Sizzling Side Issue

It seems to be the general practice of Americans to get riled up over a trifle while they let the main issue slide.

For example, here is a federal proposal to plunge this country further into debt to the tune of approximately 51 billions of dollars for a great new highway network. There seem to very few in or out of Congress appalled by the rashness and the brigandage that such a proposal must entail.

But there is one phase of this mammoth undertaking which has some of the boys breaking out into cold sweats during their hours of slumber. This is the proposal embodied in presently pending legislation to amend the provisions of the little known Davis-Bacon Act rather than applying it to the federal road building boondoggle.

The Davis-Bacon Act goes like this. If the federal government undertakes to spend the taxpayer's money in any particular state, local wage rates prevailing in that state are to be paid to laborers and mechanics hired by the globalaucracy. This would apply not only to highway building but also to the 600,000 school rooms the carefree spenders in Washington plan to add to our top-heavy government school system.

But the union labor boss pressure is on. These racketeers want a federally appointed wage level for all workers on all federal projects regardless of the state in which the work is performed.

This, of course is a side issue. Because the government hasn't any business to go about gouging taxpayers for either roads or schools.

But it is being made a big issue right now and it is just possible that enough steam can be generated over the trifle so that a little sand will get in the gears of the bureaucracy. So we'll go along and say that the federal government certainly should not attempt to set a national wage rate applicable in all states. Should such a thing occur, the choos in the building industry can best be left to the imagination. This is because it is a foregone conclusion that if the federal government set the wage it would be the highest paid in any state and virtually crippling in a number of other states.

Associated General Contractors of America are up in arms over the proposed amendment. Of course these contractors are itching to get their hands on some of this federally collected tax money and are all in favor of big national projects, never mind how the money is obtained So we can hope that their opposition to the side issue will become strong enough so that the whole steam-roller job of running the American people into debt better than $51 billion in addition to our already staggering $275 billion, will come to naught. Certainly this country could do with some more roads. Also it could do with some more schools. But if freedom means anything to us we better get busy real soon and oppose the giant socialistic inroads being made by the Eisenhower administration. We might point out that had Mr. Truman and his Social-Democrats promoted this thing, the GOP would be screaming with anguish from coast to coast. As it is, the GOP is apparently going along for the ride, and the Democrats appear to be only sorry that they didn't work harder for more socialism.

BETTER JOBS By R. C. HOILES

Mutual Security Program Propaganda I received a 92-page booklet

from the Department of State, Department of Defense and the International Cooperation Administration called "The Mutual Security Program, Fiscal Year 1957." I cannot believe that it is a function of a just government to give its officials the right to make the citizens help pay for propaganda to enable them to use the tax pistal to collect billions of dollars from the American producers so that the government officials can give it to foreign governments and contend that it is necessary for security. In the first place, there is no such thing as "security." The whole program is based on the idea that security can be had with physical force, that moral law is not necessary, that we can have security by might rather than by moral law. If we had a government by moral law, including such moral laws as The Golden Rule and the Commandments, we wouldn't have a government that would be sending out propaganda to scare people and get them to submit to paying nearly $5,000,000,000 taxes to give to foreign governments.

Just this morning I read in the Wall Street Journal that the Hilton Corporation is going to build a large hotel in Berlin. The part that particularly interested me was that he was going to get $3,-000,000 from the German government, who received this $3,000,000 from the United States government to build this privately-owned luxury hotel. It is hard to figure out how our government giving the German government money to loan or give to private corporations to build a big highclass hotel is a proper method for security or a proper function of the government. In fact, it is just exactly the opposite way to get security. Security comes from within; from respecting the natural rights that belong to every individual that they receive from God rather than from the state.

This manual contains the speech by our grinning President on his recommendation of $4,859,975.000. Besides this, he requests $200,000,-000 or $300,000,000 be given him to use as he sees fit for the purpose of what he calls foreign "security." Remember, we have given around $1,000,000 to Yugoslavia, and Tito has just received a grand reception by the Russian government that he is one of the big Communists of the world.

Should we get into war with the Communists, the millions and millions of dollars worth of war material that we have given to Tito

Kingpins In Labor

Just in case you're feeling smug about the racket you're in these days, let's take a look at those kingpins of the labor pool — the engineers and particularly the nuclear scientists.

Recently a small engineering college permitted a two-day recruiting period on its campus. It plans to graduate 123 engineers this year. Agents from 175 firms showed up to compete for the students. All the graduates got jobs and one eager agent hired six agents from other firms.

At a recent conclave of physicists, eight of the attending double-domes showed up unemployed because they had been engaged on personal research projects. During the sessions they received a total of 1785 job offers.

A small mid-western college lost six of its eight physics instructors when a company engaged in nuclear developments swooped in with a recruiting drive.

Last winter a young NACA missile expert quit his $11,000 a year job to go with a private firm at $18,000. Two months later another firm lured him away for $25,000.

Some of the engineer-hungry firms are including attention to wives in their personnel program. One reason why Lockheed has moved its guided missile division to Sunnyvale is to make the ladies happy. Sunnyvale, according to surveys, has one of the best climates in the world.

Another typical case in the fight for nuclear experts is that of the Oak Ridge reactor scientist who was lured to a private plant by a $19,000 a year job. En route to his new laboratory he stopped off in Washington where he was offered $24,000. He was about to take it when the first private firm matched the offer and threw in an all-expense semester of graduate work at Harvard.

When a firm has a nuclear scientist these days he gets the red carpet treatment — and money, too.

Temperatures which were fine for men were often too cool for women; one that was satisfactory for women was too warm for men. This turned out to be almost entirely a matter of clothing.

The amount of moisture in the air - the humidity - has a lot to do wth comfort.
