PAUL CARMICHAEL
... it's the little things

Service To Others His Principal Aim

By JANE KADINGO
Pampa News Women's Editor

"You do everything you can for people, but feel you've done very little," stated Paul Carmichael, co-owner of Duenkel & Carmichael Funeral Home. "When people are in trouble, you try to anticipate their needs and do it for them. You try to guide them and help them with their troubles."

"It's the little things," he added. Born in Granbury, near Fort Worth, he came to Pampa 25 years ago to manage the Pampa Mortuary. Seven years later he formed his own mortuary with Charles Duenkel.

House Group Criticizes Defense Chief

By PAUL SOUTHWICK
WASHINGTON — UP — A House subcommittee report Monday severely criticized Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson and other businessmen in government.

The report, approved by the majority of a government operations subcommittee, specifically charged that Wilson and his top Pentagon aides violated a congressional mandate that an integrated supply system be set up among the military services.

It also said that businessmen in government, like Wilson, Navy Secretary Charles S. Thomas and Assistant Defense Secretary Thomas P. Pike, are not the "panacea" for problems of government administration.

During those 25 years, Carmichael has been active in many civic projects. He has served on the advisory board of the Chamber of Commerce and is a member of the Rotary Club, the Masonic Lodge, the Kliva Temple, and the Pampa Shrine Club. He added he's also worked on many drives, including Chamber of Commerce membership drives.

Dr. Park is considered one of America's foremost authorities on affairs of the Far East and one of the world's strongest foes of the men of Moscow. He has served as a special lecturer on Far Eastern Affairs at the University of Minnesota, the University of Alabama, and other leading universities.

Los Angeles Train Wreck Kills 29, 142 Are Injured

Farm Group May Ruin Budget Plans

WASHINGTON — UP — The bipartisan farm bloc is about to demolish President Eisenhower's delicately balanced budget for the year beginning next July 1.

Mr. Eisenhower submitted a budget for that year which not only would balance, but would provide an anticipated surplus of $400 million. This seemed about to be upset by:

1. Prospects that congress will insist that the President's "soil bank" program be financed entirely by the treasury.
2. Demands by Midwest Republican congressmen for a big expansion in government meat buying to bolster hog and cattle prices.

Would Provide Cash Payments
The soil bank, proposed as a means of reducing farm surpluses and putting money in farmers' pocketbooks at the same time, would provide government payments to farmers who take cropland out of production.

The administration asked congress for authority to put a $1 billion soil bank into operation, it would pay $60 million of the cost directly from the treasury in the next fiscal year and make up the rest by selling $400 million worth of government-owned crop surpluses on the domestic market.

This $40 million "savings" happens to be the exact amount of the budget surplus anticipated by the President.

Runs into Opposition
But the idea of using crop surpluses to help pay the cost has run into stiff bipartisan opposition. Influential Democrats and Republicans on the Senate Agriculture committee, after studying the plan contend that the surplus sales would, or might, depress market prices.

The committee hoped to wind up hearings Monday on all proposed new farm legislation, including the soil bank.

In another development Iowa's two senators and eight congressmen, all Republicans, took their demands for stepped-up government meat buying directly to the White House discussing the matter with Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams.

THE ENGINEER WAS DAY LATE

ELIZABETH, N. J. — UP — Pennsylvania railroad officials explained Monday why a group of North Elizabeth commuters were 10 minutes late for their New York jobs Saturday — the engineer thought it was Friday.

The railroad said the train stops at the North Elizabeth station on Saturdays only. The engineer had started to bypass the station when commuters reminded him that it was Saturday. He backed up and picked up the waiting commuters.

Gray, Carson Counties In Water District

A canvass of the votes in Saturday's underground water district election will be made today by the district's four elected directors.

The directors, A. L. Stovall and Raymond Durrette of Panhandle, Russell McConnell of White Deer and John Harnley of Pampa, will also name another director to full board of five directors.

Saturday's election resulted in Potter, Roberts, Armstrong and Donley counties dropping out of the formation of a district. The district will now be composed of the portions of Carson and Gray Counties previously outlined in the district.

The district is composed, therefore, of most of Carson County (a strip along the north boundary line of the county and an arena in the southwest corner of the county were not included in the district), and the north and west portions of Gray County.

Bill Craig, attorney for the district, said this morning that the district, named the Ground Water Conservation District Number 3, South of the Canadian River, will operate as planned with the tax rate not to exceed five cents per $100 valuation of property as shown on the county tax roll.

The City of Lefors, which voted no on the creation of a district, is the only part of Gray County contained in the district that did not vote itself into the district. Though no rural votes were cast at Lefors, the county as a whole voted yes on the creation of the district.

Thus, the entire part of the county contained in the original district, with the exception of the City of Lefors, will be a part of the district.

Rains Forecast For State

Moisture Expected In Texas Tuesday

By UNITED PRESS
Fresh rains were predicted for Texas Monday and Tuesday to put added moisture into fields long suffering from drought.

The weather bureau predicted light showers for the eastern half of the state Monday and possible rainfall in all the state Tuesday. Beginning with the snow and ice which covered the top half of Texas last Wednesday Texas has had its wettest weather in months.

Rainfall continued into the week end and gave Corsicana 1.35 inches and a number of stations around Waco and Austin and Houston and Port Arthur more than an inch, the weather bureau said.

Cloudy skies and cool temperatures went with the moist air Monday. Freezing weather was predicted for the Panhandle and some parts of North Central Texas Monday night. The rest of the state will have a 25 to 45 degree low, the forecasters said.

Drizzle and fog covered most of Texas Sunday while maximum temperatures ranged from 72 degrees at Brownsville to 35 at Childress.

The minimum temperatures early Monday ranged from the freezing mark at Amarillo and Wichita Falls to 54 at Corpus Christi.

Other lows were Dalhart 33, Abilene, Mineral Wells and Presidio 33, Big Spring and Salt Flat 37, San Angelo, Fort Worth and Dallas 38, Waco 40, College Station 42, Austin, San Antonio, Victoria and Del Rio 43, El Paso 44, Lufkin 45 Houston 47, Galveston 50 and Brownsville 52.

Amarillo Negro Dies In Crash

Tommy Cotton, 46, an Amarillo Negro, died of injuries suffered in a one-car accident on U. S. Highway 30, 13 miles west of here, at 3 a. m. Sunday.

Cotton, driver of the car, was dead on arrival at Highland General Hospital. Two Negro passengers who were injured, were reported in satisfactory condition. They are Johnnie Johnson, 29, the victim's half brother, and Warren Johnson.

Mrs. Mary M. Cotton, wife of the driver, was uninjured. According to the highway patrol, the car skidded on icy pavement and overturned in a ditch.

Engineer 'Blacks Out' As Train Rounds Curve

LOS ANGELES — (UP) — The engineer of a high-speed commuter train said Monday he "blacked out" just before the crowded two-car diesel pitched off a curve and overturned, killing an estimated 29 persons.

At least 142 were injured, some seriously, when the Santa Fe Railroad's San Diegoan smashed up near downtown Los Angeles. The train was starting its 125-mile run to San Diego when the accident occurred at 8:42 p. m. est.

The jammed passenger cars shot around a curve at what the railroad officially termed "excessive speed." The train swayed and pitched—then crashed over on its side.

'Just Blacked Out'
Engineer Frank Parrish, 61, of San Bernardino, Calif., said he "just blacked out."
"I remembered passing the 35-mile-per-hour block signal in the yard and then I blacked out. I came to as the train was flipping on its side," he said.

A scene of terror followed as the surviving passengers tried to claw their way out windows that were high and small.

Servicemen aboard the train kept the panic from getting out of hand, survivors reported. The sailors, soldiers and marines called for quiet and with the discipline of a military operation they broke out flashlights, found windows they could open and began lifting out the injured.

Termed Major Disaster
Police, meanwhile, flashed an alert terming the accident a major disaster and calling for all available ambulances and doctors.

A temporary morgue was set up in a vacant lot a short distance from the overturned train. The bodies, some torn to pieces, were taken to the field to be tallied by Coroner E. A. Winstanley and his deputies.

The scene of carnage was unparalleled in Los Angeles history. The train had slid about 150 feet on its side before coming to a stop and was a mishapen mass.

Arms and legs stuck out from the wreckage. Trained coroner's aides used slings to pick up the remains and take them from sight of the rescuers.

First reports to police said 88 persons had been killed from 188 persons on the passenger manifest, a count based on the number of tickets sold for the run to San Diego.

Toll Estimate Revised
The toll estimate was revised a few hours later by a coroner's estimate. (See WRECK, Page 8)

Passenger Tells Of Train Wreck

(EDITORS: One of the casualties aboard a Santa Fe train which overturned last night was Joyce Little, 22, of San Diego, who suffered minor cuts and bruises. In the following story she tells of the wreck and its aftermath.)

By JOYCE LITTLE
(As Told to United Press)

LOS ANGELES — UP — It was a good thing we had servicemen like sailors, marines and soldiers on the train during the wreck or there might have been a panic.

The crash occurred while I was riding in the second car on my way to my home in San Diego. We were going pretty fast and suddenly I felt that we were going around a curve. The train lifted to the right and then to the left. Then all of a sudden, it flopped over on its side.

I was thrown across the car and pinned under the seats. I didn't know what happened at first. Then, I moved my arms and legs and, fortunately, I found I wasn't badly hurt.

All the lights went out. I heard someone screaming. I heard a woman yelling, "what's happened... it's a wreck... how do we get out?"

This was where the servicemen took charge. They called out to everybody, "take it easy and everything will be okay." In a few minutes people quieted down and some of the marines began looking around for some sort of emergency exit.

They found a window they could get open on the other end of the car and started taking some of the more seriously hurt out of there, boosting them up because it was high.

I waited until my turn and was helped out. Then I was taken by ambulance to Georgia street Emergency hospital. I was lucky because all I got was a few cuts and bruises.

If the servicemen hadn't been aboard, I don't know how bad it might have been. All I can say is that they were great.

Others Found Near Church

Anti-British Riots Erupt In India

NEW DELHI — UP — Violent anti-government rioting as bitter as that directed against Britain in the 1930s broke out Monday in the eastern Indian state of Orissa. The Army was ordered to send troops to the scene.

Mobs surged through the streets of the cities of Cuttack and Puri some 200 miles southwest of Calcutta, burned railway stations, attacked the government-owned radio station in Cuttack and beat government and police officials.

The new rioting, which started a week ago Monday in Bombay—came as Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru's ruling congress party prepared to set out an iron-fisted policy to meet the government crisis.

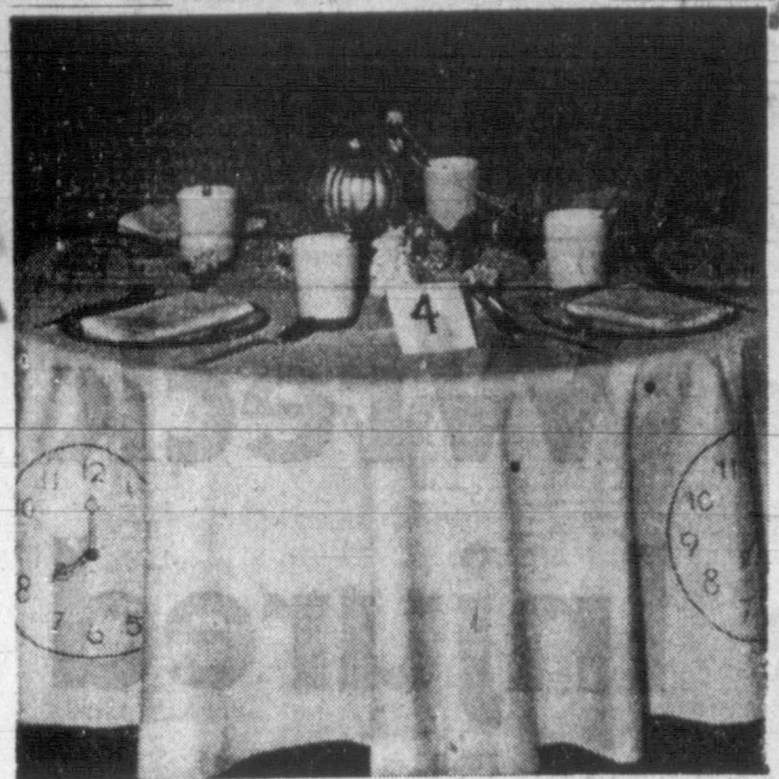

Most of the attacks in Orissa state Monday were directed at local officials for their inability to persuade Nehru to change his mind about transferring part of Orissa to the state of Bihar under an unpopular government plan of redistributing Indian states.

The injured included Mrs. M. Malati Chowdhury, wife of the chief minister. She was hit by a tear gas shell while making an unsuccessful attempt to pacify the unruly crowd.

The brunt of the attack was directed at the Cuttack radio station where the crowd believed police had hidden many of the victims killed in earlier rioting in the state. But Monday the mob attacked everything smelling of government control.

The district police chief was among government officials injured.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — UP — Actress Janis Paige and Arthur Sander, who produces her TV show, were married here Wednesday.

Pampa News Women's Editor

YOUNG WIVES ARE EXPLOITING THEIR HUSBANDS today, taking unfair advantage of the fact that modern young men are willing to help at home, says Sidonie M. Gruenberg, a famous woman fighter for women's rights. In a February Woman's Home Companion article, "Do You Exploit Your Husbands?" Mrs. Gruenberg says: "For more than 30 years I have been concerned about women's rights. Now I find I must stand up for men's rights."

Mrs. Gruenberg, one of America's leading authorities on family relationships and for 25 years a director of the Child Study Association of America, warns wives of the danger of shifting too many of their household responsibilities onto their husbands. Such husbands may find it necessary to work late several nights a week or visit out-of-town clients oftener than necessary.

For instance, there is the wife who saves up all the household errands and chores for her husband to handle on Saturday, ruining his golf. The civic-minded young mother who uses her husband as a babysitter night after night while she dashes out to meetings. The wife who works at an outside job and adds to her husband's burdens without substantial financial — or even emotional — return to her family. The disorganized wife who never manages to have the children bathed and dinner prepared when her husband comes home so that he has to help with both.

Goodwill Home Demonstration Group Presented Talk On 4-H Club Work

"The Purpose and Meaning of 4-H work" was the topic of a talk given by Mrs. T. D. Anderwald to the Goodwill Home Demonstration Club in the home of Mrs. James Baird, 613 N. Lowry.

Mrs. Anderwald told the women 4-H work teaches girls the art of homemaking and home management. For boys, it teaches farming and farm management. 4-H work is open to all boys and girls nine years old and older who live in the country or the city, she explained.

"As parents, we should give our children every opportunity to learn homemaking and an occupation," she advised. "Regardless of whether or not a girl marries, she will still have some kind of a home to keep. It may be an apartment shared with another girl, but there will still be cleaning and cooking to be done."

The girls in 4-H work keep records of everything they do. Mrs. Anderwald explained. If a batch of cookies burn, she tells why and how it could have been avoided. Mrs. Anderwald showed the women the yearbook and record book of her daughter, Carolyn. In it she had pictures of her working at different projects, which included dairy foods, food preparation, swine, yard improvement, poultry, safety, gardening, clothing, public improvement and each project.

The girls also learn canning and sewing. Mrs. Anderwald stated. Through teamwork, both boys and girls learn good sportsmanship. The boys have teams in soil judging, grass, livestock, tractor driving and rifle range.

In tractor driving, the boys learn to care for a tractor, to drive it through small gates and other

Lufkin Lady Lost 32 Pounds With Barcentrate

How much weight would you like to lose? 10 pounds? 25 pounds? 50 pounds or more?

Thousands of endorsers of Barcentrate say it can be done — safely, easily and without starvation diet.

The Barcentrate method is not based on a starvation diet (which can be dangerous) and vitamins to fortify you for the ensuing weakness caused from the lack of food.

Barcentrate is a liquid and so vastly "different" and effective, that it has withstood the test for 13 years: Over six and a quarter million bottles sold in Texas.

Mrs. L. J. Oliver, 112 Alton, Lufkin, Texas, says she lost 32 pounds taking Barcentrate and Mrs. Annie Laurie, 1214, St. Matthews, Gonzales, Texas, states she lost 13 pounds. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the way to take off ugly fat without starvation diet, return the empty bottle for your money back.

Learn how you can get a Seiberling Tire for the price of an ordinary tire.

CUT TIRE PRICES
Dean Monday said:
"We are going to make the year 1956, our largest tire year yet. We are disregarding our regular tire prices and substituting our own sale prices."
"Our pencil must have been very sharp because we really cut the prices. If you don't believe this, just come by and see for yourself."
"We have heard so much about being a volume dealer, we are going to try it. We aren't sure about the profit end of this volume business, but we will find out all this year and let you know next year."

SEIBERLING GUARANTEE
"You now can buy a first line quality tire (100 level) at a big discount and save yourself many dollars. You also get the Seiberling Unconditional Road Hazard Guarantee at no extra cost. This guarantee is honored by any Seiberling dealer in the United States, and you do not have to keep up with a slip of paper in order to get an adjustment."
TIME PAYMENTS
"If your credit checks out good we can give you time payments on these tires."
"The whole story is this: some body buys new tires every day, and we want to sell you a share of tires. Come by Dean Monday's Service Station, 301 W. Foster, 4-6501, and talk it over. I think we can make a deal. We will be looking for you to visit us."

SEIBERLING FEATURES
Seiberling tires have these features:
1. Air conditioning heat vents to reduce heat build-up and add longer life to your tires.
2. New "stop-slip" safety tread for quicker stopping action under all highway conditions.
3. Exclusive Flex-Arc construction to cushion the ride, absorb road shock and bumps.
4. Extra-strength cord body to resist breaks, provide greater blow-out protection.
5. Full tread wear guarantee. The Seiberling puncture-sealing

HELSINKI, Finland — UP — More than two million Finns will vote Monday and Tuesday in a nationwide election to select a new president.

tubeless, sealed air tire provides the ultimate in puncture-sealing protection and safety lifetime protection and lifetime balance.
And you can depend on Dean Monday or his co-workers, Wade Cain and Tom Grays to lubricate and wash your car better than you would yourself if you had the time and equipment!
Drive in Dean Monday's 301 W. Foster, 4-6501.

LIFETIME BALANCE
Bulkhead construction makes the sealed-air tire the only tubeless tire with lifetime puncture protection and balance. The small compartments, or bulkheads, built into the crown of the tire cover the full tread area and contain a puncture-sealant. The bulkheads prevent the flowing and shifting of the sealant, eliminate out-of-balance conditions and give maximum puncture-sealing protection for the life of the tire.

See Dean Monday about these Seiberling Tires tubeless and conventional, and see Dean about those good used tires you need to keep your car rolling until you trade it in.
Used Tires
Monday has a lot of good used tires in those hard-to-get sizes. Drive in — get in on the Dean Monday deal.

Should we, at any time, be inconsistent with these truths, we would appreciate anyone pointing out to us how we are inconsistent with these moral guides.

Right To Work

There is a great deal of pious wailing about how the federal government has usurped the sovereignty of the several states and assumed powers that heretofore have been the exclusive province of state government or even personal choice. But before we lay the entire blame at the door of the wolves in Washington, it would be well to examine some of the local ladies to see how much virtue has been stolen and how much has been willingly given away.

There has been pending before the Supreme Court of Texas a case titled (take a deep breath) M. E. Sandberry Jr., et al, and the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe Railway, et al, vs. the International Association of Machinists, et al.

The railroad and the union are trying to get a decision on the constitutionality of the Texas right-to-work law which provides that a Texan need not pay tribute, mordido or extortion to anyone or anything for the privilege of holding a job.

The right-to-work law of Texas is one of 18 enacted by as many states under the provisions of the Taft-Hartly law of 1947. Section 14 (b) of that act provides that state laws may supersede the federal act in the matter of so-called "union security" arrangements. In other words, it presumably gives Texas the right to legislate against a closed shop or even a union shop. (There is very little difference between the two, actually, except that the latter gives the employer the illusion that he is still in charge of his business.)

The Supreme Court of Texas agreed to hear the case testing the right-to-work law but then on Dec. 5 the Supreme Court in Washington agreed to hear a similar test case on the Nebraska right-to-work law, and the Texas high court said it would not rule on the Texas case pending the decision in the Nebraska case.

Texas Atty. Gen. John Ben Shepperd has objected strenuously to the Texas court's decision, as well he might. In the first place, the Nebraska "case" is what is known in legal jargon as "thin" — that is, it's not as inclusive and as comprehensive as the Texas case.

Secondly, it is an example of a branch of the state government willingly turning over to federal jurisdiction a problem it might well decide on the state level.

Mr. Shepperd has asked the Texas court to reconsider its decision not to hear the case; and he has asked the U. S. Supreme Court for permission to intervene in the Nebraska case as amicus curiae (friend of the court) and argue Texas' position as it might apply to that litigation.

In this area where the unions are making a bid for political and economic control and bragging that they will conquer us "with ulcers" if necessary, it is especially germane to consider the union's attitude toward a right-to-work law.

It is one thing to join a union or even to urge someone else to join one; but it is something else again to force a worker to join a union if he wants to hold his job or get a job.

A right-to-work law simply says that it is every man's right to work at a legal trade and that this right shall not be made dependent upon his paying membership dues to a union.

An outfit which would take that privilege away from a free man would do any damn thing.

You don't need a Supreme Court decision or a legal education to understand that!

Mac Says Camera Should Rule Supreme In Sports

By HENRY McLEMORE

The camera was an invention of the devil insofar as sports are concerned.

The camera's eye gives one result, the human eye nothing but fights and arguments. Result, people still are bashing one another in the nose over the outcome of recent pro-football game. The Brownie said the West won; the camera and iris said the East did.

There is still a hassle about the Rose Bowl game — the daguerreotype revealed it should have been a tie, but the man with the bowtie, a house, and family and who happened to be refereeing called it favor of Michigan State. I mention these incidents solely to pave a path for my solution.

The camera should rule supreme. It should be a final arbiter. Human referees are certain to make a fight against this standard of mine, but they should be expelled to Madagascar. I have no patience with a stout, middle-aged man who believes he can pad out his weekly earnings by trying to keep up with young athletes. He must be cracked, that's all, and Madagascar is welcome to him.

I have known athletic officials for the past thirty years and I have yet to meet one who wasn't trying to kid nature by saying young with youngsters. It's as foolish as for me to try out for the Davis Cup Team because I could afford six rackets and a change of shoes for every set.

The introduction of the camera

as law and order is bound to present difficulties. The human referee makes his decisions, whether right or wrong, in a second or less — film can't be developed that fast, so there are one or two solutions.

One is to halt each play while the film is developed, rushes rushed, and a decision made. This is going to take quite a bit of time. An off-tackle advance is run, the picture is made, and then things are halted until Darryle Zanuck, say, looks at the raw print. He then calls for a print or a retake if he sees that a tackle is wearing a bowtie against regulations. He calls that for the proper penalty and that's that. If he sees that everyone was in line and there was no slugging, he announces that everything is okay.

Another way to work the film referee is to announce nothing for, say, a week or ten days. The film cutters would take their time over the job and then give a studied answer. I sort of like this plan — when you left the stadium you wouldn't know whether your team had won by fifteen points or lost by eight. An element of suspense would be added, and what good arguments you'd have going home in the car!

After all, this is an electronic age — to use humans for anything is getting out of date. I foresee the day when robots will play our games and scouts will hang around Westinghouse as they now do junior colleges.

The Kingdom Of God's Value Of Man No. 2

In the last issue I was quoting from "The Religion Worth Having" by Thomas Nixon Carver. In this quote Carver emphasized that what one likes or believes or wants has nothing to do with true value or what is right.

Then Carver goes on to quote Thomas Carlyle as saying: "Against the idea that either convention or popularity, either ancient tradition or a majority vote, was an accurate test of value." Then Carver observes that Carlyle could certainly not be "accused of having a commercial bias, never tired of hurling the shafts of his grim irony." Then he quotes Carlyle as follows:

"Unanimity of voting, — that will do nothing for us if so. Your ship cannot double Cape Horn by its excellent plans of voting. The ship may vote this and that, above decks and below, in the most harmoniously exquisitely constitutional manner: the ship, to get around Cape Horn, will find a set of conditions already voted for, and fixed with adamant rigor by the ancient Elemental Powers, who are entirely careless how you vote. If you can, by voting, or without voting, — ascertain — these conditions, and valiantly conform to them, you will get around the Cape; if you cannot, — the ruffian winds will blow you ever back again; the inexorable icebergs, dumb privy councilors from Chaos, will nudge you with most chaotic "admonition;" you will be flung half-frozen on the Patagonian cliffs, or ad-missioned into shivers by your iceberg councilors, and sent sheer down to Davy Jones, and will never get round Cape Horn at all! Unanimity on board ship; — yes, indeed, the ship's crew may be very unanimous, which doubtless, for the time being, will be very comfortable to the ship's crew, and to their Phantasm Captain, if they have one: but if the tack they unanimously alter, upon its guiding them into the belly of the Abyss, it will not profit them much! — Ships accordingly do not use the ballot-box at all; and they reject the Phantasm species of Captains: one wishes much some other Entities — since all entities lie under the same rigorous set of laws — could be brought to show as much wisdom and sense, at least of self-preservation, the first command of Nature. . . .

"If a man could shake out of his mind the universal noise of political doctors, . . . and consider the matter face to face, . . . I venture to say he would find this a very extraordinary method of navigation, whether in the Straits of Magellan or in the undiscovered sea of Time. To peep in this world, to gain facility, victory, and improvement, either for a man or a nation, there is but one thing requisite, — that the man or nation can discern what the true regulations of the Universe are in regard to him and his pursuit, and can faithfully and steadfastly follow these."

Only One Standard "There was never a time when the rugged philosophy of the old Scotchman was more needed than it is to-day, when so many of us are so good-naturedly tolerant of every variety of conduct as well as of opinion, virtually saying that all conduct is merely a matter of likes and dislikes, or that one custom is as good as another provided it succeeds in getting itself adopted by the popular will. We need a clear perception of the solemn truth that it is quite as essential to the success of a group that its customs and conventions conform to the laws of the universe, as it is to the success of the individual that his habits conform to the customs and conventions of his group; that a group is no more free to adopt whatever ever customs and conventions happen to please it than the individual is to follow whatever line of conduct happens to please his whim.

Science And Morality "We are sometimes told, however, that nature is non-moral, or that science is unable to discover a moral order in the universe. This can not possibly mean anything more than that nature does not seem to conform to our peculiar notions of morality, or that the scientist is unable to see in the order of the universe anything resembling what he has been taught to regard as the moral order. If one had been taught a peculiar system of hygiene and afterwards discovered that nature seemed to pay very little attention to his system, he might then say that nature was non-hygienic, or that science was unable to discover a hygienic order of the universe. That would, of course, be a very ridiculous thing to say; but it would be no more ridiculous than to say that nature knows nothing of morality. If we once perceive that morality is merely social hygiene, and that anything is moral which works well for society in the long run, and anything is immoral which works badly for society in the long run, we shall never be guilty of questioning the moral order of the universe. We shall then say frankly that whatever the order of the universe is, that is the moral order; that whatever social customs and conventions are found to fit into the order of the universe, and whatever private conduct is found to permanently strengthen the social group, that is morality."

The strange twist given to our foreign policy by the Dulles interview threatens a Capitol Hill debate matching the violent and historic quarrel over American membership in the League of Nations. It has handed the Democrats the explosive and emotional issue for which they had been waiting, seemingly in vain.

Until this Dulles episode, the Democrats were floundering in their efforts to find a flaw in the conduct of foreign affairs, since it had brought a tentative but uneasy stalemate in the "cold war," based on mutual fear rather than friendship.

The opposition had been driven to a mere questioning of the need for continued foreign economic spending, which is hardly an excitable subject. Even on that matter, they were divided among themselves, with many favoring the principle but not the expenditure. And, as a matter of fact, the White House does not intend to press this request too vigorously.

But John Foster Dulles' threats to wage an atomic war, with or without Allies in Asiatic lands thousands of miles distant from our bases, has opened up an entirely new field of partisan controversy on an issue involving American lives, national security and treasure.

Although it will be difficult for the Dulles to repudiate his Secretary of State, his closest advisers believe that only he can repair the damage to the United States, the Administration and the Republican Party. For Dulles has destroyed the Geneva picture of Eisenhower as a "man of peace."

So, according to Dulles, Prime Ministers Nehru and Eden passed word to the Communists that the "United States meant business," and this dealing from "Dulles strength," according to his recital, forced the Formosa and Indo-China settlements, both of which are unsatisfactory because they have solved nothing permanently.

But, the complaining Congressmen and Foreign Chancellors intend to learn, would the United States have waged an atomic war alone, without Allies. If the Communists had accepted the Dulles challenge to atomic strife? Are we, in other words, going to protect British and French interests in remote crannies of the universe, even when London and Paris refuse to fight alongside us? They gave only token reinforcement in Korea.

Question Of War Without Congress' Consent Raised

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Secretary John Foster Dulles' "brink of war" interview in Life magazine has stirred grave concern on Capitol Hill and among our European Allies for reasons entirely unconnected with narrow, partisan politics. Only a statement by President Eisenhower will satisfy their demand for elucidation of the Dulles policy, which was apparently enunciated without prior White House approval. Here is the question he has raised here and abroad:

In the three crises which Dulles mentions — Korea, Formosa and Indo-China — was the Administration willing to engage in war, to employ such weapons as atomic bombs, and to resort to such extreme strategy without a formal declaration of hostilities by Congress?

Pending clarification by President Eisenhower, the answer appears to be "Yes," in the opinion of domestic and foreign critics.

Another disturbing question is the extent to which our major Allies — Britain and France — influence our foreign policy, especially decisions that might drag the United States into local or global conflicts.

Dulles says that neither nation was willing to support us in actual war over Formosa, or Indo-China, whether waged with atomic or conventional weapons. Both expressed the fear that local offensives in these sensitive spots would bring China and Russia into the conflict, and lead to World War III.

So, according to Dulles, Prime Ministers Nehru and Eden passed word to the Communists that the "United States meant business," and this dealing from "Dulles strength," according to his recital, forced the Formosa and Indo-China settlements, both of which are unsatisfactory because they have solved nothing permanently.

But, the complaining Congressmen and Foreign Chancellors intend to learn, would the United States have waged an atomic war alone, without Allies. If the Communists had accepted the Dulles challenge to atomic strife? Are we, in other words, going to protect British and French interests in remote crannies of the universe, even when London and Paris refuse to fight alongside us? They gave only token reinforcement in Korea.

The strange twist given to our foreign policy by the Dulles interview threatens a Capitol Hill debate matching the violent and historic quarrel over American membership in the League of Nations. It has handed the Democrats the explosive and emotional issue for which they had been waiting, seemingly in vain.

Until this Dulles episode, the Democrats were floundering in their efforts to find a flaw in the conduct of foreign affairs, since it had brought a tentative but uneasy stalemate in the "cold war," based on mutual fear rather than friendship.

The opposition had been driven to a mere questioning of the need for continued foreign economic spending, which is hardly an excitable subject. Even on that matter, they were divided among themselves, with many favoring the principle but not the expenditure. And, as a matter of fact, the White House does not intend to press this request too vigorously.

But John Foster Dulles' threats to wage an atomic war, with or without Allies in Asiatic lands thousands of miles distant from our bases, has opened up an entirely new field of partisan controversy on an issue involving American lives, national security and treasure.

Although it will be difficult for the Dulles to repudiate his Secretary of State, his closest advisers believe that only he can repair the damage to the United States, the Administration and the Republican Party. For Dulles has destroyed the Geneva picture of Eisenhower as a "man of peace."

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M. D.

Mrs. A. J. asks for a discussion of iritis, particularly its possible causes and treatment. Certainly this serious eye disease deserves attention.

It almost always causes pain, watering of the eyes, sensitivity to bright light. If it goes on too long it can lead to poor vision or even loss of sight in the involved eye.

IF IRITIS begins suddenly the symptoms are likely to be worse than in the chronic variety, but recovery usually comes more rapidly, perhaps in a few weeks. The pain is likely to be severe, and worse at night. Touching or pressing the eyeball is very painful.

Iritis is sometimes associated with rheumatism, diabetes, tuberculosis, syphilis or injury. It is most important that the cause of the iritis be discovered whenever possible.

The disease producing the inflammation of the iris must be treated as well as the eye itself. The search for infection elsewhere in the body must be carried out painstakingly and thoroughly. But sometimes no cause whatever can be found.

WHEN PROPER TREATMENT is begun early, the iritis often clears up completely, but complications and the possibility of chronic inflammation are dangerous possibilities.

The eye itself requires highly skilled treatment, including the use of drugs, heat applied locally, rest and protection from light. Sometimes a method called foreign protein therapy has been found helpful in iritis.

This consists in injecting some protein substances (boiled milk is an example) which produces a reaction in the body, usually with fever. This seems to stimulate resistance and often has a favorable effect on the iritis.

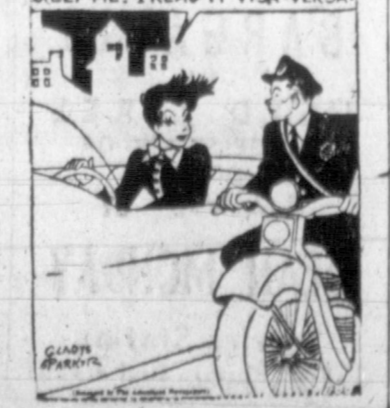

AS IN MOST other inflammatory diseases of the eye but not such things as cataracts, simple glaucoma, and the like) ACTH or cortisone are often useful.

U. S. Has Few Statues To Honor Recent-Day Leaders

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Can anyone explain why our second big war and the Korean war have produced so few statues to individual heroes, and parks or squares named after Generals or Admirals? There are practically none of the proud, patriotic landmarks which have been and homogeneous peoples, even in defeat.

If I mention the statue to the Marines raising the stars and stripes on Iwo Jima, I believe I have almost covered that phase of the story. But if there are other such monuments they are relatively few and this strange change may be observed negatively in all the other countries except, probably, Russia. Incidentally, a young West Point Lieutenant in Chicago, remarked at the time of the Iwo flag-raising that it seemed strange to him that it took so many Leathernecks to plant a flag-staff weighing a couple of pounds. Of course that may have been the corps spirit speaking.

I saw a story of a strike riot recently which gave sidelong mention of a square in a small Western city named for General MacArthur. But who were the memorials equivalent to Grant Park, Sheridan Road and Logan Square in Chicago, Pershing Square in New York, Los Angeles and Danburn, and Father Duffy Square in the confluence of Broadway and Seventh Avenue? Horace Greeley is honored with a square in New York, but is General Patton?

We had Franklin D. Roosevelt drive and La Guardia Field in New York long before those statesmen were laid away even though both had technically disapproved monuments to living persons. Roosevelt's practical if somewhat immodest acknowledgment of his own grandeur had been plainly implied by his preparations for the Memorial Library and for his grave, which soon got formal designation by the Department of the Interior as a "shrine." His mother barely missed ennoblement in the consecration of a lounging place for skid row bums and children and their mothers on the lower East Side. Robert Moses, a church-Republican who built this untidy reservation after a stretch of old tenements had been knocked down, frustrated La Guardia's reverent purpose by neglecting to order the street-corner signs. His primary reason for that was the old lady's parsimony in reversing the cost of a 50-cent phone call from Hyde Park to tell him she could not be down for the dedication because she had a cold. The city paid the 50 cents but saved something on the traditional scaffolds for the orators and other dignitaries and the wages of men to tack up the bunting and take it down.

Is there an Eisenhower Boulevard "somewhere that I have not heard of? It seems to me that the only memorial to Ike was a temporary and unofficial salute, tinged with sarcasm, in London where Grosvenor Square, an American center, was commonly called "Eisenhower Plaza." There is in this figure a big, bronze figure of Roosevelt in the naval cape, a defined honor to which he was never entitled, and surly Americans of contrary political and moral principals have threatened to get drunk and desecrate it. Would I be thought ill of if I said that this would be a good idea.

The French and the Italians have a lighthearted, mercurial way of exalting heroes temporarily and tearing them down permanently. I have often marvelled that the name of President Wilson remained on a street in Paris as long as it did but I did not make observations last trip and it may have been renamed in honor of some Communist by now. In Rome, recently, I met Italians who scoffed when I told them the Spanish Square at the foot of the stairs had been renamed briefly by Benito Mussolini The Square, or Place, of Marshall De Bono after some successful skirmish of his in Abyssinia. The change was made on trips of paper pasted over the old signs. But his glory vanished long ago when an unfortunate victim of political change and indomitable Italian incompetence in major war condemned him to temporary ignominy at the hands of a Fascist firing squad.

The West Germans have no monuments and men who surely must have been combat fighters wear nothing in their lapels. But neither do Americans nor British, and Frenchmen seem to lay more value on their Legion of Honor, which is very cheap, than on their Military Medal, almost as hard to come by as our Medal of Honor, women as well as men, and young persons of both sexes, display proof that they were there. These are the blind, who wear a yellow brassard with dots on it, which not only identifies them as casualties of the war, but permits them to beg. And those who lost an arm or a leg. The German civilians took terrible punishment from our bombers, and women and children suffered about equally with the men.

We have discouraged the Germans from honoring their heroes with massive statues and clearings. They seem not to mind but perhaps they only share the apathy which controls our strange conduct in this matter.

Most of our small towns, north and south, still maintain in their Central Squares those rain-washed limestone figures of the soldiers of a terrible war and there came in the 'twenties a good crop of that conventional doughboy in the flat iron hat charging with a bayonet, a tedious exercise of the training areas seldom invoked in battle. But the monument industry has failed to exploit the market since 1945 and one reason may be that we are hatefully divided on the merits of General Shali and General MacArthur and so on down the line.

I doubt that I shall live to see a statue of Harry S. Truman even in Kansas City.

man - Acheson foreign policy was the issue which brought the Republicans victory in 1952. Senator McCarrthy was an important speaker at the last Republican Convention and his address concerned foreign policy. General Douglas MacArthur made the key note speech and his address was almost entirely devoted to foreign policy. When a promise brought victory in 1952, why are we asked in 1956 to refuse consideration of how that promise has been fulfilled?

guaranteed loans for hundreds of millions of dollars which may "go sour" but it is now spending additional huge sums to try to remedy the results of its own loose practices that led to the "windfalls" in the first place. And this looks very much like a second "windfall" — for the herds of government investigators' clerks, and lawyers needed to press the legal claims involved.

And what do you and I get out of all this? Well, wherever there are "windfalls" there have to be "fall guys." That's us. We pay for it.

Well, this so-called "windfall scandal" is still another argument for keeping government out of business. Not only has the government

According to a recent issue of The Wall Street Journal, the Government is engaged in "an official effort to recover hundreds of millions of dollars in . . . 'windfall' profits pocketed by apartment builders under a Federal Housing Administration mortgage insurance program.

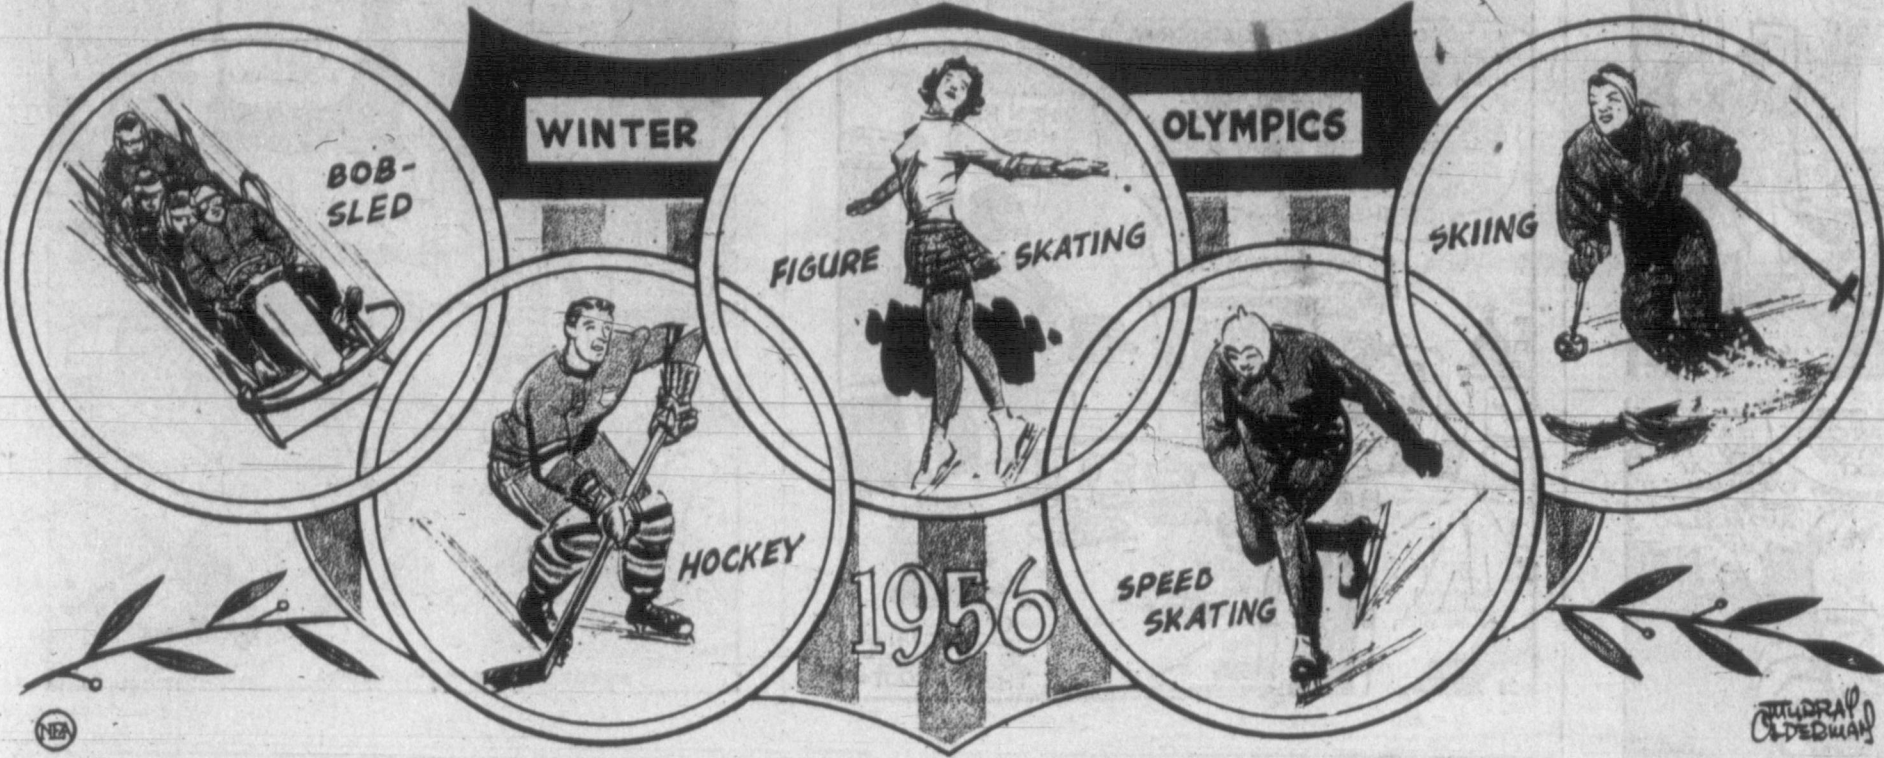

"The uphill battle, begun about a year ago, has netted only about $1.5 million so far. It has . . . plunged Uncle Sam into a wilderness of legal claims and counter-claims."

Yanks Take Drubbing From Reds In Olympics

By PETER UEBERSAX
CORTINA, Italy —UP— America's winter Olympic stars took a drubbing in their first showdown with Russia, but they have high hopes of bouncing back Monday with a good showing in bobsleds and a win over the Soviets in hockey.

The bobsled action, slated to get underway at 8 a.m. (2 a.m., est), is the first "real" competition of the 1956 Olympic games.

Actually, the games don't open until Thursday and the first bobsled heats are not scheduled until Friday. Monday's runs down the swift, dangerous Olympic course were first planned as an elimination to trim the field of 25 entries for the two-man bobsled down to 20 for the official competition.

To Start Last

But officials ruled instead Sunday night that Monday's runs will be to determine the five slowest teams. These will be forced to be the five last starters in the official competition—a bad spot since by then the run will be chewed up by sleds and slowed down.

The Soviets are not entered in the bobsled, and the Americans are looking forward to an exhibition game Monday night between the hard-hitting hockey teams of the two nations at Bolzano, about 45 miles from the Olympic site here.

Kenneth (Tug) Wilson, president of the U. S. Olympic committee, refused Monday to predict how the U.S. hockey team will fare in Olympic competition until the results of Monday night's match are in. But he believed that Russia and Canada will be the chief competitors for the hockey crown.

Wilson, and the other Americans, were tremendously impressed by the Soviet showing in the unofficial speed-skating Sunday.

Sweep Top Three Places

In a 50-meter race, the Russians swept the first three places with Evgenji Grishin, Yuri Sergeev and Rafail Gratch. Grishin bettered the world record with a 40.2 second clocking and third-place Gratch tied the old mark of 40.8. Ken Henry of Chicago and Don McDermott of Englewood Cliffs, N.J., who finished one-two in this event in the 1952 Olympics, had to settle for fourth and fifth.

"Those speed skating performances Sunday all but made certain that we won't win a single gold medal in that event," said Wilson.

Wilson said he now believes that, thanks to Russian appearance in the winter Olympics for the first time, it is now "extremely unlikely" that the United States will match its performance of winning four gold medals in the '52 games. He said he has high hopes of two gold medals—in men's and women's figure skating—and that's about it.

Dayton Stretches Season Record To Better Dons'

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press Sports Writer

Daredevil Dayton bragged of a season record better than San Francisco's Monday as college basketball headed into a week that will be capped by San Francisco's attempt to set a new major-college record of 40 straight victories.

Dayton, which has been walking a tightrope lately in remaining unbeaten, blew a 19-point lead Saturday night before driving its season slate to 14-0 with a 81 to 73 decision over Xavier of Ohio.

San Francisco, idle all last week with mid-year examinations, has "only" a 13-0 mark for the present season. But national champion Dons will be trying for their 40th straight triumph over the past two seasons when they visit dangerous California on Saturday night.

Victory over the Bears would enable the Dons to smash the record of 39 straight they now share with the 1935-36 Long Beach and the 1940-41 Seton Hall teams. Oddly enough the California team that could prove "spoiler" is coached by Pete Newell, the coach who first brought San Francisco to national basketball prominence by winning the National Invitation tournament in 1949.

Dayton Blows Lead

Dayton, ranked second nationally behind San Francisco by the United Press board of coaches, found itself tied at 44 to 44 by Xavier with six minutes left after blowing the big lead. But seven-foot Bill Uhl, who had 18 points hooked in a flyer basket and Dayton never was headed again. Jim Paxson of Dayton topped Uhl for scoring honors with 21 points.

This victory by Dayton, plus Saturday night triumphs by Temple of St. Francis of Brooklyn, kept the "honor roll" of major college perfect record teams intact at four. San Francisco, of course, is the other member.

Temple pushed its record to 11-0 with an easy 72 to 44 conquest of Lehigh in which 21 points by Hal Lear and 15 rebounds by six-eight Tink Van Patton led the way. St. Francis squeaked to a 76 73 win over arch-rival St. John's (N.Y.), also for an 11-0 mark, and the Terriers could virtually clinch an NIT bid by beating Seton Hall in a Thursday game that may decide the top team in the New York area.

Six teams ranked among the nation's top ten, including Dayton and ninth-ranked Temple, played Saturday and all won. North Carolina State (No. 3) routed William and Mary 90 to 71 despite 27 points by Dick Savage; Kentucky (No. 5) drubbed Tennessee 95 to 68 as Gerry Calvert and Jerry Bird scored 24 each; Vanderbilt (No. 6) eked out a 67 to 64 win over Georgia Tech; and Louisville (No. 10) downed Eastern Kentucky 10 to 83.

As a result of weekend action, here's the situation in the major conferences:

Big Ten—Illinois (4-0) plays no league foes this week. Purdue (4-2) and Iowa (3-1) battle for second place Monday night.

Pacific Coast—UCLA (4-0) plays no league foes this week. Three closest rivals each play twice, but don't meet each other.

Southwest—Arkansas (4-0) does not have a league game this week but Southern Methodist (3-0) can pull up even by beating Texas Christian at Dallas Saturday night.

Missouri Valley—Oklahoma A&M (2-0)—can gain on idle St. Louis (4-0) by beating Tulsa Saturday.

Southeastern—Vanderbilt (5-0) and Kentucky (4-0) meet in showdown Saturday. Alabama (3-0) can pass loser by beating Georgia.

Ivy—Columbia (4-0) and Princeton (3-0) both idle this week.

Atlantic Coast—North Carolina (5-1) and Duke (6-1) both idle this week.

Southern—West Virginia (5-1) faces Furman Saturday while George Washington (5-2) is idle.

Big Seven—Colorado risks 3-0 mark Monday night against Iowa State, which has best overall mark in league (10-3).

Skyline—Utah (5-0) is visiting Hawaii this week, so Brigham Young (3-0) can gain by beating Utah State Saturday.

Border—West Texas State is leading with 3-1 record.

Harvesters Meet Sandies Tuesday

The Pampa Harvesters after picking up their first district victory from the Lubbock Westerners Friday night, will be taking the test Tuesday night when they travel to Canyon to meet the once-defeated Amarillo Sandies.

The game will be one of the major games on the schedule for both teams as they will be fighting to hold second place in the district ratings since the Borger Bulldogs, by their pre-district records, will be the top team until they are defeated.

The Amarillo Sandies will be carrying an eight-three won loss record in pre-conference play while the Harvesters have won 14 and lost four. The Harvesters should be favored because of their one-district win and Amarillo's one-district defeat but that is not the case.

The Sandies were defeated by the top club in the northern half of the 1-AAAA district while the Harvesters had a rough game with the fourth rated Lubbock Westerners.

The game should give an insight as to how the Harvesters stack up against the Borger Bulldogs. If the Harvesters come out with more than a seven point margin they should then be favored over the Bulldogs for their game Friday, January 27. If, on the other hand, the Sandies defeat the Green and Golds they should be placed third in the District with Amarillo and Borger in second and first places.

The Pampa coach, Clifton McNeely, should start his regular five with Dickie Mauldin and Buddy Sharp bringing the ball down and setting it up. Tony Gindorf should be in at the center post and Gene Brown and Jerry Gee should be there to dump in the fieldgoals from the side and from the free throw circle.

Gene Brown leads the district in free throws in district play and at the same time leads in scoring for the district with his 27 points against the Lubbock Westerners in the Harvesters 72-64 win.

Duke's Sime Is Newest Olympic Hope

By GAYLORD GODWIN
WASHINGTON — UP — Dave Sime, a 19-year-old Duke University sophomore who runs more like a blue streak than a blue devil, was suddenly regarded as the logical candidate Monday to take over Mel Patton's title as the "world's fastest man."

Sime's only previous claim to fame before the Washington Evening Star's ninth annual track meet Saturday was that he hit 340 last year as a center fielder on Duke's freshman baseball team.

But the strapping 185-pound red-head from Fair Lawn, N.J., emerged as a spectacular new U.S. Olympic hope and a fitting successor to Patton—co-holder of the world outdoor 100-yard record.

Sime set the track world agog when he raced to a new American indoor record of 9.5 seconds in the 100-yard dash, won the 70 yard dash in seven seconds flat and then, after taking a few deep breaths, took the 80 yard dash in eight seconds flat.

In each of the three races, Sime, who pronounces his name to rhyme with "Jim," beat the highly-rated Andy Stanfield, winner of the 200 meter event in the 1952 Olympics and former indoor sprint champion.

Outclassed even more by the unheralded Sime was Lt. Rod Richard, the Pan-American 100 and 200 meter and national AAU 220-yard champ who captured the 50-yard dash in the Inquirer meet at Philadelphia Friday night.

Sime failed to qualify in the 100-yard finals in Philadelphia but he was a veritable whirlwind in the Washington meet.

Sime, who is considered an outstanding baseball prospect, will make his next big time appearance in the Millrose games at Madison Square Garden in New York Feb. 4.

Local Mittmen Ready For Golden Gloves

Fighters from all over the Texas Panhandle will be pouring into Pampa today for the first night's competition of the Pampa District Golden Gloves tournament set to get underway at the Jr. High gym tonight at 8.

Fighters have had their last workouts and should be ready for the "weighing in" at 4 p.m. today. The boys must have their parents' permission and entry cards completed by weigh in time.

Fighters from Pampa are ready and should constitute the majority of the tournament. Borger should have approximately 25 fighters entered in the tournament in addition to the boxers from Dumas and Memphis.

The tickets are on sale at Richard's Drug and reserved seats may be purchased for all three nights of the tourney.

Pampa should have the advantage in the home ring and should come out with the majority of the championship trophies. The Borger Club won most of the Pee Wee championships in the Borger Tournament but Pampa coaches are optimistic now that the Pampa Pee Wees have had the chance to see the Borger fighters in action.

Pampa fighters won the majority of the high school championships in the Borger contests and are expected to repeat their wins in the Pampa competition.

The three night affair will get underway at 8 each evening with the smaller bouts set to start the card each night. At least one heavy fight will be set before the first intermission each night.

All members of the Pampa Optimist Club are asked to be on hand to help with the seating and preparing the fighters.

The Optimists are doing a good work in the city of Pampa and would appreciate any and all encouragement from local boxing fans.

New Mexico A&M Could Tie WTS For Border Lead

By UNITED PRESS

There'll be little decisive action in the wide open Border Conference basketball race this week, but the one loop game on the schedule could serve to narrow it from a six to a five-club title battle.

New Mexico A&M, the nation's fifth stingiest defensive outfit and the conference's full season leader with 10 victories in 13 starts, gets a chance to pull into a tie with West Texas for the lead, when the Aggies host Texas Western at Las Cruces Friday night.

The Aggies will be slight favorites to run their conference record to 3-1 and drop the Miners to a 1-3 record that would all but write the El Paso school off the contention list.

With mid-term still in effect for the second straight week, six of the seven clubs have a good chance to grab the crown shared by West Texas and Texas Tech a year ago. Only Hardin-Simmons (0-4) seems out of the running.

West Texas and the Aggies have lost only one game, while Arizona State, Arizona, Texas Tech and Texas Western have only two defeats.

Arizona dumped Temple's Sun Devils out of a share of the lead last week with an 89 to 76 victory and left those two clubs tied for third at 3-2, a half point ahead of Tech at 2-2.

Tech Hardin-Simmons and Arizona State will be in action this week against non-league foes—Tech against Eastern New Mexico at Portales, Friday night; HSU against Howard Payne at Brownwood and the Sun Devils against UCLA at Tempe Saturday night.

Non-conference play last week saw the Aggies defeat New Mexico 88 to 51 and HSU bow to North Texas 66 to 57.

Mustangs, Razorbacks Are Fighting For S'west Lead

By ED FITE
United Press Sports Writer

Defending champion Southern Methodist's return to action highlights a very meager Southwest Conference basketball slate this week.

Coach E. O. (Doc) Hayes' Mustangs, their championship being contested rigorously by a resurgent Arkansas team that actually owns a half-game lead at the moment, ends an 18-day mid-term lay-off Saturday night at home against Texas Christian.

That's the only league game on tap, but Baylor will play a March of Dimes benefit Tuesday night at Waco against the powerful Andrews AFB team and Arkansas tries to keep sharp with a Saturday night date at Memphis, Tenn., against Mississippi.

A victory over TCU would enable SMU to pull up even with Arkansas at 4-0 in the championship odds-on favorites to do just that unless the inactivity has cost the Mustangs the edge that has carried them to a 13-2 season mark and ranking as the nation's seventh best club.

Both SMU and Arkansas will get in one more game before the first of their climactic meetings at Fayetteville Feb. 4. SMU will play Baylor at Waco Jan. 31 and Arkansas goes to Fort Worth against TCU Feb. 1.

So far, Arkansas has averaged 84.2 points per game to 83.3 for SMU against conference foes, but SMU has checked its three hoop rivals to an average of 65.3 points per game to 66.7 for Arkansas' four opponents.

The Razorbacks boosted both their winning record and point average last week by romping by the Texas Aggies 98 to 66 at Fayetteville in their only appearance this week.

Rice Stays Close

Rice, which along with the Aggies has completed half its loop slate, stayed within striking distance of the leaders by humiliating Texas 83 to 58 and nocking out Baylor 66 to 62 for a 4-2 record. The Aggies came back to hit the half-way point at 3-3 by beating TCU 84 to 74. They also won a non-league tilt from Sam Houston 75 to 66.

Sophomore Temple Tucker of Rice ran his season scoring total to an even 400 points, the first to reach that level, but lost both his season and conference per-game average lead in the process.

Final Bout Signed For Wednesday

Juan Garcia of Mexico has been signed to meet Mark Lewin of Los Angeles, Calif., in a two out of three fall 45 minute time limit match Wednesday night, January 25, to support the double main event which has already been signed.

Garcia is a new man to this territory but comes very highly recommended. Mark Lewin has already established himself as a crowd favorite here with his clean wrestling.

Garcia also wrestles clean so this should be a good clean match.

Two girl wrestlers will appear in one of the main events. It will be 2 out of 3 falls one hour time limit, featuring Joan Ballard and Kathy Lee.

Both of these girls are new in this territory. It should be the greatest exhibition of girl wrestling that Pampa has ever seen.

The other main event will be two out of three fall one hour time limit between Dixey Davis the Southwest States Heavy weight Champion and Mike Clancy the former North Eastern States Champion.

This match should be something to watch.

Tickets are now on sale at the Modern Pharmacy with all proceeds going to the Pampa Shrine Club's Children's Fund.

Tennessee Girl Hits 100 Points In Single Game For Record

HENRY, Tenn., Jan. 23—UP—Jeannette Hays of Henry high held a new state basketball scoring record for girls Saturday after dropping in 100 points in a single game.

Jeannette turned in the whopping total Friday night as her team whipped Furyear 120-31. Earlier this season, Jeannette had scored 89 points in one game.

Final Bout Signed For Wednesday

Juan Garcia of Mexico has been signed to meet Mark Lewin of Los Angeles, Calif., in a two out of three fall 45 minute time limit match Wednesday night, January 25, to support the double main event which has already been signed.

Garcia is a new man to this territory but comes very highly recommended. Mark Lewin has already established himself as a crowd favorite here with his clean wrestling.

Garcia also wrestles clean so this should be a good clean match.

Two girl wrestlers will appear in one of the main events. It will be 2 out of 3 falls one hour time limit, featuring Joan Ballard and Kathy Lee.

Both of these girls are new in this territory. It should be the greatest exhibition of girl wrestling that Pampa has ever seen.

The other main event will be two out of three fall one hour time limit between Dixey Davis the Southwest States Heavy weight Champion and Mike Clancy the former North Eastern States Champion.

This match should be something to watch.

Tickets are now on sale at the Modern Pharmacy with all proceeds going to the Pampa Shrine Club's Children's Fund.

NOTED EXPERT COMING HERE TO REVEAL FACTS ABOUT SCALP AILMENTS

If you are worried about falling hair, scaly dandruff, itchy scalp, or kindred disorders, F. A. Cherry, nationally known trichologist and authority on hair and scalp, will put your mind at ease. He will conduct personal demonstrations in his suite at the Schneider Hotel, here Tuesday, January 24, from 12:00 noon to 9:00 p.m. Science has found the way to end those troublesome disorders, says Mr. Cherry. No longer need you suffer the embarrassment of dandruff, the torment of itching, the haunting fear that you may infect other members of your family with your scalp troubles. In fact, even baldness may now be remedied in the great majority of cases; the mere presence of a light, colorless fuzz is indication of life in the hair roots, which may be restored by proper care. While in Pampa, Mr. Cherry will give FREE complete hair and scalp examinations. After one of these free private examinations he is able to tell the individual just what is wrong, and what treatments are needed to return the scalp and hair to a healthy condition.

"I wish I could say there is no such thing as a hopeless case," says Mr. Cherry. "Fortunately such cases are extremely rare. They are usually characterized by slick shiny baldness." When a private examination indicates that the case is beyond help, Mr. Cherry reveals the truth without hesitation, believing that it is better for the individual to know the facts, than to live in false hope. However, he explains that amazing results are being achieved all over America with cases which might appear hopeless to any but the skilled technician. Only a thorough examination by a trained technical expert can reveal the true facts. The examination may require as long as a half hour. There is no cost or obligation whatever for the examination. Afterwards, the examining expert is able to tell what treatments are indicated, and how long they should be continued to accomplish the results desired.

GUARANTEED

Vir-Bet, Inc., the firm of consultants with which Mr. Cherry is associated, will accept no case for treatment unless the examining expert feels that satisfactory results can be absolutely guaranteed. "If at the end of 30 days you are not completely satisfied, your money will be refunded; the company guarantees without equivocation. "There will be no argument, no unpleasantness. You MUST be satisfied."

"Obviously," says Mr. Cherry, "successful results are achieved most quickly in those cases which are treated in their early stages." Vir-Bet cites countless cases in which troublesome dandruff has been completely eliminated, itching scalp relieved, falling hair stopped, and even weak fuzz has developed into healthy hair, growing as nature intended. Only proper use of treatments, of course, can produce these results. The individual taking such treatments makes regular reports to the Vir-Bet firm in Oklahoma City, so that progress can be checked, and additional guidance given as needed.

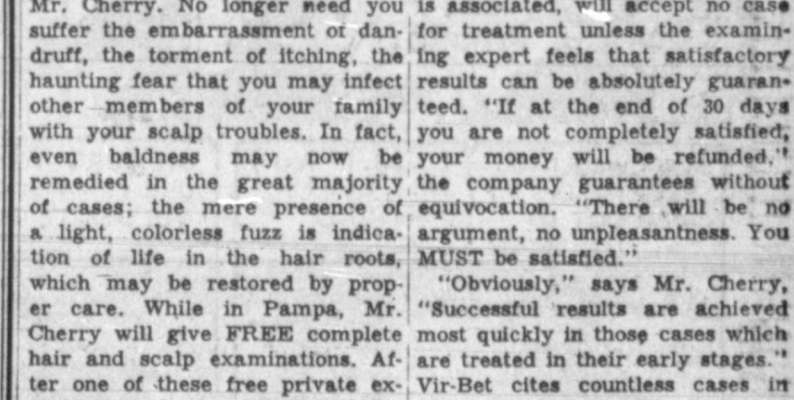

In his demonstration here, Mr. Cherry will describe the 18 most frequent causes of scalp disorders. He issues this warning to all who are interested: "If recession appears at the temple, or a spot begins to show at the crown of the head, something is wrong. It could be functional, or genetic, or of nervous origin."

FREE EXAMINATION

Besides re-examining present clients, Mr. Cherry will demonstrate methods of treatment to those needing expert help and guidance. He will occupy a suite of rooms in the Schneider Hotel, in Pampa, on Tuesday, January 24, from 12:00 noon to 9:00 p.m. Ask at the desk for Mr. Cherry and learn what help you may expect for your hair and scalp problems, no matter how troublesome or hopeless they may seem to you.

YOU NEED NOT HAVE AN APPOINTMENT

No appointment is necessary to receive the services of this clinic. Just ask for Trichologist Cherry at the Schneider Hotel. The examination is private. There is no embarrassment and no obligation in any way. Men and women are welcome.

Not now, but in the coming years, it may be in the better land. We'll read the meaning of our tears. And there, sometimes, we'll understand.

We'll catch the broken threads again. And finish what we began. And then, as then, we'll understand. We'll know why clouds instead of sun were over many cherished plans. Why song has ceased, when scars began.

T's there, sometimes, we'll understand. God knows the way. He holds the key. He guides us with unerring hand. Sometimes with tearful eyes we'll see. Yes, there, up there, we'll understand. Then trust in God through all our days.

Fear not, for He doth hold thy hand; Though dark the way, still sing and pray; Sometimes, sometimes, we'll understand.

THIS ONE'S FOR REAL—Glen City School students at Santa Paula, Calif., don't need any more toy jet airplanes. They've got a real one, right in their own school yard. It's a surplus, obsolete Republic F-84B Thunderjet, minus its powerplant. Presented to the school by the Air Force, the jet is serving two purposes. When it's not in use as an educational aid, it's used as part of a novel sliding board. These kids are climbing into the jet on one side, then sliding down on the other.

Pampa Has Third Day Of Fog

Pampa was in its third day of fog today with a mixture of rain, snow and ice coming alternately during the three-day period from Friday morning to noon today.

Only .05 of an inch of moisture had been measured since Saturday, however.

The fog, which has been alternately light and heavy, slowed traffic on area roads with visibility dropping to as low as an estimated 150 feet. There was no information this morning from radio station KPND, Pampa's official weather station, as to when the fog would lift.

The forecast was for mostly cloudy skies today, tonight and tomorrow, a little warmer tomorrow with occasional rain. The low tonight should be from 25 to 35 in the Panhandle and South Plains.

Pampa's temperature high yesterday was a cool 32 degrees with the low for the 24 hour period 26. The temperature at 6 a.m. today was 31 degrees, fell to 29 and was back up to 31 again at 11:30 a.m.

Senate Group Hits Stassen

WASHINGTON—UP—Senate investigators Monday accused Harold E. Stassen, President Eisenhower's assistant for disarmament, of "reprehensible" conduct.

The Senate investigating subcommittee, in a report filed in the Senate Monday, said Stassen was "most unco-operative" and "attempted to hinder and impede" an inquiry last April.

The inquiry concerned a proposed contract between the Foreign Operations Administration (FOA), which Stassen then headed, and a Los Angeles firm to erect grain storage elevators in Pakistan.

The subcommittee said Stassen "exercised poor judgment and used bad business practice" when he insisted on pressing ahead with the contract with a firm which, the report said, was the apparent high bidder.

But the subcommittee saved its strongest language for Stassen's suggestion that there might be some unethical activity between an official of the low-bidding firm and an FOA employee. The FOA itself reported seven months later it could find nothing to substantiate this.

"Mr. Stassen's irresponsible and unsubstantiated implications in open hearing... were reprehensible for a high government official," the report said.

Sen. George H. Bender (R-Ohio) refused to sign the report and in a dissenting statement called it "inaccurate and unfair."

The subcommittee said it found "strong evidence of collusion" between officials of the Agricultural Construction Co. of Los Angeles and Robert Pinner, engineer employed for FOA to handle the grain elevator project in Pakistan. It said this collusion led to a recommendation that the contract be awarded to the Agricultural Construction Co.

TEXAN

Continued from Page One and fish," he laughed when talking about his other two hobbies. Carmichael also loves to travel. He has taken two trips to Canada, taking a "lot of color movies," which he has shown to the Rotary and Lions civic clubs and to women's organizations. He says he likes to be able to stop and see things while traveling.

He told of seeing an interesting barn during one of his travels. So he stopped to find out what kind it was. And he told of how quaint a town is Vancouver, British Columbia, reported to be the most British town west of London. He told of the street lamps, each of which is decorated with granium pots.

"I'm really interested in crippled children," Carmichael pointed out. "That's what the Shrine is for." He explained that the wrestling matches the Shrine Club sponsors sends many children to receive good medical aid.

A member of the First Methodist Church, Carmichael resides at 1122 Charles with his wife, Myrie. They have one son, Bobby, who is working here with his father. And Carmichael is ready at any time to tell you about his two grandsons, Doug, 5, and Mark, 20 months.

In talking about his vocation, Carmichael stated: "We have to be ready any time to serve people." And his many friends say he is always helping people far beyond what is "expected."

Annexation Issue Due

The City Commission will hear the second reading of an annexation ordinance in their meeting at 9 a.m. tomorrow in the City Commission Room in City Hall.

The ordinance has to do with the annexation of section one of the North Crest addition. City Manager Fred Brook this morning said that he would request the commission to set a bid date on needed vehicular equipment.

He will also request a bid date for sealing and topping needed on streets included in the current paving program.

Brook added that he probably would request a tentative date be set for the acceptance of bids on pumps for two water wells now under construction.

A discussion probably will be held on the current paving methods of the city. Brook has recently returned from Lubbock and Amarillo and has corresponded with other cities in an effort to ascertain the most beneficial methods of financing and constructing paving projects.

Five Mishaps Blamed On Bad Weather

A total of five automobile accidents were reported occurring within the city limits over the week end. Most of the collisions were caused by fog and light drizzle according to police reports. No injuries were reported.

The first collision took place on Cuyler and 175 feet north of Craven at 7:30 p.m. Saturday in a heavy fog. In a three-car collision Joe Marvin Hindman of McLean, driving a '56 Pontiac, was in collision with Walter E. Simmons, 609 N. Russell, in a '48 Ford. The Simmons car was, in turn, pushed into a parked '50 Plymouth belonging to Otis L. Grant of 325 Henry. Damages to the Hindman car amounted to about $500, and damages to the Simmons car were estimated at $150. The parked automobile met with light damages.

A second collision took place at the intersection of Hobart and Huxley at 8:11 p.m. Saturday. Mack Allison Layne, of 515 E. Francis, driving a '49 Chevrolet, was in collision with John Rodney Isbell route 1. The Chevrolet encountered estimated damages of $35, and the Plymouth met with damages of about $75.

A third accident Saturday took place on N. Hobart and 150 feet north of Florida St. at 11:23 p.m. A '31 Plymouth being driven by Phyllis Jane Casey, of route 2, collided with a parked '47 Studebaker belonging to W. C. Cockrell, of 517 Ward. The Casey car met with damages estimated at $150, and the Cockrell car encountered damages of about $75.

A one-car collision occurred on S. Gray at the intersection of Oklahoma Sunday at 1:25 a.m. John D. Young, 538 Crawford, collided with a fire hydrant while driving a '52 Studebaker. Damages were estimated at $350 for the Studebaker and the fire hydrant was damaged in the amount of about $200. According to police reports the car lost control on the slick pavement, slid sideways, jumped the curb, and hit the hydrant.

Another accident took place at the intersection of Hobart and Wilks at 9:32 p.m. Sunday. Walter Charles Bowen, Jr., of 1319 Willis, driving a '53 Plymouth, collided with a '55 Mercury being driven by Jesse James Rycroft of Cheyenne, Wyo. The Mercury belonged to Bill Shropshire, also of Cheyenne. The '55 Plymouth met with damages estimated at $200 and the Mercury incurred damages of about $100.

"It might be days before we can identify everyone killed," Coroner Winstanley said. "I am ordering an inquest as soon as all the reports are in." He said the counting of dead was difficult because some of the bodies were so badly torn.

The railroad's statement that undue speed was responsible for the accident was confirmed by reports of survivors who agreed they thought the train was going "too fast" a moment before it overturned.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation sent a detail of agents to the scene to check into the crash, presumably for federal agencies interested.

The scene of the accident, less than four miles from Union passenger terminal was still inside the railroad yards. The accident blocked off tracks of all railroads leading westward from the union station for hours.
