

Brinks Robbery Solved; Disgruntled Hood To Tell All

By DAVID PICKMAN
EASTON, Mass. —UP— A disgruntled hoodlum goes before a grand jury Friday to "tell all" about the fabulous $1,219,000 Brinks robbery in Boston, four days before it would have become the "perfect crime."

Seven other members of the gang were behind bars, two were hunted by police and the 11th gang member is dead.
None of the stolen money was recovered.
FBI Staged Raids
The solution came as most law enforcement officers were about to give up their long investigation of the crime. The famous holdup occurred Jan. 17, 1950, and under Massachusetts law the statute of limitations was scheduled to expire next Tuesday. Most constitutional authorities believed a three-year extension voted by last year's legislature never would have held up in court.

In a dramatic move Thursday, the FBI announced it had taken six men into custody in commando-type raids in the Boston area. Held in total of $670,000 bail for a hearing Jan. 26 were Adolph (Jazz) Maffie, 44, Quincy, Mass.; Anthony Pino, 45, Boston; Vincent Costa 41, Pembroke, Mass.; Michael V. Geagan, 47, Milton, Mass.; Joseph McGinnis, 52, Bos-

Police were ordered to pick up James J. Maherty, 44, a Boston bartender, and Thomas F. Richardson, 47, a Weymouth, Mass., longshoreman.
Already in jail on other charges were O'Keefe and Stanley Gusciora, 33, Stoughton, Mass. Gusciora is serving time in Pennsylvania.
O'Keefe Talked
The dead gang member was Joseph S. Banfield, 41, Boston.
O'Keefe, who has a criminal record dating back 20 years, has been serving a 27-month sentence at Hampden county jail, Springfield, Mass.

He was rushed the 75 miles to Boston under heavy police guard Thursday and closeted with District Attorney Garrett Byrne, FBI agents and Boston police for more than six hours.
Byrne said O'Keefe was "very co-operative." O'Keefe was cited for contempt in 1953 when he refused to talk before a federal grand jury investigating the Brinks robbery.

A detailed rundown of the robbery with "plans dating back to 1948" was released by the FBI after the six were arrested.
Made Criminal History
The 11-member gang made criminal history with the Brinks hold-up. They escaped with $1,219,000 in cash, and $1,537,183 in checks. Despite their painstaking planning and eye for detail, the gunmen overlooked another $1 million in cash in their haste to depart from the Brinks counting-house.

Seven of the gang entered the Brinks' vaults wearing Navy pea jackets and Halloween masks and with their shoes covered with rubbers to muffle the noise.
Outside three men stood by in a stolen truck to await the loot and a fourth was on a nearby rooftop as lookout. It was the rooftop lookout who had signaled "all clear" approach with a flashlight.
Ten of the men escaped in the truck and the lookout made a getaway in a stolen car.

INTENSIVE SEARCH — The United States and Ecuador threw planes and helicopters into an intensive search of Ecuadorian jungle for possible survivors of an Indian massacre of American missionaries. Missionaries' plane was found destroyed by Auca Indians on a sandbar of the Olgan River in remote eastern Ecuador, arrow. Four bodies were later discovered in the area. (NEA Telephoto).

Four Bodies Found In Ecuador Jungle

QUITO, Ecuador —UP— The bodies of four massacred American missionaries have been found in the "green hell" jungles of eastern Ecuador, and there is only a "remote chance" that a fifth survived a savage Indian attack, it was reported Friday.
An unconfirmed radio report from the jungle said at least one of the slain men had been decapitated—recalling the Auca Indians' grisly practice of shrinking the heads of their victims.
Only one of the murdered missionaries has been positively identified so far—Nathaniel Saint, of Fullerton, Calif., the only member of the party who was wearing khaki clothing. Mutilation made it impossible to identify the other three bodies.
The men who flew into the jungle with Saint Sunday were T. Ed-

Florida Freeze In Eighth Day, Aid Is Sought

By UNITED PRESS
Florida's crop-killing cold wave was in its eighth day Friday and a worsening drought in Texas stirred demands for a special legislative session.
Florida's barred weather forecasters said it should start warming up a little Saturday afternoon. But $25 million worth of crops have already been destroyed and cold weather fires have killed six persons.
The patience of high-paying vacationers was just about at an end. Even though the sun breaks through in the daytime, brisk northwest winds make swimming and sun-bathing a risky proposition.
It was a chilly 45 at Miami early Friday, which put the resort city in about the same class as Boston, which had 40. Other Southland cities fared worse as Baton Rouge, La., registered 31 degrees and Atlanta, Ga., 35.
In Texas, alarm increased over the state's seven-year drought. State Sen. Jimmy Phillips, a candidate for governor, said a special session of the state legislature is the "only hope" for solving Texas' pressing water problem.
Twin storms are hovering off both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, sending rains far inland. In between them, a dry, high pressure area rules the nation's midlands.
The U.S. weather bureau said the high pressure dome had built up "a definite drought situation" in parts of the Plains and Rockies. Precipitation has been 25 per cent below normal from New Mexico and West Texas northward through western Missouri and southwest Iowa, it said.

Legislator Calls For Special Meet
DALLAS —UP— Texas is groaning in its seventh straight year of drought. A state legislator has called for a special session of the legislature to try to provide some help. And a weather bureau spokesman said there is no outlook for rain as far as he can see.
Residents of many areas are having to water their lawns to keep them from dying through the winter. The Dallas-Fort Worth area has had only .01 inch of rain since Dec. 1.
The situation in this area is typical of most of the state. The rainfall for the state in 1955 averaged about eight inches below normal. That was the sixth year that rainfall has been below normal.
And 1956 is starting out the same way. Forecaster J. W. Zimmerman of the Dallas weather bureau said an unusual number of high pressure systems has dominated the state since last November.
Asks Special Session
That has kept a big blanket of dry air over the state and has also kept any moist air, such as is needed for rain, out.
Zimmerman said—as far as forecasters can see—at least through (See DROUTH, Page 3)

Good Will Plans Made

Some committees of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development have developed new approaches to obtaining good will and good business for Pampa.
Included in the aviation committee's projects for the year are efforts to paint the word PAMPA on the roof of some large buildings as a guide to aircraft. The committee will also continue efforts toward the establishment of airline service from Pampa downstate to Fort Worth, Dallas, Wichita Falls and other points south. The committee is headed by Leon Fain.
Included in the program of work for the year for the oil and gas committee, headed by George Cree, Jr., and Bob Sidwell, is the sponsoring of an observance of Oil Progress Week.
The new business greeters committee, with A. A. Schuneman as chairman, plans to continue the operation of the committee by calling on all new business managers and business concerns coming to Pampa.

Insurance Probers Vow No Whitewash

Biggest Test Of Nuclear Bombs Slated

WASHINGTON —UP— The United States this spring will set off the greatest number of experimental H-bombs and A-bombs ever tested at its Eniwetok proving ground in the Pacific.
This was disclosed Friday after the Atomic Energy Commission and Defense Department officials confirmed that nuclear tests will be resumed at the multi-million-dollar test establishment in the Marshall Islands.
In the last Eniwetok test series two years ago a record total of five "devices" were exploded. Deliverable heavyweight versions have since gone into the U.S. atomic arsenal. This year, a highly qualified source said, "there will be more than five shots."
Though no date was officially announced for the start of the new series, a congressional source said they are scheduled to start on or before May 1. They are expected to include:
1. Air drops of "middleweight H-bombs" specifically constructed to destroy enemy airfields. This would be the first time American H-bombs were actually dropped from an airplane. Past U.S. hydrogen tests have been ground shots. The latest Soviet test H-bomb, exploded Nov. 22, apparently was delivered on target by heavy bomber.
2. Experimental firing of a new atomic weapon against enemy H-bombers. An earlier version with a similar mission was tested at a high altitude in Nevada last year.
AEC Chairman Lewis L. Strauss said that the tests will "involve weapons generally smaller in yield than those tested" in March-April, May, 1954. He said the most powerful weapon tested this year would generate violence "substantially below" the biggest exploded in 1954.
That explosion visited radiation sickness on 23 Japanese fishermen, 239 Marshall Islanders, and 28 American servicemen. One of the Japanese died in the following September. The Marshall Islanders and the Americans are said to have recovered completely.

Commission Chairman Called To Testify At Tuesday Meet

By LLOYD LARRABEE
AUSTIN —(UP)— Sen. William S. Fly announced Friday his five-member investigating committee will resume its probe of Texas' insurance scandals at 9 a.m. next Tuesday.
Fly, from his home at Victoria, told United Press by telephone one witness has been called: Insurance Commission Chairman J. Byron Saunders.
"We didn't subpoena him," Fly said. "We just asked him to be there."
Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey late Thursday named Fly to head the committee. He succeeds Sen. Searcy Bracewell of Houston, who resigned in angry protest after other committee members insisted on a closed session.
Due "for a Surprise"

The new chairman revealed he worked until 11 o'clock Thursday night, contacting other members of the committee.
"We are going to meet Tuesday. I'm sending telegrams to the members now," he said.
The committee was convened specifically to investigate the affairs of the collapsed U.S. Trust & Guaranty Co. of Waco which folded, owing creditors $7 million. There have been charges some legislators had their hand in the company's "slitpud." Will Investigate All
"I expect the committee will fully investigate the U.S. Trust & Guaranty Co., other insurance companies which may be operating in violation of the laws, the insurance commission, and any members of the Legislature who violated public trust," Fly said.
"It is too early even to hazard a guess as to what the investigating committee will find. But it is the committee's job to ferret out the facts, I intend to see that it does, and let the chips fall where they may," he said.

Plans Made For Livestock Show Here

The agriculture committee of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce met yesterday morning in the chamber office, at which time various details concerning the 1956 Top of Texas Stock Show, set here on Feb. 20, 21, and 22, were reviewed and assignments made.
Paul Payne, chairman of the committee, reported that a total of approximately 336 head of livestock would be entered in this year's show, which will be an all-time record. Of this number, approximately 190 head of fat steers and 236 hogs will be entered. It was reported that the annex to the Gray County Community Building is practically complete with the exception of final touches being put to the wash rack.
Ralph Thomas, county agent who will be in charge of weighing in all livestock, will be busy from Friday noon to Sunday noon prior to the show as stock comes in for the show.
Scales for weighing of animals entered will be located in the main show barn. Paul Payne will assist (See PLANS, Page 3)

1,153 Poll Tax Payments Made

A total of 1,153 Gray County persons have paid their poll tax so far this year, with 516 exemptions. The total amount of paid polls in 1955 was 4,845 with 948 exemptions. The deadline for payment of poll tax is set by law for Tuesday, Jan. 31.

Perryton CC Has Banquet Tonight

PERRYTON — An audience of 400 is expected to hear Kenneth McFarland of Topeka, Kans., address the annual Ochiltree County Chamber of Commerce banquet tonight in the Veterans Memorial Building. Officers will also be installed.
C. A. Sooter was recently elected new president of the organization and will take office at the banquet. Others to serve during 1956 include Jake LaMaster as vice president; and Garland Redfern, Bruce Baumann, Bill Fletcher, and Phil LaMaster, directors. Holdover members of the board of directors are Louis Bryan, Garland Daley, J. H. Woodward, Aldon Bell, Jake LaMaster, Sooter and Claude Schell.
Tickets may be obtained from any member of the ticket committee or at the chamber of commerce office.

TRAGIC ACCIDENT
Joe Alaniz, 21, of 505 1-2 N. Carr, received a fractured leg, multiple cuts on his head, knees and chest, and fractures of both arms when he lost control of his '55 Mercury this morning at the intersection of W. Wilks and S. Hobart. The results of the accident, as pictured above, show a large highway sign which he hit and carried down the street, probably on the front bumper of the car. The car sideswiped a pole with high tension wires extending in four directions, completely breaking the pole. Later the automobile turned over several times and landed straight up, wedged in by the Humble Service Station sign (left). Alaniz was knocked unconscious at the time of the accident, about 12:50 this morning, taken to Highland General Hospital in ambulance and had not regained consciousness late this morning. Dollar Bill, Worth 50 Cents, Is Also About Half Cotton

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
WASHINGTON —UP— Everyone knows a dollar bill is worth about half a buck. But it may surprise you to learn it's also half cotton. I was asked the other day to find out how much it costs to make each bill with its resemblance of George Washington. It's a very good question, according to the people at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. First, there is the material. The one spot, like the bills which run up to $100,000, are half linen and half cotton. There also are the red and blue fibers which are imbedded by secret processes into the paper. Then there's the ink which the bureau manufactures by mixing dry colors, oils and the like.

Lions Hear Talk On Farm Economics

John G. McHaney, agriculture economist from Texas A & M, spoke on the "Economic Outlook of Agriculture" yesterday noon in observance of the annual Farmer-Rancher Day Luncheon of the Pampa Lions Club.

Discussing the price outlook of farm products in 1956, McHaney indicated for considerations, which he listed as follows: general economic situation of the country, supply of agriculture products, demand for the products, and unknown factors affecting prices.

Manpower is also a factor. If you saw the ink mixers in action, you'd think you were in the kind end of a bakery where they mix other kinds of dough.

When there are the Secret Service boys who are on the lookout for counterfeiters, not that they are apt to find any in their own shop.

Add it all up and you have to be a mathematician to calculate how much it costs to produce each bill. I'm no mathematician.

When the cotton part of the bill starts to wear to a fray, and is limp, it is turned over to the treasury and burned. A new bill is then substituted.

My questioner also wanted to know how long it might be before the late Franklin D. Roosevelt gets his likeness on a paper bill. The answer is up to the secretary of treasury who has the final say.

Reporters Feel Ike Won't Run; Family Reason

WASHINGTON —UP— The substantial majority of White House news reporters who are convinced that President Eisenhower will not run again are much influenced by the attitude of the family.

Long before Mr. Eisenhower was stricken, Washington was discussing the report that Mrs. Eisenhower opposed a second term. She was said to be supported by her son, Maj. John S. Eisenhower, and by her mother, Mrs. John S. Doud.

Reports of the family attitude toward a second term appear to be solidly founded. All hands, however, do not give the same weight to the influence of the President's family upon his political decisions. It has been revealed now that Mr. Eisenhower has discussed his political future with some of his associates and plans to explore the subject much farther with them. He said so last Sunday at Key West.

Some of his top political associates, among whom would be several most likely to have been in on the discussions, recently have been getting together to canvass the 1956 prospects. Former Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, several Cabinet members and at least one former Army

Lisa Kirk Trading Singing For Straight Acting Role

By ALINE MOSBY
HOLLYWOOD, Calif. —UP— Lisa Kirk, the sexy chanteuse of the nightclub circuit, is giving up the low necklines and sultry voice for a while. Like Sinatra and Crosby, she's another singer who's trading her tunes for straight acting.

Even Rudy Vallee has put "My Time Is Your Time" in mothballs and is playing a 70-year-old priest in a local theater. Frank Sinatra is busy portraying dope fiends and rider of the purple sage in pictures and Doris Day started, without singing, in a suspense movie.

Now Lisa, one of the top attractions in the bistro belt, has decided to try her hand at being a dramatic actress. She signed to star in "I Married Two Men" for independent producers Irving Allen and Cubby Broccoli.

Lisa will play a singer who's strayed in Lisbon and becomes involved in intrigue. The picture will be shot in Lisbon this spring. "It's strictly a dramatic part," she said. "The writers came to see me when I was singing at the Beverly Hilton last week and offered me the part."

After her success on Broadway in "Kiss Me, Kate," Lisa combed movie offers out of her long, brown hair. But they were "just specialty bits in musicals." "For an artist to make an impact you have to do more than specialty songs," she said. "I've comrade were parties to the various exchanges. It was their judgment, perhaps based on ideas some of them had exchanged with the President, that his son and womanfolk would have little to do with his final decision on a second term. It is quite obvious that family opposition has not yet persuaded Mr. Eisenhower to close the door to another campaign for the White House. He has said he has not finally made up his mind. James C. Hagerly, presidential press secretary, said that no "ultimate decision" has been made. And, Hagerly added: "That decision he, and he alone, will make."

Gen. Washington now is on the dollar bill. Woodrow Wilson is on the $100,000 gold certificate—something that doesn't sell very well these days. It's small enough, but is a little hard to bust up when you buy a 15-cent beer.

Salmon P. Chase is pictured on the $10,000 federal reserve note. But none have been printed since 1945 because the demand just was not big enough to justify the printing cost.

Chase, by the way, was secretary of treasury when the motto "In God We Trust" first appeared on a coin in 1864. That was during the period when folks turned their faces up to heaven in the Civil War.

Incidentally, there was no paper money in the country until 1861. The Civil War brought that on, too.

The first paper dough was produced by two men and four women who worked in a single room in the attic of the main treasury building. They produced $1 and $2 bills, which were worth about that at the time.

RECEIVE MASONIC HONORS

C. P. Buckler, left, and E. E. Shelhamer will be in Dallas this week end where they will receive honors earned through the Masonic Lodge. Buckler is the first person in Gray County to be designated a 33rd degree Mason and Shelhamer will receive the rank and decoration of Knight Commander of the Court of Honor. Buckler's 33rd degree will be conferred upon him for outstanding service to the Scottish Rite and in public life while Shelhamer will receive his honor for a signal service to the Rite.

Laycock New School Head At Shamrock

SHAMROCK — (Special) — Kenneth Laycock has been named Superintendent of the Shamrock Schools. Laycock will assume his duties around Feb. 1. He replaces Elmer J. Moore who resigned recently.

Laycock joined the faculty of Shamrock High School in 1950 as an instructor in the history department. He became principal of the high school in 1953, succeeding Edgar Burkhalter.

He is a graduate of Samnorwood High School. Following 2½ years in the armed services he entered WTSC in Canyon and was awarded his BS degree in Education Administration in 1950. He received his Masters Degree from West Texas State College in 1952. While on campus he was named to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities and served as Vice president of the Students Association. While a Senior he was awarded the Epsilon Beta Award for outstanding service.

He served on the Board of Directors of the Ex Students Association in 1951.

He was married to Miss Janet Caperton, daughter of Mrs. J. H. Caperton, and the late J. H. Caperton, March 13, 1952. She is also a teacher in the school system. Laycock is the son of Mrs. W. M. Laycock who makes her home in the Arab community southwest of Shamrock.

He is a member of the Rotary and Booster's Clubs, service clubs in Shamrock.

The Gray County Home Demonstration Council will be in charge of concessions again this year, and will be open for business starting Saturday and continuing through Wednesday, Feb. 22nd.

Official judge for this year's show will be Homer Brumley of Hereford, and the auctioneer will be Col. Walter Britten of College Station. Cash prizes will be given in all divisions by the Chamber of Commerce, plus special merchandise prizes for showmanship, cleanest stall and cleanest pen.

The Pampa Kiwanis Club will again be hosts for the Junior Livestock exhibitors and their parents on Monday evening, Feb. 20th. It has not yet been announced where the function will be held.

The Hereford Breeders' banquet will be held on Tuesday, Feb. 21st, at 7:30 p.m. in the banquet room of the First Methodist Church, at which time Dr. Robert Black, head of the animal husbandry department at Texas Tech, will deliver the principal address. Dr. Black will also serve as judge for the Breeders' show.

A total of 38 teams are presently entered in the F.F.A. Livestock Judging Contest on Tuesday, Feb. 21st, and entries are still coming in, according to Quentin Williams, superintendent of the show. At least 50 teams are expected to be entered by contest time.

All livestock entered in the show will be viewed by the sifting committee on Sunday, Feb. 19th, at 2 p.m., at which time all animals not coming up to standards of the show will be eliminated.

Clyde Carruth, general superintendent of the Junior Livestock Show, is very enthusiastic over the prospects of this year's event, and urges all local business and professional people to render their support of the sale, which will be held on Wednesday, Feb. 22, at 9:30 a.m. in the Community Building at Recreation Park.

Jake Hess, president of the Top o' Texas Hereford Breeders' Association, has issued a final call for all certificates for consignors for the Breeders' show and sale. The catalogue committee will go to work next week in setting up copy for the sale catalogue. At present, 33 head of registered cattle have been consigned to the sale.

4. Sen. Jimmy Phillips of Angleton charged in a speech in Fort Worth that "another operation whitewash" is in progress by the Senate General Investigating committee. He called for a special session of the Legislature.

5. A. B. Shoemaker, 59, U.S. Trust president, continued to show improvement from a self-inflicted bullet wound in a Waco hospital. He said he did no more wrong than try to build a business, but couldn't take it when it collapsed and shot himself through the head.

Over Billion Asked For New Schools

By BETTY PRYOR

WASHINGTON — President Eisenhower asked Congress Thursday to provide a total of $1,250,000,000 in federal grants over the next five years to help build badly needed school rooms.

He said in a special message to Congress that the grants — at the rate of $250 million a year — should be matched with state funds to supplement local construction in the "neediest" school districts.

The request was the chief feature of a four-point federal aid program which Mr. Eisenhower said "should overcome the nation's critical classroom shortage within five years."

The shortage now is estimated at 203,000 classrooms. Cost Exceeds $2 Billion

The total program proposed by Mr. Eisenhower would amount to at least $2,020,000,000 in federal aid to public schools over five years.

For the federal grants, Mr. Eisenhower proposed a formula under which states "noticeably lagging" behind their ability to support public schools would get less federal aid. He said this feature "should act as an incentive for the lagging states to increase their effort."

He proposed that federal funds be distributed "according to relative need."

Purchase School Bonds

Mr. Eisenhower also called for: 1. $750 million over five years for federal purchase of local school construction bonds when school districts cannot sell them in private markets at reasonable interest rates.

2. Federal advances to help provide reserves for bonds issued by state school financing agencies. The President put no price tag on this feature of the five-year program. He said these bonds would finance local construction of schools to be rented and eventually owned by local school systems.

3. $20 million in matching grants to the states over five years for planning ways to overcome obstacles to financing school construction.

Asks Research Boost

The President also asked for a "major" but unspecified increase in funds for the office of educational research. He said "this has been a sorely neglected field."

He asked Congress to continue providing federal funds for school construction in districts near federal bases and other government installations where school enrollments have increased sharply. The present law aiding such districts expires next June.

Although states and local communities are "substantially increasing their classroom construction," the President said, many communities "simply do not have available locally the resources needed to cope both with the legacy of shortages from past years and with future needs."

"Unless these communities get help, they simply cannot provide enough good schools," he said.

Promised Top Priority

Federal school aid legislation has been promised top priority in the House where a Democratic plan already is before the Rules committee.

The Democratic-sponsored plan would provide for $1.6 billion in federal grants over a four-year period. The Democratic plan also would authorize the education commissioner to allot funds to states solely on the basis of their school-age population.

School aid legislation is headed for a fight over an anti-segregation amendment which Rep. Adam Clayton Powell (D-N.Y.) has promised to introduce and over the question whether aid also should be provided for parochial schools.

Contraband of War

Soton frequently is called a contraband of war because it is the principal ingredient of smokeless powder and, when combined with nitric acid, produces a powerful explosive.

DROUTH

the end of January — dry air will continue to hang over the state.

In Fort Worth, State Sen. Jimmy Phillips said a special session of the legislature is the "only hope" for solving the state's pressing water problems. Phillips is a candidate for governor.

Gov. Allan Shivers said earlier this week that three-fourths of Texas has serious drouth conditions. He called for federal assistance to farmers and ranchers.

Worst in Memory

He said the current drouth is the worst in memory over much of the state.

The state's 1,430,000 Baptists have been called on to set aside Feb. 11 as a special day of prayer for rain.

Some sections of Texas have been gripped by drouth every year since 1850. One of the worst years was 1954, when the state averaged only 18.3 inches of rain — 0.40 inches below normal.

The entire state was gripped by critical drouth during the fall of 1952 and early 1953. Some relief came in April and May, but by June the western three-fifths of the state was designated a drouth disaster area.

Lost $32.7 Million

An estimated $32.7 million in crops was lost in 1953 due to the lack of rain. Millions more were lost again in 1954 by both farmers and ranchers.

Cattle prices fell sharply in that year because ranchers had to dump so many head on the market after pastures dried up. That year was the second driest in history for the state.

Proctor To Speak At Canadian CC

CANADIAN — (Special) — Dr. Dan Proctor, president of Oklahoma College for Women of Chickasha, Okla., will be the principal speaker at the annual Canadian Chamber of Commerce banquet here Monday night. Dr. Proctor is nationally known as an after-dinner speaker.

The meeting will be in the WCTU Building and will begin at 7 p.m. Entertainment will be by Canadian talent to be announced later. Other business to be included at the banquet will be the installation of officers and directors. Warren Harrington will be installed as president, replacing Tom Abraham who will automatically become vice president.

Calvary Baptist Circle Has Bible Study Meet

The Kathleen Malloy Circle of the Calvary Baptist Church met recently in the home of Mrs. Thomas Fisher. Opening prayer was given by Mrs. H. W. Smart, and Mrs. Jack Robertson taught the Bible study. The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. C. R. McGahey.

Mrs. H. W. Smart was welcomed as a new member. Other present were Mrs. Jack Robertson, C.R. McGahey, L. A. Lavery, Thomas Fisher, A. C. Boren, Ennis Hill, Naomi Hill and C. E. Humphries.

Traffic Safety Problems Are Explained At Meeting Of Twentieth Century Club

"We are very interested in speaking to clubwomen about our traffic safety problems," Sgt. Bob Brookshire of Amarillo, highway patrolman, told members of the Twentieth Century Club at a recent meeting in the home of Mrs. and Susan Faye, of Hardesty, I. B. Hughey.

"We wish we could get the clubwomen behind some of our much-needed safety legislation in Texas," he continued. "We know then we could get some laws we need so much to help make our highways safer."

Ways clubwomen can help discussed by Sgt. Brookshire, included assistance in securing compulsory driver education in school. He pointed out that surveys show there are few traffic accidents or violations among those who have taken such courses. He said clubwomen could help get laws passed to force traffic offenders to take scientific chemical tests for intoxication when officers feel it is necessary. Since charges of driving while intoxicated must be proven in court, he stated, officers can get few convictions without such positive tests. He explained that in 1954, 49 per cent of fatal rural accidents in Texas involved people who had been drinking.

In conclusion, he stated that if Texans think the Texas Highway Patrol is worth having, they need to do something about getting salaries of patrolmen raised so it will not be so difficult to get good traffic officers. Salaries are so low now, he advised, that the patrol is losing many of its fine officers to better paying positions.

In introducing Sgt. Brookshire, Mrs. J. B. Massa, program leader, stated that since there are four million vehicles in Texas and over one-half of the drivers are women, traffic safety problems are women's problems. Realizing this, 1200 clubs in Texas are having public safety programs this year, she pointed out.

Hats Coordinated With Hair Pieces

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

There's a wonderful fascination to a hair piece. It can allow a touslehead to be soignée for an evening, if she likes. It can add a short gal by putting several inches on her height. It can disguise hair that's taking its time about getting long. It can make skimpy hair look thick.

A New York designer of these fabulous goodies teams up with a designer of tiny hats to create tandem styles that couldn't be more dresy. Not being rigid folk, they have designed both hair piece and hat so that they can be switched around every which way.

Figure-eight chignons can go on top or in back or up the nape of the neck. The companion hat can go around the chignon, above it, on top of the head or however imagination dictates.

Since chignons are notoriously hard to work with hats, these little bits of hats designed for them are ideal.

In one case, the page boy hair-piece, the little hat performs an invaluable service in disguising the joint between real and store-bought hair.

Such combinations, plus wits of one's own, are perfect prescriptions for the I'm - sick - of - me midwinter doldrums. They can change the whole look for an evening or as long as you want.

"Meat-Vegetable Pie With Cheese Halo" Makes Unique Dish For Company Meal

This is a delicious low cost main dish baked in a pie plate. The crust is seasoned ground beef, with a filling of tender rice and mixed vegetables. Tomato sauce and a halo of cheese are toppings.

You can use up leftover vegetables or use fresh, frozen or canned ones. This main dish is right for company because it's unique and so tasty, yet inexpensive!

MEAT-VEGETABLE PIE

- 1 1-3 cups water
- 2-3 cup uncooked white rice
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 slices fresh white bread
- 2-3 cup milk
- 1 teaspoon steak sauce
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1-8 teaspoon black pepper
- 1 egg
- 1 lb. ground beef
- 1-1/2 cups mixed vegetables, cooked and seasoned with salt, pepper and butter or margarine 1 cup grated American Cheese 1 can tomato sauce

Put the water, rice and 1 teaspoon salt in a 2-quart saucepan. Bring to a vigorous boil. Turn the heat as low as possible. Cover with a lid and leave over this low heat 14 minutes. Remove saucepan from the heat but leave lid on 10 minutes.

While the rice cooks, tear the bread into small pieces. Place in a mixing bowl. Add the milk, steak sauce, 1 teaspoon salt, black pepper and egg. Mix well. Add the beef and mix well.

Place in a greased 10 inch pie plate. (Pie plate should hold 5-1/2 to 6 cups of liquid.)

Press the meat over the bottom and up the sides. Build the sides up as high as possible. Place in a pre-heated 350 degree F. oven for 10 minutes. Remove from the oven and spread the rice over the bottom. Top with the mixed vegetables. Pour the tomato sauce over the vegetables. Place the grated cheese around the edge. Place in the 350 degree F. oven and bake 30 minutes. This recipe makes 8 servings.

"Cook 'Nook" Baby Shower Given For Mrs. Sam Bond

Mrs. Sam Bond was complimented with a pink and blue shower recently in the home of Miss Non Ramming, 730 E. Frederic. Co-hostesses with Miss Ramming were Misses Sondra Sullins, Sue McBride and Janelle Crump.

Miss Ramming greeted the guests, and Miss Sullins presided at the guest register. The honoree was presented a corsage of white carnations, and the hostesses wore corsages of pink carnations.

Recorded background music was a Jackie Gleason album, "Music For Showers."

The serving table was covered with a light blue lace cloth and was centered with pink and white gladioli. Flanking the centerpiece were pink and blue tapers in crystal holders.

Refreshments of hors d'oeuvres, party cookies, and pink punch with blue ice cubes were served. Miss McBride presided at the punch bowl, and Miss Crump served the cookies.

Approximately 45 persons attended from Pampa, Skellytown and White Deer.

MATURE PARENT

One noon when my 10-year-old went home from school for lunch I took drastic action on defiance. She'd asked permission to dine at a friend's assuming me that the girl's mother would drive her home by bedtime.

I refused it. And I was reminding her that this adult had twice broken such promises when my young one interrupted me to declare her intention of accepting the invitation without my permission.

I kept her home from school. Sending her to her room, I said, "We must have obedience. As you plan to disobey when you leave the house, you can't leave it. You can spend your afternoon in your room, considering, among other things how you'll feel explaining this absence to your teacher tomorrow morning."

This action was successful. Thereafter, though I was often disagreed with, I was not defied.

But taken by a neighbor of mine, it could be very dangerous action, for she does not hold the conviction that made it successful.

I am a person who thinks discipline more important than education. By subordinating my child's school lessons to one in obedience, I illustrated my loyalty to this conviction. It was only because my action expressed it that it was impressive action to the child — and changed her defiance to understanding.

But my neighbor, who reverses education as the source of all human happiness, would only increase her child's defiance by such action.

If she kept her youngster home from school, her action would be so nervous, uncertain and unconvicted that it could impress him only as untrustworthy. He would feel justified in more defiance of her authority.

Action alone can teach a child nothing. The great failure of parent education has been its failure to make this point.

By telling us what to "do" about children's problems, parent educators tell us nothing. A child is instructed, never by what we do, but by the convictions, loyalties, choices and values behind what we do—the intangible moral structures which people in the field of parent education cannot give to us.

Says Dr. Marion F. Langer of the American Orthopsychiatry Association: "Too often parent have been used as middlemen in our effort to reach and influence children."

Not even as middlemen, Dr. Langer. Rather we have been used as inanimate instruments without any right to moral structures of our own.

If you wear dress shields, the whole point is lost unless they are washed out pronto.

THE AMERICAN HERITAGE of hospitality has often been said to center around the dinner table. Beautiful appointments and savory food alone will not necessarily make a successful dinner. It does, of course, take a combination of these things. Good food, an attractive table, and good company. And, another ingredient that is frequently overlooked, good manners.

THIS DOES NOT confine itself to the realm of knowing what fork or spoon to use, or whether to pick up chicken with your fingers; it also includes such things as good smoking manners.

"Cigarette" is a word created recently by Philip Morris Inc., makers of Parliament Filter Mouthpiece cigarettes, to signify good smoking manners for women.

Both guests and hostesses will find themselves more attractive dinner companions if they keep in mind the cigarette company's "Parliamentary Cigarette."

FOR THE HOSTESS: While ardent epicures frown on smoking during meals, the chances are that on a dinner party, you're bound to have an inveterate smoker who will light up between courses. It's best to put ashtrays on at once when setting the table.

Save both your guests' embarrassment and your fine table linen by seeing to it that ashtrays are conveniently placed about the table and that they are adequate for the number you are entertaining.

Matches or table lighters should be equally handy.

Keep fresh packages of cigarettes within easy reach. They should be opened to avoid any unnecessary table clutter — and besides, it's more inviting to your guests.

If you prefer, attractive cigarette boxes or containers carefully selected to fit in with your table appointments, can enhance your table setting.

When a number of guests are smoking, remember to keep your room well ventilated.

FOR THE GUESTS: Remember there are some people who do not like smoking at meals. Always ask your hostess' permission before lighting a cigarette.

Do not squash your cigarette out in food, drinks, or china — in the case of the latter, it is quite possible to damage permanently fine china. Use an ashtray at all times. If you don't see one ask for one.

Be careful when you put your cigarette out and see that it is completely out.

Never use smeary lipstick that heavily coats your cigarette — a deeply red-tipped cigarette looks as unpleasant as a smeared cup.

Do not aimlessly flick off ashes from your cigarette. It is not only unhygienic but dangerous.

Every woman should study her "cigarette" in the mirror while smoking. Even the most charming dinner guest can ruin her appearance with unattractive gestures. Be feminine in smoking, and above all, avoid enveloping your dinner guests in a cloud of smoke by heavily inhaling or exhaling.

Items Grown Small Give "Fatter" Look

By ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Certain items of clothing and accessories may fit perfectly when they're acquired, but they can become too small as a woman grows older.

Such items include belts. Belts may never actually grow too small but it's very discouraging to see that well-worn nitch unused, while the next one wider is now getting the business. The solution here is apt to get a new, larger belt. This can be buckled in the first notch. This is far less discouraging and certainly few things make a woman look fatter than a belt let out as far as it will go.

Good jewelry and wedding rings also fall into this category. A choker can get lost between chins and be downright uncomfortable. An engagement ring can stop circulation as a hand grows plumper. A watch can cause a rash if it's too tight. Most of these can be remedied. New links can be added, new pearls put in a string. Good jewelers can augment the size of a ring.

Necklines and waistlines of dresses can get too tight with ease. These should get the careful attention of a home sewer, if the clothes are worth it.

Something too small is by far more fattening than a larger size that fits.

Handy little gadget for your handbag is the combination bill folder and purse that also can double as handbag. Holds a lot in addition to everything that would ordinarily go into a billfold.

Book Review Given To Miami Study Club

MIAMI — (Special) — The Child Study Club met in the home of Mrs. Bill Gill recently.

Mrs. Jim McCormick, president led the business session. The club voted to assist Roberts County Library Board with a game night Jan. 28, in the Legion Hall, by selling tickets and furnishing refreshments.

Mrs. Sam Bowers presented Mrs. Paul Bowers of Pampa, who reviewed "This Is Goggles" by Beniz Fliegenmann. Mrs. E. E. Bridwell gave a Bible quiz, which Mrs. R. B. Haynes and Mrs. Paul Bowers won.

Guests were Mrs. C. W. Bowers, and W. C. Coffee and Paul Bowers. Members present were Mrs. John Shearer, R. J. Bean, Randall Gill, J. D. Paris, E. E. Birdwell, R. B. Haynes, Willis Clark, James Flowers, John Hamley, Bill Tolbert, L. R. Harvey, Jim McCormick, Sam Bowers and Bill Gill.

Next meeting will be Jan. 20, in the home of Mrs. J. V. Patterson.

PINEAPPLE JUICE basting and garnish of pineapple and cherries make ham steak something to cheer about.

COOK'S NOOK

Ham Steak Is Example Of Current Good Buys

By GAYNOR MADDOX,
NEA Food and Markets Editor

Ham and other smoked pork cuts are sharing the economy spotlight with fresh pork these days at meat counters. Record supplies of all types of pork cuts on the market make even the prized center slice of ham a good buy.

For baking, select a 2-inch center cut slice of either the cook-before-eating or the fully cooked style of ham. Cut slashes in the fat edge of ham and insert cloves. Place the ham slice in a deep pan or casserole and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.). Try pouring pineapple juice or a tangy lemon ham sauce over the ham during the baking.

The thick slice of cook-before-eating ham will require approximately 2 hours. The fully cooked style needs only a short baking to heat through.

The ham slices may also be broiled. For this, 1-inch thick slices are preferred. The cook-before-eating style will require approximately 10 minutes on each side, and the fully cooked slice will take 5 minutes on each side. For both styles, slash the fat edge and broil 3 inches from the heat source in a preheated broiler according to the directions of the range manufacturer.

In serving the ham slice, almost any fruit makes a gala garnish. Particularly colorful is a garnish of maraschino cherries and pineapple cube, strung kabob fashion on a food pick. Prepare enough to add to each serving of ham.

LEMON HAM SAUCE
(Yield: 4 servings)

One tablespoon cornstarch, 1 tablespoon dark brown sugar, 1/4 teaspoon curry powder, 1 cup pineapple juice, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 to 2 tablespoons grated lemon peel.

Mix cornstarch, brown sugar and curry powder in a saucepan. Gradually stir in pineapple juice. When blended add lemon juice and lemon peel. Stir and simmer over low heat.

Central Baptist BWC Gives Royal Program

The Central Baptist Business Women's Circle met recently for a royal service program, "We Give Thee But Thine Own," with Mrs. Louise Allen as program chairman.

Mrs. Edgar Flynn led the business session, and Mrs. Paul Baker gave the opening prayer. Special stewardship prayers were given also. Miss Grace McCasie closed the meeting with prayer.

Ten women were present.

RUTH MILLETT

The world is being poised about that young man who dreams of some day being an executive had better pick himself the RIGHT wife.

And the RIGHT wife for an executive, they say, is the gal who can butter up the boss without antagonizing his wife. She also has a sixth sense that tells her what kind of clothes the other women will be wearing to a company clambake. She can keep her strong opinions to herself until she finds out how her husband's boss and his wife and their social set stand. In general, she lives and breathes with one thought in mind, "How can I help my husband get ahead?"

An article called "Executive's Wife," by Martin Scott, in the September issue of Cosmopolitan magazine points out that "more and more firms, considering a man for a job, first conduct a subtle 'wife inspection.'" He offers 15 rules to guide the wife whose husband is being considered for an important job.

Lillian Cooper, a manufacturing executive who gives charm lectures to college girls (who presumably want to some day be executives' wives), offers this success tip to men: "Marry a social butterfly."

What is this new fangled notion that a man can't get to the top unless he marries a girl who cuts herself to the pattern of Executive's Wife going to do to the self-reliant, individual, robust American male?

If it going to turn him into a nincompoop who says "What will the boss' wife think of it?" instead of "How much did it cost?" when his wife buys a new hat?

Is it going to make him into the kind of husband who meekly says "Yes, dear" when his wife announces she is going to invite a bore to dinner because he may be a "good contact" instead of putting his manly foot down with, "I wouldn't spend an evening with that bore if he were the president of the United States."

There's no doubt but that any American girl with average intelligence can learn the rules for behaving like an executive wife if that is what her husband wants her to do.

But what is being married to a type instead of a woman going to do to the men?

That's the $64,000 question.

Cassini Holds Out For Low Necklines Despite "Cover-Up" Trend For Spring

By ELIZABETH TOOMEY

NEW YORK —UP— Designer Oleg Cassini held out Thursday for clothes that show off women's curves. He did so in the face of other new spring fashions which are more covered than curvaceous.

Necklines are cut way down both fore and aft in Cassini's spring dresses. And there's no sign of the semi-titted dresses and suits that are the biggest spring fashion news in most American collections being shown here at the 26th national fashion press week.

"I don't think American women are half as conservative as most people say they are," Cassini said. "I've cut necklines as low as possible before and found that women like the idea." He added, "unnecessarily — and so do men."

Lines Hug Figure

Cassini agrees with other designers about high-waisted lines, but his empire-cut dresses are made to hug the figure all the way down. One of his lowest-cut dresses is a printed silk organza in unusual colors of red, brown and gray. Another is a flower-printed paper taffeta dress, cut so low that only the most careful fitting will keep the wearer covered.

Daytime wool dresses are snug in the middle and straight-skirted, but Cassini has added bolero jackets with occasional puff sleeves to give a new top-heavy look.

There is less talk about spring's length of skirts in next spring's clothes than there is about the

Refrigerator Space Use Needs Planning

Your refrigerator will give you the most usefulness if you plan for the best use of all its space.

By controlling waste of space, you are less likely to "lose" foods in the refrigerator until they have passed their prime, you may be able to store enough more food to reduce shopping, you may refrigerate additional foods like bread that stay fresh longer when cool, and you might be able to make chilled dessert treats more often.

Begin refrigerator space control by removing foods like pickles and jellies that do not need to be kept cool, suggests the home economics institute of Deepfreeze Home Appliances. Next, the institute advises, eliminate any bulky store wrappings and packaging, as well as any inedible vegetable tops.

Space also can be saved with proper refrigerator containers. Four-sided containers occupy much less room than round ones, and flat tops and bottoms permit stacking.

Women In The Church

A mobile unit donated by United Church Women of the U.S.A. for use in providing a Christian ministry in Africa to Kikuyu tribesmen victimized by Mau Mau terrorists, was dedicated recently in Cleveland, Ohio. The unit is a station wagon equipped with worship material, books; projector and slides and extensive medical supplies. It was purchased from funds collected in American churches during the annual observance of the World Day of Prayer.

The entire membership of the church has been divided into four groups and each group has a foreman and three "trail bosses." The ranches have chosen their brands and gone to work, in competition with each other.

The four foremen are: Harold Newman, U.R. Ranch, Bazel Petri, U.R. Ranch, Jim Hill, Bar B Ranch, and W. I. Gilbert, CYS Ranch. The entire "round-up" is aimed at reenergizing the church membership into active participation in the church programs, gaining new members, and enriching and deepening the spiritual life of the church.

"If Americans want to keep reaping the blessings of freedom, each citizen must undergo the fatigues of supporting it," the Religious Liberty Secretary of the SEVENTH-DAY ADVENTIST CHURCH will tell the congregation, Saturday morning.

Speaking to the Adventist congregation at the Pampa church, Mrs. L. C. Childers, Religious Liberty Secretary, will say, "Despite the fact that more and more emphasis is being placed on man's freedom today, we are seeing less and less of that priceless commodity, Freedom's course, even in America, is backward."

"To freestall the shadow of religious dictates in our own land," she will inform the people, "we must follow the admonition of Thomas Jefferson, who warned us to maintain 'eternal vigilance.'"

Mrs. Childers will say that "One of the most dangerous types of religious legislation in the United States is the Sunday law movement. While on the surface this threatens largely the religious liberty of those who worship their Creator on the seventh day of the week, it nevertheless acts a precedent for governmental control of the conscience in other spiritual matters." She will cite that Sunday laws are "now held as a threat" over many "conscientious citizens" in many parts of the country.

The secretary will urge her listeners, as good citizens, to keep alive an active interest in legislation. "Let us not be indolent in our fight for conscience sake," she will admonish the congregation. "The price of liberty is high, but liberty is worth much more than its cost."

Mrs. Childers will speak on the subject of religious liberty in connection with the nationwide Religious Liberty Day celebrated throughout the country Saturday.

Church News

Rev. Walter Hoskin of St. Peter's Church in Borger will be the celebrant and preacher this Sunday in ST. MATTHEW'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH at 11 a.m. in the absence of the Rector, Rev. William E. West.

A film entitled "The Indian Americans" will be shown Sunday evening immediately after evening prayer at 7 p.m. The film tells the story of the Church's work among the American Indians and some of the special problems that face the Indian and the missionaries. All parishioners and friends are invited.

Girl Scout Troop 24 meets at 3:45 p.m. next Monday; the Boy Scout Troop 24 will meet at 7:30 p.m. on Monday, and Girl Scout Troop 54 meets at 5 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 19.

The service of ordination for Elders, Deacons, and Deaconesses of the FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH will be observed this coming Sunday in the Morning Worship service.

All members of the board will be asked to sit in a reserved section at the front of the sanctuary. A service of prayer will be held and the laying on of hands for those board members who have not participated in this service will be observed. Services of installation for all '56 Board members will follow.

The Builder Class party will be held next Tuesday, Jan. 17. George Neef is in charge of arrangements.

The church recently received word of death of Oran E. Scott, for many years president of Board of Trustees for the Board of Church Extension. Because of his death, William Pearcey, head of the board of church extension, has returned to Indianapolis, Ind. He indicated that he would return in February to meet with the Building Committee of Lamar and First Christian Churches.

The Membership and Evangelism Commission of ST. PAUL METHODIST CHURCH recently met to set up a program for the Church. Wide Attendance Campaign.

Man's God-given right to health and healing will be emphasized at CHRISTIAN SCIENCE services Sunday in the Lesson-Sermon on the subject of "Life."

Christ Jesus' healing of the centurion's servant who "was sick, and ready to die" (Luke 7) will be among the accounts of the life-giving power of God to be read from the King James Version of the Bible.

Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include the following (389:16): "Jesus never asked if disease were acute or chronic, and he never recommended attention to laws of health, never gave drugs, never prayed to know if God were willing that a man should live. He understood man, whose life is God, to be immortal, and knew that man has not two lives, one to be destroyed and the other to be made indestructible."

Rev. Woodrow Adcock, pastor of the FIRST METHODIST CHURCH, will continue his series of sermons on the Parables of Jesus. He will preach the seventh sermon of the series using as his topic, "The Joy of Preparedness," (St. Matthew 25:1-13), at the two morning worship services at 8:30 and 10:55 a.m. in church sanctuary on Sunday.

The Carol and Wesley Choirs will sing "Can You Count the Stars?" for 8:30 a.m. service. Sanctuary Singers will give the special music by singing the anthem, "O Thou The Central Orb" at the 10:55 a.m. service.

The morning worship service is broadcast over Radio Station KPDD every Sunday morning from 10 to 11.

A five member deputation team from McMurry College will be in our church on January 15, and will present the music and devotional program for the evening worship service at 7:30.

Bible Baptist Church To Hold Revival

The Bible Baptist Church will conduct a revival beginning Sunday night, Jan. 15. Jan. 22 with Rev. Bill Savage of El Reno, Okla., as the evangelistic speaker. Earl Smith of the High St. Baptist Church, Springfield, Mo., will be guest music director.

Services will be held at 10 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. daily.

The church, which consisted of five members, called Rev. H. Maurice Hutchison as pastor on Jan. 17, 1948. At that time they were meeting in a small tent and owned no property. At the present time the membership is over 500 and they own the large, well equipped auditorium at Tyng and Houston and the S.S. Annex and parking lots on Tyng.

Recently the church purchased a parsonage at 1128 Garland for Rev. and Mrs. Hutchison. Less than $35,000 is owed on their entire holdings which will be paid for in 10 years.

The church has a large missionary program and supports the Bible Baptist Fellowship, Springfield, Mo. The Sunday night services are broadcast over KPAT from 7:45 to 8:45 p.m.

Thoughts

For, lo, He that formeth the mountains, and createth the wind, and declareth unto man what is His thought, that maketh the morning darkness, and treadeth upon the high places of the earth, The Lord, The God of hosts, is His name. — Amos 4:13.

Is there any other seat of the Divinity than the earth, sea, air, the heavens, and virtuous minds? why do we seek God elsewhere? He is whatever you see; He is wherever you move. — Lucan.

Whoever therefore shall be ashamed of Me and of My words in this adulterous and sinful generation; of him also shall the Son of man be ashamed, when He cometh in the glory of His Father with the holy angels. — Mark 8:38.

Ah! a seraph may pray for a sinner. But a sinner must pray for himself. — Charles M. Dickinson.

For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God. — Romans 3:23.

Forbear to judge, for we are sinners all. — Shakespeare.

Beware of the scribes, which desire to walk in long robes, and love greetings in the markets, and the highest seats in the synagogues, and the chief rooms at feasts; which devour widows' houses, and for a shew make long prayers: the same shall receive greater damnation. — Luke 20:46-47.

Truman's Friend

In the coming months between now and the general election, there will be a lot of people talking for and against the major political parties.

And one who is likely to do as much talking as anyone will be former President Harry S. Truman.

"If this paper were to say 'ignore anything that Harry Truman says' the chances are that those today who are inclined to believe in him would not heed the warning.

But what if one of his best friends were to say it? Would that have any bearing on the possible influence Harry Truman might have in the coming election?

Well, listen to what Gen. Harry Vaughn, Truman's personal friend and crony and appointee has to say. In an article in the Saturday Evening Post Vaughn is quoted as saying: "Harry Truman can forgive little things like rape and murder but he can't forgive a guy who goes back on the party."

Before someone jumps to his feet to say that Vaughn really didn't mean rape or murder, let us point out that whether he meant the two specific crimes or not, Vaughn certainly meant to implant the idea that Truman is a man without principle or moral guide.

Vaughn meant to convey the idea that Truman is a cheap venal politician of the Pendergast school of politics — and Vaughn is one of his best friends, or was until the article was printed.

If we accept Vaughn's appraisal of his friend, it makes it easier to understand the crimes that were committed by Truman — the reason for the offenses was rooted in the fact that Truman has no moral basis upon which he can judge right from wrong.

The realization that Truman has no standard upon which to base a judgment of right and wrong helps to explain why: He supported the cause of Alger Hiss.

He held that Communism in the United States is a "red herring."

Said "I like good old Joe (Stalin). He is a good man but is surrounded by bad men and is a captive of the Kremlin."

He gave his loyalty to the Pendergast-political machine and all of its crime and corruption even after Pendergast's conviction.

He had no hesitation in committing the United States to war in Korea and then refused to permit the war to be won by the United States.

He ignored rights in property in his attempt to seize the nation's steel mills.

He had no compunction about publicly humiliating Gen. Douglas MacArthur by taking him from his post of command in the Orient.

He tolerated crime, graft and corruption within the structure of the federal government during his time in office.

etc., etc. We have no way of knowing what influence Truman might have in the coming election but it would appear that such an indictment by a close personal friend ought to carry considerable weight with those who might otherwise have followed his lead.

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR P. JORDAN, M. D.

Among the highly practical problems is that which is brought up in the first inquiry.

Q — Would it be safe to take a person who has an extremely high blood pressure to Colorado where the altitude is high? This person is susceptible to nose bleeds and I am wondering if this would cause nose bleeds more often than at lower altitudes.—M.S.

A — It seems to be rather generally agreed that low altitudes are better than high altitudes for most people with extremely high blood pressure. One would expect, also, that where nose bleeds were involved high altitudes might worsen the condition. There may be exceptions to this general rule but I imagine few doctors would advise a step such as the writer suggests.

Q — I am five feet two inches tall but when I am seated I am as tall as anyone of five feet eight inches. My legs are disproportionately short in comparison with my torso and I have recently read about limb stretching and wonder whether this device could be used to remedy my situation.

A — I am extremely dubious that limb stretching or anything else you could do, (except wearing built up shoes) would be of any value.

Q — Could you please say something about the sleepless drugs which are used to keep people awake?—P. W.

A — There are a number of chemical substances which are closely related and are sometimes used for the purpose of keeping people from falling asleep. These preparations are not infrequently used to keep people from falling asleep.

fects on the human physiology and it is probably inadvisable for anyone to take them with regularity.

They are sometimes prescribed for special purposes and sometimes are used by automobile drivers when the risk of falling asleep may be greater than any hazards from using the drug. Ordinarily it would seem wise to refrain from the habit of using them.

Q — Is it unhygienic and a method of spreading bacteria to blow out candles on a cake? Surely there must come a lot of saliva cascading over the cake.—Mrs. D. Y.

A — No one could claim that this is an unhygienic practice. It must certainly be true that saliva and germs are spread over the cake's surface when the candles are blown out. This, however, is common, and in spite of its unsanitary possibilities, I am not aware of any instances in which disease has been traced to this practice.

Q — A friend of mine has been told that she has thyroiditis. Would you explain this please?—Mrs. K. I.

A — This means inflammation of the thyroid gland which is one of the glands of internal secretion and which lies near the base of the neck. There are several varieties of thyroiditis and the cause and outlook for them varies as the treatment. However, thyroiditis always calls for careful and complete medical studies.

Our Taxes Promote World Socialism By Supporting I.L.O.

In the last issue I was quoting from a speech made by William L. McGrath, U. S. employer representative of the International Labor Organization, before the 54th Annual Meeting of the National Machine Tool Builders' Association. I want to continue to quote from this speech.

"The ILO has proposed that if most of the workers in an industry have signed a collective bargaining agreement, government should have the power to compel the rest of the workers in that industry to sign up likewise, regardless of whether or not they wished to do so. What they want is nation-wide collective bargaining enforced by government decree.

"But the Socialists go further than that. Some of them in the ILO suggested that one half of the Board of Directors of a company should be chosen by management, and the other half should be chosen by the Union, which would have an equal right with the management as to the course of action of the company. In case of a deadlock, the matter would be submitted to government. This would put government in the position of being the controlling factor in the future destiny of industrial enterprises.

"Do you think this is far-fetched?"

"It is nothing of the sort. This device is known as co-determination, and it is the law in Germany today.

"Well — let's go on to another subject. Let's take Social Security.

"It may interest you to know that the ILO brags that one of its earliest and most successful technical assistance projects was when it sent two experts over to the United States to show us how to set up our Social Security System. For Social Security was born and bred in the ILO.

"And social security, according to the ILO, is still in its infancy. In 1932 the ILO enacted a convention entitled 'Minimum Standards of Social Security.' I want to emphasize that word minimum, because it is the intent of the ILO at some time in the future to develop, God help us, what they are going to call Advanced Standards of Social Security.

"Under the title 'Minimum Standards of Social Security,' the ILO drafted an international law providing government benefits for practically all the ills the flesh is heir to. It is a blueprint for the biggest give-away program yet devised.

"Originally included in this proposal was a provision to the effect that all life insurance must be compulsory and subsidized by government, and any insurance would be illegal unless government paid at least 25 per cent of the cost of the premiums. This effort at socializing insurance was aimed at putting out of business insurance companies such as we have in the United States.

"This convention also contained provisions for socialized medicine, such as they have in England.

"Well — now we are getting echoes in the United States.

"Our House of Representatives has passed a bill (H. R. 7255) which provides that if at any time after the age of 50 a man becomes totally disabled and is so certified by the government, he can immediately collect the same amount of social security benefits that he otherwise would get after retirement at age 65. That bill will be up for consideration by the Senate at the next session of the Congress.

"Think what that means. To be eligible for total disability, a man must be certified by government doctors. This means doctors on the government payroll. This puts doctors in government, and is the opening step towards socialized medicine.

"This far the ILO has enacted 103 conventions. Of these, Great Britain has ratified 56, France has ratified 73, Belgium has ratified 55, Holland has ratified 42, Argentina has ratified 45.

"You will ask, how many ILO conventions have been ratified by the United States? Here is the answer:

"Seven conventions have been approved by the Senate and ratified by the President's signature. Most of these deal with conditions of maritime employment and are not socialistic.

"Three conventions have been approved by the Senate but not signed by the President, and seven more were sent by Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Truman to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee for action. Several of these involve the threat of the invasion of international laws into our domestic affairs.

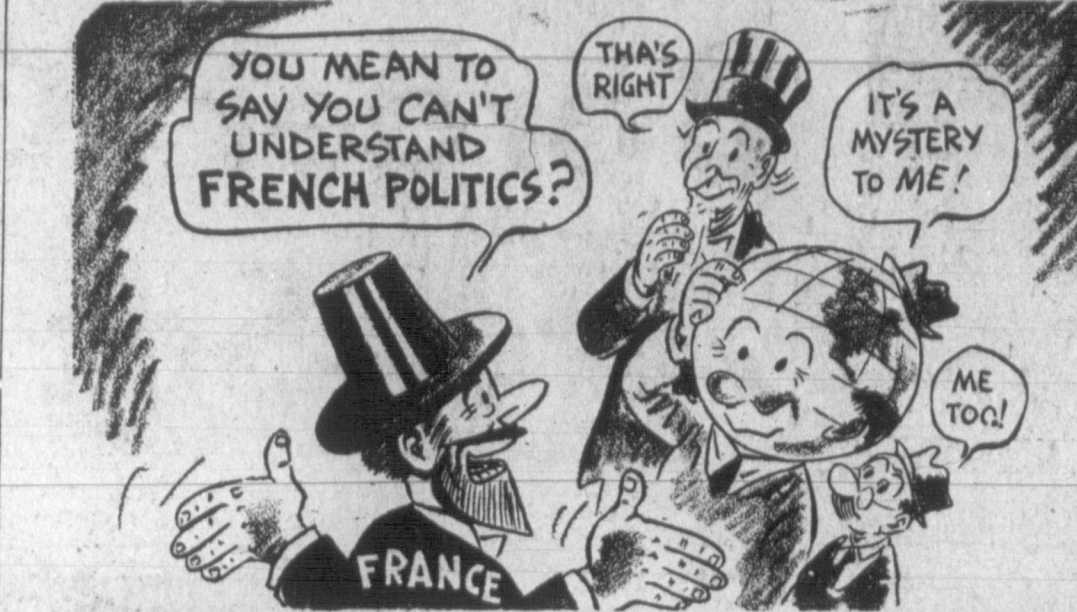

"Now — why has no further action been taken, with respect to these conventions? And why have the more recent and radical ILO conventions, for which our government voted in ILO Conferences, never been submitted to the Senate for consideration, which, under the ILO constitution, our President is supposed to do?

"The answer is the Bricker Amendment.

"With the whole country aroused to the danger of having socialist measures imposed upon us by the back door of convention ratification, the proponents of such measures have not dared to bring them out on the floor of the Senate.

Southern States May Adopt Protest On Racial Ruling

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The ancient Virginia doctrine of "interposition," which was first advocated by Thomas Jefferson and James Madison in protest against the Alien and Sedition Acts of 1798, will probably be adopted by eleven Southern states as their final, complete and negative answer to the Supreme Court's edict against segregation in public schools and parks.

"Interposition" means that when a state or group of states believes that the Supreme Court (in short, the Federal government) has violated the Constitutional compact of contract, they may refuse to abide by the alleged violation. It does not mean defiance to the Supreme Court, according to its proponents, because they contend that the Supreme Court is the actual violator.

The idea was currently advanced by David Tennant Bryan and James Jackson Kilpatrick, publisher and editor, respectively of the Richmond (Va.) News Leader. It has swept through the South as the legal remedy for its present predicament. Meeting at Memphis recently, representatives of 11 states agreed to support the "interposition" plan through favorable action in their Legislatures.

The News Leader has published a tentative draft of a constitutional amendment designed to test this theory. It provides generally that the states agree to surrender their power to maintain segregated schools. It also says that, if three-fourths of the states ratify this amendment, "Virginia agrees that it will be bound thereby."

The belief is that such an amendment will not be acceptable to sufficient states to incorporate it in the Constitution. But its submission would permit the segregation question to be settled by constitutional processes rather than by the judicial fiat of only nine men.

The origin of the "interposition" philosophy makes extremely interesting and generally unknown history. When the first Adams Administration sponsored the Alien and Sedition Acts, which abridged personal liberty, freedom of speech and press, Kentucky legislators asked Jefferson, then Vice President, to frame a protest. He did so under pledge of secrecy. Madison wrote a similar paper, which was adopted by the Virginia General Assembly.

Both documents declared that, when the Federal government exercised unlawful power in a "deliberate, palpable and dangerous" manner, thereby violating the compact among the states, "nullification" was the "rightful remedy."

The Southern states today maintain that, in seeking to regulate conduct of schools and parks within a state, Chief Justice Earl Warren and his associates exercised power which was not delegated to the Federal government under the Constitutional contract, and in the manner denounced by Jefferson. In other words, the Supreme Court is violating the Constitution, not the states which refuse to obey its mandates.

Income Tax Laws, Forms Beyond Abilities Of Laymen

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

WASHINGTON — Any citizen-taxpayer of this republic who refuses to fill out and file an income tax return, subject, as usual, to the penalties of perjury, is likely to be locked up in St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Washington, as a lunatic. However, Mrs. Lucille Miller of Bethel, Vt., who was put away under suspicion of lunacy, was such a troublesome customer that Herbert Brownell, the Attorney General, and Doctor Overholzer, the superintendent of that awful compound, were glad to get rid of her by a noncommittal and thoroughly evasive process contrived in the Department of Justice. There is an inviting opportunity in this situation for some parrot with time on his hands and respect for the Constitution in his heart to strike a great blow for freedom. Mrs. Miller's gripe was the precatory draft and the chances are not much worse than even that the Federal courts, even in their present degraded state, would be unable to find any excuse to uphold it against the Constitutional forbiddance of involuntary servitude.

The present income tax law and the forms which the citizens must fill out are plainly and admittedly beyond the abilities of the most intelligent laymen. That admission is apparent in the growth of the profession of tax-accountancy and the related practice of the professional tax counsellor. The Internal Revenue formally recognizes the necessity for their services and the fact that the citizen thus is put to great expense, an enormous impost for guidance to keep him out of jail even though his intentions may be honest beyond question.

A few years ago, the president of an association of individuals engaged in the practice of federal law before various federal "agencies" harangued the brethren in this unpleasant specialty to oppose with all their might the growth of the practice of the tax-counsellor. Such specialists already had been honed by the Treasury with a ruling which forbids amateur, unregistered advisers to appear before the examiners of tax returns. If a citizen goes to one of these inquisitions and undertakes to advise and argue for a relative, they may be either thrown out of the place or arrested on a legal complaint, the catchword which made the important speech referred to frankly laid it down that the Roosevelt bureaucracy and Congress had created this vast embarrassment at the expense of the common man and rallied his colleagues to exploit that golden opportunity without fastidious restraints. The tax experts, not being lawyers, were regarded as quacks offering unfair competition to the legal profession.

I would be willing to bet $1,000, even money, that I could pick a hundred members of the Congress which enacted this law and authorized the forms provided for the returns and judges chosen at random from the federal courts up to and including the highest, who being locked in a room alone and faced with a hypothetical realistic set of figures and circumstances, could not compose in one week returns which would withstand a test.

The Congressmen and Senators all know and most of them readily admit that they can't comply and have to rely on secretaries and "experts." The judges are no better equipped than the rest of us.

The only judge who has had the civic decency and professional integrity to admit the truth and challenge Congress was briefly honored in a small dispatch from Grand Rapids last year. Dale Souder, circuit judge, wrote his own Congressman that the 1954 income tax was "atrocious" and said the arrogant aforesaid who inflicted this on the citizens should be subject of some process of dismissal. He later added that he had received a great inpouring of congratulations from citizens of like mind.

Yesterday I wrote about how the engagement of Grace Kelly to Prince Rainier had resulted in a stirring of dissatisfaction among American wives.

They wonder why they couldn't have snared a prince, complete with castle, yacht, and dough, instead of something like me and you.

Today I would like to write about how we can — and must — bring our wives down to earth and make them content, once again, with what they wound up with.

As for myself, I have already started some pretty ugly rumors about Prince Rainier. I want to implant in Mary's mind the thought that life with the Prince isn't all certain to be sweetness and light.

"Poor Grace," I said at breakfast this morning. "I wish her all happiness in the world, but I wonder if she'll get it."

"What do you mean, 'poor Grace'?" Mary asked.

"Well, if Prince Rainier is anything like his great-great-grandfather, she's in for trouble," I said. "Let's just hope the Prince didn't inherit the peculiarity."

"What was wrong with his great-great-grandfather?" Mary said.

"He barked in his sleep, that's all," I said. "Soon as he bit the pillow he started barking, and there was nothing the royal physicians could do to stop him. It nearly drove his wife mad, and she once confided to a lady-in-waiting that she would rather be married to the poorest peasant who didn't bark, than to a Prince who barked like a possum hound on the trail."

Mary doesn't like to sweep very much, so I have been playing up the size of the Prince's castle, his yacht, and his villa.

"I'll have Mary thanking her lucky stars before I'm finished. Either that, or at least resigned to her fate."

NCAA Sees No Grid Rule Changes In 56

By HAL WOOD
LONG BEACH, Calif. —UP— Everyone in the whole wide nation liked the way college football was played in 1955.
At least that's the impression gained by the Football Rules Committee as it went into its second day of the winter session here Friday.
The good news came about when the sub-committee on rules changes, headed by Coach Lou Little of Columbia University, failed to suggest a single change in the rules. It was the first time in the 50-year history of the committee that some coach hadn't suggested a change in the rules.

"It would appear that everybody is happy," said Fritz Crisler, athletic director at University of Michigan and chairman of the unit.
But while the rules appear to be set for 1956, the television situation is something else again.
TV Chairman Named
The NCAA council wound up its session Thursday by appointing

Howard Grubbs, executive secretary of the Southwest Conference, as chairman of the TV committee — and among the things on the agenda was a suggestion that the group look into the possibilities of pay-as-you-go television.
The committee set a meeting for later this month at which time it will discuss the possibilities of this form of handling telecasts. However, no action is anticipated in time for the 1956 football season.
The Football Rules Committee listened to a lot of reports, but won't take action on anything until Friday.
One enlightening bit of information was offered by Joseph McKenney of Boston, representing the New England high schools. A survey there on attendance revealed that when the high school games were played at 10 in the morning, the attendance was up.
Will Go In Morning
"It appeared that the fans would go out to watch the high school boys play in the morning," said the report, "then they could watch the college games on TV in the afternoon."
The committee also took considerable time discussing the merits of using a rubber football instead of the traditional leather (cowhide) football. According to Tad Wieman, secretary of the committee, the reaction appeared to be favorable.
The study on various types of face guards will be continued, Crisler said, in the hopes that some way can be found to reduce injuries.
Another discussion was on sideline coaching—the cause of the big argument surrounding this year's Rose Bowl game. There was some indication that officials may be asked to be more strict in assessing penalties for this rule infraction.
The rules committee is expected to wind up its action either late Friday, or early Saturday.

Doak Walker, Pete Pihos To Retire After Pro Bowl Tilt

By BILL BEST
LOS ANGELES —UP— Two of the all-time greats of professional football will make their swan song here Sunday in the all-star Pro Bowl battle.
Doak Walker, the one-time Southern Methodist All-American who has been a stand-out with the Detroit Lions for a decade and Pete Pihos, the end for the Philadelphia Eagles, are kissing the game's goodbye after this battle-royal.
These two men have been so good through the years that they have become regular fixtures in this event. This will be Pihos' sixth straight all-star competition, and it will be Walker's fifth. Only five other players in history have played in six all-star games.

Walker will be playing on the West team, Pihos on the East—so there is no possible chance for them both to come out on top. But the odds are very good they will give their usual good account of themselves.
Have Had Enough
It is probable that both could continue to star for a few years—but they have had enough of the body contact.
Walker is a successful businessman in Dallas, where he is connected with a construction firm and also owns a sporting goods store.
"I don't know if I'll go into coaching at all," says Walker. "There is the possibility of some part-time work with Southern Methodist."
Officials at SMU already have been given a flat "no" answer by Walker on becoming a regular member of their staff. But they have high hopes of getting him on a part-time basis.
To Remain in Philadelphia
Pihos is a paper box salesman and probably will remain in Philadelphia, where he lives with his family.
These two men probably have given the thousands of sports fans around the country as many—or more—sports thrills than any of the current campaigners in the National Football League.
Walker twice led the league in scoring (in 1950 and 1955). But his biggest thrill came when the Lions beat Cleveland for the championship in 1952.
"I had been sitting out most of the year due to injuries, but got into that game to score my first touchdown of the season on a 69-yard run," he recalls.

Borger GG Finals Are Set Tonight

The Borger mittmen won 14 of the 20 bouts in the second night eliminations of the Borger District Golden Gloves Tournament last night while the Pampa Optimist boxers tallied for the remaining six.
Pampa has 13 fighters in the finals tonight while Borger has 15 and Dumas has 2 to round out the finals in the tournament.

The matches last night included six TKO's and one knockout with Kenny Powell and Clovis Shipp of Pampa scoring theirs in less than one minute of the first round. Powell won over Mike Johnson in 45 seconds while Shipp stopped Leonard Clinton in 20 seconds. Charles Snyder stopped Dale Byrd as second ended.

Earl Young stopped Chuck Moller, Charles beat Robert Hughes, Leon Sutton defeated Stanley Lawley, and Carroll Hudson won over Charley Jameson for the remaining three TKO's and the only knockout.
Young threw a vicious right to the midsection and then one to the head for his TKO over Guymon's Moller. Moller was a shifty boxer and kept out of Young's reach most of the first round while he landed with wild punches. Young found his mark in the second and floored Moller for the only knockout of the night.
Dickie Powell and Larry Jones lead the card with the first fight in the 50-pound class with a fast bout. Jones won the decision over the tough Powell from Pampa.
Claude Bailey came over with several good rights but Agee Green landed good—both lefts and rights in the second and third. The tempo of the fight increased as it progressed with Green taking the decision.

Carroll Hudson, Borger, recorded the first TKO of the night as he and Charley Jameson, Dumas, squared off in the 70-pound division. The referee stopped the fight after 1:10 of the first round as Jameson covered up in the corner.
Kenny Powell, Pampa, came out fast and furious with his powerful left hook and right jab and downed Mike Johnson for the TKO in only 45 seconds of the first.
Carson Watt took a close decision over Warren Bell in the 80-pound class. Watt took all three rounds but by a narrow margin. The third round found Bell considerably weaker than the ring-wise Watt.

Bobby Wilhelm and Chuck Hughes squared off in 147-pound class before intermission as both boys with fists of iron slugged it out. Wilhelm's timing seemed off slightly as Hughes landed several good rights in the first round that had Wilhelm a little confused. In the second and third rounds Wilhelm had his opponent figured out and was able to block the right and land well with his left and right hooks.
Gary Wills and Joe Gutierrez squared off in the 105-pound weight division for a fast fight. Wills, the more experienced, showed good form as he managed to keep out of reach and come in at the right times. Both boys were fast and deadly with their punches as each one seemed to tell. Wills won the decision.
Lucky Dunham came out strong and ended the fight almost before it got started. The referee broke the boys up several times in the first as Dunham had Walter Green on the ropes from the bell.

After the bell to start the second, the fight was all Dunham's way as Green didn't land a punch and was TKOed by the southpaw Dunham after 25 seconds of the round.
Leonard Clinton stood his ground as Clovis Shipp moved in. Clinton lashed out with two punches and fell forward. Shipp tagged him with a good right as he went down and that was the shortest fight on the card. Clinton hurt his left as he fell and was unable to continue after only 20 seconds of the first.
Charles Snyder and Dale Byrd fought it out in the first with Snyder tagging Byrd with a vicious right as the bell sounded to find the first. The round was even with both boys bleeding.
Byrd, weakened by the right, was unable to score in the second while Snyder pounded out a left and right TKO as Byrd didn't answer the bell for the final stanza.
Jerry Lamar and Carson Watt, two good fighters with plenty of what it takes, squared off in the 135-pound division to give the fans a very good battle. Watt seemed able to score with both hands as Lamar couldn't seem to get his right hand in. Watt took the hard-earned decision.

Pampa Cagers To Host Childress Sat.

The Pampa Harvesters, after taking a joy ride to Childress Tuesday night, are playing host to the Bobcats Saturday night on the local hardwood.

The Harvesters-Bobcat clash is set for 8 with the Shocker-Childress "B" game getting underway at 8:30.

The Green and Golders, after making the Tuesday night trip to Childress for a piece of pie, found the Childress and Seymour teams had a conference game scheduled for the night but they re-scheduled their game for Monday night.

The Harvesters will be out for their 13th win as the Bobcats storm the local hardwood Saturday. They have defeated 12 teams in their post season contests while they have fallen only to the towering Palo Duro Dons in two games while Tulla and Clovis, N.M. countered for the first two defeats.

Pampa cagers will open their district play with the Lubbock Westerners on Friday following their road trip to Childress Monday night.

The Westerners will invade Pampa territory Saturday January 20 for the first conference tilt of the season.

All fans that plan to attend these home games can get tickets at the school business office prior to the games. Some of the contests are expected to be sellouts and only a few tickets are scheduled to go on sale at the door the night of the games.

Dons Can Tie National Record By Win Tonite

By UNITED PRESS
This is the night when San Francisco's national basketball champions will equal the all-time major-college record of 39 straight victories.

The awesome Dons will turn the trick, everybody is certain, by wallopping outclassed Fresno State in San Francisco. Even Long Island University, co-holder of the record, is sure that the champions will win this big one.

"Look forward to welcoming you into the 39-straight club," LUU telegraphed Don officials. "Good luck to your finest team."
Nary a word of sympathy there for poor Fresno State, a nice little club with a respectable 6-3 record and undoubtedly all fired up in hopes of springing what would be one of the biggest upsets in sports history.

Fresno Hopes Dim
The Fresno boys, unfortunately, are likely to find San Francisco all fired-up, too. The Dons are mighty upset by an NCAA ruling this week that K. C. Jones, their captain and a high-scoring star, won't be eligible for the NCAA tournament—which everybody assumes the Dons will be playing in, come March. Could be the champs will take out their wrath on Fresno State.

The target is the record of 39 straight set by Long Island University in 1935-36 and tied by Seton Hall in 1940-41. If the Dons tie the mark Friday night, they must take time out for mid-year exams before they try to set a new standard by beating dangerous California on Jan. 28. The Dons' streak includes 26 games last year and, so far, 12 this year.

But while the Dons tackle the record, their chief rivals in the race for this year's national championship are far from idle. Two of them—third-ranked North Carolina State and fourth-ranked Kentucky—added impressive wins to their collection Thursday night.

NC State, the nation's top free-throw shooting squad, relied heavily on that talent in whipping Maryland 73 to 64 to oust the Terrys from first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Maryland, playing at home and with a sharpshooter in Bob O'Brien who tallied 22 points, outscored the Wolfpack from the floor but State sank 25 of 31 free throw attempts.

Kentucky Stretches String
Kentucky, perennial king of the Southeastern Conference, pushed its overall mark to 8-2 and its league record to 2-0 with an 85 to 63 romp over Tulane.

Utah, ranked No. 12 nationally, made its Skyline Conference record a perfect 3-0, and its overall slate 9-3, by downing Denver, 83 to 72.

In other leading games Thursday night: Furman nipped Davidson 72 to 70 in the Southern Conference although Darrell Floyd of Furman, the nation's leading scorer with a 33.5 points per game average, was held to 18 points, his lowest total in the last 38 games; New Mexico routed Montana 73 to 50 as Toby Royal, who set a new Skyline Conference mark with 45 points the night before, added 30 more; Houston downed Tulsa 69 to 60 in the Missouri Valley Conference; Xavier (Ohio) routed Loyola (Md.) 84 to 57; Rhode Island trounced New Hampshire 81 to 63; and Hampden Sydney downed VMI in the Southern Conference 75 to 63.

Tex Sullivan and Willie Glizenberg of the Monday night TV fights were hiring attorneys Friday for next Thursday's defense against the New York State Athletic Commission's eight charges, including conspiracy and consorting with criminals.

During Thursday's unusual "specific hearing," Sullivan and Glizenberg will be the first defendants permitted to have attorneys and their own witnesses at any commission session since crusader Julius Helfand became chairman, Jan. 1, 1955.

They will try to "show cause" why they and their London Sporting Club should not lose their licenses to promote the Monday fights in St. Nicholas Arena.

The notice of hearing and the copy of specifications were served upon the two men at commission headquarters Thursday.

Sullivan said, "We welcome this opportunity to clear things up with the commission and to present our side to the public. We have nothing to fear. We can answer every charge."

The commission's strongest charge is that the defendants conspired to sabotage the ban against the New York-Boxing-Guild and have the sport booted out of the state.

More evil - sounding is another major charge that they consorted with "persons convicted of crimes, bookmakers, gamblers and persons of similar pursuits."

Dulles Visit With Nehru May Be Most Important He Makes

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Foreign Analyst

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles can do a lot of good when he visits Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru of India in March.

The visit, in fact, may prove to be one of the most important Dulles has made in some time.

First, he should be able to clear up completely the misunderstanding over his recent reference to Portugal's "provinces" in the Far East, including Goa on the Indian coast.

Secondly, he should be able to offset some of the propaganda which Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin and Communist party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev dished out so lavishly on their visit to Nehru.

Dulles may be able to convince Nehru that solid American aid is of more value to India than Communist big talk.

Can Discuss Issues Finally, Dulles will be able to discuss intimately the issues outstanding between the United States and Communist China.

The visit might even result in some initiative by Nehru to ease tensions in the Far East. He is anti-Communist in his political philosophy but he is friendly with Chinese Red leaders Mao Tse-Tung and Chou En-Lai. He is a valuable go-between in East-West relations.

Nehru has made himself a most important man in world affairs. He is the leader of the "neutralist" nations, which want to side neither with the West nor with the East. He is the leader of India's 360 million people. His country, the second largest in the world in point of population, is bound to take an increasingly large share in world problems as the years pass.

Nehru is in no sense a dictator. He was chosen leader because he is India's outstanding man. He enjoys the respect and love of his people. But he is undisputed leader. A lot of dictators might envy him.

Indian-American relations got a big jolt when Dulles issued a joint statement with visiting Portuguese Foreign Affairs Minister Paulo Arsenio Verissimo Cunha in Washington on Dec. 2.

Wrong Use of Terms The statement criticized Bulganin and Khrushchev for trying, on their visit to South Asia, "to foment hatred between the East and the West." But it also mentioned Portugal's possessions in the Far East as "provinces" of the mother country and not as colonies. They are classed by Portugal as provinces.

Nehru, who says he is determined to get Goa and its adjacent tiny Portuguese areas on the Indian coast, got quite angry.

The incident was blown up far beyond its real importance. But it was pie for Bulganin and Khrushchev, and they made the most of it as enemies of anything but the Kremlin kind of colonialism.

Indian resentment over the Dulles-Cunha statement probably was keener because Bulganin and Khrushchev were still in South Asia.

But the timing certainly was unfortunate, and it certainly hurt relations of the United States with India.

Dulles ought to not have much trouble in setting things straight again.

Adlai Steps Up Running

CHICAGO—UP—Adlai E. Stevenson stepped up the pace of his drive for the presidency Wednesday, jumping in to attack Eisenhower administration policies almost as soon as they are announced.

His latest blast was directed at President Eisenhower's farm program. The program was given to Congress Monday and Stevenson charged Tuesday night that it amounts to "election year" wooing of the farmers.

It was Stevenson's second direct attack on Mr. Eisenhower in three days. On Sunday, he branded the President's State of the Union message as "political" and "misleading."

The quickened tempo of Stevenson's campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination also took the form of an announcement that he will go to Minnesota Tuesday to lay the groundwork for a possible primary victory.

By WILLIAM EWALD
NEW YORK—UP—The Crew-Cuts, a musical group of four young men with the normal quota of hair, delivered this terrible piece of news Thursday—staid Britons are beginning to dig rock-and-roll.

"We were in England for eight weeks," said Johnnie Perkins, the group's second-tenor. "And the stuff is beginning to catch on—the big numbers over there."

The Crew-Cuts are the vocal quartet which can be credited, if that is the word, with giving the principal impetus to the craze for the type of musical madness known as rock-and-roll. Their record of "Sh-boom" way back in the summer of 1954 was the first R-and-R disk to hit paydirt in the pop field.

After that came a deluge of waxed biscuits featuring the repetitive phrases, the primitive beat and semi-literate lyrics of R-and-R.

"Ballads," pointed out Ray Perkins, bass, "are still the big thing over there, but rock-and-roll is getting more and more popular—'Sh-boom' did fairly well and our 'Earth Angel' was very big."

Of course, as the other two boys, Rudi Maugeri and Pat Barrett, pointed out, Britons still have a long way to go before they can qualify as full-fledged hipsters.

"Their slang is pretty weird," said Rudi. "When they like something they say—'That's lovely' or 'That's smashing' (pronounced smah-shing). They also say 'It's crackers.'"

"And when they dislike something," said Ray, "they use 'shocking bad.'"

son's campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination also took the form of an announcement that he will go to Minnesota Tuesday to lay the groundwork for a possible primary victory.

Guests of the club were Mrs. Royce Lewis of Rochester, Minn., Mrs. Pedro Dial, Mrs. Lyman Benson, Mrs. Fred Thompson, Mrs. Pat Boone of Littlefield, Mrs. D. C. Hilton of Livingston, Mont., Mrs. Jack Montgomery, and Mrs. J. H. Caperton, Dr. and Mrs. Royce Lewis and sons, Royce III and Ronnie, returned to Rochester, Minn., Monday after spending the Christmas holidays in Texas with their families.

Moon Man GREENWICH, Conn.—UP—A burglar broke into the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward S. Holden by crawling through a window in their son's bedroom. The burglar kept the three-year-old quiet by saying he was "the man in the moon" and telling him to go back to sleep. Then he went to another room and stole Mrs. Holden's trunk coat.

Lee Whitworth, owner of J-Lee Department Stores in Wheeler and Quannah, announced he will open a new store in Shamrock early in February. He has leased Hunter's Department Store building which was vacated Jan. 1.

The B&L Department Store is celebrating the completion of 25 years in business in Shamrock this week. Sol Blonstein owns and operates the store.

Kenneth Laycock, principal of Shamrock High School, spent the latter part of last week in Austin at an educators meeting. Several schools in this area were among those represented.
