Britain Relinquishes Operation Of Suez

CROWD ATTENDS — A large crowd attended the first session of the Pampa News All-Electric Cooking School, held in the Junior High auditorium at 1:30 p.m. yesterday. The final session, which was to be highlighted by the awarding of the grand prize, an electric range, was scheduled at the same time today.

Solons Warn Cuts Will Weaken Allies

WASHINGTON (UP)—Ten Republican senators warned today that House cuts in President Eisenhower's foreign aid program will weaken U.S. allies and boost defense spending.

They called the cuts false economy.

The senators headed by Clifford P. Case (R-N.J.) issued their statement as the Senate Foreign Relations Committee met behind closed doors to begin work on the foreign aid bill. Chairman Walter F. George (D-Ga.) said the committee hoped to vote out a bill by the end of the week.

Investigation Of Cavein Underway

By DAN GURAL
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—Authorities angrily pressed a full investigation today of an excavation cavein that snuffed out the lives of six children and critically injured a seventh.

Wrathful, muttering crowds of parents clung until the early morning hours around the Brooklyn construction site where the damp, loose earth tragically ended a game of cowboys and Indians.

District attorney's office investigators questioned construction company employees most of the night and Dist. Atty. Edward Silver said "If there was negligence, not ordinary negligence, but ordinary negligence," Silver said one of the prime things he wanted to know was why there was no watchman guarding the site, being prepared for a new auto expressway.

"Where Was He?"

"If they had a watchman, where was he?" Silver said. "If they didn't have one, why not?"

Firemen and policemen worked for nearly six hours Tuesday night, vainly trying to revive the six pathetic bodies, searching for more possible victims and trying to comfort the hysterical mothers of known victims or missing children.

Many rescue workers frantically dug into the tons of dirt with their bare hands when there were no tools available. It was almost midnight when Deputy Fire Chief Edward M. McGarry, in charge of the operation, announced that the dirt had been cleared away.

"There are no more bodies down there," he said. "We wanted to wake sure."

Sister and Brother

The six dead children were identified as Ann Ortiz, 8; Lorraine Stanikunas, 5; Michael Stanikunas, 10; Lorraine's brother, John Kotav, 7; Louis Nitti, 6, and John McKennie, 9.

Man Is Fined For Hit-Leave

Edward Porter Billingsley, 443 N. Hazel, pleaded guilty in Justice of the Peace court this morning to charges of leaving the scene of an accident and was fined $200 and costs by the court. He is being held in the County Jail pending payment of the fine.

Billingsley was involved in a collision with L. C. Porterfield of Pampa at the intersection of Barnes and Crawford at 9:24 p.m. Monday.

According to the report of the investigating officers, Billingsley failed to stop after the collision and city officers located his '49 Ford late Tuesday. A warrant for his arrest was issued Tuesday night and he was placed in custody at 11:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Billingsley also pleaded guilty in Corporation Court this morning to charges of driving on the left side of the street and was fined $25 by the court. The charges were connected with the collision Monday night.

Withdrawal Of Troops Ends 155-Year Control

By GERALD ARATHOON
United Press Staff Correspondent
PORT SAID, Egypt—UP—Britain withdrew its last sentry from the Suez Canal Zone today, ending 155 years of military operations in the land of the pharaohs.

The last Union Jack fluttered down over a deserted garrison at sundown Tuesday without bugle or drum beat to pace its descent. It was the end of an era that began in March, 1801 when the British drove Napoleon's soldiers out of Egypt.

Just before dawn today the final picket line of the British garrison went aboard a British LST (landing ship tank) to join the rest of the garrison for transport to Cyprus, now the last British stronghold in the eastern Mediterranean.

Commander Leaves Forever

Brig. John Lacey, the commander of the Port Said garrison, left today for Cyprus. He returned briefly to shore today for a final ceremony. He left Suez forever at 6:13 a.m. (12:13 a.m. EDT).

"This is an unhappy occasion for us," Lacey said as he stood on the deck of the ship and gazed at the empty flagstaff at Navy House. "But we agreed to withdraw and our job is done."

There was no bitterness in his tone. His voice was tired.

Britain retains the right to return to defend the Canal Zone against alien aggression. And British civilians will man the canal facilities. But all remnants of military occupation ended when the last sentry went aboard.

Blood Flowed Freely

Today the last British Tommy shouldered his rifle and quietly left the land where the blood of thousands of his comrades had filtered through the hot sands that sting the pyramids. For British blood flowed freely in the hit and run battles that forced his final retreat from what was once a vital east-west link in Britannia's rule over the seas.

Three years ago the British garrisons guarding the canal were besieged by Egyptian "suicide commandos" who struck with knife and tommy-gun and vanished into the night.

Search For Cypriot Nationalists Spreads

By NORMAN RUNNION
United Press Staff Correspondent
LONDON (UP)—Scotland Yard's search for active Cypriot nationalists spread today throughout British and reliable reports said more Cypriots and Greeks would be deported in the near future.

The search was started when Scotland Yard found certain documents in the possession of a 48-year-old Cypriot abbot who was hustled off to Athens so quickly he left his slippers behind in his $2,800-a-week London apartment.

The abbot was Archimandrite Kallinikos Macheriotis, a close friend of exiled Cypriot leader orthodox Archbishop Makarios. His deposition brought sharp protests from the Greek Embassy, threats of a demonstration by London Cypriots and warnings from Athens.

It was understood his deportation was ordered personally by Cmdr. Leonard Burt, head of Scotland Yard's super-secret Special Branch. He was accused of activities going beyond any legitimate ecclesiastical duties and of acts "not in the public interest."

The search for active Cypriot nationalists extended from the back streets of London's Camden Town district where the abbot lived to Sheffield where police were investigating the possibility of Cypriot sabotage.

Two ground signals were damaged beside the main railway line near Sheffield and the word "EOKA" was spelled out in stones beside them. EOKA is the name of the Greek Cypriot underground organization responsible for much of the violence on Cyprus.

Windows were smashed at Brightside Station just three miles away. And a few miles away the brakes were released on 47 railway cars and they were sent hurtling toward a level road crossing. They were diverted into a colliery track and stopped. Police called it sabotage.

The acts coincided with new death and violence on Cyprus.

Steel Companies Expected To Make Counterproposals

By ROBERT G. SHORTAL
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK (UP)—The "Big Three" steel companies are expected to present their counterproposals to the United Steelworkers contract demands today in a move that could mean "war or peace" in the basic steel industry.

The companies' offer—the details of which probably will not be revealed—will determine just how far apart the two sides are on basic contract issues.

The union has presented the industry with 22 demands that the experts said from the biggest package since the Steelworkers signed their first contract with the steel industry in 1937.

The union is asking for a big wage hike, a form of guaranteed annual wage, premium pay for weekends and a full union shop. The union's total package would cost 60 cents an hour if met in full, the experts calculated.

20-Cent Package Seen

Steelworkers now average about $2.47 an hour. The belief here is that a new agreement will be reached calling for a package increase approaching 20 cents an hour.

The "Big Three" steel companies—U.S. Bethlehem and Republic—will submit their counterproposals to the union when negotiations resume late today.

The bargaining sessions, which began in Pittsburgh May 28, were recessed Tuesday to give management time to "put the spinning touches on its offer, which is expected to include a wage increase and a layoff pay plan better than the 26 weeks of supplemental unemployment benefits which the union workers got last year.

Industry sources said hopes for an early settlement of the contract talks hinge on how close the companies' offer comes to the union's demands.

Could Be Trouble

"If the companies and the union are miles apart on key contract issues," a top industry spokesman said, "there could be real trouble this year. If they are close, then an early settlement is a distinct possibility."

The union's powerful 170-man wage and policy committee will meet here Friday to act on the counter offer from the "Big Three."

A new contract, between the union and the three biggest producers is expected to set the pattern for the rest of the steel industry and possibly the 11th round of postwar wage hikes throughout the economy.

The present contracts between 650,000 USW members and 172 steel companies expire at midnight on June 30. The nation is faced with a costly strike if a new agreement is not signed by that time.

Top officials of 11 major steel companies, including the "Big Three," are in New York to act in an advisory capacity on the contract talks.

Pampa Receives More Moisture

Pampa received 18 hundredths of an inch of rain last night and possibly may receive more, according to KPDM Radio Station, Pampa's official weather bureau. Scattered and isolated thunder showers are predicted for today, but this may not be the immediate Pampa area.

The high today is 91 degrees with a high yesterday of 91 degrees also. The slow expected today is 80 degrees, and the low last night was 61 degrees.

Estes Says He's Still Strong Demo

By RAYMOND LAHR
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Estes Kefauver said today he still thinks he would be the strongest presidential nominee. The Democrats could pick despite his defeat in the California primary last week.

"Over all, in the primaries, I've done quite well," he said. "Of course, I'm disappointed in my loss."

The Tennessee senator suffered a major setback in California where he was beaten by Adlai E. Stevenson, the 1952 nominee, in the Democratic presidential primary June 5.

Asked if the California result had weakened his belief that he would be the strongest Democratic nominee, Kefauver said it had not. Democrats will choose their candidate at their national convention, which opens at Chicago Aug. 13.

Although many Democrats have written him off as a major contender, Kefauver reiterated that he and his campaign organization would press ahead in his quest for the nomination.

"I believe in presidential primaries and entered all I could," he said in an interview. "Some I won and some I lost. In sections particularly interested in farming and resource development, I've done very well.

"By entering a lot of the primaries, I spread my energy and my limited finances very thin."

He also suggested that he has shown strength among independent voters.

Kefauver expressed the belief that his primary campaign rivalry with Stevenson has benefited his party by generating a discussion of issues and more activity among Democrats.

Now that the primaries are over, he said, the campaign has entered a new phase in which candidates must concentrate on uncommitted delegates and those still to be chosen by state conventions.

Kefauver, who boasted a string of primary victories in 1952, started fast this year by defeating Stevenson in New Hampshire and Minnesota primaries. Then he faltered in New Jersey, where his slate of national convention delegates was overwhelmed by an uncommitted slate led by Gov. Robert B. Meyner.

New Light At Intersection Here

A new type of traffic control at the intersection of Brown and Cuyler is in the process of installation. New lights have been installed with an arrow showing left turns only.

The lights will go from red to a full green allowing forward movement and left and right turns. The green will be followed by the warning amber light which will be followed by the green arrow for left turns only. City Engineer James Cowan stated this morning.

The marking of traffic lanes should be completed tonight, Cowan reported, and the inside lane will be for left turns only while the outside or right-hand lane will be for straight-ahead traffic and those making right turns.

This installation is being made by the city to aid the motorists in making left turns at the intersection.

Ike May Sip Liquid Today

By DONALD J. GONZALES
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower may sip a little liquid today for the first time since his intestinal operation.

Mr. Eisenhower has been fed glucose sugar through his veins since he underwent surgery last Saturday. But his recovery timetable calls for a gradual return to normal feeding, beginning today.

"Around the fourth post-operative day we will start giving him liquids by the mouth," one of his surgeons, Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, said at a news conference a few hours after the operation last Saturday.

Although he still was in some pain, Mr. Eisenhower Tuesday continued his hospital room "hikes" which keep his muscles in tone and generally aid in his recuperation.

"Another Good Day"

He also took up the reins of government more and more during what White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty called "another good day on the way to recovery from the operation." The surgery by-passed an intestinal obstruction caused by an attack of ileitis.

Hagerty said the President still was taking limited mild sedation to relieve the pain.

"But the pain decreases each day," Hagerty told reporters. "It also decreases each day on his walking exercises. But he is quite conscious of the fact that he has had an operation.

"He doesn't feel like getting up and doing a job," Hagerty added.

Mr. Eisenhower's walking exercises took him to an easy chair where, during one sitting up period, he signed three documents which he rested on his lap. The

Capitol Hill Roundup

WASHINGTON (UP)—Congressmen today labored in the House and Senate to patch up the government's battered security program.

They sought to reverse the Supreme Court decision (issued Monday) limiting federal security filings to workers in "sensitive" jobs.

Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) pressed for action on a bill that would make all federal workers subject to firing as security risks. Sen. James O. Eastland (D-Miss.) prepared a similar bill.

High government officials said patching up the security program is up to Congress.

Other congressional news:

Robinson: The House Committee on Un-American Activities called a full meeting to consider recommending that Negro singer Paul Robeson be cited for contempt of Congress. Four committee members voted to recommend a contempt citation after he testified Tuesday. The committee also planned to consider a contempt citation against Prof. Otto Nathan, executor of Albert Einstein's estate.

Foreign Aid: Ten GOP senators called House cuts in President Eisenhower's $4.9 billion foreign aid program false economy. The Senate Foreign Relations Committee began closed door study of the bill and the $1.1 billion slash made by the House.

Housing: The House Banking Committee approved a catch-all housing bill almost twice the size requested by the administration. The committee approved federal subsidization of 180,000 units over a three-year period. The Senate has already passed an even bigger program.

State's Rights: The Senate Judiciary Committee has approved a bill directing courts not to assume the federal law supersedes state law unless there is direct conflict. The bill is aimed at reversing a Supreme Court decision voiding the state's authority to prosecute sedition cases.

Air Bases: The Air Force warned Congress that air base construction is lagging behind the buildup of U.S. air power. The reason: shortage of money.

Ike Must Say Again If He's Fit

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower probably must tell the American people again whether he feels fit and ready to campaign for a second term. But, this time it may be differently staged.

An off-the-cuff response to a news conference question seems now to be the likely manner in which Mr. Eisenhower will let the people know what is in his mind. He will be asked about his political plans, the next time he faces a news conference.

An elaborate television report on his own well being was arranged last February for the President to reveal that he felt suddenly recovered from a heart attack to take on four more White House years.

Often Bench Victims

Heart attacks are killers. When they do not kill they often bench their victims. The most enthusiastic Ike-men were willing backy there in the autumn of 1955 to believe that Mr. Eisenhower was lost to the Republican Party. The popular belief also was that Mr. Eisenhower could not run again.

A full dress response to that widespread doubt was essential and it was made by the President in his television appearance of Feb. 29. Surgery is something else again. A successful operation may leave the patient as strong or even physically in better condition than before. Mr. Eisenhower's attending doctors evidently consider their work to have been successful and that the President will gain physically rather than lose by reason of it.

A more informal assurance of his willingness to run again is, therefore, indicated — assuming, of course, that Mr. Eisenhower's excellent recovery continues. Just when the President next will submit himself to news questions is not known. Harvard Medical School Professor David D. Rutstein Tuesday in Cambridge that forecast six week period of recovery from surgery was the absolute minimum and too optimistic. Might take two or three months, Dr. Rutstein said.

Would Raise Doubts

A three-month convalescence from successful abdominal surgery surely would raise some serious doubts about the President's comeback powers and perhaps about his fitness for another term. His attending physicians are top flight men, however, and they are committed to the President's recovery in terms of weeks instead of months. Time will tell about that.

'Ma' Ferguson Has Birthday

AUSTIN (UP)—Mrs. Miriam A. (Ma) Ferguson, Texas' only woman governor, celebrated her 81st birthday anniversary quietly today.

The quietness of the occasion was in contrast to the observance of Mrs. Ferguson's 80th birthday last year when an estimated 300 friends and dignitaries attended a banquet in her honor.

Mrs. Ferguson pointed out today "I'm not running for anything," but predicted "this will be an exciting year."

She served twice as the state's chief executive in terms from 1925 to 1927 and from 1933 to 1935.

Mrs. Ferguson's late husband, James E. Ferguson, preceded her in the governor's chair. Mrs. Ferguson was the nation's only woman to be elected governor. Mrs. Tayloe Ross was named governor of Wyoming in 1924, but the selection was made by the Wyoming legislature following the death of her husband, the state's governor.

Nixon Says Youths Need To Be Fit

WASHINGTON (UP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon said Tuesday that fitness of American youths "is vital to the future of our country."

He said that the President's conference next week on the fitness of American youth will "focus on age-range 5 to 17 years." But he said the implications for the younger and older "will not be overlooked."

"We will keep in mind the special needs of girls and boys of all races or creeds, of all socio-economic levels, in their various stages of development in urban, suburban, and rural homes in crowded tenement sections and in well-to-do neighborhoods," Nixon said in a statement.

President Eisenhower, who will not attend because of his operation, has designated Nixon to preside for him over the conference at the U. S. Naval Academy Annapolis, Md., next Monday and Tuesday.

Leaders in various fields from throughout the nation have been invited to attend. They include: Frank H. Bartholomew, president of United Press; Ford C. Frick, baseball commissioner; E. Roland Harriman, chairman of the American National Red Cross; FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover; Eric Johnston, president of the Motion Picture Association; Robert T. Jones of golf fame.

A board of directors meeting was held following the luncheon. The next meeting will be held June 19 in the Palm Room.

INVESTIGATION

kov, 9, was taken to a hospital suffering shock and a broken arm. Two other children narrowly escaped the cascading earth. One of them was Mary Stanikunas, sister of two of the victims.

Police said the children apparently waited until workmen left the construction site for the day and then began their game of cowboys and Indians at the base of a 25-foot cliff of dirt. The youngsters decided to dig a cave in the site of the dirt wall and had dug several feet into the soft earth when there was a soft muffled rumbling followed by the cave-in.

Gall Bladder Versus Overweight

That fat people are the only ones who suffer from gall bladder trouble is not an accurate statement. The fat folks as a group, have the larger percentage of gall bladder sufferers, perhaps, but that leaves a sizeable group of us ordinary sized folks with our share of sick gall bladders. You cannot therefore, blame gall bladder trouble to the oversized midriff. It's not that simple. There is something else that has gone wrong.

What could cause the trouble to a little muscular walled sack capable of holding only one or two ounces of heavy dark green bile which drips from a tube Miller D.C. leading from the liver? The same things that could happen to a muscle anywhere in the body. Like arm or leg muscles, it can become paralyzed completely, partially, or just weakened, depending upon how badly the controlling nerves are blocked or injured. A gall bladder's mucus membrane lining, like the membranes in your nose, can get hot and inflamed. The extent of inflammation depends on the number of nerve end plates involved. This heat can cause the heavy solid in the bile to settle like dirt in a glass of water. This settling causes stones to form, unless the controlling nerves can be freed

Dulles Fears Stalin Attacks Are To Sell Present Regime

By WILLIAM GALBRAITH
 WASHINGTON, June 13—UP—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles said Tuesday he fears the Kremlin's denunciation of Josef Stalin are nothing but an attempt "to persuade the subject peoples that the present dictatorship is good."

He told a news conference "we can hope" that attacks on the late Soviet dictator by Communist party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev "will mark the beginning of a change away from that (Stalin) system of dictatorship."

"But that, I fear, may not be his purpose," Dulles said. "The purpose" may be merely to persuade subject peoples that the present dictatorship is good because it condemns the past dictatorship.

"Only One Cure" In a prepared statement read to the reporters, the secretary said "there is only one cure for the evils of the imposed Soviet dictatorship—that is government which derives its powers from the consent of the governed."

"The evils which Khrushchev exposes and condemns are not merely due to the personality of Stalin," he said, "but due to a system which implements a philosophy which considers human beings as tools of the state, to be exploited for the glorification of the state."

He conceded there are encouraging signs of a greater demand

Greek, Cypriot Doctor Tells Of Hypnosis Spiritual Head Used In Lung Operation Is Deported

LONDON, June 13—UP—Britain Tuesday deported the spiritual leader of the Greek and Cypriot community in London because his activities "went beyond" his church duties.

Scotland Yard agents arrested Archimandrite Kallinikos Macheriotis at his residence in Camden Town in downtown London and put him aboard a plane for Athens shortly after midnight.

The Greek embassy promptly protested the deportation of the Greek Orthodox churchman. Macheriotis, born on Cyprus, announced in the Greek capital he would try to go his native island and fight for the cause of Enosis (union with Greece).

His deportation was the first major crackdown on Cypriot activity in Britain proper. Archbishop Makarios, the head of the Greek church on Cyprus itself, was deported earlier this year to the Seychelles Islands in the Indian Ocean for fanning the flames of Greek Cypriot opposition to British rule.

The government confirmed Tuesday that stringent new security rules had been imposed in Britain to protect members of the royal family and government leaders from possible attack by Greek Cypriots. Extra guards were assigned May 10, the day two extremists were hanged on Cyprus for shooting two persons.

Tuesday, another Cypriot was sentenced to die, even though he missed the man he fired at.

The judge said this was "due not to your good intentions but to your bad shooting," as he sentenced Stelios Mavromatis, 23, a former RAF clerk.

Doctor Tells Of Hypnosis Used In Lung Operation

By ALFRED LEECH
 CHICAGO, June 12—UP—A doctor told Tuesday of a drastic, 2½-hour lung operation in which patient was anesthetized by hypnosis.

Dr. Milton J. Marmer, chief of anesthesiology at Cedars of Lebanon hospital in Los Angeles, described the dramatic operation in a paper presented at the 105th annual meeting of the American Medical Association.

Marmer said the patient, a 26-year-old woman, underwent the operation Jan. 17, 1955, for removal of a tumor from the left lung. A major surgical procedure in which the chest cavity is laid open.

He said hypnosis was used as the principal anesthetic, supported by muscle-relaxing drugs and analgesics.

The patient was hypnotized at 10 a. m. and was taken to the operating room half an hour later. Hypnotic suggestion was continued throughout the course of the intricate operation, Marmer said.

Marmer said hypnotic suggestion was continued through the course of closing the wound, and the operation ended at 1 p. m.

The patient was given a post-hypnotic suggestion to the effect that her post-operative discomfort would be minor and that deep breathing would be easy for her. She was told to sleep for two hours and then awaken, Marmer said.

"The post-operative course was uneventful," he said. "The amount of narcotics used after surgery minimal, and the patient was discharged on Jan. 25 in excellent condition."

Marmer concluded that "hypnosis has much to offer the anesthesiologist."

Marmer said hypnosis "minimizes fear and apprehension, and is valuable as an adjunct to the measures commonly employed in sedation before and after operation." Furthermore he said it can be used on patients who cannot tolerate chemical anesthetics.

Another advantage, Marmer said, is that post-hypnotic suggestion can help the patient through discomfort after the operation by "reducing or eliminating nausea, vomiting and pain."

Reds Charge Politics On A-Bomb Drop

TOKYO, June 12—UP—Russia charged Tuesday the United States dropped atom bombs on Hiroshima and Nagasaki near the end of World War II for "purely political" reasons after rejecting a Soviet plea against their use.

A Soviet broadcast, heard in Tokyo, charged there was no military reason at the time of the A-bombs in August 1945, for using the bombs against the Japanese cities.

(In Paris, former President Truman called the Radio Moscow charge "a lie." Mr. Truman, who ordered the bombs dropped, said "no one at that time even knew we had an atomic bomb.")

"Stalin knew we had a weapon but he did not know what it was," Mr. Truman added. "He was in complete agreement with Mr. Winston Churchill and myself that the weapon should be used.")

The Moscow radio broadcast claimed that Russia had urged the United States not to use the atomic bombs against the two cities. But the Soviet plea was rejected, the broadcast alleged.

It said the United States used the A-bomb for "political reasons"—for the influence it would have on other nations of the world.

The former President said in his memoirs he decided to use the A-bomb if the Japanese failed to accept the Potsdam surrender ultimatum.

The first U.S. atomic bomb was dropped on Hiroshima Aug. 6, 1945. A second bomb fell on Nagasaki on Aug. 9, the day the Russians entered the Far Eastern war against Japan. The Japanese announced their surrender five days after the Nagasaki bombing.

Cadillac

Just Graduated...To a Cadillac!

It's graduation time! And this happy gentleman—appropriately enough—has just gone through some important graduation exercises of his own.

It was just a few minutes ago, in fact, that he stood in his dealer's showroom and accepted the keys to his first Cadillac.

But even though he now holds his final degree, so to speak, in motor car ownership, his education in all the good things of motordom is only beginning.

Take performance, for instance. The car is so smooth and powerful, and so nimble and obedient that it automatically revises a man's standards of performance.

Consider comfort. Rolling along the broadest boulevard or taking the roughest bylane, the car is incredibly smooth and level in ride.

And think about pride and satisfaction. What an extraordinary feeling it is to sit in command of the "car of cars"—and find yourself the subject of admiring glances on every hand.

Have you ever considered how wonderful it would be to "graduate" to Cadillac? Certainly, it's the perfect season for enjoying a new Cadillac. The days are bright and long... the roads are beautiful and inviting... and there are wonderful places to go and exciting things to do.

And certainly, it has never been easier to sign your name to the title. We are, happily, in a position to offer you prompt delivery on your favorite model—and we know you will be pleased to learn how practical Cadillac ownership has now become.

Why not pay us a visit soon—and spend an hour at the wheel?

It's a wonderful season and a wonderful car—and a wonderful opportunity to enjoy them both!

No Humor In Taxes

A friend dropped by the office to share a witticism he had culled from a magazine. The government, the humorist pointed out, is preparing a simplified tax form for next year. It contains only three questions:

- 1 — What was your income last year?
- 2 — What were your expenses?
- 3 — How much have you left?

The last you send to Uncle Sam.

Now this may be just a joke, but it wouldn't be such a bad idea if applied in realistic fashion. In fact, it might be carried out to an intelligent method of supporting voluntarily the governmental agencies we think necessary for our welfare.

It all depends on the definition of expenses. At the present time that definition is arbitrarily laid down by the Internal Revenue Department, and in all too many cases a good many of us not only have to send "what we have left" to Uncle Sam, but have to dig up a few extra shekels to boot.

What we ought to do is knock off the compulsory Social Security racket under which the government taxes payrolls with a loose promise that we'll be taken care of in our old age. We can't think of a worse judge of how we want to be taken care of after we quit working than the government. We'd like to do that for ourselves and so we'd like to take the payroll tax plus a part of our income to invest in one way or another to insure our later standard of living.

There are also some contributions we'd like to make to varied programs that are underway in the world and we don't like the idea of conferring with the tax collector to determine whether he considers them tax deductible.

We'd also like to get together with other individuals to arrange for certain services which governmental agencies are now providing in an unsatisfactory fashion and we wouldn't mind paying for them although we do object to paying under compulsion and to paying double.

For example, we wouldn't mind pooling our small resources with others of like mind to build and maintain a bridge club; but we resent fiercely being compelled to contribute two cents to support swimming pools and golf courses.

We wouldn't mind signing a contract to purchase a certain amount of peaches, rice and other food products but we feel robbed when even a few cents of our tax monies go to pay a farmer for overproducing his crops.

We think it's unwarranted form of condescension for bureaucrats to grant us a $600 exemption before we list our taxable income. We don't know any realistic "cost of living" standard that artificiality applies to. We want to exempt our real expenses for food, shelter, clothing, medical costs, recreation, entertainment, education and other things we feel necessary for our well being including philanthropic and sociological gestures.

When we get through using our income as our intelligence dictates, then we'll be glad to divide up the rest with Uncle Sam's agents and other incompetent bureaucrats who are subsisting on the sweat of other people's productive labors.

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR F. JORDAN, M. D.

Today's first question is one which could not have been asked a short time ago.

Q—Does a person ever contract more than one type of polio? Two of our children had paralytic polio 5 1/2 years ago. Now this question arises because of the vaccine. Should they be given it?—Mrs. R.M.

A—There are three principal types of virus which can cause paralytic polio. Unfortunately, polio caused by one of these viruses will not necessarily bring immunity to the other two types. In other words, it is possible to contract more than one type of polio and such tragic experiences have been reported, though not with great frequency.

In this instance it might be possible to test the two children for their resistance to the three viruses. If this resistance appears to be good there would be no particular advantage in giving the vaccine. If not, it would probably be wise to do so in order to avoid even the remote chance of a second attack from a different virus.

Q—Would you please say something about hiccups? I have had them for a week.—C.F.

A—Persistent hiccups may be associated with some serious illness, may follow an operation, or may come from some obscure cause which cannot be identified. It is a reflex spasm of the muscles of the diaphragm separating the organs of the chest from those in the abdomen. Unlike simple hiccups, which respond to holding the breath, drinking of water and like measures which all of us know about, persistent hiccups are often difficult to treat successfully. Some respond to breathing carbon dioxide in oxygen by mask. In the most difficult cases injection into one of the nerves (the phrenic) may be necessary.

Q—You recently mentioned carotid sinus syndrome and I wish you would say more about it.—H.M., L.H., and J.M.

A—Occasionally there may be overactivity of a bundle of nerves lying in the wall of the carotid artery in the neck. Persons with this condition may be subject to attacks of dizziness, fainting, or even convulsions. They may come on without apparent cause as a result of pressure over the area. They may follow an emotional upset. Such attacks are usually associated also with a fall in blood pressure.

Good results in mild cases are sometimes obtained by extremely careful administration of a drug (atropine). In more serious cases surgical treatment may be necessary.

Q—If I take medicine for ulcers, how many beers can I drink without doing myself harm?—A—I should advise none.

NOTE ON QUESTIONS
Dr. Jordan is unable to answer directly individual questions from readers. However once a week, in this "Q & A" column he will answer the most interesting and the most frequently asked questions received during the week.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES
Beliefs That Result In War

Here's the last installment of Edmund A. Opitz' article on "Peace and World Government" as printed in the June issue of "The Freeman" magazine.

If you want a magazine that is fighting for the rights of each and every individual, I know of no better magazine to take than "The Freeman." Its address is The Foundation for Economic Education Inc., Irvington-on-Hudson, New York.

From here on Opitz is speaking: "There is a core of natural pugnacity in all of us, more than likely and some of us are more aggressively supplied than others. So there are going to be brawls and minor riots — which we can pretty well take in our stride. Even a riot involving scores of men, bad as it may be, is a far cry from war, which is a carefully calculated conflict between groups of specially trained men. This kind of conflict requires rationalization, exhortation, and pressure. Occasionally there is moral justification for such a conflict in the matter of defense. When this is the case, the individual does not need someone else to volunteer his life and property for him; he is competent to decide for himself.

"In most persons, the desire for peace overrules natural belligerency. So much is this the case that the continuous war we are engaged in must be sold to us as a means of attaining universal peace. How does it happen that even as we declare for peace we prepare for war? To the extent that our aversion to war is genuine — and this is largely the case — it becomes obvious that the war we don't want is an unforeseen consequence of our efforts to get something else. If we analyze our predicament further, we can detect a similarity of principle between the operations of the Welfare State or other varieties of collectivism, and the operational imperatives of a nation at war. We do well to examine the inference which may be drawn from this observation: that the first steps to war are taken when society adopts a mischievous domestic policy.

"The purpose of war, according to Clausewitz, is to impose your will on the enemy, or prevent him from imposing his will on you. In a Welfare State, or under full-blown socialism, the masses of men are guided, regulated, directed, and controlled by those wielding political power. On principle, the wills of a large segment of the nation are bent to conform to the master plan imposed on them by those who believe themselves competent to plan the lives of others. When this occurs in a society as a permanent peacetime policy, that society has taken the first step of a course whose last step is war. The principle of socialism or the Welfare State has, in it, inevitably, the germs of war.

"Conscription from military service is but the more immediate application to military purposes of the control of individuals which is inherent in socialist policy. Some socialists oppose conscription but endorse its logical counterpart: conscription follows theoretically from the rest of their beliefs. These people object to the use of a lot of force on foreigners; they advocate the use of a little force on domestics. But if you start doing the latter, there is no stopping place short of the former.

"Control merely for the sake of control soon loses its zest. The popularity of socialist and Welfare State schemes is due to the use of control for the redemptive flow of goods. Goods can be had by production, trade, or gifts. But other peoples' goods can also be had as a result of political privilege. All varieties of collectivism traffic in political privilege. So do other societies, but not on principle, and therein lies a major difference.

"If the producers of a nation are to be exploited on principle by the political class, it follows that the political class can better its circumstances if it has more producers and more territory to exploit. It gets more producers and more territory by conquest. Thus, the first steps to war are taken in the setting up of a system of acquiring other men's goods. When men rely on political privilege to acquire economic goods, they have already embraced the near end of a principle whose far end is war.

"If we don't like the last step, we shouldn't take the first. In the matter of modern war, the first step is the acceptance by almost all men everywhere, of the false assumption that political communities are competent to run people's lives. The first steps to peace are in the direction of a voluntary society in which each person is free to direct his own energy so long as he allows the same right to others. There is no Utopia in this direction, but in striving for a voluntary society we may at least avoid such debacles as now plague our world.

"Hence, our dilemma. If we can revolutionize opinion about social organization so that we rid ourselves of arbitrary political interventions in economic and social life, we won't need a world police; if we can't change opinion in this area in favor of a strictly limited government, a world police would either be helpless to prevent war or would itself be the worst tyranny history has known.

"Ideas have only one source: the free mind. They develop and spread as interpersonal communication between individuals is facilitated. No social force is so powerful as the healthy contagion of ideas. For good or ill, they will have their way in time against any obstacle.

"The only lasting antidote to

Kremlin Will Try To Break Far Pacific Defense Line

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The Kremlin's new rulers' next move will be to try to break this country's Far Pacific defense line and alliances by engaging in political blackmail of Japan. It is the State Department's chief concern in this strategic area as a result of recent negotiations between Moscow and Tokyo.

Stalin never showed any serious interest in the Far Eastern problem. Recent disclosures at Moscow reveal that he almost caused a clash with Communist China in the same way that he estranged Marshal Tito. He treated Mao Tse-tung like a poor relation.

Nikita Khrushchev, however, has always regarded a close association with Japan and China as a necessary objective of Russian foreign policy. As a Far Eastern expert, former Boss Georgi Malenkov shares this viewpoint. They have apparently sold their ideas to the post-Stalin regime.

The Kremlin's aims go far beyond mere resumption of normal relations with Tokyo, according to Washington's belief. They seek to drive U.S. troops out of Japan, possibly out of Okinawa and Formosa.

Success in that venture would create a serious gap in our defense from the Aleutians to Australia. Key points are South Korea, Japan, the Philippines, Formosa, Okinawa, Australia and New Zealand. It is a sure-guarantee, our military fleet, against another Pearl Harbor.

The political climate in Japan may be favorable to these operations. Premier Ichiro Hatoyama and Foreign Minister Mamoru Shigemitsu are old and ill. Ambitious and aggressive newcomers are pressing forward. As always in a transition period, there are demagogues, defeatists and Socialists among them. To oust the conquerors and to regain national prestige thereby present a popular and vote-catching issue to the younger politicians.

Full diplomatic relations with Russia have not yet been restored because the Kremlin seeks to drive its usual hard bargain. She has not given Japan the more extensive fishing rights which Tokyo needs. She refuses to return immediately an estimated 12,000 prisoners.

Although willing to return a few small islands, Russia balks at giving up the Kuriles and Sakhalin Islands, which were part of her prizes for only four days of war.

war consists of extending limited government ideas to the nations of the world, and the first step is for these ideas to capture the minds and loyalties of men. Not only other men, but us. Even in the United States, wrong ideas about social organization have allowed our several governments at different levels to get out of hand. Desire for a world government stems from the same errors which have pushed us off base domestically. There is no recovery save in a changed climate of opinion — no short cut to peace. A world society, in contrast to a supergovernment, is a worthwhile objective; but there is no way to attain it except as ideas of personal liberty gain ground and push government into the limited role of curbing aggression.

Pegler Wants Into The Act Of Talking On Unionism

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

My name is Pegler, I am a newspaper reporter, I am not a radio commentator, pundit or sage. I do all my own work. I have no agents, operatives, assistants or leg-men. The only time anyone else ever wrote anything under my name was about 1933 when I was down with flu and got stuck on a dead center in the last paragraph. I could not think up a good get-em-off line and Paul Gallico, who was on sick-call, said "Here, I am good at that" and sounded a ribald note that almost cost me my job. That learned me!

Nobody could know much less than I do about unionism, but I saw where President Eisenhower said the upright and slappothousenous leaders of the great, idealistic praisebord of the AFL-CIO had awakened to their great moral and civic wee-ong-ong-gong and dedicated their lives, their fortunes and their sacred heh-heh-heh to the crying need of loud cheers, whistles, whistles and vulgar sounds blown through pursed lips.

My qualifications are meager, if any, but I want to get into this act because this situation begins to have the appearance of the payoff after all these years and anybody with enough gall and a strident sense of self-righteousness can clean up.

President Eisenhower, you couldn't be expected to know much because back in those "thirties you were just a major in mutt tagging around Washington behind Harry Butcher, the legislative agent of the fertilizer interests, and peacetime mapors in muffi are advised to keep still on political matters. Anyway most of them are priests of a cult, insulated against mundane interests other than bridge, golf promotion and retirement.

So you didn't know the printers from the pressmen and you probably thought a bushelman was some sort of hybrid farmhand developed by Bubbledad Wallace of agriculture. You didn't know much more than the time you sounded your A in our visit at Rocquencourt outside Paris a few days before you announced that if lightning was fixing to strike, well you weren't fixing to take evasive action. You sounded as though General Tony Biddle had given you a quick schooling and I was not sure that you would have come up with the right answer if I had asked you right sharp: "Who is John L. Lewis? Answer me 'yes' or 'no'?" You probably would have said "Sam Gompers of the Locomotive Engineers."

Well, without a trot, I wouldn't have the faintest idea who Joe Fay and Jim Bove are myself or whether they went to prison or what for or who sent them. I have vaguely heard of George Scallie. Didn't he play for the Yankees? No, that was Laxer.

But for the $84,000 question, I have rummaged in the archives and come up with a fair compendium. I share it for the benefit of your education. After all, when My Leader rears back to sound off I want him to vindicate my vote in '52.

So I have compiled a little information as follows:

Ben Pross was a confirmed jailbird with a lot of crooked kninny specializing in bankruptcy frauds who became a defender of labor's gains w hta larcenous liquor unioiu under your pious friend, George Meany, who was boosted into the presidency of the New York Federation of Labor by Joe Ryan in a corrupt convention. Ryan packed the hall with dummy locals of his longshoremen to vote for Meany. But how stands Meany now regarding Ryan? He repudiated (OQ) him, that he did, so he did, Lord pity the poor mother who bore him!

Pross blackmailed Schenley for 25,000 cases of high-octane super-alcohol Old Panther during the war and peddled it to our brave boys in the sunny south at $25 a fifth. But Pross was acquitted. However, the treasury nailed his estate for a chunk mainly because a labor-baiting Fascist whose name I would not soil this paper with, spied out his beautiful country estate at Mahopac, with the best cabin cruiser on the lake and a mansion that stood him, one way and another, $75,000. The same saboteur of labor's gains had skulked around Scallie's place away from it all at Ridgefield and squealed to Tom Dewey, who did him in.

He turned up Browne and Bloff, too, and made a national celebrity of Joe Padway, the Milwaukee slyster who left town ahead of a fire-breathing husband, and came along to be general counsel of the American Federation of Labor, the teamsters, the musicians and the Browns and Bloff's movie union racketeers. If there's ever was a dollar too dirty for Padway it must have been reeking vile because he calmly clipped Scallie for $1,000 "for writing a constitution" which read like the controlling writ of a gang of kids in a cave in a railroad cut. At the same time Padway signed an appeal for a presidential pardon for Scallie on an old rap for dragging a 16-year-old girl around with a one-ring circus and hustling clients who were entertained in a shelter-half. When he died he left a great collection of first editions, including some Dickens.

William Green (p-s-t, Ike, he used to be president of the AFL) also signed Scallie's appeal for pardon. He said George had paid his debt to society and he said this while George and the Capone mob were running the building service union.

Green used to say the unions of the AFL had autonomy and the big house had no right to interfere with the racketeers in the ranks below. Now Meany is flirting with heresy and you better get your politico spiritual counsel to guide you lest you find yourself a labor-baiter.

Unless the airlines hurry up and make a new rule, Mary and I are going to have to choose between two things — marriage or travel. One more tip, and our vine-covered nest will be up for sale. As much as we love one another, one more fight over weight when packing, and ours will be a marriage that can't be saved, even by the Ladies Home Journal.

All I want the airlines to do is rule that the 44-pounds (domestic) and the 66 pounds (overseas) baggage allotted each passenger, belongs to him and can't be taken away from him. The pounds belong to him, to do with as he pleases.

Every time we go anywhere by air, Mary takes all my pounds. Romeo wouldn't have taken from Juliet what I have from Mary, and if Beatrice had treated Dante the way I get treated when we are packing, he would have told her to go fly a kite.

We are leaving tomorrow for Spain, and I bluish to tell you how little I am taking. I bluish because it's hardly enough to cover me. I honestly believe I could tie it all in a handanna and carry it on a stick over my shoulder like a hobo.

The argument started when Mary laid out on the bed all the things she said I would need on the trip. There was a shirt, a suit, a tie, a pair of socks, a pair of shorts, a handkerchief, a robe, and a pair of shoes.

I protested, saying it looked a bit skimpy to me. So she put in another pair of socks and a second handkerchief.

"There," she said, "Now are you satisfied?"

I said I wasn't, even though everything packed for me was easy to wash and quick to dry. With only one shirt I'd have to stop sightseeing in the afternoon and wash it in a fountain so as to have something fresh for the evening.

Mary gave me a long song and danced on how every travel book said to pack as little as possible. "It's twice as easy when you don't have many bags," she explained. "And you go through customs in a jiffy."

"Where is the stuff you are taking?" I asked.

"In the next room," she said.

I took a look and blew my top. Clothes and shoes and hats were piled everywhere. She was allotting me barely enough for a two-day trip to Staten Island, and she was taking a supply that would last on a trip around the world.

I appealed to her fairness. That got me nowhere. She pointed out that my typewriter weighed twenty pounds, and that that must come out of my weight. She also said the camera was part of my weight, and, besides, look how much more my shoes weighed than hers.

She even said the weight of the bags had to come out of my sixty-six pounds as I had bought them when she wasn't along. As I argued, she packed.

When we leave, her stuff will weigh 125 of the 132 allowed. And it will be I who'll have to lug the things around. She thinks I'm selfish for wanting "all the room." I think she is mean to pack so little for me that if I lose so much as a handkerchief I'm likely to freeze to death.

Come on airlines! Come to the rescue of me and the other husbands.

Mac May Have To Choose Between Marriage, Travel

By HENRY McLEMORE

Unless the airlines hurry up and make a new rule, Mary and I are going to have to choose between two things — marriage or travel. One more tip, and our vine-covered nest will be up for sale. As much as we love one another, one more fight over weight when packing, and ours will be a marriage that can't be saved, even by the Ladies Home Journal.

All I want the airlines to do is rule that the 44-pounds (domestic) and the 66 pounds (overseas) baggage allotted each passenger, belongs to him and can't be taken away from him. The pounds belong to him, to do with as he pleases.

Every time we go anywhere by air, Mary takes all my pounds. Romeo wouldn't have taken from Juliet what I have from Mary, and if Beatrice had treated Dante the way I get treated when we are packing, he would have told her to go fly a kite.

We are leaving tomorrow for Spain, and I bluish to tell you how little I am taking. I bluish because it's hardly enough to cover me. I honestly believe I could tie it all in a handanna and carry it on a stick over my shoulder like a hobo.

The argument started when Mary laid out on the bed all the things she said I would need on the trip. There was a shirt, a suit, a tie, a pair of socks, a pair of shorts, a handkerchief, a robe, and a pair of shoes.

I protested, saying it looked a bit skimpy to me. So she put in another pair of socks and a second handkerchief.

"There," she said, "Now are you satisfied?"

I said I wasn't, even though

everything packed for me was easy to wash and quick to dry. With only one shirt I'd have to stop sightseeing in the afternoon and wash it in a fountain so as to have something fresh for the evening.

Mary gave me a long song and danced on how every travel book said to pack as little as possible. "It's twice as easy when you don't have many bags," she explained. "And you go through customs in a jiffy."

"Where is the stuff you are taking?" I asked.

"In the next room," she said.

I took a look and blew my top. Clothes and shoes and hats were piled everywhere. She was allotting me barely enough for a two-day trip to Staten Island, and she was taking a supply that would last on a trip around the world.

I appealed to her fairness. That got me nowhere. She pointed out that my typewriter weighed twenty pounds, and that that must come out of my weight. She also said the camera was part of my weight, and, besides, look how much more my shoes weighed than hers.

She even said the weight of the bags had to come out of my sixty-six pounds as I had bought them when she wasn't along. As I argued, she packed.

When we leave, her stuff will weigh 125 of the 132 allowed. And it will be I who'll have to lug the things around. She thinks I'm selfish for wanting "all the room." I think she is mean to pack so little for me that if I lose so much as a handkerchief I'm likely to freeze to death.

Come on airlines! Come to the rescue of me and the other husbands.

Why should the national administration get almost $5,000,000,000 to give to other countries to help them "stave off Communism" and, at the same time, refuse to give Committees of the American Congress information to help them expose Communist infiltration and thereby "stave off Communism" in this country? Does that make sense?

The Southern Conservative.

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR F. JORDAN, M. D.

Today's first question is one which could not have been asked a short time ago.

Q—Does a person ever contract more than one type of polio? Two of our children had paralytic polio 5 1/2 years ago. Now this question arises because of the vaccine. Should they be given it?—Mrs. R.M.

A—There are three principal types of virus which can cause paralytic polio. Unfortunately, polio caused by one of these viruses will not necessarily bring immunity to the other two types. In other words, it is possible to contract more than one type of polio and such tragic experiences have been reported, though not with great frequency.

In this instance it might be possible to test the two children for their resistance to the three viruses. If this resistance appears to be good there would be no particular advantage in giving the vaccine. If not, it would probably be wise to do so in order to avoid even the remote chance of a second attack from a different virus.

Q—Would you please say something about hiccups? I have had them for a week.—C.F.

A—Persistent hiccups may be associated with some serious illness, may follow an operation, or may come from some obscure cause which cannot be identified. It is a reflex spasm of the muscles of the diaphragm separating the organs of the chest from those in the abdomen. Unlike simple hiccups, which respond to holding the breath, drinking of water and like measures which all of us know about, persistent hiccups are often difficult to treat successfully. Some respond to breathing carbon dioxide in oxygen by mask. In the most difficult cases injection into one of the nerves (the phrenic) may be necessary.

Q—You recently mentioned carotid sinus syndrome and I wish you would say more about it.—H.M., L.H., and J.M.

A—Occasionally there may be overactivity of a bundle of nerves lying in the wall of the carotid artery in the neck. Persons with this condition may be subject to attacks of dizziness, fainting, or even convulsions. They may come on without apparent cause as a result of pressure over the area. They may follow an emotional upset. Such attacks are usually associated also with a fall in blood pressure.

Good results in mild cases are sometimes obtained by extremely careful administration of a drug (atropine). In more serious cases surgical treatment may be necessary.

Q—If I take medicine for ulcers, how many beers can I drink without doing myself harm?—A—I should advise none.

NOTE ON QUESTIONS
Dr. Jordan is unable to answer directly individual questions from readers. However once a week, in this "Q & A" column he will answer the most interesting and the most frequently asked questions received during the week.

Jane Talk

By JANE KADINGO
Pampa News Women's Editor

MEN ARE "SPRUCING UP" THESE DAYS. New styles, new fabrics and interesting use of color are more and more in evidence and, correspondingly, jewelry and jeweled accessories are keeping the pace, with smart new designs in tremendous variety.

FATHER'S DAY is coming up soon (June 17th this year) and the Jewelry Industry Council suggests that shoppers would do well to take a peep at Dad's wardrobe. It will probably disclose a marked increase in the number of shirts with French cuffs. This is a clue to the fact that he could use some nice cuff links, especially some of the more colorful ones that are so new looking.

He will appreciate your fashion-wise choice if you key them to the color of his shirts. If he prefers white shirts, give him links in his favorite colors, or in gold or silver. Many of the new cuff links have matching tie bars or the tacks as well, and a set is an ideal gift.

The variety of design motifs and range of shapes and sizes make it possible to choose cuff links to correspond with Dad's own personal tastes — nearly conservative, boldly handsome, small, medium or large. In gold or sterling, gold filled or bright enamel, set with precious stones or sparkling synthetic gems, there is a pair he will like and is sure to wear with special pride as his favorite Father's Day gift.

A GIFT of silver for Father's Day? Gift counselors at the Jewelry Industry Council tell us that it has proven to be a welcome and refreshing gift concept, especially for families who are stumped when it comes to choosing something new and different for the head of the household. It is interesting to note that silver has become, more and more, a gift classic, for it is durable as well as handsome and there are few pieces which do not have everyday usefulness.

As you will see at your jewelers, there are literally hundreds of different pieces in sterling and silver plate, a number of which will make ideal gifts for Dad. Price varies, too, making it possible to choose a gift of silver well within your Father's Day budget.

There are silver picture frames, for example, simple in design and appropriate for office, living room, study or dresser top. Also for Dad's room are suggested military brushes with silver backs which may be engraved with his initials. Man-size ash trays of silver-trimmed crystal and silver cigarette boxes are attractive appointments for his desk.

Smoking accessories for Dad's pocket make thoughtful gifts, too. Among the new cigarette cases in silver is one with an inner panel wide enough for engraving a special Father's Day message. Something new for the smoker is the cigarette lighter with two removable outer cases, a plain, tailored one for daytime, another for evening with an engraved pattern. Either can be slipped on and off easily and quickly.

ONE OF THE timeliest Father's Day gifts around, is a new wrist watch. You can be sure that Dad's pleasure in owning only by the deep will be exceeded only by the deep pride he will have in his family's thoughtfulness, and in the knowledge that their gift will give him a lifetime of practical good service.

Even if he already has a watch, the spare watch will be a treasure for the times when the other has to be cleaned or repaired. Then, too, if he is a sportsman, a sport watch, constructed especially for rugged wear, and a dress watch with sleek, business-like good looks, are a happy combination well adapted to his busy schedule.

If this jewelry wardrobe is not lacking in watches, the Council suggests a new watch bracelet. Gold filled expansion bracelets make it easy for him to slip his watch on or off and to push it up on his arm when he is washing his hands. Some of the new bands come with leather inlaid links in various colors. All-metal bands are available in any number of designs, from simple, tailored patterns to smartly facted links.

Swim Class Registration To Continue

The Red Cross reports that registration will continue in the Red Cross office through this week for the Water Safety Swimming Classes. Working on a station basis, the instructors said they could take a few more in all classes, especially intermediate and adult swimmers.

The Summer Recreation Program will begin June 18 for a two-week season at the high school field house for youngsters between the ages of 6 and 15. Games and supervised play will be under the direction of Coach Clifton McNeely. A special hand-craft class will be taught and games such as baseball, basketball, and soccer will be played.

For the beginning day, a free swim from 10:30 to 11:30 a.m. for all those who have registered in the program will be held at the Pampa Swimming Pool. Coach McNeely urges all boys and girls on the north side of the tracks to participate in the fun during the two-week recreation program. July 2, the program will be moved to the Baker School, where the same type of program will be held. At the same time the Summer Recreation Program begins, the swimming classes will start. On June 18 the classes will be held from 9 until 10:30 a.m. at the Pampa Pool.

Demo Hits Ike's Medical Reports

By TOM NELSON.
CHICAGO, June 13—UP—Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler blasted reports on President Eisenhower's illness as "propaganda" Tuesday and said they have been "ridiculed" by other doctors.

Butler told a news conference the President himself has made his health a campaign issue. He said Mr. Eisenhower will now have to make a "reappraisal" in the light of his abdominal operation.

Butler said that since he came to Chicago, where the American Medical Association is holding its annual convention, he has heard that doctors here are talking about the illness reports issued by the President's doctors.

"Been Quite Critical"
"Some doctors have been quite critical of some of their brethren and I think it should be a matter of concern for the AMA whether any of their members are being involved in politics," he said.

Asked to amplify on what he has heard the doctors here are saying, Butler said they think the President's doctors "apparently do a terrific job of saying that anyone who has had a heart attack and an operation for Crohn's disease is much better qualified physically to be President than anyone else."

Butler said doctors at the AMA convention have "ridiculed" some of the presidential medical reports.

"The whole medical history of the President's cases has been so completely handled in terms of propaganda by Mr. Hagedy (White House press secretary James C. Hagedy), who is a very expert propagandist, that certainly one is entitled to have some serious doubts in his own mind about the medical opinions," Butler said.

"Surely Is Apparent"
The Democratic chief said he doesn't know whether the people "are buying" the official reports. "Whether it is deliberate I don't know," he said. "But it surely is apparent in the press."

Butler said the Republicans did not hesitate to "exploit" the health issue when President Roosevelt was for a fourth term in 1944. He said there had been some "wear and tear" on Mr. Roosevelt after 12 years in office but there was an "entirely different medical situation" then. Mr. Roosevelt, he said, did not have a heart attack.

Butler was asked if he was making the President's health a campaign issue.

He replied that the "health of the President has been made a major issue by his remarks, his own words and his own conduct, and by members of the White House staff who have propagandized the matter from his pulse to his pocket."

Head Of Revolution Is Sentenced

BUENOS AIRES, June 13—UP—Gen. Juan Jose Valle, the man who was slated to become president if Argentina's abortive weekend revolt had succeeded, was arrested Tuesday and sentenced to death by a summary court martial at dawn.

The arrest and sentencing of Gen. Valle, who was director general of army engineers in the regime of ousted dictator Juan D. Peron, followed a government announcement Monday night that there would be no further executions after midnight.

At that time, a total of 43 rebels had been shot by firing squads, the government said.

Unofficial reports said several more rebels were shot early Tuesday in a continuing crackdown by President Pedro E. Aramburu, but it was not known if Valle was among them.

Valle, who was captured in an apartment in downtown Buenos Aires, was one of three alleged kingpins in the 12-hour Peronist revolt.

A multimillionaire industrialist, Raul Lagomarsino, described as the villain leader of the uprising, was arrested Monday. The only leader still at large was Gen. Raul Tanco, a fervent Peronist who was director of the senior war school, director of the San Martin military school and military attaché in Mexico under Peron.

Both Valle and Tanco were captured from the army after Peron's fall last September because of their Peronist sympathies.

An unofficial United Press compilation showed Tuesday that a two-day dragnet throughout the country since the week end revolt was crushed had put more than 2,500 alleged plotters in custody.

Border Patrol To Replace Officers

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (UP)—The Border Patrol will replace the supervisory officers at its Harlingen, Tex., patrol station as a result of a probe into the alleged mistreatment of Mrs. Juana Galvan.

General Joseph Swing, U. S. Commissioner of immigration, advised Sen. Lyndon Johnson of the action. A copy of Swing's letter was received by Brownsville attorney D. J. Lerma, who is representing Mrs. Galvan and requested the investigation.

Lerma charged that the woman was questioned for 11 hours May 4 and was "forced" to sign a statement saying her two sons were born in Mexico.

Swing said the matter had been fully investigated and it was found that Mrs. Galvan was interrogated for an "undue period of time, contrary to service policy requiring humane treatment and consideration for female and minor aliens." Thomas Ball, chief of the Border Patrol in Brownsville area, denied the charges.

Swing blamed the incident on "relatively inexperienced Border Patrol officers." He said it "reflects a misapplication of the zeal which has characterized our operation of clearing the Southwest area of illegal aliens."

The commissioner said the investigation revealed that while Mrs. Galvan was a lawful "domiciled alien," her two sons' delayed birth certificates were false.

He added that an estimated 40 to 75 per cent of the delayed birth certificates filed in South Texas counties were false.

The Border Patrol declined to reveal the identity of the officers who will be replaced.

Nasser Prepares For Big Week

Foreign News Commentary
By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

Premier Abdul Nasser of Egypt is preparing for his biggest week since he engineered the overthrow of King Farouk four years ago.

Next Monday, Nasser will lead in a mammoth national celebration of the final evacuation of the Suez Canal zone by British forces.

On the following Saturday, June 23, Nasser will conduct a plebiscite in which he will vote whether to establish a constitutional republic.

It will be a one-way vote. A practically unanimous "yes" is assured.

Then, within the next few months, Nasser will be formally elected president and the people will elect a national assembly.

According to present plans, Nasser will start his week with a slap at Great Britain.

He is openly encouraging the Arab rebellions against France in North Africa. Egyptian stevedores, certainly not without Nasser's approval, have just started a boycott of French ships in protest against France's anti-rebel campaign in Algeria.

Nasser has recognized Red China. He has accepted invitations to visit Red China and Russia. It was announced last week that he will visit President Tito of Communist Yugoslavia soon after Tito returns from his present visit to Russia.

Nasser obviously is in firm control in Egypt, and he obviously means to keep control.

Under the plebiscite to be held Saturday week, Egypt's present ruling revolutionary command council, formed at the time of Farouk's overthrow, will be succeeded by a "Supreme Council for National Union." The council will have the veto power over candidates who run in the election of a national assembly. The supreme council will be the controlling committee of a new "National Council," which will be in effect a one-party political organization. And over everything, will be Nasser as head man.

Shepilov sitting on the platform when Nasser speaks, it is hardly likely that anything Nasser may say will have much effect on Britain.

It happens that Shepilov, before he succeeded Vyacheslav M. Molotov as foreign minister on June 1, was a key man in launching Russia's new campaign of meddling in Middle Eastern affairs. It was Shepilov who went to Egypt to prepare the way for the deal by which Communist Czechoslovakia agreed to sell arms to Egypt.

But Nasser has embarked on a policy of "neutralism" by which he hopes to play the Communist East against the Allied West, and to emerge as the leader of the Arab world.

As part of this policy, he has antagonized France as well as Britain.

Grover Seitz related Monday he is trying to obtain more hurlers for the Oiler mound staff. He had contacted two major league teams but hadn't received any word from them. Grover said he might be able to purchase a twirler from Alexandria, La.

The Pampa Oilers and the Pittsburgh Pirates were about in the reverse order in their respective standings a year ago. Pittsburgh was deep in the National League cellar spot while the Oilers were leading the pack in the West Texas New Mexico circuit. The Pirates are now batting it out for first spot in the National League.

Hart Warren, Pampa Country Club Golf Pro who placed second in a field of 42 linksters at the West Texas Pro Amateur Golf Meet in Lubbock last year, will not be able to compete in the same affair this summer. The tourney is scheduled to get underway today. Hart has also announced that he will present a $25 gift certificate to the outstanding caddy at the Country Club course to be given in August. The award is to be redeemable at the J. C. Penney Store.

Jesse Mayes, owner of the Penney Club, across the street from the Oiler Park, was in New York last week on vacation. Jesse said he saw the Cleveland Indians shellack the New York Yankees twice. He related they ate at Jack Dempsey's restaurant, and that the former world heavyweight boxing champion looked trim enough to spar a few rounds.

Bonus Twirler Holds Bums To Two Hits In First Start

By ED SAINSBURY
CHICAGO (UP)—Don Kaiser, right hander, already knows a greater baseball thrill than pitching a no-hit game.

It's his holding the defending world champion Brooklyn Dodgers to only two hits in his first major league start.

Kaiser has done both. He threw seven no-hit games in high school, when he won 49 of 50 games for Byng, Okla., before he signed a bonus contract with the Cubs in January, 1935. He gave Brooklyn only two hits June 2 in his big league starting debut.

"There's no comparison," he said today. "It was a lot greater thrill to me to beat Brooklyn than to throw those no hits."

Kaiser, 21, said he knew a lot more about pitching, though, when he was throwing the ball past the high school batters.

"Sam Jones and Dutch Leonard have taught me a lot with the Cubs," he said. "When I came up, all I had was a knuckle curve, and I still have it. But Sam taught me a changeup curve, and a regular curve. And I use all of them once in a while."

"Dutch taught me how to hold the runners on base, and how to hold my glove to keep the batter from catching on what I'm going to throw, and a lot of other little things."

"But when I was pitching against Brooklyn, I used my fast ball most of the time. I had a pretty good line on Brooklyn, and I felt real good. It was a chilly day, I felt stronger. I don't think I threw over 10 curves and five changeups."

"The rest were fast balls, and every time I got a good count on a batter, or got in trouble, I threw one. They either struck out or popped it up."

The kid pitcher found out later, though, that not all his opposition went down as easy as Brooklyn in his debut. In his next start, last Friday, the Philadelphia Phillies knocked him out in less than four innings.

The Oilers capable receiver, Jim Martin, started his professional baseball career in 1948, with Kilgore of the East Texas League. Martin played with A. B. Cross who was at Kilgore the same time Jim was there.

In 1949, Martin was with Alexandria, La., 1950, Pampa, '52, service, '53-'54, Shreveport, '55, was with Shreveport to June 20, then transferred over to the Oilers. Martin has played with several major league players who had been in the minors. While at Shreveport in 1953, he played against Ken Boyer, third sacker for St. Louis Cardinals, then with Houston and Carl Spooner, of Fort Worth now with the Brooklyn Dodgers. Jim recalled he hit a pinch-hit home run off Spooner in one game.

During off season, Jim attends the University of Houston, is a junior majoring in Accounting. His home town is Malvern, Arkansas, and he is married.

Nobody Runs Against Time Says Veteran Track Mentors

By HAL WOOD
BERKELEY, Calif. (UP)—Nobody runs against time these days—just fast enough to win! That's true if you can believe the coaches, and who are to doubt the word of these noble gentlemen?

"Dave Sime doesn't run against time," says his assistant coach Red Lewis of Duke University. "He's a great competitor. He runs just fast enough to win."

Brutus Hamilton, who coaches Leonora King at the University of California, has about the same to say about his boy.

"King is a natural competitor. He runs just fast enough to win, no faster. There's no telling how fast he can run if he is pushed."

When you add Bobby McVow of Abilene Christian and Mike Agostini of Fresno State to this bunch, it makes for an explosive situation in the NCAA track and field championships here this weekend.

All four men have equalled the world mark of 9.3 for the 100-yard dash and look good enough to better the world mark of 10.2 in the 100-meter event which will be featured in this Olympic year.

Sime and King never have lost a race in their intercollegiate careers. Morrow has lost only two to Sime and Bobby Whilden of Texas, who has a 9.4 to his credit.

Sees No Limit
Lewis sees practically no limit to the potentialities of his boy Sime.

"Shucks," says Lewis, "if he is pushed there's no telling what he might do. Maybe 9.1 in the 100; and maybe even a 19.8 or 19.7 in the 220."

"Dave likes to train and he likes to eat. I have to watch both to keep him in good condition. But there's one thing he doesn't want to talk about—and that is running against time."

"All he wants to do is run fast enough to win. But if he is pushed, and if he gets off to a good start, then it's hard to tell just what might happen."

Hamilton has said just about the same things about King. So, to paraphrase the currently popular song, "Something's Gotta Give" this weekend in Berkeley.

Ford Hurls Yankees Past White Sox On Four-Hitter

By JOHN GRIFFIN
United Press Sports Writer
The Chicago White Sox escaped the humiliation of a no-hitter, but they'll never win the American League pennant until they do something about Whitey Ford.

That much was clear today in the wake of Ford's four-hit, 4-2, victory over the White Sox at Yankee Stadium Tuesday night—the Yankees' sixth win in six meetings with the Sox this year and Ford's 16th triumph against only three losses to them during his career.

The cocky, bent-chinized lefty, who now has beaten Chicago three times this season, had the Sox hitless until Nellie Fox opened the seventh inning with a slow bouncer through the middle. With the pressure off, Floyd allowed two runs in that frame before taking hold again to save the victory.

Ford's win boosted the Yankee's American League lead to 4½ games over the second-place Cleveland Indians, who dropped a 9-7 slugfest to Boston, and five games over Chicago.

Berra and Carey
Yogi Berra singled home a Yankee run in the first inning and Andy Carey's two-run homer in the second made it 3-0. Carey singled home another tally in the sixth to offset Chicago's seventh-inning runs singled across by Sherman Lollar and Walt Dropp.

Cleveland had a 5-4 lead over Boston after six innings on a two-run homer by Vic Wertz and a three-run blast by Al Rosen. But Boston tied off five runs in the seventh inning, including three on Ted Lepcio's homer, to clinch the win.

The see-saw National League race saw the Pittsburgh Pirates regain first place with a 4-3 victory over Cincinnati, which dropped into second place, a half-game behind. Cincinnati scored three runs in the first inning with Gus Bell's triple the key blow, but Jack Shepard and Bob Clemente each tagged Joe Nuxhall for a two-run homer in the fifth inning to give the Pirates a lead that relievers Roy Face and Nelson King preserved the rest of the way.

Dodgers Dump Cards
The oncoming Brooklyn Dodgers took third place away from the St. Louis Cardinals with a 6-4 victory. Duke Snider's 14th homer, his third in two games, led Brooklyn at bat, while Bobby Morgan and Ken Boyer hit Card homers. Carl Erskine was the winner in relief.

In other National League games, the Philadelphia Phillies handed the Milwaukee Braves their 10th loss in the last 13 games, 5-2, with a five-run fifth inning rally that included Willie Jones' two-run homer, and Monte Irvin drove in four runs with a homer and a double to give the Chicago Cubs an 8-5 win over his old New York Giant teammates.

Under the Washington lights, Kansas City won the longest game of the year—four hours, 42 minutes—by scoring six runs in the 15th inning to down Washington, 9-3. Harry Simpson, who had homered the 12th time in vain, tripled with the bags loaded in the 15th. The time of game was only 16 minutes shot of the American League record.

Billy Hoef of the Detroit Tigers gained his seventh win with a seventh-inning homer as the Tigers took advantage of 18 hits and five errors to beat Baltimore, 8-1.

Walker Inman Jr.—26, 5-11, 145 pound stringbean from Augusta, Ga. turned pro while a student at The Citadel and graduated from Georgia. Former second looney in Air Force. Fired a 64 and two holes in one at the Augusta National. Twelfth in the open last year.

Bill Casper—35, 5-11, chunky 200-pounder from San Diego. Out of Navy last year and making first tour. Among first 30 money winners and playing in his first open.

Ernie Vosseler—27, 5-11, 180 pounder from Fort Worth, Texas. Former tennis and basketball star, didn't take up golf until 1948. Won 24 Texas amateur tourneys from 1949 through 1954. Now 14th money winner, was 21st in last year's open.

Bud Holscher—Tall, skinny 25-year old from Apple Valley, Calif. former Stanford star who beat Litter for the National Junior title.

Mike Krak—Square-set 28-year old from Cincinnati playing out of Weirton, W. Va. a long ball hitter. —and from the amateur ranks, —Harvie Ward of Tarboro, N.C., and Ken Venturi of San Francisco. The 26-year old Ward, a North Carolina product, won the British Amateur and holds the U.S. Amateur. The sander 24-year old Venturi was runner-up in the Masters. And the old-timers, taking one of their last whiffs at the big one, will tell you that any one of these young fellers could step out and win it going away.

Oilers Topple Colts, Sweep Series, 6-4

In a rain soaked affair, Hoyt Benedict pitched splendid ball to subdue the San Angelo Colts, 6-4 to sweep the Oiler game series Tuesday night in Oiler Park.

The game was delayed in the eighth when the Oilers were at bat trailing 4-3, with runners on second and third with no outs.

The game was continued in a slight downpour and the Oilers were able to cash in on their bingles. Oiler catcher Jim Martin chipped in with a single enabling A. B. Cross and Jim Robinette to score after both singled, Lynn Tucker, who had been hit by a pitched ball thrown by Colt hurler Bagwell, stole home.

Rain began early in the game but did not fall hard enough in the opinion of the umpires until they called the delay in the eighth.

San Angelo played the game under protest after the seventh inning when the umpires ignored the ground rule about a double off the right field wall and Colt twirler Bagwell was tagged going into third.

Pampa jumped ahead in the third with one run but the Colts came racing back in the fourth to put two runners across the plate and picked up another tally in the sixth. The Oilers, playing in brilliant style, came roaring back in the sixth to tie the game.

The Colts could only cash in on one more run in the game, this one coming in the seventh and after the rain delay, the Oilers, playing like the champions of last year, plunged back to score three runs in the eighth to take the lead.

Benedict pitched in superb fashion for the Oilers, facing only 32 batters and giving up six hits while receiving credit for the win while Bagwell was charged with the Colt loss after being clipped for 10 hits.

Pampa travels to Midland tonight for a two day stand in which they will engage in three games. General Manager Grover Seitz of the Oilers announced Tuesday that a double header will be the highlight Thursday in Midland. The Oilers return to Pampa Friday for a three game series renewing their feud with Midland.

Arizona Gets Crack At Minnesota For Baseball Title
OMAHA, Neb. (UP)—Arizona will take another crack at beating Minnesota tonight in their fight for the national baseball collegiate championship.

The Wildcats from Tucson came out on the short end of a 3-1 score when the two teams clashed in the second round of the NCAA College World Series Sunday.

Minnesota goes into tonight's contest without a loss, while Arizona has only the defeat by the Gophers on its record in the double elimination tourney.

The Gophers and the Cats both looked tough Tuesday as they earned their tickets to tonight's final. Minnesota's Rod Ostad struck out 13 Bradley Braves as the Gophers put the Peoria, Ill., team out of the tourney in an 8-3 game, and Arizona eliminated Mississippi, 7-3.

Women Hear Phantom Voice

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa. (UP)—Broadcasting and aviation officials were at a loss today to explain a "phantom airplane" distress call overheard by two women during a telephone conversation.
Mrs. Blair Snyder of New Kensington said she was speaking with her daughter-in-law, Mrs. William Harvey, in Conway, Pa., Tuesday when she heard a voice say: "Clear the runway."
She said a second voice replied, "Runway cleared. Come on in."
But the first voice responded the right engine of his plane was on fire and the flames were spreading to a wing.
"Can't make it," the pilot said. "Putting down in a field with 14 passengers aboard." The conversation ended, Mrs. Snyder said.
Mrs. Harvey, wife of a minister, said it appeared the "phantom plane" was calling Pittsburgh and was somewhere over Maryland, near a town called something like "Spillham." There is a Spillman, Md.
The control tower operator at the Greater Pittsburgh Airport said he received no distress calls. And Civil Aeronautics Administration officials in Washington, New York and Pittsburgh said they heard no report of a downed plane.
A radio operator at the Pittsburgh air terminal suggested the women might have picked up a radio or television broadcast by what is called a "cable cross feed."
Not possible, said broadcasters in New Kensington and Pittsburgh and network officials. No dialogue carried over radio and TV during the time of the "phantom" call approximated the message overheard by the two women.

Yarborough Seeks Talks With Daniel

Ralph Yarborough said today he is willing to hold a public debate on campaign issues on any date that Sen. Price Daniel is available. Both seek the Democratic nomination for governor.
A Yarborough spokesman announced Tuesday that the debate would be held in San Antonio July 14, but Daniel headquarters later replied that the senator would not be able to take part because of "conflict of engagements."
Yarborough then replied that he would change his schedule and hold the debate on any date suitable to Daniel.
The proposed debate would be sponsored by the North Central San Antonio Lions Club and held at the municipal auditorium. The proceeds from the $1 admission would go to the Crippled Children's hospital.

Ross Carlton, a Dallas lawyer running for state attorney general, said at Terrell Tuesday night he would not accept segregation "gradual or otherwise."
Gubernatorial candidate J. Evelis Haley was scheduled to campaign in Anderson, Montgomery, Conroe and Russell.
Lt. Gov. Ben Ramsey was campaigning in West Texas in his bid for re-election.

JAMES HART this question:

My son borrowed the car last night for a date. His girl friend tripped and fractured her ankle getting out of the car when he brought her home. Does the Medical Payments in my auto insurance cover this accident?

When launching time drew near, Brown, who had left himself and the boat an out, eased the craft through the picture window opening, and then, with the boat safely in water, finished the house. Daughter Marian, left, and Mrs. Brown watch the proceedings.

New Red Foreign Minister Lines Up Important Tour

Foreign News Commentary
By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent
Dimitri T. Shepilov is getting off to a fast start as Soviet Russia's new foreign minister.
Less than two weeks after his appointment, Shepilov has lined himself up an important diplomatic tour.
It is one on which he may be able to do the Kremlin a lot of good and the United States, Great Britain and France a lot of harm.
Shepilov first is going to Egypt, then on to Syria, Lebanon and Greece.
This will give him the opportunity to meddle in several situations which closely concern the Big Three western allies.
The situations include the Baghdad Defense Pact, which Egypt and most of the other Arab countries oppose, the Palestine dispute between the Arabs and Israel, the revolt against France in Algeria and the Cyprus dispute between Britain and Greece.
Will Joint Celebration
In Cairo, Shepilov will join in the whooping-and-hollering celebration by Egyptians of the final evacuation of British troops from the Suez Canal Zone.
He also will be able to talk openly or secretly, to the Arab leaders who from their Cairo headquarters are directing the revolt against France in Algeria and fermenting new revolts in Tunisia and Morocco.
He will be able to talk over with Egyptian Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser the supply of arms by the Communist countries to Egypt, and possibly to Saudi Arabia, for use against Israel.
In Syria and Lebanon, Shepilov is expected to concentrate on Palestine.
In Greece, Shepilov's job will be to try to restore good Russian relations with that country and to do as much harm as possible to Britain in view of Greek anger over Britain's refusal to give up Cyprus.
Study In Contrast
It is interesting to note that while Shepilov is in the Middle East giving the western allies the poison-tongue treatment, Gen. Nathan S. Twining, chief of staff of the United States Air Force, will be in Moscow getting the sweetest and lightest treatment from Soviet military leaders.
Shepilov's tour helps to explain why, at this time, he was named to succeed Vyacheslav M. Molotov as foreign minister.
Molotov is an old-school diplomat, who preferred to do as much of his work as possible in his own office. With his coldly skillful personality, he was not much of a grand-tour type. At 64, with 17 years of big-time diplomacy behind him, he evidently felt he had done enough traveling.
Shepilov, only 30, is one of the new-school dynamic-type men. He may possibly give Secretary of State John Foster Dulles some competition as a grand-tourist. Dulles, incidentally, is two years older than Molotov. But he, too is one of the new-school men, and his feet are holding out well.

Polio Patient Death Due To Power Failure

CHICAGO (UP)—An area-wide power failure singled out a helpless polio patient for death Tuesday. The chest respirator which kept him breathing went dead and he died with it.
Firemen and neighbors worked frantically to save Marcel Bucher, a 33-year-old ex-professional wrestler. But he was pronounced dead less than an hour after the power went off.
Bucher, a bulbar polio victim paralyzed from the neck down since 1934, was only one of 126,000 Chicago and suburban residents whose electricity was cut off when a 307,000-kilowatt generator broke down.
For most of the 126,000, the power breakdown meant they had to endure record-breaking heat without fans or air conditioners. For Bucher it meant death.
Bucher's wife, Jeanne, 35, said afterwards "The power went off twice before, but he never seemed to suffer from it."
This time, she sent her 7-year-old daughter Alice hurrying to an attendant at a nearby gas station. The girl asked that he come to Bucher's cleaning shop and connect a battery to the chest respirator.
William Mulks, 36, had the respirator on battery power within minutes. But the battery did not operate a suction device which kept Bucher's mouth free of mucus.
The frantic wife tried to call the Commonwealth Edison Co. for help. But the line was busy. Company officials said they were flooded at the time with calls from complaining customers.
The next call for help went to the Fire Department. An inhalator squad worked over Bucher for half an hour. Then he was pronounced dead.
The power failure was felt through seven Chicago areas and six suburbs.

The Final Word

ART WINS OVER AILMENT—Despite the physical handicap, Mrs. Lucille W. Dreyblatt, a cerebral palsy victim since birth, has won $1,000 first prize in the first National Art Contest for the Physically Handicapped. In New York, her oil painting, "Ships at Bay," was selected from nearly 1,000 entries. Mrs. Dreyblatt, of Forest Hills, N.Y., will go to Washington for the Handicapped Week, in October, to receive her award from Chief Justice Warren. Viewing the picture, right, is Dr. Cecil Morgan, adult vocational director for United Cerebral Palsy.

Beautiful Eva Gabor Is Now Settled Down Housewife

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Eva Gabor once wrote a book, "Orchids and Salami," because that was all she kept in her icebox. But today the youngest of the Gabors has reformed — she's taken up food.

The beautiful Eva now is a settled down housewife, leaving only her sister, Zsa Zsa Gabor, still in the carefree single category. (She says she'll marry contractor Hal Hayes but her pals are still waiting).

I never thought I'd live to see a domesticated Gabor. This one, even invited me over to a home-cooked lunch. Sure enough, there was Eva in the kitchen making chicken paprika, string beans and a huge salad that included raw cauliflower.

"I never cooked before I was married," cooed Eva as she pattered around her kitchen. "Once I tried, but two pages of the recipe book stuck together so I used two recipes and it was terrible."

"After I was married I just started cooking. There's nothing wrong with a woman in a kitchen. My friends go into hysterics about this but I like it. I'm even making one TV appearance because they offered me a deep freeze."

"But I never wear an apron," she added. "I cook in very pretty outfits. An apron looks so house-fra-ish."

Eva insists she has transferred her career to Hollywood so she can be with her surgeon husband. Comedian Johnny Carson has hired Eva to read the weather reports and baseball scores on his daytime TV show, although she calls her stint merely "chatting with him."

"I'm going east for some summer stock but John doesn't mind if I leave him for a month," chattered the glamorous cook. "Actresses should always marry doctors. They understand us very well. Their hours are just as mixed up."

The youngest Gabor even shops for her own groceries but this she explains, is because Los Angeles super-markets are "chic."

"The ones in New York are not but in California I meet everyone I know at the butcher's," she explained.

The doctor was not around to testify to her cooking. But his wife has proof he approves of the idea: "He loves for me to cook. He says when I'm in the kitchen he at least knows where I am!"

Auto Industry Improvement Is Seen Soon

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of Treasury George M. Humphrey predicted today that conditions in the auto industry will improve within "a relatively short time."

He made the prediction in testimony before a House-Senate Economic subcommittee investigating relationships between the Treasury and the Federal Reserve. The investigation was prompted by the recent increase in federal reserve basic interest rates.

Humphrey conceded that current unemployment in the auto industry was due partly to tighter credit resulting from the hike in interest rates. This contributed to a decline in sales. But he said there were other factors, too—for example, dealers' stocks had gotten too high.

But he said he believes conditions in the industry will improve soon.

"As it looks now, conditions are proceeding in a very satisfactory way," he testified.

He also said that the slowing up in installment buying generally is good. One of the best ways to block a recession, he said, is to restrain people from buying too much.

At another Senate committee hearing, the nation's two biggest auto makers, General Motors and Ford, strongly opposed legislation

No Missile Test Is Seen Soon

WASHINGTON (UP)—Top Air Force officers today ruled out an early test between controversial Army and Air Force anti-aircraft missiles despite a senator's assertion that the tests will be held in the "not too distant future."

One officer said that the Air Force's Talos missile could not be tested now to show whether it is superior to the Army's Nike because the Talos "is not even developed yet." Development of the missile to operational status will take another year, he said.

to regulate the relations between automobile manufacturers and dealers.

William T. Gossett, vice president and general counsel of Ford, said the bill by Sen. A. S. Mike Monroney (D-Okla.) would only lead to higher automobile prices, fewer cars and a possible increase in unemployment.

Another officer said that the Talos eventually will have greater range and altitude performance than the Nike. But he said such comparisons are unfair because at the moment the Nike is the nation's "only operational" anti-aircraft guided missile.

The officers' reactions were obtained after Sen. Dennis Chavez (D-NM) said Monday Congress may order future production of the Nike halted in favor of the Talos. The New Mexico Democrat, chairman of a military appropriations subcommittee, said the Talos apparently is "a better weapon" and a show-down duel will be staged to make sure.

He told reporters that if the tests bear out present indications, his subcommittee probably would recommend that only the Talos be bought in the future.
