Gubernatorial Candidates In Narcotics, Farm Status Talks

By UNITED PRESS
Narcotics and the farm situation held the spotlight today as two gubernatorial candidates campaigned in West Texas and a third announced he was heading for the same area next week.
U.S. Sen. Price Daniel called for "the toughest narcotics law in the nation" and promised to help draft such a law if he becomes governor.
Meantime, Ralph Yarborough said Texas farmers received $70 million less for their products in 1955 than they received in 1954 and 8,000 Texas farm families were forced to move away from their farms.
Daniel also discussed farm prices. He urged the state and national government to go into partnership to help "family-sized" farms and ranches recover "from

Ukrainian Rebels Derail Red Train

VIENNA, Austria (UP)—Ukrainian rebels derailed a Soviet army troop train recently in a new outbreak of violence against the Soviet government, informed sources said today.
Reports reaching Vienna said an unknown number of Soviet soldiers were killed when the train was derailed May 20 near the city of Shepetovka, on the main railroad line linking Lvov and Kiev.
The reports said Soviet troops and members of the MVD, the Soviet secret police, sealed off a large area around the scene of the heavily armed Ukrainians.
News of the sabotage followed reports that nationalists had plastered Tiflis, capital of Josef Stalin's home state of Georgia, with posters calling for an "independent Georgian republic."
More than 100 persons were arrested in a police crackdown following the appearance of the posters, informed sources said.
Reports reaching here from Moscow said the west bound train was hauling troops and ammunition when the rebels struck.
In recent months the Soviet secret police has received reports of increased activity by "diversions" in the districts of Lvov, Berdichev and Kiev, the sources said.
The Tiflis outbreaks were the second reported this year. Riots were reported in the Georgia republic last March when Communists opened his campaign to rival Party chief Nikita S. Khrushchev against the Communist Party.

Rain Falls On Pampa Again

Sixteen hundredths inch of rain fell last night in downtown Pampa with as much as 1.05 inches reported in the Brunson Street vicinity, in the Southeast residential section, according to KPDM, Pampa's official weather station.
Pampa received heavier rain than any other area in the Panhandle. The only other report of measurable rain came from Floyd with .54 inch.
Most of the rain fell in the residential section and outskirts of town. The underpass under the Fort Worth and Denver Railroad on S. Barnes was blocked most of the night because of the amount of rain. The water was emptying (See RAIN, Page 3)

Baseball Head To Visit Pampa

W. G. Green, president of the Southwestern League, will be a guest of the Pampa Oilers tonight at Oiler Park. It was announced by G. F. Branson, president of the Pampa Community Baseball Association this morning. Green is making a tour of all the home parks in the loop.
Green was also the person who sent the Oilers a personal check of $2000 to help Pampa remain in operation for the remainder of the season.

Ike Has Intestinal Ailment

President Goes To Hospital

By PATRICIA WIGGINS
WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower suffered an intestinal ailment today and was ordered to the Army's Walter Reed hospital "as a precautionary measure."
White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty announced at 10:25 a.m. that the President had "illness." This is an "inflammation of the lower portion of the small intestine."
He told a tense, crowded news conference "there is no indication of any heart trouble."

Wants Services Combined

Air Force Asks Merger

WASHINGTON (UP)—The U.S. Air Force is blowing the bugles for closer unification and eventual merger of the Army, Navy, Marines and Air Force.
Gen. Nathan F. Twining, Air Force chief of staff, began the campaign in a secret speech last week at the National War College, the top military school for outstanding officers of all services.
As the youngest, but in many respects most powerful of the services, the Air Force is first to take a stand in the controversial new unification debate. The debate sprang from the recent outbreak of service feuding and focused public attention on duplicating war roles and weapons developments of the military arms.
Since Twining's still-unpublicized talk, former Air Secretary Thomas K. Finletter has called for a "completely unified" military force with single uniform and single chief of staff to provide America the "defensive shield" it needs.
While Twining's speech has not been made public, it was quickly from a news photographers' banquet where he appeared in jovial spirits.

PARIS (UP)—Reports of President Eisenhower's illness today caused the black market rate for the dollar to drop 10 per cent.

Shortly before 3 a.m. Hagerty announced that the President had suffered a "stomach upset and headache." He emphasized that there was no heart trouble and "no cause for alarm."

The condition of the President's heart was, of course, on every one's mind because of the attack of coronary thrombosis that he suffered in Denver last Sept. 24.

Dr. Howard McC. Snyder, the President's physician, was summoned to Mr. Eisenhower's bedside.

For several hours, Hagerty said, there was no thought of calling in any specialists. However, in his later statement, he disclosed that at 11 a.m. Snyder had summoned

Adlai's Advisers To Confer In Chicago

By RAYMOND LAHR
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Adlai E. Stevenson's campaign advisers will confer in Chicago this week and about ways of wooing delegates who are uncommitted, pledged to favorite sons or still to be chosen.
They also are expected to eye those delegates who are committed to a first ballot vote for Sen. Estes Kefauver at the Democratic national convention but are not firmly tied thereafter. These involve such states as Indiana, which will have 26 votes, and Maryland with 18.
Stevenson topped Kefauver in the California presidential primary this week and thereby established himself as the leading contender for the presidential nomination. Although Kefauver said he would continue his campaign many Democrats believe he was killed off in California.
While his advisers discuss strategy to be followed between now and the national convention in August, Stevenson will remain in California for a holiday.
He and his backers now regard Gov. Averell Harriman of New York as their principal opponent. Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri may be a formidable dark horse possibility but only if and when the Stevenson campaign falls apart.
Much attention will be given to the 10 states which still must choose delegates with 288 convention votes. With the primaries now finished, all these will be named by state Democratic conventions or executive committees.
These states are New Mexico, Arizona, Tennessee, Washington, Kentucky, Mississippi, Colorado, Virginia, and Arkansas. New York still must select delegates at large with 12 votes.
As of now, it appears to be a conservative estimate that Stevenson can count on 450 or more first ballot votes at the national convention. The majority needed to nominate is 687.
Credited With 377
The United Press tabulation now credits Stevenson with 377 votes from delegates committed or known to have a first ballot preference.

Administration Ends Attempts To Recover House Foreign Aid Cut

By NEIL MacNEIL
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Administration leaders abandoned today attempts to recover from the House any of the $1 billion the representatives cut from President Eisenhower's foreign military aid program.
They pinned their hopes instead on convincing the Senate that more money was needed to bolster the West's defenses against Communism than the $2 billion the House agreed to Thursday.
The money is part of the $4.9 billion overall foreign aid program requested by Mr. Eisenhower. The House Foreign Affairs Committee has also cut $100 million in economic aid from the program.
Top proposal under consideration was an amendment by Rep. Edna F. Kelly (D-NY), to cut off all U.S. aid to Marshal Tito and his Communist government.
Other amendments before the House would cut U.S. aid to India and Egypt and set up a special House-Senate committee to re-evaluate the entire foreign aid program.
Mrs. Kelly said she had not yet decided whether to offer another amendment cutting off all U.S. aid to any nation trading "strategic" materials with Iron Curtain countries. The House Foreign Affairs Committee adopted and then

Sentence Is Imposed On Texan By Spanish Court

MADRID, Spain (UP)—A judge sentenced an American bullfighter to six years' imprisonment on a charge of "insulting the Spanish nation."
Harry Whitney, of Austin, Tex., staggered by the severity of the sentence, immediately called on the American embassy for help.
Whitney had admitted using "strong words" after a collision between his automobile and a motorbike on Madrid's Gran Via.
His exact words were not reported in court. But at his trial, before a judge and without a jury, he said he had spoken in the heat of anger and was sorry for his remarks.
He Loses Rights
The full verdict handed down against Whitney was six years and one day of imprisonment, loss of all rights in Spain, and payment of costs.

Red Premier Asks Manpower Slash In Letter To Ike

By WILLIAM GALBRAITH
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — UP — Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin challenged the United States in his latest letter to President Eisenhower to match Russia's 1.2 million-man military slash, diplomatic circles reported today.
President Eisenhower and U. S. military officials already have made clear they have no intention of matching the Soviet manpower cut.

Capitol Hill Roundup

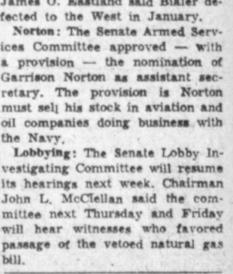

WASHINGTON — UP — House members called for more cuts today in President Eisenhower's deeply slashed foreign aid bill.
The House Thursday defeated by a 192-112 vote a high-powered bipartisan attempt to restore $600 million of the $1 billion in military aid cut by the House Foreign Affairs Committee. The committee also cut $100 million in economic aid.
Administration leaders quit trying to patch up the military part of the $4.9 billion program until the bill reaches the Senate.
Instead, they faced new attacks. Some congressmen demanded cuts in aid to India and Egypt and an end of all aid to Communist Yugoslavia.
Final passage of the bill was expected Monday.
Other congressional news:
Pensions: The House Veterans Committee planned to vote on a $77 billion general veterans pension bill. Committee Chairman Olin E. Teague (D-Texas) said the bill apparently will be approved.
Budget: Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass) said chances are excellent that the Senate will pass a revolutionary new budget system for the federal government. The budget bill — principally backed by Kennedy — would put all government spending on a year-to-year basis. The Hoover Commission recommended it.
Airpower: Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga) said the Senate subcommittee on airpower holds the key to whether the Democrats will fight for more B52 jet bombers. The subcommittee is studying the comparative airpower of the United States and Russia.
Communist: The Senate internal security subcommittee summoned Seweryn Bialer — identified as a former top Polish Communist official. Subcommittee Chairman James O. Eastland said Bialer defected to the West in January.
Norton: The Senate Armed Services Committee approved — with a provision — the nomination of Garrison Norton as assistant secretary. The provision is Norton must sell his stock in aviation and oil companies doing business with the Navy.
Lobbying: The Senate Lobby Investigating Committee will resume its hearings next week. Chairman John L. McClellan said the committee next Thursday and Friday will hear witnesses who favored passage of the vetoed natural gas bill.

Two Pampans To Leave For UN Pilgrimage

Two Pampa young people will leave June 15, for San Antonio, where they will start on a three-week United Nations Pilgrimage for Youth, sponsored annually by the International Order of Odd Fellows.
Miss Nancy Willis and Ronald Stafford won the tour through a local essay contest. Miss Willis is being sponsored by the Pampa Rebekah Lodge and Stafford by the Pampa Odd Fellow Lodge. This is the second year the Rebekahs have sent a delegate and the first year the Odd Fellows have participated.
The Pilgrimage program will include approximately 400 young people leaving by bus from 12 areas of the country. Miss Willis and Stafford will be among 34 delegates from the Louisiana - Arkansas - Texas group.
They will travel through about 12 different states, spending six days in New York City, visiting the United Nations and other points of interest.
Miss Willis, 15, is a junior in Pampa High School and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robinett Willis, 1020 E. Scott. She is a member of the Theta Rho Girls, which is sponsored by the Rebekah Lodge.
Stafford, 15, is a sophomore in Pampa High School and the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Stafford, 1140 Terrace. He is a member of the Junior Odd Fellow organization.

GONE TO THE DOGS—An enterprising resort owner in Lake County, Calif., is putting on the dog these days. Don Emerson bought a German Volkswagen omnibus, above, and had it painted the familiar blue and gray of the Greyhound lines. Instead of a racing greyhound, however, he picked on a romping dachshund, thus initiating the Dachshund Lines. Emerson, owner and operator of the only bus on the line, plans to expand and establish a full-fledged transportation system.

Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson said flatly the United States will maintain its armed forces at the present 2,850,000-man level for the indefinite future. Some officials pointed out that Russia merely appeared to be following the American "new look" program of cutting down and streamlining its armed forces. Presidential disarmament adviser Harold E. Stassen said the Soviet cut would make the prospects of peace "a few degrees brighter."

"Big Three" Steel Talks To Result In Wage Hike

By ROBERT G. SHORTAL United Press Staff Correspondent NEW YORK (UP)—A big wage hike for 650,000 steel workers and a major price increase affecting the nation's entire economy are certain to stem from current "Big Three" steel wage talks, industry experts said today. Negotiations entered their third day here after having been transferred from Pittsburgh where they began May 28. So far neither side has said much about the progress of the meetings held at the Hotel Roosevelt. The union has given the steel companies its demands—said to be the biggest in the history of the steel industry. At a news conference Thursday, John A. Stephens, vice president and chief negotiator of U.S. Steel Corp., said it will be at least another week before the companies submit counter proposals to the union. Experts said this means that real brass tacks negotiations aimed at writing a new contract before the June 30 strike deadline won't get started until the middle of next week—at the earliest. Negotiators for the United Steelworkers and the industry's three biggest producers—U.S. Steel, Bethlehem Steel and Republic Steel—appeared optimistic and relaxed at the negotiations. David J. McDonald, president of the USW, said he was still hopeful of reaching an agreement "well in advance" of the strike deadline. The present contract between the union and 172 steel companies expires at midnight on June 30. Failure to write a new wage pact by that time could trigger a strike. Top industry spokesmen speculated the industry would win a package increase approaching 20 cents an hour. Thomas Campbell, editor-in-chief of the Iron Age, a leading trade journal, predicted such an increase would have to be offset around $10 to $11 per ton.

Lenroy Bowie and Harold Ray Norton, both of Pampa, who were charged Tuesday in District Court with robbery by assault are being held in the Gray County jail in lieu of $1,500 bond each. The amount of the bond was set by Justice of the Peace D. R. Henry Thursday when they were arraigned on the charges. The two men are charged with the alleged robbery of R. B. McAfee, Pampa, late Monday night after McAfee had picked them up when they offered to show him the residence of a workman he wanted to hire, according to the report made to the police department. McAfee reported that the two men robbed him of approximately $10.

(Continued from Page 1) the chief medical officer of Walter Reed, Col. Francis Pruitt. Ordered to Hospital After a preliminary examination, Hagerty reported, the physicians diagnosed the President's ailment as an inflamed intestine and ordered him to Walter Reed Hospital. "The President," said Hagerty, "has an attack of ileitis (inflammation of the lower portion of the small intestine)." Specifically, ileitis is an inflammatory disease of the ileum. The small intestine, the part between the jejunum and the large intestine. It is the last three-fifths of the part of the small intestine beyond the end of the duodenum. It is thinner walled than the jejunum. Hagerty reported that the President's "blood pressure and pulse are good" and he has had "no fever." He said the ailment apparently was causing the President no "serious pain."

Geis Dextrose Injection He reported that the President was given one injection of dextrose sugar before his trip to the hospital. He was taken to the hospital in an olive drab Army ambulance. Mrs. Eisenhower and her son John preceded him in a limousine. Hagerty said he did not know how long the President will remain at Walter Reed. He said that "of course" a cardiogram would be included in the further precautionary examinations at Walter Reed. "No suggestion" that food poisoning was involved. The President has had a long history of intestinal upsets. News of the President's ailment touched off a wave of concern in the capital. Everyone was mindful of the President's heart attack last Sept. 24 which at first was called a digestive upset. The White House cancelled the President's appointments for today. It said this morning that he probably would go to his Gettysburg, Pa., farm Saturday instead of today as planned originally. But the decision to admit the President to Walter Reed probably meant a further postponement of the trip.

RAIN (Continued from Page 1) Into the underpass faster than it could drain out. A 1955 Ford was drowned out attempting to follow another car through the underpass at approximately 9 or 9:30 p.m. Before the police and other citizens got to the scene, water had begun to run through the windows. Many motorists had trouble keeping their car motors running due to the high water. On E. Frederic, the water was above the curb, and on Barnes, between the Santa Fe Railroad and Frederic, the water was reported to have been about 12 inches deep in the roadway. The high yesterday was 88 degrees, the low overnight 65 degrees, and the high forecast for today is 89 degrees. A possibility of more showers is predicted for this afternoon as the temperature rises.

Should we, at any time, be inconsistent with these truths, we would appreciate anyone pointing out to us how we are inconsistent with these moral guides.

Price Tag Higher

A glance at the financial pages of most any newspaper reveals the strange paradox that — in this period of constantly expanding economy — more people are worried about money than at any time in history.

To be sure, everybody's making more money than ever before save only those who are temporarily jobless or otherwise down on their luck. And they are mighty few. But everything costs more, too. A man has a nice house, six rooms or so, which he bought pre-war. He decides to add a couple of rooms. Zowie! He finds that this will cost him maybe as much as the whole house and lot cost him originally. Sure, he's had lots of pay raises, but still — zowie!

So it seems even with great, growing corporations which, one would think, couldn't have a money care in the world. Speaking at the annual stockholders meeting of the U. S. Steel Corporation, chairman Roger M. Blough reported the firm will have to expand its capacity by a million tons annually for ten years to help meet the nation's steel needs — but he added that an open hearth plant which costs $10,000,000 in 1930 will cost $64,000,000 to replace at today's prices, and "this today is our most difficult problem!" Surely the business of supplying utility services to the millions of new homes and plants going up over Texas is a booming business. Yet the price of a million new gas meters alone, at today's multiplied production costs, furrows the brows of utility executives. Expansion is the lifeblood of the economy, of course, but it can bring its share of headaches.

Whatever the items of today's prosperity may be — a new room, a new steel plant, a new gas meter, even a new lawn mower — they bear a stiff price tag.

Now if you want to uncover the villain in this situation all you have to do is turn to the governmental structure that enmeshes the economy on every level from the single individual to the giant corporation.

Increased productivity in any society provides prosperity, but despite the number of dollars in circulation that prosperity can be sharply curtailed when government agencies siphon off an exorbitant share of the fruits of production.

New York Congressman Daniel A. Reed, senior Republican on the House Ways and Means committee which handles tax matters; long engaged in legislative battles on the taxpayer's behalf. Reed has done his best to stem bureaucratic waste of money over the years. He has advocated, again and again, tax reduction through tax reforms.

Now he is urging a congressional study to pave the way for broad cuts in income tax rates. The initial objective is to lower the present tax ceiling of 91 per cent to 75 per cent, with all other rates, "down to the bottom" to be reduced accordingly.

However, Congressman Reed feels obliged — probably by his painful knowledge of the tax structure — to say the slash he proposes can only go into effect "as soon as the budget permits."

There's the rub! When may suffering taxpayers expect governmental budgets to be reduced? Traditionally and historically, governments spend all that taxes bring in — and most taxes today are levied not on actual or expected need for funds for justifiable purposes, but simply on all-the-traffic-will-bear extraction from every man's earnings.

Individuals don't write blank checks for spending at home — yet are obliged to write virtually blank checks to mail in with their income tax returns! The fatal flaw in the income tax structure is that it represents unlimited bureaucratic license to spend without heed and without an iota of advance accounting to the taxpayers who must put up the money. The flaw will exist as long as income taxation exists. The only conceivable way to eliminate the flaw would be to get rid of this tax entirely — and so return control over their own earnings to the American people.

With the unchecked flow of wealth into government coffers halted, then true prosperity — not an "easy money" boom — may come to America.

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR P. JORDAN, M. D.

Warm weather in the Northern Hemisphere certainly brings more of us, including youngsters, into the water more often.

There are two features of this which I should like to discuss first, the accidental drowning of young children and second some remarks about swimming.

A few years ago, the Bulletin of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company pointed out that accidental drowning takes an annual toll of about 700 lives among children under five.

Nearly one half of these were in the one year age group. AFTER THE AGE of two the risk drops off somewhat since a youngster can be made aware of the danger of falling in the water and also probably has a better chance of getting out if he does.

About three times as many boys as girls were drowned. This suggests that even at this early age the boys are the more venturesome.

More than half of the drownings on which information was available occurred in rivers, brooks, lakes, or similar bodies of water, many of which were on or near the home grounds of the youngster.

An occasional "ornamental" pool, well, cistern, or like and a few in drainage ditches, or gravel pits. Several drowned in bathtubs.

THE LESSON OF THIS is that small children are sometimes more active than their parents expect and have to be watched constantly if there is any possibility of accidental drowning.

Every year a good many older youngsters as well as grownups who can swim and indeed swim well, are drowned while indulging in this otherwise healthful sport.

Haphazard swimming in lakes, oceans or rivers may hold unexpected dangers. The water may be deeper than expected, there may be underwater, submerged rocks, stumps, weeds or sudden step-off spots.

Sometimes the water is more shallow than anticipated and a dive results in a broken neck or concussion.

IF THE WATER is too cold a sudden cramp may develop and if one is near the swimmer can drown rapidly.

The lone swimmer runs the greatest risk of all. No one should go in swimming away from either a supervised beach or the presence of some experienced swimmer who can come to the rescue if trouble arises.

Panic is believed a particular hazard and I have been told that this is the cause for many deaths by drowning.

Right To Join Or Not Join A Collective Bargaining Labor Union

One so often hears the expression that a man should have the right to join or not join a labor union as he saw fit, that this statement should be clarified. Of course, the party making that statement does not use the adjectives "collective bargaining" before the words "labor union." In fact, the party who makes that statement undoubtedly does not know the final objective of all labor unions. He does not know that their means of getting special privileges and a monopoly is by seniority, limiting apprentices and a monopoly by strikes and the threats of same that deprive individuals of their natural God-given right to make an individual labor contract and thus impairs their liberty and their pursuit of happiness.

And since there is no such thing as a labor union that does not practice collective bargaining, whose aim is to take away from an individual his right to make an individual bargain, then when the words "labor union" are used, it always means a collective bargaining labor union.

What Moral Principle? Now if a man has a fixed moral principle to determine what a man's rights are, it is difficult to conceive how any moral principle could be set down that would give a man a right to join a collective bargaining labor union; that is, if a man uses as a moral guide the principle enunciated in The Coveting Commandment, The Golden Rule, the "love thy neighbor as thyself" commandment or the Ideologies of The Declaration of Independence, he would have no rational right to belong to a labor union. Nor would he have a logical right to contend that he was a real Jew or a real Christian or a real American.

A man cannot be a Jew or a Christian or an American and not believe in The Coveting Commandment. And The Coveting Commandment simply means that each and every man must get what he wants on a voluntary basis rather than on an involuntary basis or the threat of the use of aggressive force.

Nor can a man be a real American and not believe in the Ideologies as set forth in The Declaration of Independence, "... that all men (each and every person) are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights, that among these are Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness."

Thus it is hard to conceive how a man who understands American principles can still believe that he has an ethical right to belong to a labor union whose aim and objective is to take away from some individuals these God-given rights that our Founding Fathers did "mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes and our sacred honor to support." A union man is not supporting these God-given rights.

No man who understands and thus believes that these natural rights come from the Creator and do not come from the will of the majority or the state would want to join a labor union. Nor would the man want to join a labor union that believes, as did John Adams, that "you (each and every person) have rights antecedent to all earthly governments; rights that cannot be repealed or restrained by human laws; rights derived from the Great Legislator of the Universe."

The man who belongs to a labor union has to deny that other men have such rights as these. He sets himself up as superior and above these other men. He becomes a dictator at heart. He does this by seniority, by limiting apprentices, by strikes and by the threats of simultaneously quitting with the idea of injuring other people — the employer or the employer's customers. He does this with the sole idea that he has a right to receive compensation or wages that he denies other people having the equal right to receive. He denies quality of rights of other men to help establish values. He practices the caste system, which is completely contrary to the principles of real Jews, real Christians and real Americans.

If this be the proper definition of collective bargaining labor unions, and I know of no other kind, then a righteous man has no more right to join such a labor union than he has a right to join a group of bank robbers or of highwaymen. Nor does he have any more right to join a labor union than an atheist has a right to join a Christian church or a Jewish synagogue.

So the next time you hear a man say that a worker has a right to join or not join a labor union, ask him what standard he uses to determine the rights of men.

Any questions?

"I do not believe the government has the right to give away money!" said Franklin D. Roosevelt, when he ran for the first time, for president. And when I read (in The American Weekly), an article by former Commissioner of Internal Revenue, T. Coleman Andrews, which showed that "a person with a $40,000 income now pays FORTY-EIGHT TIMES more tax than a person with $4,000," I began to agree with him.

Union Now Involved In Algerian Trouble

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York — The overseas political activity of David Dubinsky's private state department directed from New York by a mysterious individual known as Jay Lovestone amounts to an imperial adventure by the president - dictator of an American union of needle-workers. It is now involved in the Algerian trouble. Dubinsky has no mandate from the American people in this dangerous exploit. The agent in charge of this apparatus devoted to spying and political mischief in many foreign nations also is a stranger to the American people. He is known as Irving Brown.

The background of both Lovestone and Brown is concealed in mystery beyond the acknowledged fact that both were for some years noisily Bolshevik giving loyalty to the American people including the bloody revolution in our streets. Their advocates, including rich and reckless American manipulators of information and public sentiment, insist that Lovestone and Brown at some unspecified time abandoned communism in unspecified language. Brown has twice flatly refused to discuss with me the details of this renunciation. He thus justifies a conclusion that he cannot prove his alleged apostasy. Lovestone is similarly bashful. Both are strangers to practically all of the American people including the island of New York which is to Dubinsky's empire as England formerly was to the British Empire.

The Christian Science Monitor, which is strangely courteous to these adventures, carried on May 23, a Reuter's dispatch from Paris in which Brown was quoted to the effect that he had never engaged in any activity detrimental to France. But Robert Lacoste, the French resident governor of Algeria, said, according to Reuter's, that Brown was "conducting an adventurous action under the pretext of free trade unionism with doubtful personages in the greatest contempt for the lawful and unchangeable position of France in Algeria and North Africa." Reuter's said Brown explained that he merely went to North Africa with a delegation of the international confederation of free trade unions "to see if we could agree to let the newly formed unions there into the ICFU." Actually, Lovestone, Brown and Dubinsky are the ICFU. It is the framework of Dubinsky's empire.

Notwithstanding his denial, Brown bobbed up in New York last Saturday and made a speech to a group of unionists in which he declared France was preserving "certain old vestiges of former colonialism" in Algeria. He laid it down flatly that "the clock of history must not be held back" in Algeria. He said the French government in Algeria was promoting "a new and expanding Soviet colonialism," and he endorsed the rebel war against the French government as an expression of the French tradition of liberal thought.

The New York Times said Brown argued that "directing the nationalist movements in North Africa into channels of democracy would bring about the destruction of totalitarian forces in the Arab world" and would unify the Arab countries and Israel.

Here Brown, Lovestone and Dubinsky find themselves on the side of "nationalism" by patriotic Americans. Indeed some adherents of their contradictory policies have repudiated nationality as a menace to the peace of the world. Meanwhile, however, they themselves adhere to a revolutionary army in Algeria whose terrible war has cost thousands of lives and billions of dollars which must be raised by a nation already hopelessly insolvent and dependent on the taxes of American citizens.

American airplanes based in Algeria are in danger of armed attack and bases in Morocco have lost their legal right to exist and our forces may be ordered any day. These are frankly weapons trained on Soviet Russia and vital to the national defense of the United States. Yet Brown and his French government which authorized us to establish them and, alone, gives us assurance of continuing tenure. It is hard to conceive how our loss of those bases would harm the interests of Moscow which Brown, Lovestone and Dubinsky purport to detest and oppose.

These tangled details are superficial by contrast with the basic impudence of this unofficial political machine whose enormous budget is financed from undisclosed sources in committing political sabotage against a friendly nation whose hostility might result in a war between the United States and France.

It should be added that the AFL-CIO are in some vague way backed by Dubinsky and Company and that the Central Intelligence Agency of the state department, itself mysterious, mischievous, amateurish and arrogant is in some vague way backing all of them.

Lovestone, Dubinsky, Brown, the Garment Workers' Union, and the AFL-CIO have absolutely no authority from or responsibility to the people of the United States who would have to wage the war.

Electronics Corporation of America - A correction. In the May 31, 1956, issue of this column we referred to William S. Gailmor, Samuel Novick and Arthur A. Adams, who in one way or another were connected with Electronic Corporation of America, a former New York corporation, which became defunct some years ago. We did not intend in any way to refer to the Electronics Corporation of America, a Massachusetts corporation, which presently operates a business of national scope and whose shares are listed on the American stock exchange. None of the officers, directors, stockholders or other principals of the defunct New York corporation to which we referred have at any time had any connection with the present Electronics Corporation of America of Cambridge, Massachusetts.

Party Politicians Think Situation Is Desperate

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — With the completion of the Democratic primary contests reflecting a "plague on both your houses" attitude toward the Stevenson and Kefauver candidates, Party politicians would be another liability. In short, the latter's nomination might incline the South toward Republicanism as the consequences of Fort Sumter made it a Democratic stronghold. It is doubtful if the convention will make such a sorry choice.

The nomination of Senator Johnson would have an equally divisive reaction, but in reverse. His stand on tidelands oil, natural gas and segregation would drive millions of Northerners into the GOP ranks. His conservative leadership has been denounced again and again by spokesmen for the Roosevelt-Harriman - Lehman faction. And the Texan himself is not serious about wanting or seeking the honor.

Senator Symington is likewise able and popular, and a compromise whom both sides might accept. But he is not to well known off Capitol Hill. He has not seized upon any outstanding or appealing issue, for national defense is too technical a problem.

The very fact that he was known as a Roosevelt - Truman "handyman" — Surplus Property Head, Assistant Secretary of War, first Secretary for Air — operates against him. He has spread himself too thin.

No politician takes seriously the talk of Governor Lausche. He is too unpopular with labor because of his Ohio record, and his admission that he voted for the late Senator Robert A. Taft. Democratic foes brand him as a "part-time Republican." He is not yet a national figure. That final observation also applies to Governors Meyer and Leader.

As of today, with the convention less than ten weeks distant, that is the Democrats' admittedly unhappy situation.

In view of the Stevenson - Kefauver standoff, for such it is regarded in political circles, speculation on substitutes turns toward the various "inactive" but toward the candidates, and the so-called "dark horses." There has been greater activity in their camps, regardless of their professed shyness, because of the primary indifference toward the front runners.

But there is little balm as the politicians look over the string of second choices — Governor Averell Harriman of New York, Senator Stuart Symington of Missouri, Senator Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Governor Frank J. Lausche of Ohio, Governor Robert B. Meyner of New Jersey, and Governor George M. Leader of Pennsylvania. As of today, that comprises the full list of outside possibilities.

The nomination of Harriman would set the stage for a political Fort Sumter, according to Southern spokesmen. His views on social and economic questions, especially segregation, would insure an Eisenhower victory in more Dixie and Border states than the President carried in 1952.

The New Yorker's Tammany connections would handicap him in the Middle and Far West. In short, he would have to be forced upon an unwilling but desperate assemblage of delegates. His selection would be notice to the South that the New York liberal faction was ready to gamble on losing Dixie's electoral votes in the vague hope that his New Deal-Fair Deal New Vision philosophy would sweep the great cities elsewhere.

Harry S. Truman's supposed partiality to Harriman would be another liability. In short, the latter's nomination might incline the South toward Republicanism as the consequences of Fort Sumter made it a Democratic stronghold. It is doubtful if the convention will make such a sorry choice.

The nomination of Senator Johnson would have an equally divisive reaction, but in reverse. His stand on tidelands oil, natural gas and segregation would drive millions of Northerners into the GOP ranks. His conservative leadership has been denounced again and again by spokesmen for the Roosevelt-Harriman - Lehman faction. And the Texan himself is not serious about wanting or seeking the honor.

Senator Symington is likewise able and popular, and a compromise whom both sides might accept. But he is not to well known off Capitol Hill. He has not seized upon any outstanding or appealing issue, for national defense is too technical a problem.

The very fact that he was known as a Roosevelt - Truman "handyman" — Surplus Property Head, Assistant Secretary of War, first Secretary for Air — operates against him. He has spread himself too thin.

No politician takes seriously the talk of Governor Lausche. He is too unpopular with labor because of his Ohio record, and his admission that he voted for the late Senator Robert A. Taft. Democratic foes brand him as a "part-time Republican." He is not yet a national figure. That final observation also applies to Governors Meyer and Leader.

As of today, with the convention less than ten weeks distant, that is the Democrats' admittedly unhappy situation.

Mac Scared To Death Of One Woman, Anyway

By HENRY McLEMORE

I have lived on this earth upward of fifty years, and during that time I must have met, and become acquainted with, close to five million women.

Women of all sizes, shapes, ages, dispositions, characters and looks.

Women of every country and clime.

Tall ones, short ones, fat ones, skinny ones, blonde ones, brunette ones, redheaded ones, and even one who had green hair.

Women who swung from trapezes, women who ran corporations, women who sang, and women who danced, played baseball, lifted weights, shot pool, and tamed tigers.

It used to be my proud boast that despite this wide acquaintanceship with the opposite sex, I had yet to meet a woman who scared me.

I can't make that boast any more. Not truthfully, anyway.

There is one woman who has me scared to death — hog-tied, roped, and buffaloed — a woman whose tremor in my little boots, blanch, and shake all over.

This woman is the Editor of McNaught Syndicate, the organization which handles this column.

Her name is Mildred Bellah, and one of her duties is to see that my copy arrives in New York in ample time to reach the papers on schedule.

I am in New York at the moment, preparing to leave for Europe, and Miss Bellah has just asked me how many columns I was going to do in advance to cover my travel time.

"Oh, one or two," I answered, getting up from my desk and putting a chair between us, because I know that wouldn't satisfy her.

As a matter of fact, Miss Bellah would not have been satisfied had I answered, "Three hundred and ninety-two." If she had her way — and to look at her, you couldn't believe she was so mean, because she is pretty, has a bewitching figure, and all that sort of thing — if she had her way, she would have all the syndicate columnists write five years in advance. Really, she'd like all of us to be prophets and write about things that won't happen until about 1952 or 1953.

Her idea of a perfect columnist would be Nostradamus. He was two or three hundred years ahead with his copy, I believe.

Miss Bellah does not believe that the human head — a columnist's head, anyway — is ever empty.

She doesn't mean that as a compliment. Oh, no. She thinks all her columnists are crazy — but never so crazy that they can't sit down and bat out columns a mile a minute.

There is no getting up and saying, "I just can't write another one today, teacher." Certainly, I can't. She freezes me with a stare, puts a firm hand on my shoulder as if I were an unruly fourth-grader, and I go back to work.

And I stay at work, I can't order a cup of coffee, or a sandwich — that would take time; I'd have to pause to eat and drink. Not until the work is done will she allow even a crumb of sustenance to pass my lips.

Why I tolerate this I don't know. In a fair fight, I know I could beat her. She would be a sucker for a left hook, I'm sure. But I would rather spit in a cobra's eye, than rebel against her edicts.

I am likely to miss the plane this afternoon, because there is no getting up and leaving until she is satisfied with the number of columns ready to go.

I am brave enough to write this only for one reason — I'll slip it on her desk when she isn't looking. And she won't read it until after I am air-borne. And even Miss Bellah — "lovely tyrant that she is — can't get me once I'm out over the Atlantic, high in the sky. Or can she? I won't feel safe until we land in Madrid.

After-Bath Cologne Is Deodorant, Too

By ALICIA HART

A favorite way to freshen up after a warm day's work is a bath, followed by a liberal dousing of cologne.

The fragrance one uses to cool off and be a joy to friends should be lighter in summer. Florals are good, so are spicy and fruity blends.

For the liberal, head-to-toe use after washing, a moderate-priced fragrance is also valuable. One doesn't mind using it freely, as it should be used.

Right in time is a new cologne in a favorite budget-priced line. This one is pale green, a good color to behold in summer. It's the perfect after-bath foundation for use of the more concentrated versions.

The maker of this long-popular agent has added a deodorant to his after-bath cologne to make it more appealing for summer use. A good slathering with cologne is pleasant, but be sure not to neglect the back of the neck and the hairline. A good rub of cologne on the legs may make stockings, if one wears them, go on more pleasantly.

YOU DON'T HAVE TO BE ACCIDENT-PRONE to collect mishaps now and then. A fall, cut, eye injury, nasty flare-up of the skin can temporarily put the loveliest woman into casts, bandages, band-aids, eye patches. But none of you, says Max Factor, needs fly the white flag that advertises a wound when you can make charming capital of your casualty. Here are some camouflaging tricks suggested by the Hollywood expert.

SOMETHING in your eye? If the doctor orders a patch, until an abrasion heals, wear a glamorous one of satin, color-matched to your costume. Or make it a dashing accessory of leopard print or a patch paved with sequins. See that your lipstick can match brilliance with this scene-stealer.

Cut your hand? Cover the unsightly bandage with a pink chiffon handkerchief and wear lots of bracelets to divert the eye. Or wear camouflage of dazzling color. But the prettiest effect, says Factor, comes from close color - harmony between the chiffon, wrapped around the hand, and your 10 perfectly polished nails. Nails, of course, must be in harmony with your lipstick.

Does a facial blemish call for a band-aid? Cover it with a sequin beauty patch.

Broken arm or leg? Heaven forbid, but if Heaven doesn't, there's no reason, says Factor, why an arm in a cast must be cradled in a glaring white cotton sling to match your costume.

As for a sprained or broken foot or leg, many Hollywood stars - and so can you, says Factor - have fun gathering written get-well wishes on a plaster of Paris cast.

PRETTY GIRLS ALWAYS come clean! So says a recent issue of "Seventeen" which advises girls to get in a lather about face-washing and make it a pampering, pretty-making ritual instead of just a method for removing grime.

Here is a seven-minute morning and evening routine based for the "well-scrubbed look" that is beauty at its best.

Two minutes: Remove all make-up with a liquefying cream if your skin is oily and an all-purpose cream if it's normal or dry. Tissue clean off.

Three minutes: With mild soap or one of the new skin cleansers and luke warm water, gently lather face and neck with rotary motion. If you use a cleanser, choose the milk, non-alkaline detergent suds and jellies, unless your skin is particularly dry or oily. Dry skins require creamy liquid cleansers and oily or disturbed skins, brisk alcohol-based cleansers. Read instructions carefully as some are used without water and others recommend cotton squares rather than face cloth.

One minute: Rinse thoroughly with a face cloth.

One minute: If skin is oily, finish with a few drops of astringent.

Total beauty time - seven minutes. Occasionally you will want to stretch the schedule with a special steaming to loosen black-heads and keep skin pliant.

Five minutes: Turn on hot water and hold face cloth open under it. Bend face over steam which rises in clouds. Remove loose black-heads by pressing them very lightly between fingers wrapped in clean tissue.

Remember, cleanliness is basic to all good looks. . . and minutes can matter when they make you pretty all day, every day.

In preparation for her long tour, the 1956 Maid of Cotton, Patricia Anne Cowden, went to a New York beauty salon to have a facial and learn about using cosmetics so she would look fresh all day. Getting the facial (left), Miss Cowden learns the salon method of applying cold cream, with long upward strokes, starting at the base of the neck and working on to the face. Applying makeup to a clean face (center), Miss Cowden puts on foundation in dots, then blends with fingertips. A touch of face powder and brown eyebrow pencil are added. All-day lipstick (right) goes on last. Lipstick and pressed powder compact go into her handbag for touch-ups which occasionally become necessary when she appears under bright lights.

Cool And Sophisticated French Twist Hairdo Is Flattering To Short Necks

By ALICIA HART
 NEA Beauty Editor

Much curiosity has been expressed about the French twist hair style. Many women claim they have never seen what it looks like, while others have seen it, but don't know how it's done. Still others want to know if this style is for them.

The French twist is a roll of hair that goes up the back of the head. It is worn with smooth sides and either bangs or a slicked-back brow. It goes well under platter or dishman hats and is therefore seen around quite a bit this season. It is a cool style and a very sophisticated one.

The chief stylist for a national chain reports that women with heads of all shapes request this style. He finds, however, that women with full faces and short necks get special benefit from wearing the style. When it is used for a thinner-faced, it is done with a fringe over the forehead and curls at the ears.

The French twist can be done with any long hair and, by an expert, with hair as short as three and a half inches.

It is, generally speaking, a job to be done by an expert. Ruel, chief stylist for Coiffures Americana, showed us how it was done. According to him, a woman who is not a violent sleeper can leave the style intact from salon visit to salon visit.

However, ability at reading directions, a double mirror and practice may enable women to do it at home between visits.

Sophisticated and cool, the French twist hairstyle is in great vogue this season. Much of the popularity is due to Grace Kelly. This version, by Ruel of Coiffures Americana, has curls on the crown and a waved fringe over forehead.

Public Eye Demands All-Day Makeup For 1956 Maid Of Cotton On Tour

By ALICIA HART
 NEA Beauty Editor

There are few things like a raft of hot lights, warm weather and a long tour to wear down a pretty girl's good looks.

Yet Patricia Anne Cowden, the 1956 Maid of Cotton, keeps her naturally lovely face pretty and fresh-looking all day long. Her present tour of the United States, to be followed by a European trip, will take no toll on her looks.

This is because she decided before her trip that make-up for a day in the limelight was something she's have to learn, rather than guess at.

She went to the New York salon of Dorothy Gray for her lessons.

She learned that stage and public appearance make-up is somewhat heavier than her usual make-up. She also found out that opportunities for touch-ups might be limited and that a day-long base should go on. To prepare for a schedule that might leave little time for beauty salon visits, Miss Cowden had an hour-long facial.

During the facial, she learned about the long, smooth strokes a professional uses for applying cold cream. The beautician showed her how to start at the base of the neck and up to the face. She learned how to use a cotton pad and skin lotion to complete the cleansing and stimulate circulation.

Foundation she learned to apply in dots, blending lightly with fingertips. In addition to keeping her skin velvety looking almost all day, it also protects it from travel grime.

A little powder and brown eyebrow pencil, to lengthen the brows, were then used.

An all-day lipstick was selected for Miss Cowden. The lipstick and a pressed powder compact were only cosmetics recommended for her handbag. Both can be used quickly, without muss, in the moments it takes to go from one room to the next.

Launder Lingerie Often In Summer

By ALICIA HART
 NEA Beauty Editor

During summer weather, a woman needs to take special care to keep her lingerie fresh.

Here's how to do it.

Close zipper or other fastening of girdles. Soak garments in warm, sudsy water from three to ten minutes, but no more. Squeeze gently with a cupping motion and remove spots or soil by rubbing gently with soft brush. Rinse several times in clear, tepid water.

Roll each garment in a thick towel to absorb moisture, then shape girdles and cups of brassieres before drying. Hang a brassiere over rod or clothesline, but not by its straps as this tends to pull it out of shape. Hang a girdle by its garters from a hanger or lay it on a towel to dry. Never dry any foundation in sunlight or direct heat, for this will eventually ruin the elastic.

A bra, if ironed, should be pressed on the underside while it is damp. Elastic sections should not be ironed as this will harm the elasticity.

Although manufacturers generally recommended hand laundering, many women are satisfied with results from machine laundering.

Sorting is the first step in this method. Then remove garters, if they come off, from girdles. Do not wash boned girdles in the machine. Zip all zippers.

Use the coolest setting on the machine. If a net bag is available, it's helpful to wash the garments inside this. Use a short cycle on the machine.

Shape and hang just as recommended for hand laundering.

RUTH MILLETT

Every now and then when I am reading mail from readers I wish those "for" and those "agin" could read each other's letters.

Right now there is a professor who should see the letter of a resident of an old ladies' home.

In his letter, the professor takes me to task for daring to suggest in a recent column that it was a sad day for the American family when the marriage experts decided that there wasn't any place in the modern family for grandparents.

He speaks of the friction which is likely to develop between members of different generations when they try to live as a family.

He says: "In recognition of this, family counselors (most of whom deplore the term 'marriage expert') have urged young couples to arrange for the care of grandparents in a way that will cause the least friction."

"In many instances it is wiser to have grandma live by herself in a home for 'senior citizens' or with another member of the family than to stay on in a household that is not able to cope with her constant presence."

The letter I wish the professor could read is from a woman who lives in what he chooses to call "a home for senior citizens" but which she refers to bluntly as an "old ladies' home."

She says: "Congratulations to Ruth Millett on her wise and timely article, 'Bringing Our Grandmas Back Home.' Old people's homes are meant for the very old, the very poor, and the very sick, who are without relatives or money."

"For prosperous sons and daughters to park their aged parents in institutions is nothing short of disgraceful. Where is their family loyalty, their self-respect, their sense of duty? How can teen-agers love and respect parents who do not love and respect THEIR parents?"

Women In The Church

By MARY FOWLER

The liberation of South Korea from "foreign domination" ten years ago gave a "Tremendous impetus" to the education of women in that land, according to Miss Unsook Saw, dean of students at Ewha Women's University, Seoul. "With the liberation has come the idea of democracy," she says, "and the principle of the dignity of human individuals. Even though it was originally a political affair, it has become a social and moral revolution, and has ushered in a period of renaissance for Korean womenhood. Emerging from a state of social bondage, the Korean woman has become a human being before she is a woman, a wife, a mother."

The Methodist Church's Southeastern Jurisdiction has 113 active deaconesses, but a great many more young women are needed in this specialized field of church work. The need to recruit more young women, particularly at the local church and college campus level, was emphasized at the annual meeting of the Jurisdiction's Deaconess Association in Richmond, Va. Candidates must be college graduates with additional training in religious education or other specialties explained Dr. Ruth L. Bartholomew, jurisdiction president.

For the third successive year, the Hymn Society of America is seeking a new hymn-text for use in "National Youth Week" which next is observed January 27 to February 3, 1957. The contest for

Hubbard Sets Sermon Topic For Sunday

Rev. Ronald E. Hubbard, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, will have as his sermon subject Sunday morning, "I Press On," based on Philippians 3:7 to 16. The choir will sing the anthem "Teach Me To Pray."

The subject of the sermon at the evening service in Kelley Chapel will be "King Solomon", based on the book of Kings.

The Monday night Bible study on the book of Romans will meet in the education building from 7:30 to 9 o'clock. The lesson for this week will be chapters 8:18 through 12.

The Wednesday morning Bible study on the book of Ephesians will be led by the pastor with the study beginning at 9:30. The study covers Ephesians 5:20 through 6:24.

The class will meet in the pastor's study due to the vacation Bible school which will be in progress.

Bible Classes To Start At Church Here

A series of Bible classes will begin next week at the Church of Christ located at Mary Ellen and Harvester. This school will include classes for all ages from two years old through the adult level and will be built around the theme "our Living Bible." Song drills and work periods have been planned for the children.

The school will begin Monday, June 11th at 9 a. m. The schedule calls for a ten minute devotional each morning at 9, then a forty-minute class and work period followed by twenty minutes of song drill. Then another class period of forty minutes and a closing assembly.

Jack Scott, evangelist of Abilene will be in Pampa to help with the school and teach the adult class. Scott has a great deal of previous training and experience in vacation Bible schools and the congregation is certainly looking forward to having him to help.

Selections to be read from the King James Version of the Bible will include the following from Psalms 121:3: "The Lord shall preserve thy going out and thy coming in from this time forth, and even for evermore."

hymns "written by youth for youth" is conducted by the Society at the request of the United Christian Youth Movement of the National Council of Churches. In 1955, the Society chose five hymns, from several hundred submitted, as worthy of publishing and singing; and in 1956 two were chosen in the second search. The theme for 1957 is "Consider your call." According to the Rev. Deane Edwards, president of the Hymn Society, "the hymns should express the nature of Christian vocation; its privilege, its fundamental character, and its urgency." The hymn texts should be written to well-known meters found in standard hymnals; written by men or women under thirty years of age; not have been previously published; and submitted to the Hymn Society of America, 297 Fourth Ave., New York 10, N. Y., not later than November 1, 1956.

Christian Science Services

The safety and abundance which can be experienced through reliance on God will be a theme developed at Christian Science services this Sunday.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "God the Preserver of Man" is the Golden Text from Psalms 37: "The salvation of the righteous is of the Lord: he is their strength in the time of trouble. And the Lord shall help them, and deliver them."

From "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will be read the following: "Divine Love always has met and always will meet every human need."

Students helped make their own expenses by doing such part-time jobs as baby-sitting and washing cars. They were elected to represent Baptist schools and colleges throughout the South.

Altogether 60 Baptist students will join in such work this summer. The group, which left from Amon Carter airport Wednesday, included:

Missionary Pupils Go To Hawaii

DALLAS (UP) — Seven young college students who will serve as summer missionaries of the Baptist Convention have left by plane for Hawaii.

Their overseas work will consist mostly of holding vacation Bible schools and teaching Bible classes officials here said, but they may be working deep necessary.

Jerry Mue, Pigot, Ark., a student at Texas Christian University; Betty Shaw of Pledger, Tex., Texas State College for Women; Don Smith, Cresson, Tex., North Texas State College; Tony Evans, Piggott, East Texas Baptist College; Marilyn Padgett, Beaumont, Tex., Baylor University; June Chapman, Lubbock, Tex., Mary Hardin Baylor; and Scott Middleton, Corsicana, Rice Institute.

Patterson Favored Over Jackson In Bout Tonight

By JACK CUDDY United Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (UP)—Young Floyd Patterson pits his speed, skill and punch against Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson's slapstick durability tonight in their heavyweight elimination fight at Madison Square Garden.

His high ranking by upsetting men who were supposed to flatten him quickly. A Lighter Puncher Those victims included Dan Bucceroni, Rex Layne, Ezzard Charles and Bob Baker. He apparently does not hit as hard as Patterson, but his persistent pummeling nubs them. He stopped 13 opponents while winning 27 of his 32 bouts. He suffered four defeats and was held to one draw. He was stopped once by Nino Valdes of Cuba for having been floored three times in one round. He and his handlers claimed each trip to the deck was caused by "slipping" and not by punches.

US Open Has Had Unusual Occurrences

TODAY'S SPORT PARADE (Reg. U.S. Pat. Off.) By OSCAR FRALEY United Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (UP)—Craig Wood, an expert on the subject, today advised the glamor guys of golf looking forward to next week's U.S. Open championship to "be aware of the lame and the halt."

Johnson Hopes He Can Return To Major Leagues

By UNITED PRESS Don Johnson, at 29, still hopes to return to the major leagues and his latest pitching feat in the International League shouldn't hurt his chances one bit. Johnson, who posted a 2-4 won-loss record with the Baltimore Orioles last season, tossed the International League's first no-hit, no-run game of the current season Tuesday night against the Columbus Jets. The 2-6 victory was Johnson's fifth win against only two losses.

Havana Southpaw Ready Anytime For Cincinnati Team

By UNITED PRESS Pat Scantlebury, sent down to the Havana Sugar Kings on 24-hour recall by the Cincinnati Redlegs, is ready to come back anytime Manager Birdie Tebbetts needs him. The skinny left-hander notched his third victory Wednesday night since being sent to the International League, a neat four-hit, 13-0, shutout over the Buffalo Bisons. Last year, the Montclair, N.J., resident compiled a 13-9 record with the Sugar Kings. The victory, however, still left the Sugar Kings in last place, one and one-half games in back of the seventh-place Bisons.

Buhl Permits Only Four Hits As Braves Blast Dodgers, 4-1

By FRED DOWN United Press Sports Writer Bob Buhl's ability to beat the Brooklyn Dodgers stamped him today as the ace of the Milwaukee pitching staff and the fellow who is keeping the Braves in the tight-knit National League race. The 27-year-old right hander was rated behind veteran stars Lew Burdette, Warren Spahn and Gene Conley in the Milwaukee mound setup but his 4-1 decision over the Dodgers Thursday gave him the following distinctions:

Eight Make It Through Two Rounds

DALLAS (UP)—Eight golfers, ranging from 44-year-old O'Hara Watts to 17-year-old Bill Eschenbrenner, survived two rounds of match play and teed off in the quarterfinals of the 80th Texas state amateur golf tournament today. Watts, who was a Southwest Conference golf champion at Southern Methodist in 1931-32 before most of his rivals were born, met young David Goldman Jr., son of the ousted defending champion, Spec Goldman, in one of the morning's lower bracket quarterfinals.

Colts Two Runs In Eighth Nip Oilers To Take Series

SAN ANGELO — Big Jodie Phipps came out with none out in the ninth to subdue a Pampa rally and help Bill Bagwell to his 13th win in 16 decisions as the San Angelo Colts won the three-game series with a 7-4 victory over the Oilers in Guinn Field, Thursday night. Bagwell shut out the Oilers on two hits until the seventh inning when Johnny Bruza, and losing pitcher Ernie Bartolomei got to the ace righthander with solo homers each. Pampa got three more runs off Bagwell in the eighth and scored a run in the ninth before Phipps came on to put out the fire with the help of manager Art Bowland's accurate throw.

Carlsbad Potasher's Southwestern League winning streak to seven straight games Thursday night. Jack's eight-hit, 4-1 decision over Roswell's Wayne Goodell lifted the Potashers from eighth to seventh place and only one-half game back of Roswell, which tops the second division. Jack struck out 14 Rocketts. In other games Plainview moved to within two games of the lead by nailing out Ballinger 2-1 while El Paso's Jim Ackers checked the front-running Hobbs Sports 11-6 for the Texans' third straight triumph over the leaders. San Angelo beat Pampa again 7-6 behind the combined pitching of Billy Bagwell and Jodie Phipps to stay tied for fourth with El Paso only one-half game back of third-place Midland, which lost to cellar-dwelling Clovis 5-4.

Top Track And Field Stars Compete Tonight At Houston

By KYLE THOMPSON HOUSTON (UP)—Track and field stars from seven of the nation's top athletic conferences compete tonight at Houston University's Meet of Champions under conditions that could easily see some new world records established. The meet also is drawing special attention since this is Olympic year. A number of stars who will be competing tonight already are under consideration for the Olympic games this fall at Melbourne, Australia.

Mantle Great But What About Berra

NEW YORK (UP)—Mickey Mantle is great, but a lot of American League teams will tell you today that Yogi Berra is the fellow who is beating their brains out. "Left-handers, right-handers—it makes no difference to Yogi who's pitching," chortled Yankee Manager Casey Stengel. By way of proving Casey's point, lefty-throwing Yogi cracked his 16th homer off lefty Alex Keller to lead the Yankees to their 9-1 victory over the Kansas City A's Thursday. Eight of 'em—exactly half—have come against southpaw hurlers. Yogi's blast Thursday gave him four homers in the last four games—a fortunate occurrence for the Yankees because the mighty Mantle has been batting at under a .300 pace for the past week.

Reds Give Figures On Population

MOSCOW — UP — Soviet Russia reported its population today as 200.2 million—a figure 16 million below the latest western estimate.
The figure was printed in the first government statistical guidebook published since the Stalin era. A review of the handbook was printed today in Pravda, the official Communist party organ.
The U.S. Census Bureau estimated the population of the United States at approximately 167,181,000 on March 1, 1956.
Western observers said the new official estimate might indicate that Russia's World War II losses were much heavier than the estimated 20 million reported previously.
In 1940 Russia estimated its population at 194.4 million. On Dec. 31, 1954 the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe put the figure at 216 million.
Western observers here were at a loss to explain the difference, especially in view of the 1949 estimate. They suggested that war losses might have been even greater than the figure of 20 million now given.

48th Year
Mother Goes Instead
WASHINGTON (UP)—Rep. Chas. E. Bennett (D-Fla.) was too busy with congressional work to attend a privately-sponsored meeting, so he sent his mother in his place.
Mrs. Roberta Bennett, 71, stood in for her son at the federal state conference on the aging.

Do-It-Yourself
NEW YORK (UP)—Do-it-yourself enthusiast Charles Loeb, 78, left his home for two hours Wednesday and returned to find thieves had used his own do-it-yourself tools to break into his safe and rob him of $200 and two diamond rings.

FEAR KEEPS US SICK

During the night our pains plague us and our fears catch fire. Our imagination runs riot and we rush to a hospital in a big hurry only to lie and wait. Could have waited at home were it not for our fears.
Scare type publicity releases during our many, many fund drives are written to play upon our emotions and fears. If you are a fearful person this testimony given before a U. S. Senate Committee
Dr. Gordon Miller D.C. Senate Bill 1875 during the 79th Congress should be in order.
Dr. Milley reported on a survey made by Dr. Stanley Reimann (in charge of Tumor Research and Pathology, Gotham Hospital). "Dr. Reimann's report on cancer cases in Pennsylvania over a long period of time showed that those who received no treatment lived a longer period than those that received surgery, radium, or X-Ray."
This official testimony is not a "sales talk" to mooch your money. It reports the conditions as they exist, and very plainly states that you live longer if you will run from the knife, not to mention the money your family would waste while cutting your life short.
If you are in your late thirties or forties there are nine chances in ten that your sick nervous system multiplied by your fear is the boogy man you think to be cancer.
We suggest you read this clinic case history and take a new lease on hope.
A 60-year-old mother came to Miller Chiropractic Clinic in flight from the knife.
She had a small lump in her breast together with many other symptoms such as nervous spells, low back aches, constipation, sinus trouble, headaches, indigestion, and certain change of life symptoms.
We observed that many times the glandular changes involved in the climacteric (or change of life) includes certain breast changes including lumps that appear and disappear in response to nervous disturbances.
Our spinal analysis and X-Rays located a central nervous system disturbance. This patient is now calm and free of pain. Her breast lump disappeared promptly. We have continued periodic checks for the past four years. She is well and tremendously pleased. No. 403.
For your own health's sake investigate Now. You have nothing to lose except bad health.

GRASSHOPPERS ATTACKING GRAY COUNTY

YOUR cropland is in a critical grasshopper area
It's important that you take immediate control measures to help prevent mass infestations.
Strike back at hoppers with the No. 1 "hopper stopper"—aldrin. Aldrin kills them if they touch, taste or smell it. It's effective in extremely low dosages. Mere ounces of aldrin control grasshoppers on an acre of cropland, no matter how heavy the infestation. Aldrin can be applied as a ground or air spray.
Don't be a victim of serious grasshopper damage this season—get aldrin from your local insecticide dealer. Be prepared—get aldrin today!

Chiggers To Abound In Texas Again

AUSTIN, June 7 — Whether you call them red bugs or harvest mites or chiggers or just plain Eutrombicula alfreddugesi, you'll meet them this spring and summer. Forwarded is forewarned.

Texas, say State Health Department entomologists, has more than its fair share of the parasites, a statement with which anyone who has endured ceaseless spasms of itching misery from red bug bites will agree.

They — the chiggers — have a special affinity for low, damp places covered with vegetation. Bermuda grass lawns harbor them well, but for some unexplainable reason they are not usually found in carpet grass.

Just for the record, it's the larvae which do the damage, attaching themselves with their mouthparts and sucking blood until they become engorged and fall off. The severe itching is caused by an anticoagulant material they inject into their host.

Although adult chiggers — large, red, and velvety — are entirely harmless to man, their wayward offspring can be serious as well as annoying. The entomologists say they do not spread any specific disease entity in this country, but their bites often produce secondary infections in the form of sores and boils.

A few people have an apparent immunity to chigger attacks, but the vast majority are fair game from about May until cold weather reduces chigger ranks. Favorite spots to attach themselves for blood meals seem to be hands, feet, and the stomach around the belt line.

They attack lizards, snakes, birds, and rodents with the same vigor and resourcefulness they display in attacking man. No distinction is drawn between humans and lesser animal species, which is hardly complimentary to us Homo sapiens.

Light applications of sulphur dust on lawns and low branches of shrubs have been used for years to successfully control chiggers. Nowadays, the newer organic insecticides such as chlordane and lindane give better results. Just follow the directions on the label.

A word of caution: be sure to avoid unnecessary exposure to the insecticide. If you spill the concentrated material on your skin, wash it off immediately. And be sure to keep children and pets out of the yard until the spray dries.
