such a move at this time by UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold.

Officials said no final decision had been made on the kind of UN action the United States and its allies would recommend. But the United States was reported favoring these moves by the Security Council:

1. A blunt warning to both Israel and the Arabs against provoking new incidents or taking action that could start a large-scale war.
2. A promise of tough UN action to punish an aggressor. Military, economic, diplomatic sanctions might be invoked.

A thorough review of U.S. Middle Eastern policies, including fresh study of Israel's arms request, was slated to be speeded by the return to Washington Friday of Assistant Secretary of State George V. Allen.

Allen, who is in charge of Middle Eastern affairs, has been touring Asia with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. He left Dulles in Ceylon to return home for top policy work. Dulles will return next Wednesday.

Officials studying secret dispatches from the Middle East were downcast over prospects of keeping peace in the area. New Arab-Israeli incidents, military preparations by both sides, and "a dangerous rise in emotions" have led to the open pessimism.

(Israel sources said earlier this week that the Arabs might seize on Israel's resumption of work on the vast project as a "pretext" to start an Israeli-Arab war. American efforts to reach Arab-Israeli agreement on a joint irrigation project failed.)

Nasser Sounds Warning

CAIRO — UP — President Gamal Abdel Nasser warned Friday that any Israeli attempt to divert the Jordan River for irrigation purposes would touch off a general war in the Middle East.

He told a group of visiting American newspaper editors and publicists that such a move would violate the armistice agreement between Syria and Israel and noted the joint defense pacts among various Arab states.

The Jordan River flows between the Sea of Galilee and the Dead Sea. Nasser said Israeli irrigation plans would cost Jordan and Syria 40 million cubic yards of water and the "result would inevitably be war."

Coed's Slayer Is Still At Large For The Fourth Day

ALVA, Okla. — UP — The killer of 22-year-old Ann Reynolds was at large for the fourth day Friday as a carnival atmosphere spread over this northwest Oklahoma college town which was shocked by her grisly murder last Tuesday.

Mrs. Reynolds' former classmates at Northwestern State College enjoyed a holiday from classes because of a district teachers' meeting, expected to attract some 700 educators.

Meanwhile, Woods County Sheriff Ed Doctor and six State Crime Bureau agents pressed their search for clues to the identity of the slayer who ravished the pretty coed, then buried her alive.

Will Be Buried Saturday

At the same time, relatives completed funeral arrangements. Mrs. Reynolds will be buried Saturday following services at 2:30 p.m. at Dale Carnegie Course Now organizing at Pool's 8:30 p.m. Friday Ph. 4-2690 or 4-6887 Public Invited. (Adv.)

Solons Wade Into Farm Amendments

By DAYTON MOORE
WASHINGTON — UP — Weary, disinclined senators waded into a stack of proposed amendments to the farm bill Friday in an all-out drive to complete action on the measure Friday night.

The Senate started debate on the bill 23 days ago and had acted upon virtually all major controversies involved. But some senators insisted upon making last-minute speeches on their pet proposals, if only for the record.

And some of the amendments promised to stir up additional floor fights. These included proposals to make participation in the proposed $1.2 billion soil bank mandatory; to knock out a provision that would guarantee small cotton farmers a minimum acreage to plant to the crop and to eliminate a provision that would increase dairy price supports.

Start Session Early

Leaders held the senate into session for 12 hours Thursday, until 10:07 p.m. est, and called it back at the unusually early hour of 9 a.m. Friday in a push for a final vote.

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson promised "to make every effort possible" to finish the measure Friday. And Senate GOP Leader William F. Knowland said "we should be able to finish it."

As it now stands, the much-debated legislation would provide for the administration-backed $1.2 billion soil bank, continuance of the dual parity formula, two-price systems for rice and wheat, and a freeze on cotton acreage. In effect, the bill also would continue ad-movement has exceeded our wildest dreams."

Citizens' Councils Potent Segregation Agency

Patterson estimates the councils have between 80,000 and 100,000 members in Mississippi alone. Other states where they are strongest are Alabama, Louisiana, South Carolina and Georgia.

Along the organizing route the WCC has been accused of knocking on the cloak of the old Ku Klux Klan and of wielding economic boycotts against Negroes working for integration.

Bulk A Cross Section

The councils undoubtedly have present or former Klansmen on their rolls, plus other elements not adverse to force as a means of preserving segregation. But the bulk of the membership appears to be a cross section of white Southerners, ranging from governors and legislators to street sweepers, from mechanics to bankers.

It is difficult to find a community in the Deep South that doesn't have its council. Those towns that don't are bombarding state headquarters to send someone to organize one.

Just what is this citizens' council?

A typical unit in a small Mississippi town might have from 20 to 100 members. The mayor, the chief of police, the town lawyer, the bankers and most of the merchants probably are members. The local chapter sends $1 per member to state headquarters for operational expenses. Individual dues range from $3 to $5 a year.

Patterson defines the WCC as an "education group." He defends it against accusations that it uses such weapons as economic boycotts. But he acknowledges that individuals might employ such tactics.

To Educate People

"Our only purpose is to educate the people," Patterson says. "We publish and distribute literature about the NAACP, for example. We never advocate use of economic boycotts against anyone. But we also would never condemn an individual who used his freedom of choice concerning an employe or a customer after reading the truth we give him about the NAACP."

Patterson, who has a plantation where 35 Negro families live and work, devotes all his time to council work. From his office in Greenwood near here, a secretarial staff mails thousands of pamphlets all over the South and to such other states as New York, Ohio, California and Colorado.

"We are making friends everywhere," Patterson says. "Most people in the North are not interested in forcing integration on the South than most Southerners want to force segregation on the North."

The WCC has pretty well stilled voices of opposition. Middle-of-the-roads in southern communities fear reprisals in the way of social or business boycott. Most office holders are very cagey about being quoted on the segregation issue unless they are 100 per cent for the WCC platform.

Irish Abound As Big Day, St. Patrick's, Comes Around

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON — UP — I reckon the sensible thing is to do up with a little bit of green in the lapel of the coat and on the shoulder of the gown.
Because soon it will be St. Patty's Day. The laddies will be a-marchin' down Fifth Avenue in New York, with the old-timer's droppin' off two by two for a spot of old Irish stuff so's they can carry on the march.
Well, according to the National Geographic Society, Uncle Sam can be proud, indeed, of the Harigans and the O'Tooles and the rest.
For the men and colleens who wear the green first planted a spade in the spot in old Virginia that now is known as Newport News back in 1621.
Old Oliver Cromwell had something to do with that because he shoosed the Irish away from their homeland. And then, after 1700, along, came the big rush of Catholics and Presbyterians who found asylum in Massachusetts. But the general court there held in 1720 that "certain families recently arrived from Ireland" ought to move on.

Some did, to Maine and New Hampshire where some grew up to vote Republican. Those who went by caravan to stake claims in Londonderry, N. H., are credited, true or not, with introducing the white or Irish potato.
A look through the postal guide shows that the wearers of the green were right busy for a long time planting more than 7,000 Irish names on the map of America. There are, for example, 24 Dublins and 21 Waterfords.
You can like it or not, but the Irish are all over the place and always have been.
You can go into the government and on down to the common council level and find battalions of 'em.

Labor Group Plans Political Program

AUSTIN—UP—A massive Texas political action program was planned Friday by a newly formed organized labor group known as the Texas Committee on Political Action (COPE).

The state CIO and AFL merger committee said the new body was an interim group that would coordinate combined union activity in Texas until completion of a full state merger of CIO and AFL organizations.

The combined unions have a total state membership of 400,000, a committee spokesman said.

He also announced that the merger group has made "progress in the negotiations for final merger." He said its next meeting would be March 26-27 in Austin.

He said committee members expected to complete the merger by June. The national CIO and AFL have already voted a nationwide merger.

The new Texas COPE, when fully organized, will include co-chairmen and co-secretaries of the present AFL and CIO state political groups. The AFL and CIO will then name five additional members each.

Kim Novak To Decide About Her Marriage This Summer

By ALINE MOSBY
HOLLYWOOD—UP—Kim Novak has decided she'll make up her mind about marrying wealthy Mac Krim by the end of summer—but her friends are betting those old Cupid-killers—career and a big movie studio—are conspiring to make her say no.

The romance of the new blonde star and the handsome investor has become a real-life Romeo-Juliet story.

Kim says, "I'm going to the Cannes Film Festival next month. Within a few months after my return I'll make up my mind about Mac."

But the story behind this has a better plot than some of her pictures.

Kim, a quiet, sweet girl from Chicago, met Krim, a fellow Chicagoan, in Hollywood when she was an unknown. The couple, both Catholics, fell in love with family approval. Then her career blossomed when an agent got her a contract at Columbia Pictures.

The beautiful blonde was given star billing in her first picture, "Pushover." Then came "Pitt." Recently a true star was born when she splashed across the screen in "Picnic" and "The Man with the Golden Arm."

Kim is an example of a star manufactured by a studio, as opposed to one who makes the grade first on Broadway or TV. The studio wants to protect its investment. And young females rise faster as single girls.

"As far as publicity is concerned, it's better she's single and goes out with actors," one studio worker explains. "Naturally studio executives suggested she'd be wise to stay single for a while."

Some times she rebelled against the studio. She asked Mac to be her middle man in talks with executives about her career. And if you look closely at the dressing room scene in "Picnic," you'll see "KN loves MK" carved on the wall.

"Kim did that to needle the studio," a friend chuckles. But recently a new obstacle has complicated the problem. Since "Picnic," Kim has discovered she's a big star.

"She's beginning to enjoy this

HOUSTON—UP—A 14-year-old boy, an honor student who has never made less than a B in grades, confessed Friday to setting at least six fires "just for kicks."

"Things were getting pretty dull," the youth told police. "I needed some excitement."

The brown-haired, polite quiet-mannered home student admitted setting fires to the Carnegie Branch Library, the Marshall Junior high school and a vacant house last Friday. He said he set fires at two other vacant houses and an occupied apartment house last Feb. 11.

"I didn't want to hurt anybody," he said. "I was always careful to set the fires in vacant buildings. I thought the apartment house was unoccupied."

The building was occupied by one family but all escaped unhurt. The youth said he hid nearby as firemen battled each blaze.

Total damage in the six fires amounted to about $150,000.

Jury Returns Indictment In Canadian

The Hemphill County Grand jury returned one indictment yesterday morning in Canadian Alva Bowen, alias Bob Davison 44, of Erick, Okla., was charged with swindling with a worthless check. He pleaded guilty and was sentenced to six years in the penitentiary. Bowen wrote a check in the amount of $700, made out to Hobdy Motor Co. of Canadian on March 1.

With this $700, he bought a '52 model Dodge and had about $15 left over, according to Bill Waters, district attorney. He was arrested one hour after the transaction.

Bowen had spent six years in penitentiaries four times before outside of the state. He had been out since Feb. 16 1956.

Kim Novak To Decide About Her Marriage This Summer

By ALINE MOSBY
HOLLYWOOD—UP—Kim Novak has decided she'll make up her mind about marrying wealthy Mac Krim by the end of summer—but her friends are betting those old Cupid-killers—career and a big movie studio—are conspiring to make her say no.

The romance of the new blonde star and the handsome investor has become a real-life Romeo-Juliet story.

Kim says, "I'm going to the Cannes Film Festival next month. Within a few months after my return I'll make up my mind about Mac."

But the story behind this has a better plot than some of her pictures.

Kim, a quiet, sweet girl from Chicago, met Krim, a fellow Chicagoan, in Hollywood when she was an unknown. The couple, both Catholics, fell in love with family approval. Then her career blossomed when an agent got her a contract at Columbia Pictures.

The beautiful blonde was given star billing in her first picture, "Pushover." Then came "Pitt." Recently a true star was born when she splashed across the screen in "Picnic" and "The Man with the Golden Arm."

Kim is an example of a star manufactured by a studio, as opposed to one who makes the grade first on Broadway or TV. The studio wants to protect its investment. And young females rise faster as single girls.

"As far as publicity is concerned, it's better she's single and goes out with actors," one studio worker explains. "Naturally studio executives suggested she'd be wise to stay single for a while."

Some times she rebelled against the studio. She asked Mac to be her middle man in talks with executives about her career. And if you look closely at the dressing room scene in "Picnic," you'll see "KN loves MK" carved on the wall.

"Kim did that to needle the studio," a friend chuckles. But recently a new obstacle has complicated the problem. Since "Picnic," Kim has discovered she's a big star.

"She's beginning to enjoy this

Still Want The U.N.?

As always, it is difficult for us to see why so many persons are willing to pour out praise and adulation of the United Nations when they themselves have no real idea of what the U.N. and especially its various agencies are promoting, advocating and hoping to inflict on us.

One of the specialized agencies of the U.N. is the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) about which there has been considerable written in an attempt to alert the American people to its dangers.

Another specialized agency of the U.N. is the World Health Organization (WHO) of which there has been considerable less publicity given than has been given to UNESCO. The director of WHO is a man named Brock Chisholm, a Canadian.

So that we may know a little about WHO, let's see what sort of beliefs the director general, Chisholm, holds. If the following isn't sufficient of a shocker, then we have become a callous nation, indeed.

Chisholm, in an article for Weekend Magazine, Vol. 4, No. 10, 1955, published by the Toronto (Canada) Telegram, says:

... a man who fathers six Canadian children is an indifferent fellow who ignored his responsibility as a citizen of the world. There is nothing admirable in competing with rabbits. This is not man's function. If everyone would become an advocate of birth control instead of envying the man with six children; if we voluntarily allowed our Canadian birth rate to fall and increased our population by immigration this would have a most reassuring effect upon the people of over-populated countries. If we can afford to, it is permissible to have a large family — only have it the WORLD CITIZEN'S WAY (caps supplied) — produce a few babies of your own and adopt the rest from other countries where they have some to spare. Canada should start a large scale adoption program of children from other countries instead of having their own. It would have a very good side effect, too, if the children have brown or yellow skins. As far as I am concerned, the sooner we are all interbred the better."

This is the thinking (?) and belief of the director general of one of the United Nations top agencies. Do we want to subscribe to such a belief? Do we want to spend our tax dollars for support of such thinking?

It ought to be noted that, in typical fashion of U.N. advocates he puts Christian Canadians in the position of being at fault. The error, as Chisholm sees it, lies not with the "overpopulated countries" but with the Canadian families. He does not suggest that there be a reduction in the birth rate in the "innocent" countries but that the Canadians should reduce their own birth rate and take in those children from the over-populated nations.

We hope that the publication of Chisholm's remarks will bring more understanding of the U.N. and its specialized agencies. The next time you hear someone attempting to defend the U.N. or the agencies, keep in mind what Chisholm of the World Health Organization has to say.

As we recall it, several of the honorary committee members who served recently in promoting the celebration of the 10th anniversary of the U.N. are members of the Catholic clergy. We can't help wondering just how they can reconcile their religious views on birth control with those of Mr. Brock Chisholm. We are beginning to wonder if the alleged support of Catholics for the U.N. isn't one of those cases in which names and the prestige attendant upon those names are used without consent or knowledge of those involved by the international crew who now want to manage everything, including babies.

ECONOMIC IGNORANCE IS DYNAMITE

FRED G. CLARK AND R. S. RIDMANOZY (Christian Economists)

Most Americans believe that business makes too much money. At the same time, most American believe that business does not make enough money to make it worth while for them to invest their savings.

Impossible as it sounds is proven by a recent nation-wide Opinion Research Corporation study which asked whether the amount collected for the owners of business was "too much" in comparison to the amount collected for the employees.

50 per cent said it was too much. 41 per cent said it was not too much.

9 per cent said they had no opinion.

The second statement is proven by the recent study of the Bureau of Economic Research of Marquette University which asked a cross section of 9,000 Americans: "How much return on each dollar of sales do you believe a company should make before you would consider investing a part of your savings in the company stock?"

47.9 per cent specified less than 5 cents.

24.7 per cent specified between 5 and 15 cents.

23.6 per cent specified more than 15 cents.

4.7 per cent had no opinion.

This direct contradiction could appear only in a nation where the majority of citizens are economic illiterates.

What Is the Truth?

What do you suppose would have happened to these answers had these people known the truth before they answered the question?

Here is the truth: even the most successful of American corporations average less than 8 cents of each sales dollar in net earnings.

This truth would have made a huge difference among the 50 per cent who believe that American business firms make "too much."

It would also have caused a big change in the 9,000 answers to how much should be made before you would invest "because it would have demonstrated the smallness of the margin required to produce the net income needed to pay attractive dividends as well as build up the company with ploughed-back earnings.

Freedom in Truth Considering the ignorance of the majority of the American public concerning the arithmetic of what gets how much for doing what in the American system of private competitive enterprise, we sometimes wonder why socialism is only a creeping menace instead of a galloping conqueror.

One thing is dead certain: it is up to the minority who know the truth to spread it to the majority who do not.

Only the truth will set us free from the bondage of uninformed prejudice.

The Right Of Property— A Refutation Of Socialism And Communism

VII.

Under the chapter called "On The Employment of Man's Faculties, or Labour," Adolphe Thiers, in his great book, "The Rights of Property: A Refutation of Communism and Socialism," — as badly needed now as 100 years ago-writes:

"Showing. — That by the exercise of man's faculties there is produced a second property, which has labour for its origin, and which society protects for the benefit of all. "A man has, therefore, very unequal faculties, relatively to certain members of his race, but which are indispensably his own. Now what shall he do with them? Has God given them to him, like song to the bird, that he may sing uselessly in the woods, occupy his idleness, or excite the reveries of the solitary wanderer? One day, perhaps, his voice may be that of a Homer or Tasso, a Demosthenes or Bossuet; but I, meanwhile, God has imposed on him other cares than those of describing nature, or deploring the fall of empires. He has destined him to labour, to labour severely, from sun-rise to sun-set, to water the earth with the sweat of his brow.

"Nudus in nuda humo, — such is the state in which man was placed on the earth, says Pliny the Elder. By dint of labour man provides for his necessities. He must clothe himself, by tearing from the lion or the tiger the skin which covers them, to hide his own nakedness; then, as arts are developed, he must spin the fleeces of his sheep, and, weaving the yarn together, form a continuous web to serve him as a garment. This is not sufficient: he must shelter himself from the changes of weather; construct a dwelling in which he may counteract the irregularities of the seasons, ward off the torrents of rain, the heat of the sun, and the sharp frosts of winter. After having attended to these cares, he must eat, every day, several times a day, and, while the animal, deprived of reason, but covered with feathers or fur as a protection, finds, if it is a bird, ripe fruit hanging on the trees, if it is a beast of prey, his food prepared in the animals of the pasture, — man is obliged to procure provisions by making them spring out of the ground, or by disputing their possession with animals stronger and fiercer than himself."

"By dint of these cares, man ends by existing, existing tolerably well; and, with God's help, many revolutions taking place on the earth, empires crumpling, succeeding generations, mingling with another from the north and the south, the east and the west, exchanging ideas, communicating inventions, daring navigators passing from cape to cape, from the Mediterranean to the Indian seas, from Europe to America, collecting together the productions of the whole world, — the human race attains that point where its misery is changed into wealth, where, instead of the skins of wild beasts, man wears garments of silk and purple, live on food the most succulent and varied, often the produce of lands situated half the world from the place where they are consumed; and his dwellings, at first little better than the hut of a beaver, assumes the proportions of the Parthenon, the Vatican, or the Tuilleries.

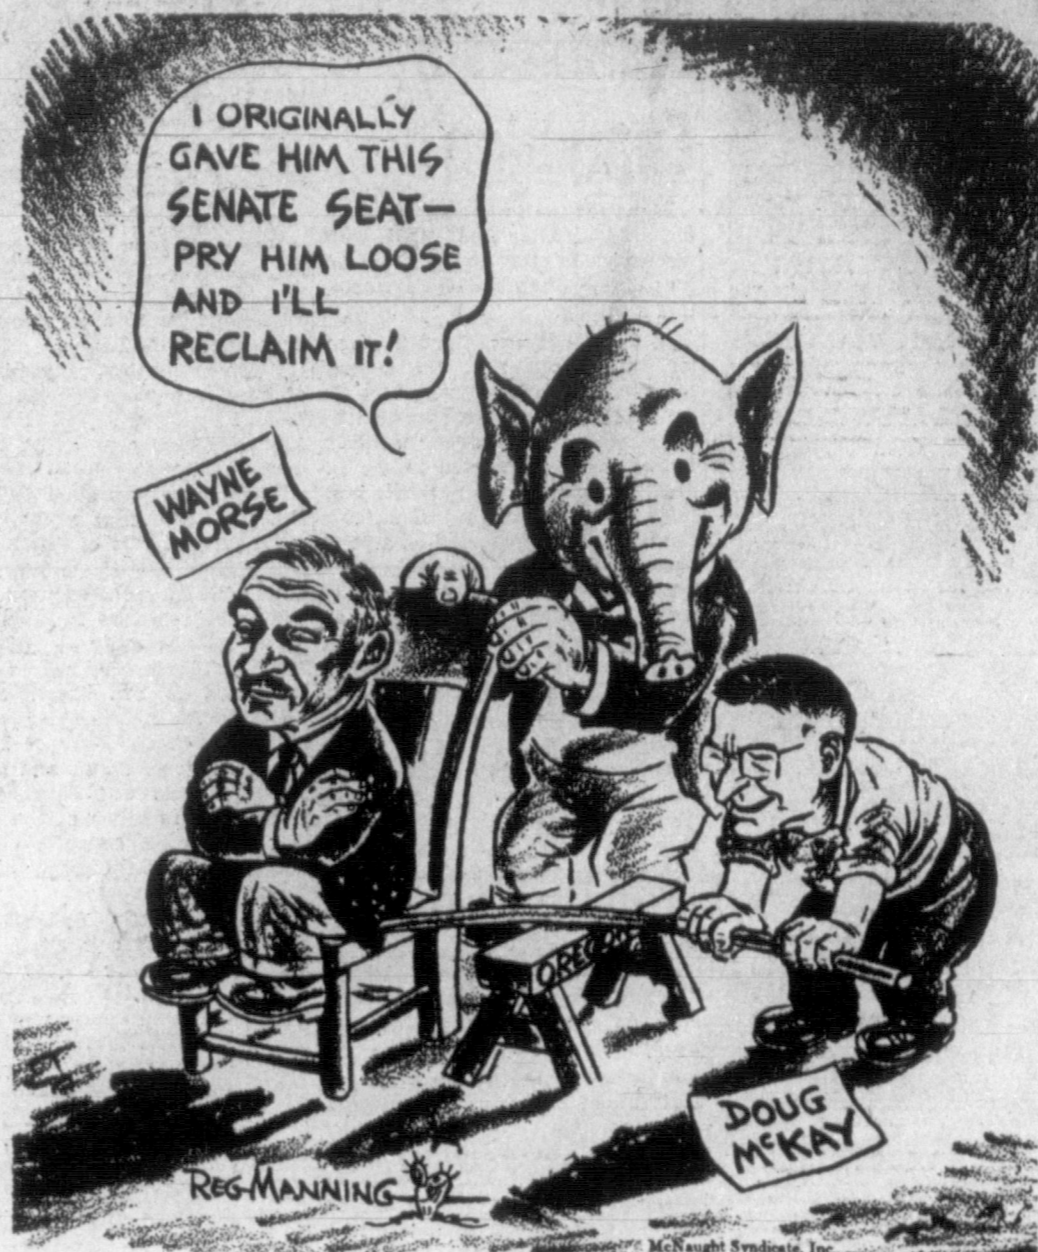

"That destitute creature, who had nothing is now in the midst of abundance. By what means? By labour, indefatigable and intelligent labour.

"When he first appears on the earth, he is naked and destitute of all; but he has faculties, faculties unequally distributed among the beings of his kind; he employs them, and, by that employment, succeeds in possessing what was deficient, — he becomes the master of the elements, and almost of nature. Man has therefore his faculties to use, not to sport with, as the bird plays with his wings, his beak, or his voice."

"Let us advance still further. Man must labour. He must, without alternative, that his natural wretchedness may be succeeded by the comforts and enjoyments of civilization. But for whom will you have him labour, for himself or for others? "My birth-place is an island in the Indian sea. My food is fish. I perceive that at certain hours of the day the fish frequent certain waters. With the twisted fibres of a plant I form a net, which I throw into the water, and draw out filled with fish. Or else my birth-place may be in Asia Minor, near that spot where the ark of Noah rested, and where the grain called wheat was first noticed by man. I am given to agriculture. I force an iron instrument into the earth; the earth thus disturbed I expose to the fertilizing air; I scatter the seed over its bosom, and watch while it is growing; I gather it when ripe, grind it, expose it to the fire, and make bread.

"The fish that I have caught with so much patience, the bread that I have made with such exertions, — to whom do they belong? To me, who have taken such pains, or to the idler who slept while I was toiling at the net or the spade? The holy human race will reply that they belong to me, for I must live, and on whose labour should I live, if not on my own? If, just as I was raising to my mouth the bread I had made, some idler

Stassen's Secret Deals May Jeopardize Ike's Policies

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON, Mar. 16—Harold E. Stassen's secret deals permitting more extensive and profitable Allied trading with Russia than American firms enjoy, jeopardize Congressional approval of several key points of the Eisenhower Administration's foreign policy, which have antagonized men who once praised Ike's international record and his staunch advocacy of collective security.

Almost as much as the admitted discrimination against domestic interests and the economic aid accruing to Moscow, it is the hush-hush nature of these agreements which investigating Senators, headed by John L. McClellan of Arkansas, resent. He charges that Secretary Dulles and Stassen, with apparent White House backing, refuse to disclose details even at close committee sessions.

Spokesmen for the Executive Branch say that their lips are sealed because of foreign nations' insistence upon secrecy. For fear of their own people's reaction and opposition parties' criticism they forbid any publicity on these transactions. Still another reason for keeping these matters confidential is foreign resentment against their governments' submission to any kind of "Yankee restrictions" on their trade.

This tender consideration for overseas sentiment does not sit well with the men in Capitol Hill, especially in the Senate. They do not like the idea of being denied such important information as a result of commercial agreements made behind closed doors for the economic benefit of competitors and the strengthening of a prospective enemy.

This withholding of vital data, which covers arrangement projecting our interests and influence into faraway places, amounts to a denial of the right of Congress to exercise any control over the conduct of foreign affairs. As many wartime and post-war pacts revealed, it has already been deprived of a great deal of influence in this important field.

The Eisenhower proposal principally endangered by these developments is the scheme to checkmate Russia's new trade — and — peace offensive through long-range pledges of economic assistance to neutral nations. Congress does not believe that it can safely strip itself of the authority to police the contemplated expenditure of more billions abroad.

Senate endorsement of the Bricker Amendment to the Constitution, which would limit Presidential management of foreign affairs, may also result from the Stassen should rush upon me and take it away, what should I have to do, but rush in turn on some other, and serving him as I had been served? He would do the same to a third, and the world, instead of being a theatre of labour, would become a theatre of pillage. And why act, when we are strong, while production is a slow and difficult act, requiring the employment of a life, plunder would be preferred to fishing, the chase, or cultivation. Man would remain a lion or a tiger, instead of becoming a citizen of Athens, Florence, Paris, or London."

FOR REFLECTION

...with JAMES C. WOODBETH, President, Spiritual Mobilization "In a random sampling of 200 cases pertaining to Aid to Needy Children, the San Bernardino grand jury found that 40 to 50 per cent of the children are illegitimate."

The above statement was made recently by a Pasadena, Calif., newspaper.

This merely underlines what many observant people have known for a long time: namely, that California's Aid to Needy Children program is much more of an encouragement to indolent and even immoral parents to continue in their indolence and immorality than it is aimed to their children.

Without this inept (to use a mild term) program, parents, whatever their inclinations, would be under the economic necessity of either providing for their offspring or surrendering them into more competent hands. As it is, many children grow up believing it is the State's duty to provide for them and having a moral astigmatism that practically guarantees they will be a liability rather than an asset to society.

This, of course, is not the children's fault — nor even, altogether, the parents'. Primarily it is the fault of the State and Federal governments which have taken "welfare activities" out of the local communities where they belong and made of them a gigantic racket with the highest rewards going to those who most successfully flout all the moral decencies essential to society's survival. This has gone on far too long already. But it will never stop until we citizens become indignant enough to stop it. I wonder just when that will be.

Parishoner — Did you see the two diamond rings my husband gave me for Christmas? Minister — Yes, I saw them when you put that nickel in the collection plate.

Pegler Says Southern Demos Deserve Their Fate

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

I hope my friends in Dixieland will excuse me, but they remind me of one of Jack Curley's wrestlers of good old days who had a habit of clamping his hands on himself and howling in agony as he twisted and twisted. My friends in Dixieland all are Democrats and the Democratic party is the party which promoted "integration" of white and colored persons and built up the monopolistic strength of the union rackets which have been repeating in the South their Ku Klux riots which dragged millions of Northerners into the CIO and A.F. of L. 20 years ago. The integration riots on the campus of the University of Alabama have received resounding publicity all over the world and especially in the majestic thunder-sheets of New York, but they were trivial by comparison with the violent union insurrections which swept the South less than a year ago.

Some of my Southern friends tried to quit the Democratic party in 1952 when they pumped for General Eisenhower. I told them and told them that Eisenhower was no more Republican than Adlai Stevenson but they had to learn the hard way. Now, even those few are off Eisenhower because, for the principal reason, Dick Nixon boasted that a Republican Chief Justice, Earl Warren, was the one who wrote the "integration" decision. Of course, Warren is no more Republican than Ike, but he has "passed" for Republican for many years just as Walter White, the late pallid boss of the NAACP, "passed" for a colored man.

There are a few actual, constitutional Republicans in the United States but they have no standing in party which bears the name, and the general whom they sullenly supported in 1952 is not much different from Eleanor Roosevelt. You may think I am just showing off in that observation but if you will compare their attitudes you will realize that they see alike on "integration," on a solemn duty of the American people to redeem by their blood and sweat the war crimes and errors of the widow's husband in which Ike was a docile abettor, and on the subjugation of the citizen to the authority of the party in power.

The South did not realize back in the 'thirties that their man Roosevelt was against them. The foot cracker hollered "Happy days are here again" and gloated over Roosevelt's haughty scorn for the predatory rich of Wall Street. They were going to give the North a dose of that agony which, by a classical paradox, was and still is called "Reconstruction." They were not alarmed when Roosevelt imposed a massive book of petty regulations and painful criminal penalties on the industries of the North because, up to then, they had no sizeable industries of their own. The heavy taxes inflicted on the North were a delight to them because the more the North paid into Washington, the more the South could drain out for rural electrification, TWA, highways and subsidies to state, county and city

All this serves the white southern Democrat right. He had no principles nor any motive but sordid greed in traipsing down the road with Roosevelt, when he should have been heading disclosures of debauchery in the White House and vanity among his own political agents in the long Democratic reign in Washington, his only reaction was that the complaining witnesses probably were smarting from their latest lanning at the hands of the internal revenue.

The Southern press scoffed at factual proof of the union rackets which are now blackmaling the grand new expansion of Southern industry and economy. In general, the South has been the author of its own misfortunes. It is a ludicrous, not heartrending yowl that fills the air as the South twists away at its own foot.

Leave that learn them.

Spring Fever Has Hit Mac And His Wife

By HENRY McLEMORE

About half an hour ago, just when I sat down to do this piece, Mary called me from upstairs. "Henry," she said, "You don't want those khaki shorts you bought in Fiji any more, do you?" "Spring is here," I called back. "What did you say, Henry?" I said, "Spring is here and don't go throwing away my old clothes!"

Confound it, this sort of conversation goes on between us every year. The moment Mary sees a robin or two her own form of spring fever hits her. She has to start cleaning house like a woman possessed and always starts by throwing away old clothes, or what she thinks are old and useless clothes. I wouldn't mind if she stuck to her own wardrobe. It would be her business if she wound up with nothing but an apron, a tipstap, and a pair of jeans.

Women are funny about clothes, though. They aren't a bit sentimental about them. The longer a woman has a dress or something like that the less she likes it. Men aren't that way at all. Men are softer-hearted toward old clothes—the older a garment is the more it endears itself. Take those shorts from Fiji that she wanted to throw away. I haven't worn them since I was in Fiji. I'll admit, they are much too big for me and are a shade of gray sort of the color of undertakers' gloves — but they'd be good enough to wear when I wash the car. When I told Mary this she wanted to know when I ever washed the car!

That's one of the troubles with women — the simplest statement leads on and on and on. Maybe I haven't washed the car myself in five or six years, but that isn't

Jane Talk

By JANE KADINGO
Pampa News Women's Editor

IT IS OFTEN SAID that a man never quite forgets his first love and it must be true. The president of Trifari, Carl Fishel's first business venture was hair ornaments. This creator of fine fashion jewelry, accustomed to seeing women glamorized by beautiful jewels and with a nostalgic bow to his first love — the hair ornament — has designed the most glamorous bobby pin in existence.

IN COOPERATION with Revlon, and inspired by their Satin-Set, the Pin Curl Spray Set, Trifari is introducing a rhinestone hair clip that does the work of an ordinary bobby pin but is, at the same time, a beautiful piece of jewelry with the fine workmanship and fiery stones for which Trifari is famous. One, large round gleaming rhinestone is set at the top of the bobby pin and the stem of the pin is composed entirely of brilliant large baguettes. Trifari has packaged their hair clips in pairs in an attractive Aquamarine satin case, for which a woman will find many uses.

To combine a function item with high fashion is unusual, but Trifari has done it and has started a vogue which is said will sweep the country by spring and summer.

But the hair clips are not only useful, they're also extremely ornamental. Many women will wear them to keep a recalcitrant lock of hair in place or just as a lovely flash of fire to point up a becoming coiffure. They are ideal for fastening a veil if you are the woman who likes the mysterious flattery that a veil gives you. The chignon is very much in vogue again and the strong grip on each of Trifari's hair clips will keep a chignon firmly anchored, as well as add a touch of elegance.

Although Trifari designed these clips as a hair accessory, they also have many other uses. They look especially slim and elegant as a dress clip or a handsome adornment for a light-weight evening bag. Use them fastened to a tiny hat, to hold a scarf, on the lapel of a suit — or where you will. Their simplicity and beautiful design look right wherever they are clipped.

REDHEADS TAKE NOTE! Accent your hair with the sun-struck colors — orange, yellow, red orange, coral, golden pink.

The March issue of "Seventeen" Magazine explains that these are flattering shades for redheads because they reflect your natural highlights. Even when wearing cool-contrast tones like sky blue, lavender, deep-sea green, aquamarine and sand beige, it's a bright idea to repeat your hair color in an accessory of coral or orange.

Other good hints Use beige-to-ivory powder and foundation; to blend freckles, apply beige powder over a foundation a bit darker than skin tone.

GRAY EYES are like magic, they can appear almost any shade you like. So says "Seventeen," which suggests that gray-eyed girls experiment with little "wardrobe" pats of eyeshadow to see which colors do the most interesting things for their eyes. Try on blue, green or violet, or combine blue over green for aquamarine; blue over violet makes turquoise. To give eyes greater depth, use brown.

"Audacious" Styles In Paris Collection Bought By Americans, Designer Says

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY
NEW YORK — UP — Without American women French designers could not change fashion so regularly.

We buy the "audacious" styles in a Paris collection, Hubert De Givenchy says. So do Italian women. But the French women choose the conservative clothes that resemble last year's.

Givenchy's one of the top 10 Parisian designers, although he is only 29 years old and looks like an American college basketball player. He towers six-foot, six-inches and wears collegiate tweed jackets with casual slacks.

He arrived here last week to show his entire spring collection at a $100-a-ticket fashion show. His opinions on clothes are stated in a mixture of French and English and with the calm assurance of a successful businessman in any field.

"American and Italian women stimulate designers to do new things," Givenchy said in an interview. "When I am designing I keep in mind more the American woman than the French woman."

His clothes are noted for their youthful style, yet Givenchy said he designs with the mature woman in mind because young women aren't interesting to a designer.

"They have had no life," he said. "If you design for them it would be too simple."

Since American and Italian women determine which new styles will become popular, we asked Givenchy what he predicted we would choose for our future.

"The shape of the future is the easy line that does not mold the figure," he said without hesitation. "Everybody will adjust it to her own figure. It is not shapeless. It follows the body line but does not constrain it."

The reason we'll go for the loose-waisted dresses isn't very flattering, according to the boyish designer. He says the majority of women "do not have a beautiful shape." The loose fitting dress, properly adapted to each figure, can make women look taller and slimmer.

"More women can wear that line than they think they can wear it," Givenchy said.

Baptists Announce New Program

DALLAS—UP—A public relations plan designed to benefit churches of all denominations in the state was announced Thursday by the Baptist General Convention of Texas.

The convention plans to help the First Baptist Church at Greenville conduct a model church public relations program for six months, then write a small book on the information gained and make it available to any church or denomination that wants it.

Leonard Holloway, director of the convention's public relations department, said this is believed to be the first time a denomination has undertaken such a project.

Holloway will help direct the program in co-operation with the pastor of Greenville's First Baptist Church and a six-man public relations committee, already set up to plan and conduct the program.

The Greenville church was chosen for the project because it is a typical Texas city and already has done some public relations work, Holloway said.

Women In The Church

By MARY FOWLER

According to Miss Gertrude M. Byler, Methodist missionary in Hiroaki, Japan, three young women from that church and city will be graduated from the United Church Seminary in March, two as ordained ministers, and the other as an evangelist. Two of these are graduates of Kiroosaki Gakuen, 80-year of Methodist college in that city, and are second generation Christians. One is an orphan who lost her family and her home in the bombing of Aomori. She was brought up in the Town Orphanage in Hiroaki; but proving to be a child of unusual ability, she was given a church scholarship. Upon graduation she will marry a young Japanese minister and join him in his parish work.

"The church can no longer depend on people 'volunteering to be leaders,'" Mrs. Doris C. Dumares, of Franklin, Indiana, an officer of the Indiana Council of Churches, said recently in Cincinnati, Ohio.

"It must go after them. It should follow the pattern of enlistment and training used by Jesus. He developed followers. From among those who showed leadership qualities, He chose those to whom he gave additional leadership training. . . . We need to reevaluate and greatly strengthen our work with youth and adults. Somehow we are not developing fully committed Christians, those who not only know what they believe, but who are willing to live what they believe."

Miss Lim Swei Ming, a Malayan of Chinese descent, was ordained by Bishop Raymond L. Archer, of Singapore, as the first woman ordained minister in all Malaya. Miss Ming has been serving for a number of years as an "effective supply pastor" in churches of the Malaya Chinese Annual Conference.

Rev. Ruth S. East, of Binger, Oklahoma, was elected president of the American Association of Women Ministers at its recent annual assembly. She succeeds Rev. Clara Wood, Berkeley, California. According to the latest census reports, 6,777 women now serve as ministers in the United States, about 4.1 per cent of all ministers in the nation. Of those serving as pastors of local churches, approximately 10 per cent are in communities affiliated with the National Council of Churches.

The idolatry of relying on material rather than spiritual power will be stressed at CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES this Sunday.

Keynoting the Lesson, a sermon entitled "Matter" is the Golda Test from Isaiah (43:8): "I am the Lord; that is my name; and my glory will I not give to another, neither my praise to graven images."

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (277:28): "Nothing we can say or believe regarding matter is immortal for matter is temporal and is therefore a mortal phenomenon, a human concept, sometimes beautiful, always erroneous."

The following is among the passages to be read from the Bible (Isaiah 44:9): "They that make a graven image are all of them vanity; and their detestable things shall not profit; and they are their own witnesses; they see not, nor know; that they may be ashamed."

Religious Group To Make Series Of Television Shows

Nationwide demand for religious telecasts "so far exceeded our expectations, we decided to produce additional programs almost immediately," said Will E. Davis, Manager of Christian Science Committees on Publication, in announcing release of a second group of Christian Science TV films.

Over 100 television stations have broadcast the initial 18 programs in the series "How Christian Science Heals" since they were first released last September.

Heavy response from viewers throughout the United States, Canada, Alaska, and Hawaii gives evidence, he said, "of an increasing thirst in this atomic age for religious values."

"Today's unprecedented interest in religion is gringing more people than ever before an appreciation of rules for living taught in the Bible," he declared. "We are convinced that religion holds greater resources for mankind than is generally realized. Our TV programs are designed to show how practical religion can be in meeting problems of modern living."

Documented examples of the solution of character, business, health, and other problems are described in the 15-minute programs by the men and women who actually had the experiences. A moderator gives brief comments of inspirational nature, designed to show how everyone can rely on God's help effectively.

No actors were used in the programs which were produced with professional direction under the supervision of the TV staff of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

Among the real-life incidents recorded in the programs are permanent healings through prayer of asthma, cancer, broken bones, deafness, gopher, tuberculosis, appendicitis, and angina pectoris. These and other actual experiences are cited to illustrate the healing and regenerating results of the application of Bible teachings.

"Do Busy People Need Religion?" "The Lame Shall Walk." "The Rewards from Christianity" are titles of three of the new programs in the series "How Christian Science Heals." Others are: "In God We Trust," "Prayer Can Heal Serious Cases," and "The Strength of My Life."

The programs were filmed in Hollywood by Cinefilm Inc. Robert G. Walker was the director.

Radio programs of the denomination — which also carry the series title "How Christian Science Heals" — will continue to be broadcast over 800 stations throughout North America and overseas.

The television program will be seen on KGNB-TV each Saturday morning at 8:45 beginning March 17.

Come to Church

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

M. B. SMITH, Pastor
Trinity Baptist Church
Pampa, Texas

"HOLDING FORTH THE WORD OF LIFE"

The Bible is God's inspired and infallible Word. The Written Word of God brings people to know Him who is the Living Word of God, the Lord Jesus Christ. The psalmist David wrote, "Thy Word is a lamp unto my feet and a light unto my path." (Psalms 119:105.) We need to make this same thing true in our lives today.

The Bible sets forth God's way of salvation, and should be the meditation of those who have been born again. The Bible, as the Word of God is to be heard, received, and believed. It is the Word of All Wisdom.

The Bible, as the Word of Life is to be held forth to those who do not know the Lord Jesus Christ as Saviour that they might come to know him, for we read, "So then faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the Word of God." (Romans 10:17.)

When people hear God's Word that has been written down, and come to know Him who is the Living Word, then they can say, "The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want." When people know Christ as Saviour, then they can come to the Father in His Name, and find peace in time of fear; assurance in time of doubts; strength in times of weakness; comfort in times of sorrow, and hope for the future when all looks dark.

The Bible is the weapon that believers can use against Satan, and the greatest need of the day in which we live is that men would let the Holy Spirit lead them into all of the truth.

"Let the Word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom. (Colossians 3:16.)

Santee Runs Between Appearances In Court

CLEVELAND —UP— Wes Santee, running between appearances in New York Supreme Court, again provides excitement for track fans and red faces for national AAU officials Friday night by competing in a special mile at the Cleveland Knights of Columbus indoor meet.

The AAU tagged Santee a professional Feb. 19 when it banned him from amateur foot racing for life for accepting excessive expense money in 1953. The lanky Kansan then touched off one of the biggest rihubars in amateur sport history by obtaining a temporary injunction against the ban. The court order permitted him to race in New York and Milwaukee the past two weeks to the embarrassment of the AAU and he'll run here because the New York Supreme Court continued his case until Monday after hearing opening arguments in the trial Thursday.

But Wes faces the prospect of another hollow victory. Top Olympic hopefuls won't run against him because they fear they may lose their amateur status. Bill Taylor, one of Santee's buddies from the Quantico, Va., Marine Base, and Ed Kirk of the Lockbourne, Ohio, Air Base provided Santee's opposition last week at Milwaukee and meet Director Jack Leicht said they probably will race the controversial Marine lieutenant again in a special mile.

Under AAU rules, servicemen may compete in closed events against each other, whether or not all are amateurs in good standing. Santee is the country's fastest miler, indoors and out. He has done 4:00.5 outdoors and 4:03.8 on boards. He claims concern over his status, lack of training and opposition hurt his two previous "court order" races. He won the Columbian mile in 4:13.8 and last Saturday's mile in Milwaukee in 4:10.5.

The AAU contends the evidence against Santee is so overwhelming it would have to "commit perjury" to certify him for the 1956 Olympic games. It states such certification might force the International Amateur Athletic Federation to throw the entire U.S. team out of the international classic.

Harvesters Tee Off In Fort Worth

The 1956 edition of the Harvester golf team, which will see action in Fort Worth this week end, seems to be doing right well for a Pampa golf team. The Harvesters, Bill McLeod, Bert Watkins, Melvin Chisum, Don Prigmore and Leslie Howard, have defeated all of the teams in the district.

The Amarillo Sandies, who usually win over the Pampa five with ease, have fallen four times this season and the Green and Golders have edged out both Lubbock schools, Plainview Berger and Palo Duro of Amarillo.

The team, coached by Weldon Trice, downed the Berger Bulldogs last weekend by 58 strokes to rack up the most impressive win of the season.

The Fort Worth tournament will probably be the toughest competition they have faced this season and their record there this week should be a good indication of what they can do in the state contests.

Odessa, which is reportedly one of the strongest teams in Texas, should be the first major contender they will face at the Harvesters will be entered in the Odessa tournament March 21.

The district tournament, which is usually held on the Amarillo Golf Course, will get underway at the Pampa Country Club April 6.

Elmer Wilson Is Assistant Coach At Plainview Hi

Elmer Wilson, former Harvester footballer and Texas Tech star, will be coaching a team which will be out to beat Pampa come football time this fall.

He was named yesterday as an assistant to the Plainview head coach, Bust "Buzz" Warren. Warren is now at Plainview and he has named three of his former students at Tech to assist him.

In addition to Wilson, Walter Bryan and Arlen Wesley will coach the Plainview Bulldogs. Wilson was head coach at Hereford during the recent gridiron season. He resigned following a successful season.

Today, the player was guard Charlie Brown, a Negro just out of service.

Brown was voted the tourney's most valuable player, but officials found later he was ineligible because of scholastic difficulties during a previous college enrollment.

Brown returned the most valuable player trophy he won. It will go to Cameron's Fred Siebühr, runnerup in the original balloting.

Cameron Represents Region Five In Hutchinson Tourney

AMARILLO —UP— The Cameron Aggies will represent Region 5 in the national junior college basketball tournament next week in Hutchinson, Kan., in spite of their defeat in the regional finals by Amarillo College.

Amarillo learned it used an ineligible player, officials said

Strickland Threatens Canyon Reef Records

By BUCK FRANCIS
Snyder News Sports Editor
SNYDER, March 16 — (Special)—Thirty-six schools will compete for championship honors in the 4th annual Canyon Reef Relays here Saturday.

Among the schools entered is defending champion Midland.

More than 500 athletes are due to participate in the one-day show Saturday. Twenty-eight schools had sent in entry lists as of Tuesday with a total of 447 boys entered. The 500 mark is sure to be topped by the time the other eight squad lists are received.

Odessa heads the entry lists with 30. Amarillo's Sandies, who finished second to Midland in last year's meet here, have entered 28.

Following are the other teams who have submitted entry lists and the number of boys entered: Snyder 23; Big Spring, 22; Lamesa, 22; Palo Duro of Amarillo, 21; Sweetwater, 20; Tom S. of Lubbock, 18; Plainview, 17; Phillips, 17; Monterey of Lubbock, 15; Pampa, 16; Levelland, 15; Anson, 15; O'Donnell, 14; Stamford, 14; Anton, 14; San Angelo, 14; Tahoka, 13; Roby, 13; Colorado City, 12; Dumas, 11; Hale Center, 11; Aspermont, 10; Hobbs, 8; Hermleigh, 6; and Matador, 5.

Teams who have entered but who haven't sent in their rosters are Plains, Union, Post, Winters, Abernathy, Phillips, Roscoe and Stanton.

Midland again appears to be the team to beat for the 1956 Canyon Reef title. Heading the Midland entry list are pole vaulter Olin Davis, weightman Wahoo McDaniel and hurdler A. W. Hammock. Several Canyon Reef records are in danger Saturday. At least four boys who'll compete here have already bettered Canyon Reef marks in previous meets this season.

Pampa's Ed Strickland leaped 21 feet six inches in the broad jump at the Possum Kingdom Relays at Graham last week which is a fraction over a foot more than the broad jump record here. Arlie Hollbrook of Winters holds the Canyon Reef broad jump mark at 30'5 1/4" set last year.

The other three records that have been bettered in previous meets this season by athletes who'll compete here are in the 100-yard dash, 440-yard dash and the mile run.

Don Fite of Colorado City sped the 100-yard dash in 9.9 seconds in a duet meet with Sweetwater last week to better the record here of 10 flat set by Troy Harber of Lubbock last year.

Bobby Walker of Amarillo turned in a 50.5 clocking in the 400-yard dash, 4 of a second, under the record of 59.9 here set by Lubbock's Harber last year.

The fourth record known to have been bettered this year is Bobby Fulers 4:41.7 in the mile run at the Possum Kingdom relays last week. The record here in the mile is 4:43.3 set by R. D. Ross of Lamesa in 1953.

Several other records are in danger Saturday. The other Canyon Reef records are:

- 120-yard high hurdles — 15.3 set by Maynard, Colorado City, 1953.
- 880-yard relay — 1:32.4 set by Amarillo (Crump, Harlien, Henderson and Walker), 1955.
- Sprint medley relay — 2:48.3 set by Hobbs (Medrano, "Ethredge, Thompson and Pullig), 1955.
- 180-yard hurdles — 20.6 set by Don Maynard, Colorado City, 1953.
- Sprint relay — 44.5 set by Amarillo (Crump, Buster, Henderson and Walker), 1955.
- Mile relay — 3:32.5 set by Amarillo (Lard, Allen, Henderson and Walker), 1955.
- Discus 155'8", set by Max Newman, Abilene, 1953.
- Shot put — 51'1", set by Don Lundgren, Canyon, 1955.
- High jump — 6'1", set by Max McDonald, Phillips, 1953.
- Pole vault — 12'6 1/2", set by Larry Palmer, Midland, 1955.

Texas, Texas A&M Vie With Rice In Triangular Meet

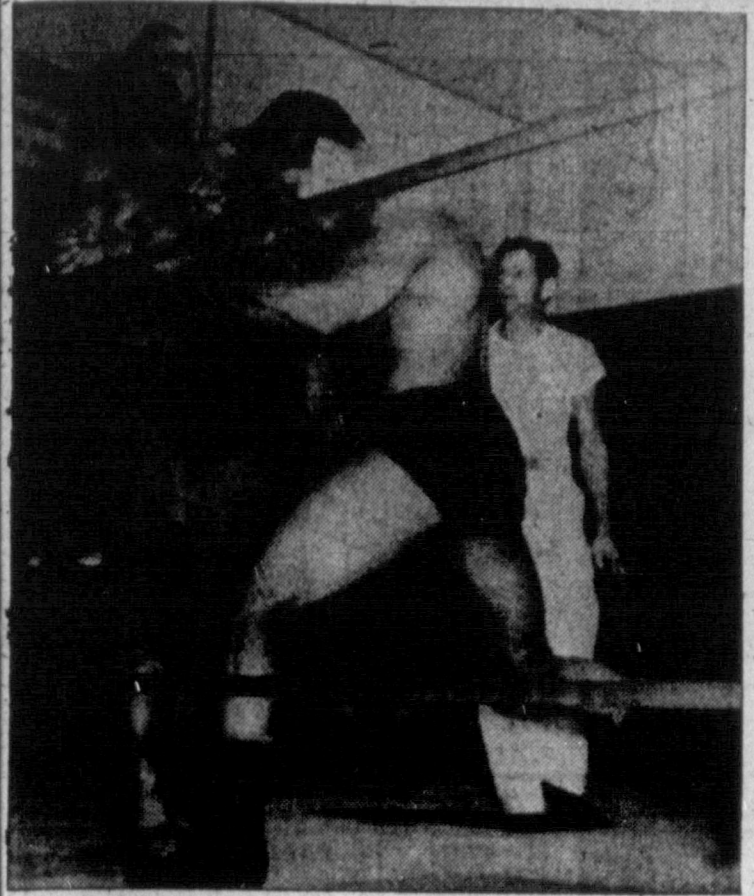

HOUSTON —UP— Talent-laden Texas and Texas A&M will vie with host Rice in a triangular track and field meet, here Saturday with a nip-and-tuck battle expected between the two visiting teams for first place.

Rice, in its only home appearance of the season, may pick up a fair supply of points, but lacks the depth to compete with the sprint-happy Longhorns and overall power of the Aggies.

TAG TEAM ACTION — Raymon Torres, right, seems to be getting the best of Tokyo Joe here. 'Good Guys' Win Wednesday Match

Rallying to win the final two falls, the heroes captured the main event of Wednesday night's weekly wrestling program at the Top of Texas Sportsman's Club.

Bill Parks and Ramon Torres, team partners, each gained a fall over one of their opponents, Tokyo Joe and Ray Duran, to secure the crowd pleasing victory.

The final fall came in spectacular fashion as Joe and Duran tried to copy a head-knocking procedure which had just been employed on them by the victors. But the retaliatory plan backfired, as Parks and Torres slipped out of their headlocks, sending the villains together, slamming them to the canvas.

Parks then followed up with a body press on Duran, the gigantic Mexican, to win the third and final fall.

The first two falls were swappouts between Joe and Torres. Joe won the first in 14:28 with a side press on Torres, and Torres evened the match with a side press on Joe in 8:53 of the second fall.

In the semifinal event, usually mild-mannered Herb Parks, making his debut upon return from his Canadian home, lost two straight falls to popular Tommy Martindale. Martindale won the first with a shoulder pin following a rolling cartwheel; and then Martindale was given the second fall when Parks was disqualified for refusing to break.

In the opening warmup bout, Torres defeated Joe when the Jap threw Torres out of the ring and refused to let him back in. After several warnings, referee George Dunn finally handed the victory to the husky, handsome newcomer from Los Angeles.

Yellowstone National Park was the first and is still the largest of the national parks in the United States.

Can Frisco Dons Win Without K. C. Jones?

By UNITED PRESS

The upset-riddled NCAA basketball tournament opens regional play at four sites Friday night with the big question of the moment: "can San Francisco do it again without K. C. Jones?"

San Francisco, defending NCAA champ and owner of a record-breaking 81-game winning streak, risks both honors when it tangles with UCLA, owner of a 17-game winning streak, in one of the games at Corvallis, Ore.

But All-America Jones, the brilliant guard who was outshone on the Dons' squad only by Bill Russell, won't be playing because he's ineligible as a fourth-year varsity player.

And that means the Dons may have loads of trouble trying to repeat their 70-53 victory over UCLA last December. UCLA rolled unbeaten after that loss to the Pacific Coast Conference championship and is a much-improved team.

Here's the program for Friday night's regionals:

At Philadelphia—Canisius (18-6) favored over Dartmouth (17-10) and Temple (24-3) over Connecticut (17-9).

At Iowa City—Iowa (17-5) favored over Morehead State (15-9) and Kentucky (19-5) over Wayne (18-1).

At Lawrence, Kan.—Southern Methodist (23-2) favored over Houston (19-8) and Kansas State (18-7) over Oklahoma City (18-6).

At Corvallis, Ore.—San Francisco (24-0) favored over UCLA (18-5) and Utah (22-6) over Seattle (18-8).

Friday night's winners meet Saturday night at the same sites for the regional titles. On March 22, the Philadelphia regional winner and the Iowa City regional winner meet for the eastern crown and the Lawrence regional winner and the Corvallis regional winner meet for the western crown, both at Evanston, Ill. On March 23, the eastern and western winners clash at Evanston for the national title.

Right now the regional favorites are Temple, Iowa, SMU, and San Francisco. But since nine first-round games last Monday and Tuesday produced four upsets, the experts are getting pretty cagey about picking the games.

Kentucky, Iowa, Kansas State, Houston, San Francisco, UCLA, and Utah will be making their debuts in the tourney Friday night. The nine other teams qualified for play by winning first-round games.

The NCAA announced Friday the coach of the champion team will be asked to coach the College All-Star team in the try-out tourney for the Olympic team in Kansas City, April 2-4.

Indians Get Bonus For Winning Short Games

TUCSON, Ariz.—UP—It's doubtful that the Cleveland Indians can win the 1956 American League pennant by playing faster, but it'll mean more money to the players if they waste less time on the playing field.

Indians General Manager Hank Greenberg, disturbed by the length of the club's first two exhibition games, has offered to donate $100,000 to a fund for every game played and won in two hours or under.

At the end of the season the money will be distributed in a way to be decided by Manager Al Lopez, Ill., division.

THE STORY OF EGGBERT.

BY WALT SCOTT

Solon To Sponsor
Land Limit Act

WASHINGTON—UP—Rep. Clair Engle (D-Calif.) said Monday he will sponsor legislation to set a limit of 5,000 acres on tracts of public land that federal departments can take over without congressional action.

Engle pointed out that an agency at present can take over tracts of any size. Huge so-called "withdrawals" have been made recently in his congressional district to the detriment of grazing, mining and other uses, he said.

Engle is chairman of the House Interior committee which has been looking into military withdrawals of public land in California, Nevada, New Mexico and other western states. He said he plans to introduce two other bills to change the withdrawal procedure.

1. Require direct return of public tracts to the Interior Department when the withdrawing agency is through with them. Under present procedure, the General Services Administration can dispose of the tracts. Engle said this could lead to the secret skullduggery.

2. Require a notice of withdrawal be published in the Federal Register, listing uses which can be made of the land in spite of the reservation. Engle mentioned such uses as grazing, mining, lumbering and hunting and fishing.

Territorial Waters Limit
To Be Talked In Meeting

By CHARLES M. MOCANN
United Press Foreign Analyst

The United States may be asked some embarrassing questions at a conference which starts Thursday in the West Indies.

Delegates of the 21 American republics will discuss at Ciudad Trujillo, Dominican Republic, the issue of the proper limit of territorial waters.

That means the limit to which a country may claim jurisdiction over the waters off its coast.

Chile, Peru, Ecuador and El Salvador formally claim a 200-mile limit. Some other Latin American countries are ready to make the same claim.

The United States refuses to recognize that. It points out that the historic limit is three miles. It admits that the three-mile limit is really outdated in these modern times. But it wants to set a modest one instead.

Fishing Rights Involved

The immediate point in dispute is fishing rights. Some Latin American countries are bitter over the activities of big United States fishing fleets off their coasts. They say the fish population is being wiped out.

But some bigger issues have entered into question.

One is that of the "continental shelf," involving the sovereignty over the under-water oil resources off a country's shores.

Another that especially worries the United States is defense. If a country can claim a 200-mile limit, it asks, could the claim be extended to air rights? Could a country set a sweeping jurisdiction over the air lines over the waters?

The arguments of the United States seem somewhat weakened by a prohibition-era chicken which has come home to roost.

Back in the late 1700's the United States and Britain agreed on a three-mile limit of territorial waters. That limit was determined by the distance from shore to which a cannon fire might extend.

On the principle, in these days of guided missiles—with intercontinental ballistic missiles in the way—a country might claim jurisdiction which would span the Atlantic.

But the United States itself set some precedents, which now may become embarrassing, back in the 1920's.

Under Prohibition Act

The Prohibition Act had come into force, but not into effect. Fleets of fast run-runners started negotiating treaties with Canada, Britain, Cuba, Panama and Mexico setting at 12 miles the limits to which its Coast Guard cutters might chase a run-runner.

Then it got some countries to agree that run-runners flying their flags might be pursued and captured up to one hour's steaming distance from the coast. That, in those days, might have been 30 miles.

Then came the almost forgotten incident of "Im Alone." An enthusiastic Coast Guard skipper pursued the Canadian registered run-runner of that name for 2 1/2 days and sank it 215 miles off the Canadian coast.

It may be hoped that none of the Latin American delegates at Ciudad Trujillo will be mean enough to hark back to those days. But some of them may be tempted to ask the American delegation the difference between the 200-mile limit they want and the 215-mile limit the United States took.
