150 Expected At Banquet In McLean

McLEAN — (Special) — 150 persons will be present on Wednesday night, Oct. 25, at an appreciation dinner honoring Calvin Fraser, owner of the new brassiere manufacturing plant to be constructed in McLean.

Top executives of Sears, Roebuck Co. will be on hand when the affair begins at 7 p.m. at the American Legion Hall in McLean. In this way, the people of McLean hope to extend a Western welcome to Fraser and his company.

Fraser has announced that Edward H. Hellstedt of Chicago, Ill., will be here with him to look over the location of the McLean plant. Hellstedt is one of Sears, Roebuck's top executives and has been with the company for 28 years. He is in charge of all buying of ladies' apparel for the firm.

Hellstedt will bring with him Max Stein, who is in charge of undergarments buying for the Sears stores. Mike Mummas, merchandise manager of the Dallas store, will also be on hand for the dinner.

Sears, Roebuck is vitally interested in the plant because of the tremendous amount of business they will give the plant upon its completion, it has been reported.

The plant will have every possible convenience for its employees including a harmonious blending of colors to make it easy on the eyes and excellent lighting system. An initial employment of 60 people is anticipated by the firm's heads.

Tickets will be sold in McLean on a first come, first served basis.

First Freezing Temperatures Hit Panhandle

By UNITED PRESS — The first freezing temperatures of the season moved into Texas today and even colder weather was in prospect for Friday in the wake of a cold front moving eastward across the state. The mercury dropped to an even 32 degrees at Dalhart just before daybreak, but most of the state was expected to have comfortable temperatures during the day before sub-freezing readings return to the Panhandle section Friday morning.

Skies were clear behind the front as it neared the Dallas-Fort Worth-Waco-Austin line at mid-morning, but clouds built up ahead of it and some scattered showers were expected along and ahead of the front as it moves through northeast, east and southeast Texas.

Sharp Drop Expected — Forecasts called for Friday morning minimums ranging between 28 and 35 degrees in the Panhandle, 35 to 45 elsewhere in West Texas and in North Central Texas and in the 40s in the interior of East and South Central Texas.

Winds along the front were not very strong, but by 7:30 a.m. they had begun to kick up in the Panhandle, where Amarillo reported gusts to 23 miles per hour. The U.S. Weather Bureau said the winds would not be as strong as Wednesday even after they shift around to the west or north-west.

At 7:30 a.m., the front had reached Mineral Wells and extended southwestward to the Junction area, but the weather bureau said it was weakening on its southern end.

Air Dry, Skies Clear — Most of the cold air will pass to the north of the Dallas-Fort Worth area, but the air is very dry behind the front and temperatures will drop off sharply tonight due to the dryness and clear skies.

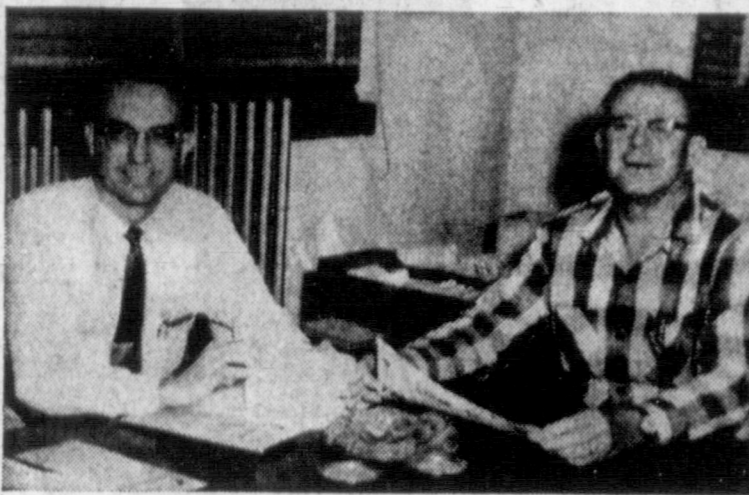

At mid-morning, skies were clear as far east as Mineral Wells, but partly cloudy to cloudy elsewhere.

Stolen Car Is Recovered

A 1950 Dodge, belonging to Shamrock Products Company, which was stolen in Pampa on Oct. 10 was recovered yesterday afternoon in Clayton, N.M., Jim Conner, local chief of police, reported this morning.

The car had apparently been abandoned in Clayton several days ago and the police department there asked for a registration check on it last night. The local police department informed the Clayton officers that the car had been stolen and asked them to hold the car.

The Clayton officers reported that the car had not been damaged and was apparently in good running condition.

PLAN LEFORS DRIVE

Strictly For Women

40 Attend Hotel Sales Force Meet

Approximately 40 women attended the general information meeting in Cabot auditorium last night which was sponsored by the women's section of the General Sales Force of the campaign for a new community hotel for Pampa.

Dr. Joe Donaldson, a member of the executive committee, stressed the need for a new modern hotel in Pampa and told of the work that would have to be done to make the hotel possible.

E. O. Wedgworth, assistant general-sales manager, traced the history of the thought and effort during the past years that have made the present hotel campaign possible. He outlined the surveys that have been made to show that the people of the community want a modern hotel.

R. H. Rohrer, assistant campaign director, outlined the mechanics of the general sales campaign. He told the group that there would be over 100 people in both the Women's Section and the Men's Section.

Following the discussion by the leaders of the campaign a question and answer period provided a chance for the women to ask questions that they had about the hotel. The questions indicated that the women had been giving thought to the idea of a new hotel in Pampa and were interested in the sales campaign.

Following the meeting the division sales managers met to discuss possible group sales managers for each of the three divisions in the Women's Section. Each division manager will obtain the services of four women to head the groups in their division.

Division managers in the Women's Section are: Miss Jean Chisholm, sales manager of Division D; Mrs. Bob Curry, sales manager of Division E; and Mrs. H. H. Hicks, sales manager of Division F. Mrs. Hicks is assisted by Mrs. Louise P. Clarke.

Assistant sales manager of the Women's Section is Mrs. Lynn Boyd.

That was all, Jameson, a victim of a crippling bone disease and his back a mass of shrapnel scars, apparently had amnesia. The ambulance which brought him to the hospital left hurriedly and no one knew from whence it came.

Mrs. Higgins had refused to believe her husband had gone down with the S. Francis Salinan, sunk by a German submarine off Newfoundland Jan. 17, 1942. Forty men, including Higgins, the chief engineer of the unarmed ship, were lost. The War Department said there were no survivors.

Mrs. Higgins, buoyed by prayer, kept trying to find some trace of her husband.

Colliers magazine printed the story of Jameson in its Oct. 12 issue and Douglas Edwards interviewed him over CBS-TV last week.

Homer Dee, a son-in-law of the missing Higgins, saw the television appearance and thought he saw a resemblance to the missing man.

The film was flown to Houston and Mrs. Higgins and her daughter, Mrs. Dee saw a private showing at KGUL-TV, local television station.

They said Jameson looked the way Higgins probably would look now. Jameson's arms and chest are tattooed. Higgins was tattooed on both arms when last seen. Jameson speaks with a slight Irish brogue, just like Higgins. "It could be . . . it could be," said Mrs. Higgins, hopefully.

Hundreds Dead In 3rd Day Of Hungary War

10 Die In Four Plane Crashes

MIDLAND, Tex. (UP) — Ten persons were killed Wednesday in four airplane crashes — one an aerial collision — and an automobile crash involving a speeding sheriff's car en route to help.

Five members of a Texas family and two Air Force officers were killed when their planes collided over a thickly populated Midland residential section and one of the planes, a jet, crashed into a home.

An Air Force officer said today it was "strictly a miracle" that no one on the ground was hurt or killed when the debris and bodies fell to earth.

One home was destroyed by fire when the jet crashed into the front of it at take-off level. The family was gone at the time. Nearby homes were damaged by debris from the falling planes.

An elderly woman was killed and another injured when their automobile collided with a sheriff's car rushing to clear traffic from a highway in case the mechanic decided to land.

A T33 jet plane from Webb Air Force Base carrying two Air Force officers collided in flight with a Cessna 170 carrying five members of one family over Midland. Wreckage of the planes plummeted to a residential section, burning one house and damaging several others. All seven persons in the planes died, but no one was hurt on the ground.

A flight mechanic at Webb AFB as a Big Spring, climbed into another. The Wednesday night, ignored warnings from control tower operators and taxied onto the runway. He outsped a truck sent to block his takeoff and zoomed off the field.

At 5,000 feet he casually reported his position. Shortly after, he radioed he was having trouble. Another jet pilot flew near to explain how to keep the plane on level flight.

The plane flew erratically and suddenly dove into the ground and exploded near the huge Condon Oil Refinery three miles east of Big Spring. Witnesses said the plane and pilot "disintegrated."

Mrs. J. R. Phillips, about 55, of Big Spring, was killed and Mrs. Estella Yates was injured when their automobile collided with a car driven by Sheriff Jess Slaughter. The sheriff was rushing to block traffic on a highway near the air base in case the plane landed there.

Another jet believed to be a T-33 trainer crashed Wednesday night near Tolar, about 40 miles southwest of Fort Worth. The plane and the pilot's body were so badly charred that it was not immediately determined where the aircraft was based or the name of the pilot.

The Air Force victims of the air collision were identified as Capt. Roy A. Roberts, 29, of Belleville, Ill., whose wife and daughter live at Big Spring; and Lt. Lowell D. Hale, 25, of Decatur, Ill. Hale's wife and daughter also live in Big Spring.

Those killed in the private plane were Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Clements of Vashit, their daughter, Cathy, about 13-months-old, and Mrs. Clements' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ernest Howard of Bellevue.

The jet crash near Tolar killed 2nd Lt. Melville Edward Gange, 24, of Tacoma, Wash. He was flying a T-33 two-seat jet trainer on a night radar target mission and was alone. His plane was based at Perrin Air Force Base near Denison, Tex.

The base reported it lost radio contact with Gange about 9:40 p.m., and a farmer in the Tolar area reported the crash about 15 minutes later.

Spanish-Born Poet Wins Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM (UP) — Spanish-born poet Juan Ramon Jimenez today was awarded the 1956 Nobel Prize for Literature for the "high spirit and artistic purity" of his poetry.

Jimenez, 75, who now lives in Puerto Rico, published his first volume of poetry at 17 and went on to be acclaimed Spain's greatest poet.

The Swedish Academy of Literature made the selection and immediately called Jimenez that he won the tax-free Nobel Prize of $38,632.

The academy said he earned the award by "his lyrical poetry which in Spanish language constitutes an example of high spirit and artistic purity."

His poetry has also been translated into many other languages. Dr. Anders Osterling, academy secretary, invited Jimenez to come to Stockholm to receive the award Dec. 10, anniversary of the death of Swedish dynamite producer Alfred Nobel, whose $45 million fortune was used to establish the Nobel Foundation.

The self-exiled Jimenez left Spain after the Civil War and traveled around the Western Hemisphere before settling down as a guest professor at the University of San Juan, Puerto Rico.

Gray County GOP Sets Barbecue

A Gray County GOP rally and barbecue will begin at 11:30 a.m. Saturday in the Bull Barn at Recreation Park.

The main speaker at the rally for the Eisenhower and Nixon campaign will be Murray Johnson, former Democratic governor of Oklahoma.

What's In A Name?

RIDGECREST, Calif. — UP — Eisenhower and Nixon are campaigning for Adlai E. Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver.

Service Station Operator James M. Eisenhower and Jack Nixon are members of the Desert Empire Democratic Club.

Adlai "Good And Mad" At Repubs

By UNITED PRESS — Adlai E. Stevenson flew out of New York City today as President Eisenhower trained in to fight back for the city's normally Democratic vote.

Both were up in arms for the home stretch.

The Democratic candidate, who had made a nationally televised speech from a Madison Square Garden rally Tuesday night, made seven appearances in and about the city between noon and midnight Wednesday. Rally crowds in the usually Republican suburbs were described by his associates as some of the most enthusiastic of his campaign.

Stevenson told them he was "good and mad" at the Republican campaign of "misrepresentations . . . slush . . . slogans . . . epithets . . . and silly nonsense."

Spot Reports Made — Mr. Eisenhower left Washington by train at 8:30 a.m. for a major address at Madison Square Garden tonight. Spot radio announcements urged listeners throughout Wednesday and this morning to "meet Ike" at noon at Pennsylvania Station.

Mr. Eisenhower was described by close associates as indignant over Stevenson's attacks on his foreign policies, particularly the recent Suez crisis. His address was expected to re-emphasize his claim that there is "good news" from Suez and other points abroad.

The President will go from his train to the Commodore Hotel for afternoon meetings with local Republican leaders before the evening rally. He will fly back to Washington after his speech.

Estes, Adlai Meet — Stevenson will leave New York at about the time of Mr. Eisenhower's arrival, flying to Springfield, Ill., where he will meet with his running mate, Sen. Estes Kefauver, and make a farm speech tonight.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon was also in Illinois, touring the Chicago area in a series of whirlwind appearances.

Books Save Student

STILLWATER, Okla. (UP) — A 23-year-old Oklahoma A&M College student, shot by a jealous husband, apparently owed his life today to the school books he was carrying under his arm.

Police said the victim, Edward A. Slater, 23, of Baltimore, Md., was shot twice Wednesday by Robert William Coats, 25, Stillwater, also an A&M student. Slater was not seriously hurt.

Coats fired in a 1951 blue DeSoto after the shooting and was still at large today.

The shooting occurred at the home of Coats' wife, Betty, 19. Police said Coats and his wife have been separated and divorce proceedings are pending.

Coats fired six bullets from his .22 automatic pistol. One shot struck Slater in the left wrist and a second in his left side. The latter shot pierced three notebooks Slater carried under his left arm, glanced off a rib and lodged under the skin.

"It could well be those books saved his life," said police spokesman Bill Manning. "Chances are they helped anyway."

Premier Promises To Ask Russia To Remove Troops

By FRANK CYRUS United Press Staff Correspondent

VIENNA — UP — Hungary's civil war, its dead already numbering in the hundreds and its wounded in the thousands, raged through its third day today despite new government promises of forgiveness and a pledge of negotiating withdrawal of all Soviet troops.

The "working people" of Budapest fought Soviet troops and government forces through the broad streets and cobbled squares of that fabled city as the Hungarian Communists purged their top Stalinist leaders and made continued desperate pleas for an end to the bloodshed.

The Communist leadership, meeting in emergency session, booted out Stalinist party boss Ernő Geroe and named "Titoist" Janos Kardar as new first secretary. They had confirmed Geroe to that post only Wednesday.

Nagy Makes Promise — Shortly afterwards, newly restored "Titoist" Premier Imre Nagy promised in a radio broadcast to the nation that he would ask for the withdrawal of all Soviet troops from Hungarian soil as soon as order is restored.

"The Communist leadership met in emergency session for the second day in a row. Today they booted out Geroe and named "Titoist" Janos Kardar as new first secretary. They had confirmed Geroe to that post only Wednesday.

It was the second major effort to appease the mobs of anti-Communists who attacked government buildings throughout the city and then fought a battle with Soviet tanks, troops, planes and artillery in hopes of overthrowing the Red regime.

Revolt Reported Crushed — The Communists restored popular hero Imre Nagy to the premiership Wednesday, appealed for order and then announced early today the revolt had been crushed in blood. But fighting continued and they threw Geroe to the wolves today.

An announcement broadcast by Budapest radio said: "The political bureau of the central committee of the Hungarian working peoples (Communist) party has believed Ernő Geroe from the post of first secretary of the central committee. Janos Kardar was elected as new first secretary."

Kardar once was in disgrace because he was a Titoist who wanted Hungary to follow the same independent policy of Yugoslavia and now Poland. He served five years in jail as a Titoist but recently returned to power.

The development came in a day of contradictory reports by Budapest Radio. It told in the early morning hours how Soviet military might, working with the Hungarian army and police, had crushed the rebellion.

But later it said fighting continued in many areas of the city and reported some of Budapest's famous landmarks such as the National Museum in flames. At noon it said the military police units are still fighting with full energy.

U.S. Legation Threatened — The center of the revolt was reported only a few blocks from the U.S. legation in Budapest. But the legation told United Press in London by teletypewriter the situation was "okay," that there had been no damage to the legation and no Americans reported hurt.

Thousands of casualties and hundreds of dead were feared in the greatest uprising the Communist world has ever experienced, victims of Soviet artillery, tanks and jet fighters.

Defense Minister Istvan Bata spoke of "serious casualties" among the rebels and said "many prisoners" have been taken.

The news came only from the Communist-controlled radio and there was no formal estimate of casualties. One traveler reported 350 dead in Budapest alone — a report now a day old.

Fires Smudge Skies — Great fires smudged the skies, reducing to ashes some of the city's historic buildings, the famed national museum with its art treasures of inestimable value was ablaze beyond control.

Heavy street fighting was reported in Budapest until dawn and the Budapest Radio said fighting raged in other parts of the country as well but it said the shots came from "fleeing" rebels.

New Polish Leader To Visit Russia

WARSAW (UP) — Ladyslaw Gomulka, new "independent" leader of the Polish United workers (Communist) party, will leave today or Friday for Moscow to smooth the path of Soviet-Polish relations, it was reported.

First word of Gomulka's planned trip to Moscow came in a United Press dispatch from the Soviet capital. He and his delegation is expected to confer with Soviet leaders on how to forge their own "road to socialism" in close alliance with Russia, Yugoslavia and other Soviet bloc countries.

A reshuffled Polish government was concentrating today on holding down anti-Soviet feelings.

Street fighting erupted in Warsaw Wednesday night when thousands of Poles attempted to march on the Soviet embassy. The Poles had massed in front of the Hungarian embassy to shout their support of rebel troops in Budapest.

Communist party workers tried to disperse the demonstrators with clubs and brass knuckles.

Mollet Seeks A Vote Of Confidence

PARIS (UP) — Premier Guy Mollet went before the National Assembly today for a vote of confidence confronted by a new crisis stemming from French seizure of five Algerian rebel leaders.

Mollet is expected to win the vote by an overwhelming majority. The National Assembly and the French press have voiced strong approval of the bold action which resulted in the capture of the Algerian nationalists.

But the incident touched off violent anti-French disorders riots and strikes in northwest Africa and strong indignation throughout the Arab world.

In Morocco, inflamed mobs killed 31 Europeans. The French Embassy in Tunis was attacked. Demonstrators stoned the French legation in Tripoli, Libya.

Tunisia and Morocco, the two former French protectorates, proclaimed their solidarity in the Algerian struggle for liberty.

Moroccan Premier Si Berek Bekkai did not rule out the possibility that relations with France might be broken off.

In Cairo, the Arab League Council scheduled a special meeting today to consider "the complete political and economic boycott of France" in retaliation for the "kidnapping" of the top Algerian leaders.

A committee of all Syrian political parties and religious organizations demanded that all French residents in Syria be held hostage for the Algerians and urged closure of all French schools. It also called for a one-hour general strike in all Arab countries Saturday.

The Arab Peoples Congress in Cairo came out for a general strike by Arabs next Sunday. The strike call was similar to that staged Aug. 18 to protest British and French threats of force in the Suez Canal crisis.

At a dinner last night in honor of the visiting executives of the Woolworth company, Paul Crouch, president of the Chamber of Commerce, expressed the appreciation of the entire community for the show of faith which he said the company had shown in spending so much for the improvement of Pampa in their new store.

Pampa was a growing community, he said, with much potential, and it was recognizable in the fact that much building had been done in recent years. The new Woolworth store, he remarked, was another step in that pattern of progress.

Ed Myatt, immediate past president of the chamber, also thanked the visiting officials for having invested their money in the city of Pampa, and expressed the opinion that it would more than pay for itself within a very short time.

Mel Taylor, district superintendent of Woolworth, in a brief talk, said that he had looked well into the idea of building a new and modern store, and pointed out that the project was the result of a long and careful study on the part of the company, and said that he was sure that it had been the right move.

The meeting was followed by a tour of all those who attended the dinner, through the new store.

Those visiting executives who were present at the affair were: Urban Van Laeken, store opener; H. F. Cochrane, food department superintendent; Mel Taylor, district superintendent; Ted Nein, construction superintendent and Bob Mills, contractor.

The grand opening of the store was this morning.

HUNDREDS (Continued from Page 1) great masses, the radio said this morning. "Hungarian army units will comb the city at daylight this morning to purge it of the last rioters."

But throughout its accounts of the rioting Budapest referred only to the "most reliable units" of the army — a strong indication some army units had mutinied. An Italian diplomat who reached Belgrade reported the revolt was launched by young army officers.

The Halliburton Halloween party will be held at 7 p.m. Oct. 30, in the recreation hall, Cities Service camp, one mile west of city. Those attending are asked to bring a basket lunch and to dress in costume. Select your appliances now for Christmas. Use our lay-a-way plan, Brooks Electric.

Mrs. Otis Holladay of White Deer, correspondent for The Pampa News, visited in The News office this morning.

The only alarm received by the fire department yesterday was at 11:45 a.m. when they were notified of a grass fire in a vacant lot in the 600 block of N. Wym. The firemen reported that a small area of grass was burned but reported that no damage resulted from the fire.

Mrs. Henry Link of 1704 Hamilton will be going to Dallas this week end.

R. A. Thompson Dies Yesterday

R. A. Thompson, 80, father of Mrs. Lillie Inel of Skellytown, died late yesterday afternoon at his home in Healdton, Okla. Funeral services will be held at the First Christian Church in Healdton at 2:00 p.m., Friday.

Survivors include his wife, Ellen; two daughters, Mrs. Lillie Inel of Skellytown and Mrs. Lorene Bryant of Healdton; three sons, Robert and Haskell of Healdton, Roy of Abilene; a sister, Mrs. Jettie Jeter of Healdton; two brothers, Bill and O. J. of Pampa and four grandchildren.

City Officials In Lubbock Meeting

City officials of Pampa are in Lubbock today where they are attending a three-day meeting of the Texas League of Municipalities. The league is composed of city officials from cities throughout the state.

The meeting began this morning with the registration of those attending and will continue through Saturday with discussions of mutual problems being encountered by Texas cities.

Those attending from Pampa are: Lynn Boyd, mayor; Fred Brook, city manager; Ed Vicars, city secretary; Bob Gordon, city attorney; and Frank Dial, city commissioner.

Camporee Get This Week End

The District Camporee of the Santa Fe District will be held this week-end at the Billy Davis Ranch, 2 miles southeast of Lefors, according to Denver Allen, camping and activities chairman of the district.

The Scouts will all participate in the Search for Geronimo. This is the theme of the Camporee.

Scout Troops are expected from Higgins, Canadian, Miami, Pampa, White Deer, Panhandle, Groom and Hopkins. 250 to 300 Scouts are expected and a good program awaits their arrival, Allen said.

The troops will be given a Sealed Message when they enter and will open the "secret" orders at 12 Noon Saturday for their participation in the Camporee.

All Scoutmasters, Assistants and other members of the District will participate in the Camporee.

George Newberry, council chairman of camping and activities will be there to help with the organization.

Rotarians Hear Borger Doctor

Pampa Rotarians yesterday heard a talk by Dr. Charles Southernland of Borger on his experiences as a trichologist (treatment of baldness).

In a humorous vein, Southernland related how he had traveled over the western part of the United States, selling his "treatments" to the unwary.

Reinducted into the membership of the club was Tom Perkins, Pampa druggist, who had been a member of the club for many years but dropped out during the war for business reasons. He was introduced by Travis Lively.

Guests for the day were Al Leash, Borger Rotarian who introduced the speaker and L. H. Hapcott, Ken Reeves, Hubert Allen and Al Robinson.

Predicted Return
Halley's comet first was seen by Sir Edmund Halley in 1682 and he predicted its reappearance in 1758, having calculated that it would take 76 years to travel its orbit.

3 Mishaps Reported

Three collisions, which occurred within the city limits, were reported to the local police department during the past 24 hours.

The first of the collisions occurred at 3 p.m. yesterday on Hobart, 200 feet south of Kentucky, Frank O. Mote, 916 S. Nelson, driving a '56 Chevrolet, was in collision with Mrs. Grace Hampton Johnson, 606 N. Gray, driving a '53 Chevrolet.

Damages to the '56 Chevrolet were estimated at $80 and the '53 Chevrolet encountered damages estimated at $90.

The second of the collisions occurred at 8 a.m. today on Browning, 200 feet east of Ballard. Allison Simmons, 433 Yeager, driving a '56 Ford pickup, was in collision with Granvil Roland, 512 Elm, driving a '56 International truck which is owned by the City of Pampa.

Damages to the pickup were estimated at $250 and the city truck was not damaged, according to the report of the investigating officer.

The last of the three collisions occurred at 8:05 this morning on Hobart, 80 feet south of Francis, Champ O. Hughes, 724 S. Somerville, driving a '53 Ford, was in collision with Alvis L. Sanders, 824 S. Somerville, driving a '56 Buick.

The Ford encountered damages estimated at $125 and the Buick met with damages estimated at $450.

Crowd Attends Shrimp Boil

Employees of General Supply Company, distributors of Magco Company and Rodman Supply bar products, gathered from all over the Southwest yesterday for an afternoon and evening of good fun and fellowship at the Pampa Country Club.

Highlight of the afternoon was the appearance of Bo Winger, professional golfer who is also associated with Rodman Supply. He and Bill Smith of Fort Worth played Hart Warren and C. F. McGinnis in a nine hole exhibition match. After the match, the popular Winger put on a clinic for the enjoyment of over 200 people who gathered around him while he spoke and demonstrated different shots.

Afterwards, an old fashioned Cajun shrimp boil was prepared by General Supply dealers from New Orleans and New Iberia, La., who made the trip up to the Top of Texas for the occasion. These men make a specialty of cooking this succulent French creole dish.

More than 500 persons gathered at the Pampa Country Club yesterday for the affair. Bob Brewer and Stu Youngblood, acted as hosts.

Gribbon Heads Airline Survey

Dan Gribbon is directing the survey now in progress to determine the potential of airline travel that might be expected should the Civil Aeronautics Board grant a permit to Central Airlines for the operation of service between this area and Dallas and Fort Worth.

The survey group started work yesterday morning and expected to be finished by the end of next week.

It will be conducted by contacting those business people who it is felt might use such a service. Gribbon has reported that the response thus far has been very encouraging.

The committee is working in cooperation with Central Airlines in compiling this information preliminary to filing application for a permit to operate from Pampa to Dallas and Fort Worth.

The survey team consists of Gribbon, Mrs. Georgia Patten, and Johnny Yardley.

Jonathan Swift published "Gulliver's Travels" under the pseudonym of Lemuel Gulliver, writing the book to make fun of men in high office whom he disliked.

High Average In First Aid Class

Libby Shotwell, executive secretary of the Pampa chapter, American Red Cross, reported this morning that 29 persons attended the first aid class at Junior High School last night.

The class was taught by Mrs. Walter Noel and Gordon S. Taylor. Average total attendance for the classes has been 92 a week, she said.

A make up class is taught each Monday night for those who had to miss a class. The make-up class is in addition to the regular Monday night class taught by Rev. C. Herbert Lowe.

Tonight's class will be taught by A. L. Lewis and Eugene Dunagan and tomorrow's class will be taught by Frank Stallings and Tommie Jeter.

They'll Do It Every Time By Jimmy Hatlo

Third Party Veep Candidate Houston Speaker

HOUSTON (UP) — Thomas H. Werdel, vice presidential nominee of the Constitution Party, will speak in Houston Thursday night.

The former congressman from Bakersfield, Calif., is the running mate of T. Coleman Andrews, the party's presidential nominee who favors states' rights and repeal of the federal income tax.

Werdel will speak at 7:30 p.m. at Houston Music Hall where Vice President Richard M. Nixon drew a half-capacity crowd only last month.

Werdel's appearance is jointly sponsored by the Houston States' Rights Club, the Constitution Party and various states rights and citizens leagues.

SUCCEEDS KINSEY — Dr. Paul Gebhard, research associate of the late Dr. Alfred C. Kinsey, has been named executive director of the Indiana University Institute for Sex Research at Bloomington, Ind. The Harvard-trained anthropologist and archeologist was co-author with Kinsey of "Sexual Behavior in the Human Female."

Revolts Put Molotov In A Very Nice Spot

By CHARLES M. MCCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

The Polish revolt against Soviet Russian domination has put "old Bolshevik" Vyacheslav M. Molotov in a very nice spot.

Every time anybody in the Soviet inner leadership mentions Poland, Molotov is in position to say: "I told you so."

Whether Molotov will be able to capitalize on his position at the expense of Nikita S. Khrushchev and Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin—and whether he wants to—remain to be seen.

But certainly, from the Bolshevik viewpoint, Molotov has been right about the danger of "Titoism" every since President Tito of Yugoslavia broke with the late Josef Stalin in 1948.

Molotov fully shared Stalin's hatred of Tito for rebelling against Soviet dictatorship over the East European satellite countries.

Molotov was thrown out of his post of foreign minister to make it easier for Khrushchev and Bulganin to make friends with Tito again.

It can hardly be doubted that the Polish rebellion—and the prospective rebellion in Hungary—will strengthen Molotov in the Soviet Communist Party Presidium which rules Russia.

There is talk now that Khrushchev might be ousted from his job as first secretary of the Communist Party. If he went, Bulganin might go with him.

In that event, Molotov might or might not get either the prime ministry of the Communist Party leadership if he wanted them.

It is quite possible that, at 66, he does not want either post and would prefer to remain a vice premier and top policy maker.

Molotov's present position of strength emphasizes his durability in the tough game of Communist power politics.

He is a comeback artist of note. He was premier from 1930 to 1941, when Stalin took over that job to direct war policy. For a while, from 1939 to 1941, he was foreign minister as well. He continued in the foreign ministry until 1949. Then he was "demoted" but remained one of Russia's several vice premiers. It turned out that Molotov really was detached from an active cabinet post to take charge of Soviet Far Eastern policy.

After Stalin's death in 1953, Molotov was called back to the foreign ministry. His loss of that position last June certainly was a demotion—a slap in the face for Tito's benefit.

Now, it is apparent even in Moscow that Molotov was right all along in his warnings against Titoism. What is surprising is that Khrushchev and Bulganin thought they could relax the Soviet grip on the satellite countries without asking for trouble. In Poland especially, hatred of Russia—not merely of Communism—is inbred.

One of Molotov's strengths is that he has been around a lot for years, attending international conferences. He has seen something of the world. Khrushchev and Bulganin have been going around for the last couple of years. But their background is almost incredibly narrow. All through their careers, they have seen a distorted picture of the world from inside the Kremlin walls. That is a basic weakness in Soviet leadership, and a corresponding strength in Western leadership.

Soviet Guests View Election

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UP)—Three Soviet Russian guests of the State Department, in this country to observe a United States election campaign, arrive today for a first hand look at politics Kentucky style—which often baffles even Kentuckians.

After their arrival from Washington this afternoon, the Russians were scheduled for a formal welcome at the office of Louisville Mayor Andrew Broaddus and lunch at the exclusive Pendennis Club with city officials.

The afternoon was set aside for visits to Republican and Democratic state campaign headquarters to see how a state political organization functions.

MACARONI AND CHEESE FOR WEIGHT-WATCHERS

Watching the scale closely? You can still enjoy mouth-watering macaroni and cheese and celebrate National Macaroni Week, October 18-27, if you budget your calories as wisely as they are in this less-than-350 calories menu.

- Nibblers
 (1 5-in celery stick 1 large stuffed green olive)
 1 3/4 in. scallion 1/2 teaspoon onion salt
 Slim Jane Macaroni & Cheese Buttered Green Beans
 (1/2 c. beans, 1/2 tsp. butter) Black Coffee or Tea
- Minted Fruit Cocktail
 (6 lbs. canned fruit cocktail and juice, 1 tsp. creme de menthe)
 Total calories: 549.7

Slim Jane Macaroni and Cheese
(Makes 6 servings)

- 1 tablespoon salt
 - 3 quarts boiling water
 - 2 cups elbow macaroni (8 ounces)
 - 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
 - 1 tablespoon all-purpose flour
 - 3 tablespoons non-fat dry milk solids
 - 1 cup water
 - 1 cup creamed cottage cheese
 - 1/2 teaspoon onion salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon pepper
 - 1 1/2-ounce can luncheon meat, diced
 - 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
 - 1/2 cup grated Cheddar cheese
- Add 1 tablespoon salt to 3 quarts rapidly boiling water. Gradually add macaroni so that water continues to boil. Cook uncovered, stirring occasionally, until tender. Drain in colander.
- Melt 2 tablespoons butter or margarine; add flour and milk solids and blend. Gradually add 1 cup water and cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add macaroni, cottage cheese, onion salt, pepper, luncheon meat and parsley; mix well. Grease 10x2-inch skillet with remaining 1/2 teaspoon butter or margarine. Turn macaroni mixture into skillet and top with Cheddar cheese. Cover and bake in moderate oven (350°) 45 minutes.

Honey Week Calls Attention To Varied Uses For Every Meal During The Day

With October's bright blue weather, as the poet phrased it, and a container of extracted honey on the storage shelf or a pound in the cupboard, homemakers can have "honey day" even before Honey Week. The latter starts Sunday and continues through Nov. 3. With bountiful supplies of the delicious nectar in the markets now, the family's menu - planner can have a successful morning in her colorful kitchen.

It is fun and satisfaction to see what the homemaker can do with one pound of honey. Starting with breakfast, Honey Butter helps sweeten that meal and increases one's energy. Toast, hot breads, or waffles are all improved with it as a spread. Cream 1/4 cup butter well. Add 1/4 cup of honey gradually. Beat thoroughly. Chill until firm.

Fruit filling for sandwiches is a treat for the school or office lunch box or the lunch at home. It requires 1/4 cup each dried prunes, dates, figs and grated orange peel; 1 tablespoon candied ginger; 1/2 cup honey. Chop fruit and blend with honey. When wanted, use between slices of buttered bread.

Honey Custard is delicious as the after-school snack, dessert at dinner, or to serve during T.V. hour - Beat five eggs just long enough to mix yolk and white, add 1/2 cup of honey, 1/4 teaspoon cinnamon and 1/4 teaspoon salt. Add 1 quart of scalded milk slowly. Pour mixture into buttered custard cups and place in a shallow pan of water. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until a knife inserted in center of custard comes out clean (takes about 35 minutes). Cool and serve custards on glass plates surrounded by sliced, sweetened fresh strawberries or raspberries when in season or frozen berries that have been thawed.

Recipes Are Given For Salad Specials

There are hundreds of salad dressings, but the best of them depend for their excellence on the fine, smooth olive oil from Spain, which combines with the other ingredients to blend and project their flavors. To half a cup of good vinegar, add a quarter - teaspoon of freshly ground pepper and three-quarters of a teaspoon of salt, then beat into this a cup and a half of olive oil until it thickens. Chilling the ingredients makes for a thicker dressing, and you can use lemon juice instead of vinegar for extra freshness in taste. For seafoods, add two teaspoons of chopped capers, a crushed garlic clove, a quarter - teaspoon of anchovy paste, a chopped hard-cooked egg yolk and a dash of Tabasco to one cup of the basic dressing. For green salads, crumble two tablespoons of blue cheese into a cup of the basic dressing. For a cold meat garnish, add three tablespoons of drained horseradish, two teaspoons of paprika and a dash of Tabasco to a cup of the basic dressing. Your imagination can devise dozens of other variations.

Fresh mayonnaise is delicious and easy to make, particularly if you use fine Spanish olive oil as your basic ingredient. Curdling can be avoided if the ingredients are cold. Try adding half a cup of chopped almonds to make a vegetable salad dressing, or two tablespoons of chutney to a cup of mayonnaise for chicken salad.

A simple hearty salad can be made by cutting four large tomatoes into wedges, sprinkling with salt, pepper and a tablespoon of oregano, then pouring over this a quarter-cup of Spanish olive oil and the juice of half a lemon.

Honey - Glazed Baked Ham will take the remainder of the honey and will delight the family at dinner. Wipe a 5 to 7 pound ham with damp cloth, place fat side up on a rack in an open roaster. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a preheated low oven (325 degrees F.) from 2 to 2 1/2 hours or approximately 22 minutes per pound. Remove rind if ham has not had skin removed. Score ham with sharp knife in diamond shapes. Place 1/4 of a maraschino cherry in center of each diamond. Pour one cup of Honey over scored ham, covering it uniformly. Bake in a hot oven (400 degrees F.) 15 minutes, or until well browned.

A bright October morning, a pound of delicious extracted Honey and a yen to prepare something different will result in a Happy Honey Day.

Baked Apple Rings

Good Fall Dessert

Baked apple rings are a delicious harvest season dessert and may be served plain or topped with whipped cream, blended with silver ginger. To prepare, wash and core 6 large Washington Jonathan apples. Slice apples. Slice in rings crosswise, keeping the slices together. Arrange apple rings in a buttered casserole, standing around the edge, then fill in center. Combine 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 tsp. cinnamon and sprinkle over apple rings. Pour 1/4 cup lemon juice over apple rings and dot with 1/4 cup butter or margarine. Cover and cook in slow oven (300 degrees F.) 45 mins. or until tender.

Taffy-Pull Party And Cookies Are Rated Top Halloween Treats For Youngsters

This year leave the haunting to the goblins and have your gang over for a Halloween taffy pull. It's the kind of party that scores a special hit with the 11- to 14-year-old set.

When the guests first arrive, play Halloween games. This allows time for the taffy to be prepared. Jack-O-Lantern Toss is a simple game of skill that fits in well. On the floor in the corner of the room against a wall, place a jack-o-lantern with the top cut out.

Divide the guests into two or more teams. Set a limit on the length of time to be allowed for playing. Each team takes its turn at the game separately, playing the game for the length of time specified.

Have players, from a distance of six feet, try to toss rubber jar rings or bottle caps into the pumpkins. East player throws three caps or rings for his turn. Each cap in the pumpkin scores 10 points for the player. When each player completes his turn, he goes to the end of the line and the players move up. If time allows, player may take another turn. Team plays as fast as possible to get in as many turns as possible, thus enabling them to run up a good score.

While the games are going, the taffy can be made. The following recipe makes enough taffy for three persons to pull. To have enough taffy for a large group, do not double the recipe. Instead, make several batches in separate pans.

HALLOWEEN TAFFY

- 2 cups Imperial Pure Cane Brown Sugar, firmly packed
 - 1/2 cup Imperial Pure Cane Granulated Sugar
 - 1 tablespoon butter or margarine
 - 1 1/3 cup water
 - 2 tablespoons cider vinegar
- Combine all ingredients in large saucepan. Cook over low heat; stir only until sugar dissolves. Remove sugar crystals from the sides of the pan with a damp cloth wrapped around a fork. Continue cooking over medium-high heat, without stirring, to 272 degrees or soft crack stage. Pour the hot syrup on a large buttered platter. When cool enough to handle, pull until taffy is light-colored and porous. Twist into ropes and place on buttered pan. Cut with scissors, or dent into bite-sized pieces with a knife and break apart when cold.
- When it's time for pulling taffy, the party should move to the kitchen. Be sure all taffy pullers butter their hands well or rub them with cornstarch before handling the warm candy.
- Although you have the Halloween fun well-organized inside, you will want to be prepared for the trick or treat callers at your door too. Here is a delicious cookie recipe that gives you 100 wonderful treats. And you can make them for less than 85 cents!

DUTCH ALMOND COOKIES

- 1 1/2 cups melted butter or margarine
 - 1 cup Imperial Pure Cane Granulated Sugar
 - 2 cups Imperial Pure Cane Brown Sugar
 - 3 eggs, beaten
 - 4-1/2 cups sifted flour
 - 1 tablespoon cinnamon
 - 1 teaspoon soda
 - 1/2 cup blanched, chopped almonds
- On the refreshment side, candied apples are always eagerly anticipated by the small fry and today's Goblin Apples are easily prepared. Good homemade confection with the apples are Caramel Corn Hunks, and cups of steaming hot chocolate complete the menu.

(Dough will still be sticky.) Wrap in waxed paper and store in refrigerator overnight or until ready to use. Cut into 1/4" slices; place on greased cookie sheet. Bake at 375 degrees F. 10 minutes, until it can be patted into rolls. Makes 100 treats.

BEWITCH YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD - When trick or treat callers appear at your door, be ready with a big batch of homemade cookies. Little pranksters love these crisp, wonderful-tasting cookies. And the recipe gives you 100 treats for less than 85 cents.

Goblin Apples And Caramel Corn Hunks Highlight Halloween Ghost-Goblin Party

When Halloween ghosts and goblins come calling for Tricks or Treats you'll want to be prepared with plenty of good spook food for hand-outs and bright red apples are best of all. If you want to add a fancy touch, core the apples and fill the cavities with raisins and nuts and, when you're shopping, be sure to select a good apple variety that's tender and doesn't require peeling. Those favorite Halloween apples, the broad-shouldered red Delicious from Washington State, are plentiful now in tempting, larger-than-usual sizes so these are an excellent choice for holiday feasting and for all the traditional apple games.

Along with ducking for apples, an apple balancing game will provide hilarious fun and for this the children are divided into teams. At a given signal, the leader of each team places an apple on a youngster's head and the player, with the apple on his head, walks to a designated place in the room and back to the starting place. If the apple falls off, it is replaced and the player continues. The next players repeat this and so on until each child has had his turn. The side that finishes first wins a prize.

GOBLIN APPLES FOR HALLOWEEN

- 6 Delicious apples
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 cup white corn sirup
- 1/2 cup water
- Red food coloring
- Peppermint flavoring

Wash and dry apples. Insert skewers in stem ends. Combine sugar, sirup, water and food coloring to make a soft red color, in top of double boiler. Cook over direct, medium heat, stirring constantly until sirup boils. Then cook without stirring to soft crack stage (280 degrees F.) or until a small amount separates into hard but not brittle threads when tested in very cold water. Remove from heat and quickly stir in flavoring. Place pan immediately in cold water to stop boiling, then set over hot water to prevent sirup from thickening. Hold apples by skewer and dip into sirup. Remove and twirl quickly to coat evenly. Place on wire rack to cool. Make goblin faces on apples with small gumdrops, using leftover sirup to make the candies stick.

CARAMEL CORN HUNKS

- 1/2 lb. caramels
- 2 tbsps. water
- 1/2 cup salted peanuts
- 4 to 5 cups popped corn

In the top of a double boiler place caramels and water. Heat over boiling water, stirring frequently until caramels are melted. Add peanuts and mix well. Pour sirup slowly over popped corn, tossing so corn kernels are coated. Let stand till firm. Break into hunks. Makes about 1-1/2 quarts.

FOR THE WHOLE MAN—Visitors to the new chapel and library of Wittenberg College, at Springfield, Ohio, see this magnificent vista as they enter the nave of Weaver Memorial Chapel. Chapel and library, recently dedicated, are under one roof, a unique arrangement which emphasizes the partnership of college, church and the arts in Wittenberg's educational program. Focus of attention in the chapel is the floor-to-ceiling red dossal curtain before which an 11-foot-high cross is suspended over the massive altar of Italian marble. The huge mural, which decorates the chancel arch, measures 48 by 40 feet and is painted on unprimed ordon. It re-creates the story of the Bible. The library, on the lower three floors of the building, can seat 350-400 students at one time and has space for 200,000 books.

Ike, Almost, Is A Goldfish Bowl

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—It was impolite and politically hazardous back there in the 1950s and early 1940s to refer in public to the crippling disease which afflicted President Roosevelt.

In contrast, sketches and X-ray pictures of President Eisenhower's insides have been shown in public prints like leg art. Mr. Eisenhower not only lives in a goldfish bowl, he, almost, is a goldfish bowl.

His pulse, heart beat and other physical intimacies will get another page one ride this weekend after a head-to-toe examination scheduled to take place here at the Army's Walter Reed Medical Center.

IT'S THE LAW IN TEXAS

You will find strange words in the U.S. Constitution: "Congress has the power to define and punish piracy and felonies committed on the high seas, and offenses against the law of nations." No man owns the high seas, and no nation rules it. So that when a crime like piracy takes place, the law does not look upon it as against any one nation, but against the law of nations.

For centuries, all maritime nations have had the right under international law to capture on the high seas persons guilty of piratical acts and to punish them.

Piracy is an international crime, but each country punishes it under its own laws. Any nation has the right and duty to police the high seas, and any pirate loses the protection of the flag he may be flying.

As one court put it, the pirate is "treated as an outlaw, as an enemy of all mankind."

How far this idea of the "enemy of mankind" may go, is now a question before world opinion. The Treaty of Versailles, for example, held that Germans who had broken the law and customs of war should go to trial before the courts of the victors.

Through World War I Germans did not do so, those of World War II faced trial and were convicted at Nuremberg. The right of victors to try war criminals has been warmly debated ever since.

Where did we get the idea that there is a law of nations?

It comes to us through centuries of international trade, commerce, war, and treaty making. Chiefly it came down through Roman law, and found expression in the belief that God promulgated a law of nature through man's reason which is binding on men and nations.

(This column, prepared by the State Bar of Texas, is written to inform—not to advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who is fully advised concerning the facts involved, because a slight variance in facts may change the application of the law.)

The examination is intended to squelch what is left of the health issue in this campaign, which isn't much. The left-of-center elements of American politics spotted what looked like a chewy campaign issue in the twin facts of Mr. Eisenhower's 1955 heart attack and the renomination of Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

All Hands Not Convinced
The nub of the argument was that Republican success in this election would put Nixon a mere heartbeat from the White House. How effective that argument may have been with voters will be shown on election day, Nov. 6.

The publicity given Mr. Eisenhower's clinical experiences since he was stricken in Denver in September, 1955, has not convinced all hands that all the facts are known to the public. There have been repeated public suggestions that the physicians and surgeons who ministered to the President should be submitted for questioning by Washington reporters.

Mighty near all is fair in politics as in some other dangerous games, wherefore it is reasonable to believe that there will be skeptical reports on the President's pre-election physical examination.

Three of the examining medics will be Army officers. Moreover, the examination will take place in an Army hospital where information can be channeled or checked almost at will. A question likely to be raised is this:

Hagerty Is Skilled
Who would expect Army physicians or surgeons to be eager or, even, willing to report before election day that their commander-in-chief was other than the vigorous man he seems to be?

James C. Hagerty is the White House public relations expert. He cannot match the late Sen. Arthur Capper (R-Kan.) of whom it was said that he could keep both ears to the ground simultaneously. But Hagerty is skilled in the noble art of trouble-spotting. He can see trouble coming around corners.

So Hagerty may checkmate the skeptics this time by arranging for the kind of medical news conference which has often been suggested. There is precedent for suspicion that the health of a president is something his associates do not care to discuss frankly.

Grass-roots reports indicate that Mr. Eisenhower's campaign performance so far is convincing the voters that he is physically able to take on another four-year term. The significance of his Walter Reed check-up this week is that it may establish a precedent for future candidates.

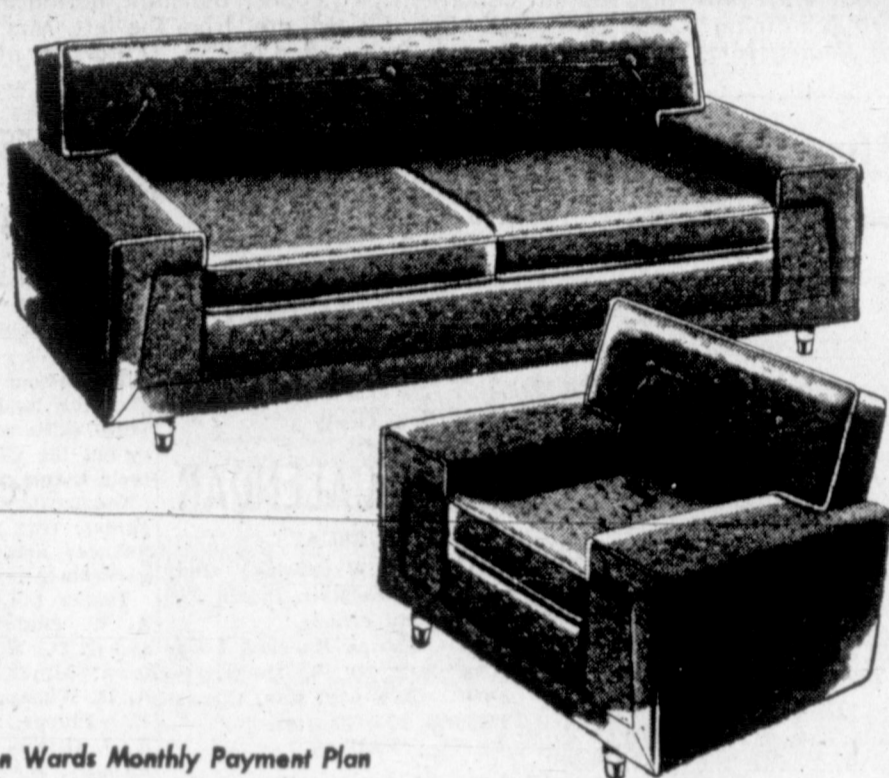

The voters may come to feel that candidates owe them an election-eve health accounting.

Pampa News Women's Editor

ON HALLOWEEN A PARADE OF YOUNG "HOBGOBLINS" will cross the thresholds of many homes for an evening of fun. In addition to the traditional Halloween games, young guests will be expecting something special in the way of party fare. On a table dimly lighted with jack o' lanterns, with a black witch riding her broom in the shadows overhead, serve a tray of Gouda cheese, rye bread and crackers, with a basket of sugared doughnuts. Also serve plenty of fresh, sweet cider.

PLACE on a large wooden tray or cutting board one whole red-coated round of Gouda cheese and another one from which several wedges of the cheese are cut. Neither cellophane wrapping nor the red wax coat should be removed. To make it easy for the little 'spooks' to cut additional wedges or slices of Gouda cheese, use kitchen shears to cut away the label sticker and the thickness of wrapping under it. Cheese should always be served at room temperature to provide the most of its natural flavor and aroma. It is best to remove the Gouda rounds from the refrigerator at least one hour before serving time.

Around the cut and uncut Gouda cheese rounds, arrange the cheese wedges speared with colored appetizer picks, assorted crisp crackers and buttered ovals of rye bread. A cheese knife, placed on one side of the cheese tray, invites the young guests to slice away and enjoy the sandwiches they can make with this nut-like flavored, natural cheese.

Feature on this serving tray a cheese jack o' lantern on which a black witch and broom cutout is perched. This is made by removing both the wrapping and the wax coat from the cheese. Cut slim pieces of ripe olives and insert them in shallow cuts made with a sharp knife in the top side of the cheese. The black cardboard and the pattern for the witch and broom are available at most art supply stores.

The young host or hostess should remind the guests that the jack o' lantern is an important part of the refreshment. When the rest of the Gouda cheese has 'vanished',

Mark Griffith Feted With Birthday Party

Mark Griffith, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Griffith, was honored with a party Tuesday for his fourth birthday in the home of his aunt, Mrs. E. S. Carroll of Kellerville. Refreshments of iced cream, cake, candy and punch were served.

Attending were Joe D., Jay Lynn and Johnny Roth, Rodney Bailey, Jessie Wayne Broom, Molly and Stevie Gray, Jeanne Alton, Loydean and Dennis Price, Nancy Brown and Johnny C. Bilew. Sending gifts were Miss Jay Flanagan, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Jeffries and Chuck, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Winston and D. R. Henry, all of Pampa.

the youngsters will find pleasure in cutting and eating the jack o' lantern.

Sugar-coated doughnuts and their sugared "holes" are always favorites on this occasion.

Fresh sweet cider, chilled and served in glasses or served hot and spiced in mugs with sticks of cinnamon as sippers, will pique the children's interest and adds to the refreshment fun.

This Halloween snack menu will appeal to any age. Although Halloween parties are usually for children, most adults still love Halloween customs and games... and sometimes have Halloween parties, too.

Comforts More Childhood Ills...

than any other children's aspirin. Mothers trust it. Doctors approve it. Children like its orange flavor.

Ruth Millett

In living rooms all over America one evening recently middle-aged wives must have sighed with envy as they saw on their TV screens a perfect demonstration of how a gentleman treats his lady in public.

The proud, gentle way he looked at his wife and looked after her comfort set the women to weighing their own husbands.

No, it wasn't some slick character actor.

It was none other than the first gentleman of the land, President Eisenhower.

From the moment their car arrived at the Cow Palace, viewers saw a man who by every proud grin and thoughtful gesture seemed to be saying to the crowd, "Don't look at me. Look at her. Isn't she a darling?"

As he started to help her from the car he reached back to get her wrap and asked her if she thought she would need it.

Then, as he helped her through the crowds he kept turning to talk to her, to grin at her remarks, to bend over to listen to any word she had for him.

On the platform he gently drew her to his side and didn't begin his speech until he turned from the audience to hand her over to someone else.

By every look and every gesture this husband was plainly and proudly making sure that in his big moment his wife was never to be even a step behind him.

It was something for the women of the country to see and something husbands of all ages might well have noted.

For it showed plainly that no light can be turned on a woman that will be as flattering as her own husband's pride, respect and gallantry toward her as a woman.

Japanese Tea Held By First Baptist GA

The Vada Waldron Junior Girls' Auxiliary of the First Baptist Church held a Japanese tea Tuesday in the church.

The room was decorated with Japanese maps, robes, Kakeshi dolls, other dolls, Furashiki scarfs, hand-painted scarfs, postcards, fans, pictures, chopsticks, banners, lanterns and a Japanese game Hagotta, similar to badminton.

The girls left their shoes outside the door, and were served cookies and green tea from a Japanese tea table, with the girls sitting on the floor.

The business session was led by Miss Jean Franklin, president, and the opening prayer was given by Miss Ronnie Roach. Mrs. E. B. Bowman, introduced by the counselor, Mrs. W. B. Franklin, reviewed the first two chapters of the mission book, "Koji of Japan."

Thirty members were present.

13 Experts See Three Major Schools Of Communism

EDITOR'S NOTE: Experts on Soviet and satellite affairs have now reached the conclusion that world communism has split into three major schools and shattered Moscow's ideological leadership. In the following dispatch, veteran United Press diplomatic correspondent Karol C. Thaler spells out what happened.

By KAROL C. THALER

United Press Staff Correspondent LONDON (UP)—World communism emerged today in a three way split—Krushchevism, Maoism and Titoism.

Leading students of Soviet affairs now consider the once monolithic uniformity of the Communist bloc shattered and seemingly beyond repair.

With the leap-frog growth of the satellite revolt in east Europe, the signs are that Moscow's once undisputed leadership of the Communist world is fading like a once red rose in a winter chill.

Loss of ideological leadership, the experts predicted, may be followed by the loss of Russian political predominance.

Tito Break Is Small

The blow to Moscow's prestige dealt first by President Tito of Yugoslavia eight years ago was a mere pinprick compared to the open revolt now in progress in Poland and beginning in Hungary, the experts said.

That's Titoism. And the ferment in the East European satellites is complemented by the quiet but deep-seated independence drive of Red China's Mao Tse-Tung, who has recognized as a major artist, another Rembrandt.

"We thought the censors at the Johnson Office would be ladies in fussy hats, but not at all. They were human beings. They thought it was an artistic, wholesome picture.

been moving away from Russia's tutelage at a fast pace. That's Maoism.

Moscow Challenged. The prevailing view among expert observers here is that no matter how the present Polish experiment ends, the leadership of Moscow has been effectively challenged.

Things may change again, but they will never be the same.

Russia's plight at present is accentuated by differences within the Kremlin itself, which appears increasingly split into two factions—one led by Soviet Party Chief Nikita Khrushchev and the other, the Stalinists, apparently captained by former foreign minister V. M. Molotov.

There is no telling yet where this struggle will lead and whether and in which form "Krushchevism" will emerge as the sole and undisputed ruler of the vast Soviet Union.

Indications Clear. But the indications already are clear beyond doubt in Europe that Titoism has burst forth not as a mere challenge but as a serious competitor to Moscow's brand of communism.

Tito's "warm and hearty congratulations" to Poland's "Titoist" party leader Wladlaw Gomułka lent support to suggestions that the square-jawed Yugoslav chief is marching forward at the head of a new Socialist bloc in east and central Europe.

This development recalled an earlier dream of the one-time partisan fighter to lead a Balkan bloc of states in central and southeast Europe. That idea aroused Generalissimo Stalin's immediate suspicions and he promptly vetoed it.

The scope of this scheme appears now to have widened beyond Stalin's wildest fears.

He Watched His Step!

LONGVIEW, Tex. UP—Albert Jones, a restaurant operator, ended up in jail because he watched his step too closely.

Police charged that they saw him repeatedly skip the sixth step in climbing the stairs of the restaurant.

They said they found 19 pints of wine concealed under the step and charged Jones with keeping wine on premises licensed for beer only.

H-Bomb Issue Started Six Months Ago

CHICAGO (UP)—The H-bomb issue, hottest question of the presidential campaign, had its beginning six months ago on April 21. At that time, Adlai E. Stevenson came out for action to halt hydrogen bomb tests in a non-political speech before the annual meeting of the American Society of Newspaper Editors in Washington, D.C.

He devoted just 217 words of a speech attacking the Republican foreign policy to the subject of H-bomb tests.

After criticizing GOP policy, Stevenson gave some of his own ideas. One was that this nation "give prompt and earnest consideration to stopping further tests of the hydrogen bomb."

"As a layman I question the sense of multiplying the enlarging weapons of a destructive power already almost incomprehensible," Stevenson said.

"Of course," he continued, "I would call upon other nations to follow our lead, and if they don't, and persist in further tests, we will know about it and can reconsider our foreign policy."

It wasn't long after Stevenson won the Democratic presidential nomination in August that he began talking about H-bomb tests again.

Recalling his April proposal, Stevenson told American Legion conventioners in Los Angeles Sept. 5 that other nations had announced they would be willing to limit H-bomb tests.

Since then, Stevenson has plugged away at the same theme in speeches across the country—at St. Louis, Minneapolis, Seattle, San Diego, Cincinnati, and elsewhere.

Why "Good-Time Charlie" Suffers Uneasy Bladder

Such a common thing as unwise eating or drinking may be a source of mild, but annoying bladder irritations—making you feel restless, tense, and uncomfortable. And if restless nights, with tagging backache, headache or muscular aches and pains due to over-exertion, strain or emotional upset, are adding to your misery—don't wait—try Doan's Pills.

Doan's Pills have three outstanding advantages—act in three ways for your speedy return to comfort. 1—They have an easing soothing effect on bladder irritations. 2—A fast pain-relieving action on nagging backache, headache, muscular aches and pains. 3—A wonderfully mild diuretic action thru the kidneys, tending to increase the output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes. So, get the same happy relief millions have enjoyed for over 60 years. Ask for new, large, economy size and save money. Get Doan's Pills today!

SANTA'S LITTLE FAR-EAST HELPERS—Friction-motor racers receive finishing touches of paint on a toy factory's assembly line in Tokyo, Japan, as Nippon's toy industry shifts into high gear to supply the overseas Christmas trade. An estimated 80 per cent of all toys made in Japan are manufactured for export and the major portion of them wind up on toy counters in the United States.

There Is More Than Meets The Eye In "The Naked Eye"

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Staff Correspondent HOLLYWOOD (UP)—U.S. Movie fans may be startled when they see a movie about photography, "The Naked Eye," because the eye is not the only object in the film that is nude.

For the first time in a Hollywood film, female nudes will be shown on the screen. And for the first time for any country's movies, Hollywood's own censor, the Johnston Office, awarded its seal of approval to the picture, nudes and all.

"The Naked Eye" nudes don't move, as they are still photographs made by famed lensman

Edward Weston of models lying on the sand dunes near his Monterey, Calif., home.

"The Naked Eye," billed as the story of the "art and fun of photography," also shows the photography—dressed—of Alfred Eisenstaedt, Margaret Bourke-White, Weegee, Daguerre and other masters of the camera.

"The movie," a hot contender for the documentary Oscar next March, was virtually a one-man effort by Louis Stoumen.

"I included the nudes because they are among the most beautiful in the art of photography," Weston, the photographer, will be recognized as a major artist, another Rembrandt.

"We thought the censors at the Johnston Office would be ladies in fussy hats, but not at all. They were human beings. They thought it was an artistic, wholesome picture.

Stoumen wrote, directed, produced photographed and edited the 71-minute unusual movie—most of it in the tiny bedroom of an apartment he converted into his "motion picture studio."

The Long Arm

Ask any government employee. He will tell you that right now we are experiencing boom times. Never have things been so prosperous. People are working, goods are moving. He may even say: "Everything is booming but the guns." It's a pat phrase.

But if things are going along so nicely, why is Uncle Sam out to borrow $1.6 billion? Now we don't mean the usual weekly borrowing of $1.6 billion which "Uncle" customarily signs for every Friday. That has been going on for a long time. In order to have the cash to meet its debts the federal government trots over to the bank and goes on the cuff for $1.6 billion four times a month.

What we are talking about is another $1.6 billion in addition to the regular $1.6 billion.

This borrowing business began during the ascendancy of the Democrats under F. D. R. Ninety-one day notes are put out by the treasury every week, in order to pay off a previous issue of 91-day notes. Since, in a given 91-day period there are 13 weeks, and since this same process goes on each week, we can see that the federal government is in debt on short-term loans something like $20.8 billion. This is in addition to its longer-term loans.

But now the federal government has increased the indebtedness. Instead of auctioning off $1.6 billion of 91-day notes last week, the hucksters of government sold $3.2 billion. They are dated October 17 and are redeemable January 16. But since the big flow of tax money will only be starting at that time it is unlikely that the money will be on hand to meet this payment. Therefore, it is quite likely that come January 16, the government will have to peddle another $3.2 billion in order to pay off last week's extravaganzas.

It is entirely possible that this new figure of $3.2 billion will become the regular weekly discrepancy of the federal bureaucracy, instead of the paltry little $1.6 billion.

There's another point that needs emphasis, too. The only way the government can get any takers for these notes is by promising to pay interest on this money. But the government must also collect the interest in this same way or by raising tax revenues. This means that when the government borrows a particular sum of money, it must find the means to pay back that entire sum, plus the interest. And since government is a non-productive, protective device, it operates at the end of the economic cycle, only on the basis of overhead. It produces nothing. It is an arm, raised and extended over the economy, which never completes a circuit.

When business or industry borrows sums of money, the reason for the borrowing is that business or industry intends to put that money to work so that more production, more wealth will be created. Such a borrowing has a sound purpose. It is feasible and creative. It provides a circuit of energy.

But when government borrows money it is sustained by no such motive. Government's only economic function is to spend money. And, the arm of non-creative energy poised by the government is of such nature that the longer it remains, the more costly it becomes. Each federal borrowing engenders the necessity for further and greater borrowing.

Our federal government is now far gone in maintaining the dry-rot of its own spending and borrowing. How long can it continue?

The laws of physics guide us here. A mechanical arm extended from a central point and with no place on which to rest the other end, can be extended only so far as the length of the arm and the weight of the arm, in combination, can be supported by the single base on which the arm rests. If the arm becomes too long, too heavy, or its single mooring point too weak in tensile strength, the arm will drop off, or failing that, will tip over its own base structure.

Mechanically speaking, we are now at the point where friction is developing between the base of the arm and its support. In relatively short order we can expect to see the arm drop off, or the base toppled.

Each new act of borrowing brings that inescapable moment that much closer.

BETTER JOBS

By R. C. HOILES
Why The Cause Of Peace And Prosperity So Rarely Known

I am convinced that if more people holding positions of influence knew one simple economic fact, that we would be on the way to peace and greater prosperity than we have ever had or ever dreamed of.

That fact is that wealth produced on a free and unhampered competitive market benefits everyone in the world; that under those ideal conditions, which we have never had, the gain of one is the gain of all and the loss of one is the loss of all. Probably it is because many people think that we have had a free and unhampered market without government interference in the past and have seen the gain of one hurting others, that they do not believe that in a free and unhampered market the gain of one is the gain of all. It is because the United States in past years has more nearly had a free and unhampered market with less government favoritism than any other country in the world that the people in this country live better than any place else in the world.

Belief Starts With Childhood

Free enterprise, of course, is not like gifts or things acquired by aggressive force or by fraud or by gambling or wars or inheritance where one gains materially and other loses. When one child receives a gift from his parent and the other child does not, the child that does not get the gift sees that the gain of one is the loss of the parent and does not benefit him. This belief often follows the youth as he grows up.

When he sees one youth get a job and he does not have one, he is inclined to think the boy with the job has gained at his expense; that if that boy didn't have the job he would have it. And this belief follows on and is the error that goes into the labor unions. It is based on the theory that there is a limited amount of jobs and a limited amount of work to be done and if one man has the job, another man loses.

Wants His Children To Pass Him

But as man's mind begins to develop and emerge, he begins to see that when one man produces wealth by working, he becomes an employer of other labor when he spends the fruits of his labor to satisfy his wants or the wants of others. And as the harmonies and beauties of freedom and liberty begin to dawn on this man whose mind is emerging, he begins to realize, first, that he wants to see his children be wiser and more productive and more wealthy than he has ever been. He sees that their gain does not hurt him. And as he continues this line of reasoning, if he follows it to the logical conclusion, then he had to come to the belief that if everyone was wiser and more productive and wealthier than he, that he would be benefited. He would then see that what he produced would exchange for more than if others were not so wealthy and productive as he. In short, he would see that the gain of one in producing wealth was the gain of all.

Another "Beam"

Another beam in the eyes of most people is that they see so much wealth acquired that is not acquired by increasing the total wealth, but is acquired because the government has passed legislative laws giving some people great temporary material advantages over others. Such laws as protective tariffs, immigration quotas, government manipulation of credit and their attempts to regulate values of various services and materials, subsidized "training", labor laws that establish the caste system and keep the man from below from having the right to compete. These and many other laws are the laws that give some people material advantages that deprive other people of their natural God-given rights.

People have seen so many people become wealthy due to these unethical and unjust laws and practices, it becomes difficult for them to see the beauty and harmony and blessings that result in a free and unhampered competitive economy where in producing wealth the gain of one is the gain of all.

And there's little chance for many to understand this ethical, economic principle that is the trap of peace and prosperity so long as they are trained by teachers who do not believe or understand that each and every person should get what he wants by rendering service efficiently enough so that they who pay his salary believe they, too, are benefited. These men with emerging minds know no man can explain what he does not understand. And the pity is that these teachers do not understand the free private competitive enterprise system where the gain of one is the gain of all.

Early in the 1930's, when Gerardo Machado ruled Cuba as native satrap of a New York bank, Gerry Swinehart, a young squirt from Elkhart, Ind., was sent down to do "public relations," a new and smoky phase of press-agency, for the Cuban government.

Mr. Swinehart had chased horse-drawn fire engines for the Elkhart Truth and had served a spell on the West Palm Beach Post where he suffered a bruise on his tender young psyche when the desk killed a big story about a six-foot alligator which had been caught stealing yard-hens on the outskirts of town. There were, he was admonished, no alligators east of Okecho-bee and there might be rattlesnakes in Texas, but there were none in Florida.

In Havana, he discovered the Daiquiri Cocktail, which is made of Bacardi Rum, which is made of fermented cane juice. By his diligence among visiting Americans, this insidious delicacy, a liquid candy with a bouquet which runs up the nasal corridors to the brain, established a beachhead in the speakeries of New York. He also began the plague of richly plaining Caribbean dance music, starting with "Siboney" and "The Peanut Vendor," which set in spectacular motion the rumba and other naturally lascivious cock-fight figures of the voodoo villages. He thus outmoded the two-step and the prim figures of the grizzly bear.

A few years later, Mr. Swinehart set himself to the historical task of learning, for such value as posterity might place upon the knowledge, just who discovered the Daiquiri. This is best done by telephoning. One called to another until he cornered, in the Murray Hill Hotel, New York, Josh Linticum, who is 1908 had gone to the town of Daiquiri, 8 miles from Siboney, where the Rough Riders had landed in 1898, to work as a chemist for the Spanish-American Iron company. There were seven educated men who ran the mines under Jennings Cox, the general manager, with miners from Spain doing the heavy work. This little aristocracy also had Chinese male servants. The salaries and mess allowances were generous and each of the seven got one gallon of Gold Medal Bacardi per month. Their only expense was 34 cents a week for laundry. The Cubans drank their Bacardi in coffee, but Cox, experimenting like O. Henry's castaways who found themselves surrounded by kegs and cases of assorted booze, finally hit upon a formula of 1 1/2 ounces of rum; juice of one large lime; teaspoon of brown (repeat, brown) sugar, crushed ice; shake until shaker is frosted. Drink.

On their periodical religious forays into Santiago 28 miles away, these genteel summers taught the bartender at San Carlo hotel to make their libation and he called it "Ron A La Daiquiri." The term "Cocktail," an English or American invention, was not current in Cuba.

Estes Once Sponsored The "North Atlantic Union"

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — The charge that Senator Estes Kefauver advocates a "dual citizenship" involving possible loss of American sovereignty has been leveled against him in certain Middle West areas and in anti-British centers because of his promotion of an organization known as the "North Atlantic Union."

With the support of 19 other Senators, the Democratic Vice Presidential nominee introduced a resolution requesting former President Truman to "invite the democracies that sponsored the North Atlantic Treaty to meet in convention to explore how far they can apply among these peoples the principles of a free federal union."

When former Secretary of State Dean Acheson opposed the idea, Kefauver accused him of suffering from a "lack of imagination and enterprise." The Kefauver resolution was never acted on by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee; and some of its original backers have withdrawn from the movement.

The nation's most illustrious internationalists, "one worlders" and "union now" enthusiasts were associated with Kefauver in this effort to organize a "United States of the Free World."

They included the late Justice Owen J. Roberts of Philadelphia; the late Robert P. Patterson, former Secretary of War; William L. Clayton, Houston international cotton broker; Clarence K. Strait, an author of the movement's bible, "Union Now"; and Harold C. Urey, atomic scientist.

One reason why the GOP has overlooked this issue is that Secretary John Foster Dulles, in his 1949 campaign for Senate re-election, endorsed the idea. It was bitterly opposed by the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Daughters of the American Revolution.

Although Kefauver did not specifically propose a "dual citizenship" for the dozen or more nationalities to be fused into the North Atlantic Union, he and his associates seemingly pointed in that direction. In urging favorable Senate action, the Tennessean said:

"A greater crisis, a depression or the conquest of individual countries by communism might rush the convention and the Atlantic democracies into precipitate action, as the British were precipitated into offering union to the French in 1940."

This referred to Churchill's proposal to Paul Reynaud, French Premier, just before the Dunkerque disaster, that Britain and France agree to a common citizenship.

Another advocate, Representative Hale Boggs of Louisiana, said that "a basic political institution must precede economic and military programs, or it would be putting the cart before the horse." Urey went even further. He said:

"As to whether the Union will eventually grow into a world government depends to a marked degree on how the Union behaves." Clayton, then vice president of the North Atlantic Union Association, saw the economic advantages as an international trader. He said:

"By bringing into one Union the free peoples of the world, we can have one single competitive economy for all the democracies."

Luckily for the Stevenson-Kefauver ticket, in view of Allied disension over the Suez Canal and other problems, the "One World" and "Union Now" movement never got beyond the talk stage, although Kefauver had filed 1950 as the year for the North Atlantic Union's first international convention.

Germany Is Next To Spain In Ease On Tourist Pocket

By HENRY McLEMORE

MUNICH — Jottings from a Rhineland Notebook: Germany, with the possible exception of Spain and Ireland, is the easiest on the tourist's pocketbook of any country on this side of the Atlantic. . . Restaurant, hotel, and entertainment prices are just about a fourth of what they are in France, and less than half of what they are in Italy.

And one doesn't have to check and recheck the bill to prevent a scalping. . . Also, when a tip is given, it is accepted without a dirty look regardless of its size. . . Train travel is swift, comfortable, on schedule, and dirt cheap. . . And the German Post Office is efficiency plus. . . Drop a letter in a box and it's on its way.

For some reason, I never thought of Germany as an especially beautiful country. . . Well, it is. . . I have been around the world quite a bit, but never have I seen scenery that surpasses that of Berchtesgaden and Garmisch. . . The smaller towns are gems. . . Pure picture postcard. . . A ride on the Rhine — and I'll take a grey day instead of a sunny one — is an experience your memory will retain long after your snapshots are brittle and faded.

The Germans are great watchers, especially of anything mechanical. . . One of their favorite diversions is to gather on the footbridges which span the autobahn and gaze by the hour at the passing motor traffic. . . The observation decks at the airports are always jammed, and at American military parades it is the tanks — and the tanks, alone — which excite the German spectators.

Germans must be the greatest hikers in the world. . . Hikers are everywhere, and they seem to delight in the toughest, steepest trails. . . They are oblivious to the weather. . . Rain, wind and cold seem to be a challenge, and the nastier the day, the more they hike.

They're great campers, too. The river banks are dotted with tents, even at this time of year when the weather is getting sharp. . . The campers kick a soccer ball about, and there is "lways at least one couple battling a shuttlecock back and forth with badminton rackets — and there never is a net. . . Most of the campers arrive by motorcycle, usually two to

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR P. JORDAN, M. D.

Many diseases caused by viruses (infectious) is a good example leave a life-long immunity. This is not the case for influenza. This is probably because viruses attacking the upper breathing passages may not penetrate into the blood enough to stimulate the body to build a lasting resistance.

For this, and other reasons, the development of an effective vaccine against influenza has proved exceedingly difficult. To complicate matters further, there are several strains of virus causing influenza; while one strain causes an outbreak one year, it may be an entirely different one which gives trouble the next.

Furthermore, the "flu" simply disappears for a time and no one knows what becomes of the virus in between outbreaks. This is commonly spoken of as going "underground."

SEVERAL YEARS AGO, high hopes were held for a vaccine against influenza. Favorable results with such a vaccine in an epidemic in 1945 were dashed in 1947, when the vaccine failed. Nevertheless, there are some who feel that present vaccines offer a good chance of preventing the disease. Certainly there is a lot of research going on in this field.

Many still remember the terrible "flu" epidemic of 1917-18, which was the greatest epidemic of all time. During that period, more people in the United States alone died from the influenza, and its complications, than were killed in the World War then raging. When, if ever, we shall have another epidemic of that magnitude no one can say certainly; if it should come, we must be better prepared for it than we are at present.

ANYONE WHO IS STRICKEN with this disease should immediately go to bed and stay there until the fever has been gone for several days. In the presence of a bad epidemic, this precautionary measure is exceedingly important since those who get out of bed too soon may come down with pneumonia or some other complication.

This is what happened in the 1917-18 epidemic, when whole families were hit almost simultaneously. Often the one best able to move around had to get up to wait on the others and then died soon after from pneumonia.

INFLUENZA HAS, on the whole, been less serious and less fatal than that great epidemic. Since then, the discovery of penicillin and other antibiotics has brought a measure of safety. These do not affect influenza itself, but may be life-saving in the treatment of pneumonia following influenza, or some of the other complications.

Heard Through The Barryl

By BARRY A. LITTMANN
Pampa News Sports Editor

To say the least, everyone of the 600 odd people who were guests of General Supply Company, Magobar distributors in this area, enjoyed themselves yesterday as they first watched little Bo Winger shoot a 36 for par against all kinds of gale-like winds as he and Bill Smith of Fort Worth teamed up to beat Pampa Country Club champ C. F. McGinnis and Country Club pro, Hart Warren, by one stroke as they played a nine-hole exhibition match.

After the excellent clinic given by Winger, everyone had more than enough to eat as the General Supply Company put on an old fashioned New Orleans "shrimp ball" for the enjoyment of everyone around.

To most of the fans out on the golf course yesterday, the name of Bo Winger was the high spot of the afternoon. Bo, after his match, came over and started to chat and he certainly proved an entertaining raconteur and a pro with an interesting history.

The Bo was born in Chico, Calif., and began his golf some 17 years ago when he was 15. He was a natural athlete, not only in golf, but in other sports as well and upon graduation from high school, he enrolled at Oklahoma A&M where he promptly won the Missouri Valley Conference championship as a freshman. At this point in his life, some years of service for Uncle Sam interfered and college did not enter Bo's mind again until 1948 when he went back to Oklahoma A&M and promptly won the Missouri Valley Conference championship three more times before finally getting his diploma.

Not sure what he wanted to do yet, Bo went to Florida for a few months upon graduation playing some strong amateur golf. From there, he went to work for the George Hepworth Wood Corp. in Philadelphia, incorporating his golf with his work. During this time, he won the Oklahoma Amateur, Oklahoma City Invitational and Fort Smith, Ark., tournaments to name a few of his top wins.

Finally on April 8, 1952, Bo decided to turn pro. He sweated out his six-month period of not taking home any pay for his play and despite that handicap, wound up 26th in the country in total earnings. He won two major tournaments that year, the Hot Springs Invitational where he beat the ranking favorite Dr. Cary Middlecott, the Memphis, Tenn., dentist and Doug Ford, a heavy money winner that year. He also won the Kansas City Open that year. His earnings amounted to about $7,000 for the six-month period he was allowed to take prize money in 1952-53.

In 1954, Bo finished 13th in the country in prize money as he toured the complete circuit, never winning a tourney, but always managing to come in second or third to him near the top money-wise. The same idea prevailed in 1955 as Winger wound up 17th in the nation after all the cash was counted.

This year, to date, Bo stands about 14th in the country for total money won and the only tourney he has won of any consequence was the KC Open. Before Bo left us, we naturally asked him what his top thrill was and boy, the one he told us about was a lulu.

It happened down in St. Petersburg, Fla., on the beautiful Pasadena Golf Course, which is laid out in the bay and has plenty of water to get trapped into. The Bo was waiting to tee off on the 17th, a 217-yarder with a narrow fairway. All of a sudden Chick Harbet who plays out of Grossinger, N.Y., and was playing behind Winger and his foursome, came running up and said to Bo, "Heck, Bo, I've never seen you hit a shot," and with that Bo teed off. The shot was true and Harbet remarked that "It's either one or nothing," and you know the rest. It was "one" as the chunky golfer carded a hole in one. All told, Bo has carded seven holes in one, four of which came in competitive play.

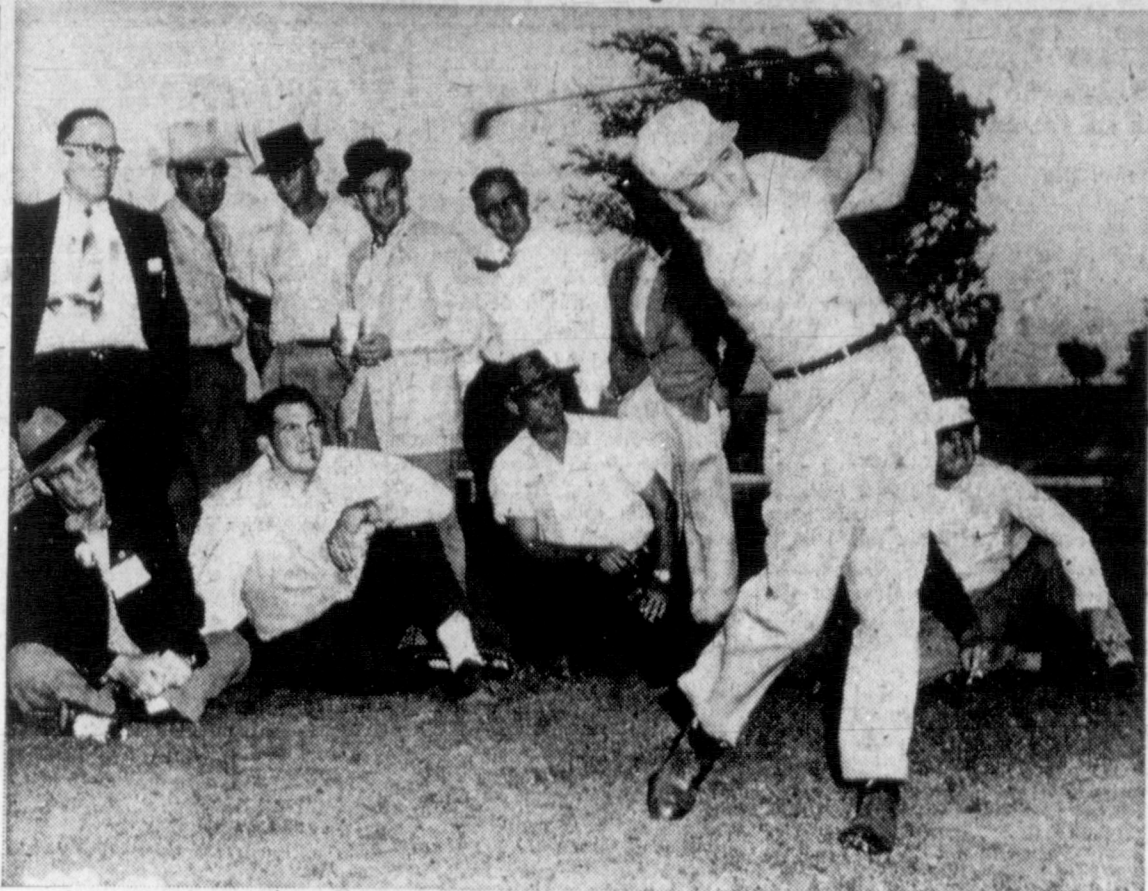

For the younger golfer who attended his excellent clinic after the match, Bo had this to say: "Get a competent instructor who can teach you the proper way to shoot your game. It's very important to do this while you are young because at a young age you will pick up certain habits and keep them through life." Most of the high school golfers attended the clinic with many of the seasoned country club golfers taking part in the clinic too.

It's a good way to make a living hinted Bo, for "Where else can you follow just out of college earn $23,000 on a job and have a good time at it too." Of course, it takes some talent to get that kind of money, but who, without talent, can afford to go along the pro circuit?

In all, Bo Winger proved again to all around the Pampa Country Club yesterday that he was a real "pro," dedicated to his work and eager to help the youngsters move on up the ladder to success. Besides his golfing chores, Bo works for Rodman Supply Company in Odessa, and does a pretty good job at that job too.

TOKYO (UP)—The Brooklyn Dodgers are gradually regaining the confidence of Japanese baseball fans. Their record now stands three victories and two defeats. But the fans are disappointed that the Bums have only five homers in five games, two by Roy Campanella, and one each by Jackie Robinson, Gil Hodges and Duke Snider.

THE RIGHT WAY—That's what Bo Winger, shown above, is doing for the galleryites who flocked to the Pampa Country Club yesterday to watch him shoot an even par 36 in a nine hole exhibition along with Hart Warren, C. F. McGinnis and Bill Smith. His clinic, held after the match attracted better than 200 persons. (News photo)

Bo Winger Steals Show At Pampa CC Yesterday

Despite the fact that the Pampa Country Club was hit by winds better than 30 miles per hour, little Bo Winger, showed why he is rated one of America's top pro golfers as he fired an even par 36 for the first nine as he and Bill Smith put on an exhibition against Country Club Champion C. F. McGinnis and Country Club pro, Hart Warren. The severe wind made all of the golfers' games erratic and didn't give the fans much enjoyment either. C. F. McGinnis was next with a 37 and Hart Warren and Bill Smith each posted 39's for their effort.

After the match, Winger conducted a clinic for the better than 200 who attended the "shrimp ball" sponsored by General Supply Corporation of Odessa, distributor of the Magobar products in this area. His clinic was well received and the Bo will long be remembered around Pampa for his pleasing way not only on the golf course, but off it too.

The rest of the evening was devoted to "shrimping" as General Supply brought up its ace chefs from New Orleans and New Iberia, La., for this feed. Real shrimp creole was served much to the enjoyment of the crowd of better than 500 people.

The Pampa Country Club will be the scene of some more top-flight golf Saturday when Joe Kirkwood Sr., the great trick-shot artist-teams with Hart Warren, Country Club pro, to play against Bill Smith, Amarillo Country Club pro and Joe Hourk, Huber Country Club of Borger pro. The match is slated to begin at 3:00 p.m. with Kirkwood's fabulous exhibition to get under way at 5:00 p.m.

SPORTS BRIEFS:
WELLSVILLE, Ohio (UP)—Clarence (Bevo) Francis, former scoring wizard at Rio Grande College, today deserted professional basketball for the fireside.

Francis said he was "through" with the play-for-pay game so he can spend more time with his wife and children.

WACO, Tex. (UP)—More than 100 Baylor University athletes stricken by food poisoning are expected to be recovered by the time the Bears meet undefeated Texas A&M in a Southwest Conference football game Saturday.

MEDFORD, Mass. (UP)—Tufts University and Springfield College announced separately Wednesday that they have passed up opportunities to play in the Refrigerator Bowl at Evansville, Ind., pointing out it is against their athletic policies to compete in post-season games.

PORTLAND, Ore. (UP)—Unbeaten Eddie Macera, a lightning fast puncher from Redding, Calif., today eyed a tentative date with Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson after his knockout win over big Johnny Holman here Wednesday night.

Commenting on his seventh round kayo of Holman, the seventh-ranked heavyweight credited his sharp left jab "through the early rounds with the win."

The fight was carried to a nationwide audience by radio and television over the ABC network. It was the first fight ever banned nationally from the Pacific Northwest.

All Go To Sooner Land For Chance To Play Well

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma now is accepted as college football's number one coach. This is the last of three dispatches in which NEA Sports Editor Harry Grayson takes a searching look at the university and its all-conquering team and fabled coach.)

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor
NORMAN, Okla. — (NEA) — As we headed into Jefferson House, across the road from Owen Field, to have dinner with the Oklahoma kids, someone recalled that Tommy McDonald was from Albuquerque. The All-America halfback was asked how he happened to come to Oklahoma.

"When it was time for me to go to college," explained McDonald, "New Mexico had fired its coach, Dud De Groot, and was de-emphasizing football. I wanted to go to a college where they played football well."

"He came to the right place," cut in Center Jerry Tubbs, who is out of Breckenridge, Tex. "While Oklahoma doesn't come close to throwing the ball around as loosely as the professionals, Bud Wilkinson, the perfect college coach, took considerable of his training schedule from the money players, who don't as much as put on pads between games."

"The team is built in spring work and the two weeks of two-day fall practices before classes start," he stresses.

Oklahoma, like all other football favorites outside of the Ivy League, has 20 days in the spring. Wilkinson has three weeks in the autumn, but it is in the first two that he gets in his best kicks. Then the four-deep squad is driven from 5:30 a.m. until 6:30 p.m., with two-hour stretches out for naps morning and afternoon.

"The players want to be good and are willing to pay the price," says Wilkinson.

Once the season is under way, Oklahoma practice is on the light side. Rarely are the kids scrimmaged. Frequently there is no work on Monday and no more than 30 minutes in shorts on Friday. Two days are spent on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday reviewing the upcoming opponents' attack and defense, rehearsing Oklahoma's and in weaving in new and special plays.

Wilkinson does it that his young men store up energy instead of leaving their football on the practice field.

How Wilkinson keeps so many young savages hopped up through-out flagrantly weak schedules is truly amazing, McDonald, for example, ran back to throw a leglock on Jimmy Harris after taking a pass good for 53 yards that thoroughly and finally bulldozed rather formidable Texas.

After smacking the Longhorns, 45-0, Wilkinson keeps his boys on the beam with something like this: "Our entire squad made far too many mechanical errors. Our starting team tumbled four times. In a close game, which we will have every week from now on, poor mechanical play will be the margin by which we will be defeated. I certainly hope we can overcome our errors through diligent practicing football. I wanted to go to a college where they played football well."

Encouraged to enroll in majors assuring a fine living, Oklahoma football players are solidly establishing themselves in the business and industrial world, especially as geologists and petroleum engineers.

On the football career side, the Wilkinson influence spreads. Quarterbacks Jack Mitchell, now at Arkansas; and Darrell Royal at Washington; and Pete Tillman of Wichita became head coaches at colleges six years after playing their last football at Norman. Tackle Wade Walker of Mississippi State did it in seven. Eight other Wilkinson Sooners are collegiate assistants. Twelve coach high schools.

Wilkinson has so well built his dynasty that graduates are now sending brighter prospects the better to learn.

Wilkinson has not only won over the players of the Great Southwest, but its oil and cattle men with them.

That's why it is going to be so hard to check the stampede.

Everybody is convinced that they play football just a little better at Oklahoma.

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UP)—Yale University announced today that it will begin construction next year on a $750,000 hockey arena to be named the David S. Ingalls rink in honor of the publisher of the Cincinnati Times-Star and his son. Both Ingalls captured the Eli freshman and varsity hockey teams at Yale.

Arkanas may have to depend heavily on him against an Ole Miss team that's favored by pine points in one of the two inter-sectional features of this week's card in the Southwest. The other one is at Fort Worth where Texas Christian hosts unbeaten Miami.

Inside the circuit, Texas A&M and Baylor play for the lead at Waco, while Texas and Rice stage a battle for survival at Houston.

The rough and tough Panhandle Panthers take on one of the enigmas around this area this year, the Canadian Wildcats, when they play each other tomorrow night in The Pampa News' Game of the Week.

The Panthers have been hard to deal with all year standing at 5-0-1 record to date, while the Canadian Wildcats are at 4-2.

At present, the Panthers are rated near the top in the Class A ratings and Canadian will be trying hard to upset the apparent in front of the usual packed house in Panhandle.

Other games that area teams will participate in include White Deer at Stinnett, Sunray at Gruver, Memphis at McLean, Clarendon at Le-fors, Shamrock at Quanah, Perry-ton at Childress, Spearman at Groom, Lakeview at Wheeler, with the Pampa Harvesters having an off week.

Consult the Pampa Sunday News for complete coverage of all area games.

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UP)—Eddie Arcaro, racing's riding, millionaire, figures the suspension handed out by the Kenneland stewards "cost" him $17,000-plus.

Arcaro, set down for careless riding in the Spinster Stakes at Kenneland last Friday, was all set to ride the Wheatley Stable's Bold Ruler in the $300,000 Garden State Stakes at Camden, N.J., Saturday.

With 15 or more starters in the Garden State, the winner will take down $170,000 plus. If Arcaro had the mount on Bold Ruler, he figures the ride would be worth 10 per cent of the winning total, provided the Wheatley colt reached the wire first.

Arcaro appealed the suspension and Leslie Combs II, chairman of the Kentucky Racing Commission arranged a second meeting. With the full membership on hand Wednesday, the commission voted to uphold the Kenneland stewards.

Nesbitt Will Be Key Man For Arkansas

By ED FITE
United Press Sports Writer
DALLAS (UP)— Supporters of the underdog Arkansas Razorbacks are pinning their hopes for an upset of rebounding Mississippi Saturday on the fact they believe gifted Gerald Nesbitt will win the battle of the fullbacks against potent Paige Cothren.

Cothren was the winner a year ago when Nesbitt was a sophomore understudy to Henry Moore. The big Ole Miss fullback boomed 11 yards for one touchdown and contributed a 22-yard field goal in a 17-1 victory, while Nesbitt had to be content with a 13-play, 105-yard performance, most of it in a third quarter drive that set up Arkansas' only touchdown and threatened for another.

Cothren Still Flowing
Cothren is still up to his old tricks of plowing up enemy lines and booting field goals, while Nesbitt has learned a few neat tricks that have projected him into the limelight as the Southwest Conference's leading ground gainer.

Nesbitt lashed wildly for Arkansas last week against Texas, picking up better than a first down on virtually every scamper with 123 yards in 11 plays for 11.2-yard average. That brought him to 396 net yards for five games and a 6.5-yard per play mark.

The stocky, five foot, 11-inch, 190 pound Nesbitt is just another in a long line of power packages that have operated for Arkansas in recent years. Besides Moore, the others were Leon (Muscles) Lewis Carpenter.

He's Former Marine
He was too small to play high school football regularly until his senior year at Big Sandy, Tex., and never did score a touchdown. He began to grow while in the Marines and that's where his trail turned toward Arkansas. An Arkansas teammate was impressed by him while both were playing in the Marines and suggested he go to Arkansas.

At 24, and as the father of two children, Nesbitt is the "old man" of the Arkansas team and is its acknowledged leader, although only a junior. His stability has been especially helpful on a young team.

His ball carrying has been spectacular to the fans, but Coach Jack Mitchell and his teammates go even deeper to find his real worth.

Like Cothren, he's rated the club's surest tackler and one of its best blockers. He kicks extra points, too, but so far hasn't matched his Ole Miss rival of Saturday night in the field goal area.

Arkansas may have to depend heavily on him against an Ole Miss team that's favored by pine points in one of the two inter-sectional features of this week's card in the Southwest. The other one is at Fort Worth where Texas Christian hosts unbeaten Miami.

Inside the circuit, Texas A&M and Baylor play for the lead at Waco, while Texas and Rice stage a battle for survival at Houston.

SWC Roundup:

Teams May Have Hurts Now, But Watch 'Em Saturday

By UNITED PRESS
The unbeaten Baylor University Bears, hard hit Wednesday by food poisoning, hope to have a full workout at Waco today in preparation for the all-important game Saturday with the Texas A&M Aggies.

Forty members of the ball club were stricken with poisoning, traced to meat the athletes ate at the athletic dormitory, but officials expect them to be ready for the tilt with the unbeaten but tied Aggies.

About a dozen varsity players did some running Wednesday and held an informal workout.

Yet Aggie coach Paul Bryant says he's worried about the game. "It wouldn't surprise me if Baylor beat us badly because at our best they may be too big and too many for us," he declared.

The College Station squad is scheduled to have a light workout today to polish their game.

Jack Pardee and Richard Gay, two star players, are still out with injuries.

At Dallas, the Southern Methodist University Mustangs are preparing for the game with the University of Texas Longhorns at Austin Nov. 3.

The starting backfield of the No. 1 unit Wednesday consisted of Charlie Arnold at quarterback, Charlie Jackson and Hal Bittenbender at halfbacks, and Don Kilgore at fullback.

Lon Slaughter, Ray Masters, and Wayne Blankard are still on the injured list.

Rice Owl coach Jess Neely predicts a tough game for his squad, too. The Owls meet the Unversality of Texas Longhorns Saturday.

The Owls went through a light workout Wednesday, with first stringer Jerry Harris and reserve Charlie Knight missing most of it.

And at Austin, the Longhorns worked on defense following a report by T. Jones, assistant coach, that the Owls have added a running game to their double-barreled passing attack.

GIANT STEPS

Davis-Orton Feud In Pampa Monday

Talk about the Hatfields and McCoys having a feud, well, brother, move over. Pampa is going to have its own feud here Monday night when the two feuding wrestlers west of the Mississippi headline an attractive three match card.

Originally, Bob Orton and Louis (Shoulders) Newman were slated to hook up in the semi-final match, and that's the way all of the placards posted through the city of Pampa have it. However, John Pitts, local promoter, was dissatisfied with the arrangements and demanded that Doc Saropolis, Amarillo promoter, furnish Pampa with Dizzy Davis to fight Orton instead of Newman on the grounds that everyone interested in wrestling here was aware of the tremendous feud going on between those two men and wanted to see them in action here. Finally, after much haggling over the telephone wires, the stage was set for Orton and Davis to have a go at it Monday in the Sportsman's Club's ring.

The final match features John Tolias against Hans Schnable. Tolias, exceedingly popular here for his consistent good showing whether he wins or loses will face an old nemesis in the person of the burghermeister from Milwaukee, Wis., Hans Schnable. This big powerful heavy weight has always been able to hold his own with the best of them. Big Hans will fight your way too, clean or dirty. He has mastered many of the tricky holds that make for fine clean wrestling and when the time comes he can also wrestle as dirty as the next guy.

The opening match sends one of the most popular wrestlers around here, Tommy Phelps, against Elvino Carreon. The latter boy, a newcomer to Pampa within the last few weeks, has a distinct style that is sure to make him a crowd pleaser.

However, all eyes will be focused on the Dizzy Davis-Bob Orton match. There's no telling how much these two fellows want to hurt each other and how far they'll go to do it.

Tickets are on sale now at Modern Pharmacy. Prices include $1.50 for ringside, $1.25 for reserved bleachers, 90 cents for general admission and 50 cents for children under 12.

Colleges Go Back To Football; They Run Instead Of Pass Now

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UP)—The college season instead of masquerading in what amounted to an aggressive type of basketball.

For too many years the forward pass has completely dominated the game, if you happen to be one of those who like to see backs bang with the ball or run off a sweep play with stirring speed. It was pitch, punt and pray.

But this season the forward pass is back where it originally was meant to be, as an adjunct to the running game designed to keep the defense from jamming too tight.

Many people deplore this return to what they describe sneeringly as "Neanderthal type football." But the big teams, and the highly successful ones, have learned that ball control wins football games.

It's a good theory that the other team can't score when you have the ball — or if you don't give it to them cheaply by means of an interception.

Proof of this new trend to an old fashion is the fact that, of the nation's top 10 teams as selected by the United Press Board of Coaches, only one is what can be described as a "passing team." And that team, TCU, is no better than tied for ninth in the national rankings.

Oklahoma, which is running head and head with Michigan State in the race for mythical national honors, leads the nation with 1,586 yards gained rushing the ball. In four games it has gone into the air for a total of only 250 yards.

Of possible high significance is the unalterable fact that the leaders in national passing are having a rough time of it this season.

Washington State, the leader with 155 attempts and 1,170 yards gained in five games, has won two against three losses.

Demonstrating the trend to old-time head cracking, in the Pitt-Duke and USC-Washington games last weekend there were a total of only 16 passes thrown. Oklahoma-Kansas and Minnesota-Illinois saw only 17 pass plays; Syracuse-Army but 18 and Indiana-Nebraska 19.

The Texas Aggies threw only one pass in upsetting TCU last Saturday; Washington tossed but five, Wisconsin six and Michigan State only seven in flattening Notre Dame. This is a sport where 50 and 60 passes wasn't too uncommon not too long ago.

"If you don't have the horses," then you have to throw it and take your chances. But if you have the horses, it's far better to let 'em gallop."

Which is what they're doing.

ND Won't Do It; Frogs, Bears Will

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

Ordinarily, you would not wager against a down-trodden Notre Dame squad with Oklahoma coming to South Bend with a record 34 straight.

With Irish varieties of many other autumns, this would be a perfect spot for an upset, with traditional Notre Dame fight sweeping the Celts on from behind.

But by now it is crystal clear to even the starchy-eyed synthetic alumni that Notre Dame is in for its worst peace-time year.

Notre Dame has been plagued by no fewer than 17 separate injuries, forcing harassed Terry Brennan to employ sophomores at the ends and tackles, where games are won.

The Celts have tremendous back in Pau Hornung, but not nearly enough speed in the line to go with him.

type pep talk would not bring the current Celts up to anything approaching the Sooners, ND simply hasn't enough good players, so is in for another smacking, say 34-14.

While not even the world champion longshot stabber would select Notre Dame over Oklahoma, this one is giving you two in other sections. We're picking Stanford and its matchless passer, John Brodie, to deal Southern California, Jon Arnett, C. R. Roberts and all, its first defeat in Palo Alto, 27-21.

And because Texas A. and M. is likely to suffer a letdown after having been so high against Texas Christian, we're stringing with unbeaten Baylor at Waco, 14-7.

In the midwest, there are contests vastly superior to the Oklahoma-Notre Dame mismatch, which will be seen by millions on television. Ohio State will resume steamrolling against Wisconsin, 20-7.

Purdue will drop Iowa from the all-conquering ranks, 20-19. Michigan State will roll on at Illinois, 35-12; Michigan against Minnesota, 21-13.

Tulane has a slight-of-hand quarterback in Gene Newton and a lot of other stuff, but Georgia Tech has numbers to the extent of 27-6. Clemson gets a shaky 14-6 call over South Carolina in that annual game played on Thursday.

Both Reapers And Shockers Play Today

The Pampa Reapers face unbeaten Sam Houston of Amarillo this afternoon at 3:30 in the first of two junior varsity games. The Sam Houston lads have been very tough this year and Coach Deck Woldt's boys will have to go all out to beat them especially at their home ball park.

Tonight at 7:30, the Pampa Shockers entertain the Palo Duro Bees at Harvester Field in a ball game that promises to be full of action. The Shockers will be looking to revenge the 13-7 defeat the Palo Duro Dons hung on the Pampa Harvesters earlier this year.

"...I'll stick to straight Kentucky bourbon!"

OLD CHARTER
KENTUCKY'S FINEST STRAIGHT BOURBON

One straight Kentucky bourbon...made only one way...distilled and bottled in the same Kentucky distillery

There's a very good reason why Old Charter has a mellow richness you can find in no other bourbon. This is a straight Kentucky bourbon — distilled and bottled in a single distillery in the heart of bourbon country. It makes a difference. For in Kentucky you'll find the men who are traditionally skilled in the art of making fine bourbon. There is no substitute for Kentucky skill... or for seven long years of aging in charred barrels of new white oak. But judge for yourself. Try Old Charter today.

New Type Oil Barge Will Lower Cost Of Ocean Wells

By CARTER BRADLEY
PASCAGOULA, Miss. (UP)—A $3.1 million ocean-going drilling barge, expected to reduce sharply the cost of sinking deep wells in the Gulf of Mexico, has been commissioned.

The barge, equipped to operate in a maximum water depth of 70 feet, will do so 40 per cent cheaper than any now in operation, Dean McGee, president of the designing company, said.

Kerr-McGee Oil Industries, Inc. of Oklahoma City, designed the craft. Sen. Robert S. Kerr (D-Okla.) is chairman of the board of the firm.

He was scheduled to make the principal talk at commissioning ceremonies in the Ingalls Shipbuilding Corp. today. A group of Oklahomans gathered here for the occasion.

The craft is submersible. McGee estimated it can be operated for around $6,000 a day. That compared with present operational costs in the tidelands of as high as $10,000.

The barge will be known as Kermac Rig 46. The top deck measures 202 by 242 feet.

McGee said the working area, which is 100 feet above the raft-like base, would have accommodated a softball diamond for the drillers. Laying out the ball field was seriously considered at one time, he said.

The crew quarters atop the structure, which is nearly as large as a city block, are air conditioned with bunks for 50 men.

Earl Hammett, vice president of Ingalls, described the barge as the largest ever built. Equipment suppliers on hand for the commissioning said the equipment was the most advanced they had seen.

The hull, rather than being solid as with most existing submersibles, is a grid pattern of steel cylinders 14 1/2 feet in diameter. When filled with air, these members cause the barge to float.

When it is located for drilling, they will be filled with water, causing it to settle to the ocean floor.

Columns Keep It Up
Four huge corner columns, 22 feet in diameter, have been designed to prevent the mammoth device from tipping over in the water when it is afloat.

McGee said the barge would permit drilling of as many as six wells in one location. The drilling mast also will serve as a crane to reduce the cost of installing the permanent platform which must be located around each well sunk in the open water.

Jacoby On Bridge

Today's hand, taken from an English contest, shows a very delicate point of defense.

West opens the king of clubs and continues the suit, declarer ruffing ace of spades, ruffs a spade in the third round, South cashes the dummy, returns to his hand with the queen of hearts, and ruffs another spade in dummy.

If East overruffs, declarer easily makes the rest. Instead, East must patiently discard a diamond or a club.

South returns to his hand with the king of hearts and ruffs another spade in dummy. Once again, East must refrain from overruffing.

After this fine defensive play, South can get to his hand only by ruffing a diamond with the ace of trumps. East is then in position to ruff a spade with the jack of hearts, after which dummy still has a losing diamond.

Texas Still Needs Rain

AUSTIN (UP)—All sections of Texas need more rain, according to the weekly report of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The USDA said showers last week and over the weekend helped get small grains and winter legumes out of the ground, except in the northern high plains and East Texas.

In East Texas, the report said, "the drought is not broken even in most favored spots. Sub-soil moisture has been exhausted in all areas and heavy follow-up rains are needed to bring small grains along and rebuild sub-soil reserves."

Cotton harvesting was halted by rains in northeastern counties, but has resumed, the report said. Conditions of commercial vegetables in South Texas improved, particularly in the Lower Rio Grande Valley.

The Gulf coastal waters since 1947. The firm has contracted for a second barge like this one, which will be completed in six weeks at another shipyard at Orange, Tex.

The barge commissioned here today will be moved shortly after Nov. 1 to a point in the Gulf about 30 miles southeast of Cameron, La., to sink a wildcat well beyond the depth of 14,000 feet in 50 feet of water.

McGee said the barge would permit drilling of as many as six wells in one location. The drilling mast also will serve as a crane to reduce the cost of installing the permanent platform which must be located around each well sunk in the open water.
