Vice President Intends To Establish Innocence

CENTREVILLE, Md. (UPI) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said Saturday he intended to "fight to establish my innocence of any wrongdoing" in a developing kickback scandal centered on state construction contracts.

Speaking for the first time among his native Marylanders since disclosure he is under investigation in the matter, Agnew chastised anonymous news sources he said were improperly leaking reports of the investigation.

"They have no hesitancy at all about violating my civil rights or my constitutional rights—but I'll have more to say about that later," Agnew said. "Just let me say I intend to fight to establish my innocence of any wrongdoing."

Shortly before Agnew spoke in a campaign appearance on behalf of the Republican candidate in a special congressional election here, it was announced in Baltimore that a federal judge from Virginia was assigned to oversee any grand jury investigation of Agnew.

Nixon Working On Confidence

KEY BISCAIYNE, Fla. (UPI) — While his lawyers fought off legal attempts to gain access to tapes of his Watergate-related conversations, President Nixon mapped his own campaign Saturday in the court of public opinion.

With polls finding only one in three Americans approve the way he is handling his job, the President was reported by his aides to be on the verge of a vigorous campaign to restore public confidence in his leadership and demonstrate that the Watergate scandal is behind him.

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said Nixon spent most of Saturday in the study of his bayside home here preparing the address he will deliver Monday at the Veterans of Foreign Wars convention in New Orleans, his first public appearance since July 9.

In the afternoon, Nixon and his friend and neighbor, C. G. Rebozo, spent about three hours cruising Biscayne Bay aboard the Coco Lobo III, Rebozo's houseboat.

Israel Fires On Egyptian Planes

By United Press International
Israeli anti-aircraft guns Saturday fired at two Egyptian Sukhoi 7 warplanes that crossed the cease-fire line and flew over the northwestern sector of the Israeli-held Sinai Peninsula, the Israeli military command said.

An Israeli military spokesman said it was not known if either of the planes was hit.

The incident marked the second reported military engagement between Israeli and Egyptian forces in less than a week, the earlier one occurring Monday in a fight on the Gulf of Suez between two patrol boats of each side. The Israelis said an Egyptian vessel was damaged.

Earlier, Libya's Tripoli Radio confirmed that the man who hijacked a Lebanese airliner to Israel Thursday is a Libyan and has a history of mental trouble.

Astros Study Storm

HOUSTON (UPI) — Skylab's astronauts Saturday televised the birth of tropical storm Brenda in the Gulf of Mexico and planned to beam back more pictures of it early Sunday.

Alan L. Bean, Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma, showing the benefits of manned spaceflight, interrupted their day off to photograph the tropical depression near Cuba that later turned into the second tropical storm of the year.

Although ground controllers asked the pilots only to take still photos of the storm, Mission Commander Bean insisted on television which showed the swirling winds expected to reach hurricane force of 74 miles per hour early Sunday.

"We'll get it with both because I think one of the advantages of manned spaceflight is to give a quick look at something that's happening," said Bean. "Whereas these photographs get back in another month and they won't do any good. By then the hurricane will have disappeared from the face of the earth."

Briscoe Aids Kidnap Appeal

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe Saturday urged newsmen to publicize the appeal of a Farmington, Mich., couple trying to contact the kidnaper of their seven-year-old daughter.

Briscoe said Mr. and Mrs. William A. Jaeger wrote him asking for help in reaching whoever abducted the girl from their tent at Headwaters State Park, Montana, the night of June 25.

The couple said the kidnaper sent a ransom message to them through a Montana resident on July 3 but never gave directions for the money drop.

The Jaegers now believe their daughter has been carried to another state.

Flames Lick At 5-State Area

By United Press International
Firefighters from all sections of the nation flew into a five-state area of the West Saturday to join those already battling flames sweeping across 40,000 acres of timberland.

Thousands of men were on the fire lines in Idaho, Montana, Oregon, Washington and California, and the cost of seeking to contain the flames was estimated at more than $500,000 a day.

Damage ran into millions of dollars from the blazes which were caused by lightning and by carelessness or arson.

A total of 2,300 firefighters were flown to the threatened areas from Maine, New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Tennessee, Georgia, Florida, North Carolina, New Mexico and Arizona.

Police Investigating New Mass Murder Evidence

HOUSTON (UPI) — A man and two women reported Saturday seeing three men bury a plastic-wrapped bundle on a beach last spring and police immediately began digging again for what they believe may be more bodies relating to the murder of 27 young boys.

The Gulf Coast beach is 30 miles from where the last of the 27 bodies were uncovered last week.

Elmer Wayne Henley, 17, and David Owen Brooks, 18, are charged in the murders and police say they were involved with Dean Arnold Corll, 33, in a sadistic sex and murder scheme. Henley has confessed to killing Corll in an argument.

Police said a road grader would be used Monday to skim

NO AIR SUPPORT — With no protection from U.S. bombers, Cambodian soldiers fire at insurgent troops from cover near enemy positions south of besieged capital Phnom Penh.

Chavez Sends Workers To Strengthen Boycotts

DELANO, Calif. (UPI) — Having called off picketing of grape ranches because of two violent deaths, Cesar Chavez sent hundreds of his United Farm Workers Saturday to carry his message to consumers at Los Angeles and San Francisco shopping centers.

"The boycott has yielded victory before," he said. "We have to strengthen the boycott as an alternative to striking in the fields."

Chavez said ranch picketing was suspended until the federal government protects "the right to picket in such a way that our lives and civil rights will not be trampled on."

Cambodian Seeks New Air Strikes

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — Cambodia's top military man said Saturday he intends to ask the United States to resume air strikes if the Communists ignore the Indochina peace agreement.

Maj. Gen. Sosthene Fernandez, chairman of the Cambodian Joint Chiefs of Staff, said, however, he'd keep on fighting even if the Americans turn him down. "I must fight," he said. "I must do my duty."

"If the Communists don't respect the Paris and Geneva agreements I shall go back again and ask for American bombing to resume," the 49-year-old general told UPI in an interview.

Fernandez, pointing out a hall in fighting around capital Phnom Penh since the bombing ended three days ago, said, "The military situation is much better" and "the enemy has suffered a defeat at our hands."

Field reports said government troops have run into little opposition in pushing the capital's defense perimeter out to around nine miles from Phnom Penh. The Communists had driven to about three miles of the city as recently as two weeks ago.

Some diplomatic observers, however, attributed the drop in battle action to guerrilla regrouping for a full-scale attack against the capital, now shorn of its American air defenses.

Gainesville Trial Gives Spy Tale

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — The conspiracy trial of the Gainesville Eight, in weekend recess, is a spy story told by government agents who duped their friends.

The group is accused of plotting to violently disrupt the GOP convention that nominated President Nixon last summer for a second term.

One-by-one the government witnesses have gone to the stand over the past three weeks to reveal how thoroughly the FBI penetrated the inner sanctums of the Vietnam Veterans Against the War (VVAW).

U.S. Dollar Does Better In Europe

BRUSSELS (UPI) — American tourists began to smile again last week at the currency exchange counters of Europe.

The U.S. dollar was going up in value, and the money they had saved for their European vacations was buying more local currency in the countries they were visiting.

In the foreign currency trading room of a leading London bank, the dealers took down a tattered dollar bill that they had pinned on a bulletin board several weeks ago to symbolize the decline of the dollar.

An increase in the dollar's value in the past two weeks—reaching 8 per cent on some European markets—reversed its steady decline that began after the U.S. government devalued the American currency by 10 per cent for the second time in February.

American monetary officials had hoped the February devaluation would take pressure off the dollar on foreign exchange markets, where dealers were unloading dollars for what they considered to be more stable currencies. The officials' hopes were unfounded.

The dollar lost 28.2 per cent of its value against the German mark in the first five months after devaluation, dropping from its pre-devaluation level of 3.15 marks to the dollar to a low July 6 of 2.26 marks. The same day, it dropped below four French francs for the first time in 16 years.

Pampa Gives Thanks To Inez Carter

By CARLA COMBS
Does this statement sound familiar?

"What I do, I do because I want to, not for the publicity of it."

The long-time Pampa and area residents are sure to recall this statement made many times by Mrs. Inez Carter during the years she has contributed to Pampa's growth.

Most probably remember Mrs. Carter is the one who donated $40,000 to build a children's home in Amarillo, which she later dedicated in remembrance of her mother.

In 1939 a man in Amarillo had a dream for young homeless boys. Mrs. Carter had a big part in making his dream come true. She is the one who gave three furnished classrooms to Boys Ranch because "working with boys is my hobby."

"What I am or ever will be I owe to you" could be written by many whom she has helped with an education. Mrs. Carter gives three annual scholarships to Texas Tech in Lubbock. She also provides funds for the Inez Carter and Altrusa scholarships to Pampa High School students each year.

Mrs. Carter gave the land to build Pampa's Youth and Community Center and was instrumental in its foundation. The Center was dedicated to Mrs. Carter.

In 1955 the Pampa Jaycees presented her with a Certificate of Honor. The citation was for "outstanding service to her community and fellow man." She is the only woman in Texas to hold this honor.

She has been recognized by the Chamber of Commerce, Rotary Club, and was awarded with honorary life membership in the Federated Women's Club and Business and Professional Women's Club of Amarillo.

Mrs. Carter received the Beta Sigma Phi "Woman of the Year" award in 1958.

The Altrusa Club named her Outstanding Woman Executive of 1958.

She was also the largest supporter of the Pampa Community Hotel, saying "No damn Yankee is going to donate more money than I do."

Mrs. Inez Carter, who friends say has a "heart of gold," has done much in the way of working with young people.

HONORED ON BIRTHDAY — Mrs. Inez Carter, long-time Pampa resident, will celebrate her 88th birthday on August 24. The Pampa Optimist Boys Club will host a reception in the Optimist Building Friday, Aug. 24 from 7 to 8:30 p.m. Panhandle residents are urged to attend.

Pioneer, philanthropist and precious neighbor, Mrs. Carter was born in a small town that was once known as "Charley," outside of Wichita Falls, during the Gay Nineties.

Her father, who was a rancher, died when she was very young after a horse fell on him.

She moved to the Panhandle after her father's death with her mother, brother and sister. Her mother, Mrs. Phoebe A. Worley, settled at Wildorado, where she became a ranch woman.

While living on her mother's large ranch 25 miles west of Amarillo, she learned to love horses and cattle. This love has stayed with her through the years.

Like her mother, she is a devoted cattle and ranch woman, and, also like her mother, she is continually giving of her wealth to benefit the community in which she lives.

Mrs. Carter took active part in ranch life and work as a child.

During the summer months she stayed on the ranch, but in the winter she and her sister lived in Amarillo, where she graduated from Amarillo High School. She later attended Goodnight Junior College.

In 1907, she was introduced to Frank Moore Carter, whom she married in 1909.

"Frank never proposed to me. We just had a mutual agreement to get married," Mrs. Carter insists. And those who have done business with Mrs. Carter will agree that this is how she handles all her agreements.

Her husband traveled for Armour and Company. She worked hard while he was away so that she might be with him when he returned to Amarillo.

After only ten happy years, he was stricken in the flu epidemic of 1918 and passed away, leaving her with one son, Frank Jr., who lives in Pampa. She now has three grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Moving to Pampa in 1930, her mother made a joint purchase with Albert Combs, another prominent pioneer of the Panhandle. The purchased land was called the Combs - Worley Ranch. It was there the first oil well was drilled in Gray County in 1924.

Six years after oil came to this area; the Combs - Worley building was built by Mrs. Carter's mother and Albert Combs. This became the place where the Carters now maintain their office.

In her life, Inez Carter has seen a lot of change. And in her words, "I have seen Amarillo grow from one store to the city it is now."

When asked how she feels about today's youth, she replied, "In every generation, most people talk about the youth like they are all going to hell. But I believe that in the end, they will all turn out the same."

She still insists that she associates with younger people better than older anyway.

"If I had had some of the things young people have today, like a car, the devil couldn't have caught up with me," said Mrs. Carter sincerely, but with a twinkle in her eye.

Symbolic of Inez Carter, when asked about the many philanthropic things she has done, she has continually said, "The little I do is not for praise. I feel whatever opportunity I have to help is a God given trust and I hope it's pleasing to Him."

Everything Mrs. Carter has given comes from her heart. She wishes not to be thanked but to thank Pampa for giving her the opportunity to help Pampa grow.

Pampa has an opportunity to give Inez Carter the sincere thanks to which she is entitled. Friday, Aug. 24, Mrs. Carter will acknowledge her 88th birthday. The Pampa Optimist Boys Club is hosting a reception to be held at the Optimist Building.

President R.W. McPhillips Jr. and secretary - treasurer New Secret extend a sincere invitation to all Panhandle residents to attend the reception from 7 to 8:30 p.m.

This is one of Pampa's ways of saying, "Thank you, Inez Carter."

Society Sponsoring Meeting

The American First Day Cover Society will sponsor informal "get-togethers" for stamp collectors attending the First Day ceremonies in Austin for the Lyndon B. Johnson memorial stamp.

Robert C. Graebner, president of the Society, will host these meetings on Sunday and Monday evenings, Aug. 26 and 27, at the Villa Capri Motor Hotel, 2400 N. Interregional Highway.

The AFDCS, a national philatelic society, has about 70 members in Texas. While this group specializes in collecting First Day Covers, the invitation is extended to all stamp collectors, novices and experts alike, regardless of their collecting interests.

The Villa Capri is within walking distance of Lyndon Baines Johnson Library. A hospitality lounge will be operated at the hotel on Monday, Aug. 27, the day of the ceremonies. Information on Society activities will be available in the hotel lobby.

Battin' Around

By C.R. BATTEN

Why have we become a nation of disappointed people? — a nation of squabbling gangs, each trying to impose our will on all others?

Why has our dollar depreciated in foreign currency markets by one fourth in less than two years? Why must the State lay first claim to the earnings of the individual?

Why have we become a nation of shortages? What has gone wrong?

To most of us, the shortages of gasoline and other forms of energy, food, lumber, paper and other products, has arrived suddenly and dramatically. Yet, those shortages have been a long time in the making.

In its January, 1971 issue of "Resources," Resources for the Future, Inc., discussed the coming energy crisis at length. It pointed out that the aggregate use of primary fuels (coal, oil, gas, nuclear fuels, or hydroelectricity) was increasing at about 4 per cent each year. Demand for electricity rose by nearly 9 per cent annually.

The number of producing coal mines in the U.S. fell from 7900 in 1960 to 7200 in 1965 to 5300 in 1968. Coal production dropped one per cent from 1967 to 1969, while demand rose 5 per cent. Industry met demand only by using stockpiles, according to the article.

In 1969 we were warned of possible lumber and wood products shortages unless we accelerated timber growth on forest lands. In the 1950s we were warned that federal control of natural gas prices would cause future shortages of natural gas.

In spite of the propaganda efforts by government spokesmen earlier this year to convince us that food prices will go down, we can expect higher food prices in the not too distant future.

Farmers warned us that a ban on diethylstilbestrol (DES) would increase the costs of producing beef. Others warned that a ban on DDT would increase the cost of other food products.

The wet fall, abnormally long and severe winter, and spring floods caused the loss of hundreds of thousands of cattle that won't produce more calves or reach the market this year or next. Though the shortages were not really so sudden after all, their appearance of suddenness lends credence to the charge (especially in relation to gasoline and oil) that the shortages are contrived by the major oil companies in order to force prices up, freeze independent distributors out of business, and establish a monopoly.

It is probably true that every businessman on earth would like to have a monopoly in his field — but is a contrived shortage the way to get it?

Any company in business to sell its products to its customers. To deliberately refrain from selling those products would be against its own best interests. It would lose its customers to competitors who would continue to sell the same product to them.

To establish a monopoly, a company must increase its share of all sales of its product. It cannot increase its share by raising prices and withholding supplies from the market.

There seems to be general agreement that there is no immediate true shortage of virgin raw material — the problem seems to be in converting the raw materials to consumer or capital goods and getting them to the user.

Arch N. Booth, executive vice president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States wrote recently that "... shortages have been created either by economic conditions or by governmental regulation and opposition from groups such as environmentalists.

Energy shortages can be related almost directly to our new concern over the environment. It has slowed development of oil and gas fields and building of refineries and in effect destroyed the market for high-sulphur coal.

Timber supply has been affected by wasteful use of land in our concern for environmental protection. Tax laws which reduce incentives for research and development haven't helped the situation."

In those brief statements, Booth pretty well summed up the answers that we most often hear to the question "Why the shortages?"

Tax Facts Important Consideration

With inflation creating serious financial problems for millions of older Americans, state tax regulations should be an important consideration both in basic financial planning and in selecting a retirement home, according to the booklet "1973 Tax Facts for Older Americans," published by the American Association of Retired Persons and National Retired Teachers Association.

Designed as a handy reference for those interested in tax regulations in their present state and for those contemplating a new retirement home, "Tax Facts" provides a brief summary of federal tax provisions and a state-by-state analysis of retirement income credits and tax concessions available to older persons.

The 57-page booklet also provides a comparison of each state's income taxes as well as property, sales, estate and other taxes of concern to older taxpayers.

Prepared by AARP-NRTA legal experts, "Tax Facts" is offered free to all interested older persons as a service of the two Associations.

With a combined membership of 5.5 million, AARP-NRTA is the nation's largest organization of older citizens. The Associations conduct a vigorous legislative program at both federal and state levels and offer many services designed to help older Americans stretch retirement incomes and maintain active involvement in community and national affairs.

Free copies of "Tax Facts" can be obtained by writing "Tax Facts for Older Americans," AARP-NRTA, P.O. Box 199, Long Beach, Calif. 90801.

A New Record High... Farm Price Average Up Again... Livestock Slaughter Declines.

Both in Texas and throughout the nation, the numbers of cattle, beef cows, and calves show significant increases. Thus, cattlemen are increasing production in order to meet increasing demands for the product.

The number of all cattle and calves on Texas farms and ranches as of July totals 16,400,000. This compares with 15,350,000 as of January 1.

The 1973 Texas calf crop is estimated at 6,250,000 head; this is an increase of 15 per cent over 1972. This is the largest calf crop for Texas since estimates began in 1924.

Nationwide, the figures also show increases. As of July 1, the number of cattle and calves totaled 131,000,000 head. This compares with the January 1 inventory number of 122,000,000 head.

As important, if not more so than total cattle and calves numbers, are totals of cows and heifers—the beef factory. As of July 1, a total of 53,800,000 cows and heifers have calved; this is up four per cent from July 1 last year.

Beef cows at 42,400,000 head are up six per cent nationally. Milk cows, however, are down two per cent (as had been predicted earlier by dairy associations due to the cost-price squeeze) to total 11,400,000 head.

Texas, naturally, is number one in the cow inventory; the state showed an increase of 15 per cent; Missouri, in second place, had an increase of eight per cent in cow inventory, and Oklahoma, third place in the nation, had an increase of four per cent from a year ago.

The real clincher to the increasing number of live stock in the nation lies in the preliminary estimates of calf numbers. The Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service and U.S. Department of Agriculture predict that 50,000,000 calves are expected to be born during this calendar year. This again sets a new high, being four per cent over 1972.

Texas, again, is first in this category, followed by Missouri, Oklahoma, Kansas and Nebraska.

FARM price percentages continue to increase in Texas. As of July 15, the all-farm products index for Texas farmers was three per cent above the previous month and 32 per cent above a year ago. The livestock price index is up 34 per cent above a year ago.

Beef cattle at an average of $46.40 per 100 pounds were up $1.10 from a month ago and $9 above a year ago. Hogs at $39.40 were $2.90 above a month ago and $12.40 above a year ago.

COMMERCIAL slaughtering plants in Texas during June produced a total of 183,800,000 pounds of red meat. This is down seven per cent from the 198,200,000 pounds produced a month ago and one per cent below a year ago.

Nationwide, commercial production of red meat is down nine per cent from a year ago. Beef production is down nine per cent; veal production is down 29 per cent; and pork production is nine per cent under a year earlier.

In Texas, during June the number of cattle slaughtered was 25,000 below a month ago. Calf slaughter was 900 less than last month. Hog production was 16,000 below a month ago.

DRYLOT sheep feeders with a lot capacity of 2,000 head or more had 126,000 sheep and lambs on feed for slaughter as of August 1. This is 15 per cent below the number on feed a month ago and 12 per cent below the number on feed a year ago.

Intentions to market are: August 71,000; September 56,000; October, 19,000. September and October intentions are incomplete.

Harvest Continuing Despite Some Rain

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (UPI) — Despite rain showers in parts of the state, harvest operations continued in full swing this week, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service said today. And yields and prices are generally holding good.

The grain sorghum harvest is nearly complete in South Texas and is moving toward completion in the Southwest (Uvalde). Harvesting is also active in Central, West Central, North Central and East Texas and is expected to start soon in the Rolling Plains.

Corn harvesting is active in North Central and East Texas and is moving toward completion in some counties.

About 25,000 bales of cotton have been harvested in the Rio Grande Valley but rains have slowed operations, said the Extension Service. Early cotton is beginning to open in the Blacklands, but more open weather is needed to get the crop ready for harvesting in Southeastern counties. Insect damage is increasing in late planted cotton in Central Texas and in the Rolling Plains.

Potatoes, onions, cucumbers and early cabbage are being harvested in the High Plains. Peas are moving to market in East Texas and are bringing excellent prices — $4.50 to $5 a bushel. Fall vegetable planting is active in the Coastal Bend, the San Antonio-Winter Garden area and the Rio Grande Valley.

According to the Extension Service, a bumper hay and alfalfa crop is being harvested over the state despite baling wire shortages and some rain damage.

Pasture and livestock conditions look good with livestock marketings beginning to increase. Prices are high.

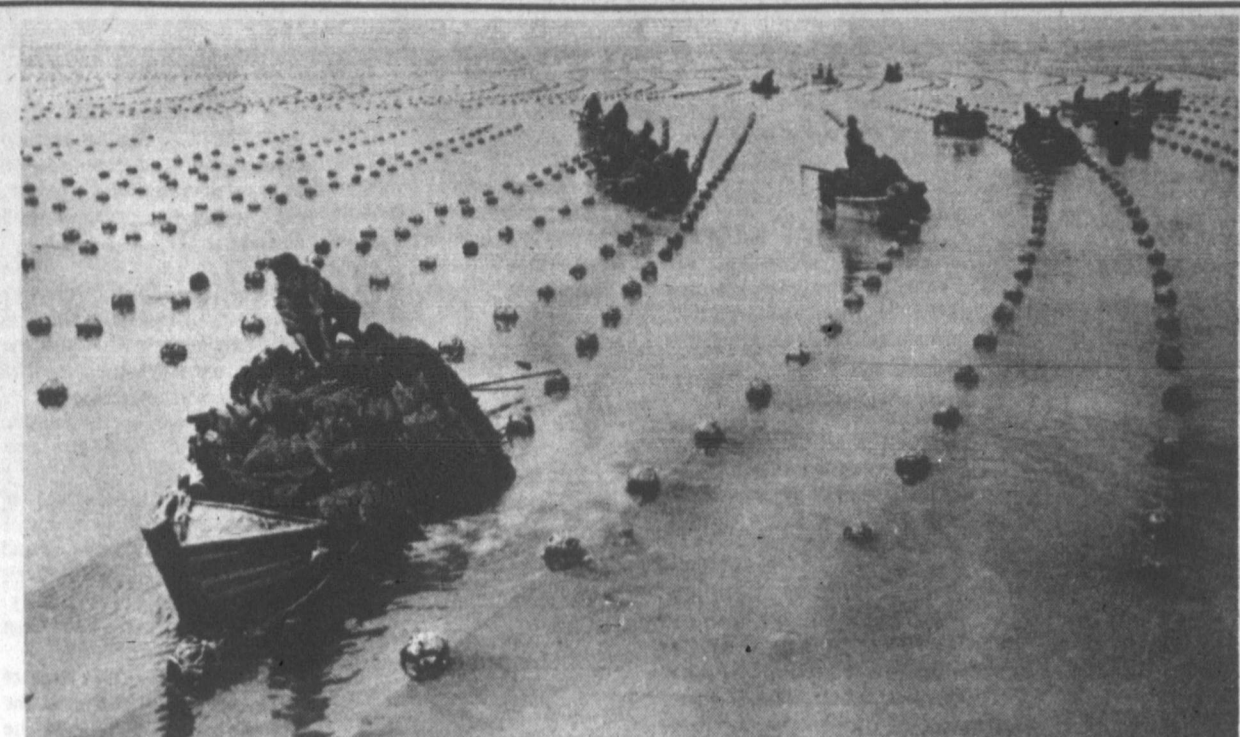

Some small grain seeding is beginning in the High Plains and in West Central Texas so that early grazing will be available to livestock.

Two Are Enjoined
WASHINGTON (UPI) — The U.S. Department of Agriculture Saturday announced actions against two Texas livestock dealers for violating the Packers and Stockyards Act.

U.S. District Court at Beaumont permanently enjoined Ben Granger of China, Tex., from operating as a livestock dealer or market agency without registering and providing valid bond. He also was fined $100.

Panhandle Water

By FELIX W. RYALS

One of the earlier problems faced by the Water Conservation Districts was that of pollution to the underground fresh water reservoir from salt water deposited on the surface from the oil and gas industry. Today that problem has been essentially eliminated.

One of the potential dangers to underground water at the present time is improperly treated sewage from cities. Of growing concern also is the disposition of rural sewage. Each year a greater number of rural water supply systems are checked and found to contain Coliform that comes from human sewage.

Many tests are being carried on throughout the Country to find a solution to our sewage problem. An experimental study is being conducted in Arizona, jointly by the Agricultural Research Service, the Environmental Protection Agency, the Salt River Irrigation District and the Corps of Engineers. The tests have already shown that common bermuda grass may be an effective tool for preventing aquifer pollution in artificial ground water recharge. Effluent from a nearby sewage plant, loaded with ammonium compounds and Coliform bacteria is being passed through holding basins lined with bermuda grass. The recovered water is as pure as the ground water in unpolluted aquifer formations.

The results thus far indicate that an acre of plant-soil filter can purify about 120,000 cubic feet of sewage effluent a year. This figured on the basis of one section of land would take care of approximately eight million cubic feet of sewage effluent. At the same rate a section and one-half of land lined with bermuda grass could process the sewage effluent of a metropolitan area approaching a million in population.

Underground water is the vital life blood of West Texas. It has made agriculture and agribusiness something really big and it is still growing.

The ability of agriculture in West Texas to plug at least some of the gap in the nation's imbalance of imports over exports, threatening to grow even greater because of energy fuels shortages, will draw increasing recognition in the foreseeable future.

There is a strong foundation on which to expand, and just how viable the regional farming and ranching is can be harvested from a summary of West Texas agricultural productivity discussed recently by Emil C. Rassman as he assumed the presidency of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

One-fourth of all the cotton produced in the United States is produced in West Texas, Rassman said, and then went on to recite other impressive statistics including "26 per cent of the nation's grain sorghum, 82 per cent of the nation's angora goats, 18 per cent of the nation's wool, and 30 per cent of the WORLD'S mohair."

West Texas vegetable production last year exceeded $40 million. In 1966 there were 300,000 cattle in the feed lots of West Texas; today more than 1.5 million cattle are on feed in 180 West Texas and is still growing.

Rassman added, "The productivity of West Texas agriculture helps make us the best-fed people in the world, with the lowest percentage of the family budget going to food of any country in the world."

Big and growing — that's West Texas agricultural productivity.

Wheat Harvest Has Him Beat

DODGE CITY, Kan. (UPI) — Ellis Cave has watched the wheat market for nearly half a century "but this one has got me beat," he said Thursday.

Cave, described by some grain men as knowing more about the business than any other Kansan, sat in his office at the American Grain Co. on Dodge City's West Trail Street and called the situation "sad."

In two days time he had seen wheat prices fall 50 cents a bushel, a paper loss of more than $175 million dollars on a Kansas wheat crop, harvested only last month, of 350 million bushels.

Made Little Difference
But for a lot of farmers, especially the smaller ones, it didn't make much difference, except perhaps to ease rights.

Take Dean Hamilton, who was "out in the fields either doing something about the corn or about the fat cattle," his daughter, Nancy, 18, said. "Dad sold most of his wheat right after harvest," she said. "And he sure wishes he hadn't."

What with driving a tractor and a truck during harvest, working at a local store in the summer, and attending Dodge City Community College, Nancy is too busy to worry about farm economics.

Fall Vegetable Garden

LUBBOCK — A fall vegetable garden can be a bountiful source of good food and a richly rewarding enterprise for the serious gardener, says a vegetable specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

A vast array of vegetables can be started from seed in early August for harvest in September and on through the coldest months. Some of the cold tolerant kings, particularly the root crops, can be harvested well into the winter, Roberts says.

"Certain varieties are well adapted for fall harvest in this area," he adds. "Topcrop and Contender are quick-growing, green snap beans. Resistant Kinghorn Wax is a prolific yellow snap bean that grows fast. These snap beans are well suited to home freezing and canning."

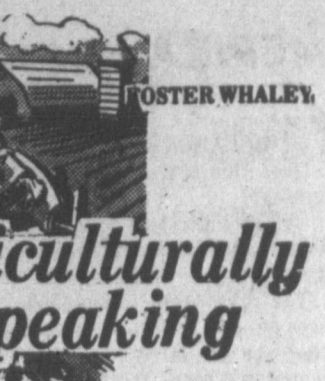

"Many varieties of green and yellow summer squash will produce heavily before frost," the specialist says. "We like the yellow-fruited Seneca Butterbar and Early Prolific Straightneck, as well as the green-fruited Chifini and Storrs Green Hybrid for summer squash."

Leaf and head lettuce thrive in the cool weather of fall. Buttercrunch, Butter King, Ruby (red leaf), Salad Bowl, and Green Lakes 659 (head) are proven performers. Green Curled endive will sharpen the flavor of fall salads a bit, Roberts advises.

The cabbage family is well represented by brussels sprouts (Jade Cross), cabbage (Early Jersey Wakefield, Ruby Ball, Superette and Savoy King), cauliflower (Snowball Y and Snow King Hybrid), broccoli (Green Comet), collards (Vates), and Kale (Dwarf Scotch), according to Roberts.

In 1972, 24,970,615 pounds of horsemeat were rated by the Department of Agriculture as fit for human consumption though most probably went to zoos and into pet foods.

State 4-H Center

Over $5,000 in wheat deduction and cash has just been raised for the benefit of the State 4-H Center by Gray County and surrounding residents. This exceeds the $4,500 goal by over $500.

Most of the donations were in the form of wheat but a sizable number donated cash in lieu of wheat.

This makes Gray County the first County in the State to reach a voluntary goal for its quota. J.D. Skaggs, chairman of the drive, said, "We are proud of the people of this area. The fact we exceeded our goal and became the first County in the State is a most commendable feat."

We would like to thank the following Committeemen for working on the drive: J.D. Skaggs, chairman; Curtis Schaffer, Tony Smitherman, John Spearman, Richard Bowers, Raymond Maddox, Earl Smith, George Quible, Paul Eakin, Jack Benton, James A. Reeves, Jim Hopkins and Elmer McLaughlin.

We would also like to thank the elevators for their assistance in collection of the wheat. They are Wheeler Grain, Western Beef Grain, Keeton Grain, Miami Feed and Grain, and Groom Wheat Growers.

A list of contributors follows. We realize there could be others that failed to turn in their wheat check-off slip. Also, it is very possible to have overlooked a name in printing.

Protest in the '70s: the politics of arson

Second in a series
By Tom Tiede

NEW YORK — (NEA) — There are criminals in Spanish Harlem in fact, throughout this town — who have added a new weapon to their arsenals of antagonism. The weapon is fire.

Addicts for the most part, or cats who've learned from addicts, ignite blazes in apartments or stores and then, during the commotion, enter adjoining rooms which are vacated and haul away everything that isn't nailed down.

Peddling the goods is called a fire sale.

The phenomenon is hardly unprecedented. Fire has been used for individual gain since before civilization. Yet the use of flame for social or political comment has, in recent years, become almost an American art form.

The addict firebugs are just part of the problem. Fire Commissioners around the nation have reported that many fires which are being set today reflect the temper of the times. When the Harrisburg, N.Y., fire force was prevented from extinguishing a blaze by residents of a ghetto neighborhood, for example, the chief was told: "This building is going to burn down because we're all tired of living in it."

Clearly a new king of arson is thriving. The old pyromaniac of a hundred B movies who set fires because "they're so pretty" is still around. So are the desperate business types who, when customers are scarce, put the torch to the clothes rack for an insurance payoff.

But far more dangerous, perhaps, is the man or woman

Many today see fire as a romantic means of storming the barricades. The Molotov cocktail has become the flaming symbol of anti-oppression. A hip new term, trashing, has been invented for the cool and the revolutionary and, more likely, the cluck who merely plays at being cool and revolutionary.

who uses deliberate fire to protest the human condition.

Many today see fire as a romantic means of storming the barricades. The Molotov cocktail has become the flaming symbol of anti-oppression. A hip new term, trashing, has been invented for the cool and the revolutionary and, more likely, the cluck who merely plays at being cool and revolutionary.

American fire statistics, however, do not tell us which of the 2,700,000 annual fires are set in protest and which are just routine and apolitical. The National Commission on Fire Prevention and Control says only that 300,000 people are maimed by fire each year, 45 per cent of them young children and old people. The truth is that those who suffer from flames in the name of social action are no better off than the victims of plain accidents.

Whatever their motivation, though, intentional fires are of growing concern. Seven per cent of the reported fires in per cent were of unknown or suspicious origin.

1971 were listed as incendiary (that is, deliberate) and 17

Often the arsonists pick expensive and helpless targets: 74 per cent of the large loss fires of 1971 ($250,000 or above) were either incendiary or of unknown cause, and 44 per cent of the large loss church fires, as well as 26 per cent of the large loss school blazes, were set on purpose. Says Richard Bland, chairman of the Fire Commission: "It's a very, very discouraging thing."

Most discouraging, perhaps, is the number of deliberate fires being set in urban America's vacant buildings. In New York alone about 6,700 vacant buildings burn every year. Most of these fires, according to authorities, "are set on purpose." In Newark, N.J., where the number of vacant buildings increased by 300 per cent between 1965 and 1971, the number of fires in the structures increased by 500 per cent — most of them also "suspicious."

Safety Group Sponsors Class For Businessmen

AUSTIN — This fall for the first time in Texas, the businessman or industrialist who is responsible for his company's safety can take the Fundamentals of Occupational Safety course.

Offered by the Texas Safety Association in cooperation with the National Safety Council, the course is designed to provide students with the knowledge and skills to organize and operate an effective safety program for any size and type of industry.

It covers more than 18 major topics ranging from records keeping to detection of hazards and from a systems approach to training to the human factors of accident prevention. Also included will be discussions of damage control, accident investigation, analysis of cost and off-the-job safety.

The five-day course will be offered in Houston Sept. 24-28 at the Shamrock - Hilton and Dallas Nov. 26-30 at the Sheraton-Dallas.

"With the passage of the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970 (OSHA), thousands of establishments and hundreds of thousands of workers in Texas became responsible to legislated safety regulations," said Ed Locke of Dallas, president of the Texas Safety Association.

"The OSHA, combined with a growing awareness that a sound safety program saves in efficiency and time lost, catapulted the role of the safety professional into an essential place in business. It also raised the question of how business could secure training for safety personnel," he explained.

Fundamentals of Occupational Safety was developed by the Safety Training Institute of the National Safety Council, based on 27 years of instruction implementation in the field of occupational safety.

The course is accredited for the safety professional working to receive the National Safety Council's Advanced Safety Certificate. In addition, it is designed to contribute to preparation for the examination to become a certified safety professional.

Because the National Safety Council will monitor the course in Texas, Texans will not have to take The Fundamentals of Occupational Safety at NSC Headquarters, Chicago, Ill.

Additional information and registration material for the Fundamentals of Occupational Safety can be obtained from the Texas Safety Association, P.O. Box 3138, Austin, Texas 78764.

By MARJORIE CRAIG
Pigeon-toes are more prevalent than most parents realize. This exercise corrects pigeon-toes. Do exercise eight times.

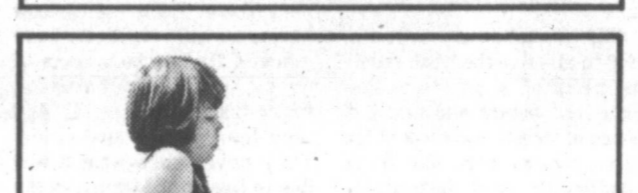

Sit on the floor, legs extended in front, knees and feet together, arms extended back, with hands placed on the floor, palms down for support. Keep knees and heels touching.

Pull toes up toward the knee.

Turn feet outward, being sure that as the feet turn outward the knees do not separate. (This is a little hard but is very good for the pigeon-toed child.) Do not stiffen the knees. They should be slightly bent.

Bring feet together.

Pampans' Son Receives Society's Nominee Status

JAMES ANDREW EPPS — honored by society

CHICAGO, Ill. — James Andrew Epps, administrator of the Great Southwest General Hospital, Grand Prairie, Tex., will become a nominee in the American College of Hospital Administrators at convocation ceremonies to be held this afternoon.

Epps is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W.L. Epps, 1909 Duncan, Pampa, Tex. He graduated from Pampa High School in 1958 and from West Texas State University in 1968.

The announcement was made by William N. Wallace, chairman of the ACHA, a professional society comprised of 9,500 of the leading hospital and health care administrative personnel in the United States and Canada.

Wallace, president, United Hospitals, St. Paul, Minn., will preside at the ceremony.

The event marks the opening of the society's 39th annual meeting, traditionally held concurrently with the American Health Congress. The ACHA will advance approximately 100 fellows and 450 members and admit 650 new nominees.

At the same ceremony, the professional society will confer Honorary Fellowship upon three distinguished persons for their exceptional contributions to the hospital and health service fields. Paul B. Cornely, M.D., professor, College of Medicine, Department of Community Health Practice, Howard University, Washington, D.C.; Mrs. S. Palmer Gaillard, Jr., chairman of the board, Mobile Infirmary, Mobile, Ala.; and A.A. Heckman, president and director, Louis W. and Maud Hill Family Foundation, St. Paul, Minn.

Close Family Faces Troubles

FREMONT, Calif. (UPI) — Jesse DeAnda is proving that his family is close—even in times of the worst of troubles.

Seven children were orphaned last month when their parents, Robert Montalbo, 43, and his estranged wife, Joan, 39, died in a murder-suicide in a mobile home parking lot.

DeAnda, a self-employed insurance broker, is their cousin. He also has a wife, four daughters and two foster children. Despite a crowded home, he took in six of the Montalbo children.

The seventh is 20 years of age and is living elsewhere in search of a job so he can help support his brothers and sisters.

DeAnda is applying for a loan to add four bedrooms to his five-bedroom home.

The dead parents left no will, which is causing financial headaches for DeAnda and the Montalbo children.

A mortgage company has initiated foreclosure action on the Montalbo estate because of delinquent payments. The Internal Revenue Service has placed a tax lien on the estate. And there isn't enough money to buy school clothes for the Montalbo children.

DeAnda has obtained the services of an attorney who is trying to salvage money for the orphans. The lawyer is trying to obtain Social Security benefits for them.

DeAnda will go into Superior Court on Aug. 29 in an effort to become the guardian of the orphans.

DeAnda said the whole situation has become "a challenge" for him and he is determined to keep the family together.

WORRY CLINIC

Dr. Pierce fills his sanctuary on Sunday morning by means of his superb pulpit oratory. But that also involves a keen sense of humor, as shown by the use of the "Tate Family" story below. Jesus likewise made his audience laugh by use of hyperbole!

CASE X-990: Dr. Robert B. Pierce is the pastor of the skyscraper Chicago Temple, in the heart of the Loop.

"Dr. Crane," he asked, "have you ever heard of the famous 'Tate Family' that belongs to every church?"

"There is old man DICK TATE, who wants to run everything in the church."

"Uncle RO TATE tries to change everything."

"And sister AGI TATE stirs up trouble whenever possible."

"Her brother, IRRI TATE, helps her to do so, too."

"And whenever new projects are suggested, brother HESI TATE and sister VEGE TATE pour cold water on the proposals."

"Then there is sister IMI TATE who tries to have the church mimic everybody else."

"When the church budget is announced, everybody tends to quake if brother DEVAS TATE stands up in the meeting."

"And brother POTEN TATE wants to be a big shot."

"But not all members of the family are bad, for brother FACILI TATE is quite helpful."

"A delightful member of the family is Miss FELICI TATE."

"And the pastor is always delighted by brother COGI TATE and his twin, brother MEDI TATE."

PULPIT HUMOR

You faithful church members may like to expand this tabulation of the "Tate Family."

You will also find that its members are found in many other civic and fraternal organizations.

But I salute Dr. Pierce for his good sense of humor.

Too many clergymen fail to realize that appropriate humor is a decided asset to all pulpit speakers.

Thus, clergymen (and all public speakers) might profitably subscribe to the weekly QUOTE MAGAZINE, published in Anderson, S. C.

For it not only contains epigrams and brief quotations from famous leaders in all walks of life.

But also includes several pages of excellent humor, jokes,

New Swim Lessons
The summer swim lesson program has been our most successful ever, but now we must turn our minds to new heights for the coming school year.

During the school year our swim lesson programs revert back to the afternoon sessions from 4-5 and 5-6 p.m. This enables all of the school children to be able to enroll in the program without interfering with their school work.

Classes during the school year meet on Monday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday for 10 meeting days. This gives each child 10 hours of training.

Classes are limited to 15 in polywogs and 25 in each of the other classes. Polywogs classes will last 30 minutes each day because of the attention span of the younger children.

Enrollment is open to the general public and you do not have to be a member to enroll. It is more expensive to be a member, because you receive the lessons free of charge. Enrollment in all the classes is free to members and $4 to non-members. Members may call in to enroll, but non-members must come by and pay the enrollment fee.

Memberships and Participation
Newcomers to Pampa should be interested in this full explanation about our use of the Center. First of all, the Center is a private non-profit organization run for the pleasure of Pampans and persons from surrounding areas.

Our operational revenue comes from two sources — memberships and donations. Several individuals and businesses and civic clubs donate to the Center each year so that the cost of your membership can be kept at the very minimum of cost.

Memberships are divided into two categories according to use.

The limited membership allows you to use the gym, recreation hall and swimming pool along with locker room use. Any activity in these buildings is included in your membership.

For an individual limited membership the cost is only $5 for six months or $8 per year. For a family limited membership the cost is only $12 for six months or $20 a year. This includes all members of the immediate family.

The more elaborate membership called our unlimited membership allows you use of all of the above facilities plus the use of the new health facility.

Our new health facility is one of the most used buildings we have. Housed in it is all our exercise machines, weights, dumbbells, health walkers, incline boards, bicycles both manual and motorized, jungle pulley machine, multiple press machine, leg and thigh curl machines, leg press machine, beauty bars, sun area, punching bag and many other machines.

Also there are two handball and racquetball courts, dressing room, reception room and sauna room.

Hours for the women are from 9 a.m. till 11:45 a.m. each morning Monday through Saturday and also on Tuesday and Thursday nights from 7-10 p.m. Men's hours are from 11:45 a.m. till 9:30 p.m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday, 11:45 a.m. on Tuesday and Thursdays and 12 noon till 5 p.m. on Saturday.

Membership fees for the unlimited membership for individuals are $65 for six months or $118 a year. We have an installment plan for your convenience. A husband-wife combination costs only $90 for six months or $166 a year.

Rev. Ferguson Returns From Church Meet

Rev. Cecil Ferguson of the Hi Land Pentecostal Holiness Church has just returned from the Seventeenth Quadrennial Conference of the Pentecostal Holiness Church held in Roanoke, Virginia, August 2-7. This is the legislative and policy-making body for the denomination. Record crowds shared in the six-day convocation. The program embraced all departments of the church and was international in scope. Delegates from England, Mexico, Argentina, Costa Rica, Hong Kong, Korea, India, South Africa, Rhodesia and Canada joined in policy-making deliberations.

The Pentecostal Holiness Church has enlarged its potential representation to the next General Conference to include ordained ministers and one lay delegate from each local church, providing that the church has met denominational standards. In addition to these delegates, each conference will choose other lay delegates as necessary to equalize lay and ministerial representation.

A major decision made by the delegation was to relocate the church headquarters from Franklin Springs, Georgia, to Oklahoma City, Oklahoma.

IN LAND SALE Indians Not Sure About 'Windfall'

KLAMATH FALLS, Ore. (UPI) — Annabelle Bates will believe it when she sees a $100,000 check in the mailbox—and not before.

Edison Chiloquin doesn't want to see such a check—and plans to tear it up if he gets one.

Helen Merritt shrugs her shoulders—and hopes it's all for the best.

They are three of the 600 members of the Klamath Indian tribe who will share about $60 million under terms of a bill signed Thursday by President Nixon.

The law allows the federal government to buy 136,000 acres of valuable forest lands owned by the Indians for addition to the Winema National Forest. The price is expected to be in the neighborhood of $60 million.

600 Indians Will Share
It will be shared by some 600 Indians who own 473 shares in a timberland trust set up in 1961 by members of the tribe who refused to accept $57,000 apiece for their portions of the Klamath lands. Some 2,100 other tribal members agreed to the termination price at that time.

The shareholders voted in 1969 to dissolve the trust, partly because of a smaller-than-expected return and partly in hopes of wresting control of the land back from the bank handling the trust. Instead, the bank put the land up for sale and Oregon congressmen intervened to keep it in federal ownership.

Mrs. Bates, one of the shareholders, has made no plans and won't until she has a check in her hand.

"It's hard to believe you'll really get it until you see it," she explained. "There is a great feeling among the Indians, especially the older ones, that the Indian is going to get gypped anyway."

He Doesn't Want to Leave
Chiloquin, grandson of the Indian for whom the small hamlet of Chiloquin, Ore., was named, doesn't want to leave the land of his ancestors.

"I know I'm not going to take the money," he said. "It's like selling my people... my dead people. I think this land is all-important to a guy... Whatever happens, the Indians are going to come out on the short end of the stick."

Mrs. Merritt, who was unhappy about the trustee arrangement and voted to sell the land, hopes it will benefit younger members of the tribe.

"Our reservation land..." she started to say, then paused. "I don't know how to say it. The land is practically useless now because our children have grown up on the streets of every town. They have had movie houses, dance halls. And they learned that kind of life. They never knew what it was like to live on the farms, on the reservation. They learned to live in the streets."

Comet May Bring Dazzling Spectacle

NEW YORK (UPI) — A comet soaring toward Earth could create a spectacle as good or better than the sensation created in 1910 by Halley's Comet, according to astronomers at the Hayden Planetarium.

The Kohoutek Comet, which was discovered this year, will pass within 80 million miles of Earth during the first week in January.

The space agency in Houston has tentatively set the launch of the Skylab 3 astronauts for Nov. 9 to give them a chance for a rare, close-up view of the comet.

The Kohoutek Comet is approaching the sun and cannot be sighted at present. It will become visible to telescopes in the fall and should become visible to the naked eye in December.

Astronomers at Hayden said Thursday it was possible the Kohoutek would be as bright as a quarter gize of the moon by next January, with Jan. 7 expected to be the day when it passes the closest to Earth and is brightest.

The tail is likely to be several million miles long, planetarium astronomers said. The Earth passed through the tail of Halley's Comet—consisting of harmless asteroid dust and gas—in May of 1910. The Kohoutek is the sixth comet discovered this year. Astronomers normally sight dozens a year.

Candlelight Ceremony Unites Margie Chastain-Cody Owen

(See Picture Page 7)

Miss Margie Kay Chastain, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Chastain, Graham, Tex., formerly of Lefors, and Cody Lynn Owen, son of Mr. and Mrs. W.B. Owen of Breckenridge, exchanged marriage vows at 7 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 18 in the First Baptist Church in Lefors.

THE CEREMONY

Vows were repeated beneath an archway of greenery, gladioli and spring flowers. Candelabra with spring flowers were placed on each side of the altar. Officiating the double-ring ceremony was Rev. Ed Spivey of the First Baptist Church of Mexia. Jerry Whitten, organist of Pampa, played traditional wedding music. He accompanied Miss Carol Messersmith of Lubbock, who sang "The Twelfth of Never," and Miss Wanda Wagon of Ballinger who sang "All of My Life" and "We've Only Just Begun." Miss Wagon also registered the guests.

THE BRIDE

Given in marriage by her father, with the "her mother and I" avowal, the bride wore a princess style gown of ivory peau de soie, embroidered with seed pearls, crystal beads and sheer puff sleeves. The bell skirt formed a chapel train and her floor-length veil was attached to a peau de soie coil embroidered with seed pearls. Her bouquet of rainbow carnations and baby's breath was carried atop a white Bible.

For something old, the bride wore a pair of gold earrings belonging to her grandmother; something borrowed, she carried a handkerchief of the bridegroom's grandmother; for something blue she wore a blue garter; and for something new she wore a watch in lieu of a charm, a gift of the bridegroom.

ATTENDANTS

Miss Sandra Cain of Lefors was maid of honor. Miss Judy Owen, sister of the bridegroom and Miss Diane Mitchell of Breckenridge, served as bridesmaids. They wore identical gowns of dacron floral prints that carried out the bride's colors of yellow, blue and pink. Also, each wore a white straw hat trimmed with the color of each dress and carried nosegays of spring flowers.

Miss Sue Owen, sister of the bridegroom and Mike Watson of Lefors were candlelighters. The ringbearer was Jon Watson of Lefors. MOTHERS

RECEPTION

The reception was held in Fellowship Hall hosted by the bride's parents and assisted by members of the houseparty who included Miss Laura Best, Pampa, Miss Kathy Knadle, Mission and Miss Kathy Eady, Lubbock. The serving table was covered with a white lace cloth. The three-tiered cake was decorated in rainbow colors with wedding bells on the top tier.

For the wedding trip to Arkansas, the bride chose a pale blue knit dress with white accessories and wore a white carnation corsage.

The couple will establish temporary residence at the College View Apartments at College Station, where the bridegroom will receive his degree in Agriculture Education.

PRE-NUPTIAL

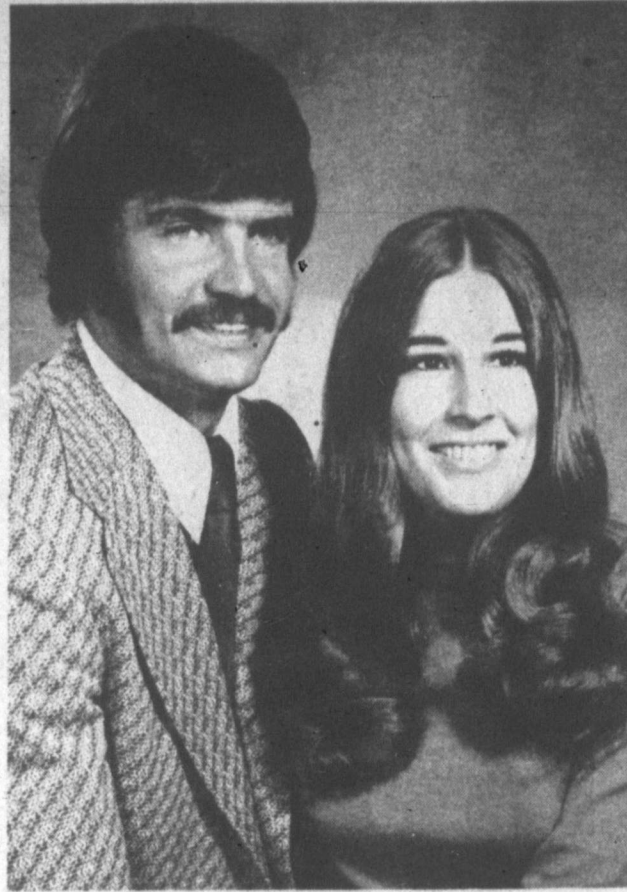

Pre-nuptial events included a shower given at the First Baptist Church in Lefors and an old-fashioned ice cream supper hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mitchell, Diane and Ken Mitchell at the Link Ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. W.B. Owen were hosts for the rehearsal luncheon catered in Lefors.

Your Horoscope

By Jeanne Dixon

MONDAY, AUGUST 20

Your birthday today: The fast-breaking changes of local conditions and emerging talents make your coming year complex and adventurous. Material concerns take on a different meaning in your life. Close relationships seem to be more needed, yet more difficult to maintain. Today's natives are both physically and mentally active. They possess the imagination to create new concepts, and find many uses for the revenues which may accrue from them.

Aries [March 21-April 19]: The week opens on a serious note. Have a care as to what you include in any promises as you'll not be let off lightly. Intellectual distraction is likely, almost spontaneous.

Taurus [April 20-May 20]: Personal plans clash with those of family, associates. People who feel they have authority are moody. Remember they have nothing to do with your progress or prospects. Remain reasonable; prosper.

Gemini [May 21-June 20]: If you feel something needs doing, do it. Errors of schedule are revealed, perhaps other discrepancies as well. Take it all in stride, and in as high good humor as you can maintain.

Cancer [June 21-July 21]: Much as you'd like being coaxed and praised, it's your turn to encourage others. Those who are unfamiliar with work routines tend to confuse matters. Be explicit in giving directions.

Leo [July 22-Aug. 22]: You may not like the way the week begins, or the shortcomings of your work situation. Promises turn out faulty. Bide your time; ask no favors and by and by, your turn will come.

Virgo [Aug. 23-Sept. 22]: Financial ventures need time to show growth; no quick or speculative turn seems workable. For those of short-temper, you have little to offer now. Tidying up your home relieves tension, brings serenity.

Libra [Sept. 23-Oct. 22]: Just when you catch sight of much desired goals, your needs change, include fresh and interesting factors. Be up and going bright and early, but don't take the first answer as final.

Scorpio [Oct. 23-Nov. 21]: Nothing comes easily; all's worth the added effort. Family connections offer special information, provoke extra rounds of necessary routines. Patience, steady diligence save your day.

Sagittarius [Nov. 22-Dec. 21]: Your alert attention saves money and materials as some expected arrangements falter. Current health care measures require changes of personal habits. Work associates have sudden ideas you may not follow readily.

Capricorn [Dec. 22-Jan. 19]: Meet the other fellow halfway; be sure you cause no needless inconvenience. Missing items may spur plans for early replacement. In most relations, the less you say the better today.

Aquarius [Jan. 20-Feb. 18]: Loss of temper is possible but not advisable. You can manage better if you try. Both very young and old people seem determined to provoke trivial mischief. Be above petty responses.

Pisces [Feb. 19-March 20]: Home life offers unexpected rewards but nonetheless conflicts with something you'd like to do. Older relatives need attention or remembrance. It's a long and very active day of many changes.

Pampa Garden Club Plans Annual Fall Flower Show

Grooming plants to make them neat and tidy for a horticulture show was the topic of the program presented by Mrs. Vera Deason to the members of Pampa Garden Club recently. Mrs. Deason, director of the Amarillo Garden Center and columnist for the Amarillo Daily News, said that "fastidious" when preparing exhibits to enter in a horticulture show.

The program was in preparation for the club's annual flower show, "Floral Festival Time," to be staged this year in conjunction with the Top O' Texas Arts and Crafts Festival, M.K. Brown Auditorium, Oct. 13-14. Any amateur grower in the area is invited to enter the horticulture division of the show.

Mrs. Deason said the disbudbing roses and dahlias was a "must" in preparing specimens for horticulture competition. Avoid spraying the garden a week before the show and use a nylon stocking or soft cloth and soft water to wipe the leaves carefully. No oil, milk, or other solutions should be used on the leaves of a specimen. Remove leaves that are below the water line of the container, but points will be deducted for removal of leaves and buds from the plant showing above the water level before exhibiting.

As flowers and shrub branches are judged on condition as well as perfection, they should not show a sign of aging, with petals falling from the back of the flower, etc.

In preparing potted plants for a show, Mrs. Deason cautioned that plants should be in clay or plain pots to not detract from the plant. The top of the pot should be clean of debris and all old foliage and blossoms should be discarded. All types of potted plants may be exhibited in the fall show of the Club, but pot size is restricted to 10 inches in width. All horticulture items should have been in possession of the exhibitor for three months prior to the show.

"Grooming of flowers and foliage also very necessary for the floral arrangement division of the flower show," said Mrs. Deason. Fresh plant materials should not show age or have insects on them. Grooming points are deducted in the arrangement division under condition, aesthetic appeal; or distinction, depending on the listing in the scale of points.

Horticulture items to be exhibited in the show should be properly labeled and brought to the show in coke bottles containing water. These will then be placed in the Club display containers. If an exhibitor has difficulty finding the name of his variety, he should consult an encyclopedia or order catalogue before the show.

Members will assist in judging the Most Beautiful Yard Contest sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce Thursday, Aug. 30. Club members will meet at the home of Mrs. Malone at 8:30 a.m.

Mrs. Deason extended an invitation to Pampanos for membership at the Amarillo Garden Center. Memberships of $10, $50, or $100 entitle the member to a library loan card and a monthly bulletin of the activities of the Center.

The next club meeting will be Monday, Sept. 17. A garden arts and crafts program will be presented and members are to bring dried plant materials to display and identify.

POLLY'S POINTERS

She Has Two Peeves Anent Manufacturers

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY — I have two particular Pet Peeves. One is that boys' pants do not have the sizes marked. I have three boys and at the change of seasons we get out all the pants to try on. Instead of being able to read what sizes they are, each pair has to be tried on and passed around until the proper wearer is found. Also, I wonder why toy and game manufacturers do not put their products in sturdier containers. Many games just have a plastic covering without even a lid and how is one supposed to store them without losing some of the pieces? Sometimes I think that the whole purpose is to force us to replace such things sooner. — MRS. P. R. P.

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — What do you and the other readers do when baby's rubber pants split at the seams? Has anyone ever tried ironing them back together? I have so many pairs with splits and certainly hate to have to throw them out. — BARBARA

DEAR POLLY — Lorraine can use her leftover needlepoint yarn to make patchwork needlepoint pillows. Cut and bind the canvas so it is at least one inch wider all around than the pillow. Use an INDELIBLE, waterproof pen to block off the desired assorted shapes and then do these sections in various colors, shapes and stitches. I plan it all out on paper so the colors, etc., are distributed to the best advantage. — MRS. R. T.

DEAR POLLY — and Lorraine — I used leftover yarn for making covers for coat hangers. Crochet a piece long and wide enough to wrap around the hanger and then sew it on. It does not matter how the colors match or meet. Such hangers look so pretty hanging in a closet. — MARGARET

DEAR GIRLS — Margaret's idea is great for using leftover knitting wool, but needlepoint wool is quite expensive to put to this use unless the hangers are to be very special. Also, needlepoint wool is usually cut in short lengths so would be hard to crochet without a lot of knitting and joining. — POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Leftover needlepoint wool is a blessing not a problem. It can be worked into footstool covers, pillows or samplers, using a variety of colors and stitches. Eyeglass cases, coasters and Christmas ornaments are all ideas. Such wool could be used in your crewel embroidery work, too. — MRS. E. J.

DEAR POLLY — When mothers put babies out in their playpens they often find "sawing bugs" get into the pens. Put each leg or wheel of the playpen in a jar lid full of water and the bugs cannot climb in. — KATHY

By Oswald & James Jacoby

For several years the American Contract Bridge League has raised large sums for charity by means of continent-wide games. They are conducting one this Dec. 14 and hope to make it the most successful in history.

The hands for the game are dealt by computer and as a result they run the gamut from part scores, easy games, tough slams, wild freaks and anything else you see in your regular games.

Today's hand is a little gem from the spring game.

Most South players arrived at four hearts. Five hearts made easily; most declarers who did not get a diamond lead managed to make six. One pair is supposed to have bid and made six against a diamond lead.

South won in dummy and led a club to his ace. Then he cashed the king of hearts; continued with the seven and finessed dummy's eight. This gave him an extra entry to dummy.

Now he ruffed a club; led a trump to dummy's ace, discarded two diamonds and two spades on clubs and wound up losing just the ace of spades.

Quite a play if it really came off, but West could have ruined it if he had been clairvoyant. All he had to do was put his 10 of hearts on South's seven. That would kill one entry to dummy and make it impossible for the club suit to run in time to get rid of both diamond losers.

Double-Ring Ceremony Unites Vickie Cobb, John Maglaughlin

 Central Baptist Church, Pampa, was the scene Friday, Aug. 17, 7:30 p.m. wedding of Miss Vickie Jo Cobb and John Edward Maglaughlin, both of Amarillo.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Cobb, 623 N. Faulkner, Pampa, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E.P. Maglaughlin, 2547 Duncan, Pampa.

THE CEREMONY
 The Rev. Jack Boyett, a Baptist minister from Amarillo, officiated for the double-ring ceremony. Mrs. A.C. Malone, organist, and Mrs. Dan Johnson, pianist, accompanied Jimmy Crossman, Pampa, as he sang, "Colour My World," and Mrs. Wesley Black, as she sang "The Wedding Prayer."

The ceremony was read before a background of candles and greenery. The baptistry was decorated with a large spiral candelabrum entwined with garlands of salal foliage. The alter railing held large candle arrangements based with salal and tall white pedestals holding arrangements of white gladioli and chrysanthemums trimmed in red. The bride and bridegroom knelt at the altar while the "Wedding Prayer," was sung.

THE BRIDE
 Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal floor-length gown of bridal satin and Chantilly lace designed with a high neckline, empire waistline, long Gibson girl sleeves and semi A-line silhouette with full back. The bodice and cuffs of the sleeves were of Chantilly lace. Tiny sequins enhanced the neckline of the bodice. Her mantilla of imported illusion edged with matching lace, fell from a lace coil.

The bride carried a white Bible, a gift of the bride's parents, topped with a bouquet arrangement of white sweetheart roses, a white cattleya orchid, and white stephanotis. She carried out the traditional "something old, new, borrowed and blue."

ATTENDANTS
 Attending her sister as matron of honor was Mrs. J.L. Etheredge, Jr., Amarillo. Bridesmaids were Miss Bernice White, Amarillo, and Miss Susie Botkin, Pampa, sister of the bridegroom. They wore identical floor-length gowns of red miramist trimmed in white lace and carried nosegays of mixed red and white peppermint carnations.

Chad Etheredge, nephew of the bride, was ringbearer, and candlelighters were Linda Maglaughlin, sister of the bridegroom and Tonya Williams, both of Pampa. They were dressed identical to the other attendants.

E.P. Maglaughlin served his son as best man and Kris Botkin, brother of the bridegroom, Pampa, and Jessie Etheredge, Jr., brother-in-law of the bride, Amarillo, were groomsmen. Ushering were Jerry Cobb and Henry Bagwell, Amarillo, cousins of the bride, Robert Rosser, Amarillo and Bobby Ebenkamp, Pampa.

MOTHERS
 The bride's mother wore a pink double knit floor-length dress styled with chiffon sleeves. The bridegroom's mother wore a floor-length green silk dress styled with long sleeves, a roll collar, and a green printed silk pleated skirt. Both wore white orchids with a pink center.

RECEPTION
 The church parlor was the setting for the reception held immediately following the ceremony. The serving table was covered with a white satin cloth and centered with an arrangement of red velvet roses. The white sentimental cake, depicting love, joins the lover's as they begin a sentimental journey through life, featured three tiers separated with lace filigree. Large white roses were arranged on each tier with clusters of sweetpeas among the swags and scrolls of snowy white icing. The cake was topped with a music box which played the traditional, "Here Comes The Bride," which was camouflaged with large white rose and a miniature bride and bridegroom housed in a pearled oval shaped caketon which was made of the bride's parents.

Miss Debbie Maglaughlin, Collinsville, cousin of the bridegroom, played musical selections for the reception. Mrs. Terry Davis, cousin of the bridegroom, Collinsville, assisted at the punch bowl and Mrs. Tommy Williams, Pampa, served wedding cake. Registering guests was Ellen Bagwell, Amarillo, cousin of the bride.

For the wedding trip to New Mexico, the bride wore a floor-length dress of red and white seersucker styled with a scooped neckline, long puffed sleeves and trimmed with white cuffs and collar. She lifted the corsage from her bridal bouquet.

They plan to reside at 1903-B Pecos, Amarillo.

Dear Abby

Charities—those that get sometimes give

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1973 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: What should I do about all the begging letters that have become so numerous they barely fit into my mailbox? I can't possibly give to all of them, but I don't want to ignore the ones that deserve it.

Some of these letters are so pathetic it hurts me to throw them away unanswered, but I've heard that some charities pay huge amounts to professional fund-raising agencies, and I prefer giving to charities whose money goes directly to those they help, rather than to professional fund raisers.

How does a person know which causes are legitimate and which are not? DELUDED AND BEWILDERED

DEAR DELUGED: Don't assume that all charities that engage professional fund-raisers are not legitimate. It takes money to raise money. However, all legitimate charities will provide, on request, a financial statement showing how much is spent for what. Request these statements, and make your selections.

Some communities have "Community Fund" or "United Giving" which includes many legitimate charities who share your contribution, but many deserving organizations prefer to run their own campaigns.

DEAR ABBY: My boy friend has a habit that absolutely drives me up a wall.

Whenever he takes me out, he says: "Excuse me, I have to go call my brother (or a friend—or a co-worker)."

Then he leaves me sitting alone for 20 minutes! I suppose he is on the phone, but why does he have to park me at a table in a bar somewhere and then make these calls?

If you think I am out of line for being furious with him when he does this, let me know. If you think he's out of line, please say so. I sometimes wonder if he isn't trying to line up a date with somebody for later. SUSIE

DEAR SUSIE: Occasionally one must make a phone call in the course of an evening, but frequent 20-minute calls are suspicious. And if you wonder if he's trying to line up a late date, don't waste any more time on a clown with telephitis.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is 30, widowed, and has a 6-year-old child. She is well-educated, has a responsible job, and makes a good salary. But, Abby, her values are certainly misplaced, and we cannot watch our grandson raised in such an environment!

Mainly, she is a terrible housekeeper. You can't imagine all the clutter. She would rather read, hike, plant flowers, write poetry, or do other useless things. Her excuse? When choosing what's important to her, housekeeping is at the bottom of the list!

She could afford to pay a housekeeper if she didn't waste money on ballet lessons and vacations.

She never misses an art exhibit, and she drags the child with her. Abby, what can a 6-year-old learn from an art exhibit?

She refuses to see a psychiatrist. The law in this state allows grandparents to assume custody of a grandchild with unrealistic parents. What is your recommendation? AT WITS END

DEAR AT: I recommend that you keep hands off your widowed daughter and her child. And if her lifestyle continues to bug you, a psychiatrist will do YOU more good than it will your daughter.

CONFIDENTIAL TO HENRY: Money IS important. But only because it enables you to buy the things that are more important than money.

Problems? You'll feel better if you get it off your chest. For a personal reply, write to ABBY: Box No. 69700, L. A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's booklet, "How to Have a Lovely Wedding," send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal. 90069.

Local Realtor Is Guest Speaker For ABWA Meeting

The American Business Women's Association met at the Black Gold Motel Banquet Room, Tuesday, Aug. 14, with Mrs. Homer McNeil, president presiding. Fourteen members and five guests were present.

Quentin Williams, a local realtor, and his wife presented the program. They had attended a Real Estate Congress in Sydney, Australia this summer, and also took an extensive tour.

Williams showed slides of six different countries represented. While on tour they had need of an interpreter, since several of the speakers did not speak English. They visited nine countries on approximately 18 air flights, and also took several bus trips.

As the slides were flashed on the screen, Williams commented on each. There were beautiful scenes of country sides, including huge turtles. The New Zealand slides were exceptional in their beauty and several slides were of native dancers in colorful costumes. There were many fabulous temple scenes.

Williams has been in Real Estate since 1952, and has lived in Pampa since 1944. The speaker was introduced by Mrs. G.F. Richmond.

Mrs. Danny Malone gave a vocational talk. She is a "Gal Friday." She invited all members to visit the Coca-Cola plant where she is employed.

Miss Betty Mounce, recording secretary, read minutes of the July meeting and Mrs. James Culpepper, corresponding secretary, read the correspondence from national headquarters.

The treasurers report was read by Mrs. Danny Malone, and approved by members.

The president gave her report on the year books, stating that they have not been completed; however, Mrs. McNeil gave a list of the chapters various chairmen.

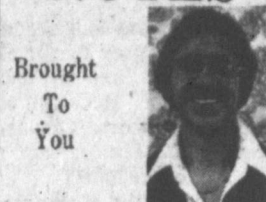

A report on the Flea Market at the Coronado Center held in July was very favorable.

"The Hand of Friendship Tea" will be held Sept. 9 at the Hospitality Room at 2:30 p.m. in the Citizens Bank. The chapter's goal will be six new members. Mrs. John King is chairman.

Mrs. Vernon Graham's name was drawn from the Rocket Fund. Guests attending were Miss LaDonna Turner, Ted Mastin, Shirley Nichols, Mr. and Mrs. Quentin Williams.

Know your style and coordinate your hair, make-up and wardrobe. Nutritious Rice Dishes

Rice has long been the basic staple for thousands, and in this time of rising prices, the housewife may well look to this food as an answer to the problem of serving nutritious dishes on a budget.

The Texas Department of Agriculture has available several folders of rice recipes which include dishes for breakfast, dinner, and dessert. Agriculture Commissioner John C. White reports.

Rice is a versatile food and can be used in many dishes. It could be kept on hand and frozen for later use.

To freeze rice, cook and cool, then place in an ice tray with the sections removed. When the rice is quick frozen, remove it and wrap it in freezer paper. Place the block of rice in the freezer. To reheat it, place enough liquid in a pan to keep the rice from scorching. Bring to a boil, and add the rice.

Such rice could well be used in "Rice Skillet Breakfast", as follows:

quart baking dish. Bake at 300 for 25-30 minutes. Serves 4-6. Frozen broccoli may be substituted for spinach.

Thomas Jefferson was the first U.S. president inaugurated in the city of Washington. He was sworn in by Chief Justice John Marshall on March 4, 1801.

6 eggs
3/4 cup American cheese, grated

Cook bacon, drain. Reserve 1 tablespoon grease and saute green pepper and onion. Beat eggs slightly and add rice, cheese, and milk. Season with salt and pepper. Pour into pan over vegetables. Cook over low heat, stirring until eggs are moist and creamy. Serves 4.

Combining rice with other vegetables and meats, the housewife can produce tasty main dishes. Rice Spinach Casserole is also included in the folder. To prepare:

1 1/2 cups cooked Texas rice
1/2 cup celery, chopped
1 cup onion, chopped
1 can cream of mushroom soup and held the office of president-elect for the past year.

CHICAGO (UPI) - When South Dakotans chose Pierre for their capital city in 1889, they couldn't have selected a more experienced site.

Pierre, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica, had for 400 years prior to 1800 been the capital of the Arikara Indian nation. Archaeological remains of it are still in evidence.

Tips To Consumers On Saving On Food Costs

AUSTIN - Whether we like it or not, all signs point to a continuation of food prices at present levels or even increasing levels in the months ahead. The era of "cheap food" apparently is gone for the foreseeable future.

In the meantime, there are several things consumers can do to assist themselves in getting the most for their food dollars. Texas Department of Agriculture home economists recommend the following:

1. Do not resort to panic

Papillon's evening clothes for fall are what the firm describes as "deliberately spectacular." The thought behind it all: "We feel women will want to go all out occasionally, yet retain the easy look." The long dresses are sheer, lustrous, soft and full. The fabrics include silk satin-banded organza, lurex-flecked-or-ribbon-plaid organza and printed chiffon challies are the materials.

The pump this fall and winter will wear a bow for afternoon or late day. The bow will be glenplaid or pinstriped for afternoon and will pretty up in silver kid for evening.

Deep or bright tones of nail polish draw attention to hands. If hands aren't perfectly groomed, choose a clear or lighter shade so they're less conspicuous, advises Mrs. Becky Culp, clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

buying. Revert to your normal buying habits. Food supplies are plentiful. One of the biggest problems now is that consumers are rushing out and buying everything in sight. Hoarding only aggravates the situation. The law of supply and demand is working in relation to food supplies. Right now, demand is outstripping supplies. As a result, prices are continuing to increase.

2. Shop around; look for the best bargains. Read the grocery advertisements carefully in your local newspaper. Compare prices and values. Make out your shopping list in advance, giving top priority to basic needs. Get the best price possible by comparison pricing in your newspaper advertisements; then decide what you can spend for luxury items.

3. Use the cost per serving comparison rather than the cost per pound. Determine which is the best buy. Boneless meat which is all edible is certainly a better buy if prices per serving are considered.

4. Get a copy of the Texas Department of Agriculture's bulletin, "Save on Your Beef Dollars." Information in the bulletin will explain to you what "grade" means, what "yield" means, and how to choose bargain beef. Write to John C. White, Commissioner, Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

5. Do not "buy up" commodities that cannot be kept indefinitely. Bacon, for example, can be kept only about a week.

6. If you live in a rural area, check with some of the vegetable farmers about buying directly from him. Freezing fresh produce is not difficult if you follow directions. Write for the booklet, "Freezing and Canning Texas Agricultural Products," from the Texas Department of Agriculture address above.

Members of the board during various phases of planning for the school were John N. Gikas, George F. McCarroll, Dr. R.M. Hampton, J.E. Thompson and John Spearman.

Don Walker, principal of Pampa High School, will address himself to the vocational concept of instruction at the opening ceremonies and school board president Sturgeon will dedicate the building.

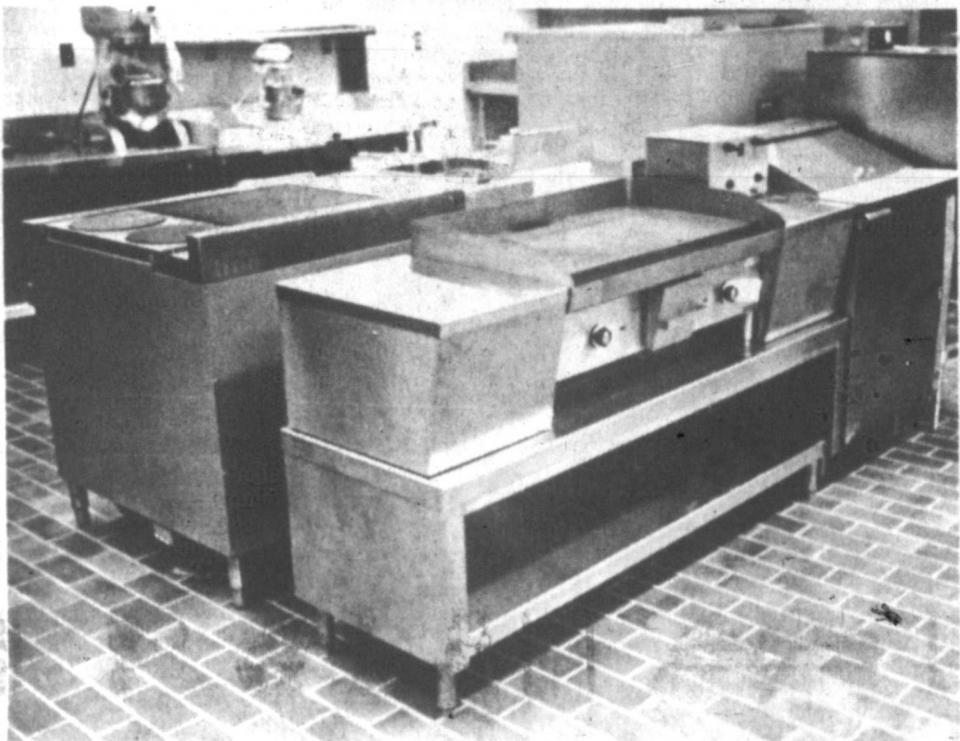

Brashear, Goyette and Rapier of Lubbock were the architects who made the plans for the building. Wylie Hicks of Amarillo was the contractor and Lewis Construction Co. of Dumas was the parking area contractor.

STORAGE AREA — This is one of the rooms to be used to store tools and other equipment in the Pampa High School vocational building. When the picture was taken, many of the tools that will be stored in the room had just arrived and there had not been time to sort them and get them arranged as they will be during the school year.

HOME AND WORK — Reflected in mirrors are sewing machines that will be used in the Pampa Area Vocational School's Home and Community Services Department in the upcoming year and in ensuing years. Both home and industrial machines will be used to teach students so they can either make their own clothes or find work in the clothing trade.

"THROUGH THESE DOORS" — Many vocational students will pass through the doors at the end of the hallway in the picture above in the years ahead. Located on each side of the hallway are the various classrooms in the Pampa Area Vocational School. Everything from homemaking to building trades to automobile mechanics will be taught at the school.

Executive Secretary ARC
We had one of our Water Safety Instructors, Jackie Marlar, who has moved to Duncan, Okla., come by the Red Cross office this past week. She told us she read our column every Sunday and keeps up with our Red Cross work.

Mrs. Gerald Marlar was on the Red Cross Board for three years and her children on the swim team. They also packed boxes to be sent to the Indian children during the school year. We talked with another of our workers who has moved to Fort Worth, Mrs. Dale Kreimeyer. They wanted to know about the Hospital Volunteers and their work.

Mrs. Kreimeyer was chairman of Hospital Volunteers while she lived in Pampa and she is still interested in our work.

It is good to have our friends call and visit with us.

Mrs. Tom Etheredge, WSI, and Mrs. C.G. Casper, WSI, have completed two classes at the Pampa Youth Center this past week.

They passed the following: Glenda Humcutt, Robin North, Susan Savage, Noyce Robinson and Nancy King, as beginners in swimming. Misty Neef and Dorinda Gray received their advanced beginner cards from their class.

Mrs. Mary Seedig, LVN, came by the Red Cross office this week and picked up her material to make dirty bags for our Red Cross work this fall.

All LVN's take First Aid and receive 10 hours this way in their training, then they must make up 10 other hours for Red Cross before they are eligible for their LVN pin.

We still have material if other LVN's wish to make up their hours.

We are beginning to have calls for classes in First Aid and Nursing Services. If you would like to take a Multimedia First Aid class, won't you call the Red Cross office at 669-7121 and register for the class.

Also if you are interested in a Mother and Baby Class, call our office so we can set up a class this fall.

Red Cross officers for this year and for 1974 are Miss Norma Briden, chapter chairman; James E. Dalrymple, vice chairman; Mrs. James Frazier, secretary; Arthell E. Gibson, treasurer; and Mrs. Don George, advisory chairman.

Mrs. Frank Shotwell is executive secretary and Mrs. Oran Carter, clerical secretary. Don't fail to call us if you need Red Cross service.

Larry Tracy and Miss Linda Helton, both WSI for Wheeler, have completed a junior and senior life saving class at the Wheeler Pool.

Several of the boys and girls from Shamrock took their life saving training at Wheeler this year.

Soviets Capture 16th Gold

MOSCOW (UPI)—The Soviet Union, running away with gold medals at the World University Games, won seven more finals Saturday night—including four in the prestigious track and field competition—to run their total to 16.

All the other nations in the field have combined for only six gold medals.

The United States, still frustrated in its efforts to gain gold medal No. 1, at least maintained its basketball prestige with another one-sided rout of the opposition—a 140-34 decision over outclassed Portugal.

But the Americans were forced to share the cage spotlight when hordes of Soviet Jews at a nearby arena were denied admission to the Israel-Cuba game, won by the Cubans 81-63.

The overall medals race, however, has beyond doubt become a one-nation affair, with the host Soviets' closest gold medal pursuers being Italy, Finland, France, Cuba, Yugoslavia and Britain—all with just one victory apiece.

The Israeli game proved to be the focal point of the basketball competition when nearly 115 Soviet Army draftees dressed in blue sweat shirts surrounded the court while outside, the police refused admission to nearly 100 fans who waved their tickets in vain.

"It's a little sad," said Adim Talbar, the Israeli representative to the International Federation of Student Games. "They think we're here for politics but we just came to compete."

With 800-meter specialist

The only other nations to crack the gold Saturday were Britain and Cuba.

The Britons got their first gold medal in the men's 110 meter hurdles when Berwyn Price overcame a terrible start and came on to win in 13.7 seconds. The Cubans scored in the 400 meters when Alberto Yuogen Arjanov leading the way with a stunning come-from-behind win over favored Marcel Philippe of France, the Soviets again dominated at the Lenin Stadium track.

Arjanov raced past Philippe with about 200 yards left and won by a yard in 1:46.8.

"I tried going out fast but suddenly found myself in the lead at 400 meters," said Philippe. "then I knew I was dead."

The other Russian victories went to pony-tailed Nadezhda Kolesnikova in the women's 400 meters (52.0 seconds), Valery Podluzhnik in the long jump (26 feet 9 inches) and Viktor Durbaba in the discus (202 feet 1 inch).

Juatonera upset David Jenkins of Britain in 45.4 seconds. Jenkins, the heavy favorite, also was beaten out of second by Semeon Kotcher of the USSR.

Price, who got off to a bad start and was third until the last hurdle said his race was "terrible."

"I ran absolutely terrible," Price said. "I had a horrendous start but I guess that's what happens when you have to run three races in three days."

The United States basketball team, which has humiliated every opponent it has met in the games, was totally overmatched against the Portuguese, whose tallest player was only 6-foot-3.

The United States, which obviously has not sent one of its stronger track and field delegations to the games, could do no better than a pair of fourth place finishes by Rick Brown in the 800 and Dennis Schultz in the 400.

Away from the track and field competition, the Soviet Union proved to be almost equally as formidable with two gold medals in gymnastics and one in fencing.

Naturally it was the pixed-faced Olga Korbut who dazzled the packed house at the gymnastics competition. Dressed in turquoise with her pig-tails tied back in matching ribbons, Miss Korbut took her second gold medal of the games by winning the women's individual combined event with 77.65 points.

And in the fencing, the Russians made it a 1-2-3 sweep in the women's individual foil event.

Massengale Leads USI Golf Going Into Last Round Today

SUTTON, Mass. (UPI)—Young Rik Massengale shot a three-under-par 69 Saturday, including a 30-foot birdie putt on the 17th hole, to take a two-stroke lead over Jim Wiechers after three rounds of the $200,000 USI Classic.

Massengale headed into Sunday's final round with a three-round score of 68-70-69-207, nine strokes under par for 72 holes.

Massengale, 26, of Charlotte, Texas, has never won a tournament since joining the Professional Golfers Association in 1970.

He started the day in a tie with Wiechers for third place, one stroke behind second round leaders Bobby Mitchell and Ken Still. Still and Mitchell, however, carded three bogies apiece and finished with one-over-par 73s to fall three strokes off the pace at 210.

Massengale moved into a two-stroke lead over Wiechers on the 17th hole, a par 4, 441-yarder, with his 30-foot birdie putt. Both men bogied the 583-yard 18th, missing putts from inside 10 feet.

Pre-Season Workouts Begin Monday For Pampa Gridsters

By PAUL SIMS

Any high school football coach knows that either success or mediocrity for a team depends mostly on the three weeks that precede the first non-conference game - three weeks of watching, planning, technique, hitting, running, passing, and the list goes on and on.

Harvester head coach Buddy Williams knows it, he knows that if Pampa is going to have another year like '71 (8-3 and district champ), it'll depend very much on what the Harvesters accomplish in pre-season workouts, which begin at 3 p.m. Monday.

Williams' Harvesters will be involved in 36 basic drills (15 defensive, 21 offensive) each practice session. Williams will head up those pertaining to linebacks.

Offensive coordinator James Kauffman will be in charge of drills for defensive tackles and defensive coordinator Scott Dunnam will coach the defensive secondary and offensive backs.

Other coaches in charge of various positions are Jim Morgan, quarterbacks, split ends and defensive ends and Eugene Jennings, offensive line and defensive noseguards.

Shocker coaches are Bruce Davis, head coach, who will also coach the offensive line, defensive ends and linebacks; Gary Newcomb, offensive and defensive lines, and Ronnie White, offensive and defensive backs.

Sandy Miller is Pampa's trainer.

Pampa's offensive drills include passing for quarterbacks, receiving for split ends, ball carrying and butt - and - spin for backs and line drills.

Defensively, there are agility for defensive backs, defensive end drills, linebacker drills and tackling and one - one for linemen.

Monday is also the day Williams and staff will start filling undecided positions.

"This year as a coaching staff, we're going to be totally objective. If we have a kid who does the job better than someone else, we'll play him," said Williams.

Offensive positions and players include quarterbacks, Rick Leverich, Chuck Quarrels, Bobby Hendricks, and Kirk Adams; ends, Howie Lewis, Ricky Smith, Willis Price, Noel Hansen and Eddie McCarty; fullbacks, Jack King, David Nipp, Coy Free and Bucky Arrington, and halfbacks, Chuck Reeves, Joe Curtis, Tim Thornburg, Mike Adair, Johnny Cook, Robert Yeager, Joe Watkins and Steve Mathis.

Defensive positions include backs, Smith, Quarles, Leverich, Curtis, Adair, Hendricks, H. Lewis, Hansen, Reeves, Adams, Watkins, Yeager, John Thomas and Jerry Bob Shoopman and linebacks, Terry Moore, David Nipp, David Hampton, Steve Weatherly, Joe Holt, Free, Deanne Lewis and Bucky Arrington.

Offensive and defensive linemen are Joe Graves, Dane Rasmussen, Bill Cox, Randy Linville, Dick Blaine, Dennis Chance, Mark Warren, Keith Mitchell, Steve Randall, Ronnie Minnick, Roy Morris, Joe Coats, Rick Carpenter, Tony Frogge, King, Cook, McCarty, Jimmy Staus, Thornburg, Mark Baird, Nipp, Moore, Hampton and Holt.

The Harvesters open with Hereford Sept. 7 in Pampa.

ALL YOU GOT TO DO IS ASK Murray Olderman

The tipoff: Strange thing about the revelation that Al Davis has been consorting with Jimmy the Greek is that the columnist who broke the story has been collaborating for a couple of years on a book with the Las Vegas odds in-former. Commissioner Pete Rozelle hasn't bothered Oakland Al about it, so far.

Q - When and where did auto racer Jackie Stewart begin his career? - Eliseo Doria Jr., Brownsville, Tex.

A - Around Dumbarton near Glasgow, Scotland, 15 years ago there was a driver named A. N. Other in club events—a faint disguise for a local kid named Jackie Stewart, whose parents objected to a racing career. It was enough that his older brother John was a driver. Jackie emerged as himself in the Rand Grand Prix in South Africa, his first Formula 1 competition, in 1964, when he was 25 years old. His first victory was the Italian Grand Prix a year later. This July, he broke the late Jim Clark's Grand Prix record by winning his 26th, the Dutch Grand Prix.

Q - Which of the major sports is currently the most popular with the spectators? I would assume that attendance records would be the most obtainable information. - Richard Stickney, Loma Linda, Calif.

A - For the last 25 years, a man named Leo Waldbaum has been collecting attendance records. For 1972, the figures were: horse racing 74,015,395 (45,590,028 for thoroughbred, 28,425,367 for harness); football 43,025,559; baseball 38,896,479; basketball 34,441,704; hockey 17,851,905. For auto racing, where there is no accurate count, the estimate is 45 million. These figures don't include high school basketball and football. Waldbaum's research is also a little self-serving. He's the advertising director for Triangle, which publishes the Daily Racing Form. For sociological impact, I pick pro football as the most popular sport today.

Q - What about Will the Still and his business partnership with James McDougall, supposedly a convicted gambler? Doesn't the NBA clearly state that they don't wish their players and personnel dealing with gamblers, bookies and mobsters? - Carol Mahan, Borger, Tex.

A - Mrs. Mahan gets her info from a current Reader's Digest piece by George Denison. Denison confronted Commissioner Walter Kennedy of the NBA with his charge last November that McDougall, a partner in Will's Smalls Paradise in Harlem, had been convicted a number of times. Kennedy huddled with Chamberlain, who said the New York City Liquor Authority would not have issued a license to McDougall if the allegations were true. Kennedy, touchy about the matter, says only, "I want to be very careful about this. Investigation by this office failed to verify Denison's allegation." McDougall was fined $50 on a policy running rap 14 years ago and also was convicted for a speeding violation.

Q - Has there ever been a first baseman in the big leagues play a nine-inning game without a putout? - Frank Buccola, Sacramento, Calif.

A - Have there ever? Eleven first basemen are listed as having gone through a complete game without a putout—most recently, Frank Robinson with Baltimore in 1971. And five of them had neither a putout nor an assist. All such trivia and records are bound into the Book of Baseball Records, which you can get by sending $4.95 to Elias Sports Bureau, 11 W. 42nd St., New York, N.Y. 10036 (includes postage and handling). Oh yes, the above was on pages 39 and 40.

Q - To settle an argument, please give the place of the accident, the year and also the automobile that the late and great Fire Ball Roberts was driving in a NASCAR race. - Sgt. Gus Newell, Police Department, Mobile, Ala.

A - Got to answer this summons. Roberts was fatally injured in the World "600" at Charlotte, N.C., in 1964 when his stock Ford hit the inside wall on the backstretch and caught fire. He died of injuries in July, about five weeks later. Fire Ball's real first name was Glenn.

Q - Where can I get a signed picture of Willie Mays, Hank Aaron and Johnny Unitas. Also do you think that David Clyde will make it? P.S., I love your column. - George Pevz, Laredo, Tex.

A - Are all Texans so impetuous, George? The only way to get signed pictures is by writing to the publicity directors of the players' respective clubs. Funny you should ask about young Clyde, the bonus sensation of the Texas Rangers. When they signed him for that $100,000 bonus ($85,000 plus a college education), Manager Whitey Herzog really wanted to send him out to the minors for seasoning. But owner Bob Short saw dollar signs in quick exposure. And already he's pulled in enough people to pay off the investment. As he matures, his fast ball—not overpowering—should improve. He's got one other asset. He'll be going to Texas A&M—to become a sportswriter.

Q - Of Babe Ruth's 714 home runs, how many were bouncers into the bleachers before the rule was changed to a two-base hit? If this rule had been in effect in the old days, would not Hank Aaron be the home run champ by now? - Sam Meyer, Allentown, Pa.

A - Nobody knows because no accurate count was kept on bouncers before the rule change in 1931. But those who followed the Babe, like Dan Daniel of the old New York World-Telegram, don't believe he hit more than a couple of bouncers. Most of his homers were towering sky shots.

Q - What does it mean when a sports announcer says the wouldbe (spelling?) tackler or wouldbe runner. I'm not exactly clear on that word, wouldbe? - Jay Benatar, age 14, Oakland, Calif.

A - Sometimes, Jay, neither are Howard or Curt, Chris or Dandy. They mean the "would-be" tackler or runner, the guy who was designed to make the play. Like some of us "would-be" experts.

Parting shot: The following note was received from Joseph Axelson, general manager of the Kansas City-Omaha Kings: "Your item about (Nate) Archibald is totally in error. One, he is not available to anyone in the NBA. Two, he is not hard to handle. . . . He and Bob Cousy have an extremely close relationship." No argument, but my usual unimpeachable source still insists he was offered to at least one NBA club.

Got a tough question about sports and the people who play them? All you got to do is ask Murray Olderman. Write him at (name and address of this newspaper). The most interesting questions will be answered in this column. Olderman regrets that he cannot write personal answers to all questions.

Ryan Passes Okies To Win In Oil Classic

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (UPI)—Pat Ryan was overlooked by the people who choose the all - state football teams in Oklahoma, but the Putnam City graduate who's bound for Tennessee personally did in a Texas prep squad in the 36th annual Oil Bowl game Friday night.

Ryan passed for two touchdowns and ran for a third to give Oklahoma a 37-27 victory, over the state's sixth against 21 losses and a tie in the series.

He hit seven of 12 passes for 191 yards—a record for the Oklahoma team in the series. The previous best mark was the 155 yards amassed by Kenny Stockdale of Ardmore in 1957.

David James of Pauls valley scored on two one-yard runs and Joe McReynolds of Purcell scored once to cap the Sooner State efforts, while Joe Bizzell of Odessa Permian scored twice for Texas.

Ryan was named outstanding offensive player in the game, and end Chez Evans of Seminole, Okla., was chosen top defender.

Palmer Winning In St. Paul Tourney

ST. PAUL, Minn. (UPI)—Sandra Palmer shot a five-under-par 68 Saturday to take a two stroke lead over Jane Blalock and Judy Rankin entering Sunday's final round of the $30,000 St. Paul Ladies Open Golf Tournament.

Miss Palmer stood at eight under par 138 for the tournament, surging ahead of Miss Blalock, the first day leader, in a head-to-head battle in sweetering 89 degree heat.

Three shots back at 141 were rookies Kathy Martin, who also had a 68, and Roberta Albers, who shot 71.

Within striking distance at 142 were 18-year-old Laura Baugh and Gail Denenberg, who shot 72 and 71, respectively. Veteran Betsy Cullen, playing in her first tournament since she underwent surgery for a malignant thyroid gland, blazed to a 68 for a three-under-par total of 143.

The five-under-par rounds by Miss Palmer, Miss Martin and Miss Cullen set a record at Keller Golf Course because it was the first women's professional event played there. They split a $443 bonus purse which was added to the tournament Friday night for the low scorers on each day of the tournament.

Miss Palmer birdied the fourth hole, sank a 40-foot putt from the fringe of the par-three sixth to tie Miss Blalock for the lead at five-under-par. Then the darkhaired Texan scored birdies on the seventh, 12th and 18th holes while escaping any bogeys to take sole possession of the lead.

Girls Win In Russian Games

MOSCOW (UPI)—Martha Rapp of the University of Texas scored 14 points Saturday in leading the United States to a 66-47 victory over Mexico and a second round berth in World University Games women's basketball play.

The American girls, improved considerably since their 92-43 shellacking by Russia in the first match, led from start to finish. They were ahead 24-18 at halftime.

Shortly after intermission, Mexican guard Margarita Gutierrez lead a rally that brought her team to within one point at 40-39.

Cowboys Roll Past Saints, 24-14

IRVING, Tex. (UPI) — Roger Staubach, displaying the form used to carry Dallas to the Super Bowl title two years ago, completed seven of eight passes for 156 yards and two touchdowns in just one quarter of work Saturday night to a 24-14 pre-season win over New Orleans.

Turcotte Takes 1st

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (UPI) — Annihilate 'Em won the 104th running of the $100,000 added Travers Stakes for 3-year-olds Saturday at Saratoga by 1 1/4 lengths. Stop The Music finished second with See The Jaguar third.

The time for the mile and a quarter race was 2:01 3/5, 3:5 of a second off the track record set by Loud on Aug. 22, 1970.

Ron Turcotte, who had been named to ride Triple Crown winner Secretariat before Meadow Stable trainer Lucien Laurin withdrew the horse's name from contention, eased the winning colt into the lead past the quarter mile and was never headed, although followed closely for the rest of the race by Stop The Music.

Annihilate 'Em returned $7.40, $3.60 and $2.80 to his backers in the Saratoga record crowd of 32,023. Stop The Music paid $3.60 and $3.28 and See The Jaguar returned $4.60.

In eight starts before the chestnuts, Annihilate 'Em, the trainer's son of Hemen-Spots to Spare, had four firsts, including the Sentinel and Minuteman Handicaps at Liberty Bell, three seconds and a third, and had amassed $92,366.

For his victory Saturday, the Doug Davis, Jr.-trained colt added the $68,280 winner's share of the $113,000 gross purse as eight of the 10 originally entered started—Our Native, the 3-1 early favorite, was injured in the morning and Knightly Dawn was a late scratch.

Cheriepe broke out first from the starting gate and alternated for the lead with Annihilate 'Em, the winner running along the rail. Annihilate 'Em broke through to take the lead at the first turn by a head, then saved ground as he maintained a good pace.

By the three-quarters Annihilate 'Em had extended the margin to one length as Aljamon moved into second. Stop The Music made his move at Annihilate 'Em as the field left the far turn, a half length back in third at the mile, but the Patricia Blass-owned colt kept his poise and won driving.

Stop The Music, the 11-5 favorite, had been moving well from the outside when jockey Heliodoro Gustines' whip broke entering the stretch. The Greentree Stable colt continued on gamely under strong handling but wasn't equal to the task.

Recruiting Changes To Be Instigated

LUBBOCK, Tex. (UPI) — A change in administering the national letter of intent, which has come through the urging of many football coaches, will be in effect next year, according to Dr. J. William Davis of Texas Tech.

Davis, who was instrumental in creating the national letter of intent some 10 years ago, made the announcement as chairman of the steering committee of the Inter-Conference Letter of Intent.

"Effective next year (1974) there will be two national letters of intent signing days," Davis said Saturday. "One will be for football and one for the other sports. This change, we hope, will be satisfactory to coaches and possibly cut down some on the cost of recruiting."

Thomas Welcomed Poorly To Rich Stadium

BUFFALO, N.Y. (UPI) — If Duane Thomas never comes back to Rich Stadium it may be too soon for him. After displaying the power running that netted him 70 yards on 17 carries in the Washington Redskins' 37-21 victory over the Buffalo Bills Friday night, Thomas' biggest test was with a few fans in the waning moments of the game.

Lone Star, Harvester Bowling Leagues To Form This Week

Women interested in joining Lone Star Women's Bowling League need to attend a 7:30 p.m. meeting Aug. 30 in the Hospitality Room of the Citizen's Bank building, according to Mrs. Nancy Looper, league secretary. Harvester Women's Bowling start the second period with Dallas leading 3-0 and in his brief appearance he hit Montgomery with a 52-yard touchdown pass and tossed a screen pass to rookie running-back Les Strayhorn who turned it into a 45-yard score.

The Cowboys' other points came on a 24-yard field goal by Toni Fritsch in the opening period and on a two-yard touchdown pass from Craig Morton to tight end Billy Truax with less than five minutes to play.

After Staubach retired for the night, the Dallas offense sputtered under the leadership of Jack Concannon and two fumbles set up New Orleans' touchdown drives of only 12 and two yards. Bill Butler scored at the end of those abbreviated marches on runs of two and one yards.

The Dallas victory was its second against one loss in pre-season while the Saints are winless in three games. New Orleans' offense was ineffective most of the night with Archie Manning suffering a disappointing first half before turning the quarterbacking over to Bob Davis.

Manning completed only four of 11 passes for 35 yards with his longest completion a 15-yard effort to Preston Riley.

Other than Staubach the highlight for Dallas came from second-year fullback Bob Newhouse who was subbing for the injured Walt Garrison. Newhouse gained 98 yards on eight carries.

Tiger League Players To Sign Up This Week

Fifth and sixth grade boys interested in playing Tiger League football this year need to sign up from 5:30 - 7:30 p.m. Wednesday through Friday at the Optimist Boys Club Building.

Boys, including last year's players, must sign up on one of the three days in order to play, according to league president T.V. Lowrance.

Season play will begin Sept. 18. The six Tiger League teams will each play 10 games.

Mustang Starters To Be Strong But Bench To Lack Experience

By DAVE SMITH
Head Coach
Southern Methodist University
Written for UPI

DALLAS (UPI) — We feel SMU has a chance to have a good football team this fall mainly because we have some good football players and several players of exceptional ability. But, because of our extremely thin depth, there is a possibility we could have some problems due to the injury to a key player.

At one point in spring training we had only 57 players on the field and we had 14 positions with only one substitute. So we are very concerned about our lack of depth at virtually every position on the team.

Some of the exceptional players I was speaking of are defensive tackles Louie Kelcher and Ed Johnson, halfbacks Alvin Maxson and Wayne Morris, split end Kenny Harrison, tight end Oscar Roan, center Nike Smith and linebacker Ernie Knox.

Without any question Louie Kelcher is the most outstanding football player I've ever coached — on any level. He has every characteristic that is important to an outstanding player and he is exceptional in every way.

A Proven Player

Alvin Maxson is a proven quality player as a running back and he and Wayne Morris give us an excellent attack at halfback.

Kenny Harrison is another exceptional athlete. He was all-conference at split end as a freshman and we are hopeful he will play some quarterback for us next fall. We will use Kenny Maxson as a wide receiver. He underwent surgery to his knee after spring training and will hopefully be rehabilitated by reporting date.

We will use Harrison at quarterback during certain situations in a game and he could conceivably emerge as our No. 1 quarterback.

But we will go into the fall with Keith Bob as our No. 1 quarterback. Keith didn't perform well in the final spring game, but he had several fine performances in other scrimmages and we believe in him and his leadership and his ability to execute the wishbone attack.

I think it's important that Keith Dobo and our entire football team know that Keith will be our quarterback. It's important for a lot of reasons — the big reason being the team can grow with his leadership and, of course, I think he has the ability to execute in a winning way for us next fall.

Likes Tight Ends
I'm pleased with our tight ends Oscar Roan and Rory Best, and with our receivers in general. Freeman Johns is a very capable backup to Harrison at split end.

One thing I feel could be our strength next year is the team's belief in one another and the belief in the coaching staff. The unity, morale and effort they display on a day-to-day and game-to-game basis will have to be our strength if we are going to compete in the conference race.

Our overall depth is probably our biggest concern. Other areas are the secondary, where we have only two experienced players, the fullback, where we have no experience and will count on some freshman help; the offensive line and he linebackers, where there is one experienced player. We have some fine young men who displayed a winning attitude this spring and developed many winning habits. We plan to be competitive throughout the season of 1973.

TEE-OFF TID-BITS
By Hart Warren

Time is growing short for "the big one," our annual O' Texas Sept. 1-3. The field (flights) closed Aug. 8 except for the championship flight. Only a few spots are left in that flight.

Lloyd Moody will be back to try for his third title in a row. But little John Farquhar of Amarillo, Scott Stegner of Odessa and nationally-ranked amateur Paul Overmeyer will try to end Moody's reign.

A few local players look promising. Buster Carter, Max Hickey, Ed Duenkel and David Parker will try to capture the first Pampan title since Richard Ellis, now a touring pro in Florida.

All entrants need to check on cart reservations and entry fees by Aug. 24.

The Pampa ladies added two strokes to their six-shot lead Thursday in the Panhandle Women's Golf Association match played here. Jean

Rote Selected As Rookie-Of-The-Year In North America

NEW YORK (UPI) — Kyle Rote, Jr. of Dallas, who led the North American Soccer League in regular season scoring, today was elected Rookie-of-the-Year and became the first American-born player to be so honored.

Earlier Al Miller, of the expansion Philadelphia franchise, became the first American to be selected Coach-of-the-Year. In a closely contested race, Rote, whose father played with the football Giants, edged out New York's Joe Fink and Philly's Bob Rigby for rookie honors in a year when American players and coaches came into their own.

Rote, the first rookie and American to lead the League in scoring, moved to the head of the table in Dallas' final regular season game when he notched his 10th tally to edge Miami's Warren Archibald by one point.

The 22-year-old Rote's achievement is all the more remarkable considering he did not start playing the game until he was 16. He played a season's football at Oklahoma State before entering the University of the South in Tennessee where he was elected soccer MVP three times before being drafted by Dallas.

Fourie To Challenge Foster For Light Heavyweight Crown

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (UPI) — Bob Foster, who has knocked out nine of the previous 10 challengers for his world light heavyweight title, Tuesday night meets South African Pierre Fourie, a smooth boxer who has been floored only once.

And neither man expects the title bout at the 16,300-seat University of New Mexico arena to go the full 15 rounds.

Foster won the light-heavy title in a fourth round KO over the late Dick Tiger on May 4, 1968. He has defended the title 10 times and has knocked out each opponent, except the elusive Ray Anderson.

But Foster's defense against Fourie presents a different element. His last fight was a full nine months ago — a loss to heavyweight Muhammad Ali in the eighth round.

"No one will know what that does to a man, not even him," Fourie said. "You can't tell if your reflexes are gone by sparring. But he'll find out Tuesday."

Both Foster and Fourie have never lost a light-heavyweight fight but the champion's victories have been in a more explosive manner.

Foster has won 49 light-heavyweight bouts, including 42 by knockouts. He has lost but six fights in his career, all to heavyweights.

On the other hand, Fourie has won his last 29 fights in a row, with two of those knockouts. He has registered nine KOs in a 46-1 record in two divisions, light-heavyweight and middleweight.

Fourie, who demonstrated very quick hands in his sparring sessions last week, has beaten some of the best light-heavyweights around, including Don Fullmer, Roger Rouse, Amado Vasquez, Larry Buck, Karl Zurhelda and Connie Velesak. Foster, a deputy sheriff in Albuquerque when he's not boxing, has earned more money at fighting than probably any other light heavyweight — $400,000 in 1972. He received $125,000 in his loss to Ali.

The taste of money was not enough to lure the 34-year-old champion into Fourie's backyard.

Alan Towel, Fourie's manager, said Foster was offered $100,000 tax free to fight the contender in Swaziland but Foster turned it down. The reason may have been because Foster is black and South Africa has never before allowed a public fight between a white and black.

Foster will get $75,000 minimum in Albuquerque, while Fourie will collect $10,000 plus expenses.

"We're here now," Towel said, "under the conditions he wants. He's the champ. He dictates the terms."

PROSPECTUS

Smug with best 10-year record in pro ball, Raiders are loaded again with a lanced club but nagged by a future to win the BIG ONE. Despite internal strife, Al Davis remains guiding power of organization and concentrated this year on building up defense. Got the big "animal" type they always wanted in Bubba Smith.

OFFENSE

PASSING — Definitely looks like year Snake Stabler will supplant Daryle Lamonica, who always comes up hurt in title games. Got some trade leverage, too, because Don Milan's coming on fast. Very good

RECEIVING — In Fred Biletnikoff, have wide threat who's behind only Paul Warfield as best in game. Big need now is to find tight end replacement for Raymond Chester. Burlly Bob Moore, 100 per cent effort, stands in line. Unless, they make trade. Kent Gaydos also a possibility. For other wide spot, Mike Siani still on hand. Good

RUNNING — Same solid duo of Mary Hubbard, a 1,000-yard plunger at fullback, Charlie Smith at halfback. Could use an electrifying type and that might be Clarence Davis if he stays healthy. Raiders have gone over to steady type of ground attack as big weapon. Good

LINE — None better. All-pro recognition always comes to Bob Brown, Gene Upshaw, Jim Otto. But Art Shell (tackles), George Bushler (guards) are just as good as the others. They've all had remarkable health, starting with Otto, who's about to break NFL record for consecutive starting games. Among kids, John Vella is pushing. Excellent

DEFENSE

LINE — A Bubba Smith sound right knee would complete Raider horn-of-plenty. Give them instant pass rush. He's got to be left end, which could cause switch of Tony Cline to linebacker. Otis Sistrunk is heading fast for Bubba's class, too, and Art Thoms emerged as solid performer last year. These guys are all huge, too. Very good

LINEBACKING — Young guys on the outside, Phil Villapiano and Gerald Irons, are likely to be around for long time. Dan Conners in middle already has, which is why they're looking at Cline and a surprise rookie, Gary Weaver. Argument has been made that this department doesn't match other Raiders areas in depth. But they'll do. Good

SECONDARY — Somewhere room has to be made for Skip Thomas. Could be at corner back, supplanting Nemiah Wilson. Or at safety for George Atkinson. Willie Brown, an all-timer, remain steady on one corner and Jack Tatum is coming strong at the weak safety. Very good

KICKING — Much prayer that Ray Guy, No. 1 pick in draft, will finally settle punting problem. He's a boomer. Will kick off, too. And there's always old George Blanda for field goals. Return units are led by slick-swift Cliff Branch of wide receiving corps. Very good

PREDICTION

This remains one of the best stocked squads in pro football. And now it's awesome in size, too — so first in the AFC West.

Stan Smith Victorious In Net Play

ALAMO, Calif. (UPI) — America's Stan Smith crushed Toma Ovici 7-5, 6-1, 6-3 but Ili Nastase overwhelmed Marty Riessen 6-2, 6-4, 6-2 Saturday for a 1-1 standoff between the United States and Romania after the first day of their Davis Cup semifinal series.

Smith, the world's top-ranked player, started slowly against Ovici. But once Smith figured out his smaller player's strategy, he came on to make it a rout.

In the other match, Riessen never had a chance against Nastase who used deft baseline shots and a strong backhand to keep his American foe on the run in all three sets.

Sunday, Smith will team with Erik Van Dillen and Nastase will play with Ionel Senteiu in doubles. On Monday, Smith will oppose Nastase and Riessen goes against Ovici in the windup of the best-of-five series.

Nastase, his famed temper under control despite several close calls by officials, broke Riessen's service five times and merely coasted home in the third set.

Riessen, picked for the singles by U.S. coach Dennis Ralston even though Tom Gorman beat him in warmup matches during the week, never could figure out Nastase's backhand and at least a dozen times was caught on the wrong side of the court.

The Pampa Daily News

A Watchful Newspaper

EVER STRIVING FOR THE TOP OF TEXAS
TO BE AN EVEN BETTER PLACE TO LIVE

Our Capsule Policy

The Pampa News is dedicated to furnishing information to our readers so that they can better promote and preserve their own freedom and encourage others to see its blessing. Only when man is free to control himself and all he produces can he develop to his utmost capability.

The News believes each and every person would get more satisfaction in the long run if he were permitted to spend what he earns on a volunteer basis rather than having part of it distributed involuntarily.

Undone Deed A Crime

The Wall Street Journal reported the case of a taxpayer who was damned if he did and condemned because he didn't. The man filed a federal tax return that contained only his name, address and signature. He said he filed that way for three reasons.

First, if he completed the return truthfully, he would be incriminating himself, and the Fifth Amendment protects him from being compelled to do that.

Second, if he completed the form untruthfully, he would be perjuring himself.

Third, if he didn't send in a return at all, he would be guilty of failure to file, also a crime.

This his only "out" was to send in the return with only those parts filled out which would not tend to incriminate. Such parts consisted of his name, his address and his signature.

Nevertheless, the taxpayer — that is to say, the tax non-payer — was convicted. On appeal, the court upheld his conviction. It said that filing a return that omits the taxpayer's income is the same as not filing at all.

Now that the court has judged the citizen, it is up to citizens to judge the court.

The pertinent language of the Fifth Amendment is that "no person ... shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself." Filing out a government paper is a furnishing of evidence that can be used in the prosecution of the person who fills it out and is the same as being a witness. According to the court, not to fill the paper out completely is the same as not to fill it out at all. Where does that leave you? Well, if you are in the shoes of the chap that court dealt with, it leaves you in jail.

You are in jail because you did not give evidence that would incriminate you. Refusal to give evidence that will incriminate you is against the law!

That, of course, is contrary to the Fifth Amendment, but it is the hard practicality of the afflicted citizen's actual situation.

The lesson that comes from that situation is equally hard. It is this: Neither the U.S. Constitution nor any of its parts protects anybody or guarantees anything. All that the Constitution does is put down on paper the protection that each individual is supposed to guarantee to his fellowman. Rarely do individuals have any instrumentality for correcting governmental abuse on short notice. Remedies, if any, are long - term. They consist of understanding the bind that the government has put the tax filer in, of seeing the injustice done thereby, and of letting your neighbors know that you do not agree with the authorities' unjust conduct. The person who bore the injustice may be dead before his remedy arrives, but the curative process can be speeded up by the willingness of each person to fulfill his constitutional obligation.

Error Of Reaction

Standard Oil Co. of California issued a letter giving the company's view of Middle East conditions, including a plea for better relations between this country and Arab nations.

The letter was met with cries of protest from Jewish quarters in this country.

In Los Angeles, the company's office was splashed with red coloring, possibly paint. A claim was made through an anonymous telephone call to the Associated Press that the splashing had been carried out by Jewish groups.

In our view, the protestors have just as much right to protest as Standard did to issue the letter. That's where any rightful action stops — an expression of viewpoint. The damage to property has no place in an exchange of opinion.

To be quite frank, we don't know who splashed Standard's building with red color. We learned long ago not to draw conclusions from appearances in ideological conflict, for the combatants become highly skilled in making the other side look bad. We can say that the probable effect of obvious vandalism, so far as public opinion is concerned, is not in favor of the apparent vandals. The effect is to create an overt act so that those presumed to have had motive to do it will be generally denounced.

Diet Is Like Bank Account

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — Is there any scientific basis for the statement that eating more food in the evening and less in the morning adds weight faster than the same number of calories distributed more evenly?

Dear Reader — There's not a particle of truth to this. The simplest way I know to explain the effects of calories on obesity and the body functions is to think of it simply as a checking account. The calories in the diet are calories (money) in, or calories deposited. They are used or spent (calories out) for the daily needs to provide the energy for the normal body functions, including the beating of the heart, the movement of the muscles and even respiration.

If there are more calories in than calories out, the balance is deposited — as fat (bank energy balance). Physical activity increases the need for calories and is spending calories. The active person needs to have more calories in because he's a "big spender" (calories out).

Now, just as in the checking account, it doesn't matter whether the calories are deposited in the morning, or at noon, or in the evening, or during a midnight snack. It doesn't matter a lot when the calories are spent — whether you exercise in the morning, at noon, in the evening or even get out of bed at midnight and run two miles.

Fat deposits are calories available to spend, just as your bank account cash is available to spend. If you're not putting in enough money you use your checking account balance to meet your needs. The body does the same thing, if you're not eating enough calories you use the fat deposits of calories to provide the body's calorie needs. This is why a person on a reducing diet with very few fat calories in the diet still uses a large portion of calories from fat — the fat calories that are already in the body available for use.

When a person is under starvation conditions, such as being in a plane that crashed in an area where no food is available, like in the Arctic, the body spends the fat deposits to meet the energy needs of the body. This will continue until all of the fat deposits are gone. At that point, the protein in the muscles is mobilized, converted to sugar by the liver, and used for energy. You may recall that the emaciated war prisoners from World War II had lost muscle mass. This occurs because the muscle protein was mobilized and converted to blood sugar (glucose) for the body's vital energy needs. This is an important lesson about protein — the body can and does convert it to glucose and excess glucose is converted to fat.

It is usually better to have multiple small meals than one single large meal. One must be careful that frequent meals don't become multiple large meals.

It's not necessary to eat all essential nutrients in one meal as some uniformed advocates have stated. The nutrients are retained long enough for the body to assemble all of these various chemicals to accomplish its various functions within a 24-hour period. Beyond 24 hours you run the risk of having a momentary deficiency. Vitamin C, for example, is rapidly excreted from the body and should be replaced on a daily basis. This does not mean that it needs to be replaced at each meal of the day.

Rep. Henry Reuss: Watergate Hurting U.S. Dollar

Wisconsin Democratic Congressman Henry S. Reuss still feels that President Nixon and Vice President Agnew should resign simultaneously because of Watergate and a bipartisan "government of national unity" be established under House Speaker Carl Albert. He first proposed this step in early June.

Now, the recent announcement that Vice President Agnew is also under investigation has given his idea a renewed currency. Reuss, chairman of the House subcommittee on international finance, is also considered one of the leading congressional experts on world economics.

Q: Your suggestion for a joint resignation was criticized by many because Vice President Agnew has not been implicated in the Watergate affair. Do you think the current investigation of the Vice President changes anything?

A: I have felt for some months that, even without any further evidence of their personal-participation in acts related to Watergate, both Nixon and Agnew should resign. This is because they have failed grievously to conduct their administration in a way the public has a right to expect.

A few months ago I suggested that they turn in their resignations and let the House choose their successor. I believe the country would be much better off today if they had followed my advice. For what has happened so far indicates that President Nixon, for the rest of his term of office, will be seriously compromised.

Q: Many congressional Democrats may have hesitated to push resignation or impeachment of the President so as not to make Spiro Agnew President with the option of running for reelection in 1976 as the incumbent. Do you think the recent revelations concerning the Vice President have changed the mood in the House?

A: I can only speak for myself. My original suggestion of joint resignations did not depend on any further findings of guilt. Rather it was predicated on the fact that they have proven incapable of governing. So it is really not affected by the new — and grave — charges involving the conduct of Vice President Agnew.

Q: Do you think we would be facing as serious an economic situation if we had a President who could devote his full efforts to the economy instead of constantly planning strategies to deal with the charges rising out of Watergate?

A: The grievous economic problems we face are largely due to Watergate and the associated misadministration of the Nixon - Agnew government. This is what foreigners are thinking about when they dump dollars on the international money markets. This is what they have told me and what they have told the press.

International lack of confidence in the dollar arising out of Watergate has meant that it is undervalued by from 10 to 15 per cent in the international market. This has meant that foreigners can buy such vital

American products as feed grains at much lower prices.

In turn, the increase in foreign buying has removed vital commodities from the American market and driven domestic prices up.

Trying to counter this, the administration has been forced to clamp down export controls. Which has given foreigners the idea that we are trying to weitch out of our implicit agreements to deliver American goods for American dollars. And this foreign fear has further weakened the dollar on the international market.

Q: But why should Watergate play such an important role in determining the value of the dollar abroad? It is purely a political crisis, rather than having to do with the capacity of American industry or the performance of the American economy.

A: The international worth of the dollar — or any other currency — in fluctuating exchange markets is based largely on psychological factors. And Watergate and related domestic problems have played a major role in determining the psychological attitudes associated with the dollar.

The widespread international feeling is that the Nixon - Agnew administration is just not capable of governing the country or running the economy.

Q: Then do you see the traditionally Republican business community putting pressure on Nixon to resign, or coming around and supporting his impeachment?

A: I see plenty of pressure being placed on the Nixon - Agnew administration from fellow Republicans. But, in all honesty, I don't think much of it is based on economics.

Q: Is there a point at which such economic indicators as the Dow - Jones average will fall so low that they will provoke the business community to call for the President's resignation?

A: The Dow - Jones average is now below its level of five years ago. The situation is so bad I don't think any further decline can do much more psychological harm to the administration.

Q: If it turns out that the Vice President is indicted, do you think he is obligated to resign or at least suspend himself from office for the duration of his trial?

A: Again, my over-all view is that a joint resignation would be a good thing for the country and the economy. But if you ask me directly whether Agnew should resign if he is indicted, I would have to say that a man who is indicted is not necessarily convicted. There is no constitutional obligation for him to step down.

Moondoggles

WASHINGTON — With the nation's debt in orbit and rapidly approaching $500 Billion, the House of Representatives recently authorized another Three Billion Seventy-Three Million Dollars for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration to spend in the next fiscal year.

This is the outfit that in the past has spent billions upon billions for trips to the moon. Now it is getting set to spend additional billions on "sky-labs" and assorted other projects some of which are already under "study" in other areas of government.

And don't rule out more "moondoggles" once it is established that "sky-labs" can be made habitable in space.

The "space program" ought to have been cut to the bone in conformance with the deadly serious financial situation that confronts the country. The fact that it was not is in keeping with the present day approach in the House of Representatives that the way to avoid a financial crisis is to borrow and spend more billions.

I supported an amendment to substantially reduce the bill. When that was defeated I voted against the entire $3 Billion.

MORE SOVIET PURGES

Purges now going on in the Soviet Union receive little attention in the world news media, but they should be widely noted and taken into account in any dealings with the communist dictators of that unhappy land.

Because elections are meaningless in communist nations, purges provide the method of making major changes in office holders.

During the days of Lenin and Stalin, thousands of office holders were murdered in these purges. Today, fewer are actually killed but their lives are effectively ruined in other ways.

These periodic purges prove again the futility of trying to deal with communist dictators in the same way that freely-elected governments can be dealt with. As is often the case in recent years, the purges are aimed at leaders in non-Russian areas such as Armenia, Ukraine, Georgia (Stalin's old homeland), and Azerbaidzhan.

More than half the people of the Soviet Union are non-Russian, yet the Russians continue to impose their culture and their rule on the majority of non-Russians. The Soviet constitution "guarantees" cultural autonomy to the scores of non-Russian peoples, but these guarantees are as useless as the other communist promises.

Of course, the Russians themselves, except for the communist party elite, have no rights or privileges. The history of communist dictators and of dealings with them has been a sorry story.

Our own leaders can put no faith in either their word or their stability.

A LONG WAY

In 1801, President Jefferson sent the infant United States Navy to war against the Barbary Coast pirates who demanded tribute and ransom from American shippers. The pirates were defeated and the United States was respected around the world.

A few weeks ago, the Ford Motor Company had to give $1 million to revolutionaries in Argentina and our government was silent.

We've come a long way since 1801.

It has become popular to think the President has the power to declare war. But there is not a word in the Constitution that grants that power to him. It runs only to Congress.
