Governor Hopefuls In Dispute

By THOMAS MACCABE
United Press Staff Correspondent
Two gubernatorial candidates who appeared close to a fist fight Thursday afternoon on the stage of Hearne high school had sharply differing versions Friday of the events precipitating the altercation.

In any case, according to newsmen at Hearne, candidate J. Eustace Haley called Ralph Yarborough a "liar" and the two men started across the stage toward each other.

They did not get closer together than 15 to 20 feet. Bryan Russ, a Hearne lawyer, leaped up and kept them apart.

Editor Ted Rickenbacker of the Hearne Democrat said he heard the word "liar" and he heard Haley say that Yarborough did not "have the courage to resent my saying it."

Speech Broadcast
Yarborough, Haley and all other gubernatorial nominees except Price Daniel, who was in Washington, appeared in Hearne at the alfalfa festival. Their speeches were broadcast, but the sharp exchange between Haley and Yarborough came after the broadcast was over.

Haley later released his version of the affair and contended that a tape recording would back up his account. He said Yarborough took exception to his remarks about desegregation. Haley is a strong advocate of interposition.

Yarborough replied that Haley's account "is an obvious effort to rewrite history to his own advantage."

Bold Language Used
Yarborough, who visited the United Press Dallas office to discuss the matter, told U.P. newsmen, "It's bolder language than I ever heard at Hearne."

But Haley, also in Dallas, quoted himself as saying:

"The Communist conspiracy is determined to desegregate the South. Why are they out to do this? The fighting power of this country, the chief refuge of free-

Argentine Officials Making New Arrests

27 Men Suspended Strike Ties Up Subways

By WARREN FRANKLIN
NEW YORK (UP)—The New York Transit Authority today suspended 27 men who participated in Thursday's wildcat strike of subway motormen despite union threats to paralyze transportation again if disciplinary action was taken.

However, the transit authority reported that subway service was "100 per cent on schedule" this morning for the city's 4.5 million riders from Brooklyn, the Bronx and Queens.

Transit officials indicated they expected no further work stoppages despite union reports that the motormen would strike again at noon if the suspensions were not lifted.

The nine-hour tie-up which paralyzed the city during the evening rush hour was caused by the suspension of three motormen who refused to carry transit authority supervisory personnel on indoctrination runs.

The transit authority had ordered the indoctrination runs in preparation for a threatened strike by the Motormen's Benevolent Association scheduled for June 20.

The sudden strike tested the tempers of the army of strap-hangers during the evening rush hours on the hottest day of the year, a sizzling 94.1 degrees.

It was the first important subway strike in New York in 30 years and the first to affect all the city's subway lines—the Brooklyn-Manhattan Transit (BMT), the Interborough Rapid Transit (IRT) and Independent Subway Line (IND).

Car pools and taxi pools were spontaneously organized throughout the city. Hitchhikers appeared on fashionable Park Avenue. Thousands of hardy passengers walked across Brooklyn Bridge and other spans connecting Manhattan and Brooklyn and Queens.

Bumper-to-bumper traffic snarled streets for hours. Thousands of jammed hotels, railroad stations and air conditioned bars and restaurants. The city's telephone system was burdened with calls breaking appointments and holding up diners.

Back To Work Order
The transit authority announced that normal night service had been restored on all three lines at 2 a.m. EDT today. But the test of whether all workers of the insurgent Motormen's Benevolent Assn. (MBA) have returned to their jobs awaited the morning rush hour.

It was expected the rules group at that time will clear the bill to the House.

It was expected to pass the House without too much trouble. But, like civil rights bills before it, Mr. Eisenhower's measure may die in the Senate, Southern senators have said if it is necessary they will filibuster to stop it.

Other congressional news:
Foreign Aid: The Senate Foreign Relations Committee voted to restore about half of the $1.1 billion the house slashed from President Eisenhower's $4.9 billion foreign aid program. Sen. Styles Bridges (D-NH) said the Senate probably will trim some of the restored cut during a tough floor fight on the bill.

Lobbying: The special Senate Committee on Lobbying summoned Paul Kayser, president of El Paso Natural Gas Co. and former vice chairman of the Natural Gas and Oil Resources Committee. Sen. Clifford R. Anderson (D-NM) said federal tax officials should look into the deduction as business expenses of oil company contributions to a $2 million natural gas "educational" campaign conducted by the committee.

Air Power: Senate Democrats are discussing a move to hike the administration's defense budget by at least $1 billion. Sen. Henry M. Jackson (D-Wash.) said. He said the move will be made next Monday when the Senate Appropriations Committee is scheduled to start work on the administration's $35.9 billion military budget for fiscal 1957.

Sunday's Bloody Revolution Followed By New Disorders

By JUAN DE ONIS
BUENOS AIRES, Argentina UP — The government arrested scores of labor agitators today for causing new disorders at La Plata, scene of the bitterest fighting in Sunday's abortive counter-revolution by Peronist sympathizers.

The disorders broke out soon after a gang of vigilantes armed with machine-guns raided the residence of the Haitian ambassador in Buenos Aires and captured former Gen. Raul Tanco, one of the leaders of Sunday's revolt.

The Argentine government apologized to Ambassador Jean Briere for the violation of his diplomatic immunity and returned the fugitive rebel leader in recognition of Latin America's traditional privilege of asylum for wanted political leaders.

Send Strongarm Squads
The pro-Peronist labor agitators sent strongarm squads to the big packinghouses in La Plata, formerly Eva Peron, and prevented workers on the midnight shift from entering the plants. They forced them out of buses and cars and made them leave the area.

The plants affected included the American-owned Swift and Armour plants. The workers there had been a potent force in ousted dictator Juan D. Peron's Confederation of Labor. In fighting at La Plata Sunday four persons were killed and 20 wounded in street fighting.

Police guards were set up at the situation was reported calm later this morning. Police said the guard was posted to guarantee the right of all employees who want to work.

Demand Wage Boost
The packinghouse workers have demanded 20 per cent wage increases and other benefits including an end to seasonal lay-offs.

Tanco had been the object of a nationwide search since the government quashed the rebellion last Sunday. There were reports earlier Thursday that he had found asylum in adjoining Uruguay. Two men, one professing to be Tanco, registered in a hotel at Montevideo in an obvious attempt to throw his pursuers off the track.

The other military leader of the rebellion, Gen. Juan Jose Valle, was captured and executed by a firing squad two days ago. Logomilano industrialist Raul Lagomarsino, the alleged civilian leader, was reported in custody.

Capitol Hill Roundup

WASHINGTON (UP)—Backers of President Eisenhower's omnibus civil rights bill felt certain today the measure would get speedy passage by the House.

But there were no predictions it would get through the Senate.

Backers felt the main House roadblock was cleared Thursday when the rules committee, in an open revolt against chairman Howard W. Smith (D-Va.), set down the bill for a committee vote next Thursday.

It was expected the rules group at that time will clear the bill to the House.

It was expected to pass the House without too much trouble. But, like civil rights bills before it, Mr. Eisenhower's measure may die in the Senate, Southern senators have said if it is necessary they will filibuster to stop it.

Other congressional news:
Foreign Aid: The Senate Foreign Relations Committee voted to restore about half of the $1.1 billion the house slashed from President Eisenhower's $4.9 billion foreign aid program. Sen. Workers Nix Steel Contract

By ROBERT G. SHORTAL
NEW YORK (UP)—The United Steelworkers today angrily rejected a contract offer from the steel industry's Big Three.

David J. McDonald, president of the union, said the companies' counter offer to the union's demands was entirely "inadequate."

"The industry offer is too little, too late and too long," McDonald said.

McDonald said the companies have offered the steelworkers a takehome pay increase of five cents an hour and "no mathematical juggling" can obscure that figure.

Rejection Expected
Industry sources had expected the wage policy committee to reject the companies' initial reply to the union's basic contract demands.

However, both sides expressed optimism that a new contract would be signed well before the June 30 strike deadline, possibly as early as this Sunday.

U.S. Steel Bethlehem Steel and Republic Steel have offered the union's 450,000 basic steelworkers a package increase approaching 15 cents an hour, including a wage hike, a form of guaranteed annual wage and other fringe benefits.

Seeking 25-Cent Package
The union was reported looking for a package offer of around 25 cents an hour. The experts predicted union and management would get together around the 20-cent mark.

A 20-cent an hour package increase would cost the industry about $300 million a year and probably would presage a $10 to $11 a ton price increase.

The companies felt their package offer was "substantial" enough to warrant hopes that a new contract will be written long before the strike deadline. David McDonald, president of the union, has been aiming at a settlement by June 17.

The public will get its first indication today of just how far apart the union and companies are on basic contract issues. "If they are miles apart," a spokesman said, "the committee meeting could be turned into a war policy."

However, informed sources expressed the belief the two sides were much closer on basic contract demands than they had led observers to believe.

Industry spokesman said the booming production pace being maintained by the industry this year militates against a strike in 1956.

There was little speculation here on how receptive the union would be to a long-term contract calling for annual wage increases based on some type of productivity formula.

McDonald was reported as saying he would accept a long-term pact if the companies made it "sweet enough."

UNUSUAL SIGHT
Two century plants at the residence of J. H. Hays, 1245 S. Hobart, are shown above as they are in full bloom. The plants, which are reported to bloom only once each 100 years, were brought to Pampa from Arizona by Hays in 1934. Several small plants which are near the large plants are also in bloom. Eisenhower Sets Nixon Conference

By DONALD J. GONZALES
WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower will hold a hospital room conference with Vice President Richard M. Nixon next Monday for the first time since he became ill, it was announced today.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerly said the President also will meet Monday with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. This will be the second session with Dulles who was with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer when he called on the President Thursday.

Announcement of the President's plans for next week followed the most optimistic medical bulletin since Mr. Eisenhower entered the hospital a week ago today.

During a 15-minute conference with White House aides, Mr. Eisenhower signed his name on 21 documents, including nine bills, routine ones.

The President accepted the resignation of Samuel M. Brownell, commissioner of education, from his job "for personal reasons" by Sept. 1. The President paid high tribute to Brownell and expressed his regret at the resignation.

The President's actions were announced after his brief meeting with Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams and other aides.

Hagerly said no other appointments were planned for today, Saturday or Sunday.

He Sits Up
Mr. Eisenhower sat up in bed while he was conferring with Adams and Col. Andrew J. Goodpaster, staff secretary to the President.

As an indication of Mr. Eisenhower's continuing improvement, Dr. Isidor Ravdin, one of the team of operating surgeons, was permitted to leave at 9:30 a.m. ed for his home in Philadelphia.

Today's morning medical bulletin by the President's doctors was the most cheerful since the President's operation.

He said he is now receiving liquid nourishment through the mouth hourly and slept "almost continuously for eight hours" Thursday night.

An 8:10 a.m. (edt) medical bulletin said:
"The President had a very good night. He slept almost continuously for eight hours."
All is Normal
"Feedings in smlaj amounts by mouth were resumed this morning."

Southern Demos Are Wary Of Convention 'Walk-Out' Plan

By RAYMOND LAHR
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Southern Democrats in Congress generally took an apathetic, wary, or hostile attitude today toward a South Carolina plan which could trigger a southern Democratic walkout from the national party.

This proposal originated in the South Carolina Democratic convention and came to southern members of Congress this week in a letter from Gov. George Bell Timmerman Jr.

It called for a caucus of southern national convention delegates to agree on a program of racial action on issues, such as racial segregation, of deep concern to the South. It also proposed that southern state conventions keep a door open to permit reconvening of southern delegates after the national convention.

Want Greater Influence
Timmerman and Sen. Thomas A. Wofford (D-SC) both insisted that the plan was not aimed at formation of a third party in the South but rather at avoiding any such move. They said southern unity would give the South greater influence at the national convention.

Sen. W. Kerr Scott (D-NC), who called the proposal "Dixiecrat sugarcoating" earlier this week, commented Thursday that it was "mighty good news" that Timmerman and Wofford intended to remain in the Democratic Party.

Most southerners in Congress appeared to feel that the proposal would increase the likelihood of a party split.

Some of them suggested that a pre-convention caucus of southern delegates would tend to harden the southern position, leaving less room for maneuver and compromise on the civil rights issue. It might invite similar caucuses for northern Democrats into a no-compromise position.

Members of Congress also saw no purpose in reconvening state conventions except to threaten a third party if the presidential nominee or Democratic platform should be offensive to the South.

Southern leaders in Congress were in no mood to buy the plan. Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson only last month won control of the 56-vote Texas delegation in a battle to insure that Texas Democrats will stick with the national party.

Other powerful southerners have made clear that they do not want to start an internal party fight now. Some of them, however, have not ruled out the possibility that the Democrats can lose part of the South in the November election to a third party nominee or to President Eisenhower.

Averell Seeks Delegates As Backers Convene In Denver

By BARBARA BUNDSCHU
NEW YORK (UP)—New York's Gov. Averell Harriman, his hat still bouncing from its toss into the presidential ring, flew west to the mountains Saturday on his first acknowledged hunt for convention votes.

Harriman supporters from 11 western states convene at Denver Saturday morning to form a regional Harriman for President committee they hope to bond into a national organization. Harriman toured the area shortly before he declared his candidacy with a literal hat toss at a hat-toss convention last Saturday.

He will arrive on a flying round-trip in time to address the closing lunch and head back for New York 24 hours later.

Backers Stay Home
His New York backers will be conspicuously absent from the flight to the wide open spaces. Both Tammany professional Carmine De Sapio and the big wheels of the governor's busy but still undeclared New York campaign headquarters are staying home.

The Denver meeting is scheduled to stress Harriman's particular appeals to the West—his lifetime Union Pacific Railroad association with the region, his views on development of western resources and on agricultural income which western supporters claim are generally popular in the area.

Frailties to Be Heard
Maj. Gen. John Russell Deane (ret.), who headed the U. S. military mission to Moscow while Harriman was ambassador there, will come from Orinda, Calif., with first-hand praise of Harriman's competency in foreign affairs. Another speaker will be Gov. Raymond D. Gary of Oklahoma, who'll take 28 unit votes to Chicago for Harriman.

Altogether, the 11 states—Washington, Idaho, Montana, Wyoming, Utah, Colorado, Nevada, Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Kansas—command 200 votes in the Democratic national convention. That many could put Harriman, with some 90 of New York's 11 votes already in hand, in second place and within shouting distance of front-runner Adlai E. Stevenson on the first ballot.

Commissioners Hold Meeting

The Gray County Commissioners met in a special session at 10 a.m. today to discuss an airport planning matter.

The Commissioners discussed whether or not to lease the airport land for a summer maize crop in preparation for grass seeding.

Attending the Commissioners meeting were Arlie Carpenter, Leffors; G. L. "Nat" Lunford, Pampa; Jim McCracken, Grandview; and Oscar Tibbets, McLean, with County Judge Bruce Parker, presiding.

Truman Officials' Conviction May Have Given Adlai A Boost

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—The Missouri jury which convicted Matthew J. Connelly on charges of conspiratorial influences peddling may have given Adlai E. Stevenson a boost toward the Democratic presidential nomination.

Connelly was former President Truman's White House appointments secretary, his closest official associate barring, perhaps, Maj. Gen. Harry S. Vaughn. He started with Mr. Truman as a Senate committee investigator, rose to be his secretary and continued in that intimate relationship through his chief's vice presidency and presidency.

With T. Lamar Caudle, Connelly was convicted in federal court of conspiring to defraud the government in an income tax case. Caudle was a Truman administration chief of the Justice Department's Tax Division. Just how the gentle Caudle happened to be chosen for that spot with its requirements for tough-minded decisions remains one of the questions which never has been answered fully.

Connelly and Caudle will appeal, of course, or take other legal action. The conviction of these two high ranking Truman administration officials on such charges in a campaign year, however, scarcely can fail to aid the Republicans in their effort to win the White House and new Congress.

Party may depend very much on Mr. Truman's reaction to the jury's findings. Loyalty has been among Mr. Truman's most notable virtues, so much that some persons have thought he might be carrying his loyalties to a fault. It apparently was party loyalty, for example, which caused Mr. Truman to try to laugh off the early exposure of Alger Hiss.

Did Not Suspect
There could be no suggestion that Mr. Truman was aware or even suspected that his White House friend was a crook, as the jury found him to be, subject, of course, to further legal review. But Connelly was Mr. Truman's man, a fair example of his skill in picking men.

Or this eve of the Democratic national convention, that may be of considerable political significance. The United Press Thursday reported under a Washington dateline the belief among some well-informed persons that Mr. Truman was maneuvering to prevent Stevenson's nomination next August in Chicago.

HST's man is widely reported to be Gov. Averell Harriman, of New York, a 100 per cent Fair Dealer. The closer Mr. Truman is associated with the 1956 Democratic presidential campaign, the more effective should be the Republican attack on the man and the party which put Connelly and Caudle in responsible office.

Lawyers To Appeal Conviction

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UP)—Attorneys for T. Lamar Caudle and Matthew J. Connelly said today they will demand a new trial to charges of defrauding the government while holding top positions in the Truman administration.

The attorneys also said they will ask for a judgment of acquittal, despite a jury of rural Missourians' verdict Thursday that Caudle and Connelly conspired to "fix" a tax evader's case.

The federal jury of four women and eight men upheld the government's charges against Caudle, head of the Justice Department's Tax Division in the Truman administration and Connelly former President Truman's White House appointments secretary.

They were accused of conspiring with Attorney Harry I. Schwimmer and "divers other persons unknown" to "fix" the tax evasion case of St. Louis shoe broker Irving Sachs.

Schwimmer was granted a mistrial earlier after he suffered a heart seizure in the courtroom. He was named with the other two defendants in the federal grand jury's indictment.

Federal Judge Rubey M. Hulien set July 19 for both sentencing and for arguments on defense motions. Judge Hulien already has under consideration a motion for a judgment of acquittal, on which he withheld action pending the jury's decision.

Government attorneys said they would bring Schwimmer to trial as quickly as his health permits. Both men face penalties of up to five years in prison and fines of $10,000 each.

Doctor Says Smokes, Drinks Don't Cause Heart Trouble

By ALFRED LEECH
CHICAGO (UP) A pack of cigarettes a day and a few highballs before dinner won't cause heart disease, a doctor said today.

In fact, a touch of alcohol now and then can even cut down the anxieties which often lead to heart trouble, the doctor said.

Dr. Edward P. Luongo, medical director of the General Petroleum Corp. of Los Angeles, made the report at the 108th annual meeting of the American Medical Association.

Study of 100 Employees
It was based on a study of 100 company employees suffering from coronary disease, as compared to 200 other persons who don't have heart trouble. The number of persons who used tobacco and alcohol was about 15 per cent in both groups.

"To date, there is no convincing evidence in the literature that smoking tobacco has any effect in accelerating sclerosis or producing coronary disease," Luongo said.

The same goes for drinking, he said, and added "there is avoidance... that in moderation alcohol may diminish the work load of the heart by reducing the pressure in the small peripheral arteries."

Alcohol May Help
"More important, alcohol may relieve anxiety through cerebral action. This anxiety frequently contributes to the onset of heart pain."

Luongo cautioned that his statements on tobacco do not mean there are no bad effects from smoking on already diseased coronary arteries.

In other AMA reports, doctors reported indications of a hereditary factor in peptic ulcer, stomach cancer and pernicious anemia, and another medical team described how tiny magnets help keep artificial eyes in place.

Rosie The Crane On Display

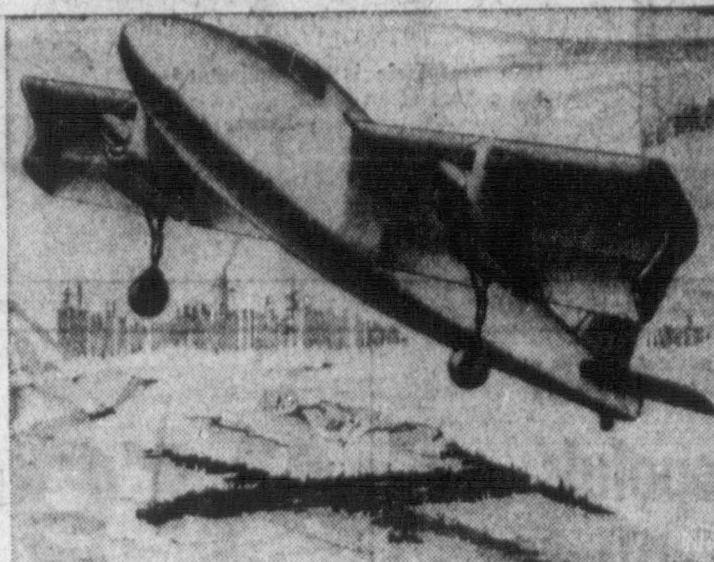

SAN ANTONIO (UP)— Rosie the whooping crane was on display before the public today at the San Antonio zoo, just across a canal from the pelicans.

Rosie has been in the news since she broke a wing and was grounded on a Lampasas county ranch last week. Her wing has been doctored and is on the mend.

Zoo Director Fred Stark moved Rosie out Wednesday so the public could see her. To calm her, he put two small herons in her pen.

Only three whoopers are in captivity. The other two are in the zoo at New Orleans. All told, there are only 31 in existence.

Stark is waiting for word from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service about whether he can keep Rosie here as a zoo showpiece.

'COPTER'S COUSIN—Scoop-shaped wings of "Vertiplane," above, will enable it to take off and land vertically. Slipstream from large propellers will be deflected by double retractable wing flaps extending far below and to rear of wing's trailing edge. Senate Calls NBC Head For Questions

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Senate Commerce committee today called Robert Sarnoff, president of The National Broadcasting Co., for questioning on whether the television industry is falling under monopolistic control.

Sarnoff was the second network president to appear (at 10 a.m. EDT) before the committee in its investigation into whether it is necessary to place the networks under government regulation.

Frank Stanton, president of Columbia Broadcasting System, told the committee Wednesday that government regulation is not necessary and that there is "stiff competition" in the television industry.

The competition is "keenest," Stanton said, in programming, with each network trying to present the best programs to the viewing public. Competition, he said, also enters in the selling of time and in the vying for loyalty, support and co-operation of affiliates.

Stanton said there is a "voracious" appetite in the industry for new program ideas, with resulting competition between the networks and between the networks and independent program producers.

Commission Sets Firms' Hearings

AUSTIN (UP)—Five local mutual burial associations and two mutual aid associations must show cause at hearings next month why their licenses should not be revoked by the Texas Insurance Commission.

A commission spokesman said the mutual aid associations were Ashcraft Funeral Insurance Co. of Harlingen and Cate-Spencer Service Insurance Co. of Sweetwater.

The burial associations were identified as Fair Burial Association of Houston, Keystone Burial Insurance Association of Houston, Turner Brothers Burial Association of Mount Pleasant, China Grove Burial Association of Marlin and Plummer Burial Association of Bandera.

The commission set a hearing on Plummer firm for July 9. Hearings on the other six companies were scheduled for July 9.

Gunman's Wife Defies Police

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (UP) A gunman's shapely blonde wife Thursday defied police efforts to learn where her husband fled after Indiana's biggest bank robbery in 28 years.

Mrs. Roy Rudolph Drake, 23, was captured Wednesday night in a station wagon loaded with $18,000 in cash.

Police believed the $18,000 was part of the $26,546 stolen by a lone gunman at the suburban Southport Bank last Monday. They have charged Mrs. Drake's husband, a 32-year-old ex-convict and desperado, with the holdup.

The fugitive's wife was nonchalant and poised as she sat through hours of police grilling today.

"She won't give us anything more than her name and address," a policeman said. "The policemen are doing more talking than she is."

The young woman shrugged off the money found in her car when she was arrested for driving through a four-way Indianapolis stop sign.

She said only that her husband gave her the money a few days ago in Marshall, Ill., before leaving for California.

Drake was charged with the holdup earlier Wednesday after state investigators learned his car was seen near the bank before the holdup. It was the second largest bank robbery in Indiana history and the biggest since 1928.

'Horrible' Movie On Tap Here

If it's thrills you want, it's thrills you'll get when you see the man who brings back the dead, that "crazy mixed-up" Dr. Jekyll and his weird show, playing the stage of the LaNara Theater tonight for a special "late show only" at 10:30 p.m., says Paul West, manager of Video Theaters in Pampa. You'll scream as maniacs and horrible creatures from beyond the grave roam the theatre and land right in your laps during the show, he added. Fanged and fiendish vampires will caress you in the dark; hideous monsters grab girls right out of their seats! You'll shudder! You'll shake! You'll have nightmares for a week, he remarked. Of "corpse" it's all in fun, but to play safe the management has promised to have plenty of nurses and ambulances on call at all times! If you're a girl, make your boyfriend bring you so you can learn if he's man enough to take it, West challenged.

Pickup Driver Hospitalized By Flash Fire

A pickup caught fire six miles south of Pampa on Highway 70, last night causing heavy damage to the vehicle. The driver was F. L. Miller of Phillips. According to firemen who arrived on the scene shortly after the pickup caught fire at 7:25 p.m., the blaze was caused by a cigarette. Owner of the pickup was Wayne Braden of Phillips. The driver was taken to Highland General Hospital in a state of shock. He was reported in satisfactory condition today by the attending physician.

FCIC Wheat Payments To Be Lower Than 1955

The local FCIC agent, James Skaggs, announced today that the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation will have to pay $125,000 to insured wheat producers in Gray County for crop failure this year. Last year's wheat losses resulted in excess of $185,000. The agent stated his adjusters will begin checking on the released acres for a substitute crop, and then begin the task of submitting the wheat loss claims soon. He urged that insureds who have all their units released and can not be contacted at the farm by the adjusters, to please visit the local office to sign their claims. Skaggs reminds farmers who are likely to harvest production, but still experience a loss under the contract, to report the loss to him immediately after harvest has been completed. He said that production should be kept separate on individual units weighed at elevators, if at all possible, and then the tickets should be brought to his office.

Parking Lot Is Half Completed

Construction work on the new parking lot at Highland General Hospital was about 50 per cent completed this morning. The parking lot is located to the South of the ambulance drive between the side walk and the boiler room and is expected to accommodate about 40 cars. The surface of the parking lot will be concrete. The other parking lots at the hospital were also surfaced with concrete. Hospital officials feel that the new parking lot will help to remedy the parking situation at the hospital.

Hagerty also said the irksome drainage tube which had been run through the President's nose has not been put back in. He was last forced to use this tube at 1:30 p.m. Wednesday. A syndicated columnist, Doris Fleeson, has reported that the medical literature indicates ileitis—the intestinal inflammation which required Mr. Eisenhower's operation—reoccurs quite often, even after surgery.

A reporter asked Hagerty if this report had failed to take into account that this recurrence is less likely to happen in persons of Mr. Eisenhower's age. Hagerty said the reporter was "exactly right." There's a difference. Hagerty said he had discussed the point with the President's doctors and that they pointed out the distinction regarding older age groups. Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, commander of Walter Reed Army Hospital and the surgeon who operated on the President, will leave the hospital about June 23.

The President planned a routine conference during the day with Presidential Assistant Sherman Adams. His hospital regimen was expected to call for drinking more broth and tea, and taking more short walks about the Presidential Suite at Walter Reed. White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said Mr. Eisenhower was less uncomfortable Thursday than at any time since his intestinal operation Saturday. Council Calls Meeting "We hope this will be so each day," Hagerty said. The National Security Council called its weekly meeting today at the White House. Vice President Richard M. Nixon was scheduled to preside in place of Mr. Eisenhower as Nixon did after the President's heart attack last fall. The council postponed its meeting from Thursday because two cabinet members could not be present. One of them—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles—had joined German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in a hospital visit to the President.

The President's doctors reported he suffered no untoward physical effects from the visit by Dulles and Adenauer—the President's first visitors outside his staff and family since his operation. The doctors also reported he has suffered no ill effects from the liquids that he has been drinking. Mr. Eisenhower stepped at least two servings of beef broth as well as tea and warm water Thursday. They supplemented intravenous feeding. When Mr. Eisenhower received Adenauer, he had been free for nearly 24 hours of the drainage tube that ran through his nose to his stomach. The tube was used to keep his stomach free of waste. The President entered the hospital at 1:40 p.m., EDT, last Friday. Doctors began operating on him to relieve an intestinal block at 2:59 a.m. the next day. They concluded the operation one hour and 53 minutes later and called it successful.

State's Rights Hurt

Anyone who thinks that the intent and purpose of the Supreme Court of the United States is to federalize our government and to weaken state activities as to eliminate them ought to take a look at the record.
First the court reached into state affairs to attempt to tell the states how to run their schools. This, of course, was the anti-segregation ruling of the court.
Now the court has ruled that state laws concerned with the right to work are no longer valid in the fields of railroading and airlines — a slap in the chops of the Congress that has repeatedly held with the Taft-Hartley law that the state COULD make laws that would permit a man to work without paying tribute to some union boss.
The Supreme Court has said, in effect, that so far as the court is concerned, all such "right-to-work" laws could be tossed out the window in any negotiations in the railroad-industry or the airlines industry.
It doesn't take very much imagination to see that there needs to be only an extension of this attitude on the part of the Supreme Court and any field in "interstate commerce" could qualify in the same way as the railroads and airlines and then it would be left up to some bureau in Washington to determine what industry is interstate commerce and what industry is not.
In this connection, it might be of interest to recall that the National Labor Relations Board (not a law) held that a Freedom Newspaper was in interstate commerce although, with the exception of a few copies mailed, all of the papers were sold right in its county. The NLRB ruled that because we had telegraphic wire service bringing us news and pictures of the days which crossed state lines that we were in interstate commerce. Under such an interpretation, there is scarcely a business of any kind that would not qualify. A shoe store that obtains shoes out of state would qualify. A grocer who bought merchandise out of state would qualify. A man running a magazine stand would qualify. In other words, if the government agency decides that it would be advantageous for the union to have a business or industry declared in interstate commerce there would be no problem having it so declared, regardless of the logic or right in the question.
So at least 18 of the states of the nation now find themselves in position of having another "state's right" taken from them — that is, legislation in the field of unions and industry. The Supreme Court made it very clear that "notwithstanding" any state laws or what the state might do, in the instance of the railroads and airlines, the states have no jurisdiction. The court has made it equally clear that it feels the same way about the field of education.
How many fields will be invaded by the federal government through a Supreme Court before there is rebellion of some sort?

THE NATION'S PRESS

COLONIZING THE STATES

(The Daily Oklahoman)

In its decision excluding the states from jurisdiction in sedition matters the supreme court hinted broadly at its possible thinking in other pending questions bearing particularly on labor relations.
The court asserted the doctrine of federal pre-emption of the sedition field in the case of Pennsylvania versus Nelson. The defendant was an acknowledged communist who had been tried and convicted under the Pennsylvania sedition act for advocating the overthrow of the government by violence.
In discussing jurisdiction conflicts growing out of overlapping federal and state laws the court cited its prior Garner decision. That was a labor ruling which held that where a union violated a state law the state had no jurisdiction if the action also was a violation of federal law.
This apparent majority leaning toward federal pre-emption is especially interesting in view of the large number of labor matters awaiting the court's action. Perhaps the most important of these is the Nebraska case which involves the question whether compulsory unionism as sanctioned by the national railway labor act is to take precedence over that state's right-to-work law.
The Nebraska supreme court held that the amendment to the railway labor act permitting compulsory unionism violated workers' rights under the first and fifth amendments and thus was unconstitutional. The Nebraska court feels that the individual's freedom to work at a job of his own choosing is a fundamental right which the due process clause of the fifth amendment protects from improper infringement by the federal government.
Of course the court has a demonstrated capacity for making the constitution mean whatever it wants it to mean. But in this matter of compulsory unionism it would be dealing with a conflict in the federal statutes themselves. For the Taft-Hartley law recognizes the supremacy of state law on the point of compulsory unionism.
The outcome of the Nebraska case is of vital importance to every state that has adopted a right-to-work law and it will have a bearing on the future course of labor relations in the country as a whole. A decision asserting federal pre-emption in this field would signal a labor drive against the right-to-work laws of all states having them.

If the trend toward federal pre-emption continues it obviously will be only a question of time until the states will be nearly helpless to make and enforce laws of their own in any matter of national as well as local bearing.

This same conflict is occurring in connection with the wage scales to be imposed under the pending federal highway construction plan. Federal pre-emption of this field would increase the costs of the program and deprive the state highway departments of a large measure of control over their own finances. Once established the principle could be extended to every national program such as school and other construction in which the federal government participated with the states under matching arrangements.
Already the supreme court has authorized the government to establish an industry-wide wage minimum for textile companies that sell to the government. Now there is evidence that the labor department may proceed under the Walsh-Healey act to set higher minimums on an industry-wide basis for other companies dealing with the government.
There is a remedy for this encroachment in a pending resolution sponsored in the senate by Senator McClellan and in the house by Representative Smith. The bill provides that where the federal government legislates in any area that is also the subject of state legislation the state law won't be nullified unless the federal statute specifically so provides or the two statutes are so inconsistent they can't stand together. Some such protection for the states is long overdue.

AMBIGUOUS REASONS

(Christian Economist)

IN SUMMING up the reasons for the excess and wealth of the great business empire of ancient times the late renowned scholar, Dr. H. Rosovsky, of Yale University, says: "Their success resulted mainly from their sound policy of decentralization. They seldom interfered with the social and economic life of their subjects." The central government gave local governments adequate military protection, guaranteed them free economic relations with their neighbors for the exchange of goods, and always allowed them with "a royal gold and silver currency of perfect soundness and integrity... which exchange facilitated the currency of goods."

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. MOILES

Fake Balanced Budget

The President of the United States is asking for nearly $5,000,000,000 foreign aid. He's asking for this tax burden even under the fact our budget is not really balanced.

Eisenhower and the Republicans are balancing the budget by requiring the corporations to advance their tax payments so that instead of paying a year's tax they are paying one and one-tenth's year's tax for each year for five years, beginning in 1953. In other words, the corporations, in paying their 1953 taxes, paid the whole year's taxes for 1953 plus 10 per cent of their 1954 taxes.

The politicians have required corporations to pay more than one-half of their year's taxes in the first half of their calendar year. This brings the extra tax in the last half of the government's fiscal year that ends June 30. That makes a better showing for the politicians.

In other words, we are balancing the budget by dipping into future income. We are, in a way, borrowing from the future, as do families and corporations that are not living within their income.

Corporations, on an average, make advance payments of around $2,600,000,000 a year more than their yearly taxes amount to.

Yet Eisenhower is outdoing the Democrats in wanting to give away our wealth to foreign governments. He wants to do this in spite of the fact that there was only one European government in 1955 that spent a larger percentage of their gross national product for defense than the United States spent in 1955. And that nation was Communist Yugoslavia, which spent 11.6 per cent of the national income while United States spent 10.9 per cent. Here is the percentage of national income that the other nations in Europe spent in 1955 that United States is bleeding while to help support:

Belgium - Luxembourg	4.5%
Denmark	3.2
France	7.3
Greece	6.3
Italy	4.3
Netherlands	5.9
Norway	4.9
Portugal	4.2
Spain	4.3
Turkey	5.7
United Kingdom	9.4
Yugoslavia	11.6
United States	10.9

Or if it is figured in percentage of total government expenditures spent for defense, there is only one nation that spent a bigger fraction of its government income on defense than the United States. And that nation is again the Communist nation, Yugoslavia. United States spent 62.9 per cent in 1955 of the government's national income for defense, while Yugoslavia spent 77.5 per cent. Here are the percentages of total government expenditures spent on defense for the various nations in Europe we are bleeding ourselves white to send money to their governments:

Belgium - Luxembourg	20.3%
Denmark	20.7
France	29.3
Germany (Fed. Rep.)	24.8
Greece	30.0
Italy	21.6
Netherlands	23.1
Norway	28.6
Portugal	31.0
Spain	29.3
Turkey	35.2
United Kingdom	35.3
Yugoslavia	71.5
United States	62.9

We are doing this in spite of the fact that we are so hard up that we have to force the corporations to pay not only their past year's taxes but for five years pay one tenth of their current year's taxes.

And remember that these extra advance payments by corporations amounting to $2,600,000,000 is worth a year that cannot be put into top. It is worth that will be destroyed, consumed. For five years this amounts to $13,000,000,000. If this $13,000,000,000 was saved, it would furnish jobs with $10,000 worth of tools for 1,300,000 workers. In other words, this advance tax payments is killing 200,000 new jobs each year.
We are certainly in a mess when both major political parties are able to vote the American voters into stagnation by this kind of "defense."

Demo Race Is Now Between Adlai, Stuart

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The Democratic Presidential race has now resolved itself into a struggle between the two relatively conservative candidates of Adlai E. Stevenson and Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri, in the opinion of that Party's veteran strategists, observers and manipulators.

With the unexpected California rout of Senator Estes Kefauver and the rising opposition to Governor Averall Harriman of New York, they believe that the threat from leftist liberals such as the Albany figure and Governor G. Mennen Williams of Michigan has been repulsed. The nationwide mood of moderation which contributed to President Eisenhower's 1952 triumph has affected the opposition camp.

Regardless of the outcome of the Chicago convention with respect to the nominee and the platform, the liberals' domination of the Democratic Party for 30 years has come to an end. Even the Rooseveltians seem to concede that such a prospect is likely, for the majority of that faction back Stevenson against Harriman, Williams and Kefauver.

The situation at Chicago will obviously be favorable to a carefully and "choosy" back-room selection of a moderate rather than a spontaneous stampede. With Stevenson's delegate strength, the secondary and secret support for Symington and the entry of numerous favorite sons, the long-headed bosses will be given time to control and nominate on the basis of political and economic conditions two months hence.

Stevenson is not a certainty by any means, despite his showing in the final test in California. In fact, it is possible that he will be given the nod only if nationwide sentiment in August indicates that President Eisenhower cannot be defeated.

Under such circumstances, and as a one-time loser against Ike, the Chicagoan may be sent into the Presidential conflict as a dispensable warrior. Moreover, it is generally agreed that his nomination would be less likely to prevent a Party split on economic and racial issues.

However, if midsummer developments on the domestic and foreign fronts lessen the Administration's prestige and appeal, thereby offering a better chance of Democratic victory, the politicians' preference might easily be the Senator from Missouri.

With the New York Governor as an admitted and remote outsider, Symington's friends now hope that former President Harry S. Truman may throw his influence behind the fellow-Missourian. Truman has indicated that he preferred Harriman as the Democrat most faithful to New Deal-Fair Deal policies and traditions.

Tropically, with Stevenson or Symington as possibilities, Truman has greater convention influence than he might have enjoyed otherwise. Had either man mobilized enough pre-convention strength to be a shoo-in, the former President's attitude might have carried no or little weight. But the narrow margin between the two contestants makes every vote and voice count.

The Doctor Says

By EDWIN J. JORDAN, M. D.

All of us, I suppose, would like a formula for retaining everlasting youth. Some people will grasp at any means by which they think they can postpone the effects of the passage of time.

Thus, it isn't surprising that I am often asked by middle-aged men if there is any value in taking male hormones.
MALE HORMONES have their place but there is little reason to believe that taking them will delay signs of the passing of years. It is true that the male sex glands produce hormones which are absorbed into the system. These probably contribute to the vigor of the peak years of life. But hormone production keeps up for many years. Generally the signs of lessened energy in the middle years should be sought elsewhere.

Actually, scientific opinion is greatly divided on whether there is any period in the life of men in which the manufacture of hormones is decreased enough to lead to a change of life similar to that which occurs in women.

MANY MEN, for example, never do have any symptoms at all which can be considered as reflecting a lessened functioning of the sex glands.
A few develop feelings of tension or other vague disturbances which are sometimes thought to be caused by decreased hormone production. But such signs also can come from a lot of other things.

IT IS APPARENT from correspondence that most men are more interested in the hormone problem from the standpoint of impotence than from any other youthful characteristics.
It is certainly the general belief that hormone injections will not affect potency. It is possible that this activity — or failure of it — has a definite physical cause though more commonly the mental (or perhaps one should say emotional) aspects are considered much more important than the physical.

Taking pills or "shots" of male hormones will not preserve the bloom of youth.

Fair Enough Pegler Talks Press Club's Awards

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

I have been spot-checking the membership of The Overseas Press Club, of New York, for active workers in daily newspaper journalism. There are three among 100 selected at random. The purpose of this discussion is to scrutinize the pretensions of the O.P.C. in conferring "awards" voted in its popularity contests. Most often these go to Egbert Murrow and Elmer Davis, professional political propagandists of the Eleanor Roosevelt School, to the New York Times and its propagandists of the same inclination, and, otherwise, with few exceptions, to The Herald Tribune, which parrots The Times.

The first entry is Henry E. Abt, president of Brand Names Foundation, Inc., which laudably defends the integrity of advertised goods against a vile device of the new deal called "grade labelling." Under "grade labelling," merchandise would be certified by grades by an arbitrary public authority and our advertisers would have no incentive to cry up their virtuous wares under famous trademarks. In that case our press would become weak and wan and chaos would engulf us. So all honor to Mr. Abt, but with the notation, however, that he is not an illustrious wreath of our honorable estate, which probably is the way he prefers it.

Next comes G. S. Barclay Acheson, director of International Edition of The Reader's Digest. Acheson was the maiden name of Mrs. DeWitt Wallace, the wife of the publisher of The Digest. Mr. Wallace says Mrs. Wallace is no kin to Dean Acheson who would not turn his back on Alger Hiss. I persist in doubting this because every Acheson must be related to every other, although it does not feel that they all do or do not feel alike toward Hiss. This Mr. Acheson supervised Y.M.C.A. military activities in Oregon in World War I; was associate general secretary of the new era movement and is a member in good standing of the Old English Sheepdog Club of America.

Carl W. Ackerman, retired dean of Journalism of Columbia University, was Berlin correspondent of the U.P. of less than one year in World War I. It has been so long since he did any work in that harum-scarum calling which we unregenerates call the newspaper "game" that he does not even mention any such activity. He does set forth, however, that he is a member of The American Society of Newspaper Editors and I have it on good authority that this shy newspaperman, author of how to beat the races (1 edition). How to cheat the pari-mutuelis. How to make the people think they think.

I do not know how many veterans of the office of war information would be turned up in a thorough canvass. There are many current or recent propagandists of U. S. Information Agency in its numerous guises, but few of them ever have been newspaper people, whom, at a glance, they vastly outnumber.

In this mood of depression, I venture to propose a toast to an abandoned character who is, on the face of things, ineligible for the Old English Sheepdog Club of America.
I give you Frank Connett, who says of himself:
"Now, newspaperman, formerly, newspaperman, author of how to beat the races (1 edition). How to cheat the pari-mutuelis. How to make the people think they think."

EL ESCORIAL, SPAIN — Here, some fifty miles from Madrid, in a spectacular corner of the Sierra Carpetana, is one of the architectural gems of the world.
Gloriously lighted by the Spanish sun it is worth every inch of every mile any man has to journey to see it. I came more than six thousand miles for the privilege, and with the first breath-taking view I knew I hadn't been wrong.

In case you assume that I am speaking of King Philip's magnificent edifice, El Escorial, let me hasten to set you straight. I am not referring to this 16th century masterpiece at all, but to Miss Sophia Loren, the Italian movie queen.
Miss Loren is here on location with Stanley Kramer's production of "The Pride and the Passion," in which she co-stars with Cary Grant and Frank Sinatra. One look at Miss Loren and you know that, architecturally, the 16th century had nothing on the 20th.

I don't mean to belittle El Escorial. It undoubtedly deserves the position it holds in the opinion of many qualified critics as the eighth wonder of the world. But if it is the eighth, then Miss Loren must rank fourth or fifth, at the very least.
Personally, I'd place Miss Loren somewhere between the Hanging Gardens of Babylon and the Colosseum at Rhodes, and wouldn't be at all upset if she were ranked ahead of the Great Pyramids of Giza.

One of the true tests of a structure's beauty is how it appears in all lights. Miss Loren passes this test with flying colors. I studied her carefully during nearly all the daylight hours, and she was equally superb in sun and shadow.
In the brightness of the morning sun — and no where is the sun more dazzling than in Spain — the Italian girl is a delight to the eye. At noon, ditto, to use the language of the critics, The lowering of the sun in the west does not decrease her loveliness. In-

Pampa News Women's Editor

THIS IS THE SECOND in a series of three articles I came across in connection with The Pampa Daily News all-electric cooking school, which ended Thursday. This one is on modern conveniences in the kitchen and what they mean to the housewife.

The modern kitchen demands modern electric appliances. The modern electric kitchen has become a place to enjoy - not just to cook. Engineers and scientists are taking care of that. They are providing electric "servants" to take the labor out of housework, do it fast, efficiently, and at moderate cost.

They're constantly devising better ways to prepare, refrigerate, freeze, defrost and cook foods. They've gone a long way toward eliminating garbage. They have made it possible to wash, dry and store dishes and utensils automatically. The necessary hot water is just as easily available as running cold water and with no more thought on the part of the user.

All this has come about because there's a whole new idea in American kitchens - less bend, less stoop, less steps. Everything is designed for the woman who does her own work, without the aid of servants. Everything is within easy reach. The kitchen works for you, not against you. New appliances have made this possible - some brand new, and others improvements on the ones you used to know.

In 1930 there were only 19 different appliances. The automatic washer and food freezer were really put on the market as recently as 1940. Now there are over 60 appliances - and the end isn't yet in sight.

Kitchens are no longer just a place to cook. They're a gathering place for the whole family, with a table for mealtime, as a convenient place to drop bundles, or for games or study. Kitchen layouts save many a step in serving meals and clearing away after them.

Good equipment is a very important component of the modern electric kitchen - that pushbutton Paradise for the homemaker. She can't do her job well without good equipment - anymore than a secretary could do her job well without a good typewriter. One thing that tends to hold many homemakers back is old equipment. The wiser ones find it pays to trade in the old range, refrigerator, or what have you for a new one periodically - just like you trade in your old car. New models have features that made the old really obsolete.

The kind of kitchen described here is no dream of the future. It's here, right now. More than 400 electric ranges are being installed every day, and approximately 12,000,000 are now in use. Seven million more are being sold.

ion homes have food freezers, with about a million more being installed each year. With other major appliances - such as dishwashers, water heaters, food waste disposers and refrigerators - being installed or in use in similarly phenomenal numbers, the basic fact is that American living is better than can be found anywhere else in the world - and electric appliances are playing a major part. You can live better the modern way - by LIVING BETTER - Electrically.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

In Ralph's town a store had stocked a supply of jackets emblazoned with his school's name.

As a member of its first grade, he dearly wanted one of these garments. But the Saturday his mother took him shopping for it, they found the jackets all gone. Ralph had to accept an undecorated one. To console him his mother said they could stop by the store's candy counter and buy him some of his favorite peanut brittle.

On the bus going home he asked for a piece. His mother, her lap filled with bundles, found his request inconvenient. "When we get home," she said.

As they walked up the path to their front porch, Ralph pressed for candy again. "Before lunch!" she asked accusingly. "You know you don't get candy before meals. Now run along while I get rid of these things and get us all something to eat."

A great wave of discouragement engulfed Ralph. When it passed, it left behind it a rather dangerous impression. Translated into our terms Ralph's feeling was, "The Future is such an unpromising thing that only fools put any confidence in it."

This is bound to be a child's response to broken promises. If we break them often, we harden his distrust of the future into a cynical greed for immediate gratification - a motivating drive in such activities as lying, stealing, gambling, excessive drinking.

In a valuable book called "Children Who Hate," experienced social worker Fritz Redl discusses the intolerance of postponed satisfaction which is characteristic of the delinquent child.

He writes: "All reference to the future is refused for a long time identical with outright refusal. If one boy got a haircut today, the suggestion that another would get his tomorrow was met as though he had refused him a haircut for the rest of his life."

Promise - breaking parents are not always deliberate joy-killers or falsifiers. More often, they are just very self-centered. Ralph's mother is an example. In the store she felt like consoling him with candy. On the bus, she felt that giving it to him was inconvenient. At home, she decided it was her duty to preserve his appetite for lunch.

Her promise was broken as it was made - to accommodate her impulses without any interest whatever in her child's responses to them. Promise - breakers appear inconsistent because they keep their feelings and thoughts so secret.

Lydia Circle Elects Officers At Meet

Officers were elected at the recent meeting of the Lydia Circle of the Church of the Brethren. Mrs. Dean Burger was named president, and Mrs. Wayne Jones, vice-president. They will assume their duties Oct. 1.

Two quilts were made to be presented to the member with the best attendance record. A report of the year's activities included assistance to the local church, relief work domestically and abroad, and aid to the Young People's Camp at Cordell, Okla.

The women discussed plans to present a play at the district conference, to be held in Ames, Okla., in August.

Easy Carpet Cleaning Discovery Hailed

What is said to be the easiest and "cleanest" home rug cleaner, known as Blue Lustre, is now available after years of research.

Blue Lustre leaves no foreign residue to cause rapid resoiling. The pile is left open and fluffy as the colors spring out like magic. So easy to apply with a long handle brush (like playing shuffleboard) and is safe for all types of carpets.

Use Blue Lustre to clean the entire carpet or remove spots and traffic lanes. It's economical to use as 1/2 gallon of concentrate cleans three x 12 rugs.

Doctors Question Castile Soap Value

By ALICIA HART NEA Beauty Editor

The phrase "Castile soap" has come to mean virtually nothing. This is the conclusion of the American Medical Association, as reported in "Today's Health."

This matter of interest to women who have sensitive skins and pay up to 35 cents a bar for the soap with this label, since they feel it is milder. Castile soap once meant soap made with all-olive oil. But since no definite standards were ever established for what constituted "Castile soap," it can mean soap with all olive oil, some olive oil or no olive oil at all. It is the caprice of the manufacturer.

The evidence of this is that it's possible to buy this kind of soap for as little as 25 cents a bar or for as much as 35 cents. True, the more expensive brands are harder - milled and last longer, but the content of olive oil also affects the price since the cheap brands white pepper, 1 cup mayonnaise. Soften 1 ounce gelatin in 4 tablespoons hot water. Add this to the cucumber mixture with 1 cup heavy cream (whipped stiff). Blend well and add 1 cup of chopped chicken and a few drops of green vegetable coloring. Turn mixture into a chilled mold with very thin round cucumber slices around the inside of the mold. Chill and unmold the mousse on a chilled platter. Garnish with watercress or parsley.

make no mention whatsoever of olive oil content. Soaps for babies are generally labeled Castile. They are very hard cakes and last well. Most recognized brands contain some olive oil, and are so labeled.

But if women seek mild soaps for themselves, careful shopping and trail of unperfumed or hypo-allergic soaps or detergent bars may give better beauty value for the money than Castile soap of unknown olive oil content.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Friend, Right now I am carrying a torch for this certain guy. He is everything I have always dreamed of finding in a guy. He comes from a wealthy family, he is handsome and intends to be an actor. He is strictly career minded - right now.

Well I went out with him several months ago and had promised to write, but he didn't. So then a friend of his told me that he came back three weeks ago, but he never has come over to see me, yet I'm still crazy about him. I always will. Should I just take this as a polite brush off or shall I keep trying to get in contact without him knowing, like accidentally running into him where he works, etc.

Also, while he was gone I wrote a letter, telling him how I understood his feelings about having a career and forgetting about getting serious about any girl - right now. And that I thought he was a great guy. I assume he has the letter by now. I thought if he knew how I felt, there would be no misunderstanding. Do you think I was wrong in doing it? This isn't just a case of puppy love, not at all. There is no guy that can replace him, yet if I have to I will try and forget him.

Right now I go out with these two guys, but they just don't appeal to me. None of them do. I will just have to go on with a career myself.

Please write and tell me what to do.

Dear E. A. B. A.

You'd better put out the torch. If the man is the least interested he need only call you. His silence shows that he isn't and you would only be humiliating yourself by pursuing him.

I'll assure you that there are plenty of men who can, and undoubtedly will, replace him in your affections in time. Whether these two other men appeal much or not, you go ahead and date them. It'll help you to forget.

BEAUTIFUL GLAZED, boneless ham with perfectly sliced cold roast turkey make a handsome buffet for a wedding.

COOK'S NOOK

Glazed Ham, Cold Turkey Right For Wedding Buffet

By GAYNOR MADDOX NEA Food and Markets Editor

A large wedding luncheon at home calls for careful planning and a written time table. We asked Mrs. Beth Bailey McLean of Chicago, director of home economics department of Swift and Company, to tell us how she managed the buffet for 60 guests when her daughter Janet was married.

As to costs, Mrs. McLean says they will vary in different parts of the country and on the size of servings, also on time of year.

Here is her experienced advice: Select foods that can be prepared a day or two in advance with only rolls and coffee needing last-minute heating. Select and arrange the serving platters on the buffet table a week or more ahead of time. Consider the right size and shape. If color is used, keep the color scheme in mind for the dishes as well as the food. Paste a label on each platter and write on it the name of the food. Sketch the platter arrangement so that the last-minute placing of the food can be done quickly and in the planned sequence.

Set up small tables with linen, silver and glasses the day before. Cover with plastic cloths to keep free of dust and in place.

Roast an unstuffed 24 to 25-pound turkey one or two days before service. This size bird will require about 7 hours in a slow oven (325 degrees F.). Baste well with salad oil. Cool quickly. Cover with foil and keep in the refrigerator. At service time, have an experienced carver serve each guest. Use a canned boneless ham. Cut a 12 to 13-pound ham into uniform 1/4-inch slices, then cut through the center lengthwise to make 80 to 70 servings. Tie the ham into shape with string and place it on a rack set over foil or a cookie sheet.

To glaze: Make 1 quart of strawberry flavored gelatin according to the package directions. Stir and cool until the gelatin is thickness of coffee cream. Pour the gelatin over the cold ham to form a smooth glaze on top and on the sides. Cut strawberries in half and arrange in a flower pattern on top of the ham. Pour half teaspoon of gelatin over each berry petal. Let set until glaze is firm, then keep cold until service time. Slide the ham onto an oblong platter and garnish with tender lettuce or watercress. The feature of wedding refreshments is the glorious wedding cake. This may be placed on the cleared buffet table for the ceremonial cutting of the first slice by the bride and groom. It is wise to have an experienced cake cutter finish the slicing.

Prince Likes All Things American

By FREDERICK M. WINSHIP
NEW YORK (UP)—The ruling prince of Liechtenstein, a miniature of Monaco, saluted America Thursday with a king-size king for all things American including our bathing suits.

His serene highness Franz Josef I and his wife, Princess Gina, left Wednesday on the Queen Elizabeth for a seven-week United States tour of the United States. His visit was 124 times less publicized than that of his fellow serenity, Prince Rainier, earlier this year.

In an exclusive interview over a glass of bon voyage champagne in his limo director Alfred Hitchcock's film, 49-year-old Franz Josef told the United Press his first trip to America was "wonderful." The king he wants most to tell his own children about when he reaches his mountain capital, Vaduz, is the Grand Canyon.

"Europe has nothing to match it," he said enthusiastically as he juggled a haggard leather-bound diplomatic passport impressively stamped with gold. "In fact, Europe has nothing to match your west. And I should know—I live right in the Alps."

The tall, mustachioed ruler of 1500 subjects and his equally tall young Czechoslovakian wife arrived unheralded in New York in April. They arranged the trip themselves, came without courtiers or servants, and took a midtown hotel suite that was 184 times smaller than their medieval castle which houses the largest private collection of art in Europe.

From New York, they went to Washington. Traveling as private citizens, they received no invitation to the White House, but they met President Eisenhower at a Press Club. Later they visited Chicago, Detroit and California. Everywhere they enjoyed "the warm, handshaking kind of courtesy," the prince said.

Mrs. Sam Pruitt To Solo At Sunday Church Service

The Rev. Ronald E. Hubbard will have for his Sunday morning sermon subject, "You Shall Be Called, Repairer, Restorer," at the local First Presbyterian Church situated at 825 North Gray Street.

Mrs. Sam Pruitt will sing a solo, "How Lovely Are Thy Dwellings," Evening services will be at 7:30 in the Kelley Chapel. The sermon will be based on the second book of Kings. The topic will be, "Elijah and Elisha." This will be the last evening service for the summer.

Sunday morning services from June 17th through August will be at 8:30 a.m. The Bible Study Monday night on the book of Romans will meet from 7:30 to 9 p.m., in the educational building. The study this week will be on Chapters 12 through 16, and will be the last study for the summer.

Dutch Papers Tell Of Royal Rift

AMSTERDAM (UP)—Leading Dutch newspapers broke a self-imposed silence Thursday and informed the Dutch people for the first time of the rumored rift between Queen Juliana and Prince Bernhard because of a faith healer.

The rumors said the queen originally sought the services of Miss Greet Hofmans, a 61-year-old spinster, in helping the eyesight of nine-year-old Princess Marijke, 9, but that Miss Hofmans' influence now extended to matters of state.

The reports said Queen Juliana and Bernhard had split over the issue and that there was a possibility the queen might abdicate.

The Dutch newspapers dismissed the idea of a constitutional crisis caused by the faith healer and said speculation over the queen's abdication was "preposterous."

Miss Hofmans herself, in an interview with United Press Correspondent Arnold de Jong, said "all this talk about politics is pure nonsense." She denied any interest in politics and denied reports she had influenced the queen on state matters.

But most Dutch citizens went to the polls in Wednesday's parliamentary elections unaware that the stories claimed the alleged rift was causing a constitutional crisis.

The independent De Telegraf, in a front page editorial today, dismissed the idea of a constitutional crisis and said that "wild stories" about the royal family had been circulating abroad for more than three years.

As for Miss Hofmans' role, it said, "A mother who is concerned with the health of one of her children, clings to every straw which may be helpful, besides medical aid. Who would like to blame a mother for this?"

'Big Spender' Hits A Snag!

MILWAUKEE (UP)—A "big spender from the west" came to Milwaukee to woo a 19-year-old girl, flouting a new law that prohibits gold mine back home.

Today Robert Chevalier, 23, Los Angeles, was under $5,000 bail on a fugitive from justice warrant waiting extradition to California.

The girl's suspicious father did a little checking and found that Chevalier's wealth came, not from a Death Valley gold mine as he had claimed, but from a string of worthless checks in Los Angeles.

Milwaukee detectives also found that the romantic Chevalier was wanted in Eugene, Ore., for failure to support his 13-month-old son.

Chevalier admitted the worthless check and non-support charges. The girl, who met him in Los Angeles and corresponded with him since her return to Milwaukee, said "I still love him, but he may have lied to me."

Falcon Dam Water Supply Is Low

LAREDO, Tex. (UP)—The Lower Rio Grande Valley has only a 100-day supply of water in the reservoir behind Falcon Dam, according to a Mexican official, in spite of the recent drastic cuts in release of water from the dam.

David Herrera Jordan, Mexican commissioner of the International Boundary and Water Commission, said Texas' share of the water behind the dam is down to 65,000 acre feet of water.

The five-mile-long international dam is located on the Rio Grande about 60 miles above Mission, Tex. Except for scattered individual wells, the Rio Grande is the only source of water for the Lower Valley.

Release of water for farm irrigation was cut off last week. Herrera Jordan said that only 300 cubic feet of water per second was now being released through the dam. It was intended entirely for domestic use in the Valley.

He said this release was cutting the U. S. share of Falcon waters by about 600 acre feet a day, meaning that the share would be exhausted in a little more than 100 days.

But most Dutch citizens went to the polls in Wednesday's parliamentary elections unaware that the stories claimed the alleged rift was causing a constitutional crisis.

The independent De Telegraf, in a front page editorial today, dismissed the idea of a constitutional crisis and said that "wild stories" about the royal family had been circulating abroad for more than three years.

As for Miss Hofmans' role, it said, "A mother who is concerned with the health of one of her children, clings to every straw which may be helpful, besides medical aid. Who would like to blame a mother for this?"

Women In The Church

By MARY FOWLER
The first woman to be granted "full clergy rights" in Methodist Church is Mrs. Maude Krister Jensen, of New Cumberland, Penn. She was admitted into the Central Pennsylvania Annual Conference "on trial" under the General Conference's new rules; she will be eligible to become full member of the conference after the trial period of two years required of all ministers. The General Conference recent action had made it possible for women to be admitted into annual conferences on the same basis as men.

Mrs. Jensen was admitted in absentia. She and her husband, the Rev. A. Kris Jensen, are currently serving as missionaries in Korea. Mrs. Jensen is a graduate of Drew Theological Seminary; some years ago she was ordained a local deacon and then a local elder. It is expected that about 28 women will be admitted to conference membership in the next two months.

Speaking in Christ Protestant Episcopal Church, in Philadelphia, Penn., Princess Ileana, of Roumania, said: "Worldly success is not really success, and it does not necessarily mean that we are in the right. By worldly standards, Christ was a failure."

Miss Virginia McPheeters, a well-known Hollywood actress, has joined the staff of the Methodist Television, Radio and Film Commission, Nashville, Tenn., as assistant production supervisor and unit manager. She is daughter of the Rev. Dr. Julian C. McPheeters, president of Asbury Theological Seminary in Wilmore, Ky.

Jerome Hines, Metropolitan Opera basso, and his wife, Lucia Evangelista, spend many Saturday nights at a Salvation Army mission in New York City singing and helping derelict and homeless men. A plan to extend their missionary activities through the composition and performance of sacred music drama bore fruit recently when Mr. Hines' own music drama, "I Am the Way," was performed at the Salvation Army Temple on West 14th Street, New York. The drama depicted five scenes from the life of Christ. Mr. Hines himself took the role of Jesus.

Investment Loss Blamed On TV

AUSTIN (UP)—Investors in the defunct U.S. Trust and Guaranty Co. blame a television program on which Drew Pearson appeared as being a major factor in convincing them to part with their money, according to a survey made by the firm's receiver.

Emmett Shelton, lawyer for the State Liquidator J. D. Wheeler, reported on the survey. Shelton called Pearson's program "by far the most effective means" of promoting sale of U.S. Trust's "certified drafts."

He said a survey of 3,008 investors showed almost one-half "specifically mentioned Mr. Pearson as an influencing factor for investing."

Pearson, a Washington columnist and commentator, said last year that he believed U.S. Trust was in good condition and was under the regulation of the Texas Insurance Commission at the time he made the broadcasts.

The firm's collapse set off state investigations. It was placed in permanent receivership early this year, and its president, A. B. Shoemaker, attempted suicide.

Navy Rocket Soars 95 Miles

WHITE SANDS PROVING GROUNDS, N. M. (UP)—An interim Aerobics rocket was sent some 95 miles into the ionosphere, here Tuesday in the first in a series of tests.

The rocket firing had been delayed from Monday night because of thunderstorms.

Project Capt. James Hurst said the rocket apparently went to its planned altitude of 95 miles. Three other similar rocket firings will be made to complete the series of tests.

The Weekly Message Of Inspiration

Rev. J. B. Caldwell
Pentecostal Holiness Church
1700 Alcock

THE SECRET OF ABUNDANT LIFE

Therefore let no man glory in men. For all things are yours; Whether Paul or Apolos, or Cephas, or the world or life, or death, or things present, or things to come; all are yours. I Cor. 3:21, 22.

The Apostle Paul did not endeavour to solve his problems by running from them. We hear a lot these days about peace of mind and freedom from fear. What we need is some old time consecrated Christians and concern. It's a time to constrain ourselves to fight sin, and the devil with hatred and a concern we've never had before;

We live in a day, whether we like it or not, when rewards are given to the people who do not deserve them; when men are seeking to succeed without paying the price of success. It is generally believed that you can sin, and that you will not have to suffer for your sin. That preachers like Moses missed the mark when he said "Be sure your sin will find you out."

And because our thinking in these days, our civilization has bogged in the mud — and the team is very tired and we find ourselves in a very perplexed condition as far as the world as we look at it is concerned. "You can say, "It is hopeless and there is no use to be concerned about it, therefore it is just a lost cause," or we can reaffirm our faith that Jesus Christ has the answer for every need of every human heart in this universe this afternoon. Now I'm glad that I'm alive in this day. I believe that decisions that we are making as Christian people are going to be decisions that are going to determine somewhat the future of this world that we live in.

George Washington said to his men one day,—"What we do here, coming generations will look upon our decisions." And what decisions we are making, the coming generations are looking back upon us. I thank God that I'm a Christian. I still believe that it is the best thing that God has on the top of this earth.

Paul said, "All things are yours." He begins to name those things, "Whether Paul, or Apolos or Cephas,"—all God's creatures and workers are yours.

But the Apostle goes on. He says, "the world is ours." I don't mean the world of Sodom and sin, but the world that God made with the stars, the moon, the sun, it is all ours in Christ Jesus! It is ours, it is yours in Christ Jesus.

But there is something else here. He said, "Death is yours." If you live for the world you are going to lose all you live for. If you live for self or profit you are going to lose it all. But if you live for Christ, you are going to have great gain, even in the hour of death.

Oilers Split Twin Bill With Midland Indians, 8-7, 10-6

MIDLAND, June 15—The Pampa Oilers split a twin-bill with the Midland Indians, here Thursday evening. Pampa lost the opener, 6-7, then took the nightcap, 10-6.

The Indians Dick Hogan broke the tie at 7-7 when Ike Jackson tripled sending Hogan cross the plate in the seventh inning. Indian hurler Stadicki picked up the win while Oiler hurler, Jerry Tucker, received the loss.

In the night game the Oilers after trailing, 6-4, picked up six big runs in the eighth. Shortstop Joe Kretschmar homered with two mates aboard to tie it up. Indian pitcher Bill Kulpacka issued three walks and a wild pitch by Kulpacka enabled another Oiler to cross the plate. Johnny Bruga then connected on a three run homer to tie the game for the visitors. Buddy Woods picked up the win for Pampa while Kulpacka was dumped for the loss.

Pampa hosts the Midland Indians tonight for the first, of a two game tilt. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

Yankees Might Have Found Pennant Insurance In Grim

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

The Yankees were looking high and low for another pitcher as "pennant insurance" and it may be they've finally found him today in Bob Grim, a right hander who some people were beginning to think was just another of those one-year wonders.

Relegated to the bullpen earlier this season when he failed to impress anyone, the 29-year-old Grim turned in by far his best performance of the campaign Thursday, defeating the White Sox, 5-1, and stretching the Yankees' lead in the American League to five games.

Grim, a 20-game winner in 1954 and the American League "rookie of the year" spent part of last year on the disabled list and wound up with an ordinary 7-8 record.

Grim, who had not pitched a complete game victory since May 29, 1955 when he beat Baltimore, 7-0, struck out nine White Sox batters, walked only one and gave up four hits. Chicago's only run came as a result of a fourth-inning homer by Dave Philley, who was ejected from the game in the sixth because of a stormy third-strike protest.

Mickey Mantle led a 10-hit attack with his 22nd homer and a double, his homer off loser Jim Wilson in the fourth putting him one game ahead of Babe Ruth's record pace again. For Grim, it was his fourth victory without a defeat while Wilson suffered his third loss against eight victories.

Only two other games were played in the majors Thursday with the Red Sox outlasting the Indians, 10-9, and the Braves beating the Giants, 5-2.

Jackie Jensen drove in four runs and Dick Gernert three in Boston's triumph, which was credited to Ike Delock. Jensen hit a three-run homer off Bob Lemon in the third inning and before he left the scene, Lemon was trailing 8-3. The Red Sox scored what proved to be the decisive runs in the fifth on Don Buddin's double, a sacrifice, Jim Piersall's triple and Gernert's single.

Southpaw Warren Spahn, who had not won a game since May 17, struck out 10 batters and walked only one in nailing down his fourth victory. Spahn scattered seven hits and Willie Mays collected three of them, a homer and two singles.

Del Crandal hit a two-run home run off loser Ruben Gomez to tie the score at 2-all in the fifth inning and the Braves wrapped up the contest with two more runs in the sixth.

Four Teams Get In Under The Wire With Trades

By UNITED PRESS

Only four major league clubs—the Cardinals, Giants, Yankees and Athletics—bothered to get in under the wire with deals before the official major league deadline for trading at midnight tonight.

The biggest deal was the eight-player trade which sent Alvin Dark, Whitey Lockman, Don Liddle and Ray Katt from the Giants to the Cardinals for Al (Red) Schoendienst, Bill Sarni, Dick Littlefield and rookie Jackie Brandt.

But the Yankees and Athletics also figured in another four-player deal of their own.

Eddie Robinson, 35-year-old long ball hitting first baseman, was sent to Kansas City by the Yankees along with outfielder Lou Skizas, who was with the Yanks' Richmond farm club in the International League.

In exchange, the Yankees acquired Ed Burtch and outfielder Bill Renna, both of whom were assigned to Richmond, along with an undisclosed amount of cash. The Yankees also brought up outfielder

Burley Bob Rosburg Leads U. S. Open

TODAY'S SPORT PARADE
(Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.)
By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UP)—They laughed when we sat down to play but burly Bob Rosburg was really breaking their spiked bide suede shoes in the U.S. Open today.

Because as they sat on the second of four rounds for a title estimated to be worth $35,000 to the winner—plus an annuity sort of a return—robust Robert was steaming up there on the head end with a two under par 34-34-68 which was two shots on top.

It wasn't easy.

Just last week end, this 29-year-old bespectacled club buster was ready to give up tournament golf. His wife Carolyn, talked him into giving it "just one more try." So, dispiritedly, he came to Oak Hill Country Club and bumped into Jackson Bradley, a pro friend from Texas.

"Bradley straightened me out," Rosburg gloated. "I can't hardly believe it, but I sure am glad I came."

There are a number of schools of thought regarding that. Because the guys who gallop over the greens don't think he's much of a golfer and yet they regard this six-foot, 190-pounder as a real threat because he's not a "worrier."

They don't think much of him because he has a baseball grip and his swing has all the aspects of a department store mannequin.

"Never mind my swing," says Rosburg. "The real artistry of golf is in those short chip shots and putts."

That's for sure. The man whose father started him swinging a club at two and who scored a hole in one at seven before going on to play with Stanford's NCAA championship team had nine one-putt greens Thursday. That permitted him to score 16 pars and two birdies which, whether he looks like Harry Vardon or a mechanical blacksmith, is a lot of golf.

Rosburg had his heart set on being a ball player and was a second-baseman good enough to attract pro offers.

"I felt I was too slow to reach any real heights in pro baseball so I passed them up," he explains.

After graduating, Rosburg, a quarter-finalist in the 1947 U.S. amateur championship, tried his hand at selling automobiles and working in a clothing store. In 1953 he took a pro job in Chicago and finally hit the tournament trail in 1954. Swiftly he was at Brawley and Stockton, in California, and after going home because of homesickness, drove across country to win the Miami Open.

Last year, despite the form which causes most athletes to shudder, he was the 13th money winner with earnings of $16,680. But this year it was a sadly different story. He isn't among the top 15 and when he finished 18th out of 16 at the Wykagi round robin he was ready to call it quits.

There are a lot of guys in back of him as they go into the second round of the Open who wish that he had.

Easter Slams Ball In International

By UNITED PRESS

Luke Easter is getting along in years and has had legs so he doesn't have much hope of ever getting back to the major leagues, but one thing for sure — he still can hit the ball a long way in the International League.

The Buffalo first baseman powdered his 12th home run of the season Thursday night but the Bisons dropped a 9-6 decision to the Havana Sugar Kings. Luke's homer in the third inning knotted the score at 5-5, but a trio of Buffalo relief hurlers were belted for four more runs in subsequent innings. Easter leads the league in home runs.

The Montreal Royals and the Columbus Jets split a pair of games, the Royals winning the opener, 7-4, and the Jets the nightcap, 5-4; the Richmond Virginians edged the Toronto Maple Leafs, 4-2, behind Al Cicotte, and the Miami Marlins shaded the Rochester Royals, 4-3, but not until old Satch Paige had made his 15th relief appearance of the season.

City League Games Played Thursday

In city baseball games played Thursday, in the Pony League Pampa Paint and Glass shellacked Kist, 16-5, in the Pony Park. Cabot edged Tom Rose, 7-6, in an Eastern Little League tilt at the Eastern Park, and the Harrelson's Mobilgassers tripped One Bull Ranch, 7-6, in a Western Little League game played at the Western Park.

Gary Hill and Butch Dunham were the batteries for the victorious Paint and Glass team while George Campbell and Brooks combined together for Kist. Homeruns were pounded by Coday and Rawles both of Paint and Glass. Hill received credit for the win while Campbell picked up the loss.

In the Cabot-Tom Rose game, Miles, Chase and Stroud combined together for winning Cabot crew while Gilbert and Langley were the batteries for Tom Rose. Winning pitcher was chalked up to Chase while Gilbert received the loss.

The Harrelson Mobilgassers scored two runs in the first, one in the second and sent two across in both the fifth and sixth innings to take the win. One Bull tallied two in the first, picked up three in the fourth, and could only scratch one in the fifth.

James Tucker took credit for the Mobilgasser win and also connected for a four bagger. The losing pitcher was Jerry Glover.

One Linkster Breaks Par In US Open Golf Round

By LEO H. PETERSEN
ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UP)—Hot sun and hot temperatures, which sometimes go together, stirred things up today in the National Open much more than the hot golf that was predicted for this year's blue ribbon links championship.

Only one man in the unwieldy field of 150, Bob Rosburg of Palo Alto, Calif., was able to break par in Thursday's opening round and he shot a 34-34—68 to take a two-stroke lead in a gruelling day that was more notable for arguments and complaints than for good golf.

It was the sun that burned up the fairways, not the golfers, who were just burned up. There were four major rhabarbs and through all were settled—for the record—the wrangling was expected to continue today.

One item seemed crystal clear as the tournament went into the second crucial day wherein all but the low 50 and ties will be eliminated for Saturday's double round of 36 holes for the championship. That was that the Oak Hills course was nowhere near as easy as it had been rated by the pros.

Course Very Tough

The rough was tougher, the greens faster and the fairways bouncier under the sun-baking treatment and it appeared that a total of 284—four over par for the 72 holes, would be enough to win.

If so, Rosburg and Peter Thomson, the British Open king from Australia, were in an especially advantageous position. Thomson rated next to Rosburg with a first round of 70 and they were followed by eight more at the 71 level. They included former Open champs Julius Boros of Southern Pines, N.C., Ed Furgol of Creve

Partners Question Card

Another squabble involved the veteran British golfer, Henry Cotton, who was challenged by his threesome partners, Middlecoff and Jimmy Demaret with turning in a wrong card. They claimed Cotton scored himself a five on the par four 17th when he should have returned in a six. They said he missed a three-foot putt, then jabbed it backhanded and missed again. But Cotton's count of 74 was accepted by the rules committee when he said he merely had struck the green in exasperation with his putter and that he had not attempted to back-hand the ball.

Boros had his troubles which involved a 35-minute wait for the removal of a truck behind which he had sliced his drive on the 18th fairway. Boros, not noted for his patience anyway, fumed until the driver of the truck could come and move it out of the way.

Ben Hogan, who had called the layout comparatively easy for an Open, didn't exactly tear it apart and was among a large group at 72. Sam Snead, who probably won't do any better in this Open than in others where he has missed the boat, was five over par at 75.

Borg and Watt Carry US Hopes In Grand Prix

By HENRY THORNBERRY
STOCKHOLM (UP) Maj. Robert Borg of The Dalles, Ore., and Elaine Shirley Watt of Montclair, N. J., carried America's hopes today in the Grand Prix de Dressage of the Equestrian Olympics.

Maj. Borg and Miss Watt were the only U.S. entrants among 26 male and 11 female riders from 18 countries who will compete in the Grand Prix de Dressage. The equestrian division of the 1956 Olympics ends Sunday with the Grand Prix jumping competition.

Thus far, no American competitor has been able to win a gold medal.

Petrus Kastenman, a Swedish cavalry lieutenant, and three British riders—William Weldon, Arthur Rook and Albert Hill—won gold medals in the three-day event which ended Thursday. The 22-year-old Kastenman won the individual title by guiding his eight-year-old gelding, Illustre, over a tricky 12-ounce course with a low score of 64.53 points while Weldon, Rook and Hill won the team title for Britain with 355.43 points.

Walter Staley, Jr., of Mexico, Mo., the only member of the American team who survived Thursday's 22-mile endurance division of the three-day event, was eliminated when he got mixed up in the complicated zig-zag obstacle course.

Needles To Race In Belmont

NEW YORK (UP)—The field for the 88th running of the $100,000 added Belmont Stakes Saturday probably will be made up of eight three-year-olds with Needles, the Kentucky Derby winner, the odds-on choice to take down the third leg of the triple crown classic.

Seven interests in all will be represented in the mile and one-half race if Fabius, Career Boy, Jazz Age, Ricci Tavi, Beau Diable, Charievot and Frosty Jr. line up against Needles at approximately 2:30 p.m. at Saturday at Belmont Park. Career Boy and Jazz Age are C. V. Whitney's entry.

Texan Turns Down Pro Offer

ABILENE, Tex. (UP)—Versatile Freddie Green, who starred in both football and baseball at Abilene high school, says he will turn down a $30,000 bonus offer from the Detroit Tigers in order to get a college education at Southern Methodist University.

The 18-year-old third baseman on Abilene's state champion team said he had accepted a full baseball scholarship at SMU, but would not play football.

He said Detroit had offered him $30,000 to enter professional baseball. Green said the University of Texas, Texas A&M, Oklahoma University, Rice and Texas Tech also tried to get his services.

Green is the fourth Abilene high school athlete to decide to enter SMU this fall. The others are Sam Caudell, Elmo Cure and James Welch, all football players.

Headaches Are Legion But Unnecessary

Most febrile diseases are accompanied by a headache. Headaches occur with the most all organic disorders, eyes and ears strain are often blamed and as often found innocent.

Migraine is quite rare, though frequently mis-called because of the nausea. Almost any violent headache can, if the pain is severe enough, cause that sickish feeling about the stomach that is so common in Migraine cases.

Nervous headaches caused by female disturbance, tension and the inability to relax is perhaps most common. If you neglect these or stop them with a pain killer you are inviting trouble and future female surgery.

Few people suspect that a neck injury frequently is the real underlying cause of not only the common so-called nervous headache, but many other types as well. This case is an example of a neck injury headache.

Violent pains over his eyes and in the back of his neck that lasted three or four weeks and resisted all types of pain killers finally caused this man only twenty-nine years old to come to the Miller Chiropractic Clinic.

We found that he had chronic constipation, upset stomach, very tender gall bladder and liver, hemorrhoids and prostate trouble, in addition to the head pain.

Spinal analysis and spinal X-Rays disclosed nerve interferences and spinal injuries causing the trouble. Corrective adjustments removed the cause of the interferences and in due time, all the symptoms listed as above vanished. No. 218.

For your own health's sake investigate. You have nothing to lose except your bad health.

Top Track Stars To Give Specialties A Whirl At NCAA Meet

By HAL WOOD
BERKELEY, Calif. (UP)—The nation's greatest collegiate track and field stars tried out their specialties at the metric distances today as the 35th annual NCAA championships got under way—and before night falls some 8.4 100-yard dash men are going to find they are not even fast enough to qualify for the finals.

The 100 meters measures out at 109 yards, 1 foot, 1 inch—and the world record for that distance is 10.2.

The competition is so keen in this event, that it is expected to hold the opening-day spotlight.

Among the entrants are Leonard King, California; Mike Agostini, Fresno State; Dave Sims, Duke; and Bobby Morrow, Abilene Christian—and all have been clocked in 9.3 or better in the 100-yard dash. There are a total of 19 men on the list who have done 9.4 or better—and only eight can qualify, out of the 31 entered, for the finals Saturday.

The world mark for 1500 meters is 3:40.8 and the intercollegiate mark, set by Wes Santee of Kansas in 1954, is 3:42.8. So this thing is in jeopardy, too. There are 25 men entered.

The shot put field looks one of the best in history, topped by Kansas' Bill Nieder, who has passed the 60-foot mark; and Ken Bantam of Manhattan, who has bettered 59 feet.

Pitchers Star In Big State

Glittering pitching performances marked a twin bill that saw Big State League-leading Corpus Christi and runner-up Wichita Falls break even in their battle for top honors.

The front-running Clippers' Carl Green won his 10th straight victory as Corpus Christi took the opener 7-1 on his six-hit mound job, while the two clubs were able to scratch together only five hits between them in a 12-inning night cap the Spuds won 2-1.

Ed Ritchie stopped the Clips with two hits in the finale that was supposed to go only seven frames, while Al Zebrowski and Joel Whitlock held the Spudders to three hits as the two clubs stayed 4-1-2 games apart.

In other games, third-place Abilene got a six-hit pitching career from Evans Killean to beat fourth-place Fort Arthur 7-3; Chico Salgado pitched and batted fifth-place Waco to a 6-4 verdict over Beaumont, and Lubbock beat Victoria 7-1 behind the five-hit pitching of Darrell Thacker.

Tonight's schedule is the same—Corpus Christi at Wichita Falls, Fort Arthur at Abilene, Victoria at Lubbock and Beaumont at Waco.

Honorary Cartright

HOBOKEN, N.J. (UP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers and the city of Hoboken join together in honoring the memory of Alexander Joy Cartright Jr., one of the founders of baseball, next week. A bronze plaque will be dedicated next Tuesday, the 110th anniversary of the playing of the first organized baseball game in Hoboken.

Cowboys Win

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay (UP)—The touring U.S. Texas Cowboys basketball team downed a local sporting club five, 67-50, Thursday night.

The Cowboys led all the way and were in front by 42-33 at the half.

Hamia Favored To Win Fight

NEW YORK (UP)—Handsome Cher Hamia, the French "picture fighter" whose ambitions are focused on the featherweight crown, is favored at 8-5 to best fiery, sawed-off Miguel Berrios of Puerto Rico tonight in their TV-radio 10-rounder at Madison Square Garden.

Trim, dimpled Hamia risks his third ranking among 126-pound contenders and his unbeaten string of 11 against prestige-hungry Berrios, engaging in his first Garden main event.

Because he is an excellent boxer-puncher, although seemingly somewhat fragile, 25-year-old Hamia is favored over Berrios, a low-slung bobber who loses much leather but is a comparatively light hitter. Berrios, 23, has knocked out only three of his 21 opponents, whereas Algerian-born Cheriff stopped 13 of his 27.

Texan Turns Down Pro Offer

ABILENE, Tex. (UP)—Versatile Freddie Green, who starred in both football and baseball at Abilene high school, says he will turn down a $30,000 bonus offer from the Detroit Tigers in order to get a college education at Southern Methodist University.

N. Texas Bishop To Visit Local Church Sunday

The Bishop of North Texas, Right Rev. Geo. H. Quarterman, will make a visitation to St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, 707 W. Browning. It was announced by Rev. William E. West, rector, at 4:30 Sunday afternoon for confirmation services.

The Woman's Auxiliary will hold a reception for new members following the confirmation services.

Rev. West also announced Parent's Night will be held at 7:30 p.m. Friday. Children of the Vacation Bible School will display their projects and will give a program in honor of the occasion. Refreshments will be served.

Joins Service

CLEVELAND (UP)—Henry C. Bullough, former Michigan State star and an offensive guard with the Green Bay Packers last fall, left for the armed services Thursday. He was the Packers' fifth draft choice a year ago.

Vaccine Was Used During Outbreak

By ALFRED LEECH. CHICAGO (UP) - Capt. John R. Seal of the Navy Medical Corps said today that Salk vaccine was used during an outbreak of polio in Honolulu and did not provoke paralysis as some medical scientists had feared.

Seal disclosed details of the inoculation program in a paper presented at the 100th annual convention of the American Medical Association.

The polio outbreak occurred among U.S. Navy personnel and dependents in Hawaii between the months of July, 1955, and March, 1956.

Fears Explained. Seal said some doctors had felt that mass inoculation might result in paralysis of some persons who otherwise might not be so affected. But he said experience during the Hawaiian outbreak disproved, tentatively at least, this belief.

The Navy inoculation program, he said, was the first time Salk vaccine was used during an outbreak. He said it had been known since 1950 that immunizing injections to ward off diphtheria and tetanus, for example, can provoke paralysis if administered during a polio outbreak. Penicillin injections can do the same, he said.

In the Pearl Harbor outbreak, Seal said, there were 35 cases of polio with two deaths between July 29, 1955, and March 2, 1956 among Naval personnel and dependents in Honolulu county.

Three Struck. Of nine paralytic vaccinated cases at Pearl Harbor, he said, only three came down with the disease during this time span and "none developed initial paralysis in the inoculated extremity."

Team Wins - Fan Laments CHICAGO (UP) - Delight became despair for Chicago Cubs fan Paul Garcia Wednesday, even though the Cubs beat the New York Giants 6-5. When Garcia returned to his car parked outside Wrigley Field, he found a home run by the Giants' White Mays had cracked the windshield and another by Chicago's Eddie Miksis had smashed the side window.

Singer Elvis Presley Insists That He's 'Just A Wiggler'

By ALINE MOSBY HOLLYWOOD (UP) - Is Elvis Presley a "sexy" singer? A psychiatrist thinks the new rock 'n' roll sensation is so sensual that the hobby - sockers feel the same way, but Elvis insists he's "just a wiggler."

Elvis has skyrocketed this year by belting out a combination of hillbilly and rock 'n' roll tunes such as "Heartbreak Hotel." While he sings he rotates his hips and bounces around the stage, a behavior that earned him the nickname of "Pelvis Ellis."

It also causes bobby-soxers to bounce out of their theater seats in a screaming frenzy.

"One psychiatrist I queried on the subject decided his movements 'have sexual overtones and can prompt a group of listeners to imitate him.'"

But when I interviewed Presley during his tour here he scoffed, "That's a silly statement."

"I don't try to be sexy," said

POST OFFICE BOXER - Duke, two-year-old Boxer, puts the bite on the day's mail instead of on the postman at College Hill Branch Post Office, Cincinnati, Ohio. Mailman pal is Joseph C. Nicosia, who made friends with Duke on his route. The dog shows up at the post office every morning and makes the rounds with Nicosia.

Paratrooper May Be Honored

FT. BRAGG, N. C. (UP) - A Toledo, Ohio paratrooper may receive the nation's highest non-combat award for saving the life of a fellow soldier last week during a mass air jump by members of the 82nd Airborne Division.

Army authorities said Pfc. Wilbur Lewis had been recommended for the Soldier's Medal for his action in saving the life of Pfc. Charles P. Harper of Eau Claire, Wis., after Harper's parachute failed to open.

They said Lewis had jumped just ahead of Harper and was checking his chute when he saw Harper plunge into the canopy. As Harper slid down the canopy he grabbed one of the suspension lines and yelled to Lewis to catch him.

Lewis hung on and both men dropped safely to the earth.

MORE TO THIS STORY - Juliann Cooper, 6, "sponges" on Mother Nature for the truffle-like delicacies on her lap. The sponge-like objects are morel mushrooms, prized by mushroom fanciers for their delicate, nutlike flavor. Moral to this morel story: If you're a city dweller, don't acquire a taste for morels - they bring several dollars a plate in New York City restaurants.

Elvis, a sleepy-looking boy of 21 with a drawl learned in his native Memphis, Tenn.

"I don't do any vulgar movements. I just do a lot of wiggle and quiverin' - but I never do a bump and grind. I can't stand still when I sing so the kids can't sit still."

Presley thinks the bobby-soxers' behavior is "just great." He doesn't mind that young females with braces on their teeth trail him around the streets and send him neckties and billboards tucked into romantic letters.

"I like it," he grinned, "the time you worry is when they stop throwin' themselves at you."

In private life young Presley and his four Cadillacs cut quite a romantic figure, too. He dates various girls every night. Recently he caused a flurry by wearing a black sapphire-and-diamond ring that start Jody Sprackles gave him, but he says "she's like a sister to me."

"She gave me the ring because I admired it," he explained. "She's a lot older than me. She helped me a lot and we're friends. I have no plans for marriage now. I want to work a while."

He sat there brooding a minute, his bright sport shirt unbuttoned almost to his waist. He toyed nervously with some matches and seemed restless.

"I can always tell when a girl goes out with me because she likes me or because of my success," he finally said.

A year and a half ago Presley was an unknown Tennessee truck driver. He paid to have a song recorded and a record agent heard it and signed him. He's conquered TV and personal appearance tours. Next the public will see Elvis as a dramatic actor. He returns to Hollywood in August for his first picture under his seven-year contract with producer Hal Wallis at Paramount Studio.

"I'm not going to sing in the picture," he said. "Singers come and go - they die out. I want to be a dramatic actor."

Presley has a manager named Colonel Parker who's the exact opposite of the serious singer. "I'm going to get a wiggle meter to time the wiggles!" Jokes the jovial colonel. "When Elvis stops singin' we'll put him on the stage - and just let him wiggle!"

City Hall Unsafe SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (UP) - Safety Commissioner George W. Doyle had alarming news Wednesday for fellow members of City Council. The old City Hall, in which they were meeting is unsafe, he said.
