Fire Causes Light Damage To Oil Tanks

Welding operations on the middle tank of a five-tank battery on the Cities Service Oil Co. Smith Lease resulted in a fire at approximately 1:05 p.m. yesterday. The lease is located four miles west of Pampa on the Borger highway.

According to workmen at the lease the middle tank in the tank battery was being repaired and welding operations were in progress. Steam was being used inside the tank to eliminate the fire hazard but oil which had seeped into the ground surrounding the tanks was ignited by sparks from the welding operation. The fire quickly spread around the tanks, the workmen reported.

The Pampa fire department was called to the scene and was able to extinguish the fire around the tank before serious damage resulted. However, the fire had spread to a slush pit and was burning in the discharge ditch between the pit and the tanks.

The firemen extinguished the fire in the ditch but due to the amount of oil in the pit and the shortage of water and chemicals they allowed the slush pit fire to burn itself out.

Damages to the tank battery were reported to be minor with paint scorched on the tanks and light damage to the wooden structure around the tanks. No total estimate on the amount of damage was available this morning.

PLENTY OF SMOKE — Shown above is the fire that resulted on the Cities Service Oil Co. Smith Lease, located four miles west of Pampa on the Borger highway, when welding operations on a tank battery ignited oil seepage. The fire was put out by Pampa firemen without much damage to the tank battery. (News photo)

Angry Hungarians Call 2-Day Strike

BUDAPEST (UP)— Angry Hungarian workers paralyzed the nation today in a two-day "total strike" against the Russians.

The walkout was called to protest a Soviet attempt Wednesday to break up a meeting of the National Workers' Council, supreme organ of Hungary's workers, farmers and intellectuals.

It was not supposed to begin until early today but news of the Red army move raced through the city late Wednesday and the strike was on.

Street cars and bus crews abandoned their vehicles in the streets when they walked off their jobs.

This morning all public transportation was at a standstill as icy winds and near freezing temperatures gripped the country.

Budapest radio broadcast no news. Instead the Communist-operated station aired a long string of appeals to railroad, public transportation and factory workers to return to their jobs.

The appeals were in vain and the tie-up was tighter even than the general strike that preceded it. Only food services and essential maintenance were functioning.

Some stores which had reopened only a day or so ago when the general strike began to dwindle were closed again. All factory gates were shut, and workers who had gone back to their jobs earlier this week only to maintain a sitdown strike stayed away altogether.

West Believes Reds To Use U. N. In Plan

By BRUCE W. MUNN
United Press Staff Correspondent
UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (UP)— Western observers believed the Soviet Union would use the General Assembly as a sounding board today to push its proposal for a drastically limited version of President Eisenhower's "open skies" disarmament plan.

Soviet Foreign Secretary Dmitri T. Shepilov was one of five speakers listed on the general debate schedule.

The Assembly planned to interrupt the general debate — a parade of foreign policy statements by U.N. member governments — to permit Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold to deliver another report on the Middle East situation.

Will Issue Report

Hammarskjold was preparing a comprehensive report on the basis of replies he received Wednesday to questions on the ceasefire and withdrawal he asked Monday of Britain, France and Israel.

All three governments told him they had started activating plans for withdrawal from Egypt.

Britain said as evidence of its good faith, it is removing one battalion from Port Said. Reliable sources said France told Hammarskjold it was removing a third of its troops.

The Israeli reply was the only one made public in full Wednesday night. It said Israeli troops had been withdrawn "for varying distances" all along the Egyptian front. It did not specify how many troops were involved.

Resolutions Passed

The General Assembly resumed the general debate Wednesday after spending a whole day on the Hungarian situation.

Despite Soviet bloc opposition, the Assembly overwhelmingly passed three resolutions.

One, sponsored by Cuba, called for an immediate halt to deportation of free Hungarians by the Soviets.

Algerian Rebels Kill Pro-French

ALGIERS (UP)— Heavily armed rebel units raced through east Algeria's Soummam Valley today, sowing death and terror among the pro-French Moslem mountain folk.

They overwhelmed self-defense groups armed by the French in the villages of Taourirt and Taasbit, perched high in the Ras Taza Tinzar Massif.

They ransacked the villages and abducted the men as hostages. About 18 persons were missing, French officials said.

The number of Moslem dead was not yet known.

The army blocked both sides of the 100 mile long valley known as "The Valley of Death" since the rebels slaughtered 100 pro-French Moslems there in one day last April.

Hungarians Flee Reds During Night

VIENNA (UP)— More than 8,000 Hungarians have fled across the border into free Austria in the past 24 hours, Austrian police reported today. It brought to more than 50,000 the number who have fled the Soviet terror in Hungary.

The swelling wave of fugitives became a full torrent despite Soviet night efforts to dam it. Wednesday night the Russians blew up bridges across canals close to the border between Hungary and Austria.

But despite sub-freezing temperatures and the threat of Soviet bullets, more than 5,000 escaped during the night alone.

Austrian authorities requisitioned schools, town halls and other buildings for temporary housing.

Vacation For Top Producer

The top producer in the general sales campaign will receive a 12 day vacation in Acapulco, Mexico, at the El Mirador Hotel for two. This prize has been made possible by the donation of the transportation by Motor Inn Auto Supply, Lynn Boyd Lumber, Pampa Foundry and the Cree Industries who are providing air transportation worth $400. The Pampa Daily News is contributing $200 worth of American plan accommodations.

U. S. Observes Thanksgiving In Prayer

CHICAGO (UP)— Americans observed Thanksgiving in prayer, but the festive occasion was marred in many homes by tragic holiday deaths of travelers en route for traditional family reunions.

By 9 a.m. est, traffic accidents had accounted for 28 deaths since 6 p.m. Wednesday. A plane crash claimed two lives, and fire caused an additional fatality, for an overall total of 31 deaths.

The National Safety Council hoped the toll until midnight tonight would fall below the 110 traffic deaths normal for a non-holiday Thursday in late-November.

icy and snow-packed roads were reported in many sections of the Midwest, a factor which the safety council hoped would help realize a lower traffic death toll.

Four of the highway victims were killed in Pennsylvania, three of them in one crash. They were Georgetown University students enroute from Washington, D.C., to their homes in Pennsylvania for the holiday when their car skidded on wet pavement and smashed headon into a tractor-trailer.

A 17-car pileup occurred near Waukesha, Wis., when several cars slid out of control on an icy highway and blocked the road. Two cars overturned, but no injuries were reported.

Much of the nation still crisp, cold weather which followed a three-day snowstorm that placed a mantle of white from the Rocky Mountains across the Northern Plains to the Great Lakes. Temperatures dropped sharply in the Eastern two-thirds of the nation. Cold wave warnings were issued over much of the Northern Plains Wednesday night.

Americans, while giving thanks for peace and plenty, also thought of human misery in foreign lands.

The somber holiday note was set by President Eisenhower, who called on all Americans to aid "the ill, the destitute and the oppressed in foreign lands" on Thanksgiving.

Church services were held in most cities and towns, and in some they were converted in drives to collect food, clothing and funds for the Hungarians who fought for the freedom of their country.

Most Americans feasted on stuffed turkey quietly at home or with relatives and friends.

Charitable groups served food and clothing to the needy in various cities and towns, and other groups distributed Thanksgiving baskets to the more unfortunate.

Hungarian Refugees Get A Real Taste Of America-Turkey Dinner

By H. D. QUIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent
CAMP KILMER, N. J. (UP)— Hungarian refugees in the first plane load to reach this country in the "project mercy" airlift got a real taste of America today—Thanksgiving turkey dinner.

Their U. S. Army hosts, making no attempt to imitate Hungarian cooking, decided to plunge right in and show the refugees what their new country traditionally eats on this holiday.

The Army served up roast turkey with giblet gravy, dressing, and cranberry sauce — along with whipped potatoes, beans, corn, crisp-relishes, rolls, fruit cake, pumpkin and mince pie, fruits, candy and nuts.

However, they were only 26 of the original 50 refugees left at Camp Kilmer. Twenty-four Jewish refugees were processed through this camp and were sent to New York Wednesday night only eight hours after their plane had arrived at nearby McGuire Air Force Base.

The 24 were sponsored by United Hias Service. They were taken to the Hias shelter in New York City, where kosher food was available.

Another plane load, carrying about 100 refugees from Communist oppression in Hungary, was expected to arrive at McGuire tonight. The United States has promised freedom, shelter and care for 5,000 — all of whom are scheduled to be brought in by air.

Plane Carries Romance

The first plane load carried romance as well as seekers after freedom. Among the refugees were two couples who eloped and left their families behind, intending to get married and settle down in the United States. They are Borbala Caspe, 15, and her sister Julianna, 17, who are betrothed to Jyula Hamori, 19, and Josef Simon, 20.

Among those who consented to press interviews was Miksa K...

Stock In Hotel Totals $345,200

Stock sold in the proposed community owned hotel for Pampa now totals $345,200 with an additional $31,600 reported by the executive committee and general sales force last night.

At the dinner report meeting of the group last night in the Palm Room a total of 118 new subscriptions were reported. The executive committee reported 13 new subscriptions totaling $15,000. Subscriptions totaling $16,600 were reported by the general sales force. This brought the total to $345,200.

The meeting last night was short with the time limited to the reports.

Ed Myatt, manager of the Men's Section, had the salesmen congratulate the Women's Section for the fine job being done by the sales women. Myatt stated, "The city of Pampa has never failed in a project and shouldn't start now." He urged the men in his section to get out and catch up with the work being done by the women.

The leading group in each division for the day was awarded the "We Are It" banners. Groups receiving the banners were: Group 2, managed by Louis P. Clarke, Group 5, managed by Floyd Watson.

Store. Floyd Watson reported the largest amount of stock sold and received an electric clock presented by Brooks Electric.

At an earlier meeting, members of the executive committee met in the City Commission room and discussed efforts being made by that group.

Philo Dix, campaign manager, compared results to date with other campaigns when those campaigns were at the same point in the stock sales efforts. He reported that Pampa was about at the (See STOCK, Page 3) by Mrs. Louise McCrery. This group which is in Division D, was awarded the campaign goat.

The saleswoman with the largest number of subscriptions reported at last night's meeting was Miss Susie Huff who received a $7.50 gift certificate presented by Ideal Food Stores. Miss Huff also reported the largest amount of stock sold and received a $7.50 gift certificate from Bentley's.

The salesman reporting the largest number of sales was Louis P. Clarke who received a table lighter presented by Kennedy Jewelry

Rebellion Expected If Troops Withdraw

By HAROLD GUARD
United Press Staff Correspondent
LONDON (UP)— Conservative members of Parliament said today a "premature" withdrawal of British troops from Port Said could spark a rebellion in Parliament which could bring down Sir Anthony Eden's government.

A member of the "Suez rebel" group told the United Press that "about 50" Conservative members had made known their intentions, in writing, to refuse party directives to support Eden in any parliamentary vote on the issue.

He said the reports of the British decision to withdraw one battalion from Port Said already had roused the "rebels" to action and had increased their numerical strength.

Only 35 Oppose

The reports that there are only 35 Conservative members opposed to the British withdrawal is an underestimate, the source said. "There are at least 50 members who have written in saying they will refuse the whips if there is a premature withdrawal from the canal zone."

Eden, on the eve of his depart-ture for a three-week holiday in Jamaica, was reported discussing the explosive political situation with his senior ministers.

The government whips were said to be already in action in an effort to avoid a major revolt in the conservative ranks.

Schedules Address

Deputy Premier R. A. Butler and Chancellor of the Exchequer Harold MacMillan are scheduled to address the "1922 committee," a Conservative back benches organization tonight.

The Conservative source said this was one of many private meetings aimed at talking "rebels" out of their opposition to the government.

"Today is the most critical day the government has faced since it has held office," the source said. "Either the cabinet or the rebels must surrender within the next 24 hours if a crisis is to be averted."

Predicts Downfall

The Conservative Daily Express, one of the government's staunchest supporters, took note of the growing rebellion and predicted that it could "bring the government down."

Britain, France Want 5,000 To 6,000 Troops Available

By BRUCE W. MUNN
United Press Staff Correspondent
UNITED NATIONS — UP — Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold today announced officially the initial compliance by Britain, France and Israel with the United Nations demand to withdraw their forces from Egypt.

All three reported to Hammarskjold that they had pulled back part of their forces and were prepared to complete the action once full arrangements have been made for the U. N. emergency force to take over.

Hammarskjold published the separate reports from the three powers with this comment:

"At the present stage the secretary-general does not wish to present any observations concerning the state of compliance reflected in the replies received. Nor does he find it to the purpose now to discuss the views expressed on compliance (with the cease-fire-and-withdrawal resolution of the general assembly) was to be established.

Replies Made Public

Substance of the three replies had been made public by the governments concerned Wednesday night.

Hammarskjold also published a note to Israel expressing concern about unrest and casualties in the Israeli-held Gaza Strip, where the bulk of 960,000 Arab refugees are quartered, and repeating a request that U.N. observers be stationed there.

Israeli Foreign Minister Mrs. Golda Meir replied that "as I explained to you, there is now complete tranquility in the area." But she said she was consulting her government on the request for observers and hoped to have "an early reply."

The General Assembly was scheduled to take up the Middle East situation this afternoon (at 2 p.m., est).

Debate Continues

It continued its general debate this morning and western observers believed Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov would use the assembly as a sounding board to push the Soviet proposal for a drastically limited version of President Eisenhower's "open skies" disarmament inspection plan.

Britain Has Package Plan For Mid-East

By KAROL THALER
United Press Staff Correspondent
LONDON (UP) — Government officials said today Britain is preparing a "package plan" to solve the complex Mid-East problems.

The plan envisions an Arab-Israel settlement, an arrangement for the guaranteed freedom of the Suez Canal and a Colombo-type economic aid program for Middle East nations.

The British concept was said to call for the following measures:

1. A settlement of the Arab-Israeli feud, based generally on the pre-Suez border lines and to be guaranteed by the United Nations.
2. A demilitarized zone between Israel and her Arab neighbors, notably Egypt.
3. Demilitarization of the islands in the Gulf of Aqaba.
4. A United Nations resettlement program for Arab refugees.
5. A Suez Canal settlement on the lines of the 18-nation plan which provides for a flexible form of internationalization of the waterway.
6. A Colombo-type plan of economic assistance for the Middle East through the United Nations, the World Bank and other international organs.

U. S. Ponders Molotov's New Soviet Job

By DONALD J. GONZALES
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP) — U.S. officials today awaited future developments in the Kremlin before giving any final assessment of ex-Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's new job as minister of state control.

There have been recurring reports of a jockeying for power inside the Soviet hierarchy, particularly over Moscow policy toward Eastern Europe's restive satellites.

Rumors, and nothing more than that, have been heard that Molotov might be in line to succeed Soviet Communist Party boss Nikita Khrushchev, and former Premier Georgii Malenkov might return as premier, succeeding Nikolai Bulganin. Officials, however, said they had no confirmation of these reports, which originated in France.

Molotov has been regarded as the leader of the Kremlin wing which has questioned the Khrushchev-Bulganin non-Stalinist policies — especially the one of granting more independence to the satellites — brought on Moscow's new troubles with Hungary, Poland and Yugoslavia.

But diplomatic experts described as "wild," dispatches interpreting Molotov's new job as a victory for the Stalinists. Officials were frankly puzzled by the Molotov appointment, but they tended to believe the wily old Communist had been tied to a minor agency which corresponds to the general accounting office in the United States.

It's Confused In Texas!

By UNITED PRESS

Texas observed a unique semi-holiday today, as federal offices, banks, and some businesses closed for Thanksgiving, while state offices and certain private firms put off their observance until next week.

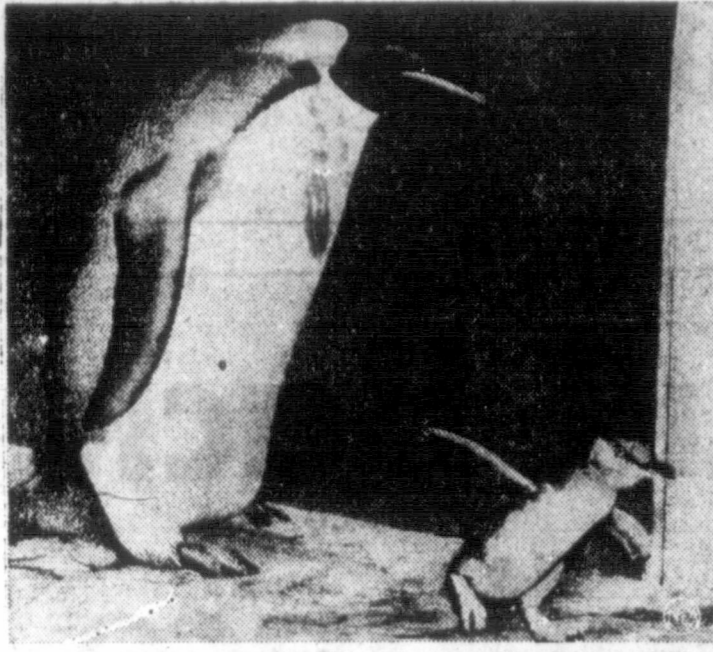

Restaurants featured turkey dinners on the menu and planned more of the same next Thursday.

Federal law sets the fourth Thursday in November as Thanksgiving, but Texas law says the holiday falls on the last Thursday of the month. Occasionally, when November has five Thursdays, there is a conflict.

Clear cool weather was general over the state, with warmer temperatures expected in the late afternoon.

Grocers and butchers reported more turkeys were reserved for next Thursday than today. Public schools and colleges will observe the holiday next week. Dr. W. T. White, superintendent of Dallas schools, commented:

"I think the first thing the Legislature should do when it convenes in January is to rectify the confused situation. I never saw so much confusion."

Drought Aid Revisions Are Reported

Walter T. McKay, state director, Farmers Home Administration, has been advised by the Secretary of Agriculture and the Governor of Texas of revised routines in the execution of freight rate certificates entitling eligible applicants to reduced freight rates under Interstate Commerce Commission Drought Orders.

These orders provide in part that the class of persons entitled to reduced rates are those designated as being in distress and in need of relief by the U. S. Department of Agriculture or by such state agents as designated by the department. The Secretary of Agriculture has authorized governors of all drought-stricken states to designate persons entitled to reduced freight rates. Effective November 15, 1955, Governor Shivers re-delegated to all county judges in designated drought counties in Texas the authority to execute certificates.

"Heretofore, Farmers Home Administration County Supervisors were authorized to execute certificates and only stockmen who were eligible for emergency feed could obtain the certificates. This revised authorization will extend the benefits of reduced freight rates to all stockmen in designated counties," McKay stated.

Commies Arrest Cardinal's Aide

BUDAPEST (UP)—Josef Cardinal Mindszenty's secretary was arrested by Communist agents recently while trying to leave Hungary with a message from Mindszenty to Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York, it was learned today.

The secretary, father Egon Turcsanyi, is now imprisoned in Budapest's Ursoe Street jail. He was seized 12 days ago as he and a western correspondent were preparing to flee to Vienna en route to New York. The correspondent was allowed to leave.

The charges on which Turcsanyi were detained were not known. Neither was the substance of the message which Cardinal Mindszenty, still a refugee in the American legation here, had dispatched to the New York archbishop.

Fred Neslage, manager of the general sales organization, reported to the executive committee on efforts made by the general sales organization. He stressed the fact that the executive committee should continue to lead the way in the stock selling effort.

Members of the committee reported on progress made in obtaining stock purchases from those persons they were assigned to contact. Some of the cards were exchanged with persons who thought they might have more success where difficulty had been encountered in obtaining a subscription. Additional cards were taken by some of the members in an effort to sell as much stock as possible.

TROOPS

from Port Said Lt. Gen. Sir Hugh Stockwell, the Allied commander, suggested Four Power jeep patrols — British, French, Egyptian and U.N. troops — to keep order in the battle zone.

The jeep patrols would operate along the lines of the famous Four Power jeep patrols used in Vienna when the United States, Britain, Russia and France occupied Austria at the end of World War II. Norwegian UN troops already are in the Port Said area.

Troops Withdrawn

A Paris dispatch said Pineau told Hammarskjold France already has withdrawn one-third of her troops, mainly Marines, and is cutting her naval forces in Egyptian waters by two-thirds to prove her "good faith."

Lloyd announced Britain was pulling out one infantry battalion from the Canal Zone as a token of total evacuation. Israel was said to be about to clear out from the Sinai Peninsula though demanding U.N. guarantees against Egyptian attacks.

French sources said Pineau had been instructed to tell the U.N. General Assembly that Egypt should pay the Suez repair bill itself since it blocked the canal in violation of the 1888 convention guaranteeing it will remain open.

Agrees With U.S.

France agrees with the United States plan calling for the creation of a special U.N. committee on Suez and another on Palestine, the sources said. But France demands that all "interested" powers sit in on the committees and that Hammarskjold run the Suez committee.

The U.S. peace plan in fact would mean resumption of negotiations between Egypt on one side and Britain and France on the other — under the watchful eye of U.N. observers and under the authority of Hammarskjold.

The developments coincided with reports in London of a serious crisis within the Conservative Party members rebelled against Prime Minister Anthony Eden in a crisis that could oust him as prime minister.

Other Developments

In other Mideast news: Cairo: Minister of War Maj. Gen. Abdel Hakim Amer told his troops to stand ready for a second battle "in case the imperialist forces refuse to withdraw from Egyptian soil."

Shivers-Senate Won't Okay Daniel

AUSTIN (UP)—Texas Gov. Allan Shivers, a Democrat who vigorously supported President Eisenhower, says he does not believe the Senate will permit Sen. Price Daniel (D-Tex.) to cast a vote if Daniel's ballot is "the controlling factor" in deciding whether that body goes Republican or Democratic in January.

Shivers sent a new letter to Daniel late Wednesday in their continuing controversy over how and when a new senator will be chosen to replace Daniel.

Daniel is Texas' governor-elect. His Senate term has two years to go, and he has said he plans to be present at the opening session to help the Democrats maintain a 49-47 majority.

Shivers Has Doubts

Shivers wrote, "I do not believe that U.S. Senate custom would allow the vote of a temporary senator to be the controlling factor in Senate reorganization. This would apply whether you are the person temporarily serving or whether that person is someone appointed by you or me."

Daniel has submitted a resignation, effective Jan. 15 or at any earlier date when a successor is elected.

Shivers contends he cannot legally call the election yet, because no vacancy exists until the resignation becomes effective. Daniel says state law permits an election to be called at once.

He Wants Formal Ruling

Daniel has asked Shivers to get a formal ruling from the Texas attorney general on the question. Shivers said in his letter that he would request the ruling, provided that Daniel agreed in advance to resign immediately and unconditionally if the attorney general rules this is a prerequisite to the calling of an election.

Shivers also said he was not "unfriendly" to Daniel and offered to help Daniel take over the reins

Nasser Answers Via Phone Call

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Precisely between the first and second lunch courses — and both very good — the host listened to the butler's whispered words, beckoned the guest of honor and disappeared.
Over the host's shoulder came a polite apology with the explanation: "President Nasser on the phone."

That's Washington. The host was Dr. Ahmed Hussein, the ambassador of Egypt. The place was the Egyptian Embassy on swank Sheridan Circle. The guest of honor was a jovial fat man, Moustafa Amin. Moustafa and his twin brother, Ali, publish Akbar. El Yom, which is Arabic for news of the day, a mass circulation newspaper distributed from Cairo throughout the Middle East.

Fields Tough Question
Moustafa Amin, a good newspaperman himself, was fielding some tough questions thrown by the newsmen present when the phone call intervened. The call had been put in yesterday. But until there is more direct service between Washington and Cairo, as the ambassador explained, one must expect a bit of delay. Even when calling a president!

Newsmen had been trying to pin Amin down on the amount of munitions sent into Egypt by the Soviet Union and satellite nations. It wasn't much, he insisted.
How about the $50 million worth of munitions which Israel claimed to have captured he was asked. Amin thought that far too high. When he returned to the lunch table, Amin said he had passed several questions on to Nasser and that the replies were as follows, in the President's own language: Will Investigate Arms

"Tomorrow it will be announced in the newspapers that I have asked the United Nations to create a committee to investigate in Israel what the Israeli actually captured. Egypt will accept the committee's findings without question."

Amin estimated that the Israeli body was limited to 30 tanks and 50 troop carrier trucks. He said Nasser denied, as follows, that he had sought the aid of Russian volunteers:
"There are no Russian volunteers in Egypt today. We fought this battle alone and we are insisting on fighting it alone in order to avoid World War III."
Amin had been asked about reports that Egypt had encouraged other Arab nations to nationalize foreign oil holdings. He came back with this answer from Nasser:
"Egypt never intended to ask or to encourage the Arab nations to nationalize oil. In fact, Egypt respects all contracts between foreign countries."

Tax Burden Eased
WASHINGTON (UP)—The Internal Revenue Service has made a concession to taxpayers.
Instead of having to make out tax checks to district director of internal revenue, they may now be made out to Internal Revenue Service.
The shorter version, the agency said, is less "burdensome for the taxpayer to write."

The James Masons Upset Because They Have 11 Cats

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Hollywood Writer HOLLYWOOD (UP) — With National Cat Week over, Mrs. James Mason has a confession: That reputation she and her husband have for cats is all a mistake.

The Masons, it's true, have 11 cats in their menage, and I visited the four-footed members of the family during National Cat Week because the Masons are Hollywood's most famous cat-owners.

But Mrs. Mason, a brunette dressed in pink from shoes to earrings, sighed that it's all a fraud in a furry sort of way.

"We love cats, but 11!" she sighed. "The idea is to have two cats. It's all a tremendous mistake."

The great cat caper began when Mason and Pamela met in England. She owned a Siamese and Mason was inspired to adopt a stage door tabby. By the time they were married they owned two cats apiece.

"Then once we lost our white cat, Whitey, on a train and it caused a great to-do," Mrs. Mason said. "We found him 24 hours later — he had crawled under a seat. The story got out because James is an actor and from that moment on we've never had a moment's peace with cats."

"When we arrived in this country eight years ago with five cats, this same Whitey had excema. We put a big collar around his neck so he couldn't bite himself. When the photographers saw that, well!" She added thoughtfully, "Whitey died last year of heart failure. He had been on digitals for a year."

Some Hollywoodites adopted the Masons as cat fanciers. Judy Garland gave them a cat; other critters arrived from fans and friends. The Masons now are owned by 11 cats.

Their large home has to be divided into three sections, with various gates and rules, so that the cats who get along with each other will be separated from those they fight with.

FRENCH FAKIR—This is not an Indian fakir sitting on his bed of nails, but a Parisian painter touching up a giant-sized toothpaste tube while sitting on the business end of an equally big toothbrush. Khrushchev Clearly Top Man In The Soviet Union

EDITOR'S NOTE: Kenneth Brodney is a former United Press manager in Moscow. He witnessed the change-over from Stalinism to the new collective leadership and, incidentally, the new availability of the Red bosses. The following dispatch which tells about Soviet Communist Party boss Nikita Khrushchev is based on personal observation.

By KENNETH BRODNEY
Written For The United Press
When Nikita Khrushchev insults all the Western ambassadors in Moscow, they know they've been given the business from the top. They know it twice this week—some sort of a record, even for Khrushchev—and both times they walked out on him in outraged diplomatic huff.
Unfazed, the top man in Russia suggested, "If you don't like us, don't accept our invitations—and don't invite us to come to see you."

That's how much Khrushchev worries about the niceties of protocol.
But when the short and squat, pink and pudgy ex-plumber parades majestically under the crystal chandeliers in the grand palace of the Kremlin, you know he owns the place.
A Distinctive Position
There's something about being number one out of all the 200,000,000 Russians that writes itself all over a man—despite all the talk about collective leadership.
Georgi Malenkov had it when he was premier; but Nikolai Bulganin, who succeeded Malenkov, didn't inherit that special glow.
It passed from the premiership to the first secretary of the Communist Party, the job that used to be Stalin's, and the job Khrushchev has run since 10 days after the old dictator died on March 5, 1953.
Khrushchev only got the title six months later, but he was using the key spot to politic his way to the top from the beginning—just as Stalin had done decades before.
Khrushchev has not yet become the all-powerful dictator Stalin was, but he is recognized as "the most equal among equals" in the 11-man presidium of the party, which is the board of directors for the entire Soviet empire.

Demands Of Equality
The party boss is not shy or modest about reminding his comrades of his superior brand of equality, and they recognize it.
It shows in a hundred little ways. If you're in the press gallery during a session of the Supreme Soviet, or happen to be invited to dinner at the Kremlin (along with about a thousand other people),
When other Bolshevik big-wigs make speeches, Khrushchev frequently pays no attention at all. He reads documents, carries on lively conversations with neighbors or if he's hungry he eats.
Like most Russians, Khrushchev is a great soup-lover. He hunches his powerful shoulders over the table, lowers his white-fringed, pink, bald, bullet-head until his pug nose almost touches the plate, and devotes his complete and intense concentration to spooning.
But when Khrushchev finally finishes his soup and gets up to speak himself, everybody listens. They don't talk, and Bulganin doesn't eat.
What Khrushchev seems to be on the team—and it still seems to be a team despite his pre-eminence—is the dynamo, the powerhouse of energy and driving will-power, the pusher and the bull-roarer.

long-time job of party boss in the Ukraine, discontent and wartime devastation was so bad partisan warfare actually broke out. Stalin sent trouble-shooter Lazar Kaganovich to put out the fire, but Khrushchev got his job back.
And again in 1951, in Moscow, he overdid the centralization of collective farms, was forced to confess he'd been flat wrong, but again survived.
Now he's in trouble again, with Poland breaking quietly away and Hungary in flaming ruins. Some think his personal insults to the Western ambassadors are a sign of nerves.
But Khrushchev, still proud of the fact he worked with his hands, is tough, and he'll fight hard to survive this blow, too.

Quotes In The News

By UNITED PRESS
BUDAPEST — A Hungarian on the Russians' use of force:
"The workers were so much united by last week's events that they will never fall apart again. The government must realize by now that the use of force is pointless."

UNITED NATIONS — American Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. on United States and Russian policy in Eastern Europe:
"Where the Eastern European people are concerned, the United States seeks to fill their stomachs with food and the Soviet seeks to fill them with lead."

NEW DELHI — Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru on Anglo-Grench activities in the Middle East:
"They have opened the doors for (the Russians). It has made Egypt the possible scene of a major conflict. The Anglo-French have much more to lose than Egypt."

AMSTERDAM — Egyptian Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi on Egypt purchasing more arms from the Communists:
"It is no secret that we have bought arms from Communist countries and we shall do so again if we need them."

HONOLULU — Admiral Felix B. Stump, commander of the U.S. Pacific Fleet, on Hawaii as an atomic target:
"I don't think Hawaii is a prime atomic target and I'd hate to have any news stories give the Russians the idea that it is."

When other Bolshevik big-wigs make speeches, Khrushchev frequently pays no attention at all. He reads documents, carries on lively conversations with neighbors or if he's hungry he eats.
Like most Russians, Khrushchev is a great soup-lover. He hunches his powerful shoulders over the table, lowers his white-fringed, pink, bald, bullet-head until his pug nose almost touches the plate, and devotes his complete and intense concentration to spooning.
But when Khrushchev finally finishes his soup and gets up to speak himself, everybody listens. They don't talk, and Bulganin doesn't eat.
What Khrushchev seems to be on the team—and it still seems to be a team despite his pre-eminence—is the dynamo, the powerhouse of energy and driving will-power, the pusher and the bull-roarer.

IT'S THE LAW ★ IN TEXAS ★

SELLER REMAINS LIABLE WHEN BUYER ASSUMES MORTGAGE

Henry Jones decided to sell his home for $15,000 and when a buyer was found, the question arose as to how the buyer should finance the purchase.

Henry had a mortgage on his house, with a balance of $10,000, and the buyer suggested that Henry permit him to take over the mortgage payments, paying Henry the difference of $5,000 in cash. This, argued the buyer, would save him the trouble and expense of getting a new loan himself and so Henry agreed.

Several years after the deal was closed, Henry received a letter from his bank advising that the payments on the mortgage were far in arrears and that he would have to pay or a lawsuit would be filed.

Henry was surprised to learn that he was still liable on the original obligation, and that if the property could not be sold at foreclosure to bring enough money to pay the mortgage balance and the costs, he would have to pay the difference.

Of course, Henry might have sued his buyer for his loss, but the chances would be that the buyer is insolvent and "judgment-proof," so that Henry could not collect a judgment against him.

When a mortgage is assumed by a purchaser of real estate, the financial institution still holds the original note which was signed by the seller. If Henry had contacted his bank and obtained a release of liability, Henry would, of course, have been cleared of all further responsibility of the obligation.

Henry's bank, however, would have no reason to release Henry and might be reluctant to do so unless the bank's investigation disclosed that the buyer was at least as credit-worthy as Henry. The bank may also have had additional problems concerning a releasing Henry from the obligation if the loan was of the FHA or GI type.

The danger of permitting an assumption of your mortgage loan may, therefore, be considerable, especially in view of the fact that real estate markets may fall after a period of years to the point that the real estate itself may not be of sufficient value to pay the mortgage note in the event of a default by the buyer.

SAUSAGE WITH DISTINCTION — Country-style sausage with whipped potato-filled green pepper cups is a brisk day dish. These sausages are wonderfully flavored, seasoned just right, and the meal is ready in just a minute. They are especially good for brisk, November days.

If you're saving sausage for breakfast meals, you're missing some flavormore lunch and dinner combinations. Country-style sausage makes delicious hot luncheon and dinner treats for brisk, cold November days.

Country-style sausage comes in one long continuous link. It is larger in diameter than the individual links.

Actually, as you probably know already, sausage making is an ancient art. The manufacture of sausage had its beginning some two thousand years before the Christian era. The Sumerians of Asia Minor and the Chinese were among the first to discover the process of making sausage by grinding their partly dried meats and adding spices. The Greeks were the first to prepare a sausage similar to our modern frankfurter.

Sausage is a very versatile meat — and when preparing sausage for meals excluding breakfast, be sure to add a little touch of the unique. In this meal, we've combined country-style sausage with green peppers filled with whipped potatoes. Sounds fancy, but actually you can have this man-size meal combination ready for your table in a short time and with little effort. Only one suggestion — have enough for seconds.

Prepare country-style sausage the same way as the little links, or bulk pork sausage. Cut the one continuous link into serving pieces, then place in a heavy frying-pan (one with a tight fitting cover). Add 2 to 3 tablespoons of water, cover the pan and let the sausage steam 10 to 12 minutes. At the end of this time, remove the cover and let the sausage cook until it becomes a golden brown. That's all there is to it.

PEPPER CUPS
 As for the green pepper cups, that's easy too. Parboil hollowed green peppers for about 8 to 10 minutes. Fill with whipped potatoes and they are ready to serve. If you wish, place the filled cups in a moderate oven for a few minutes to give the potato peaks a light brown tinge.

COUNTRY-STYLE SAUSAGE WITH WHIPPED POTATO FILLED PEPPERS
 1½ pounds country-style sausage
 2 tablespoons water
 4 to 6 green peppers
 2 cups seasoned mashed potatoes
 Cut sausage into pieces 3 to 4 inches long. Place sausage and 2 tablespoons water in a cold frying-pan. Cover and cook slowly for

Sugar Cookies Are Plain, But Pleasing

There have been cookie jar favorites for many years! Sugar cookies just seem to attract new friends in each generation as well as retaining the ones made in the past.

Made with lard, these cookies stay as fresh and crisp as the day you made them, according to Reba Staggs, well known home economist.

See for yourself and let your family be the proving ground.
SUGAR COOKIES — QUICK AND EASY

- 3 cups sifted enriched flour
 - 2 teaspoons cream of tartar
 - 1 teaspoon soda
 - ½ teaspoon salt
 - 1 cup lard
 - 2 eggs
 - 1 cup sugar
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla
- Sift flour, cream of tartar, soda and salt into mixing bowl. Cut in lard until mixture is a very fine crumb. Beat eggs with sugar and vanilla. Add to flour mixture. Mix well. Shape into balls about the size of a walnut. Place balls on a cookie sheet 2 inches apart. Flatten each with bottom of a small glass tumbler covered with a dampened cloth. Bake in a moderate oven (375 degrees F.) about 8 to 10 minutes or until lightly browned. Yield: 8 dozen cookies.

Serve Baking Soda Biscuits And Honey

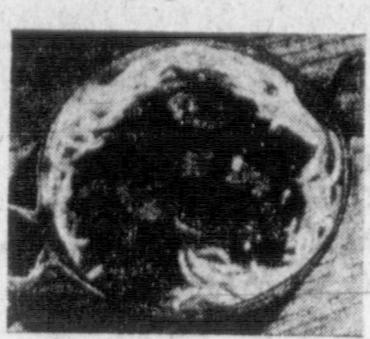

Everyone has heard of America's old standby, baking powder and biscuits and Honey. Baking soda biscuits and honey give this old favorite a new twist. To make them is very easy, really, it is! Try it soon and add it to your collection of basic recipes.

- 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
 - 1 teaspoon baking soda
 - ½ teaspoon salt
 - 1-3 cup shortening
 - ¼ cup white (distilled) vinegar
 - ¼ cup milk
- Sift together flour, baking soda, and salt. Cut in shortening. Combine vinegar and milk; add all at once to flour mixture; blend lightly. Knead gently. Roll or pat to ½-inch thickness. Cut with floured 2-inch cutter. Place on baking sheet. Bake in 450 degrees F. (very hot) oven 12-15 minutes. Serve with honey and honey butter.

VARIATION: Cinnamon Breakfast Balls
 Add 3 tablespoons sugar to dry ingredients; cut in shortening. Beat 1 egg; combine with vinegar and milk, using only ¼ cup milk. Mix and knead dough gently. Pat or roll to ½-inch thickness; cut with floured 1-inch cutter; shape lightly into balls. Dip balls in ¼ cup orange juice, roll in ¼ cup sugar mixed with 2 tablespoons cinnamon. Place on baking sheet. Bake in 450 degrees F. (very hot) oven 10-12 minutes. Yields about 3 dozen. Serve with honey.

Stuffing For Delicately-Flavored Turkey "Enhances," Rather Than "Overwhelms"

To choose the perfect stuffing for turkey, a rather delicately flavored meat, select stuffings that enhance rather than overwhelm. These might well be California bread stuffing, or New England stuffing.

- CALIFORNIA BREAD STUFFING
 1½ quarts toasted ½-inch bread cubes
 1 cup coarsely cut dried prunes
 ½ cup chopped dried apricots
 ¼ cup brown sugar
 ½ teaspoon salt
 ½ cup melted butter or margarine
 1 tablespoon lemon juice
 1 cup water
- Combine toasted bread cubes, prunes, apricots, brown sugar and salt. Add melted butter, lemon juice and water; mix well. Use to stuff duck or pork. Yields 1½ quarts stuffing.

NEW ENGLAND BREAD STUFFING
 ½ cup chopped onion
 ½ cup or 1 (7-ounce) can drained, minced clams
 ½ cup melted butter or margarine
 3 quarts soft ½-inch bread cubes
 1-3 cup chopped parsley
 1 teaspoon salt
 1 teaspoon sage
 ¼ teaspoon pepper
 ¼ cup lemon juice

Saute onion and drained clams in melted butter until tender. Combine soft bread cubes, parsley, salt, sage and pepper. Add clam-butter mixture and lemon juice to

Corned Beef Hash Gives Hearty Meal

Hearty meals can be planned with canned meat as the main course. Corned beef hash, baked in a ring mold, and served with creamed peas or cauliflower in the center is a satisfying canned meat entree. Season the hash with onion, parsley, and chili sauce as in this recipe:

- Corned Beef Hash Ring
 2 1-pound cans corned beef hash cup chili sauce
 1 medium onion, chopped
 ¼ cup chopped parsley
 Combine ingredients. Spoon into a greased 1 quart ring mold. Bake at 325 degrees F. for 45 minutes. 6 servings.

Apple Slices Accent Thanksgiving Ham

Goof fruit accompaniment with your Thanksgiving ham are Glazed Apple Slices, easily prepared with this simplified method. Core 3-4 Washington Delicious apples and cut into thick slices. Do not peel. Dip apple slices in granulated sugar to coat. Heat 2-4 tbsps. butter or margarine in medium sized frying pan. Saute apple slices lightly, about 10 mins. or until tender and glazed, turning once.

Braising Frozen Meat Is Simple Procedure

Commercially frozen meats to be braised take little or no longer than the corresponding cuts of fresh meat. If the meat is to be floured before browning and cooking in water, thaw meat slightly, then sprinkle with or pound in the seasoned flour. Meats that require no flouring may be browned without thawing, but require a little additional cooking time.

To braise frozen meats, follow the same procedure as for fresh meats: brown meat in a little hot fat in a heavy pan, add seasonings and a small amount of liquid. Cover and cook over low heat until tender.

N.Y. Times 'Illusions'

It is not often that we find ourselves in agreement with the New York Times. But an editorial appearing in the Times Nov. 5 caught our editorial eye and we would like to reproduce a portion of it — with a little embellishment.

Here is what the Times said after the story of Russian treachery in Hungary had been exposed to view: "We accuse the Soviet Government of murder. We accuse it of the foulest treachery and the basest deceit known to man. We accuse it of having committed so monstrous a crime against the Hungarian people yesterday that its infamy can never be forgiven or forgotten."

"Lenin wrote in 1900: 'The Czarist Government not only keeps our people in slavery but sends it to suppress other peoples rising against their slavery (as was done in 1849 when Russian troops put down the revolution in Hungary).' How apt these words sound today when we substitute 'Soviet' for 'Czarist,' and '1956' for '1849.'"

"Hatred and pity, mourning and admiration, these are our emotions today: hatred for the men and the system which did not hesitate to shed new rivers of innocent Hungarian blood to reimpose slavery; pity for the Soviet soldiers duped into thinking they were fighting 'Fascists' when they killed defenseless or nearly defenseless men, women and children; mourning and admiration for the heroic Hungarian people who feared not even death to strike for freedom."

"Gone now are the last illusions. Moscow now stands self-exposed. The torrent of Soviet bullets yesterday did not kill only Hungary's freedom and Hungary's martyrs. Those bullets killed, first of all the picture of a reformed, penitent Russia seeking to repudiate Stalinism and practice coexistence. Could Stalin have acted more barbarously than did his successors yesterday? Can we have any doubt now of what awaits us if we ever relax our vigilance and permit ourselves to become prey to Soviet might, as was Hungary yesterday?"

"The day of infamy is ended. The foul deed is done. The most heroic are dead. But the cause of freedom lives and is stronger than ever, nurtured by the blood of those who fell martyred in freedom's cause. The Hungarian people will never forget. We shall not forget. And out of hatred and tears is born the resolve to carry forward the struggle until freedom is triumphant."

In all this heady stuff one sentence stood out. It was "Gone now are the last illusions." We hope that the Times really means it, along with their determination to "resolve to carry forward the struggle until freedom is triumphant."

From this, we can assume that the Times has come to the realization that freedom is vital and that it is just as vital that we protect the freedom of Americans as it is the freedom of the Hungarians.

This, of course, will be something of a switch for the Times which has seen fit to support all sorts of internationalism that has resulted in less liberty for Americans. Because continued support of the United Nations can only mean loss of sovereignty and liberty for Americans or total failure of the U. N. if we drop out, we assume that the Times will change its views and urge that we get out of the U. N.

We hope that for the sake of the Times and the people who might be influenced by its editorials that the "last illusion" is truly gone. All that is needed now is to recognize that the nature of the collectivist beast which is so abhorred by the Times is present in some form or other in all collectivist. In some instances it is called Russian Communism; in others Fabianism, paternalism, socialism or big governmentism. In all these the attack on freedom starts pretty much in the same way and they differ only in the means by which they hope to bring about their social reform. The one thing that all have in common is a determination that the state shall be supreme and rule over the individual and his inherent rights to life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness.

The Doctor Says

By EDGAR F. JORDAN, M. D.

If the metabolism is much more than plus 15, one is probably using up food and tissues too fast. This may explain nervousness and loss of weight. Usually (but not always), this is the result of a toxic goiter, and medical or surgical treatment may be needed.

BASAL METABOLISM recorded as minus 22 is what doctors call a "border-line" figure. A person in whom this figure is found may or may not improve if he is given thyroid extract by mouth. It should probably not be considered as really "serious." If it is the result of lowered thyroid action, it can be corrected simply by taking thyroid pills in the right quantities.

It is probable that smoking does not exert any specific harmful effects. Over the years, the basal metabolism test has been of enormous help to physicians in making a diagnosis and in observing the results of treatment.

Competition

IV.
In the last issue we were quoting from Bastiat's "Harmonies of Political Economy" under the heading of "Competition."

In the last part of the article Bastiat explained how, without competition, the gratuities of God, such as water, power, coal, sun, etc., would be monopolized and worked to the advantage of certain people. Then he explains how these natural gratuities are distributed among all mankind. He puts it this way:

"But let Competition be introduced, and we shall see it instantly present an insuperable barrier to all such leonine bargains, to all such forestalling of the gifts of God, to all such revolting pretensions in the appreciation of services, to all such inequalities with efforts exchanged."

"And let us remark, first of all, that Competition acts forcibly, called forth as it is by these very inequalities. Labour begets itself instinctively to the quarter where it is best remunerated, and never fails to put an end to this exceptional advantage, so that inequality is only a spur which urges us on in spite of ourselves towards Equality. It is in truth one of the most beautiful final intentions observable in the social mechanism. Infinite Goodness, which manifests beneficence everywhere, would seem to have made choice of the avaricious producer in order to effect in equitable distribution among all; and truly it is a marvellous sight this, of self-interest realizing continually what it ever desired to avoid. Man, as a producer, is necessarily, inevitably, attracted by excessive returns, which he thus reduces to the ordinary rate. He pursues his own interest; and without knowing it, without wishing it, without seeking it, he promotes the general good."

"Thus, to recur to our former example, the inhabitant of the tropics, trafficking in the gifts of God, realizes an excessive remuneration, and by that very means brings down upon himself Competition. Human labour exerts itself in proportion to the magnitude of the inequality if I may use the expression, and never rests until that inequality is affixed. Under the action of Competition, we see the tropical labour, which was equal to 30, 40, 20, and finally to 10. Under the empire of the natural laws of society, there is no reason why services exchanged should not be measured by the labour performed, the pains taken, — the gifts of God on both sides being gratuitous and into the bargain. We have only to consider, in order to appreciate and bless the revolution which is thus effected. In the first instance, the labour undergone on both sides is equal, and this satisfies the human mind, which always desires justice. Then what has become of the gift of God? Attend to this, reader! No one has been deprived of it. In this respect we have not allowed ourselves to be imposed upon by the clamours of the tropical producer. The Brazilian, in as far as he is himself a consumer of sugar, or cotton, or coffee, never ceases to profit by the sun's rays — his good fortune does not cease to aid him in the work of production. What he has lost is only the unjust power of levying a tax upon the consumption of the inhabitants of Europe. The beneficiaries of Providence, because gratuitous, has become, as it ought to become, common; for common and gratuitous are in reality the same thing."

"The gift of God has become common — and the reader will observe that I avail myself here of a special fact to elucidate a phenomenon which is universal — this gift, I say, has become common to all. This is not declamation, but the expression of a truth which is demonstrable. Why has this beautiful phenomenon been misunderstood? Because community is realized under the form of value annihilated, and the mind with difficulty lays hold of negations. But I ask, is it not true that when, in order to obtain a certain quantity of sugar, coffee, or cotton, I give only one-tenth of the labour which I should find necessary to expend in producing the commodity myself, and this because the Brazilian sun performs the other nine-tenths of the work, — is it not true, I say, that in that case I still exchange labour for labour, and really and truly obtain, over and above the Brazilian labour, and into the bargain, the co-operation of the climate of the tropics? Can I not affirm with rigorous exactitude that I have become, that all men have become, in the same way as the Indians and Americans, that is to say gratuitously, participants in the liberality of nature, so far as the commodities in question are concerned?"

"England possesses productive coal mines. That is no doubt a great local advantage, more especially if we suppose, as I shall do for the sake of argument, that the Continent possesses no coal mines. Apart from the consideration of exchange, the advantage which this gives to the people of England is the possession of fuel in greater abundance than other nations, — fuel obtained with less labour, and at less expense of useful time. As soon as exchange comes into operation — keeping out of view Competition — the exclusive possession of these mines enables the people of England to demand a considerable remuneration, and to set a high price upon their labour. Not being in a situation to perform this labour ourselves, or procure what we want from another quarter, we have no alternative but to submit, English

Fair Enough

Perch Are Much Like Sharks And Are Also Very Tasty

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

TAMPA, Fla. — Florida at last has acquired the poise of a grown-up sister in our constellation of republics and accordingly a state paper issued by the Game and Fresh Water Commission frankly admits that there are many deadly snakes in her woods, waters and palmettos. The title of the document is "Snakes Can Kill" and Edward T. Heinen, the regional manager in Lakeland, related with personal sorrow that one of his own men, Don Carroll, the father of a family, was killed only a few weeks ago.

In my early, wide-eyed peregrinations, a stranger mentioned deadly reptiles in the hearing of the local cracker, whether native or naturalized from Ohio, at considerable risk. Public opinion even held that sharks were strangers to the East coast and Steve Hannagan, the effervescent press-agent for Miami Beach, derided my ignorance in mistaking the profile of the giant perch for that of the killer of the deep. We were riding across the causeway when a long file of controversial fish broke water with triangular dorsals. I exclaimed, "sharks."

"Perch," he retorted. "Giant perch are very tasty, although those are only fingerlings." Nowadays, however, Mr. Heinen and some of his Rangers, including Jimmy Wells, the Lakeland Medal of Honor soldier, go in boots or in leggings made of canvas and copper screen and watch the ground beneath their feet, for this little book earnestly raises an alarm that the Rattler, the Cottonmouth and the Coral snakes all are deadly and abundant. Mr. Carroll was so long used to snakes that when a rattler tried to wriggle away and he stepped on its tail, the rattler's head whipped around in a rising loop and struck him in the back of his leg above the protection of his knee high boot. It seems that Mr. Carroll gave it leverage and the margin of height which were his own undoing by pinning its tail.

This candor is a sensible new policy, for it is an interesting fact that hunters, women as well as men, will take chances even though they know snakes are likely to be wherever they tread. In fact, snakes are likely to be in orange groves and on the lawns of home-site developments. They have been here all these aeons, and Florida today presents a weird appearance and character — an urban, industrial and rural-agricultural primal state unlike any other patch on earth, with three ports for ocean-going ships and in Miami one of the great international ports of the world for aerial commerce.

The wild frontier bellies up against progress and great favorites, in which oceans of concentrate are squeezed from millions of citrus, stand on ground grudgingly conceded by all manner of varmints, including the indomitable bootlegger. The bootlegger distills alcohol from grain and sells it for $5 labour devoted to this description of work will be well remunerated; in other words, coal will be dear, and the bounty of nature may be considered as conferred on the people of one nation, and not on mankind at large.

FOR REFLECTION

...with JAMES C. INGEBRETTEN
President, Spiritual Mobilization

Says George Sutherland in the Journal of the American Judicial Society, "Liberty and order are the most precious possessions of man, and the essence of the problem of government is reconciliation of the two."

I wonder. Perhaps liberty and order do not need to be reconciled at all — any more than liberty and justice do.

Isn't it possible that, just as justice preserves liberty, liberty preserves order? This is surely true if we see that liberty is neither license nor chaos.

As Jonathan Edwards said, "True liberty consists only in the power of doing what we ought to do, and in not being constrained to do what we ought not to do."

It is this false notion that government has to "reconcile" liberty and order and "ease the tension" between liberty and justice that gives rise to demagoguery and collectivism. Let us recognize, once and for all, that liberty, order, and justice are not hostile to one another but that no one of them can exist without the other two and therefore they all rise or fall together.

National Whirligig Waste Water Power In U.S. May Soon Be Harnessed

By RAY TUCKER

WASHINGTON — Fabulous waterpower resources now flowing wastefully to seas and lakes may soon be harnessed for residential and industrial use as a result of the public power faction's tremendous victories on November 6. The Administration's "partnership" program, which benefited the private utilities, may undergo modification in favor of Federal and state development.

The shift contemplated by Interior Secretary Fred A. Seaton will not be due entirely to the defeat of several conservative Republicans in the so-called reclamation states of Oregon, Washington, Nevada, Idaho, Colorado and Arizona, where so many White House favorites were repudiated, largely on the power issue. The Morse - McKay and Magnuson - Langlie rebuffs were especially significant.

It will result also from President Eisenhower's responsiveness to the popular will and mandate. Unlike certain stubborn predecessors, he will not wage a last-ditch, delaying action. He will comply with the ballot-box expression, insofar as it remains in his power. Most of the last undeveloped projects are now before the Federal Power Commission, Congress and the courts.

The most significant and fortunate aspect of this prospect is that the fierce, 50-year struggle over proper and efficient use of our great rivers will come to an end. Besides contributing to economic progress and human comfort, it may remove from politics an issue that has bedeviled the atmosphere and invariably operated in favor of the Democrats.

Ironically, now that the problem approaches a politico-economic solution, the public power groups can't agree among themselves, especially on the Niagara River development. Under a treaty with Canada, the Senate reserved to itself the final say over any disposition of the project by the Federal Power Commission.

The reservation was sponsored by Senator Herbert H. Lehman of New York, a Roosevelt - Truman public power disciple, who then wanted Uncle Sam to handle construction and operation. It is opposed by Governor Averell Harriman's New York Power authority. That agency seeks a license direct from FPC, and maintains that the Lehman restriction is unconstitutional.

Another Roosevelt - Truman lobby, the National Rural Electrification Association, opposes the New York applicants. Its reason is that the New York State Power Act provides for preferential co-operatives. The Federal Act has such a stipulation.

Three New York Republicans back Harriman, and their influence may carry great weight. They are former Governor Thomas E. Dewey, Senator Irving M. Ives and Attorney General Jacob K. Javits, whose declaration for state development helped to elect him to the Senate over Mayor Robert F. Wagner.

Five private companies also seek the Niagara franchise. A bill favoring their application once passed the House, but it was blocked in the Senate. Ike has maintained a hands-off position.

Hell's Canyon on the Snake River in Idaho has been awarded by the FPC to the Idaho Power Company, and construction has begun. But a public power association headed by former Roosevelt - Truman officials is contesting the award through court action.

These same public power zealots oppose several private companies' request for a license for development of Mountain Sheep and Pleasant Valley, which are also on the Snake River and have a greater power potential than Hell's Canyon. Hearings on this and the Niagara dispute are now in progress at FPC.

In short, like prohibition and the tariff, this historic and divisive issue, which has wasted so much water and lung power, may disappear from the political scene, since these are the last remaining sites of importance — unless, that is, certain groups prefer to preserve a political issue rather than solve a problem.

Remagen, which is only a short distance from Coblenz and where we had spent the night. It is not far from the ruins of the bridge that served the American Army so well in World War II. Plans are under way for a new bridge, but there is no sign of one now.

We went ashore at Remagen in the early evening, and strolled about its cobblestoned streets, and but deserted in the soft rain, and stopped in the Columbus restaurant for hot chocolate. It was hard to picture this sleepy town on the banks of the Rhine as ever having heard the thunder of tank guns, and the whoomph of exploding bombs.

Not long ago — I am writing this between Remagen and Coblenz — we had a race and a rousing argument with a barge from Bremen, also headed upstream, and bound for Switzerland. The German skipper disputed our passing rights, and attempted to hog the center of the channel. Our skipper, Capt. Theo Starrenburg, a quiet, cold-eyed man who reminds me of Ben Hogan in size and appearance, took no nonsense. He plowed straight ahead, and thrice bumped the German boat. Those of us in the opposing wheelhouses were looking one another straight in the eye.

We could see the German skipper's wife, an excitable sort, apparently, hastily throwing on extra clothing as if preparing to abandon ship. It wasn't as close a thing as that, but when the Merwesteyn fell ahead and showed the German crew our Dutch flag and Rotterdam nameplate.

There is tremendous rivalry between the skippers, particularly Dutch and German ones. Our skipper and mate said the German captains were pig-headed, recognized few rules, much less courtesies, and had to be given a lesson now and then.

I didn't hear what the German said behind his wheel, but I can imagine.

Parent Education Club Holds Study Of Six-Year-Old

The meeting Tuesday of Parent Education Club in the home of Mrs. Raymond Hampton, 1824 Mary Ellen, was highlighted by the program, "Living With Your Children When They Are Six," presented by Mrs. Clifford Whitney and Mrs. Harold Meador.

Mrs. Whitney led a panel discussion on a six-year-old's reactions to such questions as "what would you like to be when you grow up"; how old do you think one should be before he gets married"; who is your favorite television star"; "who works harder, the mother or the father"; and "how much money do you think it takes to live for a month."

Panel members, all six-year-olds, were Sherri Anderson, Pamela Shelhamer, Ed Hubbard and Gary Dudley.

Mrs. T. E. Cooper, a guest, assisted with the program by answering questions from the group concerning the first graders, his adjustment and his learning.

Mrs. Harold Meador reported that six years of age marks a turning point for the child, "because here he steps beyond the family circle into the larger world of the school." The patterns of growth are quite variable, fast-slow and steady - irregular, she told the women. The type of home experience a first grader has had is a crucial factor in his school adjustment, she pointed out, adding that primarily, the sixth year is one of transition.

"Affection, warmth, friendliness and a sense of humor can all help us live happily with girls and boys who are six," she concluded.

Service Guild Has United Nations Talk

Miss Nancy Willis told of her visit to the United Nations last summer at the meeting of the Wesleyan Service Guild of the First Methodist Church in the church parlor.

Miss Willis was introduced by Mrs. F. W. Shotwell, program chairman.

The group was led in prayer by Mrs. J. M. Turner, and Mrs. W. C. Hutchinson, president, led the business session. During the social period, refreshments were served by Miss Alma Wilson, hostess.

Attending were Meses. W. C. Hutchinson, J. A. Knox, Malcom Denison, Aubrey Jones, Irl Smith, Lillie Mae Fowler, Roy Kilgore, J. M. Turner, F. W. Shotwell, and Misses Inez Club, Minnie Allen and Alma Wilson.

Mrs. David Bowen Feted With Shower

Mrs. David Bowen, a recent bride, was complimented with a shower recently in the home of Mrs. Walt West, 316 N. Zimmers.

The honoree was presented a corsage of white carnations. Her mother, Mrs. George Cox of Skellytown, and her mother-in-law, Mrs. Noel Bowen of Lela, were given white carnation corsages also.

The serving table, covered with a white cloth, was centered with a fall arrangement of yellow carnations, hand-painted flowers and leaves, prepared by Mrs. H. H. Stull.

Refreshments of coffee, cake and minis were served. Mrs. Carl West presided at the coffee service, and Mrs. Walt West served the cake.

Attending were Mrs. George Cox of Skellytown; Meses. Noel Bowen, N. O. Smith and Mary Giffort, all of Lela; Mrs. L. M. Blaylock of McLean; and Meses. Sanda Blaylock, Jack Blaylock, Carl West and Walt West.

Refreshments were served and games were played.

Attending were Meses. A. M. Nash, Vard Smith, Jack Prather, T. G. Groves, Archie Maness, Bob Brandon, Dough Flynn, L. F. Walt, Jack Howard and Clyde Edmundson.

Talks On Dieting, Skin Care Are Given During Meeting Of Varietas Study Club

Mrs. Price Dosier and Mrs. George Sims presented the program, "You Are The Master Of Your Destiny," at the meeting of Varietas Study Club in the home of Mrs. Luther Pierson.

DIETING

Mrs. Dosier's topic was "Get Ready To Take Off." She warned members about fad diets, advising them always to consult a physician before dieting. She recommended a good balanced diet, stressing the importance of the proper amount of proteins, minerals and vitamins to good health.

"A good diet is a basic guide to good eating habits for everyone, fat or thin," she explained.

SKIN CARE

"Creating A New You" was Mrs. Sims' topic. The daily scientific care of skin is the only way to condition skin, she told the women. Correct cleansing and protection, combined with proper massage and lubrication, are all important in the daily care of skin, she pointed out.

Mrs. Sims told the women make up means very little to a skin which has not been properly conditioned. She stressed the importance of a "natural effect" with make up, playing up the best features and minimizing the bad.

Using a model, she demonstrated the proper use of color in cosmetics to harmonize with one's natural coloring and the color of apparel.

Merten HDC Given Christmas Program

A program on making Christmas gifts was presented at the meeting of the Merten Home Demonstration Club Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Jack Howard.

Mrs. Clyde Edmundson showed how to make Christmas corsages, popcorn baskets, Christmas stockings for children and centerpieces from shells. Mrs. Jack Prather told how to make Christmas aprons, including a child's crayon apron.

The making of a shoe bag for storing or traveling was explained by Mrs. A. M. Nash, who also showed how to make a fruit or candy bowl from Christmas cards. Mrs. T. G. Groves gave a Christmas candy recipe, and Mrs. Jack Howard demonstrated the making of an octopus yard doll for a child's gift.

It was announced the next meeting will be a Christmas party at 1:30 p.m. Dec. 4, in the home of Mrs. Archie Maness, 421 N. Sumner.

Collins Corner By DICK COLLINS Pampa News Sports Editor

DID YOU EVER WONDER just how a little town like Stinnett could have such great football teams year after year? The little oil and ranch town of 800 population has had six straight district championship teams.

The city does no recruiting like the big colleges do and it doesn't go out and hire big name coaches for large salaries. The present coach, Don Seymour, fell into the job after Cozell Foster quit there in 1954 to go coach in the Valley.

The Rattlers, who play Clarendon Bronchos here Friday night in a Class A bi-district game, first started their big climb in 1951 by winning the District 1-B title.

Last year, their first in Class A, the Rattlers won the district championship, went on up the ladder past bi-district, regional, quarterfinals, semifinals and to state championship playoffs where they lost to Deer Park, 7-0, for the title.

Very few thought Seymour's team would go that far last year, believing that his small and injury-riddled team would falter under heavier and more experienced competitors.

Coach Tommy Jinks of Clarendon rates the Rattlers very strongly and has only small hopes of beating them. Stinnett beat Clarendon 37-7 the first game of the season. The two teams have met three common foes — Panhandle, before and McLean. Clarendon beat Lefors 61-14 and Stinnett won 48-14 but the Rattlers applied McLean 53-14 while Clarendon won 27-7. The bronchos lost to Panhandle 13-26 while Stinnett beat the Panthers 13-0.

SPEAKING OF SMALL TOWNS, the combined population of Wheeler, Groom and Mobeetie, three schools in bi-district play in this area this week, probably would not total more than 1,950. Mobeetie, the smallest of the three with an estimated 350 population, won the District 1 six-man title and plays Bula here Saturday night. The school has only 59 students in high school of which approximately 30 are boys. Most of those are on the team. Wheeler (904) won the 2-B title and plays Groom (678) of 1-B in bi-district at McLean Friday night.

INFORMATION BLANKS for all America, all southern and all district teams have started pouring in to the desk now that football season is almost over and with them, come just about as many letters from college publicity directors soliciting votes on the teams. The most persistent of the group is Harold Keither, tub thumper at the University of Oklahoma, and it appears he has every right to be. Keither is high on center Jerry Tubbs and halfback Tommy McDonald, but who isn't?

Olympic Games Get Underway In Melbourne 170,000 Watch Opening

By LEO H. PETERSEN United Press Sports Editor MELBOURNE (UP) — Russia unveiled its highly-touted team against a powerful Canadian squad in the Olympics' first-round basketball play today after the games in 80-degree weather. Duke of Edinburgh opened the

With seven-foot, two-inch Janis Kruminsh, the XVI Olympiad's "mystery man" the center of attraction, the Soviets began their bid to end the U. S. Olympic basketball domination against one of the teams expected to provide them with formidable opposition. The Russians opposed the Canadians in the Olympic exhibition half at about 9:30 p.m. Melbourne time (6:30 a.m. EST) after Korea met Formosa in the first game of a doubleheader. The United States basketball team swings into action at 9:30 p.m. (6:30 a.m. EST Friday, Nov. 23).

Irishmen Taking Over The Land Down Under

By OSCAR FRALEY United Press Sports Writer MELBOURNE (UP) — Sure 'tis the luck of the Irish the boys from Erin will be needin' as the Olympic Games open today.

Not that it isn't a fine group, a broth of a boy each and iverly one of them, mind ye. But it just comes down to the fact that there are too many folks from the Ould Sod outside of Ireland.

The Irish are thick as fleas on a dog's back, no matter where ye may go, and have hospitality-ized the whole domned place.

They needed a shelleagh, they did, to get away from the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick, the Ancient Order of Hibernians, the Knights of Columbus and various in-stragglers such as the Kellys, the O'Briens and the Finnegans, may the Lord hold 'em each and iverly one of them in the hollow of His hand.

But as the story goes, there were just too many of them. Now ye may ask what happened to the Irish fighters, and bad cest to ya. Because there's seven of them on this team from Erin and they be good ones, too, they be.

The trouble was with the rest of the Irish.

It's a long way from the little green isle, flying across the route that all the New York policemen took by boat. Then on across America, where the Irish laid all the railroad tracks. And at each stop, there were the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick, kilts and bands and foine big feeds.

So when they finally make it away from San Francisco, what do ye think happens then? Why the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick, bless 'em and keep 'em from harm's way, were waitin' in Honolulu, complete with green leis and a big feed at Kelly's place, known to some as the Reef Hotel.

Surely the Irish never had better Irish food: poi and cream puffs and ice cream and other such Dublin delicacies.

But when the Irish landed in Melbourne, now what do ya think happened? Why, of course, the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick were waitin' again with kilts and supper invitations and more attention than you'd get wearing an orange tie in Killarney on March the 17th.

But, the hevins be praised, they finally made it to the Olympic Village, they did.

All Overweight With iverly mother's son of them ten pounds overweight! Nor was that the end of it, begorrah.

The boxers needed action, to be certain. So the lads beat the official flag raising by hoisting the biggest Irish flag ever seen on a flag pole meant for a tiny little banner. They came running, they did, those officials.

But the flag stayed there, it did.

Where are the men, you well may ask, who will defy 12 Irishmen standing shoulder to shoulder for the flag? And sivil of the official fighters needing action.

Erin may not win any gold medals, acushla. But the world will know they've been here. After all, me lad, they've got the biggest flag and the fattest athletes in the village. That they have, thanks to the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick.

Harvesters Among Leaders

Sandies Dominate 3-AAAA Statistics

As in previous weeks, the Amarillo Sandies dominate the team statistics in figures released on District 3-AAAA today.

The Sandies, who lead 3-AAAA with a 5-0 mark and can win the title Saturday with a victory over Palo Duro, hold the lead in six divisions of the team statistics: total offense, rushing, passing, total defense, rushing defense and penalties.

Pampa's Harvesters, who jumped up in the figures after rolling over Plainview, fell down in some divisions after being held down somewhat by Lubbock last Saturday. The Harvesters rank sixth in total offense with an average of 227.6 yards per game and they rank fourth in rushing with 199.8 yards per game.

Pampa dropped to seventh in passing after failing to complete a pass against Lubbock and the Harvesters are third in total defense, having allowed only 345.6 yards per game. Pampa is fifth in rushing defense with an average of 209.6 per game, second in passing defense with 38 yards per game (only 5.5 behind Palo Duro) fifth in punting with a 32-yard average and fifth in penalties with 47.8 per game.

Lubbock's Charlie Moore again is the leading individual game, on total offense and rushing. Moore, who had a field day in the first half last week, has gained 692 yards rushing which also gives him the total offense lead with the same amount. Bob Page, Borger quarterback who plays against Pampa there Saturday, is second in that department with 603 yards. He ranks 10th in rushing with 268 yards and second in passing with 335 yards, tie for sixth in rushing with 301 yards each.

Soapy Sudsberry of Amarillo is the leading passer with 459 yards on no leader in that department or in the pass receiving department.

Pampa's Dickie Mauldin is ninth in total offense with 334 yards and sixth in punting with a 36-yard average and Mauldin is ninth with 31.8. Bobby Dehis is the 8th lead-er of 26 completions. Pampa has

Gary Heiskell ranks in a tie for sixth in punting with a 36-yard average and Mauldin is ninth with 31.8. Bobby Dehis is the 8th leader of 26 completions. Pampa has

SWC Teams Ignore Holiday, Continue Drills For Weekend

This non-Texas Thanksgiving Day meant nothing to the seven Southwest Conference teams, as four of them prepared today for major games Saturday, two others took it easy because their next game is a week from today and the other conference member made ready for a non-league contest Saturday.

Reports from all seven campuses were that the various first and second units were in better shape physically than they had been for months.

TCU coach Abe Martin put his Cotton Bowl favorites through a hard workout Wednesday. The Horned Frogs meet Rice at Houston Saturday in a game that could clinch the bowl berth for TCU, provided that Baylor beats SMU in the other conference clash.

At Houston, Rice reported only one player on the doubtful list for the big game. He is No. 2 tackle Claude White of Fort Worth.

Baylor, favored to knock SMU out of the bowl picture, passed up team contact work and spent considerable time in dummy defensive drills against the SMU split T and spread formations.

The Mustangs, in turn, stressed defense in their Dallas drill. The Ponies planned a light workout this afternoon. Both SMU and Baylor squads reported nobody from the first two units on the injury list.

The Texas Longhorns and the Texas Aggies have this week off because of their traditional game on the Texas Thanksgiving — next Thursday.

The Longhorns held another light workout, while the Aggies did some contact work.

The Arkansas Razorbacks play Louisiana State at Shreveport Saturday. The Razorbacks held a fullscale workout.

Shofner May Be Key To Baylor Bowl Bid

DALLAS (UP) — Baylor's Dandy Del Shofner returns to the Cotton Bowl Saturday against Southern Methodist and chances are good that he'll again be a key figure in the game that may spring Baylor right into a bowl game just as he did two years ago.

Dandy Del did right well in this game in 1954 when he was a sophomore. He made the first six tackles against SMU, brought Baylor from being a 14-0 deficit with two timely interceptions, one of which he packed 88 yards for a touchdown, scored another and sparked generally as the Bears used a breath-taking 33-21 victory as a springboard to the Gator Bowl.

Now, Baylor has visions of another New Year's Day date in some faraway place like New Orleans' Sugar Bowl or Jacksonville's Gator Bowl. And, the main reason the visions are there is because Dandy Del is on the prowl.

There's a slim possibility that Baylor might still become the Southwest Conference host team in the Cotton Bowl game, but the brewing Bears are not counting very much on that happening.

Texas Christian can sew up that honor by beating Rice at Houston Saturday, regardless of how Baylor fares against SMU and Rice the following Saturday.

So, Coach Sam Boyd's boys have set their sights on New Orleans and Jacksonville. And Dandy Del is the trigger man.

The tall, 180-pound Shofner, who triples in brass as a basketball and track letterman, is about as versatile a back as they come, but Baylor has used him only sparingly as a runner until recently despite the fact he's a 9.8 second sprinter-anchor on Baylor's tabular 880-yard relay team.

He's A Dandy He carried the ball only three times in Baylor's first four games, yet scored three touchdowns by rushing and caught two scoring passes. Boyd finally turned him loose Saturday before last and Dandy Del responded with a 65-yard touchdown run, another run of 46 yards and snagged three passes.

Last Saturday, against Nebraska, he averaged 7.2 yards rushing, scored two touchdowns, one on a 91-yard punt return, and for the most part used his power running rather than speed in short bursts into the line.

Shofner has amazing power for so fast a man and he uses that leg drive to advantage in handling Baylor's punting chores, too. His season average is a very creditable 41 yards. He averaged 43 yards against Maryland and 45 against Texas Christian, both in driving rain.

He leads the conference in punting and kickoff returns (16.8 average), his punt runbacks (averaging 25.6) are better than the loop leader, but he's not been as active and isn't listed and he ranks third in scoring with eight touchdowns and seventh in passing with 13 for 219 yards.

He's thrown only two passes in his three-year career, but both were timely and complete—a 14-yarder for a touchdown that put Maryland in a hole and a six-yarder that kept the drive going that led to the winning field goal in a 10-7 verdict over Texas.

There doesn't seem to be anything he can't do well—either offensively or defensively. That's why Baylor figures it has adequate ammunition to go bowl hunting Saturday.

Optimistic Bragan Gets Buc Contract

By ED FITE
United Press Sports Writer
FORT WORTH, Tex. (UP) — Flery Bobby Bragan, with a vote of confidence in the form of a new 1957 contract to pilot the Pittsburgh Pirates again, cited more than a half dozen reasons today why the Pirates ought to do even better than seventh place next season.

The 35-year-old Bragan, who succeeded Fred Haney to the post a little more than a year ago after piloting Hollywood in the Pacific Coast League, radiated the same confidence expressed by Pirates General Manager Joe L. Brown Wednesday night in announcing Bragan's rehiring.

"I'm confident Bobby will manage the Pittsburgh club for many seasons in which he will bring Pirate fans championship baseball," Brown said in revealing the new pact with the man who led the Pirates out of the National League cellar for the first time in four years.

Bragan predicted the Pirates would be "banging for at least fourth." Brown, that one of the big reasons for the optimism was the fact he'd no longer be a stranger to the Pirate personnel or the other National League teams.

Rather Have Pirates
"We're a young club and getting better even without any changes," Bragan said, adding that due to this youth angle he'd rather have the present Pirates than either the Giants or Phils, who finished ahead of Pittsburgh last season.

Bragan had his run of tough luck as a freshman skipper last season and a lot of it contributed to the team's slide after it had soared to first place in mid-June on Bragan-instilled "college try" enthusiasm and skilful handling of his pitchers.

Bragan cited the fact that he started the season last year with-out Bill Virdon in center and Bill Mazeroski at second; with Lee Walls unproven in the outfield and with Frank Thomas, who'd never played third base, handling the hot corner.

"They all should be better," Bragan said, and then added that he expected Danny Kravitz, the green rookie with "the power of Yogi Berra," to come back from his seasoning at Hollywood as a possible big factor "in our future."

Bronchos Vie With Stinnett Friday Night

Clarendon's Bronchos will be trying to stop the winning streak of the Stinnett Rattlers when the two teams meet in Harvester Stadium Friday night.

The Rattlers, who lost in the Class A state finals last year, will come into the bi-district contest with a 10-game victory string. The District 1-A champions have lost only one game in two years while tying two. Ties last year were with Hollis, Okla., and Chillicothe.

Clarendon of 2-A has a record of 6-4 this season but two of those losses were to Class AA teams. The Bronchos are coached by Tommy Jinks and Ken Clapp, former West Texas State teammates.

The winners of the game Friday night at 7:30 will play the Farwell-Hale Center winner in regional play.

There will be no advance sale of tickets for the game but plenty of tickets will be available at the gates. Admissions is $1.25 and 75 cents. All seats will be general admission. The tickets will go on sale at 6 p.m. Stinnett will serve as the home team, sitting on the west side. Radio station KPND will broadcast the game.
