TESTING THE POLITICAL WINDS - Two pillow - like plastic balloons, each 12 feet high and eight feet wide, are shown at the moment of launching in downtown Minneapolis, Minn., at the start of a zany "political" race. The elephant and donkey symbols are inflated with heljum rather than political oratory and the winner will be the one which stays up longest. The stunt was sponsored by a manufacturer of high-altitude meteorological balloons.

Strength Of Sampson

This editorial is not intended in criticism or condemnation of anyone. Its sole purpose is to provoke thought. The facts in it were taken from a story in the New York Times of September 5, 1956. It seems to us the facts speak more loudly than any comment we might care to make.

Irving Lugar punched out a small sale on the cash register in his drug store here. 'It's murderous,' he said.

That's what it is - murderous." Joseph Sacone, tending bar alone in his restaurant across the street, looked gloomily at the vacant tables. 'I'm losing between $500 and $800 a week,' he said. 'I don't know where It will end.'

"Mayor W. Erle Rogers, at his desk in his insurance office near city hall, observed gravely: 'There's no question about it, our city is a sick person. These unhappy words reflect the despair that has gripped this small city in the heart of the Finger Lakes région. The cause is the closing of nearby Sampson Air

The $112,000,000 installation was to have shut down by Sept. 3, but it will be another few months before the small staff still remaining leaves the main gate for the last time.

"For fourteen years, with only periodic lapses, Geneva and surrounding communities — among them Penn Yann, Seneca Falls, Auburn, Ithaca, Rochester and Syracuse — have prospered from free-spending Sampson. "During World War II, the sprawling base on the shores of Lake Seneca was a vast naval training center. Then, from 1946 to 1949, it was used as a temporary state college for G.I. Bill of Rights students. In 1950 it was taken over by the Air Force for training recruits. Now-Geneva finds itself bereft of a benevolent

Uncle Sam who, during Air Force tenure alone, spent nearly $50,000,000 annually in the area. The oncebustling city of 18,000, whose neon-lighted shopping district contrasts oddly with the quiet elegance of its lake-front homes, still can't quite believe it.

The hard economic facts of life are frequently unwelcome. But sooner or later we must face up to them. Could we not conclude that it is better for the long pull to depend upon our own productive ability, our own energies, or own enterprise, than to depend upon the flush and effervescent spending of Uncle Sam?

The American Way

By GEORGE PECK

To the Elmer Times, a weekly newspaper published at Elmer, New Jersey, I am indebted for the following jingle which appeared in its 1956 Almanac: It refers to a sign placed in a bookstore window which boosted Bible sales:

"Holy Scripture ,Writ Divine At a dollar forty-nine; Satan trembles when he sees Bibles sold on cheap as these." Well, his Satanic Majesty must wight now be shivering in his boots. It is a panicky feeling that attacks him in October of each year. For that is the week during which National Bible Week 4s observed, sponsored by the Laymen's National Committee, the All - Faiths organization. The -16th annual observance of this Important event is from October 15-21 this year. No wonder the Devil shivers and shakes, for right well he knows that the interest of many Americans will be attracted to the Bible and many thousands of others will have their interest rekindled. And Sutan further knows the power of God's Holy Book when men and women put it to work to combat his evil machinations.

Mr. Melvin H. Baker, board chairman of National Gypsum Company, Buffalo, N. Y., is serving as National Chairman for National Bible Week this year. In accepting the assignment, Mr. Baker sald, "I am happy to do this job because all people should study the Bible, which is the foundation for our civilization. Shortly we will be asking leading men and women in 500 different communities to become chairmen of groups in each of their respective communities. Newspapers, magazines, radio stations, theatres, churches, schools and other public groups across the nation will be asked to take part in this great campaign. I am sure we can anticipate the support of all in carryir: our message to a maximum number of people "Through this effort, we hope to provoke interest in Bible reading. In these busy times when there is so much confusion, it is my hope that we may take time out to reinforce our spiritual knowledge and, in so doing, find the answer to many perplexing Issues. Aside from comfort to be had in our day + to-day troubles, much can be gained to bring peace if the people throughout the world approach the inter-national issue through spiritual teachings of the Saviour. This can all be found in the Good Book."

The theme for National Bible Week 1956. October 15 . 21, is "THE BIBLE-TIMELESS AND ETERNAL." How true that is! It is the world's perennial Best Seller. It's New Testament tells the story of the greatest character who ever lived. James A. Francis, D. D., beautifully describes Him in a short essay entitled, "One Solitary Life," as follows:

"Here is a man who was born in an obscure village, the child of a woman who, to her peasant neighbors, was just one of them and one with them. He grew up in another village. He worked in a carpenter shop until he was 30 and then, for three years, he was an itinerant preacher. He never wrote a book. He never held an office. He never owned a home. He never had a family. He never traveled two hundred miles from the place where he was born. He never did one of the things that usually accompany greatness. He had no credentials but himself.

"While still a young man the tide of private opinion turned against him. His friends ran away. One of them denied him, He was turned over to enemies. He went through the mockery of a trial. He was nailed to a cross between two thieves. As he was dying, his executioners gambled for the only piece of property he had on earth, and that was his coat, When he was dead he was taken down and laid in a borrowed grave through the pity of a friend. His name was Jesus. . . "Nineteen wide centuries have come and gone and today He is the centerpiece of the human race and the leader of the column of progress

"I am far within the when I say that all the armies that ever marched, and all the navies that were ever built, and all the parliaments that ever sat, and all the kings that ever reigned, put together have not affected the life of man on this earth as has that One Solitary Life!"

The All-Powerful State

Edmund A. Opitz, in his book "Case Studies of the Church in Politics," has a sub-title under the heading of "The All-Powerful State." He writes:

"Political action is indubitably coercive. A law is not merely a suggestion, it adds enforcement and penalty provisions to a general rule. Whether a government acts rightly or wrongly, whether it has the support of a majority or only a minority, its every action is backed - in the final analysis -by the use or threat of force. Once this central fact about political action is recognized we are in a position to assess the claims of those who propose to reform or organize society by means of political action. An extension and acceleration of the functions of government is an essential part of what the ecumenical thinkers refer to as the Responsible Soclety; just as more government is the sine qua non of most of the currently popular schemes of uplift whatever the label - Communism. Socialism, the Welfare State, the planned economy or whatnot. Every one of these involved the deliberate use or threat of legal penalties to put men through the daily paces of their economic and social affairs. The energices of the vast majority of men are put at the disposal of the few men who operate the machinery of government and use it to gear the nation to an over-all plan of produc-

"A portion of every man's life is planned for him, which means that he has lost that much freedom to plan his own life. An elece tion may replace the men at the helm of government, but this does not affect the lot of the vast majority who have their lives run for them in a planned society no matter who controls the apparatus of "It is sometimes suggested that perhaps a politically - controlled society may not be so bad if control merely directs economic affairs and stops there. To this Williak Roepke remarks: 'It is hardly forgivable naivete to believe that a state can be all-powerful in the economic sphere without also being autocratic in the political and intellectual domain.' And Frederick Hayek supplies the reason why this is so. 'Economic control is not merely control of a sector of human life which can be separated from the rest;' he points out, 'it is the control of the means for all our ends.'

"To put it bluntly, every scheme which envisages all or part of society directed and controlled by government must rely on legal coercion to make some men the creatures of the other men who tell them what to do and what not to do. Every society, no matter how noble its ideals and principles, will exhibit instances of power-hungry people trying to manage .the lives of others without first obtaining consent. This kind of conduct is usually considered reprehensible and it is contrary to the principles of a free society; in many instances it may be against the law also. But in a collectivist society it is according to both law and principle that a few men should manage the lives of all the others! This may not be the result intended by those who advocate collectivism (the blanket term for socialism, the welfare state, the New Deal, the Responsible Society, and the like) on religious or other grounds, but their advocacy of increased political controls has at least these consequences,

Equal Justice For Att

"Opposed to all varieties of collectivism is a philosophy of social organization which limits government to the restraint of those who Injure their fellows, and leaves all peaceful persons completely outside the range of political interventions free to govern themselves. The customary label for this philosophy is libertarianism; it is an heir of classic liberalism.

"The question, is then, which of these two alternative theories of social relationships measures up more nearly to the Christian norm for the relations between men? If the neighbor love idea is accepted as this norm, it is difficult to see how a political arrangement designed to make men less free because it puts some men in charge of others can be squared with the Christian idea of man. It does not square with the brotherhood emphasized in other Evanston reports. True, enough, the limited government idea falls short of being utopian, but among the kind of creatures human beings are it does give as much weight to the love commandment in the political arena as politics can bear. It is a government of equal justice for all, the only kind of equality possible in human affairs.

"It is not according to the intellectual fashions of the day for theologians or other intellectuals to be caught saying a good word for libertarianism or the limited government concept; they declare for collectivism. But take the label off the concept and the theologian is forced by his basic principles to endorse the ultimate aim of a libertarian society while at the same time the force of fashion drives him to recommend collective organization of the nation's economic life as a means of this (To be continued)

(The Tulsa Tribune) No wonder the migration of middle-aged well-to-do persons to the Southwest goes on unabated. Science Service reports the lowest death rate for coronary heart disease among white males in the nation is found in New Mexico. Highest is in New York.

The New Mexico rate was 191.1 per 100,000 population compared with 393.8 for New York. Also rating high were Rhode Island, 364.3, and Washington, D. C., 344.3, Other states with low death rates for the same recent year were Arkansas, 201.2, and Kentucky, 211.2. (Oklahoma's rate was not given in this particular report but from a study of 1955 statistics its appears to be about 250 per 100,000 for men and women.)

For white females the differences in death rates from coronary heart disease in different areas were even greater - 83.4, 87.8 and 89.0 in Mew Mexico, Arizona and Nebraska, as compared with 217.4. 178.6 and 175.6 in New York. New Jersey and Rhode Island.

Possible explanations for the geographic differences include differences in diet, exercise, stress, hereditary factors, and differences in the physical characteristics of populations in various parts of the In other words living is not only to be enjoyed longer in the Southwest, but also more with its fresh foods and its year-round opportunities for exercise.

A SURVEY ON THE PROBLEM of obesity indicates that weight control cannot begin too early for good health. HE GOT HIM!—Will Lefavour, a member of the Northeast Skindiving Council, surfaces with a 15-pound striped bass he speared in the waters off Hampton Beach, N. H. Will says it's a tiny catch compared to the big ones he caught in skindiving sessions this summer. Lefavour wore a snorkel breathing device for his under-water fishing adventure.

TRACK STARS WED—Befitting their roles as star track athletes, Gordon Pirie, the record-smashing long distance runner, and his bride, sprinter Shirley Hampton, smile over their shoulders after their wedding in London. Their honeymeon was brief, since Pirie had to leave for Melbourne to represent England in the 1956 Olympics.

HAS WAY WITH HORSES—While most grandmothers are puttering in their kitchens, Mrs. Clara Adams, 65, trains steeplechase horses at Elmont, N. Y. Mrs. Adams, a trainer for 17 years, turned to the job when her husband became ill and couldn't handle the chores. Believing all horses respond to kindness, she never refuses to train a horse that others can't handle. Here, Mrs. Adams rewards Morpheus with sugar.

MAKING A TIGHT TURN—Watched by fans massed on the green margins of the track at Monza, Italy, international speedsters come around a curve during the 500 cc. class event of the Grand Prix of Nations Motorcycle Race. The five events held during the day at the race saw most track records shattered by the winnners of the various classes. Britain's Geoff Duke won 500-cc. race.

ROMAN PLAYGROUND—Under a man-sized goal, a pocket-sized goalie, surrounded by his teammates, listens as a priest instructs the smallfry audience on the rules of the game. The recreation field, annexed to a church, is the unofficial play area for these children in Rome.

RUTGERS SCORES—Speedy Rutgers halfback Jay Hunton, hugging the football, lies in the end zone after he was tackled by Ohio-Wesleyan back Jim Rogers, after Hunton's 22-yard sprint for a touchdown in the first quarter of their game in New Brunswick, N. J. Rutgers won the game, 33-13. An excited Rutgers student manager can be seen in the background.

KICK-OFF OLYMPIC FUND—Olympic hopeful Lou Jones, world's record holder in the 400-meters, gets on his mark as Sam Giangreco, National Football League referee, holds starter's gun to get the New Rochelle, N. Y., Olympic Fund Committee Drive off to a symbolic "flying start." Mayor George Vergara, former Notre Dame football player, looks on.

READY FOR ACTION —
Preparing for the opening game against the Cleveland Browns, Chicago Cardinals' halfback Lindon Crow snags
the ball during a practice session at Chicago. Crow was a standout player at the University of Southern California.

WASTED WORDS—The sign says "No fishing or diving" in Italian, but these Romans, who ought to be able to read it, are only half complying. No one is diving off the wharf, but several are trying their luck at fishing.

AERIAL ANTICS—Aquatic clowns cut some crazy capers under the blue "big top" at Cypress Gardens, Fla. The flying funnymen, parting company with their skis and tow ropes, are caught in mid-air as a third whizzes past on one runner. The act creates a big splash when the clowns and skis hit the water during their daily aqua show.

HE'LL BE WHEELING YOUR WAY-Robert Wilkinson, 12, of Chicago, Ill., is this year's National Muscular Dystrophy Child. A victim of the muscle-wasting disease since infancy, he symbolizes more than 200,000 Americans, two-thirds of them children, whose hope rests in large part on the November March for Muscular Dystrophy. The nationwide appeal is for funds to finance research into causes of the disease and to expand clinics and patient services.
