Nasser Considers Australian Offer

CAIRO, Aug. 25—UP—President Gamal Abdel Nasser has called his cabinet into special session Sunday to consider an invitation from Australian Premier Robert G. Menzies to discuss the Suez question, it was announced Saturday night.

Nasser called the cabinet session after a few hours after receiving a message from Menzies, who heads the five-nation commission appointed by the London Suez conference to convey its findings to Egypt.

Soviet Union Gives Proposal To Vatican

By CHARLES RIDLEY
VATICAN CITY, Aug. 25—UP—The Soviet Union has sent proposals for world disarmament to Pope Pius XII in its first diplomatic overture to the Vatican, it was disclosed Saturday.

The Vatican press office said Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin's appeal to the parliaments of the world for disarmament was received two days ago. It was given to Mgr. Giuseppe Pietta, papal nuncio to Italy, by Dmitri Pojdaiev, Soviet charge d'affaires in Rome.

The Soviet Union has had no direct diplomatic relations with the Vatican since the Communist revolution. The unprecedented contact between the Russian chief of mission and the papal nuncio in Rome, therefore, was the nearest Moscow could come to a direct diplomatic approach.

San Marino Exception
The only Communist state which still has direct diplomatic relations with the Holy See is the tiny republic of San Marino in northern Italy.

In the past, the Soviet Union and other Communist states and organizations have ignored the Vatican in their appeals for world peace—a subject close to the Pope's heart.

One notable exception was in 1951 when French scientist Frederic Joliot-Curie sent a letter to the Pope informing him of peace resolutions passed by the congress of the Communist-run "peace partisans" staged in Rome.

Acceptance Seen
The Russian appeal for disarmament was one sure vehicle through which Soviet diplomacy could make its first tentative approach to the Vatican. It was bound to be accepted.

The Pope himself called for disarmament in his last Christmas speech. But, Vatican sources said Saturday, he took the Western stand that there must be adequate controls and inspection.

Rumors of an impending diplomatic approach by the Soviet Union to the Vatican have been current in Rome for many months. Some reports even went so far as to say that Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov would propose establishing diplomatic relations between the two states.

Navy Stops Plane Search

By WILLIAM MILLER
TAIPEI, Formosa, Aug. 25—UP—The U. S. chief of naval operations ordered an end Saturday night to the huge sea and air search for 15 American naval aviators shot down off Red China two days ago.

The orders called for a continued watch in the immediate area where the body of the 16th member of the plane's crew was found.

But most of the ships which had been standing by to resume the suspended search were ordered back to regular duty.

The vast search was set off originally when a Martin Mercator Navy plane on a "routine flight" over the Formosa Strait was attacked and shot down Thursday by "unidentified aircraft" believed to be Chinese Red fighters.

Reported Near Shanghai

The last reported position of the plane was 160 miles north of Formosa and 32 miles off the coast of Red China near Shanghai.

The body of electronic technician 1-C Albert P. Mattin, of Delta, Ohio, two life rafts and bits of plane wreckage were found 100 miles southeast of Shanghai.

This was the only evidence of the incident, and the fact that only one body had been found in three days led to belief among naval officers that the rest of the 15 men went down with the wreckage or were picked up by Chinese fishermen.

Waitress Sought As Kidnaping Witness

By HENRY LOGEMAN
MINEOLA, N. Y., Aug. 25—UP—A fast-drinking waitress who failed to go home to her husband and five children Friday night was sought by police Saturday as a possible witness in the kidnaping of infant Peter Weinberger. The search for Aida Cherniakova, 30-year-old employee of a pizza restaurant, began after Angelo John LaMarca confessed he kidnaped Peter July 4 and left him to die in a rainstorm.

LaMarca told police he kept the 32-day-old child with him all night and then abandoned him in a homey-looking thick bed the next day. Police had not determined whether he had any accomplices.

Attempt at Secrecy

Nassau county police tried to keep their activities secret, but some information leaked out. LaMarca, 31-year-old mechanic, underwent a 90-minute psychiatric examination Saturday afternoon after a mysterious eight-hour absence from his jail cell.

LaMarca ate a hearty midnight meal, slept soundly and then was taken in handcuffs from his cell before dawn.

Then the "loving" father of two children was returned, still "calm and unruffled," to his cell, where he was kept under an around-the-clock guard watch that apparently did not disturb him at all. Police said he treated the guard in his cell with him and the one pacing outside almost as though they were not there.

Mrs. Cherniakova, also known as Aida Yoo and Aida Dart, worked as a waitress in Hempstead, Long Island, and frequently the Short Rail Bar, also in West Hempstead, Mrs. Norma Solis, a barmaid at the tavern, said the pizza waitress had a few quick drinks Friday night and then left with a man. She had not seen since.

'Very Good Worker'

"She is a very good worker, a very hard worker and honest as they come," said Phil Lianzo, her employer. "I'm shocked at her disappearance. She never did this before."

Police were silent about where they took the swarthy mechanic when they left Nassau county police headquarters at 4 a. m. The prisoner was sneaked from the building despite the presence of a swarm of newsmen and was returned just as secretly at 11:45 a. m.

It was believed detectives took LaMarca with them in a search for possible accomplices in the crime. There also were reports they took the prisoner out for a complete reenactment of the kidnaping, from the moment 32-day-old Peter was taken from his carriage July 4 until he was placed in a thick bed near a highway the next day to die in a summer rainstorm.

Parents in Seclusion

The bereaved parents of the dead child had hoped until the very end that he would be found alive. They remained in seclusion at their home in Westbury, Long Island, awaiting release of their baby's body so they could arrange a funeral service for him.

The Nassau county coroner studied the pitiful remains in an (See WAITRESS, Page 3)

Moore Concedes To Will Wilson

By PRESTON MCGRAW
United Press Staff Correspondent

The Democratic runoff for governor of Texas turned into almost a neck-and-neck race early Sunday, with U. S. Sen. Price Daniel holding a slim lead over Ralph Yarborough and apparently enough votes still out to change it.

The Texas Election Bureau issued its final tabulation for the night at midnight Saturday. It had planned to issue a final tabulation at 1 a. m., but no more votes were reported.

The final tabulation, from all of the state's 254 counties, including 215 complete, gave: Daniel 296,389 votes and Yarborough 691,175.

The Election Bureau estimated that about 12,000 votes were out. These were plenty to change the results to Yarborough's favor, but the mathematical odds favored Daniel.

For instance, of the 12,000 votes, Yarborough would have to get 5,214 to bring him even with Daniel. Then he gave up trying to find out for sure who won and left for his ranch nearby.

Daniel said he saw three factors in the close race. He said a lot of voters evidently followed W. Lee O'Daniel's advice to vote for Yarborough.

Labor Got Out Vote
He said that the other two factors were that labor "got out the vote" for Yarborough and that his followers were tripped up by overconfidence in some places.

O'Daniel's advice to his followers to vote for Yarborough was not altogether without guile. O'Daniel wants to run as an independent in the Nov. 6 general election—he was eliminated as a Democrat in the July 28 primary—and would rather face Yarborough than Daniel.

It seemed that the vote from the forks of the creek, as O'Daniel used to say, would be the deciding factor in the election.

In contrast to the worried looks among Daniel and his friends, everybody was happy at Yarborough's home.

"I think I'll have it won in another couple of hours," Yarborough said, figuring up percentages on a yellow legal pad.

As the returns mounted, the crowd in the Yarborough home increased and Mrs. Yarborough set out a buffet of sliced turkey and ham. Yarborough ate a turkey sandwich.

O'Daniel got 10 write-in votes. "Joe Smith" — presumably the one whose name delegate Terry Carpenter of Nebraska reserved the right to place in nomination for vice president at the Republican national convention — got one write-in vote.

O'Daniel announced a week ago that he was going to try to run in the Nov. 6 general election for governor as an independent.

When Moore conceded, he said: "I have conceded. I want to thank my supporters. I am particularly grateful to Judge Wilcox for keeping the race on the issue and devoid of personalities. I have got to clean up my desk at the district attorney's office and get back on that job full time again."

Yarborough Jubilant
Yarborough jubilantly followed the returns on a portable radio in his living room. He was in his shirt sleeves and "figuring percentages on a yellow scratch pad."

"I confidently predict that the total vote will be in our favor," he said. "I have travelled the length of this state. The people want a change and the results will show it. They are tired of crooked government."

Daniel said, as his margin narrowed, "the results are closer than I expected." He said the trouble appeared to be that the people who supported him in the primary didn't all turn out for the runoff.

The votes that both men wanted were the 347,757 votes that former Gov. and U. S. Sen. W. Lee O'Daniel got in the primary.

O'Daniel Still In
O'Daniel was eliminated as a Democratic candidate. But he announced a week ago that he is going to try to run as an independent in the Nov. 6 general election.

He can do this if about 7,000 persons — one per cent of the total voters in the 1954 general election — will sign a petition. These persons must also swear that they did not vote in the Democratic primaries.

County Attorney Don Cain re- ported Saturday that J. L. Cooper, 301 E. Craven, who Friday paid a fine for driving while under the influence of a drug, was under a doctor's care at the time and the drug was not a narcotic.

Cooper, who has worked for the same firm in Pampa for the last 13 years, Cain said, was reported to have been on his way home after taking the medicine when his erratic driving drew the attention of officers. He was fined $50 and costs after pleading guilty to the charge.

insurance benefits as list cost, and an increased night shift differential and better allowances for vaca- tions.

Smith said the settlement was similar to the wage contract re- cently signed by the union with the Aluminum Company of America.

The agreement affects workers at Reynolds' plants in McCook and LaGrange, Ill., Phoenix Ariz., Tootdale, Ore., Gregory, Tex., and Arkadelphia, Benton, Jones Mills, and Bauxite, Ark.

Both the Alcoa and Reynolds agreements call for a 45.6 hourly wage increase over a three-year period, but there are minor differ- ences in the contracts in relation to other benefits, officials said.

The steel union also is negoti- ating with Kaiser Aluminum and the Chemical Co., whose contracts expire on Aug. 31.

The Reynolds strike started Aug. 1 but the talks broke off and were resumed here.

Smith said some of the workers probably would go back to work Sunday. He said he could not es- timate when the plants would be in full operation again.

effort to determine the cause of death. Officials said it would be at least Monday before a funeral could be held.

LaMarca, who has two children of his own and only recently brought a wounded rabbit home to nurse back to health, was arrested Thursday after FBI agents track- ed him down through two ransom notes he sent Peter's family.

He confessed stealing Peter but said the infant was alive when he placed him in the thicket only a few miles from the Weinberger's home.

LaMarca told police that he took Peter to Brooklyn to spend the night of July 4. When he tried to return the child the next day, he said, he was frightened away by police. It was then he abandoned the child, he said.

Police checked every detail of LaMarca's story. It was presum- ed that was the reason for their pre-dawn trip from police head- quarters.

tion of being an independent can- didate, asked his supporters to vote for Yarborough, so his op- ponent in the general election would be Yarborough instead of Daniel.

Makes Pitch for Vote
But Yarborough made a pitch for the O'Daniel vote in his run- off campaign, praising O'Daniel and the conduct of his primary campaign. He picked up O'Daniel's favorite description of Daniel: "The little junior senator."

Yarborough announced Saturday night when the polls closed that he was going to try to sue 24 television stations upon which John McElvey charged Friday night that Yarborough once asked Walter Reuther for a $15,000 cam- paign contribution.

McElvey, of Electra, Tex., is a former Yarborough campaign manager in Wichita county who went over to Daniel. He spoke Friday night on Daniel's last tele- vision appearance.

McElvey said that he heard Yarborough ask Reuther, president of the United Automobile Workers, for the money on the telephone. Yarborough said it wasn't true.

CHICAGO (UP)—A spinster bookkeeper "with an altruistic heart" today faced arraignment on charges of embezzling $487,228 to help out struggling small business firms.

Miss Bessie E. Roth, 49, of suburban Berwyn, Ill., was jailed Friday following an audit of her accounts at the Lawndale National Bank while she was away on vacation.

"She didn't keep a dime of the money for herself, and just did the thing out of the goodness of her heart," reported First Assistant U.S. Attorney Frank McGarr.

McGarr said Miss Roth began to "take pity" on seven small accounts in the bank where she was bookkeeping supervisor and didn't process them through the regular procedures.

The federal prosecutor said the trusted employee juggled the bank books when auditors appeared to make their periodic checks. She temporarily credited funds from larger depositors to accounts that were shot of cash, he said.

"She was just a prim lady with an altruistic heart," McGarr said. "She apparently did it as a favor for others."

Labor Day is just around the corner, and the American Red Cross has issued this word of caution:

On Labor day a year ago 82 Americans lost their lives by drowning. If you are going boating or canoeing, remember that overloading the boat is the most common cause of accidents.

The Kit Kat Klub sponsored a successful party at Amarillo Air Force Base Wednesday evening. Gray Ladies making the trip were Mrs. D. A. Finkelstein, Mrs. A. D. Hills, Mrs. Hugh Morrow, Mrs. H. O. Darby, Rhona Finkelstein acted as Mistress of Ceremonies. The entertainment consisted of tap dancing, twirling, group singing, and piano numbers. Refreshments were served afterwards. The girls from the Klub were: Glenda Finkelstein, Rhona Finkelstein, Sara Gordon, Cynthia Duncan, Sandra Walsh, Joy Vanderburg, Marsha Rogers, and Joan Miller. Mrs. Libby Shotwell, Mrs. Joe Gordon and Mrs. D. A. Finkelstein took their cars.

Next year's Water Safety Aide badges will be larger and more attractive. Melvin A. Buzzard, Director of Water Safety and First Aid on the National Board, recently congratulated the Pampa chapter for an excellent program this summer.

The local Red Cross chapter has expressed the need for volunteers for the office. All those who can type and would be willing to contribute a few hours each week are urged to call the Red Cross office, by Mrs. Libby Shotwell, executive secretary.

Glen Housted and Susan Kay have been working on an "Overseas Exhibit" album. This album will show interesting things about Pampa to be sent overseas. The album will be on exhibit in Junior High School before being mailed.

Have you ever considered being a Gray Man? This program is geared to give the men of the community a chance to give unselfishly of their time and perform such services as visiting men who are ill in the hospitals and homes. All those who are interested are asked to call Rev. William Cloud (4-4266) or the Red Cross office, Mrs. Shotwell said

Helicopter Spans Country Non-Stop

WASHINGTON (UP)—A helicopter has spanned the United States non-stop for the first time.

One of the Army's big H21 helicopters made the trip Friday from the Pacific to the Atlantic Coast in 31 hours and 40 minutes.

The helicopter took off at San Diego, Calif. It landed at the Pentagon Heliport.

A clean-shaven but very tired-looking crew of three officers stepped from the "flying workhorse" at 4:41 p.m. EDT to be welcomed and congratulated by Acting Army Secretary Charles C. Finucane and Gen. Williston B. Palmer, Army vice chief of staff.

Capt. James E. Bowman of Amboy, Ind., commander of the whirlybird, told newsmen that the helicopter flew through "quite a bit of turbulence" in the West, especially over the California desert. But he said there was no trouble in refueling the helicopter in flight from an Army Otter utility plane at several points on the 2,610-mile route.

Joe Smith Takes Beating

By JOSEPH L. MYLER
United Press Staff Correspondent
SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — Joe Smith is through.

No aspirant to high office could take the beating Vice President Richard M. Nixon handed him Wednesday night and survive.

If Joe were anything but a figment you'd feel sorry for him. Maybe you will anyway.

Joe almost got one vote for the vice presidential nomination in Wednesday's balloting at the Republican national convention.

But in the end his own creator, Terry (the terrible) Carpenter of Scottsbluff, Neb., withdrew his support.

Result: Nixon 1,323, Joe 0.

While he lasted Joe gave the delegates a good time. He also gave convention Chairman Joseph W. Martin Jr. a bad time for a few minutes. Democrats among the television watchers must have loved him.

Sudden Rise
Joe's rise to national political eminence was sudden and unexpected. They were calling the roll of states for putting people in MID-EAST SHIFT—A shake-up of U.S. envoys in the Middle East will send Henry Byroade, above, to fill the now vacant post of ambassador to South Africa. Byroade has been ambassador to Egypt.

Every delegate but one thought Nixon would be unopposed. But when the roll call got to Nebraska, delegation Chairman Hazel Abel reported with chagrin that one member "desires to place a name in nomination."

Carpenter has been a "maverick... lone wolf... irregular" in Nebraska politics for more than 30 years. He is 56. He is a rich real estate operator. He developed and owns most of "Terrytown," a Scottsbluff suburb.

He said Wednesday he would put Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton, a Nebraskan, in nomination to replace Nixon. But he didn't—Seaton wouldn't let him.

Dulness Opposed
Carpenter wasn't through. As he told newsmen later, "Basically this convention is a very, very dull affair." So when the putting in nomination roll call got to Nebraska, Mrs. Abel told Martin she had a delegate who had a nominee other than Nixon.

Who? asked Martin. She didn't know, said Mrs. Abel. Find out, Martin ordered. Mrs. Abel whispered a moment with Carpenter. "He's going to nominate Joe Smith," she reported.

"Joe who?" barked the incredulous Martin.

"Joe Smith."

The convention delegates laughed and laughed and Martin said "Nebraska reserves the right to nominate Joe Smith— whoever he is." The delegates laughed again.

Carpenter Popular
Reporters swarmed toward Carpenter in the Nebraska delegation. Reporters did get to Carpenter, however. He told them a number of things:

Joe Smith was a "very prominent" citizen of Terrytown. He was "a Republican in good standing." He was "retired because he is tired." Carpenter even gave the telephone number.

"This, said Carpenter, "is going to come as a real surprise to Joe." But in the actual balloting Carpenter deserted his creation. He didn't vote against him — he just passed. When the roll call was over, however, he had his vote recorded for Nixon, making it unanimous for the vice president.

Weekly Stock Market Report

By ELMER C. WALZER
United Press Financial Editor

NEW YORK (UP)—Stocks suffered a tight money convulsion in the first three sessions this past week and made a partial recovery Thursday and Friday on light volume.

Banks raised prime interest rates and boosted brokerage loan rates to 4 1/2 per cent from 4 per cent. The market boomed on call money at 10 to 20 per cent in 1928 and 1929, it was recalled.

After the banks raised their rates, half of the regional Federal Reserve banks on Thursday were on a 3 per cent discount rate, up from the previous rate of 2 3/4 per cent. This move had been discounted by the drop in stocks early in the week, it was said. On Friday another bank—Cleveland—boosted its discount rate.

Money market men said the big demand for money which forced the rates up reflected a booming industrial picture. This time the big credit is going into industry. In 1929 it went into stocks. Today's stock market is described as practically on a cash basis.

Averages are off
The industrial average fell 13.45 points in the first three sessions of the week and closed the week at 507.91, off 7.88 points. Ralls lost 4.37 points and closed at 162.66, off 2.99 on the week. Utilities, down in every session, lost 1.87 points to close at 68.70. The average for 65 stocks lost 3.29 points to close the week at 178.36.

University and has had professional experience in summer stock companies in Dallas and Virginia. He also had his own radio program while attending Texas University and has been in television.

Pauline Smyth and Wynne Veale have appeared in numerous school plays. Marilyn Spoonmore, Bill Clay and Jim Terrell majored in speech in college and have appeared in many plays. J. B. Reid has been a featured player in eight plays in Canadian. Jim Terrell and Jack Miller will be interviewed by Bob Izzard on his KGNC television program at 10:30 p.m. Monday. Others of the cast will appear on KGNC-TV at 12:15 noon during Johnny Lynn's "Double Trouble" program on Tuesday, August 28.

Tickets can be purchased at $1 for adults and 50 cents for children from any Little Theater member. They are also available at Richard Durg, where reserved seat tickets will go on sale Monday for 25 cent each.

Some of the selling early in the week reflected the Suez Canal crisis. The Suez conference broke up and a five-nation committee agreed to meet in Geneva or Rome to further discuss the situation. The committee planned to invite Egyptian president Nasser to these discussions and sent him a complete transcript of the London meetings of the conference.

Business news was replete with bullish items such as a rise to 95.1 per cent in steel operations, best since June 4; a record high for electricity output, another rise in loadings, prospect for farm income to rise this year, a rise in heavy construction contracts, and a department of commerce report that cash dividends set a new record in July.

Volume up Tuesday
The big decline of the week on Tuesday brought out increased sales volume. A late recovery restored a large part of the loss. On Wednesday the list attempted a rally which failed and prices slipped off at the close.

Daily average sales totalled 1,778,559 shares, against 1,806,012 shares daily in the previous week. This week's average was the smallest since the week ended June 22.

The Middle East oils fared no more poorly than many other issues. Gulf Oil lost 4 1/2 points on the week. Royal Dutch 2 1/2 points and Getty Oil 2 points.

Addressograph fell 5 points and Continental Oil 4 1/2 points. The drop in utilities was forced by a fall of 3 1/2 in Houston Light, of 3 1/2 in Peoples Gas, and of 3 1/2 in Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line.

GOP Elephant

Seriously Injured

MONTEREY, Calif. (UP)—Dolly, the 400-pound baby elephant mascot at the Republican National Convention, was in critical condition today from internal injuries suffered when the truck carrying her overturned near here.

Dr. W. M. Hammond, a veterinarian here, told Dolly's trainer that the year-old elephant "can't possibly live."

"She needs blood transfusions, and there isn't any elephant blood here," the trainer, Wally E. Ross, said.

The accident happened Thursday night when Ross, carrying Dolly to Los Angeles in a pickup truck, missed a curve four miles east of Watsonville.

Russian Tour Of America Improving Their Farms

By GAYLORD P. GODWIN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25—UP—The impact of the 1955 tour of American farms by a Russian delegation is showing on Soviet agriculture, according to the Agriculture Department's publication, "Foreign Agriculture."

When the delegation arrived at Des Moines last summer to start a 12,000-mile tour of American farms Vladimir V. Matskevich, Soviet minister of agriculture, remarked that one look was better than a hundred technical articles. Foreign Agriculture reports this look apparently has been translated into action a year later.

The Russians were most impressed by the high productivity of America's family-size farms. Their main question during their first few days in Iowa was "Where are the workers?" When a guide explained that the owner of a 160-acre farm north of Des Moines would need only one hired hand for his harvest, a Soviet official exclaimed: "One! By us a hundred!"

Six months later there was a change in Soviet agriculture. When the USSR's sixth five-year plan was published in February conservation of manpower was emphasized. According to the plan, the productivity of farm labor on collective and state farms was to be increased from 70 to 100 per cent from 1956 to 1960.

Conservation of manpower is being effected in the Soviet Union. The trend toward reduction in the daily milking of cows is one example. Prior to last winter herds of dairy cows on collective farms were usually milked three or four times daily. Then a campaign was begun to reduce the number of milkings to twice daily. This practice has been adopted widely, with satisfactory results.

Foreign agriculture reports the Russians are trying to make farm machinery more efficient. The

Are people in the Top of Texas as interested in baseball and some other sports as they were five or ten years ago?

This question has been discussed pro and con many times this summer and earlier. Attendance at Oiler baseball games has almost never been so low and the home team is and has been a contender for the league title. Now in third place and looking as if they will at least hold on to that notch or perhaps move up one, the locals stand a chance of walking off with the league pennant for the second straight year.

The Oilers have, since early in the days of the old West Texas New Mexico league, always had a hustling team and most of the time have been in serious contention for the league title.

And yet, in spite of their good showings, small and unenthusiastic crowds have been showing up at the ball games. Those fans who do turn out sit on their hands and quietly watch the game. Maybe that's the way they like their baseball but it seems like those who are enjoying the game (and they should be if they are Oiler fans because the home team has won most of the games here) could give the Oiler batter a hand before he steps up to the plate.

This is not directed toward all those who come out to see the some team play. There is a small core of persons in Pampa and the surrounding area who love baseball and support the Oilers enthusiastically. They turn out at the games and root for the home team simply because they love the sport and want to see it continued here.

But that small core is not large enough.

In days gone by, there was plenty of enthusiasm for baseball here so why not now? Is it television? Are the people beginning to think that it is just too much trouble to go out to the ball park to see a game? President Eisenhower himself has expressed a concern over the lack of interest and participation in athletics.

This corner hopes the time never comes when sports will be for a small group of ambitious persons only. Sports are an integral part of the American way of life and even now there are moves afoot both here and in other parts of the country to make available more facilities for participation in sports for youth. Here's hoping that the youth of this community always look forward to taking part in sports of some sort if for no other reason than as an aid to keep physically fit, not to speak of the competitive spirit sports instills in those participating, the competition in a wholesome activity and the requirement of cooperation, in most cases.

18 Wins Keeping Jockey From Mark

TODAY'S SPORT PARADE
By OSCAR FRALEY

United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UP)—After an estimated 22,000 miles on horseback, wizened Johnny Longden within a few days will reach his greatest goal in 30 years of race riding.

It's been a long, long road for the shrill-voiced little man. But now, at 45, only 18 more winners separate him from the all-time victory mark of 4,870 posted by Sir Gordon Richards before the Englishman retired in 1924.

Johnny, who already has posted 206 victories this year for a total of 4,852, is a dead cinch.

All of which is a payoff on perseverance for the tiny English-born jockey who at 15 began riding Roman races at the fairs of western Canada to escape the gritty monotony of working in the mines. For Johnny's start was anything but sensational and several times he was advised to hang up his borrowed tack.

Losers For Two Years

Two lonesome and oft-hungry years passed before the youngster, whose family migrated to Canada when he was two years old, was able to score with his first winner. In his first four years he managed a total of only 110 winners.

Not very promising for a man who eventually was the nation's leading jockey three times. But Johnny swears has been a man of determination. Like the day in 1944 when a colt smashed his foot against the rail, Johnny had the foot set and desanded with novocaine — and the next day rode First Fiddle to victory in the Butler Handicap.

Even then this was his favorite saying: "You've got to keep trying."

The payoff has been sensational. Longden's mounts have won more

Yankees Release Rizzuto

NEW YORK, Aug. 25—UP—The New York Yankees gave veteran shortstop Phil Rizzuto his unconditional release Saturday to make room for veteran outfielder Enos (Country) Slaughter, acquired from the Kansas City Athletics.

Rizzuto was given his release so he could have an opportunity to obtain some other position in baseball, the Yankees announced. If he decides that he wishes to remain in the Yankees organization later, the Yankees said they would be happy to find "some place for him."

The 38-year-old Rizzuto, who has been with the Yankees since 1941, appeared in only 31 games for them this season, mostly as a part-time performer and had a .221 batting average. He appeared in nine World Series with the Yankees and in four All-Star games.

Long Way Around

Slaughter, who had a .282 batting average with the Athletics, returns to the Yankees, who acquired him originally from the St. Louis Cardinals for outfielders Bill Virdon and Emil Tullinger and pitcher Mel Wright, April 11, 1954. The 40-year-old outfielder was traded by the Yankees to Kansas City, May 11, 1955, and batted .315 in 118 games for the Athletics last season.

In return for Slaughter, the Yankees will turn over to the Athletics "a player on their present roster," at the conclusion of the current season.

The deal with Kansas City was made in an effort to reinforce the Yankees' left-handed pinch-hitting strength. Outfielder George Wilson was acquired for that purpose from the New York Giants earlier this week, but failed to impress Manager Casey Stengel in his three appearances at the plate.

Succeeded Crossett

Rizzuto, the popular five-foot-six "scooter" who succeeded Frank Crossett as the Yankees' regular shortstop in 1941, had a lifetime batting average of .273 with the Yankees and played in a total of 1,661 games for them. Never a particularly long-ball hitter, the ground-covering ability and his facility for getting the ball away quickly in the field.

He enjoyed his best year with little shortstop was famed for his American League's most valuable player. He lost his status as the club's No. 1 shortstop in 1954 when he finished with a .195 batting average and last year he saw service in only 81 games and wound up with a .259 average.

Rizzuto is known to be interested in a possible sports broadcasting job and reportedly is one among the number of candidates being considered as a broadcaster for the Baltimore Orioles' games next year.

At Kansas City, A's President Arnold Johnson said, "Slaughter's services to the Athletics were a major factor...and we did not want to deny him the opportunity to play in the 1956 World Series."

Thus, the veteran outfielder shot from the bottom to the top of the American League in one day. The Athletics are buried in last place while the Yankees are moving steadily towards another pennant.

Football Comes To Life In Texas Schools This Week

By UNITED PRESS

Football season comes to life on a grand scale in Texas during the coming week after a trio of all-star games involving last year's seniors whetted the appetites of players and fans alike.

Fall practice gets under way officially Monday in the state's Class AA, A, B and six-man schoolboy football divisions with the first scheduled games due Sept. 7.

This means that 731 football teams will hit the field for the first time — 163 of them in Class AA, 184 in Class A and the others in Class B and six-man sectors, which do not play through to state championships.

Practice will start next Friday for the Class AAAA and AAA teams, which are allowed spring drill sessions, with opening games in these divisions not due until Sept. 14.

There are 85 teams in Class AAAA and 86 in Class AAA under the new reorganization plan in effect this year enlarging those divisions from eight to 16 districts each. Classes AA, A and B each have 32 districts while there are 24 districts in the six-man division.

Only one defending state champion got caught up in the wholesale shifting of teams under the new alignment, Deer Park having moved up from Class A to AA. Champions Abilene in AAAA, Port Neches in AAA and Stamford in AA all will be around to

'Lippy' Steals The Show In Oldtimer Tiff

By MILTON RICHMAN
NEW YORK, Aug. 25—UP—Lippy Leo Durocher stole the show at the annual "old-timers game" at Yankee Stadium Saturday when he out-hit Joe DiMaggio and Charlie Keller and then argued his way back into the ball game after being kicked out by the plate umpire.

An estimated crowd of 55,000, witnessing a two-inning contest that brought on nostalgic memories and Charlie-horse to the participants, saw an old-time Yankee team defeat a similar White Sox crew, 4-1, in the prelude to the regularly-scheduled game between the Yankees and White Sox.

DiMaggio, as usual, drew the loudest ovation, but it was the effervescent Durocher who supplied the big blow of the game in the second inning when he blasted a pitch off Monte Stratton to the visiting team's bullpen, 402 feet from home plate.

Durocher, never known as a slugger during his active playing days with the Yankees, the Cardinals and the Dodgers, demonstrated he was still spry at 50 by racing all the way to third base on his long blast to left field. Umpire Al Shacht, however, ruled that the hit was a ground rule double since it almost rolled into the open bullpen.

Lippy Leo, whose run-in with umpires marked his managerial careers with both the Dodgers and Giants, then engaged in a lengthy harangue with Schacht as the crowd roared and urged the ump to "throw 'em out of the game."

Schacht finally did, motioning Durocher to the dugout with a grand gesture, but Leo refused to leave and talked to Schacht at such length that he finally relented and allowed Durocher to remain in the game, but insisted that he return to second base.

Southpaw Lefty Gomez started on the mound for the Yankees and was followed by two other former Yankee aces, Allie Reynolds and Spud Chandler. Keller singled home the winners' first two runs in the first inning and after DiMaggio drew a walk, Keller came around on Muddy Ruel's passed ball. Red Rolfe's single drove in another run.

The White Sox scored their only run in the second inning when Moe Berg doubled off Reynolds and came home on Jimmy Dykes' single.

ROSWELL —UP— The Pampa Oilers took the first of a four game, three night series from the Roswell Rockets by a 6-5 score, with a big four run second inning and two additional runs in the fourth Saturday night.

The Oilers outbatted the Roswell Rockets pecking attack which fell one short of a tie in the ninth inning. Single tallies in the first, third and seventh, with two runs in the ninth, left the Rockets on the short end of the series opener.

PANHANDLE OUTDOORS

By S. V. WHITEHORN
Attention Dove, Duck
and Goose Hunters

The Migratory Game Bird Protection from the Texas Game and Fish Commission, which lists the rules for hunting these birds, has just been received and the rules are submitted.

The mourning Dove season will start September 1 at 12 noon and will last until Oct. 17, both days inclusive. The shooting hours will be from 12 noon until sunset throughout the season. This means AFTERNOONS ONLY.

The daily bag limit is ten birds per day with a possession limit being ten. Shotguns are the only legal gun used to hunt these birds and the gun must not be larger than a ten gauge and be plugged to a three shell capacity. (Bows and arrows are also legal)

The season is not open in the following areas, State Game Preserves, statutory state wild life sanctuaries, and on PUBLIC ROADS AND HIGHWAYS.

Duck and Coot Season
The season opens November 2, and will last until Jan. 15, both shall be one-half hour before sunrise until sunset.

Geese: November 2 until December 31, both days inclusive, shooting hours the same as for ducks and coots.

Possession limits: The daily bag limits on ducks is five in the aggregate of all kinds, including in such limit not more than one wood duck and not more than one hooded merganser. Any person may possess not more than ten (10) ducks in the aggregate of all kinds, including not more than one wood duck and not more than one hooded merganser.

Possession limit on geese: The daily bag limit on geese and brant is five; provided that such limits shall not contain more than two Canada geese or its subspecies or two white-fronted geese, or one of each. Possession limit is one days kill.

P. D. Moseley, state game warden from Canadian, reports there are more bobwhite quail being killed on the highways than in many years. Moseley stated that he recently observed eight birds that had been killed by speeding motor vehicles between Canadian and Glazier, a distance of about ten miles.

The seemingly large quail crop will be good news to the boys of the Panhandle Bird-dog Assn, since the fall trial will be staged on the State Game Management Area in the same general vicinity. Quail are essential to insure the success of any bird dog field trial.

The trials will be staged the first week end in November. Very probably some of the top dogs of the southwest will show up. The Canadian Chamber of Commerce will arrange a building for the drawing which will be conducted Nov. 1, the night before the dogs are to be in competition.

W. O. "Joe" Rich, the owner of Rich's Steak at Canadian, has a separate dining room that is especially reserved for the field trial followers during the trials. Rich is Canadian's foremost bird dog fancier.

About one half of the handlers will be Panhandle members with a large representation from Oklahoma and South Texas.

Sibley Jines of Perryton has a few top canines that will be in the running plus Grover Seitz and Frank Koach from Pampa.

The Ochiltree County Fair was one of the best in years. Game Warden P. D. Moseley of that district had one of the outstanding exhibits which consisted of practically all types of wildlife native to the Panhandle area, including live fawn deer, beaver, wild turkeys, etc.

Michigan has an area of 58,218 square miles.

Julius Caesar, in B.C. 46, revised the calendar and made January the first month of the year.

Even baby electric eels, measuring eight to ten inches in length, are capable of generating as much as 120 volts of electricity.

The second-seeded Richardson beat Eltschaltz, 6-2, 6-0, and Snyder, 6-4, 6-4.

Vessels May Go Back To Canada

EDMONTON, Alta., Aug. 25 — UP — Billy Vessels of Oklahoma, who was chosen "player of the year" the only season he played Canadian professional football, may return to the Calgary Stampede, a sportscaster said Saturday.

Glenn Bjarnason, a Canadian said Calgary club officials were negotiating with the Baltimore Colts, with whom Vessels is under contract. Bjarnason said there appeared some doubt whether Vessels would make the Baltimore squad and might therefore be willing to spend another year in Canada.

Vessels played for the Edmonton Eskimos in 1953, spent two years in the U. S. armed forces, then signed with Baltimore. He previously spurned a proffered Colts contract to play here.

The second-seeded Richardson beat Eltschaltz, 6-2, 6-0, and Snyder, 6-4, 6-4.

Incidentally, nearby Duke University is worried that under Tatum's new guidance the Tarheels will run Duke right off the Dixie grid map. Duke alumni have started a muttering campaign against Marshall Epperson started for the losers but was relieved by Gaines in the second after giving up five hits good for three runs. Gaines gave up nine hits in seven innings but held the Oilers without another score as Carlsbad tied the game with two in the seventh and one in the eighth.

In the ninth, he weakened and allowed the two winning runs to score.

Monday's Mat Card

Dory Funk Returns To Pampa Wrestling Arena

Cowboy Dory Funk returns to Pampa tomorrow night, to highlight the regular weekly wrestling program at the air conditioned Top o' Texas Sportsman's Club. And they will probably have to have the blowers on full blast to keep the customers and the wrestlers cool, as the top card of the summer ushers in the fall wrestling season.

Funk, who lost in a bid for the World's Championship a couple weeks ago in Amarillo, will battle Hans Schnable, the husky German grappler, in a one-hour main event match. That match would normally be enough for any one card. But look at the rest of the program:

Bob Geigel vs. Tommy Phelps, 2-out of 3 falls, 45 minutes.
Bonnie Watson vs. Mars Bennett, one fall, 30 minutes.
Ricki Starr vs. Babe Zaharias, one fall, 20 minutes.

That's what we mean by the top card of the season.

The curvaceous, blonde Bonnie Watson, is a 23-year old dream girl who hails from West Union, W.Va. She is listed among the top five girl wrestlers in the world after but three years of preparation. Her opponent, from Detroit, Mich., for, the New York Giants.

Swaps Comes In Seventh

English-Bred Horse Wins Memorial

By ED SAINSBURY CHICAGO, Aug. 25-UP—Mahan, an English-bred entry of the Hasty House Farm, Saturday won the $50,000 Washington Park Arch Memorial, completely outdistancing the favored Swaps who wound up eighth in an eight horse field. The five-year-old colt edged out Sir Tribal by a nose after a whirlwind photo finish. Ahan, ridden by veteran Johnny Adam, pe/d $19 and $6.20. There was no show betting in the mile and three sixteenths grass race. Mahan's winning time of 1:55 was quite a distance from the American turf record of 1:54 1-5 set by Mister Gus for an equal distance earlier this year. Odds on Favorite Swaps, the odds-on favorite at 1-5, took an early lead but faltered at the eighth pole when Mahan and Sir Tribal make their challenge. It was only the second time in 17 races this year that Swaps lost and the first time in two years he finished below second. The win was worth $31,900 to Mahan, increasing his year's winnings to $57,425. Sir Tribal, ridden by Tony Skoronski and owned by Charles Fitz, gained $10,000 second-place money. Third place was captured by Prince Morvi, owned by Frank Rand Jr., and was worth $7,500. Bryn Takes Fourth Bryn, a stable-mate of Mahan and part of a combined Hasty House farm entry, grabbed fourth place worth $5,000. The betting heavily favored Swaps, with $85,334 of the $105,892 win pool being placed on the Rex Ellsworth colt ridden by Willie Shoemaker. "He just couldn't take to the grass. It was too soft," Shoemaker explained. "We had clear sailing but he labored all the way up the backstretch."

Texas Wins Oil Bowl Over Oklahoma

WICHITA FALLS, Tex. (UP)—American schoolboy Charles Milledale, quarterbacked a power-laden Texas team to a 27-0 victory over Oklahoma's All-Stars in the 12th annual Oil Bowl football game here Friday night. The Texas continued their domination of the series—the best Oklahoma has managed is a tie in the 11 previous games—before 30,000 fans at Midwestern Stadium with Milledale putting on a tremendous individual performance to win honors as the game's most valuable back. The 200-pound blond ace passed for 41 yards for touchdowns, and 21 yards for another and kicked a 21 yard field goal to lead the favored Texans team to its 11th victory. But if there was any doubt about whether the Texans would be able to outscore their rivals, a tremendous defense by the Lone Star State settled it. Two Oklahoma Threats Only twice was Oklahoma able to pose a real threat. Under the leadership of Oklahoma City Northwest Classen's Ronnie Hall, the Sooners drove to the Texas two in the third quarter before failing. A final period thrust got further than the eight. About the only bright spot in the game for Oklahoma was the outstanding play of center Jere Duran. The 195-pounder from Muskogee, was chosen the top lineman in the Shrine-sponsored contest. Milledale was not the only Texas star. Ed (Wahoo) McDaniel, of Midland and end Larry Ward, 60, of Nederland who took one of the touchdowns losses from Milledale, were outstanding for the Sooners. Dick Young, 160-pound quarterback from Sapulpa, and Tulsa's Roger's Bob Brumble were the only Sooners who could make a noticeable dent in the 200-pound Texas line. Defensive Stars Defensive standouts for the Texans were Jerry Graves, Big Spring center, and Burd Lauck, Wichita Falls tackle. Oklahoma's offensive bulwarks were Bobby Mack Moore, A.D., and Bob Schiltz, Tulsa Marquette guard. Bobby Boyd, Garland's triple-threat ace, set up the first touchdown when he intercepted David Cross' pass on the Oklahoma 35. Two plays later Milledale raced around right end for 21 yards and set up the extra point to make it 7-0. After Milledale added a second-quarter field goal, Henry Colwell of Abilene capped a 55-yard drive with a touchdown plunge from the five to make it 16-0 at halftime. Milledale hit Larry Watler of Fort Arthur with a TD pass midway in the third period and James Shillingburg of Kermit made the first of three conversions. Boyd scored on a two-yard thrust in the final quarter, and Ward gathered in a Milledale aerial for the final touchdown. Score by periods: Texas 7-0-7-14-37 Oklahoma 0-0-0-0-0 Scoring: Touchdowns: Milledale 21, run; Boyd (2, plunge); Colwell (5, run) Watler (27, pass from Milledale); Ward (41, pass from Milledale). Field Goals: Milledale (21); Extra points: Milledale, Shillingburg 3.

'Pretty Good' Dove Hunting Is Predicted

AUSTIN Aug. 25-UP—A wildlife expert predicted Saturday Texas sportsmen should find "pretty good" hunting when the north zone mourning dove season opens at noon next Saturday. But Howard Dodgen, executive secretary of the Texas Game and Fish Commission, warned that—except for scattered areas favored by both food and water—general prospects are "rather mediocre." "Our field men agree that there probably will be tremendous concentrations of doves around tanks still containing water, especially if there is feed nearby," Dodgen said. However, he pointed out this condition will "work a hardship on the bulk of the hunters" since the birds will not be scattered enough to accommodate the sportsmen in the field. Substantial general rainfall, Dodgen continued, could relieve the situation by dispersing the birds. The south zone season opens Oct. 12. Dodgen suggested hunters keep "a few routine things" in mind, specifically: Hunting is from 12 o'clock noon until sunset. Daily and possession limits call for 10 doves. Danger from fires, because of the drought, is "very high." Permission should be obtained from landowners at all times. Game should be promptly drawn to avoid spoilage from heat. Great care should be taken not to shoot in the vicinity of field workers or livestock. Texans may hunt doves in their home county without the usual $2.15 hunting license. Persons over 65 or under 17 do not need a dove hunting license. Guns must be plugged to restrict the shell content to three. Hunting on public roads is illegal. Mourning doves are migratory birds. Consequently, the laws are enforced by both state and federal authorities.

Wilkinson Not Singing The Blues

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UP)—For the first time in his 10 years coaching at Oklahoma, Charles (Bud) Wilkinson isn't singing the blues this year. He's not overly optimistic, but said, "If we can get by North Carolina in our opener, we probably will have a pretty good season." In the same breath, he remembered the Sooners play Notre Dame in a nationally televised game Oct. 27, but said, "We always have to play our games as they come, and Notre Dame is quite a ways down the list." His biggest worry, he said at a meeting of Big Seven coaches Friday, is rebuilding the left side of his line. The starters there, end Joe Mobra, tackle Cal Woodworth and guard Bo Bolinger, graduated. "And the left side of the line is the most important, defensively," Wilkinson said, "because the opposing teams run about seven out of every nine plays against our left side." Wilkinson said he was concentrating almost entirely on defense this fall. "If the other team does not score, you can't lose," but probably will come up with some new offensive plays to keep opposing teams from getting set against the Oklahoma plays. He said he would continue to use his phenomenal "fast break" style at times. The fast break, shown to the nation on television against Maryland in the Orange Bowl Jan. 2, consisted of the Oklahoma players running to the huddle for signals and getting off a new play before Maryland was ready to play again.

Take the bat from Mickey Mantle's hands and you still have a crack ballplayer. His outfielding, left after touches on the spectacular. Nobody has better speed going to first center. In this one, Kansas City's Vic Power held the ball in time to make the tag, but Mantle's burst shot him safely past the first baseman. And runners held up sharply when Mantle fires the ball from the outfield. Of course, he can hit a little, too.

Don January Takes Lead In St. Paul Open

By BOB KLAVERKAMP ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 25-UP—Don January, a tall-easy going Texan, blistered the Keller golf course again Saturday with a three-under-par 69 to take a two-stroke lead at the three-quarter mark in the $20,000 St. Paul Open. January of Lampasas, Tex., had a 54-hole total of 202, 14 strokes under par. The soft-spoken 27-year-old who is playing his first year of professional golf sank three birdies and an eagle to move two strokes ahead of big Paul Harney of Bolton, Mass., Bill Nary of Wayne, Mich., and little Jerry Barber of Los Angeles. One Stroke Ahead He was one stroke ahead of Barber at the halfway mark. January got his eagle on the par five, 510-yard 12th hole when he drove his second two iron shot to within three feet of the cup. January bogged two holes on the back nine, the 11th and 15th. He hit a trap on the 15th hole and took two to get down on the par three hole. Harney jumped back into contention for the $4,000 first prize money with one of the day's best rounds, an eight-under-par 64. The long ball hitting youngster from the East Coast birdied five holes on the front nine to shoot his best round of the tourney. He had a 73 and 67 the first two days. Barber, golf's little guy at five-foot five-inches, soared to a 70 after opening rounds of 88 and 79. He came within two inches of sinking putts twice on the back nine for birdies. Nary 41, way down in the 40th spot among the leading money winners this year, hit a 64, six under par, to move into contention for a crown he has never won. Snead said "I played bad golf. I seemed to do everything wrong." He missed a four-foot putt on the fourth hole and had trouble getting the putts under 10 feet that would have put him farther up among the leaders.

Mantle Gets 44th Homer As Yankees Fall To White Sox

NEW YORK, Aug. 25-UP—Mickey Mantle smashed his 44th homer with one on in the fourth inning but committed a seventh-inning error that enabled the Chicago White Sox to score the deciding run in a 4-2 victory over the league-leading New York Yankees. Mantle's homer, which kept him four games ahead of Babe Ruth's record pace, followed a double by Gil McDougald and gave Whitey Ford a 2-0 lead. Right-handed Dick Donovan, however, limited the Yankees to only three hits thereafter to gain his eighth victory against seven defeats. Donovan gave up six hits in all and struck out four. Ford, who had beaten Chicago five times previously this season, blanketed the White Sox until the sixth when they scored their first run on singles by Nellie Fox and Larry Doby and a sacrifice fly by Minnie Miñoso. With two out in the seventh, Fred Hatfield walked and moved to second on Donovan's infield single. Luis Aparicio then singled to center, scoring Hatfield, and Donovan also came home with what proved to be the winning run when Mantle's throw went wild and rolled into the White Sox dugout. Ford, who absorbed his fifth loss against 14 victories, yielded another run in the eighth on a single by Doby, an infield out and Sherm Lollar's single to left.

four innings as he made his lone start of the season in Boston. He threw a three-run home run pitch to Gernert in the first inning and was charged with five of the Red Sox runs. When Score fanned his starting pitcher rival Dave Sisler in the second inning, it was Herb's 200th strikeout of the season. He added two more before departing for a pinch hitter. Nats Trip A's WASHINGTON, Aug. 25-UP—Roy Sievers set a new Washington club record for home runs in one season Saturday when he hit his 26th as the Senators defeated the Kansas City Athletics, 8-4. Sievers set the previous mark of 25 last season. Jim Lemon also contributed a homer, his 23rd, as the Senators drove Art Ditmar out after four innings. Ditmar was hurt by three errors in the third when the Senators scored five runs, three unearned. Kansas City got 11 hits off Camilo Pascual who breezed to his sixth victory of the season. Pascual fanned five to boost his total to 136, the highest for a Washington pitcher in 20 years. Washington scored a run in the first when Eddie Yost walked and went all the way home on Herb Fiews' double. Cards Defeat Bucs ST. LOUIS, Aug. 25-UP—The St. Louis Cardinals scored four unearned runs in the seventh inning Saturday to come from behind and defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates 8-5, gaining a sweep of the four-game series. It was the eighth straight loss for Pittsburgh. The Pirates jumped on Herman Wehmer for five runs in the first two innings, but Lindy McDaniel, Bob Blaylock and Larry Jackson held the Pirates to five hits from then on. Blaylock was rewarded with his first major league victory and Vernon Law suffered his 14th defeat. The Cardinals' break came in the seventh inning when Bill Mazeroski fumbled a grounder by Don Blasingame. Alvin Dark doubled to left center, scoring Blasingame with the tying run. Stan Musial was handed an intentional walk and Wally Moon doubled to drive in both Dark and Musial. Dick Hall relieved Law and after an intentional walk to Rocky Nelson, Ken Boyer singled to score Moon. Braves Tumble MILWAUKEE, Aug. 25-UP—Bob Miller, a relief pitcher making his third start of the season, held the league-leaders to two hits Saturday to give the Philadelphia Phillies a 3-0 victory over the Milwaukee Braves. The big righthander had a no-hitter until the fifth inning when Bobby Thomson singled sharply to center. Johnny Logan got Milwaukee's second hit in the ninth. Only three other Braves got on base and only two as far as second. Danny O'Connell was hit by a pitched ball after two were out in the sixth and advanced to second when Johnny Logan was safe on Willie Jones' error. Hank Aaron popped out to end the inning. It was Miller's second win of the season and his first complete game. Lew Burdette, who gave up only four hits in a bid for his 17th victory, got the loss. Hooker Phillips Dies WAYNESBURG, Pa., Aug. 25-UP—Joe (Hooker) Phillips, 73, former professional baseball pitcher and minor league manager, died at his home Saturday of a heart ailment. After an unsuccessful try at the majors, he played for many years with teams in several minor leagues, including the Texas League. St. Louis Wins Title ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UP)—The St. Louis won the National American Baseball Federation Junior championship Saturday with a 9-1 victory over Cincinnati. St. Louis' record in the tournament was 8-0.

Woman Track Star Sets Two U. S. Records

By GAYLORD P. GODWIN WASHINGTON, Aug. 25-UP—Earlene Brown, who has been a practicing athlete only 3 1/2 months, set two American records Saturday in winning a place on the American women's Olympic track and field team. Mrs. Brown, 21, far from a finished track performer, used sheer power to throw the discus 145 feet 4 1/2 inches and the shot 46 feet 9 1/2 inches. She used the 226 lbs. of muscle on her 5-foot-seven-inch frame to send the weights to record shattering distances. Mrs. Brown eclipsed Pamela Kurrell's record of 140 feet 11 inches in the discus and her own week-old record mark of 45 feet for the shot. Other American records set in the final tryouts for the U.S. Olympic women's team were in the broad jump and the 200 meter dash around a turn. Margaret Matthews, Tennessee State University, leaped 18 feet 5 1/4 inches to eclipse the record of 18 feet 4 inches set by Margaret Jackson, also of Tennessee State. Mae Faggs, who was a member of the Olympic team in 1948 and 1952, raced to an "around the turn" record of 24.2 seconds in the 200 meter. Join as Team Members Miss Faggs and Miss Matthews joined Mrs. Brown as members of the team which will go to Australia next Nov. 6 to compete in the Olympic games at Melbourne Nov. 22-Dec. 8. However, Stella Walsh, 45, failed to make the team as she finished third in a trial heat of the 200 meter dash. Stella, holder of eight gold and three silver medals for feats in five international games, was beaten by Lucina Williams of Tennessee State University and Elizabeth McDonnell of Boston. America's most famous woman track star had announced that if she failed to make the team she would conclude her brilliant six-year career of running, javelin tossing, and broad jumping.

Kiner Says Mantle Won't Set Record

By ALBERT W. WIESE United Press Sports Writer SAN DIEGO (UP)—Ralph Kiner, who twice hit more than 80 home runs during a season, does not think Mickey Mantle of the Yankees will shatter Babe Ruth's record of 60. Kiner thinks that end-of-the-season pressure will keep him from achieving that goal. And, of course, those opposition pitchers won't be giving any help either. "My prediction is that he will not top the Babe's record," said the former Pittsburgh Pirates fence-buster, who now is general manager of the San Diego Padres of the Pacific Coast League. Kiner said he thinks anyone who does wipe out Babe's record will have to be far ahead of the Babe's pace going into the last month of the season. "If Mantle keeps up the present pace, he won't make it," Kiner stressed. However, Kiner said he believes Mantle will be the one to shatter the home run record if anyone ever does. "I've always believed that if and when Ruth's record is broken, the chances are a left-handed hitter will do it," Kiner said. "And the fellow who finally does it will make a million dollars," he added smilingly. Kiner knows well what Mantle faces because he has been through the same. In 1947 he blasted 51 homers for the Pirates and two years later he hit 54, his high in the major leagues. "Kiner hit 16 home runs during the last month of 1949 but still missed tying Ruth's record by six. "That was a trying year," he recalled. "I remember I didn't hit any homers the last four or five days because the pressure was so terrific." Maybe Next Year Several times early in the season Kiner was ahead of Ruth's pace but he never was in front of the clip with a month to go. "Sure, I was trying my hardest to beat the record," he said, "but the pitchers don't always cooperate with you." Kiner said he is sure Mantle will find the pitchers will pitch less and less to him, just as they did to Ralph himself in 1949. "The pressure keeps building up in the last month," Kiner said. "Requests of the press, newswire and television cammen are a constant reminder of how close you are coming to the record. "Naturally, the mental strain is hard on the slugger. It grows as the season's end closes in." Kiner said he believes Mantle would have a much better chance to hit 60 homers if he did not have the Babe's record to beat. "Let me tell you, you're always reminded of the record, putting the pressure on even more. I wish Micky luck. Maybe he can do it in another season."

Woman Track Star Sets Two U. S. Records

By GAYLORD P. GODWIN WASHINGTON, Aug. 25-UP—Earlene Brown, who has been a practicing athlete only 3 1/2 months, set two American records Saturday in winning a place on the American women's Olympic track and field team. Mrs. Brown, 21, far from a finished track performer, used sheer power to throw the discus 145 feet 4 1/2 inches and the shot 46 feet 9 1/2 inches. She used the 226 lbs. of muscle on her 5-foot-seven-inch frame to send the weights to record shattering distances. Mrs. Brown eclipsed Pamela Kurrell's record of 140 feet 11 inches in the discus and her own week-old record mark of 45 feet for the shot. Other American records set in the final tryouts for the U.S. Olympic women's team were in the broad jump and the 200 meter dash around a turn. Margaret Matthews, Tennessee State University, leaped 18 feet 5 1/4 inches to eclipse the record of 18 feet 4 inches set by Margaret Jackson, also of Tennessee State. Brown, Smith Set Return Match

NEW ORLEANS (UP)—Promoters J. T. Owen and Bonnie Geigerman started negotiations today for a return lightweight title fight in October between newly-crowned champion Joey Brown and Wallace (Bud) Smith at the auditorium here. Brown of New Orleans and Smith of Cincinnati drew 7,201 fans and $48,900 for Friday night's television-radio 15-rounder in which lanky Joey won the 135-pound crown on a split decision after flooring Bud twice. The new champion had x-rays at Touro Infirmary today to see whether the hand was fractured. He said he hurt it in the second round. At the hospital, Dr. L. T. Taylor said x-rays disclosed a fracture of a small bone near the wrist in the right hand and that it apparently would keep the champion out of action for about six weeks.

Wide Open Convention Is Postponed By Republicans

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
SAN FRANCISCO (UP)—Win or lose the presidential election, the Republicans have postponed their wide-open national convention until 1960.

President Eisenhower, if re-elected, is barred by the 22nd Amendment from succeeding himself. The political writers of 1960 will be writing of Nixon and Knowland and Dewey if Mr. Eisenhower serves a full second term.

That's a long look ahead with the 1956 convention just extinguished in the last showdown. The look is not too long, however, because in this election year there isn't any Republican party in the sense of a nationally established competitive major political organization.

The Republican party is a man named Eisenhower without whom it might as well save its campaign money this year for a rainy day. That probably is the most significant political fact of 1956. The conservative or Taft element of the Republican party is leaderless unless you count Vice President Richard M. Nixon. Count him or not, Nixon was renominated here only with Mr. Eisenhower's by-your-leave.

Ike's Position Recalls FDR's
The President could have had anyone he liked on the ticket with him, including a woman or Harold E. Stassen, if he'd given the word. Franklin D. Roosevelt was in the same position 20 years ago on his renomination for a second term. The elements which support-ferent as the shape of snow flakes, but as one in their devotion to a winner.

Mr. Roosevelt moved on in his second term to re-shape the Democratic party in form resented or hated by the conservatives who called themselves Democrats. Mr. Eisenhower may have a chance to do likewise with the Republican party in the next four years. The parallel ends there, however, because FDR could carry on with a third term and a fourth whereas Mr. Eisenhower cannot aspire to more than eight White House years. If re-elected, Mr. Eisenhower will be confronted with a choice far more important than that for second place on his 1956 ticket. That will be the choice of his successor. He need not make it, and if he doesn't, there would be an open convention, in fact. He will be under tremendous pressure, however, to pick a man, especially pressure from the various men who already are committed to his re-election with sturdy hopes to succeed him.

Convention Lacked Enthusiasm
The convention just adjourned here functioned slick as hair oil. No bobbles, bolts or booby traps. There was mighty little real enthusiasm, however, perhaps because the show was over before it began. On the presidential roll call Wednesday, Mr. Eisenhower became the Republican nominee with the casting of Nevada's delegate votes. The Nevada vote might as well have been cast for a resolution thanking the leader of the convention band for all the attention it obtained. But it gave the President a mathematical majority of 665 votes and was the point at which the United Press flashed the re-nomination. Democratic delegates and nominees came out of their Chicago convention after a good limbering work-out in a healthy sweat. They are ready to go, and Stevenson almost immediately will be going. Short of money though they be and heckled by political jitters in the South, the Democrats already are conditioned for the campaign to come.

State Of Complacency
Republicans are cool and complacent. Someone — and it will have to be Mr. Eisenhower and Nixon—must lift their campaign off the floor and get it going. The 1956 Stevenson-Kefauver ticket is no pushover like the Stevenson-Sparkman ticket of 1952 which won a handful of states and only 89 electoral votes. The Stevenson campaign organization four years ago was more amateur than professional. The boss politicians were excluded and the word agghad took on new meaning. It won't be that way again. Sparkman couldn't even hold his own South in 1952. Kefauver will give the Republicans trouble this year in the farm states where they want it least.

It is true that there is a money-jingle in the voters pockets and farm prices have improved and it would seem that Mr. E has this

Jacoby On Bridge

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service
Some experts would bid five hearts with the North hand on the first round of bidding. When North passed and later bid six diamonds, South properly assumed that North had more than one top diamond and was willing to hear a grand slam. If North had been interested only in a small slam he could have bid six hearts without mentioning the diamond at all.

West opened the king of spades, and South ruffed with an honor. He entered dummy with a trump, ruffed another spade with an honor, got back to dummy with another trump, and ruffed a third spade. If trump had broken 2-2, the grand slam would have been easy, but South was able to cope with the 3-1 break. He got to dummy with the king of diamonds and ruffed dummy's last spade with his own last trump. He then got to dummy with the ace of diamonds and led the ten of hearts to draw East's last trump. In this trick, remarkable as it seems, South discarded his losing diamond!

Declarer then took the last four tricks with high clubs, fulfilling his grand-slam contract.

West was gracious enough to compliment South on his fine play of the hand, but West was also acute enough to moan about his own opening lead. If West had led any suit but spades, the grand slam would have gone down. South had to ruff four spades as part of his plan, and he could not do this without an opening spade lead by West.

Peg O' Pampa

THIS HAS BEEN ONE OF THOSE WEEKS when it has seemed impossible to accomplish anything . . . we all have them . . . weeks, or maybe just a day, when all we do is work and yet at the end nothing has been finished that we set out to do . . . the old cliché of the "spinning wheels" . . . also, Peg cannot pretend this week to know all that has been going on in Pampa . . . as we said, it was one of "those weeks!"

A man's fear, unconquered, conquers him, in whatever direction.
—Mary Baker Eddy

THAT SUMMER IS NOT OVER YET was proved one day not so long ago at a coffee . . . it all began when the enterprising hostesses met the first of the guests . . . and as the morning passed (delightfully, we might add) it became clear that cool summer clothes were the "thing" . . . Peg noted that people were being sensible about the weather in spite of all the new Fall clothes they could have worn . . . there is a tendency to get excited and rush the Fall season . . . getting into it before Labor Day . . . especially at a party.

CHANGING TIMES: Women are rising up in revolt . . . they are invading one of the few remaining domains that the men think they have left as their special reward for being men . . . the "fishing trip" . . . Peg has heard it being discussed around town . . . and being done around town . . . women are deciding that if their men can go off for a long weekend, or a week that they can, too . . . their fishing is with different bait . . . and with different "fish" in mind . . . but the result is the same . . . an excuse for a short vacation . . . a visit to an interesting city such as Taos or Santa Fe or New Orleans . . . or to a shopping Mecca such as Dallas or Oklahoma City or Denver . . . or just a nice lake, or a houseparty with friends . . . in a way we feel almost sorry for the men . . . first voting, then working . . . then politics . . . then to owning most of the nation's stocks and bonds . . . then to careers in all sorts of businesses formerly reserved for men . . . then to all types of sports . . . and at long last to the fishing trips . . . in the words of the immortals, "where will it all end?"

THE NEW ROLE OF WOMEN was demonstrated forcefully and on a nationwide scale by the recent conventions of the political parties . . . Peg watched both of them, and reports that the men are having a battle to remain the leaders . . . as usual . . . and did you notice that there were very few hats? . . . Peg noted it with glee . . . hats are a nuisance . . . if the conventions seemed confused, ridiculous sometimes, bombastic . . . and perhaps not a credit to the United States, you must stop and think a minute . . . the important thing is that they succeed in their purposes . . . we don't mean the obvious ones of the nominations . . . we mean the sense that they are the most effective way to focus the attention of everyone on political matters of great importance . . . every four years there is a chance to re-evaluate our thinking . . . the platforms may cause arguments . . . as may the candidates . . . but argument is far better than indifference!

ALONG THESE SAME LINES OF THOUGHT, the August issue of House Beautiful magazine highlights a new attitude of women toward "homework" . . . it has developed since the war, and is a very welcome trend toward emphasizing the creative aspects of keeping house and husband and children running . . . one reason the household arts are receiving more attention from women is that they have won their argument that they are individuals and can have a career, or do whatever they want, so they are choosing more and more to stay at home and enjoy flower arranging, or sewing, or cooking, or gardening, or knitting and crocheting . . . making each one contribute toward a richer life . . . there are many women in Pampa who fit this description . . . Mrs. Al Curry . . . Mrs. A. D. Hills . . . Sandy Williams . . . Ann Kelly . . . and many others.

GOING ON in town . . . the household of Elaine and Bert Pemberton is a joyful place lately . . . Judy, who has been in a cast for about two years, has been released from it and is going back to school this Fall . . . we are still happy for her . . . we hear that Inez Carter, Nina Spoonmore, Jay Flanagan, Floy Heath, and Flossie Anderson, having won some sort of Chamber of Commerce prize recently, (they were a "membership team"), were in Raton as special guests of the Racing Club . . . they sat in the president's box and had a marvelous time! . . . Mrs. L. B. Paden and her daughter were in Houston and Galveston and were to see Rogers and Hammerstein's "Oklahoma!" . . . Mr. and Mrs. John Lantz of Lefors are home after fishing at Ken Miller Lake near Tahlequah, Oklahoma . . . they visited in many other places, too . . . seeing friends and relatives . . . including some former Pampans . . . Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Williamson (who moved to Farmington, New Mexico, this spring), and Mr. and Mrs. Tom Cotton . . . sounds like a very nice trip . . . hear that some young fellows went on an automobile trip all by themselves for the first time . . . an exciting event . . . Gary Dockery and Jimmy Gardner, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Dockery and of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gardner . . . destination Corsicana and Dallas at least . . . Nancy and Bill Gablemann, and Gene and Madeline Haynes were rained upon lots and sunned upon, too, in Wisconsin . . . they finished and basked in the sun . . . Pat and "Hoby" Hobbs were on a vacation recently, too . . . it is moving daze for the Syperets and the Donaldsons . . . Audrey and Paul Tabor were in town recently from Amarillo to attend a big "potlatch" with members of the Paint, Pot, and Piddle Club . . . yep, the club is still doing interesting things . . . (incidentally, a "potlatch" is an Indian name for a big feast) . . . glad to welcome Elmer Stinson as band director for the Pampa band group . . . he will do a good job at it . . . so the week closes.

SOME PLACE TO GO FOR A SUNDAY DRIVE will soon be the Borger highway . . . have you been out to see how the workers are getting that awful stretch just west of Pampa all nice and wide and smooth? It is going to be a relief to have it finished, and will help traffic considerably . . . Now let's have a "go" at the underpass at the Hobart street crossing.

HOW ABOUT THIS FOR WISEFUL THINKING? "Children generally hate to be idle. All the care then should be, that their busy humor should be constantly employed in something that is of use to them." John Locke said this . . . but then, he was born in 1632, poor thing . . . he didn't have to cope with TV.

GOOD THINGS TO HEAR ABOUT: Mr. and Mrs. George Dillman, Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Kretzmeier, Mr. and Mrs. Toni Wadell . . . gave a Youth Dance the other evening in the Parish Hall . . . they invited about 200 young people, and everyone had a grand time . . . encouraging things like this is the way to combat boredom in our teenagers.

TENNIS ENTHUSIASTS . . . have you seen and used the brand-new surfaces on the city park courts? . . . there is a new net, also, and the fences have been put in top shape . . . this is just in time for the best time of the year to indulge in the game . . . the Fall, with its cool and refreshing days, when it is a joy to be outdoors.

INTERESTING THINGS PAMPANS ARE DOING DEPARTMENT (No. 2): Mr. and Mrs. Joe Lewis and granddaughter Grazia Lewis just returned from Denver, where they attended the performance of the San Francisco Ballet at Red Rocks amphitheater . . . another granddaughter, Louise Lawler, whom many will remember when she was studying in Pampa, is a soloist with the company which has just completed a tour in the East, including New York, Maine and Massachusetts . . . the first of the year the company will go on a government sponsored tour of the Orient, visiting eleven different countries . . . wonderful opportunities open to the talented nowadays!

THAT'S ALL FOR THIS WEEK, but Peg leaves you with these tidbits: why don't they plot a movie in which the captain of a ship or the president of a large industry are NOT the loneliest men in the world . . . and why don't they have a Western movie in which the badmen shoot the good-men and the Indians come out winners in the contest . . . and another movie in which there is an unmarried woman who is completely happy with her life, and not man-crazy? Moll these over in your spare moments this week.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
In the back yard Joel was excitedly demonstrating his climbing prowess to Gus, a friend. Ordinarily his raised voice doesn't bother his baby sister. But this morning prickly heat made her fretful. When Joel kept yelling at Gus to admire him, she awoke — and a wail went up from her carriage.

Running to her, Joel's mother said to him, "If you'll take Gus to the front yard to play, I'll give you both candy cigars."

She kept her word. As soon as baby sister had subsided, she gave the boys their candy. But she did not say, "Thank you, Joel. You were a great help to me just now."

By this omission, she drew Joel's entire attention to the candy she was giving him and left none for the helpfulness he had given her.

That is why the phrase, "If you give me this, I'll give you that," is a bad one for parents to use to children.

Recently this column defined a responsible child as one who respects his own helpfulness. Since then, many parents have written me asking, "How do you make a child respect his own helpfulness?"

By never missing a chance to direct his attention to evidence of it.

The phrase "I'll give you this if you give me that" destroys responsibility in children. By directing all their respect to our rewards of candy, new bikes and dollar bills, it betrays our own unconscious contempt for the helpfulness that produced the rewards.

Exposed to this contempt, children soon learn to depreciate their helpfulness, too — and are unable to exert any.

If irresponsibility seems our child's problem, the question to ask ourselves is, "Do I rate material things over the other kind?"

Joel's mother does. Though she's old enough to know better, she shares his five-year-old belief that a money-bought candy is a better gift than a little boy's helpfulness. So firmly does she share Joel's infantile value that she couldn't even see his gift.

There's nothing anyone can do for her until she recovers from her confusion. When she grows up to the point where she respects human helpfulness above candy, Joel can begin to respect it, too. Until that time, like other irresponsible children he may be doomed to despise his giving because it's not the material kind his mother esteems.

Children have no money for material giving. Unless we are old enough to respect the other kind, we make irresponsible paupers of them.

Hoe Down

By MRS. VERN SAVAGE
Pampa Garden Club

You might like to hear just how part of one week-day was spent — a day during which the season was just right, the soil in perfect condition, the sun shining and a light breeze blowing, not too cool or too hot.

Iris was planted in uneven numbers and in groups. The soil had previously been prepared in a sunny location. The roots were planted just below the surface and the rhizome at the surface. Then a complete plant food was worked into the soil, which was watered thoroughly, but gently, so as not to disturb the soil around the roots.

In the center of one color group was planted Pagan Princess, a deep pink to deep rose. The companion Iris in this group was Ruffled Organdy, the color of which is described as ivory cream with a light gold border. Its pedigree indicates a 42-inch stalk, a five-day branching habit and up to 23 buds.

Into another group, Pink Lace was planted. This is said to be among the best flamingo pinks and is a fall bloomer as well as spring. The color of Pink Lace is salmon pink with a tangerine beard. Strathmore, which is a clear, light pink, was used in combination with this group. Jane Phillips, a clear light blue, was used in the center of this group. Many experts believe this to be as near a true blue as is available at this time.

The final group include Argus Pheasant, a golden brown, with Moon Light Madonna, a yellow, as its companion.

Now with an occasional watering, all that remains to be done is to wait for spring when the magnificent colors will unfold.

A gardener gazed at his goodly rows of freshly blooming flowers. His thoughts ascended beyond Earth's woes.

Forgotten were weary hours. As he saw in a seedling Iris bed a marvel of gold and white. In size, in beauty and grace it led.

In very point — delight. The gardener nurtured his faultless Prize, Reward of a patient toil As fair as the wings of butterflies Or a masterpiece in oil.

He sensed the charm of this Ruffled gem Would spread to other shores, Inspiring you as it gladdened him — So he named it "Truly Yours."

RUTH MILLET

We talk about taking vacations to "get away from it all." But one of the best things about a vacation is "coming back to it all."

Getting back to the old routines that give stability and purpose to living.

Getting back to friends, eager to share our vacation experiences with those who are fond enough of us to listen with a show of real interest to all we are eager to tell.

Getting back to our own town, the place where we never feel like strangers.

Getting back to our plans and dreams and ambitions, left behind us when we started out so eagerly to "get away from it all."

Getting back to unsolved problems, which don't seem quite too big any more and which we are now ready to tackle anew, feeling strong with the thought that we are equal to them, whatever they are.

Getting back to the responsibilities that make us feel important and needed.

Getting back to all the unfinished business of our lives, the jobs left waiting until we returned to be completed.

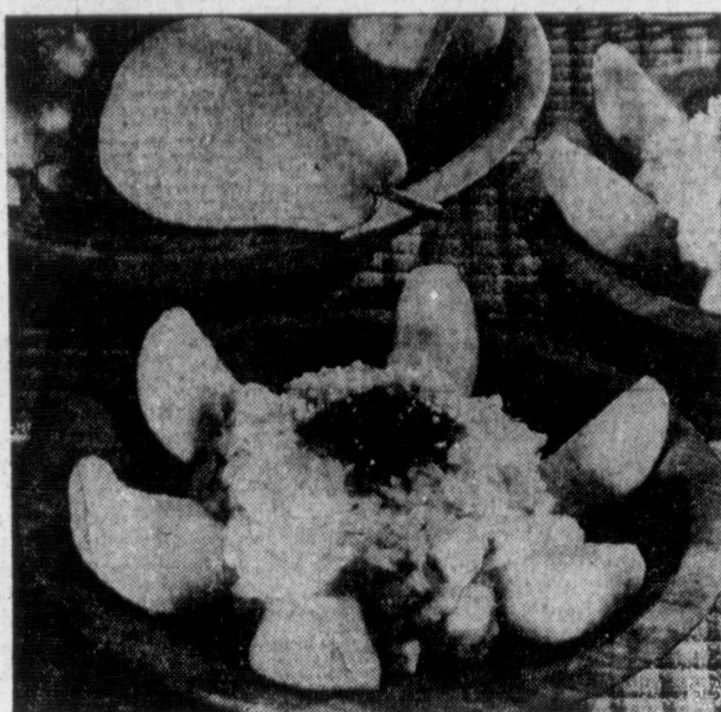

Getting back to habits and comforts and conveniences with a new appreciation for what they mean to us.

Getting back to our homes which never looked so inviting, so down right homelike as after a spell of being away from them and living in strange places.

So there are really two reasons for a vacation and one is just as important as the other — "getting away from it all" and "getting back to it all."

If we don't relish getting back as much as getting away, then there is something more seriously wrong with our lives than any vacation could cure.

BLAND, TENDER Bartlett pears glorify this California luncheon salad, kind to the waistline.

COOK'S NOOK

Fresh Luncheon Salad Pleases Diet-Conscious

By GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Food and Markets Editor in San Francisco, where women are very trim and handsome, we learned about this luncheon salad. It's a satisfying answer to the diet-conscious. It originated in the Bartlett pear region.

Luncheon Salad To make, just mix diced banana with cottage cheese (plus a few chopped nuts). Heap that protein-rich cheese in bowls, then sprinkle with grated Cheddar cheese for color and for more good eating. Around the edge of the cheese stand lengthwise slices of chilled fresh California Bartlett pears, to resemble petals of a bit flower.

Further south, from Italian friends who own a vineyard, we learned about this salad. Wonderful!

Tossed Green Italian Salad

One clove garlic, 3 quarts salad greens, washed, drained and chilled, 1 cucumber, sliced, 1 teaspoon salt, black pepper, freshly ground, two teaspoons sugar, dash Worcestershire sauce, 1/2 cup olive oil, 5 tablespoons fresh lemon juice, 1 bunch green onions, 3 or 4 radishes, thinly sliced, grated Parmesan cheese, if desired.

Rub salad bowl with cut clove of garlic. Tear greens into bite-size pieces and place in bowl. Add

Every now and then, your closets (and the clothes in them) need an airing. Most efficient way to do this is to open the closet door, place an electric fan in the open door and let it blow out the stale air.

Little girls will wear dark cottons back to school this fall. And their No. 1 color? Brown mixed with a vivid color such as turquoise.

MAKE YOUR KITCHEN LIVABLE

Big kitchens are back in style! Not the old-fashioned, large kitchen with its spread-out work areas that necessitated endless retracing of steps, but a room keynoted by efficiency, equipped with all the new modern labor-saving devices, with work areas planned with watch-maker precision. And that's not all!

Today's new kitchen is truly a living-kitchen. There's space for eating, lounging, games, parties (for the young, and the young in heart) for all kinds of family fun, and for informal entertaining.

Moreover, these rooms are decorated with charm and beauty that gives them a distinctiveness and an individuality all their own. The sketch above shows the dining portion of a large kitchen. The maple furniture combines practicality with beauty and nostalgic charm — lives happily with the walls of natural knotty pine. Shutters (finished to match the maple furniture) have been used

Cotton tweed has the rough attractive texture of wool tweed, but is more comfortable for spring and summer. Cotton tweeds come in dark colors that combine well with velvet or velveteen.

Blue jeans are not for any woman beyond teen age. After that, it's well-fitted slacks, Bermuda shorts or tapered pants if you want to look well. And if you've a hip problem, stay away even from these.

One of the small, nagging tasks every woman has to handle each week is the lingerie laundering. Best way to do it is to divide it into groups: dark things one evening, stockings another evening, white things and pastels a third evening. And white cotton gloves take a lot of scrubbing so reserve half an hour on a fourth evening or them. It's either splitting it this way or facing a mountain of lingerie Saturday morning.

ROW SEEDER — Shown above is the row seeder owned by the Gray County Soil Conservation District which is available to cooperators in the district for use in planting cover crops.

GRAY COUNTY
Soil Conservation District News

Experimental evidence supports the conclusion that the soil is most susceptible to erosion when fields are bare of vegetation. It also indicates that soils low in organic matter or of low fertility are more easily eroded than those high in organic matter and humus. Further, evidence shows that except on very gentle slopes losses by water erosion are certain to occur if the soil is not held by a ground cover.

Any crop while serving as a solid ground cover, is a cover crop. The principal advantages of a cover crop may be summarized briefly as follows: reduces runoff of rain and thus conserves moisture; prevents excessive erosion of soil; improves the soil tilth by the addition of organic matter to the soil; prevents the leaching of available plant nutrients especially nitrate nitrogen. When disked or shredded on the surface forms organic acids or other compounds, which aid to the liberation of mineral plant nutrients; may provide late fall, winter, and early spring pasture. Increases yield of regular farm crops, increases the water absorbing capacity and the infiltration of water into the soil.

The seeding and growing of cover crops is an imitation of nature's method of holding the soil. As the natural soil forming agencies progressed thru the ages, nature always protected her handwork with a varied vegetative blanket. Man cannot disregard this plan and ignore the fundamental principles of soil building and soil holding without paying the price of accelerated soil erosion and finally land abandonment.

If agriculture is to be permanent, the soil must be managed so as to maintain productivity not by temporarily supplying plants but by conserving the soil itself by using cover crops in rotation or association with row crops, or other crops that occupy the land for only a part of the growing season, or form a partial cover. The cover crop should be mowed, shredded, or disked so as to leave the residue on or near the surface, and this should be done in the spring while there is ample moisture and before the growth reaches the point of maturity that will resist decay. Then used in this way, cover crops improve the soil by adding organic matter and supply plant nutrients for succeeding crops. The kind of cover crops to use must be determined by local conditions and needs, and the special purpose for which they are desired. Vetches are excellent winter crops. They are seeded in the fall, generally following a crop of cotton or sorghum, and occupy the land during the winter months, thus preventing erosion and conserving soil fertility. Recommended seeding time is August 15 through October 15. Late seedings, except unfavorable seasons, will not make sufficient growth for the most efficient erosion control. Austrian Winter Peas are used as a cover crop in the same way as the vetches. Field peas do not make as dense a growth as the vetches but still make an efficient cover for erosion prevention. Seeding time is September 1, through October 15. Other cover crops to be used are Winter Wheat, Oats, Rye, Barley. When seeded alone, use regular grain drill. When seeded in growing crop use a row drill designed to plant two to four drills in each middle. The Gray County Soil Conservation District has one of the specially designed row drills to be used in growing crops. For further information contact the Supervisors of the district, or Soil Conservation Service, or Allan Hoover of the M & M Machinery Company.

4-H CLUB NEWS

Gray County 4-H members, of recent weeks, have made good records of state-wide honors.

Nancy Tate, 16, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orphus Tate of McLean, was one of the five winners at the District Dress Revue at Amarillo Friday, August 18. Nancy, along with the four other winners, will represent District I at the State Fair of Texas in Dallas, October 6. These girls will model their garments in the State 4-H Dress Revue. The 1st place individual at State will be awarded an all-expense paid trip to the National 4-H Congress, Chicago, Ill.

We are very proud of Nancy. She has worked hard to gain this honor and is well deserving of it. Carolyn Anderwald, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Anderwald of White Deer, has been gone this past week on a tour by the Talent Club. Carolyn won this trip by submitting her records of seven years of 4-H work.

The Extension Service and the Producers Grain Corporation, a farmer's co-operative, are continuing a cooperative plan to recognize outstanding 4-H Club boys and girls in this area served by the Corporation. The plan provides for one 4-H Club boy and one 4-H Club girl from each of the eight districts to be chosen for this recognition.

The plan has two purposes: to recognize the outstanding work being done by 4-H Club members, and to interest this group of young agricultural leaders in cooperative activities.

Three Gray County boys and three Gray County girls were awarded an all-expense paid trip to Bastrop to attend the Texas 4-H Junior Leadership Laboratory this coming week. The girls attending will be: Carolyn Anderwald, Nancy Tate, and Sue Evans.

Boys attending are: Bob Weaver, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Weaver of McLean; Alvin Dauer, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Dauer of Pampa; and Robert Anderwald, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Anderwald of White Deer.

Says Jall Quintero BUTLER, N.J. (UP)—Mrs. Karl Griner told the town fathers she would rather go to jail than pay a personal tax bill of $12.87. She said the city has been "months and months" putting in a water main in front of her home and it would be all right if she went to jail because "it would be quieter there."

The contract with the U. S. Department of Agriculture provides for farmers and ranchers in designated drought disaster counties to receive certificates from local farmers home administration offices for $7.50 per ton on roughage.

The applicant then may apply the certificates on the purchase price of roughage from a dealer of his choice.

The roughage plan is part of a new emergency drought relief program recently agreed upon by state and federal authorities.

Applications already are being received at local FHA offices for roughage.

Preview Of A Weapon

The war of the United Automobile Workers union upon the Kohler Co. of Sheboygan, Wis., maker of plumbing ware, provides business, industry and even the average citizen with a preview of the powerful weapon which has been placed in the hands of organized labor by the merger of the American Federation of Labor and the Committee of Industrial Organization.

The battle of the UAW against Kohler at whose plant UAW has admittedly lost a bitter dispute designed to ruin the company through a nationwide boycott that could only be effective — if it is successful — through the combination of labor unions.

Don Rand, the international representative of the UAW who is directing the boycott, spoke bluntly recently to Ray Vickers, staff reporter for the reliable Wall Street Journal.

"This is the most comprehensive boycott ever organized by labor," Rand was quoted as saying. "We've put this program on a highly organized business-like basis."

"It seems," he continued, "that it is almost sinful to have any labor dispute degenerate to the point where this one has — where we actually have to wreck the company. That's what we're doing — wrecking the company."

It is hard to disagree with Rand's statement. It surely is sinful that a labor organization should have the power to do some of the things that have been done, among others to persuade the politicians of cities like Boston in Massachusetts and Ansonia and Waterbury in Connecticut as well as the Massachusetts General Assembly to enact resolutions which virtually compel discrimination against Kohler products in public buying.

But most significant of all to Americans should be to note what organized labor unions propose to do with the power they have been accumulating over the years. They intend to use this power to destroy what they cannot control. If they can make the boycott against Kohler work, there will be no concern, no corporation, no industry that will be able to engage even in collective bargaining with a union. Management will come to terms or face bankruptcy.

That such boycott is irresponsible is to put it mildly. The case can be much more aptly stated in the assertion that when the day comes when a labor union can destroy a company which has refused to accede to its conditions that will be the day when the American enterprise system is utterly destroyed. We will have an unofficial government by a congeries of labor czars who will be beyond moral standards and ethical codes and completely above established law.

Of course, the UAW hasn't succeeded as yet in its goal. Kohler Company officials say they haven't noticed any appreciable effect on their business that couldn't be accounted for normally by the 28-month duration of the strike. But the boycott leaders say they are just getting started in their destruction program of sales stopping which has replaced production halting pickets, and violence that marked the early years of labor disputes.

Few labor disputes have been more bitter than the Kohler - UAW war. It started April 5, 1954, when 2600 members of UAW Local 833 struck the plant at Kohler, Wis., a suburb of Sheboygan. When Kohler recalled or hired non-union workers and resumed production after a breakdown of negotiations, there resulted more than 800 incidents of violence and vandalism away from the picket lines. These included gunshot blasts into homes, dynamiting of autos and buildings, point bombing, window smashing, tire slashing and acid throwing.

Original strike issues have long since lost their importance. Of importance now to the UAW is only the question of prestige. Last spring after pouring $10,000,000 into strike benefits, the UAW finally admitted defeat on the picket line, and focused its attention on fighting the company before the National Labor Relations Board and the boycott.

The Wall Street Journal story relates some of the technique of the boycott as follows:

"SHEBOYGAN, Wis. — On a bulletin board in the United Automobile Workers Union Local 833 headquarters here, a pin-studded map of the United States is divided into 15 territories.

"At first glance it might be mistaken for a business sales map. Actually, it is a battle map tracing UAW boycott offensive aimed at throttling Kohler Co.

"Each pin on the map represents 'the enemy,' a Kohler sales outlet. Tiny flags show the location of UAW agents who are 'on the road.' The 15 territories represent zones covered by these special representatives in drumming up support for the boycott.

"Each representative is making the rounds in his territory much like a traveling salesman with a suitcase full of samples. He appears before local union groups seeking cooperation in the boycott of Kohler products. He appears before city and state groups, urging that purchasing departments shun strike-bound articles, with emphasis on the Kohler line. He suggests to area plumbers and contractors that they steer clear of the Kohler label.

"At the boycott headquarters 65 strikers are working seven days a week preparing posters, answering letters, mimeographing literature, stuffing envelopes, and helping with the boycott in various ways."

To help stand back of this American firm in its fight for the rights of man Freedom Newspapers, Inc., 1105 specified Kohler plumbing in the two new newspaper plants now under construction at Santa Ana, Calif., and Colorado Springs, Colo.

Kohler business should grow instead of decline if those who believe in the American way of life will give preference to Kohler products.

"Faith And Fact"

I have just read a book, "Faith and Fact," that I wish every church member would read. In fact, it might be a mighty good book to have in schools, but the collectivistic schools would not dare use it because it teaches Jewish and Christian ethical principles and the government schools want to steer away from anything that might tend to show that they were not based on moral law.

The book was written by Alfred P. Haake. It was published by The Stackpole Company, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania.

The book was recommended to me by Rose Wilder Lane. I always buy and read every book she recommends.

I think Mr. Haake has about as clear a presentation of the meaning and benefit of profits as any writings I have read on that subject.

Under the chapter of "Basic Laws of Life," under the subhead "The Law of Growth," he observes:

"To grow is to live. To cease growing is to die. To satisfy wants there must be expenditure of energy, but the energy expended must be equalled or exceeded by the potential energy taken in through want satisfaction. Otherwise there can be no development and no growth. When the intake of energy exceeds the output there is growth. Conversely, when the output exceeds the intake growth ceases and deterioration toward death begins.

"Growth can only be out of a surplus of intake over expenditure resulting from struggle for existence. And man grows, thanks to the instinct of self-preservation that drives him to take in more than he expends in the process of acquisition.

"Struggle is the essence of existence not only for the animal, and essential to persistence of the species, but it also becomes the essence of evolution from animal to man and from man to spirit. The individual human being in effect fights his way to God by mastering his animal instincts and desires to the end of moral and spiritual growth. And it is through mastery of himself, thus becoming the captain of his personal powers and resources, that the individual man gains dominion over other creatures and finally subdues the earth."

Under the subhead of "The Law of Mutual Interest" Haake makes this statement:

"This law has been well stated by one of the lesser philosophers, (Baron Paul Holbach) who wrote: 'The purpose of man is self-preservation and to lead a happy life. Experience teaches him that other people are necessary to him. It shows him how he can make them useful to his designs. He sees what is approved and what causes displeasure. Such experiences give him a notion of what is just. Virtue, like wickedness, is not founded on connections but on relationships between the members of the human race. The mutual obligations of men derive from their need of using means opposite to the objectives which their nature sets them. It is by contributing to the happiness of others that we bind them to contribute to ours. Thus the individual self-interest is promoted through recognition of mutual interest."

Under the subhead of "The Law of Freedom Is the Law of Self-Control" he writes:

"Individual man is endowed by God with freedom. Stewardship must carry with it not only responsibility but the power to perform that stewardship voluntarily. There can be freedom only if the choice is voluntary.

"But, 'voluntary' does not mean absence of all restraint."

"Man himself is energy, held in leash and utilized by automatic devices fashioned within the human body, plus the will by which man destroys himself if his energies are not harnessed. Rightly directed by the individual himself, adapted to the natural law by which God governs the universe, the will of man can become the most constructive force on earth. Running wild or organized in defiance of natural law, the human will can defeat the very purpose of God in man, for it is of God, unless God destroy the man before the man destroys God.

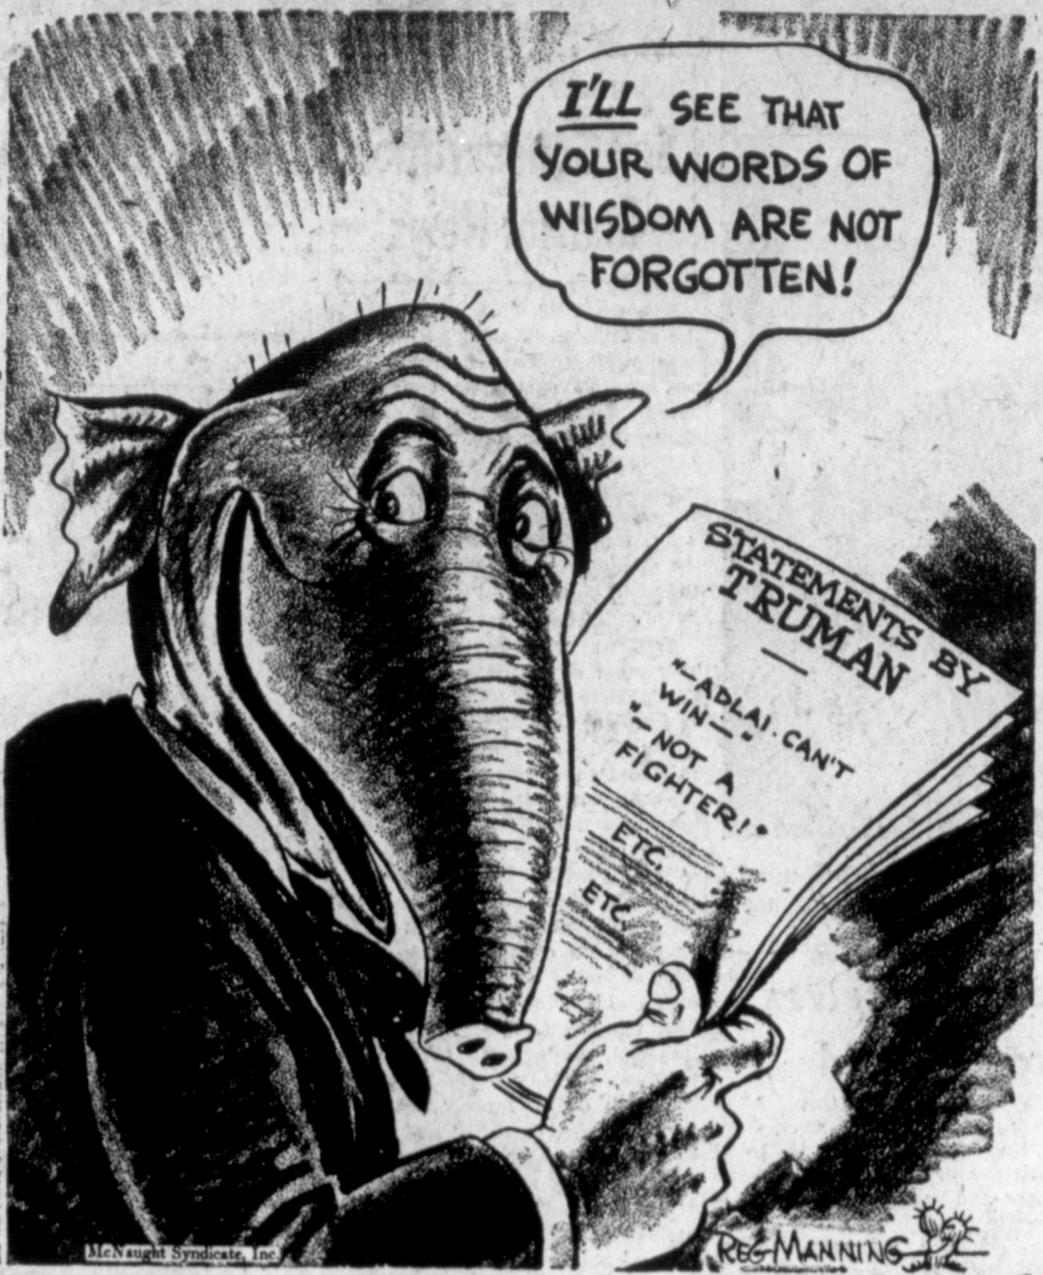

"Out of discipline and direction of individual will grow the form and character of society, the social and economic structure which results from the relationships of man with God and with other men and the physical world in which they live.

"There can be no 'laissez-faire' in the sense of absence of restraints of man. The question for civilized man is whether the control over the energies of the individual shall be from within the man or from outside.

"If the control of the individual is from within himself he is free. He may discipline himself severely and even remorselessly, deny his body gratification of his yearnings, and force himself to work until he drops from sheer exhaustion. But, so long as it is HIS will that gives commands to himself, voluntarily, he is free.

"On the other hand, if the control or direction of the individual is from outside himself, he is not free. He may suffer little restraint, he may gratify his yearnings and work almost not at all, and yet be a slave, if the control come from outside himself. And it does not matter whether that outside control is exercised by individuals, associations of men or through the instrumentalities we call gov-

Suez Crisis Forces Dulles To Cooperate With Russia

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The Suez Canal crisis has amazed diplomatic and political figures here for the reason that it has brought — for the first time — Secretary John Foster Dulles into closer co-operation and agreement with Russian Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov than with his Anglo-French opposites. The American and Communist statesmen may emerge as the advocates of peace and restraint in this dispute with the inflamed Arab world.

Kremlin spokesmen — Khrushchv, Bulganin and Zhukov — have frequently expressed complimentary remarks about President Eisenhower as a sincere believer in world peace. When Pravda denounced "imperialists and warmongers" in the United States, it was hitting directly at the blundering, Communist-hating Secretary of State.

But when Leonid F. Ilyichev, press attaché at Russia's London Embassy, discussed the differences between the positions of Dulles and the Anglo-French proposals, he replied: "I would like to call your attention to the words of Mr. Shepilov when he said that Mr. Dulles' speech did not mention the declaration of the three powers. Our impression is that the position of Mr. Dulles is that he is trying to search for a possible means of settlement."

The "three powers" declaration, implying possible use of force against Egypt, was followed up by despatch of British and French aerial and naval forces to the Mediterranean. Although Dulles signed it for the sake of Western solidarity, Prime Minister Eden and Premier Mollet slowed down the mobilization because of Washington's subsequent protest and pressure. At first, our attitude angered London and Paris, leading them to recall how they had supported us in Korea.

Dulles and Shepilov are not far apart in their Suez solutions. To save face for Colonel Gamal Abdel Nasser and his Arab associates, they favor a system of "international supervision" instead of the "international control" originally advanced by Eden and Mollet. Otherwise, there had not been any great difference in progress toward a final settlement.

Even more important than the Dulles - Shepilov rapprochement, although the two developments may be related, has been the general Russian restraint during the negotiations. If the Kremlin really wanted and sought a war, here was a chance to promote it, with the Arab and African states, possibly India, on her side. Nasser has called for such a conflict between "colored and white" races, between natives and foreigners.

On the contrary, Russia has held aloof from such schemes. In fact, she has been somewhat unsympathetic to Nasser and his Arab League. Moscow has not even taken advantage of our adverse action by offering to finance the Aswan Dam, which was an indirect instrumentality we call government, whether it be benign or hurtful in its aims and consequences, he is still not a free man."

FOR REFLECTION

...with JAMES C. INGEBRETSEN

President. Spiritual Mobilization "It was 15 years ago (Aug. 14, 1941)," says a recent issue of Quete magazine, "that Washington and London simultaneously released a joint declaration of the peace aims of the United States and Great Britain. This document, known as the Atlantic Charter, was the result of a conference between Pres. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Prime Minister Winston Churchill, held 'somewhere on the Atlantic.'"

"...We quote the final section: 'Eighth, they believe that all of the nations of the world for realistic as well as spiritual reasons, must come to the abandonment of the use of force.'"

Here, once more, is that all-too-common idea that there are realistic reasons of an entirely different category than "spiritual" reasons — and perhaps even far greater importance. This is the most prevalent — and the most calamitous — philosophical fallacy extant in the world today.

The truth is that the two alleged — different kinds of reasons are one and the same. To break spiritual laws is to incur realistic consequences.

As Paul says, "...the worlds were framed by the word of God, so that things which are seen were not made of things which do appear."

In other words, the physical world is simply a manifestation of spiritual verities. And to call the manifestation as "spiritual" — and hence, important — while dismissing the basic reality back of the manifestation as "spiritual" — and, hence, of little practical consequence — is to commit one of the most tragic errors it is possible for man to commit.

Truth Of Conventions Has Eluded Nation

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

SAN FRANCISCO — With a constitutional guarantee of freedom, with a thousand journalists of all degrees from publishers down to city-side legmen whipping around at an expense of millions of dollars, the truth of this year's Democratic and Republican conventions has eluded the whole nation.

One great suppression is not an intentional criminal act but an honest failure caused by fascination, obsession, confusion and incompetence. The truth is that both the Democratic and Republican parties are socialistic and are merely two rival gangs of fakery, both completely hostile to the constitution because it provided plain impediments to their treacheries.

The Eisenhower party is an adaptation of the Roosevelt-Truman program and the fact that rich men are prominent and strong in Eisenhower's machine is balanced on the Democratic side by the riches of Harriman; the House of Morgan under old Tom Lamont's son, Little Tom; Symington; Marshall Field, the father and the son; Lehman of New York; Kuhn-Loeb; the Kennedys, Joe and Jack, and a pack of miscellaneous hoodlums of oil and inflationary stock promotions.

The Eisenhower cult recently came out of a long spell of penitence examination of its soul and its practical prospects with a creamy profession of a new faith which is a plain theft of Roosevelt's political magic.

The truth is that the constitution is doomed and already cold and clammy with the dew of death upon its brow. Both parties are so far gone in Marx that even the word "moderation," applied especially to the "integration" issue in the south, took on a dirty meaning in Chicago. There, in the passionate hullabaloo raised by the Truman "moderation" meant "betrayal," as though betrayal, however treacherous, could morally offend those who have made a career of betrayal.

The mission of the Socialist party in the United States was stolen by Roosevelt in the first year of his reign after a brief obeisance to the platform on which he won his election from Herbert Hoover. The mission was largely accomplished in his first two terms. His program of decrees under the pretext of national emergency in a way which he eagerly sought was a practical and largely successful experiment in dictatorship.

Eleanor Roosevelt and Harry Hopkins both tested the ice with proposals, brutally impudent in the Hopkins version, that all Americans not in service uniforms be drafted for forced labor by commissars and assigned to jobs a thousand miles from home if the bureaucrat in charge so ordered. It would have been an easy way to remove the husband or suitor of a toothsome dame as Mussolini's captains and Hitler, too, had found. There was almost no protest at the time because the people had been artificially put in fear that such terrific extremes were necessary in a desperate situation.

After the war, when the falsity of these fears was revealed, the proposals had been forgotten. They are still in abeyance, but not extinct, for they are the ultimate in socialism.

The Socialist party went out of business, took down the sign and gave up the lease for the sole reason that Roosevelt had shopped it down to the bare shelves.

We rallied at Reds in the State Department, Agriculture and the Labor Relations Board, but overlooked the greater filtration of dedicated socialists no less hateful toward the constitutional verities than Earl Browder himself.

We thought the Socialist was a rather decent if dreamy fellow and whoever objected to social security as a basic violation of every man's right to buy or not buy certain insurance and to insist on certain terms was laughed out of the forum by the cult and abandoned without a word of sympathy, to say nothing of defense, by publishers so vain that they bobbed like children in pride over nights spent in the White House.

When the Eisenhower party took over the White House and the administrative public buildings four years ago there was no suggestion that any of the Roosevelt-Truman socialism be thrown out in favor of the old constitutional observance. On the contrary, social security was to be enlarged and the current Secretary of Labor has recently embraced the brutal old Wagner Act as a winsome gesture to the union rackets and a repudiation of the last of the Republicans, Robert A. Taft.

The so-called Democratic party must continue to shove to the leftward and the Republicans will follow. The impetus is all that way, and the people, if they could express themselves, undoubtedly would want it so because the constitution has no voice nor personality.

In Chicago, Roy Howard, one of many king makers with access to the principal frauds of the line, chewed Adlai Stevenson's ear with a warning against recognition of Red China, he being an expert in this occult realm by reason of several junkets (expense deductible) for a total of more than six months. Stevenson said Roy was living in the past and yielded the past to him, reserving "the future" for himself.

This means, of course, that Stevenson would "recognize" Red China and make commerce with her. He probably will not be elected, but by Eisenhower's party, inevitably will be the same.

Inflation is here, but war industries and technical progress, subsidized from Washington as phases of military defense, are the foundation of the new prosperity which flourished and flopped under free enterprise. Only a few tenacious, idealistic fools want to go back to the constitution. It would ruin the country so to do.

The Doctor Says

By Edwin J. Jordan, M. D.

In the not-so-distant past thousands of infants died from diarrheal diseases or other results of contaminated or unsatisfactory food. Other thousands suffered from such diseases as rickets or scurvy resulting from insufficient vitamins in their diet.

A Boston physician recently pointed out that modern safeguards against contamination of milk have worked so well that the old name "summer complaint" is practically meaningless to today's young mothers. This has resulted partly from the almost universal use of pasteurized milk and household refrigeration.

Another subject, frequently mentioned a few years ago was what was called "feeding problems" in infants. These infants were switched from one formula to another because they did not seem to be doing well. Now many such difficulties are recognized as coming from chronic infections, emotional instability in the mother and other causes unrelated to the food itself. Feeding problems still occur, but seem to be less common and troublesome than they were 25 years ago.

Perhaps all the feeding problems of infants and children have not yet been solved and this is certainly the case in certain parts of the world. For example, Kwashiorkor is considered to be a both common and severe nutritional disorder of children in the tropics and semitropics.

QUESTIONS of infant diet still remain. The Boston doctor wonders, for example, whether the trend to giving infants solid foods at ever younger ages is entirely desirable. "No compelling evidence of physiological advantage or disadvantage attending the early feeding of solid foods has appeared," he writes.

Another development is the greater use of foods especially processed for children. Those foods which are canned or frozen can be made ready easily, but this does not necessarily mean that they are the best.

The physician suggested that dependence on a special type of prepared food might tend to confer on a child the attributes of special delicacy or indulgence, or the requirement for overprotection, which do not lead to the easy, relaxed acceptance of life.

FINALLY, the question is raised as to whether attention has not shifted from the problem of making young children eat to that of keeping some of the adolescents from eating too much. It is undoubtedly true that some adolescents eat too little (or unwisely) but that more eat poor combinations or too much.

KEY TO THE CRISIS—OIL—Behind all the international uproar sparked by Egyptian President Gamal Nasser's nationalization of the Suez Canal is one key word—OIL. Sixty seven per cent of all shipping transiting the canal consists of oil tankers. Pipelines shown on Newsmag above carry some 800,000 barrels a day, less than a quarter of total production. As Russell E. Brown, of the Independent Petroleum Association of America recently pointed out, "Today it's the Suez Canal that's been seized... tomorrow it could be a pipeline to the Eastern Mediterranean." This was borne out by usually pro-Western Lebanon's seizure of the Iraq Petroleum Company pipeline and terminal at Tripoli. The United States imports (mostly through the Suez Canal) some 1.4 million barrels a day. This is 1.05 million barrels more than we export. If the Suez Canal were closed to Middle East oil tankers, they could reach European and American ports by going around Africa. But it would take twice as long, enormously increasing the expense.

Prospects For Independent Producer 'Not Bright'

AUSTIN, Aug. 25-UP - Texas Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson said Saturday prospects for independent oil producers are "not bright" despite high production which is cutting into the nation's oil reserves. The veteran member of Texas oil and gas conservation agency said in a statement that in 1955 the United States produced 2.4 billion barrels of crude oil but made new discoveries of only 50 million barrels. "It is not encouraging when we produce oil at a rate nearly five times as fast as we are finding new discoveries. And we are searching more and drilling more and deeper than ever before," he said. Thompson also complained that demand for Texas oil has dropped on what he believes constitutes the most serious threat to a GOP victory in November: "The only enemy I think we have would be complacency." CHICAGO - Federal Judge John P. Barnes sentencing Edward A. Hintz, 68, banker accomplice of deceased State Auditor Orville E. Hodge, after learning Hintz has a seriously ill wife: "Hardly ever is a sentence imposed that someone else is not hurt worse than the defendant." UNITED NATIONS - U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold on firing Soviet employee Viktor Petrov for attempted espionage: "Petrov's activities are not permitted under staff regulations." drilled the United States has produced more than 52.6 billion barrels of crude, compared to world production of more than 89.6 billion barrels. These figures include crude production to Jan. 1, 1956, but do not include natural gas liquids or natural gas which constitute a larger segment of the petroleum industry. Of the total crude production in the United States as of Jan. 1, Texas had produced more than 3 billion barrels. The five largest producing states—Texas, California, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Kansas—had produced about 5.6 billion barrels of the total.

Which State Should Get Credit For First Oil Well?

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25-UP - Which commonwealth, Kentucky or Pennsylvania, should get credit for the first oil well drilled in the United States? We've heard the question batted back and forth and thought a chat with specialists in the Bureau of Mines might solve the controversy. But we didn't get it solved. We did, however, come away with a fist full of statistics. As for the first oil well—well, it all depends on how you look at it. The U. S. petroleum industry dates its beginning with the first well actually drilled for petroleum at Titusville, Pa., 97 years ago Sunday. Kentucky Apparently First Kentucky, according to a Bureau of Mines publication, "apparently had the first flowing oil well in the United States." But it wasn't drilled for oil. It was drilled for brine in Wayne county in 1818. The oil flowed into the Cumberland River and caught fire, playing havoc with adjoining property. The well was abandoned for more than 30 years. While the Pennsylvania well was the beginning of the petroleum industry in this country, commercial production of crude oil we know it actually started in Romania in 1857, historians say. Petroleum, however, was used thousands of years before that. Archeologists have found, for instance, that asphalt was used as far back as 4,000 B. C., and petroleum was familiar to Indians long before Columbus. Texas Leading Producer Since the Titusville well was

No Room In TV For Will Rogers Type Politics

By WILLIAM EWALD
United Press Staff Correspondent
SAN FRANCISCO (UP) — Will Rogers Jr., who has attended both conventions this year, believes there is no room in television for the sort of political commentator that his late father was.
'I'm not the wry, probing analyst that he was and I have no intention of becoming one,' said Rogers today. 'It's the sort of thing that has no place in television. It's best left to newspapers. You can't pay and take your choice with TV. You can with your newspaper. TV has to be objective. It would be too dangerous otherwise. There's only one place for vigorous, disputive opinion and that's the newspaper.'

Hi-Fi Recorder Puts Another In Stores

(Approaches to High Fidelity)
By PRESTON MCGRAW
United Press Staff Correspondent
E. D. Nunn, who now and then adds another record to Audio-ophile's small and flawless catalogue, has put his newest in the high fidelity record stores.

It is "Carnet Artistry" (Audio-phonics 31, 12-inch, 33 1-3 rpm, RIAA curve). It features Paul W. E3387, 12-inch, 33 1-3 rpm, RIAA curve) recorded by the MGM Symphony Orchestra with Arthur Winograd conducting.

The tunes that Evans plays are old standards like "Sugar," "Just a G-golo," "Old Fashioned Love" and "Melancholy Baby"—all told, eight nostalgic pieces.

Nunn's recording work is up to its usual perfection. As a matter of personal preference, if every thing on the record had been played on the upbeat, it would have been better.

But "Carnet Artistry" is worth adding to any collection, both from the standpoint of music and of showing the technical excellence recording can achieve.

Good Classical Record
In the recent classical field, a record worth listening to is Francis Poulenc's "Concerto for Organ, Strings and Tympani" and Howard Hanson's "Concerto for Organ Strings and Harp."

Both sides were recorded by organist Richard Ellsaesser with the Philharmonic Orchestra of Hamburg conducted by Arthur Winograd (MGM E3361, 12-inch, 33 1-3 rpm, RIAA curve).

These are somewhat of the beaten path in that the pipe organ is neglected in orchestral literature. The recording job is excellent and either side will give a high fidelity rig a good workout.

On the lighter side, but interesting because of a good deal of modernistic, sounding orchestration, are three Aaron Copeland pieces.

These are his "Music for Radium," "Music for Movies" and "Music for the Theater." (MGM E3387, 12-inch, 33 1-3 rpm, RIAA curve) recorded by the MGM Symphony Orchestra with Arthur Winograd conducting.

New Emory Cook Disc
Emory Cook has made another foray into Bourbon Street, or Whisky Alley, as some of the locals call it, in New Orleans and come back with a fine record.

This is "Blowout at Mardi Gras" (Cook 1084, 12-inch, 33 1-3 rpm, RIAA curve). It was recorded by a jazz band that has so far not done much recording.

This is Sid Davilla's and Freddie Kohman's band, with plays at the Mardi Gras Lounge. It is not what a student of two-beat would call traditional Dixieland.

But some of the solos are tremendously more exciting than the cliches of the more familiar New Orleans bands that beat out the stuff night after night.

Among the recent Hi-Fi pops, two that are worth checking are MGM's "Blue Skies" with Art Lund, and "Somewhere in the Night" with composer-pianist Joseph Myrow. They are both 12-inch lp's and Myrow's job is probably in better — especially "Autumn Nocturne," which he also wrote.

TV Actor Finds Filmtown Is A Refreshing Change

EDITOR'S NOTE: Aline Mosby is on vacation. Today's guest column is by James Daly, one of TV's top actors who has his first important film role.

By JAMES DALY
Written for the United Press
HOLLYWOOD (UP) — To a man who loves to read, movies are wonderful.

Take it from me, after more than 150 television plays, including a year in "Foreign Intrigue," I'm in seventh heaven right now working for RKO in "The Young Stranger" (which got its start as a TV drama, incidentally).

It's only my second picture (the other was "The Court Martial of Billy Mitchell"); but I've caught on quickly!

In the first place, you get to read a lot of books. In TV there's hardly a minute's rest between scenes. On the Hollywood sound stages, though, you have interminable waits for scene changes, camera setups and all the other delays that make picture-making such boring work.

You see extras knitting or doing cross-word puzzles, grips and electricians playing cards or checkers, others just catching 40 winks between scenes.

In TV they just turn a couple of cameras loose on a few actors and hope they don't blow their lines. But not here in Hollywood. You get to the studio early, dash from make-up to the stage, learn your lines, rehearse, and then make a dozen takes before the director yells, "Print it!" In between you have all the time in the world to read.

I'm slowly getting used to Hollywood. Because the movies pay well — far better than TV — I've been able to bring my wife and four kids here for the summer where we're ensconced in Judy Garland's (and Leland Hayward's) former home in the hills. We like our farm in Suffern, N.Y., but our Hollywood place has a superb view.

Discovering Hollywood has been rewarding. But I'm homesick for the New York theater, the roar of the subways and the odor of carbon monoxide on Madison Avenue. I'm rugged and starved back there. Here I'm luxuriating.

But don't get me wrong. Movie-making is interesting and I hope to be back. I'll probably feel more enthusiastic next time — when I'm no longer a stranger in paradise.
