Dulles Has Operation

DONALD J. GONZALES
WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles Saturday underwent a 2-1/2-hour emergency operation for removal of part of his intestines. The surgery was pronounced "very successful" and the secretary's condition "good."
The 68-year-old cabinet officer was rushed to Walter Reed Army Medical Center early Saturday for a suspected acute appendicitis. The operation revealed, however, that he actually had a perforated colon, a portion of the intestines.
Dulles was wheeled into the operating room at 12:35 p.m. and was on the operating table for two and a half hours. The surgeon announced that a section of the perforated intestine had been removed.
State Department spokesman Lincoln White announced the successful outcome of the major surgery in a brief statement issued to a packed news conference at the hospital at 4:25 p.m. cat.
Dulles was taken to Walter Reed Army Medical Center at 8 a. m. cat. and was reported "resting comfortably." He underwent a series of tests, conducted some diplomatic business, and even talked by telephone with President Eisenhower about the Middle East crisis.

The general sales campaign will begin on Nov. 16 when over 200 salespeople will contact all Pampa residents whose name has been placed on a list as prospective subscribers for stock in the range of $100 to $1000.
A meeting of the general sales force will be held at 5 p.m. Monday in the Palm Room. During the meeting a preliminary instruction program is scheduled to inform the salespeople of the work done on the hotel so far, the answers to various questions and how the money will be used to build a modern community hotel in Pampa.
The executive committee will meet for a noon luncheon Monday in the Palm Room and continue their work on the names that have been given to them for the purpose of contacting for stock subscriptions.
Subscriptions in Pampa's proposed community owned hotel total $220,000. The subscriptions have been made by members of the New Hotel Executive Committee and by individuals and businesses that the executive committee has contacted.
The members of the committee are currently contacting prospective subscribers who are expected to purchase hotel stock in the amount of $1,000 and over.
The subscriptions are being taken on temporary forms which state that when the permit to sell stock is received from Austin the subscriber will purchase the amount of stock which he has stated.
W. J. Smith, legal council for the group, reports that all necessary work for the securing of the stock selling permit has been completed and expects to receive the permit in the next few days.

A meeting of the Gray County Bar Association next Saturday in the Pampa Country Club will honor Newton Gresham of Houston, president of the State Bar of Texas and W. J. Smith, local attorney who has recently been elected to the House of Delegates of the American Bar Association.
Members of the local bar association and their wives will gather for the affair at 8 p.m.
Gresham, who was State Bar vice president last year, is a member of the Houston law firm of Fulbright, Crooker, Freeman, Bates and Jaworski.
Gresham was a State Bar director during the 1946-48 and has been chairman of several State Bar committees, including the conference committee with the medical profession, legal education and institutes committee and the State Bar rules committee.
A native of Jewett, Leon County, Gresham received his law degree from the University of Texas School of Law. He was president

First Of Trapped Miners Are Found Alive Saturday

SPRING HILL, N.S., Nov. 3 (UP)—The first 59 of 113 coal miners trapped for 42 hours in a black hole more than a mile underground were found alive Saturday after hope for them had been all but abandoned.
Forty-five had been brought to the surface by 7 p.m. cat. Survivors indicated another 30 to 40 men still were below waiting to be brought up and that oxygen was running dangerously low. Oxygen tanks were rushed to the mine by Navy helicopter, truck and automobile.
Some of the miners who were rescued returned to the pit after treatment to aid the rescue operations.
Harold Gordon, chief of rescue operations, said nearly four hours after the first men were found in the gas-filled pit that "at least 59 of the 113 men trapped in the No. 4 colliery have been rescued."
These men were at the 5,400-foot level when an explosion wrecked the Cumberland Railway Company's No. 4 pit at 5 p. m. Thursday. Men caught at other levels by the explosion had not been accounted for.
Two Days Without Water
Charles Burton, one of the first men to reach the surface after nearly two days without food or water, said men in his group owed their lives to their mine leader, who led them to an air valve, cut a hole in the air tube for each man to suck on and directed the men to tie rags soaked with mine water over their faces while moving about in the gas filled shaft.
The work of bringing the men to the surface was slow. Some were on stretchers, but most managed to stumble out by themselves.

Two-Million Vote Predicted

Texans Go To Polls Tuesday

By O. B. LLOYD JR.
AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 3 (UP)—An estimated two million Texans go to the polls next Tuesday to help select a president of the United States for the next four years and determine who will be governor for the next two.
In addition, voters will ballot on a full slate of candidates ranging from the vice-presidential level down to precinct-constable.
Eight proposed amendments to the state constitution will be accepted or rejected.
Robert Johnson, director of the Texas Election Bureau—the unofficial agency that compiles returns for Texas' press, radio and television—predicted Tuesday's vote will run a "little over two million or about like it was four years ago."
In 1952—the second time in modern history that Texas went Republican—a total of 2,975,946 voters were cast in the presidential race.
Of that number, President Eisenhower won 1,102,878 votes. Adlai Stevenson gained 969,228. Also ran split the rest.
Both sides have aired predictions of victory. Gov. Allan Shivers, top spokesman of the Democrats for Eisenhower, frankly admitted the race may be close.
But he confidently predicted, "if we get a large vote... Eisenhower will carry Texas."
Johnson confident
Balancing that view was the statement of Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson who has said in virtually every speech: Stevenson will carry the state.
Former Governor and U.S. Sen. W. Lee (Pappy) O'Daniel seeks a return to public office via the write-in route in the governor's race. He faces U.S. Sen. Price Daniel, who defeated him in the Democratic primary, and William R. Bryant of Sherman, the Republican nominee.
The ballot will boast candidates of three parties—Democratic, Republican and Constitution. However, the Democrats were the only party to offer a complete slate.
All three offered nominees in the presidential and vice presidential field. Opposing the GOP standard-bearers of Mr. Eisenhower and Richard Nixon, the Democrats offered Stevenson and Sen. Estes Kefauver. The Constitution Party nominated T. Coleman Andrews, former commissioner of internal revenue, and Thomas H. Werdel, an ex-Republican congressman from California.
On state-level races, the Republican and Constitution Party candidates offered token campaigns in opposition to the Democratic nominees.

But this was far from true in Dallas county's congressional race where Republican Incumbent Bruce Alger was opposed by Democrat (See TEXANS Page 2)

DR. WILL DURANT
... outstanding speaker

Speaker Here Captures Audience

By BOB PEREZ
Pampa News Staff Writer
For the more than two-hundred and fifty persons who attended the Knife and Fork dinner-meeting last night in the Senior High School Cafeteria it was indeed a plum of intellectual nourishment.
Dr. Will Durant, the guest speaker, aimed his talk at showing the part in relation to the whole. On how the whole of the civilizations which have preceded us, are much like that which we are now experiencing and how philosophies are usually made to suit our economic situation of the present and in effect, how times and customs change, but people never do.
His talk was intended to show this generation of man's history in the light of the knowledge of all the cultures which have preceded it... "to compress the enlightenment of all those previous centuries in one hour in the hope that we might see that path which we are now traveling is in no way different to that path which was traveled by man before us."
He started off with what he termed the history of biology. He mentioned how the birth rate can be a tremendous force in the forward progress of a nation. Dr. Durant went on in support of this (See SPEAKER Page 2)

Soviets Agree To Leave Hungary Again

By RUSSELL JONES
BUDAPEST, Nov. 3 (UP)—The Hungarian Army Chief of Staff said Saturday the Soviets have agreed to evacuate the country in "two or three weeks." But cabinet members of a new "more Democratic" Hungarian regime formed only Saturday morning refused to confirm this.
For the second time Russian soldiers Saturday prevented Americans from leaving the revolt torn country.

BULLETIN

VIENNA, Sunday, Nov. 4 (UP)—Hungarian Premier Imre Nagy announced over Radio Budapest Sunday that Soviet troops have started a new attack on Budapest. (See TEXAS Page 2)

Negotiations on troop withdrawal opened at parliament building between a Russian military delegation and Pal Maleter, a rebel hero in last week's fighting at Budapest's Killan Barracks who was named defense minister in the new regime of "Titoist" Premier Imre Nagy.
No More Troops
An official announcement said the Russians would not bring in any more troops, whose presence has threatened another blood bath. Maj. Gen. Stefan Kovacs, chief of staff, said the Russians agreed in a morning meeting to pull out of the entire country, but would need "two or three weeks" to complete the withdrawal.
But cabinet ministers Zoltan Tildy, an anti-Communist, and Gesa Losonczy, a Communist, refused to confirm this at a news conference.
However, Losonczy said the talks "led to some results" and there are "encouraging signs."

Firm Asks For Delay In Suit

Air Speed Oil Company of Amarillo, which is being sued for the Sept. 4 truck-car collision on Highway 70 north of Pampa which caused the death of one local boy and paralyzed another, asked for a 30-day delay Friday in the plea of privilege hearing set for Nov. 16 by District Judge Lewis M. Goodrich.
The company filed the plea of privilege motion in the $220,000 suit brought against them by Gene and Clarence Townsend stating that the residence of the defending company was in Potter County and the suit should be heard in that county.
The date of the hearing was set as Nov. 16 by Judge Goodrich on the recommendation of Ross Buzard who is representing the plaintiff. The company asked for the extra 30-days to complete its investigation of the collision in which Clarence Townsend received injuries which resulted in him being paralyzed.
Jerry Cluberson died in an Amarillo hospital on Sept. 29 as a result of injuries received in the same collision.
The company added that any responses made by their legal representatives at the Nov. 16 hearing might do an injustice to all parties if further investigation would prove such responses to be in error. They further reported that they believe the additional time will allow them to fully investigate the accident.

Attempt At Invasion Is Repulsed, Egyptians Say

By DANIEL F. GILMORE
LONDON, Nov. 3 (UP)—Britain and France, rejecting a United Nations cease fire appeal, battered Egyptian defenses Saturday with jet planes spearheading an expected invasion of the Suez Canal Zone.
Egypt claimed it already had repulsed an Anglo-French invasion attempt by sinking two Allied vessels, one of them carrying troops, and damaging a third. This was denied by the French and British.

Israel troops advanced on Suez, Port Said and Ismailia, along the 101-mile long Suez Canal, reaching a point only a little more than eight miles from the waterway. A Jerusalem radio station said advanced patrols have reconnoitered "even beyond this line."
Claim 104 Killed
The Israeli broadcast said the entire Sinai Peninsula would be in the hands of the Israeli army soon. The soldiers reported capturing nearly 100 tanks, most of them T-34 Soviet tanks and the rest U.S. Sherman tanks, and 100 Soviet self-propelled guns.
Egypt claimed 104 persons were killed in the day's Allied air raids. About 100 of them were villagers living near state radio transmitters, the Egyptians said. The stepped up air assault came as the United Nations General Assembly took up the Middle East crisis again and Britain's Prime Minister Anthony Eden encountered bitter criticism at home of his "police action" policy. Minister of State Anthony Nutting, second man in the foreign office, resigned in protest. Eden vowed to continue the assault, with the endorsement of former Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

The British and French staged the heaviest air offensive of the four-day old "police action" in Egypt. They sent out Canberra twin turbojet bombers under an umbrella of Royal Air Force Hunter jet fighters to smash the Egyptian army barracks at Al Maza, near Cairo, the railroad marshalling yards near Ismailia and planes and anti-aircraft batteries at airfields, a communique from Nicosia, Cyprus reported.
The United Nations General Assembly was called into a special emergency session in New York Saturday night to deal with British and French refusals to abide by a UN call for a cease-fire and withdrawal from Egypt.

Israel Braces For Attack On Eastern Front
By ELIAV SIMON
JERUSALEM, Nov. 3 (UP)—Israel, victorious in the Sinai Desert, braced Saturday night for a possible attack by Jordan, Syria and Iraq on its eastern flank.
Ominous Fedayeen (commando) raids were reported along the Jordan border which has been relatively quiet since Israel moved in to Egypt six days ago.
The Israeli cabinet met in a special Sabbath afternoon session to discuss the military and diplomatic situation. There was no announcement of its deliberations.
Reports from Israeli forces in Sinai said paratroopers were mopping up pockets of Egyptian resistance in the desert peninsula.
Army spokesmen said a three-pronged attack aimed toward the Suez Canal cities of Port Said, Ismailia and Suez had reached the 10-mile ultimatum line proclaimed by Britain and France. They said Israeli forces would stop there.

Britain Says No To UN Appeal

LONDON, Nov. 3 (UP)—Britain rejected the United Nations cease-fire appeal Saturday and laid down three conditions for stopping hostilities in Egypt.
Prime Minister Anthony Eden outlined the conditions in a tense special session of the House of Commons.
1. "That both Israel and Egypt agree to accept a United Nations force to keep the peace."
2. "That the UN decide to maintain such a force until an Israeli-Egypt peace settlement is reached and until satisfactory agreements have been reached regarding the Suez Canal, both agreements to be guaranteed by the United Nations."
3. "Until a United Nations force is constituted, both combatants agree to accept forthwith limited detachments of Anglo-French troops to be stationed between them."
Eden said England and France will continue military action against Egypt while Egypt, Israel and the United Nations consider the plan.

Stubborn Car Gets Fired Up

A '53 Buick which kept catching fire Saturday afternoon caused two runs for local fire trucks.
At 3 p.m. the first call came in and a truck answered the alarm to the 200 block of W. Brown. By the time the fire truck arrived the fire resulting from gasoline igniting on the motor had been put out by the driver.
After putting out the fire the driver climbed back in the car and at 3:15 another alarm came in and the truck went to the 100 block of W. Tynge where the same car was on fire again.
Firemen reported that the fire damaged the dash and did some damage to interior of the car as a result of the second blaze.

UF Contributions Total $20,942

Clinton Evans, Pampa-Lefors United Fund drive chairman, reported late yesterday that the campaign had netted $20,942 in contributions to date.
The goal for this year is $51,500.
Evans, in pointing out that although the figure is small the drive is ahead of last year at this point, urged UF workers to contact all the names on the cards given them and turn in their report on results to the UF office in the basement of City Hall.
He said that a majority of the cards issued are still out and some of the big contributors have not yet been heard from.
Evans said that reports had reached him that the campaign was very successful in Lefors and that workers were doing a good job in that town.

WHERE DOES THE DRIVER SIT?—He doesn't. Anyone who needs a 75-mm recoilless cannon badly enough to tote it on a motor scooter is in too much of a hurry to sit down. The driver presumably would straddle the gun's barrel or, at best, perch on its handle, which rests on the scooter's seat. The military adaptation of the popular pleasure vehicle was displayed recently at a motor show in Paris, France.

Wreck Kills One; Pampan Unhurt

AMARILLO, Tex. (UP)—David Pulliam, 19, employe of a creamery at Spearman, Tex., died in Northwest Texas hospital Friday night of injuries suffered in an auto-truck collision Thursday night near Farnsworth. Pulliam was injured when the auto he was driving struck the rear of a truck carrying oil field equipment. Texas highway patrolmen said the impact of the collision drove pipe completely through Pulliam's car. Nathan Ford of Pampa, driver of the truck, was not injured in the mishap at the intersection of Farm Roads 759 and 376, seven miles southwest of Farnsworth.

SPEAKER

(Continued from Page One) by pointing out nations which committed "biological suicide" in attempting to control the birth rate of their population. He brought up the theory of Robert Thomas Malthus, the young English clergyman who wrote in his famous "Essay on the Principle of Population" what was later to become known as the "Malthus Theory" that there was a universal tendency for population, unless checked by food supply, to grow at a geometric progression, releasing, in effect the law of diminishing returns which stated that if this progression were to keep up, since, (he claimed) the resources of the world increased only at an arithmetic progression, eventually within a short time, the earth would have more people than it was able to provide for.

In regard to this theory, Dr. Durant said that this was true of the world as a whole; however, as individual units, there was not too much to be said for it. He pointed out that the fertility of the East, (namely Russia and China) when added to the technology of the West gave promise of inevitable growth and exploitation of these resources which had heretofore not been used. Dr. Durant also spoke of the theory of competition, and how in this world of ours, regardless of economic systems, a person must still compete for everything. "Any Utopia which dreams of a society in which competition ceases is biologically unsound. Man is a competitive animal. . . no matter how much he has, he always wants more. Life is selection, and nature loves inequality because through it she can select the most qualified, and thus leaves out the incompetent." He went on to speak of the "history of geography."

BRITISH

(Continued from Page One) West had been taken with the blowing up or shutting down of all oil pipelines in every Middle East country except Saudi Arabia. The Egyptians claimed they sank a British destroyer and troop carrier and damaged a third vessel of an invading fleet off the port of Suez, at the southern end of the canal.

Both the British and French denied an invasion had been attempted. The French said no vessels had been lost. The naval action was reported as Britain and France rejected the United Nations appeal for an immediate cease-fire and refused to call off their bombing attacks and planned invasion of Egypt. But the two allied nations said they would stop military action if Israel and Egypt agreed to UN occupation of a frontier "buffer zone" pending a final peace settlement and "satisfactory arrangements" for the Suez Canal.

Eden's rejection of the UN appeal created the first open split in his conservative government team Saturday night, when Minister of State Anthony Nutting resigned from the cabinet because of disagreement with the policy of military action against Egypt. Nutting said he felt it impossible to support the government's position in the Middle East crisis either in parliament or the United Nations. He said he had "advised most strongly" against the Anglo-French intervention policy in Egypt. Eden accepted Nutting's resignation. The British and French plan, announced by Prime Minister Anthony Eden, called for stationing of "limited detachments" of Anglo-French troops in the canal zone no matter what happens. A French defense ministry spokesman said Anglo-French forces are moving now to the tactical phase of "preparing the way to occupation of the canal." But British Defense Minister Anthony Head said that as of mid-afternoon Cairo time, "no Anglo-French landings have so far taken place in Egypt."

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE VOTERS OF PRECINCT 1

An ad in a recent paper indicates that certain persons are conducting a write-in campaign against Arlie Carpenter for Commissioner of Precinct 1 in the General Election to be held on November 6, 1936. Arlie Carpenter does not think that such accusations on those made in the ad need answering, but he would like to set the record straight.

This ad stated that Joe Clarke is willing to serve as Commissioner if elected by write-in vote. If he is so willing to serve, why DIDN'T he pay his filing fee like all the other candidates and run for office in the Primary? Is he afraid of what people might say about him in an honest and properly conducted election? Do the persons who are paying for his ads expect special favors of him in return for this?

He states that he has constantly opposed Thos. Y. Pickett & Co. as evaluation engineers for Gray County. During the ONLY six years he served as commissioner, he voted FOR hiring this firm as the county's evaluation engineers each time the question was submitted to him. His vote is recorded in Vol. 6, Pages 74, 271, and 567 of the Minutes of the Commissioner's Court. Does this sound like he opposes them?

Are the evaluation engineers an issue in the coming election? If so, Arlie Carpenter respectfully requests you to ask any member or former member of the Board of Trustees for the Lefors Independent School District their opinion about this matter, as they have consistently hired this firm each year as their evaluation engineers. These trustees are as follows:

- | | | | |
|-----------------|-----------------|------------------|----------------|
| James Gotcher | C. H. McCullick | Joan Oldham | R. A. Nipper |
| R. B. Brown | U. H. Hall | H. C. Little | Geo. Thut |

While he served as commissioner, he was farming two tracts of land, the Walter Hagler's farm in Donley County and Mrs. McKinney's farm west of Pampa; also, he was contracting terracing work in Gray, Roberts and Hemphill Counties. Does this sound like he will stay on the job and be available at all times?

Arlie Carpenter has served as Commissioner of Precinct 1 for a total of 10 years, and during this time he has never missed attending a Regular Commissioner's Court Meeting. Arlie Carpenter stands on his record, and his vote on each issue is recorded in the Minutes of the Commissioner's Court. You are requested to inspect this record.

Arlie Carpenter respectfully requests your vote and support for the office of Commissioner of Precinct 1 in the coming election on November 6, 1936. His experience qualifies him for the job. He promises to be fair and just in all his decisions and to serve every person on an impartial basis.

HERE'S A CAPSULE REPORT

Where Do Presidential Hopefuls Stand On Major Election Issues?

By UNITED PRESS
Where do the presidential candidates stand on the major campaign issues?

ROLE OF GOVERNMENT
EISENHOWER — "I think that we are more concerned on our side with trying to follow the Lincolnian dictum of doing for people the things they cannot do well themselves, but to avoid interference where people can do things for themselves. . . we believe that it is very necessary . . . to support the social security, the unemployment insurance plans . . . to help the research in health, to help provide school rooms . . ."

STEVENSON — "As the size and complexity of our society increases, the role of government activity must not be allowed to decline, as it has, up to the election year, under President Eisenhower. It is not economical to neglect our public needs, to postpone confronting them, or to try to buy the needed public services in a bargain basement . . ."

TAXES
EISENHOWER — "I wouldn't class (the prospects for a tax cut) as bright or something right around the corner. I say that logical tax reduction comes from proof that you can live more eco-nomicly doing the things that need to be done and must be done. . ."

STEVENSON — "In the absence of a major war, there is every reason to believe that we not only can meet the claims of (increased welfare) programs out of increased tax revenues that respond automatically to higher incomes, but even reduce tax rates. . ."

H-BOMB TESTS
EISENHOWER — Tests must be continued. "There is nothing in post-war history to justify the belief that we should—or that we could even dare—accept less than sound safeguards and controls for any disarmament arrangements. . ."

STEVENSON — U. S. should lead in agreement with Britain and Russia, to halt H-bomb tests. "First, the H-bomb is already so powerful that a single bomb could destroy the largest city in the world. . . Second, the testing of an H-bomb anywhere can be quickly detected. . ."

DRAFT
EISENHOWER — "As of now, we have about 3 million people under arms. Experience has shown time and again we can't keep more than about 1-2 million on a voluntary basis. . . I don't see any chance of ending the draft. . . in the immediate future. . . and carrying out the responsibilities for the security of the country that must be carried out. . ."

STEVENSON — "We can now anticipate the possibility—hopefully but responsibly—that within the foreseeable future we can maintain the military forces we need without the draft. . . I think it is the national will, shared equally by every American—candidate or voter, Democrat or Republican—that the draft be ended at the earliest possible moment consistent with the national safety. . ."

SCHOOLS
EISENHOWER — "Not once but twice, in my state of the union messages—in 1955 and again in 1956—I urged swift action by Congress (to build schools) . . . That five-year program was rejected by the opposition. . ."

STEVENSON — "The crisis in our schools is not only a challenge to democracy and to national security. Above all, it is a challenge to conscience—to our moral conviction of the worth of individual human beings, to our love and hopes for our children, and to our faith in America. . ."

FOREIGN POLICY
EISENHOWER — "We have advanced a long way on the road toward (peace) . . . the plain truth is that Americans know very well the difference between today—and the days of the Korean casualty lists. . ."

STEVENSON — "Four years of boasts and bluffs have diminished respect for our words, as four years of threats and smiles have diminished respect for our will. . ."

FARM
EISENHOWER — Flexible price supports; soil bank will be continued. New program to help small farmers has been developed. "Rigid wartime price supports induced the farmer to grow far more than he could sell and choked off much of his foreign market. Huge surpluses built up. Prices went down . . . this year is the first year since World War II that farm prices have started back up without the economic help of war. . ."

STEVENSON — "Only Republican up and the farm market down

icans could keep the stock market at the same time. They did it the last time they were in office with Hoover at the helm and they're doing it again now. . . We propose to support basic commodities at 90 per cent of parity. We propose to extend protection to perishables. . . We will administer vigorously the soil bank, a good democratic idea. . ."

Germany inaugurated an old age pension program in 1889.

Confederate Veteran Gets Award

FRANKLIN, Tex. (UP)—Col. Walter Williams, 113, resident in a new Confederate uniform, Friday proudly accepted a special gold medal awarded him by Congress.

Williams, one of the three living veterans of the Civil War, sat proud and erect as Assistant Secretary of the Army Hugh M. Milton pinned the gold medal on the new uniform given the colonel by the Sons of Confederate Veterans. "This is the biggest day of my life," said Williams, who will be 114 on Nov. 14. "I'll wear it all the time."

The medal was authorized by the 84th Congress. It was inscribed: "To honor great soldiers and great Americans. Presented with honor to surviving veterans of the War Between the States."

Williams' 84-year-old wife is critically ill and the aged veteran said he was sorry she couldn't

Fewer New Homes, Apartments Seen

(REAL ESTATE COLUMN)
By ROBERT F. MORISON
WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (UP)—

Gloomy home builders seem pretty well convinced now that next year will see construction of fewer new homes and apartments.

A survey by the National Association of Home Builders of its 600 member economic council indicates that housing starts are expected to drop as much as 10 per cent. That would put 1957 volume below the 1956 mark for the first time since 1948 and means potential home buyers can expect higher prices and probably less choice. Starts this year are expected to total about 1.1 million, some 200,000 under 1955 — the second best year on record.

Tight Credit Reason
Tight credit is the chief reason cited by builders for the slowdown in homebuilding, which actually began a year ago.

The greater difficulty in securing construction loans and permanent financing, the survey discloses, shows no signs of letting up and some builders feel it will become even tighter next year.

By September most builders usually have their plans for next year well laid out. But this year see him decorated, because "she had been looking forward to it."

Because of his wife's illness, Williams plans no celebration on his birthday.

Newsmen asked him who he was going to vote for next Tuesday.

"Democrats, of course," he said. "I've been one all my life."

even the reduced construction outlook was found in many cases to be "tentative."

Gloomy uncertainty rather than dark pessimism is the general tone of answers received. Seven out of 10 builders expect a downturn next year. However, some cautious optimism crept through. The government's housing chief Albert M. Cole recently said he considers the current 1.1 million level of new starts to be "very high" and expects it to continue through 1960. Builders apparently are bolstered by this outlook.

Other Findings
The survey also found:

1. Many builders have sold homes "four and five times" before a sale actually "stuck," chiefly because prospective buyers could not get a loan.

2. Builders were confident that they will sell every house they can build in 1957, despite an expected 3.4 per cent rise in the typical price from about $14,700 this year to a record $15,200. Actually the anticipated rise in the typical home price is much less than in either of the previous two years. It rose about 10 per cent from 1954 to 1955 and some nine per cent this year.

Also Disclosed
The survey also disclosed that for the future beyond next year, several factors are seen working toward a stimulation of homebuilding. These include:

1. An expected sharp rise in the number of marriages after 1956 when the large number of persons born during World War II marry and set up households.
2. Continued growth and spread of industry, necessitating the building of homes and apartments for workers.
3. Lack of a backlog of new unoccupied houses to satisfy a sudden upsurge in demand.

Paris, France, was a small fishing village called Lutetia in Roman times.

IT CAN "SHOOT ITSELF DOWN"—A plane of this type literally shot itself down recently. It is a Navy, carrier-based, supersonic jet fighter designated F11-1, nicknamed "The Tiger." Test-firing new 20-mm. cannon shells over the Atlantic, pilot fired a four-second burst, went into a steeper dive. Shells, slowed by gravity and friction gradually curved toward the ocean. Plane, hitting nearly 900 m.p.h., flew on straight course, caught up with shells. They smashed windshield, pierced and killed the engine. Pilot was able to crash-land in nearby Long Island woods. He escaped with broken leg and three broken vertebrae.

Homework-What The Students And Teachers Think About It

By BOB PEREZ
Pampa News Staff Writer

In recent years with the opening of a televised world which seemingly has accelerated the age of comprehension of many young people, the idea of how far we should go in pushing this faculty has become rather tricky. In particular it has been wondered just how much of work should be done in school, and what percentage should be done out of school. The thought on this varies as much with students as with educators.

In regard to the grammar schools, Mrs. Dick Steidum, fifth grade teacher of the Sam Houston School, has expressed the opinion that if a child works at school and does what he is supposed to do, then there is no need for homework. Most of her pupils, she said, do their assignments whenever she does give them, and those who don't usually have a good excuse for not doing so. However, she was of the opinion that there would be very little homework necessary if all students did what they were supposed to in the hours they spend in school.

Mrs. Frances Perkins, a teacher at the Horace Man School, said that she has tried both ways and that it has been her experience that the children do better work when they are given homework. "In fact," she said, "most parents want them to have it." She added that for the most part, the children didn't mind either. "There are a few dissenters," she said, "however they are very few and bound to crop up in any classroom."

Mrs. Kay LeGrande of the Woodrow Wilson School said that she did not believe in assigning very much homework to her pupils during the time they spent in school. Once more the response on the part of the students whenever they were given homework was rather good.

Among high school teachers, the attitude is almost entirely in favor of homework. Some teachers believe in moderation, however, but they do believe that a certain amount is necessary.

Mabel Torvie, who is a teacher in the English department, was one of those who believed in what she termed a "fair" amount. She stated that students learn at varying levels, and that it doesn't hurt to give a few outside assignments since the class time, as she saw it, was so limited. She went on to say that the more work the students do, and the more time they spend with it, the longer it will stay with them.

Education, she said, is a process of seeing the relationship between things on the basis that all things are inter-related. One of the things which Mrs. Torvie said requires quite a bit of outside time is vocabulary. Whenever a student takes any kind of college entrance examinations there are invariably a number of questions on vocabulary. This, she said, cannot be learned merely by restricting it to classroom hours.

I spoke to several other high school instructors, and their answers were pretty much the same.

In speaking with the students, however, is where the greatest difference of opinions come into play. This, however, is not unusual, and in checking further, it became evident that those students who felt that extra assignments were an imposition on them and that they should have more time to themselves after school hours without this added burden, were generally the indifferent ones to whom education is just a phase. The grammar school children I spoke to however, showed a greater interest and enthusiasm. To these children homework was almost a privilege; something that gave them an opportunity to look at their bigger brothers, sisters, or neighbors and say that they were just as busy learning as anyone else.

Whether the children of this current school crop spend an equal amount of time with books or watching TV, they are evaluating the programs they see with the perceptive faculties which were molded in school, and which, perhaps, they had to take home with them to sharpen up under the mane of... homework.

Plane Replaces The Train In 1956 Election Year

By JOHN A. GOLDSMITH
WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (UP)—This election year of 1956 will be marked as the one in which the airplane replaced the train on the American political scene—and television came of age.

Statistics show that plane propellers have all but put rail whistles out of politics. By election day Presidential candidates and their Vice Presidential running mates will have logged about 140,000 miles in campaign planes.

Planes, which made their political debut as early as 1932, carried a big share of the campaign load in the 1952 campaign. But the short speech from a train's back platform still was a standard procedure for both candidates.

UP Survey Shows
This time a United Press survey shows:

For President Eisenhower—(as of Nov. 1)—a total of 13,171 miles traveled, 12,293 of them by air.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon—(estimated campaign total)—42,900 miles travelled, 39,000 of them by air.

Adlai E. Stevenson—(estimated total)—36,000 miles travelled, 34,197 by air.

Sen. Estes Kefauver—(estimated total)—80,000 miles travelled, more than 90 per cent of it by air.

The Stevenson and Kefauver totals include 11,000 miles logged in the course of pre-campaign traveling to a series of regional campaign conferences.

The railroad share becomes smaller when it is understood that automobile motorcades, a necessary adjunct to air campaigning, account for some of the ground travel in the survey.

Tab Higher
Like the airplane, television also was widely used in the 1952 campaign. Experts say the two major parties are pouring more of their campaign budgets into television this time than they did in 1952 when the TV tab was estimated at about $10 million.

But the money is buying something different. In 1952 television was used almost exclusively for airing speeches from a hall or from a studio desk. The excep-

Diana Dors Denies Gossip Column Rumors

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Staff Correspondent
HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Diana Dors denies the gossip column rumors that her Hollywood stay will end in divorce, but in movie-town how do reporters divide truth from fiction?

Down the years many a movie star has firmly and indignantly denied reports of friction in the household. Some stars refute the items by staying together.

Others leave the columnists furiously eating their words by taking their case to a divorce court.

For weeks Hollywood columns have predicted the busy blonde from England and her wealthy husband, Dennis Hamilton, would end their eight-year marriage.

But Diana insists the local scribes are having day dreams overtime.

"There's not a word of truth to these stories and I spend all my days denying them," Diana said patiently in her RKO dressing room where she was getting ready to pose for cheesecake photos.

Democratic candidate Stevenson also beamed a folksy coffee-break program to housewives, answering questions of his sons and daughter-in-law. Stevenson's family also figured prominently in "The Man from Libertyville," a series of TV shorts in which the candidate chatted informally about campaign issues.

LeTourneau To Build Big Towing Machine For Canal

LONGVIEW, Tex., Nov. 3 (UP)—A radically different type of towing machine, made to pull giant ships through the Panama Canal, is to be built by R. G. LeTourneau, Inc., of Longview.

The super-powerful "locomotives" will look like Giant Tinker arrangements. Each will have a 75-foot antenna.

The units, working in pairs, will reach out and pull a ship over to the canal wall, where the vessel will rest against a system of rubber truck tires attached to the machines. The ship will be hugged to the tires and pulled through the locks.

LeTourneau bid against several other companies for developing a new machine to use in the Panama operations. Two units will be built within the next 14 months at a cost of approximately $650,000. They will be tested for about one year before arrangements are made for an additional 25 units at a total cost exceeding $4 million.

The 27 LeTourneau units are to do the work which formerly required 57 units. The company said the machines would provide the first major changes in operating methods at the canal since it was opened in 1914.

Like other LeTourneau "giants," the new units will depend upon a system of high-torque electric motors spotted around over every machine, geared directly to each point where power is needed.

The system of separate power units has already been used by LeTourneau in building of many different machines in such fields as materials handling, off-road transportation, land clearing, logging, and offshore oil drilling.

THEIR OBSERVANCE
Alabama, Florida, Georgia and Mississippi celebrate April 26 as Confederate Memorial Day, but North and South Carolina observe it on May 10, while Virginia marks it on May 30.

Current Drouth Hurts But Top O' Texans Are Fighting

By FRED M. PARKER
Pampa News Staff Writer

What effect has the current drought had on Gray County? There is no clear-cut set of statistics available as to the total amount in dollars and cents that the drought has affected the economy of our county.

One of the first persons that I contacted with this question was Ed Myatt, immediate past president of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce. He stated that the varied economy of the residents of Pampa and the immediate area made it hard to answer from the business man's point of view.

He explained that he had no doubt that a good crop would raise the economy but stated that due to the industrial boom that Pampa is now undergoing it was impossible to tell how much the purchases of the rural residents had fallen off.

Myatt continued by stating that business firms in Pampa as a whole are experiencing an increased volume each month.

He reported, however, that those businesses that deal mainly with farmers and ranchers had been hurt. The seed and fertilizer firms have been affected in that the farmers have not been planting since the moisture has not been available to produce a crop.

Evelyn Mason, local Agriculture, Stabilization and Conservation office manager, reported that her office has been busy this year handling the many forms needed to handle the volume of drought aid that has been requested by Gray County farmers.

Under the drought feed program the local ASC office has issued certificates for 28,082 hundred weight of feed since August and issued a total of 31,955 hundred weight between March and August of this year.

Under this drought-feed program the farmer or rancher is issued certificates to purchase feed at a lower cost to enable him to maintain his stock. This program has meant a savings of several thousand dollars to farmers and ranchers in Gray County.

After obtaining this information I asked Miss Mason for the amount of aid given under the provisions of the drought fund that the ASC sets up during severe drought periods.

This fund helps the farmer and rancher pay for the cost of work done on wind erosion control. The government pays for approximately one-half of the cost of doing approved work.

So far this year the government has paid $34,375 for work done by 281 farmers in the county. During 1955 a total of 320 farmers and ranchers received aid in the amount of $37,169.

The paying of this money has CONTEMPLATING LACK OF MOISTURE — Lacy Goad, who farms east of Pampa, is shown as he surveyed his land and pondered the question of raising crops, during the current drought. He, like many other farmers, has gone to irrigation on a part of his land but wonders how he can raise a crop where he is not irrigating.

meant a lot to Gray County is that it has enabled the land owner to hold his soil during the critical period and has helped the city residents in that it has cut down local blowing dust.

Wheat farmers in the county have been affected by the drought as they have plowed several crops under that didn't make. The Soil Bank Program will mean money in the pockets for many of the wheat raisers, it is hoped, however.

Under the 1956 program the farmers of this county placed a total of 26,961 acres in the program. This meant payments totaling $324,720 for placing the land in retirement. The only provision is that they do not plant wheat on this acreage and that noxious weeds are controlled.

So far, since the beginning of the 1957 program, a total of 90,144 acres have been placed in the program and more farmers are expected to place their acreage allotment in the program before the deadline.

Many farmers in the county have been placed in the program and more farmers are expected to place their acreage allotment in the program before the deadline.

Many farmers in the county have shrugged their shoulders and hitched up their belts and are trying to do something about the lack of moisture on the surface of their land. Over 40 farmers in Gray

County have resorted to the only solution, irrigation, and have drilled wells.

Lacy Goad, who farms east of Pampa on the Miami highway, stated "I have plowed under two crops of wheat and maize. Next year I hope to clear some money by irrigation, on one section of my place."

Roy Tinsley, who farms south of Goad, is currently in the process of leveling his land for irrigation well on his farm—eight miles northeast of Pampa.

Other farmers are building diversion terraces and other types of water retaining structures to hold what water has been falling in the few and far between sprinkles the county has been receiving. One of these farmers is Dick Walker, who farms one mile east of Pampa, who has recently had diversion terraces staked out on his farm.

So much for the northern end of Gray County, how about those located on the south side of this section of the Top o' Texas?

While in McLean the other afternoon I started asking business men, farmers and ranchers in the area. They reported that they had resorted to irrigation also and were doing everything possible to utilize to the utmost what little rain they receive.

McLean business men have felt the drought more acutely than

American Foreign Policy On Hot Spot In Election Talks

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON (UP)—This presidential campaign began with its outcome seeming to depend very much on the farm issue. It is ending with American foreign policy on the hot spot.

This probably is a good break for President Eisenhower. Mr. Eisenhower is more at ease in discussing and in disposing of foreign policy matters than in the area of farm economics.

Moreover, as the news has directed public attention away from domestic matters and toward foreign affairs, so it has concentrated public attention more on Mr. Eisenhower and away from the party which he leads. Democratic strategy has been a double-barrelled thing.

Adlai E. Stevenson and his supporters sought, first, to cut Mr. Eisenhower down to size, to tip him off a war hero's pedestal. The second Democratic objective was to link Mr. Eisenhower securely to and with the Republican Party. This latter was relatively easy in connection with most campaign issues.

Foreign Policy Personal

Foreign policy, however, is a peculiarly personal field. It is not the State Department or the Senate which makes U.S. foreign policy. The President makes it. Republican and Democratic presidents alike seek and sometimes get bipartisan support for their foreign policies.

The blind staggers now afflicting the North Atlantic Alliance, which has been the basis of U.S. foreign policy, cannot be directly charged to the Republican Party. It was Mr. Eisenhower's responsibility to protect the alliance and himself in the field of foreign affairs to the best of his ability. The policies were his, although he actually inherited them from the Truman administration.

Mr. Eisenhower has been seeking reelection on a peace and prosperity record. World peace has been savagely shattered. The recent events in the Middle East suddenly have cast Mr. Eisenhower in the role of world peacemaker. That's not a bad elective role for any candidate.

New U.S. Policy

More bad news from the Middle East may be on the way. There is likely to be, however, brighter news from the United Nations and Washington reporting developments in the new Eisenhower foreign policy. The new policy is to put the brakes on two of the principal U.S. partners in the North Atlantic Alliance — Great Britain and France.

A new and effective foreign policy is right now the most urgent need of the Eisenhower administration and of candidate Eisenhower. A great power whose basic foreign policy suddenly is like a speeding ship which has dropped its rudder. The skipper probably knows where he wants to go but has no means of getting there.

Such conditions cannot long continue without the risk of calamity and disaster. If the United Nations Assembly ranges world opinion effectively in support of Mr. Eisenhower's efforts toward peace, he will have substantially discharged the United States' responsibility as a world leader for peace. And the rudder will almost be in place again.

SOLUTION — One method of solving the shortage of moisture in Gray County is irrigation. A rotary plane is shown above as it was being used to level the land of Roy Tinsley east of Pampa.

Good And Bad Of The Week's News

Foreign News Commentary
By CHARLES M. McCANN
United Press Staff Correspondent

The week's good and bad news on the international balance sheet:

Explosion
An Israeli invasion of Egypt developed swiftly, dramatically and confusedly into the most serious international dispute since the Communist invasion of South Korea in 1950.

Great Britain and France, without consulting the United States, presented a 12-hour ultimatum to Israeli and Egyptian forces to withdraw from the Suez Canal Zone. They announced that, unless the ultimatum was accepted, they would occupy the waterway.

Egypt rejected the ultimatum. British and French air forces opened a bombing attack against Egyptian air bases. The Israeli-Egyptian fighting became a side show.

Egypt broke off diplomatic relations with Britain and France.

The United States had taken the situation to the United Nations Security Council as soon as it learned of the Israeli invasion.

When the Security Council met, Britain and France vetoed United States and Soviet Russian resolutions calling for a cease fire.

The Security Council executive committee of the U.N., then called the full General Assembly, in which all 76 member nations are represented, into its first emergency meeting since the Korean invasion.

The United States and Russia voted for the meeting against the opposition of Britain and France.

President Eisenhower had tried vainly to stop Britain and France from carrying out their attack on Egypt. He and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles were openly angry at British Prime Minister Anthony Eden and French Premier Guy Mollet.

Washington suspected Britain, France and Israel of plotting the whole business to give an excuse for the occupation of the canal zone.

Thus the dispute found the United States and Soviet Russia lined up against Britain and France, America's two great allies. Its long-range effect on the world situation was incalculable.

Titoism
The surge of revolt in Eastern Europe against Russian domination intensified.

So insistent was the movement that the Soviet Russian government announced it was willing to consider withdrawing its troops from Poland, Hungary and Rumania and to review its economic relations with all the East European countries.

The rebels in Hungary won a historic victory. Their country, like Poland, freed itself from Moscow rule.

Cardinal Mindszenty, Roman Catholic primate of Hungary, was freed from prison and escorted in triumph into Budapest.

Hungarian "Titoist" Premier Imre Nagy took over the post of foreign minister to negotiate the complete withdrawal of Russian troops.

The East German Communists got the jitters. They announced they would crush any Titoist movement by force.

But university students, openly rebellious, demanded the freeing of educational institutions from Communist control. They threatened to hold street demonstrations. The revolts in both Poland and Hungary started with similar student demands.

OTTAWA — Canadian Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent describing his government's action in suspending all arms shipments to Israel as not necessarily implying criticism of Israel's attack on Egypt.

"It implies our desire to do what we said we would do. We are not sending any ships, or planes, or anything else, except the relief supplies flown to Hungary."

NATURE FAILED HIM—Lee Lowder, Jr., of Allen, Kan., fills his cistern with water trucked from Emporia as residents of towns and farms seek to alleviate a growing water shortage caused by five years of persistent drought conditions. Should rain or ground moisture fail to replenish lakes and dammed waters of the Neosho and Cottonwood Rivers, Emporia itself could face a serious situation within a three-month period.

NEW YORK (UP)—International intrigue and domestic politics spiced the stock market during the past week.

Prices went through a series of wide swings and ended higher on the week. Industrials closed at 490.72 in the Dow-Jones average, up 4.41 points; rails 159.54 off 0.85; utilities 67.08 up 0.97 point, and 65 stocks 173.13 up 1.22 points.

On Monday the market set off on a smart rally which Wall Street labeled a pre-election rise. In the last hour selling knocked the whole list down from the highs on word of Israel's invasion of Egypt.

Movements Narrowed

On Tuesday price movements narrowed and trading lightened. On Wednesday when France and Britain bombed Egypt, prices broke sharply with industrials losing 6.62 points. On Thursday, after President Eisenhower said there would be no U.S. involvement in the Middle East, the market surged ahead and wiped out Wednesday's losses by a lot to spare.

On Friday Wall Street had again uncovered its pre-election rally label when the Russians invaded Hungary with heavy reinforcements. That invasion knocked prices down from their highs and prevented the rails from scoring a gain for the week.

The feature earnings report was Standard Oil Co. (N.J.) which showed net profit for the first nine months at an all-time record high of $603 million or $3.07 a share, against $523 million or $2.66 a share a year ago.

Jersey Standard raised its dividend 10 cents to 60 cents a share. On its 196,375,378 shares that will mean a payout of $117,945,227 this year.

U.S. Steel reported net of only 32 cents a share for the third quarter against $1.83 in the previous quarter and $1.55 a year ago but declared the usual dividend which lifted the year's payments to a record high.

The feature report on the downside was Chrysler's. That company in the first nine months earned only 72 cents a share for the first nine months, against $8.11 in 1955. Sales for the week totaled 10,999,859 shares, a daily average of

Earnings And Sales For Celanese Up

Celanese Corporation of America today reported increases in both sales and earnings for the first nine months of 1956 over those of the same period last year.

Net income for the nine months ended Sept. 30, after charges and taxes, was $8,901,652 equivalent to 92 cents per share of common stock after provision for preferred dividends, as compared with earnings during last year's like period of $8,695,015 equivalent to 88 cents per common share.

For the three months ended Sept. 30, the company's net income was $2,716,000 equal to 26 cents per share of common stock after provision for preferred dividends. This compares with 1955 third-quarter earnings of $1,473,218 equal to 5 cents per common share.

Net sales for the first nine months this year were $136,874,216. Compared with sales of $132,358,391 during the corresponding 1955 period. This year's third-quarter net sales totaled $42,552,949 compared with $39,110,129 for the same period of 1955.

In the report, president Harold Blanche noted that construction has started at the Celanese Bishop chemical plant of a new polyol production unit, which will supply intermediates for the rapidly growing polyurethane plastics and coatings fields. The unit, scheduled to begin operation late in 1957, also will produce chemical components for alkyd resins, high quality brake fluids and other industrial materials.

Drought Adds Impetus To Crop Research Program

This year's earth-bakingly-dry spell over a wide belt of the West — from Western Iowa and Nebraska south through Texas — has given added impetus to research for sturdier, earlier maturing, more drought resistant crops — particularly corn.

The latest estimate on Texas' corn production from the Crop Reporting Board of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Marketing Service points up the seriousness of the prospect to the Lone Star State.

As of October 1, with virtually all of Texas' corn crop harvested, the government experts set the state's 1956 corn crop at only 25,528,000 bushels — 57.7 per cent of the 44,209,000 bushel 10-year average from 1945-1954.

This estimate, based on a yield of 13.5 bushels per acre with 1,891,000 acres planted in corn, represents a sharp reduction from the 17-bushel per acre with 1,891,000 acres planted in corn, represents a sharp reduction from the 17-bushel per acre estimate three months earlier.

Last year's Texas corn crop, in contrast, amounted to 48,288,000 bushels — 24 bushels per acre with 2,012,000 acres in corn.

The national corn outlook serves only to further eclipse the Texas picture.

Official estimates earlier in October set the nation's 1956 corn crop at 3,360,102,000 bushels — 43.4 bushels per acre for the second biggest harvest in history. This crop, if estimates are borne out, will be 4 per cent bigger than last year's and 9 per cent bigger than the 1945-1954 10-year average.

The serious implications of a decreasing corn crop in Texas are apparent with an abbreviated rundown of the multiple use of corn the nation's No. 1 agricultural crop.

As a basic feed for most livestock and poultry, roughly 80 to 85 per cent of the annual crop is consumed on the farms where it is raised.

The rest is purchased by various industries for processing — chiefly "dry millers" who convert it for use as hominy, corn meal and breakfast foods; feed manufacturers who make feeding corn meal, hominy feed and cracked corn, distillers who turn out industrial alcohol and whiskey, and corn refiners, or "wet millers", who break it down into its component parts.

The corn is processed by the "wet millers" into starch, syrup, sugar, oil and "steepwater", each of which becomes a vital ingredient in families of products ranging from perfumes to explosives, synthetic rubber to embalming fluids, food flavorings to insecticides and medicines to anti-freeze.

Corn starch has host of diverse uses — as a binder to hold medicinal ingredients in aspirin tablets together, as a sizing to strengthen fabrics of various kinds and as an agent in liberating aluminum ore from mud and other foreign substances in aluminum production. It is used in the manufacture of paper and in paper and cardboard containers of all sorts, in library paste, ice cream cones, dynamite, rubber tire fabrics and paints.

Refined corn sugar (dextrose), identical with sugar in the human bloodstream, is used to fortify whole blood in transfusions. It is the basis of infant food formulas and is used in meat curing, paints and shoe manufacturing.

Corn syrup, along with corn sugar, is used in medicines, toothpaste, leather tanning, shoe polish, pipe tobacco, candies, all kinds of food flavoring, dyes, inks and adhesives.

Corn oil is used in ammunition, rust preventatives, soaps, bakery products and rubber substitutes.

And "steepwater" is used as a nutrient for the growth of molds which yield "miracle drugs" such as penicillin and aureomycin.

Almost everything in daily life has some close or far connection with corn.

Scientists working under grants by the Corn Industries Research Foundation believe that despite the multi-use capabilities of corn, the surface may only have been scratched.

With a short Texas crop such as the 1956 drought induced, however, the importance of research of another nature, such as that being conducted by the Texas Research

Larger World Output Of Food Seen For Next Year

ON THE FARM FRONT

By GAYLORD P. GODWIN

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (UP)—The Foreign Agricultural Service (FAS) reports that current prospects for 1956-57 are for about the same or a slightly larger world output by major foods than in 1955-56.

FAS said crop conditions were generally favorable in most parts of the world except in Europe and Australia. Exceptionally cold weather during February and early March and excessive rainfall during the harvesting period reduced production in most European countries. Unfavorable weather also may cut Australian winter grain crops.

Worldwide, output in livestock products, particularly dairy products, is expected to show a further small increase in the coming year. Carryover stocks of bread grains and feed grains at the beginning of the current crop year were at record highs. There are indications, however, that there has been some reduction in stocks of rice, edible fats and oils, and sugar in the principal exporting countries, in part brought about by surplus disposal programs.

Consumption Increase

The service said economic activity continues at high levels in all parts of the world and per capita consumption of food is likely to show a further slight increase in most areas.

Preliminary estimates of the 1956 bread grain crop indicate that production will be about the same as the large 1955 outturn. The total for wheat and rye, estimated at 263 million tons, equals the 1955 crop. A considerable increase in what was offset by a reduction in rye.

FAS said larger wheat crops in the United States, Canada, Africa, and the Soviet Union more than counterbalanced a substantial decline in Europe. In France, usually Europe's largest wheat producer, the 1956 crop was hit hard Foundation at Renner becomes patently obvious.

The Foundation launched its corn breeding program in 1944, aimed at eventually producing good quality yellow and white hybrid corn covering the entire maturity range. Several varieties, each fulfilling a predetermined need, have already been developed and made available to the farmers.

But what Texas still needs, explained Larry Gundy, TRF corn breeder, is an extra-early maturing corn—one that can be planted late enough to escape any possible freeze and still produce a good yield early enough in the year to escape the drought.

In prospect are two varieties—one which will reach the farmers in 1959 and will mature in mid-July after March planting, and the other will mature several weeks earlier.

As for the yield — with the 1956 Texas crop estimate set at 13.5 bushels per acre, corn being bred by the TRF is producing yields of 20 to 30 bushels an acre, Gundy said.

TRF is also engaged in research on fertilizer to further increase the yield.

by the freezes. The Italian crop was said to be well below last year's record. The Italian crop was said to be well below last year's record. In most Asian countries, prospects were for a crop at least as high as last year's. Early indications were for a good wheat crop in South America, but were much less favorable for Australia because of excessive moisture during the early part of the season.

Feed grain crops probably will be somewhat larger than last year, and thus adequate for maintaining or increasing output of livestock products to cover increasing consumption demands.

Production of barley and oats combined may be slightly larger than the 1955 crop. FAS said a higher crop, particularly in Western Europe, offset a decline in world oats production.

Early indications are that the corn crop in 1956 will be higher than in 1955, with the greatest increases occurring in the United States and the Soviet Union.

Sugar production during 1956-57 probably will reach a new record, with the largest increases in Cuba and the Soviet Union. Early estimates of sugar beet production indicate an increase of more than four per cent above last year, principally because of substantial increases in the Soviet Union, Eastern European countries, Turkey, and the United States. These more than offset a probable decline in Western Europe. Cane sugar production also is expected to show an overall increase.

FAS said world trade in food products is likely to continue high during 1957. Most countries probably will import as much food as last year, and Europe will need more. Europe is the largest customer of the United States. FAS said a number of European countries will need larger bread grain imports than last year, not only because of smaller crops but because of the proportion of unmillable wheat is unusually high.

Walter T. McKay, the agency's State Director, was advised recently of the designation of Farmers Home Administration to execute certification forms in connection with reduced freight rates recently worked out between the President and railroad representatives to further assist farmers and stockmen in drought stricken areas. This revised tariff provided for a reduction of 50 percent in the freight rate of hay forwarded to destinations due to the drought, and applies only in connection with hay purchases of individuals who are entitled to assistance under the hay and roughage program.

Farmers Home Administration is authorized to execute certificates in behalf of farmers and ranchers only. Details of the program and forms required may be obtained from local county Farmers Home Administration offices.

White Says Aid Has Backfired

AUSTIN (UP)—Agriculture Commissioner John C. White says drought aid to Texas has backfired and that it is costing farmers more than they are getting out of it.

He said soaring hay and feed prices may force an immediate session of the Texas Emergency Drought Committee "to help stabilize the price situation which in some cases has approached the ridiculous."

White charged that "most of the benefits from the program have evaporated into the hands of hay and feed speculators."

Adlai Bids For Free TV Time Ike To Fire Back At Adlai

By TOM NELSON
 United Press Staff Correspondent
 PITTSBURGH (UP)—Adlai E. Stevenson asked today for free radio and television time to tell how the Eisenhower foreign policy has taken "the whole world to the brink of another war."

Press Secretary Clayton Fritchey said the Democratic presidential candidate was asking radio and TV networks to give him 15 minutes at 7 p.m. (EST) tonight to comment on President Eisenhower's nationwide broadcast Wednesday night on the Israeli-Egyptian war.

Stevenson cancelled his entire schedule for the day to fly back to New York City where he will make the broadcast tonight. He was to have spoken at Syracuse, Rochester and Buffalo, N.Y.

Pledges Party Support
 Stevenson told 10,000 persons at a rally here Wednesday night he would use the time to speak "somewhat at length about the bankruptcy of foreign policy of the Eisenhower-Dulles administration."

"As leader of the Democratic Party, I pledge on your behalf the support of our party to all measures which promise to bring a quick end to the fighting in the Middle East," he said.

"But, my friends, I cannot and will not promise support or respect for a foreign policy which must bear a heavy share of responsibility for the current situation in the Middle East."

Asked on what grounds he based his demand, Fritchey said it was his "impression" that under rules of the Federal Communications Commission, the President's speeches during the campaign are like those of any other candidate for office.

FCC rules require that a station giving one candidate free time for a political speech must, on request, afford equal treatment to his opponent.

By MERRIMAN SMITH
 United Press White House Writer
 WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower fires back at Adlai E. Stevenson today for what the GOP regards as Democratic efforts to make political hay out of the Middle East fighting.

Mr. Eisenhower was scheduled to make the nationwide television and radio campaign address from Convention Hall in Philadelphia at 9:30 p.m. EST. He will travel from Washington to Philadelphia by train in the early evening and fly back to Washington immediately after his address.

The President was known to be indignant over charges by the Democratic presidential candidate that the current shooting involving Israel, Egypt, Great Britain and France could have been avoided had it not been for "bungling" administration foreign policy.

The White House ignored for the moment the Stevenson telegram to the President Wednesday night counseling Mr. Eisenhower against any "hasty" action in sending American troops abroad. But later developments on Stevenson's telegram were likely.

The Chief Executive in his report to the nation Wednesday night on the Middle East said, "there will be no United States involvement in these present hostilities." That, for the present, was regarded by the White House as sufficient answer to Stevenson, who sent his message to the White House shortly before the President spoke.

Mr. Eisenhower's address in Philadelphia will be one of his last campaign appearances. The only other campaign date known to be under active consideration was next Monday night in Boston. A definite announcement on Boston may be made today or Friday.

Pampans Belong To Hoo-Hoo Fraternity

By FRED M. PARKER
Pampa News Staff Writer

Several weeks ago, when Mayor Lynn Boyd went to the convention of the Hoo-Hoo fraternity in San Francisco, Peg o' Pampa wanted to know just what Hoo-Hoo stood for.

The other day the Mayor and I were talking about Hoo-Hoo or as it is correctly called "The Concatenated Order of Hoo-Hoo" and we decided to tell Peg o' Pampa, and any other person who would like to know, what Hoo-Hoo is. We also wanted everyone to know that several Pampans belonged to the organization.

The Concatenated Order of Hoo-Hoo is a fraternal order of lumbermen. In an address to Kittens At Inflation in the recent convention Dave Davis, Snark of the Universes, stated that Hoo-Hoo was the only industrial fraternity in the country.

The fraternity was founded by five men who developed an idea one afternoon in a Gordon, Ark., while waiting for a delayed train. The man credited with the invention of what has become the only industrial fraternity was Arthur Bolling Johnson.

The slogan of the fraternity is, "Through Hoo-Hoo a United Lumber Industry."

Boyd reported that the Hoo-Hoo code of ethics is older than that of any other of our great American service clubs.

The code of ethics states:

1. "To fill with credit the sphere in which we are placed, without interfering with the rights of others."

2. "To promote human advancement and higher standards of civic, social and economic relations by developing in business the spirit of the Golden Rule, which we accept as the basic principle of peace and prosperity for the world."

3. "To establish the spoken word on the basis of the written bond."

4. "To cultivate true friendship and therefore confidence among persons engaged in the lumber industry."

5. "To conduct ourselves and our business so that we may render service to society."

6. "To consider our vocation worthy and to be worthy of our vocation as the Nation's Home Builders."

7. "To assist liberally and sympathetically all that seeks to elevate humanity, by charity of action and thought."

8. "To keep in view the world bonds of human interest and trade, seeking to promote friendly understanding among all nations and races."

9. "To recognize the abiding power of cooperation and organization and so act as individuals that the Concatenated Order of Hoo-Hoo shall ever be regarded with honor as a source of community benefit and good will."

There are several Pampans, in addition to Lynn Boyd, who are members of The Concatenated Order of Hoo-Hoo. Some of them are C. B. Lutes, Gene Summers and James Sackett, all associated with Foxworth-Gairbraith Lumber Company; C. B. Homer, T. C. Owen, John Schofield and G. C. Austin, associated with Lynn Boyd Lumber Co.; J. B. Austin; "Spud" Dalton who is associated with Panhandle Lumber Co.; John Koontz, purchasing agent for the city; Dick Hughes and Jay Thompson.

Boyd explained that some of the members of Hoo-Hoo were no longer associated with the building industry but that once a Hoo-Hoo person could remain a member even though he was in another type of business.

Local members of Hoo-Hoo are affiliated with the Panhandle Plains Hoo - Hoo Club, Number Eight. This club has over 200 members in towns throughout the Panhandle.

The club holds monthly meetings in the various towns but due to the central location of Amarillo most of the meetings are held there, Boyd explained.

Boyd is listed officially as Rameses 45 which means that he has served as a "Snark."

The words "Hoo-Hoo" were coined by the late Dr. J. B. Lutes, who was a member of the fraternity.

Pre-Election Polls Indicate Eisenhower Will Win Again

By RAYMOND LAHR

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (UP)—Pre-election polls and surveys indicate that President Eisenhower will win over Adlai E. Stevenson next Tuesday by a comfortable majority of electoral votes.

If these soundings prove correct, Stevenson will make a better showing as the Democratic standard-bearer than he did four years ago—but will still fall short of victory.

Thsofar as the payoff vote in the Electoral College is concerned, Stevenson's strength is shown in the Democratic South and in the border state area running from West Virginia through Kentucky, Missouri and Oklahoma.

Ahead Outside South
Outside that area, Mr. Eisenhower is reported ahead in nearly all states, particularly in the populous states with the prize blocs of electoral votes cast on a winner-take-all basis.

In 1952, the President polled 442 electoral votes, Stevenson 89.

Public opinion samplers generally have conceded Stevenson the nine Southern and border states he won in 1952. However, there have been reservations about Kentucky, which he carried by a mere 700 votes four years ago.

In addition, Stevenson has been given an edge in Missouri, Oklahoma and Tennessee, whose 32 electoral votes went to Mr. Eisenhower in 1952. In some tabulations, a number of other states have been listed as "doubtful," including Texas with 24 electoral votes, Pennsylvania with 32, Virginia with 12 and Minnesota with 11.

Ike Majority Less
The nationwide Babson poll reported this week that its survey indicated Mr. Eisenhower's reelection "with a substantially smaller plurality" than he received in 1952. It predicts he will poll 2.5 to 3 million votes more than Stevenson.

In this poll, Rhode Island is the only state in the Stevenson column outside of the South and border state area.

The Scripps-Howard newspapers in Ohio interviewed voters late this week and found "little change" in the outlook. These newspapers interpreted their findings to mean that Mr. Eisenhower still looks like a winner in Ohio by a "comfortable margin."

Gives Demos Seven
The New York Times, summarizing its findings in 27 states last Sunday, said Mr. Eisenhower seemed to be losing votes in all of them compared to 1952. However, it said Stevenson seemed to have a chance of reversing the 1952 result only in seven which Mr. Eisenhower had carried.

These are Oklahoma, Missouri, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia, where Stevenson appeared to be ahead, and Pennsylvania and Minnesota, where the newspaper said the race looked close.

"I believe..."

Note: Rarely in public life has there been a man of such spiritual strength, wisdom and integrity. It is interesting, at this time of election, to stop and read once more some of the things our President believes... and lives by.

"Under God, we espouse the cause of freedom and justice and peace for all peoples."

"For our country and the world, we seek the establishment of international relationships characterized by order and justice, in which reason and truth are respected, under which men can live as neighbors at peace."

"America does not prosper unless all Americans prosper."

"Every citizen owes it to himself and his country to participate individually, or through a political organization, in making certain that our country goes in the direction that conforms to his ideals and hopes for that government—for that country."

"The individual is of supreme importance."

"Our military programs must meet the needs of the day. To build less would expose the nation to aggression. To build excessively, under the influence of fear, could defeat our purposes and impair or destroy the very freedom and economic system our military defenses are designed to protect."

"... defensive forces in America are maintained to defend a way of life."

"The best foreign policy is to live our daily lives in honesty, decency, and integrity—at home, making our land a more fitting habitation for free men; and, abroad, joining with those of like mind and heart, to make the world a place where all men can dwell in peace."

"The purpose of government is to serve, never to dominate."

"A fundamental belief shines forth in this Republic. We believe in the worth and dignity of the individual. We know that if we are to govern ourselves wisely—in the tradition of America—we must have the opportunity to develop our individual capacities to the utmost."

"The spirit of our people is the strength of our nation."

"... we reject Federal domination over state and community, for we seek to strengthen—not to weaken—the historic self-reliance of our people."

"To stay free we must stay strong."

"Our American heritage is threatened as much by our own indifference as it is by the most unscrupulous office seeker or by the most powerful foreign threat. The future of this Republic is in the hands of the American voter."

"To define democracy in one word, we must use the word cooperation."

"Our competitive enterprise system depends on the energy of free human beings, limited by prudent restraints in law, using free markets to plan, organize and distribute production, and spurred by the prospect of reward for successful effort."

There was something fishy about the ball game Friday night which saw the Monterey Plainsmen come from behind to snatch a victory away from the Pampa Harvesters by a score of 21-19, after the Harvesters in turn came from a 14-6 deficit to take the lead at 19-14.

First of all, the clock which adorned the top of the scoreboard at Jones Field in Lubbock, was not working confusing the players and making it uncomfortable for the few fans that braved the cold air to watch the game. Coach Lockett said that the coaching staff wasn't bothered by the absence of the time clock, but it would have made it easier for the players.

The game started promptly at 8:00 p.m., and the first quarter was over in record time. It was 2:30 when the whistle blew ending the first 15 minute session. Both teams scored touchdowns in the opening frame.

The Harvesters ran 13 plays including one that was nullified by a holding penalty against Red Weathered. The film was shown Saturday afternoon to the coaching staff and Lockett when questioned as to the penalty said, "We couldn't tell for sure that Red was holding. It looked as though he was carrying out a good block. But those are the hazards of football." The Plainsmen took Mauldin's kickoff and moved 13 plays to the Harvesters six before the quarter ran out. Actually there were 25 plays run including the kickoffs in the first quarter. It seems as though the ball chubs could have run more plays and it also looked as though the 12 minutes were by very quickly. The boys on the field in particular noticed how quickly the first period went by.

Gerry Bonsal, standout center for the Harvesters said, "It seemed like six minutes had gone by when they blew the whistle ending the quarter. Bonsal, a senior who has been a starter for the last two years further remarked, "It was quickest first quarter I ever played in. As a matter of fact, it was the quickest game I ever played in." His defensive partner, Gene Devers was even more emphatic. Said Gene, "We had the ball after the kick and it didn't take us five minutes to run for the touchdown. Then they took it and before we knew what happened the period was over."

The whole ball game went by in a hurry with only 104 plays being run by both teams. In the first two games of the year, the Harvesters got off 75 plays or so and last night the best they could do was 54. The Plainsmen moved 50 times with the ball. It just didn't seem possible to the observer that the time was kept accurately.

Later on, some other things happened which didn't quite smell of Channel Number 5. Bobby Langford, the third defensive terror for the Harvesters last night and also tip-top offensive ace, went over to intercept a pass and the intended Monterey receiver, who saw he couldn't get the pass, made sure Langford didn't get the ball either as he shoved Belin's Bobby out of the way. The official on the play pulled his red flag out of his pocket on the play and put in into his other pocket.

When Monterey had the ball, though, it was a different story. He was quick to penalize Don Bigham for defending against Baker, a terrific pass catching end for the Plainsmen. Interference was called and no one in the park is sure just why it was called. It was called, according to Coach Lockett, "Because Bigham had his hands in Baker's face." Bigham agreed in the dressing room after the game that he had his hands in Baker's face, but as Coach Welton Trice quoted us from the rule book early Saturday night, "The player must be in a position to catch the pass before interference can be called." The film showed that Baker had no more of a chance to catch that pass than I did in the press box. Dale Lake came over to knock the ball away and Lake was a good five yards in front of Baker when he batted the ball down. As a matter of fact Baker was well into the end zone and Lake around the six yard line.

Our Fighting Harvesters took it badly, and why not. They outplayed and out fought the Plainsmen, and certainly deserved to win their third football game of the year instead of getting their fifth defeat hung on them. The Fighting Harvesters haven't been able to get a break all year. Is this a team with a jinx on their back?

Harold Lewis Leads Attack:

Houston Humbles Wichita, 41-17

WICHITA, Kan., Nov. 3 (UP)—Quarterback Sammy Blount scored two touchdowns for the Houston Cougars in a stride toward the Missouri Valley championship and buried Wichita's hopes of repeating a third year as they smashed the Shockers 41-16.

The hard-charging Houston line, which led the Shockers' running attack to eight net yards in the second half, three times shook Wichita backs loose from the ball to set up touchdowns.

On another occasion the Cougar forwards forced a Wichita kicker into a wobbly, two-yard punt to pave the way for another touchdown.

Houston led 14-0 at halftime. It was the Shockers' second loss in three conference starts while Houston picked up its second straight Valley triumph.

Houston moved on drives of only 25, 14, 6 and 16 yards for touchdowns in the last half after using a 65-yard punt return by halfback Harold Lewis and a 35-yard pass play in the first and second periods.

Wichita scored touchdowns on drives of 27 and 65 yards and picked up three more points on a 21-yard field goal by fullback Leroy Hinman.

Quarterback Earl Kaiser for a touchdown early in the third period after a fumble recovery on the Shockers 25.

Blount went over from the Wichita 14 for the Cougars' fourth touchdown late in the third period after Wichita had punted out at its own 28.

Lewis passed 11 yards for another Houston touchdown in the fourth after a fumble recovery at the Wichita nine. Third unit quarterback Frank Paul hit end Kenneth Wind with a 10-yard pass for Houston's final score in the closing period.

Wichita went 65 yards for its other touchdown in the fourth period with Hinman going over from the one.

Tulsa Hurricanes Blow Over COP By 14-13

By LESLIE ROGERS
TULSA, Okla., Nov. 3 (UP)—Tulsa University scored twice and converted twice in the third period Saturday for a 14-13 victory despite College of Pacific's 13-point fourth quarter surge.

Quarterback Charlie Wynes added Tulsa's extra points, and COP fullback Tom Green missed one to take the short end of the score.

The crowd of 15,000 saw a scoreless first half, with both teams threatening one inside the 10. Tulsa held a 14-0 lead when COP struck back, first with an eight-yard scoring pass from quarterback Tom Flores to halfback Jack Larscheid.

Moments later, COP regained possession of its own 27, making a 73-yard scoring march that ended with a 10-yard pass run to halfback Chuck Chapfield. COP came within one point of making it a new ball game when Don Bossert kicked the extra point.

With nearly five minutes gone in the third quarter, Tulsa quarterback Charles Cagliola hit halfback Ronnie Morris on the 20 and Morris raced across standing up to climax a 49-yard scoring drive. Morris also scored the second Tulsa TD.

With the upset in sight, Tulsa pressed harder and better COP to punt. The Tulsons took over on their own 45 and five plays later halfback Dick Hughes plunged across from the 15, but the play was called back to the 45 on a holding penalty.

Tulsa end Jim Combs snatched a pass from the 37 and carried to the opponents' 35. Cagliola moved to the five and two plays later Morris went across to score from the one. Wynes booted his second extra point.

Score by periods: Tulsa 0 0 14 0—14 COP 0 0 0 13—13 Tulsa scoring—Touchdowns—Morris 2 (42, pass from Cagliola and 1, plunge). Conversions—Wynes 2.

COP scoring—Touchdowns—Larscheid (4, pass—run from Flores); Chapfield (10, pass—run from Flores). Conversions—Bossert.

Aggies Belt Arkansas

By PRESTON MCGRAW
COLLEGE STATION, Tex., Nov. 3 (UP)—Texas A&M caught them while Arkansas missed them Saturday night and that was the main reason Texas A&M wound up with a 27 to 0 victory and the lead in the Southwest Conference race.

Not only couldn't Arkansas catch forward passes, a form of attack at which A&M was eminently successful, but Arkansas also missed some passes from center, thus giving A&M unwitting aid.

Nor could Arkansas match the running of such A&M backs as quarterback Don Osborne, fullback Jack Fardee and left half John Crow. Fullback Gerald Nesbitt and quarterback Don Christian of Arkansas tried but couldn't do it.

Some 27,000 persons saw the game. The night was clammy with a fog so thick that a couple of bewildered sea gulls wandered in from the Gulf of Mexico 150 miles away and flapped about the heads of the players.

Texas A&M ran up its score on two passes and two by runs. They scored three times in the first half and once in the last half, when Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant let his second and third string do most of the playing.

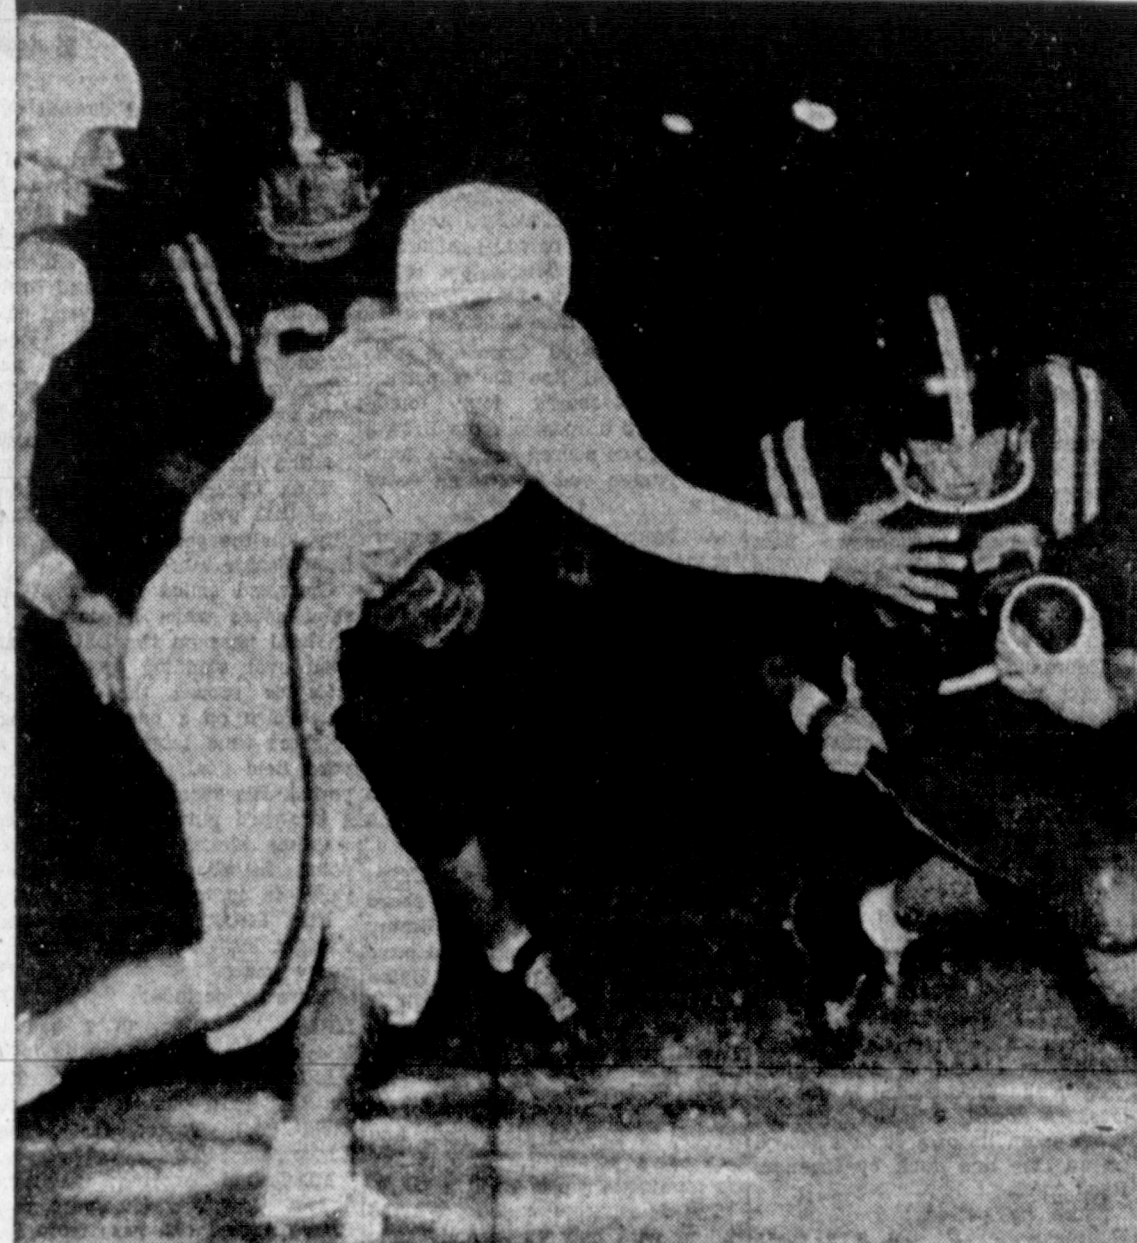

A&M went 47 yards in three plays for its first touchdown, a third of the way through the first period. Two running plays by Osborne and Fardee put it on the Arkansas 27, from where Osborne passed to Crow in the end zone.

The second touchdown, early in the second period, came a little harder. It took nine plays to score from 39 yards out, with Osborne running 11 yards for the touchdown.

An Arkansas fumble by right half Jerry Ferguson helped A&M get started on its third. After the fumble, Arkansas punted and got off a poor one. As a result A&M had only 24 yards to go to the goal.

Right half Don Watson gained eight yards of it, while second string quarterback Jimmy Wright's 16-yard pass to left end Eugene Stallings in the end zone got the rest of it.

A&M went 65 yards in 11 plays for its last touchdown. Osborne scored it from the one.

ALL THE WAY — That's Dickie Mauldin, number 42, with the ball eluding the reaching arm of Monterey defender Jerry Blair, number 76, as he went all the way from the Harvesters 27 yard line on the play to score a touchdown. Gary Peterson, number 62, is shown sliding across ready to block out, the Plainsmen's Gail O'Brien, who came up from the halfback slot to attempt the tackle.

Sooners Come From Behind To Whip Colorado, 27-19

By GENE MEAKINS
BOULDER, Colo., Nov. 3 (UP)—Oklahoma's football machine, a coughing and sputtering thing early, perked just often enough in the second half Saturday to overcome a two-touchdown Colorado lead and preserve its all-time winning streak with a 27-19 victory before 47,000 fans. Colorado led, 19-6, at halftime and Oklahoma trailed until quarterback Jimmy Harris' conversion made it 20-19 with 48 seconds left in the third period. Oklahoma added seven points late in the period to put itself out of reach of the battling Coloradoans and shoot its consecutive winning streak to 36 games.

The Sooners broke out after halftime in the 33-degree weather with a brisk 80-yard drive which netted a touchdown in four minutes. Halfback Tommy McDonald passed six yards to halfback Clendon Thomas for the score, and Harris kicked the extra point. But Oklahoma still trailed, 19-13.

Oklahoma's go-ahead point came after a 48-yard march with McDonald skirting end 11 yards for the touchdown.

The Sooners scored in the final period on an 18-yard Harris-to-Thomas pass, ending a 70-yard drive.

Colorado's line simply outgouged the touted Oklahoma forward wall in the surprising first half, stopping two strong drives late in the second period and ripping out big holes for the backs to race through.

Colorado applied the pressure right from the start when guard John Wooten blocked fullback Billy Priver's third down quick kick on the Oklahoma nine. Fullback John Bayuk recovered the ball in the Oklahoma end zone for a touchdown, with only 3:49 gone. Elwin Indorf converted for Colorado and it proved to be the losers' only extra point.

Oklahoma came back strong, relying mainly on Coach Bud Wilkinson's famed quick openers, for a 64-yard touchdown advance. McDonald scored on a 35-yard pass from Harris, who missed the extra point.

It was in the second period that Colorado showed it might be able to pull off the season's biggest upset.

The Buffs drove 69 yards on 13 plays with their second unit operating most of the time. Wingback Eddie Dove scored on a double reverse from the nine.

It took Colorado only 10 plays to go 66 yards for its third touchdown in the first half. Tailback Bob Stransky, who earlier added 30 yards on a run, went nine yards for the final Colorado score with 38 seconds left in the half.

Clemson Rolls Over VPI, 21-6
CLEMSON, S.C., Nov. 3 (UP)—Fullback Rudy Hayes' 77-yard interception return and the power running of halfback Joel Wells Saturday led Clemson's unbeaten Tigers to a 21-6 win over Virginia Tech before 23,000 fans.

Leading by only seven points in the third period, the Tigers were pushed steadily backward on the passing of Gobbler quarterback Jimmy Lugar, until Virginia Tech was on the Clemson 12.

Langford, Devers, Bonsal All Shine On Defense

Fighting for every yard they gained and playing the most spirited ball of the year, the Pampa Harvesters saw victory taken from them in the fading moments as the Monterey Plainsmen tallied late in the game to nip the Fighting Harvesters 21-19.

The game was played in bitter cold and only about 1,000 people turned out into Jones Stadium on the campus of Texas Tech. For the first time this year, the Harvesters won the toss and elected to receive.

After O'Brien's short kickoff to Mauldin around the 20, a nice runback by the quarterback put the ball in play for Pampa on the 38. Mauldin tried the left side and got four before Bryan Baxter, a horsk on both offense and defense snowed him under. Langford's number was then called and the grifty speedster ripped off 11 yards before a Plainsman or two could shackle him. Again Langford poked a hole in the Monterey forward wall as he steamed through for eight yards before Blair could come up from the secondary to stop him. With second and three on the Plainsman 31, Mauldin went back into a pocket to pass and threw to Lake just out of reach.

The third down play had to go and Mauldin went on a quarterback sneak for more than the necessary yardage to make it first and ten on the 29. The drive was momentarily stalled when Langford, who really had a tremendous night running as he picked up 111 yards in 19 carries for an average of 5.9 yards a carry, was stopped just after reaching the line of scrimmage as a counter play failed.

The next one didn't as Mauldin, getting plenty of blocking from Lake moved 9 yards closer toward the promised land to give the Harvesters a first and ten on the 15. Langford punched for five and then another five to set the ball up on the five with a first down coming. Dehis bulled his way for two and Langford went the remaining distance for the marker. But, there was a holding penalty detected somewhere by someone and the ball was moved out to the 18. Here Mauldin handed off to Langford on a couler and Rapid Robert went straight up the middle over the left side into the end zone without a hand touching him.

Bigham PAT try was no good and the score read 6-0 with five minutes or so gone. On the 62 yard drive which was completed in 12 plays, Langford huffed the mail five times for 37 yards and Mauldin went 26 in four attempts to lead the offensive surge for the Harvesters.

The Plainsmen bounced right back after the kickoff which brought them out to their own 33 yard line, and 13 plays later, with North and Williams diving up the ball carrying Bryan Baxter plunged over from about the three and one-half to tie the score. Before anyone could collect their thoughts, not only was first quarter over, it came to a sudden halt two plays before the touchdown run for Monterey, but the Fighting Harvesters were on the short end of a 7-6 stick as Parsons split the up rights with attempt.

The next Pampa drive got a good head of steam on it, but was stopped suddenly when Dehis tried to circle left end and fumbled with O'Brien of Monterey recovering on the Plainsman 18.

Monterey got one first down out the series and then bingo, they were on the defense again. Tight line play by Bonsal, who had 13 tackles and Devers who had 12, made it awfully dangerous on the ground so the Plainsmen went the next best route, by air. That, however was a complete stop for now as Bobby Dehis picked off one of Flace's tosses and brought it back to the Pampa 37. The Harvesters found the going a bit rough too, and Mauldin had to boot 42 yards to the Monterey 24.

On the returning kickoff, things really happened. The Plainsmen moved to the Pampa 11 where it was first down. Flace, finding it difficult to make yardage on the ground took to the air. Langford, hustling all the time, dropped back to bat the ball down and Pierce, on second down, went for about a yard. Now, the situation was set for the most heart breaking play of the year for the Harvesters.

Flace, intent to pass and threw, seemingly short, to Baxter who was being covered by Bigham, Lake, moving over in a hurry, batted the ball down and it all around it was now fourth and still nine to go. However, strange things happen, and a flag was dropped in the end zone on an interference call and the ball was given to Monterey on the Pampa one yard line. Naturally, the score was made when Baxter moved over. The extra point was kicked and Monterey went back into the lead now 21-19.

Desperation passes were attempted by Mauldin as time was running out but he was nailed as Heiskell for losses and the game ended after a five yard pickup by Langford.

SMU Squeezes By Texas, 20-19

By LLOYD LARRABEE
AUSTIN, Tex., Nov. 3 (UP)—Quarterback Charley Arnold threw two touchdown passes Saturday as Southern Methodist outlasted a furious second-half comeback drive by a game Texas team, 20-19.

Texas, unable to mount a scoring threat in the first half, bounced back with a strong last half surge which failed to catch the Mustangs when halfback Walter Fondren's conversion attempt went wide in the fading minutes of the game.

Playing before 35,000 fans on a soggy field in Memorial Stadium, Southern Methodist rolled up a 20-0 halftime lead only to see it whittled away by a determined Texas team whose coach, Ed Price, announced his resignation this week under fire from militant alumni.

Texas drove 89 yards late in the third period to score on a freak play when quarterback Joe Clements' nine-yard pass was batted away to the end zone into the waiting hands of guard Don Wilson. Wilson, a defensive standout, grabbed the ball at the two and won over.

The Longhorns counted twice in the fourth period, on a one-yard plunge by Fondren and a five-yard run by Clements with only three minutes left in the game. But Fondren, who converted once, missed on the point-after try.

Arnold accounted for Southern Methodist's first two touchdowns with 10 and 13-yard passes to end Tommy Gentry, as the Mustangs scored three times in the first half.

The Methodists marched 82 yards after taking the opening kickoff, as Gentry made a diving catch in the end zone of Arnold's 13-yard aerial. Early in the second period, Southern Methodist drove 63 yards to score on Arnold's 10-yard pass to Gentry.

Only four plays were necessary for SMU's third marker, late in the second quarter, with reserve quarterback Larry Clark passing 25 yards to halfback Dan Bowden in the end zone. Click unreeled a 24-yard run in the 62-yard march.

Gentry converted twice for SMU. SMU was held to only 10 yards in the second half, after rolling up 246 in the first half.

Red Raiders Notch Tie With Oklahoma Ags, 13-13

LUBBOCK, Tex., Nov. 3 (UP)—Halfback Duke Frisbie's brilliant 72-yard touchdown run pulled underdog Texas Tech up to a tie with the Red Raiders come from behind to battle Oklahoma A&M to a 13-13 tie Saturday.

A crowd of 17,000 homescoming fans watched the Aggies score two quick touchdowns, the first on a 50-yard punt return at 9:24 on the first quarter by halfback Duane Wood and the second on a short plunge by quarterback Johnny Allen with only 15 seconds gone in the second quarter.

But the Raiders, unable to get past their own 33-yard line in the first quarter, suddenly came to life. Two plays gained eight yards after the kickoff. On third down, Frisbie faked a pass and broke into the clear to go 72 yards un-molested.

Late in the second quarter, the Raiders punched 53 yards on seven plays, sparked by a 43-yard pass play from quarterback Buddy Hill to halfback M. C. North. North caught the ball in the clear on the 20, but fell on the 11. Four plays later, fullback Gene Bentley, a 245-pound battering ram, crashed the remaining distance.

With a chance to go ahead, Frisbie's attempted placement was wide. Mc Odell missed the first Aggie attempt, but got his second one, while quarterback Don Williams converted after Tech's first tally.

It was the second successive 13-13 tie for the two teams in Lubbock. They battled to a draw here in 1951.

The Raiders held the Aggies on the 12-yard line in the first quarter and again on the 14 moments later. Aside from those two threats, the Aggies didn't imperil the Raider goal.

Tech had one other threat for the Aggies, driving to the eight yard line in the third quarter, where a bad pith-out in third down was recovered by A&M.

It was a fumble marred game, Tech losing four of six bobbles and the Aggies, two of four.

Tech held an edge in the statistics, gaining 281 yards rushing to 143 and 63 yards passing to 46, with 13 first downs to nine.

Rice Owls Scalp Utah Redskins, 27-0

By JOHN COLTON
HOUSTON, Tex., Nov. 3 (UP)—Rice, a three-touchdown favorite, went the odds-makers one better Saturday, storming University of Utah defenses by air and ground to win 27-0.

A crowd of 22,000, smallest Rice home attendance in six years, saw the Owls' three-and-go combo of King Hill and end Buddy Dial account for two touchdowns, with halfback Ken Williams and end David Mantor adding two more in the third and fourth periods.

Utah, the visitors from the Sky-Line Conference, although playing a tight ground game, was no match for the Owl aerials, but caught on in the fourth period when the ball changed hands four times, three of them on interceptions, the other a fumble.

Utah, threatening only once, in the first period with a sustained drive that netted only 44 yards, managed to stop a Rice drive from the Utah 6 run. Mantor (3-pass from Ryan). Conversions—Hill 2, Hill.

Ryan threw Rice quarterback Frank Ryan for a five yard toss and then blocked a field goal attempt by Owl fullback Jerry Hall.

The victory raised Rice's season record to 4-2.

Utah, literally ran all over rain-soaked Rice Stadium, managed only nine first downs to the Owls' 30. The Owls netted 207 yards rushing to Utah's 33 and gained 176 passing to the Utahs' 48.

Dial caught five passes for 113 yards and two touchdowns, including a 47-yard romp. Rice halfback G. F. Ailsbrook led Owl rushing for 83 yards in eight carries. Right half Gary Knudson led the Owls' rushing with 35 yards in seven attempts.

Score by periods: Rice 7 0 14 0—27 Utah 0 0 0 0—0 Rice scoring: Touchdowns—Dial 2 (47 pass—run from Hill, and, 4 pass from Hill); K. Williams (6 from the Owl 24 to the Utah 6 run); Mantor (3-pass from Ryan). Conversions—Hill 2, Hill.

Green Wave Wets Maroons, 20-14

By JACK GATES
NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 3 (UP)—Fullback Tommy Quillian, a blue-chip player, sparked a 69-yard drive in the final four minutes, then capped it with a six-yard touchdown plunge to give Tulane a close 20-14 victory over Mississippi State before 25,000 Saturday.

On the long, tense payoff drive which came after Mississippi State had tied it up 14-14, the hard running fullback picked up 47 yards. A 15-yard run on the fourth down carried him to the four-yard line. Two plays later he fumbled, but it was recovered on the six from where he went over on the next play, again on fourth down.

In all, Quillian gathered in 141 yards on 26 carries against a rugged Mississippi State line that contained Tulane's ground attack most of the afternoon.

The tie-breaking touchdown came after sophomore quarterback Billy Stacy had passed Mississippi State to a tie.

Midway of the third period, Stacy passed State to the Tulane 10, then went to the three on a center back from where fullback Frank Sabbatini plunged over. Fullback Gil Peterson booted the first of his two extra points.

Then in the fourth period, Stacy hit end Ronald Bennett with an over-the-line pass, and Bennett went 45 yards to score.

It appeared the game might end that way until the touchdown drive staged by Tulane. The winning score came with only one minute left in the game.

Substitute quarterback Johnny Caruso set it up with a fourth down gamble from his 30 when he hit halfback Willie Hof on the Mississippi 17.

Tulane's first score came early in the first period. End Eddie Khayat went through to block a quick kick on third down by Sabbatini on his 18. The ball bounded into the end zone and guard Wilbur Troclair pounced on it for the score. Tackle Emmett Zelenka booted the first of his two conversions.
Tulane's second touchdown came in the opening series of the second half. Quarterback Gene Newton, standing on the State 20, hit halfback Claude Mason on the 10 and the shifty runner cut back and went over.
Saturday was the first time a Tulane team had scored on Mississippi State in three previous contests.

Memphis Rips Lefors, 26-6

The Lefors Pirates took it on the chin again Friday night as Memphis Cyclones rolled up 20-0 lead before the Pirates could finally push across their only touchdown and Memphis emerged a 26-6 winner in a game played at Memphis.

Howard Bradfield made the only score for the Pirates as he raced through the Memphis backfield for 89 yards late in the third quarter.

Memphis completely dominated the game as they went on to their fifth win against two setbacks and a tie.

Huskers Upset Missouri

By CHARLES E. WIESER
LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 3 (UP)—Nebraska scored on a 25-yard pass play with two minutes left Saturday to give Nebraska a 15-14 upset victory over Big Seven Conference rival Missouri.

The jarring upset dealt Missouri's Orange Bowl hopes a jolt. The Tigers now have a 2-1 conference record, and have the Oklahoma Sooners left to play. Nebraska's loop record went to 2-2.

The Huskers, after scoring the winning touchdown, fought desperately against a last-minute passing attack guided by Jim Hunter before recovering a Missouri fumble as the game ended. Husker center Bob Berguin covered the ball as the whistle blew.

The winning touchdown pass was thrown by left-handed Willie Greenlaw to halfback Frank Nappi. It capped a drive which started on the Nebraska 22.

Nebraska, playing desperately to get back into the win column after losing three straight, scored its first touchdown late in the first period. Quarterback Gordon Engler recovered on a Missouri fumble on the Missouri 24, and fullback Jerry Brown capped the short drive with a plunge from six inches away.

Missouri went ahead, 7-4, on a 53-yard scoring march in the second period. Fullback George Cramer went over and Charlie Rash converted.

Nebraska quarterback George Harshman kicked a 33-yard field goal in the third period to put the Huskers ahead, 9-7. But Missouri drove from its own 30 and scored on another line duck by Cramer. Rash made it 14-9.

Ole Miss Runs Over LSU, 46-13

By JOHN CORPORON
BATON ROUGE, La., Nov. 3 (UP)—Quarterback Raymond Brown, a split-T magician, and halfback Eddie Crawford accounted for 31 points between them Saturday night as Mississippi rolled through Louisiana State University 46 to 13 before 35,000.

The 22-year-old Crawford, who used the LSU line for a private speedway, scored four touchdowns, two on passes from Brown, while Brown scored one on a four-yard plunge and booted an extra point.

A 72-yard pass play from quarterback John Blalack to halfback Leroy Reed accounted for another Mississippi touchdown, while fullback Otis Hurst scored the other on a one-yard plunge after a brilliant fake by Brown.

Fullback Paige Cothren also did his part, including a field goal, which was nullified by a 15-yard penalty. Had it been allowed to stand, Cothren would have set a new NCAA record.

But as brilliant as were Crawford and Brown, they had to share honors with LSU fullback Jimmy Taylor. Playing as he should have been all year, the big Baton Rouge boy accounted for all 17 LSU points—all in the first half. The Tigers had a 17 to 14 half-time lead.

Taylor's scores were two touchdowns, a 28-yard field goal and two extra points. He also picked up numerous yards on key plays.

The Mississippi express started rolling with only 45 seconds gone in the game. Brown connected on a 29-yard cross-the-field pass to Crawford who went over standing up. Cothren booted the first of his three extra points.

Late in the first period after LSU had made it 10 to 7, Blalack connected with Reed to put the Rebels ahead again. Reed took it

Kansas Jayhawks Clip Kansas State, 20-15

MANHATTAN, Kan., Nov. 3 (UP)—Kansas University came from two touchdowns behind to take a 20-15 decision from Kansas State Saturday in a wild contest before 20,000 fans.

Kansas State's quarterback Dick Corbin jumped on a K-U fumble, one of the six Kansas lost, and the K-Staters drove the 33 yards in three plays to their first touchdown in the second period. Corbin went 30 yards through the middle for the score. Kenny Nesmith missed the conversion.

Two minutes later, K-State scored again. That also was set up by a fumble recover on the Kansas 11. A pass, Nesmith to Gene Keady, covered the last 10 yards for the touchdown. Nesmith kicked the point.

Kansas' first came in the final seconds of the half after it moved 68 yards on 13 plays. Halfback Charlie McCue hammered into the end zone from the three-yard line.

Gophers Boot Panthers, 9-6

MINNEAPOLIS, Nov. 3 (UP)—Fullback Dick Borstad kicked the game-winning field goal with less than three minutes to play to save Minnesota's unbeaten record in a 9-6 victory over Pittsburgh before 63,579 homecoming fans Saturday.

Borstad's field goal on the only play in which he appeared, gave the Gophers victory in what until then had been a personal duel between all-American quarterback candidates Bobby Cox of Minnesota and Pittsburgh's Cory Salavatra.

It was the second time in three weeks Borstad had come off the bench in the waning minutes to salvage victory with a field goal. He provided identical heroics for a 16-13 victory over Illinois two weeks ago. He hadn't been in for a single play since.

TCU Nips Baylor

By ED FITTE
FORT WORTH, Tex., Nov. 3 (UP)—Bulldozing Buddy Dike perked up a sluggish Texas Christian team that had mused only one first down in the first half against a bruising Baylor defense and the defending Southwest Conference champions rallied in the rain for a 7-6 victory.

Dike, the regular fullback who had yielded his starting berth to another man Saturday, came off the bench, pounced on a Baylor fumble that set up a 67-yard drive that he kept alive with a sparkling 31-yard run and paved the way for TCU to stay in contention for a repeat championship and possible Cotton Bowl berth.

Quarterback Charles Curtis sneaked the final foot for the telling, touchdown and reserve end Harold Pollard booted the all-important extra point less than two minutes into the final quarter but it was Dike that inspired the surge.

Until the point, the game had belonged to a raging Baylor defense that had snuffed every TCU offensive effort and had set up the Bears' score in the final seconds of the first half with a fumble recovery of its own.

Baylor's score came on a 32-yard pass play with 55 seconds to go at the half with Bobby Jones flipping to end Jerry Marconiel on the 23, from where he had a clear run for the goal when TCU's O'Day Williams overcharged him trying for an interception. Junior Beall's conversion effort with the wet ball drifted off wide to the left and that made the difference.

The statistics, which showed that TCU outgained Baylor 242 yards to 128 failed to tell the true story of the Baylor defense led by end Tony Degrazier, guard Bill Glass and center Lee Harrington, which choked the touted TCU attack down to 41 yards in the first period and kept it contained in the second half except for the 30-play, 67-yard TCU scoring drive.

Dike churned his way for 64 of TCU's yards and all-American Jim Swink got 56 more, including two vital six yard plunges that moved the ball down to the one-foot line for Curtis' sneak.

The victory gave TCU, a seven-point pre-game favorite, its second victory against one loss in league play, while it was Baylor's second loop defeat in a row against one victory and all but erased its hopes for its first time in more than three decades.

Tech drives deep into Duke territory in the first period were by halfback Eddie Rushion, both stopped on pass interceptions by halfback Eddie Rushion, both on the Blue Devil four, both.

Then Duke generated marches that gave the Blue Devils a first-half statistics advantage, but alert Techmen stopped two with recovered fumbles. Then Duke marched from its own 34 to the Tech three yard line, but Tech braced with a nine-man line.

Halfback George Dufrow, who powered the Duke ground march, was thrown for a two-yard loss by Mitchell. Next, the six-foot four linebacker smeared Dufrow on the five on fourth down.

It was late in the third period that Rotenberg intercepted a pass by Duke's Sonny Jurgensen on Tech's 39. Then Owen went to work, going to the Duke 51 in two rushes.

Halfback Jim Thompson was tackled for a 15 yard loss.

But on fourth down Rotenberg flanked wide and took Mitchell's pass in the clear. Rotenberg and the big Mattison then smashed for the score. Mitchell converted.

Shooting Resorts

The "shooting resort", where pheasant, quail and chukar are released for hunting, has been a thing of the past for some time under a new law passed by the state legislature. They are beginning to have an importance which will increase even more in the future.

Already they have caused a lot of comment and discussion, not only among Texas hunters, but also among those who are not. Most are decidedly sarcastic in their ridicule of the idea or are high in praise of the enjoyment they have discovered hunting on the resorts.

The important question actually is, "Just how much genuine hunting and shooting sport can a hunter get from such a hunt?" Not willing to take any one else's word for it, I hunted on a number of resorts to get the answer for myself. (This story is by Townsend Miller, editor of the Texas Game and Fish magazine.)

I tried to enter into the experiment with an open mind. However, I must admit I'm afraid I am somewhat prejudiced against the idea and that, frankly, I didn't expect to get much kick out of shooting pen-raised birds.

I was hunting with two other hunters, a pair of good bird dogs, and the resort guides when I flushed my first pheasant. A dozen of the big beautiful birds had been released as singles scattered over some 250 acres early that morning before daylight. It was about 9 o'clock when we walked into the field.

One of the dogs pointed the pheasant in deep grass near a small bush. My companions voted for me to be the "guinea pig" and take the first shot. None of us knew what to expect. I started walking up behind the dog, half expecting to have to kick the bird out with my foot. In keeping with some of the rumors I'd heard about pen-raised birds.

The dog held a perfect deep-dress point — yet I was still a forty feet from the dog and fifty from the pheasant when the bird sky-rocketed out of the grass. The whirring blur angled off to my right at about sixty degrees, then just as I was set to fire, took a sharp left and zoomed sky-ward. I realized, knocked some feathers out of the fast disappearing bird, and watched him fly on and on until he finally settled to the ground over a quarter of a mile away.

That was typical of the other pheasants we flushed. All took to the air before we got within thirty feet of them. None that we missed flew less than 80 yards, before alighting. Tame? That's wild enough for me. And my experience hunting on other shooting resorts have been similar.

Fourteen shooting resorts were licensed last season in Texas. Some operate as private clubs, charging members annual dues which usually include a quota of birds per season with the right to pay for additional birds if desired. Others operate as public resorts, taking hunters on a day hunt basis and charging for the number of birds released or killed.

The average charge is $5 to $6 per pheasant or chukar released for the hunting party and $2 to $2.50 per quail.

Special seasons for released birds open earlier than regular season on wild birds and close much later. The shooting resort pheasant and chukar season is from Oct. 1st to April 1st, and released quail can be hunted on resorts from Nov. 1 through February 30.

Hunting on shooting resorts probably will never be a "poor man's" sport, but many hunters are finding it less expensive than a journey to the midwest for pheasant or travelling hundreds of miles in search of quail that may never be found.

And hunters who have shot game on a well-managed resort are fast dispelling the talk about "tame" birds and "easy shooting."

As one resort operator said, "All I ask is that they resort shooting just once."

This story was reprinted from the October issue of the Texas Game and Fish Magazine — a department publication which only costs two dollars per year for twelve issues. You may have this Number on a strictly Texas outdoor magazine by contacting the Texas Game and Fish Com. Austin, Texas.

Duck and Goose Season Shooting hasn't been as good as was hoped for mainly because there isn't enough water in these parts to sustain a good duck population. However we still have plenty of time to hunt if it does rain and fill the upland waterholes.

Mr. Howard Dodgen, Executive recently submitted a bit of poetry that could very well apply to the duck and goose seasons.

I'll wager you one to a hundred bucks, That nobody can please all hunters of ducks; When once we fixed a good split season, Complaints poured forth without any reason. Then the season was changed and they said, "It's too short." We stretched it a bit and in came the retort.

"Please change it some more so my wife won't complain That I do nothing but hunt during Christmas again." We are in a tough spot to help the poor duck And at the same time give the hunter some luck. —Howard Dodgen

Mustangs Belt Bearcats, 44-7 Perryton 3-AA Champs! Fizzle Skyrockets, 45-6

The Wheeler Mustangs snorted and snarled Friday night as they humbled the Eastelline Bearcats 44-7.

Harold Crossland was the star offensive threat for the Mustangs along with Jim Porter, who was a defensive stickout too, and Jojo Jaco. Crossland ran for three touchdowns on rallies of 53.59 and 7 yards. He was helped by Jaco's was almost impossible. Next week nine yards. Larry Hunter brought the wind-chilled crowd to its feet as he moved 19 yards on an end around play in the second quarter and Jim Porter's 19 yard gallop also in the second quarter accounted for the final Mustang six-pointer.

Huffmaster scored the solo tally for Eastelline after the Bearcats recovered a Wheeler fumble with seconds to go in the second quarter.

It was primarily a ground game that led the Mustangs to the win. The air was so cold that passing was almost impossible. Next week the Mustangs will have their hands full when they play the Stinnett Rattlers. Four Wheeler starters were injured last night as the cold had a telling effect on the teams.

Groom Blasts Textline, 26-6

Groom Tigers continued their winning ways Friday night as they slugged down the Textline Tornados, 26-6 in Textline.

Maynard Britten led the Groom scorers with two touchdowns and an extra point, as he scored on an eight-yard dash in the second quarter and came back in the third to score on a 35-yard run. Gerald Hermesmeier moved for five yards and another Tiger score and Willard Smith dashed 22 yards to open the scoring for the Tigers.

The lone Textline score came when Dave McClellan set sail on a 70-yard dash and went all the way for the score. The extra point failed. The game was a district 1-B game.

By FRED M. PARKER
Pampa News Staff Reporter
Several hundred staunch football fans braved a biting wind to watch the Perryton Rangers' victory over the Wellington Skyrockets Friday night by a lopsided score of 45 to 6.

Four Wellington fumbles recovered by Perryton and a Wellington pass which was intercepted helped the Rangers to victory.

The intense cold wind hindered the players of both teams and kept most of the yardage gained to ground plays. The Wellington line wore gloves and at one point one of the members of the Perryton line resorted to gloves.

The win resulted in the Perryton Rangers taking the championship of District 3-AA. The way the district lined up prior to Friday night's game the winner of the game at Perryton would be the champs.

The victory was sweet revenge for the Rangers who lost the Wellington in 1932 by a score of 20-0 which was the last time the two teams met.

The first quarter began with the Rangers kicking off to the Skyrockets. Elbert took the ball to the 38 and Wilkins moved the ball to the 45 on two plays. On the fourth down Wellington fumbled and the ball was recovered by Perryton on Wellington's Wright on the 23. Wright moved the ball to the 16 and a play from that point with Sammy Carter carrying the pigskin resulted in the first TD for Perryton. The try for extra point was no good and Perryton led 6-0.

Wellington was unable to advance and another fumble was recovered by Perryton on the Skyrocket's 27-yard line. Epp made one yard and Gyger moved the ball over right end to the three. Gyger made one more yard and Tommy Johnson went over from the one to make the second Ranger tally. Johnson took a fumbled ball on the try for extra point and went around left end standing up. With 2:24 left on the clock Perryton led by 13-0.

The second quarter opened with Wellington on the Perryton 29 but they were unable to advance and kicked. After several plays in which Perryton was penalized back to their own five they were forced to kick and the ball was returned by Wellington to their 38. On the third play Wellington again fumbled with the Rangers recovering on their own 43.

Gyger, Carter and Epp moved the ball on a series of plays to the one where Epp went over standing up with 1:47 remaining in the first half. The try for the extra point was no good and Perryton led by 19-0.

The second half began as Gyger took the kickoff on the 15 and returned to the 29 before he was spilled. Carter went over center to advance to the 38. Gyger, Epp, Apple and Johnson marched the ball down to the Wellington 4 where Gyger went over right tackle to cross the double stripe. Johnson's try for the extra point cleared the posts and Perryton's lead was now 26-0 with 7:23 left in the third quarter.

Elbert returned the ball to the 35 before he was stopped from behind. The Skyrockets were unable to make the necessary yardage for a first down and Elbert kicked the pigskin to the two-yard line where Epp grabbed it and made four yards. Carter carried to the 12 and Gyger broke through to the 30. Kent Apple added another two yards and Gyger went to the middle stripe where he fumbled but recovered the ball on the Skyrocket's 48. Epp carried for five and Gyger ran and jumped over several Wellington players to advance the ball to the 32.

Kent Apple made two yards and Carter managed to go to the 22 before being dumped on his head and losing the ball which was recovered by Gyger. Gyger, Epp and K. Apple on a series of plays finally bulled the ball over when K. Apple went over from seven with 30 seconds remaining in third quarter. The extra point try was not successful and Perryton led by 32-0.

The two teams slugged back and forth during the first half of the final quarter until Epp managed to cross from the four after a recovery of a Wellington fumble on the Wellington 30. The extra point try was successful and Rangers now had a 39 to 0 lead.

The Skyrockets came back on the kick off determined to erase the goose egg from the scoreboard with Elbert returning the kick to the 11. After moving down to the Rangers 38 a pass was completed and the Skyrockets crossed the double stripe for the first and only time in the game. The try for the extra point was incomplete and the score stood at 39 for Perryton and 6 for Wellington.

With less than 3 1/2 minutes left in the game the Rangers came back to score again in about 1 1/2 minutes. The ball was returned to the 50 by Epp on the kickoff and he then carried to the 42. Perryton was penalized 15 yards for offensive holding but the yardage was made up with some to spare by Mooneyham on the next play when he carried to the 35. A pass by Mounts connected with Clark in the end zone and with 2:08 left on the clock the Rangers had a 39 point lead with the score at 45-6. The score remained at that figure when the kick was blocked by the Skyrocket's Hood.

Bronchos Belt Wildcats, 20-0

The Clarendon Bronchos remained unbeaten in district competition Friday night as they pounced on the Canadian Wildcats by the score of 20-0.

Clarendon got things rolling in the second quarter as Johnny Payne capped an 80-yd. march by plunging over from the one yard line. Robert Mills booted the extra point to make it 7-0.

There was no further scoring until the third quarter when Payne, showing his versatility, fired a pass to Ed Baten that was good for the touchdown. The play covered 50 yards. Mills booted his second extra point of the night to boost the lead to 14-0.

Minutes later, the Bronks had their third touchdown of the evening. Jim Philley busted through a hole in the Wildcat defense and moved 55 yards before he was hauled down from behind by the Canadian safety man. A couple of plays later, Philley hit pay dirt as he negotiated four yards on an end run. The PAT try was missed.

Five-Man Battle Royal Opens Mat Card Monday

In what may be the outstanding wrestling card of the year, tomorrow night a five-man battle royal will feature the weekly program at the Top of Texas Sportsman Club here in Pampa.

This card was drawn after some consultation with Doc Sarapalis, the Amarillo promoter. Originally, Dizzy Davis was slated to fight Bob Orton in a return bout. Last week saw Orton injure Davis' right arm and the boys continued the argument outside the ring, so forcibly that some of the local constabulary had to step in to avoid possible injury to the paying customers.

In addition to Davis and Orton, who will be on hand, three other top matters will round out the quintet. Tommy Phelps, who in his actions is becoming known as a bad man rather than the clean wrestler he was, will be here along with El Diablo and Roger McKay. El Diablo is a new-comer to Pampa wrestling fans and wears a mask. Tommy Phelps, when informed that he might get to wrestle the masked Mexican, didn't go for that at all. Said Phelps, "No one with a mask will ever finish the match with me with his mask on." Phelps, still popular here for his solid whipping of Ricki Starr six weeks ago, has picked some dirty wrestling habits which he displayed last week against Tito Carroon as he beat the young Mexican star up badly. Roger McKay is an old favorite here who hasn't been seen in some months.

The first man to get pinned in the opening five man match will sit the rest of the evening out. The next two pinned will fight the 45 minutes, two out of three fall semifinal, and the remaining men in the ring will fight the final match of one hour or two out of three falls.

All Pampa wrestling fans hope that Davis and Orton will get to tangle again. Davis is now two-down to Orton losing his second consecutive match Thursday last in Amarillo. If the match comes off here tomorrow, there are certain to be plenty of fireworks because these two men have no love whatsoever for each other.

Panthers Clobber White Deer, 54-20

The Panhandle Panthers kept right on winning Friday night as they unleashed a terrific eight-touchdown attack to blast the White Deer Bucks 54-20, in a game played at White Deer.

The Panthers started to roll easily in the first quarter when Jones Hedrick hit pay dirt on a three-yard plunge. Ted Addington made the conversion and the score read 7-0. Minutes later after White Deer had to give up the ball on a punt, Hedrick picked up the punt in the vicinity of his own 40 yard line and zipped upfield 60 yards for the second score. Addington again converted to open the bulge up to 14-0.

The second quarter saw the game broken wide open as Panhandle scored four touchdowns while the Bucks came up with two of their three scores. Alton Hill moved over from the one for White Deer and A. J. Alford converted, the score was ahead in half, 14-7. That was all for awhile as Addington moved over from the two after a long drive and Hedrick broke away for a 53 yard gallop and still another score. Addington added another extra point to make it now 27-7. After the fourth Panhandle touchdown, Herschel Powell took the Panther kickoff and went straight up the field to the middle stripe and then over to the sidelines to go 83 yards for another White Deer score to make it 27-13.

Panhandle continued the pressure as Monty Bell broke into the scoring column with a one yard plunge and Ferrell Devining made the conversion. Tommy Addington also scored on a one yard plunge after his teammates moved the ball upfield to set it up for him. Larry Hiron converted on Addington's score to make it 41-13.

Johnny Ed Howe added another Panhandle touchdown in the third quarter as he scored on a four yard dash and Hedrick converted.

Hedrick wasn't through yet as a scorer because he went 68 long yards for another score to make it 54 points for Panhandle and 17 for Hedrick as he really had a sensational night scoring four touchdowns.

The final White Deer score came on a pass from Bob Smith to Ruddy Stevens and Smith followed up his pass with the conversion to account for White Deer's 20 points.

NEW YORK (UP) — The New York Giants added Bill Austin, offensive guard who had been sidelined with a knee injury, to their active roster today and put Jack Spinks, who has a pinched shoulder nerve, on the injured reserve list. Austin will be ready to play against the Steelers Sunday at Pittsburgh.

Peg O' Pampa

ALTHOUGH THE CHILDREN don't seem to realize it, Halloween has come and gone for the year . . . thank goodness . . . it was a madhouse . . . trying to prepare for what seemed like half a dozen different parties all at once . . . one for the classroom in school . . . and one for the littler stay-at-homes . . . baking cookies for trick-or-treaters . . . rounding up costumes . . . of course, Peg realizes that a little foresight would have solved most of the problems . . . but who doesn't let a holiday . . . even Christmas . . . in fact, especially Christmas . . . sneak up on her before she knows it? . . . and trying to buy costumes and paper plates and cups and favors and so on the day of Halloween is just not the way to do it . . . like buying gifts on Christmas Eve . . . everything is picked over or there is nothing left to choose . . . but anyhow, the children enjoy it . . . Peg had practically sit on her kids all day long to keep them from exploding with excitement . . . naps were impossible for anyone . . . but I guess it happens in every household.

WHEN TRICK-OR-TREATERS began arriving the fun began . . . we had the cutest little skeleton come to our door . . . and driving about was fun . . . goblins and ghosts really flitted through the dusk . . . and on every doorstep were witches and hoboes and spacemen . . . the candle-lit jack-o-lantern that graced the George Cree (Jr.) front lawn was a joy to see . . . with plastic and paper so commonly made into jack-o-lanterns lately, it was good to see the "real McCoy" . . . and the wavering flame of a candle beats any flashlight bulb and battery for atmosphere . . . we wonder how many spooks were frightened by the ghost of Roy Dawson . . . he sits on his porch each Halloween, draped in a sheet . . . masked . . . and with goodies surrounding him . . . sometimes, since they are not expecting to be spooked themselves . . . the kiddoes scatter in all directions when first they see him . . . any way you look at it, this holiday is fun . . . and Peg wore an orange scarf all day in honor of the occasion!

HILARITY WAS the order of the day at the El Progresso guest day tea recently . . . Sophie Rasmussen provided some of the fun . . . dressing up in various costumes . . . one of which represented Gina Lola Bridges . . . and another a cleaning woman who insisted on cleaning in the middle of the tea . . . and there was fun with a mock play staged . . . on OTHELLO . . . Judy Russell was Othello . . . Mrs. Cal Applewhite was Desdemona . . . Betty Whitney, a villainous Iago . . . Mrs. George Newberry as the undertaker and Mrs. S. A. Blundell was the fire department that came to revive the "dead" at the end of the play, to give it a happy ending . . . all in all, a very original and entertaining program.

THERE WERE fascinating rumors about a buffet at the Country Club . . . people were supposed to come dressed as their secret desire . . . unconfirmed reports had it that a certain young man about town made an excellent prize fighter in a white bathrobe . . . and that a certain doctor came as Elvis Presley . . . complete with hound dog . . . and that there was blonde clinging - vine with leaves scattered about her person . . . and a hobo in the crowd . . . a very interesting set of rumors.

THIS AND THAT . . . saw Frank Fata and Canita rushing around downtown once this week . . . they were all excited about something . . . and I heard words of "bridge tournament" wafted on the air they stirred up as they tore past . . . friends are glad to see Mrs. Howard Neath back in Pampa . . . visiting with friends . . . she has been royally entertained . . . a party practically every day . . . many will remember her daughter Mary Lou . . . she is residing in Orange, Texas, now . . . and we heard that both Edna and Mary Lou went on a two-months tour of Europe during the summer . . . it is a good thing they traveled while they could . . . Peg expects Europe is not the most pleasant place to be with all the fighting and agitation that is going on there recently . . . wonder if Buba Lang is permanently heir to that pretty white station - wagon with turquoise inside that she was driving recently . . . Peg has heard that her house has some turquoise in it, too . . . we were greeted with a bright smile the other day when we saw Leora Rose . . . she has such a warm smile . . . all over town we hear bits and pieces of conversations . . . and the chief topics seem to be the election and the movement for a new hotel in Pampa . . . everyone has something to say on both subjects . . . we hear rumors about the new choir director at the Presbyterian church . . . seems he is really making the choir members work, and they are enjoying it very much.

WHILE WE ARE NEAR, if not on, the subject, politics is a forbidden subject around Mr. and Mrs. Peg's home lately . . . seems we disagree on the candidates . . . violently . . . and it did Peg no good to remind Mr. Peg of a statement she read recently that contrary to popular belief, the woman does NOT vote as her husband does . . . in fact, it is more likely that the wife influences the husband's vote . . . and it is becoming a truism that the women voters outnumber the men . . . but it all boils down to the fact that, no matter who wins this election, the nation will go on being the USA, and its people will go on being themselves, and the world will not end just because Ike loses or wins, or Adlai loses or wins . . . and thank God that the military forces will not have to take over any government by dictator in this country.

NOW WE WILL GET DOWN OFF OUR SOAPBOX . . . two important social events were the Community Concert and the Knife and Fork Club dinner . . . don't know which Peg enjoyed the most . . . the Teitshuks and their beautiful playing, or Dr. Durant's talk . . . we suspect Mr. Peg enjoyed the dinner more than either the speaker or the concert.

SOMEPLACE TO GO on Sunday . . . don't think that just because summer is over, the picnic season is over, too . . . this is really the best time to picnic . . . few flies to bother . . . no need to search out shade to keep from burning up . . . food tastes better on a crisp fall day . . . you can take hot cocoa and scalloped potatoes and really enjoy their warmth . . . hiking to see the sights is pleasant rather than enervating . . . the leaves are beautiful . . . in short . . . we'd take a picnic in the fall before one in the summer . . . any time . . . Peg's informant said that the trees are just beginning to turn in Palo Duro now, and it will be its prettiest in the canyon from now to the end of November . . . so load the family and the picnic lunch into the car and enjoy these crisp days . . . this season in the Panhandle is unexcelled for its weather.

ADVENTURE OF THE WEEK, although with somewhat unpleasant after effects, was the tangle a couple of youngsters had with a skunk . . . they were out hunting with bows and arrows and bagged a skunk . . . at least they thought they had . . . until one of them investigated and was, shall we say, unpleasantly surprised? . . . when his mother came home a little while later, she was met at the door by you-know-what in the way of odor . . . and followed (easily) the trail from the leather wrist guard found on the kitchen table to the bathroom . . . where one small boy was, for once, washing and washing himself without being told to do so! Corky Dodd and Curtis King were the adventurers. After a while the mothers were able to see the humor in the situation.

ENOUGH FOR THE WEEK . . . we guess there is enough to keep us busy for the week what with the election, and the United Fund Drive, and other things going on . . . see you next week.

Miss Billie Jean Clark Becomes Bride Of Charles Walsh Jr. In Nuptial Mass

In a ceremony solemnized at 8 a.m. Oct. 20, in Holy Souls Catholic Church, Miss Billie Jean Clark, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon T. Clark, 400 N. Nelson, became the bride of Charles Walter Walsh Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Walsh, 701 E. Browning.

Rev. Myles Moynihan officiated for the nuptial mass and double ring ceremony. Baskets of white gladioli, mums and greenery decorated the altar, as well as candelabra with cathedral tapers. Mrs. Jack Edwards was organist, and Mrs. Paul Clark, vocalist, sang "Ave Maria."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of lace and tulle over satin. The fitted, strapless bodice was topped with a lace jacket that buttoned down the front and was styled with a pointed collar and long lace sleeves that came to points over her hands.

The bouffant ballerina-length skirt of tulle over satin was fashioned with a lace pannier.

Her shoulder-length veil of illusion fell from a halo-hat of tulle, accented with seed pearls. She carried a white satin-covered prayer book topped with a bouquet of white roses.

She carried out the tradition of "something old, new, borrowed and blue."

Mrs. Tommy Clark, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor, and Miss Sandra Walsh, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. Both wore pale-blue satin gowns, styled with bouffant, ballerina-length skirts. They wore pearl jewelry and carried Colonial bouquets of white roses and blue mums; accented with white satin streamers.

Spencer Street served as best man, and ushers were Wade Gilbert and Bill Oney. Altar boys were Patrick Walsh and Dennis Deusterhaus.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Clark wore a dark-brown suit with beige and brown accessories. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a gray suit with black accessories. Both wore corsages of white rosebuds.

Prevent Chapping With Elbow Cream

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Beauty Editor

Elbows, because they rest on desks, are used on bus rides and to test baby's water, seem to get very rough and hard. Many women's elbows seem almost rough enough to be used as sandpaper. Caring for this condition takes time. One good scrubbing won't do it. To keep elbows smooth, they should be cleaned thoroughly with a nail brush and soap, in the bath. This should be done daily, just to get off the accumulation of dark dirt that gets ground in during the course of a day.

The elbows should also get the same pampered treatment hands and face get during raw weather. A good suggestion is a thorough massage with a good hand cream each night after getting in bed.

Although neatness is the very lesson we're supposed to be teaching, our fear of ever accepting disobedience dominates us so we can teach nothing. Like a rigid-minded billy goat who's locked horns with another on a narrow bridge, we can only sway and push and wrestle with Johnny for that submission which can restore our self-respect.

Certainly I'll come "straight out." I think total obedience is only desired by people who have a attack by enemies always in mind. That's why army generals must have it. It's their business to keep attack by enemies always in mind. But parents operate homes, not military installations; and if they live in constant apprehension of hurt by their children, it's really not a situation they can afford to ignore.

For their fear is an old, deep-seated one. Though their dominating manner fools everyone who knows them, such parents can only feel safe when they have personal control of everything around them. Any difference with anyone important is intolerable to them for the same reason you beat the bush before you advance in lion country.

Behind the bush could be the enemy who's out to get you.

MATURE PARENT

Last term Nick had a "best friend" to walk to school with every day. This term he has nobody.

Several weeks ago his parents moved. In their new neighborhood are a baby, assorted toddlers, one teen-ager and his 12-year-old sister — all unlikely "best friend" prospects for Nick. So these school mornings bring no whistles to flash the old look of pride eagerness over his eight-year-old face.

Without his friend, school departure has become just depressing routine to Nick. To his mother watching his lonely, unaccompanied little figure disappear down the street, it's also brought discouragement.

How long will his friendless state last?

Just so long as his mother sees him as a pitiable object.

For this is exactly how Nick is seeing himself just now. With the added pressure of his mother's belief that he's a poor, friendless, miserable little boy, Nick is in acute need of reassurance that he is none of these undesirable things.

Denied the reassurance by his mother, he's begun to seek it from other children. Into his manner has crept a demanding, aggressive insistence on their special reassuring attention which they resist by avoiding him. They are right to do so. It is Nick's mother's obligation to correct his view of himself as undesirable, not his schoolmates.

To correct it, she must stop seeing him as undesirable herself.

The famous poet Goethe once wrote: "If we treat people as if they were what they ought to be, we help them become what they are capable of becoming."

Just recently I proved the truth of this statement. In the strain that preceded the death of my father, an experience came to me in which I felt great need for comfort. As my need has passed, I've realized how instinctively I avoided seeking it from people who would have felt sorry for me. Distrusting my own strength, I choose to show myself weak and faint-hearted only to friends who know that I am not these things.

A child brings us his sadness, not to be burdened by our respon-

The meeting will be preceded by a covered-dish luncheon at noon, for which each circle will be responsible for its own table and table decorations.

A meeting of the executive board is slated for 11:30 a.m.

MR. AND MRS. JIMMY ZACK GOAD

Mildred Ann Slemmer And Jimmy Goad Marry In Double-Ring Rite In Wheeler

WHEELER — (Special) — Miss Mildred Ann Slemmer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Slemmer, became the bride of Jimmy Zack Goad, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Goad Sr., all of Wheeler, recently in a double ring ceremony in the First Methodist Church. Rev. Carlton Thomson, pastor, officiated.

The chapel was decorated with white asters greenery and candelabra decorated with lace fern and white asters, tied with a white bow. An arrangement of white asters, fern and jade leaves centered the altar.

Mrs. Lyndon Sims played a prelude of wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Joyce Haddock as she sang, "Walk Hand in Hand With Me," "I Love You Truly" and "Bless This House."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white lace and net over taffeta. The waist-length net skirt was fashioned with a lace peplum. The moulded bodice of Alencon lace was styled with a wing collar and three-quarter length dolman sleeves. Tiny lace-covered buttons extended down the front of the bodice. Her scalloped, double, elbow-length veil of tulle fell from a white satin pillbox, encrusted with crystal beads. She wore a double strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. She carried out the tradition of "something old, new, borrowed, and blue" with a penny in her shoe. For something old, she wore a gold ring, a gift from her maternal grandmother. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid tied with white satin streamers.

Attending her sister as matron of honor was Mrs. Basal M. Jeter of Borger, who wore a ballerina-length dress of blue silk. The princess-style bodice featured a roll collar extending into a bow in the back. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Miss Sarah Jane Goad, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Nancy Lee were candlelighters. They wore identical blue taffeta dresses. De Juan Jeter, niece of the bride, was ring bearer. She wore a pink taffeta dress and carried a blue satin pillow edged in white lace.

Glen Sanders served as best man. W. A. Goad Jr., brother of the bridegroom, and Jim Close, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, were ushers.

The mother of the bride wore a black faille suit with black and white accessories. Mrs. Goad, mother of the bridegroom, wore a black and grey tweed dress with black accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table, covered with a white linen cloth, was centered with the matron of honor's bouquet flanked by tapers. Appointments were of crystal and silver.

The four-tiered wedding cake, topped with a miniature bride and SKELLYTOWN — (Special) — Officers for the Junior Girls' Auxiliary of the First Baptist Church were installed in recent ceremony. Mrs. J. W. Toms was the installing marshal.

Miss Margaret Dean was installed as president; Miss Diana Thomas, vice-president; Miss Karen Mathews, secretary; Miss Ruth Geisler, treasurer; Miss Carolyn Woodward, program chairman; Miss Janice St. Clair, social chairman; Miss Wanda Moore, community missions; Miss Dona Boyd, mission study; Misses Sally Banks and Reva Gail Barnett, room committee; Miss Rita Spence, telephone; Miss Nan Harmon, song leader; Miss Ann Noble, prayer chairman.

Mrs. A. M. Dean is counselor. Her assistants are Mrs. Don Carter and Mrs. Tom Spence. Mrs. Fred Wall is youth director.

Following the installation of officers, a reception was held for the mothers.

The serving table was covered with a lace cloth, centered with a bowl of autumn flowers. A large gold star also decorated the table. Lighted green tapers were at each star point, symbolizing the meaning of the GA emblem.

Miss Diana Thomas played background music. Refreshments of cookies and punch were served. The Elizabeth Cash Circle of the Women's Missionary Society was in charge of refreshments. Mrs. H. Garrett and Mrs. Elizabeth Tinsley presided at the serving table.

Attending were Meses. Paul Mathews, Lee Thomas, Roy Woodward, Granville Boyd, John Banks, Don St. Clair, Ed Harmon, Walton Barnett, Fred Wall, J. W. Toms, Don Carter, Tom Spence, A. G. Garrett and J. W. Toms.

The mishap that befalls the working girl most often is the stocking with a run in it. A word of advice: an extra pair of stockings kept in a desk drawer will save embarrassment.

Silicone-base preparations are fine for waterproofing men's shoes, but check with your shoe dealer before using them on your footwear. Certain types of trimming can be discolored by their use.

The well-turned-out career girl is always completely neat. Here, she wears Anne Klein's trim shirtwaist dress as she works with her voice-writer secretarial. Fabric is jersey with unusual texture interest.—By GAILE DUGAS, NEA Women's Editor.

Floor The Family... With Beauty

There's nothing quite like a deep-pile, resilient, luxurious floor covering to give a feeling of warmth, security and livability to a room.

Like walls, floor coverings represent one of the room's largest areas and consequently play a dominant role in the decorative scheme. It is not at all unusual today for a particularly beautiful rug or carpet to be used as a room's center of interest, with other background features—walls, windows and upholstery fabrics—keyed to the floor covering.

Or, a floor covering may be used to tie a room together, to relate adjoining rooms, to alter the apparent size of a room, and to bring color, texture and pattern into a room.

The floor covering you choose should be practical as well as decorative—it should be suited to the room's functions.

The large areas of solid color in the living room sketched above have been relieved by the subtle pattern in the sculptured rug. Furniture has been grouped to take full advantage of the view window, and to carry out an overall simplicity for easy housekeeping. Wall-to-wall carpeting the exact shade of the citron-colored walls contributes to the look of spaciousness and elegance.

When we tell you to put quality where it counts we refer particularly to floor coverings. We offer you quality you can depend on in all our carpeting and rugs, plus rich texture and popular decorative colors at prices that make every purchase an outstanding value.

GRACE FRIEND

I saw in the papers where a man who was recently convicted of rape is to be freed soon. Personally I think his sentence was too harsh as girls are often more guilty than men are. When a girl gives her consent a man isn't all wrong. I think our laws should be changed. Any girl who gets herself into trouble and gets arrested should have to go to jail and serve the required time. There would be less of this conduct going on if this was done. It doesn't make any difference how well a boy is brought up, and is highly respected, when a cheap, ill clad, or otherwise, girl comes along and forces her attention on him, she will as a rule drag him down to her level. Let a sweet, wholesome girl be nice to a fellow who hasn't had any bringing up, and a friendship begins. She can make a very fine, highly respected fellow of him. Interested

SYMPATHY
Dear Grace Friend
Wish to offer my sympathy to you for the hornets' nest you stirred up when you told the truth about Elvis Presley. Some of the letters you received in answer were certainly ridiculous and show just how foolish the teenagers are and some older women. From the effect this fellow has on them it is easy to see what he is. Well I am one who believes in wearing long stockings under dresses and agree with another who wrote that if girls and women dressed modestly there would not be the many offenses against girls and women. In fact, I believe 90 percent of the rape-murders in this country are caused by the undress of girls and women. They invite insult and they do not need to tell me they are so innocent they don't know it. But as for men who do these sex crimes against children there is one thing that should be done for them which the authorities seem to have never thought of, and that is — have them operated on so that they can never do any more harm in that way. A law should be passed to allow this. A. B. S.

Have at least one pair of taupe and-black shoes in your wardrobe this fall. Wonderful with black. You can pick up the taupe accent in your leather gloves if you like. By winding a piece of sticky tape around four fingers, sticky side out, you can easily pick up lint from wool garments.

terest. In 1951, she was named "Homemaker of the Year," from nominee from 51 Panhandle counties, by the Scripps-Howard "Save the Soil and Save Texas" program. She was one of 18 Texans selected as cooperators in a yard improvement and landscaping project, aimed to encourage and assist others in home beautification. Mrs. Haiduk has served her local home demonstration club as secretary, council delegate and yard demonstrator. She was sponsor for Grandview 4-H Girls' Club, and Gray County chairman for 4-H work. She has sponsored young peoples' Farmers' Union camps. For three years, she served Grandview PTA as president and is now an active member of Holy Souls' Home and School Association. Her work as diocesan president has taken her around an area from Dalhart to San Angelo, and she has visited the national headquarters of Catholic women in Washington, D.C.

DIOCESAN CONVENTION
At last week's Lubbock meeting, Amarillo Diocesan meeting, Mrs. Haiduk was elected to a second term as president. Others named to serve the Amarillo Diocesan Council were Mrs. R. M. By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Food and Markets Editor— Many readers have written for low-calorie recipes that really taste good. Here are three which we found quite pleasant despite their few calories. You'll probably like them.

FRESH CITRUS CUSTARD
Three tablespoons flour, 1/4 teaspoon salt, 1 cup skimmed milk, scalded, 1 tablespoon liquid non-calorie sweetener, 2 eggs, well beaten, 1/4 cup fresh orange juice, 1 tablespoon fresh lemon juice, 1/2 teaspoon orange peel.
Combine flour and salt and add to scalded milk in the top of double boiler. Add liquid sweetener and mix well. Gradually add beaten eggs and cook until mixture coats the spoon. Remove from stove and add orange and lemon juices and grated peel. Chill thoroughly. Serve with peeled orange cart - wheel slices for garnish. Serves 6.
One serving provides 58 calories without garnish, 72 calories with garnish.

LOW - CALORIE HOLLANDAISE SAUCE
Two egg yolks, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 3 tablespoons skim milk, 1/4 teaspoon dry mustard, 1/4 teaspoon paprika, 1/4 teaspoon salt.
Fill a small skillet half full of hot water. Place over low heat and put a small mixing bowl into it. In the bowl combine egg yolks and lemon juice. Add milk and stir. Add dry mustard, paprika and salt and mix well. Beat constantly with a wire whisk until thick and creamy. Makes 1 cup. One tablespoon measures nine calories.

DIET DRESSING
One-half cup skimmed milk, 1/4 cup lemon juice, paprika, salt.
Rub a little garlic around a bowl. Combine skimmed milk and lemon juice. Add salt to milk before adding lemon to prevent curdling. Use paprika to color.
In one recipe there are 60 calories; in one serving, 5 calories (1 tablespoon).

Apron, Potholder
Prettiest little hostess apron you'll find — with a huge strawberry to accent the skirt; big leaves form the bib. Potholders to match. No. 8443 with PATT-O-RAMA included in sizes small (10-12), medium (14-16) and large (18-20). Medium size, 1 yard of 35-inch leaves, 1/4 yard contrast; potholder, pockets, 1/2 yard. For this pattern, send 35 cents in COINS, your name, address, size desired, and the PATTERN NUMBER.

SHAMROCK — (Special) — A surprise pink and blue shower honored Mrs. Ray Johnson in her home. Hostesses were Mmes. Glen Richerson, Warren Cusick and Louise Vermillion.

The center piece on the serving table featured pink umbrella with baby rattler, washcloths and flower arrangement in a water bottle. Mrs. Johnson was presented a corsage of baby socks and washcloths.

About 20 guests called. Cake and coffee were served.

Ruth Millett

If you want American women to agree with you, never so much as hint that a middle-aged woman who devotes her life to trying to stay young may be wasting her time.

A recent column of mine taught me that. In it I deplored the frantic need to hang onto youth that gods so many women in their fifties. I questioned their thinking that if they spend enough time in beauty parlors, spend enough money on clothes and work hard at always being the life of the party they need never grow old.

Well, it was like stirring up a hornet's nest. "How could you be so cruel!" they asked.

What's cruel about telling women that if they will relax and be their age, they'll be better off than in fighting against age? Or that they should spend less time looking in their mirrors and more time looking at the world about them, letting serenely replace forced vivaciousness?

The reason this kind of straight talk seems cruel is probably because so many people have told women that they can have eternal youth. They've fallen for the come-on.

"Use this face cream and you'll never have wrinkles," they are promised.

"Use this soap and you'll have the dewy complexion of youth." Buy this, buy that, do this, do that and you'll win your battle against age.

It just ain't so. The only way a woman can defeat age is by accepting it, not fighting it.

And that doesn't mean that she has to retire to a rocking chair and a box of bonbons, as one writer accuses me of wanting a woman to do as soon as she reaches fifty.

It just means that a woman should gracefully accept her age—whatever it is—and make her age her ally instead of her enemy.

It is the woman who doesn't try to fool anyone about her age who

Sub Deb Club Has Initiation Rite, Tea

A semi-formal initiation ceremony for new members of Sigma Delta Sub Deb Club was held recently in the City Club Room.

Miss Sara Lou Harnley, president, gave an informal talk on the purpose of the club, its responsibilities, history, aims and each member's duties. She gave the oath to each girl, who was presented with a green and white corsage.

Initiates were Misses Nancy Goodnight, Barbara Baer, Kathleen Dodds, Linda Buchanan, Phyllis Burress, Nancy Cleveland, Marilyn Fite, Janis Foster, Virginia Golden, Jeannine Harvey, Carmelita Hogan, Gale Howard, Mary Ann Kelley, Ann Kennedy, Barbara Lunsford, Marilyn Myatt, Marcia Miller, Betty Smith, Becky Gray, Marilyn Steele, Nancy Stevenson, Kay Waggoner, Linda A. Skewes, Mary Pursley and Mary Sanford.

Following the ceremony, a tea was held. The serving table was decorated in the club colors of green and white and was centered with a "tree" of carnations. As each new member was served, she was presented a white carnation from the tree by the president.

Miss H. M. Luna, sponsor, Miss Barbara Smith, co-sponsor, and Miss Harnley, president, presided at the table. Assisting with the tea were Mrs. J. H. Harnley and Mrs. Azelle Loftus.

Guests were registered by Miss Karla Cox.

knows that every age has its possibilities and its rewards. She is the one who is willing to try to be an attractive-looking woman of 50 or 60 instead of trying to look younger than she is. And she seems really young to others.

The woman who tries to cling to youth is the only one whose age makes her seem pathetic.

By Margaret Deeda Murphy

BARBECUE PARTY
During fall evenings enjoy a Barbecue Party. Serve plenty of barbecued spareribs, corn on the cob, garlic scented French bread, a big paper container of finger relishes, lots of lemon spiked iced tea and ice cream cups for dessert.

In planning the party, paper service can be a big help. Finger relishes can be refrigerated - stored and served in lidded paper containers. Barbecue sauce for basting the spareribs and melted butter for the corn are conveniently kept in paper containers. Paper cups and plates, which are so readily disposable after the party, will make cleanup a matter of minutes.

SWEET SOUR BARBECUED SPARERIBS
4 pounds spareribs
2 cloves garlic
2 1/2 spoons salt
1/2 cup consomme
1/2 cup orange marmalade
1/2 teaspoon fresh ground pepper
1/2 teaspoon ginger
3 tablespoons vinegar
1/2 cup catsup

Have butcher crack spareribs down center, but do not cut between ribs. Place in flat pan. Crush garlic with salt and combine with remaining ingredients. Pour over spareribs in pan. Cover with lid or aluminum foil and let stand in refrigerator several hours.

When ready to cook, weave strips of spareribs on long skewers and cook over coals about 1 1/2 hours or until browned and tender. Baste with marinade during cooking. Makes 6 servings.

Honored At Party

SKELLYTOWN — (Special) — The Youth Fellowship, Junior and Intermediate groups, of the Community Church held a Halloween party in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Jarvis. Hot chocolate and cup cakes was served.

Attending were Pat and Judy McKernan, Rickey and Judy Brown, Sandra and Gloria Dalton, Nita and Nell Olson, Bill and James Rhodes, Vicki and Terry Ellis, LaDonna Sue and Carol Dean Russell, David Clements, and Joan Jarvis, and Mmes. Dewey Godwin, Clarence Kaiser, Hal Brown, J. R. Ellis, Robert Rhodes and S. M. McCracken.

The woman who does not like the idea of velvet pants for "at-home" wear may welcome the idea of cashmere sweater coupled with a black velvet skirt. The cashmere may be in any pale color; bisque is pretty.

Successor to the Empire line is the very short-waisted look. This starts directly under the bustline and usually is paired with the unfitted waistline. Skirt may be slim or full.

These days, chiffon keeps company both with wool jersey and with knitted tops or jackets. A red wool top is stunning with a full pink chiffon skirt.

Newest bras and corsets zip or hook in the front rather than the back. They save both time and effort in dressing.

MATURE PARENT

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE
Jeff's divorced father has a character flaw. He craves admiration. To get it from you, he'll offer to do you some favor. But after you've told him how nice he is, appeasing his thirst for your admiration, he forgets all about doing you the favor.

Last summer, which Jeff spent with him and his second wife, his father broke several promises to the boy. There was the pledge to take him on a fishing trip; to buy him an airplane ride at a nearby flying field. Finally, just before Jeff rejoined his mother, there was a promise to send him an alarm clock radio that could always be trusted to get him up in time for school.

It didn't come. As time passed, Jeff's mother began to note the growing anxiety of his daily question, "Has my clock radio come?" In it, she recognized the old tendency of the child of divorce to blame himself for anything that goes wrong.

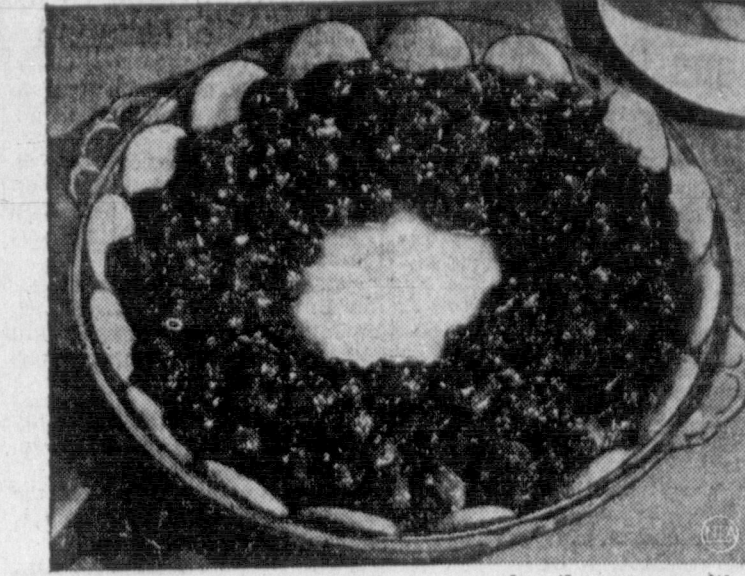

So she said, "Jeff, your father has broken his promise to send you a clock radio, not because you did anything to disappoint him this summer, but because he forgets promises. It is a fault of his just as jumping to conclusions is a fault of mine and untidiness is one of yours. So when he forgets a promise to you, watch that you do not blame yourself."

Jeff recovered from his anxiety. Children of divorce require constant reassurance for their sensitive readiness to blame themselves for their parents' faulty conduct. Almost inevitably readiness to blame ourselves for others' mistakes is trained into all of us. But the shock of divorce overdevelops this readiness in children. They try to explain the loss of one parent by some unknown sin in them which has made them undesirable.

Few get the needed reassurance. For the top problem of divorced parents is such fear of blame for their marriage break-up that they don't even want to know they feel it.

The real work of divorced parents is developing self-acceptance that makes it possible to present their faults realistically to children without apology for their own or vengefulness toward the other fellow.

It is work of understanding and forbearance.

Costume Party Set
By Skelly Rebekahs

SKELLYTOWN — (Special) — Rebekah lodge met recently in the IOOF hall, with Mrs. C. M. Estes, vice grand, in charge.

Mrs. Miles Pearson of the entertainment committee asked that each member come dressed for a masquerade party at the next meeting. Mrs. Clifton Hanna gave a report for the re-entertainment committee.

Attending were Mmes. R. C. Heaton, Al Shubring, Walter Niver, John Nichols, Johnny Wyatt, Carlos Beck, Miles Pearson, Delmar Sims, Lyle Zmotton, Everett Crawford, Clarence Hoskins, C. M. Estes and Clifton Hanna; and Misses Peggy Wyatt and Addie Fern Lick.

little time off to relax with his family — a lovely young wife and two little boys. Then there is usually a wonderful cherry pie.

Charles is an undergraduate student at Teachers College of Temple University under the "GI Bill." To add to the family income he works six nights a week as custodian of his church. There's little time and little money for entertaining. So the youthful Gills limit their social activities to church affairs and visits with other young couples. But Charles always gets his cherry pie on his one day at home with his gang.

Here is Mrs. Gill's recipe — a quick and easy one:

CALYPSO CHERRY PIE
(6-8 servings)

Twenty to 30 brown edge or vanilla wafers, 1 package custard flavor pudding and dessert mix, 2 tablespoons cornstarch, 3 tablespoons granulated sugar, 1 No. 303 can red, sour, pitted cherries; 2 1/2 cup juice drained from cherries, 1 teaspoon aromatic bitters, few drops red vegetable food coloring. Line bottom and sides of well-buttered, 9-inch pie plate with cookies. Fill in space with cookie crumbs and pieces. Prepare filling as package label directs for custard pie. Pour into cookie-lined pie plate; chill. Meanwhile, in saucepan, combine cornstarch and sugar. Stir in juice from cherries. Cook, stirring until mixture thickens and clears. Add cherries, aromatic bitters and red vegetable food coloring. Cool. Spoon cooled cherry mixture over pie filling, leaving center clear. Chill.

Men, this column is for you. It's in answer to the plea of a number of wives who claim that even though they love their husbands they get sick and tired of their sloppy dress around home.

One wife says, "My husband's idea of a perfect weekend is never to go anywhere that will necessitate his shaving or getting into decent-looking clothes. From Friday night to Monday morning he usually looks as though he had just hopped off a passing freight train."

Another says, "Writers are always telling women how important it is for them to look attractive around home. But what's the use of looking pretty for a husband whose idea of perfect lounging clothes for himself is an old pair of khaki pants, faded and stained, the limpest, most bedraggled sport shirt he can find and beat-up old loafers. No matter who drops in to see us, that's how they find my husband. If I'm supposed to look neat and pretty why isn't he expected to look like a gentleman, instead of a tramp?"

Still another wife complains: "My husband goes around home in work pants and his undershirt. If he just went barefooted he'd look like a character from Tobacco Road."

You see, men, what you may consider solid comfort in the way of around-home clothing, your

Though you surely look in the mirror carefully when you are getting dressed to go to work, do you ever glance in the mirror to see how you look to your wife around the house?

There's really no excuse for a man, these days, going around home looking like a tramp in the name of comfort.

With all the good-looking sports clothes on the market surely a man can find something comfortable to wear that doesn't offend his wife.

Mink And Leopard
Trim Add To Coats

BY GAILE DUGAS
NEA Women's Editor

NEW YORK — (NEA) — Newest and prettiest addition to the make-believe fur fashions this year is real fur trim. Collars of ranch mink or white mink, leopard or beaver lend a high-fashion touch to fur-type fabrics.

Designers use the fur-like fabrics for motor coats, evening capes, bloused jackets, clutch coats, chesterfields and dressy daytime coats. Colors are based on the basic and high-style fur darkened beige called bisque. White is usually reserved for evening and is sometimes dramatically combined with color. For instance, a hooded white coat is lined with brilliant red wool jersey.

We show (left) a coat of medium beige bisque cut on simple, classic lines with deep, turnback cuffs. The detachable collar is leopard.

The make-believe fur is used (right) for a double-breasted great coat with wide revers and bone buttons. Easy push-up sleeves and flap pockets make it a very wearable coat. Both designs are in fur-type Cloud No. 9.

GRACE FRIEND

Dear Grace
I've got a problem that has me in circles.

I'm a sophomore in high school and I skipped a grade in grammar school, consequently I'm a year younger than the rest of my classmates.

I look as old as the rest of them, even older, and I like to think I act as old. Some of the boys in my class know my real age and although they tease me about it I don't think they mind dating me at all.

But now that I'm in high school quite a few seniors have asked me out and one of the guys I did date asked me out a few times more. He seemed to like me a great deal when suddenly he stopped phoning and practically ignored me when we chanced to meet in school.

Then I heard that he had been teased about "robbing the cradle" and was quite angry because I didn't tell him how old I was. So now I'm wondering whether to come right out with it — or what?
Elaine

Dear Elaine
I think that you would be wise to let your age be known so that there can be no misunderstanding in the future.

However, since most of the boys know you don't feel that you are too young to date, I am of the opinion that the senior probably had other reasons for not asking you out. It might be that many things that he would like to do would be prohibited for you by your parents and he may have decided that a girl nearer his own age would be more fun. If you date a great deal you probably know how boy and girl romances are on and off.

Generally boys and girls have more fun when there isn't too great a difference in ages. A year certainly doesn't matter much, especially between classmates with the same school interests, so I suggest that you date boys in your class more often and quit worrying about the seniors. I imagine that your parents would prefer you date boys nearer your age also.

Party Whirl On Capitol Hill

WASHINGTON, Nov. 3 (UP)—ready is feasting. But she says she expects to attend a GOP ball.

Capitalites never need a reason for a party, but they've got one on the night of nights for government town—Nov. 6, the night election results will end the suspense that has subdued the social circuit for weeks.

Both Democrats and Republicans will stage giant open-house. Professional party-goers as usual will be sampling both, even though one is foredoomed to be more like a "wake" than a party.

Now all over the cold that plagued her during their West Coast trip, Mrs. Eisenhower reportedly hasn't given a thought to such post-election questions as whether the White House social schedule will be resumed if they remain in the White House.

Attorney General and Mrs. Herbert Brownell are among the scores of officialdom planning to attend the GOP shindig in the city's largest ballroom. Some 5,000 are expected as well as President Eisenhower, whom Republican officials confidently expect to be putting in a victory appearance.

President General Mrs. Fred-eric A. Groves practically gave them carte blanche when she announced at a local chapter meeting here a program which will ask every daughter to donate one penny per pound of her weight to swell endowment funds for DAR-approved schools. Eat up, girls!

How Modern Is Your Kitchen Range?

Compare Gas And Electric Ranges And Discover Why More Than 85 Out Of 100 Smart Moderns Cook With Gas

How Would You Answer These Questions?

- 1 Which Range offers COOLER, CLEANER COOKING with no "hang-over heat"? WOMEN say: FLAME-FAST GAS RANGES ALONE offer truly clean, comfortable cool cooking with no hangover heat! See for yourself. Turn the flame off under broiling food. Boiling stops instantly. There's no hangover heat to cause boilovers, or excess steam to make your kitchen hot and dirty. But with an electric range, boiling continues even after the cooking unit is turned off... you must remove pan. This means extra heat and extra watching!
2 Which Range offers SMOKEPROOF, CLOSED-DOOR BROILING? WOMEN say: FLAME-FAST GAS RANGES ALONE offer real smokeproof, closed-door broiling. When you broil with gas, you keep the door tightly closed — no rush of hot air to heat YOU. Modern gas ranges are smokeproof because the door stays closed and the flame consumes the smoke and grease... means cooler, cleaner kitchens. Your husband is sure to be a gas range enthusiast, too... because he knows that flame-fast gas broiling gives steaks that super-delicious flame-kissed taste.3 Which Range offers INSTANT HEAT for faster cooking? WOMEN say: FLAME-FAST GAS RANGES ALONE are instantly on — instantly off! Baby will get his 2 a.m. bottle faster if you cook with gas because there's no waiting around for an electric element to warm up. Or when you're rushed to get your family off to school or work... when time slips by and you are late starting dinner... only flame-fast gas meets the need for immediate speed. Flame-fast gas delivers maximum heat instantly... adjusts to any desired heat instantly... and turns off instantly!4 Which Range offers FLEXIBILITY... is EASIEST TO USE? WOMEN say: FLAME-FAST GAS RANGES ALONE offer truly flexible cooking because any one of 1001 shades of heat is instantly at your command and the flame can be tailored exactly to the size of the utensil! You control heat without guesswork. You can see the clean blue flame go from a pin-point dot to a high, steady flame in the blink of an eye. And when you turn gas off, it's off instantly — no hangover heat to burn foods. With an electric range you are usually limited to a few factory-set heats. It's like driving a car that can only go 10, 20, 30 or 50 miles an hour — with no speeds in between!5 Which Range offers MORE ECONOMICAL COOKING? WOMEN say: FLAME-FAST GAS RANGES ALONE offer 4 times less fuel cost. This means: if you can cook on an electric range for $2.20 a month — you can do the same amount of cooking with gas for less than 55c a month! (Or a savings of $19.80 a year!) What's more, an automatic gas range costs less to buy, less to install, and less to operate and maintain.

Why We Speak English

We are reminded by Rose Wilder Lane in her great book, "The Discovery of Freedom," why we all speak English in America rather than French or Spanish. Not that it matters now, since the affair has long since been settled.

But, since the events of history shed a light by which we can guide our own footsteps, it might be wise to review the reasons she gives.

First of all, the Spanish established the earliest claims on any land here. The French came second. The English colonies ran a poor third. Priority of claim and development ought to have established the dominance of either the Latins or the Franks. But it did not. Once the English colonists got started they easily outdistanced their rivals. Why?

Miss Lane explains it thusly.

"Eager to build settlements in New France and New Spain, the French and Spanish kings gave the land, in communal fields, to selected peasants of good character, sound morals and industrious habits. The governments gave them carefully detailed instructions for clearing and fencing the land, caring for the fence and the gate, and plowing and planting, cultivating, harvesting and dividing the crops.

"The government allotted land for the village, to be built as in Europe, a compact mass of cottages. It protected the villagers by a detachment of soldiers and a well-built fort. . . . In every settlement, a commandant kept order and dispensed justice, usually with much human sympathy and wisdom. Typically, he addressed the settlers as 'my children' and they were obedient, well cared for and gay. They had no trouble with the Indians. . . . They enjoyed safety, leisure, and enough to eat in the American wilderness.

This remarkable establishment of rule and regimentation should have paid big dividends if the planners, the schemers and the zoners are correct. However, Miss Lane points out that such was not the case.

"The English kings were never so efficient. They gave the land to traders. A few gentlemen, who had political pull enough to get a grant, organized a trading company; their agents collected a ship-load of settlers and made an agreement with them which was usually broken on both sides.

"Landed in America, the colonists were never sure of getting the promised supplies; if the company's directors did not send them, the colonists died. But the directors could not depend on the settlers; they didn't work, they didn't get the expected furs, and the bound servants, especially, were always skipping out to live with the Indians. . . .

"To the scandalized French, the people in the English colonies seemed like undisciplined children, wild, rude, wretched subjects of bad rulers. Their villages were unplanned, their houses were scattered, they did not cultivate the land in common; their harvests were not equally divided, and they were always quarreling with each other and with the Indians."

"But the point of the matter is found when we realize that the well regulated Spanish and French settlements were not free. Secure, yes. Comfortable, yes. But merely a carbon copy of the regimentation which had been stagnating Europe for centuries. On the other hand, the English settlements were neither secure nor comfortable. But the people were free to do as they pleased.

"These unmanaged settlements all grew much more rapidly than the French and Spanish settlements. They grew so rapidly that in a hundred and fifty years they numbered more than a million persons, and the rate of population growth was rapidly increasing."

The nature of human life on this planet ordains that this will always be the case. Where people are free to make their own way, they have controversy, but they will have progress.

Where people are regimented, controlled, planned for, zoned and ruled, they have little controversy, since none is possible, but progress will fade into conformity and the endless ages which lie ahead will produce nothing but more of the same.

It is always difficult for the ambitious and skillful rulers to understand this fact of life. Always it seems to them in government that they must look after their "children." But in those instances where the children are left to look after themselves, what astonishing accomplishment results!

THE NATION'S PRESS

A-POWER FOR BRITAIN

(N. Y. Daily News)
With Queen Elizabeth II throwing the switch, Britain opened the world's first full-size atomic power plant for generating electricity. The station is at Calder Hall, in northwest England; capacity, 28,000 kilowatts. By 1975, Britain hopes to have 12 or more of these, producing as much power per year as you can get from 40,000,000 tons of coal.
Britain is pushing the program fast because its coal deposits are running low. We're more fortunate in that respect and hence feel little urgency about developing our own nuclear power plants. Our first one for commercial use—the 80,000-kw station at Shippingport, Pa.—isn't due to open till next year.
We'd better not rest too long on our coal and water resources. Can't we speed up our development of nuclear power installations to keep pace, at least, with the British?

ECONOMIC FREEDOM BASIC

It is unfortunate that we have forgotten the old adage, "Whose controls our subsistence, controls us." Economic control is not merely control of a sector of human life which can be separated from the rest," writes F. A. Hayek, in "The Road to Serfdom." "It is the control of the means for all our ends."
Slavery is commonly thought of as the ownership of one man by another. But the slaveholder does not really care about owning another man; what he wants is the ownership of the products of another man's labor. A slave is a man to whom the right of economic freedom is denied. From this premise the denial of all other rights follows. Therefore, in any realistic discussion of freedom, what happens in the economic realm is basic. — What Price Socialism? by Ben Moreell, The Freeman.

Why So Many Believe Labor Unions Can Raise Real Wage Levels

Since the steel worker union has raised the dues of its members by $2 a month shortly after the steel companies granted a union shop that requires every man who works in the steel companies to pay union dues, it should be of interest to analyze why so many people believe that labor unions can really raise wage levels of real wages. This belief undoubtedly had something to do with the granting of the union shop.

It should be of interest to note before going into the subject that the union shop or the closed shop plays right into the hands of the labor bosses. It makes it possible for them to raise the dues of the members. They did this almost immediately after they got the union shop. They also raised the wages of the heads of the union by thousands of dollars a year.

Benefits Concentrated, Costs Diffused

It seems to me the reason so many people erroneously believe labor unions are beneficial to the working class of people is that they can see when they get a raise of wages by threats of strikes that they have more money; that it is in a lump sum per week or day, while the costs of this rise in money wages which they have to help pay is spread out in the thousands of different things they buy.

It is irrational to believe one group of workers can get a monopoly wage and other workers not also get protection of some kind from competition. It simply does not work that way. If one man is to be protected, other men demand protection also. If the manufacturers have protective tariffs to protect them from competition, the workers also believe they have a right to have the government protect them from competition.

The farmers contend that they also have a right to be protected in what they have to sell. They have succeeded in getting the government to buy about $8 billion worth of farm products and put it in storage or give it away to foreign governments. This, of course, makes it so every member of a labor union pays a little more for his food and clothing than he would if the farmers were on a competitive basis.

And when the union member buys anything else that is not on a free competitive basis like the products of other labor unions, he pays a little more and this is diffused and spread out so thin that he does not realize that the extra wages he gets by threats of strikes is being taken from him penny by penny or nickel by nickel or dollar by dollar so that in reality he has less wages — that is, a lower standard of living — than he would have had had his wages been paid on a free market competitive basis.

In other words, he is worse off because of labor unions that interfere with a free and unhampered market than he would have been had he sold his services on a free market competitive basis. This diffusion of costs that is passed back to the working man is so thin and spread out that he doesn't realize that labor unions, instead of helping him, are keeping his standard of living down.

Of course, the labor union man who has a part in producing a necessity like water and almost a necessity like electricity and transportation has quite an advantage over other unionized workers who are producing things that are not a real necessity, such things as beauty, newspapers, magazines, entertainment, and thousands and thousands of things that people can get along without or use a substitute for. These people together with the unorganized or unsubsidized, are the ones who suffer most from labor union monopolies that take away from an individual his right to choose; his right to use his conscience.

The Worst Part of Labor Unions
The worst loss people suffer from labor unions is not the material, although that is of great importance, but it is the loss of their right to use their own conscience and own judgment. In short, it is the loss of freedom to choose that is great loss. This loss of freedom or the loss of freedom to choose greatly reduces production and thus makes a material loss to mankind as a whole due to the labor unions interfering with freedom and the right to choose.

My Father's Error
The diffused cost passed back to labor union members and to society in general is a little difficult to see.

I remember my father saying he was for protective tariffs because he believed it was to his interest. He had a few sheep and he could see that by having protective tariffs he could get a few cents more per pound for his wool and his mutton than he would get if we had free trade on important wool and mutton. But what he did not see was that when his wool and mutton was protected, that he had to pay a few pennies more for the things that he bought that were protected so that his total cost passed back to him because of protective tariffs was much greater than the few cents he got more for his wool and mutton than what he had to pay for the things he bought that were protected.

Just so the labor unions' inefficiency brings the total cost of having unions much higher, than the benefits received by labor union members. Besides it weakens the character of labor union members. This is shown by their attempt to get laws giving them special privileges.

They do not see that all benefits to the worker and to every-

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR F. JORDAN, M. D.

Until recent years we have traditionally had a two-party system in this country. But we have also traditionally had two parties that had directly contrasting views with regard to certain fundamental issues and by voting for one party or the other the people were able to make a real choice, depending upon their own political philosophy.

This condition has been changing. In 1948, many people did not see much choice between the Republican and Democratic parties. This was particularly true of the people of the South, and the States Rights party which entered the field that year carried four Southern states and got a great many votes in other states. In 1952, the people generally believed they had a real choice again as between the political philosophies of the two major parties, and the third-party question did not arise. It was notable, however, that four traditionally Democratic states in the South went Republican, thus indicating a choice on their part of what seemed to them to be the Republican philosophy of government.

Now, four years later, in 1956, we find ourselves back in the position of 1948, and even more so. Again many people do not feel they have a real choice as between the Republican and Democratic platforms, and again we find ourselves with a States Rights party in the field.

This time, though, the States Rights party finds much broader support than just in the South. In the 1956 election, States Rights candidates will be on the ballot in 14 states, 5 of them being in the north and west. In 23 other states, write-in votes for States Rights candidates will be counted, and these states are scattered all over the country.

Actually, there is quite a lot to choose from as between the Republican and Democratic philosophies of government, as these philosophies are portrayed and expounded during the current campaign.

The most pronounced difference, of course, is on the question of fiscal policy. Both parties propose to do a lot of things that would cost the Federal Government a great deal of money. The Republicans, however, propose to do these things within a balanced budget, saying that to run a deficit would invite more inflation, and this they repeatedly promise to avoid. The Democrats, on the other hand, do not say how they intend to get the money to pay for these things, and they constantly skirt the question of a balanced budget. As a matter of fact, the Democratic platform promises a sizable tax reduction while still calling for all these costly activities, a statement which seems paradoxical in fact and the body else are a result of competition rather than protective tariffs by government or protection against competition by workers due to labor unions.

Some women are so good and so blamed sure of it that they'll be in for quite a jolt on Doomsday. It'll make them furious to find someone else making the Last Judgment. But just the same, women are very wonderful creatures and if you want to speak in broad generalities, good women are inclined to be a little better than bad women and even had women are better than no women. If I could choose to live a part of my life over again, I would select a bright spring evening in the home of a girl who was so crazy to get married that she would make her family keep quiet and agree to every fool thing I would say. This is the Ideal Woman and it is hard to say how she gets that way. But all women are "mysterious." And the most baffling of all is the kind in soap operas that tries to be pure with her husband and her boy friend at the same time. Fortunately for mankind, this type actually is relatively rare.

the states and not centralized in Washington. They are pronounced in their views on points where the two major parties are not; they would leave racial problems to the states, block federal aid to education, prohibit compulsory unionism such as the "union shop", desocialize agriculture; limit the President's power to make treaties, avoid world government and bring an end to foreign aid, and in general "reverse the trend toward socialism" which they think is indicated in the political philosophies of both the major parties.

We can all be thankful that we still have free elections and the right to vote in this country — and each one of us has the right to make his own choice as he goes to the polls on Nov. 6.

the former Governor was a bit vague as to just what should be done about this bad situation. He did feel, however, that the Federal Government should step into the picture somehow and finance additional health protection for those now inadequately covered and full health protection for those now not covered at all due to their financial inability to purchase such protection.

And now we come to the repudiation of Social Security by Adlai. Not once but several times (at least ten) in the course of his address he emphasized that this financial aid of Federal Government should only be given if the individual desired it. It should not be forced upon anyone, because that would be akin to socialized medicine and Adlai made it quite clear that he is definitely against socialized medicine.

So we have the Democrat candidate gloating about his party's giving Social Security to the nation — an insurance program that is forced upon those it covers — and in the same speech recommending another insurance program, which he states must not be forced on anyone. How inconsistent can even a candidate be!

Republicans, however, can take little comfort from this faux pas on the part of Mr. Stevenson. The Eisenhower Administration has not only gone along with the Social Security Program as bequeathed to it by the Roosevelt-Truman regime, but has forced several million more of the American peo-

Soviet-Balkan Policy To Be Defined There, Not Here

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Although the Eisenhower Administration is inclined to dare the same gamble with the rebellious Russian satellites that it took with Marshal Tito when he declared his independence of the Kremlin, it will delay any policy shift until their relations with the Soviet Union are more clearly defined. And that decision will be made at Warsaw, Budapest and Moscow, not at Washington.

Secretary John Foster Dulles now pursues a cautious policy, but he will act as forcefully as circumstances permit. He is far more encouraged by the anti-Red overbreak than many of his advisers and associates, including men at the Pentagon and State Department. But he recognizes that overzealousness on behalf of the insurgent elements can be as dangerous as an excess of discretion.

It is not generally known, but it was Dulles who first diagnosed the expose of Stalin's crimes as a history-making event. In the face of the same kind of go-slow warnings he hears today, he said that "The yeast of change is beginning to work," and that "New forces which may be irresistible" have been loosed inside the seemingly monolithic Communist empire.

It was Dulles, too, who recommended cultivation of Tito after his visit to Belgrade more than a year ago. In that experiment, he had to stand up against influential officials in the Administration, as well as against the Republican isolationists on and off Capitol Hill. It would have been cited as a major blunder, if Tito's recent palsy-walking with Khrushchev and Bulganin had led them to revive the pre-1948 alliance. They did not.

It was Dulles who persuaded President Eisenhower to continue economic aid to Tito, despite fears that it would be a risky move on the eve of the election. Between his reading of the meaning of the de-Stalinization program and his pro-Tito attitude, he undoubtedly encouraged the movements for freedom and independence of Moscow from Warsaw to Peiping. Although scoffed at for writing a

ADLAI CONDEMNS SOCIAL SECURITY
On the evening of October 11, Candidate Adlai Stevenson, unwittingly perhaps, over the radio informed millions of listeners — in that basic principle of Old Age and Survivors Insurance (Social Security) is wrong.

No one who condemns Social Security in so many words, as a matter of fact he cited Social Security as one of the great contributions of his Democrat Party to the American people, and had warm words of praise for the late Senator Robert Wagner who imported the Social Security Swindle from his native Germany. To refresh your memory, Bismarck was the inventor of this grandiose scheme to delude a gullible citizenry into believing it was getting something for nothing.

But, to get back to Mr. Stevenson, the Democrat presidential candidate devoted his talk to the state of health of the American people. He cited statistics to show that despite the great advances made by the medical fraternity, there still remained many dread diseases to conquer. And Adlai was much concerned (and rightfully so) about the plight of so many Americans who are not adequately protected against the high cost of sickness which may come to visit itself upon them.

The former Governor was a bit vague as to just what should be done about this bad situation. He did feel, however, that the Federal Government should step into the picture somehow and finance additional health protection for those now inadequately covered and full health protection for those now not covered at all due to their financial inability to purchase such protection.

Much interest is currently centered in the Dead Sea manuscripts, which are ascribed to a monastic community known as the Brotherhood of Qumran. The Manual of Discipline, which served as a constitution for the community states that, for acceptance in the community, a man "must pledge himself to respect God and man... to seek God; to do what is good and upright in his sight... to keep far from evil and to cling to all good works..."

Suppose each of us, for acceptance in our communities, had to make such a pledge. Then, if we conscientiously kept the pledge, it to envision what would happen.

Jails and prisons would empty. Law courts would be vacant. Police would practically vanish. Government itself could be largely, perhaps totally, dispensed with. Now look at the picture as it actually is today, with government taking more than a third of all we earn — and consider what a fearful price, even from a merely material standpoint, we are paying for our failure to respect God and man, to do what is upright in God's sight, and to keep far from evil and cling to all good works.

Oil Firms Want To Lease Navajo Indian Reservation

By RICHARD C. SEZEMORE
WASHINGTON, Nov. 4 (UP)—Oil companies are interested in leasing most of the Navajo Indian reservation in Utah, Arizona and New Mexico. The Bureau of Indian Affairs is set to make sure the Indians get a fair deal.

Three lease sales on the Navajo reservation are set for November on 364,317 acres of land in Utah and New Mexico.

None of this land is located in a 5-million acre area which Deloitte-Taylor Oil Corp., Dallas, Tex., tried recently to lease from the Indians.

Bid Rejected
That contract was rejected by Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton who said there was some question as to its legality. He also said the Indians stood to profit more from competitive leasing.

Indian bureau officials said no action on leases has been taken

At a banquet held at the Hotel Texas Friday evening, eighty-one employees of the Gulf Oil Corporation, Fort Worth Production Division, in the 25 through 40-year groups, were presented with service awards for long service with the company.

Diamond and ruby lapel emblems and engraved certificates were presented to employees as a token of appreciation of long and loyal service.

The ceremonies were part of a division-wide program for recognition of its veteran employees. Altogether this year, 327 employees become eligible for service awards after completing ten years' service and for each five-year period thereafter.

The employee with the longest record of service honored was D. C. Wilkinson, Iraan, who received a 40-year award. In addition, 19 employees in New Mexico, North Texas, Panhandle and West Texas received 35-year awards, with 42 employees receiving recognition for 30 years' service, and 19 for 25 years.

Principal speaker at the presentation ceremonies, which were attended by wives of the awardees, was Gulf Oil Corporation Division Manager, H. M. Bayer.

This marks the seventeenth year that Gulf has honored its veteran employees.

API Meeting Is Set For Thursday

The Panhandle Chapter, American Petroleum Institute, will present its second program of the fall Thursday at 8 p.m. in the Palm Room of City Hall.

Subject for the meeting will be electric and radiation logging. Jim Kimbrough, Schlumberger Well Surveying Corporation, will introduce the subject aided by slides and explain the general uses of electric and radiation logs as applied to old and new wells in the Panhandle area.

Following his introductory remarks, a panel made up of representatives of oil operators and logging companies will assemble and answer questions from the audience.

The whole discussion will be kept on a practical basis and deal with problems familiar to this area. Logs of wells in the area will be shown to the group and findings from these logs will be used to show how the well was completed using the information.

Through the use of electric and radiation logs it is possible to locate thin pay zones that are often not noticed in earlier wells. These same zones can be logged through
