Schools Forced To Close; Highway Travel Disrupted By United Press

A heavy coating of ice, sleet and snow crippled much of Texas Friday as numbing, sub-freezing weather held

The bitter cold forced most schools from Austin and El Paso northward to close, disrupted communications and made highway traveling almost impossible.

Numerous traffic accidents were reported and at least seven deaths were blamed on the weather. Five were killed in traffic accidents, one woman pedestrian died when a motorist couldn't stop on a slick street and another death was caused by fire started as a protection from the cold.

Weak Insurance Firms Soon To Be Cleaned Out

last of a series of dispatches backgrounding , the. Texas insurance scandals, Preston McGraw, veteran United Press reporter, ventures a prediction of when and where the scandals will end

By PRESTON MOGRAW

AUSTIN UP When and where will the insurance scandal end? As far as companies being put out of business is concerned, that part of the question ought to be answered fairly soon after May 31. That is the deadline on insurance companies' getting back to the Insurance Commission a special questionnaire showing whether they are strong enough to stav in

Gov. Allan Shivers, in approving this method of quickly finding the bad apples, estimated that 4 or 5 per cent of insurance companies are to weak. This would figure out to between 50 and 70.

'Continuing Situation' Sen. Ottis Lock of Lufkin, who made the original proposal for the Senate Investigating committee, and the State Bar of Texas to work on an anti - bribery law, thinks it will turn out to be a "continuing situation."

.He thinks a line can be drawn somewhere so that a legislator can appear before the Highway Commission with a group of constituents from his county and at the same time be forbidden to accept a fee for what might turn out to be his good will.

can be passed," Lock says. Many sources believe the next session of the legislature will pass more insurance laws, in an effort to prevent another scandal. Other sources believe that laws passed in 1955 by the legislature are Raised Capital Requirement These laws did away with the old provision that a legal reserve life company could open with only $25,000 in capital and no surplus. They raised the minimum requirement of future legal reserve companies to $100,000 capital and $100,000 surplus.

Under these laws, minimum capital must be permanently maintained and public hearings held on the organization of any new life company. Qualifications are set out for agents and counselors.

In addition to the Senate and the scandals, the McLennan (Waco) county and Travis (Austin) county grand juries are investigating U.S. attorneys and state district attorneys are interested. So far, most of their interest has fallen upon U.S. Trust & Guaranty, into which some are looking for signs Will Make Policies Good When District Judge Charles O. Betts clamped an injunction on

No such offer has been made for the casualty companies. But the situation is not the same as it is with life insurance, for most casualty insurance runs for short terms. For instance, automobile accident insurance, which usually

So far, there is no way of telling the situation, or underestimating it.

ADMIRAL BYRD'S ROBOT WEATHERMAN-An amazing device is being used to automatically transmit weather information from the frozen wastes of the Antarctic. Slated for four years' use during Adm. Richard E. Byrd's "Operation Deepfreeze," the robot weather station is called "The Grasshopper." Heres how it works. It's dropped by self-detaching parachute from an airplane, upper left, and automatically opens itself, upper right. Then it rights itself, lower left, and goes into action, lower right. Taking weather data at predetermined intervals, the 200-pound device, operating on 60-day batteries, transcribes the information into International Morse Code and transmits it by radio. "The Grasshopper" was developed by the Bureau of Ships and the Naval Electronics Laboratory in Washington, D.C.

Korea Grounds All Airplanes

SEOUL, Kores - UP - The Republic of Korea grounded all its airplanes Thursday and doubled the reward for the capture of two gunmen who assassinated the chief of the ROK counter . intelligence

One of the biggest manhunts in recorded Korean history was spreading into every corner of the nation for the slayers of Maj. Gen. Kim Chang Yong.

The 36-year-old general one of President Syngman Rhee's most trusted confidantes, was ambushed and shot to death in his jeep near his house by two men wearing ROK army field jackets and fatigue trousers.

In a move to tighten security on the nation, the ROK army grounded all of its planes to prevent the killers from escaping. All leaves were cancelled for the entire 620, 000-man ROK army.

DAME FORTUNE RODE THE ROCK—These pictures tell the dramatic story of how a mother and her five-year-old son miraculously escaped serious injury near Honolulu, Hawaii. A 100pound boulder fell from a roadside hill and crashed through the roof of the car in which they were riding. It brushed against the boy's head and the mother's neck. Photo at right shows the rock resting on the floor of the car. Left photo shows the pocket left by the boulder and the path of its fall.

Political definition becomes more and more difficult all the time as the two major parties become more and more alike. That's why we were interested in a copy of a letter sent to the New York Times by Kenneth D. Robertson, Jr., of Boston.

Mr. Robertson was, and quite properly in our view, upset by the attitude of the New York Times In connection with Sen. Eastland's investigation of Communism and subversion in the press.

He then reviews the editorial viewpoint of the Times on numerous vital questions which can just as easily be applied to individuals as to the Times and which will help determine where individuals and candidates for office stand, politically.

Where do you stand on the following which Robertson lists as the views of the Times?

Condemned segregation in Southern schools; challenged "high handed and abusive methods" of Congressional committees; denounced McCarthyism; attacked the McCarran Immigration Act; criticized the nation's "security system"; opposed the Bricker Amendment; supported Murphy report on UNESCO; favor Red China entry into UN; want more Soviet delegates to come to the U. S.; fovored Geneva "summit meeting"; favor federal aid to education; favor nationalized medicine; urged extension of Social Security program;

Believe huge Ford Foundation grants makes up for Fund for the Republic and the Committee for an Effective Congress; disapprove of Fulton Lewis, Jr., but delight in Edward R. Murrow; give thumbs down to the Freeman, National Review and Human Events but thumbs up for Amerasia, The Reporter and Saturday Review of Literature; prefer publisher Cameron & Kahn over Regnery, Caxton Printers and Devin-Adair; prefer the Kevnesion socialism of Nathan, Samuelson and Seymour E. Harris over economic views of Hayek, Hazlitt and Von Mises; prefer Bishop G. Bromley Oxnam over Bishop Fulton Sheen;

Favor opinions of Stevenson, Acheson and Stassen over Knowland, Byrd of Virginia and Gen. MacArthur; Reject Dean Manion's broadcasts but approve of those by Alsop brothers; in favor of Americans for Democratic Action but opposed to "For America"; pleased that Prof. Herbert Fuchs was fired for exposing 50 subversives in government but relieved that Harvard retained Prof. Wendell Furry for refusing to name former Communist call-mates;

Enthusiastic about United World Federalists and UN, the Human Rights Convention, the "Genocide Convention," all kinds of foreign aid and Eleanor Roosevelt's bid for clemency for top Communist Party leaders.

Mr. Robertson then points out that the Times has been in approval of the issues which have also won approval of the Daily Worker (Communist newspaper). Earl Browder, William Z. Foster, Owen Lattimore, Alger Hiss and other fellow travelers.

We thought the listing of more than passing interest for It places the New York Times and its believers in one camp and those who are opposed to this leftist viewpoint in another. But we still lack a name for the two groups although there can be little doubt that they

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES

"I Lose My Job"

I have been running a series of articles attempting to answer the usual argument given by those who believe labor unions can operate ethically and justly and thus bene-

Since the AFL and CIO have combined, they have $1/2 billion a year to try to sell the American pub lie that labor unions are good and just. Thus it behooves every person who believes in liberty and justice to understand what labor unions really are so that they can use their influence in opposing la-bor unions that are bound to enslave mankind if they are per-mitted to get more and more spe-cial privilege laws. And thus lower our standard of living.

One of the arguments in favor of labor unions is that seniority and being a member of a labor union protects a man against los-ing his job. They invariably contend that the job is "my" job. What they do not seem to understand is that a job is not like a suit of clothes or an automobile or a house or any material things. A job is a partnership where two parties have an equal right and equity. A job does not belong to any individual any more than the employer owns the worker. The worker does not own the employer. He has no right to use a con-spiracy and a plot and threaten to injure the employer in order to keep the employer from trad-ing the fruits of his labor with the worker that will give the most for the reward received. This belief that a man owns job is a belief in a form of slavery. It makes the employer a slave to the worker. It not only makes the employer a slave, but it makes the worker a slave because he is filled with fear that his threats of the use of aggressive force will fall and he will be obliged to compete for his job on a free market basis as every honest person wants to do.

Belief Detrimental To Worker

This belief that a man owns a job is harmful to the worker that so believes. The minute he thinks he owns a job and the other party to the partnership has nothing to say about it, his interest is centered on keeping that ownership and getting the rate of pay increased. He thus tends to neglect doing the very thing that gives him the best security to his job. That is, improving his faculties and his ability to give the nurfor his money.

And the more a man believes that he owns a job, the more he is likely to lose it. The reason is that he neglects to think of the other fellow. He thinks only of himself. And when he doesn't think of the other fellow enough to bene-fellow ceases buying his product and the man that thinks he ewns the job is out of a job. This belief that men own jobs, as is contended by labor leader bosses, is the primary cause of unemployment, Unemployment is due to wages being out of balance. One party wanting so much that the other party believes he loses if he trades with that party that thinks that he owns his job.

Of course an employer will give preference and use seniority to an old employee rather than a nonemployee when every thing else is equal. But they are never equal, because every human being is different. If the employee makes an error or gets the idea that he is worth more than the employer believes he can sell his services for. the successful employer will first try to explain to his worker his errors. Or if the employee thinks his services are worth so much more than the employer thinks they are worth that the employers believes he cannot continue to employ this person at that wage he will try to explain to the em ployee what he will pay for his work before he will dismiss that employee and employ another. And if he is not able to per suade the employee that he is not worth what he is getting, he will give him notice that after a certain date he wants to terminate the partnership.

No successful employer ever, under any circumstances, wants to let an employee go with the idea of injuring that employee. ployee should ever, under any circomstances want to sever his partpership with his employer with the idea of injuring the employer. It is not good business for an employer to be changing help if it can be avoided.

Harrnful Belief There are few beliefs that are more harmful to the worker and to society than to have the employee believe that he ewne a job just as he owns any material thing that belongs to him. There are two wills in every employeremployee relationship.

The best and only security for a job is for the employee to make himself so valuable that the employer wants him and is obliged o raise his wages in order to keep some other employer from getting him.

This labor union question shou'd be openly discussed. Any questions?

The Doctor Says By EDWIN J. SORDAN, M. D.

"So many of my friends have divericula and suffer indigestion." writes Mrs. W., "that I wish you would discuss it."

Certainly the disorder known as diverticulosis is common enough and so many others have written about it that, although this has been discussed before I shall have to do so again even though we really do not know last year on the year before.

First, it is best to explain what we are talking about. A diverticulum is a pouch or a pocket leading off from a large cavity or tube. In the digestive passageare collection handsomely for their House in filling a judgeship vacan- way or gastrontestinal tract in the wall of the digestive tube which was present at birth. ACTUALLY, diverticula (which is the plural of diverticulum) are most frequent in the lower part of the bowel or colon. Apparently, they increase in frequency with age. They are said to be present in about one person in every twenty who has reached edly dubious program of Federal or passed the age of 40.

Usually, these pockets do not produce symptoms and the condition is called diverticulosis. But once in a while the lining of the pockets become inflamed and then diverticulitis is the label

In diverticulitis the symptoms of inflammation vary a good deal. There may be a single attack of acute abdominal pain (which has to be differentiated from appendicitis of other acute abdominal condition), or several attacks. OCCASIONALLY, inflammation may be so severe as to cause a hole in the pocket with infection spreading to the abdominal cavity

The area involved may be sensitive to pressure though course this can result from a

THE NATION'S PRESS

ON FEEDING BLEPWANTS (The Wall Street Journal) One of the farm planners' headaches is the disposal of the unwanted surpluses their plans have created. And it is admittedly a Such devices as the school lunch program hardly put a dent in the huge Federal hoards, so the planners customarily look to other shores. But selling farm products abroad at cut-rate prices or giving them away immediately brings anguished walls from other countries that are busily producing the same surpluses we are. Now the United Nations Food and Agricultural Organization has come up with an ingenious scheme for unloading surpluses - our own and others' - without, it is hoped, international incidents. The idea is to use them to spur the eco-nomic development of underdeveloped areas, especially, it seems, of areas nobody would dream of trying to develop in the absence of the F. A. O. plan.

One such place is the Andaman Islands, 750 miles from the Indian mainland. As Mr. Gemmili reported in this newspaper yesterday, it's estimated that if the timber potentialities there were to be explotted, the project could absorb $3.5 million worth of farm surpluses a year, including food for for elephants which would have to clear the way into the inaccessible interior. The elephants alone would eat nearly two million pounds of surpluses a year.

That there are some obstacles other than terrain the F.O.A. admits. A "very aggressive and hostile" native tribe of expert archers, for instance; since they speak an unknown language, it would be a little difficult to communicate with them before being transfixed. However, the Indian government is generally favorable to the plan, providing the surpluses are free or extremely cut-rate.

It probably can be argued that it is better to use up surpluses some way, even by feeding them to elephants, than to let them pile up in Government storage bine and eventually rot. Stiff, we can think of an even easier approach. That is to avoid domestic legislation designed to accumulate sur-pluses. Despite the relative sim-plicity of this idea, the members of the farm bloc in Congress find it extremely hard to grasp. But the only effective way to end the gluts is to cure the elephantiasis of planning.

Dulles means well when he goes to those four power peace conferenced. But it's kinds hard for one man to sing a quartette.

Tricks To Save Time And Worry

Here's a small collection of beauy tricks that can help us all: Keep the color, size and style sticker from the new stocking envelopes so that later purchases can be matched for economy. Store the fiber, washing or dry cleaning instruction tags from new garments in a location convenient to the laundry hamper. Belts should hang on the closet door near the clothes so that selection can be made without the difficulty of unrolling them from the drawer. Garments that are folded upon removal from an automatic dryer rather than being jumbled in a cart and then folded later can often be used without ironing. Morning light is clear and makeup should be correspondingly light and clear. A curved razor could be a help to women who are apt to cut themselves when shaving under the arms with a straight blade.

Shoe boxes are of a suitable size or storage of gloves. Lacking an electric plug high on he wall, an extra-long iron cord is a great boon.

"I WILL IN NO WISE CAST OUT"

"Him that cometh to me, I will in no wise cast out." -John 6:37.

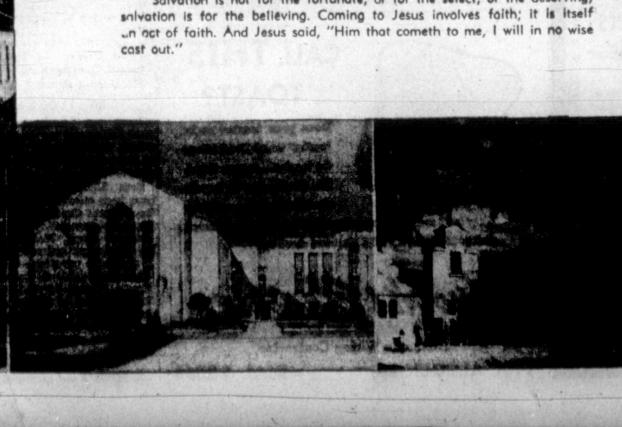

JESUS IS AN APPROACHABLE SAVIOR!

One of the words found often on the lips of the Savior is the word. "Come." He said "Come unto me all ye that labor . . ." One of his earliest disciples, when confronted by a skeptical friend, said "Come and see." The very last invitation in the book of the Revelation says "Whosoever will, let him come." So Jesus is approachable. This is not true of most of this world's great. Many who have attained prominence in the affairs of men have isolated themselves from the common man and cannot be reached by just anyone. But Jesus stands with hands outstretched to all and says "Come." Jesus is approachable. JESUS IS A UNIVERSAL SAVIOR!

It is easy to understand that Jesus would accept some. Those whose lives are good and pure; those whose minds are clean and uncontaminated with evil; those who, like the Master, "go about doing good" . . . it is easy to believe that Jesus would accept these. But the invitation of the text is "Him that cometh to me, I will in no wise cast out." What "Him"? Any "Him"! The invitation of Christ is not limited to a favored few; it is offered to all. His saving power is available to all - and is sufficient for all. JESUS IS A UNIVERSAL SAVIOR!

JESUS IS A RELIABLE SAVIOR! He says, "I will in no wise cost out." There is no doubt, or probability, or maybe-so here! Jesus does not say, "Him that cometh unto me, I will probably not cast out." He says, "I WILL IN NO WISE cost out." He will receive, and He will save; He will not cast out any who would come unto Him. Because love in unbounded; because His power and resources are unlimited; because His patience is unending - He is a reliable Savior.

Salvation is not for the fortunate, or for the select, or the deserving; cast out."

Phoenix Open Led By Veterans, Demaret, Mangrum

$15,000 Phoenix Open got under way Thursday in the continuing struggle between golf's "youth novement" and rejuvenated tournament veterans.

Gene Littler, Palm Springs, Calif., one of the most successful young golfers in 1955, is defending champion in the tournament, scheduled this year over the long, narrow fairways of the Phoenix Country Club course. But Jimmy Demaret, Kiamesha

Lake, N.Y., and Lloyd Mangrum, Apple Valley, Calif., who were making the tournament circuit when Littler still was in grammar school, walked off with top money at Palm Springs and Los Angeles, Both Mangrum and Demaret have been effective in the past on the Phoenix Country Club course. Mangrum, competing in the proamateur event Wednesday over the windswept course, turned in a two-under par score of 69.

Mangrum shared honors with Arnold Palmer, Latrobe, Pa., and Fred Hawkins of El Paso for the best score for a professional in the pro-amateur competition. The veteran golfer also won at Phoenix

Needs Bullpen Help

Lane admits he could use more bullpen help and some added bench strength. Paul and Mathews have indicated they would listen to a reasonable offer, once they've had a chance to check their needs.

Meanwhile, action on the signing front was brisk. The Giants corralled knuckleball relief artist Hoyt Wilhelm, who lost his touch in 1955, the Phillies bagged four players including Richie Ashburn, the National League's leading batsman last year with a .338 average; the Yankees greed to terms with firstbaseman Bill Skowron; he Tigers satisfied Ray Boone, J. W. Porter and Charley Maxwell; the Cubs announced the signing of catcher Clyde McCullough, and the Orioles signed a pair of rookies and first baseman Bob Boyd, up for another major league trial. Wilhelm had a 4-1 mark in 1955, considerably under his 12-4 mark during the 1954 championship year. But in four years with the club he has compiled a 38-16 record and is credited with having saved at least 75 games by the Giants.

Job Is His Skowron, who started the 1955 campaign in a blaze, wound up the season with a .308 average but suffered injuries twice in his rookie year, Manager Casey Stengel has indicated the job is his if he ca play every day.

The 32-year-old Boone drove in 116 runs last season to lead the American League in that department and smacked 20 home runs along with a .284 batting mark. Porter comes back for another try after failing in his first attempt with the Tigers. Maxwell came to the Tigers from Baltimore at mid-season in 1955 and batted .266. Besides Ashburn, who reportedly signed for $25,000, outfielder Jim Greengrass and rookie catchers Joe Lonnett and Mack Burk agreed to terms with the Phillies.

Presidency Called A Six-Man Job

President Harry Truman said Wednesday that the man who is President of the United States should be capable of doing a "sixman job" or he shouldn't be Pres-

The 72-year-old former chief executive discussed the presidency on his habitual early morning walk with reporters without mentioning the name of President Eisenhower. He made it plain, however, that he did not think a man with physical incapacities should be in the White House

Asked what he thought of Mr. Eisenhower's "program," he replied: "What is the Eisenhower program and what has he carried out if he has one?"

SHE TRIED A STOVE ONCE-Still cooking in a stone fireplace is Mrs. Joe Hollaway, who lives husband in a mountain home near Suches, Ga. "I tried a stove once," she says. "Unhandiest thing you ever saw. Had to cut and tote wood for it and for the fireplace, too. . . . And the food, well, a stove just takes all the taste out of your cooking." So she sold the stove. While she prepares the meal in the fireplace, above, her husband sits in an old chair reading the Bible

Italian Actors Complain Of Foreign Stars

By GLORIA SWANSON

Written for United Press ROME - More and more there re those persons who want what you've got-but can see no other way of getting it except by making it wrong for you to have it. Recently there were some Italian actors who complained to parliament that foreigners were taking their jobs and that the salaries of stars were too high. The first complaint has some ustification, if they were referring o unknown foreign actors taking work from unknown Italian actors, If true, this problem must be

But the complaint, I was told, mostly referred to well-known names, and especially me and my salary. Of this group who complanned, from whom did I take the part of Agrippina? Of course, she could have been played by dozens of Italian actresses. But they weren't remembering, if they know it, that stars are like trade marks with the public, possessing various levels of selling power. If I can sell more tickets at the box office than an unknown Italian, is the producer not entitled to insure his investmother, four children and a larger salary? Even the door-tonephew who was staying with the door brush salesman gets paid on family were burned to death this basis—the more he sells, the Wednesday night when fire de more he earns. Comedian Burns Dies

HOLLYWOOD -UP -Bob (Bazooka) Burns, Ozark comedian who made a fortune spinning tall tales about his relatives in Van Buren, Ark., died of cancer Thursday. He was 64.

Burns was in a coma since Saturday at West Valley community hospital where he was being treated for cancer of the kidney. His physician, Dr. David Hertz, said the comedian underwent surgery three years ago and had been in declining health ever since. Burns' wife Marriet, once his secretary, was at his bedside when he died. They eloped to Las Vegas. Nev., in 1937. The comedian also is survived by eir three children, Barbara, 17; Robbin, 16, and Stephen 15. Burns also had a son, Robert, 33, by his wife, who died in 1936.

Inactive in show business for the past 10 years, Burns was bed-ridden for most of the past five years. His sly hillbilly humor and bacooka were a national laugh remdy during the depression years of he 1930's. Stories about his Uncle Fud and Grandpaw Snazzy were national bywords. .

FILMING APPEAL - Singer Mario Lanza and four-year-old Mary Blankenship of Los Angeles, Calif., get acquainted in Hollywood before filming the 1956 Easter Seal motion picture appeal. The two will star in the film, to be shown throughout the country during the campaign. Lanza was named honorary motion picture chairman.
