By TOM NELSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
PHILADELPHIA (UP)—Adlai E. Stevenson barnstormed through Pennsylvania today renewing his attack on the "failure of leadership" by President Eisenhower.

The Democratic presidential candidate campaigned by train and auto across the state in an attempt to win Pennsylvania's 32 electoral votes.

Traveling through the economically depressed anthracite fields of northeastern Pennsylvania, Stevenson hit the GOP administration for not taking steps to help areas suffering "excessive unemployment."

He charged in a speech prepared for delivery at Wilkes-Barre that in the last session of Congress legislation to aid such areas did not pass because of a "failure of leadership" by the President.

He Wonders
Stevenson said that when a reporter later asked the President why Republicans had refused to back the bill, Mr. Eisenhower replied he was "disappointed" it wasn't passed and didn't know why it failed.

"Is it any wonder we ask 'who's in charge here?'" Stevenson asked.

Stevenson was headed toward Pittsburgh tonight where he will deliver a 15 minute television reply to the President's attack on the Democrats two days ago.

Stevenson boarded the campaign train at Hoboken, N.J., Tuesday night after disclosing his plans for tonight's TV speech in City, N.J.

He said that in speeches at Cleveland and Lexington, Ky., Mr. Eisenhower said the election would turn on which party "has done more to help all citizens meet the problems of their daily lives."

Accepts The Issue
"President Eisenhower has defined the issue," Stevenson said, "and I speak for every Democrat

Hotel Group Numbers 49

The steering committee for the formation of a community hotel corporation in Pampa now totals 49 members, Philo C. Dix, campaign director, announced at a meeting of the steering committee yesterday.

Members of the steering committee have pledged to purchase at least $1,000 of stock in the corporation when it is finally incorporated.

Efforts to secure additional members for the steering committee are continuing. No limit will be placed on the number of members other than the minimum of 50 members which has already been announced, Dix reported.

Announcement was made that the next meeting will be Friday at 4 p.m. in the City Commission room at City Hall. At this meeting the permanent officers of the steering committee will be elected and permanent committees will be formed to take care of various phases of the fund raising campaign.

H. W. Rohrer, assistant campaign director, reported to the group that the officers for the cam-

Approximately 225 members of the Panhandle Chapter, American Petroleum Institute, gathered in the Palm Room of City Hall last night for one of the basic reasons such an organization was formed: discussion of a topic of common interest.

Nixon Works On Answer To Adlai

By WARREN DUFFEE
United Press Staff Correspondent
ELIZABETH, N.J. (UP)—Vice President Richard Nixon worked today on his answer to Adlai Stevenson's challenge to President Eisenhower to lead a move to outlaw the hydrogen bomb.

Nixon announced at Syracuse Tuesday night that he will reply to Stevenson in a major foreign policy address at Philadelphia tonight, the last stop on his 16-day tour.

The White House has designated Nixon to answer Stevenson, it was learned.

Stevenson, in a speech at Fairleigh-Dickinson College Tuesday, said that H-bomb tests could be banned by agreement because any explosion now can be detected easily. He said that he believed Russia wanted to enter such an agreement and added that if they did

CoC Elects Five Board Members

Five new members of the advisory board of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce were determined this morning with the counting of ballots in the election carried on by members of the chamber.

An excellent response was evidenced by the high stack of ballots counted this morning. E. O. Wedgeworth, chamber manager, reported.

New members elected to serve on the advisory board are: Bob Sidwell, Don Cain, Frank M. Carter, Calvin Whitley and Bob Andis. They will serve for one year.

Installation of these men will be held at a meeting of the board of directors next Tuesday.

The annual membership banquet will be held in the Senior High School cafeteria on Tuesday, Oct. 16. Reservations for the banquet are being received and Wedgeworth reports that a large crowd is indicated. Tickets may be obtained at the chamber office.

Clement Says Group Has A Perfect Right To Picket Him

By JOHN COLTON
United Press Staff Correspondent
HOUSTON (UP)—Gov. Frank Clement of Tennessee said today 25 members of the Houston White Citizens Council who picketed the hotel where the governor spoke Tuesday night "had a perfect right to do so."

Clement addressed a Zionist fund raising dinner at the Shamrock Hilton hotel.

The pickets, both men and women, paraded up and down across the street from the hotel, but left before the dinner was over. They carried signs saying "Judas Clement betrayed the people of Tennessee," "See you later, integrator," and "Texas doesn't like carpetbaggers."

Some in Uproar
"It is great to live in a country where one is able to tell or say how he feels," Clement said in referring to the pickets. "There are some people in your city that are in an uproar over my appearance here. But these people who are picketing have a perfect right to do so."

One of the pickets was identified as J. L. Curry, 45, of Mansfield, Tex. Curry owns a drive-in cafe at Mansfield that has a sign outside in bold letters: "We don't serve Negroes here."

Curry also is a leading segregationist at Mansfield, where racial troubles stirred at the beginning of this school year when several Negroes attempted to enroll in the all-white Mansfield high school.

Curry said some of his friends told him about the proposed picket of Clement and "I decided to drive down and help out." Mansfield is about 240 miles north of Houston.

Mrs. John R. Barnett of the citizens council announced several days ago a peaceful demonstration would be staged against Clement, who sent National Guard troops to quell racial disturbances in Tennessee.

Clement, the keynote at the Democratic national convention, spoke at a testimonial dinner for Dr. Marcus Levinston, Houston dentist and Zion leader.

Funds Go for Shelters
Funds were to be used to build bomb shelters for 300 orphans who live near the Gaza strip in Israel.

In defense of his action in sending troops into racially-tense Clinton, Tenn., Clement said: "So help me God, I will preserve law and order as far as Tennessee is concerned as long as I am governor."

He mentioned politics briefly, calling John Foster Dulles the "greatest ungodly missile in history."

Now They've Heard It All!

Local policemen thought they had heard of everything until about midnight last night.

A local man walked into the station and when the officers asked if they could help him he stated in a loud voice, "I'm drunk, lock me up." While the man was uttering this profound statement he was placing the contents of his pockets upon the counter like an old pro.

After several minutes the shock wore off the officers and the man finally convinced them he was drunk so he was placed in the city jail by the officers.

One Man Killed In Rocket Explosion

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif. (UP)—One man was killed Tuesday and another critically burned when high-powered rocket propellant exploded in an underground oven at the Grand Central Rocket Company plant in nearby Mentone.

Maurice Henry Shaffer, 41, of Beaumont, Calif., a processing engineer, was killed in the explosion. Rushed to Redlands community hospital with third degree burns over most of his body was Raymond A. McHugh, 31, of Riverside, Calif.

The company said the fuel which exploded was part of secret orders the firm was processing for the Army and Air Force. The company also is making the third stage rocket for Operation Vanguard, the United States' earth satellite project.

Reds See Mid-East Expansion Via Tito

Editor's note: Western diplomats behind the Iron Curtain have attempted to fathom the mystery of Marshal Tito's sudden trip to Yalta. Diplomatic reports on the Tito mission have now reached London, and are described in the following dispatch.

By KAROL C. THALER
United Press Staff Correspondent
LONDON (UP)—Latest diplomatic dispatches from Communist East Europe said today that Russia is attempting to win the support of Yugoslav President Tito for its strong penetration of the Middle East.

The Kremlin needs Tito's support because Yugoslavia provides the Communist bloc's only direct outlet on the Mediterranean Sea, the reports said. Albania also lies on the sea but its position is bad strategically.

According to the latest appraisal, Russia has decided to hold and enlarge its foothold in the Middle East and has opened a new "cold front" in the area. But that foothold is still weak and precarious—depending to a great extent on Egypt's continued cooperation with the Soviet Union.

This is where Tito is considered the key to Russia's entry into the Middle East, diplomatic sources said, since Russia would like to move through Yugoslavia.

Russia, apparently impatient and in a hurry, was reported anxious to obtain clarification of the Yugoslav position before embarking on its Middle East campaign.

Diplomatic sources said Tito also plays a key role in Russia's efforts to tie the other satellites of East Europe into a tight little package and that Tito's cooperation may prove decisive for the success or failure of Moscow's policy plans.

The Red Army has reportedly insisted on a belt of friendly nations between the Soviet and West Europe as a so-called "glacis" (clear field) for any military "penetration."

But this can be safeguarded, in the Kremlin's view—and notably in the view of the re-emerging Stalin-type "elder statesmen," including former Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov—by firming up ideological ties with the satellites.

This would mean curbing the trend toward so-called nationalist Communism of the Tito type. Pravda, the official Communist Party organ, has already uttered a "formal warning against falling for 'this claptrap about national Communism.'"

Tito was reported to be firm in his insistence on his own brand of Communism, free of Kremlin domination. And Russia appeared to try to reconcile her policy of tightening the tie with the satellites with concessions to Tito, rather than by revoking these concessions.

Thus the process of persuasion now seemingly in progress in the Crimea may yet produce some surprising results, according to the latest authoritative appraisal.

Russians Welcome Similar U.S. Visits

By DONALD J. GONZALES
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Russia has accepted a United States invitation to send Soviet observers to this country to watch the windup of the presidential campaign.

Moreover, the Russians said they would welcome similar American visitors to observe Soviet-type campaigning and balloting in their next big election.

Moscow's agreement to send "two or three" observers to the United States was communicated to the American Embassy in the Soviet capital last Saturday, the United Press learned.

No Reply From Satellites
The State Department sent similar invitations about two weeks ago to Czechoslovakia, Poland, Hungary and Romania. Russia and the satellites were asked to send observers "to view at first hand the free electoral processes in this country."

Administration officials are surprised that the satellite nations so far have not accepted the U.S. invitation—particularly after Moscow did so.

There is speculation that the satellites will fall into line. But there is some feeling, too, that the Russians might not like to have the satellites know too much about the "free and unfettered elections" the United States has been talking about for years for Eastern Europe.

To Make Quick Swing
The State Department plans to have the Russians in this country about Oct. 21 for a quick swing through the nation. A tentative schedule calls for the visitors to begin their tour in Washington, work their way into southern states, to Texas, Los Angeles, San Francisco, and back the "northern route" to New York City for election day, Nov. 6.

Community Council Heads Elected

Twelve directors were elected to the Pampa Community Council to direct operations of that group during a meeting Tuesday evening in Lovett Memorial Library.

The directors, named by the nominating committee and elected by acclamation, are: C. C. Whitney, Herman Whitley, Rev. Ronald Hubbard, McHenry Lane, W. L. Loving, C. P. Buckler, Mrs. Jack Foster, Fred Thompson, Dr. M. C. Overton, J. B. Massa, Art Teed and Mrs. Frank Culbertson.

J. B. Massa was named temporary chairman of the board.

During the meeting, it was voted to empower the directors to elect officers from their own group and to draw up and approve bylaws and a constitution under which the organization will operate.

Ed Myatt, Chamber of Commerce president, presided, reviewing what took place at the previous meeting. Calvin Whitley reported for the nominating committee.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. Ronald Hubbard.

Attending, and the organizations they represent, were John Killian, Exchange Club; Rev. Ronald Hubbard, Ministerial Alliance; C. C. Whitney Jr.; Don Cain, Boy Scouts and Rotary Club; J. B. Massa, Kiwanis Club; Mrs. L. L. Milliken, PTA City Council; Mrs. Jack P. Foster, Altrusa Club; Jack Edmondson, McHenry Lane, Sam Berger and Jack W. Nickols, schools; Calvin Whitley, Lions Club; John Evans and Envoys H. C. Seago, Salvation Army; Mr. and Mrs. John Holt Jr., Girl Scouts; Mrs. W. A. Spoonamore and Joe Tooley, Welfare Index; Mrs. Arthur M. Teed, Polio board; John White, Elks; Jerry Sims, Optimist Club; Dr. Carl M. Lang, Red Cross; Rev. W. E. West, Episcopal Church; J. W. Brummett and Ralph Evans, IOOF; Ed Myatt and E. O. Wedgeworth, Chamber of Commerce; and Mrs. N. G. Kadango, Pampa Council of Women's Clubs and Cancer Society.

Jane Talk

By JANE KADINGO

Pampa News Women's Editor

MOST OF PAMPA'S WOMEN'S CLUBS and women's church groups have resumed activities again, which means there are many new club reporters. I have information sheets to help these new reporters prepare their club reports for publication in the newspaper. However, I have summarized the main points in this column.

TIMELINESS

The most important factor in a news story of any kind is timeliness. That is the whole structure upon which a newspaper is built. Stories that are turned in right after a meeting will necessarily get the biggest play.

You do not need to type the report of your meeting, but if you do not write legibly, please print.

Evening meetings should be reported to The News office by 8 a.m. the following morning. Reports of afternoon or morning meetings should be turned in that afternoon, by 5 p.m., if possible. If not, by 8 a.m. the next morning. Club reporters may find it a help if they will write up in advance what is expected to happen. They can then add or deduct in a short time following the meeting.

Many of you have been holding your stories for the Sunday paper. Here, again, timeliness will apply. There is a great demand for space in Sunday's edition for weddings and engagement announcements, which are given the greatest emphasis.

SPEAKERS - PROGRAMS

For meetings featuring a guest speaker, you will find you have a better story if you can get two or three quotes and can give a summation of the points stressed in the speech.

When there is no guest speaker, the program is the important thing. Routine business, such as who read the minutes, is not important. I would like to know dates of any important coming events or any projects planned. I like to use names, so a list of those attending is always welcome. You'll know if it is too long.

NAMES

The use of a person's full name and its correct spelling are important. Please check the spelling of each name before turning in your report. In some clubs, members go by their given names, such as Helen Jones. However, the husband's name, except in the case of a divorcee, must be used for newspaper publication. It will make it easier all around if reporters of these clubs will secure a list of the married names of members at the beginning of the club year to refer to in writing their reports.

SOCIAL CALENDAR

Notices for the social calendar should be in The News office by 5 p.m. Thursday of the week before the meeting. This means they will appear in Sunday's issue and in each edition until the day before or the day of the meeting.

If you turn in a club yearbook which states the time and place of each meeting, it will automatically be included in the social calendar, without your calling, unless you advise me of a change.

TELEPHONING

I seldom have time to take a club report by telephone. You may call me when I am rushing to meet a deadline or when I am in the midst of an interview. Sometimes I may be out of the office on a story, and you will not be able to reach me. Your report may be short, taking only 10 minutes, but multiply that by as few as six, each (and usually there are more) and that is one hour spent in conversation. Stories left in The News office, even in note form, can be typed and edited in a third of the time they can be taken over the phone, retyped and edited.

If you are unable to make ar-

Members of the Pampa Duplicate Bridge Club played the Howell movement during a meeting Monday in the new Elks Lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Harriman placed first with a total of 127 points. Runnerup were Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Richmond, 126 points, and Mr. and Mrs. John Locke, 121 points. The average score was 104 points.

A total of 56 persons attended. Next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. Monday in the new Elks Lodge of North Hobart Street. Guests are invited to attend.

noon Thursday following their marriage. And those being married on a Thursday should turn in the completed wedding form by noon the day of their marriage, or earlier.

I will always be glad to advise you on the type and size of your wedding or engagement picture for newspaper reproduction.

FORMS

I have four different forms available for those desiring them, to assist in turning in complete information. The forms are for weddings, engagements, club meetings and for showers, parties or receptions.

CONCLUSION

I hope you have found this information of value. If you have any problems or questions, please call me as I am always willing to cooperate with you as much as possible.

Since there are so many women's activities in Pampa, the reporting of these events must be largely left up to you. I cannot possibly cover them all or know of them all. There is no favoritism shown in space given to any club or individual - I print what is turned in to me. The timeliness of the information given, the general importance of the event determine the length of the story and the "play" given to it.

John L. Hits Ike

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UP)—United Mine Workers Chief John L. Lewis says President Eisenhower "can no longer bank in the plaudits of the populace as a war hero."
 "He is directly responsible," said Lewis, "for the deeds, misdeeds and lack of deeds in his Republican administration."
 Lewis made the comment in a joint report with two other top UMW officers to the union's 42nd convention here.
Two Others Sign
 Signing the document were Lewis, UMW Vice President Thomas Kennedy and the mine workers' secretary-treasurer, John Owens.
 Lewis remained silent on the soft coal agreement even though unconfirmed reports said it tentatively was set to be signed here today. It would provide wage boosts for 200,000 northern soft coal miners.
 Lewis' comment on the President was his first direct statement at the convention on how he felt about the presidential candidates.
He Declines Choice
 He told a press conference Monday that he did not care to "express" a presidential preference before the convention began. The mine workers chief said he might have something to say "later."
 Despite Lewis' joint criticism of Mr. Eisenhower, it did not appear that the convention will endorse the President's Democratic opponent, Adlai Stevenson.
 Lewis has said privately that he wants to skip the national fight as the 600,000-member union can concentrate on electing 45 congressional candidates friendly to the mine workers.

Ike Goes To Ebbets Field

By UNITED PRESS
 President Eisenhower put politics aside today in favor of baseball.
 The President interrupted his campaign for reelection in order to see his first World Series game and although his trip to New York was billed as non-political many voters will see him.
 Mr. Eisenhower's route from LaGuardia airport to Ebbets Field was a path through heavily populated Queens Borough that was expected to take 45 minutes to travel.
Car Comes Ahead
 His plastic dome limousine was driven to New York in advance.
 While President Eisenhower is throwing the first ball to Brooklyn Catcher Roy Campanella, Democratic vice presidential candidate Estes Kefauver will be watching the game on television at a ranch five miles from Santa Fe, where he is resting for 24 hours.
 Kefauver will resume his campaign Thursday in Los Angeles, Adlai, Nixon Go On
 But there was no relaxation in the schedules of Democratic presidential candidate Adlai E. Stevenson and Republican vice presidential nominee Richard M. Nixon.
 Both Stevenson and Nixon had a full day of campaigning ahead of them, with each making a major address tonight.
 Nixon tonight will end a 15,000-mile tour that has taken him through 32 states since last Sept. 18.

Santa Day Plans Are Made Here

There was a meeting of the merchants activities committee of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday in the Chamber office, at which time plans for Christmas activities were set up.
 Plans were made for the Santa Day parade which will take place on Friday Dec. 7, at 3:30 p.m. The parade will consist of bands, floats, and will have Santa Claus as its guest of honor.
 Santa will arrive by helicopter this year and will be in the parade. Following this he will be on the lawn of the County Courthouse to greet the thousands of youngsters who will be there to see him.
 There have been 4000 bright red Christmas stockings purchased by the Chamber of Commerce for distribution by Santa Claus and his helpers.
 All organizations of the city are invited and urged to begin making plans to put some type of entry in the parade. Appropriate prizes will be awarded; however, all organizations are warned that no Santa Claus will be permitted in the parade other than Santa himself.
 The downtown street decorations are expected to be up by Dec. 1 and will again be handled by the Pampa Junior Chamber of Commerce. The Business and Professional Women's Club will assist in making collections for the Christmas activities fund as a public service to the community.
 "Taxes are a burden to the people. They should only be levied to pay for the economical administration of the government."
Society Needs Protection
 "The right of every individual to liberty and the pursuit of happiness should be safeguarded so that no group can profit at the expense of another group, or society as a whole."
 Hart opened his state campaign headquarters in Austin Tuesday and announced that he endorsed a proposal to hold a primary to nominate a Democratic candidate.
 Meanwhile, GOP senatorial candidate Thad Hutcheson of Houston is awaiting a reply from a telegram to Acting Gov. Ben Ramsey. Hutcheson asked that Ramsey call the senatorial election Nov. 6, the date of the general election.
 That would make it a "winner-take-all" affair, meaning that several candidates would split the Democratic strength in a race against a lone Republican. The Democrats would not have time to hold a primary before the general election.

Senate Race Is Still Up In Air

By UNITED PRESS
 The date for the special senatorial race was still up in the air today, but at least two candidates were out of the starting gate, and in the opening stretch of their campaigns.
 James P. Hart, the quiet-spoken Austin attorney and former state Supreme Court justice, has a statewide television address scheduled tonight.
 State Sen. Searcy Bracewell, another Democratic candidate for Price Daniel's Senate post, was on TV Tuesday night and outlined five "basic principles" of his campaign. They are:
Integrity Essential
 "Integrity in public office is essential and no public official has a right to enrich himself from the performance of his duties."
 "The United States is dedicated to the path of peace and everything must be done, consistent with honor, to keep us out of future wars, large and small."
 "Local self-government is vital to the Democratic system. The federal government should undertake only those functions which local governments cannot perform."
 "Taxes are a burden to the people. They should only be levied to pay for the economical administration of the government."
Society Needs Protection
 "The right of every individual to liberty and the pursuit of happiness should be safeguarded so that no group can profit at the expense of another group, or society as a whole."

Estes Rests For One Day

By JOHN A. GOLDSMITH
 United Press Staff Correspondent SANTA FE, N.M. (UP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver, the handshaking Democratic vice presidential candidate, took a "one-day" vacation from campaign chores today with nothing but time on his hands.
 The rangy Tennesseean rested at a ranch five miles from Santa Fe. He planned to watch the first game of the World Series on television, and to get some sun and rest before resuming his energetic campaign in Los Angeles Thursday.
 Discussing his plans for what he termed the "one-day vacation," Kefauver told newsmen in his party that he has been a "Dodger" for years and expects to watch the telecast. He conceded he is "worried about the Yankees this year."
 The senator's holiday host was Roger McKinney, publisher of the Santa Fe New Mexican who recently served as chairman of a citizen's panel which reported to Congress last spring on peacetime uses for atomic energy. One phase of the atomic energy program—nuclear power—was Kefauver's main campaign topic in New Mexico Tuesday.
 Speaking at the government's giant research center at Los Alamos, Kefauver declared that other nations—including Russia—have outstripped the United States in nuclear power development because President Eisenhower let the atomic energy program get bogged down in partisan politics.

Benson Praises Ike Farm Work

HUNTLEY, Ill. (UP)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson said today the Eisenhower administration has "taken more constructive action for the benefit of the family farm" than any previous administration in years.
 He accused Democrats of making "deliberately misleading, careless and irresponsible statements" about the administration's attitude towards the family farmer.
 "The facts reveal how utterly false and absurd are the charges," Benson said in a speech prepared for dedication of the Thor Research Center for better farm living.
 The speech is the first of about 20 Benson will make on an 18-state swing through the farm belt, the west and a few eastern states.

Ben Ramsey Has Candidate's Hopes

AUSTIN (UP)—GOP candidate Thad Hutcheson's latest attempt to have a "winner-take-all" special senatorial election on general election day, Nov. 6, was in the hands of Acting Gov. Ben Ramsey today.
 Hutcheson wired Ramsey Tuesday that it was "plainly" his duty to call the election to fill the senate post held by Price Daniel, the Democratic nominee for governor.
 Ramsey is acting chief executive while Gov. Allan Shivers is in Alaska hunting bear.

 Morgan pleaded guilty to all charges, and was fined $100 plus costs.

Integration Issue Still In Beaumont

BEAUMONT, Tex. (UP)—White pickets, under the watchful eyes of two Texas Rangers, spread forces thin today to bar Negro students from classes at Lamar State College of Technology, where three Negroes were "discouraged" Tuesday night and two others chased off Monday.
 The newly-integrated state school in which 26 Negroes have enrolled has 12 entrances and a meager force of some 20 sign-carrying pickets, in contrast to some 200 Tuesday night, were trying to cover all of them.
 Texas Rangers Johnny Klevenhagen and Eddie Oliver, both of Houston, were sent to Beaumont Tuesday night by State Safety Director Homer Garrison Jr., "just to keep an eye on things," he said. City officials did not ask for the Rangers.
Negroes Talked Away
 Two of the three Negro students "talked out" of attending classes Tuesday night were identified today as Clarence Sam and T. R. Johns, a business administration student who is also a lawyer who has been acting as legal spokesman for the Negro students.
 Earlier, some 400 students at the college signed petitions demanding removal of the pickets. Police Tuesday ordered the pickets to stay off the campus so they patrolled the highway instead.
 A woman picket leader, Mrs. H. T. Mercer of Vidor, assured the police and Rangers that there would be no violence. She called the picketing "passive resistance."
 Lecture Given
 Tuesday night, a white student not identified sat down and lectured to some 30 of the pickets, telling them "you are wrong in this."
 Mrs. Mercer, one of the organizers of the anti-integration movement, said she was convinced the picketing was having its effect. Dr. F. L. McDonald, president of the college, admitted that there was a "definite decrease in attendance" but, he added, "no one has dropped out of school."

Ag Secretary Tells Of Aid

TULSA (UP)—Undersecretary of Agriculture True D. Morse said today that the federal government has provided more than $26 million worth of aid to drought-hit farmers in Oklahoma in the last two years.
 He said the aid consisted of grain and hay programs and food for needy farm families. In addition, he said, farmers and ranchers in drought areas have benefited from several special types of loans.
 Morse promised that aid will be continued "in a major way." He gave the pledge in a speech prepared for delivery at the Tulsa state fair.

CoC Committee Meets Friday

The tourist development committee of Chamber of Commerce will meet Friday at 10 a.m. in the Chamber of Commerce office, according to Frank Lard, chairman of the committee.
 The purpose of the meeting will be to discuss activities in connection with the U.S. Highway 60 program of work.

Cotton Prexy Hits CCC

LUBBOCK (UP)—The president of the American Cotton Shippers Association Tuesday attacked the Commodity Credit Corporation for "acting as the merchants' one source of export supply and the producers' only buyer through government loans."
 W. D. Felder Jr., Dallas, said the practice was "unhealthy, inefficient, expensive and un-American."
 "Pumping cotton through a loan is strangling the efficient cotton marketing system that has been built up through the years and which costs the taxpayers millions of dollars a year," Felder told the Lubbock Lions Club.

Boy Sent To Boys Ranch

A 13 year old boy was sent yesterday to Boys Ranch in Amarillo after being picked up for a fourth time in connection with recent vandalism in the area, Judge Bruce Parker said today.
 Parker added, however, that Gray County feels that it is fortunate in having as few seriously delinquent children as it does. The county, he said, averages not more than six seriously delinquent boys and girls being sent away to reform schools in the course of a year. This, he added, is especially good in view of the fact that at least one case is handled every day.

It's Ford Against Maglie In World Series Opener!!!

Heard Through The Barryl

By BARRY A. LITTMANN
Pampa News Sports Editor

The fat's in the fire, and they've "done" up the pea patch in Brooklyn already to open up the 1955 World Series.

This column is going to look ahead to the second and future games of the series because of necessary commitments that make our deadline earlier than the finish of the first game.

Let's go on a couple of suppositions. It is almost imperative that the Yankees win the first game. They are shooting their ace lefty Whitey Ford at the Brooks. Ebbets Field with its narrow confines and close fences has always been a death bed for sou'wasters. The only lefties to win on the Banks of the Gowanus this year were Johnny Antonelli of the Giants and Harvey Haddix of the Phillies. Even Warren Spahn, in most books the very best lefty in the league, didn't or couldn't win a game there this year. The Brooks countered with the over-worked Sal Maglie, a fellow who worked three complete games in thirteen days to help Brooklyn win the flag. Maglie, no spring chicken at 39, must win in order for Brooklyn to use him again, unless Walt Alston reverses all possible strategy and that might happen too.

What makes the Yank win so imperative is the fact that if they win, they probably won't have to contend with Maglie again until the sixth game — if there is one. Tomorrow, if the Brooks lose, Walt Alston will almost certainly have to come back with his ace right hander, Don Newcombe. He can't go across the river to Yankee Stadium two down. Big Newk, who posted a 27-7 mark this year, is the only real equalizer the Dodgers have. They say that Clem Labine can start and win, but until the last game of the year, Labine was shelled every time he pitched. As a matter of fact, that starts Labine's first win as a starter after plenty of tries.

One of the New York writers says the edge lies in Brooklyn's bullpen. Maybe so, but where are they going to get their starters from after Maglie and Newcombe go? Erskine has been in and out of late. Chris has gotten a regular pasting almost every time out since July 4, and the two rookies, Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale, haven't pitched in so long that they've had time to change their peach fuzz into beads. Don Es-sent is strictly a reliever and Ken Lehman and Ed Roebuck can best last place ball clubs only. It looks like Alston will have to pull a number out of his hat for the fourth game pitcher. The third game will probably go to Erskine or Craig with Labine an outside chance.

The Yankees on the other hand, in spite of what many writers back East say, in this corner seem to have the pitching edge. Ford to day, followed by a right hander, Don Larsen. If Ford goes well, as he says, "I've pitched in Boston with the close left field wall there and have won, so why can't I be a winner in Brooklyn?", then Casey might change his plans and come back with another lefty, old folks Tommy Byrne. This Carolina cleft might have just enough soft stuff to keep the heavy Brooklyn bats timing off. Then back to the Yankee Stadium for three games. There, wily Stengel will probably shoot Johnny Kuckus and either Byrnes or Sturdy, depending upon who doesn't pitch the second game. For the fifth game, Stengel might come back with Ford, safer in spacious Yankee Stadium than in smallish Ebbets Field. And with all this nowheres it is written that Old Case can't come in with Bob Grim or Bullet Bob Turley on wild hunch.

The rest of the players, the hitters and fielders, we won't go into here. But, before you go head over heels for the Dodgers to repeat, remember that Hank Bauer and Mickey Mantle played very little last year. And Casey's last words to the press were that he would have to "admit" that his case was in A-1 operating order this year.

Another point that we cannot leave out is the fact that the Yankees are well rested and ready to go. Biopony, on the other hand, concluded a most difficult stretch drive on Sunday and all hands will have to show signs of weariness along side of the fresher Yankees. Don't discount that factor. The Brooks do have this in their favor though. They are hot, everyone is hitting and they're why should it stop now? Well, that's okay, but we'll close with his little tidbit. A wise old owl said once upon a time, that there are two things in life one must do — die and pay taxes. Not quite. There are three things in life — death, taxes and the Yankee winning in the clutch.

Rice Will Be Only Underdogs In SWC

By UNITED PRESS

The Rice Owls are the only Southwest Conference members picked as underdogs Saturday, but even their veteran Coach Jess Neely admitted that the passing of quarterback Frank Ryan was "impressive" in Tuesday's drills. Neely, whose Owls play LSU this week, had one scare when starting center Jerry Harris got his hand stepped on during scrimmages. But X-rays revealed no fracture, only a severe bruise. Harris is expected to be ready by game time.

Only two teams appeared to be hampered by injuries. SMU has four regulars sidelined while Coach Bear Bryant had 14 Aggies missing workouts with virus and bruises.

Halfback Lon Slaughter suffered a sprained ankle and Fullback Ray Masters hurt his back. They joined regular Mustang ends Willard Dewveall and Tommy Gentry as double starters against Missouri.

Among the Aggie cripples was halfback Loyd Taylor, who has a bad shoulder. Bryant said fullback Jack Pardoe and center Doc Powell were the only sure starters against Texas Tech.

There was cheer in the TCU camp as Coach Abe Martin saw that quarterback Chuck Curtis and halfback Ken Wineburg had gained no rust from an off-day last Saturday. The Frogs worked on defense an hour and scrimmaged an hour for Arkansas, the first conference game of the year.

The Razorbacks held a closed workout at Fayetteville. Coach Jack Mitchell said he wasn't brewing a secret weapon; he just wanted the boys to concentrate on the Frogs.

The Baylor Bears ran through a rugged two-hour workout, emphasizing a defense against Maryland.

Ed Price joined with Neely in expressing optimism after Texas Longhorns passing drills in preparation for West Virginia. Price said he thought the Longhorns had one of their best workouts of the year and was pleased.

Swink Off And Running Again For Texas Christian

DALLAS (UP) — All-America halfback Jim Swink of Texas Christian is off to another great football season, although a casual glance at the statistics of his first game might indicate otherwise.

Swink, who led the nation in scoring a season ago and ranked a close second in rushing, didn't score a point and netted only 33 yards on the ground as TCU opened its campaign with a 23-0 beating of Kansas two weeks ago.

But, as the defending Southwest Conference champions prepared to open their title defense in Fort Worth Saturday against Arkansas in a nationally televised game, Coach Abe Martin was all smiles about his vaunted halfback and the way he was performing.

"For my money," Martin said, "Jim played the finest game of his career in the Kansas game.

His overall play in every department was tremendous."

Swink, nicknamed the Rusk Rambler after his home town of Rusk, Tex., was also happy with his new role, although admitting that he liked to make the long runs that piled up 1,283 yards and 123 points last season.

His Kansas performance just served to stamp him even more as all-America caliber. Last season's play left little doubt about his running ability.

Against Kansas, on the other hand, he smugged five passes, as many as he caught all of 1955 for 137 yards and turned in several key blocks, including the one which shook teammate Ken Wineburg loose on an 80-yard touchdown junket, one of three that afternoon.

New Mexico Lobos' New Coach Starts New Look

By STEVE SMILANIC

United Press Sports Writer
SALT LAKE CITY (UP)— Dick Clausen, who gave up a promising baseball career in favor of football coaching, has brought about an immediate revival of the fortunes of New Mexico University, regarded as a Skyline "coach's graveyard."

Clausen hung up his baseball spikes as a member of the New York Giants 18 years ago and since then has made a name for himself as a football coach.

At tiny Coe College in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, Clausen picked up three midwest conference titles. Last year he compiled an 8-0 record there while being named "small college coach of the year."

No one figured Clausen's poor little Lobos had a chance last weekend against strong Utah State and All-American hopeful Jack Hill. But New Mexico's 27-19 victory may rank as the Skyline's biggest upset of the season.

Clausen came to New Mexico with football at a low ebb. During the past 10 years the Lobos had four coaches. In addition, Bob Titchener and Dudley Degroot, both former coaches, had problems with the New Mexico administration and two years ago the school led a de-emphasis program in the conference.

Effects of the "Ivy League" movement are still felt at New Mexico, but Clausen and his aides have a good start toward bringing the Lobos into football prominence.

The 1956 Lobos have already matched last season's two victories and are undefeated in two starts. More important, Clausen, an advocate of the split-T, has seen his team fulfill his philosophy which made Clausen's Coe College teams the third best offensive outfit among small colleges last year.

Last year, offense was unknown at Albuquerque when the Lobos were held scoreless five times, four of the shutouts being successful.

Like most successful coaches, Clausen doesn't expect to rest on his newly-won laurels. He readily agrees the season is still young and he has a big job to do.

Stengel Names Larsen; Alston Not Sure Yet

BROOKLYN (UP)— In advance of today's game, Manager Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees was pretty definite that right hander Don Larsen would be the Yankees' starting pitcher in the second game Wednesday, come what may.

But Dodger pilot Walter Alston was playing his pitching cards close to his chest. Some observers thought Alston might use relief ace Clem Labine as a starter, if he isn't used today, and save tired 27-game winner Don Newcombe for Friday at Yankee Stadium.

Case Knows 'em Well

BROOKLYN (UP)— Casey Stengel said his Yankee players were pretty familiar with the Dodgers before today's game.

"We play 'em down South every spring," Casey explained. "He thought a minute and added, "and we usually play 'em every fall, too."

Barber Not Worried

BROOKLYN (UP)— Sal Maglie, who was slated to put his theory to the test pretty quickly, had a pregame observation about the World Series.

"Pitching to the Yankees," said Harold Morgan, a 5-10 165 pound fullback, the heavy duty man, they can take to the air too. Last week Morgan threw six-pointers of 38 and 30 yards while managing to shake some Sandie bones loose on short thrusts for yardage from the fullback slot. His favorite play is the old-fashioned fullback draw.

As a matter of fact, for the record, the Coyotes ran 74 plays against the Sandies and 23 of them were of the trap variety. It will be a credit to the Harysters if they can defense for this power-packed formation that the Coyotes use.

Aside from being powerhouse on offense the Coyotes have a defense that won't quit either. After the Sandies scored their two touchdowns Friday, while the yardage gained was hefty, they couldn't do a thing inside the 20 yard line. Bob Scholl, left linebacker turned in the defensive game of the game, and probably the tide turner for the Coyotes. He shot into the gap, Kendrick behind the goal line for a and nailed Sandie halfback Ken

Mauldin Hurt; May Not Play Against Coyotes

Things are still happening in a hurry for the Pampa Harvesters. Yesterday afternoon again Coach Jack Lockett shuffled up the cards and dealt them out in a different manner for second successive day. The first string backfield consisted of Ghy Dearen at quarterback, Bobby Dekris at right half, Don Bigham at left half and Robert Warren at fullback.

The two changes in the backfield were brought about by an injury to Dick Mauldin and some hard football both on offense and defense by Robert Warren. Mauldin pulled a groin muscle on a play and now is listed as a doubtful starter in the Wichita Falls game Friday night. If Mauldin isn't ready, the Lockett man is starting quarterback at the helm. Dearen hasn't seen too much action this year, but whenever he has been in the game, he's acquitted himself well. He had numerous opportunities against Capitol Hill to fire a touchdown pass but receivers found the ball too hot to handle. Robert Warren has temporarily displaced Jesse Ring with his fine running and devastating tackling on defense.

Don't think the Harvesters won't have their hands full on Friday night when they play the Wichita Falls Coyotes. The Coyotes have a fine ball club, a team that can score and a team that can come from behind as demonstrated last week when they were down 12-0 to the Amarillo Sandies and came on back to win 23-12.

The Coyotes are coached by veteran mentor Joe Galding, who has been here as long as the school itself, or pretty near. They run out of a single-wing and an old Notre Dame box, to make their offense doubly hard to defense against in this day of split-T and wide open football. Although mostly set on the "ground" team with the great Harold Morgan, a 5-10 165 pound fullback, the heavy duty man, they can take to the air too. safely giving the Coyotes two points and a chance at the pigskin again.

Coach Lockett expressed the thought that his boys were better than the record showed last week at Midland. He hoped they were going to play hard this week and "have a little fun."

toronto (UP)— Lynn Lovgren, the International League's top pitcher in the 1956 season with a 24-12 won-lost record, has been sold by the Toronto Maple Leafs to the St. Louis Cardinals. In return, the Leafs are to receive third baseman Stan Jok, pitcher Jim Pearce and a player to be named later.

CHICAGO (UP)— Veteran left-handed pitcher Paul Minner, sidelined during most of the 1956 season by a fractured vertebra in his neck, was handed his outright release by the Chicago Cubs today. Minner, 32, compiled a 62-79 won-lost record with the Cubs since coming to them from Brooklyn in 1950.

MIAMI BEACH (UP)— Young Jimmy Beachum, Miami waterweight, is favored at 7-5 to repeat his December victory over West Indian Hector Constance tonight in their return 10-rounder at the Miami Beach Municipal Auditorium.

Although the bout will be televised and broadcast nationally, more than 3,000 are expected to attend. Part of the proceeds will be donated to the Babe Zaharias memorial cancer fund.

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP)— The National Collegiate Athletic Association will prepare "several" more cases for possible punishment in a two day meeting of its infractions committee opening here Thursday.

Executive Director Walter Byers said the committee would prepare a report on the cases for submission to the NCAA Executive Council which will meet later this month.

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UP)— Allwood Stable, Far Hills, N. J., paid $42,000 Tuesday night for Joseph's Victory, brown colt by Victory Song, at the annual sale of harness horse yearlings continued at record pace.

With two selling sessions still on tap the overall total of $487,000 is within $17,000 of last year's entire sale and the first million dollar yearling venue is assured.

35,000 Pack Ebbets Field; Eisenhower In The Stands

By LEO H. PETERSEN

United Press Sports Editor
BROOKLYN (UP) — The favored New York Yankees, bent on revenge, went out before President Eisenhower and behind their ace left hander Whitey Ford today to prove that the Brooklyn Dodgers' World Series victory last year was a fluke.

But old Sal Maglie, baseball's "barber" who shaves them close with his pin-point curve ball, was out to show 'em it wasn't.

Rescued from the game's scrap heap at 39 last May, Maglie went on to become the key factor in Brooklyn's pennant triumph and won a chance to achieve the one ambition he has left — to win a World Series game.

The Yankees were 6-5 favorites to win the opening game and a last-minute flood of betting money on them made the American League champions 8-3 to take the series.

With fair weather forecast for the 1 p.m. EDT starting time, 27-year old Ford and "old pro" Maglie were expected to work before a sellout crowd of about 35,000.

with the President taking time out from his re-election campaign to see these teams clash in a World Series for the seventh time.

Mr. Eisenhower was the first President to attend a series opener since Franklin D. Roosevelt tossed out the first ball in the 1950 classic.

"This is the day they start separating the men from the boys," peppy Billy Martin, the Yankees' second baseman, prophesied. "We'll prove we would have won it last year if Mickey (Mantle) and Hank (Bauer) hadn't been injured."

The Dodgers took the Yankees in a seven-game thriller last year, their first series victory in nine tries. Johnny Podres, chubby southpaw who was the pitching hero of that triumph, now is serving in the Navy, but Brooklyn expects the swarthy, scowling Maglie to make up for that.

"This has been the most satisfying season of my major league career," said Maglie when he was named as today's starting hurler. "And I'd like to close it out with a series win."

A series triumph is the only prize that has eluded the right hander from Niagara Falls, N.Y. He failed in his only two previous series chances, both as a member of the New York Giants. He lost the fourth game of the 1951 series against the Yankees and was knocked out of the first game of the 1954 series by the Cleveland Indians.

But Maglie has been almost a sensation since the Dodgers purchased him from the Indians in May. He racked up 13 victories, including the only no-hitter of his career against the Philadelphia Phils on Sept. 25 in a game the Dodgers had to win to stay in the pennant race. Even in the midst of the celebration of his no-hit performance, Sal was thinking about today.

"This was wonderful," he said, "but the one I really want to win is the one I'm pitching next Wednesday."

Dodger Manager Walter Alston hesitated before naming Maglie Tuesday as the opening game hurler, waiting to see whether Sal would be able to pitch with only three days rest. Sal, who usually requires more rest for his aging arm, said flatly: "I'm ready."

Cocky, blond-haired Ford, 33 years younger than Maglie, was the Yankee ran away with the American League pennant, none of them were as pressure-packed as Maglie's home-stretch wins for Brooklyn.

Ford has won three series games against one loss, including two triumphs over Brooklyn last year. But both of those 1954 victories were in spacious Yankee Stadium, and today Ford will be operating in cramped little Ebbets Field where the Dodgers usually clobber southpaws. He tried it once before, in 1952, and was hammered out in one inning.

Yankee Manager Casey Stengel realized he is asking a lot of Ford to beat the Dodgers in their home park, but expressed confidence in the tiny left. He added, "what else am I gonna do?"

"He's been my No. 1 pitcher all year," said Stengel. "If I don't use him until we get back to the stadium in the third game, maybe the series will be lost already."

Many baseball experts regarded Stengel's use of Ford as the key gamble in the series. If Whitey wins, Casey will be in a good position because he cannot return to Yankee Stadium worse than tied in games, 1-1. If Whitey loses, Casey must call on someone else to avert disaster in the second game.

TCU Tops In Offense

Texas colleges play a major part in the statistical figures issued this week by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau in New York.

Texas Christian, going into its second game this Saturday, is ranked first in the total offense department with a .840 yards per game average. No other major college in Texas, denied the top 15 this week in that department.

In the forward passing department, Texas schools play a bigger role. Three Texas colleges, Texas Christian, Texas U. and Southern Methodist are ranked in the top 15. TCU leads the nation with a total yards gained via the aerial route of 279.0. The TCU flippers have completed 14 of 22 tries for a .636 percentage. Two of their heaves were intercepted. Texas ranks sixth in this week's chart.

The Longhorns in two games have attempted 35 passes and completed 25 for a .714 mark. They have averaged 198 yards per game so far. SMU hit an even 800 for their first two games and averaged 175.5 yards per game.

Surprisingly enough, TCU also rates in the top ten defensively speaking. For years the Southwest Conference has been known for its wild and woolly offenses and comparatively little regard for defense. The TCU'ers are ranked eighth in the country in total defense allowing 143 yards per game so far. They also top the list in forward pass defense having had no passes completed against them in ten attempts.

Individually speaking, Texas colleges rank high too. Chuck Arnold, SMU's ace quarterback, stands fifth in the country in total offense with a total of 317 yards gained in two games. Hunsaker of Arizona leads the nation 608 yards gained to date.

Naturally, the Southwestern Conference ranks high in the passing department, what with the open style of ball that is prevalent in this part of the country. Chucklin' Charlie Arnold, SMU's ace heaver is spotted fifth among the nation's top twenty passers. He's fired 44 times and connected with 23 of them and gained a total of 339 yards on a .523 completion average. Not far behind him is the Hardin Simmon slinger Saur. He's tried 35 flips and hit with 22 for a .620 average. His tosses have gained 221 yards to date. Further on down the list is Matthews of Texas ranked number nine and Charlie Chavis of TCU ranked number 18.

In the receiving department Lon Slaghtay of SMU ranks tenth in the country with seven passes snagged for a total of 134 yards. He also has one touchdown to his credit. Gentry of SMU winds up in the 14th position with seven snags for 80 yards.

In the kicking department, it is Texas that gets there is Jackson of SMU who has punted five times for an average of 42 yards.

Optimists Put In Call For Boxers

Although the Optimist Club had a busy weekend enrolling boxers in their program, there is still room for many more members. The coaches and their assistants were on hand Saturday in the "bull barn" east of town to register the boxers and erect the boxing ring. Additional equipment to aid in the training of the boxers is also being installed.

The boxing coaches anticipate a greater turnout this year than in previous years and have welcomed back some of the classic veterans such as Tommy Lamar, Dickie and Gary Willis, and the Powell brothers. Several new potential champs are also on the list and are beginning their training. Most of these fellows have not participated before in the Optimist program.

Tuesday afternoon, workouts began and they will be conducted on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday from 4:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. Those boxers interested in joining in the program can register at the "bull barn" on these evenings and get their team assignments.

Mickey Mantle Swings Both Ways; Small NL Park Should Help Yanks Win

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK (NEA) — From the hearer, you'd like to pick the Dodgers in their perennial with the Yankees.

This is the last run for several of the old Brooklyn pros, which is only one of numerous hard-nosed reasons why the head says no.

The Bombers figure to get even for last fall's humiliation and short-changing, and because it is quite likely to be decided by middle pitching, this World Series also is expected to go the full seven games.

The Flatbush faithful tell the story of the Ebbets Field Swing, point to the fact that the Brooks bat last in the first two games in their own backyard, and the last two, if it goes that far. They stress the fact that the New York club

Wyatt UP Coach Of Week

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UP)— He was jarring opponents with his "rock 'n roll" football when Elvis Presley still was in a play pen.

He's bringing that same smashing style back again to the Southland, which means that a lot of football players are going to be scattered around on Dixie grid-irons this season.

Since he has been back "home" there's a recruiting program going on but it is strictly "selective" cause he doesn't want to lose any good talent through scholastic shakiness.

He is the United Press coach of the week. Bowden Wyatt of those vigorous Volunteers from Tennessee.

It wasn't exactly an upset when his boys went on a single wing whining Saturday and deglamorized Auburn, 35-7, but the show of strength was a little surprising in a game that had been rated all even.

There also was a little astonishment over the development of Wyatt's new football giant so quickly since he has only been back at his alma mater one full season. Tennessee was supposed to be improved over last year's original Wyatt operation which compiled a 6-4-1 record, but Auburn also was supposed to be potent.

Now, despite a violently rough schedule, the Volunteers, paced by All-America prospect Johnny Majors, could make a run for the Southeastern Conference crown.

Fire Ruins Chicago Park

CHICAGO (UP)— Authorities today investigated the possibility of arson in a spectacular $100,000 fire at Comiskey Park that roared through a half-block section of the second deck stands and destroyed the press box.

Fire Lt. Walter Reilly, 47, collapsed on the roof of the stands while fighting the extra-alarm blaze late Tuesday. Flames shot as high as 40 feet above the stands and were visible from the Loop. Deputy Fire Marshal Frank Thielmann said the blaze started in the press box at the park, home of the Chicago White Sox baseball team and the Chicago Cardinals professional football team. The Cardinals were working out on the field at the time.

A White Sox official estimated damage at about $100,000. He said the press, radio and television booths, the main concession stand, bathrooms and stairways in the area would have to be rebuilt.

Ed Short, the White Sox publicity man, said he doubted whether the press box and radio and teledropped three in a row there last trip.

You are reminded that, on their home grounds, the Dodgers dig in and swing for the moon. Any place a well hit ball lands, there are pews or a fence to welcome it.

Brooklyn supporters blithely overlook the fact that the Ebbets Field Swing works the other way around, too, and that the Yankees, deploying in bigger parks, manufactured more home runs than the Dodgers.

There is, for example, the case of Mickey Mantle. The Oklahoma Kid would manufacture something like 70 home runs if he played 77 games in the Flatbush bandbox, where practically every fly ball he hits is good for the round trip.

Mantle played only in sparse parts of the three games the Bombers dropped across the bridges last autumn. Swinging on one leg, The Switcher drilled a pitch into the center field customer. He now is as sound as he ever will be, easily could be the difference in this Series.

There isn't much difference in the sustained attack or the defense of the clubs, but the old Brooklyn pros having slowed down more than somewhat, the Amercan League champions have a sizeable bulge in speed, with which all games are won.

If Whitey Ford faces a handicap because of preponderance of right-hand pull hitters shooting at the short left field stands at Ebbets Field, the Dodgers are hobbled to an even greater extent by the fact that they have no left-hander of status to fling at the Yankees, even at the Stadium, where the spacious left field gives a Ford or a Tommy Byrne something of an edge.

The Yankees' pitching may not be any better than that of the Brooks, but the Bronx party has more of it. Ford is an extraordinary left-hander who ups when the money is up. Casey Stengel could have another southpaw for the Stadium in Byrne, who picked up with a whiff of a long end of the World Series swing.

Don Larsen sails into the Series after turning in four consecutive four-hitters. Johnny Kucks did not go well toward the end, but Tom Sturdivant bounced back. Manager Stengel has middle men in Bob Turley, Tom Morgan and Rip Coleman and a finisher in Bob Grime.

Once the National League race reached pay dirt, Walter Alston had to start his ace mopper-upper, Clem Labine. In the way of starting, Manager Alston obviously trusted none of the regulars beyond the magnificent Sal Maglie and Don Newcombe. Carl Erskine and Roger Craig could surprise, of course, and Don Bessent and Ed Roebuck are accomplished firemen.

But left-handed pitching bothers the Yankees most, and there is no Johnny Podres on the Brooklyn payroll. The best left-handers the Dodgers have to offer are Ken Lehman and Sandy Koufax, who were not called on once the National League leaders approached the wire.

And in the end, this World Series, like all the rest, will be decided by pitching.

Area Player Of The Week

DON ESSARY
... solid man

Don Essary, White Deer's ace quarterback, is the Pampa News' area player of the week. This fellow turned in one of the most outstanding games at quarterback in the area this year.

Essary did all of the passing for the Bucks as they came from behind to whip the Canadian Wildcats 20-14. He also did some of the clutch running and called a near perfect game under the center.

First, after setting things up with some fancy aerial work, Essary spotted Ernest Reusch in the end zone and hit him with a ten yard bullet pass for the score. The second td was scored by MHS, but Canadian came back to score another touchdown and kick the extra point to put them out in front 14-12.

Now, Essary went to work. He passed often, mostly for short yardage, and handed off whenever the defense spread out a bit. Finally, he hit Reusch again with a short bullet pass for the winning score.

In the final quarter, Essary's signal calling did much to insure the victory for the Bucks. He held on to the ball for most of the fourth quarter and when the Bucks did give it up, their defense was so strong that all Canadian could do was gain a net total of 13 yards in the final session.

No More Seats

BROOKLYN (UP)— Box and reserve seats for the Ebbets Field share of the World Series were gobbled up in four hours of a public sale.

Ticket windows at the field opened at 6 p.m. EDT Monday night and police estimated 2,500 fans were waiting in line at that time. The number swelled rapidly as fans arrived from their jobs and the last duet was sold at 10 p.m.

vision booths could be rebuilt in time for Sunday's football game between the Cardinals and the New York Giants.

State Rated Over Michigan

NEW YORK (UP)— Broadway oddsmakers took time out from the World Series today to pick Michigan State, the nation's second ranked team, by a close three points over fourth-ranked Michigan in what shapes up as Saturday's top game in college football.

A crowd of about 100,000 is expected at Ann Arbor, Mich., for the Big Ten clash with the oddsmakers almost reluctant to name a favorite. Michigan clobbered UCLA, 42-13, in its season opener last week, while State downed Stanford, 21-7, in its first game.

In the nationally televised game from Fort Worth, Tex., sixth-ranked Texas Christian was the pick by 14 points over Arkansas, while Oklahoma, the nation's top team, was established such a prohibitive choice that odds were not listed for its meeting with Kansas State.

Blame Demos For Peron

WASHINGTON (UP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles charged today that the Democratic Truman administration was responsible for bringing dictator Juan Peron to power in Argentina.

Dulles made the charge at a news conference in reply to Democratic presidential candidate Adlai E. Stevenson's recent assertion that the Eisenhower administration sought to "appease" Peron before his ouster.

Stevenson said in Miami, Fla., last Tuesday that President Eisenhower's brother, Milton, had assumed "special, if informal, responsibility" for U.S. relations with Argentina at the time of the alleged appeasement.

This charge has been previously denied by President Eisenhower and Dulles.

Dulles said there is always disagreement about how to get results and that some people believe that Peron's downfall might have come about quicker if the United States had intervened in Argentine affairs.

But, Dulles said, U.S. intervention in Argentine affairs had been attempted once by the Truman administration with bad results.

This intervention, he said, was a principal factor in bringing Peron to power.
