The best features of more than a dozen different types of paint chambers and combined in the dust-free paint room at the Quality Body Works shop on the Lamesa highway.

Dan Scott, Quality manager, personally inspected scores of different paint rooms in all parts of the state before starting construction of the dust proof room at Quality. He and other Quality workmen personally built their own room, incorporating the outstanding features Scott had observed.

The paint room opens directly into the Lo-Bake paint drying oven so that customers' autos may be moved directly into the drying compartment without danger of exposure to dust, smoke, or other foreign matter.

Paint is baked on by heated air in the Lo-Bake oven. It is completely dried within an hour after the car is driven into the chamber.

The Lo-Bake factory method of auto refinishing dries the paint smoothly, effectively, rapidly. The paint will not crack, chip, or fade after being given the Lo-Bake treatment which follows the factory principle of drying and sealing. Scott stated.

Baked on paint jobs are only one of the top quality auto services available at Quality Auto Body Works.

Skilled metal workmen qualified to perform all sorts of body or fender work on hand to maintain the new look on cars. Battered fenders, tops, or side panels can be straightened, resurfaced, and painted to look like new. If metal sections are too badly damaged for repair, Quality maintains stocks of accessories for all popular makes of cars, and may obtain others.

Bent or broken grills, bumpers, and chassis parts can be repaired or replaced by Quality workmen.

Wheel Alignment Saves Auto Tires

Front end alignment and frame work are two of the many automotive services available at the Quality Auto Body Works on the Lamesa highway.

"Save expensive tires as well as add pleasure to the operation of your car by having these front wheels given the proper camber and toe-in," Dan Scott, Quality manager, advises.

The local Seiberling dealers also carry a full stock of tires for trucks and tractors, as well as other automobile accessories. (Hugh Mathis Photo).

Cordiality Is O'Brien Trademark

A neighborhood business establishment that combines the quantity of goods and services found in any of the nation's largest stores with the friendly, wholesome atmosphere so evident in small community concerns is the O'Brien Grocery, located at 1201 11th Place in Big Spring.

Cordiality of the help toward customers, new and old, has helped "sell" the store to its visitors.

Those who like to shop in comfort will find the establishment a welcome haven during the summer months, when a mammoth cooling system keeps the heat outside.

If shopping for groceries has become a chore for the average housewife, it needn't be. The customer will find the establishment handy to most sections of Big Spring. Once they arrive, they will find plenty of parking space around the store, with no traffic problem confronting them in and around the establishment.

For the benefit of those persons who like to place orders for groceries via telephone, the O'Brien store maintains a delivery service to any point in the city and at any hour of the day.

Nationally advertised canned goods, fresh meats, fresh vegetables (from the lush fields of Southern California and the Texas Valley) and breads, rolls, and all kinds of pastries are among the items stocked in quantity at the O'Brien store.

Business telephone number of the concern is 1622.

Brooks Appliance Co. Local Servel Center

Silent as the tiny flame which has become famous as an identifying mark, Servel refrigerators are as durable as they are quiet.

Lloyd Brooks, owner of L. M. Brooks Appliance company, delights in the opportunity to show the record of prolonged service by Servel units.

For silence and durability are not accidental; rather they are logical. Servel has no moving parts—hence there is nothing to wear, nothing to vibrate or contribute noises. By a sound principle, Servel gets around the conventional refrigeration methods by mechanical power. A tiny gas flame, consuming practically nothing in fuel, does the work.

Of course, for best results, Servel ought to be adjusted periodically. In this respect, it is like your automobile or any other machine. The high pitch of efficiency is reached and maintained when adjustments are properly made.

Having had 14 years of experience servicing Servels, Brooks certainly is qualified to see that this is properly done. Those who purchase Servels from Brooks Appliance and turn maintenance over to the company have a box that lasts practically indefinitely.

In the season ahead, there will be increasing interest in refrigeration, and Brooks will be eager to discuss merits of Servel with anyone. The same goes for cooling and ventilation problems, as well as for cooking and conditioning of heating systems during the off months.

First Methodist Church Building At Colorado City To Open Sunday

COLORADO CITY, March 23.—Members of the Colorado City First Methodist church will move their Sunday school classes into their new $90,000 educational building, Sunday.

Sunday school members will first meet in their old rooms, then march to their recently completed three-story cream brick building at 30 a. m. J. D. Norman, Sunday school superintendent, will give the moving signal and Mrs. W. C. Hooks, church organist, will play the chimes as the nursery, kindergarten, primary, junior, intermediate, youth and adult classes join the procession in that order.

At the morning worship hour the pastor, the Rev. J. E. Shewbert, will conduct special services of praise and thanksgiving for the most modern and spacious educational church building in Colorado City.

Open house, in the afternoon, Sunday from 2:30 until 4:30, with the whole town and county invited to attend, is also planned. Guests will be shown through all three floors, then gathered in the banquet room in the basement for refreshments to be served by the Women's Society of Christian Service.

After a whirl wind fund raising campaign the building was begun with formal ground-breaking ceremonies last June 23.

The building has 18,000 square feet, is 50 feet wide, 78 feet long. Central heating has already been installed and mechanical cooling system will be added later.

There are 24 class rooms, a church parlor, a fellowship hall,

BRITISHER PAYS BILL

BRISTOL, Eng., March 23.—A man who wanted a new set of free false teeth under Britain's national health scheme told the Bristol health commission "I lost them during illness."

His wife interrupted: "Don't leave him. He left them in a dress-gown at a lady friend's home."

The husband got his new teeth—and paid for them.

Expert Says Dust Situation In Texas Getting Serious

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD AP STAFF

Three dust storms in Texas already this month, said a spokesman for the U. S. Soil Conservation Service. "The situation is getting worse."

H. N. Smith, of Fort Worth, regional chief of operations for the service, said: "I was in Del Rio a couple of weeks ago and Northwest Texas dust was blowing clear into Mexico."

Smith named these as dust areas: Northwest Texas, Eastern New Mexico, and parts of Colorado, Kansas and Oklahoma.

"There has been very light rainfall over much of this area and there is less crop residue and less cover crops grown because of the lack of rain," he explained. "In the southern High Plains in Texas and New Mexico, great acreages in lands of a marginal nature have been taken out of grass. And the wind has been high."

"Hundreds of thousands of acres, south and west of Lubbock, do not have adequate cover to prevent blowing."

"What can be done to stop dust storms?" he asked Smith.

"Three steps would help bring about a permanent solution. As much marginal land as possible should be left to grow cover crops. Only with good rainfall — should be returned to grass. Secondly, on farmlands, farmers should preserve as much of the crop residue as possible from the preceding crops and work the residue into

SOLDIER HITCHHIKES BY PLANE TO GERMANY AND BACK ON JUST $45

SAN PEDRO, Calif., March 23. — Corporal Weldon H. Franck of the U. S. Army is a young man who should go far. In fact he already has.

A sample of his ability at going places: Franck, 22, hitchhiked by plane to Germany with $50 in his pocket, married a German girl, went on a honeymoon and got back to Port Arthur here right on the deadline of his 41-day leave—with $5 change. His bride is still in Germany. But will be following her husband to his country soon.

The story came to light belatedly, at the fort yesterday. Franck of Portland, Ore., related that he met and became engaged to Annehese Bacher, 21, of Stuttgart, Germany, when he was in that country.

He said he decided to try a flying hitchhike trip to Germany when he learned early this year that it would take three years to get his fiancée into the United States on quota. His superior officers approved the trip with air transportation when available.

So he started from Long Beach, Calif., Jan. 13 catching rides on a catch-as-catch-can basis, aboard U. S. planes. He related that he and the former Miss Bacher were wed in Stuttgart last Jan. 31 in a civil ceremony five days after his arrival. He said they had a second ceremony, a church wedding, on Feb. 10.

He said his expenditures were light as traveling didn't cost him anything. Most of the $45 was spent for food. He said his German marriage license cost the equivalent of 80 cents American money. The corporal said that on his return he applied for an immigration visa on his wife on a non-quota basis as a result experts here to arrive here soon after April 1. Franck didn't fancy that idea of waiting three years.

Truman May Delay Filling AEC Post

KEY WEST, Fla., March 23. — Highly placed White House advisers said today that President Truman may delay designation of a new chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission until after his return to Washington in April.

Mr. Truman's announcement yesterday of the appointment of Thomas E. Murray, New York engineer, banker and inventor to succeed former Chairman David E. Lilienthal on the commission, lessened the pressure for immediate action on a head of that vitally important post-war agency.

He made it clear that Sumner F. Pike, Republican, will continue to serve as acting AEC chairman until Lewis Strauss, another of the five-member commission, steps out April 15 to spend a lot of time on his farm in Virginia.

One official, who is working closely with Mr. Truman on the AEC problem, said he will stand by his announced policy of civil control for the commission. This would eliminate any consideration of several generals whose names have been brought into speculation, including General Lucius D. Clay, former military governor in Germany.

Lilienthal is known to favor Pike for the chairmanship. Meanwhile, one unquotable aide to the President said there was a strong possibility Mr. Truman may name a chairman of the National Security Resources Board during his vacation at the winter White House here.

The name of W. Stuart Symington, secretary of the Air Force, has crept into speculation over who may get this post. Symington isn't talking.

Neither is Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross, who handles Mr. Truman's press relations.

A competent source said that there is considerable doubt that the President will fill the vacancy on the Economic Advisory Council

Peanut Lodged In Tot's Throat

DUNCAN, Okla., March 23. — Linda Sue Howeth, 3, who has had a peanut lodged in her right lung for a month, will be taken Saturday to a Wichita Falls hospital for medical treatment.

Mrs. Horace Howeth, the girl's mother, said a family physician yesterday advised medical attention. The doctor reported an inflammatory process had set up in the lung that could easily turn into an abscess.

The child's plight first came to public attention when a neighbor filed a court petition to force the parents to take the child to a doctor.

Clifford King, the neighbor, said the girl's life was in danger. County Judge Elvie L. Sewell conferred with the parent and the trip to the doctor followed.

Mrs. Howeth said: "We always care for four children without anyone else's help."

Churchill Sought

LOS ANGELES, March 23. — The Times said today that the American Legion is seeking Winston Churchill to share speaking honors with President Truman and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower at the annual Legion convention here Oct. 4-8.

GOLDFISH BAIT IS COUNTERFEIT

BRIDGEPORT, N. Y., March 23. — Oneida Lake fishermen are trying "counterfeit" goldfish as bait.

State law prohibits use of real goldfish.

Victor Dean developed a pickling and color mixture that makes buckeye minnows look like goldfish. He's giving samples to other anglers—but not the formula.

There's no report yet whether the fish are fooled.

19 Stockyard Dealers

KANSAS CITY, March 23. — Nineteen dealers at the Kansas City stockyards were suspended yesterday from trading for periods of six months to a year, the Kansas City Star said.

The newspaper said the action was taken by the Department of Agriculture in Washington yesterday after the dealers admitted a conspiracy to falsify weights of livestock.

Jury Dismissed in $5,000 Suit For Collision Damages

The jury was dismissed Wednesday evening without reaching a decision in the case of Eunice D. Myers vs. Western Geophysical Co. which had been in progress since Monday afternoon in 118th District Court.

The plaintiff had asked $5,000 in damages in the suit which grew out of an auto-truck collision last Oct. 5.

The jury notified Judge Charlie Sullivan at 8 p. m. that it could not agree on answers to a majority of 38 special issues that had been submitted with the charge.

Another case that was scheduled to come to trial this morning, was settled, the court was advised. It involved an application by

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their false dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. The public is invited to watch the informal program. Training schedules of the Futurity eligibles have been stepped up in preparation for the colts, which is to be held April 15 and April 23. There will be no admittance charge for Sunday's program. The first race will probably be run around 2:30 p. m.

Way Cleared For Title Transfer Of Ellis Homes

The House of Representatives apparently cleared the way last night for transfer of title of Ellis Homes, a 172-unit housing development here, to two Abilene colleges.

Congressman George Mahon informed the Herald this morning that the housing bill which passed the house last night contains a provision which makes possible the transfer of Ellis Homes by the Government to Hardin-Simmons and Abilene Christian college.

The Senate passed the bill last week.

The President must sign the bill and the FHA will have to authorize transfer before the two colleges may get possession of the property.

The two schools already own the land on which the 34 brick tie buildings are constructed near Municipal airport. J. B. Collins, Big Spring, gave the largest tract of land to ACC Mrs. Hollis Lloyd of Roscoe gave the rest to H-SU.

The Federal government built the apartments for war-time housing.

Offers For Local School Bond Issue To Be Opened Today

School board members anticipated a substantial volume of bids when offers for the $950,000 high school bond issue are opened today.

Bids will be tabulated at 7:30 p. m. Maximum interest rate, under terms of the call of the election, would be three per cent, but board members are confident that offers will slide well under this figure.

Owing to the practice of combining bids, or one representative sometimes submitting proposals for several houses, there is no immediate way of knowing the number of bids. Information has been sent in response to more than two score bond houses.

The board will press for quick sale of the issue, in order to advertise for bids for construction of the new high school, auditorium and gymnasium. Except for the gymnasium, plans are complete.

While FTC Probes Claims Of New Remedies, Colds Go Right Along

In Boston, an electrical manufacturing company's medical director reports that anti-histaminic cold remedies cut down absenteeism by 80 percent and saved workers $60,000 in wages during a test trial. In Washington, the Federal Trade Commission has taken out after two big drug companies, and may start after others, for the claims they make for their anti-histaminic cold-killers. It claims the two firm's advertising claims for the new drug are false and misleading. The FTC charges that the two products complained of are neither a cure, preventive nor a competent treatment for the common cold, to quote an AP report. It alleges the firm's advertisements "have actually misled and deceived a substantial portion of the purchasing public."

Dire Traffic Predictions For Year Find Much Support Here

When N. W. Woerner, chief of the Texas Safety department's statistical division predicted there would be a total of 1,948 traffic fatalities during the past year, he was not far off the actual figure. Only nine below, to be exact. He had called the turn, for the total was 192 less than the preceding year, almost as the statistician had foreseen. Others had predicted an increase, a substantial one. It is worth mentioning, however, that Woerner predicts that 1950 will be the most costly and tragic in Texas history. Unless trends are reversed, he points out, the total of fatalities may reach 2,000. The statistician hopes he's wrong, but individual apathy is such at this stage that he's afraid he will be right. Certainly, in Howard county could not controvert his prediction after less than three months of the year have passed. In 1949, Howard county was credited with 12 traffic fatalities. If the Herald's records are correct, the total thus far in 1950 for Howard county is six. It will take a phenomenal amount of luck to keep from showing a substantial increase in fatalities over last year—and at the present rate, the total could be doubled. The only preventative is safe, sane, alert and sober driving. Distractions often can cause drivers to have mishaps; mental lapses due to worries over certain problems can cause a driver to unwittingly collide with another machine or wind up in the ditch before he realizes what is happening. Then there is the problem of trying to drive too fast—trying to save little minutes instead of lives. And finally, there is the matter of egomanias who think they can drink and then drive safely. It's too bad they don't get hurt instead of hurting someone who is perfectly innocent of wrong doing.

To Learn To Skate, Just Begin At Advanced Age Of Two Years

NEW YORK, (U) — THE TWO YOUNG daughters of Maribel Vinson have made an even earlier start in life than did their famous mother. "Both my girls took up ice skating at the age of 2," she laughed. "I was 3 myself when I began." That was 35 years ago. Her father strapped a pair of double runners to her feet, she took a few tentative steps—and was off on a career that was to make her one of the best known figures in American sports. Skating was pure joy and passion to her. Maribel won her first women's national figure skating at 18, and she captured it eight more times before she turned professional in 1938. Only one woman consistently beat her in world competition — Sonja Henie. TODAY, AT 38, SHE STILL SPENDS eight to 10 hours a day on the St. Moritz Club rink at Berkeley, Calif., teaching her skill to youthful enthusiasts. "I'm rather at another crossroads in my life now," she said. "I never want to give up skating—after all my mother still skates at 70 and my father skated until he was 76—but I don't want to spend my whole time at it." Maribel feels that many skaters today spend entirely too much of their lives on the ice. "We used to skate only in the winter months. Now they skate 11 months of the year. That makes the competition more dog-eat-dog, and takes the rest out of it. "MOST OF THIS HIGH-PRESSURE IS unnecessary. A great skater doesn't have to skate all year round to keep great—but if your competitor does it, you do it. It's just a merry-go-round." Miss Vinson has no regrets over the big role skating has played in her own life. "I don't know whether I want to take my own children through the same routine—it's a long road," she said. "But I got a tremendous amount of fun out of skating—more than I do now, I'm sure—and I saw a lot of the world I'd probably never have seen. "But I do sometimes wonder what I might have done if I hadn't turned professional."

More Policemen, Not Flogging, To Check British Crime Wave

BRITAIN'S EPIDEMIC OF CRIMES OF violence, similar in many respects to the post-war problems in numerous other countries, has produced a heated public argument on how tough the law should get in dealing with the outrages, largely work of youthful gangsters. The debate revolves about whether flogging, abolished two years ago, shall be revived. Judges are demanding that it be restored. However, the conscience of the Socialist government Tuesday brought out a flat refusal for a revival of flogging. Instead of the lash, more policemen are to be provided. YOU HAVE TO KNOW YOUR ENGLAND to appreciate just what the present crime wave means. I wrote a book on the London underworld. One of the amazing aspects of police ad-

Rogue Elephant Dies

PENANG (U) — The distinction of having killed "the big tusker with the stumpy tail" goes to a Malay District Officer of a small animal-infested area in Kedah State. The rogue elephant has been eluding many a game hunter and terrorizing the village folks for quite a long time. The elephant was reputed to have destroyed more than a thousand coconut trees, devastated sugar-cane plantations and other crops, and even pulled down a number of village huts.

Oklahoma Senator Is Going All Out To Protect His Oil, Gas Interests

WASHINGTON — Bible-quoted eridge who for years has been Bob Kerr of Oklahoma is really rolling up the bulwarks to protect his oil and gas interests. Sen. Kerr's oil and gas lands are valued at approximately $100 million and his gross income is around $14 million. The net income from his Kerr-McGee Company last year was $1,218,627, on which the company paid only 8-9/10 in taxes. His preferred stock earned $22.63 a share and his common stock $1.40—all of which isn't bad for a senator. However, the gentleman from Oklahoma is not content with these lush profits and low taxes. He has already put his brother, Aubrey Kerr, on the federal payroll with the R.F.C. He has been lobbying ceaselessly to pass the Kerr Bill which would increase the price of natural gas to almost every northern city—and also increase his own dividends. But on top of all this, the senator now wants to appoint a federal judge who for years has been in the pay of the oil companies, and who—human nature being what it is—might find his rulings from the bench leaning toward his old clients. The proposed judge is popular W. R. (Bob) Wallace of Oklahoma City, long-time attorney for the Magnolia Oil Company, a subsidiary of the giant Socony-Vacuum. Wallace has wandered back and forth between the Republican and Democratic parties but has always been as good a friend to Bob Kerr as he has been to the oil companies. In fact, he has been counsel for Magnolia Oil for so long—a quarter of a century—that he is due to draw a fat pension. Thus he might be in the highly prejudicial position of being paid by Socony-Vacuum at the same time he drew a salary from Uncle Sam for supposedly impartial rulings from the bench. Wallace is now 65 years old—five years above the age limit usually set for federal judges. But Sen. Kerr is pushing him vigorously just the same. And Bible-quoting Bob contributed so heavily to the Truman campaign fund—as did other oil interests—that Wallace's appointment is almost certain. NOTE—The present policy of the Justice Department, unlike Roosevelt's, is to appoint any judge recommended by the Democratic senator in the Senator's state, no matter what the judge's background. THREE EX-KINGS The Duke and Duchess of Windsor are telling friends about the great kick they got out of attending the New Orleans Mardi Gras recently. Among other things they dined with Lester Alexander and Dr. Alton Ochsner, both former kings of the Mardi Gras. As the guests sat down, the lady who was responsible for the King of England's renunciation of this throne looked around the table and inquired of her host: "tell me a little more about your guests." "Dr. Ochsner" she was told, "is the famed cancer specialist. And both he and Mr. Alexander are former exes of Mardi Gras." "I am glad," replied the duchess, "to be dining with three exes." Director Thinks Film Actors Are Children

HOLLYWOOD, March 23 (U) — The reason movie stars get into so many headlines, declares director Alfred Hitchcock, is because "they are really children." The pudgy director once before got himself into hot water by remarking "actors are cattle." The statement brought at least one notable reply—from the late Carole Lombard, when she worked on one of his pictures, she had a corral constructed of the set, complete with three helpers. His latest remark is not likely to endear him to members on the Screen Actors Guild. We were discussing Senator Johnson's proposals to curb allegedly immoral filmsters. Hitchcock offered his own idea of why actors do things that draw such criticism. "Why, they are really children," he declared. "You could hardly expect them all to be adult when at least a third of their lives is spent in make-believe." The director cited Ingrid Bergman as an example. He knows the Swede well, having directed her in three pictures. He believes she got into her present difficulties because "in many respects she is quite naive." He added that over-publicizing of movie stars has greatly increased public censure when they

Dieting Is A Good Thing, But Sometimes It Can Be Overdone

Last Christmas, I journeyed to Oklahoma to spend the holiday with home-folk, and upon arrival I was greeted by my younger brother, whom I had not seen since Pearl Harbor. His first words, after a comprehensive glance over my frame, were these: "Is this you?" I understood what he meant, for I had put on weight alarmingly during the past year. In fact, most of my clothes had grown too small for me, and I had been subjected to considerable expense in replenishing my wardrobe. I told him as much. I might add that, though my brother has been out of college nearly 10 years and is married and the father of a family, he still has the physique of a Greek god. During his student days, he was an athlete of note and with his military training on top of that, he has managed to remain in fine fighting trim. The course of my own life has been anything but athletic; you might describe me as the house-cat type. Libraries and offices are my usual haunts, and one does not box, skip the rope or do bending exercises in those places. Moreover, I like good food, and have a tendency to eat too much and too fast. All these things make for corpulence. At Denver, several years ago, I began to worry about my avoirdupois, and consulted a doctor. He put me through a series of tests, punched and thumped me from top to toe, and then worked out a starch-free diet which he said would do my business. Indeed, the results were amazing. During the first fortnight of the new regimen, which I rigidly observed, I noticed no reduction in my weight, but was conscious of a "gnawing hunger. Then all at once the fat commenced to roll off my bones as if by magic. I was in the seventh heaven of delight, and literally walked on air. But as week after week passed and I continued to lose weight, I became alarmed, and started ordering double portions of everything. However, it was too a-void; I went on losing a pound or two a day. Thoroughly frightened, I threw my good resolutions to the winds, and commenced devouring biscuits, potatoes, beans, pastries and ice cream—all the things that had been forbidden me. Gradually, my weight crept back to the old figure, and until recently I have had no wish to experiment further with the mysteries of diet. Nevertheless, fat has many disadvantages. It not only puts a severe strain on the heart, which shortens the life expectancy, but also is responsible for a great multitude of other bodily complications. More than that, it makes one sluggish and averse to exertion, so that often he does not rise to the occasion when quick, decisive action is required. It is true that fat people usually are jolly and good-natured to a fault, but I have small liking for the role of a clown. Accordingly, I have decided to take up dieting again.—R. G. MACREADY

Omnibus Money Bill Is Attempt To Bring Order Out Of Chaos

WASHINGTON, (U) — FOR THE FIRST time in its history Congress this year will take a crack at voting a one-package appropriations bill. This is an attempt to avoid the kind of mess Congress has made in the past. You have a stake in the outcome and for this reason. It's your tax-money that's being voted. Every year in January the President sends Congress his budget message. This is his estimate, made with the help of experts, on how much it will take to run the government the next fiscal year. (The fiscal year starts July 1 and ends the following June 30. So the budget President Truman sent Congress last January is for the 1951 fiscal year starting next July.) ALL THE EXPENSES OF THE VARIOUS government departments and agencies are listed in detail in the budget. In the past Congress examined these expense items, always announced it would certainly cut them down, and then voted the money it thought was necessary. But, in doing so, it tackled the agencies one at a time. This meant that Congress, instead of voting on one bill covering all or most of the agencies, voted on many separate bills. This hodge-podge arrangement often had an unhappy result, because, in voting on single bills over a period of months, Congress could get lost in the total amount of money it was voting. And therefore it might not know, until the last bill was out of the way, maybe just before Congress quit for the year, just how much money altogether it had voted. THIS COULD BE EMBARRASSING, particularly if Congress has proclaimed it was going to cut the President's estimates to shreds and then discovered it had voted more than he had asked. To get a little order out of this kind of chaos, Congress decided this year it would try to wrap all the money needs of most of the agencies in one bill and then vote on that. That theory as it stands right now may be all right. And then again maybe it isn't. For example: In the past, when it approved a number of appropriations bills separately, Congress might tack on to a couple of them some ideas which the President didn't like. That let him veto the ones he opposed. Then: 1. The bill died. Or Congress— 2. Repassed the bill over the veto, thus making it law. But now suppose, in the one-package bill, Congress ties on some strings, which Mr. Truman doesn't like. He'll have to approve the whole bill, or veto the whole bill, sending it back to Congress. Then if Congress delays too long in straightening out the difficulty—say beyond July 1—most of the government agencies will be without money unless Congress votes them some temporarily. But that isn't all. The one-package bill was dumped in the lap of the House Tuesday. It's a cinch that a lot of congressmen—during the debate and vote on the floor—will try to whittle down the amount of money listed in the single bill. So the one-package bill is still a long way from being a proven success. Hold your hats. You'll be hearing plenty about it.

Shoring Up Of Foreign Policy, State Dept. Urgently Needed

WASHINGTON—Ways and Means of shoring up the State Department and its foreign policy are among "the many things" President Truman told his Key West companions it was time to discuss. Useful developments of this nature were promised by White House sources when the President set sail for a contemplative vacation at his favorite winter resort. Substantial proof that important decisions impend is the presence of Chief Justice Vinson in the Key West circles. The President's reliance upon "the chief" as a judge of the public temper has often been demonstrated. Various developments contribute to administration urgency in the foreign-policy field. With vital ECA and other decisions in the offing, the bipartisan foreign policy is limping. The Wherrys and McCarthys have the bit between their teeth and Senator Vandenberg's health keeps him on the sidelines. The President squelched Congressional demands for new peace moves but ardent public response cannot be ignored. Senator McCarthy's charges are fomenting the public's fears. The case of Secretary Acheson is perhaps the most immediate problem. The secretary's troubles should not be exaggerated. While politicians think Acheson's His statement a mistake, soundings over the country show that people—especially the women—regard it charitably. The President supports him fully and has never turned his back on an aide under a fence. Nor do the Acheson accusers include a senator of real stature whose judgment commands respect. But the secretary has been isolated, with Democrats rather pointedly detaching themselves from his troubles. He is also loaded with an endemic public distrust of state's career diplomats. This has been heightened by the department's own admission that it has had to discharge nearly a hundred homosexuals. There are signs that Acheson is showing the strain. A recent visitor who sought the counsel with him in the most helpful spirit found him distraught, almost unhelpful. The visitor came away thinking of Webster's cartoon, "When a Feller Needs A Friend."

Esther Trantham Presents Film For HD Meeting

FORSAN, March 23 (Spl) — Esther Trantham, Howard County Health Nurse, projected the film "Choose To Live," at the meeting of all civic clubs in the community Monday afternoon. The film showing was sponsored by the Home Demonstration club.

The film dealt with the subject, "War Against Cancer," and was based on the belief that it recognized in time, early cancer is curable.

Seven points were given to prevent cancer if detected in time. They included any sore that does not heal, particularly about the mouth and tongue; a painless lump or thickening in the breast, lip or tongue; bloody discharge from any of the body openings; progressive change in the size or color of a wart, mole or birthmark; persistent hoarseness, difficult swallowing or a constant cough; any radical change in the normal habits of elimination.

Five rules were given by Miss Trantham to help avoid cancer. They were to keep mouth, tongue and throat clean; keep the teeth clean, free from cavities and from ragged edges that may scratch the tongue or cheek; avoid clothing that is uncomfortable, tight fitting or chafing; avoid the food and drinks that prove irritating to the stomach and keep the skin clean.

RIBBON RAMBLINGS By Mildred Young

This column concludes a series of sketches concerning the plans of various departments of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs. Today, we will take a look at the Department of Fine Arts.

Mrs. George Recknagle, 403 South Grove Street, Marshall, says that "since we are becoming more world conscious in all our thoughts and activities, the Fine Arts Department will stress its part in world thinking."

"Club women should strive to cultivate the fine arts as a phase of world betterment, especially among the young people of all nations."

The object of the Fine Arts Department is to create an appreciation for a better understanding of Art, antiquities, literature, folklore and Texas writers, poetry, pageantry and drama, music, Texas composers.

To promote peace through understanding of the fine arts of the world. In cooperation with the Fine Arts Program of the General Federation, Mrs. Recknagle says, "We will give the following major objectives for this administration: 'To promote interest in and appreciation of the world's great art, literature and music. 'To further understanding of the culture of other nations through study of their fine arts. 'To stimulate interest in and support of American art. 'To assist in the development of youthful talent.'"

HOPES TO WED SOON — Cornelius Koster, 36, who has been lying face down on a hospital bed in Chicago for eight years, hopes to get out soon so he can get married. Koster, whose spinal cord was severed in an auto accident in 1942 at Baraboo, Wis., has undergone 16 operations at Cook County Hospital. He is paralyzed below the hips and cannot lie on his back. He said doctors tell him he may be able to get around soon with braces and crutches. Koster wouldn't name the girl with whom he has fallen in love, but said she is the mother of a young patient in the hospital. (AP Wirephoto).

Intent To Murder Charges Filed

TEMPLE, March 22. — Charges of assault with intent to murder have been filed against Mrs. Florence Harper, 39, accusing her of seriously wounding a young car salesman, then shooting herself. Late last night Mrs. Harper, a Temple divorcee, was in a critical condition with a .38 calibre bullet wound in the head. John Atkinson, 27, was in a serious condition, also shot through the head. Sheriff Buck Ray said Mrs. Harper, mother of two children, drove up Tuesday to the car lot where Atkinson was employed. Mrs. Ina Jensen, who was also in the car, told the sheriff there was no argument before the shooting. Mrs. Harper was found slumped in the car seat. Atkinson staggered across the street to a cafe where he collapsed.

Anti-Red War Of Ideas Favored By State Dept.

WASHINGTON, March 22. — The State Department looked with favor today on a proposal which would launch the United States on a gigantic war of ideas aimed against the propaganda of Communist Russia. The plan was put forward yesterday by Senator Benton (D-Conn.) and twelve other senators as a means to win the minds and loyalties of men to the cause of freedom. The Benton plan would marshal every means of information in a coordinated world-wide drive to give the lie to Russian attacks on the United States and other non-Communist countries. Ed Barrett, assistant secretary of state for public affairs, said: "This broad approach is in complete accord with my own feelings and the State Department's estimate of the importance of the work to be done in this field." Benton, who once served in the position now held by Barrett, said he felt the program would be part of the answer to Secretary of State Acheson's call for "total diplomacy" in the cold war against Russia. It was given to the Senate in the form of a resolution which, if approved, could be the basis for the greatest psychological campaign ever turned against Communism.

'Flying Saucers' Believed Jets

By The Associated Press
Yesterday was flying saucer day in Lubbock, Greenville, Houston, and Ropesville. Greenville residents saw a silvery saucer-shaped object, just after two jet planes whizzed by. Lubbock and Ropesville reported "three silver balls." Three Houston residents saw "zooming, streaking saucers." Civil Aeronautics Administration officials indicated they believed the saucer reports came after jet planes passed overhead leaving smoky trails in the air.

Hardie Triplets At Home On Flood-Swollen River

JONESVILLE, La., March 22. — The two-week-old Hardie triplets are at home today—but they aren't expecting many visitors. Even the doctor who spent three days bringing them into the world isn't planning to see the thriving babies. "It would take me too far away from the clinic," said Dr. N. G. Nasif. Home for the babies is a four-room houseboat, anchored two miles up the flood-swollen Ouachita River. They share it with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Hardie, and seven other children. Dr. Nasif and the three children, Jodie and his sisters Julia and Judy, have ceased to be a local attraction. And even if people wanted to see them, they'd have to go to a lot of trouble, the doctor said. "People would have to get a boat to get to the Hardie home," Dr. Nasif said each of the babies had gained a pound. Jodie, born

March 7, weighs six pounds. Julia, born the next day, weighs seven. And Julia, born March 9, is the heaviest at eight pounds. Papa Hardie's luck seems to have changed for the better since his three blue-eyed, brown-haired babies arrived. Hardie, a commercial fisherman, suffers with chronic bronchitis and neuritis caused by years of living on the damp river, Dr. Nasif said. But the two-week rest while his babies were in the clinic seems to have helped him some, the doctor added. The triplets are getting little special care, the doctor said. They share the same bed and are on the usual diet. Testimony Begins In Axe Murder Trial CHOCQUET, March 22. — Testimony is scheduled to begin today in the murder trial of James (Dude) Frizzell, 19, charged in the death of Joe Al Huff, 18, last Aug. 3. The jury was completed yesterday.

Huff's body was found in the woods where officers said he and Frizzell had been working. Huff's head was partially split with an axe blow. Weak, Tired, Nervous, Peopless Men, Women

Atom Savants Needed Today

This is fourth of a series of six stories prepared by the American Society of Newspaper Editors' committee on atomic information, in collaboration with the Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists.

(By The Associated Press)

"Science," said a scientist recently, "is perhaps the major national resource, in peace no less than war."

Scientists mobilized for World War II gave our forces radar to search the oceans and skies, and sonar—sound-ranging—to hunt submarines.

Scientists contributed missiles and rockets to give an attack plane the wallop of a cruiser. They contributed the proximity fuse—which bursts at a pre-set distance in the air from its target—to help win the crucial Battle of the Bulge, and help stave off Japan's kamikaze planes. They contributed the bazooka—and of course the A-bomb.

Do we need scientists today to help preserve our precious if uneasy peace? Do we need them to save us if an enemy should suddenly by attack?

Dr. Frederick Seitz, research professor of physics at the University of Illinois, answers those two questions this week in the March issue—an H-bomb issue—of the bulletin of the atomic scientists.

Dr. Seitz's answer to both questions is "yes."

Frederick Seitz, 38, went to Illinois after posts at the universities of Rochester (N. Y.) and Pennsylvania a stint with General Electric and chairmanship of the physics department at Carnegie Tech. During the war he worked in the Manhattan project. Later he directed the Oak Ridge, Tenn., institute of nuclear studies. Today this scientist believes his colleagues should take two steps to support "western civilization":

1. First, seek worldwide peace. Second, do research for war.

He calls for a new government agency to organize research, just as the OSRD—the Office of Scientific Research and Development, headed by Dr. Vannevar Bush—successfully did during World War II.

Prof. Seitz warned in 1946 that "a foreign nation" could very possibly overtake us within five years. Now he makes two main points:

1. Russia seems to be developing atomic energy "at least five times" faster than we. "There is grave danger they will surpass us" within a decade and "the same is probably true in other fields."

2. "Who among us," he asks, "will feel sinless if he has remained passively by while western culture was being overwhelmed?"

To co-exist at peace with the Soviet Union and resist being "overwhelmed," he believes we must "make it impractical" for Russia to follow her policy of expansion and international Communism. He believes complete neutrality will not do the job.

He believes in peace as the primary goal—and in preparedness only as a tool to strengthen our hand. He will consider any "vigorous" peace plans within or without United Nations, including world or Atlantic union. He would continue to support non-Communist nations. He will support international disarmament if all nations disarm, and if inspection is adequate. To bargain, he would be willing, like Senator McMahon, to offer the Soviets economic aid.

He does not believe we can afford to refrain from accelerating our arms program beyond 1950.

What would happen if we let Russia overrun all Western Europe? "She would probably double her industrial strength and military output," he said, and after a decade we might never match her.

Therefore, he says, the West must become so strong Russia could not attack "without grave danger to herself."

He doubts that any other policy could offer fewer risks. Readiness for the Berlin airlift, he points out, enabled us to outmaneuver Russia. Many still-free Europeans believe, he says, that only our A-bombs have kept the Soviets from their borders.

"What effort is required?" says the physicist. He estimates Soviet production at a third of America's, but believes "well over half" of that is devoted to arms. Russia's effort, this means, probably equals 15 or 20 per cent of U. S. production. But the West's entire arms output now totals less than 10 per cent of American production.

To match Russia, moreover, he believes we must increase both "the seriousness with which we take" preparation, and the amount of top talent we spend.

Seitz then calls for the new OSRD "under one of the vigorous wartime leaders" whom scientists trust, as an organization "basically civilian," to explore the military use of discoveries in the pattern of initiative and freedom "that reflects the best Western ideals."

Can we successfully build such an agency?

We cannot, he warns:

1. Unless scientists can be convinced such a program will not inspects stations

G. W. Chowns, director of the Big Spring area of the Bureau of Entomology, was in Lamesa and Lubbock Wednesday where he inspected sub stations of the Department of Agriculture agency. The Big Spring area encompasses most of the South Plains and western New Mexico.

kill fundamental—as contrasted with applied—science. During the war our reserve of basic facts—on which all applications such as radar or an A-bomb must rest—grew thin.

"The best one can hope for is some sort of compromise," Seitz concedes.

Both industrial and university scientists, he proposes, might share tours of duty in the government service.

2. Unless scientists overcome "moral" objections to research they feel may be "misused." Here Prof. Seitz preaches his morals: "Who among us will feel sinless if he has remained passively by...?"

3. Unless the public abandons its "far too optimistic picture of our own superiority to Russia," and prepares, if necessary, to cut even our standard of living.

4. Unless the people and their representatives in Washington, he says, finally learn the meaning of progress, and he continues, start encouraging instead of bounding government scientists. For almost every scientist in the United States today is disillusioned with government service, he says.

by the American schoolboy's "sneakers" and bowling shoes. A plastic helmet offers protection from falling rivets.

The rivet crew is made up of four men—a riveter, a "heater," a "atticker-in" and a "bucker-up." The rivets usually have worked together for a long time and move from one job to another as a team.

McMurry Indian Band Will Appear Here Saturday

A well-rounded program is in store for Big Springers Saturday night when the McMurry Indian band, probably one of the most versatile college bands in the Southwest, is presented in concert at the Municipal auditorium.

The 50-piece band will appear under the sponsorship of the Big Spring high school band as part of a six-day tour that will take it to a number of West Texas cities. The band, which made a total of 87 public appearances during the first 1949-50 school semester, specializes in all types of music. It plays five different forms of Latin rhythm, classical music, novelty, and popular selections, and religious music.

One of its latest appearances was as official band of the St. Patrick's Day festival at Shamrock last Friday, leading a parade of some 2,500 high school musicians through Shamrock. It has also played for football bowl games, church services, and in classical and popular concerts. Other towns to be visited on the current tour are Midland, Andrews, Kermit, Seminole, Brownfield, Levelland and Hereford.

Same Song, Second Verse — Almost

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., March 23. (AP) — The semi-finalists in the Women's National AAU Basketball Tournament tonight will be the same as a year ago with one exception.

The only new participants is Des Moines AIB. The Des Moines team won its semi-final berth by beating the Nashville, Tenn., Generals, 41-37, last night.

Other semi-finalists: The Nashville, Tenn., Goldblumes, Nashville Business College and Winston-Salem, N. C., Haynes Hosliery.

These three were in the semi-finalist last year along with the Elkin, N. C., Chatham Blakettes. The Elkin team has disbanded.

Sixty monks were housed on the third floor of the building and fifteen guests on the second floor. Loss as a result of the fire was placed at $2,000,000. (AP Wirephoto).

Canadian Redskins Work On Huge Bridge As 'High Steel Men'

WILMINGTON Del., March 23. (AP) — A band of Canadian Indians gathered on the banks of the Delaware River today wearing plastic helmets in place of their tribal headdresses.

And the "weapons" they carried were rivet hammers rather than tomahawks.

The redmen in this case are veteran "high steel men" employed by the American Bridge Co. to work on the huge span to be erected across the river from a point south of Wilmington to New Jersey.

The Indians coming here are mostly from the Caughnawaga reservation on the St. Lawrence River in Quebec Province.

According to Fred Montour, one of the first to arrive, Caughnawagas have been building bridges since 1886, when their skill was discovered during the construction of a Canadian-Pacific bridge over the St. Lawrence.

The story goes that the bridge company on the St. Lawrence project agreed to hire reservation Indians as common laborers—depending on wind-jammer sailors for the rivet work aloft.

As work progressed, the Caughnawagas demonstrated their catlike ability in scaling the bridge's up-permost girders as well as an uncanny sense of handling the rivet hammers.

Since then, as the story has it, scarcely a major span has been erected without the help of Indian rivet crews.

Montour, who is only 27 now, has been working as a bridge riveter for ten years. Before coming to Wilmington, he was employed on the Mystic River bridge project in Massachusetts.

Montour says that, while the Indians can walk a girder 500 feet in the air with the same ease the average person feels on a city sidewalk, safety is still the watchword with the "high steel" men.

Murray's Naming To AEC Meets No Opposition

Senators Believe New York Engineer Fitted for Post

WASHINGTON, March 23. (AP)—President Truman's appointment of Thomas E. Murray, New York engineer, to the Atomic Energy Commission appeared likely today to meet with little opposition in the Senate.

Many senators said they didn't know Murray personally, but thought his engineering, business and executive background qualified him for the post. There was no critical comment.

"I know him by reputation and his reputation is excellent," said Senator McMahon (D-Son), chairman of the Senate-Atomic Energy Committee.

Murray's appointment to the atomic post vacated by Chairman David E. Lilienthal Feb. 15, was announced yesterday at the "Little White House" at Key West, Fla., where Mr. Truman is vacationing.

The nomination will be sent to the Senate for confirmation later in the week.

Although Murray will succeed Lilienthal on the five-man commission, he will not take over the chairmanship.

Sumner Pike will continue as acting chairman until after April 15, when Commissioner Lewis L. Strauss is due to leave and Mr. Truman will have another spot to fill.

Murray's term, along with those of the other commissioners, will expire next June 30. The President then is required to name five commissioners for terms ranging from one to five years.

Charles G. Ross, presidential press secretary, told reporters Mr. Truman has not offered the chairmanship to anyone as yet. A number of names have been mentioned in connection with the post.

Murray is a Democrat but the fact that so few senators recognized his name underlined the fact that he has not been active in politics. He is a Catholic and the father of 11 children.

Senator Lehman (D-N.Y.) called Murray's nomination "an excellent choice of a man who will when he is confirmed, perform a great service to his country."

Housing Bill Turns Into Political Issue

House Follows Senate's Lead, Rejects Plan

Co-op Program Out As Joint Committee Ponders Compromise

WASHINGTON, March 23. (AP)—Thrown out of Congress in a defeat for President Truman, the $2 billion co-operative housing program bounced back today as a warm political issue.

Ignoring a personal plea from the President, the House rejected the co-op idea for middle income housing last night 218 to 155. It then went on to approve 361 to 10 a $4,000,000-plus expansion of the existing program.

The Senate turned thumbs down on the co-op plan last week. A House-Senate conference committee now will work out a compromise housing bill—without the co-op program.

But the President's lieutenants in Congress served notice that co-op housing forthwith is a political issue for the November congressional elections. And it may get high billing in Mr. Truman's re-ear platform speeches when he makes a swing to the West Coast this spring.

Over jeers rising from the Republican side of the House, Democratic Leader McCormack of Massachusetts shouted:

"You may fool the public today, but not next November. This is going to be a live issue—an issue which I hope will be used advantageously next fall."

He accused Republicans of "voting one way and talking the other."

In the House showdown 81 Democrats joined 137 Republicans to strike down the co-op proposal. Supporting the plan were 141 Democrats, 13 Republicans and the one American Labor Party member.

The defeated co-op section proposed the creation of a $2 billion government corporation. It would have borrowed its money from the public, except for $100 million contributed by the government.

Then it would have lent money at 3 per cent interest to co-ops and other non-profit organizations that undertook home building for families with incomes from $2,800 to $4,400. The mortgages could have run as long as 63 years.

The opposition shouted that the plan was socialistic and that it discriminated against veterans and other home builders generally.

They said the scheme would provide homes for only three per cent of the 8,000,000 middle-income families, and that those who got co-op homes never would be free from some sort of government supervision.

With the co-op fight over, ranks consolidated for quick and over-see HOUSING, Pg. 9, Col. 8

CENTER OF CONTROVERSY — One of the so-called "magic spikes," center of a controversy in a federal court case in Chicago, is held in the hand of a witness. Defendants in the trial are Vitlum Products Co. and three officers of the firm, President George C. Erickson, Vice-President Robert T. Nelson, Jr. and his mother, Gertrude W. Nelson, treasurer. As a result of the sale of the spikes the three are on trial on charges of violating the food and drug act. The government alleges the device is a marketed cure-all having none of the health giving properties its promoters claim. The government used a Geiger counter in its efforts to prove the spikes are not wonder healers. (AP Wirephoto).

Firemen Battling To Rescue Trapped Men

AUSTIN, Tex., Mar. 23. (AP)—Firemen battled dense smoke seeking to rescue several persons trapped in the basement of a burning downtown department store today.

One person was injured and eight firemen overcome by smoke in the explosion and fire in the T. H. Williams Department store.

Fire Chief John Woody said he had little hope of rescuing the men trapped in the basement of the building. Reports on the number still in the building ranged from two to four.

Dense clouds of smoke continued to block firemen in their efforts to reach the men who were caught.

The fire started from a blow torch being used by air conditioning equipment men in the basement.

One of them, Walter Kieke, 29, named the men feared trapped as Edwin Gordon, Milton King and Walter Dyer, all of Austin. Kieke himself had raced out of the basement ahead of the fast-spreading flames, suffering only stung eyebrows.

Kieke said there were seven men in the crew installing the air conditioning equipment. They were moving a motor and hot sulphur was being used to re-set bolts.

There was a flash of fire from a torch being used by Vadie Hill, Kieke said. Hill, 46, suffered multiple body burns and burns on the hand, but escaped from the building.

The blaze spread rapidly in the dry goods stock.

"It was burning all around me as I ran out," Kieke said.

T. H. Williams Jr., owner of the store, said his stock would be a "total loss" and estimated it at $250,000.

Customers and clerks in the two-story building were cleared quickly from the structure when the fire broke out about 11:15 a.m.

Vadie Hill, 46, air-conditioning worker, suffered multiple body burns and burns on the hand in the explosion that touched off the blaze.

F. Lindren, assistant manager of the store, said he had just come from the basement before the fire broke out. He said three men were working there at the time, installing air-conditioning equipment.

Murray's term, along with those of the other commissioners, will expire next June 30. The President then is required to name five commissioners for terms ranging from one to five years.

Charles G. Ross, presidential press secretary, told reporters Mr. Truman has not offered the chairmanship to anyone as yet. A number of names have been mentioned in connection with the post.

Demo Worried Over Friction

WASHINGTON, March 23. (AP)—A top-ranking Democratic senator voiced concern today over relations between the State Department and congressional leaders.

He said one reason that Democrats have not rallied to defend Secretary of State Acheson against Republican attacks is that Acheson has remained aloof from the lawmakers.

"He has asked for neither advice nor counsel," he said. The senator asked that his name not be used.

Republican Sen. W. McCarthy of Wisconsin and Wherry of Nebraska both have declared recently that Acheson should quit his post. President Truman promptly replied that the secretary will stay on the job.

The only senator to date who has defended Acheson is freshman Senator Benton (D-Conn.) who once served as assistant secretary of state for public affairs.

$4 Million to Buy Cotton Granted Korea

WASHINGTON, March 23. (AP)—Korea was granted $4,000,000 today to buy American cotton.

ECA also allotted seven Western European countries $26,982,000 to buy agricultural and industrial commodities, mostly from the United States.

Gigantic Military Base Building Program Launched By U. S. Forces

WASHINGTON, March 23. (AP)—The U. S. military forces are embarking upon a huge building program at bases outside the continental United States, especially in Alaska.

This can be seen from the fact that they propose to spend on these bases about $239,409,000 of the $665,000,000 they are asking Congress to authorize for military public works.

An analysis of the requests shows that the Army, Navy and Air Force are joining in the major objective. The idea is to safeguard the United States from a sudden "sneak punch," possibly with atomic weapons.

The announced bases that will be strengthened range from Alaska to Okinawa, Hawaii, Kwajalein and Johnston Island in the Pacific to Bermuda in the Atlantic, up to Labrador over to the Azores, Libya and Saudi Arabia.

In January the Senate approved a military public works bill of slightly less than $500,000,000.

This is about what the armed services had requested last year. Congress delayed action after singling out for separate authorization $115,000,000 for housing in Alaska and Okinawa.

Last week the three military branches appeared before the House Armed Services Committee during its hearings on the Senate bill. The military brought in amendments totaling $187,144,000, including new projects and stepping up amounts previously requested.

The House committee is expected to approve the amended Senate bill tomorrow. If passed by the House, it will go to conference with the Senate.

There is a possibility the Senate may reopen hearings on the new amendments with committee sessions behind closed doors, as many of the additional requests are highly "classified" or secret.

Alaska apparently is to be made into a blasting air defense fortress. To make it so a total of nearly $117,861,000 is to be poured into that frontier nearest Russia.

The Air Force proposes to spend about $43,637,000 for such items as units of the radar "fence," long-range weather stations and highly secret "interceptor stations" capable of eavesdropping on messages 1,000 to 2,000 miles away.

The Army has requested $74,224,000 to strengthen troop bases that will defend these secret installations and the air fields from which fighters and bombers would rise to ward off attack or to retaliate.

Included in these amounts are requests by both services for funds to build storage facilities, some of them in secret strategic spots, for aviation gasoline and jet fuels. They also want repair shops.

The Navy is seeking $23,316,000 for a secret base outside the United States. No details have been released — not even a hint as to the location or purpose.

FARM FORMS DISTRIBUTED

1950 Census-Taking Job Gets Underway

WASHINGTON, March 23. (AP)—The 1950 census-taking job started in earnest today as postal carriers began distributing farm census forms in rural mail boxes over much of the nation.

Left out of the mail delivery, because of "complexities of tenant and landlord" relationships were Alabama, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, the two Carolinas and a part of Arkansas.

Officials explained it is a widespread practice in those states for landlords alone to keep books of tenant and sharecropper farm operations.

Farm census data will be gathered orally in those states when the Census Bureau's enumerators begin taking the general population and housing figures April 1.

Farmers elsewhere who receive farm census forms by mail are requested to fill out the answers and turn in the complete forms to enumerators when they arrive with population questions next month.

The general population and housing census is scheduled to take about two weeks in the cities and three to four weeks in the rural areas where more ground must be covered.

Distribution of farm census forms is to continue through next Monday.

There are more than 300 questions on the farm census form, but only about 37 of them are "basic" questions which every farmer must answer.

One who merely grows wheat, for instance, will not need to answer any of the questions about cotton or "goats, rabbits and fur animals in captivity."

The main farm census questions pertain to name, address, race, age, farm acreage, whether rented or self-owned, crops planted, livestock or poultry raised, farm equipment owned, etc.

Persons refusing to answer census questions can be fined $500 and jailed for 60 days.

Entries continue to be received, but deadline for submitting nominations for a "good neighbor" is almost here.

In fact, Friday 12 noon is the latest time for entries to be submitted in the "Favorite Good Neighbor" contest.

Rules of the contest are simple. All you have to do is write in 100 words or less, a completion of the thought:

"My favorite good neighbor is (name of person) because . . . Then mail or bring the letter to the Herald office so that it will be received before Friday noon. Judges will select letters they consider outstanding and award $12.50, $7.50 and $5 cash prizes. The nominee, in turn, will receive recognition during Get Acquainted week.

That the spirit of good neighborliness still abounds is supported by a large number of entries, each paying glowing tribute to some person nearby.

Nine Killed As Bomber Crashes

TUSCON, Ariz., March 23. (AP)—A B-50 Air Force bomber with 14 persons aboard crashed on the flat desert west of Gila Bend, Ariz. today.

The Southern Pacific railway office at nearby Hyder reported nine bodies had been found and that two of the airmen were still alive. The fate of others aboard was not known.

The big bomber—a modernized version of the B-29 Superfortress—was on a routine training flight at the time. Public information officers said it was flying at 17,000 feet and it was believed an engine caught fire.

A bed and carpet were burned in a midnight fire at the Keith Courts, 1100 E. 3rd, last night, firemen reported today. The blaze was believed started by a cigarette, firemen said.

BOWDEN DUE TO RETIRE JUNE 30

Change In Superintendency Of Local State Hospital Slated

Dr. Robert W. (Bob) Syler, will succeed Dr. A. M. Bowden as superintendent of the Big Spring State Hospital on April 1.

Announcement of the change was made in Austin Thursday morning by Moyne L. Kelly, executive director of the state hospital board.

Dr. Bowden will remain on the staff of the hospital here until June 30, at which time he is due to retire under the board's 70-year rule.

Dr. Bowden said Thursday that when the retirement date was reached, he and Mrs. Bowden would return to the family home in Dr. Syler, 30, is a native Texan.

He was graduated from the University of Texas medical school in 1944, served in the Navy medical corps and joined the staff of the Galveston Psychopathic hospital in 1946. More recently, he has been a psychiatrist with the Richmond State hospital in Richmond, Ind.

Here Thursday for a conference with Dr. Bowden and members of the hospital staff was Dr. J. S. Scarborough, medical director for the state hospital board.

It was in April 1941 that Dr. Bowden was approached by Rep. W. R. Chambers of Brownwood to leave his private practice at May and accept a board of control request to enter state service.

The board appointed him superintendent of the Farm Colony seven miles east of Austin where 480 feeble minded men were wards of the state. After three years, the board transferred him to the superintendency of the 2,000-patient Austin State home where he was in charge of a staff of 270.

On Jan. 1, 1946, Dr. Bowden assumed his duties as superintendent of the Big Spring State hospital. During the three-year interval, there have been times when the hospital load exceeded a 25 per cent excess. Last year the total was brought almost within reach of the recommended patient load.

But the demand has been increasing so that today the patient total is 478, which is approximately 25 per cent over the recommended standard and well over the rated capacity of little more than 400.

"My wife and I have enjoyed making many friends in Big Spring and throughout West Texas," said

Dr. Bowden. "The people of Big Spring and the area have given us their very best support."

Slusser Rehearing Motion Is Filed

Motion for rehearing has been filed by the state with the court of criminal appeals in Austin in the case of Phillip C. Slusser.

Recently the court ordered a conviction reversed and prosecution dismissed, holding that an indictment for sodomy was inadequate. District Attorney Elton Gililand asked Wednesday for the tribunal to grant a rehearing on its ruling. The court has the matter under advisement.
